Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby signs an agreement to lease a portion of the Town of Oyster Bay "Triangle" park to the Hicksville Water District as a well site. Proceeds will provide the Town with additional funding to create a passive recreational facility on the remainder of the parcel, which will include benches, play equipment and a small parking area, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark, right. Hicksville Water District Chairman Gilbert Cusick, third from right, and Commissioner Nicholas J. Brigandì, second from left, expressed their appreciation to Supervisor Colby and the members of the Town Board in leasing the eastern portion of the park, which is located at the junction of Plaiaview and Old Country Roads. Supervisor Colby said the new complex was made possible through the combined planning of the Town and the Water District to provide long-term benefits to residents of the Hicksville community. Also on hand for the signing were Water District officials Richard Woodwell, left, Superintendent; William Lachka, third from left, Business Manager; and Richard Humann, second from right, Treasurer.

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby proclaims the week of October 20-26 "Dental Assistants Recognition Week" with the presentation of a special proclamation to Sr. Natalie DeNatale of Hicksville, publicity chairperson for the Nassau Suffolk Dental Assistants Society. Also on hand for the presentation were publicity committee member Claire Williams and Town Councilman Angelo A. Dell'Agati.

Hicksville Man Dies In Cave In

An industrial accident claimed the life of a 32 year old Hicksville man who was laying runoff pipes for a cesspool at a new home site located at 2 Mindy Court, Locust Valley at 4 p.m., October 18.

Joseph Anello of 55 Longside Avenue, part owner of Sun Valley Landscaper of Hicksville, was in a hole approximately 16 ft. deep by 3 ft. wide with Environmental Protection Agency Inspector Ronald Meyer, 25, 9 Edgewood Place, Huntington Station when the sides of the hole caved in.

Meyer was buried to his waist and Anello was buried under 8 ft. of dirt. Meyer was dug out and transported to Glen Cove Hospital, treated and released for lacerations to right cheek and head. Anello, who was completely buried, was uncovered in approximately one hour and transported to Glen Cove Hospital where he was pronounced dead at 5:32 p.m.

Knights Install 4th Degree Officers

S.K. Austin E. Cannon, Jr., Master of the 9th N.Y. District 4th Degree Knights of Columbus, installs John F. Fletcher, Jr. as Faithful Navigator.

On September 16, Sir Knight John F. Fletcher Jr., PGK, was installed as Faithful Navigator of the Bishop Walter P. Kellenberg D.D. 4th Degree Assembly. The ceremonies took place at the Joseph Barry Council #2520 in Hicksville. S.K. Austin E. Cannon Jr., Master of the Ninth New York District from Bellmore, and Rev. Father Thomas Murphy, Associate Pastor of St. Dominic's R.C. Church in Oyster Bay, installed each elected officer into the Assembly followed by a special blessing for the 1985-86 fraternal year.

Local area officers installed were:
From Hicksville Council #2520: John F. Fletcher Jr. PGK, Faithful Navigator; William Henne Sr.

PGK, PFN; Faithful Admiral; Olaf K. Costello D.D., PGK; Faithful Pilot; Ferdinand Bode, Faithful Comptroller; Francis J. Klarmann PGK, PFN; Faithful Trustee.

From Plainview Council #5723: Joseph Ehrt PGK, D.D., Faithful Captain; Frank R. Styesant PGK, PFN; Faithful Trustee.

From Oyster Bay Council #1206: John Charles Toussaint, Faithful Purser.

From Jericho Council #6802: Eugene J. Reilly PFN; Faithful Trustee.

This Assembly under the guidance of all these fine men, hope to attain another year of continued ideals and successful goals.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond, right, congratulates Robert Bornstein following his installation as Chairman of the Board of the Long Island Division of the American Cancer Society. Bornstein is Administrator of Central General Hospital in Plainview.

DelGiacco Criticizes Supervisor Colby

Democratic Oyster Bay Town Supervisor candidate Joseph Del Giacco has issued a stinging rebuke to his opponent, Republican incumbent Joseph Colby, for Colby's total silence in the face of the increasing inability of LILCO management to assure electric power to Long Island on an efficient and economic basis.

"Mr. Colby is a member of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors," Del Giacco pointed out. "As such, he has had the opportunity to participate in the development of alternatives to the current intolerable situation where local homeowners are forced to suffer the incompetence of LILCO management. He has said and done absolutely nothing—and I think that's a disgrace."

Del Giacco confirmed his support for current moves by Democratic County Executive candidate John Matthews to oust LILCO's present Board of Directors, and reiterated his belief that the best "long range solution" would be public takeover of the ailing utility. He also firmly stated his opposition to any move by LILCO to force local homeowners to foot the bill for the Hurricane Gloria cleanup.

The Mid Island Conservative Club recently held a fund raiser at T.J. Courtney's in Hicksville. Numerous candidates that will be on the ballot were in attendance. Included were two Conservative candidates for District Court Judge who were presented with a check from the Mid Island Conservative Club's Chairman, John Cattonar, center, on the left is Marc Mogli, candidate for the 1st District Court and Martin Massell, candidate for the 4th District Court, on the right.

On October 9, the Triangle Neighborhood Crime Watch was officially formed when the members attended three training sessions. During these sessions, officers Hartell and Kopeck from the Crime Resistance Unit lectured on home protection, operation I.D. and Crime Watch programs.

The culmination of the meeting was when all participants received a certificate from their coordinator and Ginny Germer. The certificate congratulates them on their completion of the three part training program and thanks them for their actions which have contributed to a "Safer Hicksville for All."

For information on starting a Neighborhood Crime Watch in your area or the dates of a training session please call Ginny Germer, Coordinator at 822-7594. The Hicksville Neighborhood Crime Watch is a community service program of the Hicksville Youth Council.

To the Editor:

The Officers and Directors of the Hicksville Community Council hereby state that our membership is comprised of as diverse a group of people as might be found in any community. Membership is open to all interested citizens and groups.

Perhaps our purpose "For a Better Hicksville" eludes your understanding since we are a Forum for individuals and representatives of charitable, service, religious, business, educational, political, cultural, civic and fraternal organizations. We discuss plans, problems and events affecting Hicksville. Since our By-Laws prohibit taking a stand as an organization, our individual members speak to the issues revealed, and strongly encourage and actively support each other.

We invite you and your readers to attend our next meeting on Thursday, November 7, at 8 p.m. at the Hicksville Public Library Community Room. Seeing us in action should clear up the mistaken impression given in your column "The Office Cat" on Friday, October 18, 1985, that we are "a GOP sponsored group."

Respectively yours,
Virginia Flood,
Secretary

Ed. Note: We don't think the impression was mistaken. The so-called community council has not done one thing to bring about "A better Hicksville" since it started. Apparently the members cannot see the weeds crawling in the parking lot, the trash by the curb, the lack of any government to respond to problems and the vacant lots along Broadway. Yet Hicksville pays taxes as high as any Village that has services. Thank you for the invitation but photos of politicians at dinners won't help the above.

Rogers-Napolitana Wedding

Patricia Anne Rogers of Lee Ave., Hicksville became the bride of Dr. Guy Thomas Napolitana of Schenectady, N.Y. on Saturday, September 14. A beautiful ceremony was held at St. Ignatius Loyola Church in Hicksville with the Reverend Thomas C. Costa officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, embroidery lace and pearls with a Victorian lace collar, and a chapel length veil. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of dendrobium orchids, cymbidiums, pink sweethearts and stephanotis.

The Matron of honor was Edie Patterson a long time friend of the bride. The bridesmaids were: Jeanne Rogers (sister) Trish Radigan, Kathy Ferrara and Linda Mahoney. The bridesmaids wore turquoise tea length gowns. The groom and his ushers wore gray traditional formal morning wear.

The groom's Best Man was John De Blasio, and his ushers were: Nick Angerami, Ralph Angerami, John Hutchinson and Richard Schaeffer, all from Schenectady, N.Y.

Mrs. Napolitana is a graduate of Hicksville High School, and a graduate of Nassau Community College, and holds a Bachelor of Science degree from The State University of Stony Brook. Patricia is currently employed as a Registered Nurse at University Hospital Stony Brook.

Dr. Napolitana is a graduate of Linton High School in Schenectady, St. Lawrence University and the State University of Stony Brook where he received his Doctor's Degree in Medicine. Dr. Napolitana is currently employed at University Hospital.

Dr. Napolitana is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thomas Napolitana of Schenectady, N.Y. Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rogers of Hicksville.

After a gala reception at the Jericho Terrace in Mineola, the radiant couple left for a honeymoon in Bermuda. The couple now reside in Nesconset, N.Y.

News From Bethpage Library

Magical Story Theatre at The Bethpage Public Library
On Saturday, November 16, the Bethpage Public Library will present Jonathan Kruk in "Magical Story Theatre", a program for young people in honor of National Children's Book Week.

Jonathan Kruk, a master of story theater, will usher up a glorious, rainbow-colored dragon, a mystery ring, a glass mountain that plays tricks and will take youngsters on a fabulous danger-strewn quest. He will create pure entertainment with his wonderful grab bag of outlandish and unforgettable tricks and stories from here, there and everywhere. Loads of scary shivers, giggles and rollicking participating fun.

Actor, specialist in creative dramatics and story theater, Jonathan Kruk holds a master's degree in education and serves as Storyteller and Artist in Residence for the Freeport Public Schools. He has performed widely throughout the New York Metropolitan area.

Showtime is 2 p.m., and tickets are now available in the Bethpage Children's Room for all young people in Grades K-6 who reside in District #21. For information, please call 931-3907.

Bethpage Library Bus Trip To Historic Raynham Hall

What was it like to be a child growing up in 18th and 19th Century Long Island? On Saturday, November 2, the Bethpage Public Library has planned an exciting bus trip for youngsters to Oyster Bay's historic Raynham Hall begun in 1738.

During this visit, young people will meet the Townsends - bold sea traders, clever Revolutionary War spies, Civil War patriots. And they will meet their children on tours, in a slide show, in stories, on a mysterious historical scavenger hunt, and in hands-on colonial crafts workshops.

How did young people do homework in the 18th Century? Have fun creating your own attractive quill pens, inkwells, and other items that youngsters used long ago.

The bus will leave promptly at 1 p.m. from in front of the library and will return at approximately 3:30 p.m. All young people in grades 2-6 residing in District #21 are invited to attend. $3.75 per person includes all museum fees and bus fare. Registration is now being taken in the Bethpage Children's Room for the limited number of places available on the bus. For information, please call 931-3907.

Youngsters to Make Vampire Bat Costumes at the Bethpage Public Library

On Saturday, October 26, youngsters will literally turn into blood-thirsty vampire bats at the Bethpage Public Library. Boys and girls in grades 2-6 are invited to have spooky fun making a spectacular costume to enjoy on Halloween.

The vampire bat costume workshop will be held from 2:30 p.m. Youngsters are requested to bring along a bottle of white glue, scotch tape, a stapler, a few felt markers, some black and/or brown yarn (optional). The library will supply the rest.

Registration is limited so hurry and sign up now. District #21 residents only please. For information, please call 931-3907.

Ocker Visits Bethpage GOP

Oyster Bay Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker visited as the "Special Guest of Honor" at the most recent meeting of the Theodore Roosevelt Republican Club of Bethpage, on October 14.

Mrs. Ocker spoke about the wide range of resident services which her office provides to the community. She emphasized that these services have been greatly expanded upon and improved in recent years, as the Town has entered the "technological age" through the use of computers. Mrs. Ocker commented that "Under the leadership of Supervisor (Joseph) Colby, the Oyster Bay Town Board has demonstrated its commitment to providing efficient, reliable services to Town residents, with a view towards meeting the needs of the future."

Town of Oyster Bay Councilman Howard "Tom" Hogan also stopped in to visit the Club, and largely echoed Mrs. Ocker's comments. Hogan added that, by working together as a "team," Supervisor Colby and his colleagues on the Oyster Bay Town Board have been able to act upon an agenda of improved Town services, which have reached down into the community and which will continue to provide for the needs of Town residents well into the future.

George F. Yochmann, Executive Leader of the Bethpage GOP Organization, stated that "This year's election is for local level government offices which are the closest to the community and the most responsive to its needs. Ann Ocker, as our Town Clerk, and Tom Hogan, who is the Senior Member of the Town Board, have each served in their respective offices for more than 12 years... and, in that time, each has proven to be a dedicated, responsible public official who is certainly deserving of election to another term on November 5."

Club President Kevin Galloway announced that Nassau County Executive Francis T. Purcell and Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby will be among the many distinguished GOP officials attending the Club's annual "Harvest Moon Dance," on October 26. Galloway concluded that "As usual, it will be the highlight of the year for our Club...everyone is welcome to join us for a fun evening."

Quality Or Quantity?

One Sure Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results

Both the mens' and womens' teams entered by the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runder Club in the prestigious "Great Cow Harbor" 10 Kilometer Run in Northport last month were quite successful. The POBRRC mens' team took first place in the unseeded division, edging out the 2nd place Grumman team by 1 minute, 15 seconds.

The POBRRC Womens' Team was a close second to the Merrill, Lynch team. Two POBRRCers also took home individual trophies from Cow Harbor. More than 3300 runners participated in Cow Harbor.

Singing Debut For Local Girl

Ms. Sondra Allison Yannone of Hicksville has made her professional singing debut at "The Silver Lining" restaurant and cabaret in New York City. The audience enjoyed Ms. Yannone's performance of contemporary musical show tunes and torch song ballads.

Ms. Yannone developed her interest in music and dramatics at Hicksville High School where she performed in many theatrical productions and concerts. She won a fine arts scholarship to C.W. Post College in Greenvale from which she graduated magna cum laude.

As a member of the Long Island

Opera Company, the Long Island Singers Society and the Long Island Chamber Singers, Ms. Yannone has performed operatic and classical pieces all over Long Island. She has also performed at Lincoln Center-Alice Tully Hall and at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Ms. Yannone has recently appeared in her first dramatic role as "Miss Casewell" in Agatha Christie's play, "The Mousetrap" with the St. Pius Players under the direction of Charles M. Mattingly, Jr. Other cast members included Ann Robinson, Frank Dal Ceredo, Jerry Prior, May Pilkington, Edward W. Bruslins, Joe Gerraputa and Craig Slivka.

Scouts Help Out At L.I. Senior Games

On Saturday, October 19, the Scouts of Junior Troop 3001, Fork Lane School, helped at the Long Island Senior games. Some of the troop arrived bright and early at Mitchell Park to help set out programs, serve tea, coffee and donuts and aid the Seniors in selecting helpful literature. After the opening ceremonies Mr. Francis T. Purcell, County Executive of Nassau County, posed with the scouts and talked to them about scouting and his family. The Scouts then went to Nassau Community College to help retrieve balls at the Table Tennis and Badminton competition. At 12:30 the morning shift tired but happy departed and the afternoon shift arrived. These scouts worked at the Volleyball competition and the Square dancing. The girls enjoyed dancing and making friends with the energetic Senior Citizens.

The days activities over the scouts departed satisfied with a job well done. The Girl Scouts who gave so lovingly of their time are: Marcia Gunstig Leader, Vickie Gunnigle, Kiri Gallahue, Susan Gaylord, Melissa Perry, Soula Pappas, Mary Rafic and Melanie Vought, Sharon Fusco Leader, Wendy Fusco, Jackie Antonacci, Toni Focarile, Jane Jedzinkak, Julie Jedzinkak and Stacy Zeiders.

Participating with the seniors are Jennifer Peters, Jane Jedzinkak, Julie Jedzinkak and Jennifer Yost. In the background are Kimberly Peters and Toni Focarile.

Squaring off in the square dance are Wendy Fusco, Jackie Antonacci, Danielle Pipitone and Stacy Zeiders.

College Notes

David Y. Sone, of 29 Tudor Road, Hicksville, is a freshman at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York.

David, a graduate of Hicksville High plans to major in engineering.

Mid-Is. Y Sponsors College Tours

Registration for a college tour of four upstate colleges has been extended until November 4 at the Mid-Island YM-YWHA, Plainview.

The tour, which will be held November 10-11, includes visits to SUNY Albany, Oneonta, SUNY Binghamton and Cornell. will enable 10th-12th grade high school students to see each campus, eat in the cafeterias, examine dorm rooms and talk with students. Lodging, transportation and adult chaperones will be provided.

Last years' college tour, sponsored by the Mid-Island Y, resulted in several participants applying to the colleges they visited.

The cost is $80.00 for Y members, $95.00 for non-members.

Those interested must call Eileen Synder at 822-3535 to reserve a space on the bus.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

IF YOU are not very concerned with local Town politics and you wonder what year is Election year for the top posts simply watch your newspaper headline. The year the Town announces no increase in taxes is the year they are running for re-election and that's this year. But don't get too excited. Next year will make up the difference....THE GENERAL Admission to ice skating rinks in the Town at Syosset-Woodbury park will stay the same this year $1.50 per two hour session for skaters 16 and older and $1 per two hour session for children under 15. Senior citizens 62 years and older will be 50 cents per two hour session but no allowance will be given for broken bones for seniors....THERE was quite a bit of oratory at Town Hall last Tuesday night when Assemblyman Yevoli asked when residents will get a refund of the $20 million collected last year to truck garbage out of state. Since no garbage was trucked, Yevoli has been asking for the Town to return this extra tax to taxpayers. ## Busy Time For Fork La. Students

Story and Photos by A. Eichenauer

I'm sure we've all heard the same old cry from our kids when this question is asked. What did you do in school today? NOTHING!

Well they may say nothing but actually they have done a lot since school re-opened in September.

The front lobby of Fork Lane School has an art display of "Weaving" created by 5th grade class and the help of Mrs. Yolanda Grigg the Art Teacher. Along the hall is an educational and learning walk way. Mrs. Calzetta's 1st grade class has pictures and stories about Johnny Apple Seed and right next to that display is Mrs. Schreck's 1st grade with their display of leaf people, across from this is Miss Knopf's 6th grade and their display is entitled "We Are Introducing The World".

The entire school decorated in works from grades K-6. All the children are really working hard and it shows. At Fork Lane the teachers try to make learning fun, and as a parent I think they are doing a darn good job of it.

Bethpage Grad Named 'Scholar'

Patricia O'Connor, who ranked first in her graduating class at Bethpage High School, Bethpage, was named a Fairfield University Scholar and will receive a partial tuition scholarship.

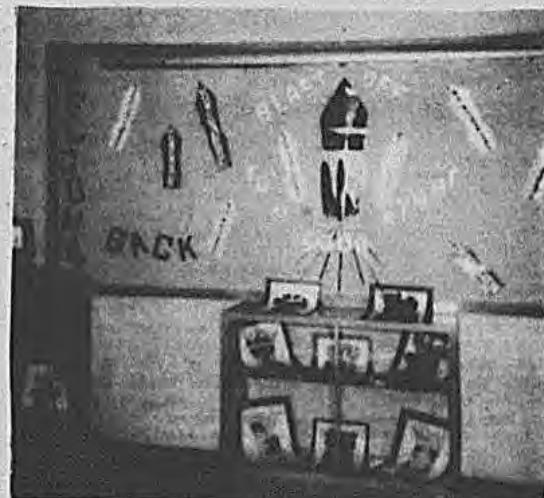

She is a business student with plans for a career in corporate law.

At Bethpage, she earned varsity letters in basketball and field hockey.

Fairfield University is a coeducational university, founded by the Jesuits in 1942. It was recently named by Peterson's College Guide as among the 316 most competitive colleges for admission.

Peterson-Acker Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Acker

Kathleen Jean Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald B. Peterson of Sayville, was married to Mr. Charles Richard Acker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Acker of Bethpage. The 12:30 p.m. ceremony took place at St. John's Lutheran Church in Sayville on Saturday, September 14.

Denise Gall, a close friend of the bride, was the Maid of Honor and wore a pale purple gown of summer satin. The other attendants were Debbie Shea, also a friend of the bride; Virginia Peterson, the bride's sister-in-law Kerrin Axmacher and Stacey Ellen Rossi, both sisters of the groom. Their gowns, also made of summer satin, were a soft shade of lilac. They carried old fashioned bouquets of daisies, carnations and baby's breath.

The Best Man and Ushers were friends the groom has known since boyhood. Glenn Della Ratta was the Best Man and the Ushers were Steven Klingelhoefer, Michael Shea and Robert Lazina.

Amani Peterson, the bride's niece was a Jr. Brides-Maid. Joshua Paul Axmacher, nephew of the groom was the ring-bearer.

An afternoon reception was held, under a lovely yellow and white tent, on the grounds of the Snapper Inn, in Ogdensburg.

The newly weds left for a two week honeymoon in Cancun, Mexico and upon their return will reside in Farmingdale.

Bethpage Navymen On USS Thach

By Barry Nelson

The frigate has been the backbone of America's Navy since the days of canvas sails and wooden decks.

Today, armed with guided missiles and propelled by gas turbine engines, the frigate is still in the forefront of America's forward defense.

Men like Michael Harold of Bethpage live and work on one of the Navy's newest frigates, the USS Thach.

The 24 year old son of James and Rita Harold of Bethpage is an electronics technician in the combat systems department aboard the Thach.

"I work on various communications systems on the ship, specializing in satellite communications. I spend most of my time, in radio central, where the ship's communications gear is kept."

"It takes a lot of technical training and knowledge to do my job. I've had almost two and a half years of schooling and I'm qualified to work on any communication system the Navy has."

"Electronics is a challenge. Rarely will you see electronic equipment with the same problem. Sometimes it's like trouble-shooting blindfolded. It's the challenge that makes the job fun," says Harold.

Commissioned in 1984, the Thach is a new class of guided missile frigate designed in the early 1970's to meet future airborne, surface and submarine threats.

The 3800 ton ship is propelled by computer controlled gas turbine engines (the same engines used in the DC-10 commercial airliners), which enable the ship to travel at speeds in excess of 28 knots. Its electrical generators are also computer controlled and monitored.

Air and surface search radars enable the Thach's crew to keep an eye on the area surrounding the ship. She's armed with antisub and anti-aircraft missiles, a 62 caliber rapid-firing gun, two triple-mount torpedo tubes and a Phalanx close-in weapons system.

A 1979 graduate of Plainedge High School, Harold entered the Navy in December 1981. After completing boot camp at the Naval Training Center in Orlando, Florida, he attended electronics technician school at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, north of Chicago. After his basic electronics training, Harold attended various Navy technical schools until 1983, when he reported to the Thach that August.

"I came into the Navy because I wanted to take advantage of the electronics training. I also wanted to do some traveling and see some of the world."

"My father was a radio repairman in the Air Force and is still working in electronics for Xerox. I was taking electronics as a major when I attended Nassau Community College, so I decided to stay with it and become an electronics technician in the Navy," says Harold.

Home to 15 officers, 16 chief petty officers and 171 enlisted men, the Thach has some of the most comfortable living accommodations ever provided for the crew of a naval combatant ship.

"I like going out to sea. I've been around boats since I was seven years old and I like being out on the water. The only thing I don't like is being away from my wife, but that's as much a part of the job as anything else," Harold says.

The Thach will be going on its first overseas deployment next year when the ship and crew go to the western Pacific next year.

"I'm looking forward to going. This is my first cruise, and travel is one of the reasons I decided to join the Navy," says Harold. "From what I've heard there is going to be a lot to see and do over there. Two places I'd really like to see are Hong Kong and Thailand. I want to do a lot of shopping and I've heard there are lots of good bargains in Hong Kong."

A petty officer second class, Harold feels that he has several options for his future.

"If I decide not to stay in the Navy when my time is up, I'll go back to New York and get a job in electronics. I may stay in and retire from the Navy. If I decide to do that I'll try to get a commission through the Limited Duty Officer's Program."

Michael Harold,
Petty Officer 2nd Class

Radio and TV Repair Electronics Technician Second Class Michael Harold takes a meter reading in order to pinpoint a troublesome relay. Harold is a three-year Navy veteran and a 1979 graduate of Plainedge High School.

Antiques Collectibles

JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam member Antique Appraisers Association of America.

Q. This Oriental-style vase has been in my family for many years.

Please tell me what you can about its origin, vintage and value.

A. This type of ceramics is called Satsuma and is made in Japan. It derives its name from an area of Japan famed for fine ceramics for over 300 years.

Most of the Satsuma now on the market was made in the late 19th and early 20th century. Yours was made around 1900 and would be worth about $175 to $225.

Q. With the current anti-cigarette sentiment, is there also an increased interest in collecting items related to smoking, etc.?

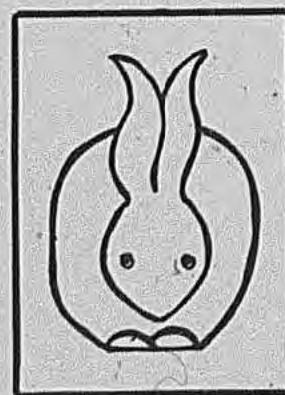

A. You are very perceptive. Before the anti-cigarette campaign began in the early 1950s, there were all kinds of advertising and gift novelties available that would be inappropriate today.

Here are some examples:
Camels tin box, flat fifties — $8.
Camels calendar, 1963 — $8.
Clock (batteries), Vantage Cigarettes — $25.

Phillip Morris "Johnny" doll — $100.

Lighter (Chesterfield) — $10.
Poster (Camels) 15x28 inches — $50.

Counter signs (any brand) — $25-$50.

This drawing shows the mark on the bottom of a pottery mug. The sides also are decorated with rabbits.

This mark was used by the Dedham Pottery Co., Dedham, Mass., from 1895 to 1896. It should be worth about $125.

Postal Safety Fair A Huge Success

Over 2,500 people came out, despite gloomy skies, to see the Second Annual Postal Safety Fair on Sunday, October 13. They visited over 50 safety and health related booths and got a "behind the scenes happenings" of our Postal Service.

Master of Ceremonies, Ray Heatherton, "The Merry Mailman" opened the day by introducing Life Scout Matthew Zeray and other Boy Scouts from Troop 3211 who presented an impressive flag ceremony.

Hicksville Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster Roger Nienaber presented Mr. Heatherton with a Certificate of Appreciation, a sheet of youth stamps, a commemorative first day of issue and the Golden Moments Commemorative Album of the 1984 Olympics. "I grew up in Ohio and even in Ohio, believe it or not, we had the Merry Mailman. It was a pleasure to meet Ray and a pleasure to have him again this year as our Master of Ceremonies. It is in recognition of your outstanding contributions to the Long Island community that we present you with these stamps and album," said Mr. Nienaber.

Mr. Nienaber went on to say, "I saw the videotapes of last year's fair and frankly, I was overwhelmed by all the people and excitement. It shows that the Postal Service is reaching out in directions to find new ways to provide the community with more than just mail service."

Recently the Postal Service issued a block of four stamps honoring youth groups committed to preparing youth for adulthood. Their many volunteers offer their time to teach rewarding skills including first aid and safety. Representatives from these groups were presented a Certificate of Appreciation, sheet of stamps and a first day commemorative issue; from the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 3211 Scoutmaster Bob Izzo; from the Big Brothers/Big Sisters President of the Board of Directors for Nassau County Tom DiNapoli and from the YMCA, Genevieve Haseney, Public Relations Director.

Winners of the recent poster and essay contest, "How to Make Hicksville Safer" were presented certificates and commemorative stamp kits. In the 2nd grade and under category winners were Anne Marie Elenio from Fork Lane School for her poster and Michelle Raemdonck from Lee Avenue School. In the category of 3rd grade and over were John Bailey from Holy Family School for his poster and Kerstin Magnuson from Holy Family School for her essay.

Ray Heatherton ended with his all familiar song, "I Am The Merry Mailman" to the delight of all the visitors.

There was something for everyone. Children enjoyed the robot fire hydrant provided by the Public Fire and Safety Service Academy and learning how to drop and roll, watching Police Officer Hill from the Nassau County Police Department work with his German Shepherd, being a carrier at Carrier Safety Town, put on by Lindenhurst postal employees, learning how to avoid an accident in the postal Driver Simulator, pony rides, kiddie kastle and personally talking to McGruff, the Crime Prevention Dog and the Grinch from McDonald's. Parents could also have their children's fingerprints recorded by the Nassau County Police Department.

Displays of participating organizations offered information on fire prevention, crime prevention, burn care and prevention, nutritional health, alcohol and drug abuse, dental hygiene, baby and child health tips, programs available for disabled veterans, gun safety, organ transplantation, animal care, first aid, CPR, consumer protection, women's health tips and many other topics.

Visitors could get their blood pressure checked, eyes checked for glaucoma, a spinal check and a blood test for diabetes.

The community browsed around the postal parking lot, eating hot dogs and discovering ways to make the lives of their family safer and healthier.

The lobby was crowded with people purchasing the special cancellation and commemorative stamps and looking at the postal philatelic display.

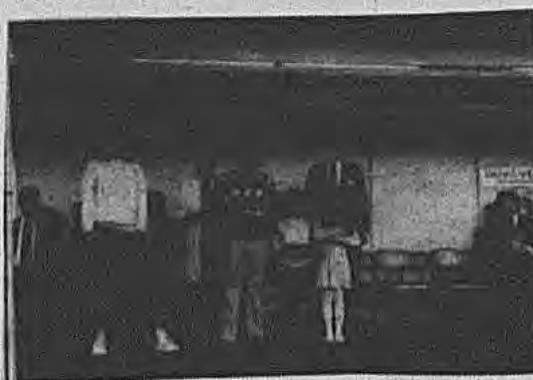

Many visitors took guided tours and enjoyed viewing the post office behind the scenes. Most seemed impressed with the logical process of handling over 1 billion pieces of mail that goes through the building each year.

McGruff, the Crime Dog walked around all afternoon handing out literature on how to prevent mail fraud.

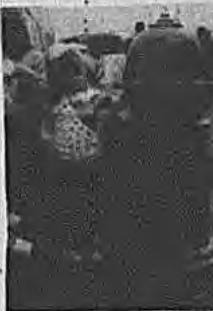

Howie Zegel, USPS Accident Investigator, instructs children in Safe Driving Techniques inside the Postal Driver Simulator, where children get to sit behind a model car and react to movies of actual road hazards.

A young postal customer begins his trip through Carrier Safety Town by mailing his letter.

McGruff, the Crime Dog walked around all afternoon handing out literature on how to prevent mail fraud.

The talking fire hydrant from Nassau County Fire Safety Academy tells a young lady at the Hicksville Post Office Safety Fair all about fire prevention.

Runhild Wessell Attends Conf.

On October 11-13 Runhild Wessell attended the Eighth Annual Conference of the Fulbright Alumni Association at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville. Senator Fulbright, now 80 years old, was present. His archives, consisting of over two million documents that he had donated to his alma mater, were opened and presented to the University President. Senator Fulbright had played on the football team of U AR and had also been its president. At his every appearance he was cheered and applauded by the enthusiastic Fulbrighters present.

Miss Wessell had a Fulbright Scholarship to Germany in 1956. She retired from Hicksville Senior High School in 1973, after teaching 42 years of which 37 were in Hicksville. For the past ten years she has been working as a volunteer tutor in the Nassau County Jail.

In 1983 she founded the New York Chapter of the Fulbright Alumni Association and was its first president. She has attended all eight annual conferences of the Association and is a member of the National Board.

In response to the last two seasons' "standing-room-only" audiences, the Mid-Island YM-YWHA will again present the Klezmer Concert, November 9, 8:30 p.m., at the "Y", 45 Manetto Hill Road, Plainview. Klezmer is the instrumental music of the Ashkenazic Jews of Eastern Europe. The group combines its musical elements with humor, energy, and deep regard for culture by using stylistically authentic instruments in its performances while the singers deliver delightful renditions in Yiddish.

Kapelye, which recently toured 21 east coast cities, wrote the music and appeared in the film of Chaim Potok's novel "The Chosen." The group moves into Carnegie Hall later this fall. Tickets cost $8 for "Y" members, $10 for non-members with discounts given for senior adults.

For further information, those interested should call the Mid-Island Y at 822-3535.

The Island Chamber Symphony will be performing at the Hicksville Public Library on Sunday, October 27 at 3 p.m. in the Community Room of the library. This concert is co-sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Department of Community Services, Cultural and Performing Arts Division, and the Hicksville

Public Library as part of CAPA's Distinguished Artist Series.

The Island Chamber Symphony is a new ensemble concentrating on the masterpieces of the baroque and classical periods but encompassing the works of all periods. Conductor, Jeremy Kempton, graduated with distinction from the Eastman School of Music and earned a Master's Degree from the University of Illinois where he received a NDEA fellowship grant. Lana Noone, flute soloist, is a graduate of New York's High School of the Performing Arts and attended Mannes College of Music.

NOTICE

Certain areas of the Hicksville Public Library will be closed beginning October 28 because of carpet installation. The Children's Room will be closed Monday through Thursday and other areas will be closed for short periods of time for the next two weeks. Carpeting will greatly improve the appearance of the library and should offer a significant savings in maintenance.

High-Tech Communications for High-Tech Long Island

New York Telephone continues to expand its fiber optic network throughout Nassau and Suffolk. This fiber optic "expressway" around the bi-county area speeds telephone calls, computer data and video images over beams of light. The fiber optic cable now in place is considered the most advanced communications medium because of its many attributes. In addition to being able to transmit increased volumes of calls, the new technology also improves transmission quality and is more reliable because it is impervious to water and static electricity. There will be approximately 300 miles of fiber optic cable in place on Long Island by the end of the year. The local telephone system is also being modernized by the ongoing installation of digital switching equipment in our central offices which transmits conversations and information in digital form.

A New Calling Card Service

If you'd like your son or daughter, mother or father, special friend or customer to call you more often, give them the new SPIN Calling Card from New York Telephone. SPIN stands for Special Personal Identification Number and allows the person with the card to call only one number, yours and yours alone. The SPIN Card is ideal for children at college, relatives that live out of town or special customers. They'll always be able to call you without spending a cent. There is a surcharge (added to the direct-dial rate) for each SPIN call billed to your phone, but it's less than half the surcharge for a collect call or a call billed to a third number. If you'd like SPIN Calling Cards for calls to your home, call 1-800-942-1818, operator 82. For calls to your business, call 1-800-942-1212, ext. 355.

Helpful Hints

If you share a phone with someone who isn't listed in your local directory — a spouse, parent, teenager or roommate — for just pennies a day you can get an additional directory listing in their name. Just call 1-800-942-1818, operator 44 for details.

The Customer Guide pages in the front of your local telephone directory have a wealth of information to help you understand our services and rates. For answers to your questions, consult this section. It contains area codes, bill paying and repair information, money-saving tips and much, much more.

When you have your telephone service changed, certain one-time charges may apply. By planning ahead and making all the changes at once, you'll save money.

We're Here to Serve

If you have any questions or problems with your phone service or billing, give us a call. You'll find the number on your phone bill and in the Customer Guide pages in your telephone book.

Halloween Tips For Trick/Treaters

Hallowe'en -- that time of the year when ghosts, ghouls and goblins threaten to provide dire tricks unless they are provided with treats -- is coming soon. Poison Control physicians at the Nassau County Medical Center are hoping that it will be all fun and no tragedy.

Masks, beards and wigs should be flame resistant.

Costumes should be light and bright enough to be clearly visible to motorists. Bags or sacks should be decorated or trimmed with reflective tape which will "glow" in a car's headlights.

Masks should have large holes and costumes should not be too long. Many children are injured by tripping on their costumes or because they couldn't see properly through narrow slits in masks.

Little children should be chaperoned and older children should travel in pairs.

Discard candy that is out of the original wrapping and beware of homemade treats unless you can positively identify the person who provided them. When in doubt, throw the treat out.

Have your children do their trick and treat in familiar neighborhoods.

Dr. Mofenson particularly urged parents to call the Nassau County Medical Center's Poison Control Center should a poisoning be suspected. The number of the Poison Control Center is 542-2323.

Mid Island Y Buying Trip

A special Chanukah Shop and Save trip to Seacaucus is being held by the Mid-Island YM-YWHA, November 18.

A luxury charter bus equipped with a lavatory will leave the "Y" at 9 a.m. and return about 3:30 p.m. from the outlet stores that offer a variety of goods at discount prices.

Cost for "Y" members is $14.00; non-members $18.00.

Also planned are special one day adult classes for November and December: Nov. 19 - How to Start Your Own Business - 8:30 p.m.; Nov. 20 - Well-Dressed Woman - 8:10 p.m.; Nov. 21 - Thanksgiving Workshop 9:30 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.; Dec. 4 - Chanukah Festival of Lights - 8:30 p.m.; Dec. 5 - Chanukah Workshop 9:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

Prior registration is required for all Mid-Island YM-YWHA classes held at the "Y", 45 Manetto Hill Road, Plainview. For further information, call Marcia Smoller at 822-3535.

Financial Planner Attends Conv.

Paul J. Aledort, Certified Financial Planner, President of Certified Financial Planning Corp., located in Hicksville, was one of the participants in the 1985 IAFP Annual Convention and Exposition held recently in Anaheim, California at the Anaheim Convention Center. ## The perfect finishing touch: Color, beauty and protection

Your refrigerator, car and wood furniture are protected by an often overlooked and relatively inexpensive feature: The coating.

The coating that covers your refrigerator probably cost about $5.00. Yet this $5.00 protects one of your major investments from damaging heat and moisture. It allows dirty fingerprints, spaghetti sauce stains and greasy splatters to vanish with a wipe of a sponge.

Major appliance coatings manufacturers are constantly striving to improve the quality of the finishes found on your refrigerators, washers, dryers, dishwashers and cooking ranges.

Resists damage

Innovative coatings and application procedures provide greater resistance to detergents, stains and corrosion. In recent tests, lipstick, tomato juice and cigarette ashes had virtually no effect on new coatings found on refrigerators. And, finishes on washing machines and dishwashers were found to resist the damage of scouring.

Like the finish on your refrigerator, the paint on your car is more than just color. It is a barrier between your car and old man winter, summer, spring and fall.

New, improved coatings add greater value and protection

Your car is protected from a rust-producing snowstorm. Your dining table resists the scratches of everyday plates and glasses. Your refrigerator is cleaned easily with the wipe of a sponge. The secret? It's the coating!

Coatings have been used since the days of the ancient Egyptians, who manufactured the first varnish to beautify and protect their temples and tombs.

Today, they are found on almost everything you own, from the car you drove to work in to the can of soda you had at lunch.

Coatings can be as simple as a coat of paint on your wall or as complex as the coating used on rockets to protect the vehicle from extreme temperatures and alien atmospheres.

Coatings are more than just color. While coatings on most major investments account for only one to five percent

Rain, sleet, heat and humidity are all enemies of your car — but, thanks to your finish, you don't have to worry.

New "wet look" for cars

The new "wet look" paint appearing on automobiles is more than a sleek, glossy finish that makes your car look good. The shiny look comes from a two-coat paint that provides higher chipping and corrosion resistance, clearer, brighter colors and greater protection against the harsh environment.

Your dining table is covered with more than one layer: 12 layers to be exact. This multi-layered surface not only accents the shine and natural color of the wood grain, but serves as a guard against hot plates, tipped glasses and other accidents that can damage the beauty and condition of the wood.

Like automobiles, the wet look is also the current "rage" among wood furniture manufacturers. Modeled after the exotic Japanese lacquer furniture, this new coating yields a high gloss and is available in a variety of popular colors.

In addition to protecting a finish that is so popular today, the new coating also has been found to increase product durability by up to 50 to 60 percent.

of the total cost of the product, they play a vital role in preserving the life of the product and protecting it from damage," according to Larry Thomas, Executive Director of the National Paint and Coatings Association.

Coatings form a protective barrier between harsh environmental conditions and the surface of your products. Without the coating, metal products would quickly be destroyed by corrosion and wood furniture would swell and crack from moisture.

And now, coatings are better than ever! Each year, millions of research dollars are devoted to the development of new coatings that are even more durable and corrosion-resistant.

For example, patio furniture manufacturers have switched to a powder-coating procedure to finish their products. With this method, coatings were found to last up to three times longer than prior finishes.

How to preserve the life, look of indoor surfaces

You've spent your savings on a new refrigerator or dining room set. Or maybe you've decided to install a new vinyl floor or wall paneling.

These products are protected by finishes which serve as barriers against damaging stains, moisture, heat and grime.

To keep your purchases looking like new and lasting longer, all it takes is an extra 10 minutes every week to care for their protective coatings!

Below are some simple techniques which the National Paint and Coatings Association offers for preserving the life and look of your indoor surfaces.

Wood furniture

The luster and beauty of your wood furniture is testimony to the skill of the finisher. This craftsman rubs on over 10 layers of finishes by hand to enhance the wood grain and highlight the natural color of the furniture.

These coatings also double as a protective shield against spilled food and hot dishes which can damage the original condition of the wood.

To protect a finish from wear and tear, was (not more than once or twice a month) with waxes specially formulated for use on furniture. Different finishes require different waxes and applications as follows:

- High gloss finishes — Use a liquid polish or paste wax;

- Satin gloss — Use cleaning polish or cream wax without silicone.

- Low gloss — Use liquid polish designed for low-luster wood or a cleaning wax to protect the finish without creating a shine;

- Oil finish — Add a few drops of mineral spirits or lemon juice to a mild soap solution to wash the finish.

- Burned finish — Don't use any wax. Wipe the finish with a damp cloth and mild soap.

- Avoid getting alcohol, petroleum products and nail polish remover on furniture, as it can remove the finish.

- Most finishes are scratch resistant and can be wiped with a damp cloth for everyday cleaning. To remove rings from wet glasses, press the spot with a warm iron over a damp cloth for 30 seconds. The mark should disappear.

Major appliances

Refrigerators, washers, dryers and other major appliances in your home are each covered with about a half gallon of paint. Yet this small amount, which represents about one percent of the total cost of the appliance, protects your home furnishings from damaging heat, moisture and grime that can lead to rust and corrosion.

Appliance finishes are probably the easiest to care for and require only a minimum of care. Remember to:

How to identify traditional furniture styles

No question about it — designing a room is hard work. Selecting colors, fabrics and furniture that work together to create a comfortable, beautiful environment requires an eye for design that's difficult to acquire.

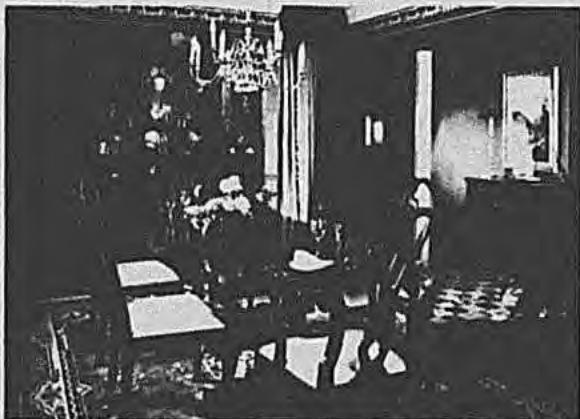

You can, however, learn to identify the styles of furniture that best suit your personal decorating needs. By paying careful attention to details you'll be able to choose pieces that complement your home and each other, according to Tom Burak, fashion director at Pennsylvania House, makers of fine quality furniture.

"Although trends in home furnishings tend to change from year to year, classic furniture designs remain popular and versatile choices," says Burak.

"Whether it's Colonial, Queen Anne or Chippendale, there is a variety of furniture styles available today in a wide range of prices, many inspired by priceless originals but refined to suit today's active lifestyles," Burak offers several suggestions to help the furniture shopper identify these popular styles.

"Most furniture styles are characterized by a particular silhouette, shape or proportion," he says. "Long tapering legs, a square back or gently curving arms and decorative carved motifs like shells, acanthus leaves, or ribbons all offer clues to identifying each style or period."

An understanding of the basic history of furniture is also helpful, notes Burak,

THIS DINING ROOM from Pennsylvania House reflects the grace and beauty of the Queen Anne style. A sophisticated interpretation of an original 18th century piece, the large breakfront features oval-grilled glass and the pierced brass hardware typical of Queen Anne era. The classic Queen Anne chairs are carefully carved and decorated with the characteristic cockle-shell motif. The warm, rich colors and formal crystal and china enhance the mood of quiet elegance.

For example, during the early Colonial period, American furniture design was utilitarian with few fanciful elements. Painted designs, usually on native pine, were the only sign of decoration.

"As the country grew, fine craftsmen and cabinetmakers brought more elaborate designs from England to the New World,"

"Decorative elements such as lyres, pineapples and lion claws were combined with curved lines to achieve massive proportions. The legs frequently curved outward, arms of chairs swept downward in a graceful curve."

The cockle-shell ornamental carving used to decorate the crest of chairbacks, the knee of cabriole legs and the center of drawers, distinguishes Queen Anne furniture.

"The graceful S-curve is found on chairbacks, mirrors and even tabletops," says Burak. "To complement the elegant silhouette, furniture surfaces were kept simple. Veneering and lacquers were used to add detail to the sophisticated designs."

The furniture of Queen Anne's time reflects a refinement in grace and comfort. "To provide comfort, chairbacks were shaped to contour to the body. The upholstered wing chair made its debut during this era, and is one of Pennsylvania House's most popular styles today," explains Burak.

Thomas Chippendale's style offers richly carved surfaces with gracefully proportioned curves, according to Burak. "The claw-and-ball foot, used with cabriole legs, is one of the most characteristic motifs."

"Acanthus leaves, knotted ribbons and elaborate fretwork are borrowed from the Oriental, Gothic and Queen Anne styles and incorporated into distinctive, easily identified designs."

Pennsylvania House's Philadelphia Highway is inspired by an original Chippendale design, Burak adds.

Masters of cabinetmaking and inlay, Thomas Sheraton and George Hepplewhite followed classic lines to create restrained, dignified pieces.

"Perpendicular lines and graceful sweeping curves were characteristic," says Burak. "Oval shapes, lyres and latticework were used with delicately turned legs and careful inlays and veneers. Adaptations of antique Sheraton and Hepplewhite pieces are scaled down to suit today's smaller spaces in Pennsylvania House's new 18th Century Cherry Collection."

"In addition to faithful reproductions, today's fine furniture makers combine elements of past styles to create elegant designs for the consumer that wants modern convenience with traditional beauty," concludes Burak.

NEW REFRIGERATOR BREAKS THE ICE

Giving a successful party involves juggling many ingredients. Have you invited the right mix of guests? Is the food tasty and attractively displayed? Will your ice supply hold out?

Admiral Home Appliances has introduced a refrigerator that may solve one of these major party problems. The new Party Ice makes 12 pounds of ice cubes a day, twice as much as any other refrigerator.

According to the manufacturer, Party Ice uses advanced blast freezing technology to channel super cold air from the condenser directly across the ice tray, creating a concentrated wind chill factor that makes a tray of ice in just 45 minutes and empties it into a bin. The cubes can be removed in bulk, or a glass at a time via a through-the-door dispenser.

Are you game?

RUMMY PLUS — The classic card game of rummy is combined with the unexpected twists of a board game in Rummy Rumble, a new game for two to four players, ages 10 to adult. Under $10 at discount, department, toy and variety stores.

Aquariums add beauty are fun for the whole family

BRING A LITTLE OF THE OUTDOORS, INDOORS with a colorful, lively aquarium.

A great way to add to the enjoyment of indoor living is by adding a touch of outdoors. And a home aquarium is the perfect way to bring live outdoor enjoyment and added decor to any indoor living area.

There are many positives to owning a home aquarium. First, it is always a "conversation piece" because of its attractiveness and the beauty of the fish and decorative accessories such as plants and ornaments.

Second, it is a family hobby, great for educating youngsters both in maintaining "life" and in assuming responsibility. Third, new aquarist life support equipment is noiseless and easy to maintain, making a home aquarium even more appealing.

And last, a recent study by researchers at the University of Pennsylvania proved that watching fish in an aquarium is a definite benefit in relieving stress.

How do you get started? First, you will want to locate a good dealer in your area. If you have a friend who has an aquarium, ask for a reference; otherwise, the telephone book lists most tropical fish dealers.

During your visit to a tropical fish store, you will want to get some ideas on aquarium sizes, on the equipment you will need, and look over the selection of the fish so that you can choose the ones you will want to keep. It is advisable to purchase a book that provides complete instructions on setting up and maintaining an aquarium. However, one important rule is to buy the largest aquarium practical since the greater the water environment, the less chance of water problems.

When determining where to put your aquarium, several factors should be considered. You will not want to put it in direct sunlight since this will cause algae to grow on the glass and plastic accessories.

You also may not want to put it on your best carpeting since during water changes it is possible for some water to splash on the floor. You also should be sure to put your aquarium on a firm stand since water is heavy.

After you have decided on the aquarium, your first accessory will be a tightly fitting canopy cover equipped with a fluorescent fixture. Fluorescent fixtures throw off a cool light and will not cause fluctuations in the water temperature.

While we are on the subject of the water temperature, tropical fish require an environment maintained at around 75°F (25°C). You will therefore need a good heater and an aquarium thermometer.

A recent development in this technology is the liquid crystal digital thermometer which affixes to the outside of the aquarium yet measures most accurately the water temperature.

You will also need a quality filter. Your dealer can give you proper advice since there are several types of filters and your needs will vary with the size of your aquarium. If you are going to keep a lot of fish, you will also want a separate air pump to add oxygen to the water.

Decorating an aquarium is great fun. There are multi-colored gravels, highly decorative backgrounds and hundreds of ornaments, as well as plastic plants so real in reproduction it's almost impossible to distinguish them from live plants. Most good retailers will have a complete assortment and your selection should be based on the size of your aquarium and the amount of money you decide to spend.

Once you have set up your aquarium, you should add a chlorine neutralizer to the water and add only a few fish initially. These few fish will help develop the proper biological conditions necessary to maintain a fully stocked aquarium. After three to four weeks, assuming everything is functioning properly, you can then go ahead and add the rest of the fish.

Aquarium maintenance is a lot simpler than people think. Every two weeks a partial water change (not greater than 20 percent) by siphoning the water from the bottom of the aquarium is all that is required. A device called the Hydro-Clean allows an efficient siphoning by separating the debris in the gravel and removing it with the water from the aquarium.

On a monthly basis, your filter will require minimal maintenance. That's all there is.

Following this simple routine, chances of fish disease or any other aquarium problems are remote. In fact, one of the biggest problems people have is spending too much time maintaining their aquarium.

On a daily basis, of course, fish should be fed and a good quality flake food will provide a complete diet for almost all fish.

Tropical fish are beautiful; they are easy to maintain and provide a lifetime hobby. For more information, why not write Tetra Sales, 201 Tabor Rd., Morris Plains, NJ 07950 for a free, full-color starter booklet including color illustrations and complete information on 30 popular-tropical fish.

Quiz helps you determine your decorating I.Q.

Most of us, when faced with an empty room, wonder where to start when it comes to making decorating choices. The word "decorating" imparts an aura, an alchemy to which only someone called a decorator is privy. Does it involve a mastermind stroke of genius? If most of us were to follow our inner reactions, we might find we know more about decorating than we think.

For example:

Q. Your living space is tight, so you want to create the illusion of space. You rearrange the furniture by placing

- 1) Tall and low pieces side by side.
- 2) Pieces of approximately the same height next to each other.

A: The second response is correct. Focusing the eye on similar heights is less jarring, less frantic and more calming.

Q. Your kitchen is small and gloomy. You decide to

- 1) Mirror the walls under cabinets and add colorful accessories;
- 2) Paint the walls and ceiling a chocolate brown;

3) Tile the floor gray.

A: Mirrors reflect light and so do bright colors, giving the illusion of space.

Q. You run a small business (retail/beauty/catering/babysitting, etc.) from your even smaller home/apartment. You have no separate room to devote to an office, yet paperwork is cascading all over the house. Budget considerations are important. Therefore you

- 1) Put a partition in the bedroom or den and use that area for an office;

2) Devote part of the family room to a desk area with coordinated accessories and highly organized compartments/files;

3) Decide to splurge and custom build wall units butting in a corner; after all, you might be able to take a tax deduction.

A: The second answer is inexpensive and relatively easy to accomplish. It keeps you in touch with the household while offering organization. Easily accessible files will help you store neatly and quickly. So, how do you do it?

- Create a contemporary work space by making a desktop with a wooden board or a door frame and painting it with latex paint. Or for easier cleaning, cover with self-adhesive vinyl coverings.

Two revitalized file cabinets hold the "desktop." Front drawers covered in grids alternate between horizontal and diagonal treatments for an exciting statement.

- An old chair, revived with paint, new fabric and a cushion, adds a bold touch.

- Industrial bookcases are painted a bright red.

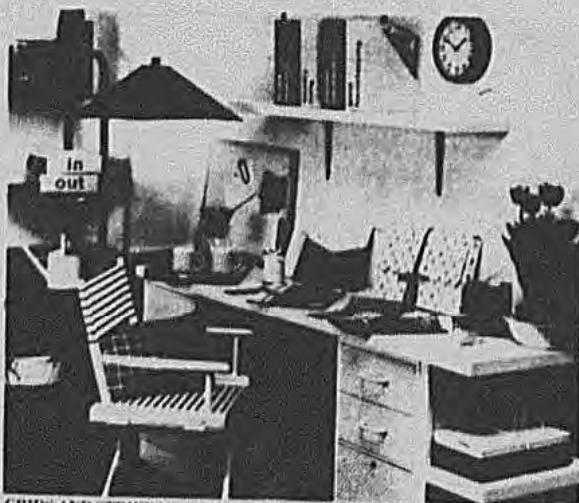

- High tech industrial lights help the eyes and look good too.

• Desktop accessories in matching grid patterns are moisture resistant, cheerful and durable. (Morning coffee wipes right off!) Make boxes into files, marking them "In/Out," "To Do" or other labels to suit your needs.

• Notebooks, desk blotters, bulletin boards and even the wastebasket can tie into the design for a truly coordinated look that is sophisticated and clean.

- Select coordinating fabrics in similar designs — stripes, checks, dots for interesting complements.

The finished work can look like a "decorator's showcase," and it's completed at a fraction of the cost!

GRIDS AND STRIPES in matching red and white work together in fabrics and Cont-Tac brand self-adhesive coverings to make a stylish, organized home office.

Two sumptuous dishes for holiday dinners, gifts

Question: What makes an elegant holiday season dinner, an original and thoughtful holiday gift, takes minutes to make and less time to clean up? Answer: Deep Dish Seafood Pie and Glazed Peach Crisp, two sumptuous and satisfying dishes that you can make in minutes by cooking in a microwave oven and browning in a conventional oven.

When prepared in cookware coated with "SilverStone" premium nonstick surface, cleanup is as easy as the pie itself. And with today's colorful assortment of ceramic, glass and plastic bakeware with "SilverStone", you can cook and serve in the same attractive dish.

Deep Dish Seafood Pie is an unusual and sophisticated entree and, when combined with aromatic Glazed Peach Crisp, it makes a well-rounded dinner of fish and fruit — hot, fragrant and festive enough for the most high-spirited get-togethers.

These elegant and easy dishes are as good to give as to make for yourself. For example, you can prepare several batches of Glazed Peach Crisp, each in a different style of bake pan with "SilverStone".

After they've cooled, wrap and present as holiday housegifts. Your friends can reheat this tantalizing dessert in minutes in their microwave oven. And be sure to include the recipe so they can make it again.

DEEP DISH SEAFOOD PIE

1 7/8 oz. can salmon or 1 cup fresh salmon, cooked
 1 1/2 cups warm milk (for more flavor use part milk and chicken stock)
 3 Tbsp. butter
 3 Tbsp. chopped leeks or onions
 1/2 cup diced celery
 3 Tbsp. flour
 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
 1 cup frozen petite peas, cooked
 1 2 oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
 1 8 oz. package refrigerated crescent rolls
 1 egg yolk
 1 Tbsp. milk

Drain and flake the salmon. In a 2 cup glass measuring cup, heat the milk (or milk-chicken stock mixture) on High power for 1 1/2 minutes in the microwave.

Melt butter in a 2 qt. round microwave dish with "SilverStone" premium nonstick surface, for 1 minute at High power. Add leeks and celery and microwave uncovered at High for 2 1/2 minutes or until tender crisp.

Blend in the flour. Add milk (or milk and chicken stock) and microwave at High power for 2 1/2 minutes. Stir and microwave another 2 1/2 minutes, or until thickened. Cook slightly and add the shredded cheese, peas, mushrooms and salt. Gently stir in the flaked salmon.

Unroll crescent roll dough and separate into triangles. Place narrow edge of each triangle against outer edge of casserole. Fold in half; place point at casserole edge.

In a small bowl beat the egg yolk with the milk, brush tops of rolls with the egg wash. Bake in preheated 400° oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the biscuits are puffed and golden. Serves: 6.

*Place 1/2 pound fresh salmon in a dish, cover with wax paper, and microwave at 50 percent power for 4 to 5 minutes.

GLAZED PEACH CRISP

1/2 cup brown sugar
 2 Tbsp. flour
 2 Tbsp. butter
 1/2 cup flaked coconut
 1/2 cup peach nectar
 2 tsp. cornstarch
 1/2 tsp. grated fresh orange peel
 1 29 oz. can peach slices, drained, or 2 cups sliced fresh peaches*

Combine brown sugar and flour; cut in butter until crumbly. Stir in coconut. Set aside.

In a 1 quart microwave casserole with "SilverStone" place the peach nectar, cornstarch and orange peel. Microwave at High power for 1 minute, stir, and microwave for an additional 30 seconds until mixture is thickened and bubbly.

Add the sliced peaches and microwave at High power for 3 minutes. Sprinkle the crumb topping over the peaches and bake uncovered in a preheated 375° oven for 8 to 10 minutes.

The topping becomes crisp as the Peach Crisp cooks. Serves: 4.

*When using fresh peaches add 1/4 cup sugar to the peach nectar, cornstarch and orange peel. Microwave at High power until thickened and bubbly. Add the sliced fresh peaches and cook for 4 to 5 minutes.

HERE ARE TWO DISHES you can give your friends and yourself. Deep Dish Seafood Pie and Glazed Peach Crisp, prepared in ceramic or glass casseroles with "SilverStone", make lasting gifts of beauty and quality nonstick convenience.

CASUAL FLORAL DESIGNS from Laura Ashley for fabrics and wallcoverings brighten a brand new, old-fashioned nursery.

"Child's play" made elegant through art of Laura Ashley

Bright sunshine, whitewash white and calico red create this old-fashioned nursery. Laura Ashley believes that bright primaries used with perky patterns invigorate a young child's mind and trigger the learning processes by creating a positive atmosphere for any youngster.

This attic nursery is a classic. The walls and ceiling are covered with "Mary-O" wallcovering in poppy red, butter yellow and apple green on white-white.

The antique hand-woven white wicker crib and high chair are swaddled with the reverse print (red background in easy-care 100 percent cotton) and for casual drapery framing a Palladian window.

The antique rocking horse from Colonial times adds a playful touch. The pictures on the wall and table are framed originals of old, hand-painted cartoons.

A decorative and practical accent touch is the antique patchwork quilt. All fabrics and wallcoverings are from Raintree Designs, creating a small world of happy memories, full of sunshine and late afternoon summer breezes.

WHEN BUYING an upholstered piece, be sure to get the best quality by first checking for these features.

Insider's guide to furniture shopping

Shopping for quality upholstered furniture requires x-ray vision. Often, an expensive fabric covers a poorly constructed frame, leaving furniture that looks terrific, but will not last.

A trained eye can detect the true value of a sofa, wing chair or ottoman by examining key elements beneath the upholstery.

The frame should be made of kiln-dried hardwood and have corner block reinforcements. Joints should be glued and double dowled. The legs should be extensions of the frame, not attached to a metal plate.

To test overall strength, lift the piece. It should be sturdy and should not creak or wobble. Apply pressure to chair arms and sofa backs to test for stability.

The spring system and cushions are other keys to the overall comfort and quality. A properly crafted spring system will ensure a resilient seat while maintaining the piece's shape. Eight-way, hand-tied construction provides exceptional durability.

Properly constructed padding will prevent springs from being felt through the upholstery. Cushions should be properly fitted into the deck of the seat. Look for polyurethane or latex foam padded cushions for ultimate comfort.

Good tailoring, like good construction, is also a sign of quality and value. Upholstery seams should be straight and tight with no puckering or loose threads. Since cushion covers should be approximately one inch smaller than the cushions, zippers ensure a tight fit.

Depending on the usage, certain fabrics will be more suitable than others. A heavy weight fabric with high stain and abrasion resistance, such as wool, is a good choice for a family room. Delicate fabrics are best used on accent pieces.

Synthetic fabrics such as polyester and nylon provide durability, so they're good for pieces that must withstand pets, children or other excessive wear. Natural fibers dye better than synthetics, but offer less stain and abrasion resistance.

In general, tightly woven, "dense" fabrics wear better than lighter weight ones, according to Hamilton. However, light-weight fabrics can be quilted for added strength and durability.

Patterned or medium-colored fabrics show less dirt than solid, light-colored fabrics, although today most fabrics have specially treated protective finishes for added soil and stain resistance.

By evaluating your particular needs and family lifestyle, and by following Hamilton's tips, you can choose suitable upholstered furniture that is not only good looking but a good value.

One sign of a fine restaurant is usually a somewhat limited menu. Not six items or sixty, but something in between. Rarely will you find this in a Chinese restaurant. Ming Garden is one of the few. And in my book, it is the finest Chinese establishment I have experienced to date on Long Island.

As soon as you are greeted by your waiter, you know you are in for an exceptional time. The service is superior. Not only do the waiters exude an air of sophistication and professionalism, but they perform their tasks — such as serving each dish at tableside — with particular grace and style.

Style is a word that also applies to the decor. A combination of mirrors, earth tones, and blocked glass covers the walls. The front of the restaurant is long windows which face the shopping plaza; the windows are complimented with track lighting. The tables are tastefully set with beige cloths and brown napkins, a color scheme which matches the oak chairs with brown, upholstered seats. The larger tables conveniently have lazy susans in the centers. The long dining room is partially segmented and one wall is lined with a sprawling banquette. There is little ornamentation other than some colorful statuettes.

As in the decor, the cuisine offered here is the most up-to-date. You can have butterfly shrimp and moo goo gai pan if you want, but the Hunan and Mandarin specialties will surely be unique to most palates.

For a pleasing change from the usual egg or spring roll, try a Hunan roll. They are filled with a finely-minced, well-seasoned mixture of meat and vegetables; the roll consists of a delicious homemade, deep-fried batter. Another different appetizer is the "tangy, spicy shrimp" — or as I like to think of it, a Chinese shrimp cocktail. A platter of fresh, chilled shrimp is served over lettuce in a sharp sauce.

Shark fin soup is available as well as mixed seafood, but I especially enjoyed the sizzling rice soup with chicken. A tureen is brought to the table filled with the broth, chicken slices, mushrooms, snow pea pods, and other vegetables. To this is added the "sizzling" rice which dutifully makes a lot of noise. It's a hearty, soothing soup.

I hesitated about ordering the "Mandarin shrimp" when I noticed the words "sweet and sour sauce" were a part of the description of the dish. Well, this dish should be used as a universal example of what "sweet and sour" should always be. The sauce was thin, light, and a natural orange color (not fire engine red). And, so delicious. The succulent shrimp have a paper thin, crispy coating that has absorbed the flavors of the ingredients with which the shrimp have been sauteed, red wine, a moderate amount of garlic, an equally light touch of ginger, and scallions. I would go back to Ming Garden many times over, just for these shrimp.

The exalted beef is rightly exalted. Good, sliced filet is sauteed until just medium rare to medium, with snow pea pods, bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, and black mushrooms. The sauce is spicy but not terribly hot.

For dessert, try another delicacy — fried ice cream. Balls of vanilla and chocolate ice cream have been rolled with a bit of sponge cake, then dipped in a fresh, rich batter. While still frozen they are deep-fried. The balls are presented drizzled with chocolate sauce, piping hot outside, just thawing inside.

And the coup de grace? Everything, as a matter of routine, is prepared without MSG.

Baby-proofing tips for parents

CHOOSING SAFE AND STURDY TOYS is an essential step in "baby-proofing" a home. To provide for a young child's safety and well being, it is important to select playthings that are safe, durable and appropriate to the child's age and dexterity.

Every parent knows the importance of taking special safety precautions when there are infants or children in the household. "Baby-proofing" the home is an essential process, and proper safety precautions at home should begin before baby arrives.

Home safety

One first step is to purchase electrical plug covers and cabinet locks, such as those in the Safety Set manufactured by Gerber Products Company. This kit includes safety door latches and cabinet locks to keep children out of places where dangerous household products are stored, safety wall plugs that form a protective barrier to keep the child from inserting objects into electrical outlets, and a night light that gives enough light to reassure baby and provide visibility for parents.

Car safety tips

Safety is important in the family car as well. As early as the first ride home from the hospital, auto safety precautions should be taken. Almost all child auto accident deaths and injuries can be prevented through the proper and consistent use of a child safety seat.

In case of an accident, a car safety seat restrains the child and helps distribute the force of the crash. A properly-used car seat can save a child's life.

Experts at Century Products Company, a subsidiary of Gerber Products Company and the manufacturer of Century Car Seats, offer the following tips on the proper use of car seats for infants and toddlers:

- Check to make sure the date of manufacture is January 1, 1981, or later; all seats manufactured after this date meet federal safety standards.

- Look for the words "dynamically tested," indicating the car seat has been tested to withstand a crash.

- Install and use the car seat according to instructions which must be provided by law. The effectiveness of car seats depends on correct use.

- Transport infants weighing less than 20 pounds in a rear-facing car seat. Place the car seat in the back seat, which is the safest location.

- Children weighing more than 20 pounds can be safely placed in a forward-facing car seat, held securely by a five-point safety harness that consists of shoulder straps, a lap belt and a crotch strap.

- Strap children who weigh more than 40 pounds into an adult seat belt, making sure the belt fits snugly over the child's hips and rests against his or her thighs.

- Set an example for the child and wear your seat belt consistently and properly.

Tips on toys

Safety is a major factor to consider when buying toys for an infant or young child. With the wide variety of toys available today, it is essential to select playthings that are safe, durable and appropriate to the child's age and dexterity.

To choose safe and sturdy toys, make sure the item is not too advanced for the child. For example, a mechanical toy with removable parts may be perfect for a seven-year-old, but an infant might choke on the small objects.

Infants and toddlers, who like to handle and chew their toys, should be given rubber toys that are too large to swallow. Children also like to cuddle soft toys and stuffed animals, so these items should be checked for parts that could easily be ingested.

Finally, it is important to help a child avoid unnecessary falls when he is beginning to learn to crawl and walk. Gates at the tops and bottoms of staircases should be installed as soon as the child begins to crawl. The use of throw rugs should be avoided, as they can cause slips.

Through adequate preparation and by following these simple safety guidelines, parents can be assured that they are helping to prevent accidents as well as providing for their child's well-being.

Add pizzazz to doors and windows with new options in designer glass

Designer glass is fast becoming a popular alternative to curtains, blinds, shades and shutters as homeowners discover the beauty of beveled and multicolored glass designs for windows and doors.

"Homeowners often opt for designer glass because it represents a permanent fixture - a decorative investment which increases the home's value and gives immediate enjoyment at the same time," notes Barry Rupp, president of Stained Glass Overlay, Inc., Costa Mesa, CA - a leader in the designer glass industry, with more than 200 franchises worldwide.

Never before has the elegance of stained glass been so available and versatile. Now, homeowners throughout the world are enjoying intricate, colorful designer glass to complement any room's interior design scheme - whether contemporary, traditional or Art Deco.

Because it allows designs so intricate, homeowners are taking advantage of patented overlay - with its limitless color selection - to coordinate their total design themes.

They find they can mix or match window decor with fabrics, wallpaper or floor covering patterns. They can even duplicate a family crest, a monogram, a special photograph or a treasured art piece.

Though Stained Glass Overlay's designer glass has been on the market for many years, its benefits were not fully recognized until it came to the attention of the building industry - about mid 1984.

The seamless construction of overlay allows builders and homeowners to use decorative glass in places never before considered, without the worry of water damage or the loss of cooled or heated air.

Overlay meets or exceeds safety and security requirements set by current building codes and is especially appropriate for exterior windows, doors and skylights. Colorful designs are applied directly to tempered, safety or dual paneled glass to dress up front entries, sidelights, shower doors, patio doors and room dividers.

In addition to multicolored designer glass, more and more designers are using handcrafted, fully-leaded beveled glass in doors and entryway sidelights across the country. The beveled glass surfaces reflect prisms of light to brilliantly enhance any

One versatile, easy-to-make cookie recipe feeds them all!

Here's a cookie recipe that's so versatile it will fit almost every baking need and so easy that you can have a kitchen full of cookies in a single afternoon.

It's from Du Pont, maker of "SilverStone" premium nonstick surface.

Lace wafers are delicious little cookie thins with a delightful brown sugar flavor. They're simple to prepare and, when made on cookie sheets with "SilverStone", they slide right off the tray — no broken bits or pieces.

As for versatility — just look at some of the ways you can vary the lace wafer recipe for different tasty treats:

- Add unsweetened cocoa and you have chocolate lace wafers.

- Toss in chopped candied fruit for a sweet, fruity taste.

- Sandwich melted chocolate between two wafers for a Florentine treat that's an Italian delight.

- Roll still-warm wafers into cones or tubes and dip into melted chocolate or fill with whipped cream.

- Press warm wafers over upside-down muffin pan cups to form lace cups that you can fill with ice cream or fruit.

LACE WAFERS

1 cup sifted flour
1 cup finely chopped almonds
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup margarine
1 tsp. vanilla

Stir together flour and almonds. In a 1-quart saucepan with "SilverStone" premium nonstick surface, stir together corn syrup, brown sugar and margarine.

Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in flour mixture. Stir in vanilla.

Drop mixture by scant teaspoonsful onto cookie sheets with "SilverStone", 3 inches apart. Bake in 350°F oven 6 to 8 minutes or until lightly browned and bubbly.

Cool on cookie sheet on wire rack, 1 to 2 minutes, or until cookies are set and slide off cookie sheet.

Remove from cookie sheet with rubber or plastic spatula. Cool cookies completely on wire rack, covered with paper towel. Store in tightly-covered container.

Makes about 6 dozen.

Note: Finely chopped pecans or walnuts may be substituted for almonds.

Chocolate lace wafers: Follow recipe for lace wafers. Reduce flour to ¾ cup. Sift ¼ cup unsweetened cocoa with flour.

Florentines: Follow recipe for lace wafers. Melt 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Spread melted chocolate on smooth side of 1 cookie and top with plain cookie, face-side out.

Makes about 2½ dozen.

Rolled lace wafers: After removing cookies from cookie sheet, place several cookies lace-side down on cookie sheet. Heat in 350°F oven 2 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet, one at a time, and roll up lace-side out. Cool on a wire rack.

If desired, melt 2 squares (1 ounce each) semi-sweet chocolate; dip one end of each cookie into chocolate. Let stand until chocolate is set.

For the special niece or nephew, wrap plain lace wafers in a brightly colored box; tie with a big ribbon and attach a small toy tie.

For those with a more sophisticated palate, fill a calico-lined basket with a variety of rolled, sandwiched and dipped lace wafers. A canister of tea nestled in the basket will complete the ingredients for the perfect winter afternoon tea party.

The "chocoholics" you know will love a giant tin box filled to the top with chocolate lace wafers. You can include the cookie sheet with "SilverStone" and recipe for a gift that makes clean-up a breeze.

This winter, why not bake something special for the people you love? With lace wafers you'll have the perfect winter pick-me-up for everyone.

Be choosy when buying kids' clothes

When it comes to buying back-to-school clothing, it pays to be choosy. As a parent, it's important not only to be aware of kids' fashion preferences but to shop for quality and value as well.

Here are some tips from Tina Betesh, co-founder and designer of Choozie Wear, Inc., a fashion line of boyswear (toddlers through size 7) and Choogo (size 8 and up):

- Take your youngsters shopping with you whenever possible. Even young children have definite preferences and favorite colors. Buying something you think your child will like (or just because it's on sale), is no bargain if the child refuses to wear it.

- If a child is set on purchasing something you don't feel is suitable, try to find out what it is the child likes about it, such as trim, sleeves, material, etc. Then, try and gently steer the child to another garment that has some of the same "favorite" touches.

- Be a quality-conscious shopper. A "bargain" that falls apart after a few washings or wearings is no money-saver. To scrutinize workmanship, turn the garment inside out.

- In selecting clothing for back-to-school, make sure that clothes fit comfortably. Armholes and waistbands should be non-restrictive.

- If possible, try the garment on your child before making your purchase.

LET'S FACE IT, the younger set can be choosy about their clothing! Like adults, they love good looking clothes that are high in comfort. These denim outfits with quilted knee pockets from Choozie Wear are just the ticket for the younger set.

CLOWNS, BEARS and "alphabet soup" letters come in self-adhesive vinyl coverings to delight children and decorate a room, making it easier to wipe up spills and fingerprints.

Protect and decorate kid's rooms

If you have a little Picasso in the family who uses the walls as a canvas, or a budding chef whose countertop is the carpet, it's time to "child-proof" the room! There isn't a parent alive who doesn't know the frustration of trying to get crayon off the wall, fingerpaint from a desktop or cookies out of the rug.

Without stifling the creativity and energy of little artists, you can help protect a child's room with today's easy-care materials.

- Use washable, non-toxic wall paints.
- Use plastic laminate furnishings rather than natural wood.
- Carpets should be stain resistant and washable. Cotton rag rugs are washable and many wool rugs can be treated with a silicone-based spray. Most new soft synthetic rugs are mildew and water resistant.

- Decorate and help protect window shades, bulletin boards, room dividers, trunks, picture frames, unpainted furniture or old items from the attic with colorful coverings that wipe clean easily.

Use the scraps from self-adhesive coverings to cover chair rails, window trim, light switches and other areas frequented by little fingers to minimize cleaning chores.

A little preparation and planning with easy-to-clean materials can save time throughout the year.

Complement holiday menus with delectably different condiments

Stuff the turkey, bake the pumpkin pie — it's time to get ready for this season's favorite feasts. Specialties like condiments seem to round out the meal. They add a touch of elegance to turkey, pork roast and ham.

Condiments are not as difficult to prepare as you may think. With a flavorful ingredient, such as "V-8" Vegetable Juice, it's easy to make Homemade Apple Pecan Chutney.

This delicate accompaniment is a sweet and spicy preserve. The sweetness comes from juicy apples and golden raisins, the spiciness from vegetable juice. Pecans are stirred in after cooking and the chutney is poured into jars and then topped with paraffin to store.

1 can (12 ounces) "V-8" Vegetable Juice
3/4 cups sugar
3 cups chopped apples
1 cup chopped golden raisins
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 pouch (3 ounces) liquid fruit pectin
1/2 cup chopped pecans

1. In 4-quart saucepan, combine all ingredients except pectin and nuts. Over high heat, bring to full boil; boil 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

2. Stir in pectin; boil rapidly 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

3. Stir in nuts. Stir to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit (about 10 minutes).

4. Ladle into hot sterilized jars. Cover with 1/8-inch hot paraffin. Makes 6 cups.

JOHN AITKEN, right, and Kae Morrison, left, president and vice-president of "Agent 911" Educational Products, Inc., show Kimi Tribble, Donnie Murphy and Tracey Court a positive, fun way to learn safety rules, as "Agent 911" looks on. "Don't Talk To Strangers" is being distributed nationally by AppleStreet, Inc., and is designed to retail for about $10.00.

Increasingly, child crisis centers and missing children's hotlines and posters are helping parents know what to do when tragedy strikes. But what can people do to help prevent vulnerable youngsters from being abducted or becoming victims of senseless accidents?

A new children's safety board game helps kids learn to protect themselves in real-life emergency situations. The innovative game, "Don't Talk to Strangers," is geared to children ages four to eight, but is relevant to all members of the family.

The game features "Agent 911," a friendly-looking dog whose name refers to the emergency 911 telephone number used in many cities nationwide. The game is won by the first player to arrive home by correctly answering safety questions and moving around the board on a path that depicts through video arcades, shopping malls and parks.

The game contains more than 100 questions and answers — yes/no, multiple choice and fill-in-the-blank — that relate primarily to preventing the abduction of children by strangers.

These include such questions as, "A nice stranger says 'Your daddy is hurt. He told me to come get you.' What will you do?" and "A stranger comes to your front door when you are home alone. What should you do?" Other questions help children establish basic safety awareness rules at school, home and during play.

Promotes family communication

To be played by two to six children, along with a parent or adult, the game provides a positive, fun way for parents and youngsters to address sensitive issues and set safety guidelines, explains John Aitken, one of the game's creators. The game also promotes family communication and learning.

Aitken developed "Don't talk To Strangers" to stop the need for "Missing Children" posters and, he hopes, to prevent even one child from being pictured on them. With an estimated two million children missing annually, he feels it is extremely important for parents and teachers to review and establish child safety awareness rules at an early age.

The "science" of stain removal: A new approach helps solve an old problem

Although many of the fabrics available today were invented to make our lives easier, the vast array of synthetics and blends can cause confusion when it comes to cleaning. What is effective for removing stains on cotton, for example, could be ineffective on synthetics.

However, stain removal is much easier once the nature of staining is understood, according to Bob Shuck, Senior Research Chemist for the General Electric Washing Sciences Unit. "It is important to understand the properties of the staining agent and how it interacts with specific fibers, in order to know how to best remove it," Mr. Shuck says.

There are two physical categories of stains: Liquids, such as oily stains, and particulate soils, such as dirt or mud. Each combines with fibers in a unique way, depending as much on the type of fiber as on the type of stain.

Certain fibers trap dirt

For example, cotton fibers have cracks and crevices that provide perfect places for particulate soils to be trapped and held.

Mechanical energy, such as heavy, directed agitation, is the most effective way to remove these stains, as opposed to a high detergent concentration, such as a pre-wash treatment.

But synthetic fibers, such as polyester, nylon and acrylic, are smooth and therefore particulate soils do not readily attach to them. Those types of stains are generally not a problem with these modern fabrics.

Dissolving oily stains

But oily stains, like makeup or cooking oil, are difficult to remove because oils tend to penetrate the synthetic fiber and bond to the fabric. Water cannot penetrate the surface and therefore cannot displace the stain. Research has shown that the best way to remove oily stains in synthetics is with a high detergent concentration to break the bond.

Through this knowledge of the chemistry and mechanics needed to remove soil, the opportunity was identified for a high detergent concentration washer to effectively remove spots and stains.

A regular washer already had the high energy necessary for the mechanical action needed to remove particulate soil, but was unable to achieve the necessary high detergent concentrations without using excessive amounts of detergent or creating oversudsing problems.

GE has recently introduced a new washing machine it considers to be the most significant innovation in home laundry in more than a decade. The washer, called Spotscrubber™, uses a normal wash load of detergent, but concentrates it at levels six to 10 times normal strength by limiting the amount of water used to 1½ gallons.

A gentle, sloshing action sends soiled clothes through the concentrated detergent solution. A double rinse cycle then removes detergent and soil.

Additional hints

The stain removal guide below, prepared by the General Electric technical staff, offers advice on the best ways to remove the most common stains from many types of washable fabrics.

Advice for winning the war on grime

For those who are losing the war against tough laundry stains, General Electric Company may have come to the rescue with this new Spotscrubber™ clothes washer. The Spotscrubber washer is designed to remove stubborn spots and stains automatically — possibly eliminating the need for scrubbing or pre-wash treatment.

How does it work? The Spotscrubber washer's secret lies in simple but innovative technology. GE found a way to concentrate detergent strength in the washer six to 10 times greater than usual without using any more detergent than normal.

A Mini-Basket™ Tub, designed to fit over the agitator and hold about two pounds of stained garments, is filled with 1½ gallons of water instead of nine to 15 gallons for a regular washer load. When a normal amount of detergent is added, this makes a concentration six to 10 times more potent than normal.

A gentle sloshing motion assures even very delicate garments are effectively cleaned. After the wash cycle, a double rinse thoroughly flushes away detergent and soil.

"The Spotscrubber washer is not only the first washer to make a difference in the war against stains," says Bob Reid, General Manager for laundry products at GE. "It helps save money, too. By helping to remove 'impossible' stains, the Spotscrubber washer helps rescue clothes otherwise doomed for the trash. Also, consumers can save money on pre-wash formulas."

The Spotscrubber washer works with any detergent, liquid or powder, and can be used with any pre-wash formula.

Mr. Reid, General Manager for laundry products at GE, says GE wanted to design a machine to eliminate much of wash-day drudgery. "Up to now, stain-removal has usually been addressed by a lot of 'elbow grease' or expensive pre-wash treatments," he added. "We consider the Spotscrubber washer to be the most significant improvement in home laundry in more than a decade."

GE developed the washer because research showed stain removal was the number one home laundry problem. And, since research also showed many people believe detergents and pre-wash treatments are the most important factor in removing stains, GE seized the opportunity to answer a consumer need. "In essence, consumers challenged us to show them something new, so we did," Mr. Reid said.

Two Spotscrubber washer models are being shipped to appliance stores throughout the country. Both provide a full spectrum of washing flexibility, from large loads of regular wash to smaller loads of delicate items, to those with tough stains. This three-way action is exclusive to GE.

Notes: CAUTION: Because cleaning fluids tend to be toxic, be sure you are in a well ventilated room when using them. No cleaning fluid should be used unless user is familiar with the limitations and required cautions (usually printed on label). Use extreme caution with flammable compounds. Do not mix chlorine bleach with ammonia or acids such as vinegar and/or rust remover. Mixing can produce a toxic gas which may cause death. Under no circumstance should fabrics containing flammable materials (waxes, cleaning fluids, etc.) be washed in water.
Stain Removal Hint: If a stain remains on white and bleachable fabrics, mix ½ cup chlorine bleach with one gallon cool water (80°F) in a sink or pan. Soak stained area for 5 minutes and launder in washer.

There is lots more to paint than meets the eye

Since 1886, the Statue of Liberty has stood as a symbol of our nation's freedom. But years of harsh weather and salt air have taken their toll on "The Lady."

Corrosion has damaged the iron structure of the Statue, making it unsafe for tourism and threatening its existence. But with the help of the paint and coatings industry, the Statue is being restored.

The paint and coatings industry is using a special latex inorganic zinc to coat the interior of the Statue. This coating is one of many others that are at work protecting your car, bicycle and outdoor furniture and equipment.

The finish on your outdoor investments must be doubly strong to resist summer heat, winter cold, sleet, snow, rain and mud that can shorten the life of your purchases.

Outdoor finishes require a different maintenance program than their indoor counterparts. The experts at the National Paint and Coatings Association offer these tips to keep your exterior surfaces looking their best, and lasting longer, no matter where you live.

THE FINISH on this 1985 station wagon provides protection as well as color and beauty.

- Touch up scratches promptly before they begin to rust, with kits available at your car dealer or local auto supply store.

Bicycles

Leaving your bike out in the rain or throwing it in the back seat of your car can actually damage your bike's protective coating. Caring for the coating on your bicycle is just as important to preserving its life as caring for the finish on your automobile.

And, keeping your bike in tip-top shape is simple:

- Keep the bike clean by washing with a toothbrush and mild cleanser. Avoid harsh detergents which will scratch the bike's surface.

- Treat your bike with respect. Don't throw it up against trees or in the back seat of your car.

- Frequency of waxing depends on the climate in which you live. Salt and moisture from the sea air will damage the coating on your bike just as much as salt, slush and dirt from winter roads.

So, if you live near the coastline, or ride

Automobiles

Your car is one of the biggest purchases you will make in your lifetime, so of course you want it to look its best and last longer. By preserving its finish now, you can keep it looking like new and rust-free for years to come.

The condition of the original finish is a telltale sign to car dealers of the condition of the body and whether or not the car has been involved in any accidents. A well-maintained finish can actually increase your car's resale value.

Below are some tips to help you maintain that original finish:

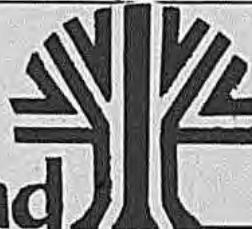

- Chips and nicks inevitably develop over the course of a few years. Salt and moisture can get into these nicks and cause rust. Experts recommend washing the car right away to remove salt and moisture from around moldings and areas susceptible to rust.

- Wax at least twice a year to provide a barrier between paint and harsh environmental conditions. Apply long-lasting hard paste wax in a circular motion with a soft cloth for best results.

THE PROTECTIVE FINISH on this classic Bowden bicycle has been well preserved with proper maintenance.

Painted blocks: A subtly wonderful way with color

Looking for a unique way to add warmth and color to a room in the house? The National Paint and Coatings Association suggests a new and innovative painting technique that is subtly compelling and can complement a multitude of interior design schemes.

The room pictured has been painted by professional artist Eugene Petreault of Maryland, in lightly colored brown and beige blocks.

First, the wall was marked off into horizontal and vertical rows with  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch masking tape. The vertical rows for the blocks were staggered, so that the painted surface achieves the architectural reality of a stone wall.

Next, different strengths of a variety of colors were mixed, including rose, taupe and several shades of brown, from a coffee shade to a creamy beige. Each color was put into a separate pot. One at a time, the colors were lightly dabbed onto the wall with a clean, lint-free rag.

After the application of each color, the wall was allowed to dry thoroughly. Then, the tape was removed, and the white lines between the blocks, both vertical and horizontal, were painted in.

The result is a beautiful wall space that dramatically enhances the furniture and furnishings in the room.

SUBTLY COLORFUL, faux stone walls add a beautiful dimension to this living room.

Input Callers Believe U.S. Right InPlaneInterception

Most callers to Input believe the interception of the Egyptian plane carrying four terrorists was justified in answer to this question: "Do you think that President Reagan did the right thing in having the Egyptian plane intercepted to apprehend the hijackers?" Here are some of the answers:

RIGHT THING

Yes, President Reagan did the only right thing possible in bringing back the four terrorists who were on their way to freedom and probably to boasting how they had made the world jump through hoops. It was unthinkable that either Egypt or Italy would want to let this group go free. But it is understandable if you know that the decision was made before the murder of Leon Klinghoffer was known.

CAN'T ALLOW TERRORISTS

It seems almost naive to believe that the U.S. did something wrong in stopping four suspected murderers from receiving free asylum from the crimes they committed aboard the cruise ship. They murdered a man and wrecked vacation dreams for hundreds of people for no valid reason. We cannot allow this to happen again and it appears that hijackers will not have it harder from here on in.

F.E.

LEADER ESCAPED

The only thing I can see wrong with it is that Italy allowed Mohammed Abbas to go free before checking thoroughly to see if he was involved in the hijacking. Later information seems to confirm that he was involved and in fact may have been the leader of the group. If we could have had help from Italy on this it would have been better than just letting him go.

V.M.

U.S. WAS RIGHT

It is sometimes difficult to understand critics who want to hold the U.S. to the letter of international law while accepting terrorist attacks that violate all laws of human decency. We knew very well that if the Egyptian plane had not been made to land that we would have no chance to apprehend these four terrorists. After they murdered one man and threatened others they did not deserve asylum. They deserve trial and if guilty, a conviction. The U.S. was right for once.

J.T.

NO TIME TO NEGOTIATE

Generally I would say that the U.S. should not have been flexing muscles at small countries but after finding out that the four had murdered an American citizen I cannot see any thing at all wrong with bringing those four to justice. There was no time to negotiate. In a few hours the chance would be gone. President Reagan did the only thing possible and I agree with the interception.

J.F.

TIME TO ANSWER

This is the first time in many years that the U.S. has made it plain to the world that our government intends to protect its citizens. None of the passengers on the cruise ship had anything to do with complaints by Arabs. They should have been left to enjoy their cruise. Instead this band of four decided to make world headlines and perhaps be as famous as the hijackers at Athens airport. This time they will have to answer for their deeds.

NO APOLOGIES

Until now, our post-mortem reactions to acts of terrorism have carried no conviction whatever. Our official response to the suicidal demolition of the U.S. Embassy annex last year did nothing to make terrorists individually, collectively or governmentally rue their deed or decide to refrain from similar acts of violence in the future. We certainly couldn't be proud of the Iran hostage fiasco and the PLO antics initiated or condoned by Yasir Arafat have been a complete farce from the standpoint of our reaction to the public utterances of this king of terrorists. And, all of a sudden we find on center-stage the hijacking of the Italian liner Achille Lauro by PLO terrorists who threaten to blow up the ship and execute one passenger after another if their demands were not met winding up by murdering one American passenger and threatening a number of other U.S. nationals on board. The sad thing is that the rest of the world gets highly indignant if we don't resort to international law in prosecuting and settling a case of this kind and we know well in advance that we would be left holding the bag with world opinion highly unfavorable to us no matter what we did to obtain justice. Too long have we permitted our cautious diplomacy to mess up our sense of justice and fair play and in corresponding action. So many times have we said that we abhor terrorism and threatened to take corrective action and so many times it has been just a bunch of meaningless words. This time, we decided the moment had arrived to throw caution to the winds and to take immediate action to fit the crime as we felt it affected our interests and prestige regardless of the sensitivity of other involved nations. Our diversion and capture of the Egyptian plane with the terrorists on board fully deserves our utmost support regardless of the feelings of Egypt and Italy and our determination to relentlessly pursue the guerrilla ringleader Mohammed Abbas can only be applauded. If the leaders of the nations which have been the victims of constant attack by terrorists can't see the rectitude of this determination and hasten to support it, they haven't got the foggiest notion of what is really going on in the world. We owe no apologies - we should be proud!

Oh Where Have All The Goblins Gone?

By Gloria Roberts

Once again, as Halloween approaches we prepare for what in prior years seemed to be hundreds of "Trick or Treaters" ringing our doorbells from mid-morning until well past dark, but now we ask: "Oh Where Have All the Goblins Gone?"

Halloween which once represented the lighting of bonfires on hilltops in honor of the sun god has gone through a massive evolution within the past ten years. It was once a night when youngsters believed witches rode through the skies on broomsticks and danced on hilltops with goblins and black cats. Branches of Ash and Juniper were placed at stable doors to keep the witches from killing the animals and children were sure they saw strange shadows as the burning harvest moon lit up the sky.

Jack O'Lanterns were named for a man called Jack, who played practical jokes on the devil and was not permitted into the gates of heaven, and it was said he must walk the earth with his lantern until the Day of Judgment.

In suburbia, not that many years ago, children anticipated Halloween with great fervor, planning their costumes, parties and "trick or treating" groups months in advance. Decorated bags were filled with assorted candies, nuts and fruits. There were even a few ambitious mothers who made jelly apples. Classroom parties and plays were given at the schools and the holiday was truly a child's delight.

UNICEF collecting was encouraged as a project to help the children of the United Nations, and the cartons were carefully assembled as each child embarked from house to house with his/her "Trick or Treat" bag and UNICEF container. The pennies, nickels and dimes collected helped supply milk and health services for thousands of needy children.

The years past, the goblins dwindled and finally last year, disappeared. "Oh Where Have All the Goblins Gone?" The worries have changed and the old warnings of carrying a flashlight rather than a candle; being careful when crossing; making sure costumes were not made of flammable materials and masks did not hinder sight are no longer our prime concerns. As parents, it isn't enough that we accompany our children on their special outing, we must be concerned about harmful foreign objects being placed in edibles as the media is each year filled with stories of the horrors of Halloween rather than the mystery and the joy.

Perhaps this Halloween will be the start of one that will return the safety, fun and joy to this special day as we, the parents, become more determined in our fight to guarantee the safety of our children in the future and tomorrow we won't have to ask "Oh Where Have All the Goblins Gone?"

FINE RESTAURANT

A fine small Italian Restaurant that turns out good food is what we found at the Italian Garden Restaurant last week.

This good storefront type restaurant has excellent veal and fine shrimp scampi. Last week we went there for dinner and found that it's a cordial, fine place to eat in a restful atmosphere. The service is fast and efficient. The quality is as good and sometimes better than the best restaurants around. The Italian Garden is in a shopping center at 348 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola. It is a restaurant that all your readers should visit. They will like it and the cost is not high. E.R.

READER RATINGS

Q What do you do with the wrapper on a lump of sugar when you are dining out in a restaurant? Do you put it on the tablecloth, in the saucer of your cup, or in the ash tray? A.M. A. This is one of those things for which there is no real rule. You just use common sense. I would say put it on the tablecloth, for if you put it in the ash tray it may start a fire, and if you put it in your saucer it may cause the cup to tip over when you put it back in the saucer.

Q Whenever I go to a restaurant with my husband, the waiter usually brings us to our table, then pulls out just one chair. Why does he do this?

A. The waiter is picking out what he considers to be a choice seat, either because it faces the room, or has a view, or is out of the stream of traffic. The woman takes this seat, unless for some reason she expresses her preference for another.

Q. Have you any tips for parents who take their children to restaurants? These experiences can be hectic, but I feel they are a necessary part of the youngsters' training.

A. Why not pick a restaurant that features children's menus. Avoid places with gourmet food and elaborate service. Choose meals with a few courses as possible. Select foods you know children like—but they are excited and restless, so do not expect them to finish everything on their plates.

Never let children run around the restaurant in between courses and, please, let them enjoy themselves without harping on table manners. Eating out should be fun...for everyone in the family.

Q. How much should wine stewards be tipped?

A. A 15% tip based on the wine bill would be correct when wine is personally served by the steward at the table.

Q. What is the proper way to dispose of sugar and straw wrappers?

A. It is never a good idea to crumble these items in an ash tray because of the danger of fire. Perhaps they could be tucked neatly under the edge of the bread and butter plate or the dinner plate.

Q. After finishing a meal at a good restaurant I had an experience that could have been avoided by the restaurant. When I offered a particular credit card the waiter said that they did not honor that card. I did not have another and barely had enough money to pay in cash. Shouldn't the restaurant have told us in advance which credit cards they accept?

A. Not exactly. You should have inquired in advance if you did not see a decal of the card you had on display. They really have no way of knowing what card you have and it is an accommodation to you that the cards are accepted so you should have borne the responsibility.

TOTAL JOY

The other day some friends and I visited the restaurant in Williston Park called Your Place or Mine. To my surprise, I was astonished at the beautiful way they decorated the restaurant. It gives you a feeling of intimacy and is a perfect place to do business. The meals and service were excellent. I found the place to be a total, total joy and the cuisine was some of the finest around and the prices are extremely reasonable. I recommend this place for people who would like to have a relaxing evening and I recommend it for the local business people because it's ideal for conducting business.

A.S.

Q. Recently when four of us were dining out, two married couples, one of the husbands left the table for a few minutes. The remaining husband, left with his wife and the wife of the other, lit the cigarette first of his wife's friend, then of his own. His wife felt that as her escort he should have lit her cigarette first. Which is correct.

R.T.

A. As one woman was left alone, the husband and wife remaining are, in effect, her host and hostess for the moment. Therefore, it was correct for the remaining husband to light the guest's cigarette first, then his wife's.

Should the man give the order to the waiter when he is with a woman?

For many years it had been customary for the man in his role as head of the table, to give the complete order to the waiter. Others in the party would relay the message to him and he would give it to the waiter. But recently the trend is away from this. The waiter will go around to the various diners and take their order directly. Besides the recent changes brought about by equality of the sexes, many waiters say that they would rather do it that way because it minimizes the possibility of mistakes which are in the long run expensive for the restaurant.

When do you need a reservation in a restaurant?
The answer to this question is not one that can be decided for all restaurants. But generally it is a smart move to phone the restaurant before going to it in the evening. In this way the closing times can be ascertained even if the restaurant says that you do not need a reservation. It is almost always necessary to phone a restaurant in the evening if you are bringing a party of more than four even to restaurants that do not normally require reservations.

WELL RECOMMENDED

We happened to be going by Ben's Kosher Restaurant on Northern Boulevard and Glen Cove Road in Greenvale last week and remembered that it was one of the restaurants recommended in your Discovery.

At first we thought that it was not going to be what we wanted but then after we were inside it became clear that Ben's is the whole thing, just as it used to be in those famous restaurant delicatessans that are now out of business in New York City. You can get anything from a sandwich to a full meal and the members of our group did all of that. To recite what we all had would be impossible but let it suffice to say that we were well pleased and recommend Ben's. E.M.B.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

Laurine Murphy's still comes up with a great dinner when you go there. Last week four of us made the mistake of going to Laurine Murphy's on Saturday evening without a reservation and at first we were a little annoyed that we would have to wait.

But everyone agreed after the meal that it was well worth the short wait. The food and gracious service is almost out of this world and this is backed up with a strolling orchestra to make the night something special. We recommend Laurine Murphy's. E.R.

LITTLE BUT GOOD

I think of all the restaurants you have listed that the small, but nice, BoMont's in Williston Park is the best. This little brightly decorated restaurant features some of the very best food you can find anywhere. They have steaks and they have special dishes every day. Very often we go there for lunch and I can truly say that I have always had good food, sociability and a lot of fun at BoMont's. Tell your readers about this good place. H.R.

Nero had the right idea.

Almost 2,000 years ago, the Roman emperor sent fleets of slaves into the mountains to fetch snow and ice which were then flavored with nectar, fruit pulp and honey.

Today's dessert lovers have gone far beyond flavored snow, preferring instead dense, heavy ice creams, high butterfat content, and such trendy flavors as Mango Cream, Tequila Sundown and Jack Daniels Chocolate.

And Americans are eating more ice cream now than ever before. According to the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, Americans slurped up 4 gallons of ice cream and sherbet per person in 1984.

In keeping with this national passion for pralines 'n' cream and cassis ice, the smart host might consider staging a festive ice cream social.

It can be a simple affair. Let guests create their own masterpieces from two or three flavors of ice cream, a couple of sauce toppings and a half-dozen garnishes.

Sauces can include the perennial favorites, hot fudge and hot butter-scotch, as well as black cherry, burnt honey and chunky mar-malade. Puree some ripe fruit and berries. Melt a chopped Milky Way bar in a bowl over simmering water.

Offer chopped nuts, shredded coconut, grated or chopped semisweet chocolate, cocoa, crushed peppermint candies, crushed ginger cookies, macaroons and meringues as the trimmings.

The event can take on a sophisticated, nouvelle tone with homemade gelati (dense, intensely flavored Italian-style ice cream).

Center a sunburst of multiflavored mini-scoops with fresh fruits, sprigs of fresh mint and a splash of fruity liqueur.

HOMEMADE ICE CREAM can be made in the many electric and hand-cranked machines available in department stores today. It can also be frozen in baking pans, but the cook must take care to periodically stir it to maintain the desired consistency.

The ice cream social need not be a diet-defying idea. Bright-tasting sorbets made from fresh fruit puree are simple to make, refreshing and delicious.

Most fruits (use only ripe, unblemished fruit) can be easily pureed in a blender or food processor. Fruits and berries that have small seeds should then be strained.

If the sorbet is to be simply frozen in a pan in the freezer, it should be beaten occasionally with an electric mixer as it hardens. An egg white, beaten until soft peaks form and folded into the mixture, will also improve the texture.

Liqueurs and spirits can be used to enhance the flavor and texture of ices. The alcohol will prevent the mixture from freezing too hard.

Before serving a fruit sorbet, transfer it from freezer to refrigerator for about 20 minutes to allow to soften slightly.

Sundaes, shakes and parfaits, banana splits, snowballs and bombs ... these recipes provide the makings for a festive and refreshing party.

WHITE CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

4 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1/2 lb. white chocolate, chopped
1/4 cups cream, whipped
2 tbsps. Cointreau (optional)

Grated bitter chocolate, for decoration

Put egg yolks and sugar in bowl and beat until thick and light. Pour milk into heavy-based saucepan and heat to just below simmering point. Beat milk into egg yolks, and return mixture to rinsed pan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens to custard consistency. Remove from heat.

Put chocolate into bowl over pan of hot water, and stir in custard. When chocolate has melted, remove bowl from heat and leave to cool, stirring occasionally. Fold in cream, and Cointreau if you are using it. Pour mixture into container. Cover and freeze until firm, beating twice at hourly intervals.

About 30 minutes before serving, transfer ice cream to refrigerator. Serve each portion decorated with grated bitter chocolate. (From "Ice Cream" by Hilary Walden; Simon & Schuster; $12.95.)

HAZELNUT MOCHA ICE CREAM

1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 cups very strong espresso
6 1/2 ozs. semisweet or bitter sweet chocolate, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup sugar
6 egg yolks, room temperature
2 1/2 cup (4 ozs.) toasted and skinned hazelnuts, coarsely chopped
1/4 cup plus 1 1/2 tbsps. coffee liqueur

Combine milk, espresso and chocolate in heavy medium saucepan over low heat, and stir until chocolate is melted. Beat sugar with yolks in large bowl until pale yellow and mixture forms slowly dissolving ribbon when beaters are lifted. Slowly pour hot milk over yolk mixture in thin steady stream, stirring constantly. Return mixture to saucepan. Place over low heat and cook, whisking constantly, until mixture is thick enough to coat back of wooden spoon; do not boil or mixture will curdle (if curdling occurs, immediately transfer mixture to blender and mix at high speed until smooth). Transfer to bowl. Set over bowl of ice water. Cool completely, stirring occasionally or covering surface with waxed paper to prevent skin from forming.

Stir hazelnuts into cooled egg yolk mixture. Refrigerate until thoroughly chilled, at least 1 hour. Transfer mixture to ice cream freezer and process according to manufacturer's instructions, adding liqueur when ice cream is almost firm. Turn into plastic container. Cover and freeze until ready to use. Let ice cream soften slightly in refrigerator before serving.

Makes 1 quart.

(From Pan Appetit magazine.)

A quick soft fruit ice can be made instantly in a food processor, without freezing. Children love it.

PROCESSOR ORANGE ICE
3 ozs. frozen orange juice concentrate
1 cup ice cubes

Place frozen juice concentrate and ice cubes in the container of food processor. Process with metal blade until ice is finely crushed and mixture is smooth, about 2 minutes. (You may have to hold processor so it doesn't move around as it crushes ice cubes.) Serve at once, or transfer to container and place in freezer to allow it to become firmer.

Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Note: Other flavors of juice concentrate may be used including grapefruit, tangerine, lemonade, limeade, apple and cranberry. This recipe can also be used to make a softly frozen, lightly alcoholic slush like a frozen cocktail. When the mixture is smooth, pour a tablespoon of spirits through the feed tube of the processor while it is running. Spoon into two cocktail glasses and serve at once. Try bourbon with orange juice concentrate, rum with lemonade, vodka with grapefruit, tequila with limeade, Calvados with apple.

CHOCOLATE-COATED COFFEE ICE CREAM BALLS
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup oatmeal, toasted
1/2 cup sour cream
1/4 lb. full-fat cream cheese
1/2 cup sugar
3 egg yolks, lightly beaten
2 tbsps. instant coffee granules
1 tbsp. Irish cream liqueur
1/2 lb. semisweet chocolate

Put milk and oatmeal in saucepan and bring to boil. Simmer gently 4 to 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Blend sour cream, cheese and sugar together in bowl. Gradually stir in oatmeal mixture. Beat in egg yolks, coffee granules and liqueur. Leave to cool completely.

Pour mixture into container, cover and freeze until firm.

Soften ice cream for 10 to 15 minutes at room temperature, then scoop out small balls onto foil-lined cookie sheet. Return to freezer for at least 4 hours or until hard.

Meanwhile, break chocolate into small bowl, add 5 tablespoons water and melt over pan of simmering water until smooth. Leave to cool and thicken. Dip each ice cream ball into the chocolate, shake off excess and return to cookie sheet. Freeze for at least 30 minutes until set. About 10 minutes before serving, transfer to refrigerator.

Serves 4 to 6.

HOT CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1/2 lb. semisweet chocolate, chopped
2 tbsps. confectioners' sugar
1 tbsp. sweet butter, chopped

Place ingredients in bowl with 1/4 cup hot water, and place over pan of hot water. Heat until the chocolate has melted; stir well and serve hot or warm.

Serves 4.

CHUNKY MARMALADE SAUCE

3 tbsps. chunky marmalade
1/2 cup orange juice
Finely grated zest of 1 orange
Squeeze of lemon juice
2 tbsps. whiskey (optional)

Gently warm marmalade, orange juice and zest and lemon juice together in saucepan until marmalade has melted. Stir in whiskey, if using. Serve warm.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

4 tbsps. sweet butter, diced
1/4 cup light brown sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup milk
Squeeze of lemon juice (optional)

Heat butter, sugar and syrup in heavy-based saucepan over low heat, stirring until sugar has dissolved. Bring to boil and boil until temperature reaches about 240 F. Cool slightly, then stir in milk and leave to cool completely. Add squeeze of lemon juice to taste, if desired.

Serves 4 to 5.

Make dim sum ahead for quick Chinese treat

By Paul Bensen and Evander Preston

The Chinese have been in love with dim sum (filled dumplings) for thousands of years. These bite-size treats may be pan-fried, deep-fried, steamed or boiled; shaped like crescents, circles, envelopes or little hats. Chinese dumplings can be a delicious lunch, a dinner by themselves, or one course of a Chinese meal. Any of today's recipes can be made ahead of time and cooked in just a couple of minutes before serving.

A truly authentic preparation of Chinese dumplings would involve making your own wonton skins, used to wrap the dumplings. Using the commercial wrappers available frozen in nearly every American supermarket will cut your total preparation time by more than half, and we have found them entirely satisfactory for many different types of dumplings.

Though the Chinese most often serve dumplings as breakfasts, lunches, snacks or part of a several-course meal, we have found them to be an excellent main course for dinner, with only a vegetable or two, a salad and, perhaps, a glass of wine as accompaniment.

One of today's recipes, Chicken Crescents, uses soft white bread instead of wonton wrappers. Get the least expensive, softest, doughiest white bread at your supermarket. The bread is rolled out with a rolling pin, then cut into circles, filled and deep-fried. When you serve Chicken Crescents, have your guests guess how you made the wrapping. Whether you tell them the secret is up to you.

Pot Stickers combine three of the usual dumpling cooking methods — pan frying, boiling and steaming. According to legend, Pot Stickers were invented accidentally, thousands of years ago, by the chef of one of China's emperors. He absent-mindedly left the emperor's dumplings in the wok too long, so that they browned on the bottom. He was saved by his quick-thinking son, who offered to take the overcooked dumplings to the royal table. The son explained to the emperor that these were a new delicacy, specially prepared for the occasion. Fortunately, the emperor found them delicious, and rewarded the chef instead of punishing him.

Pork Wontons can be either fried or steamed; often, we steam half a batch and fry the rest, for variety. The ideal way to steam dumplings is in an Oriental bamboo steamer, but if one is not available, an ordinary vegetable steamer will do, with the dumplings placed on some cheesecloth or on bok choy leaves while they steam.

Each of the Chinese dumpling recipes listed has its own wrapping style. They are easy and fun to make once you have learned how. The egg roll style may be used with any of the fillings, and makes a more compact dumpling, which is generally deep-fried. Keep a small bowl of egg yolk or water handy while wrapping dim sum — the edges will stick together more easily if you moisten them with your fingers. Keep the wrappers, as well as the finished dim sum, covered with a damp cloth to prevent drying.

Steamed or Fried Wontons:
1. Place filling in center.
2. Fold diagonally, and press edges together.
3. Twist one corner to the back, one corner to the front, and press to seal.

Pot Stickers:

- Cut corners from wrapper to form circle. Place filling in the center.
- Fold and pinch tops together.
- Make four pleats in the front, and pinch all around.

Egg Roll or Envelope Style:

- Place filling in center.
- Fold bottom corner up and pinch.
- Fold sides in like an envelope. Pinch to close.
- Roll and seal.

Chicken Crescents:

Since these dumplings do not use wonton wrappers (though the filling could certainly be used with wonton skins), please refer to the recipe for directions.

POT STICKERS

1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen chopped spinach
1 lb. ground pork
1 tbsp. soy sauce
1 tbsp. sherry, dry white wine or Oriental rice wine
1 tbsp. sesame oil
1 1/2 tsps. salt
3 tbsps. minced fresh ginger root
3 scallions, finely chopped, including half the greens
3 tbsps. minced Chinese parsley (optional)
2 tbsps. peanut oil for browning

Thaw spinach and squeeze out most, but not all, of liquid. Mix all ingredients except peanut oil together. Wrap Pot Stickers, following directions above, using about 1 heaping teaspoon of filling for each. A wok (preferably flat-bottomed) or a large non-stick or well-seasoned skillet will provide a good surface for browning Pot Stickers. Heat peanut oil over medium-high heat and lightly brown Pot Stickers on bottom. Add 1 cup water and cover wok or skillet, allowing dumplings to steam until most of liquid has evaporated. Remove cover and continue cooking until liquid has evaporated and Pot Stickers are golden brown on bottom.

Makes about 4 dozen.

Microwave Magic

By Desiree Vives

Yes, you can microwave rice

Can you really microwave rice? Sure you can. It's just that many people prefer to cook rice the conventional way, since there's really no time saved by microwaving.

Rehydration of the grain takes time, no matter what cooking method you use. The main microwave advantage is that you can cook and serve in the same dish.

Since microwaving doesn't really save you any time, you may want to cook rice on the stovetop and leave the microwave free for other dishes.

I like to use the microwave when I just want some plain, cooked rice for use in a recipe. To microwave, combine 1 cup long grain rice, 2 1/4 cups water, and 1/2 teaspoon salt in a 3-quart glass casserole. Microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) 18 to 20 minutes, stirring after 10 minutes.

Here's a quicker method, which gives you 10 minutes to microwave another dish while "standing time" finishes cooking your rice. Combine 1 cup long grain rice and 1/2 teaspoon salt in 3-quart casserole. Pour 2 1/2 cups boiling water over rice. Cover and microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) for 7 minutes. Then let stand, covered, 10 minutes before serving.

For "minute" rice, combine 1 1/2 cups rice, 1 1/2 cups water, and 1/2 teaspoon salt in casserole. Microwave 5 minutes on HIGH (100 percent power), stirring after 2 minutes. Let stand, covered, several minutes before serving.

Cooked rice will stay fresh in the fridge up to one week. Leftover rice reheats perfectly in the microwave, with no added liquid. Microwave in a covered dish, and stir once or twice for even heating.

CURRIED CHICKEN AND RICE CASSEROLE

1 cup uncooked long grain white rice
2 1/2 to 3 cups cubed cooked chicken
1 (16-oz.) can cut green beans, undrained
1 (10 1/2-oz.) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
3/4 cup water
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 small onion, chopped
1 tsp. chicken bouillon granules
1/2 tsp. curry powder

Combine all ingredients in a 2-quart glass casserole, stirring to blend thoroughly.

Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 30 to 35 minutes, stirring every 10 minutes, until rice is tender.

Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.
Serves 4 to 6.

MEXICAN RED RICE

1/4 cup olive or vegetable oil

1 medium onion, chopped
1 small green pepper, diced
1 cup raw long grain white rice
1/4 tsp. salt

1/4 to 1/2 tsp. chili powder (optional)
2 medium ripe tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped
2 cups boiling water

Combine oil, onion and green pepper in 1-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 6 minutes, stirring after 3 minutes.

Stir in remaining ingredients, cover and microwave 15 minutes on HIGH (100 percent power) until liquid is absorbed and rice tender. Serves 4 to 6.

RICE 'N' SPICE PUDDING

2 cups milk
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. each cinnamon and nutmeg
Dash salt
1/2 cup quick-cooking rice
1/2 cup raisins

Measure milk into a 4-cup glass measure; microwave 3 to 3 1/2 minutes on HIGH (100 percent power). Milk should be hot, but not boiling.

Combine eggs, sugar, vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt in a 1 1/2-quart glass casserole. Add rice, raisins and hot milk, blending well.

Set casserole in a square glass baking dish with about 1 inch hot water and microwave 2 minutes on HIGH.

Reset microwave to DEFROST (30 percent power) and continue cooking 8 to 10 minutes longer, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or chilled.

Serves 4 to 6.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

To remove paint from concrete — blast it

Q. I have a screened-in porch with a cement floor that has been painted many times over the past 20 years. However, now the paint is blistering and peeling.

I inquired about this and was told the only thing to do is to scrape the paint off before priming and painting it again. This is quite a job as it is a large porch.

Is there anything I can do that would be easier than scraping? — P.L.

A. From your description it would be best to try to completely remove the previous paint layers from the concrete surface.

An effective tool for big scraping jobs is a power water blaster. Most rental outlets have these.

Sandblasting is a more extreme method of paint removal. The equipment can be rented. However, unless you've had experience with it, have a contractor do the work for you.

You might try renting a sander and using coarse sandpaper. It could possibly do the job, depending on the number of thicknesses you need to remove.

If there are cracks in the concrete, you'll have to scrape out any loose material and patch them. A good brand for patching would be Redi-Crete concrete mix and Redi-Crete concrete glue. Follow package directions for patching.

To ensure good paint adhesion, the concrete should first be washed with a solution of muriatic acid. Mix one part acid in three parts water. Always add the acid slowly to the water and keep your face away from the solution to prevent breathing the fumes. Wear rubber gloves and old clothing.

Satisfactory results can be obtained by using exterior latex paints meant for masonry, swimming pool paints and reinforced masonry paints. Check with your local paint dealer.

Q. I have a lamp that belonged to my aunt. Someone told me that the base is alabaster. It is white and has dark gray streaks going through it. It also has yellow spots, and I don't know if this is typical of alabaster.

My question is, what should I use to clean the base? — D.E.

A. Try rubbing the base with a damp cloth and regular baking soda. Rinse well and dry.

If you are not satisfied with the results, you might try a cleaner used on marble, fiberglass and ceramic.

Q. My house is 25 years old with an open-beam ceiling throughout the entire house.

I want it restained, not painted, but I don't know how to tackle this enormous job. Can you offer any suggestions? — S.C.

A. It would be impossible to apply a new coat of stain over the present finish if a sealer was used. However, you could use a varnish stain the color of the present finish. Consult your local paint dealer.

Intestate — it's not a disease; it's a statement of fact that someone has died without leaving a will.

We spend our lives building whatever is to be our estate and when more than 60 percent of us, when we die, do so without a will.

Intestate — without a will means that the state, through the court system, moves in to evaluate, settle and distribute the estate. The process can cost both time and increased expense to the estate for administration. Taxing agencies can make their full claim without challenge and other costs and disbursements can be charged to the estate as it is administered by a disinterested party.

As you have created the estate — whether it is $1, $100,000 or $1 million — you should direct its disposition.

The process of preparing a will today is easier than ever before because of new legislative changes around the country. Most significantly, there are tax considerations and advantages, where, with the right legal counsel, you may assure that your heirs will receive the shares that you direct.

The purpose of a will is for you to appoint an executor to ensure the fulfillment of your directions and to assign specific bequests or shares to family members, friends, organizations or charities or even to government agencies. With the will in place it becomes the governing document on the handling of the estate. If intestate, then the standards, regulations and practices of the state most states you may prepare a hol-government direct the handling of the estate.

Which direction would you prefer? The prepared will is probably simpler. Some states require witnesses, some allow no signed witness; some demand the use of Missing any point could you have a simple estate the preparation of the will can be a simple and low-cost procedure. A larger or more complicated estate might take more work in the will preparation but the cost will prove to be a minuscule percentage of the estate value, and a major saving from the administrative costs of settling an estate if intestate.

Attorneys throughout the country use the preparation of wills as a method of meeting and working with the wills discussed above. This preparation costs therefore are with potential new clients. The preparation costs therefore are with your own directions about the generally lower than buying the attorney's time for another type of legal matter.

Tax implications alone are worth the time and cost of will preparation, and legal counsel can advise you of these as you resolve the distribution of your eventual estate.

Each state varies in its laws for wills, as to the filing, the witnesses in order to prepare a will — in fact, and other considerations. It is wise to seek the best council and assistance to ensure the job is done right.

Holographic Will. Over the past few years there has been a lot of discussion and news coverage of holographic wills — a will document that you prepare yourself. In Store-Bought Will. From an office or legal supply store you can buy a printed will form that takes easy completion. In the simplest of estates this might do the job — at least it would be better than being intestate.

Living Will. Don't confuse this with potential new clients. The preparation costs therefore are with your own directions about the generally lower than buying the attorney's time for another type of legal matter.

TWEEN 12&20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: Please answer my letter. I'm a 19-year-old girl and I don't know how to solve my problem.

I steal! No, I haven't robbed a bank and I haven't shoplifted but I do steal from people I know. It's like I can't help myself.

My family is well respected in the community and so am I. I was very popular with my fellow classmates and an excellent student when I was in high school.

I keep asking myself why I do such a terrible thing. I steal everything from money to clothes to small odds and ends. Would you believe that I even stole the stamp I put on this letter?

I used to baby-sit a lot and I know for a fact that I've taken something from every house I've baby-sat in, and that's a lot of houses.

To complicate things, I really don't need the things I take. I work full-time and both of my parents have good-paying jobs. I do feel a bit guilty after I steal but it never stops me from doing it again and again and again.

Please give me some advice. I know that I would die if I was ever caught. — Nameless Nameless: The first step in solving the problem is admitting that you indeed do have a problem.

The second step is seeking assistance to help eliminate that problem. With a little conscious effort you can rid yourself of the petty thievery habit. Whenever you have the urge to steal, remember that you are causing concern and mental anguish to someone who trusts and cares for you.

Think about the hurt you will cause a trusted friend or loved one. If you still cannot control the urge, seek professional help.

Dr. Wallace: Please settle this family squabble. My know-it-all big sister and I have a disagreement as to the largest living animal. She insists it's the African elephant and I say it's the hippopotamus.

Please tell her she is wrong. I'm tired of her "I'm superior" attitude. And please don't tell me to look up the answer in the library. We live on a farm and no library is nearby. You are my only prayer. — Jody

Jody: Your sister isn't right, but neither are you. The largest living animal by far is the blue whale found in most of the world's oceans. It can weigh more than 200 tons and measure over 100 feet in length.

Dr. Wallace: I am 13 and my mother died a few months ago. I miss her terribly.

We just moved and I'm busy making new friends. All of my new friends have mothers and of course, they ask me about my mom.

I really feel sad when they mention my mother and I don't know how to explain that my mom is dead. Please help me. I used to ask my mother for advice but now I'm asking you. — G.W.

G.W.: Tell the new friends that your mother passed away, that you loved her and you miss her very much. No need to say more. They will understand.

Dr. Wallace: Recently I was introduced to a super nice guy who is very good looking with the greatest body in the world. He said that I was cute and that if he didn't have a girlfriend he would be interested in me.

Well, I did a little research and discovered that he and his girlfriend do a lot of fighting and they are close to breaking up.

My sister is getting married in two weeks and I need an escort to the wedding. Would it be proper for me to ask Steve to be my date? — Linda Linda: Yes, ask him. It's not as if he were married. But if he accepts, make sure he tells his girlfriend about the date. She could be his ex-girlfriend but, in either case, Steve should not be disloyal.

Dr. Wallace: I love to listen to modern music but my parents won't let me because they say much of it is satanic.

I don't think this music is bad and I don't see anything wrong with listening to it. Do you? — Don.

Don: Modern music is like modern books. Some words and lyrics are beautiful and others are worse than trash. The vast majority lies somewhere in between.

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Next Thursday most of you will be going Trick or Treating for Halloween. Here are a few safety tips for you:

- Never go alone. It's safer to go with a big group and it's also more fun! Be sure there's at least one Mom or Dad along.
- Don't go inside anyone's house.
- Stay in your own neighborhood.
- Avoid costumes that may make you trip or impair your vision.
- Don't eat treats until they can be examined by Mom or Dad and be watchful for torn or punctured wrappers.
- Obey traffic rules (cross at corners, use sidewalks) and don't cut across yards or vacant lots.
- If you're allowed to trick or treat after dark, be sure to wear bright-colored or reflective costumes.

Using all these safety tips, I'm sure you'll all have a wonderful, fun-filled Halloween!

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Kelly McCarthy and Kelly Devlin. (Two winners named Kelly are quite a coincidence!)

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. I recently heard that there is now a combination medication to prevent both heartworms and hookworms that can be given to dogs in their food.

At what age can we begin giving this drug to our dogs? Can the medication be given to pregnant bitches?

We operate a small kennel. Hookworms are a problem in our puppies and we worry a lot about heartworms.

A new medication containing drugs effective in preventing heartworms and hookworms was approved for marketing recently by the Food and Drug Administration. It is available only through veterinarians.

The combination drug is in the form of a chewable tablet that can be fed either directly to the dog or crumbled and placed on the food. Palatability studies indicate that most dogs will eat the tablets readily when offered as treats.

To prevent heartworm and hookworm disease, the tablets are fed daily, beginning at least one month prior to the beginning of the mosquito season and continuing through two months after the season ends, since heartworms are spread by mosquitoes. In those geographical areas where heartworm problems are seasonal, hookworm prevention should be continued after heartworm prevention has ended. Hookworm problems are not usually as seasonal as heartworm disease.

Dogs can be started on preventive medication at 2 months. The drug is safe for pregnant bitches throughout gestation.

Dogs that already have heartworms or hookworms should be treated for these conditions prior to beginning any preventive program. Therefore a blood sample should be examined for hookworm eggs by a veterinarian before a preventive program for these diseases is begun.

Both heartworm and hookworm disease are extremely serious problems for dogs.

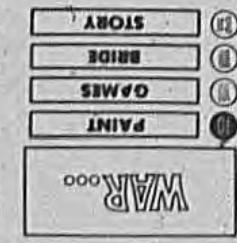

Heartworms can clog the major arteries from the heart.

Hookworms do their damage by causing bleeding in the intestines and by interfering with absorption of nutrients from the intestines. Hookworms are transmitted by ingestion of contaminated materials, by skin penetration and by puppies through nursing of infected mothers.

ed bitches.

Puppies are particularly susceptible to hookworm. Fatal anemia due to intestinal bleeding can occur as young as 2 to 3 weeks. Therefore a good preventive program is a must in bitches prior to and following whelping.

Your veterinarian can advise you regarding the use of the new combination drug in your particular situation. It is wise to have your veterinarian conduct a complete physical examination of your dog before beginning any preventive program.

SCRAPING PAINT IS USUALLY REGARDED AS A SAFE OCCUPATION IF YOU WEAR GLOVES. BUT DON'T FORGET TO WEAR SAFETY GOGGLES, TOO. OLD, BRITTLE PAINT CAN THROW OUT VERY SHARP FLAKES, WHICH COULD DAMAGE YOUR EYES.
