Fire Threatens Old Landmark

By Richard Evers

Hicksville's Gregory Museum, the Long Island Earth Science Center located in the Old Heitz Place Courthouse-Jail, was the site of an electrical fire early Saturday morning, following the severe storm and power failure in the area.

The fire was brought under control rapidly by a providential combination of factors. Working in the Gregory Museum's favor were the following: a neighbor, Robert Risoli's early call to the Hicksville Fire Department; the presence at the fire house of stand-by personnel from the Hicksville Fire Department who signaled the Jericho Dept. for mutual aid; the strong horizontal wall timbers of the historic courthouse, and the prompt arrival at the scene of Museum staff members Paul DiTroia and Hugh Conover who guided fireman and thus were able to keep fire-fighting damage to a minimum.

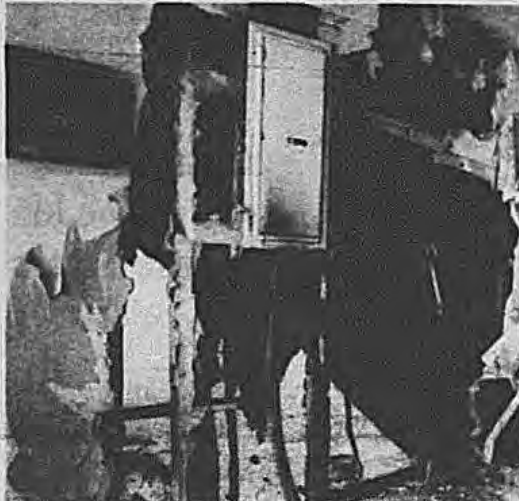

Asst. Chief Arthur Rohde of the Jericho F.D. assumed command of the fire scene assisted by Captain Fippinger of Hicksville Truck Co. #1.

No estimate of the dollar loss from the considerable damage has as yet been made. The historic landmark building which is owned by the Town of Oyster Bay was preserved, and the many fine collections at the Gregory Museum are largely intact.

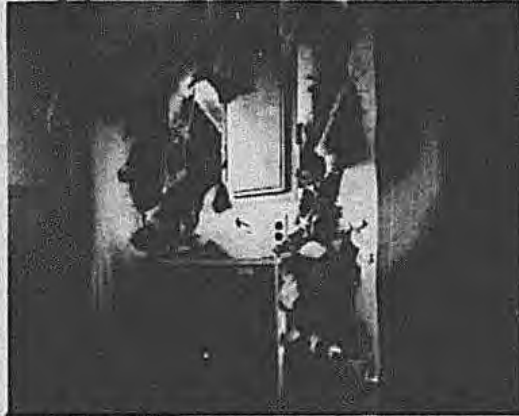

The Museum Board of Trustees in announcing that the museum will reopen as soon as possible, especially wishes to express its gratitude and thanks to good neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Robert Risoli of 32 Bay Avenue and to the Hicksville and Jericho volunteer firemen under Jericho chief Rohde who responded quickly to the alarm calls and took care in handling valuable museum display articles. It was a very close call for the Gregory Museum and the stately wooden courthouse, so much a part of Hicksville yesterday and today.

Redeemer Bowlers Win Nassau Title

The Nassau Lutheran Bowling League recently completed its 35th year of competition at Garden City Bowl when the four sectional champions competed in a four game roll-off to determine this year's League Champion. Competing were teams from Epiphany-Hempstead, Grace-Uniondale, Redeemer-Hicksville and Resurrection-Garden City.

Final results had Redeemer nosing out Resurrection by the scant margin of five pins.

The 1984-85 season concludes with a Dinner-Dance for members and their ladies at Antin's in Hicksville on Fridays, June 7 and 14.

The thirty four team league represents twenty Nassau County Lutheran churches. The league bowls on Tuesday evenings at 8:30 p.m. If any churches are interested in entering teams for the 1985-86 season they should contact League Secretary Bob Ulreich at 593-9733.

Hicksville 7, 8th Grade Baseball

Undefeated!! The Bang-Bang Boys have done it all. The ultimate goal of every athlete has been achieved through very hard work, dedication and that special quality of everyone pulling together. Talent is a major factor in any winning team, but the will to win, and be the best you can be, is what puts the winners above everyone else.

Our overall record was 16-0 with a league record of 10-0. Our final game against Farmingdale was a really great ball game. They were winning 7-4 after 5 innings but we came back to score four in the sixth and one in the seventh to pull it out. In the game before, against Farmingdale, Mike Rose shut them out 6-0 with 16 strikeouts. A super year for a super kid. Our inspiration, Brian Robey led the team with a .653 batting average and led with his heart, guts and brains as well. As I said, "It was a great team effort with everyone contributing."

I'd like to thank the parents and fans for their support. It means a lot to the boys. Most of all I'd like to thank the boys for a great and enjoyable year: Pat Greco, Tom Gray, Roger Chin, Scott D'Amico, Sean Tower, Bill Sullivan, Paul Mannellino, Paul Poretzky, Joe Luparello, Neil Esposito, Nimesh Udesh, Scott Frain, Golden Glove Award - Tom Cassatta, Hustle Award - Ralph Scotto, Most Improved - Joe Passo, Rookie of the Year - Tim Cleary, Pitching - Michael Rose, Hitting - Brian Robey, Most Valuable Player - Mike Rose and Brian Robey, Howard Finnegan Award - Brian Robey.

Postal Inspectors Arrest Former Employee

James Feeley, a former Hicks-ville postal employee who lived in Westbury was recently arrested by the Postal Inspectors. Feeley, 59, was charged with violation of the Federal Mail Fraud statute in a scheme to defraud the government of $119,000 in disability compensation benefits.

According to Inspector Jack Shaw, an affidavit filed in federal court at the Eastern District of New York charges Feeley with failing to report income and employment while collecting the disability compensation.

Feeley was allegedly employed with Harbor Distributing Corp., of Hicksville from June 1982 through February 1985. His disability benefits began, according to Shaw, on March 28, 1973 after Feeley reported a back injury during his employment with the Postal Service.

Postal inspectors are continuing their investigation of Feeley to identify any additional employment he may have failed to report during his receipt of compensation benefits.

Prosecution in the case will be handled by Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Milton of the Eastern District of New York.

The investigation was a joint effort of the Inspector General, U.S. Department of Labor and the Postal Inspection Service.

Mail Fraud is punishable by a 5 year prison term and $1,000 fine.

Shamrocks Beat New Hyde Park

By A. Blecker

The Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 traveling soccer team smashed the New Hyde Park Wildcats 6-2 last Saturday, led by a three goal hat trick from the big right foot of wing Eddie Jacobsen.

Eric Blecker played a strong left wing, then moved to right fullback where he had an exceptional game, constantly breaking up Wildcat charges. Chris Doyle began the game at right wing and scored the Shamrocks first goal before moving to sweeper, where he swept up the opposition, including the team's final score off a direct kick. Joe Flanagan also had an exceptional game from stopper, roaming far and wide to keep New Hyde Park off balance before moving to goalkeeper for the game's winning moments. Gregg Furst played a strong left fullback, constantly getting in the opposition's way, then moving up to wing with crisp passing and hustle. Brian Harkins had a fine first half at sweeper with a number of booming kicks, then played halfback and wing, where he performed with equal flair. Jared Jacobs started at right fullback, where he played with strong skills, prior to playing wing where he led a number of Shamrock charges.

In addition to his three goals, Jacobsen constantly led the opposition on a merry chase, then played left fullback where he performed quite well. Centerhalf Todd Meringoff was at his best offensively and defensively, picking up two big assists, including one on a corner kick. Brian Pine played a brilliant fifty minutes in goal, with many exceptional saves and strong punting, prior to moving to stopper. Matthew Pordum was an offensive dynamo leading the team from the striker position, picking up three big assists and continually feeding his wings with numerous on-the-dime passes.

Jason Kingsley put in time at striker, wing and halfback where the Wildcats continually felt his presence. Ted Knop had an exceptional game at right halfback, breaking up many New Hyde Park plays while getting the ball to his wing for offensive pressure. David Lovato put in one goal from wing, while having a strong game from a series of different positions. Gregg Grusso, due to a hamstring injury, gamely made a series of cameo appearances at wing and halfback.

Congratulations to the Shamrocks and assistant coach Pete Knop who ably coached the team to this impressive victory.

Given the choice, however, choose more. If you live in New York State and you're in the maximum tax bracket, surely you would welcome the $430 you get to keep if you earn $1,000 from a fully taxable investment. But should your choice be to keep the entire $1,000, invest in this Fund. Because the Fund invests in New York municipal bonds, you pay no federal or state taxes on your monthly dividends. So, a return of 8.78% is equivalent to a taxable yield of 20.43% for investors in the maximum combined state and federal tax bracket.

*Current distribution rate based on May 31, 1985 offering price and dividends paid during the last 12 months. The distribution rate will vary because of changes in the Fund's income and offering price. The Fund uses a commonly accepted accounting principle known as accretion. Our Children

Parents-to-be share ideas, fears

By Willard Abraham
Ph.D.

Here are three letters received from future parents. I'd like to share them with you.

Q. Our baby is due in three months, and for some time I've engaged in an activity that I find very enjoyable. Others who are "expecting" also might want to consider it.

A. I've begun a kind of "book" dedicated to my child, telling him or her what I'm thinking about these days, and what's going on in the world and in our family. I'm including occasional letters from my folks and my husband's folks, newspaper clippings, and feelings about movies I've seen and books I've read. It all goes into a large three-ringed notebook.

I feel like I'm talking directly to my child, and probably will continue after he or she is born. Once in awhile my husband writes in a comment or two, but it is basically my book and my child's.

Q. Do you think this is silly?

A. Of course not, but then why should I when I started this practice myself for each of our three before they were born? I really thought I'd stop long ago (they are all grown now), but I continue occasionally with written passages and events in their lives and mine and their mother's.

I'm now into the fourth thick one for each of them, including letters from them, school records and other items related to them personally, our family and world events.

Once in awhile when they are back home they go to my study, take one of their "books" off the shelf and enjoy it for a few minutes or more.

A. A "silly" practice? Not to me or mine — or to you, when it comes out of love for a child.

By the way, it's certainly not an exclusive activity for future mothers to start. Take this father's word for how enjoyable it has been for him.

Q. Do you have some favorite parenthood resources in print to recommend to future parents to help them get through the years with a first child? After all, there is little enough (if any) formal preparation for parenthood, so my husband and I need all the help we can get in advance.

A. Don't mention too many, but one or two could certainly be helpful.

Among my favorite writers in this field are T. Berry Brazelton, Thomas Gordon and Haim Ginott, but there are many other fine ones.

Some deal with specific themes, like Virginia Apgar in her book "Is My Baby All Right?" and James Hymes on discipline and child development. And let's not leave out Benjamin Spock.

Q. How about other parents mentioning some sources that have been helpful to them? I'll be glad to pass them on through this column.

Q. Maybe you'll think that I'm naive or foolish, but two friends have brought up a possible problem and it has begun to prey on my mind.

A. I'm pregnant for the first time, and I am also blind (since birth). It never occurred to me that my blindness could be carried down to my children.

Q. My husband is sighted and totally unconcerned. He tells me not to worry, and so does my obstetrician. But still, I've begun to worry.

Q. What do you think about this?

A. If there is a genetics center in your town or community, you might consult with them about this issue. Why be concerned unnecessarily?

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

Your Social Security

Several factors play role in ex-wife's benefits

Q. My question concerns benefits to an ex-wife of a marriage over 10 years in duration. Are the benefits payable if the man dies before retirement age, or if he reaches 62 but is not retired? — J.M.

A. A divorcee can get retirement benefits at age 62 if her ex-husband is eligible for benefits — whether or not he actually is receiving them — and they have been divorced for at least two years. In case of his death, benefits can be paid to her as a surviving divorced spouse as early as age 60. The divorcee must be unmarried in either instance.

Q. I have been receiving widow's benefits since I was 60 years old. I am presently 62 years old. When I become 65 will I receive the same amount or will I then receive 100 percent of the amount my deceased husband would get if he were still alive? — B.R.

A. Your monthly payment amount depends on your age when you start getting benefits and the amount your deceased husband would have been entitled to or was receiving when he died. Widow's benefits range from 71.5 percent of the deceased husband's benefit amount if they begin at age 60 to 100 percent if they begin at 65. Once you elect a reduced benefit it remains reduced.

Q. I was married to my husband for 31 years. After our divorce he remarried. When he retires am I entitled to some of his Social Security? I have not remarried. — M.E.I.

A. When you reach 62 you can apply for a divorced spouse's benefit on your ex-husband's record even though he has remarried.

Q. I am a 73-year-old widow collecting Social Security on my husband, who died in July 1984. I first collected on my own Social Security at 62. If I should remarry what happens to my Social Security? — E.E.R.

A. Benefits to a widow who remarries after 60 can continue without any reduction in the amount. If your new husband gets Social Security checks, you can take a wife's benefit on his record if it would be larger than your widow's payment.

What did you learn in school today?
Our teacher said our national priorities are all wrong.

Really?

She said that with the $15 million we pay for one F-16 fighter plane, we could build and fully equip 20 day-care centers.

I have a question for your teacher.

What question?

Ever try to shoot down a Soviet Bear bomber with 20 ft. "y" equipped day-care centers?

Groups Press For Cleanup Bill

Citizen panelists at May 28 Superfund Forum include New York CAN member Bill Steinmetz of Bethpage, League of Women Voters member Joan Jones of Hicksville, Sierra Club leader Al Hauser of Syosset, and Citizens for Pure Water member Joan Vecchione of North Massapequa.

Local leaders of the League of Women Voters of Nassau County, the Sierra Club and the New York Community Action Network (New York CAN) conducted a "Superfund Forum" in Hicksville on May 28 which attracted over 85 people.

Congressman Norman F. Lent appeared as an official panelist at the event, which was designed to build community support for a strong federal Superfund cleanup program to remediate environmental hazard sites.

Citizen panelists at the event held at the Trinity Lutheran Church included Hicksville resident Joan Jones of the League of Women Voters of Nassau County, Syosset resident Al Hauser of the Sierra Club, Bethpage resident William Steinmetz of New York CAN, North Massapequa resident Joan Vecchione of the Citizens for Pure Water group in the South Farmingdale Water District, and Steve Mejer of the Bridgehampton-based Group for the South Fork.

Local New York CAN members Allan Lerner of Old Bethpage and Diane Otten of Hicksville made presentations before the audience. Mr. Lerner reported on Superfund Lobby Day activities in Washington in May and appealed to Mr. Lent to help pass a strong Superfund law. Mrs. Otten addressed the need for comprehensive action in the Hicksville-Bethpage-Old Bethpage-Syosset-Farmingdale area, where ten of Long Island's fifteen federal priority hazard sites are situated. Old Bethpage resident Ugo Perzan of Residents Against Garbage Expansion and Sue Irwin of the New York Public Interest Research Group also declared their organizations' support for the Superfund legislation.

The citizen panel called upon Representative Lent to become a co-sponsor of the bipartisan bill HR-2560, which would create a $10.1 billion cleanup fund with a mandatory cleanup timetable, cleanup standards, community right-to-know provisions and access to state courts for toxic exposure victims.

Rep. Lent reaffirmed his past support for mandatory cleanup timetables. He suggested establishment of a liability "window" as a means of preventing accused polluters from "hiding in the weeds". Rep. Lent stated that high legal costs could be reduced and more private cleanup money would become available if firms were given the opportunity to come forward and settle for a portion of cleanup expenses at sites involving more than one company. Rep. Lent vowed to work with HR-2560 sponsor Rep. James Florio of New Jersey to develop strong Superfund legislation.

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation Regional Director Harold Berger, George Pavlou of the Environmental Protection Agency, Joseph DiVincent of Rep. Robert Mrazek's office, Michael Fitzpatrick of Rep. William Carney's office, and Jess Velona of Senator Daniel Moynihan's office were also official panelists. Representatives Raymond McGrath and Thomas Downey and Senator Alfonse D'Amato sent written statements to the event. All were asked to become supporters of the HR-2560 legislation as "the best way to protect the health of Long Islanders."

Each of the participating community organizations is participating in the National Campaign Against Toxic Hazards. The campaign is urging all community residents to contact their Representatives (U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515) and Senators (U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510) in support of HR-2560. Fact sheets, sample letters and petitions may be obtained by contacting 691-5565. Persons wishing to participate in a Superfund petition outreach day on Saturday, June 15, are also invited to contact the campaign to offer their volunteer assistance.

In other Fire Dept. activities members of the hazardous materials response team completed a 50 hour Haz Mat course at the Fire Service Academy. Lt. Eugene Pietzak and Ex-Capt. James McLaughlin of Hicksville participated.

Six members of the team attended the 3rd annual haz-mat team response seminar in Rockville, MD. The 3 day session covered all areas of haz-mat operations. Attending were Chief Owen Magee, Lt. Pietzak, Capt. Johnson, F/F R. Johnson, F/F D. Rock, Ex Capt. James McLaughlin.

Patricia O'Connor, Valedictorian of the Bethpage High School Class of 1985, was honored as Student of the Month at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Bethpage held at the Fox Hollow Restaurant in Syosset on May 30. She was presented with a framed Certificate of Recognition by Dr. John B. Sommi, left, Superintendent of Schools in Bethpage.

Among her accomplishments during her high school career Patty compiled a 3 3/4 average of 96.714%. She was recently awarded a Certificate for Excellent Scholarship by the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association of Long Island and she also received the Caroline Ellinger Americanism Award for highest four year average. In addition to her academic achievements, Patty has been actively involved in many different sports. Not only was she named as All-Conference in field hockey, she attained All-Division status in basketball as well.

The fact that Bethpage did not have a girls' lacrosse team did not phase her in the least. She and a fellow athlete simply went ahead and petitioned the school administration and, consequently, after much hard work a team was formed, with, not surprisingly, Patty as captain. Patty's future plans include matriculation at Fairfield University in Fairfield, Connecticut. She intends to pursue a law career with a proposed specialization in corporate law. Everyone associated with the Bethpage community wish her a bright, promising future.

Antique Or Junque

Hummel cellist worth $90

By James G. McCollam
Member, Antique
Appraisers Association of America

Q. Please tell me when this Hummel was made and what its current value is. The Trade Mark is shown below the figurine.

A. Your figurine, with Trade Mark 4 (1963-1972), is called "Sweet Music." It is selling for about $90.

You might be interested in collecting other Hummels featuring musical instruments. For example, No. 2, "Little Fiddler"; No. 85, "Serenade"; No. 110, "Let's Sing"; No. 185, "Accordion Boy"; No. 240, "Little Drummer."

Q. I am interested in collecting Royal Copenhagen Christmas Plates. Could you give me a rough idea of the prices?

A. Well, if you find the first one (1908), you can expect to pay almost $2,000. After that: 1915 - $160; 1920 - $75; 1925 - $85; 1930 - $80; 1935 - $140; 1940 - $325; 1945 - $380; 1950 - $165; 1955 - $210; 1960 - $150; 1965 - $170; 1970 and after - $25 to $50, depending on market area.

Q. My Sevres porcelain plate has the enclosed mark on the back. There is a picture of a castle in the center and the rim is brilliant blue. Can you tell me when it was made and its value?

A. The Royal Manufactory at Sevres, France, used this mark from 1738 to 1752. If your plate is authentic, the value would be well over $200. However, since there is so much fake Sevres on the market, I would recommend that you have it authenticated by a local museum.

"Lub-Dub-Lub-Dub" goes my heart. The children in Dutch Lane's kindergarten class recently learned about healthy hearts in a new unit called "Treasure Chest" written by the American Heart Association's educational department.

Legion Award To Geo. McElroy

Mr. Robert King, past Commander of the Archie McCord American Legion Post #86, on behalf of Commander Herbert Granberg and the Post members, awarded a certificate and a citation for civic responsibility and contribution to the Bethpage community to George McElroy, Principal of the Bethpage Senior High School, at the Annual Senior Awards Ceremony conducted for the graduating class of 1985.

Former Commander King commended Mr. McElroy for his devoted and sincere service to the school and Bethpage on behalf of the education and welfare of young people. He said Mr. McElroy's citizenship in the community for the past thirty plus years will serve as a model for all young people to emulate.

'Expo III' Planned For Next Week

A display of the work of In-Depth Studies students of the Hicksville Public Schools will take place in the Community Room of the Library on June 11, 12 and 13 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and all Hicksville residents are invited to visit and see the results of this year's program.

On the evenings of June 11 and 12, special presentations by Lee Avenue youngsters are scheduled for 7:45 p.m. at the Junior High School Auditorium. On Tuesday, June 11, students from the third and sixth grades will perform. Fourth graders will present "American History in Review" on the evening of June 12.

All performances and displays are open to the public and residents are invited to visit and enjoy the outstanding work of our Hicksville students.

Dutch Lane Grandparents Day

The children and teachers of Dutch Lane School celebrated Grandparents/Special Persons Day on Friday, May 24. After a breakfast of coffee with bagels and cakes our guests enjoyed a concert performed by the school band and a selection of songs by the chorus, which ended with the audience joining the children in a sing-a-long.

Our guests were then escorted to their special student's classroom where they watched their "stars" shine.

10 Fire Depts. Battle Warehouse Fire

A bolt of lightning from a fierce electrical storm sparked a 2-day blaze which all but destroyed the Wagner Seed Co. at 81 Secatogue Ave. in Farmingdale. Fire Departments from Hicksville, Jericho, Plainview, Bethpage, Levittown, No. Massapequa, Massapequa, So. Farmingdale, East Farmingdale assisted Farmingdale firefighters. The fire started at approximately 2:45 a.m. All fire department activities were under the command of Farmingdale Chief Michael Kelly.

The Hicksville Fire Department was requested at 3:54 a.m. to send its hazardous materials response team to the scene. Unit 9312 responded with Asst. Chief O'Brien. At 3:57 a.m. a request was received for an engine from Hicksville to respond to cover the Farmingdale Village. Unit 937 responded with Chief Own Magee. At 3:13 a.m. Hicksville's heavy rescue/flood light co. and an ambulance was requested. Unit 93 and 9316 responded with Asst. Chief Schuckmann.

Due to the danger chemical fumes from unknown herbicides and pesticides evacuation of residential areas around the fire was ordered. The N.C. Police Dept. and units from Farmingdale Rescue Squad handled the evacuation. Over 1,000 persons were re-located in a nearby school and fire stations.

The Hicksville F.D. hazardous materials response team played a vital role in the toxic fire operations. The team coordinated with the County Fire Marshals in notifications to the State Dept. of Environmental Conservation, Federal E.P.A. Dept., National Pesticides Response Center and the County Board of Health. The team, based on recommendations from Pesticide Industry experts advised local fire officials to let the toxic chemicals burn, rather than putting water on them. This would ease the ground water pollution problem.

After one and one half hours a chemist from Chemical Fire Consultants Inc. stated it was safe to use water. Against the advice of the Hicksville Team, fire operations started again, however within ten minutes toxic smoke forced firefighters to retreat over 1,000 yards. The Hicksville team, again repeated its plea to let it burn itself out. Within hours it did, except for small pockets of fire.

At approximately 8:55 p.m. some residents were allowed to return home. They were advised to clean outside surfaces and also inside. Outside swimming pools were to be drained and refilled.

TAKING TECHNOLOGY FURTHER

Local health and environmental officials stated the actions of firefighters in leaving the fire burn was the best way to handle the difficult situation. All units from Hicksville were back home by 3:20 p.m. Saturday afternoon. 15 of the 29 members involved in the Farmingdale fire were ordered to local hospital at 7 p.m. for precautionary blood tests due to additional information received on the contents of the building. Damage was estimated at $2 million.

Mixed Reaction To New Tax Plan By Input Callers

Callers to Input had mixed comments on the question last week in answer to this question "What do you think of President Reagan's tax plan?" Here are some of the answers:

TOO DIFFICULT

This new tax plan is too hard on the five states that have done the most to help the poor with strong welfare programs. By having these high programs they have had to make taxes higher. The fact is that N.Y. state is taking over some of the things that should be done nationally or it would not have such high taxes.

J.L.

MAKES NO SENSE

It has been harder and harder to get school budgets passed and the tax can be deducted from gross earnings. Now with the new plan there will be an impossible problem with school budgets and they all will go down to defeat. What will be accomplished by short changing the schools? This plan does not make sense to me.

REALITY

I am in favor of Pres. Reagan's tax plan because it smacks of reality. For too long we have all been hostage to the legalists and tax advisors who dictate almost everything we can do with our money. Now the deductions wont be important and we can break through without the help of experts. In time the state taxes will come down too when they see that the well has a bottom.

N.W.

SUDDEN IMPACT

The only thing I see wrong with the tax plan is that it will have a sudden impact on people of N.Y. and other high tax states. If there would be a slow phase in the loss of deduction of state and local taxes the plan would get underway and we would all adjust. The local and state governments would adjust as well by eliminating so many of the duplicated services that are offered and not used by the majority of taxpayers. The county budget and the state budgets have line after line of items that are worthless to most taxpayers. Naturally the political people who have used these things to build constituencies will be alarmed. But it is long overdue to get rid of those things.

J.R.

IN SPIRIT

I am fully in accord with the spirit and intent of President Reagan's new tax plan. However, as an elder well over the 65 year mark, one of the important features did not come out loud and clear. I refer to the proposed $2,000. personal exemption. Nowhere have I seen this spelled out to fit the existing format which provides a doubling of exemptions for taxpayers 65 and over. I am particularly sensitive to this publicly unstated provision in view of the manner in which the tax on 50% of social security income was enacted into law with an incredible lack of publicity and hence no real outcry from the millions of senior taxpayers it adversely affected. If the $2,000. exemption were to be doubled as in the past, I believe I could live with the proposed plan as a possible trade-off for the loss of the deduction of New York State and local taxes. In general, I believe the economy will suffer in a number of ways e.g. heavy industry write-offs and depletion allowances; business entertainment and travel expenses limitations which will hit the restaurant, hotel, sports and theatre businesses the hardest; and, to some extent, charities. On the contrary, there are many areas where an uneven distribution of personal health and other fringe benefits to employees clearly supports taxation for the benefit of all. Obviously, the tax system has decayed over the years to the benefit of those corporations, special interest groups and individuals who have the smartest lawyers to find and use tax loopholes to their advantage. The system must be overhauled with particular emphasis on simplification and economic benefit to the majority of our citizens. It's time to bite the bullet!

P.G.S.

GOOD THING

I think President Reagan's new tax plan is a good thing for the people, but not for special interests. The special interests will probably fight it and unless President Reagan makes some concessions to the special interest groups it probably won't get passed by Congress.

C.J.

NO COMPASSION

Ronald Reagan has no compassion for old people. He proved it by lying about Social Security cuts but increasing cost of medical care and by cuts in retiree pensions COLAS, a lot of old people will suffer by his dropping of double exemptions, dropping of state tax deductions, dropping of business deductions for which many have shaped their remaining fiscal lives. Most of these losses will result in tax increases which the old will find out about only when they submit their first tax return after tax reform. If the old are rich, or they are poor, they'll come out smelling like roses. But being a middle class old person under the Republican administration and Ronald Reagan, is almost tantamount to euthanasia.

F.W.

SIMPLISTIC

The president's tax plan seems to be a simplistic attempt to fool people into thinking there is some real tax reform. It will not help us, the middle class, but in his own words would have helped him by having him pay only $28,000 less. It is definitely anti New York and will cost New Yorkers 2 billion dollars more if the plan goes into effect. To deny an exemption for state and local taxes while allowing corporations to deduct foreign taxes is a deliberate fraud.

R.S.

LONG OVERDUE

Tax reform in simplification is long overdue, but President Reagan's plan is very damaging to the middle class, particularly a homeowner in New York State. Precedent will be set for taxes on taxes, double taxation for the first time. Other parts of the plan proposed are ruinous to the helpless, the blind, the elderly, single parents further being impoverished, particularly women and children. None of the above impact on the wealthy who would then gain in a lower tax rate. This plan would be the end of aggressive taxation, meaning according to ability to pay.

How To Answer The Door

By Gerard T. Mulvihill

In the good old USA people answer doors millions of times a day. Throughout the world the number becomes astronomical. Beyond a doubt the figure would be in the billions! How come no one, to my knowledge, ever addressed such a universal happening? See what we take for granted. When you consider the simple act of answering the door your first conclusion probably would be: "We definitely can't do without it."

I'm not merely talking about the front or back door at home. I'm considering stores, offices, workplaces of any kind that won't admit you without identification or authorization. This has become big in recent years, being referred to as "defensive living."

When and where did answering the door start? Some confusion exists about this. Cavemen in the Stone Age didn't have doors...or they did, but called them barricades (though their pronunciation was poor) and pulled them in to cover their cave entrance or pushed them to get out. Imagine answering the barricade? Which was done probably for centuries. Eventually some smart ancestor of yours and mine invented the common hinge, whereby he could hang a barricade and swing it to and fro, initially clinging to same for a free ride. As the number of callers per abode grew hinges became a must since people would be exhausted just opening and closing what we're talking about. Hinges made it easy; thus proving once again that necessity is the mother of invention. Who the father is, is more confusion.

Answering the door was not always as we know it today. For example, there were moments in history when inhabitants had to "Answer the drawbridge". Very popular in the Middle Ages when many condos had moats front and rear.

But why doors in the first place? Well, there are several reasons. For the Cavemen basic security was essential, which hasn't changed a great deal even though there haven't been reports of dinosaurs in recent years. Then man, becoming civilized through evolution, wanted in addition, privacy and separation. In fact a whole door industry was created because of this; giving employment to many, so that these people could also buy doors. There is a ready market for doors of all kinds. Good doors and bad doors. Good doors are a good investment. Good doors are not inexpensive and should be given serious thought when buying a house. There's a story from out of the West about a man who bought all the best doors, the most expensive, for his new home, through his contractor of course. Wound up he paid for the doors and the rest of the building was thrown in for the same money. Must be a fairy tale.

Nary a house is built without at least one door. For entrance and exit basically. Some persons have been observed going in and out of windows, but such is not advisable as law enforcers always want to know "how come?"

In fact probably more prisoners have accommodations in our jails because of doors (breaking and entering) than any other single cause other than playing "in and out the window". Appropriately jails have doors too. Though they are sometimes referred to as gates, and are really a throwback to the caveperson era and their previously mentioned barricades.

When you think about it this whole matter of answering the door is fundamentally incorrect. Doors aren't vocal so they can't ask anything; therefore you don't actually answer the door. But we continue to say that don't we? Is English a silly language or not?

Exterior doors are especially useful. Most have doorknobs which outside may be used by the delivery boy to hang the daily newspaper on, and inside, used by the resident to hold an umbrella in readiness or at least a collection of rubber bands removed from daily newspapers.

Now the actual procedure of answering the door, if you'll allow men, must be up-dated to keep pace with our advanced society. It goes something like this: Open the door and see who it is. Better yet have someone else do it, preferably a butler like in Falcon Crest or Dynasty. Of course if you're out of the ordinary and have no one to do the chore in this year of A.D. follow a few simple rules: approach cautiously; if so equipped peer through the peep hole; peek through the window curtain; peek through the keyhole; call out "Who's there?" several times.

If still in doubt answer your callers with "Just a minute", then telephone a trusted and friendly neighbor, yeah, that one, for a second opinion and consultation. Now, convinced that your visitors are not a serious threat, there being no visible shotgun or other weapon (though both figures are carrying small black bags) open the door as far as the chain will allow.

Immediately take a mandatory sigh of relief.

Quite often as not those on the other side of the threshold will prove to be Uncle Smedley and companion, his bowling partner J.J. Beakwell. Both sportsmen, having participated in the annual bowling tournament, held this year on your side of town, they decided, no big deal, to pay a call.

Now there's another expression we use all the time. Pay a call. Everyone is familiar with pay a bill but pay a call? I'll have to give that further thought and I will just as soon as I answer the door. I'm not expecting anyone are you?

TOP NOTCH

We had not been at Pappas Restaurant in Williston Park for some months and went there last week. We were glad to see that it still is a top notch restaurant for seafood. They have both expensive and inexpensive fish dishes and meat dishes. On the inexpensive side we had scrod and it was so fresh and delicious.

The meal comes with a regular green or Greek salad and vegetable. We wanted to recommend Pappas to all our friends and thought the best way to do it is to call this testimonial in to you. Please print it. R.B.

WEDDING RECEPTION

Recently the John Peel room has been advertising, boasting about its facilities for a wedding reception. I would like to support that ad wholeheartedly. My wife and I were married and had our reception at the John Peel Room. It proved to be an excellent affair. The management, helping us with the arrangements for the reception; the maitre de on that day was superb. They were friendly and very, very helpful. The food was the finest we have had in a long time and our guests complimented us most highly. We started with a cocktail hour out by the pool. Our guests enjoyed the hors d'oeuvres and liquid refreshments so much they were full before entering the reception. The hors d'oeuvres were not the run of the mill, they were extraordinary. (specialties only found at the John Peel Room). We chose a buffet brunch for the reception and they controlled all the buffet tables so impeccably that no one was waiting on line and no one went hungry. I have to wholeheartedly recommend the John Peel Room and I applaud and salute them for making my Wedding Day as beautiful as it was.

Q. In a restaurant we often frequent they do everything right except one thing. A waiter always come over with the special of the day but never tells us the price. Now we do not quibble about a few pennies but often these specials are much higher priced than other regular items. Don't you thing the restaurant should tell us the price when making the suggestion?

H.Y. A. We think you are right and we have checked several restaurants and they say that they either have a blackboard, a menu insert or the waiter is told to give the prices. Unfortunately since you only gave the initials we have no way of knowing which restaurant you are referring to or we would contact them. You may show this column to the manager and perhaps he will change his system.

Q. I thought it was standard fare to get at least two vegetables with an entree but last week at the [name omitted] restaurant we were charged extra for vegetables. Is this right?

A. A number of restaurants have changed to charging extra for vegetables, particularly fresh ones, but the safest way is to look at the menu and ask the waiter. Sometimes there are extra vegetables and they are the ones that are given an added charge. But there are some restaurants that charge for every item individualy.

TOTAL JOY

The other day some friends and I visited the restaurant in Williston Park called Your Place or Mine. To my surprise, I was astonished at the beautiful way they decorated the restaurant. It gives you a feeling of intimacy and is a perfect place to do business. The meals and service were excellent. I found the place to be a total, total joy and the cuisine was some of the finest around and the prices are extremely reasonable. I recommend this place for people who would like to have a relaxing evening and I recommend it for the local business people because it's ideal for conducting business.

READER RATINGS

SUPREME

Not long ago four of us went to the Maine Maid Inn, a place we had heard much about. The decor of a stately old home is striking. It almost makes you feel as though you are visiting someone from history. The service was perfect, but the food was supreme! One of us had scallops, so many, she could barely finish them, made superbly. Another vouched for the succulent shrimp scampi and the others had veal cordon bleu, created lovingly and with expertise exactly to the recipe of that world renowned school of cookery in France. It was one of the most splendid dishes we have ever enjoyed, we agreed.

Desserts were temptingly wonderful and there was a great variety to select from. Oh, and

Before I forget, the salad with house dressing, was an experience I shall never forget. There was oil, subtle flavorings and the hint of tarragon enhancing the taste mother nature b bestowed upon the salad. Please forgive me for getting poetic, but it was the finest comestibles enjoyed by any of us for a long while.

Muffin mania

By Verne Palmer

The muffin just may be the most popular, flavorful and flexible food history has contributed to modern-day meal making.

Everybody loves these warm-from-the-oven morsels — and well they should. Just look at what they've got going for them.

They are, first of all, simple to make — and we're talking simplicity of the first order. The measuring and mixing that go into muffin making wouldn't strain even the underdeveloped skills of the "Lean Cuisine" generation.

They're fast. Rare is the recipe that can't be put together, baked and on the table in under 30 minutes.

They come in any flavor, fit into any menu, use up any leftovers you'd care to name — and they can be made for mere pennies.

Nutritionally speaking, muffins can be as saintly or as sinful as you care to make them.

Pioneer Muffins, for instance, are nutritional powerhouses that combine hearty natural bran, grated carrots, applesauce, whole wheat flour, wheat germ, raisins and powdered milk. Brown sugar and molasses provide both sweetness and rich flavor.

Chocolate Cheesecake Muffins, on the other hand, incorporate a sweetened center of cream cheese within a rich chocolate muffin that's lightly dusted with powdered sugar.

These diverse recipes and the two that follow — Pina Colada Muffins and Rich Delicious Orange Tea Muffins — were excerpted from Cathy Prangle's and Joan Paul's 70-page paean, "Muffin Mania."

Some tips to keep in mind when making muffins:

— They should be mixed as quickly and lightly as possible, stirring only to moisten.

— Bake them at 375 F. Too hot an oven results in tough, leathery muffins.

— If you like big, beautiful muffins, fill tins to the top. Grease the top of the tins as well as the inside for easy unmolding.

— If you have trouble unmolding fruit-filled muffins, let the muffins cool completely before removing.

— Muffins freeze beautifully. To freeze, cool completely, wrap in foil and put in airtight plastic bags. To reheat, unwrap and bake at 350 F in oven or toaster oven. They'll be soft, moist and hot in 10 minutes, crusty in 15.

The following recipes are based on the use of presifted, all-purpose flour. If using cake and pastry flour, you will need ¼ cup more.

If using an electric mixer for blending, use only for the liquid ingredients.

Never serve a muffin cold!

PIONEER MUFFINS

- 3 eggs
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup vegetable oil
- ¼ cup molasses
- 2 cups natural bran
- 1 cup grated carrot
- 1 cup applesauce, mashed bananas or pureed fruit (see note)
- 1½ cups cups liquid (water, milk or apple juice)
- 1½ cups whole wheat flour
- ½ cup wheat germ
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 2 tps. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tbs. powdered milk
- ½ cup raisins (optional)

In large bowl, beat eggs. Add sugar, oil, molasses, bran, carrot, applesauce and liquid. Stir well.

In medium bowl, mix well whole wheat flour, wheat germ, baking soda, baking powder, salt, powdered milk and raisins, if desired.

Add dry ingredients all at once to egg mixture, stirring only until moistened. Bake at 375 F for 20 to 25 minutes.

Note: If using applesauce, add 2 teaspoons cinnamon to dry ingredients and 1 cup chopped walnuts.

CHOCOLATE CHEESECAKE MUFFINS

- 1 (3 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
- 2 tbsps. granulated sugar
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ½ cup sugar
- 3 tbsps. unsweetened cocoa powder
- 2 tps. baking powder
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 beaten egg
- ¾ cup milk
- ½ cup cooking oil
- Powdered sugar (optional)

In small bowl, beat cream cheese and 2 tablespoons sugar until light and fluffy. Set aside.

In larger bowl, stir together flour, ½ cup sugar, cocoa, baking powder and salt.

Make well in center of dry ingredients. Combine egg, milk and oil. Add all at once to dry ingredients, stirring just until moistened. (Batter should be lumpy.)

Spoon about 2 tablespoons chocolate batter into each greased muffin cup or paper cup. Drop 1 teaspoon of cream cheese on top and then more chocolate batter. Bake at 375 F for 20 minutes. Dust with powdered sugar if desired.

PINA COLADA MUFFINS

- ½ cup white sugar
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup margarine
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 tsp. rum extract
- 1½ cups all-purpose flour

- 1 tsp. baking powder
- ½ tsp. baking soda
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 1 small can drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup coconut

Combine sugar, egg, margarine, sour cream and rum extract and beat until blended.

Stir together dry ingredients and add, stirring until barely blended. Add pineapple and coconut. Bake at 375 F for 20 minutes.

RICH DELICIOUS ORANGE TEA MUFFINS

- 1½ cups all-purpose flour
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 tps. baking powder

- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup fresh orange juice
- 2 eggs
- Grated rind of 1 orange

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt, and blend well.

Melt butter. Take off heat and stir in orange juice, eggs and orange rind. Beat. Stir liquid into dry mixture and blend just until moistened.

Spoon into greased muffin cups. For each muffin, soak 1 sugar cube in small amount of orange juice and place on top of batter. Bake at 375 F for 15 to 20 minutes, or until done.

From Our Kitchen

Olivia and Paul Bensen

During the last couple of decades, fondues have risen and dropped in popularity with almost the frequency and whimsy of hemlines. We've been pleased to note that, in the last couple of years, the cookware sections of most large stores again have been prominently featuring fondue sets — a sure sign of returning favor.

Fondues originated in Switzerland. According to legends, a shepherd in the mountains, tired of his cheese and bread diet, melted the cheese in a pot, tossed in a bit of wine and dipped his hard bread in the mixture.

Serving fondue to guests is a liberating dinner experience. Instead of having to absent yourself from your company while you prepare a meal, or (as we often do) inviting them to join you for a glass of wine in the kitchen and to help or talk while you work, you can have the whole meal ready well in advance.

For meat fondues, beef and lamb are the best choices. As a rule of thumb, allow half a pound of meat for each guest. Meat should be cut in fairly small cubes, about ¼ of an inch. This size allows the meat to cook through evenly, without becoming excessively done on the outside.

The oil should be hot enough so that it immediately bubbles and sizzles when the fork holding the meat is added. The high cooking temperature makes a metal fondue pot absolutely necessary. Earthenware pots, which are fine for cheese and most dessert fondues, will almost certainly crack when heated sufficiently to cook meat quickly, with potentially disastrous result.

Fondue sets come equipped with long, wooden-handled forks. Metal forks should never be used, since they will quickly conduct the heat. Make sure guests are careful when they remove the meat from the forks, as the meat cools more quickly than the metal tines of the fork.

When we're serving a meat fondue, we generally prepare four or five sauces. The variety ensures that each guest will find something especially to his liking, and discussion of the various sauces livens the dinnertime conversation. Today's sauce recipes are intended to serve 6, assuming that a total of three sauces will be offered.

BERNAISE SAUCE FOR BEEF FONDUE

- 2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- ¼ cup dry white wine
- 3 tps. dried tarragon
- 3 egg yolks
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ cup dry unsalted butter, in pieces

In small saucepan, combine onion, garlic, wine and tarragon. Cook over medium-high heat until liquid is reduced to about 1 tablespoon. Allow to cool slightly.

In blender or food processor, blend egg yolks and salt until thick and smooth. Add cooled wine-onion mixture and continue blending. Add butter, one piece at a time, blending until well incorporated. Mixture will be lumpy at this point.

Allow to sit 30 minutes, then transfer bearnaise sauce to top of double boiler over medium heat and beat constantly with metal whisk until sauce is thick and smooth. (Note: During this stage, sauce will first thin out as butter melts, before it begins to thicken.) Makes about 1 cup.

ROQUEFORT SAUCE FOR BEEF FONDUE

- ½ cup Roquefort cheese, crumbled
- ¼ cup sour cream
- ¼ tsp. thyme
- 5-6 drops lemon juice
- Salt and pepper to taste

In blender or food processor, mix cheese and sour cream until fairly smooth. Add thyme and lemon juice. Check seasoning, add salt and pepper to taste, and bit more lemon juice, if desired.

Microwave Magic

By Desiree Vive.

A-maize-ing corn

Of all the members of the grain family, corn is unique in being a product of the New World.

Native American Indians taught the Pilgrims to bury small fish with planted kernels of corn. The fish, being high in nitrogen, replaced the nitrogen the growing plant removed from the soil. (Some historians, however, argue that the Indians simply were trying to sabotage the Pilgrims' crop, since animals could smell the fish and would dig it up, along with the newly planted crop.)

The first European immigrants to this country soon learned the value of this important Indian staple. A 1632 Virginia law regulated the size of corn barrels, and any corn merchant who failed to seal his barrels (to protect the grain from contamination by insects or rodents) was placed in the stocks.

Anyone who ever has savored the sweetness of just-picked corn knows why it's important to get this vegetable at its freshest. The sugars in corn begin converting to starch the very minute it is harvested, faster than in any other vegetable.

True corn lovers often will have a pot of water boiling and ready on the stove before going out to pick their homegrown ears. Some fanatics have even been known to boil their water outdoors on a camp stove, and to lower the ears into the water to cook — while still on the stalk!

Commercially packaged frozen corn is processed as soon after harvest as possible, to retain its natural sweetness. To microwave a 10-ounce package of frozen corn, place corn with 2 tablespoons of water in a 1-quart covered glass casserole. Microwave four to six minutes, rotating one-quarter turn after three minutes. Let stand, covered, five minutes before serving.

All forms of corn — fresh, frozen or canned — adapt well to microwave cooking. Following are several a-maize-ing microwave recipes sure to please the corn-lovers in your family.

SATURDAY NIGHT CASSEROLE

- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 (16 oz.) can tomatoes
- 1 (12 oz.) can whole-kernel corn
- 1 (8 oz.) can tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup sliced black olives
- 1 1/2 tsps. chili powder
- 1/4 tsp. cumin
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 cup coarsely crushed corn chips
- 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Crumble beef into 2-quart glass casserole. Add onion and green pepper. Microwave 6 minutes, stirring once after 3 minutes.

Drain tomatoes (reserve 1/4 cup juice) and dice. Add to meat, with reserved juice. Stir in corn, tomato sauce, olives, chili powder, cumin and pepper. Cover and microwave until piping hot, 6 to 8 minutes.

Sprinkle casserole with crushed corn chips, then top with shredded cheese. Microwave, uncovered, about 2 minutes longer, until cheese melts. Let stand 2 minutes before serving.

Serves 4 to 6.

CREAMY CORN CHOWDER

- 1/2 cup chopped chives (green part)
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 3 cups thawed frozen or canned corn
- 1/2 cup milk or half-and-half
- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 2 tbsps. flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. white pepper
- Dash dry mustard
- 4 cups canned chicken broth
- 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Place chives, parsley and butter in small glass dish. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave 3 minutes. Let stand, covered, 1 minute.

In blender container, combine sauteed chives and parsley with corn and milk; blend just until smooth.

Place butter in 2-quart glass casserole; microwave until melted, about 1 minute. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and dry mustard. Blend until smooth.

Add 2 cups chicken broth, a little at a time, stirring constantly to blend. Cover and microwave 4 to 5 minutes, stirring every other minute, until mixture thickens and begins to boil.

Stir in remaining 2 cups chicken broth, a little at a time, then blend in corn mixture.

Microwave, covered, 8 to 10 minutes longer, until soup is hot. Let stand, covered, 2 to 3 minutes before serving.

Serve in individual bowls topped with cheese. Serves 4 to 6.

HORSERADISH CAPER SAUCE FOR BEEF FONDUE

- 1 tbsp. hot horseradish
- 3 tbsps. capers, drained
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 3/4 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- Salt and pepper to taste

In small mixing bowl, blend together all ingredients. Refrigerate for at least 30 minutes before serving.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens. Foods are cooked on HIGH (100 percent power) and uncovered unless otherwise specified.

Aluminum siding needs paint job

Q. My house has aluminum siding which has been there for approximately 25 years. Naturally, this siding is badly in need of painting. I have two questions. Will this siding take repainting well? Is there a particular type of paint which should be used? — Sarah T.

A. Previously painted aluminum is treated like any other surface that has been painted. Where the old coating is in good condition and is adhering firmly, just remove the dirt and surface contaminants. Then apply one coat of the paint of your choice.

If the old finish is smooth or glossy — as may be the case with factory-finished siding — better roughen it with steel wool or sandpaper to provide "tooth" for the new paint.

In some instances the old coating, whether field or factory applied, may be chipped or peeling, exposing the bare metal. In such cases, sand the edges to smooth out the surface and remove any loose paint. Prime the bare spots and then finish as described above.

Be sure that you use only quality primers and finish coats. Only quality paint has the lasting hiding power, retains its color brilliance and is wear and weather resistant. Consult with your reputable paint dealer.

Q. Several years ago I painted the house with exterior semigloss paint. It was a good paint.

Now I need to know if I can repaint without any preparation to the wood except scrape off loose paint. The old paint is still in pretty good condition, but I would like to give it a fresh look. — A.K.

A. First wash the house down well to remove any dust or dirt. Scrape or sand all areas where the paint is loose or peeling. Then repaint with a quality grade paint. It is good practice to paint before the house surface is in bad shape and in need of a lot of repair and preparation work.

Q. My husband does not stop smoking and I do not stop complaining about all the damage that is caused from it. Certainly others would like to know the answer to my question: Is there a commercial or homemade preparation which can be sprayed on upholstery and carpets to fireproof them? May clothing be fireproofed in the same way? — Mrs. Russell H.

A. There are fireproofing liquids for fabrics now at large housewares departments, or large paint stores. However, as they all involve a thorough drenching, it would be next to impossible to use on all upholstered surfaces or carpets. Also, these are not effective on some synthetic fibers or plastics.

For any washable fabric, such as bedding and so forth, you might try the following solution: One and one-half pounds of borax, one and one-fourth pounds boric acid, dissolved in three gallons of water. After soaking material thoroughly, hang up to drain and dry.

Dear John: Please send me your leaflet regarding Certo and vinegar.

My knee pain may not necessarily be from arthritis originally, but may have started due to its tenderness from my hurting it when I jabbed a table corner into the side of the knee three months ago. The strange part is it doesn't bother me too much when I am at work, walking or even exercising. But the second I go horizontal — especially all night — the pain is enough to waken me.

Also, please send any other information pamphlets you may have for a 58-year-old working woman who is having noticeable recall problems. I don't mean the regular momentarily forgetfulness. I seem to have a complete "out of it-ness," which lasts for anywhere from a moment to several seconds to longer. Could I be leaning toward Alzheimer's? If not, is there a vitamin I could take?

I have a prolapsed mitral valve condition, a hiatal hernia and migraines. Outside of that, and the bum knee, I'm in very good health. Enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped envelope. I thank you in advance. — A.P.S.

Dear A.P.S.: Doesn't sound like Alzheimer's to me, but you should consult an expert. There are courses you can take to improve your memory, and books on the subject. It's too valuable a thing to lose.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 15 and really need help. Last year my father was in an automobile accident and was nearly killed. Even though he is alive today, he is totally disabled. The only thing that works is his mind, which is still very sharp.

Ever since the accident my life has changed for the worse. My grades in school have slipped and I have started using pot because some friends told me it would make me forget my problems. I used to have a beer now and then but now I drink a couple every day. I'm writing to you because I'm confused. Please help me. I love my dad very much. — Robert

Robert: I realize that your father's accident was a traumatic incident that will leave a permanent scar, but you must be thankful that Dad's mind is as sharp as ever. Now is the time to repay all the love and affection Dad bestowed on you when he was physically able.

Stop smoking pot and drinking beer today. All the drugs and alcohol in the world will never make you forget your problems. They will only compound them. I'm sure Dad is aware that his son has a different attitude, and I know he wants it to change back to the real Robert. Once you have removed the "bad habits," your grades will start moving up.

Dr. Wallace: I am 18 and the mother of a happy, healthy baby girl. Her father and I decided not to get married before she was born because he was a bit wild and didn't have a job.

Since then he got into a little bit of trouble with the law and they put him into a "house" to give him skills for a job.

Now he has been released and has a job. When he was in the house he finally came to his senses. Now he wants us to get married and become a family. He really loves our daughter and me, and I'm convinced our marriage will work.

My problem is my mother, whom I have been living with. She really helped me when I was pregnant and after my daughter's birth. Mom doesn't want me to marry Billy because she doesn't think our marriage would survive. I know it would. I'm asking for your advice even though I might not take it. Let's say I just want to know your thoughts. — Mary Lee

Mary Lee: Your marriage can work if you and Billy will work at making it a success with lots of love, caring, trust and a little forgiveness whenever applicable. Yes, I think Billy, Mary Lee and daughter should become a family. Get married as soon as it's best for all of you.

Dr. Wallace: I am 16 and an honors student, but I'm treated like a prisoner. I'm not permitted to date, attend school functions or go to the movies with my friends. Why? Because I told my parents a few lies.

All I did was see an R-rated movie (I was told not to) and go out with a boy my parents don't approve of (he uses drugs). In both cases I lied. I told my mom I was at a PG-rated movie (my next-door neighbor saw me at the R-rated flick) and I told my dad I was going out with my girlfriend (my aunt saw me with John). Big deal!

Don't you think my parents are overreacting just a bit? — Glenda

Gloria: You deserve every restriction your wise parents have imposed.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 20 pounds overweight and I'm doing something about it. I'm on a rigid doctor-approved diet and I'm jogging. As usual, I'm complaining because it is taking me quite some time to lose the extra poundage. In three weeks I've only lost 5 pounds.

My friend said that when I jog I should wear a rubber sweat suit and that way I'll lose the weight a lot faster. I'll try anything if it's safe. — Judy Judy: It's true jogging in a rubber suit will make you sweat more. But according to a doctor, the loss of weight is temporary. In fact, the loss is only water and when you quench your thirst you will be back to where you started.

Also, jogging in a rubber suit can be dangerous. It robs the body of its ability to cool itself when it overheats.

Five lost pounds in three weeks is right on target. Remember, you didn't add those extra 20 pounds in a few days. Don't expect to lose them overnight.

Mainly For Seniors

Cataracts a matter for experts

Dear John: I am very interested in the attached article. I have recently been told I have a cataract that is not ready for removal. My doctor wants to see me in six months and possibly six months after that.

I would like further information on the linseed oil as I missed your article two years ago. I am looking forward to your answer, and I thank you. — C.M.V.

Dear C.M.V.: No one in his right mind would try to advise you on the basis of a two-year-old letter. If you are not that confident in your present eye doctor you'd better find another one. Great strides are being made in ocular science and, after all, your eyes are among your most precious possessions.

Dear John: I look forward to reading your column, as it contains a lot of information. A man who was having trouble with polyps in his stomach wrote in recently. I had polyps in my nose some years ago and I had to have surgery. They came back 10 years ago, and I could not breathe through my nose at all. I drank a glass of warm goat's milk every day for a month and they went away. It cured me completely. — M.L.V.

Dear M.L.V.: This information should help someone.

Dear John: Please send me your leaflets on Certo, honey and vinegar. I suffer from arthritis. Also, maybe some of your readers have a remedy for itchy scalp. I have suffered from an extremely itchy scalp for years and am getting bald from scratching. I have spent a lot of money on shampoos and dermatologists, who tell me my scalp is healthy. — Mrs. J.M.

Dear Mrs. J.M.: Here's a chance for one reader to help another.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude, Pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. W.J. gcjn1

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit. D.C. hjn1

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Last week was Ellen's eighth birthday. She received many presents from her Mom and Dad, her brother, Rob, and her Grandma and Grandpa.

She also had a party for her friends. Altogether there were twelve children and did they ever have fun! They also made an incredible amount of noise. After the party, when the house was restored to order, Mom was glad to sit down, put her feet up, and enjoy a cold drink. The party was a great success, she was glad the children all had a good time, but she was also happy to have some peace and quiet. Now we really can't blame her, can we?

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are John Lewis and Ann Crowley.

Dog's infertility a cause for concern

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. We have a 4-year-old male golden retriever and are extremely disappointed that he has been unable to father a litter.

He is a beautiful dog, has an excellent genetic makeup, and always has appeared to be healthy.

We have not had our dog examined by a veterinarian specifically for this problem. Do veterinarians treat male canine infertility?

A. You are justified in your concern about the reproductive capability of your dog.

The onset of puberty — the age at which a dog is capable of reproduction — usually occurs between 6 and 12 months of age. Most male dogs reach puberty soon after attaining adult body weight and are capable of producing sperm and breeding throughout the entire year.

Veterinarians specializing in reproductive disorders of animals are called "theriogenologists."

Most university teaching hospitals associated with a college of veterinary medicine have theriogenologists on their faculties. Your veterinarian may wish to refer you to such a specialist.

Most veterinarians engaged in small-animal practice are willing and trained to conduct breeding soundness examinations of male dogs. Following a brief general physical examination, the external genitalia, including penis, scrotum and testicles, are examined carefully.

Next, the veterinarian conducts a rectal examination of the prostate gland. X-rays also are used often to evaluate the condition of the prostate.

A semen sample should be collected from any dog suspected of infertility, and evaluated by a knowledgeable person. Your veterinarian can instruct you in the method of semen sample collection.

The semen sample is examined for motility, or movement, of the sperm cells, morphology, or shape of the individual sperm cells, concentration of the sperm cells and pH of the sample. The sample also often is cultured to detect any infection of the genital tract due to bacteria.

If a diagnosis for the infertility is not derived from a routine breeding soundness examination, a testicular biopsy may be conducted. If your dog is found to be entirely normal, the females he was bred to or the procedure utilized during breeding may have been the source of the problem.

Following a thorough examination, your veterinarian can advise you regarding treatment or management of your dog.
