Registration This Wed. For April 16 Library Vote

Hicksville residents can register to vote on the annual Library budget this Wednesday, April 9, between the hours of 3 and 8 p.m. at the Library located on Jerusalem Avenue and Second Street. Registration is not required if you have voted in a general election within the past two years.

Voting will take place on Wednesday, April 16 on the $1,210,251.16 budget and one seat on the Library Board of Trustees. Mrs. Josephine Buckner, the incumbent, is running for the five year term unopposed. Anyone wishing to register or vote but without transportation can call the Library, 931-1417, the day before or Wednesday morning and a ride will be provided.

'Kids Pix' Preview At OCR

Hundreds of Hicksville school children smiled for the camera at the Old Country Road School as they took part in "Kids Pix" a pilot program sponsored by Nassau County Police Department and funded in part by the Long Island Lighting Company.

The program is expected to provide free laminated identification cards to the parents of about 100,000 children throughout Nassau County. Half of the $30,000 needed to begin the program was donated by LILCO. Similar to the free fingerprint program first offered by the Nassau Police three years ago, "Kids Pix" is supervised by the police and implemented by community volunteers. These volunteers are trained in the use of Polaroid cameras and the lamination process.

Each identification card has a color picture of the child on one side and pertinent information - such as age, height, weight, eye color and hair color - about the child on the other. The cards are given to the child's parents; neither the police nor the school retains a copy.

While the program is being conducted primarily in the schools, interested community groups should contact the Nassau Police public information department at 535-7135 to set up a volunteer training program for "Kids Pix" in their area.

This Issue

This week's issue is complete in three sections. The main news section contains all of the local news stories and photos. The second section is our regular Spring edition which contains many ideas for enjoying this special season called Spring.

The third section is the Discovery Magazine section which contains stories that should be of interest to every member of the family along with the largest local classified section on Long Island.

Museum Offers Science Workshops

This Spring the Hicksville Gregory Museum is offering Science workshops for children 8-12 years old. Its purpose is to promote an awareness and respect for nature and our planet earth.

"Insect Masquerade" will be held April 5 at 1:30. They will learn how mimicry and deception make insects the most successful animals on earth.

The next workshop "Rock Stars" April 19 at 1:30. This program will give the children the opportunity to learn all about geology from instructor Mr. Schuler from L.I. Mineral Club.

During July and August the museum will offer two summer workshops: "Jr. Entomologist" and "Natures Colors" the ancient art of making dyes from plants.

Please call 822-7505 to register or you may register at the museum Tuesday-Friday, 9:30-4:30. Weekends 1-5. The Hicksville Gregory Museum is located at Heitz Place, Hicksville, east of Broadway and south of Woodbury Road.

Trinity Lutheran Blood Drive

We invite your participation in our Blood Drive on Sunday, April 20, from 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Please join us in sharing our love and life with a brother, friend, or neighbor, by donating a pint of blood.

Trinity Lutheran Church is located at 40 West Nicholas Street, two blocks north of Old Country Road, between Broadway and Jerusalem Avenue.

Hicksville Board OKs Trans. Referendum

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Traxler

In response to a call by 583 residents, the Hicksville School Board unanimously voted to place a transportation referendum on the May 7 school ballot, along with the proposed $41,430,000 budget for the 1986-87 school year. The Board also acted to "create" three teacher aide positions in the Junior High School at its March 26 meeting.

Mrs. Pat Rooney submitted to the Board at the March 19 budget review meeting, a petition signed by 583 residents requesting a referendum addressing the transportation question. Board President William Bennett stated that Mrs. Rooney's petition did not comply with board policy and regulation, and was submitted after the March 7 deadline. Noting that so many residents had signed the petition the Board unanimously agreed to place such a referendum on the May 7 ballot. The referendum will change the existing mileage requirements to include bus transportation for students, grades K through 6, living in excess of 1/2 mile from school and for grades 7 through 12 in excess of 1 mile, effective in the 1986-87 school year, at additional cost not to exceed $350,000.

The Board was careful to express that their interest in this referendum was to air the public's view and that they have not taken a stand for or against this issue.

Superintendent Catherine Fenton requested approval from the Board for the proposed 1986-87 school budget of $41,340,152 for printing purposes. The district will be preparing a brochure containing this information to be distributed to Hicksville residents before the Tuesday, April 22 Board meeting when there will be a public hearing on the budget.

Board President Bennett pointed out that this budget is a 4.6% or $1,258,929 increase over the existing budget. He noted that last year the budget called for an increase of $1.13 per $100 assessed valuation, and this budget requires a $2.13 increase.

Mr. Bennett acknowledged the difficulties of questionable State aid and inflated insurance and liability rates which face budget preparers, but he said he would like to see further cuts made wherever possible. He demanded a budget Hicksville "can be proud of" and one which "meets the needs of the district."

Trustee Arlene Rudin requested that cuts be made in the Board of Education portion of the budget, stating that the Board should take the initiative and make adjustments at its level.

At the insistence of Trustee Daniel MacBride, the School Board allowed a motion to be made to "create" three aide positions at the Junior High. Just one month ago, in a 4 to 3 vote, this board has eliminated these three positions in the special education area. In Mr. MacBride's short statement before his motion, he said that he was upset with his decision in February to change his abstention to a vote for the cuts. There was little discussion before a new vote was taken for the cuts. There was little discussion before a new vote was taken for the cuts. There was little discussion before a new vote was taken for the cuts. There was little discussion before a new vote was taken for the cuts.

When the roll vote was called, the creation of the positions passed 5 to 1, with one abstention by Lawrence Moor. Mr. MacBride and Board President Bennett reversed their negative votes to support the positions.

Teacher Aide Union President Linda Hill was surprised and delighted with this turn of events. Mrs. Hill had spent many hours laboring for the retention of these positions and had written a number of pointed letters to the Board. In explaining her continued involvement, she acknowledged her love for her community and she stated that "the children give me the strength to go on."

Mrs. Hill said that she and the other 40 teacher aides in Hicksville

Letters

To the Editor:

In reading Mr. John Tobin's letter appearing in this paper the week of March 21, I feel it has to remind us all that another school board election is weeks away (May 7). Mr. Tobin's letter attacks Mr. Dan Arena, Mrs. Carole Wolf, The Knights of Columbus, The Veterans of Foreign Wars, The American Legion, The Hicksville Coalition, The Board of Education, Dr. Catherine Fenton, The U.S. Supreme Court, Mr. William Bennett, President of the School Board and hundreds of Hicksville voters who backed the coalition on many issues, but who are not active members of the Hicksville Coalition.

In fact, Mr. John Tobin's exact words taken from his letter pertaining to Coalition members and supporters are: "You are a very ignorant person and should not be involved in any decisions regarding the education of our children."

It is quite apparent that Mr. John Tobin has serious problems with civic groups and individuals who are giving their free time to community service.

Mr. John Tobin makes reference in his letter for Hicksville residents to investigate the real issues. Text books, Math program, staff morale, and the responsibilities of the Board of Education.

My question to the community is: Why haven't we heard from Mr. John Tobin in the last two years?

It is easy to condemn the decisions of others when the responsibility of that decision does not fall on your shoulders.

Mr. John Tobin's letter is one complaint after another but, in Mr. John Tobin's letter there is not one creative solution.

I'm sure that the Hicksville Community was pleased to hear from Mr. John Tobin and I'm sure we'll hear from him again this time next year.

Respectfully,
Michael M. Melody
President Hicksville
Coalition

Coalition Rally On April 18

The Hicksville Coalition to elect Dan Arena and Carole Wolf to the Hicksville School Board on May 7, invites all community members to a "Coalition Rally" on Friday, April 18, at the Hicksville V.F.W. Post 3211, 320 So. Broadway, 8:10 p.m.

Both candidates will be present to answer questions and air their views on pertinent issues. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Donation $5 a person. Refreshments $0.50 cash raffle.

Cub Pack 172 March Meeting

East Street's Cub Scout Pack 172 had their monthly pack meeting on March 26. The theme of the evening was "Marde Gras." The cubs dressed in different costumes. They started the evening with a parade. Den 2 made floats and masks. Den 1 and Webelos Billy Harvey became rock stars. They entertained us with the song "Eye of the Tiger."

Everyone received a 75th Anniversary Patch. Four Cubs received their Wolf Badge. Jamie Di Silvestre, Richard Kruger, Danny Schieferstein, and Michael Lortz.

Michael Endes received a gold and silver arrow. Matthew Arler received two silver arrows and an alumni search. Sajo Varkey did a lot of work this year and became a Bear.

Art Society Watercolor Demo.

At the regular meeting on Monday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hicksville Public Library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue, the Independent Art Society will present a water-color demonstration by noted artist Katherine Herzy. All ISS meetings are open to the interested public. Everyone is invited to watch the demonstration, meet the artist and have coffee with fellow artists.

April is membership month. $10 will assure your place in our Membership Show, discounted fees for our Annual Juried Exhibition and Newsletter notices of current art events in our area. If you've been thinking of joining, now is the time.

Zone Application Rejected By Board

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Angelo A. Delligatti announced that the Town Board has denied an application for a change of zone in Plainview.

Delligatti said, "The applicants Alan & Susan Ross, requested a change of zone from 'D' residence district to 'R-O' residence-office district for premises located on the northeast corner of South Oyster Bay Road and Wendell Street (Laurel St.), known as 525 South Oyster Bay Road in Plainview."

At a public hearing held on February 25, residents of the area expressed concern about additional vehicular traffic.

Delligatti stated, "the rejection of the application is in keeping with past actions of the Board in refusing to allow the encroachment of business into a residential community."

IT TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE.

Our Volvo technicians have certain advantages over the mechanic who works someplace else.

First, many are factory-trained to service Volvos. This higher education is available to all Volvo dealer employees.

Second, our technicians are the first to know about new service procedures. And changes in older procedures.

Third, when new tools are designed to service Volvos faster and better, they're put in our technicians' hands first.

Does all this mean the non-Volvo mechanic is working at a slight disadvantage?

No. It means he's working at a huge disadvantage.

Juried Art Show For Young People

Applications are now available for the Young People's Juried Art Show sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Department of Community Services, according to Town Councilman John Venditto.

"Co-sponsored by the Independent Art Society (IAS) and the Friends of the Hicksville Library, the exhibition will be held at the library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue, from Saturday, May 17, through Thursday, May 22," Venditto said. "Open to artists between the ages of 12 and 18, the show will consist of original works in the following mediums: oil, acrylic, watercolor, pastel, graphics, mixed media and sculpture."

Paintings must be framed and wired for hanging and can be no larger than 32" by 40" framed. Sculpture cannot exceed 75 pounds and stands must be provided by the artist.

Entries will be accepted on Saturday, May 10, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., and on Monday, May 12, between 6 and 9 p.m. A non-refundable fee of 50 cents will be charged for each entry. Entries are limited to two per artist.

Venditto noted that works will be selected for entry and adjudicated for awards by members of the IAS. There will be ribbon awards from the IAS and the Friends of the Hicksville Library as well as certificate awards from the Town, which will be handed out at a reception on Saturday, May 18, between 10 a.m. and noon.

For further information and application forms, contact CAPA at 795-5943 or the library at 931-1417.

Why on earth would you take an SAT class this summer?

Because after the beach, the barbeques and the movies, you still have a lot of free time. Stanley H. Kaplan's test-taking techniques and professional educational programs have helped many students increase their scores 150, 200, as much as 250 points.

We offer classes at flexible times to suit your schedule. And before the SAT this fall, take our refresher program—free.

Call us. We'll have you tanning and test-prepping too.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the resolution published herewith has been adopted by the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, on March 25, 1986, and the validity of the obligations authorized by such resolution may be hereafter contested, only if such obligations were authorized for an object or purpose for which said Town is not authorized to expend money, or if the provisions of law which should have been complied with as of the date of publication of this notice were not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of publication of this notice, or such obligations were authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution. Dated Oyster Bay, New York, March 25, 1986.

Ann R Oker
Town Clerk

RESOLUTION NO. 334A-1986
BOND RESOLUTION DATED
MARCH 25, 1986.

A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING AN INCREASE AND IMPROVEMENT OF THE FACILITIES OF THE HICKSVILLE PARK DISTRICT OF THE TOWN OF OYSTER BAY, NASSAU COUNTY, NEW YORK, AT A MAXIMUM ESTIMATED COST OF $900,000 AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $900,000 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID TOWN TO PAY THE COST THEREOF.

WHEREAS, by proceedings heretofore duly had and taken pursuant to the provisions of Section 202.b of the Town Law, and more particularly a resolution dated March 25, 1986, the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, has determined it to be in the public interest to increase and improve the facilities of the Hicksville Park District of said Town, consisting of the paving of various roads located throughout Giese Park, including the construction of necessary drainage facilities in connection therewith, the construction of a building in Giese Park for general park use, and the original improvement and embellishment of recreational facilities in Giese Park, at an aggregate maximum estimated cost of $900,000, and

WHEREAS, it is now desired to authorize said increase and improvement of facilities and to provide for the financing thereof, NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT

RESOLVED, by the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. The increase and improvement of the facilities of the Hicksville Park District of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, consisting of the following:

a) the paving of various road located throughout Giese Park, including the construction of necessary drainage facilities in connection therewith, at a maximum estimated cost of $200,000;

b) the construction of a building in Giese Park for general park use, at a maximum estimated cost of

$250,000; and
c) the original improvement and embellishment of recreational facilities in Giese Park, at a maximum estimated cost of $450,000.

Section 2. The aggregate maximum estimated cost of such specific objects or purposes is $900,000, and the plan for the financing thereof is by the issuance of $900,000 serial bonds of said Town, hereby authorized to be issued therefor pursuant to the Local Finance Law, which serial bonds shall be apportioned among the aforesaid specific objects or purposes in accordance with the maximum estimated cost of each as set forth in Section 1 hereof.

Section 3. It is hereby determined that the period of probable usefulness of the aforesaid specific objects or purposes is fifteen years, thirty years and fifteen years, respectively, pursuant to subdivisions 20(c), 11(a), (1) and 19(c), respectively, of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law. It is hereby further determined that the maximum maturity of the serial bonds herein authorized will exceed five years.

Section 4. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, the power to authorize the issuance of and to sell bond anticipation notes in anticipation of the issuance and sale of the serial bonds herein authorized, including renewals of such notes, is hereby delegated to the Supervisor, the chief fiscal officer. Such notes shall be of such terms, form and contents, and shall be sold in such manner, as may be prescribed by said Supervisor, consistent with the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 5. The faith and credit of said Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged for the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same respectively become due and payable. There shall annually be assessed upon all the taxable real property in said Hicksville Park District at the same time and in the same manner as other Town charges, an amount sufficient to pay said principal and interest as the same become due and payable, but if not paid from such source, all the taxable real property within said Town shall be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes without limitation as to rate or amount sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on said bond.

Section 6. The validity of such bonds and bond anticipation notes may be contested only if:

1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said Town is not authorized to expend money; or

2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of publication; or

3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 7. This resolution, which takes effect immediate-

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

Clock's case, movement made separately

By James G. McCollam

Q: This Ansonia clock has a porcelain case marked "Royal Bonn" and dated 1755.

What is your estimate of its value?

A: Your clock was made around 1900. The Royal Bonn Co. was founded by F.A. Mehlum in 1755. The case was made in Germany and the movement was made in America.

It would sell in the $275 to $325 range.

Q: Among my mother's dishes, I found a very old plate with the alphabet around the border. In the center is a picture of Robinson Crusoe at work.

What can you tell me about this?

A: This is a typical ABC plate. They were made throughout the 19th century and are very popular collectibles.

Here are some typical prices, including your mother's plate:

- Robinson Crusoe — $75
- Men On Donkeys — $65

- Puppy and Kitten — $35
- Little Miss Muffet — $45
- Hi Diddle Diddle — $35

It should be noted that all these plates have the alphabet around the edge.

Q: This mark is on my chocolate set which consists of a pot and six cups and saucers. It is porcelain with hand-painted flowers.

Can you tell me who made it, when, and how much it is worth?

A: Your chocolate set was made by Carl Tfeisch in Waldenburg, Germany, during the late 19th century.

It probably would sell for about $175 to $225.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam.

have prepared themselves for their jobs by enrolling in special college courses and by completing all the necessary requirements for certification as teacher assistants. She hopes that they will attain this goal in the near future. The aides program is almost totally Federal funded. The Hicksville school district assumes the salary payment of approximately 4%.

The Board was addressed by Rebecca Kaufman, the only elementary guidance counselor remaining in the district. Mrs. Kaufman stated that she was not aware that at last month's meeting her position and the entire concept of elementary counseling would be eliminated in the district. She emphasized that the district has had a worthwhile program for 30 years, and the program has served the public well. She noted that there is such a need for counseling on the primary level and hoped that the Board would consider her thoughts.

Trustee MacBride said that the Board has received 1600 replies to date to its recent survey and that he hopes to tabulate the results and publish them in the May or June edition of Newsline, the district's newsletter.

Other action by the Board included:

- Board approval of a recommendation to raise the price of milk in the State aided milk program from 10¢ to 15¢.
- A Board award of transportation contracts to Harran and We Transport for the school year 1986-87.

Trustee Arlene Rudin, who announced to the Hicksville PTA Council last month that she will not be seeking reelection this year, commended the Senior High School students on their tree beautification plans for Hicksville.

The next meeting of the School Board, Tuesday, April 22, at 8:15 p.m., will include the public hearing on the school budget. The meeting will take place at the Administration Building, unless it is necessary to move to the senior high school to accommodate the audience.

VFW News

By P.P.C. Carmine A. Somma

The Hicksville Memorial Day Parade and Commemorative Services will be held on Monday, May 26. This year's parade and program are being chaired by William M. Gouse Jr., Post 3211. V.F.W. Assembly time will be between 8 and 9 a.m. at Sears parking area off North Broadway. Any organizations interested in participating or supporting the Annual Parade should contact Chairman Frank Molinari at 935-1934 or the VFW Hall 931-7843. Everyone is welcome to participate. There is still time to call and make the necessary arrangements.

On Sunday, May 25, the combined Veterans Groups in Hicksville will hold a special service at Blain Lawn Cemetery, Old Country Road, Hicksville. Later that morning members of the William M. Gouse Jr. Post 3211 VFW and the Ladies Auxiliary will go to Westbury to the grave of the Post's namesake, Boy Scout Troop 3211 will be giving out flags along the parade route to honor the occasion and the memory of the Post's founders. Flags will be donated by the VFW.

This is the time of year when Scholarship Chairman Bill Bennett is busy with the Albinus A. Hanlon Scholarship Award. Applicants must be sons, daughters or grandchildren of members of the Post or Ladies Auxiliary. Deadline for all applications is Friday, May 9. For more information call 681-3183 or 718-649-9600.

Coloring Book Contests will be going on at all 3rd and 4th grades in Hicksville, according to our Junior Vice Commander.

On May 24 we will have the Post Installation Dance to be held at the VFW Hall, from 8 p.m. to midnight. There will be B.B.Q. chicken, southern fried chicken, ribs, assorted salads, and relish trays. Unlimited liquor and music by R.P.M. Tickets at $15 a person can be obtained by calling Sr. Vice Commander Bill Schuck at 221-9512. (Bill is associated with the Nassau Quarter Midget Racing group and is looking for old or unwanted trophies of any kind).

P.P.C. Connie Steers and the Nassau Chapter of Vietnam Veterans are looking for needy Veterans or families. They have clothing available and will be happy to donate to proper parties. Call Connie at 822-5983.

The Ladies Auxiliary will have a Spring Dance on April 19 from 8 p.m. to midnight.

On June 14 we are planning a Flag Day Service at the Post Parking Lot. Chairman of the event is Comdr. Max Bergsohn. Ritual Team consists of Howie Bergsohn, and Frank Molinari. Save old flags and bring them down to the VFW Hall on Monday, Wednesday or Friday from 7 to 11 p.m. for proper disposal.

Speedy recovery to Comrades and Sisters and their families who have been hospitalized or sick during the month. Frank Lotti and Bill Walden are recuperating at home. Henrietta Aracl from the Ladies Auxiliary is very ill at home. Dan Risanek's wife is ill. Madeline Iehle and Carolann Chappetto are at Central General Hospital and hope to be home soon. Nancy Giacopelli went to Florida and landed in the hospital there so that wasn't any vacation for her. Get well Nancy. Artie Rettberg's wife Frances had a bad fall and she is bruised on her face and she sprained her wrist. Mike Montelione is also ill at home.

Sincerest condolences to the families of Mike Tisdell. His father passed away on February 21. George Hatgis had a double tragedy. His wife Helen passed away on February 28 and his mother-in-law died a day or two later. Auxiliary President Esther Palladino's aunt died - she was a Nun. Sincere sympathies to all.

Next Las Vegas night will be held April 12 from 7:45 to 1 a.m. Come on down.

Comrades of Post 3211 welcome new members Mark Sonenschein (88th Inf. Division, Italy) and Arthur Albrecht (87th Inf. Division E.T.O.).

HBA Plans Opening Day

H.B.A. Opening Day, April 12 (rain date April 13). Parade sets off 12:30 at Old Country Road School (South of Old Country Rd., Blueberry Lane).

Postmaster Asks Pet Owners' Help

"Dog bites postman" is no joke for letter carriers.

Last year three letter carriers in Hicksville and Plainview were bitten by dogs. Already this year there have been two dog bite cases.

"Dog bites can be disastrous," said Hicksville Manager/Postmaster Roger Nienaber. "and that is why we are asking for cooperation from dog owners. We are hoping they will help to protect both their pet and their letter carrier."

Mr. Nienaber suggested that dog owners keep their pets away from the mailbox. "If the pet is not kept behind a secure fence, then we suggest the owner restrain the dog with a leash or keep it inside during the usual hours of the carrier's delivery," he said.

The Postal Service has the right to protect its carriers by refusing to deliver mail to a household with an unrestrained dog. In cases where a dog is allowed to run loose in the neighborhood and it interferes with a carrier-delivery service to the entire area could be affected. Postal employees can also take action to recover damages resulting from dog attacks. Letter carriers have been awarded as much as $300,000 in dog bite cases.

"Owners need to realize that dog ownership carries with it several responsibilities. Preventing their dog from biting or attacking people who enter the property is one of them. We don't think that is too much to ask," said Mr. Nienaber.

In an effort to reduce the number of injuries the Hicksville Post Office is conducting a Dog Bite Awareness Program for children in grades kindergarten through third.

The purpose of this program is to make young children aware of the problems dogs cause letter carriers.

We have a 20 minute presentation consisting of a letter carrier talking about dogs, handing out Dogwatcher's Coloring Books and showing a 7 minute videotape with a dog bite skit.

If you would be interested in having this presentation at your school contact the Public Affairs Office at 933-2406 to arrange for a presentation.

Fly Rodders Club Meeting

The Long Island Fly Rodders will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, April 8 at the Hicksville Library Community Room at Jerusalem Avenue and 1st Street. SPECIAL OFFER... RETROACTIVE INTEREST

If Apple Bank's rates on these CD's go up at any time between now and April 15th, you will receive the highest rate available during that period for the type of CD that you have chosen. Apple Bank will credit your account with back interest from the date of your deposit, plus that high rate will be in effect for the life of your CD. So there's no reason to delay: open your IRA today.

You can reduce your 1985 taxable income by up to $2,000 (individual), $4,000 (working couple) by opening an IRA on or before April 15.

And you can produce more money for retirement with a high interest IRA CD at Apple Bank. With interest compounded daily, the yield is even higher.

If you're not happy with your current IRA, move it. We'll handle the details. And you can get more tax-deferred interest by opening your 1986 IRA at the same time. Come in and talk to one of our retirement plan specialists.

Principal and interest must remain on deposit for a full year to earn effective annual yield. Substantial penalties will be charged if the Bank permits an early withdrawal. IRA rules may require substantial tax penalties to withdraw before age 59 1/2. This offer may be withdrawn without notice. Minimum deposit $500.

Old Westbury Gardens Exhibits Charms

Old Westbury Gardens, Thatched Tea Cottage.

Old Westbury Gardens thrives today as it did in the early part of the 20th century when it was built as a private residence to recreate an English country estate. Opened to the public as a non-profit horticultural garden and museum in 1959, it has been offering visitors a view of the grandeur associated with Long Island. Preserving and interpreting the house, the gardens and this gracious period, has been Old Westbury Gardens' expressed goal.

Today's visitors enjoy the stately Charles II style mansion surrounded by formal gardens, whose flowers present a continually changing picture with the seasons; magnificent views down avenues of linden and beech trees; woodlands and open lawns where ducks and Canada geese make their home; and sparkling pools and lakes. Garden Enthusiasts will find many unusual specimen trees and shrubs, and perennial borders of infinite variety as they stroll through the 100 acres. Old Westbury Gardens is unique in that both house and gardens were designed by the same architect.

Westbury House

The interior of Westbury House is seen today as it was over 75 years ago when it was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps. It contains English antiques from the 18th and earlier centuries; paintings by Joshua Reynolds, Henry Raeburn, Thomas Gainsborough, John Constable and John Singer Sargent; gilded mirrors, crystal chandeliers, old brocades, and family portraits by American and British artists.

Fresh flowers in almost every room add to the sense that a family is still living in this house in the leisurely atmosphere of a vanished era. The dining room is distinguished by its carved oak paneling, and white marble mantelpiece with carved awags in the style of Grinling Gibbons. Over the mantel is a portrait of Prince William Henry by Thomas Gainsborough, and on the wall a portrait of Mrs. Henry Phipps with her grandson by Sargent.

The Walled Garden

Over two acres of herbaceous borders, ornamental pools and fountains are maintained by a staff of professional gardeners who constantly change the floral displays, from the many colored tulips in early May, to the brilliant masses of chrysanthemums in October. In this scene of early summer there are delphiniums, roses, canterbury bells, iris and many other carefully labelled perennials and annuals.

The exceptional use of plants which are compatible in color, height, texture and season of bloom, provides the interested visitor with a wide variety of ideas for his own garden. It is one of the few remaining examples of extensive herbaceous borders in the country.

Demonstration Gardens

Several small contemporary gardens are planted to provide visitors with ideas and designs which they can easily incorporate into their own gardens. Among these are an All American Rose test garden, an herb garden and a Japanese-style garden.

General Information

Hours: The house and gardens are open Wednesdays through Sundays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. from late April to late October, and on Memorial Day, July 4, Labor Day and Columbus Day. Gardens only will be open, weather permitting, pre and post-season for several weeks. Walks around the lakes will feature spring bulbs, summer wildflowers and autumn foliage. Call to confirm if open.

Admission: Gardens: adults, $3; children (6-12) $1; free for children under 6.

Additional admission for house: adults, $2; children (6-12) $1; senior citizens, for house and gardens $2.50. Special rates for groups of 20 or more are available on advance application. Members are admitted free.

Picnicing permitted in designated areas only.

HARVEST BOUNTY Cooking and preserving fresh fruits, vegetables

By Sharon Achatz

As you sow, so shall you reap — and reap and reap and reap.

For many gardeners, the harvest of their gardens is more bountiful than anticipated. If the thumb has been working its green magic, a gardener will find himself with more produce than his family, neighbors and work associates can eat. So, he's faced with watching the excess rot or preserving it for posterity.

Not surprisingly, a large number of gardeners elect to preserve their produce.

Of the 34 million gardening households in the United States, eight out of 10 are involved with food preservation, according to a survey conducted for The National Gardening Association by the Gallup Organization.

The survey showed that 77 percent of gardeners freeze their produce, 57 percent can, 40 percent pickle, 15 percent dry their crops, 10 percent put excess in a root cellar.

Home food preservation offers the benefits of good nutrition knowing there are no harmful additives and the satisfaction and creativity of producing food that suits your taste, said Charles Scott, president of the association's 5-250,000 member, non-profit group based in Burlington, Vt.

According to Scott, good information is the key to success and safety of home food preservation. He recommends that gardeners follow USDA guidelines to ensure safety and optimum nutrition.

Of course, not all the fruits of a gardener's labors will be canned or frozen. There will be some produce too perfect to preserve, too tempting to resist. From the 'Joy of Gardening Cookbook' (Garden Way Inc., $25.00), a companion to the 'Joy of Gardening' syndicated television series, here are palatable dishes to create from the cream of your crop.

CHILLED CUCUMBER SOUP

4-6 cups cucumbers, peeled, seeded and chopped
2 cups buttermilk
1 cup sour cream
½ cup diced scallions
3 tbsps. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. fresh mint, minced
(dill, parsley or tarragon may be substituted)

Combine all ingredients in blender or food processor and blend until smooth. Chill and serve. Garnish with sprig of mint.
Serves 6

ZUCCHINI PANCAKES

3 cups zucchini, grated and drained
½ cup flour
2 eggs, separated
½ cup feta cheese
1 tsp. fresh dill, basil or marjoram
Salt
Pepper
Sour cream

To drain zucchini, grate it, add a bit of salt, put in colander with weighted plate on top. After it has drained, squeeze out excess moisture and measure 3 cups into bowl. Add flour and egg yolks and mix well. Add feta cheese and dill.

In separate bowl, beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into zucchini mixture. Salt and pepper to taste. Spoon batter onto hot greased griddle and fry on both sides until crispy brown. Serve with dollop of sour cream.
Serves 4 to 6

TOMATO CORN SOUP

1 tbsp. vegetable oil
1 lb. ground beef

3 cups corn kernels
3 cups tomatoes, diced
2 cups beef broth
1 cup diced onion
1 garlic clove, minced
2 tbsps. fresh basil, minced
1½ tbsps. fresh thyme
½ tps. fresh rosemary, crumbled
3-4 tbsps. fresh parsley, minced
Salt
Pepper

In large pot, heat oil and brown beef, breaking it up with spoon. Drain off all fat. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper.
Serves 6 to 8.

PUMPKIN CHOWDER

2 tbsps. vegetable oil
½ cups onion, diced
7-8 cups pumpkin, cubed (winter squash may be substituted)
¾ lb. ham hocks
4 cups chicken broth
2 bay leaves
½ cup water
1 cup carrots, diced
1 cup celery, diced
1 cup lima beans or diced green beans
1 cup sharp cheddar cheese, grated
½ cup heavy cream
Salt
Pepper

In medium pot, heat oil and saute onion until limp. Add pumpkin, ham hocks, broth and bay leaves. Simmer until pumpkin is tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Remove bay leaves and ham hocks and cool soup slightly. Process in food processor or blender until smooth.

In separate pot, simmer carrots, celery and beans in remaining ½ cup water until tender. Add vegetables, cheese and cream to pumpkin and heat gently. Remove meat from ham hocks and add to soup. Season to taste with salt and pepper.
Serves 6 to 8.

Container blooms, vegies for the lazy gardener

By Annie Bergman

Would you give anything, except time, to have colorful blossoms and fresh vegetables outside your door? Do you envy gardeners who pluck an entire dinner salad from their gardens? What about rose growers who revel in the color and fragrance of their prize bushes — are you secretly grateful that roses have thorns?

How do these gardeners do it? If you think it's the proverbial green thumb, you're wrong. According to Nancy Lurmann, a self-proclaimed lazy gardener and publisher of Freebies Magazine in Santa Barbara, Calif., the secret to successful gardening is setting up objectives you can meet. If you're intimidated by a huge, empty plot, plant a few pots instead. From hearty herbs to tasty tomatoes to pretty perennials, lots of plants thrive in containers.

Container gardening has other advantages. If you confine plants in pots, you can keep your shoes, clothes and kids relatively clean. If you use packaged, sterilized soil you won't have to weed initially. You can water and fertilize plants individually and you can cluster containers of plants that would need different care if in the ground.

To plan your container gardening, determine how many pots you can care for so your enthusiasm won't wither mid-season. Then carefully consider the light and temperature conditions of your garden area. Nothing thwarts success in gardening as much as mismatching plants and growing conditions. If you have a shady patio, limited light will dictate the type of plants that will grow there. You can't grow sun-worshipping annuals in a shaded area or expect ferns to thrive in rocky soil. Gardening books and nurseries can recommend plants that will grow well in your environment.

Once you know what types of plants you can grow, decide what you want to grow — food for the body or flowers for the soul.

If you want to plant food, think about what you eat. Do you cook with garlic, oregano, parsley, marjoram, basil or chives? You can grow these and other herbs in a container garden on a windowsill. Do you like a sprig of spearmint in iced tea? Plant different varieties of mint in large clay pots and set them on your patio.

Do you relish firm, flavorful tomatoes, crisp lettuce, bright green peppers and cucumbers? Follow the sun. Plants such as tomato, radish, pepper, eggplant, bean, lettuce, onion and cucumber are ideal for pots that receive a lot of sunlight. Sunshine helps grow firmer vegetables and more compact plants — they don't have to send out spindly legs to reach the sun.

Growing vegetables from seed is the most economical way to grow vegetables. However, seedlings (young plants) will give you a head start on the season and probably give a higher yield than seeds.

To practically guarantee a high crop yield, ask your nursery about new compact, vegetable varieties specifically bred to produce high yield in a small space such as a pot.

Growing a successful flower container garden is practically foolproof — just select plants that grow well in your climate and then water, feed and prune them routinely. Regular care helps the longevity of the bloom. Annuals like marigold, zinnia, petunia, impatiens, coleus and primrose are widely available and ideal for container gardens.

As soon as plants are available at your nursery or garden center and the danger of serious frost is past buy pony packs, the 2- to 4-inch plastic containers with seedlings. Space plants only about 4 to 6 inches apart — this competition for space makes plants grow up and out, creating a bountiful, overflowing appearance.

An advantage of annuals is they can be replaced quickly when the bloom wears out. If plants become leggy, you can pull them out and transplant healthy looking plants from the nursery — or other pots.

Other excellent candidates for container gardening that give sensational color are bulbs. When not overwatered, bulbs like amaryllis, begonia, daffodil, iris, lily and tulip retain their color and form week after week.

Embellishing a garden, from trellises to chaises

By Rosella Stern

If you consider your garden another living space, an extension of your house, then it's easy to decorate the area to make it a comfortable retreat from the world.

Your garden room needs something to cover the ground, something to define and decorate the walls, something to modify the light. You'll require seating, lounging and storage areas, and you may want to add something to look on or something to play with.

Once you decide on how you want to use your garden, you can choose from any number of additions that will serve your needs and desires beautifully.

The furnishings of your garden can be as simple as a couple of lawn chairs or a hammock strung between two trees. Or it can be as complex as a series of redwood terraces with a gazebo, Jacuzzi and elaborate fountains.

The easiest way to establish a well-dressed garden — no matter what its size — is to first define the area as a room. Begin with the flooring. If a traditional "wall-to-wall" green lawn doesn't suit your taste, break it up with redwood decking. This creates a sense of levels, personalizes the space and visually ties the area to the house. A concrete slab can be added as the basis of a patio, although materials such as unglazed Mexican tiles and bricks are more popular. Both materials can be laid in any of many pleasing patterns from herringbone to circular arcs. Both materials wear well and mellow with age.

The ground itself can be covered with something other than grass. Ferns and moss can be used in shady spaces. If you have an aversion to the color green, you need not use plants at all. Make your garden flooring out of stones, pebbles, gravel, sand and rocks.

The edges of the property are the walls of your garden room. Shrubs form hedges that block out noise and the view of passersby. Reinforce the shrubs with metal to make them more stable and less penetrable, and intersperse them with wooden gates.

If you have a standard blank brick wall, enhance it with vines. Trellises can be placed against the walls to train the vines. Or replace the wall with a traditional split-rail or picket fence or a rock wall. Wrought-iron fences are perfect for Victorian homes.

Carefully planted trees also can create a wall — and a ceiling that blocks out the sun. Planting trees for shade will greatly alter the look and feel of your garden space over the years. If you want immediate — and structural — control over lighting conditions, consider wooden lattices, with or without climbing vines, covered terraces, glassed-in or walled spaces and sun rooms. A patio can be covered with a retractable canvas cover that will add hours of use to an overly sunny area. Large canvas patio umbrellas create a temporary ceiling that shields a luncheon or a quiet afternoon of reading from the sun.

Now that the area has been defined, what goes into your garden room? Begin with seating and lounging furniture.

Furniture of wrought iron, sometimes with fabric seats, gives the garden a traditional look. This goes well with tables made of marble or with glass tops that are tempered and long wearing. Mexican-style furniture made of leather and woven wood adds a Southwestern feeling. Chairs and tables made of bent twig, cane and rattan emit a rustic charm. For a more contemporary look, use plastic and canvas.

If you live in an especially wet climate, use materials that will not rot or mildew, or be prepared to remove furniture during the rainy season. Metal chairs covered with long-wearing plasticized paint are a durable choice.

For lounging, consider the tried and true. These devices of respite include the hammock, available in canvas or string, the chaise, perfect for a good stretch, and the swing. The traditional arc swing is a wonderful addition in nostalgia. And freestanding metal gliders also are in vogue again.

Now, decorate your space with extras that suit your needs. With a little extra money to spend, consider adding a water feature. The sound of splashing or running water has been considered a necessity for peaceful gardens since the time of the ancient Persians. Choose from fountains of metal, ceramic and stone, all ready to install above ground with very little external piping necessary.

Or, create an in-ground pool, pond, waterfall or series of stepped pools. With the addition of water lilies, koi and other Oriental fish, water features can become the focal point of the garden. A water feature also can become a personal retreat — a hot tub placed in a terrace or a gazebo covering a Jacuzzi could be the resting spot you've hoped for.

And don't forget the additional touches — birdbaths and bird feeders, sculptures of reclining figures or Buddha, sundials and artistic containers filled with plants.

Plants can be placed in containers as mundane as painted rubber tires or old wooden wagons treated against rot. Or, they can be displayed in architectural containers that add a sense of dignity and history to your space. Large containers of clay, plastic and wood can alter the way the garden looks by adding sculptural volume and well-placed color. They can be permanently planted or changed to suit the season.

For instant color in any season, how about banners, flags, Japanese kites and colored awnings? A garden party becomes something to remember with the addition of simple Japanese lanterns.

Now add cooking equipment, from a portable grill or hibachi to a built-in fire pit or gas grill.

And don't forget the toys. Smooth out a portion of the lawn and invite neighbors over for a game of croquet. And how about an exercise space near the house for outdoor toning and tanning? Add a sand pit for pitching horseshoes or paint a shuffleboard court on the patio.

You might want to add a shed to hold all your garden furnishings, equipment and playthings, and then just enjoy. You've added thousands of square feet to your home. You have a well-dressed garden room.

Burbank speeded growth of grafts

American plant breeder Luther Burbank (1849-1926) had a talent for improvising. For example, he made as many as 500 grafts on a single plum tree and speeded growth by inserting wedge-ended cuttings into the tops of the host tree's branches.

Other growers grafted branches to a limb sawed off near the trunk — and waited twice as long for results. — CNS

Understanding pesticides

By Gregg Howard

Once you've started a garden or lawn, can the arrival of ants, mosquitoes, weeds and other pests be far behind?

Well, don't consider yourself alone in combating these problems. The American Council on Science and Health offers advice on how to use pesticides safely and effectively to eliminate such problems.

In the booklet Pesticides in Your Home and Garden, the council stresses safety precautions because few people take adequate precautions when using pesticides.

"One study showed that 90 percent of the people who had pesticides in their homes kept them in unlocked storage areas," said research associate Kathleen A. Meister. "Sixty-five percent kept them within easy reach of children. Fifty percent stored them near food or medicine. Clearly, there is room for improvement."

Some specific suggestions:

— Read the produce label thoroughly before using any pesticide. Be certain you understand the directions for use and first-aid instructions. Always follow label directions. For garden pesticides, the staff in a garden supply store may be able to help you. However, beware of salespeople who tell you such things as, "It's not on the label, but it will work anyway." It may not work, and you are the person legally liable for using the pesticide improperly.

— Store these products in a locked place, out of children's reach.

— When using pesticides, don't leave them unattended, especially if children are present.

— Keep emergency phone numbers handy for a physician, poison control center or rescue squad.

— Don't mix or measure chemicals with food preparation utensils.

— Don't mix together chemicals unless the labels say to do so.

— Wear waterproof gloves and clothing that covers your arms, legs and body when handling these products. Many pesticides can irritate the skin or be absorbed into the body.

— Store these products only in the manufacturer's container.

If you have a complaint about a pesticide product — that it didn't work or was improperly labeled, for example — check with a knowledgeable person in the store that sold it to you to make sure you used the product properly.

After that, contact the department of agriculture in your state. If it cannot handle the problem, it will refer you to the appropriate agency.

Villager

Country traditional with a touch of Americana and a dose of European.

The European love of dramatic, flowing shapes and the Early American demand for strength and versatility are captured beautifully in both the bedroom and dining room pieces of this collection.

Villager is meticulously crafted in the Thomasville tradition, from premium pecan solids and veneers. Each piece is hand-rubbed to a warm, distinctive "Saddle" finish and accented with magnificent brass-finished hardware.

At once Early American and European in flavor, Villager offers a new tradition for your home.

Start early to enjoy lawn

By Donald Grand

Spending a few hours outdoors can make your lawn green and your shrubs and flowers more beautiful for the whole family to enjoy.

Here is a basic plan from Scotts, a maker of lawn-care products, to give you the most enjoyment from your lawn and garden.

— Cleanup. Rake up any debris. It can smother new growth.

— Fertilize your lawn in the early spring. Every lawn needs this. There simply is not enough natural nitrogen and other nutrients in soil to meet the needs of a thick green lawn. Use a controlled-release fertilizer that will give the lawn a steady, controlled feeding for six to eight weeks. Make a second application in late spring.

— Seed if needed. Early spring is a fine time to do this, before weeds have a chance to fill in the gaps and bare patches. But don't waste money by just throwing down seeds. Slice or scratch up the ground first so the grass seeds have a place to lodge. Fertilize the same day you seed with a fertilizer for starting new seedlings. Once the seed germinates, keep the ground continuously moist.

— Fertilize shrubs and trees. Early spring also is a good time to surface feed with a dry, granular fertilizer so your plants can take just spread the material on the soil surface as directed.

— Mowing. For your existing lawn, mow as soon as the grass starts to grow again and the weather is nice. Cut off a half inch or so. This will let more sunlight into the crown of the grass plants to stimulate growth.

If you have seeded a new lawn or reseeded bare spots, mow as soon as there is anything to cut. Mowing height should be 1½ to 2 inches.

— Coping with dandelions and other weeds. An excellent time to go after dandelions and similar broadleaf weeds is when they are in bloom, and the best way to go after them is with weed control absorbed through the leaves. This coincides with the time that lawns are in need of late spring feeding, so home owners can do both jobs at once by using a combination product that feeds as it weeds.

Once weeds are removed from a lawn, one of the most effective methods for keeping them out is to maintain a thick, vigorous stand of grass.

Well-fed grass plants fare very well against weeds in the competition for sunlight and growing room. Consequently, one of the best recommendations for lasting weed control is simply to fertilize the lawn three or four times throughout the year.

WHIMSICAL WATERCOLORS

Ponds, waterfalls trickle into everyday landscapes

By Sharon Achatz

It began as just a trickle. Gardeners interested in making their gardens more than just an arrangement of patios, trellises, flower beds and furniture added basins of water in the Japanese tradition of tsukubai — a hollowed basin that collects rainwater for drinking.

Other gardeners went a step further and installed running water features — tiny streams that dribbled from bamboo pipes into a pond, larger streams that flowed over rocks and pebbles to create a joyous bubbling sound, stepped ponds connected by miniature waterfalls.

Now, water gardens flood the landscaping scene with complex arrangements of waterfalls and ponds, rocks and bridges, plants and animals.

Of course, many waterscaped gardens retain their simplicity, displaying nothing more than a stone, a plant and a hint of water.

But water gardens increasingly are so much more.

A gush of water powered by a hidden motor bursts from a hillside and carves a stream between a carpet of ferns on the sloped end of one yard.

In another garden, a dry stream bed of colored stones set in concrete shines in the sun. With the twist of a hidden sprinkler valve, water gurgles down the shallow bed.

A series of stepped ponds trickle down into each other through narrow rock-laden streams over which wooden bridges lie. Standing on the bridges, you look down at colorful fish and gorgeous water lilies.

Whether you seek the mesmerizing murmur of flowing water or the clear, cool reflections of a still pond, a water garden can be a source of endless enjoyment. It can provide a hideaway from a hectic daily schedule, be an aesthetic focal point or hold a collection of unusual aquatic plants and accompanying animal life.

According to nursery descriptions, the following plants are hardy selections for water gardeners just getting their toes wet: water lily and aquatic iris, which come in a variety of colors; water hyacinth, which has violet flowers; water lettuce, which looks like an open lettuce plant; mosquito fern, a mosslike free-floating plant; horsetail, an ornamental bushlike perennial herb; water hawthorn, with its fragrant white flowers; and water purslane, an underwater foliage plant.

Depending on your preferences, you can organize a floral water garden on the basis of color of bloom or species of plant — there are many beautiful ponds dedicated to several varieties of water lilies.

If your primary concern is to create not a collection of plants but a collection of fish, such as koi, be prepared for a bit more work. To succeed, sunlight and water temperature should be controllable and there must be proper biological filtration, according to Bill Keele, an authority on exotic fish.

He recommends a high-intensity water circulation pump as a biological filter, taking care to choose a pump properly proportioned to the size of the pond. Ideally, the pump should run 24 hours a day so that the water will be completely, continuously recirculated.

For fun and a lot less maintenance, create a pond that will attract a frog collection for kids. All it takes is a shallow pool (about a foot or two deep) surrounded with rocks to provide shelter for newts and frogs, according to Barbara Damrosch, author of "Theme Gardens" (Workman Publishing, $22.50). Floating aquarium plants provide hiding places for goldfish.

GARDENING Advice for beginners

By Gregg Howard

Gardening is a satisfying and productive hobby that has physical, aesthetic and financial benefits, according to a pamphlet titled Gardening: The Practical Pleasure.

The pamphlet, produced by Snow & Nealley Co., a manufacturer of gardening and hand tools, offers an overview of gardening and advice to beginning gardeners.

Following are excerpts of information.

Physically, gardening is good exercise. Also, when a person grows his own food, he can be certain that it is grown without chemicals, unless he chooses to use them.

Aesthetically, trees and shrubs provide shade and privacy. Food grown at home often tastes better than produce that has been stored and shipped long distances. A home gardener also can grow varieties of fruits and vegetables that are not grown commercially because they don't store or ship well.

Financially, landscaping enhances the value of property, and growing fruits and vegetables saves money on food bills.

Getting started in gardening requires only some basic knowledge about seasons, soils and the life cycles and needs of the plants a person decides to grow.

A beginner should plan to start a garden with hardy, easy-to-grow plants. As experience and confidence grow, a gardener can experiment with plants that are fussier about their living and growing conditions.

All gardening starts with planning. Draw a prospective garden on paper.

In a flower garden, think about colors and consider the relation of tall plants to small ones. Do you want plants in groups or straight rows? Since flowers bloom at different times of year, plan so that something always is blooming from early spring through late fall.

When planning a vegetable garden, consider how vegetables will influence each other. Corn will act as a wind barrier to protect more fragile plants. Marigolds repel some worms and bugs. Herbs give off powerful odors that can drive insects away, so plant them among vegetables, too.

After planting a garden, keep the plans. This will help a new gardener to distinguish between the young plants and weeds.

After plans have been made, garden soil must be prepared before planting. Plants need soil that is neither too sandy nor too clay-like. Nurseries can evaluate soil and recommend conditioning steps, if necessary. Once planted, a garden needs to be fed to replenish nutrients in the soil. The easiest way to feed a garden is to add a fertilizer containing all needed elements.

Good quality tools are required for preparing and caring for a garden. With appropriate tools, it is easy to cultivate and aerate soil, dislodge weeds, vines and rocks, plant seedlings and bulbs, weed and rake.

FOREVER FLOWERS

Perennial floral layouts
for creative color

By Rosella Stern

One of the finest aspects of the traditional garden is the flowering border of perennial plants — plants that lose their flowers each winter but survive the cold to bloom again the following year, year after year.

They survive because of hardy root systems, like bulbs, that hide underground throughout winter. In some cases, not only the root system survives but also an attractive foliage that stands as a reminder, through the winter that the colorful blooms will reappear. Some plants are so hardy that they outlive the original garden owner.

Some examples of beloved perennials are: carnation, aster, chrysanthemum, geranium, hibiscus, peony and poppy. There also are crocus, daffodil, tulip and narcissus. Perennials that bloom in the shade include lily of the valley, bleeding heart, primrose and lungwort.

The growing seasons of these — and all perennials — vary from one region of the country to another, but you can discover the blossoming seasons for your area by consulting area-specific growing calendars at nurseries. With these calendars, you can select a mix of perennials for your garden that will keep it in bloom from early spring to late fall.

To plan your garden, draw a graph of the area you want to cultivate, whether it be a bed or border, and plot the placement of perennials based on their growing season. You'll be able to see which plants will blossom together — whether you have all the early spring plants in one corner of the garden or whether you've effectively interspersed them with fall plants that will bloom and fill in for spring plants as they lose their blooms.

You also can use the graph to plot a color scheme. Use colored pencils on the graph to determine plant placement based on color and height relationships. Design the space so the taller plants are at the rear and the shorter plants in front. Remember that bright-colored plants seem to leap forward and darkish or bluish plants appear to recede.

A color wheel might be helpful in assisting you to see what colors of flowers blend or contrast. The hot colors — red, orange, yellow, red — and the cool colors — green, blue, violet — can be played against each other or chosen on a monochromatic scheme.

A mixed garden with a variety of height, color and growing season can be a delight to the gardener for many months of the year. If the plants are chosen for foliage shape as well, they can continue to bring joy throughout the winter.

Whether you choose beds or borders, polychrome or monochrome schemes, long growing season or short, your perennial garden will appear to be formal or informal depending on its organization.

The informal garden is made up of curved, flowing lines that appear to disregard geometric symmetry. One curve leads into another, creating a feeling of natural flow and harmony that leads around patios, walkways and other fixed portions of the yard.

The seemingly casual look requires a lot of planning, because it is a complex mix of growing seasons, color relationships, shapes and textures that interweave and change over time and space.

An easier approach to perennial gardening is the formal geometric look. It is classical in its symmetry and made of straight lines and the arcs around them and is easier to plant because it's easier to graph the individual areas.

Think of pictures that you have seen of the garden of Versailles, all repeats of geometric order. The outermost dimension of the garden usually is a square or a rectangle. And that shape often repeats itself in other parts of the design, with a single color or type of plant filling each individual shape within the large shape. Frequently, a single object — a pool, a statue or perhaps a sundial — serves as the center of the formal design.

Once you've completed your planning and plotting, it's time to buy the plants — an easy chore since plant sources for perennials are plentiful. Just visit any nursery and choose what looks good. You can purchase perennials in gallon cans if you want a head start on seeing what your garden will look like.

This expert and author will discuss the care of roses through the entire season-how and when to plant, prune, fertilize, spray and how to use in the landscape. Mr. Malins will use slides and actual demonstrations to illustrate his talk, and will suggest varieties of floribundas, hybrid teas, old fashioned roses etc. Bring a lunch.

Wildlife, Art Exhibit At Museum

Nationally famous wildlife artists Guy Coheleach, Paul Connor, Don Eckelberry and Arthur Singer will be exhibiting their prints in a show at the Gregory Museum, Heitz Place Courthouse, Hicksville, from April 20 to June 30. Surprisingly, all these masters live on Long Island. Wildlife stamps will also be on exhibit, marking the 50th Anniversary of National Wildlife Stamps.

In conjunction with the exhibit, the Museum will sponsor a "Wildlife Art Contest" offered to all children on Long Island in grades kindergarten through sixth grade. Elementary school youngsters are being invited to create an artwork illustrating American wildlife in the natural environment, beginning in February. The deadline is April 4, at 4:30 p.m. A party will be held for the Contest participants, their families, and Museum Members on Sunday, April 13 at 2 p.m. at the Museum, where awards will be presented. A naturalist from the Theodore Roosevelt Wildlife Sanctuary will give a live presentation. Artist Paul Connor will be with us. The children's artwork will also be on exhibit from April 19 to June 30. This program is made possible in part by a grant from Citibank. Come and marvel at the masterpieces by Long Island artists who have brought America's wildlife conservation to our attention, and enjoy the works of Long Island's budding young artists as well.

ANNUAL RITUAL
Ordering seeds is pure delight

By Patrick Denton

If there's one thing that causes the average gardener's horticultural juices to run in excited anticipation, it's the ordering of garden seeds for the coming season.

The first steps in this pleasurable annual ritual are to haul out the seeds left from last year and list the ones that will be kept for this year. This inventory eliminates duplicating purchases.

How do you decide which seeds to keep? In my own case, I can anticipate optimum life for each variety because I keep them well closed and refrigerated with packets of silica gel to facilitate dryness. The two main enemies of seed life are heat and moisture.

But even then there are a few kinds of seeds that are poor keepers. Onion, parsnip and flower seeds like larkspur, geranium and verbena are notoriously short-lived.

Most other seeds will keep one or two years. I have found a few, such as tomato, cucumber, beet, zinnia, nasturtium and morning glory, that retain good germination rates over several years of storage.

There still remain many variables, however, in the decision whether to keep and count on a package of seeds for a crop. If in doubt, run a germination test.

Place a few layers of dampened paper towel in the bottom of a shallow dish and press 10 of the seeds onto the damp surface.

Place the dish in a fairly warm spot and do not allow the surface of the towels or the seeds to dry out. Spray-mist them or cover them lightly with plastic wrap.

If the seeds still are good, they should sprout in 10 to 12 days. Watch this germination process for two things. How many sprout? If eight seeds of the 10 germinate, then you can calculate 80 percent viability, which guides you in deciding how thickly or sparingly to sow the seeds.

The second observation to be made is an assessment of how strong the seedlings are. Do they look sturdy? Are the root sprouts strong looking, with several side shoots off the main central root? If they look weak and puny, then the plants probably will not thrive or produce good crops.

Weak or old seeds do not have to be tossed in the garbage, however. I save them for a quick cover crop when a patch of garden becomes free in late summer or in the fall.

Scattered on the ground to be turned under while they are just sprouted, they at least contribute something to the garden in a fertility boost, if not in garden crops.

WONDERFUL WALKS

Inviting patios, paths keep gardens in step

By Gregg Howard

Concrete stepping stones floating in a narrow channel of grass wind away and disappear into a small grove of trees. The path invites a sense of curiosity. Where do the stones lead? Should you follow them? If you do, what will you find?

Walk this way into the world of garden walkways.

You may find a small patio with a bench for private reading. Or you may find nothing but the path, leading you through the grove. Or you may find an intricate maze of flower beds with the trail encircling each one.

Each of these descriptions portrays landscaping for a large garden area. However, no matter what the yard size, attractively paved patios, walks and steps greatly enhance a landscaped yard, according to Home magazine. Especially if the proper materials are selected and if they are placed to complement the structure and use of the garden.

Even in a small rose garden, tiny gravel footpaths allow people intimate access to the beauty of each bush, not just those they can see from the border of the bed.

When the entire yard is not visible from any one point — for example, if a house has side yards — a pathway, whether concrete or cobblestone, can lead people to bright flower beds that otherwise might remain unseen — and unappreciated.

Sloped gardens require steps. Whether made from large overlapping stones or railroad ties, the best steps lead somewhere out of sight — up and around a corner or down into a grotto of flowers. Even on a small property, you can get some mystery into steps by planting tall shrubs to hide the area where they lead.

A brick walkway curving between a variety of flower beds will encourage people to walk through the entire garden, enjoying each bed separately rather than just viewing them as a group from a distance.

The type of walkway installed has tremendous influence on how inviting the garden is perceived to be. Big broad walks encourage people to enter an area; small walkways such as stepping stones don't, according to "The Perennial Garden" (Rodale Press, $21.95) by Jeff and Marilyn Cox. Depending on your purpose, choose the kind of walk that will invite everyone in or keep almost everyone out.

Straight walks are formal looking, while curved walks are the most natural looking, especially if they curve out of sight around sweeping borders or flowers and shrubs, the authors said.

Paths can be as simple as a beaten trail through the garden or grass mown to a lower height. More sophisticated types — which invite people to walk there — are mulched paths of shredded bark and wood chips, although the Home article recommends these materials only for paths not subject to heavy traffic.

After all, aesthetic grounds are not the only consideration in selecting a passageway. If you're going for durability in walkways and patios, concrete is a hardy choice. While many consider this material overused and uninspiring, its appearance can be enhanced with the color and textural additions of pea gravel or pebbles, according to Home.

These types of walkways also are functional — if they are made wide enough for easy transport of landscape equipment such as mowers, edgers and tillers.

For natural-looking informal landscapes, the best materials for walkways are flat stones, such as flagstones, cobblestones or slate, according to the Coxes. Stone paths can be made to undulate through the gardens, leading the viewer along from one small view to another. Spaces between the stones can be filled with fine gravel, sand or tiny creeping plants that will give the appearance of stones floating in a sea of green.

Bricks also make lovely undulating paths — although they require a bit more work for installation. Brick paths positively encourage — even demand — people to walk on them, the Coxes said.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Do you agree with the handling of Libya in the most recent encounter?

"I CAN HANDLE GETTING NUKED BY THE RUSSIANS BUT NOT SOME MICKEY MOUSE OUTFIT LIKE LIBYA"

Call 931-0027 24 Hrs. a Day
Ground Rules
You are not limited to the above

but may talk on any subject of interest to readers.

•One subject to a caller per week•

Simply dial 931-0027 - 24 Hours a Day and follow these simple rules:

1. Wait for the beep.
2. Confine your INPUT to one subject!
3. Limit your opinion to five minutes (make notes before calling)
4. Leave your name and telephone, or simply use a pen name. (your message can be anonymous)
5. Publishers reserve the right to edit, modify or omit any and all material.

Callers Think Campaign Funds Should Be Limited

Most callers to Input believe that there should be more limits on campaign funds in answer to this question: "Should we limit campaign solicitations and have all funding come from the government for political campaigns?" Here are some of the answers:

A DISGRACE

Yes. It is a disgrace the way some candidates are allowed to capture large campaign funds and literally buy an election. This certainly stifles any new ideas from ever getting used because the campaign contributors are all people who are benefiting. It gives a big advantage to the incumbent in a race. Campaigns should be limited in budget and paid by the taxpayer. It will be cheaper in the long run. J.E.

SHOULD LIMIT

We should limit campaign solicitations to government funds because candidates with no money would have a better chance. Use of government funds would eliminate obligations a candidate has towards anyone that has contributed towards his or her campaign fund. D.V.

TOO MUCH

We should not limit campaign solicitations and have all money come from government sources. If we did that for every candidate we would be in a very large deficit financially. If some people are willing to spend a lot more money, they should do it themselves. A.B.

NEEDS LIMITS I definitely think campaign solicitations should be limited to government funding because this would certainly eliminate corruption. It is only natural for individuals or companies to expect to receive some sort of compensation from candidates who accepted financing for their campaigns. M.F.

A CAP

We definitely should limit campaign solicitations and should have a cap on the amount of money people can get when they are politically active. People such as Sen. D Amato are the best example. Here's a man who has 6 million dollars and is scaring anybody off from challenging him for the U.S. Senate. He is essentially buying his way back into the U.S. Senate. I strongly feel there should be limitations on funding and there should be public funding for political campaigns so that everybody gets a fair chance to run for political office. V.G.

HAS LIMITS

While I know that there are some abuses in the present system I do not think that widespread changes will make much difference. The fact is that at a certain point the amount of money does not mean that much. It takes a certain amount for a candidate to make a showing but after that point, the rest is wasted. G.W.

GOVERNMENT FUNDING

A great many different types of pressure groups now use the campaign trail to buy allegiance of candidates. Big business, rich people and the various labor unions are equally guilty in trying to buy out candidates. Some of the great upstanding citizens and professional people in the community contribute to groups who use campaign contributions as a way to get something. This would be curbed if campaign funds were cut down or out. It is not commonly known but candidates can use their contributions after a campaign for their own use so this can be outright bribery. There should be something done about it. Government funding is the best thing. J.E.

COULD BE DETRIMENTAL

If we limit campaign contribution solicitation, I have a feeling that it could be detrimental to the entire electioneering concept and perhaps some freedoms might be lost in the process. This might be true even for those candidates who would have trouble building up a satisfactory war chest on their own. We certainly can't expect the media and particularly the radio and TV with their own enterprise motivation to cover the issues and candidates at prime time without sufficient income to take care of cost and profit so, depending upon the government spending and allocation formula adopted, there would probably be some loss in exposure. Furthermore, we could hardly expect that any free editorial coverage would be unbiased. However, despite these reservations, quite frankly I see no alternative but to limit campaign solicitations with the government picking up enough of the tab to give every candidate an equal opportunity to be seen and heard. But, can't you just see the clamor for funds from candidates who otherwise wouldn't have a chance to enjoy real media coverage - people whose extremist causes are suspect and don't deserve that attention and support. Finally, when I think about the miserable turnout we show in local school budget and village elections, one wonders about the entire concept where the choice of candidates for national election is crucial and the right to vote is something precious requiring a mandate of conscience to insure privileges and rewards. P.G.S.

Plumbers R Us

PAGE 18 Friday, April 4, 1986

By Marjorie Wolfe

If there's one thing that's virtually as certain as taxes and death, it's the ceaseless "drip...drip...drip" of a leaky kitchen faucet. It must be the close cousin to the ancient water torture, and causes daytime aggravation and nighttime insomnia.

With the acute water shortage and loss of sleep, I finally gave in and called a plumber; I got his answering machine:

"Hello. You have reached 'Plumbers R Us'. I'm sorry but I'm attending a convention of the National Association of Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors to inaugurate our 'Love Your Plumber, Plumber of the Year Contest', and 'Scholarship Fund for Future Plumbers'.

This machine has a short 30-second cycle, so I'm going to have to ask you to leave out all the adjectives in your message. If you don't know what I mean, pretend you Tarzan."

Beep...

"Hello, Wolfe here. Delta faucet drips. Husband follows Carroll's Law:

- Leave them alone long enough, they will fix themselves.
- If they haven't fixed themselves, you haven't left them alone long enough.
- Try to fix them, they will be hopelessly beyond repair.
- Try to have somebody else fix them, it will cost more than a new one.

Help! 516 433-0000."

Ten days later, the plumber returned the call.

"Plumbers R Us. Can I help you?"

"Yes. While you were at the Plumbing Conference, my husband read the Book of the Month Club winter selection, 'The One Minute Plumber', subscribed to the Time-Life Plumbing Book, and attempted to resolve the problem."

"Exactly what did he do?"

"Well, according to the book, our Delta faucet has a swing spout, and two "o" rings must be used instead of one. Since the faucet was dripping at the spout outlet, he shut off both the hot and cold water, loosened the set screw, and pulled off the handle. He then unscrewed and removed the cap assembly using an Allen wrench."

"Go on lady."

"He then replaced the rubber seats and springs, checked the ball and replaced it. There was a sharp edge around the two small holes and he cut himself."

"Well, that's Scott's Do-It-Yourself-Code. For the successful completion of any plumbing task requiring tools, it is necessary to bleed at least once."

"Go on."

"He then reassembled the faucet in the reverse order, making sure that the slot inside the ball and the lug on the side of the cam was inserted into the slot on the side of the body. Lastly he screwed the cap down until it was tight, and the faucet went 'drip...drip...drip'."

"Well, lady here's our price to replace a kitchen faucet: A new Moen (top of the line) two handle faucet with spray is $115—installed. A one-handle Moen is $140—installed. Both are guaranteed for one year and the installation takes about one hour."

"And to repair the faucet?"

"$38 for the first half hour plus the cost of the parts. Figure $10-$15 for the parts. Three-month guarantee."

"When can the work be done?" I asked.

"Let's see. The first available opening would be in six weeks, April....."

"Six weeks?"

"Lady there's a terrible shortage of plumbers. The Labor Department estimates openings for an additional 30,000 plumbers and pipefitters. And, experienced plumbers are hard to find. Just yesterday we fired a kid because he didn't know that trade names for pipes have little to do with their real sizes. A pipe that has a 1/2-inch inside diameter is not known as a 1/2 inch pipe; it is a 3/8 inch pipe."

"Will Friday, April 25 be okay?"

"Sure!"

"Bye..."

"Bye..."

Q. If you receive a case of wine as a present, how is it best stored to see for a "very special occasion"?

Keep it in a cool dry place, such as a cellar where the temperature is from 55 to 65 degrees (ideally). Make sure that if the bottles are corked, they are laid on their side to keep the cork from drying out. A wine rack is very useful for this.

Bottles that are screw-capped may be stored in an upright position on a shelf where it's dark and cool.

Q. What's the difference between eating "American style", and "continental style", and which way is better?

B.F. A. In the American system, when cutting one's food, one holds the fork in the left hand and the knife in the right hand. Then one puts down the knife and transfers the fork from the left to the right hand for the purpose of putting food on the fork and into the mouth.

In the continental system, one holds the fork in the left hand and the knife in the right for cutting purposes, and also for eating purposes. One continues to hold the knife in the right hand, and the fork therefore stays in the left hand. There is no useless shifting of utensils. The knife also contains the food in a support system until a morsel is safely on the fork.

I feel the continental system is best, and everyone uses it except the Americans. We have tried to find out through research when and why the American system of holding the fork in the right hand came into being. The answer has not yet surfaced.

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about La Marmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite we have to say they are really "special".

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

READER RATINGS

GOOD NIGHT
 Last Wednesday we decided to follow one of the suggestions in your Reader Ratings. We were mainly satisfied with what we got although the service was a little slow. We went to the Platt-Deutsche Park Restaurant in Franklin Square. The place was no stranger to us because we have been there many times before at catered affairs. But this time we went to the smaller restaurant and had sauerbraten. Considering that the check was reduced because we had four in the party eating sauerbraten and they gave us all of the salad we could ever eat it was a very good night both in food and cost.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides
 Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it publishes the last word in restaurant guides—a joint listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great and near great food commentators, your readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

TOP QUALITY
 For a long time I have wondered how Pappas Restaurant of Sheephead Bay was. Many of my friends went there and said it was a fine seafood restaurant. So, one night we went there. It has reasonable prices and beautiful surroundings. It is clean and has excellent top quality seafood.

The service was excellent. All in all I was pleased with Pappas and had a wonderful time. Pappas is easy to get to, it is located at 700 Willis Avenue, Williston Park. It's like no other seafood restaurant around. F.M.

REAL SPANISH CUISINE
 Up until last week we had never experienced real Spanish cuisine. On Thursday we went to the LosPurches restaurant in Great Neck. This beautiful restaurant features some of the very finest Spanish dishes you could ever find. There were four people in our party and they each had a different entree. Every one said that the food, with its excellent Spanish sauces and flavoring, presented a rare treat. This restaurant is truly one of the best on L.I. C.deG.

WORTH ANOTHER VISIT
 The Franina Restaurant on Jericho Turnpike is a wonderful Italian Restaurant. We went there last Thursday and had a great meal with some of the best pasta and veal picata we have ever eaten. This restaurant is nicely decorated and excels in good service. One of its specialties is cappuccino which is a wonderful way to top off a good meal. We certainly enjoyed this restaurant and intend to go back again. V.T.

Cooking Corner

In large saucepan place eggplants and boil 15 minutes. Drain, cool and cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out center and reserve, leaving 1/2-inch shell. Drain inverted shells on paper towels, dice reserved eggplant center and drain in colander.

In Dutch oven, place 1/2 cup of butter and melt over medium temperature. Add green pepper, shallots, parsley, garlic, thyme and bay leaves, saute until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove bay leaves, add rice and cook about 10 minutes. Remove from heat, add salt, pepper, red pepper sauce, feta cheese and diced eggplant, add eggs and stir to mix. Fill eggplant shells with vegetable mixture, piling higher in center.

In shallow dish, mix together bread crumbs, cayenne pepper and garlic salt. Melt remaining 1/2 cup of butter and dip chicken thighs first in butter, then in bread crumb mixture. Place 1 thigh on top of each eggplant half, sprinkle with any remaining bread crumbs. Place in 350 F oven and bake about 45 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease.

Makes 6 servings.

CHEESY CHICKEN AND CABBAGE BAKE

- 1 whole broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1 small head cabbage, cut in 1/2-inch wedges
- 3 large apples, unpeeled, cut in 1/2-inch wedges
- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 1 lemon peel, grated
- 2 tps. caraway seed
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 cups shredded Swiss cheese, divided
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 tsp. paprika
- Chopped parsley

In large shallow baking pan, place chicken, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in 350 F oven for 1 hour or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease.

In 3-quart shallow baking dish, place cabbage, apples and onion, sprinkle with lemon peel, caraway seed and sugar. Pour water over cabbage mixture, cover and place in oven with chicken during last 30 minutes of cooking.

Remove chicken and cabbage from oven, sprinkle 1 cup of Swiss cheese over cabbage mixture, arrange chicken on top. Add pan drippings from chicken and sprinkle remaining 1 cup of Swiss cheese, walnuts and paprika over chicken. Return to oven and bake about 5 minutes or until cheese begins to melt. Garnish with chopped parsley.

Makes 6 servings.

OYSTER-STUFFED COASTAL CHICKEN

- 3 broiler-fryer chickens, halved
- 1 pt. oysters, liquid reserved
- 1 stick butter, divided
- 3 tps. chopped green pepper

- 2 tps. chopped celery
- 3 tps. chopped parsley
- 2 tps. chopped onion
- 1 garlic clove, pressed
- 1 1/2 cups bread crumbs, divided
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
- 1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper
- 1/2 cup water

Drain and chop oysters, reserving liquid. In large frypan, place 4 tablespoons of butter. Add oysters, green pepper, celery, parsley, onion and garlic clove, saute 10 minutes. Add 1 cup of bread crumbs, salt, cayenne pepper, pepper and 1/2 cup reserved oyster liquid, stir to mix well.

In shallow baking pan, place chicken halves, skin side up, dot with 2 tablespoons of butter. Add water to pan, place in 375 F oven for 30 minutes or until brown. Remove chicken from oven, turn skin side down and fill each cavity with oyster stuffing.

Melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter, add remaining 1/2 cup bread crumbs and sprinkle over stuffing. Return chicken to oven and bake 20 minutes more or until crumbs are golden brown and fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Serve with cranberry or lingonberry preserves.

Makes 6 servings.

APRICOT AFFAIR CHICKEN

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
- 1/2 cup plus 1 tbsp. flour, divided
- 1/2 cup cooking oil
- 2 tps. chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. white pepper
- 1/2 tsp. ginger
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. ground cloves
- 1 large egg, beaten
- 2 tps. fresh lemon juice
- 1 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 1/2 cup apricot syrup
- 1 (30 oz.) can firm apricot halves, divided
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds, toasted
- Parsley

In frypan, place oil and heat to medium temperature. Dredge chicken in 1/2 cup of flour and cook, turning, about 10 minutes or until brown on all sides. Remove from frypan and set aside. To frypan, add onion and celery; saute about 3 minutes. Sprinkle remaining 1 tablespoon of flour over onion/celery mixture, stirring. Gradually stir in chicken broth and heat thoroughly. Return chicken to frypan.

In small bowl, mix together salt, white pepper, ginger, nutmeg and cloves, sprinkle over chicken. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove chicken from frypan and keep warm.

In bowl, mix together egg lemon juice, lemon peel and apricot syrup, add to frypan. Cook, stirring, until thickened. Return chicken to frypan, top with 1 cup of apricot halves and almonds. Heat thoroughly. Place chicken on warm serving platter; cover with apricot sauce. Garnish with parsley and remaining apricot halves.

Makes 4 servings.

LIME ROASTED CHICKEN

- 1 whole broiler-fryer chicken
- 1/2 cup fresh lime juice
- 1/4 cup cooking oil
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
- 1 tbsp. capers
- 2 carrots, cooked, cut in lengthwise strips
- 3 boiled potatoes, peeled, cut in wedges

- 2 leeks, green and white parts included, cut lengthwise
- 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, halved

In bowl, mix together lime juice, cooking oil, salt, pepper, parsley and capers. Place chicken in roasting pan; pour lime juice mixture over chicken and inside cavity. Allow to marinate about 1 hour, turning often. Place in 400 F oven for 20 minutes, turn and baste; bake 20 minutes more. Turn and baste again; then add carrots, potatoes, leeks and mushrooms. Bake 20 minutes more or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Garnish with lime slices. Carve chicken and serve with vegetables, spooning juices over all.

Makes 4 servings.

Sage advice for spicing up recipes

By Paul Bensen and Evander Preston

Sage, one of the most versatile of herbs, is an excellent seasoning for veal, fish, pork, fowl and game. The addition of a bit of fresh or dried sage is a quick and easy way to liven up a wide variety of recipes.

Two of today's recipes are for main courses in which sage plays a prominent role — Sautéed Veal with Sage and Fish with Sage in Wine Sauce. The third recipe is for a delicious sage stuffing for baked or broiled fish. In the veal recipe, boned and skinned chicken breasts may be used as a substitute for the veal. Cooking time for the fish recipe is fairly long — 45 or 50 minutes — but preparation takes just a few minutes, allowing the cook to do other things while the dish cooks.

One of the most versatile of herbs, sage has been used for thousands of years as a medicinal tonic, in cooking and even as a dentifrice. The herb's name derives from the Latin salvere, to heal or save. The Romans and the Greeks valued the herb as a tonic for restoring memory and for lifting one's mood. American Indians cleaned their teeth by chewing sage leaves then scrubbing their teeth and gums with the twigs.

In Europe, sage is much more commonly used in cooking than it is in America. Herb gardens in France and Italy generally include one or more varieties of sage. Untrimmed, sage plants will grow about 4 feet high and almost as wide, and may survive for 15 years or longer.

Fresh sage has a refreshing, lemony flavor, and does not have the hint of mint that is typical of dried sage. You can easily grow sage in a planter or window box. Occasional pruning and watering are all that's needed to keep you supplied with fresh sage leaves year-round. The leaves should be dried carefully, away from direct sun and in a dry place, so that mold does not form on them.

Sage is delicious mixed with a variety of soft cheeses, and is great for adding a special touch to a dip. It can also be used in salad dressings, soups and stuffings for fowl and fish.

When you experiment with sage, use it sparingly — too much can overpower the other flavors in your recipe. Today's recipes give quantities for both fresh and dried sage.

SAUTEED VEAL WITH SAGE (TOTAL PREPARATION AND COOKING TIME — 20 MINUTES)

- 1 lb. veal cutlets or veal scallopini (boned, skinned chicken breasts may be substituted for veal — use about 1 1/2 times the weight for chicken, and pound breast meat into flat cutlets before cooking)
- Flour (for dredging veal)
- 3 tps. butter
- 2 tps. olive oil
- 2 tps. fresh sage leaves, finely chopped (or 2 tps. dried sage)
- 3 cloves garlic, halved

Sauce:

- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 1/2 tps. fresh sage leaves, finely chopped (or 1/2 tsp. dried sage)
- 1/2 cup chicken broth

2 tbsps. melted butter
Salt and pepper to taste

Pound veal to thickness of 1/4 inch. Dredge lightly in flour. In heavy skillet, heat butter and olive oil; add sage and halved garlic cloves. Cook over medium-low heat until garlic begins to soften and turns golden brown. Remove garlic and raise temperature slightly. Add veal, a few pieces at a time, and cook 2 to 3 minutes on each side until lightly browned. Reserve cooked veal and keep warm.

To make sauce, pour off about two-thirds of oil and butter mixture remaining in skillet and discard. Using same skillet, add wine and sage. Reduce wine, stirring, over medium-high heat until about 3 tablespoons remain. Add chicken broth and reduce by half, continuing to stir. Add butter and salt and pepper to taste, stir in, cover reserved veal with sauce and serve. Serves 2 or 4.

WHOLE FISH WITH SAGE IN WINE SAUCE (PREPARATION TIME — 5 MINUTES OR LESS)

(COOKING TIME — 45-50 MINUTES)

- 1 whole (2-2 1/2 lb.) fish (suggestions: grouper, redfish, sea trout, bass)
- 2 cups dry white wine
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 cup fresh mushrooms (halved, if large mushrooms are used)
- 1/2 cup pitted black olives
- 3-4 fresh sage leaves
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 whole clove
- 2 medium tomatoes, sliced
- 1/2 lemon, sliced

Place fish in ovenproof casserole or earthenware dish large enough to fit fish with a bit of room to spare. Pour wine over fish, add salt and pepper to taste and add mushrooms, olives, sage leaves, bay leaves and clove.

Cover fish with tomato and lemon slices, place in preheated 375 F oven and bake, uncovered, basting frequently with pan sauce, 45 minutes or until most of wine has evaporated and fish is cooked through.

Remove bay leaves and clove, transfer fish to large platter, garnish with sauce and serve.

Serves 4.

SAGE STUFFING FOR FISH (PREPARATION TIME — 5-10 MINUTES)

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 1/4 tbsps. fresh sage leaves, finely chopped (or 1/2 tsp. dried)
- 2 cups freshly made bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

In heavy skillet, melt butter and add chopped onion. Cook until onion is softened and translucent, but do not allow to brown. Stir in sage and bread crumbs and add salt and pepper to taste. Continue to stir until butter has been absorbed (30 seconds to a minute).

Yields enough stuffing for 2 to 3 pounds of fish (trout, salmon, bass suggested).

microwave magic

Saucy spaghetti

By Desiree Vivez

I serve spaghetti a few times a month, at the very least. Everybody likes it, it's inexpensive, and so quick and easy to prepare with the microwave. Just add a hearty red table wine, a salad, and maybe a loaf of crusty bread, and you're all set.

You can cook pasta in the microwave, but you don't really save any time or work. That's why I prefer to boil pasta conventionally, on the stovetop, and reserve the microwave to prepare the sauce.

A tomato-based sauce is the most popular topper for noodles in my family. Today's Beefy Spaghetti Sauce blends ground beef, tomatoes and tomato paste, and seasonings in a savory combination of flavors. For a meatless sauce, omit beef and saute onion, celery, garlic and parsley in 3 tablespoons of olive oil. Or use beef to make meatballs, and add to the sauce before serving.

Don't, however, think that tomato sauce is the only fit topping for a plate of hot pasta. There are as many ways to serve pasta as there are pasta lovers. Italians crack a raw egg into a plate of hot pasta, toss, and let the heat cook the egg. Pasta can be delicious, too, with just a bit of garlic butter, a snipping of fresh herbs, and a dash of Parmesan cheese.

White Clam Sauce makes an interesting and tasty alternative to the tomato sauce routine. And Spaghetti Carbonara for One makes a quick, delicious meal for a single diner.

When converting a conventional spaghetti sauce recipe for use in the microwave, remember to reduce liquid by about 1/4. Because of the shorter cooking period required by the microwave, liquid does not have time to evaporate. So keep in mind the desired consistency of the sauce, and add liquids sparingly.

And remember that the best sauce in the world can't save a plate of mushy, textureless pasta. Cook only until noodles are al dente — with a bit of bite left in them — for best results.

BEEFY SPAGHETTI SAUCE

- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 1/2 cup each finely chopped onion and celery
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 3 tbsps. minced parsley
- 1 (1 lb.) can whole tomatoes
- 1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
- 1 (4 oz.) can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
- 1/2 tsp. dried leaf oregano
- 1/2 tsp. dried basil
- 1/2 tsp. dried, ground thyme
- 1/2 tsp. each salt and pepper
- Water, to thin (if necessary)
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Crumble ground beef into 2-quart glass casserole. Microwave 3 to 4 minutes, stirring twice, until meat is no longer pink.

Stir in onion, celery, garlic and parsley. Cover and microwave 5 minutes, stirring after 2 1/2 minutes.

Cut up tomatoes and add with liquid. Stir in tomato paste, mushrooms, oregano, basil, thyme, salt and pepper. Add small amount of water, as necessary, to thin to desired consistency.

Cover and microwave 10 to 15 minutes, stirring every 5 minutes, until sauce is heated through. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

Serve over hot pasta and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Makes enough sauce for approximately 4 servings.

WHITE CLAM SAUCE

- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- 1 tsp. flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 (6 1/2 oz.) can clams, drained and minced
- 1/4 cup finely chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 tsp. dried leaf basil
- 1/4 tsp. ground dried thyme
- 1/4 tsp. ground black pepper

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Combine butter and garlic in 1-quart glass casserole. Microwave 30 seconds to 1 minute, until butter melts, then stir in flour to make a smooth paste.

Add milk, a little at a time, stirring constantly to blend. Stir in egg, clams and seasonings.

Microwave 3 to 5 minutes, stirring once, until sauce is heated through and slightly thickened.

Makes about 3 cups sauce, or enough for 4 servings of pasta.

SPAGHETTI CARBONARA FOR ONE

- 2 ozs. spaghetti (thin spaghetti noodles)
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil
- 2 slices raw bacon, chopped
- 3 tbsps. minced onion
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 1 small tomato, chopped
- 3 tbsps. grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tbsps. chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 Freshly ground black pepper (to taste)

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Combine spaghetti, water and vegetable oil in pot, cover, and cook on conventional stovetop 10 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally, until al dente.

Meanwhile, combine bacon, onion and garlic in 1-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave 3 to 4 minutes, stirring twice, until bacon is cooked and onion tender. Drain off bacon fat.

Stir in chopped tomato, cover, and microwave 30 seconds longer. Drain spaghetti noodles and stir into hot bacon mixture. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, chopped parsley and pepper, tossing gently to blend. Serve immediately.

Bananas

By Diane Savage

Fond of bananas? You're not alone. The fruit has been a big seller in this country since refrigerated ships and railroad cars appeared in the 1920s.

Before then, the banana was an exotic treat only available for special occasions, and "yes, we have no bananas" must have been a common reply to shoppers' inquiries. But with more efficient, refrigerated shipping techniques, bananas could be brought fresh from the tropics and distributed all over the country.

Because ripe bananas are mushy, they make great baby food. They provide good amounts of potassium and vitamins C, A and B1 and, when ripe, they're very easily digested.

Banana slices are a favorite topper for cold cereal, ice cream and yogurt. Dried banana chips, available in many health food markets, are a tasty addition to trail mix and granola.

In fruit salads, bananas combine well with oranges, grapefruit, melon balls, grapes, pineapple, peaches, nectarines and apple. Chopped dried dates, raisins and nuts make a nice addition, too.

After slicing bananas, sprinkle with a bit of lemon juice, to prevent darkening.

If your family eats lots of bananas, it's best to buy them by the bunch, since single bananas deteriorate far more quickly.

Ripen green bananas in a paper bag at room temperature — never in the fridge. When greenness is gone (never eat a green banana), and the skin is deep yellow lightly speckled with brown, the starch will be changed to fruit sugar and the fruit will be easy to digest.

Don't worry about the dark spots on banana skins — they're actually sugar spots, indicating that the fruit is ripe.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q Our home is 21 years old. Recently I noticed some small leaks in the galvanized pipe under the kitchen sink. They seem confined to this area, and only create a small amount of leaking water.

Can you recommend any way I might repair these small leaks without having to call a plumber to replace the entire sink plumbing? — A.R.D.

A If you have very many leaks, this probably indicates that the pipe is corroded enough to require replacement. However, you might want to try patching the leaky pipe if the leaks are small and confined to the limited area you describe.

A sleeve clamp works best, but it must fit the pipe diameter exactly. If the leaks are only pinhole in size, you can use a hose clamp (size Nos. 16 and 12 are usually best for household pipe).

If you use a clamp, you will need a solid rubber blanket. You can use an cut up old inner tube, or you can purchase a sheet of rubber at a hardware store. Place a rectangle of rubber directly over the hole, under the clamp. The clamp will seal the leak when pressure is applied on the rubber blanket covering.

If leaks appear around the joints of the pipe fittings, you can try epoxy putty to seal this area. Be sure the pipe is thoroughly dry and follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

If these methods are insufficient to stop the leaks you will need to replace the faulty segments of the pipe. Check with your local hardware store on piping and pipe fittings. You may find that with some simple instructions, the proper tools and materials, you can replace a faulty pipe segment yourself.

Q I have some brass fixtures in a bathroom which have become dull and corroded. Is there any way I can restore the original beauty of these fixtures and protect them from corrosion in the future? — L.W.

A There are a number of professional brass cleaners on the market, and you can lacquer the brass after cleaning and polishing to help maintain the finish.

I have recently discovered one exceptionally good product that provides an entire system of cleaning, polishing and protection for brass. It is called The Brass System, and is available at marine supply stores or directly from the manufacturer, BCB Products, 195 Claremont Ave., Long Beach, CA 90803.

The cleaner, polisher and protective coating can also be used on copper and bronze, and the protective finish is particularly long lasting. It is also easy to apply, as are the cleaners, which are non-abrasive.

Q In our newspaper I saw the problem about the ants in the dishwasher. I had trouble with them in my house. I was told to plant peppermint plants around the foundation of the house. It has sure helped. I still have them planted around the house and I also cut some and brought them in the house.

Perhaps if B.N. put some cut mint in the washer when not in use it would keep the ants out. I haven't had a single one in the house since we planted the mint. Thank you for your column. I hope this hint is helpful. — J.O.

A We are happy to pass along to our readers helpful hints others have found useful.

we'll bet someone in Congress will try to pass a law based on it.

The major point missing in the research? The absolute right of grandparents to spoil their grandkids — and that is downright important. Perhaps we'll have to take that up with the Supreme Court or, at least, our congressmen.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 17 and have been dating Joe for two years. When we first met he was actively taking drugs. Since I loved him, I stayed with him and encouraged him to give them up. He did, for a year, but started using them again, heavier than ever.

Finally I told Joe that he was really hurting me and that I didn't want to be hurt anymore. I gave him a choice, drugs or me, and he chose drugs.

Now Joe says he hates me because I left him when he needed me most. I feel sorry for him but I didn't leave him, he left me. Do you agree? — Debby

Debby: Indeed, I do, and by no means should you go back to Joe unless you are 100 percent sure he is off drugs — completely. In the meantime, date and enjoy the company of teens who are not hooked on drugs.

Dr. Wallace: I will graduate from high school next year and I want to go to college to become a newspaper journalist, but my parents say they will not pay for my education unless I become a lawyer. Since I hate law I cannot fulfill their fantasy vocation.

Since I cannot pay for my education, I'm in big trouble. Please help. — Bob

Bob: Since most colleges and universities do not want students to declare their major fields of study until the junior year, take your parents offer for an education and discuss the "disagreement" after your sophomore year. It could be they might just see things your way at that time.

Dr. Wallace: I am 12 and have a newspaper route. When I go collecting, some of my customers tell me to come back "because they didn't cash their check yet." When I go back, they don't answer the door. Finally, after going back and forth several times, they grudgingly pay me.

I like all my customers and the more customers I have the more money I make. But some of them make it very hard on paper carriers. I hope you will print my letter so customers will understand our problem. — Carolyn

Carolyn: I know where you are coming from. For several years I delivered the Gary (Ind.) Post-Tribune. I hope printing your letter will encourage all customers of newspaper carriers everywhere to pay their bills on time. These carriers are independent businesspeople and they suffer when you are late paying for their services.

Dr. Wallace: I'm not 'tween 12 and 20 but would like to express my opinion on the matter of male teachers wearing three-piece suits in order to get their students' respect. My husband has a master's degree, has genuine concern for each of his students and is a fine teacher.

Are you aware that Mississippi teachers are the lowest paid in the United States? We could hardly afford the cost of dry cleaning let alone buying the suits. Still, he has no problem with student disrespect. You see, he was taught respect as a child and demands it as an adult.

His teaching attire consists of slacks and sometimes jeans and an appropriate shirt. The result: relaxed students who feel like their teacher is human. — Teacher's Wife

Teacher's Wife: I think you are reading into the column what you want to see, not what I said. It contained nothing about wearing three-piece suits or even two-piece suits. My statement was that teachers should dress like the professionals they are. Nothing was mentioned about clothes and student respect.

I still felt that way until I read the following letter from Kathy of Porterville, Calif. She made me "see the light."

Dr. Wallace: I am 14 and like a nice boy who is also 14. I only saw him on Sundays because we don't live near each other, but we did attend the same church. Bobby and I were really close at one time. He called me twice a week and we enjoyed our Sunday visits.

About a month ago Bobby stopped calling, so I started calling him. He told me that he was going to attend another church and not to call him anymore. Well I did and this made him mad, so mad that his parents changed his telephone number.

Last week my sister found out his new number so I called him last night. He was so mad that he hung up on me. My sister says that I should call him again because he really likes me and is only playing hard to get.

My mom thinks I'm wasting my time and that I'm only making a fool and a pest of myself. Who is right, my sister or my mother? — Gloria Gloria: Moms are usually right and this is no exception.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

If you're a grandparent, you're about to be researched more than ever before.

Grandparenthood is a social role and a phase of life too long neglected by scholarly research, according to Dr. Vern Bengtson, professor of sociology and gerontology at the University of Southern California's Andrus Gerontology Center.

With increased longevity, more people are living long enough to become grandparents. At the turn of the century, about 3 million Americans lived beyond age 65. Now it is about 24 million.

So what are you if you are a grandparent? What are you to do or be? If you accept some other person's determination of your posture or actions, you'll find that Bengtson, together with Joan Robertson, has produced a research book titled "Grandparenthood" (Sage Publications, 1985).

The findings:

• Grandparents are more important for what they symbolize than for what they do.

• By simply being there, grandparents perform a valuable function. Their mere existence is an expression of family continuity. They serve as an anchor of stability.

• Grandparents are a link to the past, "not just to members of a particular family but to members of a previous social order. It's a connection with humanity."

• The presence of the older generation can exert a calming influence during times of transition, such as divorce.

"When parents divorce, grandparents often step in to provide direct assistance as well as emotional support. The divorce issue has a great deal to do with the increased attention to grandparents."

• Many of today's grandparents are at a loss, because they didn't know their own grandparents. They have few personal experiences to fall back on. Often, they feel clumsy and inept with their grandchildren.

Because grandparents differ so widely, no single prescription can fill the bill, Bengtson says. He offers a few tips for interacting with grandchildren.

• Don't preach. Too often grandparents pontificate about what life is all about and what young people should do. Grandchildren are turned off by admonitions.

• Provide some rewards — candy or a dollar or two. "It doesn't have to be much. But don't do it for good behavior. Do it just for them being there with you."

• Listen. Children get listened to so seldom. Teachers and parents are always telling them what to do. They'll appreciate someone who pays attention to what they have to say.

Now you have the start of the research about you as a grandparent. You can anticipate more to come, followed by debate, and

ST. JUDE THANK YOU FOR
 answering my prayers. W.M. wapl

ST. JUDE THANKS FOR
 answering my prayers. M.K. & J.J. gcap1

MAY THE SACRED HEART of Jesus be praised, adored, glorified, honored and loved throughout the world now and forever. Most Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Theresa of the Child Jesus, pray for us. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us. St. Jude, healer of the sick, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the helpless, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. May all the souls of the faithful departed, rest in peace. Amen. 19 times per day. 9 days, a copy left in church. It worked for me! Deo Gratias. M.M. wapl

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE
 all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit. A.L. wapl

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
 Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. M.F. wapl

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
 Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known & cause you to be invoked St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Mary's, 3 Gloria's. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. A.B. hap1

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE
 All problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit. G.A.A. gcap2

TROPICAL SMOOTHIE

- 1 cup milk, chilled
- 1 (6 oz.) can unsweetened pineapple juice, chilled
- 1 large banana, peeled and cut in large chunks
- Dash ground nutmeg

Combine milk, pineapple juice and banana in container of blender; process at medium speed until well blended and frothy.

Pour into 2 glasses and dust lightly with ground nutmeg. Serve immediately.

Serves 2

BANANA NUT BUTTER

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1 medium ripe banana, peeled and cut in large chunks
- 1 tbsp lemon juice
- 3 tbsps finely chopped walnuts or pecans
- 1/2 tsp ground cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp nutmeg

Beat butter with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Add oil, a little at a time, and continue beating until thoroughly blended.

Add honey, beating well until blended, then beat in remaining ingredients.

Store in small covered container, and refrigerate. Banana Nut Butter will keep for about 1 week. (Use on toast, in sandwiches, etc.)

Makes about 1 1/4 cups.

WHOLE WHEAT BANANA CAKE

- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
- 1/2 tsp baking soda
- 1/2 tsp ground cinnamon

- 1/4 tsp each ground allspice and nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 1/2 cup plain yogurt
- 1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup mashed banana (2 small bananas)

Preheat oven to 350 F.

Cream together honey and butter; add egg and beat until frothy.

In separate bowl combine flour, baking soda, cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and salt. Add alternately with yogurt to creamed mixture.

Stir in walnuts, then fold in mashed banana. Turn mixture into buttered and floured 8x8-inch square baking pan.

Bake in preheated oven 25 to 30 minutes, until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Let cool in pan 5 minutes before turning out onto wire rack to cool.

Makes 1 8x8-inch cake.

RUM-BAKED BANANAS

- 4 firm, ripe bananas
- 4 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 1/2 tsp. ground allspice
- 4 tbsps. dark rum
- 4 tbsps. flaked coconut

Preheat oven to 375 F.

Place peeled bananas in small, shallow baking dish (dish should be just large enough to hold bananas in single layer).

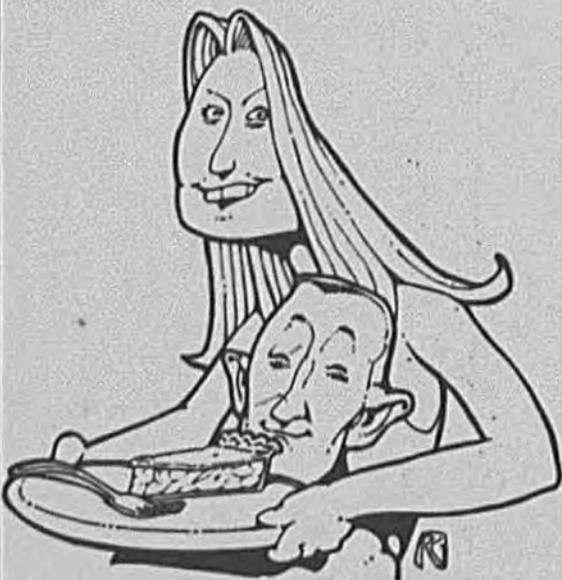

Cut butter in pieces and arrange over bananas, then dust with allspice. Bake, uncovered, 10 minutes, basting once or twice with butter.

When bananas are golden brown and softened, pour rum over top. Bake 3 to 4 minutes longer, basting to prevent drying.

Place bananas on individual serving plates and top with whatever sauce has not been absorbed. Sprinkle with coconut and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

Adding comfort, appeal to attic spaces

By Sharon Owen Haven

Q. We want to make use of our attic space as a recreation room for our teenage children. My husband has added a skylight and drywalled the space, but now I am worried that the space is too claustrophobic and bright for many activities. Is there some way I can furnish and decorate it so that the kids will want to use it? — V.M.

A. Skylights have their nasty moments. They admit light that can overheat spaces, fade furnishings and blind occupants. I hope you installed an operable skylight, since ventilation is especially important in attic spaces.

There are window coverings that will help control light from a skylight — from reflecting films to blinds. A simple solution of curtains with rods at the top and bottom, as pictured, works perfectly well.

Choose durable fabrics in light neutrals that will resist sun damage and add color and pattern in accessories that don't fade or pillows that can be easily changed.

Keep furnishings durable and low in scale so that sloped or low ceilings are less troublesome. Outdoor furniture might fit the bill. Comfortable seating can be as simple as oversize pillows on thickly padded carpeting or a single bed mattress with an attractive fitted cover and throw pillows.

Remember, your goal is to make the space appealing enough so your teenagers will use it, but not so comfortable that they'll never leave home!

Q. We live in a tiny apartment and eat at a gateleg table with two chairs. The table can be made larger for a couple of guests, but we really don't have the room to spare for two more chairs that will rarely be used. Any ideas? — M.L.

A. How about trying some of the nifty new imported folding chairs? They are now available in a staggering array of styles, colors and materials — from bright shiny metal with a contemporary look to wood and cane in more conservative styling. Stack them in the closet or under the bed when not in use.

Another solution is to hang extra chairs on the wall and make them part of your wall decor. Many styles of chairs can be hung from hat racks, where they take up no precious floor space. Better still, you can use the seats as shelves for storage or display surfaces.

Q. I have an old Pennsylvania settee that I'd like to use in my living room but I don't want the atmosphere to be old and dowdy.

What would you suggest as a good fabric for my settee that would give me a contemporary look in my room? — R.R.V.

A. You might be inspired by the work of two Pennsylvania interior designers, Bertram Laudenslager and Arthur L'Esperance. They covered a client's Duncan Phyfe sofa in a leatherlike suede Naugahyde, placing it in a room of sea-blue walls and lush green carpeting.

A paisley print offered design quality as did bamboo window screens. The result was lots of bright color in a distinctive combining of old and new with an emphasis on comfort.

Q. We have a colonial home that I am refurbishing. Our living room has an Oriental rug in shades of blue, brown and cream. I have painted the walls cream and chose a blue Chippendale-style sofa.

I am very disappointed with my color choices because the room seems dull. I have tried to enliven it with accessories but most of my things are in wood tones and blue because that is my favorite color.

What can I do to make this room come alive? — E.E.

A. Why don't you consider introducing a muted red? Perhaps you could do this with a wing chair's upholstery or a pair of small chairs. If the muted red fabric had some small touch of brown, cream or blue, all the better.

Or, if you have no chair that could accommodate the red fabric, pillows on the sofa in soft reds could give you a colorful touch.

Mat some old black and white prints or drawings with red. Red glass might sparkle, too, at a window or on a pretty piece of traditional furniture.

UNIQUE SETTING — A one-of-a-kind room, with the emphasis on comfort, was created by Bertram Laudenslager and Arthur L'Esperance. The designers covered the Duncan Phyfe sofa with suede Naugahyde and used paisley fabric on the ottoman, pillows and table. Sea-blue walls and lush green carpeting add color.

Spaying of cat is simple surgery

Q We recently acquired a female kitten and do not want her to become pregnant. Is spaying the best method to prevent pregnancy? If so, at what age should we have the operation performed? What is really involved in having a cat spayed?

A Spaying, also called ovariectomy, is simply removing both the ovaries and uterus by surgery.

The spaying procedure is performed under general anesthesia. Therefore, the cat feels no pain during the operation, which usually only takes 15 to 20 minutes.

Because spaying requires general anesthesia, the cat must be fasted for a few hours prior to surgery, to ensure that the stomach is empty at the time of surgery. In most situations, cats can go home from the clinic the day following surgery. The length of fasting and duration of hospital stay varies among veterinarians.

Although opinions vary among veterinarians regarding what age to spay cats, many recommend spaying prior to the expected first estrus or heat. It was thought at one time that allowing cats to carry one litter prior to spaying was desirable, but it is now thought by some authorities that allowing dogs or cats to go through even one heat period greatly increases the risk of breast cancer later in life.

The age at which the first heat occurs is influenced by many factors — season of the year, climate, breed and whether she is an indoor or outdoor cat, for example. Most cats exhibit their first heats between 5 to 7 months of age. However, pregnancies have been reported as early as 4 months of age. Therefore, many veterinarians recommend spaying at approximately 4 months of age.

Many pregnant cats have been spayed early in gestation without any complications. It is not advisable to have your cat spayed while she is in heat, because there is an increased chance of severe hemorrhaging during estrus.

Spaying can also be safely performed on older cats or cats that have had many litters of kittens.

Spaying eliminates the periods of nervousness, meanness and bad toilet habits often seen during periods of heat and is the most dependable, least bothersome method for preventing reproduction in cats.

It has been estimated that literally millions of unwanted cats are destroyed each year in the United States. Therefore, conscientious cat owners should not allow their animals to have kittens unless future homes are assured. Spaying cats does not in any way make them less desirable pets.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Did you have fun on April Fool's Day? This year it came on Tuesday, April 1.

When I was a child we had a great time in school, teasing our poor teachers, on April Fool's Day. We would give them all kinds of disturbing messages. Then when they responded in amazement or horror, we would shout, "April Fool!" As you can see, we were a little mean.

However, the teachers were really quite understanding. They were amused rather than annoyed. As I look back, they were extremely patient.

I don't know the origin of April Fool's Day. Maybe one of the young readers of this column can tell us!

Love,

Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Lauren Hopkins and Katherine Goufopoulos. Congratulations to both of you!

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

A picture of our three grandchildren, the greater part of our world. Our lives would be empty without them. We're a close family as they also live in our town. The oldest is Patrick J. "P.J." Driscoll, 5 1/2 years, Joseph J. "Joey" Driscoll, 4 years and Caidyn M. "Catty", 1 1/2 years. Their father, our only son, is Patrick and his wife's name is Ruth. Grandparents are Joseph and Mary Driscoll. Believe me they're even more beautiful than the picture.
