P.O. Has New Phone System

Hicksville Post Office is changing to a new phone system with new telephone numbers on August 3. Postal customers will now be able to contact various postal departments directly to obtain postal information. (A complete list of new Post Office numbers appears at the end of this release.)

Hicksville Postmaster Anthony M. Murello reports that the new computerized phone system will replace the switchboard system which has been in use at the Hicksville Post Office for many years. "I know our customers will be as pleased as I am with the quicker access to our many postal departments. The modular phone system benefits our office by reducing repair and maintenance cost, and lowering costs for additions, move and changes while stabilizing equipment costs for future cost effective expansion," said the Postmaster.

As a Sectional Center, Hicksville receives many calls from all over Long Island and other parts of the country. The increased volume of calls is no problem for the system which is designed to utilize the latest advances in phone technology said Nora Stanford of Northern Telecom, who installed the system.

Puppets Perform At Library

The Donna Rose Puppets from the Nassau County Department of Parks and Recreation will perform a special puppet show at the Hicksville Public Library on Friday, August 3. The show will start at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of the library and all are invited to attend.

"Bugs, Things"

Enrollment is now taking place for the children's workshop, the "Bugs and Things" to be given at the Hicksville Gregory Museum starting Friday, August 3. This introduction to the fascinating study and collection of insect specimens, creatures which comprise 80% of the animal kingdom world, is being offered to youngsters 8 to 12 years of age.

The workshop instructor, Mrs. Joan Scancarrelli, has traveled in tropical rainforests, has had a life-long interest in insects, and for a number of years has been a Long Island tour guide, acquainting children with the teeming world of tiny animals sharing this planet with man.

The workshop registration fee is $3.00, payable at the Gregory Museum at the August 3 meeting or by mail to the Gregory Museum, Heitz Place, Hicksville, 11801. The fee will cover the cost of craftwork supplies for the four August Friday morning sessions.

Among the session topics and activities planned are: "Who's Who in the Insect World"; "Copy Cats and Fakers" with children creating or "making a bug"; "The Zoo Below" and learning how to collect insects and "Good Guys and Bad Guys" and the skill involved with mounting a take-home butterfly specimen.

Workshop participants will have a number of opportunities to study the large and beautiful collection of butterflies and moths from all over the world gathered by the museum's founder, Dr. Gardiner Gregory and on permanent display at the Museum.

Moment Of Silence On Next School Agenda

The next meeting of the Hicksville Board of Education is scheduled for Wednesday, August 1, at 8:15 p.m. Among the items on the agenda for this regular business meeting is the vote on reinstating the observance of a moment of silence into the opening exercises at the beginning of the school day.

Board President William P. Bennett invites all members of the community to attend the meeting to be held in the Conference Room of the Administration Building on Division Avenue.

State, Town Agree On Landfill Probe

Attorney General Robert Abrams and Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry G. Williams have announced an agreement with the Town of Oyster Bay for an extensive investigation of possible toxic chemical contamination of groundwater in the area between the Old Bethpage municipal landfill and the public drinking water supply wells of the Village of Farmingdale. This investigation will involve a series of exploratory borings and groundwater monitoring wells designed to safeguard nearby drinking water supplies by locating any contaminants seeping from the landfill. The Town has estimated that the program will cost in excess of one million dollars.

The agreement was approved yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Charles P. Sifton.

The agreement also provides that, based on the investigation results, the Town will recommend a course of remedial action for the landfill and any nearby areas which may be threatened by toxic chemicals. The Town has also agreed to perform all cleanup work at the site required by Federal and State law, as well as by any applicable regulations. Control of methane gas, which has been found throughout the landfill and its environs, is also provided for in the agreement.

The consent order arose out of a lawsuit filed by the Attorney General's office last December against the Town of Oyster Bay, and several corporations, including the Occidental Chemical Corporation, formerly known as Hooker Chemical & Plastic Corp., of Hicksville; Cerro Conduit Company, Inc. formerly Cerro-Wire & Cable Corp. of Syosset and Grumman Corporation of Bethpage. The suit, filed in Federal Court in the Eastern District on December 9, 1983, alleges that the Town and the corporate defendants are liable under the Federal Superfund Act as well as under various state laws for creating, maintaining and failing to correct the existing environmental problems at the landfill, including the existence of vinyl chloride, toluene, xylenes, benzene, chloride, iron, manganese, zinc and other organic and inorganic chemicals in the groundwater beneath the landfill.

The corporate defendants--Occidental, Cerro and Grumman--have refused to participate financially in the programs provided for in the consent order. Further legal action will be taken against these defendants.

The matter is being handled for DEC by John Greenthal, Director of the Division of Environmental Enforcement, and Michael Tone and Louis Evans, attorneys in that Division. Technical personnel of both the Department of Law and Department of Environmental Conservation will oversee the implementation of the investigative program.

Litigation and negotiations for the Attorney General are being handled by Assistant Attorneys General Robert Osar and James Periconi, under the supervision of James Sevinsky, Chief of the Environmental Protection Bureau.

"Mouse Roared" Library Film

The Hicksville Public Library will show the film, "The Mouse That Roared" on Friday, July 27 at 8 p.m. and Saturday, July 28 at 3 p.m.

"The Mouse That Roared" is a British comic gem in which Peter Sellers plays three roles: the Duchess, the Prime Minister and a military simpleton of the Ducy of Fenwick. Facing bankruptcy, Fenwick declares war on America. Fenwick unexpectedly wins and all the major powers must come to terms. Jean Seberg also appears in this movie. It will be shown in the Community Room which is air conditioned for your comfort. There is no admission charged and everyone is invited.

The names of the recipients of the Frank Chlumsky Memorial Award, Donna Villazon and Maria Rodriguez, were announced at the graduation ceremonies of Hicksville High School. This award has been made possible by the family and friends of the beloved "Uncle Frank" Chlumsky, and is presented to two Hicksville High School graduates who have demonstrated outstanding activity in the form of service to the community. The fund is administered by the Hicksville Kiwanis Foundation.

Miss Villazon and Miss Rodriguez were invited to the July 11 Hicksville Kiwanis Club meeting for the presentation of awards. Unfortunately, Donna Villazon could not attend, but Maria Rodriguez received her award from Frances McKillop, the daughter of the late Frank Chlumsky. In making the presentation, Mrs. McKillop congratulated Maria, wished her well in her future endeavors and encouraged her to continue to serve her community as Frank Chlumsky had served his. In the photo, Maria Rodriguez is shown with Mrs. McKillop, on the right, and Dr. Keith Pastuch, the Chairman of the Kiwanis Scholarship and Awards Committee, on the left.

Children's Safety Town Program

Bicycle riding can be fun and enjoyable. However, bicycling can be dangerous if it is not done correctly. It is important to teach children at a young age the importance of obeying traffic rules, the basis of traffic safety. In keeping with this philosophy the Nassau County Police Department will conduct a Bicycle Safety Program. It will be conducted at Children's Safety Town, located adjacent to Parking Field #1 in Eisenhower Park, East Meadow. The program is for Nassau County residents, between the ages of 7 to 9 (accompanied by a parent or guardian). Classes start at 9:30 a.m., every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from July 17 through August 30. A class is formed from the first 30 children who arrive, first come, first serve. It is a two-hour program, consisting of one-hour classroom instruction and one-hour practical experience on the road network in the town. No fee for bicycle are required.

Letters

The following letter is printed by request.

Dear Supervisor Colby,

During the past year we have written to our Councilman, Mr. Tom Clark regarding the deplorable condition of our neighborhood caused by the heavy flow of tractor trailers day and night. We have sent petitions signed by the residents and attended a meeting held on the premises of Remington Aluminum last November. Another resident, whose home is adjacent to the Remington Aluminum Co. on Andrews Road, and I have taken pictures of the trucks leaving and entering Andrews Road on a given day. We also took pictures of the trucks using Grove Street all day long, and these pictures were mailed to Mr. Clark. As recently as three weeks ago, we took pictures of a bad accident involving a truck, a car and a motorcycle which took place at the intersection of Grove Street and Bethpage Road, around 4:30 on a Saturday. There was another accident that same week at approximately the same location. Our streets have become expressways and the speed limit of 40 mph is not observed.

Our neighborhood is zoned residential, but we are plagued with noise, dirt, fumes and heavy traffic. Our little street, Grove Street, is lined with private homes, but it has become an industrial park, and Eastern Tile Co., Sears, Bill's Towing Co. all in addition to Remington Aluminum tractor trailers, use our street as an access to Route 107. My husband and I cannot enjoy outdoor living and the only relief we have is to keep our house tightly closed, with an air conditioning unit operating. The summer months are unbearable. Can anything be done to make our neighborhood a bit more peaceful and quiet?

Sincerely,
 Norma J. Levison

THE TOWN Republicans are going to get into gender politics. They are looking to get a woman on the Town Board to fill the place of Sal Mosca if Mosca gets the Family Court judgeship he is seeking in Nov. They are coming up with Fanny Corsetino, the deputy Town Clerk, for the spot. She wouldn't be the first Town woman Board member by any count, Marjorie Post was on the Board 27 years ago. The Town Clerk, Ann Ocker, has been holding down the clerk job for many years having replaced Bud O'Keefe. But the trend to seek women is increasing. Let's hope that ability will be the real criterion. A TWO inch needle turned up inside a Tangy Taffy bar that a Levittown woman bought on July 15. The Williamsport team beat Central Nassau, 5-2 in their first game of the Williamsport tournament. A fine job pitching by Mike Rose. Mike also hit an out-of-the-park home run. The entire team played well.

This team faced Plainview next beating them 5-1. An excellent job on the mound by Paul Mannillino, who gave up two hits. Mike Rose hit another home run, bringing in two runs. James Curley and Mike Rose combined for four hits. Mark Petro and James Curley combined for two RBIs. This was an errorless ball game. Team effort is where its at. Manager: Al Melendez; Coaches: Ron D'Amelia, Bob Rose

The Sr. Williamsport team defeated Plainview, 5-4, becoming District #33 champions.

Although Plainview scored 3 runs in the first inning, on a three run home run, Eddie Rothschild came back to pitch 4 strong innings with 6 Ks. Eddie Rothschild's RBI single in the second inning, brought in a run for Hicksville. Plainview scored their last run in the top of the third.

Excellent base running by George Eng and sloppy fielding by Plainview, in the bottom of the fifth, enabled Hicksville to score 2 runs. Tom Zagajski came in to pitch the last two innings, holding Plainview scoreless.

Hicksville was now trailing Plainview, 4-3, going into the bottom of the seventh. Hicksville loaded the bases and Richie Notaro hit a long double, scoring the tying and winning runs, for an exciting end to this game. Phil Campisi and George Eng each scored 2 runs. George Eng and Richie Notaro each had 2 hits.

On Tuesday, Hicksville defeated Deer Park, 17-10. With the lead going back and forth throughout the game, Hicksville was trailing 11-8 in the bottom of the sixth. The Sr. Williamsport team broke it open, scoring 9 runs and taking the lead.

The offense was led by Tom Zagajski, who went 3 for 3 with a home run and 3 RBIs, and John Senise who went 2 for 2, 2 doubles and 3 RBIs. Also contributing was Jim Malone with 3 RBIs. Nick Petrelli, Eddie Greaney, and Rich Notaro each had solid hits.

Manager: John Senise; Coaches: Phil Campisi, Tom Zagajski

Girls Seniors

Hicksville used the big inning, scoring 4 in the first inning and 7 in the fourth inning to put the game away and take the District #33 Senior Softball crown for the second consecutive year. Hicksville's bats knocked in 13 runs, while pitching and defense held Freeport to 3 hits and one run. Debbie Dilallo had 3 hits and scored 3 runs, while Karen Osback and Marie Moone drove in 2 runs each. Liz Macaluso and Kim Zagajski combined to pitch an outstanding game, collecting 8 Ks. Jennifer Mezeul backing up in centerfield, made a fine throw to get the runner going to third base and Kim D'Amelia made the play of the game with a running one-handed grab in the gap.

It is reported, with much regret, that the Sr. Girls lost their next game to Bellmore-Merrick, 8-5, and were thus eliminated from the Kalamazoo tournament. Manager: Tom Zagajski; Coaches: Neil Mezeul, Gepe Bacchi, Charlie Moone

Clarion Ensemble At Library

The Clarion Chamber Ensemble will be performing at the Hicksville Public Library on Friday evening, August 3 at 8 p.m. Michele Grossman, Director/clarinetist and Marilyn Sherman-Lehman, pianist, founded the Clarion Chamber Ensemble to explore the literature of the clarinet as a solo instrument and in various combinations with other instruments. Their numerous classical, romantic and contemporary programs have been performed before audiences throughout New York. The program will include works of Schumann, Poulenc, Brahms and Rossini. This concert is free and held in the Community Room of the library which is air conditioned. Adults and young people are welcome.

Michele Grossman is a Hicksville resident. She is a graduate of the Aaron Copland School of Music and a clarinet student of Leon Russianoff and Naomi Drucker. Miss Grossman has recently been named "Young Concert Artist of Long Island" by the Arts Council of Freeport. She has performed as guest soloist with the Long Island Composers Alliance; the Parmir Chamber Players; the Albert Einstein Symphony and as a member of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. Miss Grossman has also performed in a vast number of concert halls on Long Island.

Marilyn Sherman-Lehman received her Master of Music Degree from the Manhattan School of Music. She was a piano student of Blanche Abram and a chamber music student of Artur Balsam and appeared as soloist with many symphony orchestras. She is a 1984 recipient of the Nassau County Distinguished Artist Series and director of the Parmir Chamber Players.

Zone Change Denied In Old Beth

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes announced that the Town Board had denied a request for a change of zone by the Haypath Holding Company of Old Bethpage.

Said Hynes, "Haypath Holding Company sought to change an existing 'C' Residence District to an 'F' Business District for the purpose of maintaining six doctors offices, fifteen examination rooms and other related medical use offices."

At a public hearing held on June 12, residents of the neighborhood expressed concern over insufficient parking, noise and potentially hazardous traffic conditions.

Hynes added, "the rejection of this application is in keeping with past actions of the Town Board in refusing to allow the encroachment of a business use into a residential community."

Resident Promoted

The management of Scandinavian Gallery is pleased to announce the promotion of Gail Giella to manager of its store in Roosevelt Field Shopping Center, Long Island. A resident of Bethpage, Giella formerly held the position of acting manager.

Oyster Bay Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker takes a turn at bat during a recent game between the Town's two senior citizen softball teams, the Pirates and the Tigers. The Pirates' John Wilken of Bethpage waits his turn at bat while the Tiger's Paul Seeback of Plainview catches. For the past two seasons the Tigers have clinched the championship of their league.

Baseball Lore Library Program

The Hicksville Public Library will present a program that should appeal to young and old alike. Thursday, August 9 at 8 p.m., Michael Klar, an experienced collector of baseball memorabilia, will explain the hobby of Baseball Collectibles and show some of his own collection - uniforms worn by Pete Rose, Tom Seaver, Willie Mays... official major league bats autographed by Steve Garvey, Pete Rose, Mike Schmidt...baseballs signed by Babe Ruth, Mickey Mantle, Hank Aaron, Sandy Koufax, Reggie Jackson...and baseballs signed by entire World Series teams. This program will be held in the Community Room, which is air conditioned, and everyone is invited. There is no admission charged.

Pen Pal Exch. At Library

The summer months are a good time to write to your new pen pal. The Children's Room of the Hicksville Public Library is participating in the Summer Pen-Pal Exchange Program and there is still time to join. Any Hicksville child, 1st grade up to 6th, who would like a pen-pal can fill out a special form indicating age and special interests. The form will be sent to the Suffolk Library Association which will match pen-pal applications from upstate New York and Tyler Texas. All pen-pal applications must be submitted during July and August only, and everyone will receive one pen-pal match. Further details and forms available at the Library.

Your Social Security

Benefit estimates now available

Q. I'm 60 years old; I plan to retire when I become 65. I know what the amount of my company pension will be, but I need some idea of what my Social Security benefit would be at age 65. Is there any way I can get an estimate? — Z.C.

A. Yes. Improvements in our computer system now make it possible for your local Social Security office to provide benefit estimates for people age 60 and older.

Q. My niece, recently married, received a letter from a company which offered to handle her name change on Social Security records. This company said that for a $10 fee they would take care of the clerical details.

Is this against the law? — A.K.

A. This does not violate any law. However, it is not necessary to pay to have any Social Security record changed. This service is provided without charge at any Social Security office.

Q. I live some distance from the Social Security office and I don't drive. It is difficult for me to get there. Besides, I hate sitting and waiting.

Is it possible that I could file my retirement claim by telephone? — P.N.

A. Yes. You can save yourself a trip. Applications for retirement, Medicare and survivor benefits after a death in the family can all be filed by telephone.

Call your local Social Security office and ask about teleclaims.

Q. My husband has been talking about taking a trip abroad. I would like to go, but I'm concerned about hospitalization in Europe if one of us becomes ill. Will Medicare pay for hospital costs in Europe? — J.C.D.

A. Medicare cannot pay for hospital or medical services outside the United States. Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands are considered part of the United States along with the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Our Children

Special Ed teachers have touch job

By Willard Abraham
Ph.D.

Q. I'm writing to praise you for the answer you gave the teacher who feels Special Education teachers have it so easy. Because of people like that one, Special Education students are isolated even more.

I am the parent of a 14-year-old learning disability child. I can't tell you the hard work and dedication my son's teacher devotes to all his students. I am a parent who works closely with my son's teacher and with my son, too.

The teacher who wrote to you is going back to the Dark Ages.

An increasing number of regular classroom teachers these days are well aware of the difficult tasks taken over by teachers of handicapped children. One reason is that more of them than ever take college and university courses in Special Education as well as those which prepare them to teach in regular classrooms.

Besides, teachers as a group are among the most sensitive, compassionate workers in our society. They'd have to be to put up with all the criticism as well as the kind of salaries they receive, and still keep their eyes on the target of helping children with special needs.

Q. I'm just 15 years old, and I know your column is for parents. But it's about children, and since I'm one of them, I have a question to ask you.

How do you deal with prejudice when it comes right into your own home? The problem is that I have two uncles who often visit us and they get a lot of pleasure in telling stories and so-called jokes about people. They are always about minorities, and it just turns my stomach.

I've told my parents how I feel, and although they agree with me, they won't tell these uncles what either they or I think.

What can I do about this situation?

A. You probably have three choices: Tell them how you feel, politely and calmly; excuse yourself whenever you believe one of their stories is coming on; suffer in silence.

The least satisfying is perhaps the last; the most satisfying is the first, because you'll get your feelings off your chest.

The easiest route to follow might be the one of leaving the room. That may be enough of a protest for you right now. But there may come a time when you'll be ready to share your feelings with them.

In the meantime, this bit of encouragement to express one's think about. A German pastor wrote it during World War II before being sent to a concentration camp. His name was Rev. Martin Niemöller.

"In Germany, the Nazis first came for the communists, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a communist. Then they came for the Jews, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a Jew. Then they came for the trade unionists, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a trade unionist. Then they came for the Catholics, and I didn't speak up because I was a Protestant. They they came for me, and by that time there was no one left to speak for me."

Q. Tell me if you think I'm "selfish" and "narrow-minded" if I don't give my daughter the kind of wedding she wants. She uses both of those words in describing me.

I am a widow in my 60s, living on a pension from the job I had for 30 years, Social Security, and a little insurance my husband left me. It's an adequate income for me, but certainly not lavish.

My two sons and a daughter, all much older than this one, had modest, nice weddings, so I don't know where the young one gets her fancy ideas. She wants it to be in the most expensive hotel in town and says she has a list of 500 people to invite. (I can't even think of more than 50 friends and relatives of hers and mine that I'd want there.)

Such a wedding would cost many, many thousands of dollars, and I'm just heartsick and so worried about trying to finance it.

Your advice is always so good related to parents and children. Please help me out.

A. In books by Thomas Gordon for parents and teachers he talks about "ownership of the problem." It's an appropriate thought in your situation because the problem is not "owned" by you. It belongs to your daughter, or perhaps to her future husband and his family. If it is theirs and not hers, she will have to deal with it — but without your help.

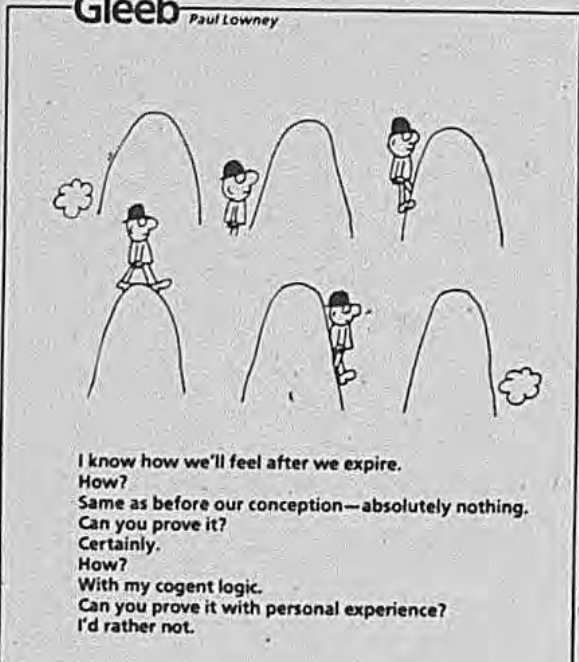

Fact No. 1 is that you just can't pay for such a wedding. Fact No. 2 is that you probably want her to have a satisfying one, but it will just have to be on a much less grand scale. Fact No. 3 is that these days it is certainly not unheard of for the groom and his family to contribute toward the cost.

You may want to share these "facts" with her, without guilt or defensiveness on your part.

Isn't it interesting that our involvement with our children goes on and on, but often in a pleasant way? Most of us are grateful that it doesn't end with childhood or adolescence.

Gleeb

Paul Lowney

I know how we'll feel after we expire.

How?

Same as before our conception—absolutely nothing.

Can you prove it?

Certainly.

How?

With my cogent logic.

Can you prove it with personal experience?

I'd rather not.

Adults. Tell us why you can't come to college. We'll tell you how you can.

Many of our adult graduates have had great reasons not to come to college.

Like Joan E., Class of '82, whose family commitments and full-time job seemed to take all of her time. She told us about it and we told her about our once-a-week schedule that she could easily fit into hers.

Or Bill D., '80, who didn't see how he could come to college and still make ends meet. At Adelphi, he qualified for a financial aid package and earned prior learning credits that allowed him to finish his education.

Or Mark K., '82, whose schedule didn't permit him to take the credits he wanted. At Adelphi, he took 6 courses (24 credits) at home using the TV, radio and self-paced at-home courses. The Extended Learning Program at Adelphi made access to education even more accessible to him.

Or even Sandy S., '81, who worried that her previous credits wouldn't be accepted. We not only accepted her credits, but she completed her degree in a year's time.

If you'd like to come to college, but don't see how you can, talk to one of our counselors. The first thing you'll learn at Adelphi is how to solve your problem. And, you can do that at Adelphi's Manhattan, Nassau, and Suffolk locations. And that's free.

Closing out a big week of road racing was the Bellport Clipper Classic on Sunday evening July 15. POBRRC's Larry Davidson was the Race Director of this first time race, and a contingent of thirteen POBRRCers took the trip to eastern Long Island to help make it a success. Bert Jablon (19:33) and Mike Smith (19:53) turned in the top Club performances, with Bert taking home the 1st place trophy in the men's 55-59 age group. Saturday, July 14 was a special day for local runners—the 9th annual running of the Frank Cucu Memorial Race in Oyster Bay hamlet. Several members of POBRRC were on hand for this tough 3.8 mile run, which Joan D'Auria, left, outgoing president of the Glen Cove/Hicksville/Syosset League of Merry, passes the gavel to her successor, Lucille Delles (Plainview resident) at the 24th Annual Installation Luncheon held at the Milleridge Cottage in Jericho. Mrs. Delles was among the 1984-85 officers installed by Rev. Msgr. Edward L. Melton, President of Mercy Hospital's Board of Directors and Administrator, St. Agnes Cathedral.

During the fiscal year 1983, $352,306 was raised by the 14 Mercy Leagues with a myriad of fund-raising activities. These ranged from house tours to the very successful Cocktail Party-Auction held in June. Additionally, the 2300 league members volunteered more than 19,500 hours in service at the hospital's Main Information Desk, Gift Shop, Patients' Library, Thrift Shop and in non-medical services to patients. Mercy Hospital in Rockville Centre was established in 1913 by the Nursing Sisters, Congregation of the Infant Jesus.

Station Wagon Fire Probed

The Arson Squad reports the details of an arson that occurred in Hicksville at 10:50 p.m., July 18.

A 1977 Chevrolet station wagon was set on fire at the intersection of Columbia Road and Berkshire Lane, Hicksville. A male white was seen leaving the area.

The fire was extinguished by the Hicksville Fire Department under the direction of Chief McGee. Two trucks and twelve men responded.

The investigation is being conducted by Det. Jay Rozzi of the Arson Squad and Fire Marshall Greg Caronia.

Operetta Perf. At Beth. Park

An evening of operetta will highlight the fourth week of CAPA's sponsored summer programs in the park for Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman Salvatore R. Mosca.

Opera Northeast will perform at the community park on Thursday, August 2, beginning at 8:15 p.m. In the event of rain, the program will be held in the Bethpage High School auditorium.

"For the past twelve years, Opera Northeast has been delighting audiences both here and in Canada with productions that are a unique blend of the traditional and the innovative," Mosca said. "Critics have hailed the group as 'unusually successful' and 'very special,' which is borne out by the fact that their four national tours were sold out."

For this performance, selections will include excerpts from "Die Fledermaus", "Naughty Marietta" and "The Merry Widow".

For children, CAPA will sponsor the Motion Picture in a program entitled "The Magic of Movement" on Monday July 30, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

For further information contact CAPA at 795-4707.

Quality Or Quantity?

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results
is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Eat Yourself Slim

Special diet for athletes

By Shirley
Bright Boody
Registered Dietitian

The long-awaited Olympic Games will soon become a reality in Los Angeles, and for the short two-week period, most of us will sit mesmerized in front of our television sets, watching superb athletes perform.

What makes them so great? Do they know something we don't know? Probably yes.

For one thing, they have learned to rev up their bodies to peak performance levels, while the rest of us may be limply sitting by with mushy muscles and protruding stomachs, watching them with envy.

Is there a special diet that contributes to athletic performance that maybe the rest of us could use? Yes, and it is very different today from the old ideas of yesterday. Remember the old-time football coach who insisted his players eat the biggest steak they could find, the rawer, the better - just before the big game? Or just as bad, the "all protein" diet that was supposed to make big muscles even bigger?

Now after considerable research, we have learned some new techniques in eating for increased muscle performance, as well as better endurance levels.

During prolonged exercise, muscle glycogen becomes depleted and low blood sugar develops, causing fatigue and exhaustion. Glycogen is a carbohydrate stored in the muscle that converts to sugar during muscular work. The more glycogen stored in the muscles, the better the performance and endurance.

It was discovered that a diet manipulation called "carbohydrate loading" with a high carbohydrate diet dramatically improved athletic endurance because it caused a considerable increase in the glycogen stored in muscles. Less oxygen is required to burn carbohydrate than to burn fat. Subjects in the research studies on the high-carbohydrate diet stored almost twice as much glycogen as those on a regular mixed diet.

However, unless the athletic event lasts more than one hour, the carbohydrate loading diet may not be necessary. Endurance events are more apt to gain the big benefits from it. Carbohydrate loading follows:

To deplete muscle glycogen stores, the athlete engages in the same kind of exercise as his event (that is, a runner runs, a cyclist cycles, etc.) for 60 to 90 minutes of exhaustive exercise. The greater the depletion, the more glycogen is stored in the specific muscles used in the event.

For the next three days, a high protein, high fat diet is used, which causes an even greater depletion of muscle glycogen. Some carbohydrate must be added, though, because it is necessary to proper central nervous system functioning. (Don't ever go on an all protein diet.)

For three days just before the event, a high carbohydrate diet is eaten. The glycogen-starved muscles overcompensate and store as much as two or three times their normal glycogen. Exercise is avoided during this time to maximize storage and guard against loss.

In case you are confused about what foods are carbohydrates, they are the starches and sugars. Pastas, breads, cereals, fruits and vegetables are high carbohydrate foods.

Meats, fish, poultry and eggs are high protein foods.

Oils, butter, margarine, salad dressings and any kind of fat make up the high fat foods.

Milk is the only food that contains all three food sources - carbohydrate, protein and fat. Skim milk has all the fat removed, and low fat milk contains 2 percent fat.

Ideally, the regular diet of an athlete should include all four food groups - fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, meats, fish and poultry, milk and dairy products - just like the rest of us.

Carbohydrate loading is not for everyone, and there are considerable problems that may arise while using it. There probably will be a weight gain after the high protein, high fat days because approximately three parts of water are stored with each part of glycogen. Feelings of stiffness and heaviness may accompany the weight gain, and could be detrimental in certain sports where the weight of the body is important to performance. Inability to lift legs easily and feeling stale, weak and irritable may also accompany the first phase when the glycogen is being depleted.

The second phase of loading the diet with carbohydrate may also cause problems of osmosis and produce nausea.

The body seems to catch onto this trick of glycogen loading of muscles if used more than two or three times a year, and may begin to store less glycogen as a result.

Nine Youths To Be Honored

County Executive Francis T. Purcell announced today that nine teenagers from the Hicksville area will be among the 121 youngsters honored at a Youth Showcase sponsored by the Nassau County Youth Board, to be held at Hofstra University on Saturday, July 28 at 3 p.m. Recipients of the awards were selected by local youth organizations for their personal achievements. In addition to the awards ceremony, the showcase will feature entertainment such as breakdancing, dramatic presentations, a fashion show, disco music, singing, and dancing, all performed by members of local youth organizations.

"Young people make an important contribution to the quality of life in Nassau County," Purcell said. "We want the public to know that we have some wonderful young people here in Nassau County. They are a credit to their families and communities and should be recognized for their efforts and determination for self improvement."

The week of July 21, designated by Purcell as "Youth Appreciation Week" throughout Nassau County, featured many special events and activities culminating in the Youth Showcase.

OVER 20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

It's up to us.

New York State is a great state in which to live, work and raise a family. We can be proud of our place in world commerce, industry and in the quality of our lives. But one of our greatest sources of pride is often overlooked, that being our huge forest preserves, wetland and marsh areas, and abundant fish and wildlife.

Now New Yorkers have an opportunity to help protect this unique heritage of wildlife so vital to the quality of life we all enjoy. "Return a Gift to Wildlife" is a program into which you may voluntarily contribute when you complete your state tax form. By checking off Line 18 on the long form or Line 12 on the short form, you can make a contribution to the New York State Conservation Fund. Monies collected have been dedicated by the State Finance Law to the protection, management and extension of wildlife in our great state.

The Need Has Never Been Greater

Hard economic times dictate hard financial decisions. This year, the federal government has already eliminated endangered species aid, jeopardizing the restoration of a number of birds and animals native to New York. In addition, thousands of acres of grassland, wetland, marshland and forest that are critical to the survival or extension of New York's wildlife are eliminated or disrupted each year. The New York State "Return a Gift to Wildlife" program is an important step towards a lasting solution to these problems, and an investment in the future of our wildlife.

Return a Gift to Wildlife

An Effective Program

Like the environment which only thrives when the whole ecosystem is addressed, the areas of work to be addressed through tax contributions are broad and comprehensive. The largest single element is earmarked for habitat protection so critical to wildlife perpetuation. A species management program will be strengthened to help maintain all species of fish and wildlife at desirable population levels for human enjoyment. A third element is the public use program which will provide increased opportunities for enjoying fish and wildlife. Lastly, the plan calls for greater awareness development of fish and wildlife values through the creation of better educational resources and information services.

Consider the added dimension wildlife brings to your life. Won't you return a gift through a contribution on Line 18 of the long form or Line 12 of the short form of your State tax return. Your gift is tax deductible on your 1983 tax return.

Input Callers Mixed In Relation To Ferraro

Input callers are mixed in their opinions of Geraldine Ferraro as Vice Presidential choice in answer to this question: "Do you think that the selection of Geraldine Ferraro has strengthened or weakened the Democratic ticket?" Here are some of the answers:

STRENGTHENED TICKET

The selection of Geraldine Ferraro has strengthened the Democratic ticket. This is borne out by the polls immediately after the selection which showed the Democratic slate better than the Republican slate. Up until that time Mondale alone had been trailing by ten or more points. It was a wise selection. J.R.

NO EFFECT

The selection of Ferraro as the vice presidential candidate will have no effect over the long run. It was a novelty and it did show that Mondale is a liberal in deed as well as in word. But the long fight will have to belong to the Presidential candidate and the campaign will tell how that works out. K.R.

FOOLISH SELECTION

I think the selection of Geraldine Ferraro was a foolish one. It seemed to be colored by the idea of exploiting the use of a woman as a candidate. Most people believe she would have not been given the choice if she were not a woman because she did not have the qualifications or the campaign experience needed for the job. If you are going to give preference to candidates because of sex then that is discrimination all over again and does nothing towards getting the best person for the job. I think the voters will be turned off because of this selection. G.R.

SLIGHT EDGE

I believe that the selection of Ferraro will give Mondale a slight edge and it might be enough to win him the Presidency. But he will have to do better with his campaign than he did in the Primaries. Most people in the Democratic party felt that Gov. Cuomo would make a better candidate but that they had to honor Mondale's work in the Primaries. Few people were ecstatic with his campaign. L.E.

MORE GROUPS

In one way the selection of Geraldine Ferraro was a big asset. It got a lot of that negative attitude in the Democratic Party out of the way. Many more groups are in favor of Mondale now and that will help even the scales for the real battle. It was a good move. W.T.

CRITICISM

Mondale did not handle the selection of the Vice Presidential candidate right and got himself a lot of criticism for not being a forceful leader. But the selection was the best that could be made. I do not think that anyone is going to refuse to vote for the ticket because of Ferraro and some will vote for it who might have stayed at home. It was a wise choice. J.Y.

HELPS A MAN

I think that the Ferraro nomination is an outright sham and an insult to women. They are being used as a pawn to elect a man to be President. Anyone who thinks that is a victory doesn't know what it is all about. L.E.

A MISTAKE

Four weeks ago I took the position in this column that neither Hart nor Jackson would get the number two spot. I also said that I didn't feel it was yet the moment for a woman or a black to fill it and this was before Mondale made his choice. I also ventured that Governor Cuomo might be called upon and from the ecstatic reaction to his speech at the convention, it seems obvious that the Democrats missed the boat! However, the fact that Cuomo favors Gerry is a plus in New York but I don't think it cuts any ice in New England. Trying to be as objective as I can, I don't believe that the Ferraro choice really strengthened the Democratic ticket. For one thing, if women really want everything to be equal, this is a real test case. Ferraro's entrance into the battle has already overemphasized the fact that she is a woman with all the delicate nuances and concessions to femininity that e...tails - little things like who should go first; artificiality in normal body language expression; how to speak to or about her; etc. It certainly can't help but place added behavioral constraints on Mondale and I guess to a lesser extent upon Ferraro. In my opinion, despite the euphoria and Gerry's own record of individual accomplishment, I think the Democrats made a mistake. P.G.C.

A Forty Year Old Reminder

By Sanford H. Weinberg

Forty years ago July 20, German officer Count Klaus von Stauffenberg attempted to kill the then dictator of Nazi Germany, Adolf Hitler, at his headquarters, the Wolf's Lair.

Stauffenberg belonged to the organizational department of the army high command and therefore had the opportunity to travel extensively. He was also sufficiently high up in the hierarchy to have direct access to Hitler.

The Fuehrer had scheduled a conference in the Lagerbaracke, a single story wooden multi-purpose prefabricated building at the Wolf's Lair for the morning of July 20. Hitler and twenty-one high ranking officers including Stauffenberg were to attend.

Count Stauffenberg carried, in his briefcase, a two pound bomb of simple construction containing an explosive, hexite, which gives off no fumes. When a glass capsule containing acid was broken, the wire holding back the firing pin from the percussion cap was gradually eaten away by the acid. Therefore, the exact time it took for the acid to eat away the wire was known. An additional advantage was that this mechanism also worked in complete silence.

In the conference room, Stauffenberg took his place near the right hand of the table which rested on two heavy oak slabs. He placed his brief case on the floor at the inner side of the leg of the table closest to where Hitler would stand. It was placed there upright by the Count in order to blow off Hitler's legs and kill him.

The Count then left the conference room on the pretext that he was going to receive a phone call from his office in the War Ministry located in Berlin. It concerned a question of some information needed for his report to Hitler.

Another officer at the conference, Colonel Brandt, moved the brief case to the outer side of the leg of the table, either because it was in the way or he was vaguely aware that it contained some danger. This move by Brandt most likely saved Hitler from death.

As the dictator leaned across the table surveying a map, the entire room which was 32 feet long and 15 feet wide dissolved in a blinding sheet of flame. Of the twenty-two men in the room four were dead or near death including Hitler's chief adjutant, General Schmidt. Three others were wounded more or less severely. Hitler received flash burns on his legs, cracked eardrums, burns on his right arm and a superficial wound on the right hand. He was dazed and shaken but no more. Needless to say, the attempt by Stauffenberg failed.

Klaus von Stauffenberg was one of a small body of dedicated officers that formed around General Ludwig Beck as early as the summer of 1940. They distrusted Hitler and feared what would happen when the German army fell into Hitler's hands. Although most of these dedicated officers were intelligent and highminded, they were incompetent as conspirators. They talked too much and spent an inordinate amount of time discussing the nature of the government that would replace Hitler. Notwithstanding the fact that they continually postponed attempts to assassinate Hitler, July 20th's attempt on Hitler's life was Stauffenberg's fourth try.

The Nazi leader was difficult to kill. He wore a bullet-proof vest and in addition was protected by three and a half pounds of laminated steel plate in his military cap. He always gave careful thought to plans about issues connected with his safety. His bodyguards were all sharpshooters. His travel timetable was known only to a few and was invariably changed at the last moment.

Stauffenberg returned to Berlin believing that Hitler was dead. Stauffenberg along with his friend General Olbricht organized the revolt by telephoning to as many army commands in Europe as possible, and did bring about a revolt in the Paris headquarters.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Hitler was only slightly wounded and that Stauffenberg was already suspected of being responsible for the bomb explosion. At Hitler's request Stauffenberg was arrested and shot in a courtyard along with three others at the heart of the conspiracy. Generals Beck and Hoepner who also were involved in the conspiracy were given the alternative of suicide or arrest. Beck shot himself and Hoepner was arrested. In revenge for the time bomb, Hitler had nearly 5,000 persons, whom he believed involved in the conspiracy, executed. On his personal orders some of them were strangled slowly with piano wire. Movies were taken of their sufferings so Hitler could watch.

A major architect of the Nazi regime and one-time Deputy-Fuehrer, Rudolph Hess, today at the age of ninety still remains a prisoner at Spandau Prison in Berlin. He was tried and convicted at the Nuremberg Trials of being a war criminal and given a life sentence for his part in those crimes.

Over the past several years, there have been official requests by three of the four war-time Allies (the Soviet Union dissenting) to have Hess released from his incarceration in Spandau. More recently officials in the government of West Germany headed by Chancellor Helmut Kohl have requested, on behalf of Hess' son, that Hess be set free on account of illness and advanced age.

Releasing Hess would be tantamount to a grant of forgiveness for his part and role in the Nazi regime as Hitler's number 2 man. He should remain in prison as a reminder to the world that there is no pardon or forgiveness for the heinous acts committed by the Nazis. Furthermore, all earnest attempts should be made by every nation to bring those Nazi criminals, who are still in hiding or protected, to trial.

There can never be a sufficient number of memorials or monuments constructed to help us remember the outrages of the Nazi era and to assure that they are never repeated again against any peoples.

Moreover, there is not enough said or written, either in Europe or in the United States of the men like Stauffenberg who attempted to rid Germany of Hitler and his henchmen. We need to remember, commemorate and memorialize those who died, on both sides, fighting Hitler and what he represented. We must never forget them and the many millions of victims of Hitler.

ENTERTAINMENT
 We took note of the Riddles Restaurant last week and decided to give it a try. Well, it is not entirely a restaurant - it is more an entertainment center. It has a rustic dining room that serves good meals at a good price such as the stuffed strip steak we had and the filet of sole florentine as part of a complete meal.

For many people Riddles also serves as a meeting and gathering place. It has zest in this respect and we found that this made it a doubly enjoyable place to eat and be at. We hope you will print this in the paper so that people will fully understand what this place is like. It is located on Old Country Road in Westbury.

AMONG THE BEST

A fine restaurant to go to is the LaRomantica. We went there last week and were delighted with the place. LaRomantica is situated in Copiague and we found it just about a mile east of Route 110 on 1163 Merrick Road.

The atmosphere of the restaurant with its lighted fountain spells welcome from the time you go in until you leave. The price is another great thing. For a complete dinner on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday from the appetizer to dessert is only $11.95. This is for an entree of veal, fish or chicken. We topped the dinner off with espresso at no extra cost.

We think this is one of the best restaurants on L.I. R.G.

TOP PLACE

The Chateau Briand is really a top place for getting everything you want to eat in one meal.

When we went there last week we had entrees of sole Florentine which is sole (very fresh sole over spinach topped with mushrooms and onions). In addition to the entree the salad bar is an amazing event. It includes soup, salad, shrimp and just about everything you can think of to make it a full feast.

The Chateau Briand is located on Old Country Road, Westbury where it is very easy to get to. The prices are moderate for so fine a dinner. Tell your readers about it. J.F.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides

Where Our Readers
Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides. A gold listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated in the past, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings".

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

(Guide to Good Dining)

You can apply to join "Reader Ratings"! If your establishment has been missed, or you have not yet answered our invitation, we invite you to call Litmor Publications at WE 1-0012 for more details as they might apply to your restaurant.

READER RATINGS

If you have questions about etiquette or dining out you may call them into WE 1-0027 and we will find the answer.

Q. When I am at a very nice restaurant with my boy friend, how do I order dinner?
P.C.
A. During the noon hour even in luxury restaurants each diner is expected to give his own order to the waiter to speed the service. Therefore, when you sit down you look at the menu presented to you either by your escort or by the waiter, and choose your main dish, the entree, first so you can decide what first course would go well with it. You then tell the waiter what you would like, usually waiting until after your meal to give your dessert order if any. The procedure is usually different at night in luxury restaurants where there is time for some old-fashioned courtesy. You wait until the menu has been handed to you by your escort or the waiter, then you wait for your escort to make some suggestions on what might be nice to eat.

Q. If you're at a very posh restaurant and you're confronted with a maitre d'hotel, captain, wine steward, and waiter, what do you give in tips?
R.C.
A. A "posh restaurant" requires no less than 20 percent, but is usually ends up being more. If you're in a less expensive restaurant, 15 to 18 percent is the usual tip.

In a very fine restaurant, add 20 percent on to the bill or the credit-card slip, but then divided the 20 percent into a major share for the waiter, and a lesser share for the captain.

For example, a dinner for two might cost $100 in a luxury spot. Twenty percent of $100 is $20, so you would give $15 to the waiter and $5 to the captain. If a wine steward served you (a sommelier) you would give him $3 for your bottle of wine. On your way out, you would give the headwaiter anywhere from one to five dollars, depending on how much attention he gave you.

A. Does one open one's napkin in the lap as soon as sitting down at table, or is it proper to wait until the food is served?
A.P.

A. Guests wait until the hostess has taken up hers before placing their own, entirely open if they are lunch-size, or in half if they are dinner napkins. Napkins are tucked in only for children. Guests' napkins at the end are gathered and laid casually to the left of the place setting. Over-night or longer - guests return napkins to rings and leave them on the right.

WONDERFUL RESTAURANT
If your readers remember Lakeville Manor as I do they will be glad to know that a wonderful new restaurant is located there now on North Shore Road in Great Neck. The new restaurant is called the Foyer.

The Foyer is really spectacular particularly now during the nice weather with its outdoor terrace.

But better than talking about the decor we have to tell you that the restaurant gave us an outstanding meal last Thursday. It was their "get acquainted" special which was everything from the appetizer through dessert and included veal parmigiana as the entree. We could have had a half chicken. The total price was only $6.95 plus tax and the food was just delicious. This is a special your readers want to hear about. It isn't available on Saturday but it's on from Wednesday through Friday and Sunday. We recommend the Foyer. G.S.

Cooking Corner

Sandwiches stack up to light fare

By Linda Susan Dudley

What do you serve when a dinky canape is too little and a heavy-laden dinner plate is too much?

How about what a French food encyclopedia describes as: "Food-stuff composed of two slices of buttered bread with some edible substance between?"

In other words, the sandwich, which has moved from the traditional ham and cheese on white — hold the mayo — to now encompass any filling rolled, stuffed or layered in an edible covering — whether it be bread, croissants, pita pockets, tortillas or even lettuce leaves.

A sandwich offers versatility. It is something that can be prepared in advance — sometimes as far ahead as the night before, as the rolled lahvosh (recipe follows) — or a meal that's do it yourself where guests pick the components of their sandwich from a smorgasbord of bases, fillings and spreads.

A sandwich can be hearty and filling or suitable for diet fare. Got the appetite of a long-haul trucker? Then make it a three-decker with everything. Working your way into last year's bikini? Make it open-face.

Here are some sandwich and sandwich filling ideas to carry you through a picnic or any other summer entertaining.

ROLLED LAHVOSH SANDWICH

1 soft lahvosh bread, laid out flat, brown side down (not the Armenian cracker, the soft lahvosh is available in Middle Eastern markets)

Top round steak, cooked medium rare, cooled, sliced paper thin

Lettuce, finely shredded

Tomatoes, thinly sliced

Dill pickle relish

Chopped black olives

Creamy horseradish sauce (recipe follows)

Place soft lahvosh on two layers of waxed paper longer than lahvosh. Layer slices of top round steak on lahvosh, cover completely except for 1½ inches at opposite end from cook. Spread thin layer of creamy horseradish sauce over beef and barely on 1½ inches at end. (Horseradish sauce will help seal rolled sandwich.) Top meat with layer of lettuce, then layer of tomato slices. Sprinkle relish and black olives lightly over all.

Roll lahvosh tightly from closest narrow end, using waxed paper to wrap securely and keep tightly sealed. Chill at least one hour or overnight. Remove and, while still chilled, slice with sharp knife to form pinwheels. Can be served with knife and fork, if desired.

Note: If using lahvosh cracker, soften by sprinkling with water on each side (too much water will tend to tear cracker and make it soggy), remove excess water with sweeping palm-of-hand motion and place cracker between layers of damp kitchen towel for 10 to 20 minutes. Don't worry about small tears; place that portion inside roll, with best portion of softened cracker as last to be rolled.

Creamy Horseradish Sauce

Combine 2 parts sour cream, 2 parts mayonnaise and 1 part horseradish. Mix thoroughly.

Note: Lahvosh can be bought in rectangle or round shapes. It comes in both the soft form or the more common cracker, a crisp bread made of wheat flour, yeast, malt and sesame seeds. It is served with many meals in the Middle East, where it is traditionally broken into pieces.

This is good finger food, especially to carry on a picnic.

HAM SALAD ROLLED IN LETTUCE LEAVES

2 cups ground ham (preferably smoked country-style for good flavor)

3 tbsps. finely chopped onion

1 tbsp. capers, chopped

3 to 4 tbsps. mayonnaise, preferably homemade

2 tbsps. Dijon mustard

6 lettuce leaves, blanched if desired

Combine all ingredients except lettuce leaves, mix well. Place about ½ cup ham salad mixture on each lettuce leaf; roll up. Chill.

CHICKEN-ASPARAGUS STACKS

1 tbsp. butter or margarine

½ cup finely chopped green onion

1 (10½ oz.) can condensed cream of chicken soup

½ cup dairy sour cream

½ cup milk

2 cups chopped cooked chicken or turkey

½ lb. fresh asparagus (or 1 8-oz. pkg. frozen)

4 rusks or toasted English muffins

In saucepan, melt butter; cook onion until tender but not brown. Stir in soup, sour cream, milk and chicken. Heat through; do not boil. Cook asparagus spears; drain. To serve, top 4 rusks with half chicken mixture. Top with 4 rusks, asparagus and remaining chicken mixture. Makes 4.

CHEESE-SALAD SANDWICH

1 tbsp. vegetable oil

1 tbsp. wine vinegar

1 tbsp. water

¼ tsp. dill weed

¼ tsp. oregano leaves

Dash pepper

4 ozs. Swiss cheese, cut into strips

½ cup sliced cucumber

¼ cup sliced radish

1 tbsp. chopped scallion

2 pita breads, 1 oz. each

Combine first 6 ingredients in bowl. Add remaining ingredients except pita breads; stir to coat cheese and vegetables. Cover and marinate in refrigerator at least 1 hour. Cut each pita bread halfway around edge and open to form pockets. Spoon ½ salad mixture into each pita pocket.

PUFFED SHRIMP AND CHEESE SANDWICHES

1 tbsp. butter

3 scallions, thinly sliced, including 2 inches of green tops

3 medium mushrooms, sliced

2 eggs, separated

1½ cups shredded Gruyere or Swiss cheese

¼ tsp. dry mustard

¼ tsp. dill weed

6 ozs. diced, cooked shrimp

6 thin slices white, whole wheat or rye bread, toasted

Paprika

In small heavy saucepan, melt butter over moderate heat. Add scallions and mushrooms and saute until golden and soft, stirring frequently. Remove from heat.

Stir in egg yolks, cheese, dry mustard, dill weed and shrimp. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into shrimp mixture. Spread equal portion of mixture on one side of each toasted bread slice. Sprinkle evenly with paprika and arrange on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake uncovered in preheated 375 F oven 15 minutes, or until puffy. Serve hot or cold. Makes 6 sandwiches.

TURKEY SANDWICH LOAF WITH MORNAY SAUCE

1 loaf (1 lb.) unsliced white or whole wheat bread

Mayonnaise or butter

10 thin slices cooked turkey breast

10 slices bacon, cooked crisp

10 thin slices tomato

10 thin slices avocado

Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Pitted black olives

Pimiento-stuffed olives

Mornay sauce

With sharp knife, trim crusts from bread and cut loaf into 3 even lengthwise slices. Toast in oven or over grill. Spread inside surfaces of toasted bread slices with mayonnaise or butter. Arrange turkey slices over bottom slice of toast and top with bacon slices. Cover with second toast slice and arrange tomato and avocado slices on second piece of toast. Season with salt and pepper and cover with third toast slice.

Gently press layers together and place loaf on large serving platter. To serve, cut crosswise into thick slices. Insert 2 thin bamboo skewers vertically through each serving and impale olives on skewers. Pass bowl of hot Mornay sauce to spoon over sandwiches. Makes 8 servings.

Variation: Substitute cheddar cheese for Swiss and/or Parmesan in Mornay sauce.

FROM OUR KITCHEN

OLIVIA & PAUL BENSEN

Two favorite mushroom recipes

By Olivia and Paul Bensen

Mushrooms have been pleasing palates around the world for thousands of years. The ancient Greeks and Romans prized mushrooms for their flavor and considered them the food of the gods. In many ancient religions, mushrooms, because of their sudden appearance and rapid decay, were considered symbolic of the ephemeral nature of existence, and played a central role in religious rites.

The commercially grown mushrooms sold in American stores are almost invariably Agaricus campestris or Agaricus bisporus, closely related types that have a button-shaped top and a fairly thick, fleshy stem. Almost every state has laws against selling wild mushrooms.

Some of the wild varieties, though, are delicious almost beyond description. The luscious chanterelles of the Pacific Northwest and the European Steinpilz make the commercial types seem boring and tasteless.

Picking your own wild mushrooms is tricky — many poisonous varieties closely resemble their edible relatives. Even experts generally examine at least 10 samples before making a positive identification. A mistake can result in anything from hallucinations to death.

Mushrooms that you buy in the store should be smooth and firm-fleshed, with no shriveling and discoloration. The caps should be closed, so that no gills are showing, and should be attached to the stems — separation indicates lack of freshness. Keep mushrooms refrigerated, and use them as soon as possible.

Commercially grown mushrooms are generally quite clean, and need only to be wiped with a damp cloth before they are cooked; never soak them. It is important to remember that mushrooms are over 90 percent water. If you are preparing a dish that combines chopped mushrooms with other foods, chop the mushrooms and wring them out in a towel to avoid making the other ingredients soggy. For recipes calling for whole mushrooms, saute them ahead of time to evaporate most of their moisture.

Today's recipe for Mushrooms Stuffed With Crabmeat is one of our favorites among the many delicious ways to stuff mushrooms. Use only the largest commercial mushrooms for stuffing. Creamed Mushrooms on Toast is delicious for lunch or breakfast. Scrambled eggs make an excellent accompaniment.

MUSHROOMS STUFFED WITH CRABMEAT

24 large mushrooms
2-3 tbsps. butter
Stuffing:
2 tbsps. butter
1 tbsps. finely chopped onion
1 small pinch thyme
1 small pinch sage
1 cup crabmeat
1/4 cup fresh bread crumbs
2 tbsps. freshly grated Parmesan
2 tbsps. dry sherry
1 egg, beaten with 1 tsp. heavy cream
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Remove stems from mushrooms. Melt 2 to 3 tablespoons butter in large frying pan and saute mushroom caps over medium-high heat for 2 to 3 minutes per side, until brown. Drain off any accumulated moisture and set mushrooms aside. Preheat broiler.

Stuffing: Melt 2 tablespoons butter in small frying pan over medium heat. Saute onion until just soft. Transfer onion and butter to mixing bowl and toss in remaining stuffing ingredients. Mix well, taste and adjust seasoning as needed.

Stuff each mushroom cap with spoonful of stuffing mixture. Place stuffed mushrooms in broiler-proof pan and broil 3 to 4 minutes, a few inches from flame, until golden brown and sizzling. Serves 4 to 6 as appetizer.

CREAMED MUSHROOMS ON TOAST

3 cups sliced mushrooms, with tough stems removed
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1 pinch chervil
3 tbsps. butter
1/2 cup heavy cream

Saute mushrooms, salt, pepper and chervil in butter over medium-high heat until browned and most of moisture has evaporated.

Stir in cream, mix well and saute 1 minute more. Spoon over 4 pieces of buttered toast.

Serves 2.

MICROWAVE

CHICKEN KIEV

4 whole chicken breasts, split, skinned and boned
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. old English-style sharp cheese spread
2 tps. instant minced onion
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup butter, melted
1 cup crushed cheddar cheese-flavored crackers
1 1/2 tbsps. taco seasoning mix

Pound each raw chicken piece with mallet to flatten. In small bowl beat together butter and cheese spread until well blended. Mix in onion and salt. Place a portion of mixture at one end of each chicken piece, dividing evenly. Roll up each piece, tucking in ends to completely enclose filling. Fasten rolls with wooden toothpicks.

Dip each roll in melted butter to cover, then coat with mixture of crackers and taco seasoning mix. Arrange rolls in 12x8x2-inch glass dish. Cover with wax paper and microwave 10 to 12 minutes, rotating dish one-half turn after 5 minutes, until done. Let stand about 5 minutes before serving. Serves 8.

Here's How

A 'weighty' solution for warped doors

Q. The sliding closet doors in a bedroom are warped and won't slide open after a water pipe broke in the ceiling. What can I do to fix the doors so they will slide again? Hope you can help. — George S

A. Remove the doors and lay them over blocks of wood or wooden horses, where they can remain undisturbed for several days.

Concave side should be up. Then place heavy weights — large stones, books, pails of water — on the high ends of the warp. The doors should straighten after a few days and should be allowed to go slightly the other way.

Before re-hanging, finish all edges and surfaces to check moisture absorption. You can use paint, shellac or varnish.

Q. Is there any way to clean the bottom of a bathtub that is rough? — E.M.M

A. Usually this condition is a sign that the porcelain coating is wearing off.

However, if it is caused by built-up scale, mix hydrogen peroxide with cream of tartar to form a paste. Apply and scrub hard with a hand brush.

Another possibility is to wash the surface with a solution of oxalic acid.

If the surface is worn away and cannot be restored by cleaning, you can have the tub resurfaced. Check the Yellow Pages in the telephone directory for companies that supply this service. I understand it is expensive.

Q. Some of the nails have begun to pop out of the plasterboard wall in one of our rooms. Should I replace them with nails of the same size or should I use longer nails? — Sam K.

A. The same size will do. But do not put them into the same holes. Remove all the old nails and plaster the openings. Drive new serrated or screw-type nails through the boards into the framing close to the old nailing spots. Plaster the heads of the new nails and they should hold indefinitely.

Q. I have a small table with a hard composition top that has become quite stained. I do not want an expensive job of recovering it. Is there anything you can suggest? — Anna K.L.

A. A couple of thin coats of quick-drying enamel should serve very well, or covering it with a plastic-coated, adhesive backed contact paper, which comes in a variety of patterns. The latter is available at many houseware, variety and hardware stores.

However, before you try either method, be sure that the surface is thoroughly cleaned of all traces of grease and dirt.

and there seem to be so many — that they must send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this column.

And please don't forget the stamp. Many have recently. Also, please don't ask for the leaflet to be sent out to several friends and relatives. The leaflets are becoming quite expensive — 1580 printed last week. And we do appreciate donations to help with this work.

Dear John: I wish to share my treatment of psoriasis with you and your readers.

I had psoriasis all over my legs, and hearing about the aloe plant being used to treat burns I decided to experiment. Every morning after showering I would break off a piece of the plant, split it open and rub it generously over the psoriasis.

When I ran out of plants, I used aloe vera gel, applying with cotton. This treatment alone seemed to dry my skin more, so I used Vaseline Intensive Care lotion after the aloe dried.

It has been 18 months since I first started this treatment and those ugly red spots are nearly gone. I hope it will help others. — Irene E.

Dear Irene: Aloe vera is good for many things.

Dear John: Please send me your Certo formula for arthritis.

Vinegar (apple cider) is good for the shingles and poison ivy, or any bites. — Mrs. Bobo H.

Dear Bobo: Thanks. Vinegar seems to be good for so many things. Whenever I mention the arthritis leaflets I must explain for the benefit of new readers —

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am a member of the Boy Scouts of America and all of the boys in my troop are taking the "Skillful Driver Pledge."

One of our guys has an uncle who works for a large oil company and he sent us this pledge. It was printed in some of their materials. I think so much of this pledge that I hope you will pass it along to all of your teen readers.

Teens can be the best drivers on the road if they will follow these rules:

1. I will be courteous to other drivers and cooperate with them by driving friendly.

2. I will consider safety above all else.

3. I will feel responsible for all who ride with me.

4. I will remain calm and vigilant at the wheel.

5. I will keep an especially watchful eye for pedestrians.

6. I will try to help other drivers when they are in difficulty.

7. I will remember that the roads belong to two-wheeled vehicles as well as cars.

8. I will see that regular maintenance and safety inspections are performed on my car.

9. I will not drive if under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

10. I will obey all traffic laws. — Mike

Mike: Thanks for taking the time to help your fellow teens.

Automobile drivers need all the help they can get. Getting behind the wheel requires a great deal of responsibility.

Dr. Wallace: I am 19 and have been smoking cigarettes (a pack a day) since I was 14. I've tried to quit several (50 or more) times but I never can.

My mom has tried to quit more times than I have but she is still puffing away, too.

I hear about all these people who have quit smoking but I haven't met any. Do people really stop smoking? I mean really stop — no smoking one now and then? — Millie.

Millie: All my smoking questions are referred to the American Lung Association (the Christmas Seal people) and they informed me that one in every three who try to quit smoking succeeds. Some quit "cold turkey" while others use the tapering-off method.

Oh, yes, since you smoke a pack a day you inhale smoke about 60,000 times in one year. If you think I'm trying to scare you — I am.

Stop smoking and start living!

Dr. Wallace: Do you get more letters from boys or girls? I think girls, but my mother says boys have more problems. — Pamela Pamela: We receive about 2,000 letters per week from teenagers and 70 percent are sent by girls. The "average" letter comes from a 15-year-old girl who is having problems with her love life.

Dr. Wallace: I want to commend you on your stand against most young marriages.

I am now 20 and have been married for over five years. My family consists of my husband, who is 22, and our three children, 4, 2 and 1.

Don't get me wrong. I love my husband and adore my three daughters with all my heart and soul but between you and me, I now wish that I had waited until I was 18 before I got married (maybe even 20).

I wish I had gone to my high school prom, joined a music club, been a cheerleader, been in a play and graduated. I enjoyed none of these. Instead, I was constantly changing diapers, feeding little hungry mouths and washing clothes.

Even though I'm only 20,

I look like I'm 30 and I feel like I'm 40. My husband? He looks 22.

All I can say is that I will do everything possible to help my daughters enjoy their teen years without the responsibilities of being a wife and mother — Clara

Clara: Thanks for sharing. It always makes a greater impact when teens hear it from their peers who "have been there," and you certainly have.

Dr. Wallace: I was going steady with Edward but I broke up because we fought too much.

Last night I was on a date with Bill and Edward started a fight with him and, to be honest, Edward beat the heck out of Bill.

I'm really proud of Edward for fighting for me and I'm debating whether or not to go back to him. What do you think? Alice Alice: I think your boy friend is a jerk and you are an immature young lady.

Wise up! Tell Edward to stay out of your life and apologize to Bill if he cares to talk with you when he finishes talking with his attorney.

Tell the doctor to use English

Dear John: We read your article in the local paper and hopefully you will give us some light on the following: Polymorfus light interuptis.

This is the diagnosis the doctors have given my son. Thank you. — Mary E.

Dear Mary: This doesn't sound like a disease I've heard of. Unfortunately, my three years of Latin have long gone after all this time.

It sounds more like a run-around. When doctors, or anyone else, start talking in technical terminology, I tell them to speak English. I think the mark of a good doctor is that he can put what he has to say in layman's language.

Dear John: Last week Millie W. wrote you concerning a problem with a burning, swollen tongue and peeling lips.

I also have a similar problem, possibly the same, medically. For the past two years I have suffered constantly with a burning tongue and lips. The tongue peels, leaving blotches, very similar to a babies' tongues when they thrush. It is ultrasensitive to hot foods and condiments. The lips burn constantly, but do not peel.

I have seen numerous doctors including a nose and throat specialist and dermatologists. All have said it is a rare condition, but none has helped me. I am 66 years old and this is more than annoying.

If any of your readers has similar problems, please write and let us know — or if you have found a doctor with a cure. — George C.

Dear John: Reference to burning, swollen tongue and peeling lips.

If she is taking antibiotics, she may be allergic to them. Also, it could be any kind of medicine. I know because I am allergic to many. Hope this helps. — Betty N.

Dear Readers: Any others have experience with this?

Dear John: Please send me your Certo formula for arthritis.

Vinegar (apple cider) is good for the shingles and poison ivy, or any bites. — Mrs. Bobo H.

Dear Bobo: Thanks. Vinegar seems to be good for so many things. Whenever I mention the arthritis leaflets I must explain for the benefit of new readers —

GET RESULTS!

Quality Or Quantity?

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results
is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Not much market for old record players

By James G. McCollam
Member, Antique
Appraisers Association of America

Q. Several years ago I inherited this Columbia Grafanola from my uncle. Can you tell me when it was made and its value?

A. Your china was made between 1894 and 1903. It is not surprising that you are confused; lots of people are. There were dozens of different marks used on Haviland china.

Q. In one shop I saw the Royal Doulton figurine "Columbine" priced at $500. In another shop the price was $150. How can one be sure that a dealer prices things fairly?

A. Royal Doulton "Columbine"

HN 1926 was made from 1928 to 1938; "Columbine" HN 2185 was made from 1957 to 1969. The former is much scarcer than the latter.

In comparing Royal Doulton figurines, the HN number is more important than the name of the character.

BOOK REVIEW: "American Premium Guide to Coin-Operated Machines" by Jerry Ayliffe; Wallace-Homestead Book Co.; 1501 42nd St.; West Des Moines, IA 50265; $9.95, plus $1.25 postage, or at your local bookstore.

A. This was made in the 1920s and would sell for about $125 to $175 in good condition.

The market for old record players is not very active.

Q. I find the different marks used on Haviland china very confusing. Mine has the enclosed mark. When was it made?

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

A friend of mine is on a very interesting trip this week. Let me tell you about it.

First she flew with her family to Seattle in the state of Washington, where the group will rent a car in which to return home. But on their way the vacationers will stop in as many national parks as possible.

They have made no reservations (except for the airplane flight) and are on no particular schedule. If they like a particular place they will stay longer. If not, they will be on their way.

Except for all that driving, my friend's vacation sounds like a wonderful idea. However, she says there are several drivers in the group which will make things easier. She is not worried that the hotels will be booked up on her journey. She is confident the group will always be able to find a place to sleep at night.

When my friend returns next week you may be sure I'll have lots of questions to ask her—and I'm also looking forward to seeing all the color photos she promised to take!

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

Policies on lodging pets vary from chain to chain of hotels and motels and even among individual units within a chain. Some do not accept pets under any circumstances. Others accept pets quite readily and even provide kennels.

Some motels and hotels allow pets to remain in their guests' rooms. Usually a deposit is required to cover any possible damage the pet might cause.

Q. We will be leaving for vacation within the next few days. Our children are begging us to take the family dog along.

The dog is well-mannered and really very little bother. However, I am worried about whether we will be able to locate lodging that will permit pets.

Also, I am worrying about our dog being exposed to fleas and other parasites.

A. Many things should be considered prior to taking a pet on the family vacation.

A dog should be used to riding in a car before you take him on a long vacation. If your dog gets sick due to motion easily or is restless while in the car, a week or two in a clean, well-operated boarding kennel may be a better vacation for everyone involved. Prior to taking your dog on vacation you should plan several short trips to determine if your dog will be a good traveler.

age the pet might cause.

You can inquire at the particular motels you plan to visit prior to traveling regarding their policies on pets or you can consult the Hotel and Motel Redbook, published by the American Hotel and Motel Association for pet policies. Most travel agents have copies of the Hotel and Motel Redbook, or it can be obtained at most public libraries.

You should take your dog's water and food bowls along. This will help your dog feel more secure in strange surroundings. A supply of food sufficient to last the duration of the trip should be taken along. Depending upon your destination, your dog's brand of food may not be available.

It is also a good idea to take a supply of water along for your pet. Water quality varies a great deal from locality to locality.

It is an absolute must that your dog wear a well-fitted collar containing his identification, rabies tag and your local dog license. Tape containing your name and destination for each day should be attached to the collar daily while on your trip.

You should stop every two to three hours to allow your dog to exercise and relieve itself. You should never leave your dog unattended in a closed car. The temperature inside your car can quickly reach 120 degrees when the outside temperature is above 80 degrees. A small dog can suffocate in a hot car within 10 minutes.

Insecticides to control fleas within kennels or hotel rooms are available through your veterinarian. Premise sprays or animal sprays can be used upon arriving at each new lodging place.

If you plan to travel across state borders, it is a law that you have health papers prepared by your veterinarian in your possession. Your veterinarian can advise you regarding immunization and precautions you should take while traveling with your dog.

Wherever you go remember that you are responsible for your dog's conduct. Very strong relationships can be greatly stressed by expecting hostesses to tolerate pets. Be sure that everyone that you will visit is informed ahead of your arrival that your dog will be along. It is much better to inform your hosts and hostesses prior to arrival than to surprise them.

Depending on the particular dog, the planned activities during the vacation, the temperament of the family members and the particular itinerary, dogs can be a real asset or a real detriment to a family vacation.

Weigh these factors carefully prior to making your decision.
