Comments were overheard, "I never knew vegetables could be good". "I hate my mother's tomatoes but these are delicious". The budget, up $44,091 over last year would carry an estimated increase of 2¢ per $100 assessed valuation bringing the total tax rate for library purposes to 90¢.

Seeking re-election to a five year term on the Library Board of Trustees is incumbent Abraham Fishman. He is running unopposed.

Suit Or No Suit?

A threat of legal action against the Hicksville School District over the formation of a Bible Study Club at the high school has been a subject of controversy.

Students Laurie Velez and Lisa Stuppello started the Christian Youth Alliance in January with the objective of Bible study as an alternate to drugs and alcohol. The club has met five times in a classroom after school and is still in operation according to school officials. A school spokesman says they are following the Federal Equal Access Statute and Hicksville District's administrative regulations which apply to all clubs and student activities that are non-curricular related.

Sharon Rubins, active in a case against the district on the silent meditation issue, questioned the Board of Education at its March general meeting on the club's use of the public address system to announce forthcoming meetings. According to Board President William Bennett, all clubs have use of the PA system and this club was not given any special consideration.

Bennett also went on to say that the district has not been served with any legal action and, as a matter of fact, the issue has not warranted official Board attention. Several groups such as the Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Congress have objected to use of the school for this purpose and Bennett feels other media have exaggerated the situation.

To the Editor:

The proposed budget for 1985-86 will be presented to the voters on April 17. Voting will be held at the Library from 12 noon to 10 p.m. The total budget is $1,095,435.44 an increase of less than 5% over the 1984 budget and carrying a tax increase of approximately 2¢ per $100.00 of assessed valuation. The tax rate is estimated at 90¢ per $100.00 for the homeowner.

The new budget provides for modest increases in materials, maintenance and a projected 5% salary increase beginning July 1st. Carpeting for the main reading room is included. All of the increases reflect rising costs and the added responsibility of maintaining the new addition to be completed in May or June. A tax rate of 90¢ per $100.00 indicates that most residents will pay only slightly more than $1. a week to support their library.

The Board of Trustees would like to make it very clear that the addition, now under construction, was financed almost entirely from interest bearing Certificates of Deposit purchased from accumulated fines and fees, and some $28,000.00 provided by the State from the 1984 Library Construction Act. Absolutely no current funds were used for the building except for stacks to shelve the estimated 30,000 plus books the addition will hold.

We plan to continue developing the book collection, one of the largest in Nassau County, and continue presenting the well attended series of concerts and films, plus the bus trips and other special services and programs. A considerable amount of attention has been focused on our collection of video cassette recording. Most of the recordings, which rent for only $1 a night, are presently popular films. We are gradually adding documentary and educational films to the collection. One of our latest purchases is an outstanding documentary film on the history of the "Shroud of Turin," which should be of interest to many of our patrons. All of the rental fees realized from these films are used to purchase additional films.

We are planning a considerable expansion of our Career Corner in the coming months. The library staff is collecting much additional material describing careers, discussing educational requirements, promotional, prospects, salary and aptitudes needed for the job. Our large collection of college catalogs will help in choosing a school or college and we have a Career Counselor, available by appointment, to provide information and counsel to those uncertain about what job to choose or those considering a new career. Call 931-1417 for appointment.

The Library has enjoyed excellent support from the Hicksville community. We ask the residents to take a short time to approve their Library's budget so that we may continue our work for Hicksville. We are holding the vote at the Library from 12 noon to 10 p.m., a decision that the Trustees believe will be of benefit to all. Anyone needing transportation to the Library to vote, please call 932-1419.

Midland Civics Meet. Tuesday

By Gene Paul

The Midland Civic Association is having its second meeting on Tuesday, April 16, at the Willet Avenue School. Although no word has been received concerning the outcome of the "White Castle" hearing, it will nevertheless be an evening in which we will congratulate ourselves on a concerted effort that was widespread and effective. It proved how valuable a Civic Association can be, and why it is important to remain visible and active in all matters pertaining not only to our northern end of Hicksville, but of all Hicksville. At this meeting, also, a slate of permanent officers and board members for the 1985-86 year will be presented by the nominating committee, which was headed by Gene Weber. Nominations from the floor are open, also.

We urge all members and prospective members to attend this meeting. There will be a time for a question-and-answer period, and we very much want your input on what your goals are for your organization-The Midland Civic Association.

Eat Yourself Slim

By Shirley Bright Boody
Registered Dietitian

Fiber vital to good diet

Dear Shirley: I have never liked "scratchy" foods, so I never eat them. By "scratchy" I mean rough or bran kinds of breads and cereals. I always prefer white bread and bland cereals, but now I have diverticulitis and I have always been bothered by constipation.

I really never paid much attention to my diet, but my doctor told me that I have to eat more fiber, and I hate it. Can you please tell me what I can eat that will help me? The doctor said to go on a high-fiber diet. Will that really do any good if I don't like the food? What does fiber do, and where am I supposed to get it? — Frank M.

Dear Frank: A lot of people have made the same mistake of disregarding their diet and then developing diverticulitis, constipation, irritable bowel problems, hemorrhoids and other related difficulties that possibly could have been prevented.

Years ago, little was known about the value of dietary fiber, and so it was ignored. Today, it is considered a vital part of a good diet, even though it does not furnish vitamins, minerals or other nutrients.

It is neither digested nor absorbed as it passes through the digestive tract, but it is extremely important, nevertheless, because it keeps all other food moving through at an optimal rate. Without adequate fiber, the digestive process is slowed down, and that's when trouble starts. It also plays a role in preventing gall bladder disease, hiatal hernia, and possibly varicose veins and appendicitis.

You can turn a low-fiber diet into a high-fiber diet easily by sprinkling bran on foods you like, or using it in casseroles, meat loaf, on salads or in breads and cereals. Peas and beans are very high in fiber, as well as acorn squash, broccoli, asparagus, zucchini and most other fruits and vegetables, especially if they have edible skins. The whole grains are excellent, and you can get used to them in your diet. You can add 2 to 4 tablespoons of Miller's bran to your food daily or you can buy commercial fiber supplements. You will be much better off with a high-fiber diet, and it's not hard to do it.

Language Teachers In Service Courses

During the February recess, Hicksville teachers Rose Pavesti (Junior High) and Richard and Annette Gentile (Senior High) participated in the unique foreign language in-service course "Languages and Cultures of the Caribbean." Classroom lectures were supplemented by on-site visitations: Willemstad, Curacao; Caracas, Venezuela; St. George, Grenada; Point-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe; St. Thomas, Virgin Islands and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The course was organized and sponsored by the Long Island Language Teachers, of which Mr. and Mrs. Gentile serve as President and Vice President respectively.

Pfc. William J. Dunleavy, son of Thomas and Margaret M. Dunleavy of 19 Vista Road, Plainview, has completed one station unit training (DSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

DSUT is a 12 week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

He is a 1984 graduate of State University of New York, Buffalo.

It's up to us.

New York State is a great state in which to live, work and raise a family. We can be proud of our place in world commerce, industry and in the quality of our lives. But one of our greatest sources of pride is often overlooked, that being our huge forest preserves, wetland and marsh areas, and abundant fish and wildlife.

Now New Yorkers have an opportunity to help protect this unique heritage of wildlife so vital to the quality of life we all enjoy. "Return a Gift to Wildlife" is a program into which you may voluntarily contribute when you complete your state tax form. By checking off Line 18 on the long form or Line 12 on the short form you can make a contribution to the New York State Conservation Fund. Monies collected have been dedicated by the State Finance Law to the protection, management and extension of wildlife in our great state.

The Need Has Never Been Greater

Hard economic times dictate hard financial decisions. This year, the federal government has already eliminated endangered species aid, jeopardizing the restoration of a number of birds and animals native to New York. In addition, thousands of acres of grassland, wetland, marshland and forest that are critical to the survival or extension of New York's wildlife are eliminated or disrupted each year. The New York State "Return a Gift to Wildlife" program is an important step towards a lasting solution to these problems, and an investment in the future of our wildlife.

An Effective Program

Like the environment which only thrives when the whole ecosystem is addressed, the areas of work to be addressed through tax contributions are broad and comprehensive. The largest single element is earmarked for habitat protection so critical to wildlife perpetuation. A species management program will be strengthened to help maintain all species of fish and wildlife at desirable population levels for human enjoyment. A third element is the public use program which will provide increased opportunities for enjoying fish and wildlife. Lastly, the plan calls for greater awareness development of fish and wildlife values through the creation of better educational resources and information services.

Consider the added dimension wildlife brings to your life. Won't you return a gift through a contribution on Line 18 of the long form or Line 12 of the short form of your State tax return. Your gift is tax deductible on your 1983 tax return.

Return a Gift to Wildlife

Another Theatre Hit By Jr. H.S. Drama

Hicksville "theater-goers" who have been thrilled by past delightful performances of the Hicksville Junior High School Drama Club should take note: You are in for another superb treat this month as the group presents "Annie" on April 25, 26 and 27.

"Annie" is the musical based on the famous cartoon strip that tells the story of the changing fortunes of an orphan. She was left in the hands of a mean matron, Miss Hannigan, who really dislikes the little girls in her care at the orphanage. Annie never stops dreaming of her parents and never gives up hope that they will come for her. She has kept this dream alive eleven years. Her rags to riches story makes for a warm, funny musical with numbers that are bright and snappy.

The Drama Club has enjoyed high success with its last three productions, "Music Man," "Bye, Bye Birdie," and "Guys and Dolls." This success is due to the high quality of the productions and the great amount and effort of all involved. Once again, the group is blessed with an abundance of great talent with a cast of 67 and an orchestra of 20 members. The production staff and crew of "Annie" numbers more than 125 people who have been kept busy putting the show together.

Appearing in the leading roles are Jessica Garnets as Annie, Richard Halstead as Daddy Warbucks, and Melissa Sheinwold as Miss Hannigan. Susan Squires plays the part of Grace, and Rooster is portrayed by Sal Noto. The roles of Lily, Molly, Pepper, and Tessie are played by Eileen Sharkey, Shira Patel, Carol Rubin, and Christine Behler.

Staff members responsible for the production include Ms. Hilary Soerber, director; Mrs. Kathleen Scheck, vocal director; Mr. Donald Holmes and Ms. Dawn Klein, scenery coordinators; and Mr. Michael Scheck, director.

Curtain time each night will be 7:30 p.m. Thursday night's performance is free to senior citizens and up to two elementary school children accompanied by a paying adult. The price of $3.00 a ticket will be one of the best bargains you will find in April. For ticket information, call Mr. Scheck at the Junior High at 933-6581.

The cast of "Annie" prepares for an exciting presentation during a recent rehearsal.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman John Venditto (second from left) presents a citation to Nassau County Detective John Staudt, who is retiring after 24 years with the Nassau County Police Department. Staudt was honored by friends and colleagues at a party held at Anton's in Hicksville. Also on hand to honor the Bethpage resident were Staudt's sons, Bill (left) and John. Staudt served in the 8th Precinct before becoming a detective with the Vehicle Theft Squad.

College Choir At Church Of Christ

The Eastern Christian College Choir from Bel Air, Maryland, will present a concert at The Church of Christ of Hicksville, 105 Broadway on Sunday, April 14 at 6:30 p.m.

The choir will be presenting "We Are Called", a musical written by Steve Fry. It is a unique experience in worship created to fill the desire of many Christians to worship the Lord through music. With song texts and dialogue based on the Psalms, Song of Solomon, Romans and Revelation, "We Are Called" expresses the desire to worship God and captures the essence of the power of worship.

The twenty-eight member choir has included Hicksville as one of the stops on their Spring Tour which will take them from Maryland to Massachusetts.

Eastern Christian College, is a four year, co-educational college which the Church of Christ financially supports.

The community is invited to attend this concert. A staffed nursery will be provided.

Bethpage Man To Be Deacon

The Most Rev. John R. McGann, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Rockville Centre, will ordain James A. Biggin of Bethpage a permanent deacon on Saturday, May 4, at 11 a.m. at St. Agnes Cathedral.

Mr. Biggin, a 20 year veteran of the New York City Police Department, is a detective sergeant. He is a graduate of St. Francis Prep in Brooklyn and New York Tech. He lives in Bethpage with his wife Carmela; they are members of St. Martin of Tours parish. They are the parents of five sons and two daughters.

Mr. Biggin has served on the parish council and the liturgy committee at St. Martin's; he has also been involved in religious education and marriage preparation programs. After his ordination he expects to continue in many of the same kinds of involvements.

Mr. Biggin will be one of a group of ten men ordained deacons at the May 4 celebration. They will be the sixth group of men ordained to the permanent diaconate for the diocese since the restoration of the permanent diaconate following the second Vatican Council. There are over 100 permanent deacons in the Diocese of Rockville Centre.

In the Catholic Church, deacons may perform many of the functions carried out by priests. They may, for example, officiate at Baptisms, weddings, wakes, and funeral services, and bring

Holy Communion to the sick in hospitals or in their homes. But they are not empowered to celebrate Mass or to administer the sacraments of Penance, Confirmation, or the Anointing of the Sick. They may preach any time they preside at a liturgical celebration—for example, at a wedding or a Baptism. In order to preach at Sunday Masses, they must have special preaching faculties from the bishop, and they will do so at the discretion of the pastor.

The designation "permanent" is used to distinguish between these deacons, who do not plan to become priests, and men who are ordained deacons and serve in that capacity as the final step in their preparation for the priesthood (called "transitional deacons"). The term "lay deacon" is not used in the Catholic Church because deacons, like priests and bishops, receive the sacrament of Holy Orders and are members of the clergy.

Permanent deacons may be married or single. All but one of the men who will be ordained Saturday are married, as are most permanent deacons. Church discipline requires that if deacons are single or widowed at the time of ordination they must promise to remain celibate and may not marry. Deacons widowed after ordination may not re-marry. This discipline is similar to that for priests of Eastern Orthodox Churches and of the Eastern Rites of the Catholic Church.

After ordination most permanent deacons continue to live much as laymen do, supporting themselves and their families at secular occupations. Most do their diaconal work on a volunteer basis; only a few are employed in church-related jobs. They minister in a variety of ways: many are involved in caring for the spiritual needs of the sick, and many others are involved in religious education programs, and youth work. The majority of the permanent deacons in the diocese of Rockville Centre are assigned by the bishop to minister in the parishes where they reside and which sponsored their formation for the diaconate. A few have been sponsored by and are assigned to Church agencies or institutions. Sponsoring parishes and institutions share with the diocese the cost of the deacons' education/formation program.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

IN ORDER to get more into the Old Bethpage garbage dump the Town has been running heavy trucks over the dump to compact it further. The reason is that the Dept. of Environmental Conservation threatened to close down the dump if it rose over 240 ft. above sea level. ANOTHER PROBLEM is that some N.Y. City dumpers have used the dump even though the Town is very short of space. THE 911 emergency number is going to be upgraded so that the phone will flash the number the person is calling from and the nearest cross street to make response faster. It will also catch some crackpots who have been calling the number and giving false information. AFTER 47 years on the school board it seems hard to understand the lack of releases issued by the Syosset School Board on the death of Mrs. Babcock. Many years ago it had been a public idea to name a school after Mrs. Babcock. But she said that schools should not be named after people who are still alive. THE CRIME REPORT is published each week as a public service to alert residents of where crime is taking place in the area and as an aid in the Neighborhood Watch Program. Anyone seeing suspicious activity should phone 911: BURGLARS pried open the front door of the Fishman residence 1 Pond Rd. Woodbury on April 1. They entered and stole handguns and a VCR. Slide/Lecture On Agatha Christie

Agatha Christie was one of the greatest and most popular detective and mystery story writers of the twentieth century. With world sales of her books exceeding 300 million, she may have been the most successful novelist ever. An affectionate appreciation of the Queen of Crime, a slide-lecture with suitably macabre piano accompaniment, will be presented at the Bethpage Public Library on Thursday, April 25 at 8 p.m. Dr. Arthur Liebman, mystery author, teacher, editor and lecturer will survey the life, times and art of Agatha Christie as well as other major writers of detective and mystery fiction.

Admission to the program, funded, in part, by the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development, is free of charge.

News From Bethpage Library

Film Classic "Treasure Island"

"Fifteen men on a dead man's chest" ...the dreadful resounding chant of the buccaneers will ring out once again at the Bethpage Public Library on Saturday, April 13, when their ships storm the horizon in "Treasure Island" (color - 83 min.) a blood-pounding screen adventure.

Join us for mystery, mutiny and thrills galore when cabin boy Jim Hawkins matches wits with the sinister one-legged pirate Long John Silver in a death-defying search for gold. Robert Louis Stevenson's classic tale of pirates and buried treasure is brought to life in this exciting Walt Disney Production starring Bobby Driscoll and Robert Newton.

Showtime is 2 p.m. and all youngsters in grades K through six who reside in School District #21 are invited to attend. Tickets are now available in the Bethpage Children's Room. For information, please call 931-3907.

National Library Week Fall Craft Treat

On Saturday, April 20, Jack Lerner, foil craft specialist, will present his unique "Fun With Foil" as a National Library Week treat for youngsters at the Bethpage Public Library.

Young people will create favorite story book characters, fanciful animals, a variety of clowns and other magical creatures - from aluminum foil in brilliant, flashing colors as Jack Lerner holds forth with spell-binding stories and non-stop excitement. Each youngster will make his or her own imaginative creations to take home, and will watch with delight while the fascinating shapes emerge in glowing hues.

Jack Lerner, teacher and foil-craft specialist, has performed widely and entertained youngsters in many Metropolitan Area schools, churches, and libraries.

The program will be held in two sessions for youngsters who reside in School District #21. Children in grades K-2 can attend the 1:30 session and those in grades 3-6 are invited at the 2:30 p.m. Tickets for both sessions are available now in the Bethpage Children's Room.

In honor of National Library Week, "Fun With Foil" is presented by the Bethpage Public Library in co-sponsorship with the Norstar Bank, Bethpage Office, 521 Stewart Avenue, Bethpage.

For information, please call 931-3907.

The Bethpage Public Library, 47 Powell Avenue, will present Regina Rosenfeld on Wednesday, April 24, from 1 to 3 p.m. Ms. Rosenfeld will demonstrate the transformation of ordinary fruit or vegetables into eye-catching table ornaments. Pre-registration is required. Call 931-3907 or stop at the Reference Desk when you visit the library. Refreshments will be served.

Conservative Club Meets April 17

Mid Island Conservative Club will meet at 8 p.m. April 17 at T.J. Courtney's, 594 S. Broadway, Hicksville. The meeting is "Open to the Public"

'Young Ambassadors' In Bethpage

"The Young Ambassadors"

The Young Ambassadors of Brigham Young University will be presenting their 90 minute musical showcase "Entertainment U.S.A.", April 26 at 7:30 p.m. in Bethpage High School, Bethpage.

For the past decade, the Young Ambassadors have been combining bright costumes, lively song and dance, and non-stop energy to spread the message of friendship and brotherhood worldwide.

Old-fashioned romance will still burn bright "For Me and My Gal" and everyone will want to go "Footloose" when they see and hear their new 1985 show.

Backed by a live show band, the 16 member troupe of performers will beckon you to "Join the Circus" and to come with them to experience the magic "On Broadway". They will take you with them to a world where puppets don't have strings and chimney sweeps dance on rooftops in a special tribute to Walt Disney.

Traveling throughout the United States and to more than 35 countries, the Young Ambassadors have delighted audiences young and old with their fast-paced, fun-filled shows. In addition to their stint in New Orleans, they also toured the Northeastern States in the Spring of 1984. Audiences from Minnesota to West Virginia and up into Maine were witnesses to the unique brand of entertainment of the Young Ambassadors.

Under the leadership of vocal coach Randy Boothe and music director Ron Simpson, the group will tour Idaho, Oregon, Northern California, Massachusetts, Yugoslavia, Italy, France, Spain and Portugal in 1985.

Quality Or Quantity?

One
Sure
Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Antique Or Junque

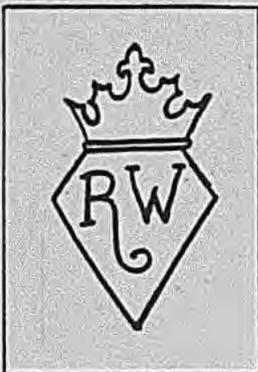

By James G. McCollam
 Member, Antique Appraisers Association of America

Q. Enclosed is a picture of my grandmother's thimble. It is stamped "Sterling" on the inside. My grandmother was born in 1850 and brought this thimble from Scotland in 1885. I would like your opinion as to its age, value, or any other information.

A. Neither Scotland nor England used the mark, Sterling. It would have had the touch marks, "a three-towered castle," "a thimble," "a letter for the date" and "Queen Victoria's profile."
 Your thimble was made in the United States during the late 19th century and should be worth about $75 to $95.

Q. Attached is the mark on the bottom of an antique vase. It is tan and brown with a red neck. On one side is a hand-painted mythological figure of a woman.
 Can you tell me who made it, when, where and its value?
 A. The Rudolstadt Werke (RW) in Rudolstadt, Germany, was reorganized in 1854 by Ernst Bohne and continued in operation well into the 20th century.
 Your vase was made about 80 years ago and should be worth $275 to $325.
 Q. According to most dealers the Azalea pattern of Noritake porcelain is the only one that is easily available to form complete sets. What are some reasonable prices for some of the pieces?

Antiques Collectibles

 A. Noritake was one of the most popular imports from Japan and the Azalea pattern was imported in large quantities by the Larkin Co. of Buffalo, N.Y. Here are some typical prices:

- Cup and saucer — $15.
- Gravy boat — $30.
- Bread and butter plate — $7.
- Luncheon plate — $15.
- Dinner plate — $15.
- Platter — $40 to $200.
- Salt and pepper — $10 to $20.
- Vegetable bowl — $30.
- Sauce dish — $6.
- Soup bowl — $15.
- Teapot — $75 to $200.
- Sugar and creamer — $25 to $75.
- Relish dish — $50 to $75.
- Syrup pitcher with under plate — $75.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam,

Pre-School Hearing Tests April 18

The Hicksville Council of PTAs is sponsoring a Pre-School Hearing Screening on Thursday, April 18 for all children in the community age 3-5. The screening, which is free of charge, will take place in the Music Room of the Dutch Lane School (Levittown Parkway and Stewart Avenue) between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

The Pre-School Hearing Committee, affiliated with the Nassau Board of Health, Hofstra College and Adelphi University, provides the opportunity for children not yet attending school, to have their hearing checked to detect possible problems which can be corrected before the child enters school.

In order to facilitate scheduling parents are asked to bring their children to be tested within the following time frame: Those residing in the Burns Avenue, Dutch Lane, East Street and Fork Lane School area from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Children from Lee Avenue, Old Country Road, Willet and Woodland Avenue should attend from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. For appointments, scheduling problems or general information, parents may call the PTA unit presidents of the above schools, whose phone numbers are listed on Page 10 of the School Calendar.

Good hearing is vital to a child's health, happiness and success in school; therefore PTA Council urges parents to take advantage of this opportunity.

Your Social Security

Earnings may affect benefits

Q. I started receiving Social Security benefits in January 1982. I have also been working part-time to supplement my income. What effect could these earnings have on my benefits? — Y.E.C.

A. It is possible that your earnings may result in higher benefits. Social Security automatically will refigure your benefits after the additional earnings are credited to your record.

It also is possible that your earnings may affect your Social Security benefits if you are under age 70. If your earnings go over the annual exempt amount, which is $7,320 for those between age 65 and 70 and $5,400 for those under age 65, then $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the limit.

Earnings in or after the month you reach 70 won't affect your check.

Q. I understand that to get four quarters of coverage as an employee, it is possible to earn a minimum of $1,640 at any time in 1985.

Is that correct? — J.S.

A. Yes, prior to 1978 a quarter of coverage was earned if you were paid $50 or more in wages in a calendar quarter.

Beginning with 1978, the amount of earnings that equal a quarter of coverage are figured under a formula in the Social Security Act.

In 1985 the amount is $410 to earn one quarter or $1,640 to earn four quarters. The wages can be earned at any time in the calendar year.

Q. Is it true that Social Security benefits can be paid even though a deceased worker had only 1½ years work? — J.P.

A. Monthly payments can be made to the surviving dependent children of a deceased worker regardless of when the worker was born if he had worked under Social Security for 1½ years in the three years before death.

Q. I have a young woman working for me who plans to get married soon. Do I, as her employer, take care of the name change or does she contact Social Security directly? — K.A.F.

A. The Social Security Administration cannot credit wages to a person's record unless the correct Social Security number and name are reported.

If the employee's name has changed, urge the employee to promptly apply at any Social Security office for a new card. A card showing the new name but with the same Social Security number will be sent to the employee.

Libertarians Demand Legislators Give Back

Nassau Libertarians will begin their "Give It Back" campaign on April 15 at the Jolly Swagman Inn, 100 W. Nicholas Street, Hicksville at 8 p.m. NYC Free Libertarian Party Chairman Thomas Lowy speaks on the campaign to convince the state legislature to return their pay increases. Last December, after the elections were past, the Legislature passed by votes of 44-14 in the Senate and 113-31 in the Assembly pay increases for themselves and state officials. These "defenders of the taxpayer", Republicans and Democrats alike, gave themselves a Christmas present of a 30.5% in salary, bringing them up to $43,000. They added more "lulus" for powerful legislators and raised the pay of 70 state commissioners and 1100 judges.

Libertarians have joined the effort begun by retired General Electric publicist Ed Robinson of Liverpool to petition the legislators to return voluntarily their pay increases. Unfortunately they are prevented by the State Constitution from repealing it before the 1987 session. Libertarians will circulate flyers and petitions to be collected by State headquarters. Anyone who wishes to help can attend the Nassau County Libertarian Party meetings held on the third Monday of each month at the Jolly Swagman Inn in Hicksville, or call Free Libertarian Party offices at 212 226-6483. The Nassau County Libertarian Party can be reached by writing P.O. Box 1729, Massapequa, N.Y. 11758. Vice-Chairman Richard Cooper of Westbury, long active in the National Taxpayer Union, notes that no Nassau legislators opposed the raise. He views the vote as proof of the lack of distinction between the two major parties.

Thomas Lowy works for a major New York bank as a technical writer with previous experience as a Welfare Department caseworker and a Dutchess County farmer for ten years.

Last Minute Taxpayer Service

On Monday, April 15, the Hicksville Post Office will have postal clerks in the lobby of the main post office at 185 West John Street to accept and postmark tax returns till 12 midnight," said Hicksville Manager/Postmaster Roger Nienaber.

The Hicksville Post Office lobby is open 24 hours a day and provides self-service stamp vending machines, which sell postage at face value. Express Mail is accepted until 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Hicksville Postal Annex at 160 Engineers Drive (behind the Farmer's Market) is also open to accept and postmark tax returns.

Postmaster Nienaber advises mailers to make sure their return had the correct postage and the correct return address and Zip Code.

Woodland Ave. Stars Shine

By Fran Abarno

On March 26, Woodland Avenue School celebrated its 2nd Annual Talent Show.

There were one hundred children which resulted in 38 acts. The children ranged from kindergarten to 6th grade. They all worked very hard putting their acts together.

Some of the acts included were: gymnastics, jokes, piano solo, tap dancing, ballet dancing, baton twirling, and the Magnificent Magnifying Machine which was performed by many boys in Mrs. Barbara Myers 1st and 2nd grade classes.

The theme of the talent show was "We are the World, We are the Children," which was performed by all the children for the show's Grand Finale.

Special thanks to all the children and the Children's Activities Committee; Fran Abarno, Jane Hinkley, Jean Trygar, Nancy Tsounis and Mr. Hinkley for the Special effects on lighting; Baton Twirlers: Mary Ann De Benedetto, Florence Gulli, Jane Hinkley, Pat Kotowicz, Carol Whitman. Staff: Principal Manus Clancy, Marie Schneider, Alice Boyle, Marilyn Pagano, Linda Biagini, and the custodians.

The theme was carried over to the next day on March 27, where Woodland Avenue's P.T.A. baked cupcakes, on sale for $1 per cupcake, for the benefit of the starving children in Ethiopia. The sale was a big success and the children worked extra hard knowing in their hearts, the money was going towards a good cause.

On March 28, Woodland Avenue P.T.A. held a Family Night Dinner. The dinner consisted of roast beef, mashed potatoes, gravy, string beans, salad. Coffee and cake were served later on in the evening.

Most Callers To Input Favor The Death Penalty

Most callers to Input believe that the Legislature should override the Governor's veto on a N.Y. state death penalty in answer to this question: "Should the legislature override the Governor's veto of a death penalty for N.Y. state?"

GETS RID OF ONE

It seems very silly that a state such as N.Y. that has so many murders should be debating whether it should get the death penalty. The governor says he is not in favor of the death penalty but he comes up with no real way to stop murders. The idea that the penalty does not deter murder is one that has never been tested. But the death penalty at least gets rid of one murderer. G.R.

NEED PENALTY

This is all nonsense that we do not have a death penalty for taking a life. I can understand that in a case where there is all circumstantial evidence concerning one murder that the courts might be wrong but that surely does not hold for someone who has been convicted of more than one murder or has been caught red handed in murder. They should pass the death penalty but have a few qualifications with it. The way it is now someone can murder and receive a very short term. This makes it possible for people to plan a murder for money and hope to get away with it because even if caught it won't be that bad. D.B.

MAKES NO SENSE

It makes no sense that after a victim has lost a life that we show mercy to someone who had no mercy at all. The governor is not against abortion which kills infants who have committed no wrong but he worries about criminals who scorn victims. The legislature should certainly override Gov. Cuomo. J.E.

LIFE SENTENCE

I do not favor the death penalty because there is always the possibility that someone has been framed. If the object is to see that people do not get away with murder then a life sentence can be imposed but the death penalty is forever. L.R.

INNOCENT VICTIMS

I think that the death penalty is necessary and in states where they have imposed it, the newspaper accounts show that the murderer usually has a long history of murders. Most of those who were executed would have only murdered again. So by not having a death penalty the governor is condemning some innocent victim to death. K.E.

FROM BIBLE

I am certainly in favor of the death penalty and would like to see the legislators override the Governor who has adamantly vetoed this legislation regardless of polls showing a large majority of voters favor it. Some opponents say that it is not a Christian act and there is always hope of rehabilitation. With newspapers and TV media revealing new and countless murders daily, perhaps these people should read the Lord's decree to Moses on the mount. "Whoever strikes a man that he dies, shall be put to death" (Genesis 21 Verse 12). Who then can say the Lord was wrong and they have all the answers. H.R.

STREET ANARCHY

We definitely need the death penalty. There is total anarchy in the streets and something has got to be done. The death penalty is probably the only thing that can be done.

GOVERNOR WRONG

I do believe the legislature should override the Governor's veto of the death penalty. I think it should be up to the people and we shouldn't be so concerned with the people who commit these crimes. We should be more concerned with the victims and not allow ourselves to be victimized. If the Governor is worried about his conscience he should allow the people to do what they believe and what their conscience dictates. He has no right to veto such a Bill.

DOES NOT DETER

The death penalty is in no way a deterrent to crime. The murderer does not think like a normal person. They interpret things their own way and live in a totally different world. The death penalty does not have any effect on them. I don't think our society needs a deterrent for an eye for an eye theory. More money should be put into social programs to reform these criminals. The death penalty in no way, needs to be passed. R.P.H.

WAR ON CRIME

In January 1984, your Question was "Do you favor capital punishment?" I went into quite some detail to support my affirmative reply and I believe that my summation at that time bears repetition in responding to this week's Question. I wrote "Despite the fifth commandment, wars of all kinds have been fought over the ages and many lives have been committed and lost in the process for 'righteous and just causes'. In our civic life, we are in no less a war against crime and convicted murderers should be permanently removed from society. I held that view two years ago, and I feel that way even more so today. Capital punishment might not be a deterrent to some would-be-murderers - although I believe it would - but certainly, it would eliminate the possibility of a repeat performance by a convicted killer." With no change in that position and with wanton murder becoming increasingly commonplace, I can only add that the Legislature definitely should override the Governor's veto of a death penalty for N.Y. State. P.G.S.

DISCOVERY

The Lure Of The Tag Sale

By Edythe Kirk

There was an enticing breeze in the Connecticut Village of Conway, as I completed my early morning walk and was returning to my cousin's home, where I was visiting. Passing one of the large maple trees lining the street, I noticed a typewritten notice pinned to the tree. It read as follows:

LE JUNQUE

Empty our attic and fill yours—everything must go!
Saturday, 9-4 p.m.

My cousin Doris was waiting at her door. We would relax and chat over a cup of coffee.

"You look perplexed", Doris remarked, "anything wrong?"

"Oh, no," I replied, "it's just that notice about a Tag Sale. Is that getting to be a custom here? I thought people gave unwanted articles to the charities".

"Oh, these Tag Sales are very popular," said Doris laughingly, "it's such a handy way to empty a house that's sold before the new owners move in, and give folks a chance to get really nice furniture and bric-a-brac at half prices. Why don't you go over after lunch, and take a peek? I have my garden club today, you know. But you could have fun over there."

I was a little ashamed to tell Doris I felt such things were beneath my social status.

The noon hour had scarcely approached when we noticed the town people arriving in droves, and parking in the little street, ladies carrying large brown bags, holding the hands of children hurrying to see something new and followed by reluctant husbands. A professional staff from the real estate office were conducting the sale, and welcoming a few small groups at a time.

Doris left for her club, and I sat and watched from the window. Folks were emerging now, most of them looking happy at having secured a bargain, a few disappointed. Finally, I moved out to the street, exchanging bits of conversation with the neighbors. One lady carried a folding chair which was tagged $2. One had a glass double boiler and some decorative cooking casseroles. Over her arm were a few Turkish towels, one of which had a rip in it. "I like the flowered cooking pots", she said, "to hang up in the kitchen. I know the towels are torn, but they were only a dime each." Another housewife was making arrangements to move a mattress and box spring to her home, because there were always so many of her college son's chums staying for week-ends. It was a busy, happy scene as folks came and went.

The afternoon was waning and the crowd thinning out when I yielded to temptation and joined a late group entering the house. A lump rose in my throat as I made my way around the rooms. There is something sad to see a house being emptied, a home where a family had shared love and laughter, family gatherings and visits with friends.

"There is nothing I really need or want", I thought, "no antiques or paintings of any account, I guess". The staff were beginning to clear away the litter of paper and packing material.

As I made my way to leave by the side door, I passed a small, dusty table. Upon it lay a chipped and broken, but bravely held together, heart-shaped dish, no larger than the palm of my hand. One could still recognize the inscription "Souvenir of Goshen, N.Y." and a dim picture of the racetrack in that town. I picked up the dish and stood still. Suddenly years began to roll backwards like a gigantic clock in reverse. I was twelve years old once more. It was Summer, and my Mama, my little sister and I had fled from the threat of polio in the city, to a farm in New York State. In those days, a place to stay in the country was called a "boarding house" where a few paying guests could spend a vacation.

On, to return to that Summer on the farm. My sister and I were overjoyed as each passing day held something new. We watched the cows being milked, loved the little bantam chickens and even the squeals and smells of the pigs. But best of all was the big barn. It was haying time and we could ride way up high on top of the new hay load in the horse-drawn wagon, then watch the big fork scoop up the hay, and empty it in the high loft of the barn where it was stored for the winter and formed a large slippery hill. Way down on the floor level of the barn was an opening, and a short ladder led to the loft so the farmer could take his pitchfork and pull the hay down as needed. You could go up to the top and slide down the day, cascade through the opening and drop to the barn floor, screaming and laughing. Oh, there was nothing like a farm!

Then one day our Mama was taken ill, and Dad wrote to us saying he had made arrangements to transfer all of us to a boarding house in a nearby town where his sister and her friends were staying. We didn't know this aunt for whom I had been named, and were sure this move would be like going back to the city. Dad had added a P.S. to his letter... "I know you will miss the farm, but try to be brave and very good to your Mama. There are horses and a racetrack in Goshen, many new things to see. When I come up, we will have a lot of fun, watching the beautiful horses being exercised in the morning, and walking around the village."

The boarding house in Goshen was quite large and had a long porch with rockers, where the guests rocked to and fro. Older ladies like our aunt could sit and discuss the state of their health, and the doctors they had visited in the city. There seemed nothing for us to do. Then one red letter day, our new aunt took us to the town, and over to the park and the track. We sat in the stands and watched the horses, so many of them, so many colors, and one day the exercise boy let each of us have a short ride on one of the beautiful animals. Another day, our aunt took us for a long automobile ride in the country.

Finally, boarders were beginning to pack trunks and look at time tables. A day would arrive when Dad would come up for his short vacation, and we began to think of returning to school. How short the summer had been.

The Tag Sale was ending and I stood at the side door, so far back in memory lane, I scarcely heard the lady who leaned on a broom, watching me. "Take that if you wish", she said, meaning the little dish. "We are going to lock up now."

I did not return home with anything very valuable...or did I? Goshen was a memory I had held in my heart for years. Now I had a picture of it. My heart felt warm as I placed the little dish upon the mantel. I guess one never knows what will turn up at a "Tag Sale."

GOOD NIGHT
Last Wednesday we decided to follow one of the suggestions in your Reader Ratings. We were mainly satisfied with what we got although the service was a little slow. We went to the Platte-deutsche Park Restaurant in Franklin Square. The place was no stranger to us because we have been there many times before at catered affairs. But this time we went to the smaller restaurant and had sauerbraten. Considering that the check was reduced because we had four in the party eating sauerbraten and they gave us all of the salad we could ever eat it was a very good night both in food and cost. J.H.

 Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides... a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings".

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

SPECIALTIES

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite we have to say they special are really "special".

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

 Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides - a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings"

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. A one-star rating (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

WORTH ANOTHER VISIT
The Franina Restaurant on Jericho Turnpike is a wonderful Italian Restaurant. We went there last Thursday and had a great meal with some of the best pasta and veal picata we have ever eaten.
This restaurant is nicely decorated and excels in good service. One of its specialties is cappuccino which is a wonderful way to top off a good meal. We certainly enjoyed this restaurant and intend to go back again. V.T.

TOP QUALITY

For a long time I have wondered how Pappas Restaurant of Sheephead Bay was. Many of my friends went there and said it was a fine seafood restaurant. So, one night we went there. It has reasonable prices and beautiful surroundings. It is clean and has excellent top quality seafood.

The service was excellent. All in all I was pleased with Pappas and had a wonderful time. Pappas is easy to get to, it is located at 700 Willis Avenue, Williston Park. It's like no other seafood restaurant around. F.M.

REAL SPANISH CUISINE

Up until last week we had never experienced real Spanish cuisine. On Thursday we went to the LosPorchos restaurant in Great Neck. This beautiful restaurant features some of the very finest Spanish dishes you could ever find. There were four people in our party and they each had a different entree. Every one said that the food, with its excellent Spanish sauces and flavoring, presented a rare treat. This restaurant is truly one of the best on L.I. C. deG.

If you have questions about etiquette or dining out you may call them into WE 1-0027 and we will find the answer.
Fine Italian Cooking

Q. Recently I called one of the larger catering places to arrange to hold a small luncheon six months from now. I was told that they would never consider anything that near at hand unless there was a cancellation and that I ought to give at least a year's notice. Is this true all over? B.H. A. Probably a year's reservation at the large catering places is about right but that might not be your only option. You mentioned that it was a luncheon and it may not have needed a great deal of space. For something like that you ought to contact a restaurant that you like and see if they have an off day and whether they could accommodate you with a room. Many restaurants do this and you are better off than having gone to a large caterer. They don't need a year's notice either.

Q. Restaurants nowadays do not know a thing about etiquette. Last night at a dinner they served salad. Isn't there still a special salad fork that is supposed to be used in restaurants. M.H. A. Yes. The salad fork has a special cutting edge on one side of it and is usually shorter than a regular fork. Most restaurants are so busy getting cutlery together if they have a big crowd at dinner that they do not set out forks or knives right.

GREAT SURPRISE

Last week we visited a restaurant we have never visited before. It is called the Fianona in New Hyde Park. There are presently so many Italian Restaurants in the area that we were truly surprised by this one. It is not large, but appears to be very popular with many people because we had to wait for a table.

The food is exceptional. We had the finest veal you can find anywhere and it was cooked with such flavor that it is difficult to find something to compare it to. We topped the meal off with some good Italian pastry.

This is the kind of restaurant I think that most of your readers would like to visit. H.R.

BAKED ONION SLICES
5 medium onions, about 1 1/2 lbs.

5 tbsps. olive oil
1/2 tsp. garlic
1/4 tsp. red pepper flakes
1 tbsp. chopped parsley

2 tbsps. water
4 turns of the pepper mill
1/2 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt

Preheat oven to 300 F. Trim off root end of each onion, but leave on skin. Cut into 1/4-inch-thick slices. Discard tops. Put onions on oiled heavy baking sheet, brush very lightly with olive oil and bake 1 hour. Use spatula to turn onions and continue baking on second side, 30 minutes. Onions should be caramelized but not burned.

Using a spatula, transfer slices to wide shallow serving dish. Remove skins and any "dried-out" rings. Mix remaining oil with garlic, red pepper flakes, parsley, water, pepper, vinegar and salt. Spoon over onions. Serve at room temperature.

OPEN-FACE APPLE GALETTES WITH FRIED APPLE PEELS

2 large tart green apples (Granny Smiths, Pippins or Greenings)
1 1/2 tbsps. lemon juice
Safflower oil and clarified butter for frying
1 1/2 tbsps. unsalted butter
3 tbsps. imported Seville orange marmelade
1 1/2 tbsps. Cognac
4 baked 4-inch rounds of short crust pastry (recipe follows).
Confectioners sugar

Thickly peel apples. Cut peelings into 1/4-by-3-inch strips. Cut peeled apples into medium slices into bowl. Sprinkle with lemon juice; toss and set aside.

Pour 1/2 inch of oil and clarified butter in small skillet. Heat until sizzling. Working in batches, fry peelings 2 to 3 minutes or until light brown. Drain on paper towels and set aside. Pour off oil. Melt half of butter in 10-inch skillet. Add apple slices and saute them, turning often, 1 minute or until they are barely soft. Push apples to one side of skillet, add marmelade, Cognac and remaining butter and mix with pan juices. Fold in apple slices and cook over high heat, turning apple slices constantly until caramelized around edges, 1 1/2 minutes.

Serve baked rounds topped with sauteed apples. Garnish each serving with reserved fried apple peelings, and lavishly dust with confectioners sugar.

RICH SHORT-CRUST PASTRY

4 1/2 ozs. (125 grams) pastry flour
Pinch of salt
3 tbsps. confectioners sugar
3 tbsps. unsalted butter, at room temperature
1 egg yolk
1 tbsp. heavy cream
1 tsp. pure vanilla extract

Sift flour, salt and sugar onto work surface. Make well in center of flour mixture. Place remaining ingredients in center. Quickly work butter, egg yolk and liquid with tips of fingers of one hand to just blend, about 30 seconds. Use long chef's knife or long spatula to gradually flip and chop flour into butter-egg mixture. Chop until mixture has consistency of coarse crumbs, about 1 minute. Use plastic bag to gather dough into single mass and press gently to form smooth ball. Wrap tightly and refrigerate at least 1 hour (better overnight).

Roll out chilled dough between sheets of plastic wrap or directly in plastic bag. Cut away plastic; cut dough into four 4-inch circles. Place on parchment paper-lined baking sheet. Prick dough. Bake in preheated 350 F oven 13 minutes. Cool on rack.

Microwave Magic

By Desiree Vivea

Add pizzazz with Parmesan

By Desiree Vivea

For real Parmesan lovers, an unadorned plate of spaghetti is an unthinkable travesty, as naked as peanut butter sans jelly, or mashed potatoes without gravy.

A generous sprinkling of Parmesan lends piquant pizzazz to so many dishes — Italian or not. Use on soups, salads, in omelets, over casseroles. Today's microwave Parmesan Casserole Topper combines this pungent cheese with bread crumbs and seasonings — great on your favorite veggies, too.

Parmesan originated in Italy, specifically in the vicinity of Parma, from whence it takes its name. Unlike many other cheeses, it is not eaten by itself, but is grated and added to other foods for its seasoning qualities.

Most of the Parmesan sold in American markets is, in fact, already grated. But if you've never tried fresh Parmesan before, by all means buy a chunk and grate it yourself. Magnifico.

Prepared from a blend of whole and skim cow's milk, Parmesan is aged for up to two years to achieve its characteristic tang. And a tablespoon of good Parmesan cheese contains as much usable protein as a whole cup of milk — at only 25 calories.

PARMESAN CASSEROLE TOPPER

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup fine dry bread or cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/4 tsp. paprika
- 1/4 tsp. ground black pepper

Place butter in small glass mixing bowl. Microwave 1/2 to 1 minute, until melted. Add remaining ingredients, stirring well to blend. Microwave 2 to 3 minutes at MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power), stirring after 1 minute.

Use as topping to garnish casseroles or vegetable dishes.

BAKED TOMATOES ITALIANO

- 2 large, firm, ripe tomatoes
- 3 tbsps. grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tbsps. dry bread or cracker crumbs
- 1/2 tsp. dry sweet basil
- 1/2 tsp. dried parsley
- 1/4 tsp. garlic salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 tbsps. melted butter or margarine

Wash tomatoes, core, and cut in half horizontally. Arrange in ring on flat 10-inch plate.

In small bowl, combine remaining ingredients except butter.

Sprinkle Parmesan mixture evenly over tomato halves, then drizzle with melted butter.

Microwave 3 minutes, rotating dish one-half turn halfway through cooking time. Let stand 3 minutes before serving.

Serves 2 or 4.

NOODLES PARMESAN

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed
- 1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- 1 (8-oz.) pkg. medium-wide egg noodles, cooked and drained
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- Fresh parsley, chopped (for garnish)

Place butter in 2-cup glass measure and microwave just until butter melts. Stir in cream, and microwave 1 minute longer, or until cream is warm. Do not boil.

Place egg yolk in small dish and beat lightly with fork, then pour small amount of warmed cream mixture over egg yolk, beating constantly.

Add egg yolk to cream mixture, blending well. Stir in crushed garlic and pepper.

Pour sauce over hot cooked noodles, tossing gently to coat. Sprinkle cheese over top and toss again. Garnish with parsley.

Serves 4.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens. Foods are cooked on HIGH (100 percent power) and uncovered unless otherwise specified.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. On my home, I have galvanized eave troughs that have been painted. Every year after the ice and snow have melted, the paint comes off in big flakes. Should the troughs be treated in some way before painting again? — Mr. C.C.

A. There are several key steps required to prepare metal surfaces for painting in order to achieve long-lasting results. Rusted surfaces should be scraped and wire-brushed to remove loose rust, rust scale and loose or deteriorated coatings.

Remove any dirt, grease, oil or other contaminants from the surface by using a solvent such as paint thinner or by scrubbing with a strong detergent and rinsing with fresh water.

Lightly sand hard, glossy previous paint to assure maximum adhesion. Make sure the surface is dry and clean prior to coating application.

A primer should be used prior to the finish coat. Primers and topcoats designed for use on metal surfaces are available in either oil-base or water-base formulations. It is important that primers be selected based on the condition of the surface after the surface preparation has been completed.

The condition of the surface will dictate the type of primer you will need to use. Check with your paint dealer for recommendations on heavily rusted metal compared with a surface that is in better condition.

After allowing the primer to dry thoroughly, apply the appropriate finish coat in the color of your choice.

Two recommended brands for paint and primer are Rust-Oleum and De-Rusto. Use only oil-base finish coats over oil-base primers and water-base finish coats over water-base primers.

Q. Recently there have been several articles concerning land subsidence and house foundation defects. One article recommended pulling up the carpets and looking for cracks in the concrete slab foundation. How does one "pull up" the carpets? Are the tacked or glued to the slab? — N.A.

A. The padding under the carpet is not glued to the slab. You should be able to take up the carpet yourself, allowing you to inspect the slab. However, re-laying the carpet probably is a job best left to the professional carpet layer, as it must be stretched and tacked at the perimeters. If you replace the carpet with new, be sure to use a good padding recommended for on-grade floors.

Q. My concrete pond has a large crack and will not hold water. It is very shallow, but I would like to have water and plants in it. Can I repair it so it will hold water? — J.R.

A. Any repair work will have to be done in warm, dry weather conditions. Be sure the concrete is dry and the cracks free of loose dust.

For any sizable cracks you will need to use a concrete patching material. Several brands are on the market. One recommended brand is Red-E-Crete, which can be mixed with concrete glue for best results. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions carefully.

Smaller cracks often can be treated with sealants recommended for concrete pools. Force the sealant into the crack as far as possible and smooth it flush with the surrounding surface. Follow the manufacturer's directions to the letter.

If a primer is recommended in the cracks before sealing, use the type recommended for the sealant.

Q. My question concerns stains on the white vinyl top of my automobile. There is a yellow-colored substance that seems to drop out of the sky. It lands on my car in a caked form. The majority of the substance can be removed easily with a fingernail. However, it leaves a yellow spot.

I have tried any number of methods including a scouring pad, but thus far I've been unsuccessful in removing the stains. Can you be of any assistance? — V.L.

It may be impossible to remove this stain. You can try a solution of trisodium phosphate mixed with household bleach, 1 cup of each to a gallon of warm water. Test this solution on a small area of the spotting to see how it works.

If this is ineffective, you can try a solution of oxalic acid, available at drug stores. You can have the vinyl top re-finished at an automobile paint shop if you are unable to remove the stains. But unless you can prevent future staining, your problem will not be solved.

Indigestion and pains in my stomach since last November and took all kinds of tests. They all were negative but the last one. It showed I had polyps in my stomach.

The doctor put me on a diet and gave me prescriptions for pills. After several weeks with poor results he changed the medicine. This seemed to work much better but was not a complete cure. Do you have any information on what would be good to use for these polyps? — Regis

Dear Regis: Give your doctor a chance. I'm not a physician, anyway, just a commentator on health matters. And it certainly would be inappropriate to try to diagnose by long distance when there is a doctor right there on the job.

Dear John: I enjoy your column. Please send the leaflet on Certo and honey for arthritis.

I find 100 milligrams of oyster shell calcium very beneficial. My husband and I both are going to be 60 soon, and we take our multivitamins faithfully.

I used to get leg cramps very bad, but haven't had any for the last eight or nine years because of the vitamin routine. Keep writing. — Mrs. J.S.

Dear John: I have been having

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, E.D.

Dr. Wallace: I have a birthmark on my chin and it causes me to be very self-conscious. I talked with a doctor and he told me that I could have it easily removed.

I am 18 and live with my grandmother. She thinks I would be stupid to have it removed because "God made me the way I am."

I can pay for the removal myself. Please tell me what to do. My doctor says to have the minor operation. — Peggy.

Peggy: It's easy for Grandmother to talk. The birthmark is on your chin, not hers. Take your doctor's advice.

Dr. Wallace: I am 17 and my boyfriend is a freshman in college. Last September, Joe bought me a ring and told me we would get married after I graduate from high school in June 1966.

My problem is that he dates other girls. He denies this but I know that he does. My friends tell me to drop this guy because of his cheating ways, but I love him so much I'm afraid of losing him.

Please tell me what I should do. I know he will marry me. — Gloria

Gloria: Take your friends' advice. His cheating habit could be a hard one to cure. Better you suffer a bit now than after you both say, "I do."

Pamela, 19, from Willmar, Minn., is concerned about her younger brother. Her ex-boyfriend has supplied him with alcohol. Bill Allen, 18, who resides in Tupelo, Miss., and Virginia Rollins, 19, who lives in Coos Bay, Ore., will do the honors.

Dr. Wallace: I am 19 and had been dating a guy for two years but recently called it off because I finally realized the guy was no good.

Last week this good-for-nothing bum bought my 16-year-old brother two bottles of wine and he and his buddies got "bombed."

I'm really upset about this. I realize my brother is old enough to have known better, but this bum broke the law by contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Please tell me what to do to see that this never happens again. If possible, I'd like the advice of your guest teen writers. — Pamela

Dr. Wallace: It angers me every time I read in your column that a young girl should not date an older guy. I am 16 and going steady with a wonderful guy who happens to be 24.

Don't get me wrong, I've dated guys my own age, but all of them are sex maniacs. If you don't do as they say, they won't ask you out again.

Older guys seem to treat a girl like a lady. Personally, I like being treated royally. I'm tired of being pawed over like a dress in a rummage sale. So, my good Dr. Wallace, before you criticize younger girls for dating older guys, remember my letter and don't blame us for being stupid. — LuAnne.

LuAnne: I'm firmly against young teens dating older guys. There always are exceptions and, of course, after a girl or boy reaches 18 and has left high school then age difference is much less of a concern.

When older guys date younger teenage girls, I always place the blame on the older guys. Usually, they date younger girls because they are immature and cannot compete with guys their own age for females their own age.

Dr. Wallace: I have a best friend and she really makes me angry. I'll admit that she is cute but if you didn't notice it, she would soon tell you how pretty she is.

Her mother remarried last month and now all she ever talks about is how many new clothes her stepfather is buying her.

I'd really like to drop this friend but I do like her once in a while. If you were me, what would you do? — Alice.

Alice: I'd tune out when she brags, but keep her for a friend.

Dr. Wallace: I bought a baseball mitt from a guy for $5 and now I found out that it was stolen.

The guy who sold me the glove was a stranger and I haven't seen him since.

I'd be willing to return the mitt but I want the original owner to pay me the $5 I feel is due me. Am I right? — Butch

Butch: Even though you didn't realize the mitt was stolen, the mitt should be returned to the original owner free of charge. You are out $5 unless you find the thief.

If you don't believe me, have a chat with a Nashua police officer.

Mainly For Seniors

By John T. Watts

Dear John: I look forward to reading your Mainly for Seniors column. It gives a whole lot of knowledge to us seniors.

The latest article that concerns me, being troubled with clogged arteries, is the one on the magnesium and potassium orate by bromelain pineapple enzyme combined into capsules that help to unclog the arteries.

I have called several health food stores and no one has such a capsule, and therefore I am not able to get it. I would be very thankful if you could help me find out where I can send for this capsule. I would like an address where I can obtain it by mail, since I am not able to get around because of artery trouble and poor circulation. — Charles C.

Dear Charles: I would not push so to get hold of something so vague as you describe, and for good reason. The Food and Drug Administration takes a beating for being so slow to release anything to the public, but one must admit that it is acting in the public's general interest.

I would talk to my doctor or some medical authority before going after such substances.

Dear John: Please send your leaflet regarding Certo and vinegar as a treatment for arthritis. Because of arthritis, I had knee joint replacement operations in 1978. Now other joints in my body have become afflicted, for which operations cannot be performed.

As I use medicine only as a last resort, I would like to try your treatment for the disease, which my surgeon described as everybody's disease — if you live long enough. — Ernest P.

Dear Ernest: Join the club. Remember, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise, we cannot guarantee that you will get the return mail. There has been a rush on stamps because of the rise in the postage rate. Some readers are not putting a stamp on their return at all, and we cannot guarantee anything then.

Dear John: I enjoy your column. Please send the leaflet on Certo and honey for arthritis.

I find 100 milligrams of oyster shell calcium very beneficial. My husband and I both are going to be 60 soon, and we take our multivitamins faithfully.

I used to get leg cramps very bad, but haven't had any for the last eight or nine years because of the vitamin routine. Keep writing. — Mrs. J.S.

Children By Willard Abraham Ph.D. (with portrait of Willard Abraham)

Q. My husband recently began to insist on giving a bath to our 3-year-old son and it has led to a problem. Now our boy is scared and cries and almost shakes at bath time.

I understand the reason but I can't seem to get my husband to admit it. It's soap in the eyes, water in the ears and nose and the loud noise of the water pouring in, all of which I avoided when I bathed him.

When I try to explain this, my husband's response is, "He'll just have to get used to it. That's the way the world is."

How can I answer that kind of reaction?

A. All of us, adults as well as children, do our best to avoid unpleasant situations and the soap, water and noise factors obviously are unpleasant for your son. Each in its own place may be acceptable, but not in his eyes, ears and nose. It's not necessary to make him endure these problems. He easily can be clean without them.

This is just common sense, but it may not work with your husband. However, neither he nor any other rational adult deliberately exposes himself or herself to pain and discomfort if they can be avoided.

Just because a child is small and vulnerable is no reason to subject him to such pressures, which so easily can be eliminated. Your own bathing experiences with your son are proof that they can.

Q. Our baby's feet (both of them) turn out more than seems normal. I'm worried because I don't know what will happen when she starts to walk or whether this will keep her from walking.

I regularly massage her feet and legs, gently trying to turn them inward, but it occurs to me that doing so may not be good. After all, I'm not a doctor.

A. I'm not a medical doctor either so it may be best for you to talk to your family physician about this issue.

When one of our children was a baby, one of his feet had a tendency to turn out when he kicked it. Our doctor put his two baby shoes into a connecting metal brace so that when he kicked his feet with the shoes on, they went out in a more normal pattern, rather than outward.

But medical diagnoses and remedies change over the years. So a call or visit to your family doctor or pediatrician may be in order.

Q. I often have enjoyed your parenting column. As a stepmother of two, I find your advice to be extremely helpful and reassuring for so many difficult situations.

I work with an advertising agency that represents a number of juvenile products manufacturers and am enclosing a press release on a new product that may be of interest to you.

The Safety Bath Ring just introduced by Pansy Ellen Products provides a way to make bathing babies and toddlers safer and easier. Since my children are 7 and 10, I haven't had the benefit of firsthand experience, but have received several good comments.

I think you'll agree that every parent can use an extra hand or two when bathing an active toddler.

A. I hadn't heard of this product before, but it seems to fit into the "safety soapbox" I've been on for a long time - related to (1) auto safety belts, (2) car restraints for young children and (3) medicines, household cleansers and other products dangerous to children.

This one seems designed for babies who can sit well, helping prevent them from sliding, crawling and standing in the tub. It might free parents' hands for sudsing, shampooing or playing.

Gleeb Paul Lowrey. What service organizations do you belong to? "Society for the Preservation of Eucalyptus Trees." Any other? "Society for the Preservation of Koalas." Madam, you can't belong to both groups. Why not? Koalas eat eucalyptus leaves. I know that. Isn't that like rooting for both the fox and the hounds? I suppose. And it doesn't bother you? I also belong to the "Society for the Preservation of the Robin" and the "Society for the Preservation of the Earthworm."

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Last week I spent a few days in the mountains of Pennsylvania. The deer must have known spring was here--there were so many of them standing near the road as our car passed. Luckily none of them tried to run in our path, which has happened a few times in the past.

One time our car grazed two young fawns and we heard a big thump. We were almost afraid to look back, but happily they were unhurt and continued to stand by the road and chew on the grass! What a relief!

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are John Downey and J. Hill. Congratulations to both of you.

Pyometra is a serious condition

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our 6-year-old Sealyham terrier was quite ill recently and had to have a hysterectomy. Our veterinarian said that she had a severe infection in her uterus and a hysterectomy was the best treatment.

How did she get this infection? Is surgery the only method of treatment?

A. We really love our dog and are sad that she had to undergo major surgery.

From your description, it is likely that your dog had pyometra, a condition that can follow a heat period.

The cause of pyometra generally is thought to be a dysfunction of the ovaries. There usually is an increased secretion of the reproductive hormone, progesterone, which causes abnormal changes in the inner lining of the uterus.

When dogs have pyometra, the uterus is filled with pus. Discharges due to pyometra have a characteristic sickly sweet odor and may be noticed on the hair around the vulva or on the tail.

Loss of appetite usually is the first sign of pyometra. Following loss of appetite, most dogs develop depression and increased frequency of drinking and urination.

Many dogs with pyometra vomit shortly after drinking water and will alternately drink and vomit as long as water is provided.

As the condition worsens the dog weakens and becomes lethargic. The abdomen may be enlarged and painful.

Veterinarians make a definitive diagnosis by evaluating the clinical signs of the dog, by conducting diagnostic blood tests and by examining X-rays of the dog's abdomen. If left untreated, dogs with pyometra usually die.

Once the diagnosis is made, most veterinarians recommend spaying the dog as soon as possible. If the dog is greatly depressed or unable to undergo surgery immediately, fluids and supportive therapy usually are administered to strengthen the dog.

If spaying is totally unacceptable, medical treatment designed to empty the uterus may be tried. Newer drugs make this alternative more realistic than formerly. However, if no more puppies are desired from the afflicted dog, spaying still is the best treatment by far.

Pyometra is a very serious condition in dogs and any dog exhibiting signs of the disease should be taken to a veterinarian for diagnosis and treatment as soon as possible.

Q. Is it possible for a female dog to be bred and conceive by more than one stud during the same heat period?

A. Our dog recently had puppies. Because the puppies are so different, it does not seem possible that the same stud fathered them all.

It is possible for more than one male dog to father the puppies in the same litter. The situation is called "superfecundation."

Because the female dog releases many eggs and because her period of heat or receptivity to the male is long, this condition is fairly common in dogs that are allowed to run loose. It is wise to keep the female in solitary confinement following breeding by the desired dog.
