Susan Kanis, left, president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, presents Eileen Koneck, center, of Hicksville, and Kathleen Shelby, right, of Commack, with the Alpha Epsilon Delta Award for Outstanding Achievement in Biological Sciences. Eileen and Kathleen were honored at the College of Arts and Sciences' Award Ceremony, held each spring at Fairfield to recognize and encourage academic excellence.

Town Planning 4th July Ceremony

The Town of Oyster Bay will host Fourth of July observances at Townsend Park, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay on Thursday, July 4, beginning at 11 a.m., according to Town Councilman Howard T. Hogan, Jr.

"Residents are cordially invited to attend the Town's observance of our nation's 209th birthday," Hogan said. "The program for this year's annual observance of our nation's independence will include the massing of colour by Veteran, scout and civic organizations, honoring the 75th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. A flag program, with music, will pay tribute to the veterans of the U.S. wars from the American Revolution to Vietnam."

Hogan noted that the program is sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Bicentennial Historical Commission under the direction of Dorothy H. McGee, Chairman and in cooperation with the Town Parks Department and the Oyster Bay Community Band.

Police Sergeant Saves Life

A passing off-duty Nassau County police sergeant saved a Hicksville man's life May 21.

Sgt. Thomas Spina was passing 36 Twin Lawns Ave., Hicksville at 5 p.m. when he saw a woman run out screaming for help. He stopped and she yelled that her father was dying and needed help. He ran inside and found Peter Czeczil, 68, of that address, lying on the floor choking. A large piece of chicken had lodged in his throat and he had stopped breathing. Sgt. Spina immediately performed the Heimlich maneuver which moved the piece of chicken so that Czeczil could breathe a little and tried to calm him down. Sgt. Spina then reached into Czeczil's mouth to pull the chicken out and managed to completely dislodge it and Czeczil coughed it out. Sgt. Spina had told the daughter, Lois, to call 911 and the ambulance arrived a short time later. Mr. Czeczil was taken to Syosset Hospital, and was checked and released. Sgt. Spina continued on his way home.

Voters Say 'Yes' To School Budget/Candidates

Residents of the Hicksville School District approved their 1985-86 budget last week by a narrow margin 615 to 559. The budget amounts to $39,748,830 compared to the current year's budget of $36,792,290. The new estimated tax rate will be $24.00 per $100 assessed valuation, up $1.68 over this year.

Voters also re-elected William P. Bennett with 832 votes and Thomas F. Nagle with 744. Both candidates ran unopposed for three year seats on the Board of Education.

At the general meeting held the same night, the Board voted 4-3 to table the full day kindergarten proposal for the present time. Jay Schwartz, Arlene Rudin and Lawrence Wolfson were the opposing voices in the tabling motion.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond and Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker were among the participants in the annual Memorial Day Parade and ceremony sponsored by the United Veterans of Hicksville (Amvets, American Legion, Jewish War Vets, Masonic War Vets, and V.F.W.). Getting ready to join the parade line-up are, left to right: Bob Obermeyer of the V.F.W., Parade Chairman Art Hirsch, V.F.W. Commander Tony Chepak, Joe Messana, Sr. of the V.F.W. and Joe Messana, Jr.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman John Venditto admires projects done by 4-H'ers Kathy Nolan (second from left) and Kathleen Allen, both of Plaisview. The girls are members of the East Nassau 4-H Council, which held its annual Achievement Awards Night recently. Heading up the evening's festivities was chairwoman Anne Nolan.

Letters

To the Editor:

This past weekend the people of Hicksville lost a good man and friend, John Maher, Principal of Willet Avenue School passed away. As a parent of three children in Willet, I always found his door open to anyone needing his help or assistance. No "appointments" were needed, he was always available to everyone, from parents, PTA activities and more important - to children. A friendly smile and a joke or two usually calmed an "over anxious" parent or "nervous" child.

He had a great rapport with our children, firm but most understanding. He was truly respected by all.

We will all miss this man and thank his family for sharing him with us. Willet will never be the same!

Jeanne Schulz

An Open Letter to Anyone Willing to Listen:

Having just returned from Hicksville Junior High School's Gifted and Talented Field Trip I am on a "Natural High"!!

The trip was to Mount Tone Environmental Center, Lake Como, Pennsylvania. What a wonderful experience. Guided by Marie Marshall (our G & T coordinator), who used her scientific expertise, as well as her unbelievably in-depth knowledge of teenagers, the trip went off without one single problem.

The program was run by the Environmental Center, and assisted by some of our very best teachers in the Junior High School. The teachers who came with us were the tops - not only in their major field of study, but also in their unlimited love of our children. Misty Bouton, Lemmey and Metzendorf; Ms. Biasi, Costigan and Shell; we thank you for your dedication to our children!

Along with it being so much fun, you can actually ask me anything about Pond and Stream, Acid Rain, Wildlife Study, Bird Watching, etc. We were all learning so much and we didn't even know it!

Thank you for giving me such wonderful memories - it was an experience I shall never forget! (not to mention that my cabin was the best cabin there - my girls were just terrific. I miss them already...)

Thanks again, for the memory,
Mona Liguori

Rededication At St. Stephen's

The Lutheran Church of St. Stephen, 270 Broadway, Hicksville, is celebrating their 75th Anniversary of service by holding a special service of rededication, on June 9, at 4 p.m. The service will be conducted by Rev. James B. Christ and Rev. Henry R. Brau, assisted by Mr. Henry Diesing.

Founded in 1910, St. Stephen has been serving not only its congregation, but the surrounding community as well. Some of the on-going programs and services are a regular schedule of services, Sunday school, a highly successful nursery school, the donation of a building for use by the Ecumenical Consultation Center, a meeting place for various community groups such as scouts, AA, Al-Anon etc.

In this 75th Anniversary Year, St. Stephens has established a special fund to replace the front doors of the church, purchase of a new outside directory board and to replace the cross on the front of the church. Anyone wishing to donate to this fund is asked to please make checks payable to the church and mark them '75th Anniversary Fund'. It is the hope of all that we will continue with 75 more years of service to the community and above all, to the Lord. For information please call 931-0710.

Woodland Students Study Anatomy

The sixth graders at Woodland Avenue School were all looking forward to the big day when they would be working in groups to dissect a calf's heart—one structure much like their own.

Dr. Ira Toback, a pediatrician and Woodland Ave. parent, following a review of the anatomy and physiology of the heart, began the dissection. He guided the children slowly, allowing them to keep pace with him and patiently checked each group before he proceeded to the next step. This kept interest and learning on a high level.

Students had learned about the human heart in the Seattle Berkley Science Program under the guidance of their classroom teacher, Marion Starnes and nurse-teacher, Mary Macklin. They discovered that the heart is the most powerful muscle in the body and has special chambers and valves to guide the blood flow. Blood brings nourishment in the form of food and oxygen to the billions of cells in our bodies while feeding the heart as well. They understood how sick a person could get if all the parts of the heart did not work in perfect precision. Proper diet, exercise, rest and avoidance of harmful habits like smoking and abusing alcohol could help this wonderful organ to work at its best.

Learning the parts of a heart on a piece of paper was one thing, but here students were cutting and probing into a "real one." To their amazement and delight, they found that those special passageways were exactly where they were supposed to be.

It was an experience that will be long remembered.

Dr. Ira Toback reviews the anatomy of the heart with students.

Benefits once for retired workers only ceiving Social Security benefits and Medicare. I am also 54 years old and disabled, although I'm not receiving Social Security benefits.

Can I file now for Medicare under my husband's record? — A.R.

A. No. You will be eligible for Medicare at age 65, you should apply about three months before you reach 65. Your husband is eligible for Medicare before age 65 because he has been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for 24 months.

Q. In the beginning did the Social Security program provide for anyone besides the retired person? — W.J.C.

A. Originally, the old-age program of the Social Security Act provided benefits only for the retired worker. It was amended in 1939, before the first checks went out, to add benefits for spouses and survivors.

Q. From 1949 to 1956 I worked in employment covered by Social Security. However, starting in 1957 I began working for my city government, which was not covered by Social Security. I retired from that position in 1982. Since then I have been self-employed and have paid as a self-employed person.

I am only 57. Will I get credit for the work as an employee as well as for my self-employment income? — L.McA.

A. All covered earnings you have under Social Security are credited to your account, regardless of whether they are wages or self-employment income.

Q. My husband is 54 years old. Because of his disability he is receiving Social Security disability benefits. If we separate or divorce do I get part of his check? I will soon be 58 and have not worked since shortly after getting married. — V.C.

A. Separation does not affect your entitlement to wife's benefits, which is not payable until age 62. To qualify as a divorced spouse you must have been married to your ex-husband for at least 10 years, be unmarried and age 62 or older.

Gleeb Paul Lowney

Why don't you ever ask me out?
Want the truth?
Yes.
I would if you'd lose thirty pounds.
Now, do you want the truth?
Sure.
If I lost thirty pounds, I could do better than you.

Student Represents School In Albany

Sheryl Jacobs, a junior at Bethpage High School, represented the high school at a special conference in Albany on May 2 called "Youth for Youth: A United Concern". Together with representatives from other high schools throughout New York State, she had been invited by the New York State Education Department to discuss various problems affecting high school students today.

Three presentations were made in the morning by students from various high schools. The first one dealt with student discipline. Representatives from Northport High School described their student court, in-school and out-of-school suspension and the community help program. Students from Tappan Zee High School then spoke on student rights and responsibilities. A lengthy discussion followed under the direction of Dr. Solato from the North Salem School District on the topic of teenage suicide.

Sheryl participated at some length in a discussion with other students on the topic of detection of potential suicides and recommended that Bethpage should adopt an organization called S.A.T.S. - Students Against Teen Suicide - that would provide information about the present crisis and the pressures facing the young people of today.

Three students from Bethpage High School have been chosen as representatives at the Nassau County Career Day and Youth In Law Day on June 3.

Robert Formicelli, Jordana Slomovitz and Evan Dunne were chosen by their teachers to go to the Nassau County offices in Mineola and to fill various official positions in a unique opportunity to learn first hand how the county government works. Because of their activities in school and their career interests, they will be in a good position to bring back many ideas that are useful in the law courses that are currently being taught in Bethpage.

FRANKLIN NEW YORK TAX-FREE INCOME FUND

Given the choice, however, choose more. If you live in New York State and you're in the maximum tax bracket, surely you would welcome the $430 you get to keep if you earn $1,000 from a fully taxable investment. *Current distribution rate based on May 24, 1985 offering price and dividends paid during the last 12 months. The distribution rate will vary because of changes in the Fund's income and offering price. The Fund uses a constantly accepted accounting principle known as amortization. Hicksville JV's Scrimmage 7th,8th

The true spirit of competitiveness, fair play and pride in young athletes was evident on May 24. The Hicksville Junior Varsity baseball team, with nothing to gain, scrimmaged the 7th and 8th grade team in a well played game. It is evident by the pride shown in the baseball program that Hicksville will be the teams to reckon with for many years to come. Many thanks to Tim Gansrow, Rickie Nataro, Ed Rothschild, Brian Georke, Michael Gallagher, Chip Clark, Brian Cleary, Greg Skupinsky, Steve Huettner, Rocky Lombardo, Peter Flynn, George Eng, and Roger Freid.

A special thanks to varsity ball players Paul Bruno and Chris D'Amico for their great help with the umpiring.

As we go into our last week of the season our record is 8-0 in league play.

Mrs. Betty Adler (L), President of the Friends of the Hicksville Library and Todd Senzon (R) of South Massapequa

Label deceiving — violin a copy

By James G. McCollam
 Member, Antique
 Appraisers Association of America

Q. Inside this violin is a label that reads, "Antonio Stradivari, Cremona, 1721." I have been told that it is very valuable and rare. What can you tell me about it?

A. According to the experts, all Stradivarius violins have been accounted for. I am sure that the experts must be correct, though I receive two or three letters like yours every week. Stradivari made violins in the late 17th and early 18th centuries. When one changes hands today, the price is well over $100,000. Fakes or copies sell for from $50 to $500. I suggest you take yours to the local museum and ask for an expert opinion.

Q. I have a Hummel figurine of a little boy in a top hat blowing a flute. It is 5 inches tall, and the bottom has the attached mark and the number 85/0. When was it made and how much is it worth?

A. The name of this figurine is "Serenade." It was made in 1957 and is selling at about $150. The mark you provided is Trade Mark 2-D (High Bee mark). It was used only one year (1957).

Q. I am confused about Royal Doulton Toby Mugs and Character Jugs. Can you explain the difference and how they compare price-wise?

A. Toby Jugs are full figure representations, while Character Mugs are head and shoulders only. For example, a Sairey Gamp Toby Mug, made between 1939 and 1960, sells for about $200. Sairey Gamp Character Mugs, made from 1934 to the present, sell in the $30 to $100 range, depending on size. Sairey Gamp was a character in Charles Dickens' "Martin Chuzzlewit."

Large Turnout For Memorial Parade

One of the largest turnouts of participants and spectators in recent years marked the Annual Memorial Day Parade and Formal Commemorative Services in Hicksville this past Monday. The weather was warm and the skies sunlit over a fine parade and community observation in the morning, before the holiday's formal opening of the summer's recreation and family get-togethers commenced.

The recently refurbished and landscaped Hicksville War Memorials at the Junior High School were a pleasure to behold, the veterans and organizational wreaths adding their color and symbolism to the floral arrangements and pruned shrubbery so well accomplished by the Board of Education's War Memorial subcommittee under Trustee Daniel MacBride and Director of Buildings and Grounds, William Becker. The John F. Kennedy Memorial in the newly evolving center of Hicksville, the community's monument to its 40 heroic casualties of wartime service, was decorated with the wreath of the Disabled War Veterans.

The principal speaker for the formal services at the Hicksville High School playing field was Lieutenant Fred Bauer of the United States Marine Corps who spoke, in part, of the ever-present readiness of young Americans to sacrifice in the service of the nation, citing the losses in the Lebanon and Grenada struggles.

The following texts are the remarks of the two Hicksville High School student speakers, Elinor La and Paul Greenfield.

Memorial Day Address by student speaker, Paul Greenfield, of the Hicksville High School during Hicksville's formal holiday services, May 27, 1985.

On this day we honor our war dead....Those young men and women who died in the Spanish-American War, World War I and II, the Korean War, and Vietnam. To commemorate these men and women, we place flowers and flags on their graves. Many organizations march in military parades, which often include the reading of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. To honor those who died at sea, some U.S. ports also organize ceremonies where tiny ships filled with flowers are set afloat on the water.

The facts I just mentioned about Memorial Day ceremonies have been taught to me throughout my education. However, recent experiences outside the classroom, have enlightened me in a different way.

The gathering of the community this morning shows the patriotism, togetherness and respect for the dead we honor, who by their courageousness have nourished our pride and strengthened our hearts. These fallen soldiers have taught me about the fervor and strength with which our country should be guarded and enriched.

Recently our senior class took a trip to Washington, D.C. As we were standing at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, watching the dedication with which the honor guards performed their duties, 24 hours a day, it made me realize how truly important it is that we honor those who served us and saved us.

It wasn't until two days ago, when I turned 18, and was at the Post Office signing up for the Selective Service, that I began to think of the real possibility that I might be called upon someday to serve my country.

The meaning of Memorial Day suddenly held a special significance for me. I realized what a sacrifice was made by those we honor today, who served so unselfishly defending our country. I also realize how fortunate I am to be able to leave Hicksville High School and continue on to college in the fall...an opportunity not available to so many who were called upon to go to war at my age. These men and women and their families deserve our highest honor, not only on this day, but on every day that we step out into this beautiful country and enjoy the gift of freedom given to us by these brave soldiers.

I feel particularly honored to have been asked to participate in this year's Memorial Service. Thank you for asking me to join you to pay tribute to these valiant heroes, today and every day.

Memorial Day Address of Elinor La of the Hicksville High School during the formal holiday observations and ceremonies on May 27, 1985.

It is a pleasure and an honor to speak before you.

Today, we celebrate Memorial Day, a day on which we commemorate those men and women who fought and died to preserve our nation. Their wisdom, patience, courage and gallantry now enable us to enjoy the myriad of opportunities to learn, to meet challenge, to pursue and attain goals, and to thereby enrich our nation's happiness and prosperity.

These opportunities would have never been possible if it weren't for them.

So, let the flags, the decorations, the music, and the marching be not mechanical tributes nor unhollow gestures but expressions of our heart-felt appreciation for the deeds and the sacrifices of our heroes. Now, we are all united to remember and to honor those who died to preserve our country. As we are inspired by their undaunted determination, let us also realize our own capacity to care, to give, and to honor, and let this renewed awareness act as the foundation on which we may resolve present and future problems and the foundation on which we may create an even stronger nation... Thank you.

Fork La. Students Visit "Big Apple"

They had to board the Long Island Railroad and ride the subway to do it, but fourth graders in Mrs. Mitchell's and Mrs. Irwin's classes at Fork Lane School arrived at their destination bright and early...New York City!

The tour began with a visit to the fabulous World Trade Center. At the Observation Deck, the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island were clearly visible along with a breathtaking view of many other points of interest.

Upon coming "down to earth", Fork Laners took a walking tour of downtown New York City and viewed Trinity Church where Alexander Hamilton and Robert Fulton are interred. They then passed the Willet Revolutionary Memorial before arriving at the next stop...the New York Stock Exchange.

In the visitors area, the students got a first-hand look at the hustle and bustle of the world of high finance, while a recorded announcement explained the sophisticated process of stock trading. Bi-lingual telephones were available for any child or adult wishing a recorded message in Italian, Japanese, French, Spanish, etc.

After the tour, it was back to Hicksville with a trainload of souvenirs amid the excited chatter of the fourth graders. Thanks to Mrs. Irwin, and Mrs. Mitchell, accompanied by resident math whiz Mr. Maiorino, for the terrific tour. Lower Manhattan proved to be a fascinating slice of the "Big Apple".

K Dinosaur Dig At Fork Lane

Fork Lane kindergarteners recently entered their classroom to find some strange shapes lying on the floor. As they picked up the pieces, they quickly realized they'd stumbled upon some "dinosaur bones". But what kind of dinosaur was it? And were were the missing "bones"? Like true scientists, the children followed the path the bones made to the rear exit door and completed their search of the missing bones in the outside play area. Mrs. Carol Davan and her excavation crew then assembled a life-sized model of a baby brontosaurus. The kindergarteners study of dinosaurs will culminate in a Dinosaur Party in mid-June. But one fact remains: Fork Lane digs dinosaurs!

Kindergarten teacher Carol Davan and Fork Lane student David Ng prepare to assemble "dinosaur bones".

Fork Lane youngsters display their newly found "dinosaur bones".

interest to readers.

2. Confine your INPUT to one subject.

Most Input Callers Satisfied With MOVE

Most callers to Input were satisfied with the "Move" eviction in answer to this question: "Do you think the handling of the "Move" eviction in which 11 people and 60 houses were destroyed in Philadelphia was justified?" Here are some of the answers:

AN ACCIDENT

It was too bad how the eviction came out and no one can say that the taking of 11 lives was a good thing but we must consider what the police and mayor had to do. They thought that they were protecting the entire community. They had no idea that cans of gasoline would ignite the bomb and burn down all those houses. It was an accident in justified police work as I see it. K.E.

NO BOMBS

I do not believe that the police should ever drop a bomb in a residential area. They did not have any idea of how powerful it was or what destruction could come about. It was not the only way of getting the "Move" people to get out. They could have starved them out by stopping anyone from going in or out of the house. It would have taken a while but in fact the community had put up with this group for some time so a little while longer would not mean that much. J.W.

WAS RIGHT

I believe that the right procedure was used. We cannot let groups decide to run out country. They were given warning. The people were evacuated from their homes so only those who were bent on a shootout remained. We have to take some chances in maintaining law and order. No one could have forecast what would happen. K.E.

INSANE ACTION

This was an insane cure for an insane group. The police and mayor were totally irresponsible. It was not that important to get rid of that group instantly. It was a case of black against black but that in no way justifies this terrible sacrifice of life and property. I think the mayor and police acted wrongly. W.E.

POLICE WON

This is one of those cases of "Monday morning" quarterbacking. Of course the police would not have put the bomb there if they had any indication that an incendiary condition was present. The group in the house brought it upon themselves. They cared little for the lives of police or firemen so it was force against force and the police won. G.R.

IRRESPONSIBLE

I think that the mayor just does not know what he is doing and that he is irresponsible. If that had happened in a city where the mayor was white there would have been all hell to pay. 11 lives were lost and the personal property of all those people went up in flames simply to prove that the police are able to evict a group if they want to do it. This is terrible. B.E.

NOT JUSTIFIED

In my opinion, it was not justified. We are outraged when we witness the cruelty of political extremists in bombarding innocent civilians and I fail to see the difference in the Philadelphia case merely because the police were in effect "legal" terrorists. Without a doubt, the "Move" people deserved capture and punishment to match the crimes they had committed against law and order as well as their unspeakable acts against neighbors in their immediate community. From what I have read, their own version of a "back to earth" movement was an atrocious affront against everything each of us respects as a treasured principle in our well ordered and civilized society. Actually, their behavior had been tolerated over much too long a period before the attack finally took place and there was plenty of time to plan carefully for remedial action. Frankly, the fact that the members of the cult had been eliminated is not a matter of regret but for the police to resort to virtually indiscriminate bombing as they did at grave risk to innocent residents was completely uncalled for and without excuse. P.G.S.

CORRECT COURSE

I think the action taken in Philadelphia to evict MOVE was the only correct course of action to take. They tried everything short of the bombing and MOVE resisted their efforts. Remember a few years ago, they had a similar eviction with MOVE and one policeman down there was killed and several other police, firemen and some civilians were wounded. Remember, also, the reason why the fire spread so rapidly was because MOVE, in a letter sent previously to the city, had threatened to spread oil or other flammable material in that house and the fact that they continued to fire hampered fire fighters from entering the vicinity.

AN ACCIDENT

It's a shame that 60 houses had to burn in Philadelphia. It was an accident, we know, and it behooves all of us to help those people get squared away. But, yes, it was worth it. If only to show terrorists, etc. in this country that we intend to make them obey the law of the land and we're not going to give up a few radicals just to please them. R.S.

PAST ISSUES

SEPARATE GARBAGE

Yes, I would separate trash from garbage not only because it will lower taxes but because it would benefit people of the community.

CONSERVATION

Yes, I would also separate trash from garbage even if it didn't mean lower taxes. I think the newspapers and television should put a good deal more emphasis on conservation. There's so much waste. People waste water, the land, electricity, everything. People just feel that if they can afford to pay for those things they have the right to use them but they never give any consideration to the fact that these are resources that we have to maintain. I think we should try to eliminate some of this waste. V.T.

ANOTHER ISSUE

It's wonderful that you have offered a column such as Input for people to express their anger, dissatisfaction, whatever. It doesn't do any good but it makes you feel better. I think it's terrible that I'm a taxpayer, citizen and Nassau County resident and have to pay high taxes while other people who have made their homes into 2 and 3 family units collect high rents and are not recorded as being legal. This is dishonest and aggravating to honest, hardworking citizens.

DISCOVERY

Pre College Blues

By Gail Parker

June is a special month resplendent with birthdays, weddings and graduations. The sun shines luminous in hope and joy.

It is also when mothers are faced with the reality of their son or daughter's departure for college within a short time. They will be independent, young adults living away and out of parental control and influence. The impact of this transition on family life can be dramatic. Some mothers start to feel "pre-college blues". Others, rejoice.

On reflection, it seems like yesterday when our only child, Danielle took her first step, started kindergarten and studied ballet. We thought it blantly obvious then she would someday be a prima ballerina. Now, she is to make her college debut.

I try to visualize a double rather than triple occupancy home when Dani takes up residence in a dorm. Summer camp stands out vividly as a time when her absence was felt deeply. There wasn't "liberation" just loneliness.

The "empty nest" syndrome can be regarded as a blessing to some parents. It may not be as drastic an adjustment for mothers who have established careers. For those women whose primary focus has been the nurturing of children, however, there can be no comparable substitute. A new life style change is in order.

It is natural as parents to be privy to ambivalent feelings in having to relinquish authority and "letting go" of their children. However, this is the time to dispense with self pity, replacing it with joy and optimism, for just another phase of life is unfolding.

A college separation may be somewhat of an adventure serving as a testing ground in accepting our own entities. It is the opportunity to explore new unrealized avenues of growth and self fulfillment. It just might evoke a mutually rewarding and renewing experience, one in which the relationship between parent and child might be heightened to new dimensions.

FINE FISH

Last week we went to an authentic Portuguese Restaurant named Estoril Granada. It is located on Mineola Blvd. in Mineola. The fish dishes there are simply wonderful and so many of them offer sauces that are not found anywhere else.

We had a party of four there on Thursday and all of them said that they want to come back again.

The service and the decor make it a nice place to go. I'm sure that other of your readers would want to try it also. H.W.

SURE ITS GOOD
 One of the nicest restaurants that you have featured in your restaurant section is the Mona Lisa. This restaurant has been in Garden City for many years and no matter how you look at it, it is still a great place to eat. It is restful and well decorated with a full wall mural of that old beauty,
 the Garden City Hotel.
 But it is not the decorations that we come to view at the Mona Lisa. In going there for more than 10 years we have never had a meal that was not pleasing. This has included anything from roast beef to fresh fish. Some restaurants have big specials but we go to Mona Lisa because we are sure that it will be good. Tell more people our reason and they will find out. K.M.H.

Q. Is it normal restaurant procedure for a waiter or waitress to say "will this be on the dinner or a la carte?" before taking one's order in a moderate restaurant? I had a very embarrassing experience recently because a waitress didn't ask this information. Over the years, I have always been asked this question and never been in trouble. All the better restaurants in the city seem to do this. Thank you. J.

A. You are right. The waitress should tell you of the possibilities on the menu and she should inform you of how she is carrying it on her ticket.

Q. Tipping has always bothered me. I know there are many facets to it but why do I have to tip at all? J.C.

A. The answer to this is obvious if you think about it. If you want any control at all over what type of service you are going to get you should be able to give more or less according to how you have been treated.

Many people may not know it but waiters generally get a very low wage scale, some below minimum wage because tips can be expected to balance the scale and they do depend on between a 15 percent and 20 percent tip to make the job worthwhile.

LITTLE BUT BIG
The Italian Garden Restaurant at 348 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola isn't the biggest restaurant you have listed, but it may be among the best.

We went there last week and enjoyed the fine pasta, shrimp and veal dishes that this big little restaurant serves. You get the feeling that things are being prepared for you instead of on the big assembly line, the way things are done in the very large restaurants.

The food is fine Neapolitan. The service is prompt, personal and well done. This is a restaurant that should be recommended.

READER RATINGS

AMONG THE BEST
I have never seen anyone call in about Koenig's Restaurant in Floral Park, in spite of the fact that it is one of the best restaurants in Nassau County. Many of your readers may not know that the Pritikin Diet that is on the menu at Koenig's is tasty and a good way to dine out. They steer clear of salt, sugar and oil. But those who do not want the Pritikin Diet that I am following, can eat the best in continental food at Koenig's as people have been doing for many years. They have outstanding steaks and salads. When we went there last week the other member of our party of two had a wonderful steak dinner, while I can truthfully say I enjoyed the Pritikin menu.

Traditional dishes a Dutch treat

By Verne Palmer

Tucked away in the heart of Pennsylvania's Mennonite farm country is a 200-year-old stone farmhouse.

It sits beside a small rural road miles from Highway 283, the arterial link between Harrisburg and Philadelphia. There's nothing to differentiate it from its neighbors and, in fact, to many of those neighbors it is simply the Groff family farm.

Life on the farm proceeds much the same as it does on other farms in the area. The fields are tilled, the livestock cared for, fruits and vegetables are "put up" in due season, breads, rolls and egg noodles are made daily and a steady stream of homemade sausages, hams, pork loins and beef roasts make their way into the farm's smokehouse.

The difference is apparent only at mealtime. The 75 people who sit down to eat in the Groff dining room are not members of the family or even relatives — in fact, some have traveled as far as 15,000 miles to dine at the Groff Farm Restaurant.

The dishes visitors enjoy there are traditional Pennsylvania Dutch — one of what proprietor Betty Groff describes as two pure ethnic cuisines in America (Creole being the other).

Groff said Pennsylvania Dutch cuisine is more than 200 years old, and "hasn't changed much in all those years."

A typical meal includes at least two main dishes, and if it's a special occasion there are a minimum of three — usually a chicken, meat and oyster dish. In addition there is an endless stream of vegetable side dishes, starches, relishes and desserts — before, during and after the meal.

Meals at the farm traditionally begin with Cracker Pudding and Old-Fashioned Chocolate Cake. "The appetite is bigger at the beginning of the meal, so why not enjoy a little dessert?" Groff said. The desserts are passed around the table throughout the meal and a fresh assortment follows it.

In addition to the traditional smoked meats, cured hams and pork sausages, Pennsylvania Dutch cuisine takes its individuality from such delights as noodle pot pies, schnitz und knepp (dried apples and dumplings), oyster fillings, black raspberry and shoofly pies and endless relishes.

A sampling of recipes selected by Groff as especially representative of Pennsylvania Dutch cuisine follows.

CRACKER PUDDING

- 1 qt. milk
- 2 egg yolks
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 cups broken saltine crackers (not rolled into crumbs)
- 1 cup grated coconut (fine or medium shred)
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract
- 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

In heavy 3-quart pot or Dutch oven, heat milk almost to boiling point. In bowl, beat egg yolks and sugar together until frothy and light. Gradually add to hot milk. Reduce heat to medium.

Crumble crackers into milk (1 package of crackers makes 2 cups). Stir constantly until mixture comes to boil. Add coconut and stir until pudding bubbles thickly. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Serve warm or cold.

If you want to make this fancy, top with meringue and bake until golden brown.

Serves 6 to 8.

CHICKEN STOLTZFUS

- 1 (5 lb.) roasting chicken, cleaned, giblets removed
- 1½ qts. water
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- Pinch saffron
- 12 tbsps. butter
- 12 tbsps. flour
- 1 cup light cream or ¼ cup each milk and evaporated milk
- ¼ cup finely chopped fresh or ¼ cup dried parsley
- Pastry Squares (recipe follows)
- Parsley for garnish

Put chicken in 6-quart kettle. Add water, salt, pepper and saffron and bring to boil. Reduce heat to medium and simmer, partially covered, for 1 hour. Remove chicken and cool enough to debone. Strain stock. Reduce stock to 4 cups.

Remove skin and bones from chicken and cut meat into bite-size pieces.

Melt butter in pot in which chicken was cooked and mix in flour. Cook over medium-low heat until golden and bubbling. Add 4 cups chicken stock and cream, stirring constantly. Cook over medium-high heat until sauce comes to boil. Simmer until thickened and smooth. Reduce heat and add chicken pieces and chopped parsley. Serve hot over pastry squares.

Pastry Squares

- ½ cup lard or vegetable shortening

- ½ cup butter
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- About ½ cup ice water

Cut lard and butter into flour and salt with pastry blender, or mix by hand, until it forms crumbs. Sprinkle ice water over crumbs with one hand, while tossing them lightly with other hand. Use only enough water to hold dough together.

Press dough into ball and put on lightly floured surface. Divide into 2 or 3 parts. Roll each part ¼ inch thick to fit ungreased cookie sheet. On cookie sheets, cut dough into 1-inch squares with pastry wheel or sharp knife. Bake in preheated 350 F oven for 12 to 15 minutes, until lightly browned.

Arrange pastry squares on heated platter. Spoon chicken on top.

Note: These may be made beforehand. Store in airtight container.

SHOOFLY PIE

- 1 unbaked 9-inch pie crust
- Crumb topping:
- 1 cup flour

- ½ cup light brown sugar
- ¼ cup vegetable shortening
- Liquid bottom:
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup golden table molasses
- ¼ tsp. salt
- Whipped cream or ice cream (optional)

Combine flour, brown sugar and shortening in bowl and cut with pastry blender or rub together until it forms fine crumbs. While preparing liquid, put unbaked pie shell in preheated oven at 350 F for about 5 minutes. (This prevents bottom from getting soggy.)

To make liquid, dissolve soda in boiling water in bowl. Add molasses and salt and stir to blend well. Pour liquid mixture into prebaked pie shell, and sprinkle crumb topping evenly on top. Bake in preheated 375 F oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 F and bake 30 minutes longer until center does not shake when it is moved.

Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired. These pies freeze very well.

BEEF WITH MANY VEGETABLES IN BLACK BEAN SAUCE

- ½ cup plus 6 tbsps. peanut oil
- 1 medium eggplant, sliced lengthwise ¼-inch thick, then cut into strips ½-inch wide, salted liberally 20 minutes before cooking
- ¾ cup chicken broth
- 2 tps. cornstarch, dissolved in 2 tbsps. soy sauce
- 2 small zucchini, sliced
- 1 cup broccoli flowerets
- 1 medium carrot, cut into thin strips
- 4 dried Chinese mushrooms, soaked 20 minutes in hot water and drained (see note)
- 1 (8 oz.) can whole water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- ½ green pepper, cut in thin slices
- 1 cup shredded Chinese cabbage
- 1 tbsps. chopped garlic
- ½ tsp. cayenne
- 1 heaping tbsps. black bean paste (see note)
- ¼ tsp. red pepper
- 1 tsp. hot oil (see note)
- 1 tbsps. sesame oil (see note)
- 1 lb. lean beef (flank steak or another lean cut), sliced very thin
- 6 medium scallions, thinly sliced, greens included
- 8 ozs. canned straw mushrooms, drained (see note)

In wok or deep, heavy frying pan, heat ½ cup of peanut oil until very hot. Add eggplant, all at once, and cook, tossing frequently with long-handled spatula or wok tools, about 10 minutes, until eggplant strips start to brown. Toward end of cooking time eggplant will change in texture, becoming crispier and stickier, and less slippery. Remove and drain in colander, pressing down firmly with spoon to remove excess oil and moisture. Set aside.

Empty and clean wok, wiping dry with paper towels.

In small bowl, mix chicken broth and cornstarch dissolved in soy sauce.

In wok, heat 4 tablespoons oil until very hot. Add zucchini, broccoli, carrot, Chinese mushrooms, water chestnuts and green pepper. Stir-fry 5 minutes until vegetables become somewhat limp. Add Chinese cabbage and continue to stir-fry another 3 to 4 minutes, until vegetables begin to brown. Remove vegetables to bowl. Clean and dry wok as above.

Heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil until it begins to smoke. Add and quickly stir-fry (for about 3 seconds) garlic, cayenne, bean paste, red pepper, hot oil and sesame oil. Add beef and stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes until beef is cooked through and glazed. Add eggplant and chicken broth mixture. Stir-fry for 1 to 2 minutes more until eggplant is thoroughly mixed with beef and almost invisible.

Add reserved vegetables, scallions and straw mushrooms and stir-fry briefly until bubbling and heated through.

Serve with boiled rice.

Serves 4 to 6.

Microwave Magic

By Desiree Vivea

Quiz: June 16, 1985 is: a) National Armadillo Day; b) the anniversary of the founding of Consumers for Better Sit-Coms Alliance; c) the birth date of Boy George; d) all of the above.

If your answer was any of the above: wrong, wrong, wrong. June 16, as every dutiful son and daughter knows, is Father's Day. (Actually, it might be Boy George's birthday, too, for all I know.)

If you flunked the quiz, take a red felt pen to your calendar and mark the date with a large circle so you won't forget it again. Then give yourself 20 lashes for filial negligence. (Shame on you!)

If you knew that June 16 was Father's Day, and were clever enough to see through my little trick questions, pass go and collect 200 brownie points.

Father's Day comes but once a year, and one day to honor dear old Dad for all those years of care and attention hardly seems enough. What can you do to let your old pater know how much you love and appreciate him? (Please, not another tie.)

This year, fix a special microwave-easy breakfast in bed for your dad. Wake him up with a hearty Canadian Breakfast Bake and tasty Walnut-Streusel Coffee Cake. Guaranteed, he'll love it. After all, how often does he get breakfast in bed?

Add a cup of hot coffee or a steaming mug of Gourmet Hot Mocha Chocolate and a glass of juice. Serve on a tray with fresh flowers, and don't forget the Sunday paper.

What the heck — go all out, and bring him his slippers, too. Dad deserves it.

CANADIAN BREAKFAST BAKE

- 1 (12 oz.) pkg frozen hash brown potatoes
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 tbsps. chopped chives
- 2 tbsps. chopped bell pepper
- 4 slices Canadian bacon
- 4 eggs
- 1/4 cup grated cheddar cheese
- Dash paprika

Place potatoes in 8x8-inch square glass baking dish. Microwave, covered, 6 to 7 minutes, or until defrosted and partially cooked.

To potatoes, add milk, sour cream, salt, pepper, chives and bell pepper. Stir to blend well.

Arrange Canadian bacon slices, overlapping as needed, down center of dish. With back of spoon, make two indentations in potatoes on either side of bacon. Crack 1 egg into each "nest", cover.

Microwave on MEDIUM (50 percent power) for 5 minutes, or until eggs are almost set. Sprinkle tops of eggs with grated cheddar cheese, then lightly dust with paprika.

Replace cover and microwave 1 to 2 minutes longer, until eggs are just set and cheese is melted.

Let stand, covered, 1 minute before serving.

Serves 4.

WALNUT-STREUSEL COFFEE CAKE

- Cake:
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
 - 1 1/2 tsps. baking powder
 - 1/4 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 1 tsp. grated orange or lemon rind
 - 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/4 tsp. ground cloves
 - 1/2 cup milk

- Topping:
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
 - 1/4 cup brown sugar
 - 1 tsp. cinnamon
 - 1/4 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
 - 1/4 cup chopped walnuts

To prepare cake, combine flour, baking powder and salt, blending well with fork.

In medium-size mixing bowl, cream together butter and sugar; beat in egg, then add orange or lemon rind, vanilla and cloves.

Stir in milk, blending well, then add dry ingredients, little at a time, beating until smooth.

Turn batter into 9-inch round glass baking dish. Set aside.

For topping, combine flour, brown sugar and cinnamon, stirring with fork to blend.

Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add chopped walnuts, tossing with fork, and sprinkle mixture evenly over top of batter.

Microwave 6 minutes, rotating dish 1/2 turn after 3 minutes. Let stand 2 to 3 minutes before cutting and serving. May be served warm or cold.

Makes 1 9-inch coffee cake.

GOURMET HOT MOCHA CHOCOLATE

- 1 cup semisweet chocolate bits
- 2 tbsps. instant coffee granules
- 1 cup water
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 4 cups milk
- Whipped cream and chocolate shavings (optional)

In large glass bowl, combine chocolate bits, coffee and water.

Microwave 3 to 4 minutes, or until chocolate is completely melted.

Stir in remaining ingredients except whipped cream and chocolate shavings. Blend well and microwave 5 to 6 minutes longer.

Serve hot, garnished with whipped cream and shaved chocolate, if desired.

Serves 4.

New removers tough on old paint

Q. We purchased an older home about three years ago. We redecorated extensively and painted the walls. Now the paint is cracking in spots, completely through the most recent layer and all of the other previous layers of paint. It is too thick to peel and repaint in any one spot.

Should we try to remove all the layers of paint so that we can get down to the bare plaster again? If so, how should we go about the task? — C.A.

A. There are newer types of paint removers available made in part with methylene chloride that, when applied to the paint with a paint brush, almost immediately cause the paint to wrinkle and detach itself from the surface. It then can be scraped off at that time or after it dries. This paint remover is sometimes called "flush off" because it can be flushed off with water.

There also are electric paint removers on the market. This tool is placed on the coated surface, then pulled over the coating slowly, followed by a scraper to remove the softened paint. The heating element in the instrument is the same as in an electric appliance. This tool is excellent for removing paint from small surfaces, and it can be used for large areas, as well.

After the surface has been cleaned and dried by one of these methods, we suggest you try one of the alkali-proof paints. Check with your paint dealer.

Q. I have several oil paintings I would like to clean. Can you recommend a procedure for this? — L.L.R.

A. If your paintings are extremely old, rare or valuable, we suggest you consider giving the job to a professional restorer who will have the opportunity to examine your paintings and determine what procedures are safe and effective.

Cleaning attempts by amateurs sometimes lead to unsatisfactory results. However, if the paintings are in good condition you can try the following cleaning method:

Fold a clean soft cloth to make two or three thicknesses that will cover the painting. Then dip the cloth in lukewarm, soft water and wring out until it no longer drips. Spread the damp cloth over the painting and press into contact. Allow the cloth to remain in place for five to 10 minutes, then lift it off, rinse thoroughly and repeat the procedure.

Arthritis formulas appeal to many

Dear John: In reading your column in one of our local newspapers, your honey and vinegar formula appealed to me. And as your kind and friendly offer is to send only a self-addressed, stamped envelope to receive a copy of the Certo and vinegar formulas, well, what could be simpler and cost so little?

The honey and vinegar never can cost as much as a visit to our doctor's office. And if it will do, as some folks claim, what am I waiting for? After all, neither my wife nor I ever will see 75 again. — Joseph M.

Dear Joseph: What more can be said?

Dear John: Enjoy your column very much. Got a problem. I am a senior citizen who is losing his sense of smell and taste. Is there anything that can be done? — Bob S.

Dear Bob: I've always understood that these were a couple of the infirmities of growing old, but it wouldn't hurt to consult an expert.

Dear John: I read your very interesting article on natural methods of helping arthritis-afflicted people and the personal testimonial stated in your recent article.

Please send the literature on the vinegar and Certo formulas or other natural methods to cure or ease the pain of arthritis. I have been looking for such information to help my mother. We greatly prefer natural ways.

I would like to add a testimonial myself regarding WD-40. It provided instant pain relief when I used it for the following: wasp and bee stings, itching, burns, bruises and cuts.

It has worked every time I have used it and I can truthfully say only good things for WD-40 in the Several applications should remove most of the accumulated dust. Special care must be taken not to get the surface of the painting unduly wet. After it dries thoroughly, the painting can be brightened with an application of copal varnish applied with a fine-bristle brush or, better still, sprayed on.

Do not use any synthetic, clear finishes as these may contain solvents that will soften the oil paints used originally.

Q. Our patio floor has a rough surface, almost like the stucco on the side of a house. I find it very unsatisfactory. I must admit the cement finishing was done by amateurs. Is there any way I can smooth the surface, either by applying a new cement top or using a filler of some sort? — R.M.

A. Go over the surface lightly with a terrazzo grinding machine — more than one time, if needed. The equipment can be rented.

After grinding, for an improved appearance, I would recommend an application of a concrete sealer and paint. This also will keep the patio floor from absorbing water. Satisfactory results can be obtained by using exterior latex paints for masonry, portland cement paints, swimming pool paints or transparent silicone water repellents.

If you wish to put a smooth layer of cement on the surface, first apply a concrete glue before pouring the new cement. But this process will be more expensive.

... years I have been using it. Not natural, but great.

My mother has used it on her arthritic hands and says it makes them feel numb, but it doesn't cure the arthritis. — Valerie S.

Dear Valerie: There's no cure yet for arthritis, of course, but the WD-40 information is interesting.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: My dad has emphysema. My grandmother told me that my dad got it because he smokes too much. (My dad smokes two packs of cigarettes per day.) What is emphysema and is it caused by smoking? If that's true, is it catching?

My grandmother acts like my mother because my real mom died two years ago. I am 12 years old and I promised Grandmother I'd never smoke a cigarette in my life. — Karl.

Karl: I contacted the American Lung Association to answer your questions. I, too, was not sure exactly what the symptoms and causes are.

Emphysema is a severe lung disease that usually develops gradually, not suddenly. The wall of the air sacs in the lungs lose elasticity and are destroyed. Stale air gets trapped in the lungs, which become overinflated. The exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide is disrupted. The person with emphysema feels as if he is drowning in a sea of air.

The flow of blood in the lungs is disrupted by the changes caused by emphysema. The heart has to pump harder and an overworked heart can lead to many physical problems.

Very few non-smokers develop emphysema. Most people who have the disease have been heavy smokers for years. People who are born with a deficiency of a blood protein called alpha-1-antitrypsin — and who also smoke — run a very high risk of developing the disease.

Breathlessness can be a beginning symptom. As the disease develops, breathing becomes more and more of a chore. Though there is no known way to reverse the damage involved in emphysema, medical treatment can help patients to breathe easier with the disease. Continued smoking can cause the disease to develop into even more advanced stages.

Karl, emphysema is not contagious. If Dad is still smoking, please gently remind him that you love him and want him to quit. Don't quit reminding him to quit until he does.

Dr. Wallace: Will you please help me? I'm a 16-year-old girl and I feel worthless. I'm fat and ugly and none of the guys at school would ever dream of dating me. I have even thought of ending my life but I really don't think I've got the courage to do it. Besides, I'm afraid of what would happen to my soul if help. All they do is yell at me for being lazy and they call me nasty names.

I'm a pretty good student when I study, but lately I have not done well in school.

When I sit down, and evaluate my situation, it seems like nobody cares for me. Any help will be deeply appreciated. I'm a real mess. — Nameless.

Nameless: You came to the right person. I care very much and with a little assistance from me and lot of work by you, we are going to change your self-image. First, write to me again and give me your name and address. After this brief message through the column, I want to contact you directly by mail.

It's no secret that you have problems. Let's start working on them one by one. Let's start with your eating habits. Please contact your school nurse, your doctor or a professional nutritionist and have this person prepare a diet just for you. Stay with the diet. It will take a little time, but after awhile you will notice a nice weight loss.

Next, get into the habit of doing your homework at the same time every day. An hour before and an hour after supper would be ideal. Get the proper amount of exercise and rest your body needs. Again, your school nurse, physical education teacher or your doctor will be happy to assist you.

Once you have started your self-improvement program, you will notice that you will acquire a degree of self-confidence. With confidence comes friends. They will be much easier to make because you will be a happier person.

If you don't attend a church or synagogue, start attending and get involved with youth groups that have activities. And participate! Also, get involved in school activities (especially next September) and, whenever possible, attend games, plays and concerts. Whenever the time comes that you feel comfortable, attend school dances.

The last "must do" request is to smile a lot. Wake up with a smile and end your day the same way. Smiling is contagious. I know there are many areas we haven't discussed (parents, chores, making friends with both boys and girls) but space is limited. Please write to me soon. I'll be able to write (or call if you include your telephone number) back and answer any other questions you might have. I'm thrilled that you wrote to me. You made my day.

Camp checklist for parents

By Willard Abraham
Ph.D.

Q. Please give me some idea of what to look for in a summer camp. Our 10-year-old hasn't gone to one yet, but we're thinking about sending him this year. Your suggestions of what to check on (and what to guard against) would be so helpful.

A. A few years ago I saw a reference to a guide titled Summer Camps & Programs, which included a checklist that could help increase a youngster's benefits and enjoyment and perhaps save some money. One of its authors was Alice Goldsmith. Here are some of the suggestions for parents to consider:

1. Watch out for brochures that promise everything.
2. The most important factor is the staff. Who are they? What's their background? What do the former campers and their families say about them?
3. What is the ratio of counselors to campers? One-to-five may be about right.
4. Are there children attending who are the age of yours? There should be.
5. Check on the living accommodations. How many children per cabin and what bathroom facilities, for example.
6. Are medical services available?
7. Check on the cost of the camping experience cost — the camp's fee, travel, clothing, other expenses.

Programs, meals and opportunities for parental visitation and observation can be among the other items worth checking. Parents also might consider the distance from home, length of the sessions, camp size, facilities, and safety factors and personnel as they relate to water activities and equipment for the children.

Q. May I please add something to the answer you gave the parent of a 3-year-old boy who is scared by the loud laugh of a family friend?

You suggested control on the part of the friend or keeping the youngster away from him. Did you consider the possibility that the child might have an acute hearing problem and loud noises may bring extreme pain? That could be the reason for his acting scared, and might suggest the need for a hearing examination.

A. Your idea may be right on target. I'm sorry I didn't mention the hearing problem possibility. I should have, especially because I'd been chairman of a university department of special education for many years.

Thank you very much for your suggestion.

Q. A black family moved into our neighborhood recently. The problem is not with all members of it, but with the fact that one of their children — a little boy, 7 years old — is in the same school room as our son.

They have become good friends, and it is going to be difficult to separate them unless I just come down hard and insist that it must be done.

I really have nothing against the child. He seems clean and even more polite than most children his age. His father is a professional person.

What can I do to make sure that they don't become permanent friends?

A. Your question deserves another very brief one: Why? Please write again and verbalize your objections, which are implied in your letter. Then let's talk about it.

Are you the parent of a pre-school child, 2 to 5 years old? Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, plus your request for information about a monthly service that may help you, to Dr. Abraham, P.O. Box 572, Scottsdale, AZ 85252.

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Last Monday I took my little niece to a local Memorial Day Parade. We both had a fine time listening to the band music and viewing the colorful marchers. Tina was a little bored with the speeches, but luckily they were not too long. The weather was great—not too hot and not too cold. All in all, we had a wonderful time!

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

Health care for newborn pups

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our Sealyham terrier is going to have her first litter of puppies in a couple weeks.

The owners of the kennel where we bought our dog told us we should take the bitch and her litter to our veterinarian within the first week following birth for tail docking and dewclaw removal.

What is involved in these procedures? Why are they necessary? Will the puppies suffer?

A. Tail docking and dewclaw removal should be done within the first 48 to 72 hours following birth. Most newborn puppies apparently experience very little pain when these procedures are done. In fact, most puppies go back to nursing or back to sleep immediately following tail docking and dewclaw removal.

Both of these procedures should be done only by a veterinarian since veterinarians are trained to shape and taper the tail stub so that a satisfactory appearance will result. The ideal tail length varies among breeds of dogs. Many potential champions have been ruined because the tail was docked too short.

Rubber bands and other tourniquetlike devices should not be used to dock tails. These can result in serious infections or excessive scarring.

While many breed associations require that front dewclaws be removed, it is advisable to remove rear dewclaws on all breeds. They serve no useful purpose and may seriously injure an eye while the dog is scratching or playing. Also, when dewclaws are left intact, they often interfere with running and cause injury if accidentally torn off.

The bitch should be taken to the veterinarian at the time of tail docking and dewclaw removal so the veterinarian can examine her for any possible problems resulting from the whelping. Based on this physical examination, the veterinarian can give any needed advice regarding nutrition or special care during the nursing period.

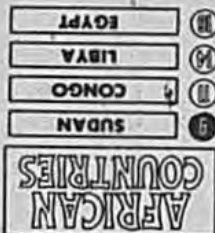

Likewise, at this time each puppy should be examined carefully for any physical abnormalities, such as cleft palate or the absence of an anal sphincter.

The puppies' toenails should be clipped at approximately two-week intervals while nursing. This will help avoid scratching or other injury to the bitch's mammary glands. Almost any kind of nail clipper can be used. Only the tips of the nails should be removed — if cut too short, bleeding may occur. However, should nail bleeding occur, it usually can be controlled with alum powder or a styptic pencil.

Q. Our veterinarian does not want to spay our dog because she is in season. Is it impossible to spay a dog in season? We surely would like to get this over with as soon as possible.

A. Most veterinarians prefer not to spay dogs while they are in season, heat or estrus. Dogs in estrus have enlarged genital tracts and enlarged blood vessels, going to their genital tracts. This increases the risk to the dog.

Therefore, it is not a question of whether your veterinarian can spay your dog while in estrus but whether the added risk is worth having the procedure done a few days sooner.
