Mail Fraud P.O. Topic

Postal Inspector Jack Shaw will kick off Postal Consumer Protection Week, April 20-26 at the Hicksville Post Office, April 21 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to answer questions on mail fraud. Postal Police Officer Paul LaPrizzi is pictured taking down information from Inspector Shaw who is talking to a customer complaining of mail fraud. McGruff the Crime Dog (Plainview letter carrier Tom Coppola) is on hand to remind customers to "Take a Bite Out of Crime" by reporting any suspected mail fraud to the Postal Inspection Service.

"Don't fall for mail fraud. Remember, if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is," said Roger Nienaber, Hicksville Division, Manager/Postmaster.

"Don't Take Getting Taken" is the theme of this year's Postal Consumer Protection Week, April 20 through April 26.

During the week Postal Inspector Jack Shaw will visit Long Island area post offices to speak with customers and inform them of their rights if they think they are mail fraud victims.

Inspector Shaw will join Mr. Nienaber in kicking off the Postal Consumer Protection Week in the lobby of the Hicksville Post Office, 185 West John Street, at 1 p.m. on Monday, April 21.

Mr. Nienaber advises postal customers, "Never send cash. Use a check, money order or credit card because, if necessary, it can be traced."

"The Town Clerk's Office has received a petition containing the required number of signatures from residents within one mile radius of the site," Mrs. Ocker said.

"The applicant, C & B Realty Co. #3, is requesting a special use permit to construct and maintain a restaurant with seating for up to 275 persons in an "F" Business District (neighborhood district) within the Woodbury Plaza Shopping Center," Mrs. Ocker noted. "The property is located at the southeast corner of Woodbury Road and South Oyster Bay Road in Plainview."

Hicksville Residents Rally At Giese Park

On Sunday, April 13 at 11 a.m. a rally of concerned citizens was held at Giese Park to discuss alternatives to the park construction plans of Councilman Thomas Clark.

Many of the residents in attendance were completely unaware that such a park was planned and expressed shock and concern at not being informed of such plans that would directly affect them.

Others were under the impression that because plans have already been drawn up there were no other alternatives. The major purpose of the rally was to help organize the residents and to inform them that there are other viable alternatives for this property.

There was overwhelming agreement to create a park, but strong opposition to Councilman Clark's proposal, which included two soccer fields and bathroom facilities. The residents voiced strong disapproval to this kind of park located in the middle of their quiet, residential neighborhood. Of utmost concern was the problem of loitering and vandalism because of the proposed bathroom facility. They objected to the noise and traffic congestion such a park would create.

An alternate design for a park in this location was presented by an impromptu committee led by Thomas McGovern, a resident in the park area. These plans included one soccer field, a leisure area, and did not include bathroom facilities. This was greeted with widespread enthusiasm. Residents felt that if any park were to be developed, a passive area such as this would be most appropriate to their neighborhood.

There were a great deal of constructive and creative suggestions from the people, some of which will hopefully be included in any plans that may be developed in the future. One of the key suggestions was to move the Police Transfer Station two blocks from Broadway and Farm Lane to a newly proposed park entrance.

Petitions were signed by over 70% of the 80 people in attendance, opposing Councilman Clark's plan, and supporting the new proposal. Due to the strong show of support by the community, Mr. McGovern and the committee plan to vigorously pursue this issue.

For further information you can contact Tom McGovern, 10 Brooks St., Hicksville, N.Y. (telephone 938-7309).

Members of the committee, Larry and Madeleine Krips (center) answer questions from the group.

Students in the fourth grade classes dressed in their "Famous Person" attire.

The Fourth grade at Holy Family School in Hicksville participated in their annual Biography Day. The children dressed as famous people from either New York State or Long Island. They then presented their "famous person" to their classmates, teachers and parents, who were invited for this special event.

Each child told of what contributions their famous person has made to our history.

Brian Reilly a fourth grade student, dressed as Nathan Hale, enjoyed the day very much. This activity correlates with the fourth grade curriculum concerning Long Island History.

The Parents, faculty and students found this to be a truly enjoyable and rewarding experience.

Letters

To the Editor:

In reference to the article on the transportation referendum, I would like to clarify the statement made by Mr. Bennett in regard to Mrs. Rooney's petition. Mr. Bennett stated that Mrs. Rooney's petition did not comply with board policy and regulations and was submitted after the March 7 deadline.

Although this is true, I would like to state that Mrs. Rooney and those members of her committee, gave the Hicksville Administration approximately five months to get the proper transportation information together, and that Mrs. Rooney and the committee had to pursue the administration at the last minute to get the cost and number of children affected by the transportation policy.

I would also like to state, that the information regarding policy and regulations was very difficult to find and attain from the Hicksville Public Library without the proper reference numbers. Perhaps the Board should publicize more often that the information is there and explain how to find it and use it?

Sincerely yours,
Patricia Love

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

CONGRESSMAN Norman Lent's office was the target of a 27 hour sleep-in this week when 12 activists camped on the Congressman's office floor in Baldwin. Several of the protesters were high school students from this area. The protest was against Congress appropriating money for the Nicaragua contras. No arrests were made. THIS YEAR school districts cannot actually come out and stump for the passage of budgets. However, they can warn what will happen if the budgets are not passed. The warnings generally include transportation cuts and no more athletics. These warnings are often more convincing than saying that the schools might have to cut out major subjects to be taught. THERE is a group organizing to try to run ads and public service announcements to get more people to file for Unemployment Insurance payments. The number of people unemployed has been declining and the offices have less to do. So the answer: Talk more people into filing because they must now know how easy it is to collect. Anybody want a job? THE CRIME REPORT is published each week as a public service to alert residents of where crime is taking place in the area and as an aid in the Neighborhood Watch program. WE STAND BEHIND OUR VOLVO PARTS ...WAY BEHIND.

Once we install genuine Volvo replacement parts in your Volvo, you could put a million miles between us and your car. And the parts would still be warranted for a year from date of installation.*

But this one-year Volvo parts limited warranty goes much further than that.

It even includes the labor (good at any North American Volvo dealer) it takes to replace those parts originally installed by a Volvo Dealer as long as they're still under warranty.

So if you've been taking your Volvo someplace else where you're lucky to get a 90-day parts warranty (labor not included), it's time to forget about luck. And think about us.

Lee Ave. Students Make Time Capsules

On April 10, two of Lee Avenue second grade classes finished completing time capsules. Under the guidance of teachers, Mrs. Bammann and Mrs. Massa the children each brought in an item that symbolized the year 1986. Among the items were: newspaper headlines, comics, baseball and garbage pail cards, records, calendar, Real baby and cabbage patch birth certificates and many more collectibles.

When the present second graders reach sixth grade the teachers will reunite them and open these capsules. Mrs. Massa's class has also included letters that the children sent home to their grandparents asking "What were things like then?" Her class received a wonderful response to this Language Arts activity. Some of the letters gave the cost of a movie 50-60 years ago. Many of the elderly expressed sincere thanks that someone took the time to ask them to recall some of the happiest times of their lives.

This activity along with the favors the children made for St. Ignatius Senior Citizen Center was a very rewarding experience.

Church Of Christ Survey Results

In an attempt to become more of an active part of the Hicksville community, the Church of Christ of Hicksville conducted a survey, March 10 through 13. During that time members of the congregation went door-to-door throughout several Hicksville neighborhoods asking willing participants to respond to five questions.

Rain halted the survey one day, limiting the area covered to about 20% of Hicksville. Still the results were enlightening and will be helpful.

The following is a summary of the survey information, including the leading responses to each question.

Summary

1837-Houses approached, March 10, 11, 12 between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. 1102-No answer (60%) 382-Not willing to participate (52%) of those answering the door) 353-Responses (48% of those answering the door) (1 out of 5 houses approached)

Questions:

1. Are you an active member in a nearby church? 248-Active in church or synagogue (Note:

Numerous individuals who did not respond cited their membership in a church as the reason) (70% church, 30% unchurched or nearly 1 out of every 3 homes surveyed were homes with unchurched people)

194-Roman Catholic (78%)
49-Protestant (20%)
5-Jewish (2%)

2. What do you think is the greatest need among the people of Hicksville?

43%-No answer
12%-Community caring, friendliness and help for each other

8%-Neighborhood-protection, clean-up

7%-Christ, Church, Belief
6%-Youth Activities/child care
5%-Love, caring, peace

3. Why do you think most people in your neighborhood do not attend church?

28%-No answer
13%-Laziness
12%-Work, too busy
11%-People have lost their beliefs

4%-No transportation (elderly)

4. If you yourself were looking for a church what kind of things would you look for?

10%-No answer
10%-My own denomination
7%-Minister/clergy
4%-Activities for children
3%-Fellowship

5. What advice would you give to leaders of a church in this community?

12%-No answer
9%-Be more aware of peoples' needs and problems

5%-Show more concern for people

5%-Get young people involved

4%-Get to know the people

To those who participated in this survey, thank you for your cooperation. The answers to these questions will help the Church of Christ determine the major needs of the Hicksville community and, thus, help shape its programming.

Because the survey covered only a portion of Hicksville more canvassing will be done in the upcoming months, starting with Saturday afternoon, April 19.

Please welcome our workers as they, come to your door. Your participation will be extremely helpful to the Church of Christ and, hopefully, all of Hicksville.

Why on earth would you take an SAT class this summer?

Because after the beach, the barbeques and the movies, you still have a lot of free time.

Stanley H. Kaplan's test-taking techniques and professional educational programs have helped many students increase their scores 150, 200, as much as 250 points.

We offer classes at flexible times to suit your schedule. And before the SAT this fall, take our refresher program—free.

Tom The Tinker At Fork Lane

Story and Photos
By A. Elchenauer

The sixth graders of Fork Lane were paid a visit by Thomas McShamus, a character from 10th century Ireland. Thomas is a tinker who comes to us from the Gregory Museum.

Tom the tinker was dressed in the same clothes the people of the middle 10th century would wear. He explained the many uses his clothing had for him. His cape made a great blanket for keeping warm in winter and to cover him when he slept. He had a hood to shield his head and face from rain or snow. The covering for his feet would be sandals or barefeet.

Thomas came from a family of 13 children, he joined the Catholic Church to learn to read and write along with other things. When he learned enough, so he thought, he left the church and went out on his own. He roamed the country mending pots and pans and sometimes he'd make new ones for favors he had received.

Thomas also played the recorder and danced, he told the students that after a feast people would enjoy dancing. One of the easiest and simplest was called "The Horses Bransle". Thomas invited the students to join him in this dance. All who took part in this really had a good time.

Thomas McShamus dressed in the clothes of the 10th century from Ireland.

The Tinker is explaining to the students about the many weapons that were used in the 10th century.

One of the sixth grade boys is having a mock dual with Thomas.

The students of the sixth grade class are dancing to the "Horses Bransle".

L.I. Singles Meet May 2

The Catholic Singles Association (ages 21-39) will have a dance at the Long Island Marriott, 101

Doolittle Blvd., in Uniondale on Friday, May 2 from 8 p.m. to midnight. Admission is $8.

Students received training in supervisory skills, leadership principles and small unit training techniques essential to a first-line supervisor in a technical or administrative environment. Polk is a dental specialist with the 768th Medical Detachment.

Her husband, Jon, is the son of Bob Polk of 3806 W. 119th St., Hawthorne, California.

The sergeant received an associate degree in 1979 from the State University of New York, Farmingdale.

Athletes Talk To Willet Students

On Monday, March 17, Warren Breining, Director of Athletics Helping Athletes presented a program to the 4, 5, 6th grade students at Willet Avenue Elementary School.

Two special guests also appeared. Jiggs McDonald, the New York Islanders Sports Announcer and Dennis Lindhurst, who represents Governor Cuomo's Athletics Against Drunk Driving.

Mr. Lindhurst introduced a short film called "Just Another Friday Night", a true story about teenagers driving and drinking, resulting in an accident, which cost the lives of all the passengers, leaving the driver to face the reality of his actions.

Jiggs McDonald then explained the AHA program and how it confronts the various drug and alcohol related problems encountered by various sports personalities. His candid response to questions asked by the students led to a discussion on alcohol and drug abuse.

The students are looking forward to the follow-up program, where they will interview an Islander, asking questions regarding drug and alcohol abuse in sports.

Dennis Lindhurst, representative of Gov. Cuomo's "Athletes Against Drunk Driving."

Jiggs McDonald, the N.Y. Islanders' announcer.

Spring Festival In Hicksville Schools

Hicksville will be alive with color, sound, and excitement during the first week of June when the Hicksville Public Schools sponsor the Hicksville Spring Festival, a showcase for student work in all disciplines, from the arts to academic subjects. As a special feature this year, the Festival will include a community art show of work created by community residents to be displayed at the Junior High School along with student art. Residents interested in participating in the show are asked to contact Mrs. Cynthia Appold at the High School at 933-6621 or Dr. Susan Lebow at 933-6602 for information on submitting work.

The deadline for inquiries is May 1 so that the coordinators of this aspect of the Festival have ample time for preparations and selections.

Mid-Island Hosp. Renovation Complete

Mid-Island Hospital has just completed a major renovation of its state-of-the-art radiological imaging equipment with the addition of a new Picker CT Scanner bringing its total investment to more than one million dollars. It was announced today by Administrator James J. Dickson.

Dr. Stanley Deckoff, director of radiology, said "through cross-sectional tissue and organ analysis, the CT scanner will detect and define abnormalities like cysts, tumors and cell damage in the brain, all of the body's vital internal organs, the neck, chest, abdomen and spine."

The CT Scanner permits faster and more knowledgeable determination of the existence and extent of a variety of medical conditions, through detailed, computer-aided "pictures" that provide physicians with much more information than the standard X-ray.

Mid-Island's diagnostic department now includes an array of special equipment and procedures in ultrasound, nuclear medicine, diagnostic X-ray and mammography equipment.

Dickson said, "the final acquisition of the Picker 600 scanner significantly increased the hospital's on-premises diagnostic capabilities."

Dr. Stanley Deckoff, Director of Radiology at Mid-Island's new Picker 600 CT Scanner.

Mrs. Ruth Silverman, 6th grade teacher at Hicksville's Burns Avenue School was honored by the Charles Wagner Post 421 of the American Legion at the Post's recent 25th Annual Awards and Ceremonies Night.

Commander Arthur Rutz presented the creative patriot with Legion's Gold Citizenship Medal, landing her "for an inspired Veterans Day program which enabled her students to meet and 'adopt' Hicksville war veterans, while publicly expressing appreciation for their service to our nation."

AHS 1986 Hall of Fame Nominations

Nominations for the 1986 group of inductees into the Hicksville Hall of Fame will be reviewed in May by a committee including student leaders at Hicksville High School. The Hall of Fame, a project of the Hicksville Board of Education's District Facilities-Community Affairs Committee led by Daniel C. MacBride, was initiated last fall as a way of honoring Hicksville students of the recent and distant past who have gone on to record high achievements or make significant contributions to their communities. The district has already received a number of nominations for this year's group, and the community is invited to submit additional material for the committee's deliberations.

All materials should be sent to the Community Relations Office at the Hicksville Public Schools Administration Building on Division Avenue. These should include a resume or detailed letter providing information about date of graduation, any further education and accomplishments, address of the nominee and local address of family members, and any other information or supporting documentation available. Community members interested in submitting names may also call the Community Relations Office at 933-6589 for additional information on the Hall of Fame project.

ONE OF THE OLDEST AND LARGEST

Fork Lane's Jump-A-Thon

Story and Photos
By A. Eichenauer

Friday, April 11, Fork Lane held its annual Jump-A-Thon. The children in grades 4-6 jumped for a total of 180 minutes. This event was designed to raise money for the American Heart Association. The students went around getting donors to pledge 2 cents and more for this voluntary fun fest.

This year was a little different. Mrs. Maureen Kuperberg, one of the gym teachers, celebrated her fortieth birthday with all who took part in the Jump-A-Thon. She was treated to a cup cake bearing a candle and a corsage from Mrs. Carol Weber, our other gym teacher. A chorus of "Happy Birthday" was sung by the many students who participated in this very worthy event.

Thanks to Mr. Maiorino, Mr. Ferrin, Ms. Guadagni, Ms. Spuber and of course our super gym instructors Carol Weber and Maureen Kuperberg, for putting this event together for the kids. A big hand also goes to all the students who gave up their time to take part in the Jump-A-Thon.

Last but not least, thanks go out to Madeline Senn and JoAnn Zagarello, for helping serve the refreshments to the jumpers.

Izzo, professional photographer, Ms. L. Anderson, Winston Personnel branch manager, Dr. M.E. Zawacki, chiropractor and Mrs. C. Ganigan, Assistant Treasurer, National Westminster Bank U.S.A.

Yevoli Questions Toxic Site

Last February, Assemblyman Lewis J. Yevoli raised serious questions about a Nassau County Department of Health recommendation that led to the reclassification of a dangerous toxic waste site in Syosset and he asked the New York State Attorney General's office to look into the matter. At the time, he termed the Health Department's actions "highly irregular, patently unwarranted and suspiciously coincidental" because they were based on inconclusive samplings taken from only one on-site monitoring well which paved the way for a developer, Sy Associates, to apply for a controversial permit that would allow two office buildings totalling 500,000 square feet to be constructed on the property. At the time, Deputy County Commissioner of Health Francis Padar angrily denounced Yevoli saying, "The Assemblyman's accusations are unfounded. I challenge the technical competence of Mr. Yevoli to make these statements."

Yevoli's criticism of the County Health Department stemmed from a report he issued two years earlier that included Department records showing 1.2 billion gallons of contaminated waste water was disposed on the site owned by the Cerro Conduit Co. over a seven year period.

Yevoli released a copy of the response he received from the Attorney General's office on Monday, April 14, which stated:

"As you note, large quantities of contaminated water also were discharged into a basin on the site. DEC has advised us that it too has concluded that placement of a single monitoring well within the discharge area will not be sufficient to confirm that hazardous substances are not emanating from that basin. The scientists in our office concur in that assessment. Consequently, with input and assistance from the United States Environmental Protection Agency, DEC will require the installation of additional monitoring wells. We have asked DEC to forward its plans and requirements in this regard to us."

"We agree that before sites such as this are put to a new use, they must be studied carefully before final delisting," Yevoli added. "The Attorney General's findings naturally cause one to question the competency of the County's Deputy Commissioner of Health."

The Assemblyman concluded, "I have forwarded a copy of the Attorney General's findings to the Oyster Bay Town Board members and I have asked them to dismiss the application of Sy Associates." Yevoli also reiterated his charge that "Nassau County Health Department officials are either grossly incompetent or they purposely overlooked the facts to make the Cerro site appear suitable for development. In either case the public has a right to know what happened. I have forwarded all of the information to the Nassau County District Attorney."

Manetto Hill Passover Schedule

Rabbi Gary G. Perras of the Manetto Hill Jewish Center has announced the schedule of Passover activities.

Kay Ridini

We proudly announce the opening of our Long Island sales office, in Syosset, and of our newly appointed Manager, Kay Ridini. It's our 17th office on Long Island, which makes us the Island's fastest growing real estate company.

YOU DON'T GET BIGGER UNLESS YOU DO IT BETTER.

The Coldwell Banker approach to real estate is very different than anyone else's.

First of all, we're a member of the Sears Financial Network, which should tell you a lot about how important our reputation is to us.

We have some 1600 offices nationwide, staffed by 25,000 sales associates.

We own one of America's largest relocation companies, supplying a steady stream of prospects from all across the USA.

Not only do we advertise in newspapers like everyone else, but we also utilize television and radio extensively.

And we are the only real estate company that offers our sales associates the opportunity to participate in certain Dean Witter retirement plans on a special basis.

Plus a whole lot more.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Will the price of houses reach a point where they will be too expensive for enough people to afford?

"Our problem isn't the price. It is in getting houses to sell."

Call 931-0027 24 Hrs. a Day
Ground Rules
You are not limited to the above but may talk on any subject of interest to readers.

•One subject to a caller per week•

Simply dial 931-0027 24 Hours a Day and follow these simple rules:

1. Wait for the beep.
2. Confine your INPUT to one subject.
3. Limit your opinion to five minutes (make notes before calling)
4. Leave your name and telephone, or simply use a pen name.

Input Callers Have Wide Range On Seat Belt Law

Callers to Input had a variety of answers on the question of the week: "A recent survey by a coalition favoring seat belts found that most people want more enforcement of the law. Do you agree and to what extent should the law be enforced?"

NO FORCE

While seat belts make sense to many people, forcing people to wear them makes no sense at all to me. People who find them comfortable and are confident that the belts will protect them should wear them but they have little regard for the opinions of other people who feel that the belts are bulky, hamper driving and in some cases that I have seen, did not save lives. In fact, there have been a number of people killed while wearing the belts. Some who fight for these things have an economic stake in both manufacturing the belts and as with the automobile industry, they do not wish to expend more money on air bags or protections that would be closer to the state of the art than seat belts. We are locked into them and no further development will be forthcoming. Too bad that so many people want to force others to see things their way. I think the law should be repealed. J.E.

SUPPORT IDEA

I strongly support the seat belt law and believe that there should be much stricter enforcement. I feel police officers could much better save lives by enforcing the law and giving out tickets to those who are not properly belted, particularly in regards to children. I am aghast everyday when I see children improperly seated in cars, sometimes on laps in the front seat or playing around the back seat. This is a strong motive for police officers to stop a car and issue a ticket and warn parents of the unsafe nature of children who are passengers in the car. V.G.

NOT STRICT ENOUGH

I do not believe that we are strict enough in enforcing the seat belt law. We should also use the point system like that used for speeding, etc. I have seen children bouncing around in cars and they nor the adults were wearing seat belts. We pay high insurance rates because of these people and their injuries. We have three members of our family who are alive today because of wearing seat belts. This law really protects the stubborn from killing or crippling themselves. Incidentally, I was following a car at about 5 mph in the downtown area of Spartanburg, South Carolina, and witnessed a five-year-old girl smash the windshield with her head because her mother stopped short to avoid another car pulling away from the curb. We really can't be strict enough in enforcing it. A.A.G.

NO ROAD BLOCKS

Yes, the seat belt law should be enforced. But I stop short of having the police throw up road blocks to delay motorists on their way. We have been veering towards a government that wants more and more to dictate. I wear seat belts because I think they will provide some protection but I do not see where it is my business to force others to do the same. If there is an accident and a seat belt might have saved a person, the police should use that as part of the police report to find responsibility. But many of these things are not provable and I fear that the entire seat belt program is not based on a sure thing. The belt may help or it may not, depending on the type of accident. J.W.

FED UP

I'm getting just a little bit fed up with the extraordinary efforts which are apparently being made to mandate more enforcement of the seat belt law. The way I look at it, it has become a law following the same complicated course that all laws have to take and if I am stopped by a police officer and cited for failure to comply with that law, I have to face the consequences whatever they may be. If I had my druthers, I could probably come up with a half dozen other laws already on the books which deserve greater enforcement and among them I include the "pooper-scooper" law which admittedly is much lower on the scale of life or death importance but it is a law nevertheless requiring enforcement and penalties which seems to be ignored completely by many. Even the D.W.I. law deserves maximum support but where is the hue and cry about it? If someone else thinks lightly enough of the seat belt law to ignore it, apart from its legal implications, that person is faced with the consequences in the way of personal endangerment. Why then do we have to take special measures merely to satisfy a bunch of busybody do-gooders who really couldn't care less about the consequences to me of my personal neglect or unwillingness to fasten a seat belt. Once again, the law is on the books and my wife and I are fully conscious of the obligations to observe it and make sure that our passengers are equally observant of the law as it may apply to them. P.G.S.

OTHER ISSUES

KHADAFY

Everybody is saying that Libya is a "Mickey Mouse" country but I don't really think it is. They have a lot behind them and if Reagan is not careful, we could get into a lot of trouble. I feel that we should negotiate with Libya just as we have negotiated with the Russians. Khadafy looks like he won't stop at anything and we shouldn't misjudge him. A.B.

DISCOVERY

Talk To The Machine Please

By Martha R. Estabrook

"Have you been away, Myra?" my friend, Susan asks me. I've been trying to reach you and the phone rings and rings."

I give her a disgusted look and say to myself, she's another one who's afraid to talk to a machine. The first time someone told me they couldn't reach me, I was sure this newfangled gadget wasn't working. I snuck down to the nearest pay phone and rang my own number. It worked perfectly and I left a message to myself that I was testing. How can I persuade Susan that it's all right to talk to a machine. I'm not sure I want to accuse her of being a fraidy-cat and I certainly don't want to call her a liar. However, I am tired of being told that my phone rings and rings when I know the machine answers on the fourth ring.

"Well, I suppose you're right, Myra, Susan says to me the next time I bring the subject up. "I had to call Joe, the plumber. I've known Joe since he was a Cub Scout and he answers the phone or his wife does. This time the phone tells me I've reached the Pazooka Plumbing Company. Since when did Joe become the Pazooka Plumbing Company? Anyway, the phone tells me to leave my name, phone number and the rest of my life history and they'll call me back. There is a beep or a tone, or whatever it is I'm suppose to listen for and all I can do is stare at my own phone. Myra, I'm mesmerized, speechless and so upset that I hang up."

"Would you like me to call Joe for you?" I ask.

"Thank you, Myra, but my son happened to stop in and he explained everything to Joe, who came and fixed it."

I wonder if her son explained it to Joe or to his machine? I don't suppose I'll ever know. "Somehow, Susan, I say, "I have the feeling that you're not very comfortable with a telephone unless things go exactly as you expect."

"You're so right," Susan giggles, "but I'm not as bad as Jane. I remember we had a new phone that hung on the wall and you had to crank it to get the operator. We kids weren't allowed to touch it unless it rang the correct number of rings for our house. I think we were three rings. I was never sure I heard the first ring, so I never dared answer it. My brother picked it up as soon as it rang. Our neighbors didn't like that."

"That was years ago, Susan. It's time you became used to the modern world. Lots of times I'm home but I'm busy and I don't want to rush to the phone. Now tell me, why won't Jane leave a message?"

"Jane had a phone on a shelf outside the coat closet with a big silver bell on the wall above it. She could hear that bell all over the house. When it rang, her mother approached the phone as though it might bite her. She clutched it, put the gourd-like receiver to her ear, got her mouth as close to the doffodil mouth piece as possible and yelled into it, 'hello, who is it?' Jane's mother said nothing but doom and gloom came over the telephone. Jane says when she hears a sepulchral voice telling her that she has reached 222-3333 or whatever, she feels the same way her mother did."

"What am I going to do with the two of you?" I ask in exasperation.

"I am trying," Susan tells me. She gives me a funny look and she's blushing. "I called my daughter in Chicago. I didn't know they had a machine. The voice tells me there are six people in the house and which one do I want to talk to. Then comes that beep and I manage to gasp. It's me, Mom, and hang up."

"Not grammatical, but at least you told them who was calling," I said, hoping I sounded encouraging.

"Just shows how undone I was. I should have said, this is your grandmother and I wish to speak to the lady of the house. That should send them into hysterics."

"Did your daughter call you?"

"She called me late in the evening. She was sure something was wrong and she'd just come home and was I all right? I said I was fine and just wanted to chat. She sounded quite cross with me."

"I think she was worried that something or someone prevented you from leaving a more complete message. Of course she had no idea when you made the call."

"I see what you mean, Myra, but I feel like such a fool talking away and there's no one there."

"You'll get used to it, Susan. You got used to not having a human voice say, 'Operator, may I help you?' Then came the dial tone and the numbers became seven digits. You have learned how to dial all those numbers. Now we have area codes and push button phones and phones that don't look like phones." Susan is looking off into the distance. She is smiling and I ask her what's making her smile.

"I was thinking of Mabel," she laughs.

"Who is Mabel?"

Mabel was the day operator in the little town where Auntie lived. The switchboard was in her parlor and her sister was the night operator. One day I called Auntie from New York. The long distance operator gave Mabel the number, two-zero."

"I'll ring it if you want," Mabel said, "but Miz Bard is down to the golf club. You want I should ring her there?"

"I told the operator it was all right, I'd talk to Mabel. I asked after the new baby and other news of the town and told Mabel to ask Auntie to call me. Mabel was sure Auntie would be home for supper and she'd give her the message. That's what I'll do Myra, I'll talk to your machine just as though it were Mabel."

"Beautiful, Susan, do you think you can make Jane understand? In fact, the next person who tells me that I'm never home and they can't reach me and my phone rings and rings, I'm going to get you to explain how to talk to the machine."

THE BEST

There are not many Chinese restaurants that surpass the fine food of Long's at Mid Island Plaza in Hicksville. We have been going to this restaurant for many years and can truthfully say that there is not a restaurant around that consistently gives top Chinese specialties of all types.

Last week we tried their stuffed shrimp Islander chef's special. This was about the best new dish that we have had in some time. We must also report that the decor and service at Long's is friendly, courteous and very professionally carried out. We recommend it to all of your readers. G.J.

GOOD WORDS

A very good friend invited me to lunch at the Maine Maid Inn in Jericho last Friday. I really don't know if I can find enough complimentary words to describe my experiences. First of all the Inn is charming and the decor is very relaxing. The waitress was so sweet. On her recommendation we both ordered the Friday special of Lobster Tail Scampi. It was served with rice or linguini and in addition we received a few shrimp on the rice. For dessert, again on the waitress' suggestion I had chocolate walnut pie which was simply magnificent and my friend had cheese cake. I admit I had to taste it too and will order that next time I visit the Maine Maid. By the way we were completed with our meal in one hour. Great for all those business people out there and we didn't feel rushed at all. In fact there was time for more coffee. V.P.

A FAVORITE

The Marmite restaurant has been my favorite for years. We went there last Thursday and had a delicious fish special for one and a beautiful steak for the other person in our party.

At Marmite everything is first rate from the fully decked tables to the service of food. But this would not be enough. The food is really good and the menu is varied. It is a place to go for special occasions.

We have been going to Marmite for a number of years now and want to heartily recommend it to all your readers. G.F.

IRISH ATMOSPHERE

I think that many of your readers are Irish or of Irish descent as I am but it doesn't really matter. There is a nice cafe in Bethpage called Kenny's Cafe that has just great food and a lot more.

It has good service and entertainment, folk songs and ballads on Friday and Saturday nights. We went there last week and found the food to be very good and the entertainment to be something special. I think that many of your readers would like to go to this fine place and I bring it to your attention. It is located at 729 South Oyster Bay Road, Bethpage. M.O'D.

Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides — paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings".

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

READER RATINGS

Q. We are not wine drinkers. If we're giving a party, what kind of wines should we stock in order to take care of our wine-drinking friends' pleasure-from cocktail hour through dinner? T.R.

A. For the cocktail hour you might have on hand dry or sweet sherry, or dry or sweet vermouth, or any of the popular "aperitifs." Many choose a glass of dry white wine at the cocktail hour (either chilled or "on the rocks").

For the first course, or to drink with any fish, salad, chicken, veal, or fruit, a chilled white wine is nice (such as a Chablis, Soave, Riesling, Chenin Blanc, Pinot Chardonnay).

For the meat or game course (or the salad with cheese), serve a Burgundy, Bordeaux, Chianti, Cabernet Sauvignon, or Zinfandel at a cool room temperature (from 60 to 70 degrees).

Rose wines should be chilled, like white wines. A rose is best served with a light dish and is more popular in hot weather than in cold.

For dessert you may serve the same wine you had from the previous course. Or if it's something festive like an anniversary, dessert time is the moment to bring on the champagne (the drier the better!).

Some people enjoy a sweet wine with dessert, such as port or a sweet sauternes or sherry, but one seldom sees this custom followed anymore in this country.

The regal roast

By Verne Palmer

When company's coming to dinner and it's time to pull out all the stops, nothing gives your menu more elegance than a crown roast of lamb.

The roast's bone ends can be capped with brightly colored fruits, contributing a jewel-encrusted appearance to the crown, which can be filled with wild rice, pilaf, a medley of fruits or vegetables or any one of a variety of flavorful bread stuffings.

Lamb has been a staple in many areas of the world for more than 3,000 years, but in the United States, where it's served less frequently, it's associated more with special occasions and diets.

Both associations are justified. Because of its young age, lamb is invariably tender, and its delicate flavor lends itself to a variety of sauces and sophisticated seasonings. And since all the fat is on the surface — you can actually peel it off like a nutshell — the meat weighs in at a trim 158 calories per 3-ounce serving. The same serving provides 40 percent of the RDA for protein, as well as generous amounts of thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, iron and zinc.

A selection of company-special lamb dishes — including the regal crown roast — follows.

CROWN ROAST OF LAMB WITH CORNBREAD PECAN STUFFING

1 lamb crown roast (5 to 6 lbs.), 16 ribs

Rosemary, garlic powder, salt and pepper to taste

Cornbread pecan stuffing (recipe follows)

Season lamb crown roast with rosemary, garlic, salt and pepper. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan.

In large mixing bowl, combine dressing ingredients, mixing gently, but thoroughly. Fill crown roast with cornbread mixture.

Wrap rib ends with aluminum foil. Bake in 375 F oven 15 to 20 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer registers 140 F for rare, 160 F for medium or 170 F for well done.

Makes 6 servings

CORNBREAD PECAN STUFFING

1/2 cup celery, finely chopped
2 tbsps. onion, finely chopped
3 tbsps. parsley, chopped
3 tbsps. butter
1 qt. cornbread crumbs
1/2 tsp. thyme
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup coarsely diced pecans
4 tbsps. white wine

Cook celery, onion, and parsley in butter until tender.

Mix lightly with remaining ingredients. Fill crown roast and bake.

MEDITERRANEAN BUTTERFLIED LEG OF LAMB

1 butterflied leg of lamb
1/2 cup dry white wine
3 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
1 tbsp. corn or olive oil
1 tsp. dried oregano

Thaw butterflied leg and remove from pack. Spread meat flat, cutting between muscles if necessary. Transfer meat to plastic bag big enough to hold it while flat, then add remaining ingredients. Squeeze bag to remove air, so marinade surrounds all meat surfaces. Refrigerate 24 hours, then bring to room temperature.

Put meat (muscle side up) in a roasting pan. Broil 7 inches from heat for 25 to 30 minutes, turning after 12 minutes. Cut deep into muscle to check desired pinkness and broil a little longer if desired. Leave to stand for 10 minutes.

While meat cooks, boil marinade until syrupy. Slice meat across grain of muscle. Spoon a little marinade over each serving.

Serve with relishes, as desired, — e.g. sliced kiwi in oil and vinegar, with chopped scallions, cranberry sauce, etc.

MUSTARD-HERBED LAMB RACKS

2 oven-ready racks lamb
1/2 cup Dijon mustard
2 tbsps. chopped fresh herbs
1/2 cup cracker crumbs
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Thaw racks. Remove from wrappings. Trim any remaining meat from tips of rib bones if necessary.

Mix mustard with fresh herbs such as parsley, tarragon, thyme, chervil, etc. Mix cracker crumbs and grated Parmesan cheese on a flat plate. Brush herbed mustard over all meaty surfaces (but leave bones without coating). Coat mustard-spread surface with crumb coating.

Lie racks, bone side down, in an oiled roasting pan or interlock rib bones of racks before roasting. Roast, uncovered at 350 F for 20 to 30 minutes, depending on desired pinkness. Leave to stand for 10 minutes.

Sprinkle crumbed surface with more freshly chopped herbs if desired. Carve between bones.

Note: Oven-ready racks have been chined, frenched and have the fat removed.

GRILLED LAMB CHOPS WITH HERBES DE PROVENCE

8 rib lamb chops, cut 1 1/2 inches thick, trimmed of excess fat (about 2 1/2 lbs.)
1 garlic clove, cut in half
2 tbsps. herbes de Provence or blend of thyme and rosemary
1/2 cup dry red wine
1 tbsp. unsalted butter

Coarse (kosher) salt
Freshly ground pepper
Sprigs of watercress, for garnish

Light grill or preheat broiler. Rub chops on all sides with garlic clove.

In small saucepan, combine herbs, wine and butter, and heat until butter melts. Place chops on grill or on rack in broiling pan and brush with basting sauce.

Grill or broil chops about 4 inches from heat, turning once and basting occasionally with sauce, for 3 to 6 minutes on each side, depending on desired doneness. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Serve garnished with watercress.

Makes 4 servings.

LAMB STEAK VERONIQUE

Cooking oil
4 lamb steaks or shoulder chops, cut 3/4-inch thick
Salt
Pepper
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

1/2 cup dry vermouth
1 cup 1% 3/4 half cream
2 egg yolks, beaten
1/2 bay leaf
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/2 to 1 cup sliced green seedless grapes

In large skillet, heat enough cooking oil to lightly coat pan bottom. Over medium-high heat, brown lamb steaks or chops. Turn lamb and reduce heat to medium-low. Sprinkle lamb with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Cook until desired degree of doneness. Remove lamb to warm platter and keep hot.

Drain off fat from skillet. Add vermouth and stir vigorously, scraping drippings from pan bottom at same time. Add cream, mixed with egg yolks, bay leaf and bouillon cube. Continue cooking over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Remove bay leaf. Stir in grapes. Serve over lamb.

Makes 4 servings.

Spicy Szechuan dishes

By Paul Benson and
Evander Preston

The foods of Szechuan Province in China have become very popular in this country over the last 10 years or so, for a number of good reasons. Szechuan dishes are distinctively spiced, and they can usually be prepared in a fairly short time, since most of the cooking is done in a wok. Unlike Cantonese and Mandarin cuisine, Szechuan recipes generally use ingredients available in U.S. supermarkets.

Today's recipes are for Szechuan-Style Fried Chicken and Eggplant With Yu-Xiang Sauce. Both these dishes are quite spicy, which is typical of Szechuan cuisine. If you aren't accustomed to spicy Oriental foods, you may want to reduce the proportions of the hotter ingredients the first time you try the recipes. Szechuan Chicken can serve as the main course for Oriental or Occidental dinners, and Eggplant With Yu-Xiang Sauce may be served either as a vegetable dish or a main course.

Szechuan red peppers, perhaps the most distinctive spice of that province, have a "delayed-action" hotness. Often, people trying Szechuan food for the first time will be surprised when, after the first few bites, the peppers' hotness begins to build. Tea and rice are both good for keeping the peppers' fires comfortably banked.

Szechuan Province lies in the west of China. It is a basin ringed by mountains. Throughout history Szechuan has been one of China's most prosperous provinces, in which oil-bearing grains and rice can be raised almost year-round.

Now China's most densely populated province, Szechuan was for centuries isolated by its mountains and treacherous waters from the rest of China, and so developed many of its own traditions. Among them is its unique cuisine.

Like most Szechuan recipes, today's are intended to be cooked in a wok. A frying pan (preferably cast iron) that heats evenly may be substituted if a wok is unavailable.

SZECHUAN-STYLE FRIED CHICKEN

Total preparation/cooking time (not including do-ahead steps)

— 20 MINUTES

1 lb. chicken breasts
4 tbsps. cornstarch
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. 5-spice powder
1/2 cup chicken stock
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tbsp. soy sauce
1/2 tsp. sesame oil
1 tsp. vinegar
2 tbsps. Chinese rice wine or dry sherry
1/4 tsp. ground black pepper
2 tbsps. cornstarch in 1 tbsp. cold water
1/2 cup plus 2 tbsps. peanut oil
8-10 dried red chili peppers, with seeds removed
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tbsps. fresh ginger, minced
4 scallions, cut in 2-inch lengths

DO-AHEAD STEPS:

1. Remove bones, skin and fat from chicken breasts, and cut meat into bite-size pieces. In small bowl, mix dry cornstarch, salt and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon 5-spice powder and roll chicken pieces in mixture to coat them. Dust off excess back into bowl.

2. In small bowl, mix together chicken stock, sugar, soy sauce, sesame oil, vinegar, wine, black pepper and remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon 5-spice powder.

3. Heat $\frac{1}{2}$ cup peanut oil in wok until very hot. Fry chicken in 3 batches, until brown. Drain each batch on paper towels, and be sure to allow oil to regain heat before adding next batch of chicken.

After all pieces of chicken are cooked, discard oil and wipe wok. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil and fry chili peppers, garlic and ginger until chilies turn dark red. Add scallions, fry briefly, then add chicken stock mixture and bring to boil. Add cornstarch mixed with water and stir until thickened. Return chicken to wok, heat through, and serve immediately.

Serves 2.

EGGPLANT WITH YU-XIANG SAUCE

1-2 large eggplants or 4 small ones, about 1 lb. total weight

$\frac{1}{4}$ lb. pork

2 green onions

2-3 tbsps. fresh ginger, finely chopped

3-5 tbsps. garlic, finely chopped (about a handful)

1 tbsps. hot bean sauce, or more to taste

Seasonings:

2 tbsps. soy sauce

1 tsp. salt

1 tsp. sugar

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup chicken or pork stock (or water)

2 tbsps. sesame oil

1 tbsps. cornstarch, mixed with 2

tbsps. water

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup peanut oil

DO-AHEAD STEPS:

1. Wash eggplant and cut into 3-inch strips, about as thick as your little finger. Skin may be removed. If it is not, dish will have characteristic purple color. Salt strips lightly and pat dry.

2. Chop pork into $\frac{1}{4}$ inch pieces. Chop green onion into small pieces.

FINAL STEPS:

Heat $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of oil in wok until very hot. Add eggplant and reduce heat to medium. Cook, stirring frequently, until eggplant has become soft and moist-looking. More oil may have to be added as eggplant absorbs original quantity. Remove eggplant with slotted spoon and drain. Press excess oil out of eggplant with spoon or spatula.

Heat 3 tablespoons cooking oil in wok until very hot. Add pork and stir-fry briefly until meat is cooked through. Add ginger, garlic and hot bean sauce. Cook, stirring, until ginger, garlic and meat begin to absorb red color from hot bean sauce. Add seasonings. Stir briefly, then add reserved eggplant. Cook, stirring occasionally, until liquid starts to disappear. Add green onion and sesame oil. Stir and add cornstarch/water mixture. Stir. When sauce has thickened and begins to adhere to eggplant strips, remove to serving dish and serve immediately.

Serves 4 as vegetable course, or 2 as main dish.

microwave magic

Say 'sayonara' to humdrum suppers

By Desiree Vivea

Just a few years ago, Japanese cuisine was all but unknown in this country. But lately, sushi bars are springing up all over, yakitori houses are booming, and Americans are finally learning the joys of an exotically different way to eat.

Western cookery, with its abundance of rich sauces, red meats and dairy products (and relatively few fresh vegetables), has been blamed for a number of health problems — including obesity and hardened arteries.

By contrast, Japanese cooking emphasizes lots of fresh vegetables, fish, lean meat (in smaller quantities), and products like tofu, a low-calorie, low-fat, high-protein "cheese" made from soybeans. Not only is this food good for you, it tastes good too. You'll want to go easy on the soy sauce, however. It's very high in salt.

Perhaps nowhere is the world as beautiful as much a part of everyday life as in Japan. Even the simplest meal is served with elegance, and care is always given to orchestrate flavor, texture, color and shape in pleasing combination.

Bright lacquer or decorated porcelain serving dishes hold artistically arranged meals at which rice and tea regularly appear.

Sake, a fermented rice wine, is a typical Japanese beverage. Serve warm, in small cups (it may be briefly heated in the microwave, but do not boil). Beer is also popular, and there are many excellent Japanese beers on the market.

The microwave is not, of course, a traditional Japanese cooking tool, but many recipes adapt well to microwaving, especially those which require steam to cook.

The recipes below are sure to banish boredom from your dining table. The recipe for "Appetizer Yakitori" will make six cocktail snacks, or a light meal for two. "Beef with Broccoli and Mushrooms" makes a meal for four when served with "Sesame Sprout Rice." And do try eating with chopsticks — it's not as hard as it looks!

APPETIZER YAKITORI

$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. raw chicken breasts, skinned
2 tbsps. cooking sherry
2 tbsps. soy sauce
1 tbsps. brown sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. crushed garlic

Slice chicken into thin strips and combine with remaining ingredients in covered container; marinate at least $\frac{1}{2}$ hour.

Thread equal amounts of marinated chicken on 6 bamboo skewers. Arrange on serving plate and cover loosely with wax paper.

Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 3 minutes, turning skewers every minute. Serve immediately.

Makes 6 appetizers.

BEEF WITH BROCCOLI AND MUSHROOMS

$1\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. frozen flank steak, partially thawed

1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen broccoli spears

1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup minced onion

2 cloves garlic, minced

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup pineapple juice

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup soy sauce

$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. dry mustard
Pepper to taste

With sharp knife, cut beef across grain into $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch-thick diagonal slices. Set aside.

Place frozen broccoli in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 5 minutes, stirring after 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ minutes.

Stir in mushrooms, onion, garlic and butter. Cover and microwave on HIGH 4 minutes, stirring after 2 minutes.

Stir in pineapple juice, soy sauce, mustard and pepper. Microwave on HIGH 3 minutes.

Add meat, cover, and microwave on same setting, stirring every minute, 4 minutes longer, or until meat is no longer pink. Serve immediately.

Serves 4.

SESAME SPROUT RICE

1 tsp. vegetable oil or butter

3 tbsps. raw sesame seeds

$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups fresh bean sprouts, rinsed and drained

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped green onion

1 small garlic clove, minced

2 cups hot, cooked rice

In small glass dish combine vegetable oil and sesame seeds. Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 2 minutes, stirring often, until seeds are lightly browned. Set aside.

Combine bean sprouts, onion and garlic in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave on HIGH 3 minutes, stirring often. Bean sprouts should be just tender.

Add toasted sesame seeds and hot cooked rice. Toss gently to blend and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

The Perfect Couple

CHARACTER BY RICK GARY

"I ACCEPT HER IMPERFECTIONS — EVERY LAST ONE OF THEM."

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q Recently, I have become concerned about the condition of our 20-year-old roof, which has some minor leaks. How can I tell if these leaks can be spot repaired or if I need to replace the entire roof?

I worry that a roofer will recommend an entire replacement, even if I don't need one. — J.P.

A Sooner or later, every roof needs to be replaced. If it is old and worn, limited repairs won't help. If a roof of standard shingles is more than 15 years old, it is a prime candidate for reroofing.

A roof tends to wear uniformly, and even the best roofing materials eventually will succumb to weathering. The leaks are not a very favorable sign. Other signs of a weathered roof are excessive loss of protective mineral granules and cracked, curled or missing shingles.

Inspect the attic, if you have one, with a flashlight for signs of additional leaks. Check downspouts for signs of excessive granule loss. Use binoculars to inspect the roof from the ground. Walking on the roof is dangerous and also may damage the shingles.

Mainly for Seniors

From Social Security to cash from your home, from Supplemental Security Income to keyless locks, your questions are varied in their scope and provide challenges in achieving the answers. Here is this week's selection from the mailbox.

Q Are foreign nationals collecting Social Security benefits after they return to their native countries? — G.T.

A Yes, foreign nationals who work in this country, even for a few years, may qualify for Social Security under the minimum benefit provisions.

There are glaring examples of those who came here, some in their mature years, worked for a limited time, and then returned to their homeland to collect Social Security benefits for the rest of their lives. There are even examples of some who have "married" on their return, gaining one to several children who also become beneficiaries of Social Security largess.

The provisions do not apply to returnees living in certain "Iron Curtain" countries such as the Soviet Union, but in other nations the recipients receive the same cost-of-living increases as American citizens who worked and live here.

One new tax withholding program has been applied — we are told by Social Security representatives — whereby 20 percent of the

A basic list of roof coverings available today includes asphalt shingles, roll roofing, concrete and ceramic tiles, slate, terre, wood shingles and shakes, aluminum shingles and built-up roofing. Reroofing methods vary with the type of roof covering.

Reroofing a home is not generally considered a do-it-yourself project. It is best to seek the advice of a professional, unless you are very handy with tools and equipment, have some experience using these types of materials, are comfortable working at heights and have the time and patience to do a thoroughly professional job that will have durability. If you are going to attempt the job yourself, follow manufacturer's directions carefully.

If you decide the job requires a professional, I recommend that you get three estimates and check the references of each contractor with previous customers. Also check on how long the contractor has been in business, his credit references and that he has insurance for on-the-job accidents. Important will be his reputation for getting the work done on time, and within estimated quotes.

A good professional will not recommend a complete roofing job if you need only minor repairs. You should be protected by having three different opinions from well-established professionals.

It is standard procedure in this business to provide free inspection and estimates for the work to be performed. Before signing any contract, make sure that it specifies the work to be done, materials, completion dates, removal of waste, final price and method of payment.

Q We recently moved to an area that has hard water. I have found it almost impossible to keep the fixtures in my bathroom and kitchen free from spotting. Do you have any suggestions? — A.T.

A Baking soda is a good cleanser that also has a mild abrasive that will clean tubs and sinks.

For the spots on the fixtures, sprinkle baking soda directly onto the metal, then wrap with a terry cloth rag soaked in warm white vinegar. Let soak for at least an hour. Then, scrub with a stainless steel pad, being careful not to scratch the surface. This should remove the water spots.

If something did happen where you had some large medical bills beyond your current means while retaining ownership of the home, your children might be pressed to raise the necessary funds from their own estates or incomes.

In both Reverse Annuity Mortgage and the sale/leaseback involving investors, you may continue to live in your home, and part of the sale funds are used to provide for your continued residency. If you sell the home you may have a capital gains exclusion of up to $125,000 (provided you have owned the home and lived in it for at least three of the past five years). If, by inheritance, your children were to sell the house they would not have this one-time, special for adults age 55 and over, capital gains exclusion.

Presently there are secure financial instruments offering a fine return which can be recommended by your banker or a reputable securities firm.

Many mature adults find that the home where they raised their children is just too large to maintain, heat, light, insure and be concerned about. The decision is yours but one of the two programs just might be the key to a fine retirement lifestyle for you that even makes great sense to your children.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: Have you given up "harping" about the evils of marijuana? I read your column regularly and I guess you have finally come to the conclusion that pot is really not so bad after all. I've been enjoying marijuana regularly and I'm waiting for it to become legalized. — Pete

Pete: You might have to wait a long time. I hope so! And now for a little lecture on marijuana that I should have written earlier. I never want to let you pot-users have peace of mind. According to Pharmacists Against Drug Abuse, marijuana contains over 400 known chemicals and 61 percent of those are known as cannabinoids, which affect the central nervous system.

Researchers have clearly shown that marijuana interferes with immediate memory and intellectual performance and can impair concentration and reading comprehension. And, marijuana not only affects the brain, it also affects the heart and lungs. Pot has a higher concentration of known cancer-causing agents than tobacco — end of lecture.

Dr. Wallace: You always say that age doesn't make a difference in couples when both are over 18. Well, what about this one?

I live with my mom since she divorced my father seven years ago. Since then, my father has been divorced three more times. Last week my father took his fifth bride. He is 34 and she is 84, so help me, Hannah!

Not only that, she is French and they moved to Paris yesterday. I swear to you that I'm telling you the 100 percent truth. What do you think about that? — Darlene Darlene: Thank goodness I write for teens who many times have more common sense than some adults. Honestly, you should have sent your letter to Dear Abby or Ann Landers. They have more experience with this type of problem.

All I can think of is that maybe your new stepmother is a good cook and your dad enjoys French food. See, I said you should have written to Dear...

Dr. Wallace: Please answer my letter. I really need your advice. I am 13 and Janet has been my very best friend for the past two years. We used to say, "Nothing will ever ruin our friendship." Well, a girl named Kim moved into our neighborhood and made friends with Janet. Soon the three of us were doing things together but, eventually, Janet and Kim became best friends and I was left out in the cold — well, I guess I chose to be out in the cold.

Now that I have time to think about it, Kim is an obnoxious, egotistical snob. I detest the sight of her. If I have to be friends with her then I'll never be friends with Janet again, and I don't want this to happen. How can I get Janet to forget Kim and come back as my best friend? — Bev Bev: I'm well aware that three is an awkward number when it comes to best friends. You chose to exit the scene. What is more important to you — your disgust for Kim or your friendship with Janet?

I would hope you'd say it's your friendship with Janet. If so, do things with her and if Kim is along, do your very best to be nice to her.

But if you dislike Kim so much that you will never be a friend to Janet as long as she is a friend to this girl — find a new pal.

Dr. Wallace: I was dating Bobby and during that time I met a boy at work (Dave) and we have become good friends. We do like each other but only as friends because Dave has a steady girlfriend.

Now Bobby and I have broken up and I'd like to get something started with Dave but, remember, he has a girlfriend. Would it be ethical for me to pursue Dave at this time or do you believe in the saying, "All's fair in love and war"? After all, Dave isn't married. — Rose Rose: Make Dave clearly aware that you are not going steady anymore and leave it at that. Only see him if you are sure he is not attached.

Let's face it, there are a lot of swell guys in Brunswick who are unattached at this very moment. Better spend your time finding one or two or...

Dr. Wallace: I seem to be able to study better at home when I'm listening to popular music but my mother insists that I'm trying to "con" her and that it is impossible to study and listen to loud music.

Richard: At one time, I, too, would have agreed with your mother but five years ago a researcher at Ohio University, James Franklin, tested three groups of 8th graders and concluded that loud rock music does not interfere with the concentration of a studying student.

One group was tested with loud rock music playing, another with soft music and the third with no music. Franklin found that there were no significant difference in their scores

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near to us in miracles, near to us in Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say:
Our Father, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be premised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. L.C. gcap3

Canopy effect glamorizes bed

Q I've always loved the romance of canopied beds, but the bed we have now is in good condition and our ceilings are rather low for the canopied beds I've seen.

A Can you suggest a treatment that would have a similar effect without actually involving any construction?

A With standard hardware and a few yards of fabric (you don't even need a magic wand), you can transform your bedroom into a chamber worthy of Cinderella.

The fanciful treatment pictured uses four short curtain rods and about nine yards of fabric. Screw hooks in the ceiling hold the rods in place.

The side panels simply fall to the floor. You can tie them back if you wish and vary the width of the canopy by the size of the curtain rods you choose.

You might also decide to continue the fabric along the wall, shirred on rods, as you see here. Notice how the wall mirror behind the bed contributes to the ephemeral effect of the canopy and visually doubles its volume.

Best of all, it won't turn into a Murphy bed at the stroke of midnight!

Q A friend of mine suggested a great way to rearrange my living room furniture, but when I started moving things around, I noticed how sun-faded the wall-to-wall carpeting had become in areas. The carpeting is in decent condition otherwise, and I can't afford to replace it.

A Is there some way I can still rearrange my furniture while minimizing the impact of the darker portions of the carpeting that the furniture used to cover? It looks very obvious and ugly. — L.N.

A I strongly suggest that you check the Yellow Pages of your telephone book for listings of carpet dyeing companies. Depending on the type of fiber used in your carpeting, it may be possible to restore its original color or even to dye it a new shade!

This process takes only a couple of hours and costs a fraction of what you would spend for carpet replacement. It could even pay for itself by prolonging the life of your carpet.

Short of this solution, you will be forced to rely on fool-the-eye tricks. Dark portions of carpeting sometimes appear as shadows when coffee or sofa tables are placed judiciously over them. Indoor plants may work in other areas.

A colorful, dramatic area rug is often quite effective. Not only does it physically cover any ugliness underneath, but it also can be such a riveting focal point that no one notices the rest of the carpeting.

CINDERELLA LOOK — With four short curtain rods and about nine yards of fabric, you can transform your old bed into one with a romantic canopy.

ANTIQUE OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

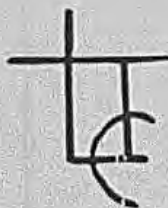

Q. Could you please give me some information about these vases? They are blown glass with applied flowers in gold and silver.

A. These are late 19th century Art Glass. It was all handmade and expensive to produce.

Most pieces were one of a kind. Your vases match, but they are not exactly alike. They would sell for $275 to $325 each.

Q. This mark is on the bottom of a beautiful vase. It is white bisque, about 12 inches high, with a perforated design of flowers and foliage.

A. Your vase was made by Louis Comfort Tiffany (Tiffany lamps) of New York in the early 1930s. A similar vase recently was sold at auction for $4,000.

Most people do not know that Tiffany used this monogram mark on his pottery.

Q. Among my father's trinkets, we found several old police badges. Are these collectible? Are they very valuable?

A. Old badges of all kinds are collectibles. Here are some examples:

- Police, Kansas City — $70.
- Police, Oilton, Okla. — $75
- Police, Swift Packing House — $65.
- Police, Winfield, Kan. — $60.
- Sheriff, Stanislaus County, Calif. — $95.
- Los Angeles Fire Department — $5.
- Pinkerton Security Service — $15.
- Armour Packing House — $35.
- Chauffeur, Minnesota — $8.
- Fireman, Iowa — $20.
- Fireman, Syracuse, N.Y. — $45.
- American Protective League — $50.
- Procter & Gamble (man in the moon) — $35.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q Our mare is expecting in a few weeks.

We are novices in raising foals. What should we do when the foal arrives? Is it necessary that we be present?

A We are becoming very nervous about this whole thing. Any information you can give us will be greatly appreciated.

The excitement of having a newborn foal should not cause the horse owner to forget to do certain routine procedures soon after the foaling.

The foal and mare usually lie quietly for 15 to 20 minutes following the foaling. During this time blood still is passing from the fetal membranes, or afterbirth, in the mare to the foal through the umbilical cord. It is therefore important not to tear the umbilical cord immediately after birth. The cord will usually rupture spontaneously when the mare first gets up.

The navel of the foal should be dipped in a mild iodine solution as soon after the cord ruptures as possible. This helps decrease the number of germs, particularly bacteria, entering the foal's body and thus reduces the chance of navel illness.

Any fetal membranes covering the foal's face should be gently cleaned away so that suffocation does not occur. This should be done quietly so that the mare is not startled.

Many veterinarians recommend that the newborn foal be given a tetanus antitoxin injection soon after birth. This protects the foal against tetanus for only a few weeks. The tetanus antitoxin is not necessary if the mare has been vaccinated with a tetanus booster during the last six weeks of pregnancy. The foal then gains immunity to tetanus from antibodies obtained through drinking the first milk or colostrum.

Newborn foals should nurse within the first two to three hours following birth. However, attempts to force a reluctant foal to nurse usually are a waste of time and energy. If a foal is strong enough to stand—it usually takes 30 to 60 minutes to stand for the first time—it will not starve in two to three hours. However, nursing within the first few hours of life is important because it is the means by which the foal gets antibody protection against common equine diseases. The digestive tract is able to absorb antibodies for only a few hours following birth. The ability to absorb is low by 12 hours and almost negligible by 24 hours following birth. If it seems difficult for the foal to nurse, the mare's mammary glands should be examined for milk.

Many foals develop constipation within a few hours following birth. Periodic or persistent straining, elevation of the tail and constant and vigorous swishing of the tail are early signs. If not relieved soon, colic develops. Therefore, many advocate giving all newborn foals enemas.

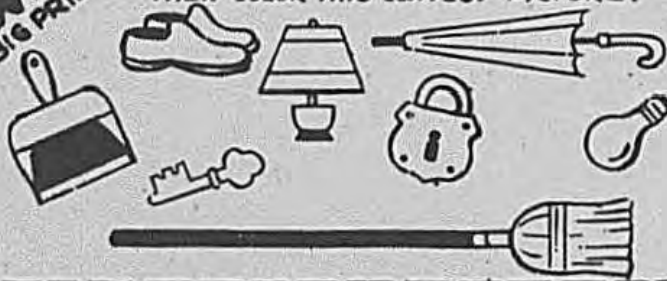

Disinfection of the navel, tetanus immunization, nursing and an enema should be accomplished during the first few hours of the foal's life. If you are not familiar enough with these procedures to do them yourself, you should call a veterinarian to help you. The veterinarian can also examine the mare on the same visit.

Foals should be observed frequently during the first week of life for signs of illness. Prompt treatment is usually effective for most newborn foal ailments.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Did I say the nice weather was here to stay? I think I made a mistake. Just last week I looked out the window and saw, of all things, snow! I could hardly believe my eyes. Of course, it was just a flurry or two, but still it didn't seem very spring-like.

However, I'm still hoping the warm weather will decide to remain. I'm really tired of staying indoors. How nice it would be to go out without bothering to put on a sweater or jacket! At least that's my opinion.

Your friend,

Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are: Anne Moore and Jonathan Bloom. You'll be hearing from me soon.

Also, in answer to a note from Elizabeth Manna, yes, it is possible to win more than once!
