Mercy League Fulfills Pledges

The President of the Glen Cove, Hicksville, Syosset League of Mercy Hospital, Lucille Delles was very pleased to announce that the $22,011 pledge this league took out in September for a Fetal Monitor and an Infant Isolette has been paid.

Stepping right along, the League took out a new pledge this month in the amount of $10,000 for Diagnostic Machines to be used in the Infant Apnea Center.

The Infant Apnea Center at Mercy Hospital in Rockville Centre is proud to announce the introduction of "A Parent's Guide Caring for a Monitored Infant at Home", the most recent publication regarding Infant Apnea and Electronic Home Monitoring. This manual was made possible by the fund-raising efforts of the Glen Cove, Hicksville, Syosset League of Mercy Hospital, who, over the years, has contributed substantially to benefit the 400 bed, not for profit community hospital. Health care professionals in the field of Infant Apnea recently gathered to express appreciation for the League's continued community service and generous financial support to the Center.

These pledges are paid through the untiring efforts and hard work of the members. Weekly bingo games, monthly bus trips, Scotch bowling, fashion shows, and theatre parties are a few of the money raising functions.

Letters

To the Editor:

I have filed my petition for re-election to the school board. Of all the seven years that I have served the community in my capacity as trustee, this past year as president of the board was most rewarding, for it gave me the opportunity to truly serve the students, employees and the community in a positive way.

There is so much on the agenda for education that one must apply his resources and energy to those things that are most rewarding for our students. This is the area in which I feel the greatest achievement and satisfaction. I will continue to uphold the integrity of the board and the school district and be compassionate and understanding in dealing with the many problems that may arise. I have made mistakes, but we learn by those mistakes. The ultimate goal that we wish to achieve is to serve you, the community and our school district with the best of our abilities and for the best of motives. We have a well-working board and an exceptional superintendent and for these reasons we can have, and will achieve, our aims for the benefit of all.

This is why I am seeking re-election to the Board of Education.

Sincerely,
Bill Bennett

To the Editor:

Assemblyman Fred Parola circulated a questionnaire during February asking the opinion of constituents on various subjects before the legislators.

Because I am an ardent advocate of mandatory source separation as a partial solution to "alleged garbage crises" in the Town of Oyster Bay, the question he asked about solid waste has become my immediate and special interest. It reads as follows:

"To reduce the volume of solid waste (garbage) and to promote environmental conservation, would you accept the inconvenience of separating certain refuse such as newspapers, metals or non-deposit containers? Yes.....No....."

In fact, I became so interested in responses and reactions that I attended Assemblyman Parola's Legislative Forum at Hicksville Public Library on March 6, to learn more about it. There, a gentleman constituent advised Mr. Parola that he has separated metals and glass for years but takes it to other towns for recycling. This gentleman also commented about Town of Oyster Bay sanitation workers who throw "gift wrapped" newspapers into the same truck with putrescible garbage instead of keeping it separate and clean for recycling as is supposed to be done.

On April 18, I telephoned Mr.

Parola's Levittown office (731-3434) and discussed the opinion poll response with him. I was very pleased when Mr. Parola told me that from a circulation of 30,000 he received 4000 responses and 84% of those answered "Yes" to the garbage question. "But," Mr. Parola went on to say, "that doesn't mean anything because people will say one thing and do the other."

I was shocked and disappointed to hear such a negative opinion about responding constituents from an elected official. Is it possible that only the 26,000 non-responding constituents; the complacent, silent majority are believed by our legislators when they pass new laws? Is it possible the real reason for conducting opinion polls is to obtain an exact accounting of said complacent silent majority!! How sad for those who responded to Mr. Parola's opinion poll and apparently wasted time and postage in the final analysis!!

Therefore, I hope this letter will be published by the "free press" so that readers might be inclined (or inspired) to answer the above garbage question if it were slightly re-phrased as follows:

"To reduce the volume of solid waste (garbage), promote environmental conservation and eliminate triple taxation for garbage disposal in Town of Oyster Bay, would you accept the inconvenience of separating certain refuse such as newspapers, metals or non-deposit containers? Yes.....No....."

As a matter of fact, Supervisor Joseph Colby and the Town Board could have and should have asked taxpayers that question last October before arbitrarily passing legislation to triple the tax rate.

Mrs. Angelina Sinicropi

News From Hicksville Library

Another great feature film will be shown at the Hicksville Public Library on Friday, April 26 at 8 p.m. The title of the movie is "Country" starring Sam Shepard and Jessica Lange. They portray the Ivys, an Iowa farming couple that suffers through a tornado and then the calling in, on short notice, of government loans granted on liberal terms a few years earlier. Gil Ivy becomes a mean drunk and Jewell Ivy throws him out and carries on herself. When the government tries to auction off her equipment, she convinces the other farmers not to buy anything. The movie offers a convincing picture of a family working and living together as a unit.

This film will be shown in the Community Room. There is no charge for admission and everyone is invited. Children must be accompanied by a parent.

David Dircks will have an exhibit of paintings and drawings on display in the Community Room of the Hicksville Public Library from May 1 to May 13. Mr. Dircks is a Hicksville resident who has exhibited his paintings at the library previously with his father. This exhibit may be seen from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days and Saturdays, and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

The Gregory Museum will have an exhibit in the Fiction Room Case of the Hicksville Public Library during the month of May. It may be seen during regular library hours.

May is Senior Citizens Month and to demonstrate the creative and artistic talents of our Senior neighbors, the Hicksville Public Library will exhibit crafts created by the Seniors of 355 Newbridge Road. This display was so beautiful last year that we requested an encore for this year. The exhibit will be in the Lobby Case of the library during the month of May and may be seen during regular library hours.

The Hicksville Public Library will have a speaker from Nassau Community College who will discuss the assistance available at Nassau Community for the mature adult who is planning on re-entering college.

Mr. Bob Rubin will answer any questions from the audience and provide information to anyone planning on re-entering college on a full time or part time basis. This program will be held in the Community Room of the library on Wednesday, May 1 at 8 p.m. There is no charge for admission and everyone is invited.

To help commemorate Jewish Heritage Week, the Hicksville Public Library will present Judith Goldsmith in a one person show, "The Town of Little People". Ms. Goldsmith gives a vivid word-picture of Shtetl life, tracing Jewish roots through her own adaptations of stories by Sholom Aleichem and Peretz. This program will be held in the Community Room of the Library at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 28. There is no charge for admission and everyone is invited.

Eat Yourself Slim

Children and vegetarianism

By Shirley Bright Boody
Registered Dietitian

Do children who eat a vegetarian diet get adequate nutrition for proper growth? This, and other pertinent questions on the practice of vegetarianism and its effect on the growth and development of children, are the targets of current research.

Some interesting aspects are developing. Generally, vegetarian children show a slightly depressed stature. Some children showed an increased leanness, especially those who were on a severely restricted diet.

There are several classifications of vegetarians, and they range from severe restrictions with high nutritional risks to broad ranges of foods and low nutritional risks.

The traditional vegetarian who excludes only meat from his diet usually is not in any danger.

The lacto-ovo vegetarian who excludes meat, poultry, fish and seafood from his diet may limit his nutritional needs of protein, iron, zinc, folate, vitamin B12, thiamine and essential fatty acids.

The lacto-vegetarians who exclude meat, poultry, fish, seafood and eggs also may find themselves deficient in those nutrients plus vitamin D.

The total vegetarian who excludes all animal products, including milk and dairy products, may be lacking the above nutrients plus calcium, riboflavin and vitamin D.

The "new vegetarians" often are at nutritional risk. They are the Yogic vegetarians who are semi-lacto-vegetarian, the Hare Krishnas who are lacto-vegetarians and the Zen macrobiotics, who are variable but quite restricted. The Fruitarians, and those who eat only raw foods, also are very apt to be deficient in protein, energy, calcium, vitamin D, iron, zinc and vitamin B12.

It is possible to get these needed nutrients into a vegetarian diet, with some careful planning. For example, to get the nutrients protein, iron, zinc, folate, Vitamin B12, thiamine and essential fatty acids into a vegetarian diet that excludes meat, fish, poultry and seafood, one must replace them with milk, dairy products, grains and legumes.

If milk and dairy products are excluded in addition to the meats, poultry, fish and seafood, the use of soy milk, fortified with calcium, vitamin D and vitamin B12 can replace them.

There are certain benefits that are associated with a vegetarian diet, and they include lower serum cholesterol, lower systolic blood pressure, being closer to ideal weight, lower incidence of diabetes, lower incidence of cancer of the colon and breast, less constipation, and less diverticular disease.

To help plan an adequate vegetarian diet for children, the necessary foods have been divided into four groups: protein, dairy, fruit and vegetable and bread/cereal.

The protein group includes: 1 cup milk, 1 cup yogurt, 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese, 1 1/4 ounces of natural cheese or 1 1/4 ounces of processed cheese, 1/4 cups soy milk fortified with calcium, vitamin D and vitamin B12.

The dairy group includes: 1 egg, 1 ounce cheese, 1/4 cup cottage cheese, meat substitutes, 1/4 cup peanuts or 1/2 cup other nuts, 1/2 cup cooked dry peas/beans, 2 tablespoons peanut butter, 2 ounces tofu.

The bread/cereal group includes: All breads and cereals, especially whole grains.

The fruit and vegetable group includes: All fruits and vegetables. Eat at least one high vitamin C (citrus fruits) and one high vitamin A (dark green or yellow vegetable) daily, plus others as desired.

For children ages 1 year to 3 years, it is recommended that they have two servings from the protein group, plus two servings from the dairy group, plus four servings from the fruit/vegetable group, plus three servings from the bread/cereal group. The size of the servings should be adjusted to the child's capacity.

Children ages 4 to 6 years should have basically the same numbers of servings from the protein, dairy and fruit/vegetable groups, but they should have four servings from the bread/cereal group. Adjust the size of the servings to the needs of the individual child.

Children ages 7 to 10 should increase the protein group to three to four servings, while the other groups can remain the same. Larger serving sizes should fit the child's needs.

Children 11 through the teens can increase the protein group to five servings or more and the dairy group to three to four servings. The fruit/vegetable and the bread/cereal groups can remain at four servings daily. The size of the servings probably will be increased considerably, because of the high growth spurts during these years.

Congressman Norman F. Lent (R-East Rockaway) congratulates Marie Colreavy of Hicksville on her appointment to the United States Air Force Academy. Marie was one of only forty high school seniors nominated by Lent to a military academy in the Fourth Congressional District. Marie will enter the Air Force Academy as a member of the Class of 1989 later this year.

Bethpage Grads Receive Honors

Wendy Sallustio and Laura Sottile were recently honored for outstanding academic achievement at a special luncheon held at New York Institute of Technology. Both girls are 1981 Bethpage graduates and are currently attending NYIT.

President Matthew Schure presented each of them with a Certificate of Academic Achievement for grade point averages of 4.0 and told the students, "The wisdom that you've brought to your college experience, the dedication and effort that you've brought to your studies have not lost notice upon us. In a world where the norms of mediocrity pervade everywhere, your willingness to say, "I'm going to be the best that I can be", is nothing short of extraordinary."

Mr. Fillizola is a candidate for an Art Education degree at C.W. Post, and plans, upon retirement from his regular job, to teach full time. His cheerful filling in at the last minute for a demonstrator who became ill, and his charming manner of presentation made the evening a treat.

Among students from The Berkeley Schools who participated in Bermuda College Week as guests at the Elbow Beach Surf Club is Joanne Coogan of Hicksville, at left, a student at The Berkeley School of Long Island in Hicksville. ## Archaeologist Visits Willet Ave.

Is it an ecofact? Is it an artifact? Is it an arrow head, or is it a spear point? Willet Avenue students puzzled over these questions recently as they studied and evaluated specimens in an archaeological debris kit of material found on Indian sites on Long Island.

Ms. Julie Clark of the Suffolk County Archaeological Society recently spent a day at the Willet Ave. School Media Center, introducing fourth and fifth grade students to the Indians of Long Island beginning with the Paleo Period (14,000 - 9,000 years ago).

The session began with a slide program prepared under the auspices of the Suffolk Archaeological Society describing what an archaeologist does, how a site is surveyed, mapped, and marked off in squares. Tools were shown with the use of each noted - emphasis being on the need for careful scraping, rather than digging. Students were shown how a meticulous record is kept for each item discovered, noting exact location and depth in the hole - even the distance above sea level.

The slides continued with theories of migration of Ice Age peoples to the North American continent, described their early tools for hunting and fishing. Concerning the Long Island Indians, they showed how artifacts found at Indian Village sites provided evidence of trade with New England tribes and the development of food gathering and storage techniques.

After the slide program students were divided into groups for hands-on experience in identifying and categorizing debris specimens.

Preparatory and follow-up printed material for teachers and students included a glossary, time charts, maps, background material describing each of the phases or periods in the development of Indian life on Long Island.

Billy Schultz, Michael Longo, and Brian Ruina record their observations on archaeological findings.

Archaeologist Julie Clark assists Willet Ave. fourth graders in identifying Indian artifacts, while Jared Trapasso and T.J. Keevins listen intently.

Since fifth graders study Indians in other parts of the country also, Ms. Clark brought additional material about other tribes and reported on some of her excavations in the southwest.

Kelly Smille and Emily Sarne are very serious about their analysis of debris specimens.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

IT IS EXPECTED that the Town Hall will refund the $20 Million it collected from taxpayers to truck garbage out of state. No garbage has been trucked out of state and the Town has kept the money. THE REFUNDS will probably be in answer to Assemblyman Lewis Yevoli who has threatened a lawsuit against the Town. The refunds would average about $150 per homeowner.....THE DEMOCRATS are toying with the idea of running former County Executive Ralph Caso against Francis Purcell for the Executive post. Caso was dumped in a dispute with former GOP leader Joe Margiotta and then ran independently but lost badly.....AREA winners in National Merit Scholarships announced so far include Edward J. Naughton of Bethpage, a student a Chaminade, George Antaki of Hicksville, a student at Chaminade, Benjamin Waldman of Plainview, a student at Plainview-Old Bethpage H.S., and Seth Karp of Syosset, a student at Syosset H.S.....THE CRIME REPORT is published each week as a public service to let residents know where crime is taking place in the area and as an aid in the Neighborhood Watch program. Anyone seeing suspicious activity should phone 911.....BURGLARS broke into the Clearview Stationery 425 South Oyster Bay Rd., Plainview on April 15. Cash was stolen. Police are looking for a male hispanic, 250 lbs., about 45, wearing a T shirt.....THE REAR DOOR of an office at Cantiague Park was pried open on April 17. Burglars entered and stole cash.....SLICING machines and cash were stolen from the Newtown Deli, 101 Newtown Rd., Plainview on April 20. Burglars pried open the front door to gain entry.....A REAR window was broken at the Wesnofske home on 19th St., Jericho on April 15. Burglars entered and stole jewelry.....BURGLARS broke glass in a rear window of the Dreyer residence 19 Parkway Drive, Syosset on April 16. The loss is unknown.....JEWELRY was stolen at the Weinand residence 22 Yukon Drive, Woodbury on April 19. The front door was pried open by burglars to gain entry.....THE SIDE floor of the Dutch Lane Elementary School, Hicksville, was broken in on April 20. The loss was confined to criminal mischief.....JEWELRY was stolen from the Puglisi residence 10 Peter Lane, Plainview between April 17 and 20. The means of entry is unknown..... Q. This marble-top table comes from my family's home in Attica, Ind. Please tell me what you can about its style, age and value.

A. This is mid-Victorian made in the 1870 to 1880 period. These are very popular with collectors and would sell in the $375 to $425 range.

Q. I am sending you a copy of the mark (A) on the bottom of my Hummel Madonna. I would appreciate it very much if you would tell me when it was made and how much it is worth.

A. Sorry, this is not a Hummel; it was designed by the same company (Goebel) but it was not designed by Sister Maria Innocentia Hummel.

It was made between 1935 and 1942. A genuine Hummel of that period would have the mark shown in (B).

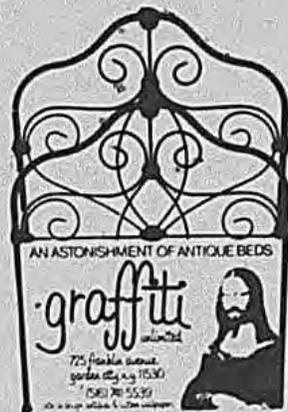

Q. I was surprised to discover that Fiesta Ware is being collected and actually shocked to see how high the prices are. Could you provide some typically fair prices for Fiesta Ware?

A. Fiesta Ware was made by Homer Laughlin from 1936 to 1973. Although it hardly qualifies as "antique," it has become extremely popular with collectors. Here are some typical conservative prices:

- Cups and saucers — $15 to $25.
- Sugar and creamers — $20 to $30.
- Plates — $10 to $20.
- Platters — $15 to $25.
- Bowls — $10 to $25.
- Syrup jugs — $75 to $150.

Send your questions about antiques with a detailed picture(s), stamped, self-addressed envelope, and $1 per item to James G. McCollam.

Schools PR Assn. Honors District

The National School Public Relations Association has honored the Hicksville Public Schools with Golden Achievement Awards for three of the district's programs.

One award recognized the annual Silver Tea Anniversary Reception which honors district staff members who have reached their twenty-fifth year of service to the schools. Staff members from every department are introduced to the Superintendent, Board members, and assembled guests by their colleagues with a few words about their experience and each is presented with an inscribed gift to commemorate the occasion. This event is held at the end of the school year.

A second award recognized is the observance of School Community Partnership Day in November. On this occasion, the district honors members of the community who have furthered the ideals of partnership between the schools and the business or civic organizations in the Hicksville area.

The third Golden Achievement Award was granted for the presentation of Expo II. This is an annual display and demonstration of the results of the In-Dept Studies (IDS) program for the intermediate grades carried on during the year. Teachers and students stage a large exhibit of individual and group projects which includes skits, live demonstrations, and guided tours of the display by participating students. Teachers who took part in this major exposition last year are Betty Obremski, Kathy Scheck, and Ruth Hruska (Burns Avenue School); Phyllis Rubin, Henry Grib, and Doris Teiber (Dutch Lane); Carol Klled, Libbijane Goldman, and Penny Edwards (East Street); Rita Bernstein, Yolanda Grigg, and John Maiorino (Fork Lane); Emily Eisen, Karen Nielson, and Larry Graziote (Lee Avenue); Ann Williams and Chris Townsend (Old Country Road); Joanne Crown, Rosemary Barrow, and Phoebe Witte (Willet Avenue); and Patricia Cooney and Marie Schneider (Woodland Avenue). IDS teacher teams worked with district program coordinators Elaine Kabakoff and Beverly Brown in implementing the program in each school and in preparing for the year-end exhibition.

IDS Expo III will be held this year at the Hicksville Public Library from June 11 to 13. All members of the community are invited to attend and see the results of this exciting program.

Letter Carriers Dramatize Dog Bites

With the arrival of warmer weather, Hicksville Manager/Postmaster Nienaber has asked dog owners to help protect letter carriers, utility workers and other citizens from the dangers of dog bites.

"Two of our letter carriers have developed a unique skit for grades 1-3 instructing children on the importance of keeping their dog restrained," says the Postmaster. "The presentation takes approximately 30 minutes. The children enjoy seeing Zip our six-foot dog chase the letter carrier. The discussion by the letter carrier after the skit and the dog bite coloring book hand-outs make the children realize the seriousness of this problem."

Nationally, nearly 6,000 letter carriers alone were bitten last year.

Nienaber said that all dogs are territorial by nature and even the most gentle pet will bite if it feels its domain is threatened by the presence of a carrier or other person. "With a little care, a pet owner can not only protect our carriers, but his or her pocket-book, too," he said.

Postmaster Nienaber stressed that the Postal Service protects its carriers from dog bite hazards. Among remedies in situations when a pet owner fails to restrain a dog is interruption of home delivery to the residence, or, in some cases, to entire neighborhoods. The Postal Service will also seek to recover injury compensation damages and provides counseling to carriers who have been bitten and wish to seek legal action against dog owners.

"We suggest that pets be kept away from the mailbox and areas the letter carrier uses for access to the property," said the Postmaster. "If the pet cannot be kept behind a secure fence, the owner should restrain it with a secure leash or tether or at least keep the pet inside the house during the usual hours carriers are making their rounds."

"We rely on the support and cooperation of the community to help us end these painful and costly injuries. Our children's Dog Bite Awareness School Program can play an important role in teaching children about this serious problem. Any school or teacher interested in a Dog Bite presentation can contact our Public Affairs Office at 933-2406 to make the necessary arrangements."

Credit needed to receive benefits

Q. I have a younger brother, 25, who was severely injured in an auto accident. I was wondering whether or not he could get disability benefits inasmuch as he had only worked on a job for three years. — I.A.D.

A. An individual who becomes disabled between the ages of 24 and 31 would need credit for having worked half the time between age 21 and the time he became disabled.

Q. My father died some time ago. He had not worked long enough for my mother to get anything on his record. My mother never worked. I have been her sole support. Will she get anything if I die? — D.W.

A. If, at the time of your death, your mother was receiving at least one-half support from you she may meet the requirements for parents' benefits. Parents' benefits are paid at age 62. Contact your local Social Security office for particulars.

Q. I have a 7-month-old girl. Is she too young to get her Social Security number now? — P.L.

A. No, she is not too young. You are required to furnish proof of age, identity and U.S. citizenship or lawful alien status when you apply for a Social Security card. You must submit original or certified documents as evidence. Uncertified or notarized photocopies cannot be accepted. Contact your local Social Security office for additional information.

Q. I had been employed with a company for over 11 years when I was injured on the job in July 1982. I subsequently had surgery and the doctor did not release me to return to work until May 1984. I would like to know if I am eligible to collect Social Security for the time I was not able to work. — R.R.C.

A. An application for disability insurance benefits can be retroactive up to 12 months from the date of filing. Contact your local Social Security office for details.

Q. I would like to try working part time even though I am still disabled. What happens to my Social Security disability benefits if I go back to work? — W.T.W.

A. When a disabled person who has not recovered goes back to work despite his disability, he usually is allowed a "trial work period," which is a chance to test his ability to work. During the trial work period you can continue receiving disability benefit checks for up to nine months. A decision then is made as to whether you are able to do substantial gainful work. Notify your local Social Security office immediately when you return to work.

Q. I've always paid the maximum in Social Security taxes. When I retire will I get the maximum monthly payment? — A.C.

A. Social Security benefits are based on your average covered earnings over a certain period of years, so if you always paid the maximum Social Security taxes up to age 65, you probably will be eligible for the maximum payment for a person your age. But, if your covered earnings varied over the years, they would be averaged out and your payments would be based on that amount.

Q. I am 67 years old and am getting widow's benefits. I plan to marry a man who is getting Social Security retirement benefits. He told me that after we're married I would get Social Security benefits as his wife. I am having second thoughts, because as his wife I would get less than I'm getting now. Is there any way I could keep getting the widow's checks? — J.P.

A. Under Social Security law, whenever you are eligible for more than one benefit, you will receive the higher amount. If your benefits as a widow are more than you would receive as his wife, you will continue to get your monthly widow's payment.

Q. Is there some kind of report that must be made to Social Security by April 15, even though it has nothing to do with taxes? — B.D.

A. If you earned more than the annual exempt amount in 1984, you must send in an Annual Report of Earnings unless you are 70 or older during the entire year or you did not get a Social Security check for any month in 1984. The annual exempt amount in 1984 for those under 65 was $5,160 and for those age 65 or over the amount was $6,960.

Employees Ready For Dimes Walk

Employees of Zurich-American Insurance Co., Syosset, have been getting in shape for the upcoming March of Dimes WalkAmerica. A number of Zurich employees from the New York DBL branch office will be walking as far as they can on April 28, to help raise funds for the prevention of birth defects. According to Judy Unuschak, Z-A's New York DBL branch team captain, "WalkAmerica gives us a chance to get involved in a public-spirited effort to help youngsters all over the country. I'm glad to be a part of it, and I know it'll be a lot of fun, too." Approximately 450 Zurich employees are walking across the nation, doubling the company's 1984 participation. Last month, Z-A helped launch the Chicago Northwest suburban walk from the company's corporate headquarters in Schaumburg, Ill. Zurich-American is providing all employees and Z-A supporters with 1985 WalkAmerica team jerseys. Zurich-American is a member of the Zurich Insurance Group, headquartered in Zurich, Switzerland.

The kindergarten children of East Street School recently completed an interdisciplinary unit on Dinosaurs. The children were involved in many exciting projects. They are very proud of the two huge paper dinosaurs that they painted and stuffed. They are now hanging from the ceiling in their classrooms. As a culminating activity to the unit, parents and other family members were invited to a Dinosaur Day. Dinosaur bone fossils and paintings, by the children, were on display. The children put on a short play about dinosaurs that included a dinosaur poem and funny songs about Tyrannosaurus Rex, Stegasaurus and Brontosaurus. Everyone snacked on dinosaur cookies and punch.

Trinity Lutheran Blood Bank

All parishioners and neighbors of Trinity Lutheran Church are urged to donate blood at the community blood drive scheduled for Sunday, April 28 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. A Long Island Blood Service bloodmobile will be set up in the school gymnasium, located at 40 West Nicholai Street in Hicksville.

Donating blood is an easy and safe procedure. Before the actual donation, each donor receives a mini-physical which checks their pulse, temperature and blood pressure. Juice, cookies, coffee and tea are served after the donation.

Blood is always needed. Each day, over 600 pints of blood are needed to treat many hospital patients. Without volunteer donors, procedures such as open heart surgery and treatment for cancer would not be possible.

If you are in good health, weigh a minimum of 110 pounds, and are between the ages of 17 and 66 you can help others by donating a pint of blood.

Long Island Blood Services, a division of the Greater New York Blood Program, is sponsored by the New York Blood Center and the American Red Cross.

Donate blood on April 28 and help save lives.

To make an appointment to donate blood, call Mrs. Peg Ruhs at 931-2225.
