Lions Club Breakfast Dec. 1

District Governor Al Bloomer and Hicksville Lions President Paul Weber after the District Governor addressed the Club on the International President's Program for the upcoming year. The District Governor specifically highlighted the Diabetic Retinopathy Program which the Hicksville Club has already become involved in by conducting diabetes screenings at their annual fund raising projects.

The Hicksville Lions Club is having its annual pancake breakfast on Sunday, December 1 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Come and enjoy all the hotcakes, sausage, coffee and juice you can eat and drink. The atmosphere is friendly and the price is right. The cost for adults is $3 and children are $2. The Lions use these proceeds for the numerous charities they support so that in addition to good food, it is for a worthy cause.

There will be free hypertension, glaucoma, chiropractic, and diabetes screenings.

This hearty breakfast will be served at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, 130 Jerusalem Avenue, Hicksville, (the northwest corner of Old Country Road and Jerusalem Avenue).

Please come, the Hicksville Lions look forward to seeing you the morning of December 1.

Cub Scouts Visit Sagamore

On October 16, Den 2 from Pack 172, Hicksville, went to Sagamore Hill (Teddy Roosevelt's Estate).

They had a tour guide that showed them the main floor of the house. After that they saw a short movie about Teddy Roosevelt. The tour guide answered many of their questions.

They were supposed to have a picnic but with the sleet it got a little chilly. So they all ate their lunch in the car.

The boys purchased their souvenirs and went home after an exciting day.

Jeannine Sirey and Lorna Mund, both Hicksville High School swimmers established state records in the swimming championships held on Saturday, November 16 at Nottingham High School in Syracuse.

Jeannine set a record of 2 minutes, 9.27 seconds in winning the 200-yard individual medley while teammate Lorna Mund won the 100 backstroke.

DISCOVER PLAINVIEW Whatever You Need

This week's issue contains the regular popular feature "Discover Plainview" with messages from merchants and services available nearby. In this hectic holiday season it pays to take advantage of the helpful, concerned, courteous service that local merchants are happy to give you. If you're tired of the hustle and bustle of the big unfriendly department stores, look this issue over and shop locally! Happy Thanksgiving.

At the November 13 meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club, Mr. Gottlieb Arthofer was presented with a Fortieth Year Kiwanis Legion of Honor pin. Mr. Arthofer is a retired Hicksville businessman and enjoys the status and classification of "Privileged Member" of Kiwanis International. Over the years, Gottlieb has been a tremendous asset to Kiwanis, especially in fund raising projects. In the photo, Kiwanis President Dr. Keith Pastuch, on the left, is shown pinning the 40 year Legion of Honor pin to the lapel of long-time Kiwanian, Mr. Gottlieb Arthofer. (Photo by Sleg Widder)

Assemblyman Lewis J. Yevoll of Old Bethpage, seated second right, listens to testimony at recent Mineola hearing called by the Assembly Committee on Environmental Conservation. The panel is studying a proposed Environmental Conservation Bond Issue to clean up dangerous toxic waste sites around the state, including Long Island.

To the Editor:

Since my victory in this recent campaign, I have had some time to think about why I was so successful. The word "grateful" summarizes the things I feel as I reflect on these past weeks.

I'm grateful to all the residents who voted for me, giving me this opportunity to serve once again as your Town Clerk.

To justify this confidence placed in me, I will perform my duties with diligence and dedication and will be responsive to all the people of the Town of Oyster Bay.

Sincerely yours,
Ann Ocker

This timely booklet has been added to the Better Business Bureau Consumer Information Series which offers helpful tips on over 80 topics of consumer interest. For a copy of the booklet, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Long Island Better Business Bureau, 266 Main Street, Farmingdale, New York 11735.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark, third from right, presents a citation to Belinda and Patrick Dempsey of Hicksville at a party celebrating the couple's 50th wedding anniversary. On hand for the festivities were the couple's daughter, Roseann Neary, and their three sons, Patrick, left, William, second from right and Michael. The Dempseys are both natives of Ireland, Patrick from County Galway and Belinda from County Sligo.

L.I. Heritage Catalog Avail.

"Giving twice" would be an appropriate description of the holiday gift catalog just released by the Friends for Long Island's Heritage, located at 1864 Mutton-town Road, in Syosset, the citizen support group for the Nassau County Museum System. The purchase of any items from the 16 page catalog-many of which are unique to the museum system gift shops-will benefit the museum system through the Friends' support of programs and acquisitions.

Among the items unique to the Friends' catalog is a 14 x 23 inch print of "The Second Bounce," which dramatically depicts the heart-stopping moment before "The Spirit of St. Louis" took off from Roosevelt Field on Charles A. Lindbergh's historic flight across the Atlantic. The original watercolor by Charles Knotek was commissioned by the Friends to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of this event. One of their current major projects is generating support for the Cradle of Aviation Museum at Mitchel Field.

A quaint old-time touch for a stocking stuffer would be an Old Farmer's Almanac dating from 1800-1890 which gives advice on how to buy a horse and contains glowing testimonials for cure-all medicines. Each almanac, some annotated by previous owners, has a personality all its own.

A limited edition deep blue hand-blown glass bottle replicating techniques used during the Revolutionary War and a quaint St. Nicholas hand-cut and painted on both sides by local craftsmen are among items unique to the Friends' holiday catalog. Hand-sculptured and painted wooden decoys, are available in limited quantities. Families who would like to try their hand at old-time crafts will be attracted to a very fine spinning wheel with a fruit-wood finish which would grace any home.

The catalog contains a wide selection of books, all centering on Long Island's people, places and history. Whether the recipient is interested in Long Island pottery, windmills, early tools or American decorative arts and furniture, top quality books are available. For the outdoorsy types, there are books on bicycle riding on the island and on hidden beauties that only walkers can discover.

Music is not overlooked. Recording of sea chanteys, ballads of the Forty-Niners, and an especially appealing recording of the Old Bethpage village restoration Brass Band playing hard-to-find band music of the 1850's on authentic instruments are described in the catalog. Tin whistles, harmonicas and kazooes as well as maple and rosewood fifes may be purchased via the catalog.

A telephone call to the Gift Shop at Old Bethpage, 420-5292, will bring you this catalog free-of-charge and post-haste.

Curriculum Comm. Cancels Meeting

Hicksville Board of Education President William P. Bennett announced that the Curriculum Committee and District Facilities/Community Affairs Committee will not meet on December 4 as regularly scheduled and noted on the district calendar. Board members will be attending the Nassau-Suffolk School Boards Association dinner on that evening.

The next regular meetings of these committees will be held on January 8 at 8:15 p.m. at the Administration Building on Division Avenue.

Hicksville Bd. Prepares Budget

The Board of Education's Finance Committee is embarking on preparations for the 1986-87 school budget, and Board President William P. Bennett has issued an invitation to community residents to join in the work of the committee. "This is an area where the parents and taxpayers of the community can apply direct input to the financial destiny of the school district for the coming year," Mr. Bennett noted. The work of the Finance Committee is detailed and intense, and committee members will be reviewing and evaluating input from the Business Office and the various departments and school buildings.

"This is a challenge for Hicksville residents to see how the district works to meet the educational needs of the children in our care," Mr. Bennett stated. "We are talking about a $40 million enterprise. This should engage the interest of our community residents for their participation in an educational experience for committee members which will benefit the taxpayers and parents of Hicksville."

The Finance Committee is chaired by Thomas F. Nagle, the senior member of the Board who is extremely knowledgeable about district finances, and Lawrence A. Moor, who also has a background in finance. Mr. Nagle and Mr. Moor will represent the Board during the preliminary stages prior to full review and adoption of the budget.

Interested residents are invited to attend meetings of the committee scheduled for December 11 and January 22, at 8:15 p.m. in the Board's conference room in the Administration Building.

"Under the terms of the New York State Open Meeting Law, school boards must accomplish their business in public, and it is important that our residents participate in the process," said Mr. Bennett. "We hope that many Hicksville citizens will make an effort to join the Finance Committee and other Board committees as well." Residents are asked to consult the district calendar for the meeting dates of the Curriculum, Policy, Legislative, and District Facilities/Community Affairs Committees.

Woodland Ave. Halloween Fun

Students at Woodland Avenue began their school day on October 31 as usual. That morning they were attentive students busy with lessons in English, History, and Art. But at lunchtime these same students went home and returned to their classes as draculas, rabbits, witches, clowns, ballerinas, transformers, tough guys, and even a few Madonnas.

Over the PA in the afternoon, eerie sounds with weird laughter and screams filled the classrooms and hallways, while the Great Pumpkin stood in the lobby and greeted the passing masquerade.

The students then paraded around outside to the back of the school and then returned to their classrooms. There their desks were filled with candy, popcorn, potato chips, and drinks. Mrs. Barbara Meyer's fourth grade class played music while the students were trying to bite apples held on strings. The first and second graders were dancing, laughing, and enjoying all the Halloween goodies. Upstairs the fifth and sixth graders were having fun donning their costumes, eating, drinking and not having any more school word to do.

Halloween was a fun time for all at Woodland Avenue. Even the school's principal, Dr. Clancy, appeared as the Great Pumpkin himself.

Dr. Fenton Program Speaker

Hicksville School's Superintendent Dr. Catherine Fenton was one of five women superintendents to speak at a dinner meeting of the Nassau/Suffolk County of Administrative Women in Education Organization.

The topic of the evening was "The Superintendency - Do You Really Want It?" There was a general agreement that the answer to the question was yes, that they enjoyed the superintendency and if given the opportunity they would again pursue the position. As one superintendent put it, you have to enjoy big problems, being turned on to moving mountains and be willing to sit in the hot seat.

The superintendency was described as the highest paid migrant worker position due to the limited job security. One superintendent compared the position of Chief School Office to an executive in business but with the responsibility for direction for education of children.

Attributes necessary for the job were defined by one superintendent as having full knowledge of the community members and their goals for the schools; being able to deal with a high level of stress; being able to understand and manage change and finally to have the courage to fight but the wisdom to know when to retreat.

The Nassau/Suffolk Council of Administrative Women in Education, chartered in 1975 is an association of persons holding administrative or supervisory positions in education or who aspire to such a position. Anyone interested in joining may contact the co-presidents Georgene McKernan at 248-4355 or Regina White at 221-3951.

Chamber Bids Farewell To 'Sieg'

Sieg Widder and his wife Iris admire the cake

The Hicksville Chamber of Commerce said their goodbyes to Sieg Widder at their meeting last week. Mr. Widder has been Executive Director for the past seven years and resigned from that post to "catch up around the house."

Mr. Widder joined the Chamber in September, 1978 at the urging of Vern Wagner, Henry Brengel and Kingsley Kelly to promote Chamber policies and events. What started out as a 2 to 3 hour job has mushroomed into full time involvement. The position, it might be noted, is mostly voluntary with a small stipend to cover necessary expenses.

An employee of IBM for 38 years, Mr. Widder opted for the company's early retirement plan in June, 1975. Finding time on his hands he joined the Gregory Museum volunteer staff as an assistant to the Museum's founder Gardiner Gregory.

In addition to his affiliation with the Chamber, Mr. Widder is a past president of the Kiwanis Club of Hicksville and is currently responsible for its publicity announcements seen in this newspaper.

Sieg and his wife Iris have been residents of Hicksville since 1953. They raised two children and have three grandchildren, all of whom live in Durango, Colorado. Their daughter Meryl and son-in-law Ron Burns are the parents of Bonnie and Sunshine while son Keith and his wife Renate have a daughter, Jessica.

According to Mr. Widder, "the last seven years have been interesting and educational. As a tribute to his services, the Chamber has granted him life time membership with the group.

Hicksville native Kevin Jung, a 5'8", 145 pound sophomore midfielder for Carnegie-Mellon University's varsity soccer team, was named first-team All-Presidents' Athletic Conference (PAC) by league coaches for the second consecutive year.

Jung scored three goals and accounted for 18 assists--a new Carnegie-Mellon record for most assists in a season--as the Tartans, under Head Coach Nick Gaudioso, finished their 1985 campaign at 12-4 overall and 4-1 in the PAC.

Jung's 24 points placed him fourth on the team and sixth in the PAC in scoring. The Tartans, who finished second in the conference behind Bethany College, set a new Carnegie-Mellon record for most wins in a season (12).

Jung is a 1984 graduate of Bethpage High School. A computer science major, he is the son of Perry and Joyce Jung of Hicksville.

Boutique Set For Birthright

Families for Life President, Mrs. Mary Brophy, has announced that preparations are now under way for the annual Boutique which the organization sponsors for the benefit of Birthright.

The Boutique will be held on Saturday, November 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Galileo Galilei Lodge at 200 Levittown Parkway, one block south of Old Country Road, in Hicksville. A varied selection of new and hand-crafted merchandise will be offered for sale.

Mrs. Dorothy Blair, Coordinator of the Boutique has indicated that the proceeds of the event will benefit several Birthright offices on Long Island. Birthright, which is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization provides aid and counselling to girls and women who are distressed by an untimely pregnancy. Birthright is staffed by trained volunteers and operates solely on financial donations by individuals and organizations, to provide women with a positive alternative to abortion.

The members of Families for Life are long dedicated supporters of the Birthright aims and goals, as evidenced by this, their thirteenth annual Birthright Boutique. The public is invited to attend.

Dutch Lane Greet Visitors

Phoenix House is a drug rehabilitation program which claims an 80% success rate in turning people away from drugs. A large part of the program is directed at educating youngsters before they become involved with drugs. According to their experience, more and more children between the ages of 11 and 12 are starting on drugs.

As part of the school curriculum on substance abuse, Phoenix House counselors came to work with our sixth graders for one hour a day on the mornings of November 13, 14 and 15.

Not in the photo, but also participating in the program were

Mr. Philip Provost's 6th grade class: Danielle Barile, John Cannizzaro, Kevin Drudy, Tim Glover, Eugene Hundertmark, Richard Karrmann, Jennifer Lane, Bill Lewis, Chris Murphy, James Murphy, Samantha Myers, Donielle Orientale, Jorge Ospina, Ellen Salvemini, Amy Verbovovens, Juliet Winteroll and Phyllis Zollo our Dutch Lane PTA Phoenix House Coordinator.

Phoenix House Counselors will visit the ninth graders at the Junior High during March 17-24 and on March 20 they will be presenting a program for the parents at the Junior and Senior PTSA's.

The children of Mrs. Voorhies 3rd grade class at East Street decorated the all-purpose room with a scene commemorating the first Thanksgiving. The children made the characters (Pilgrims and Indians) and the mural under the direction of East Street's art teacher, Mrs. Phoebe Witte. The children's keen sense of detail made the scene the focal point of the all-purpose room. All the children of the school enjoyed seeing it and marveled at its "dollhouse" like quality.

Paul Martin Rotary Speaker

Paul Martin, Jr.

Rotarian Mr. Paul Martin, Jr., the New York Telephone Community Relations Manager addressed fellow Rotary members at the group's weekly luncheon meeting at the Milleridge Inn last week. Mr. Martin announced that Equal Access will be introduced to the Hicksville area February 2, 1986. The program allows consumers to use the long distance company of their choice for all calls to points outside their Regional Calling Area by simply dialing the area code and telephone number. Mr. Martin stressed the importance of choosing and signing up with a long distance company now whether the choice is to stay with the company now used or change to a different one. If this is not done one will be chosen for you. For a brochure and/or further information call the New York Telephone (a NYNEX Company) toll free at 1-800-555-5000.

Bethpage Legion Honors Veterans

By Valerie Maslino

On Veterans' Day, Monday, November 11, the Archie McCord Unit #86 members joined with the Archie McCord Post #86 and the VFW Butehorn Bros. Post No. 4987 members and officers in a solemn ceremony at the Bethpage Community Park Memorial Circle at 11 a.m.

The short service and moment of silence was in remembrance of all the men and women who served their country, and particularly those who sacrificed their lives, so that we may remain free.

This holiday was originally named "Armistice Day" to honor and remember that on the 11th day, in the 11th month, at 11 o'clock, the last shot was fired in World War I when the Armistice was signed. Today, we honor all men and women who served in our armed forces for our nation during times of war and conflict.

ANTIQU

Have expert
appraise chair

By James G. McCollam

Q. We know very little about this antique chair. Could you provide some information as to the period and value?

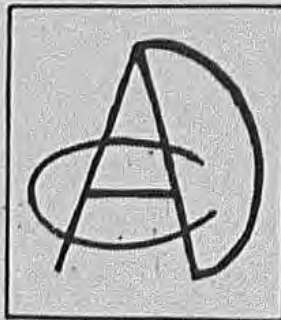

It appears to be solid mahogany and shows signs of wear.

A. This is either a fine Queen Anne (1720-1759) armchair or an excellent reproduction.

The gooseneck arms and trifid feet are authentic details and would convince most experts. However, I am going to hedge. If this is a reproduction, the value would be about $200, in good condition. A genuine Queen Anne chair would be worth over $1,000.

I suggest that you check with a local expert who can actually examine your chair.

Q. My doll is 18 inches tall and has the attached mark on its back. I think she is made of composition; she has a wig and her arms and legs are moveable. She was my mother's doll and was passed on to me when I was a little girl.

What can you tell me about her?

A. Your doll was made by the American Doll Co., in Philadelphia about 1900. In good condition, it would be worth about $150.

Q. What can you tell me about collecting porcelain figurines of dogs? Are they really collectible and, if so, what are some typical prices?

A. There is an active market in porcelain figurines of dogs. There are hundreds of unmarked pieces that can be bought for $5 to $25, in addition to the following:

- Bulldog, Rosenthal - $75
- Dachshund, Hutschenreuther - $170
- Dachshund, Royal Doulton - $50
- Poodle, Cordey - $70
- Terrier, Bing & Grondahl - $85
- Terrier, Rosenthal - $50
- Terrier, Royal Doulton - $65

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and $1 per item to: James G. McCollam.

Elks Club Honors Firefighters

The Hicksville Elks Club held its Annual Salute to Firefighters on October 29. Six Hicksville firefighters were honored for their efforts at a rescue call in January of 1984 at the Hicksville Railroad Station Platform. Upon arrival, the members found a woman in cardiac arrest. The crew administered aid and through their special knowledge revived the patient. However, word was received a month later that the patient passed away. The family expressed their appreciation for the extra time they had to be with their mother, and that she passed on surrounded by family rather than all alone on the snow covered platform.

The Awards Program was organized and carried out by Elks John Mulligan, Lenny Provanzo, Daniel Seip, Exalted Ruler Murry Appel. Mr. Appel, in his address to those present including Elks members, police officers and firefighters and family and friends, he noted the similarities between Elks members and the firefighters. Both groups are Volunteers and serve to help people.

A Tribute To 'Mike'

by Effie C. Krogman

Anyone who stops by the famous Hicksville Sweet Shop, one of our "landmarks" at late lunchtime, is sure to have met or seen "Mike"—a daily customer who brightened everyone's day. Mike worked at McElreavy & Hauck, another Hicksville establishment and he knew many people in town.

Mike died suddenly and without warning of a heart attack on the evening of November 14. We had laughed together that very afternoon.

His ready wit, kind heart, and affable ways will be sorely missed by those who were fortunate enough to know him. His scraggly moustache and unkempt hair—almost always wearing nondescript work clothes were a camouflage for the beautiful person he was inside.

My own thoughts are best expressed in a few lines of prose I have written, and dedicated to his memory. I believe they express the feelings of all those who knew him and now grieve his passing.

Brief Beautiful Encounter

Almost every day - for one brief hour

We would meet, and share a portion of our time.

It never really began - and never ended.

This lovely friendship - this nurturing of kindred spirits.

To sit and share laughter...and kindness.

Understanding. Exploring lives unknown;

Worlds apart, and yet together for those times

Shorn of outward signs, ignorant of either mink or rumpled jeans.

The common meeting ground: to talk, to listen.

To laugh and cry and tease... and wait

For the empty seat beside us to be filled;

To bring a joyous respite to our tensioned days.

How can we accept again the cleavage

That is thrust on us by death? to lose

Another who had come to fill a portion of our lives.

Who again can fill the empty seat?

Birthday Fun At Fork Lane

Story and Photos
By A. Elchenauer

Mrs. Evelyn Grib's third grade class gave her a surprise birthday party on November 13. The children in her class came up with the idea and got the permission from Mrs. Carol Bentzen, the schools principal to do this.

Mrs. Bentzen helped the children get the room ready for the surprise by calling Mrs. Grib into her office for a short conference.

Once the room was ready with the Happy Birthday Signs in place, all the children hid in the back of the room out of sight. When Mrs. Grib entered the room and turned on the lights, the children jumped out shouting surprise. Mrs. Grib was very surprised. She was escorted by her students to a table where a scrumptious Birthday Cake was placed along with a very large Birthday card and two plants that the children chipped in to buy for her.

Mrs. Grib thanked all the children for their thoughtfulness and said, the last time her class gave her a surprise party was 15 years ago.

When the children first came up with the idea for this party, a class mother asked how old Mrs. Grib would be, she was told by one student that this was her 16th birthday and another said no she'll be 21. Well we don't know how old Mrs. Grib really is and it doesn't matter at all.

Mrs. Grib, I would consider you a very lucky teacher, after talking to your students I've come to the conclusion that they really do love you and think you are the Best teacher in all of Fork Lane.

The birthday cake was made by Mrs. Madeline Senn, and the large birthday card by Mrs. Annette Elchenauer. The plants were a gift from the children.

Mrs. Grib surrounded by all of her students, from left to right Vincent DePaoli, Scott Schubert, Jonathan Schwartz, Timothy Elorriaga, Brian Zelders, Lynn Romano, Kim Spiegel, Mrs. Grib, Bryon Ferreri, Joe Croce, Tracy Koetter, Jennifer Elchenauer, Keith Carpenter, Prit Tward, Michael McInerney, Merry Senn.

Harriet, Doerr published her first novel at 73 years of age. From there she went on to further literary experiments. One of those experiments, "Stones for Ibarra", is a study of determination and hope. The novel begins with an introduction to Richard and Sara Everton's problem and their attempt to solve that problem. Though intimidated by financial instability, the Evertons are determined to reopen their business in the Mexican town of Ibarra. What follows is their quest for happiness south of the border.

On Monday, December 9, from 1-3 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will hold a discussion on "Stones for Ibarra." The discussion should prove to be both entertaining and intellectually stimulating. Everyone is not only welcome, but encouraged to come and voice their opinion.

It deals with the problems that plague Francis Phelan, a born loser from the wrong side of the tracks. Within the novel, his tale of woe is carefully woven.

Mid Island Y Chanukah Plans

Chanukah, the Festival of Lights, will glow at the Mid-Island YM-YWHA starting December 7, when the first candle will be lighted by a torch brought from Israel.

A variety of special events is planned for the eight day holiday to celebrate the occasion starting with the Saturday Night Showcase presentation of "A Tribute to Jan Peerce" Dec. 7 at 8:30 p.m. featuring tenor Tibor Kelen and baritone Thomas Stallone.

Chanukah commemorates the Maccabean victory over the Assyrian-Greek nation in 168-164 BCE. During that conflict, a small amount of oil, sufficient for one night's illumination, was found in a Jerusalem temple and miraculously provided light for eight days.

Featured during the Chanukah celebration is the daily candle lighting ceremony of the 10 foot YM-YWHA Menorah at 5 p.m. This will be followed by slides, community singing of Chanukah songs, free distribution of booklets, dreidels, chocolate Chanukah gelt (money) and latkes (potato pancakes) to those attending. The entire community is invited to participate in the traditional ceremony. Some 30,000 latkes have been donated by Jerry Krupnick for the occasion.

In addition to the candle lighting, other events have been scheduled to celebrate the holiday.

Pre-registration is required for two December 4 activities. A one day Chanukah Cooking Workshop will be held 9:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. In the evening, A Festival of Lights discussion open to the public is set for 8-9:30 p.m.

A community-wide Chanukah Maccabiah will be held December 9 from 7-10 p.m., featuring teams from youth groups in grades 7-10. Those interested should register by December 2. The games will be held from 7-10 p.m.

Hicksville 3-1 Over Smithtown

By A. Blicker

In a tightly contested battle, played in the freezing rain at Smithtown, the Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 travelling soccer team beat their hosts 3-1, after a season punctuated by many tied games. The first half was a lesson in defensive strategy at its best, ending in a 0-0 tie, which featured outstanding goaltending by Eddie Jacobsen and strong play by Brian Harkins, Eric Blicker and Chuck Oliver, against the Division leading team.

The Shamrocks opened the second half scoring on a beautiful cross from the right corner by wing Chris Doyle, to wing Jared Jacobs who put in the goal. Smithtown came back with a tying goal off a corner kick. The Shamrocks went right back down the field, featuring a brilliant juggling act by Eddie Jacobsen, who moved to striker, allowing him to keep possession while wing Doyle got free for the pass, resulting in a line drive, go ahead goal. The Smithtown Tornadoes put tremendous pressure on the Hicksville team but Brian Pine, outstanding in goal, repelled nearly every attack that came his way.

saw his strong efforts pay off when he scored the game's clincher, off a beautiful lead pass from fullback Blicker, which Knoop took in and then put past the opposition's goalie. Brian Pine had an effective first half at striker and half prior to switching to goalkeeper. Jason Kingsley made his presence felt at stopper.

half and striker, Dom Perillo was effective at striker. Congratulations to coaches Patrick and Denise Harkins who, with assorted parents and teammates, left the Smithtown field drenched and shivering but proud of the Shamrocks best game to date. On to the season finale this weekend!

Most Favor Business Smoking Regulations

Most people who called Input did not object to the county's new regulations on smoking in answer to this question: "Nassau county has passed new regulations limiting smoking in a place of employment to a designated area. Do you think this is a fair law and can it be enforced?"

FAIR LAW

In answer to the question of the week, of course it is a fair law that will keep smokers from forcing non-smokers to share the effects of smoking. People who smoke in the presence of non-smokers are the unfair people. As to whether it can be enforced or not I do not know. The enforcement will be limited and have to be contingent on good will. M.F.

PRESSURE GROUPS

Basically the limiting of smoking is a good idea. The problem is that some of the backing and strong armed methods come from the usual hysterical fringe that wants to lead and when people do not follow they feel great in forcing acceptance of their views. With them a law which banned smoking completely would be a good thing. For most people smokers and non-smokers alike they will not want to inflict their preferences on others and since smokers by the act of smoking are inflicting their preference on others they will be the ones who will have to show the good will. The entire thing could have been done just as well by giving guidelines and letting employers work it out. This is how it will have to be done anyway and the people who make coercive laws set the entire thing back. The politicians as usual are working to gain the good will of pressure groups and this leads to poor government. J.L.

TOO LATE

I do not think that most companies allow smoking in the work area and the smoking issue is not one that needs so much legislation. I must admit that I believe there is justice in banning smoking from being inflicted on non-smokers but the law was not needed at this time in Nassau County. Smoking is decreasing. At a time when it was full blown the politicians were afraid to do anything and that is when the help was needed for the non-smoker. K.E.

NOT PRIME PROBLEM

The problem with this is that it makes small companies responsible for having more space than they need to accommodate both. It is unlikely that an employer will discharge a good worker because of smoking so it will mean extra rules, space and distance. In most places smoking is not a prime problem. Now government has added one more set of regulations. D.F.

ABLE TO WORK IT OUT

I think that most people will be able to work it out on this smoking situation. If the county is going to have a flying force going around enforcing the regulations then the county will be interfering in private places where it has no right. This is just one more example of how the government if given full power would limit everyone. The next thing they would like to do would be to stick their hand in and regulate the hot and cold water in your shower. It's simply a move for a local group to team up with government and gain power. The Republicans after winning an election over the pathetic Democrats want to prove that they are in charge. K.E.

NOT FAIR

This question appeared once before with a slightly different slant. At that time I took the position that setting aside smoking areas in offices could only encourage the waste of time socializing during working hours and in the process, increasing the cost of doing business with its eventual impact on the price to the consumer. Now, whether the new regulations limiting smoking in places of employment to a designated area is a fair and enforceable law - that's something else. Frankly, I don't think it is fair, representing just another intrusion into the areas of personal freedom which are slowly but surely being eroded. If the employer of his own volition wishes to make prohibition of smoking a condition of employment, that should be his own decision. But, for the County to mandate the limitation of smoking to a designated area in a working place and backing it with the power of enforcement goes too far. In my opinion the whole smoking thing has reached a hysterical point and our elected officials have much more serious problems to come to grips with. I think that the influence of reformed smokers like myself can do more good by example than by making the habit an illegal act. P.G.S.

PAST ISSUES

MISSED CHANCE

I think residents of Nassau County missed their chance in the recent elections. We were in line for a change and we had a chance to elect some Democrats who might have tried to reduce taxes. But everyone is too Republican oriented. They seem to be brainwashed and we were due for a change.

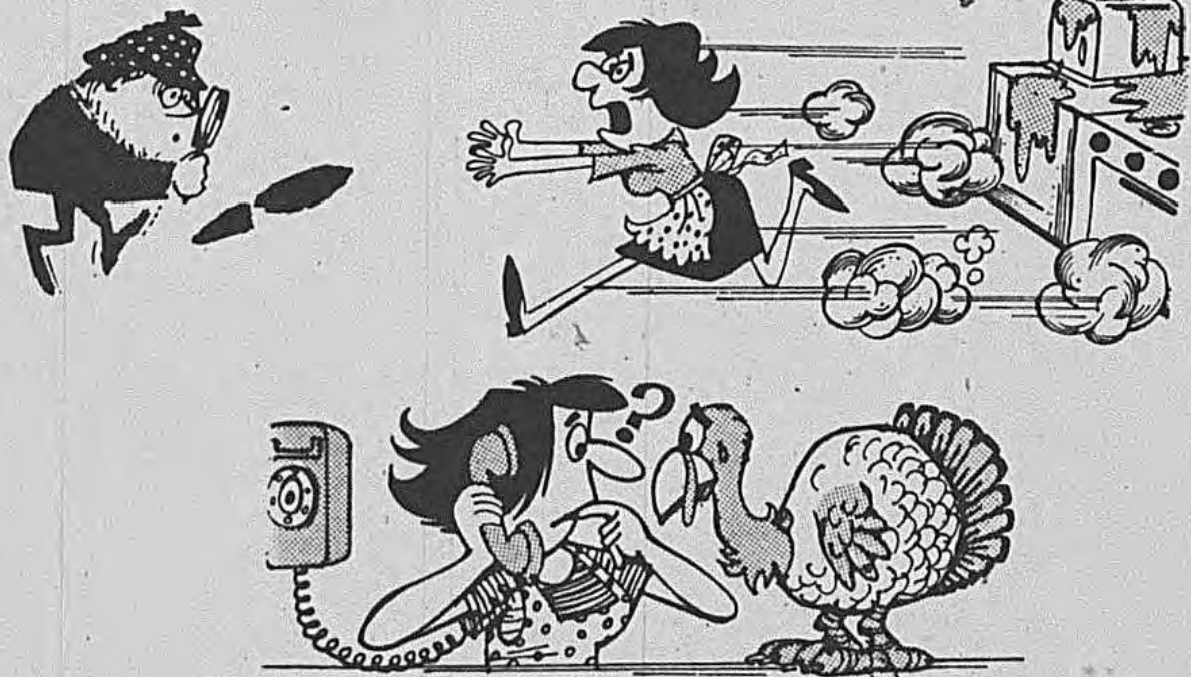

BIKE RULES!

I think there should be stricter rules for bicyclists. I'm not sure about licensing though. It might pose a problem for families with low incomes who really need a bike for transportation. However, more and more today you see commuters riding their bikes to the railroad station instead of their cars so maybe it wouldn't be such a bad idea. NOT POSSIBLE

How can you really expect licensing of bicycles to ever be accepted? Did you know there are still states that don't require automobile insurance by law? Who in the world would enforce this law? NOT SERIOUS

In reference to licensing bicycles on main thoroughfares you can't be serious - you must be kidding! R.A.

How To Guarantee A Successful Thanksgiving Dinner

By Marjorie Wolfe

1. Ask your employer to flex-time your work during the two weeks prior to Thanksgiving so that the dinner will be thought out--not thawed out.
2. Purchase the 1985 Back to Basics Series Review Book - "A Carver's Guide to the Bird".
3. Post, in a conspicuous spot, these three phone numbers:
(800) 626-2000 Swift & Company's turkey hot line
(for last-minute cooking hints)
(800) 535-4555 U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Meat & Poultry Hot Line
(800) KARO-PIE Questions about pecan pie?
4. Buy your holiday foods in any Long Island supermarket that sells Hamburger Helper Helper. Take Garrison Keillor's advice ("A Prairie Home Companion") and don't forget the Powdermilk Biscuits--with that whole wheat goodness that gives shy persons the strength to get up and do what needs to be done.
4. Do not patronize any store where the sign at the checkout counter reads:

English, Spanish, Yiddish, French & Italian Spoken Here.
Tears Understood

6. Allow the little ones to assist in the food preparation. Follow the late Sam Levenson's advice: "I suggest that a kid raised in a bouquet of frying onions, sputtering chicken fat, or baking bread may never feel the need for sniffing glue."
7. Disregard the fact that your children are all on the Adolescent's Skip-A-Meal Diet. Plan on their consuming double portions of sweet potato pie, water chestnut stuffing, and pecan pie.
8. Have lots of Gatorade on hand, and remember that "Real Men" avoid capons, chives, crepes, avocado, and fruit compote.
9. Wear your cooking apron which says, "Skinny Cooks Can't Be Trusted".
10. Don't worry that your guests will notice that your home is lacking that "chic shock" look. Greet each person with a Leo Buscaglia warm hug, and they'll feel right at home.

11. Make a mental note not to begin the dinner conversation with these lines:

"Real Men" don't....
"When I was your age....
"You're majoring in...
"Dr. Ruth said what?"

12. Pull the plug on the TV, VCR, and home computer. Keep in mind that the best holiday entertainment is the presence of a happy family all wrapped up with one another.

13. Refrain from criticizing the table manners of your youngsters--just today. Forget Miss Manners! Remember, table manners must have been invented by people who were never hungry.

14. Talk about the "good old days"--playing Kick the Can in Rockaway Beach, listening to WNEW's "Make Believe Ballroom" with Martin Block, the "Shadow" and the soap opera, "Stella Dallas". Reminisce about the migration to the suburbs, the new home in Levittown, and that not-so-serious illness known as "Green-Lawn Syndrome".

15. Follow the philosophy that "Keeping Thanksgiving is good, but sharing it with others is much better". Invite someone who would otherwise be alone, to share your food--and more important--your companionship.

16. Make last minute arrangements for bed and breakfast for those guests--and family--who have had too much to drink. The hand that lifts the cup that "cheers", should not be used to shift the gears.

READER RATINGS

Last Sunday evening we stopped at the George Washington Manor in Roslyn. This beautiful restaurant remains one of the best on L.I. We came just as they were finishing a wedding reception and although they were crowded we still received very good, prompt and fast service. We tried their roast leg of lamb with gravy and mint jelly. The meal comes with a complete dinner menu which starts with an appetizer right through dessert. From the enclosed porch you can see the beauty of the outdoors and enjoy the good food and hospitality. It is a place you can take your friends and be sure they will enjoy it. B.E.

READER RATINGS

Q. What do you do about left-handed guests? W.B. A. Be considerate. If possible, place a left-handed guest so that he has a table end on his left side. (That's also being considerate of his right-handed neighbor!)

Q. When you have something in your mouth you want to spit out, like an olive pit or a tough piece of gristle or a fish bone, what do you do? C.S.

A. Don't spit it out, work the pit or stone or something unswallowable onto your fork or spoon with your tongue, then transfer it to the plate. If you're eating fresh cherries, hold each one by the stem, eat the cherry, and place the pit right from your mouth into your cupped hand, then onto the plate.

Q. What do you do if someone is choking on food at the table? P.L. A. If that person answers, "I'm all right," to your question offering assistance, you should all go on talking and drawing attention away from the person, who is obviously embarrassed.

If the person (who looks as though he was choking or having difficulty) is unable to answer you, it's time for quick action—perhaps to save a life. Perhaps the choking guest will point to his throat, a sign anyone familiar with the Heimlich maneuver knows is the sign of choking. Quickly make that guest stand up at table; then use the Heimlich maneuver on him to dislodge whatever is stuck in his throat.

Q. Is it all right to soak a bit of bread in the remnants of a delicious sauce on one's plate? A. Yes, it's a compliment to the cuisine. Break off a small piece of bread or roll, spear it with your fork, and carefully soak up the sauce.

Q. What do you do if you're on a strict weight-loss diet and you're invited to a dinner party? Can you eat beforehand? P.C.

A. It's kinder to your hosts if you do not accept the invitation. It's rude to sit there and eat nothing. People don't like to be around a heroic non-eater who makes them feel guilty with every bite they take. The hosts who have labored over their food are affected by it. When you're on that kind of diet, it's the time to see your friends between meals.

A person who is just watching his weight can be careful, take very small portions of food, and even push some of it around on his plate, pretending to eat it. If he does that, and if he does not discuss his diet (the subject that is probably the most boring one in the entire world), he will be a polite and welcome guest.

Q. What do you do if you have terrible fish allergies and can't eat fish at a dinner party? R.C. A. Often you'll know in advance that fish will be the main part of the menu, because the hostess will say, "We're going to have Maine lobster," or the host will brag about his freshly caught fish to be broiled. If you know about the fish, that's the time for you to say, "You know, I can't eat fish, so will you please give me a rain check?"

If the fish is a surprise, don't eat it. Just push it around a bit on your plate, but say nothing.

The perfect host asks his guests during the cocktail hour, when fish is on the menu, "Is anyone here allergic to fish?" If the answer is yes, he replies something like, "We have chicken salad all prepared for you."

GREAT SURPRISE
 Last week we visited a restaurant we have never visited before. It is called the Fianona in New Hyde Park. There are presently so many Italian Restaurants in the area that we were truly surprised by this one. It is not large, but appears to be very popular with many people because we had to wait for a table.
 The food is exceptional. We had the finest veal you can find anywhere and it was cooked with such flavor that it is difficult to find something to compare it to. We topped the meatball with some good Italian pastry.
 This is the kind of restaurant I think that most of your readers would like to visit. H.R.

OUTSTANDING RESTAURANT

We have just come from LaMarmite restaurant, and want to say that it is a really outstanding restaurant. They have just enlarged it to include more banquet space but LaMarmite was always a top place to go. We had the special of the day which was broiled bass. It was fresh and so deliciously prepared that everyone was in ecstasy with the fish. For dessert we had red raspberries with a special topping made at the restaurant.

LaMarmite is truly the best restaurant in this area. We recommend it very highly. K.R.

IRISH ATMOSPHERE

I think that many of your readers are Irish or of Irish descent as I am but it doesn't really matter. There is a nice cafe in Bethpage called Kenny's Cafe that has just great food and a lot more.

It has good service and entertainment, folk songs and ballads on Friday and Saturday nights. We went there last week and found the food to be very good and the entertainment to be something special. I think that many of your readers would like to go to this fine place and I bring it to your attention. It is located at 729 South Oyster Bay Road, Bethpage. M.O'D.

SAYS ITS "BEST!"

I am calling to say some good things about one of the restaurants listed in your guide. It is Manero's Steak House in Syosset. This restaurant is really one of the best we have eaten in. Last week four in our family went there and had a complete prime rib dinner for under $10. The meat was tender and juicy and the vegetables were prepared just right. I think it is great that there is still a restaurant around that give high quality and does not charge so much that you cannot afford it. My vote for the best goes to Manero's. It is on Jericho Turnpike, Syosset. T.G.

Cooking Corner

For many years, Thanksgiving foods reflected, almost exclusively, New England fare. However, during the past couple of years, there has been an increasing hunger for American regional foods, so that today, our national feast is likely to get added spice and luster from such delectables as Southwestern jalapeno-spiked cornbread stuffing, Southern sweet potato biscuits, Midwestern fiddlehead ferns sauteed with chopped hazelnuts, Creole bread pudding with whiskey sauce, Pennsylvania Dutch shoofly pie and a kaleidoscope of tangy fruit and berry relishes.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS AND HAZELNUTS

5 cups fresh brussels sprouts
9 tbsps. sweet butter
1 1/2 cups hazelnuts, roasted with skins removed
1 tbsps. kosher salt
1/4 tsp. ground white pepper

Trim brussels sprouts of outer skin, then cook in boiling salted water until crisply tender. Be careful not to overcook as they tenderize extremely fast. If you are not serving them immediately, shock sprouts in bowl of ice water until cool; then remove them from water and reserve for service.

In large skillet heat butter and add hazelnuts. Brown butter slightly and then add brussels sprouts and cook them through. Season with salt and pepper and serve.

Makes 12 servings.

CRANBERRY RELISH

Juice and zest of 2 oranges
1 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 tsp. mace
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 (12 oz.) pkg. fresh cranberries

Combine orange juice, zest, sugar and water and bring to boil. Add mace and vanilla and simmer for 10 minutes. Add berries and lightly simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and cool.

Serves 6 to 8.

BUTTERNUT
SQUASH GRATIN

- 1 tbsp. sweet butter
- 1/2 medium Spanish yellow onion, quartered and sliced 3/8-inch thick
- 1 tsp. fresh garlic, minced
- 3 cups butternut squash, peeled, seeded and sliced 1/4- to 3/8-inch thick
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- 1/2 cup half and half
- 2 bay leaves
- 3 sprigs fresh thyme (or 1/4 tsp. ground thyme)
- 1/4 tsp. ground mace
- 2 tsp. kosher salt
- 1/2 tsp. ground black pepper
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tbsps. sweet butter

Place heavy-bottom skillet over medium heat and add butter; heat until sizzling. Add onion and caramelize, cooking for approximately 10 minutes and stirring often. Season to taste with salt and pepper, then add garlic. Remove from heat. Spread cooked onions evenly in 4x6-inch baking dish.

Place squash in heavy-bottom sauce pan and cover with cream, half and half, bay leaves, thyme, mace, salt and pepper. Simmer until squash is tender and has absorbed most of cream. Remove from heat and discard herb stems and bay leaves. Taste for seasoning.

Layer squash in baking dish on top of onions. Top with Parmesan and dot with butter.

Brown lightly in 425 F oven for approximately 15 minutes. Serve immediately.

(Note: Sweet potatoes may be substituted for butternut squash.)

GRILLED WILD
TURKEY BREAST
WITH SMOKED BACON

- 1 1/2 lbs. wild turkey breast, fresh or frozen
- 6 slices smoked bacon, cut into 2-inch pieces

Marinade:

- 1 cup dry white wine
- 1 1/2 cups apple cider vinegar
- 2 cups apple jack brandy
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar

- 2 tps. coarse black pepper
- 2 tbsps. mustard seeds
- 2 tbsps. fresh garlic, coarsely chopped
- 1/2 cup peanut oil
- 6 sprigs fresh sage
- 8 sprigs fresh rosemary
- 12 sprigs fresh thyme
- 1 tsp. kosher salt

Note: Wild turkey will average 6 to 8 pounds per bird. The meat is quite lean and darker than a domestic turkey with a somewhat gamier flavor.

If using frozen turkey, thaw it overnight in the refrigerator. Tie the breast with butcher twine to retain its shape while marinating.

To prepare marinade, combine white wine, vinegar, 1 1/2 cups brandy, sugar, black pepper and mustard seeds in saucepan. Place over high heat and bring to boil. Continue boiling until mixture is reduced by half. Remove pan from heat and set aside to cool. Then add garlic, oil and seasonings.

Place wild turkey breast in casserole dish. Pour marinade over meat. Cover tightly and refrigerate for 2 days, turning meat twice a day.

After marinating, remove meat from casserole dish. Strain marinade and use liquid for basting, adding remaining 1/4 cup of brandy.

Pat meat dry, then lightly rub with peanut oil, salt and pepper to taste. Place on grill over low heat. Do not allow grease to flare up. Sear on one side, then roll to other side making sure that all sides are crisp and golden brown. Continue to grill, basting with marinade. Cook approximately 25 to 30 minutes or until meat reaches an internal temperature of 160 F.

Let meat rest for about 10 minutes before carving. Saute bacon until crisp but retaining some juices. Reserve for service.

To serve, slice wild turkey breast into 18 slices, 3 per plate. Place on hot platter with 3 pieces of crisped bacon.

you've tried this basic mixture, you may want to experiment to create your own recipe, adapted to your personal taste and the particular dish you're cooking.

Nearly every home in India has its own garam masala recipe, handed down through the generations. Spices are tremendously important to Indian cooks. Often, two or more families will shop together for spices, in order to get the very best quality, and will buy them not by the ounce or pound, but by the moud, a unit of weight equaling almost 90 pounds.

Regional differences in preparing garam masala are hotly contested. Cooks in some parts of India use a variety of peppers, while natives of other areas insist that garam masalas containing even a touch of pepper are totally unacceptable because they "catch the throat" or, one sometimes hears, inflame the passions.

All this fuss about a spice becomes more comprehensible when you consider that India's history is inextricably linked to its wealth of spices. For thousands of years emissaries of many empires — from the Phoenicians to the Romans to the Chinese — endured long, harsh voyages to trade for the spices of India. Vasco da Gama was the first European to open a sea route to India, in 1498, and in 1524 became the sixth viceroy of India, largely because he introduced European palates to the delights of Indian spices.

When you make garam masala, then, you'll be blending up a batch of history and tradition. On a more mundane note, be sure to put your powdered legend in a tightly covered jar, and keep it away from heat and sunlight. That way it will keep for a couple of months.

Our recipes for today are Shrimp with Garam Masala and Beans and Coconut with Garam Masala. Either one can be served as part of an Indian meal or as a course in almost any dinner. One of our favorite techniques when entertaining is to mix several cuisines in a single meal, and both these dishes are excellent candidates for this approach.

SHRIMP WITH GARAM MASALA

- 1 lb. medium shrimp, peeled and deveined
- 5 ozs. tempura batter mix (available in almost every supermarket)
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 tbsps. garam masala (recipe follows)
- 1 stick (4 ozs.) melted butter
- 1/2 cup peanut oil

Dredge shrimp in dry tempura mix, salt and 1 tablespoon of garam masala. In heavy frying pan or wok, mix melted butter and peanut oil over medium-high heat. Deep-fry shrimp in butter/peanut oil mixture.

When shrimp are cooked, sprinkle with remaining 1/2 tablespoon garam masala.

Serves 2 as main course.

Option: Serve with plum sauce, tomato chutney or sweet and sour sauce.

GREEN BEANS
AND COCONUT
WITH GARAM MASALA

- 1 lb. fresh green beans, trimmed, or 2 (8 oz.) pkgs. frozen green beans (see note)

- 1/2 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/2 tsp. minced ginger root
- 4 tbsps. (or more to taste) clarified butter
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. (or more to taste) garam masala (recipe follows)
- 1 cup shredded coconut meat (optional)

Steam beans until about half cooked. In wok or heavy frying pan, sauté garlic and ginger in clarified butter over medium-high heat for 1 minute. Add beans, salt, garam masala and shredded coconut, and stir-fry another minute or so, until beans are cooked through.

Note: This recipe will work with almost any vegetable substituted for the green beans — but the beans have been a consistent favorite with our guests.

GARAM MASALA POWDER

- 1 tbsp. cardamom seeds
- 1 (1 inch) stick cinnamon
- 1 tsp. whole cumin seeds
- 1 tsp. cloves
- 1 tsp. black peppercorns
- 1/2 medium nutmeg

Preheat oven to 200 F and bake all ingredients for 10 minutes on baking tray.

Transfer all ingredients to blender and blend until mixture is an even, fairly fine powder.

Store unused spice in tightly covered jar in refrigerator. May be kept for at least three months.

Yields 3 tablespoons garam masala.

Spice up your cooking with garam masala

By Paul Benzen
and Evander Preston

Garam masala has, for centuries, been one of the most widely used spices in Indian cooking. It is essential to a variety of recipes for chutneys, seafoods, vegetables, egg dishes and rice mixtures. It is indispensable in preparing samosas, the deep-fried, stuffed pastry cones served by Indian street vendors and beloved as a snack throughout India, and in stuffed parathas — whole wheat griddle breads.

Although Indian cooking has become very popular in this country in the last several years, it is often hard to find garam masala here, even in fairly large cities. Fortunately, the ingredients are available in every supermarket, and it takes only a few minutes to make a supply that will last through several Indian meals. Once you have a supply of the spice on hand, you'll be able to prepare a variety of authentic Indian dishes quickly and easily.

Our garam masala includes cardamom, cinnamon, cumin, cloves, peppercorns and nutmeg. Once

Microwave Magic

By Desiree Vivea

If you're looking for a different way to microwave chicken, the Best Foods Co. (a division of CPC International Inc.) has a tasty idea. Moist-coat chicken pieces with mayonnaise, then cover them with seasoned cornflake crumbs and microwave. It's fast and easy, and kids love it.

MICROWAVE CORNFLAKE CHICKEN

- 3/4 cup cornflake crumbs
- 1/4 tsp. onion salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 lbs. (approximately) broiler-fryer chicken parts
- 1/4 cup real mayonnaise

In plastic food bag, combine crumbs, onion salt and pepper, shake to mix well.

Brush chicken on all sides with mayonnaise. Add one piece at a time to crumb mixture, shake to coat well.

Arrange chicken, skin-side up, in 13x9x2-inch glass dish so that pieces do not touch and thickest parts are toward outside of dish. Cover with waxed paper.

Microwave at HIGH setting (100 percent power) 8 minutes. Rotate dish. Microwave, uncovered, 6 to 8 minutes longer, or until chicken is tender.

Makes 4 servings.

More recipes are available from the Consumer Affairs Center of the Quaker Oats Co. In response to consumer requests, the company has come out with a booklet featuring 13 microwave dishes, all developed in the Quaker kitchens.

The pamphlet is available to the public at no charge. Just send your name and address to: Quaker Microwave Recipes, 231 S. Green St., 5th Floor, Department H, Chicago, IL 60607.

Here's a sampling of the recipes you'll find in the "Quaker's Best Microwave Recipe" pamphlet. (Note: Recipes were tested in 600- to 700-watt countertop microwave ovens.)

MEXICALI STUFFED PEPPERS

- 3 large green peppers
- 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 1 (16 oz.) can stewed tomatoes, undrained
- 1 (7-8 1/2 oz.) can whole kernel corn, drained
- 1/2 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
- 2 tbsps. instant minced onion
- 1 tbsp. chili powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt (optional)
- 3/4 cup (3 ozs.) shredded cheddar cheese

Cut peppers in half lengthwise, remove seeds and membrane. Rinse, place cut side down in 11x7-inch glass baking dish.

Cover and microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) 5 to 6 minutes, or until tender. Drain; turn peppers cut side up.

Crumble ground beef into 2-quart casserole; cover with waxed paper. Microwave at HIGH 3 to 5 minutes, stirring after 3 minutes; drain. Add remaining ingredients except cheese, mix well.

Fill each pepper half with about 2/3 cup of meat mixture. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on HIGH 7 to 9 minutes, or until heated through, rotating dish after 4 minutes.

Sprinkle cheese evenly over peppers; let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Serves 6.

BEST EVER MEATBALLS

- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1 (13 1/2 oz.) can condensed golden mushroom soup
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 (8 oz.) pkg. egg noodles, cooked and drained
- 2 tbsps. chopped fresh parsley (for garnish)

Combine ground beef, oats, wine, onion, salt and pepper, mix well. Shape into approximately 30 1-inch meatballs.

Place meatballs in 11x7-inch glass baking dish; cover with waxed paper. Microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) 5 to 6 minutes, turning meatballs over after 3 minutes. Drain; let stand.

Combine soup and milk in 1-quart glass measure. Cover and microwave at HIGH 3 to 4 minutes, or until heated through, stirring after 2 minutes. Stir in sour cream.

Pour sauce over meatballs; microwave at HIGH 1 to 2 minutes to heat through. Serve over hot cooked noodles; sprinkle with parsley.

Serves 6.

CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter, softened
- 2 eggs
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt (optional)
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 cup (6 ozs.) semisweet chocolate pieces

Heavily grease 6-cup microwave-safe ring mold. Sprinkle nuts evenly into bottom of mold.

Cream brown sugar and margarine until light and fluffy; add eggs and vanilla, mixing well. Combine dry ingredients. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Pour into prepared mold.

Sprinkle chocolate pieces evenly over batter. Microwave at MEDIUM (50 percent power) 10 to 12 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean, rotating mold 1 1/2-turn every 3 minutes. (Surface may appear very moist, but will dry upon standing.)

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. I am interested in finding out how to remove stains on marble and what I can use for polish. Thank you for the information.

A. As hard as marble is, it can show stains even from a glass that leaves only a moisture ring. These usually can be buffed off with polishing powder specifically designed for marble. The marble should then be treated with a non-yellowing wax. This light coat of wax gives the only protection marble needs unless it gets etch marks that come from any foods containing a bit of acid such as fruit juices, vinegar and so on.

Sometimes this polishing powder (tin oxide) removes such stains, but sometimes a poultice treatment is needed. This sounds difficult, but it isn't beyond the ability of most householders. A poultice is made of white blotting paper such as white paper napkins or white cleansing tissue soaked in an appropriate solution (solution varies according to type of stain).

For organic stains caused by tea, coffee or leached colors from paper or textiles, use hydrogen peroxide or household ammonia. For oil stains caused by butter, milk, cream, salad oil, etc., use amyl acetate or acetone. For rust stains use commercial iron rust remover.

Place the poultice directly over the stained area and cover with a piece of glass or plastic weighted down with something heavy such as books. Let it remain up to 48 hours. When the marble is clean and thoroughly dry, you can apply a colorless terrazzo sealer (two coats are recommended) to give the marble further protection. Wax after the terrazzo sealer has dried, with a water wax.

Q. Several years ago I painted my garage floor with a sealer recommended by a reputable paint company and a paint they said was specifically for a garage floor. Since then in many places — about 40 percent of the area — the paint has flaked off leaving a very unsightly mess.

Because of health I will be unable to make the repairs myself. Do you advise that I ask a painter to repaint the places where the original coat flaked off, repaint the entire floor or will it be necessary to sand the entire surface first? I will appreciate any advice you can give me.

A. For lasting repair, the present finish will have to be removed. This can be done by sanding with a coarse sandpaper using an electric sander, or you can have it sanded. Following complete removal of the existing paint, you should apply an acrylic-polymer concrete sealer (sold at most paint stores). This will soak into the concrete and set, binding the surface together. If you like, you can then put on an acrylic latex floor paint over the cured sealer. Do not use an epoxy floor paint. Though tougher than latex paint, it will not adhere well to the sealed surface.

Prior to repairing the floor surface, be sure to check the drainage around your foundation. Water should drain away from the foundation. Concrete is porous and the flaking paint can be caused by moisture working up from underneath. This problem will have to be corrected to achieve any lasting results with paint applications.

Q. Our asphalt driveway is developing many cracks. Is there any way to repair this without having to put down another topping of asphalt?

A. A black-top dressing is available in well-stocked masonry supply stores. The dressing is applied like paint, with a large brush or broom over the surface. It does an excellent job of filling cracks. I recommend doing this before winter; ice forming underneath from rain or melting snow running down through cracks can cause serious damage.

professional such as a paramedic, police officer or fire fighter.

□ Vial of Life. If your community has a "Vial of Life" program, you should enroll in it. Your local fire department will tell you if there is such a program in the community. The program consists of colorful stickers to apply to your door and on the refrigerator, and a form (which you complete and which contains your medical history, list of allergies, key medical contacts and more) that is kept in a vial in the refrigerator. The refrigerator is more protected against fire than furniture or other appliances. If your community does not have a Vial of Life program, ask local officials "why not" and volunteer to help start one.

□ Security Check. Have the local police department do a security check of your home or apartment. They will check doors and windows, locks and other devices to assure your protection from intruders. Most intruders and burglars enter through unlocked or poorly locked doors and windows.

□ Fire Check. Have the local fire department do a fire safety check of your home or apartment. They will check electrical connections and wiring where most fires start, and they can identify potential fire hazards before they happen. You might have to replace a few extension cords or a wall receptacle — but that is far better than having to replace your house. Many older fabrics are particularly flammable — and these, too, can be identified for your safety.

This list concerns ways to help save yourself by advance planning for a health emergency as well as ways to protect yourself and your property from potential and devastating emergency situations.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: My best friend and I just returned from an exciting six-week tour of Europe. Most of our travel was done on bicycles and whenever possible we slept in youth hostels. Because of our limited funds our meals consisted of bread and cheese.

Both of us graduated in June and will be attending the University of Illinois this September. The trip was a wonderful adventure and a great learning experience. We highly recommend a similar trip for teens with a bit of adventure in their souls and a few dollars saved for such a vacation.

We met many wonderful people and made many friends. We also had a chance to brush up on our French. In six weeks we visited France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Holland, Spain and England.

One of the highlights of our trip was renting a car for a day and driving through the Alps. The Alps were truly beautiful but we couldn't do it on our bikes because of the mountainous terrain.

Because of the time limit we also had planned to rent a car in England for a day and drive from London to Stratford-on-Avon (Shakespeare's birthplace) to see the town and see a Shakespearean play. This didn't take place because we were shocked to see that the English drive on the wrong (left) side of the road and their steering wheels were on the right side of the vehicles. There was no way we could consider driving under these handicaps.

Why would a country have such a funny way of driving? All the other countries we visited drove the same way that we do in the United States and Canada.

We asked several people in England why their driving habits were the opposite of everyone else and they didn't know. Please answer this letter. This is driving both of us mad. — Sandra Sandra: The British mainly are following tradition when it comes to driving. The ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans all used the left-hand rule when driving chariots and were allowed to overtake another chariot only by passing on the right.

Napoleon wanted to break from tradition so he changed the law from left-hand drive to right. He made similar changes in every country he conquered. Every country on the European continent drives on the right. The last country to convert was Sweden in 1967.

But Britain is not alone when it comes to driving on the left side of the road. Ireland, Australia, India, Japan, China, Cyprus, Kenya and Zambia also drive on the "wrong" side.

Dr. Wallace: I've been told that drinking 1 ounce of booze is faster (makes you drunk faster) than drinking two one-half ounce alcohol drinks mixed with soda or water.

I do a little drinking but I want to cut down my chances of getting drunk. I like feeling a bit tipsy, and like feeling exhilarated, but actually I don't drink that much. — Polly

Polly: Mixing an alcoholic drink with water, soda, juice, etc., does slow down the alcoholic intake and therefore it will take you longer to get drunk than drinking pure alcohol.

However, when a certain amount of alcohol is ingested, regardless of whether it has been mixed with something, you will get "bombed."

Do yourself a big favor. Eliminate the chances of getting drunk by eliminating alcohol. Alcohol is a drug that acts as a depressant and is considered habit forming. Quit while you still can.

Dr. Wallace: I know that Orville Wright flew the first airplane in 1903. Can you please tell me how many miles he traveled and how fast he went?

My dad thinks he flew for 1 mile but my science teacher told us it was only a few feet. — Tom Tom: Orville Wright flew his chain-driven airplane at Kitty Hawk, N.C., at the speed of 8 mph and at an altitude of 12 feet for 12 seconds.

Dr. Wallace: I am 15 and live with my legal guardian, her 17-year-old son and her husband. It so happens that her son and I have fallen in love.

Is it possible for us to get married after I graduate from high school? It's not like we are brother and sister. — Sally

Sally: There is no legal problem in getting married to your guardian's son. The problem will be "cooling it" while living under the same roof with him. And you know what I mean when I say "cooling it."

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Emergencies can happen to everyone — and they do. How we prepare in advance for them is the key to minimizing the personal or property damage in an emergency situation.

Following are 10 positive steps you can take to plan ahead for emergency situations. Study the list and then rate yourself on how many of these steps you already have in place — a score of nine or 10 means you are planning well; a score of four or below means you are setting yourself up to be an emergency victim.

□ Telephone Tree. Set up an arrangement with a group of friends or a senior citizen service to telephone you at least once a day. This can be a lifesaving step, for if you do not answer the phone, and have not alerted the caller in advance that you'll be away, he or she will come over or dispatch someone to your home to check on you.

□ Mailman Check. Arrange with your local post office to have your mail carrier check your mailbox each day — this is an "in place" program with the postal service. If your mail from the earlier delivery is still in the box, the mail carrier will knock on your door to inquire about your health. If there is no answer, he will phone his office. This program has been effective in saving countless lives where the senior citizen was ill or injured and could not reach the phone.

□ Neighborhood Watch. These programs were developed to deter crooks through the constant vigilance of a group of neighbors. The system works on request, too, where neighbors during their "watch" times will do a special check on senior citizens in their neighborhood.

□ Police Alert. When you're away, or even when you're infirm, you can call the local police department to take extra time when driving by your house. This helps scare away vandals when you're away and, depending on the police department, can provide an extra check on your health and well-being.

□ Smoke Alarms. Install these units in bedrooms and in hallways. Test them at least once each week to assure that the batteries are operating. Plan various escape paths in the event of fire in different parts of the house or apartment complex.

□ Smoking. Confine all smoking — if you have any smoking at all in the house — to areas where you can control the ashes and discarded cigarettes. There is no smoking whatsoever in bed or on sofas where you might curl up for a nap. When this type of fire starts you have virtually no escape from the flames or the heavy smoke from the burning.

□ Emergency Lists. Near every telephone place cards with emergency numbers you might need, including your police department, fire department, paramedic service, hospital emergency ward, doctors, neighbors (very important, for they are nearest to you in an emergency) and a very good friend or relative. This list is for your use or use by an emergency response

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Soon the holidays will be coming and most of my little friends are busily making their lists for Santa, even though it's still the month of November.

Older folks are looking in the stores, wondering what to buy for Uncle Joe and Cousin Alice.

Shopping is hard work, of course, but it's also fun provided we give ourselves a little time and don't have to do all the selecting and wrapping at the last minute.

How are you doing with your holiday shopping?

Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are: Gregory Cooper and Christine Torinese.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. We have several horses on our small acreage. There are some grain bins on the premises that contain moldy corn. My husband and I are in disagreement about whether this corn would be harmful if eaten by our horses. I live in constant fear that the horses will be poisoned.

A. You are right to be concerned about your horses consuming moldy corn. Every year between late fall and early spring many horses die suddenly, without any visible causes. Many of these sudden, unexplained deaths in horses can be attributed to equine leukoencephalomalacia, or ELEM.

ELEM is a disease of the nervous system of the horse that occurs whenever horses eat moldy feed containing specific toxins. Moldy corn is the most common source of the toxin causing ELEM. There is no known treatment for ELEM.

Horse owners should avoid feeding their horses moldy feeds, especially corn screenings or damaged corn. You would be wise to thoroughly clean all of the moldy corn out of the bins or lock the horses out of the bins.

ELEM is a serious threat to horses.

Q. Our 6-year-old quarter horse stands with his feet too far in front of him. The horse points alternately with one front foot and then the other. He seems to be very uncomfortable most of the time.

What is wrong with our horse? What can be done to correct his problem?

A. Without actually examining your horse it is impossible to give you a diagnosis. However, your brief description of your horse's problem suggests he may have a condition called navicular disease.

Navicular disease is one of the most common causes of lameness of the front feet of horses. The navicular bone is a small bone located entirely within the hoof behind the junction of the second and third phalanges (the bones that are equivalent to the second and third bones of the fingers or toes of humans). The tendon that enables the horse to bend his foot backwards lies just behind the navicular bone.

Depending on the severity of the condition, navicular disease may involve the navicular bone, the joint area around the bone, and the deep flexor tendon. The horse with navicular disease often has a history of intermittent lameness, which decreases when he is rested.

The horse may be noticeably worse following heavy work. In the early stages of the disease, rest will cure the horse. However, as soon as hard work is begun again, signs of the disease reappear.

Both front feet usually are involved in navicular disease. However, one foot often shows more lameness than the other. If both feet are involved, the horse points alternately with one foot and then the other and stands with his feet too far in front of him. If one foot is more severely affected than the other, the horse will tend to only point with the most severely affected one.

During movement the affected horse tends to land on the toe of the foot to avoid pressure to the heel area. This is most noticeable in the walk and trot and causes a shortened stride.

The toe may show signs of being excessively worn. Increased lameness will also be seen whenever the horse is turned in the direction of the lame foot or feet.

Concussion is a definite factor in the cause of navicular disease. Horses that perform hard work, such as racing, cutting, calf roping and barrel racing are more likely to experience the condition. If the work is performed on hard or rough surfaces, the amount of concussion is increased and the likelihood of having navicular problems is increased.

Local Arborist Attends Conv.

The American Society of Consulting Arborists (ASCA), a professional organization which promotes the art and science of tree and other horticultural evaluations and diagnostic techniques, recently convened in Charleston, South Carolina. In attendance was Jon H. Hickey, General Manager of Parr & Hanson Tree Service located at 6 Midland Avenue in Hicksville.

The three day program featured many topics concerned with the care of trees, including Urban and Forest Tree Problems, Freeze Damage To Trees, Air Pollutants and Hazardous Tree Liabilities. Front line speakers from throughout the United States and Canada presented experience-oriented illustrated lectures designed to sharpen the skills of ASCA members.

In reviewing the 1985 program, Mr. Hickey observed, "I look forward each year to this particular meeting because it allows me to bring better service and the experience of others to my clients. The opportunity to remain a leader in the consulting arborist profession is always a challenge with me-one which I intend to pursue!"

Acknowledging that the public needs to know more about tree values and care, Mr. Hickey has announced that he is available for presentations to organized groups on these subjects. For more information he can be reached at 931-1203.

Modified Sanitation For Thanksgiving

The Town of Oyster Bay sanitation collection schedule will be modified in observance of the Thursday, November 28, Thanksgiving holiday, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

"Residents who normally have collection on Thursday will receive a special pickup on Friday, November 29," Clark stated. "Friday collections will be made on Saturday, November 30."

Clark noted that all Town offices will be closed on Thanksgiving but that all park facilities, except ice skating rinks, will be open.

Boys Take Wrong Truck

Two juveniles from New York City attempting to attend the parade in Greenwich Village October 30, ended up in Hicksville, after jumping in the rear of a truck they thought was heading towards the village.

Ricardo Rivera, 13, 4 East 28 St., Manhattan, and Juan Maldonado, 14, of 21 East 27 St., Manhattan, hid in a truck being driven by John Snells of Russell Ct., Copiague, at 8:30 p.m. Instead of heading towards the village, Mr. Snells went through the Midtown Tunnel to Long Island. He eventually exited the L.I.E. at Route 106, where the boys began banging.

Mr. Snells pulled off the road and the boys jumped out. Seeing two individual jumping from his truck with masks on, Snells drove away. He encountered Police Officer James Watson and told him what transpired. P.O. Watson returned to the scene and located the two boys, who were taken to the Second Precinct, with the Juvenile Aid Bureau notified.

The boys were eventually transported back to New York City by members of JAB and returned to their parents.

Local Runners At NY Marathon

Jerry Miller still looks strong at 25 miles, as he heads for a "personal best" marathon of 2:53:18.

Fifty-four members of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club were among the nearly 16,000 runners who successfully completed last Sunday's New York City Marathon.

Ed Gonsalves was the top local finisher, completing the 26.2 mile course through the five boroughs of New York City in 2 hours, 47 minutes, 11 seconds, good for 334th place overall--in the top 3 percent of all finishers.

Other POBRRCers who broke the magic three hour mark were Jerry Miller (2:53:18), Lee Bertram (2:57:31) and 55 year old Andy Mulrain (2:59:29). Fred Winkel (3:01:29) John Greyer (3:04:01) and Mal Bertram (3:04:31) weren't far behind.

The Club's top women finishers were Margaret Bertram (3:17:54) Sue Wolf (3:47:29) and Liz Flahavan (3:49:26).

Local runners were transported to the Staten Island starting point in style, via air-conditioned luxury buses provided by Woodbury Super Star Sneakers and Sports. The buses headed to Central Park after the starting cannon went off, and picked up the tired but happy runners at the finish line for the trip home.

Congratulations to everyone who completed the Marathon. It is an accomplishment that you can take tremendous pride in!
