January 29 marked an exciting event in the life of the newly formed Daisy Girl Scout Troop #3338 of St. Ignatius Loyola School—their first field trip! For this occasion, Troop Leader Gloria Arbia, with the help of Mrs. Mals, took the girls to the Carvel Store located at 447 South Broadway, Hicksville. There, store owner Carol Ventronella, took the girls on a tour of the store which included learning how ice cream is made, how cakes are decorated and how delicious the results of hard work can be! Pictured is Carol Ventronella decorating a cake and the whole Daisy Troop as they prepare to sample some of the freshly made ice cream. They extend their thanks for all the kindness they received.

In January, all of the fifth and sixth graders at Willet Avenue School, Hicksville, participated in a Trivia Contest to benefit the Cerebral Palsy Center in Roosevelt.

Teams of four students worked together to answer more than one hundred questions. Before this, the students had asked family and friends to sponsor the teams at the rate of five cents per correct answer. The winning team—T.J. Kevvins, Alan Watson, Jimmy Chambers, and Bobby Jordan—then met with the other Nassau County winning teams on February 3 in Mineola for a Trivia Run-Off. The Willet Avenue team took a very creditable fourth place.

The sponsoring fifth grade teachers, Mrs. Sones and Mr. Monfredo, and the sixth grade teacher, Mrs. Salat, will visit the Cerebral Palsy Center with their classes in the Spring.

Willet Avenue's contribution of $973 will be used to buy a specific piece of equipment for the Center, which the students will be able to see when they visit.

Hicksville Fire Dept. Urges Smoke Detector Use

During the past month several house fires in Hicksville caused considerable damage and in some cases the residents were very lucky to escape. What seems to be happening in Hicksville is many homeowners are opting to play Russian Roulette with the lives and safety of their families, by not installing smoke detectors in their homes. This past week-end smoke detectors were available in local stores from $5.99 to $20, some with rebates.

Fellow residents please heed our warning: It can happen here and sooner or later it will. Fire strikes without warning regardless of income. The headlines will read: "Fire Kills Five" etc. etc. Do you want to be a statistic? There is No Excuse for not having a smoke detector, or if you have one, for not maintaining it. The following reports back up what we are saying.

House Fire - Jan. 22, 3:37 p.m., 37 Grape La. No occupants home. Probable cause heating system equipment. Considerable damage to garage and utility room.

House Fire, January 27, 12:21 p.m., 25 Boxwood La. Stove left on. Fire Ext. to room and second floor. $50,000 damage. Smoke detector present - no battery in it.

House Fire - January 29, 8:47 a.m., 211 Blueberry La. Possible careless smoking, occupants home. No detector, barely escaped. Extensive damage to home.

House Fire - February 8, 4:08 a.m., 111 King St. Fire in chair. No smoke detectors. Children awoke to a smoke condition. No injuries.

Are you or are you not risking the lives of your family? Do you have a detector? Do you maintain one?

Another fire, on February 2, at 3:28 p.m., at L.I. School of Typography, 23 Jerusalem Avenue. Had it not been detected, could have resulted in a major business district fire. Firefighters had to break a wall to get into the fire area. The fire burned itself out. Firefighter discovered that a flammable liquid had been poured all around the room and later it was found valuable equipment had been stolen. The Fire Marshals office and Arson Squad detectives are investigating.

$2,191,360 were issued. "The construction of single-family homes has played an important role in enhancing building permit values during the last two months of 1985," Hynes stated. "Nineteen permits were issued for the construction of new homes totaling $1,519,388, and a total of 232 permits, amounting to $2,622,333 were issued for home additions."

Weather won't hamper your shopping pleasures in Plainview. All stores and services literally "roll out the red carpet" making a usually unpleasant chore quite a nice experience. As a service to our readers we again present the February edition of "Discover Plainview". We'd really like to hear from you about these pages. Call us at 931-0012. Happy Valentine's Day!

Julius Williams, well-known composer and conductor, visited Willet Avenue School on February 7 as part of the Hicksville Public Schools "Artist in Residence" program. Mr. Williams discussed and demonstrated "Black Music". He explained how Afro-American Music influenced the music of today. The students in grades 4, 5 and 6 and their music teacher, Theresa Scammato, enjoyed singing spirituals and jazz while Mr. Williams improvised on the piano. Immediately following his Hicksville workshop, Mr. Williams will be guest conductor for the Dallas Symphony. The Willet Avenue students were enthusiastic and excited about singing with Mr. Williams and expressed hope that he might come for a return visit. (Photo by Rosemary Barrow)

Holy Family Basketball

The Holy Family 6th grade basketball team played two basketball games in the last two Sundays and was able to come away with one win and one loss.

On February 2, the Eagles defeated St. Pius from Plainview by a score of 34-22. Holy Family started out well and kept the lead for the entire game. Michael O'Malley, Brian Culabro, and Ted Knoop controlled the backboards while Phil Catery, and Kevin Heibling played great defense. High scorer for Holy Family was Michael O'Malley with 10 points. Also scoring for the Eagles were: Greg Schantzler 7 points, Ted Knoop 4 points, Wayne Rothchild 5 points, Jason Kingsley 4 points, Ken Davis 2 points, and Chris Doyle 2 points.

On February 9, Holy Family traveled to Oyster Bay to play a tough St. Dominic's team and though the game was very close the Eagles lost 38-36.

St. Dominics started out very strong and was leading by a score of 16-4 in the beginning of the second quarter. Ted Knoop who seemed to be getting all the rebounds scored 5 quick points in the second period to help get the score closer to St. Dominics. Mike Murray came on strong in the third period by scoring 6 quick points and grabbing numerous rebounds. In the fourth period Ted Knoop scored 7 point and Greg Schantzler scored 6 points to help bring the Eagles only 2 points behind the St. Dominics team. The Eagles took the last shot of the game with one second left but unfortunately missed and lost the game 38-36. Strong defense by Jason Kingsley and good passing by Wayne Rothchild helped the Eagles make a strong bid to overcome the big lead by St. Dominics.

Ted Knoop led all scorers with 14 points, he also had 14 rebounds despite the fact he missed part of the game with foul trouble. Also scoring for the Eagles were Mike Murray 6 points, Greg Schantzler 6 points, Wayne Rothchild 4 points, Ken Davis 2 points, and Michael O'Malley 2 points.

The Royal Puppet Theatre has performed in many schools and libraries throughout the New York metropolitan area, and provides a show that infuses this memorable classic with sparkling vitality.

Calling all fourth and fifth graders—become storytellers! Have fun, entertain your friends, and win prizes too! Join the Long Island Storytelling Contest at the Bethpage Public Library or at your school.

All you have to do is learn a folk or fairytale to share with your family and friends. Your school and public librarians will help you select stories and special after-school coaching sessions will be held during January, February and March at the Bethpage Public Library.

Each contestant on the school level will win a Certificate of Participation and a coupon for a Burger King Whopper Sandwich, courtesy of the Burger King Corporation, 4201 Hempstead Turnpike, Bethpage. School run-offs will be held during the week of March 17.

Prizes for school winners will include a $50 U.S. EE Savings Bond awarded by Citibank, 1125 Old Country Road, Plainview. The Grand Finale and judging will be held at the Bethpage Public Library on Saturday, April 5, at 2 p.m. At this time, the Citibank savings bonds will be presented, and the all-district winners will receive their trophies also provided by Citibank. Families and friends of the school winner are invited to the Grand Finale, and refreshments will be served.

The craft fun will be taught by Maureen Breidenbach, Public Information Coordinator for 4-H. The program will begin at 2 p.m. and is open to youngsters in grades 3-6 who reside in District #21. ## Letters

To the Editor:

There is a condition existing in our community which I feel is endangering the health and safety of our children. A bus has consistently jeopardized our children.

The bus has had numerous drivers causing it to be constantly late. Children are forced to wait in inclement weather for a bus which may arrive after 9 a.m. School starts at 8:50 a.m. The bus has broken down and run out of gas twice. Once when it ran out of gas the children were on the bus. The driver left the children with a stranger to supervise them while he went for gas. This week the bus didn't arrive because the driver had the flu.

As a tax-paying resident of Hicksville, I feel I am entitled to Safe and Reliable transportation for my children. At the present time bids for transportation within the school district are being accepted. It is my hope that the Purchasing Department of the district will award the contract for transporting our children to a company which is ultimately concerned with the welfare of our children.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Donna Conk

BS Rep. Speaks To Kiwanis Club

At the February 5 meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club, the members heard Ms. Doris Brennan, an Exploring Executive with the Nassau County Council, Boy Scouts of America, discuss her "Career Awareness Exploring" program.

This program is a fairly recent addition to the activities for Explorer age young adults, and is being used by, or made available to, many Junior and Senior High School students in Nassau County.

Ms. Brennan explained that Career Awareness Exploring is a series of career seminars conducted on school time, usually in the classroom. The students fill out a career interest survey to indicate their top career interests. Results of the survey are tabulated and used as a base for choosing seminar topics. School counselors and BSA Exploring staff members work together on planning the seminars, and the speakers are recruited and provided by the BSA Council. Speakers are asked to give a brief overview of their jobs, review the requirements and education necessary, discuss the advantages and disadvantages of the job, and give information on trends, steps to take now to prepare and where further information can be found. Schools using the program have reported considerable interest on the part of both the students and staff.

School Closings An Early Decision

Falling snow, or even the threat of bad weather, puts Hicksville school district personnel on the alert to gather the information needed to make that important decision: Should we close the schools for the day?

The process begins at 4:30 a.m. when the Superintendent listens to weather reports to determine the trends noted by forecasters. By 5 a.m., the Assistant Director of Facilities and Operations and a member of his crew, both Hicksville residents, compare notes on local weather conditions. Crews operating the district's 11 snow plows are ready to work by 5:30 a.m. and they communicate in-site information about road and traffic conditions. Also at 6:30 a.m. Superintendents in the same locale, having the same certain share information and confer about the decision to give a choice that must be made by 6 a.m.

Unless a heavy storm begins in the evening, allowing plenty of time for notification about closings, the decision must be made by 6 a.m. so that bus companies can be called, and radio stations carrying school closing information can be contacted. Teachers and administrators must also be called before they leave for school. At this point, the machinery which has been put into motion cannot be stopped and the decision to open or close has been set.

"Local district superintendents have to make their decision by 6 a.m., but it's possible that conditions might change for the worse after that time," noted Hicksville Superintendent of Schools Dr. Catherine J. Fenton. "If the snowfall intensifies or road conditions become difficult between 6 and 9 a.m., the parents then must determine whether they want to send their children to school."

"This is a particular problem in the case of afternoon kindergarten classes," Dr. Fenton explained. "If schools are opened in the morning, I would not want to cancel afternoon classes, and risk having a parent miss the message and send a child to school. The youngster might be stranded with no way to get home again, so we will keep the classes open and let parents decide."

Hicksville Soccer Indoor Tourney

By Karen Blicher

Last weekend, the Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 travelling soccer team made a short journey to Island Trees for the Sue Link Memorial Tournament. The team was divided into morning and afternoon sessions.

The morning team, Hicksville "A", finished in first place going into the Semi Finals with 3 wins, no losses and 2 ties. However, in the Semis against Island Trees, the Shamrocks narrowly lost by a 2-1 score, for an overall 4th place finish but still assuring them of the coveted trophy. Leading goal scorers were: Chris Doyle 4, Eric Blicher 2, Gregg Grusso 1. Fantastic goaltending by Eddie Jacobsen, as well as skillful, gritty play by Ted Knopp, Matt Pordum and Jason Kingsley, rounded out the impressive Hicksville lineup. Congrats to coach Pat Harkins and the boys for an exciting tourney.

The afternoon team, Hicksville "B", finished in fourth place, also trophy winners. They were hampered by only having five players for the majority of their games, making their finish all the more unbelievable! Leading goal scorers were: Domenic Perillo 3, Brian Sierra 2, David Lovato 2 and Brian Harkins 1. Top notch goaltending by Brian Pine, ably assisted by Chuck Oliver made for a truly exciting finish to a successful day. Congrats to coach Denise Harkins and the boys for the never say die spirit and get well to Brian Harkins who was injured during the tourney.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Report any excess income promptly

benefits on my account? — V.C.

Q. No. Your wife will be eligible to receive benefits on your account when she is age 62, or age 60 if you die.

To be eligible prior to age 62 (or 60), she would have to have a child under 16 or a disabled adult in her care.

Q. My ex-husband passed away and our two children are receiving Social Security benefits based on his work. He had remarried and his second wife is also receiving benefits for herself and her two children from a previous marriage.

This isn't fair, since they are not his natural children and they receive support from their father. His second marriage was about a year before he died and he didn't adopt his stepchildren. — R.V.

A. The law makes no distinction between natural children and stepchildren in death cases, provided the marriage of the wage-earner to the natural parent of the stepchildren had been in effect for at least nine months prior to death (three months if death was accidental or occurred in the line of duty as a member of a uniformed service on active duty).

Q. I am 64 and have been receiving benefits since I was age 62. I worked part time last year and I expected to make about $5,000. I actually made $6,500. What should I do? — K.C.

A. The allowable earnings limit for people under 65 for 1985 was $5,400. You should have notified the Social Security Administration as soon as you expected to exceed that amount. You could have prevented an overpayment by doing that.

You will have to file an annual report of earnings for 1985 with Social Security on or before April 16, 1986. You will also have to repay $550 in overpayments received in 1985.

Q. I am 72 years of age. I was married in 1968 and divorced in 1976. Am I entitled to Social Security benefits from my divorced husband? He is retired and drawing benefits. — B.L.

A. No. At least not from that particular ex-husband, since you were married to him for less than 10 years.

Q. I am receiving Social Security disability benefits. My wife is 46 and we have no children. Is my wife entitled to receive

Plate not an authentic Dresden

By James G. McCollam

Q The back of this plate is marked with a Crown, Dresden and Germany.

Can you tell me who made it, when and its value?

A Your plate was made in Dresden by Donath during the early 20th century. This is not to be confused with the authentic Dresden made by the Royal Saxony Manufactory. It would sell for $65 to $75.

Q I see a lot of old barber bottles at antique shows and flea markets. Some of them are priced well over $100. What is the story about old barber bottles?

A All barber shop equipment is a very popular field of collectibles, but the fancy bottles are by far the most decorative. Here are some current prices:

- Amber hobnail, 7 inches — $65
- Light green, red and white enameled flowers — $45
- Amethyst with white flowers, 7 inches — $60
- Light green, orange and white flowers — $125

- Clambroth, wick hazel — $45
- Cobalt blue, lilies of the valley — $185
- Cobalt blue, white flowers — $175
- Milk glass, flowers, 10 inches — $265

Q What can you tell me about my 5-inch porcelain figurine of a peasant girl with a basket? Her dress is white.

I am enclosing a copy of the mark on the bottom.

A Your figurine was made by the Gebrüder Heubach in Koppelsdorf, Germany, during the late 19th century. It would sell for about $225 to $250.

Kaleidoscope Dancers At Plainview Library

Kaleidoscope Dancers

A performance by the Kaleidoscope Dancers on Saturday, February 20, will be the fourth program in the children's 1985-86 "Music-Go-Round" series, according to Oyster Bay Town Councilman John Venditto.

Founded in 1974, the Kaleidoscope Dancers is a unique company of adults that choreographs and performs programs specifically for children. Venditto stated, "The group presents in-school performances and workshops for kindergarten through sixth grade and also performs at theatres, hospitals, community centers, libraries, museums and parks in the New York metropolitan area."

"Audience participation is an integral part of each performance and children are encouraged to join the dancers on stage for the grand finale," Venditto continued. "The dances are accompanied by a wide variety of music ranging from live instruments to voice chani to recordings."

The program, which is the fourth in the series of 10 being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Department of Community Services, will be held at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library, 999 Old Country Road, Plainview, on Saturday, February 20, beginning at 2 p.m. For further information, contact CAPA at 795-5943.

"The 'Music-Go-Round' series met with such success in its first season that it has been expanded from five to ten programs this year," Venditto stated. "In addition to this dance program, future offerings will include a beginner's look at opera, a folk music concert, an introduction to Latin music and a program of compositions inspired by children as well as more dance programs."

Fork La. Teacher Shares A Letter

Story by A. Eichenauer

I am sure that none of us will ever forget that tragedy that took place on January 28. It will be something we will all remember for the rest of our lives.

In view of this devastating event a parent at Fork Lane School wrote this letter to first grade teacher Mrs. Mary Schreck.

With the permission of the writer Patricia Carsten, Mrs. Schreck would like to share this with the rest of her colleagues in Hicksville.

The letter reads as follows:

January 28, 1986

Dear Mrs. Schreck:

In view of the tragic accident aboard the Challenger this morning, I felt compelled to drop you a few lines.

I wish to extend my condolences to you as an educator in the loss of one of your colleagues, Christa McAuliffe, first teacher, first civilian in space.

We have all come to take for granted each historic flight of the shuttle as common place and ordinary. Unfortunately, a devastating accident such as this snaps us back to reality.

It is hard to believe that John Glenn was the first American to orbit the earth a scant 20 years ago and that only 16 years ago another crew was lost at the launchpad.

Nothing of any real value is without certain risks. Certainly being an explorer is risky business.

I'm sure that the past year was probably the most exciting of Mrs. McAuliffe's life.

I was filled with pride and envy when she was chosen for this mission. How wonderful to have a dream come true. How unfortunate the dream ended all too soon.

kindest Regards,
Patricia Carsten

Thank you Mrs. Carsten for allowing us to share this with everyone in Hicksville.

P.O. Explains Mailing Choices

Additional knowledge can help you get better service and more for your money when choosing services at the post office.

That's the word from Hicksville Postmaster Roger Nienaber, who says, "many people are unsure of what postal option will best suit their needs. They may not make the best buy and, in addition, if they know more it can shorten time spent waiting."

The solution, the postmaster says, is for customers to be aware of what delivery services their postal dollar can buy and the differences between them. All fees listed are in addition to postage:

Certified Mail - Available only for First-Class Mail, it provides the sender with a receipt showing when and where the item was mailed. The fee is 75¢ per piece. In addition, a record of delivery is kept at the recipient's post office.

Return Receipt - This is the sender's proof of delivery. It is available on mail insured for more than $25 and on certified, registered, Collect-on-Delivery (COD) and Express Mail articles. For a 70 cent fee, the return receipt identifies who signed for the item and the date it was delivered. For an additional 20¢, the sender can get a receipt showing the exact address of delivery. Except for Express Mail Service, the sender can also request restricted delivery ($1.25 per piece additional), which means delivery is made only to the addressee or to someone who is authorized in writing to receive mail for the addressee.

Registered Mail - The most secure option offered by the Postal Service, it is designed to provide added protection for valuable and important mail. Postal insurance may be purchased at the option offered by the Postal Service. It is designed to provide added protection for valuable and important mail. Postal insurance may be purchased at the option of the mailer to cover articles valued up to $25,000 at the time of mailing. As an example, an item valued up to $100 would cost $3.60 to go registered mail if it is covered by insurance and $3.55 if it is not. Through a system of receipts, registered articles are monitored from the point of mailing to delivery. Prepaid First-Class postage is required to send anything registered mail.

Certificate of Mailing - This is the answer if the sender needs only a receipt to prove something was mailed. A certificate of mailing does not provide insurance coverage, and no record is maintained at the post office. However, the post office will endorse a certificate of mailing for 45¢ for individually listed pieces of all classes of ordinary mail.

Collect-on-Delivery (COD) - COD service is best when the sender wants to collect for merchandise when it is delivered to the addressee. It may be used for merchandise which must have been ordered by the addressee - sent by parcel post, First Class Mail or third-class mail. Fees charged for this service include insurance protection against loss or damage. COD items may also be sent as registered mail. It is limited, however, to items valued at a maximum of $500 and is not available for international mail.

Another helpful hint: Ask at the post office for a copy of Publication 201, A Consumer's Directory of Postal Services and Products.

'Lady Liberty' At Fork Lane

Story by A. Eichenauer

Wednesday, February 5, at 1:45 p.m. the children of Fork Lane were entertained by the "Theaterworks U.S.A.", who presented Lady Liberty to them.

The production ran about an hour, and it explained to the children how the people of different countries felt and how they were treated when they came to "This Wonderful Country called America."

The actor's tried to get across to the children that back then all the people united as one to help one another. It made no difference if you were Jewish or Irish, Italian or German.

They had a scene that takes place on Ellis Island, where an Italian who's name was too hard for the immigration officer to pronounce, so the officer changed the name to something short and simple. Many, many names were changed as the 6,000 a day filed by. The immigrants were told that in America the streets are paved with gold, and jobs were plentiful. They soon found out that this was all lies, and many returned to their home lands. Men worked for 6 cents to 8 cents an hour and worked 14 hour days.

The immigrants learned English in a hurry in order to survive. Many idea's were stolen from them due to lack of education. Not knowing laws and understanding what they meant and who they were for.

Many good things however came from these hard working people, that make it much easier for us today.

This production was excellent, but to detailed for the young student. I really don't think they understood that most all of their great, great, grandparents came from Europe, and brought with them the wonderful culture, language, foods, religions that we have today.

The cast for this production were as follows:

Maria-Karen Wright; Lucia-Julie Ridge; Stefan-Casey McDonald; Aaron-Samuel D. Cohen; Finkel-Gregory Linus Weiss, Production Stage Manager-Alan Esterby. Book and lyrics by John Allen, Music by Joe Raposo.

Fork Lane P.T.A. would like to "Thank" Roseanne Robey, our cultural arts chairperson and our school district for bringing this program to us.

Special Invitation To Runners

Sponsors of the Plainview Long Island Championship 10-Kilometer Run have issued a special invitation to Hicksville runners to compete in the 9th annual running of that race on Saturday morning, April 5. The Run is being sponsored by the Long Island brokerage firm of David Lerner Associates, in conjunction with Plainview Old Bethpage Road Runners Club.

The Run will begin and finish at H.B. Martin Middle School, located on Washington Avenue in Plainview. The starting gun will go off promptly at 10 a.m. on the morning of April 5.

Among the new features added to the Plainview Run in 1986 are a special post-race drawing for two round-trip tickets to the 1986 San Francisco Marathon. All entrants are eligible to win. Also, instead of the usual T-shirt offered at most races, top-quality long-sleeve sweatshirts will be presented to all runners entering the Run.

Thanks to the generosity of David Lerner Associates, all profits of the Run will be donated to the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Hospital for Special Surgery, Children's Prosthetics and Rehabilitation Foundation. In addition to entering a top-quality running and racing experience, every runner will have the satisfaction of knowing that his entry fee will help a bunch of youngsters who have suffered the misfortunes of cancer and the tragedy of amputation to lead happy, productive, and physically fit lives.

Hicksville runners have always played a big part in our annual Run, observed POBRRC President Mike Polansky, and have been especially prominent on the list of trophy winners. Trophy winners in the 1985 edition of the Run included Hicksville residents Margaret Bertram, who was 5th woman overall and took home the first place trophy in the 20 to 24 age group; Ed Flahavan, who took 4th place in that same age group; and Doug Saxton, who was third in the men's 15 to 19 age group.

The 1986 edition of the Run will once again be administered by Finish Line Promotions. Time splits will be given at each mile marker and police traffic control will be provided throughout the Run. There will be a water station at the halfway mark.

The Plainview course was professionally laid out by David Katz of Finish Line Promotions, assisted by members of the Plainview Old Bethpage Road Runners Club. It provides a dramatic combination of demanding hills and level straightaways through some of the most scenic roads in central Long Island, including a 2.5-mile and a half stretch along Round Swamp Road past the Old Bethpage Village Restoration.

The run is TAC sanctioned and the course has received formal TAC certification, so that personal times achieved in the Run can be used as qualifying for TAC events times throughout the country.

The Plainview Run continues to be generous with trophy awards this year, as awards will be presented to the top five male and top five female finishers in each of eleven age categories. Special trophies will also be awarded to the top three male and female teams, and to the top male and female finishers overall.

The entry fee is $9 for those who pre-register and $11 for those who register on the day of the Run.

For Run Applications or for more information, call Plainview Old Bethpage Road Runners Club President Mike Polansky at 433-0919 or stop in at any of the David Lerner Associates offices throughout Long Island.

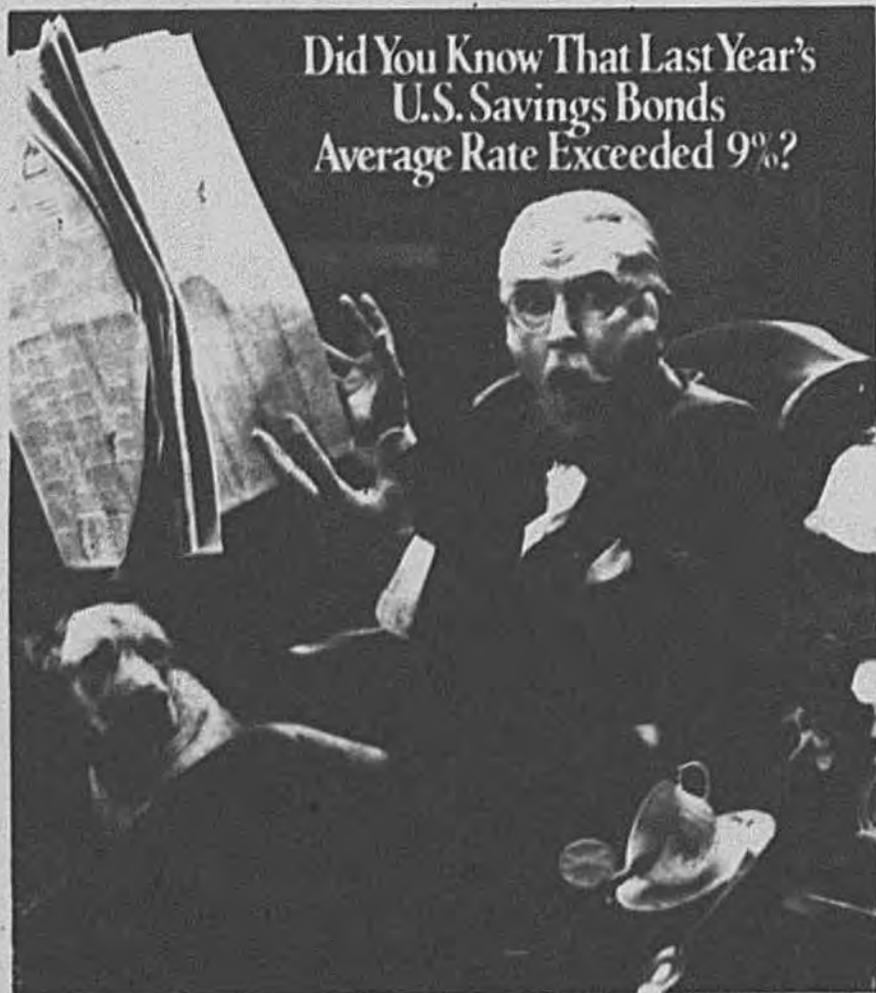

The Plainview Old Bethpage Road Runners Club was pleased to welcome Joe Michaels, President of the Cardiac Runners Association as the featured speaker at POBRRC's January meeting. Michaels, who suffered seven heart attacks and underwent a heart bypass operation in 1986, has since completed more than 165 races, including 13 marathons and 17 ultramarathons. Pictured here, Michaels speaks to the members of POBRRC on the benefits of running for cardiac rehabilitation.

Did You Know That Last Year's U.S. Savings Bonds Average Rate Exceeded 9%?

Many people all over America are surprised when they hear what U.S. Savings Bonds have to offer.

For starters, Savings Bonds give you market-based interest rates—like the money markets—plus the security of a guaranteed return. This means you can earn a lot more than the guaranteed minimum rate of 7½%, but never less! To earn the higher rates, just hold your Bonds for five years or longer.

Here's more surprising news—the interest you earn from Savings Bonds is free from state and local income taxes. And you don't have to pay federal taxes on the interest earned until you cash in your Bonds.

Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too. They cost as little as $25 and can be purchased at most banks and savings and loans. Or through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

All of these advantages are making Savings Bonds an increasingly popular investment. Last year, sales of U.S. Savings Bonds were up nearly 30%!

With all that Savings Bonds have to offer, it's no surprise they're one of the best investments in America. For the current rate, just call toll-free 1-800-US-BONDS.

Market-based interest rates on Bonds purchased on and after 11/30/82 and held at least one year. Bonds purchased before 11/30/82 are subject to the 1982 rate of 7 1/2%.

Callers Think Civilians Should Be In Space

Most callers believe that civilians should still go into space in answer to this question: "Do you think that civilians should be on space shuttle flights?" Here are some of the answers:

FOR THE RIDE

Yes. Of course civilians should go on space shuttle flights. As a matter of fact most of the crew goes along just for the ride. The space craft is actually completely controlled from outside of the craft and the crew just acts as an observer. So why not send regular people on the trips? E.R.

FAMILY RISK

There was really no sense in having a school teacher on the space shuttle flight. This was a public relations plan that lost the life of someone for no real reason. There was nothing that could be gained from the teacher being on board and to take someone from a family and lose her life cannot be justified. Why don't they take someone without a family and let the risk be only that of the individual rather than depriving those children of their mother? J.S.

FUTURE FOR STUDENTS

I think that it is important to have participation by people outside of the space program in order to make the space flights part of something that reflects the image of the entire country. A school teacher was a good choice for the mission and I hope that another teacher will volunteer to go on a mission again. This is a way of uniting generations together in a big mission. It will be up to the students of today to carry on the future flights into space. J.W.

NOT NEEDED

I would rather see no more manned space flights until we have done everything possible without risking lives. The space trips require very little actual skills by the crew but we lost some of the most able people we have in the loss of the Challenger. When you think of all that skill being lost on a single trip it does not seem that it is right to send manned ships into space. K.W.

PUBLIC NEEDED

We should not panic after one disaster and radically scrap an important thing like our space program. If we do not have full participation in the trips then we will finally have no public interest in space and the entire program will suffer. Presently NASA is gathering data and the flights will be much safer from now on. K.O.

GO RIGHT ON

If the flight had gone well we would have all been proud of the astronauts and the teacher and there would be no question of whether civilians should be on the flights or not. To my way of thinking we should simply go right on. There are plenty of people who would volunteer for the next mission and we should go with it just as soon as the problem is solved of why this ship exploded. J.T.

INCLUDE CIVILIANS

I see no valid reason to exclude civilians from space shuttle flights as long as they have a valid reason consistent with the state of the art for being there and make a functional contribution as a member of the crew. I would say that the participation of Senator Jake Garn and most recently the Hughes engineer Gregory Jarvis and teacher Christa McAuliffe fall into that category. We have not yet reached the point where civilians may be accommodated as paying passengers just for kicks, but despite the Challenger tragedy, continued and accelerated development of space transportation will eventually attract more and more commercial interest, support and subsidization requiring on-the-spot participation of corporate engineers and scientists. Right now, the contemplated pay loads for future flights reach astronomical levels and obviously will call for specialized civilian personnel to carry out highly technical consumer related experiments. Furthermore, I would say that as a result of the disaster and the ensuing intensive federal investigation, future NASA shuttle flights will have vastly increased safety factors incorporated into all structural and testing elements. P.G.S.

SECOND GUESS

I guess it's easy to second-guess now but I think it's clear that we have to avoid any space missions and any unnecessary passengers on those missions. It can be summed up best by Gus Yeager, the great test pilot. I heard him on a talk show recently and someone asked him if he had any desire to visit the moon he said "Why, I didn't leave anything there." N.I.

PAST ISSUES

MUST PROTECT

Yes. We must protect people from the cold even when they are unaware of it and are showing that they cannot protect themselves. So many of the people on the streets are mentally incompetent that you must compare their reasoning to that of a child and we would not leave children homeless in the freezing weather. G.Y.

KEEP FREEDOM

This is a case of so many people asking to curtail someone else's freedom because they do not live in a style similar to their own. Many people who are adjudged to need the protection of others do not need it at all and do not want it. I believe that we should draw the line where we see the person is coherent and can speak in sentences and respect their wishes. Many people do not wish to be placed in shelters and are able to take care of themselves even though it will be in a way that most people would feel is not right. We should not interfere with freedom unless it is actually life threatening. J.E.

Sports Safety Is Essential

By Patrice Barry

Want to join MACS? No, it's not a fast food club or disco. It's a new group called Mothers Against Contact Sports! Only requirement is filial love for a sports nut! Aim is to counteract kids (of any age) trying to reverse Mother's Glamorous Hair Dye back to Worried Gray!

This brilliant idea erupted in the Hospital Emergency Room, where my #1 son spent eight hours. His teammate thought "touch football" meant "Karate the other kid". Actually, the ground was wet, a knee shot up into Todd's face, and caused a fractured cheekbone—the blow missed his eye by a breath! After consultation with two orthopedists, three ophthalmologists, and two plastic surgeons, Todd was prepared for his operation. Thankfully, he survived intact, although it resulted in his face looking like a swollen calico pumpkin—purple, orange, red, black, and blue. If it were Halloween, he would not have needed a mask. Oddly enough, if you saw half his face, it appeared normal, like Dr. Jekyll. However, the other half was truly Mr. Hyde—a ghoul-like creation of Hollywood make-up for a monster film! As he recovered, he was not allowed to shave, so he soon became the perfect model for a Smith Brothers Commercial! But the only thing on Todd's mind was, "How soon till I can play contact sports again?" And scientists spend millions trying to discover what makes blood pressure rise!

What really impressed me was Todd's hospital floor. Totally filled with young people with sports injuries. Lying in the next bed, his eye patched from being hit by a racquet ball. Steve had his leg raised from a blood clot, caused by cleats which pierced the leg during a soccer game. Jeff had a sliced tongue from a game of basketball—his IV had just been removed, and he would drink from a straw for months to come.

Across the hall, Matt had a broken leg (football), Joe a broken arm (hockey), Kenny a concussion (baseball) and Tom two broken ribs (basketball). Peter was a strange sight, his teeth knocked out from colliding with a hockey stick—probably affording some happy dentist a trip to Hawaii.

The last patient, Greg, had completed several knee operations, resulting from accumulated sports injuries through the years. And that was only the male section of the rooms I toured!

C'mon, kids, can't you think of any other ways to aggravate your loved ones? You've become like robots with interchangeable parts! All of you are handsome, lovable, full of life and spirit. So why must you use all that energy on something which can cripple you?

Which brings me back to MACS! It would require high school and college students to visit hospitals, aid unfortunate people, talk to them, read to those who cannot see, feed those who cannot move. They could serve others in their own communities, and help their own peers. They could get a healthier respect for life, and learn they are not invulnerable.

On TV, the actors get slugged, beaten and shot; then they jump up with one band-aid, run miles to a car, and fly after each other as if nothing happened. It's not like that in real life! The truth is, when you get hurt, you bleed blood, not ketchup. You don't just throw off your hospital gown, run down 110 flights of stairs, and capture five thugs robbing the bank next door. The truth is that you lie in pain for long hours in an uncomfortable bed, in a drab room, with strangers, bored because there's nothing to do, and you're too drained and sick to do it anyway. You're only a hero if you come out with all your bones healed and moving parts still functioning. The time it takes to be injured, admitted, treated, healed, and discharged, just aren't worth the effort, worry, expense and pain that you and your family suffer.

Perhaps the motto for MACS could be simply, Please be very careful. A lot of people love you, and when you get hurt, a lot of people also feel the pain.

READER RATINGS

Q. Next month my husband and I will be entertaining out of town business associates. While they are here we expect to take them out one evening for dinner. While price is no problem (because the company will cover our expenses), we are a little nervous about where to take them. It is the first time we will be meeting our guests and we have no idea what their tastes are!

A. When you entertain people you do not know well it is best to choose a "classic" restaurant with French or American cuisine, rather than one which serves more specialized food. Once you select a likely place it might be a good idea to try it once before your guests come if you haven't eaten there lately. That way you would make sure the food and service are satisfactory at the present time. Always remember that restaurants can change!

Where Our Readers

Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides - a full listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings"

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

READER RATINGS

GOOD NIGHT

Last Wednesday we decided to follow one of the suggestions in your Reader Ratings. We were mainly satisfied with what we got although the service was a little slow. We went to the Plati-deutsche Park Restaurant in Franklin Square. The place was no stranger to us because we have been there many times before at catered affairs. But this time we went to the smaller restaurant and had sauerbraten. Considering that the check was reduced because we had four in the party eating sauerbraten and they gave us all of the salad we could ever eat it was a very good night both in food and cost. J.H.

Q. Can you tell me what the letters "VO" mean on a bottle of cognac?

A. They stand for "very old", meaning the brandy was ten years old when it was bottled. The initials "VVO" or "VSO" indicate it was fifteen years old, while "VSOP" mean twenty years old. The longer cognac is allowed to "age", i.e. to mellow in wooden casks, the better it is considered to be. It does not improve once it has been bottled.

ORIGINAL MENUS
 A fine new restaurant in add to the many fine restaurants in Williston Park is called "Your Place or Mine". This small restaurant is tremendously big on doing things better than elsewhere. It features original arrangements of vegetables and salads.

Its entrees have special extras which make them seem so much nicer than at other places. My husband, who loves beef, found that a steak at Your Place or Mine was different and better than at other restaurants, even the very good places. The desserts are great too. I recommend this to all of your readers. Even though I am not a famous restaurant critic I know good food when I eat it. F.K.

Think healthy and eat accordingly

By Verne Palmer

Here we are, well launched into 1986. And how are you doing with your New Year's resolutions? Are you losing as much weight as you promised yourself you would? Are you keeping to the exercise schedule you set up on Jan. 1?

The holidays are just a memory now and they were wonderful times, but few of us could afford to dwell within their laissez faire confines for long.

The obligatory overindulging, hectic pace and shortened nights often leave behind a "hangover" of a kind that has nothing to do with excesses of a bottled nature.

It's a direct result of too much sugar topped off by too much fat, and if there's any question as to whether you're guilty of this kind of overindulgence, drop in on your bathroom scale for a consultation.

The antidote to "post-holiday hangover" is easy and welcome — return to healthful eating, regular exercise and a more moderate lifestyle.

At the dinner table and in between, that means a return to whole grains, fresh fruits and vegetables and lean meats. For health professionals it's almost a litany.

Come dinnertime, chicken, turkey, fish and lean beef are the order of the day, simply seasoned with low-fat spices, herbs and wine. Accompany the meat of choice with a variety of fresh vegetables and rice or pasta, or serve atop an oat-rich pizza crust.

The dishes that follow were chosen on the basis of flavor and good nutrition, not to fit within any particular dietary restriction. However, calorie, sodium and cholesterol counts are provided where available.

TANGY ORIENTAL CHICKEN

- 1 cup vegetable cocktail juice
- 1 tbsp. light soy sauce
- 1 tbsp. cornstarch
- ¼ tsp. grated fresh ginger root or ¼ tsp. ground ginger
- 2 tbsps. salad oil

- 1 medium red pepper, cut in 1-inch pieces
- 1½ cups (about 4 oz.) fresh snow peas
- ¼ cup sliced green onions
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced
- Hot cooked rice

In small bowl, stir together vegetable juice, soy sauce, cornstarch and ginger root; set aside.

In wok or 10-inch skillet over medium heat, in hot oil, stir-fry chicken 3 minutes. With slotted spoon remove chicken to platter; keep warm.

To skillet, add vegetables and garlic; stir-fry until all vegetables are tender-crisp.

Return chicken to skillet; add vegetable juice mixture. Reduce heat to low, cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens.

Serve over rice.

Thaw spinach, reserving liquid. Heat oven to 375 F. Sauté mushrooms and onions in margarine over medium heat 3 to 4 minutes. Add oats, egg, salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, reserved spinach and liquid; mix well. Divide spinach mixture evenly among fillets, spreading to within ¼ inch of edges. Roll up; place seam side down in 13x9-inch glass baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons lemon juice; dust with paprika. Bake 25 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork.

microwave magic

Cottage cheese

By Desiree Vivea

Chances are you have a container of cottage cheese in your fridge right now. It's great stuff. A quick shot of protein is just a few spoonfuls away. And because the flavor is about as mild and bland as a flavor can get, cottage cheese goes with almost anything.

Try a healthy scoopful in half an avocado for a quick lunchtime salad. Serve it with fruit salad, over lettuce with a dab of French dressing, sprinkled with sunflower seeds, or just by itself.

Cottage cheese is one of the simplest cheeses ever created by man. It's prepared from skim milk (fresh or dried), lactic bacteria (to make it curdle) and salt. The cheese consists of unripened, uncured curds that vary in size and creaminess. Most commercial cottage cheese is "creamed" with the addition of cream, or milk, or both.

A 2-ounce serving of cottage cheese contains about the same amount of protein as an 8-ounce glass of milk — but the cheese contains less in the way of vitamins and minerals, and should not be thought of as a substitute for milk.

Cottage cheese is great in a microwaved casserole, blending well with meats, vegetables, pasta and other cheeses. Try the following recipes, and you'll be surprised at what cottage cheese can do.

CREAMY NOODLE-CHEESE BAKE

- 8 oz. wide egg noodles, cooked
- 1½ cups cottage cheese
- 1½ cups sour cream
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 2 tbsps. chopped fresh parsley
- ¼ tsp. ground white pepper
- Dash paprika

In 3-quart glass casserole combine cooked noodles, cottage cheese, sour cream, Parmesan cheese and garlic. Stir to blend; set aside.

Combine minced onion and butter or margarine in 2-cup glass measure. Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 2 to 3 minutes, stirring once, until onions are tender.

Stir sautéed onions into noodle mixture with chopped parsley and ground white pepper. Sprinkle top lightly with paprika.

Cover and microwave on ME-

DIUM-HIGH (70 percent power) 10 to 12 minutes, until sauce is set and casserole is heated through. Let stand, covered, 5 to 10 minutes before serving.
Serves 4 to 6.

ZUCCHINI-CORN DELIGHT

- 1 (12 oz.) can corn, drained
- 1½ cups cottage cheese
- 2 eggs
- ¼ cup sour cream
- 2 tbsps. flour
- ¼ tsp. dried leaf basil
- ¼ tsp. each garlic salt and pepper
- 5 medium-size zucchini
- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
- ½ cup shredded cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese

In medium-size mixing bowl combine corn, cottage cheese, eggs, sour cream, flour, basil, garlic salt and pepper. Stir to blend; set aside.

Wash zucchini, trim off ends and slice. Place in 2-quart glass casserole with butter or margarine. Microwave, uncovered, 6 minutes on HIGH (100 percent power), stirring every 2 minutes.

Pour corn/cottage cheese mixture over zucchini. Sprinkle evenly with bread crumbs and top with cheese.

Microwave on HIGH 6 to 8 minutes, until cheese bubbles and dish is heated through.
Serves 4.

THREE-CHEESE SPINACH

- 2 (10 oz.) pkgs. frozen chopped spinach
- 2 cups cottage cheese
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- ½ cup grated Swiss cheese

Place spinach in 1½-quart glass casserole dish. Cover and microwave 7 to 9 minutes on HIGH (100 percent power), stirring every 3 minutes. Drain.

Stir in cottage cheese, Parmesan cheese and eggs, blending well.

Microwave, uncovered, on HIGH 10 to 12 minutes, rotating dish ¼-turn every 4 minutes, until heated through.

Sprinkle grated Swiss cheese over top and microwave 1 minute longer on HIGH. Let stand several minutes before serving.
Serves 6.

On thin skewers (preferably wood), alternate pieces of chicken with scallion, bell pepper and water chestnuts, in any order desired.

Pour teriyaki sauce into shallow pan large enough to accommodate skewers, and roll skewered ingredients briefly in sauce.

Cook 5 to 10 minutes over charcoal or under broiler, 2 to 3 inches from source of heat, turning once, until chicken is almost cooked through.

Baste skewered ingredients thoroughly with teriyaki glaze and cook 30 seconds or so more, turning frequently.

How to stretch space, function

By Barbara Hartung

Q. I am moving into my own one-bedroom apartment and want to buy furniture. I expect that I will have guests visiting me for short stays now that I am out of grad school and working in a new job.

I want masculine, easy-care kinds of furnishings with an emphasis on comfort. I'll be starting with the living room because I have some bedroom furniture.

What type of furniture should I buy? — R.P.

A. You probably should keep in mind that dual-purpose furniture is a terrific help in stretching space and function, especially in a one-bedroom apartment where you want to entertain friends and relax yourself.

This can be accomplished in a number of ways — basket hampers for end tables that open up to provide storage, storage trunks that are decorative and can hold guest bedding, and, of course, sofa beds.

If you were to choose a modular seating group that you could arrange around a large television screen, your seating could include end arm units with hidden recliners for relaxing and a seating unit that could make into a queen-size bed.

Seating modules in a neutral yet interestingly textured fabric would give you a quiet background for living and entertaining. Add bursts of color and design with soft sofa pillows in shades you want to repeat in your accessories and on the walls.

Choose a large coffee table for the center of your modular seating and see that the table has a top that isn't easy to damage. Plastic laminate and glass are probably the two best choices for a coffee table that will be used often and with food and drink.

Q. We have a guest room that we want to convert into a mini gym. But we still want to be able to accommodate guests on occasion.

I have considered rollaway beds, but they take up a considerable amount of storage. Do you have any ideas short of a sofa bed, which is probably the most logical choice? — K.T.

A. Have you ever considered offering your guests futons? Those marvelous roll-up mattresses with comforters can be just terrific for the occasional guest.

The only drawback, as I see it, is that your guests need to be fairly nimble to sleep on the floor and get up easily. If your guests are elderly, you probably won't want a futon. But for those who are a bit adventurous, futons are fun and look great.

You can buy the mattresses in a variety of wonderful fabrics with matching comforters or contrasting ones.

If your space is limited you could roll up the futons and fold the comforters for storage. Or you can fold the futon into an S-form and use it as seating by day.

Q. We have an entry hall in our home with the living room to the right and the dining room to the left.

Should the living and dining rooms as well as the entry be in the same color scheme? I have seen some homes done in this fashion and it seems dull and uninteresting. — T.B.M.

A. I believe most interior designers try to work from the same general color scheme when they are creating rooms that blend into each other.

For example, if you are in the living room and your eye can take you into the entry and the dining room, you have one continuous space, despite some delineation of walls. The result doesn't have to be dull, however.

Let's say you chose one color scheme of rose, turquoise, green, cream and beige. You might have soft rose carpeting in the living room with painted beige walls, a floral wallpaper in turquoise and rose in the dining room with an Oriental rug in some of the same colors.

In the entry area you might have nothing on the floor, leaving wood exposed.

If you wanted decoration on the walls, you might do a striped wallpaper in a beige and pale turquoise with accents of rose. The trick here is to vary the color scheme in many ways using interesting textures and quality designs.

EMPHASIS ON COMFORT — A sectional in a subtly textured diagonal-striped fabric in oatmeal tones dominates this room which has a giant television screen at one end. The functional seating includes end units that hide recliners and a seating unit that converts to a queen-size bed. Modular seating units by Barcalounger.

DRAMATIC SCHEME — A dramatic decorating scheme is created using three John Wolf coordinated fabric patterns — one, a bold floral, on the comforter, a second on the dust ruffle, walls and shirred wall, and a third in the balloon shade at the window.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. The cement on our terrace and walks is badly cracked and discolored. Could you suggest a covering or treatment for it? We would like something that would be inconspicuous. — Mrs. Gladys W.

A. A thin surface of new concrete can be put over an old, thick surface if a bonding material is applied to the old finish, or in some cases, if the binder is added to the new mixture.

In repairing concrete, the cracks should be cleaned of all loose chips or debris and soaked with water before applying the patching material.

Or another method: You can repair the cracked surface fairly easily by brush coating it with a resurfacing product. To do this you mix the resurfacer to a thick paintlike consistency. Spray the area to dampen it, but remove any standing water. Pour the resurfacing mixture onto the walk and terrace and spread it with a soft push broom.

After the mix is spread out in a thin coat, use parallel strokes of the broom to create an even surface texture.

Q. We hope you can help. Here's the problem: We have a large Oriental rug, all cotton, 12x14 feet, that is badly faded. The underside is beautiful and bright, as the floral pattern is the same on both sides.

Could the binding be removed and sewed on the top side edges? If so, could you recommend someone who does this type of work?

A. Consult the Yellow Pages of the telephone directory for professionals who do rug cleaning and repair of rugs and carpets. Your problem needs the attention and advice of an expert.

Q. My problem is a leak in my patio roof, with which I've been bothered the last 15 years. At one time I had this patio covered with some kind of waterproof paint, but after the first rain it peeled terribly and the leak was back. I contacted the contractor who put on another coat, but this did not hold up either.

A year later I contracted with a roofer and he put on a "traffic" top roof with large sheets of compressed material. He gave me a 10-year guarantee and it cost me $1,300. But about six months later, it leaked. I approached him and he got very angry and said, "This is the first time a thing like this has happened." In any event, he did nothing, and I guess I could have taken him to court, but didn't.

About two or three years later, I had another contractor put on some kind of pemice stone cement about three inches thick, after which he coated the surface with a waterproof material. It did not leak for about a year, but now it is leaking and chipping and the contractor who did the cement work is not around.

Would you suggest that I rip up the cement and have someone reseat the surface? I would appreciate your advice. — Thomas P.

A. You've certainly had your problems with contractors. Without an inspection, it is impossible to offer a certain remedy for your troubles, but I do have a few suggestions.

You might remove the present roof and replace it with a fiber glass covering. Possibly your problem may be due to the foundation or framing for the roofing, and moisture works up from the underside. If the foundation is unstable, this causes cracks in any type of cement roofing.

Another suggestion is to cover the roof with a marine-type deck canvas. If you get another contractor to do the work, make sure he is a reputable, qualified licensed contractor.

• Stand-Buys Guarantee — For adults who can travel on short notice, a stand-by club or program can save significantly on tour programs, cruises and air travel.

Stand-Buys Ltd., Chicago, has come up with a "double your money back" guarantee that they will provide members with the lowest prices on travel programs offered. The guarantee covers the difference between the rate paid by the club member and that of another passenger, provided the tickets were purchased at the same time.

Membership in Stand-Buys is $45 annually, and includes access to an unlisted "hot line" telephone number where the member will learn of 15 to 20 tour options offered. Departures for the trips offered range from several days to eight weeks.

The club claims that membership discounts on the tours and cruises offered range from 15 percent to 70 percent.

Information on the Stand-Buys program is available by phoning toll-free to 1-800-255-0200, or by writing Stand-Buys Ltd., Department R75, 311 West Superior, Suite 414, Chicago, IL 60610.

• Continental Airlines has just announced a very special fare for people age 65 and over, if you can travel now. Valid through March 5, 1986, the special fare is $85 to anywhere on the Continental route. Travel must be on Tuesday or Wednesday and there is a 14-day advance ticket purchase requirement.

Senior citizens age 62 and over can purchase an annual passport for themselves plus a travel companion of any age. There are a few restrictions on the number of times a trip may be taken to the same destination, certain blackout periods, and regulations on the time for reservations.

The program also has tie-in discount opportunities for hotel, auto rental, attraction and commuter airline discounts.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: Last summer while on vacation I met a real nice girl and we decided to write to each other since we live over 1,000 miles from each other and she lives in Canada.

We write every week but sometimes I think I'm wasting my time because my chances of seeing her again are slim and none. Also, if I get a girlfriend in Waukegan, I'm sure she will be jealous of my Canadian friend.

What should I do? I consider her a good friend and do enjoy writing. — Bobby.

Bobby Good friends should never be forgotten. Keep writing (consider her a pen pal) and enjoying the friendship. Many teens have steady girlfriends and boyfriends and also enjoy the relationship of a pen pal.

Dr. Wallace: I am 14 and my parents refuse to allow me to go to school dances. I've explained that they are well chaperoned but they still say no.

My best friend says that I should spend the night with her and go to the dance, but if my parents ever found out I would be in a big, big trouble. Help! — Christie.

Christie Talk with your counselor or principal and ask if your parents could chaperone or at least attend a school dance so they can see for themselves what takes place.

Personally, I can't think of a better place for a teen to spend an evening than at a chaperoned function held at a school.

Dr. Wallace: I had a drug problem and was assigned to a drug abuse education program. It changed my life and I am now an ex-drug user.

I'd like to share the 13 "Do you have a drug problem?" questions I learned about in the program. If a teen answers yes to one or more of these questions, he or she may have a drug abuse problem. In my case I said yes to 10 of these questions.

I hope this quiz can make teens realize they may have a drug problem and seek help. — Brian.

— Do you ever stay home from work or school because of drugs?

— Is drug abuse causing trouble in your family?

— Do you take drugs to escape your problems?

— Do you have blackouts, loss of memory of events that happened or of your actions while under the influence?

— Do you feel guilty after using drugs?

— Do you need to have drugs at a certain time every day?

— Has a doctor ever treated you for drug-induced problems?

— Do you wish you could quit the compulsion to take drugs and can't?

— Do you have to keep taking drugs once you have started?

— Have you had an accident because of drugs?

— Have you ever been arrested for being under the influence of drugs while driving?

— Does your family want you to stop taking drugs?

— If you stopped taking drugs would your life become more manageable?

Brian Thanks for taking the time to help your fellow teens and for sharing your story that the drug habit can be beaten.

Dr. Wallace: Please settle a family argument. My mother and brother say that camels store water in their humps. My dad and I say that camels don't store water at all (I learned it in school).

Please tell Mother dear and Brother "know-it-all" that, as usual, dear old Dad and I have won again. We also win when we play Trivial Pursuit. — Connie.

Connie A camel's hump contains fat, not water. The camel lives on this fat when he can't find food in the desert. The camel can live in the desert for three weeks without a drop of water. Then, when he does take a drink at an oasis, he will guzzle enough water to fill a bathtub.

Dr. Wallace: All the guys in my class at school are shaving. I've got a light mustache and I'd like to shave it off because some of the guys make fun of me by calling me Gropcho Marx.

My mother doesn't want me to shave because she said my whiskers will grow back much thicker. I don't care how thick they grow because I can always shave them off again.

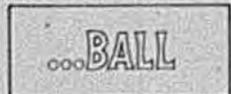

I know you can't "help" me but I would like your thoughts. If I like them, I'll show my mother. — Tim.

Tim I agree that the time has come for you to take razor in hand, lather up and cut away! No teen should be put to ridicule by his peers because of parental misguidance.

Shaving will not cause the hair to grow back thicker. If it did, a lot of men would be shaving their heads.

Take injured dog to veterinarian

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our neighbor recently hit our 3-year-old cocker spaniel with her car.

At the time of the accident, it did not appear that the dog was injured. Now the dog cannot support the weight of her body on her right front leg. Whenever our dog carries her leg, she does not seem to be in pain.

Is it possible that the leg is broken? If so, is it too late to do anything about it?

A. There are many possible reasons for your dog carrying her right front leg. The behavior may or may not be related to the earlier accident.

Without actually examining your dog, it is impossible to tell if the leg is broken. You should take your dog to a local veterinarian for a thorough physical examination and treatment.

Most bone fractures in dogs are caused by some form of violence - automobile accidents, sharp blows or kicks, and injuries resulting from jumping or falling off high objects.

Signs of bone fracture include the following: intense pain and swelling in the affected area, limping, loss of function of the broken limb, bones protruding from the skin and abnormal angulation of the broken limb. It is often necessary to use X-rays in diagnosing fractures.

There are three types of fractures: simple fractures, compound fractures and comminuted fractures.

With simple fractures there is one complete, clean break of the bone and neither of the fractured bone ends protrudes through the overlying muscles and skin.

Compound fractures are those breaks in which a portion of the broken bone protrudes through a laceration in the overlying muscles and skin. Usually the fractured bone end can be seen. Because the skin is torn with compound fractures, infection of the wound and of the bone itself often results. Infections of the bone are very serious and if not properly cared for may result in loss of the affected limb.

With comminuted fractures, the bone is fractured in several places instead of a nice, clean, single break. Comminuted fractures often occur following crushing types of accidents and may be simple or compound.

Fractures, whatever the type, are serious, and dogs with fractured limbs should be taken promptly to a veterinarian. Care should be taken to protect the fractured limb while transporting the dog - keeping the dog quiet and inactive is most important. A homemade splint can be improvised if the dog must be transported a long distance, but never try to reset a fracture - bones should only be reset after careful evaluation by a professional.

Anesthesia is usually required to reset a fracture and to apply a cast or other fixation device. Most bone fractures heal well if properly handled.

You have been telling everyone you meet that you have the "World's Greatest Grandchildren." You've been carrying pictures around with you and finding people to look at them. We have a better answer!
