Ayaz Riaz Wins Essay Contest

One thousand 5th grade students came together to learn about "Nassau County's Quality Environment" at the first annual Conservation Day at Eisenhower Park on May 21. More than thirty organizations and businesses joined together to work toward a common goal—educating our leaders of tomorrow about natural resources and the environment we live in. Students were invited to submit essays about "How I Can Contribute to Nassau County's Quality Environment."

Ayaz Riaz from Mrs. Starnes' 5th grade class at Woodland Avenue received an honorable mention in the essay contest. Ayaz's family was very proud of him, along with his teacher and the staff at Woodland Avenue. Great work, Ayaz!

Veteran Monument Fund Underway

The Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund, headed by Hicksville resident Conrad Steers, President of the Nassau County Chapter of the Vietnam Veterans of America, is now underway, in an all out effort to raise $10,000 for two monuments to be erected next to the W.W. I and W.W. II monuments presently located at the Hicksville Jr. High School on Jerusalem Ave. One of these monuments will be for Korean Veterans and the other will be a Vietnam Veteran Monument for those Hicksville residents who served in those conflicts.

We need the help of the community to honor these men and to show them that we are proud of them—that we care for our brave servicemen.

If you want to help you can make a donation to the Hicksville Veteran Monument Fund, P.O. Box 412, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802. For further information you can call Conrad Steers at 822-5938.

Assemblyman Fred Parola (R-C, Wantagh), left, presents the Conspicuous Service Award to Frank Mollinari of Hicksville. Mollinari, a World War II veteran, recently served as chairman of the Hicksville Memorial Day parade and is past commander of the William M. Gouse, Jr. Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 3211 in Hicksville.

Residents Approve Hicksville School Budget

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Traizer

Convening its regular monthly meeting on the night of the June 25 budget vote, the Hicksville School Board unanimously approved the electorate's acceptance of a $40,638,229 budget for the 1986-87 school year. The Board was pleased to announce that the budget passed on resubmission by a 310-vote margin, tallying 1,266 to 956. The number of residents going to the polls the second time around swelled by 359. A slightly higher budget had fallen in defeat by 39 votes on May 7. Now on firm footing, the Board set July 8 for its reorganization meeting. A June 30 meeting was planned to handle unfinished business before the new fiscal year begins July 1.

Addressing the Board was resident and regular meeting attendee, Carolyn Kelly. She called on the Board to "take all those people at the June 18 hearing as a mandate" to effect change throughout the district. She noted that many residents pointed out difficulties they see in the present structure which, if reorganized, could possibly "lessen taxes and better schools."

Superintendent Fenton focussed this very issue in her monthly report to the Board. Dr. Fenton referred to the report issued in November 1984 upon the culmination of the work of the Long-Range Planning Committee. In four of the eight options proposed by the consultants, a four-year high school concept was highlighted. Since the study also found elementary schools operating at near capacity, the structure would then lend itself to a two-year junior high school, or middle school, consisting of seventh and eighth grades.

The Superintendent said she was not ready to make recommendations to the Board and must gather further information in order to make a judgment. Some of the areas to be investigated are building usage, staffing needs, renovation of buildings, impact on the K-12 program and options viable for the K-6 program. Mrs. Fenton said that if the Board wishes to make changes by September 1987, it would be necessary to inform Administration by this coming September or October. In order to effect these type of changes throughout a district, administrative staff needs at least eight months lead time.

Dr. Fenton said that copies of the recently-issued Secondary Study Committee report dealing with such changes have been distributed to all the elementary school PTAs, the Chamber of Commerce, the Community Council, the editors of the Hicksville newspapers and the PennySavers, and the Hicksville Public Library, for all interested citizens to view. In Mrs. Rudin's Curriculum Committee report, she noted that the committee had received a presentation on this report and suggested that the Board review it as an entire body at its September meeting.

The Superintendent also analyzed for the Board the progress made by Administration over the past year on the five-year goals outlined for the district last year. She reported much progress made on all accounts: improvement of student performance in mathematics, improvement of student performance in language arts, improvement of guidance services in the secondary school, development of a district-wide program to track student mastery of basic skills and development of a plan for improving the secondary program. Administration was also credited with accomplishing the objectives of the Board's one-year goals: disseminating information on an all-day kindergarten program and documenting the computer skills program for grades K through 12.

At this final public meeting of the year, Board President William Bennett presented plaques to outgoing Trustees Arlene Rudin and Lawrence Wolfson. Mr. Bennett characterized Mrs. Rudin as "an extremely hard worker" and thanked her for her efforts on behalf of the community during her three years on the Board. Mrs. Rudin wished the community well and said that she would be "involved in the educational process for a while to come."

President Bennett acknowledged Mr. Wolfson as a trustee who served the Board with dignity. He praised Mr. Wolfson's concern for the children and his deep compassion not only for students, but for employees. Mr. Wolfson said it was with great pleasure that he took part in activities with his "school family," and he noted that Hicksville has "reached the state of the art in many areas." He especially thanked one very close and very dedicated person, his wife Iris.

The July 8 reorganization meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the Administration Building.

Arrest Made In Robbery

The Eighth Squad reports the details of a robbery that occurred at a Plainview residence at 4:15 p.m. on June 19.

Anita Weinstein, 48, and her husband Gary, of 27 Fairway Drive, Old Bethpage, ran an ad in a newspaper for the sale of their 1983 Cadillac.

A couple, male and female white, male 30 years, female 24 years, had come to the house three times to negotiate a deal for the auto. They arrived at the house at approximately 4:15 p.m.

The man, while talking to Anita, displayed a knife and announced a robbery. Anita was relieved of a 3/4 ct. diamond ring, value $10,000, a Gucci watch, and 100 in cash.

The subjects then tied her up with tape and put her into the trunk of her Mercedes Benz in the garage. Gary came home approximately 8 p.m. and did not see his wife or the Caddy. As he was looking through the house for her, he heard a banging noise coming from the garage. He soon discovered his wife still in the trunk and the Cadillac gone.

The Cadillac is described as a 1983, 2 door sedan, color tan, NY Reg. #7150AVU. Anita was not hurt during the incident.

The investigation is continuing.

Notebook Jottings

Residents of Hicksville voted last week to accept the revised 1986-87 school budget. The story, on Page 1, is written by our reporter Maureen Traxler. Now the Board of Education can get on with business for the new school year.

An interesting Library Display in the front lobby done by Hicksville's historian, Dick Ever, depicts the early ethnic roots of our community. An original School Tax Roll from 1885-86 is part of the memorabilia collected for viewing. Try to get to the Library to see this display during the month of July, you'll find it worth your while.

With the summer months upon us we will have more space to provide for news releases and photos. If your school or group has completed any events please send them in for publication. Your friends and neighbors will enjoy reading about them.

Expand. Obstetrics At Central General

Expectant mothers will rest easier at Central General Hospital knowing that the Hospital's obstetrical team now includes a new permanent neonatologist to assist in the deliveries and direct the health care of high risk births.

In announcing the new expansion of this service, Robert Bornstein, Administrator, said, "Dr. Kothari comes to us with many years experience in obstetrics and gynecology as well as pediatrics, internal and emergency medicine." He added, "we are particularly impressed by Dr. Kothari's professional background at Winthrop-University Hospital (formerly Nassau Hospital) where she attended from 1984 to 1986 and received her Fellow in the Department of Neonatology where she was Chief of this service."

Previously, Central General was forced to transfer a high risk infant to one of three other hospitals in Nassau County.

Central General's supervisor of Obstetrical Services, Rosemarie Nash, R.N., said, "this service will be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week and the Hospital can now extend the specialized care offered by Dr. Kothari. We are now able to keep mother and newborn together while the care is being administered.

To augment this highly specialized expertise, the Hospital has expanded other areas of the obstetrical department to make the health care facility even more family oriented," Bornstein said.

Educational Programs

The new programs now offered include Pre-Natal Care Classes for husband and patient; Modified Sibling Visitations where younger brothers and sisters will be allowed to view and touch the newborn, after being gownned and washed and under the watchful eyes of department nurses and doctors. At the completion of their brief visit, each child will receive a "Diploma" in recognition of their accomplishment.

Sibling Classes involving a tour of the OBS unit which consists of visitation to the nursery, mommy's post-partum room, and a short discussion on the birth process.

Grandparents' Tours and Classes offering grandparents the opportunity to participate in prenatal classes and attend guided tours.

Hospital "Birthing Room"

which offers a home-like atmosphere to the maternity patient includes a special bed which converts into a delivery bed so the patient need never be moved before, during and after labor. The suite is appointed with warm colors, drapes, television and a rocker for the husband. As one of 34 obstetricians at Central General, may be contacted for reserving this suite.

For any information regarding the new and expanded obstetrical services offered at Central General, contact Rosemarie Nash, R.N. at 681-8900 ext. 2323.

Shamrocks Compete In Local Tourney

By K. Blicher

The Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 travelling soccer team narrowly lost in the semi-final round of the Tony Chiofalo Memorial Tournament sponsored by the Sachem Youth Soccer Club recently. The event featured double overtime and, then, a triple sudden death shootout.

The score was tied 1-1 during the regulation game. Hicksville's goal was scored by Ronnie Ladimir. Sachem's goalie was former Hicksville Shamrock Joe Flanagan. The game then went into overtime, featuring two five-minute halves. After both sides failed to score, a sudden death shootout was next on the agenda.

After two sudden death shootouts, with both sides scoring equally, a tie still prevailed. Then began the third round of shootouts and, unfortunately, the Shamrocks fell a goal behind.

Hicksville Family Hosts Student

Mr. and Mrs. Kaminek of 159 Miller Road, Hicksville, will host Gauthier Mejanet from France for four weeks this summer. They have invited Gauthier Mejanet to share their home and family life through a program sponsored by the Nacel Cultural Exchanges. This program brings New York State communities students from all parts of France who wish to learn about our American way of life by living with a New York State family. The Nacel organization provides medical and accident insurance and the students bring their own spending money. The students will have the opportunity to develop greater fluency in speaking English and to establish lasting American friendships. Frequently American teenagers are invited by the family of their French visitor for a French home stay the following summer.

The Nacel Cultural Exchanges is a participant in the President's International Youth Exchange Initiative. The Initiative reflects the belief that exchanges of young people are perhaps the best long-range means to ensure close relations and mutual understanding among future generations. The purpose of the Nacel Cultural Exchanges is to promote international understanding through experience in American family living.

However, considering that Hicksville played against one of the top Division 1 teams, and that both Hicksville and Sachem goalkeepers are members of the L.I. Select Soccer Team, the contest was truly outstanding with a final score of 12-11.

Congratulations to the Shamrocks: Eric Blicher, Jason Kingsley, Chris Doyle, Ted Knoop, David Lovato, Brian Harkins, Ed Jacobsen, Brian Pine, Matthew Pordum, Domenick Perillo, and Chuck Oliver. Thanks, coach Pat Harkins. Thanks to the Hicksville Hawks who also participated and made great contributions to our team: Ronnie Ladimir, Andre Parris and Kevin Costa.

Get well to Gregg Grusso and Matt Pordum and good luck to Ted Knoop and his family who are relocating to another state. We'll miss you!

More homes are needed for the 160 students, ages 13-19, who will arrive in New York State. There will be two groups. The first is coming June 29; the second July 24. All families are eligible to apply for participation in this program. It is not necessary to speak French because the students have studied English for a number of years. News From Hicksville Library

The Hicksville Public Library Board of Trustees will hold a reorganization meeting at the library on Tuesday, July 8, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Local History Room.

Summer Foreign Film Festival
Friday, July 11, at 8 p.m., the Hicksville Public Library will show the Italian Film "Big Deal On Madonna Street" in the Community Room.

The film has English sub-titles and is spoof of "The Perfect Crime." Marcello Mastroianni, Vittorio Gassman, and Renato Salvatori try to pull off a heist with split-second timing but somehow their watches and their plans don't synchronize. A zany, hilarious tale. (1960)

This program is free and all are welcome.

Friday, July 25, at 8 p.m.: The Hicksville Public Library will show the French Film "Bizarre Bizarre" in the Community Room.

The film has English sub-titles and is a classic farce directed by Marcel Carne. Hilarious performances by Jean Louis Barrault as a maniac who murders only butchers and courts Francoise Rosay in pantomime. Michel Simon is a botany expert who plies his mimosas with gin so that they reel drunkenly everytime the camera passes them. (1937).

This program is free and all are welcome.

"The Treasures of Technology", an exhibition featuring artist Warren Barlowe's colorful, framed 3-D art works that dramatize enlarged electronic hardware and hi-tech circuitry, has been assembled for a brief one-month showing at the Hicksville Public Library's Community Room Gallery July 1-31. The public is invited to the Opening Reception on Saturday, July 12, 12 noon-3 p.m.

Mr. Barlowe uses the shapes and colors of resistors, integrated circuit chips and printed circuit boards to build bold, modern constructions from metal, plastic, paper and cardboard. His works run the gamut from crisp, highly realistic representations of hardware all the way to colorful abstractions that are more imaginatively derived from the original electronics that inspired them.

The artist has exhibited his work at the Nassau County Museum of Fine Art's juried exhibition in Roslyn, last September, and has been invited to mount one-man shows of his "high-tech" art at several Long Island Public Libraries, banks and corporate offices. He has been commissioned to create electronic art for corporate advertising photography.

Don't miss "The Treasures of Technology" while it is here at the Hicksville Public Library, 169 Jerusalem Ave., Hicksville, July 1-31. Exhibition hours: 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays (please call ahead to confirm evening hours): 931-1417, 681-7861; 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

St. Stephen's Nursery School Events

Mrs. Nelsen's class at St. Stephen's School celebrate the last day of school.
 3rd row, Mrs. Snowden and Mrs. Nelsen.

The year 1986 at St. Stephen's Nursery School was filled with so many exciting things. The children played, painted, made gifts, and learned how to print their names.

They went to Ed's Aquarium, Cayce's, Hicksville Public Library, University of Farmingdale's farm, pumpkin farm and Hicks Nursery at Christmas time.

They ended another year with the graduation of the four-year-olds on June 20. It was such an exciting time and many mothers sat with tears in their eyes.

Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Snowden were very surprised when the children marched in with a mug containing flowers and a gigantic card for each. The cards contained the signatures of each three-year-old. Tears definitely flowed that day. Then the teachers were surprised when the mothers asked them out to dinner. They all spent a very exciting evening at the Red Lobster. The time went so quickly that they didn't notice everyone else, leaving -- they were wondering why it had gotten so quiet.

Gregory Museum Renovations

Work is underway by the Town of Oyster Bay to restore and renovate the Hicksville Gregory Museum, Long Island Earth Science Center. Because the museum has been designated a National Historic site, careful planning is needed to keep its original appearance.

Renovation includes internal structural reinforcement, new storage areas, painting of the exterior building and much more. The museum was fortunate to have four young men from the Hicksville Youth Corp., Mark Roberts, Peter Rivera, Michael Cabry and Dennis Fox to help clean up and sort the collection in preparation for the T.O.B. renovation project.

Take advantage of the community's cultural center, and meet the new curator, Bette Hochbrueckner. See for yourself all that the museum has to offer. An extensive collection of rocks and minerals, mostly and butterflies from around the world housed in an 1895 courthouse. Special school tours and after school and summer workshops are also offered to the public.

The museum is located at Heitz Place, Hicksville, and is open Tuesday through Friday, 9:30 to 4:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. Closed Monday. For more information please call 827-5505.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

The rededication of the Statue of Liberty will be a big event on July 4. Do you think the event will have any lasting effect on the nation?

Call 931-0027 24 Hrs. a Day
Ground Rules
You are not limited to the above but may talk on any subject of interest to readers.

•One subject to a caller per week•

Simply dial 931-0027 - 24 Hours a Day and follow these simple rules:

1. Wait for the beep.
2. Confine your INPUT to one subject.
3. Limit your opinion to five minutes (make notes before calling)
4. Leave your name and telephone, or simply use a pen name. (your message can be anonymous)
5. Publishers reserve the right to edit, modify or omit any and all material.

Most Input Callers Prefer Human To Automatic

Most callers to Input say that they prefer human tellers to automatic machines in banks in answer to this question: "Do you use electronic bank tellers regularly? Would you use them if they were offered by your bank during the day in place of regular bank tellers?" Here are some of the answers:

ONLY WHEN CLOSED

The only use for automatic tellers is to take out cash when the bank is closed. Even then, I have had a great deal of trouble in getting the transaction completed. In one case I was shorted $10 and only because the bank took my word was I able to come out even. I think banks are giving less and less service. J.E.

CLOSED WINDOWS

I think if electronic tellers could speed up the lines at banks that they would be a good addition. The bank I deal with does not have electronic tellers but, of late, there have been more closed windows and longer lines. I may change banks if they cannot do better. N.E.

NOT FOR PUBLIC GOOD

This trend among banks is one that is being sold to the public as though it is for their own good but, in fact, it is so that banks can give less service and make more money off of the depositors. Of late, I have seen more new banks and less service and higher charges than ever before. Somewhere the banking industry is being permitted to do whatever it wants through the legislators. The small depositor is only used to gather up money to loan to the big depositors and on top of that, the government gives money to the banks to loan out for mortgages at high rates. Banking has changed but it is not for the good of the individual. K.R.

MORE CONVENIENCE

I like the convenience of the electronic banking machines and use this method regularly. I can pick the time I want to go to the bank and do not have to worry about the bank being closed when I get there. I hope this trend continues and there are more automatic tellers. F.R.

NO WORKERS

I work in a bank and can tell you that it is not the banks that are causing more and more electronic tellers. The employment market is the problem. It is difficult to get people to apply for jobs as tellers. Therefore, more banks are going the automatic route. J.R.

HUMAN TELLERS

No, I do not like the automatic bank machine and I refuse to go to banks that have them. I think banks should always be forced to have some human tellers for people like me. I want to see my money deposited right and I want to see the money counted out to me. L.W.

NOT WANTED

Forget the automatic tellers. They can't answer questions and you can't stop them when they short you. These are being forced on the public and they are not what we want. S.A.

LIKES ELECTRONICS

I currently visit a bank where all the tellers are electronic. You can go in 24 hours a day by using a special card issued (I'm not going to give you the name of the bank). But, I can say that I am totally satisfied with the work the electronic bank tellers do because they save me a lot of time -- I don't have to worry about waiting on long lines. They have four machines at the bank. With my job and the hours I work, it's very convenient. The bank does not employ regular tellers so they save a lot of money for payroll--therefore, I get lower interest rates. I might be a bit biased because I'm a computer technician, but I think the banking industry has come a long way from the days when you had to wait on long lines. Now you don't have to get looks because you're withdrawing a large sum of money, you don't have to answer many questions and the transactions are done quickly and accurately. I think electronic bank tellers are number one. R.J.H.

CHANGED BANKS

I left a bank because they started with the electronic tellers. I do not like to work with someone I cannot see or talk to -- a machine. I must see people. I think we have too much automation as it is. L.D.

FEEL UNEASY

Even though I have had the opportunity to use electronic bank tellers, I have decided not to use them at all. I am not interested in, and feel uneasy in conducting transactions with a machine. Although regular bank tellers will make more errors, I prefer personalized service. Machines may be more efficient, but nothing can take the place of a human being. C.P.

LIVE TELLERS BEST

I have never had either the opportunity or the desire to use electronic bank tellers during the day or for that matter, at any time. Somehow, it doesn't appeal to me as a substitute for the person-to-person contact. At one time, my bank even installed a receptacle for deposits to enable clients to avoid standing in line for the simple job of making a deposit. It apparently didn't work as it was discontinued. I like to make my deposits and withdrawals over the counter perhaps as much as anything--to be sure that I have a receipt for the exact amount I put in and an opportunity to check the balance after I have made a withdrawal and, in my own case, to be able to have the teller immediately make whatever adjustment may be necessary as a result of any error. As far as I know, a machine couldn't do that. Furthermore, while it doesn't happen very often, even with a teller transaction, there are occasions when we are told, "Sorry, but the machine is down" or words to that effect to advise that certain functions cannot be completed without the computer. If an equivalent breakdown happened with an electronic teller, there would be no recourse at all. If your question were put to a vote, I would give my support to "flesh and blood" tellers. To me, the human element is a very important part of the transaction. P.G.S.

DISCOVERY

An Inside Story On Stuffing

By Madeline Fredrickson

When I was married, one of the first special dinners that I cooked for my new husband was roasted chicken. I remember sitting at this romantic candle lighted table with my husband across from me carving our first chicken dinner. I saw his eyes light up as he sliced and said, "You even stuffed the chicken!"...What did he mean??...I didn't stuff the chicken. With complete amazement, I watched as he removed this paper bag filled with cooked heart, kidney, liver and even a neck. I wanted to heave as I looked at this cooked bag. I remember thinking, why would anyone put this inside of a chicken???

As I went through life, I found those bags without fail in every chicken, duck, hen and turkey I ever cooked. I used to invent games and hope someone forgot to fill this particular fowl. Never was I without the insides of these animals!

After graduating college as a Business Major with a minor in Marketing, I started to ask intelligent questions: Such as

A. What does a person think of as they put these bags inside?

B. Why inside???

I get the feeling that those fowl-hands don't want these animals stuffed. In order to remove the insides of a hen, you practically have to rip apart the entire body. To show more resistances, on the turkey they put a piece of wire to prevent us from getting the insides out and even close to the area to be stuffed. One Thanksgiving I was determined to mail back the wire to the manufacturer just to prove that I did the impossible...I removed it and I believe they intended the wire would be a permanent part of that turkey. It took me two hours to remove it thus I lost my strength to even put the wire into an envelope.

C. Is this particular animal's own insides??? Save this one for a trivial pursuit question. Who cares???

The marketing strategies are wonderful. Look in your meat counter this week, they are advertising turkey cut-up. Imagine, let me buy the parts so I don't have to assemble my tools to remove wire nor rip my nails and hands to remove that magical bag. Great maneuvering, they did it with chicken, now turkey, next the hen and duck...parts, parts and more parts. Anything so us gourmet cooks can not stuff a bird.

I love home-made stuffing but I can see society trying to turn me over to stove-top stuffing. I will continue to fight as long as I can against these bags. From the first time I saw those cooked parts in a paper bag, I should have known that they would be the means to the end of stuffing.

Q. Recently I was a guest at a club luncheon in a restaurant. Accidentally, I overturned my tomato juice. What was the right thing to do? The waiter didn't see the accident immediately. T.L.

A. A waiter seeing such an accident would immediately change the cloth, or if that was impossible at a long table, would spread a clean napkin over the spilled food. As the waiter did not do this because he was busy elsewhere, at a large luncheon you could have spread a napkin over the spot yourself, without undue discussion of the incident. Everyone occasionally has things like this happen.

FINE MEAL

Last week we went to the LaCisterna restaurant in Mineola and were delighted with the meal. The LaCisterna is a beautifully decorated restaurant with a fine large dining room set in a restful and inviting style. The service is good and the food is well worth a return visit.

We had veal marsala for one dinner and bass for the other. The veal was fresh and tender and the marsala sauce was exceptionally well done. The bass was fresh and flavorful. Starting off the meal we had salad and soup which also rated high. We were very satisfied with the visit and want to recommend it to your readers.

EARLY AMERICAN

One of our favorite restaurants over the years has been Maine Maid Inn on Jericho Turnpike in Jericho. The Colonial Building, built in 1789 filled with authentic Early American antiques, the cozy fireplace, the Tiffany lamps, all make for a delightful ambience in which to have a leisurely relaxing dinner with the best possible food.

We dined there Wednesday night starting with a cup of excellent soup. One dinner consisted of the special of the day, Lobster tail with shrimp and clams in a delectable sauce, served with a choice of baked potato or linguine. My choice was the Bass almondine served with fresh peas, carrots and corn. A mixed salad with a choice of dressing, and Cafe espresso made for a memorable dinner.

Every time we dine there we say it couldn't be better, and would you believe it is! E.H.

TELL THE WORLD

You do not have enough endorsements in your paper for Iannone's in Hicksville. This restaurant is superb in its Italian food. I have gone there for many years and I can tell you that it always meets top quality standards. Last evening we had a wonderful veal parmigiana dinner complete with a cheese cake dessert and coffee.

I will tell you truthfully that the food served in Iannone's is as good as I have ever had even in my own mother's home. She was a real Italian cook who started in the morning and worked all day to give us a fine dinner. Tell more people about Iannone's and you will be doing them a favor. R.T.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

We had a delightful Japanese luncheon at the new Asahi Tokyo Japanese Restaurant in Glen Cove, and felt we had made an important discovery.

Our luncheon consisted of a warm, rich miso soup, salad, shrimp Tempura, which was coated with the lightest coating, fresh vegetables also batter coated, rice and a pot of tea.

This was a first experience with Japanese food and my companion and I enjoyed it so much we are looking forward to a repeat performance real soon. M.D.

STEAK LOBSTER
Barrister's in Mineola is a new clean restaurant that always seems to be a nice place to go. We have been there several times and always found that the Barrister took care of us well. On Thursday we had the surf and turf dinner which gives you just enough steak and a half lobster so that you can enjoy the best of two worlds.
In addition to the main entree they have a nice salad bar at the Barrister which allows you to eat as much of that fare as you wish. And the main course is served with potato and vegetable.
We think that a $10 price for a meal like we had is one of the best buys on L.I. and it is at a nice restaurant to boot. G.R.

READER RATINGS

Q. Recently I had an embarrassing moment in a restaurant. I accidentally tipped over a water glass spilling the contents all over the tablecloth! What is the best way of coping with a painful situation of this type?

READER RATINGS

Q. Who is served first at table and when is the proper time to begin eating?

F.P.G.
A. The hostess is not served first unless she is the only lady at the table or is alone with her husband and children. If Grandmother or even a young girl guest is present the dishes are first presented to her after inspection by the hostess. When the hostess is serving from in front of her place, with or without the aid of a servant, she is served next to last and her husband last. For her to serve herself earlier will mean her food will be cold and her filled plate in the way.

After several people have been served, urged by the hostess, guests begin eating so their food will not be cold. And, except at breakfast, the polite husband waits until his wife has been served before beginning to eat.

Q. Is it considered bad manners to take anything to drink to your lips while there is still food in your mouth?

B.C.J.
A. Yes, because this may leave particles of food in the beverage or leave an unattractive smear on the glass. Your mouth should be empty before you take anything to drink. Certainly you should avoid the effect of "washing down" food that is already in your mouth. It is amazing how many people are guilty of this breach of etiquette.

The new wave of onions

By Jack Williams

MOROCCAN ONION KAMMAMA

- 3 tbsps olive oil
- 2 lbs lamb shoulder or boned chicken thighs cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 tsp imported paprika
- 1/2 tsp cumin
- 1/4 tsp powdered ginger
- Pinch of saffron
- 2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
- 1 bunch (about 8 sprigs) fresh coriander (also called cilantro and Chinese parsley)
- Salt and freshly ground pepper
- 3 lemons
- 6 large yellow onions (about 4 lbs.), cut lengthwise into half moons

Heat olive oil in large casserole, add lamb or chicken and chopped onion, and saute for 5 minutes over moderate heat, stirring. Add paprika, cumin, ginger, saffron, garlic, coriander, salt and pepper to taste, juice of 1 lemon and enough water to just cover ingredients; cover casserole, and simmer very slowly for 2 hours.

Add remaining onions, stir, cover and continue simmering for 20 to 25 minutes or till onions are just tender.

Preheat oven to 450 F.

Transfer ingredients from casserole to large bowl with slotted spoon, reduce cooking liquid by half over high heat, and return ingredients to casserole. Add juice of remaining 2 lemons, stir well, and place casserole in oven for about 10 minutes or until top of the kammama is slightly glazed.

STUFFED ONION

Onions make a surprisingly good container for all kinds of stuffings flavored with the chopped center. In this case, I use spinach and mushrooms, dark vegetables to contrast with the pale onion.

- 1 jalapeno pepper
- 2 bay leaves
- 4 cloves
- 2 1/4 lbs onions
- 3/4 lb trimmed spinach leaves
- 2 tpsps olive oil
- 1/4 lb mushrooms (regular, chanterelle, shitake, etc.) roughly chopped into 1/2 to 3/4-inch pieces
- 2 tbsps whole wheat bread crumbs

- 2 tbsps chicken stock or water

Cut enough flesh from jalapeno pepper to make 1 minced tablespoon. Put rest of it, including seeds and core, in pot with bay leaves, cloves, peeled onions and enough water to cover. Bring to a boil and cook until onions are almost soft, about 30 minutes. Drain and let cool. Discard bay leaves and cloves.

Bring water back to a boil. Add spinach and cook for 1 minute. Drain, cook, squeeze dry. Place in bowl.

Preheat the oven to 350 F.

Cut each onion in half crosswise. Cut off root ends. Pull out center of each half until you have 4 onion cups about 4 layers thick. Cover bottoms with some of trimmings so they are as thick as sides. Roughly chop rest of onion and set aside.

Heat oil in 8-inch non-stick skillet. Add chopped onion and cook for about 2 minutes, until lightly browned. Add jalapeno pepper and cook another minute. Add mushrooms and cook until soft, another 2 to 3 minutes. Put in bowl with spinach and bread crumbs.

Place onion cups in 9-inch pie plate or other baking dish large enough to hold them firmly in a single layer. Fill each cup with 1/4 of spinach mixture. Pour stock or water into bottom of plate. Cover plate with foil and bake in preheated oven for 20 minutes. Once or twice during cooking, spoon liquid in pan over onions.

Serves 4, 135 calories per serving.

(From "The Four Seasons Spa Cuisine" by Seppi Renggli, Simon & Schuster, $17.95.)

VIDALIA ONIONS STUFFED WITH HAM AND MUSHROOMS

- 6 large Vidalia onions (about 4 lbs.)
- 8 tbsps (1 stick) butter
- 4 medium scallions, trimmed of all but 2 inches of green tops and finely chopped
- 1 garlic clove
- 4 dashes Tabasco
- 3 cups finely chopped fresh mushrooms
- 2 cups finely chopped cooked ham
- 1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
- Pinch of rubbed sage
- Pinch of ground cinnamon
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 1 tbsps dry sherry
- Salt and freshly ground pepper
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 1 cup beef broth

- 4 tbsps minced fresh parsley

Remove skin from each onion, cut thick slice from stem end and discard. Scoop out centers of each with melon-ball scoop or sturdy spoon, leaving 1/4-inch shell. Finely chop enough of centers to measure 1 cup.

Bring kettle of salted water to a boil, add onion shells, and cook over moderately high heat for 5 minutes. Invert onions on paper towels and drain.

Preheat oven to 350 F.

Heat half of butter in large skillet, add chopped onions, scallions, garlic and Tabasco, and saute over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring. Add remaining butter, mushrooms, ham, parsley, sage and cinnamon, increase heat to moderate and continue sauteing, stirring for about 5 minutes or until mushrooms are soft, and let cook for 5 minutes.

Sprinkle onion shells with salt and pepper to taste, arrange open side up in casserole or baking dish just large enough to hold them, and divide stuffing among them, mounding it. Combine wine and broth in bowl, pour enough around onions to reach 1 inch up sides, cover with foil and bake for 1 hour, basting once or twice.

Transfer onions with slotted spoon to heated serving platter and sprinkle tops with parsley.

Serve as a light luncheon dish or side vegetable.

ONION TART

- 2 Maui or Bermuda onions (about 1 1/2 to 2 lbs.)
- 8 tbsps unsalted butter
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/4 lb puff pastry (frozen can be used)
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup heavy cream

Peel and thinly slice onions. Melt butter in large covered skillet or Dutch oven over low heat. When butter is melted, add onions, tossing to coat well. Cover pot and cook over low heat for 10 minutes. Remove cover, raise heat to medium, and saute onions until tender.

stirring occasionally. This will take 20 to 30 minutes. Season with salt and pepper.

While onions are sauteing, roll puff pastry (you will have to let it defrost if frozen) 1/4 inch thick. Arrange in pan, crimping edges, and bake at 350 F in a tart shell blind or false-bottom tart pan for 25 minutes, or until pastry is golden.

Combine egg yolks and cream with onions and pour mixture into pastry shell. Bake tart at 350 F for 35 minutes, or until knife or cake tester comes out clean.

Serves 6-8.

(From "Cooking with the New American Chefs" by Ellen Brown, Harper & Row, $12.95.)

BRAISED ONION MEDLEY WITH PINE NUTS AND RAISINS

- 2 tbsps butter
- 3 tbsps olive oil
- 1 large red onion, thinly sliced
- 2 large sweet yellow onions (Granex or Walla Walla), peeled thinly and sliced
- 3 leeks, white part only, cleaned and thinly sliced
- 2 shallots, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 tsp oregano
- 1/4 tsp thyme
- Salt and pepper
- 1/4 cup golden raisins
- 1/4 cup chicken stock
- 1/4 cup toasted pine nuts

In large skillet heat butter and oil. Saute onions, leeks, shallots and garlic over a medium-low heat until wilted, about 10 minutes. Add oregano, thyme, salt and pepper, raisins and stock; bring to a boil, cover and simmer for 20 minutes. Add pine nuts and cook uncovered another 5 minutes.

May be served hot, cold or at room temperature. Great accompaniment for grilled food and wonderful to stuff in your hamburger bun along with your hamburger.

Serves 6.

After Work Gourmet

Broiled fish with crab mornay sauce

By Paul Bensen

Grouper and stone crab have long been popular in the Southeastern United States, but until recently were almost unknown in other parts of the country. Now these two treats from the Gulf of Mexico and the Southern Atlantic Ocean are widely available, and today's recipe combines them in an easy-to-prepare dish that brings out the best of both.

Seafood wholesalers currently are trying to broaden the national market for grouper, and a good supply now finds its way to New York, Boston, Chicago, San Francisco and other large cities across the country.

Red grouper (Epinephelus morio) and black grouper (Mycteroperca bonaci) are the types that most often show up in seafood stores, and both are delicious broiled, fried, poached, sauteed or barbecued. Grouper is a firm-fleshed, fairly flaky, mild-tasting fish found throughout the Gulf of Mexico.

Grouper used to be thought of as a species in limited supply, and strictly for the Southeast market. The discovery of new grounds and the development of new fishing techniques, however, have increased both supplies and national sales.

Scamp (Mycteroperca phenax), a relative of black grouper, is totally unfamiliar to many seafood lovers. "Scampi?" is the usual response when you mention this delicious fish, which has no connection with the shrimp and garlic dish. Scamp was once described to me by a seafood store owner as "the very best of the grouper family." The description is accurate.

Scamp is lighter and flakier than other types of grouper, and has a delicate flavor that surpasses even the best of its relatives. Since it breaks apart easily, it is not a good candidate for the barbecue grill, but is excellent for all other uses for grouper.

Both grouper and scamp are generally sold as fillets, but you can sometimes get very good buys on whole fish. Grouper cheeks — which are just what their name says — are small, tender pieces, usually 2 inches or so in diameter, that often sell for about half the price per pound of fillets. Grouper cheeks are excellent for any recipe that does not require large pieces of fish.

Stone crab (Menippe mercenaria) is easily my favorite member of the crab family. The meat is delicate in flavor and has a firm, pithy texture. Claws are generally served with lemon, drawn butter and a mallet to crack them open. Many people prefer them to even the freshest Maine lobster. If you've never had stone crab before, try a few claws by themselves. Just drop them in boiling water for about 90 seconds, and serve them as above.

Stone crabs are found throughout the coastal Southeast, and in the last few years have been showing up in large seafood markets throughout the country.

Stone crabs are not killed for their claws. Only one claw of the stone crab is generally taken by crabbers, and the other claw left so the crab can defend itself while the claw taken regenerates.

Today's recipe combines grouper (or scamp) and stone crab with a rich and creamy mornay sauce, which complements the flavor of both seafoods. I hope you enjoy it as much as I do.

If you live in an area where grouper and stone crab are unavailable, you can substitute any mild-tasting, firm-fleshed fish for the grouper or scamp, and use any good-quality crabmeat (preferably fresh) in place of the stone crab.

GROUPE (OR SCAMP) WITH STONE CRAB MORNAY SAUCE

Preparation/cooking
time: 25 minutes,
including sauce

- 2 lbs. grouper or scamp fillets
- ¼ tsp. celery salt
- ½ tsp. dried dill weed
- 3 tbsps. butter
- Juice of 2 lemons
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste

Rinse fillets and dry on paper towels. Melt butter in shallow broiling pan and add fillets. Sprinkle half of lemon juice over fish and broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat, for 3 to 5 minutes, depending on thickness, until fillets are browned on top. Carefully turn fillets over, sprinkle evenly with dill weed, celery salt, remaining lemon juice and pepper to taste, and broil another 3 to 5 minutes until nicely browned and cooked through. Transfer fish to another broiling pan, in which they fit snugly, and cook with sauce as below.

STONE CRAB MORNAY SAUCE

Preparation/cooking
time: 25 minutes

- 1 lb. stone crab claws (boil the claws 90 seconds, remove meat from shell and shred)
- 3 tbsps. butter
- 3 tbsps. flour
- 1½ cups milk
- Salt and freshly ground

- black pepper to taste
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- ¼ tsp. cayenne
- 2 tbsps. Parmesan, gruyere or Romano cheese, freshly grated
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tbsps. fresh lemon juice

NOTE: Sauce may be prepared ahead of time or while the fillets are broiling.

In heavy saucepan, melt butter. Add flour, using wire whisk. Beat until smooth. Whisk in milk, and heat until sauce has thickened somewhat. Add cayenne, nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste. Add cheese and whisk until melted. Remove sauce from heat, whisk in egg yolk, add crab and lemon juice and check seasoning.

A few minutes before serving, pour sauce over broiled fish. Place under broiler for 2 to 3 minutes until sauce is hot and bubbly and lightly browned on top. Serve with lemon wedges and parsley garnish if desired.

Serves 4 to 6.

Cooking Time: 5½ to 7½ minutes (plus 2 minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Combine water, parsley, olive oil and garlic in flat 8-inch-square baking dish. Microwave, uncovered, 30 seconds.

Arrange fillets in dish with thickest portions toward outside. Sprinkle seasonings over top. Cover dish tightly with plastic wrap and microwave 5 to 7 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with fork.

Let stand, covered, 2 minutes before serving.

Serves 4

KOREAN POULTRY GLAZE

- 1 tbsp. white wine
- 1 tbsp. soy sauce
- Water
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- ¼ tsp. each garlic powder and pepper

Preparation Time: Less than 5 minutes

Cooking Time: 1 to 3 minutes

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Measure wine and soy sauce into 1-cup glass measure. Add water to equal 1 cup.

Blend cornstarch with small amount of water, to make smooth paste. Stir into soy/wine mixture, blending well. Stir in garlic powder and pepper.

Cover top with plastic wrap and microwave 1 to 3 minutes, stirring once. Sauce should be slightly thickened.

microwave magic

Attention 'alliophiles' — and vampires!

By Desiree Viva

Collecting unusual words is one of my favorite pastimes. And unlike collecting antiques, it doesn't cost anything. Consider the word genuglyphics, which means the art of decorating the knees. Then there's alliophile, a lover of garlic. Evidently, there are so many garlic lovers, we needed a special word to describe them.

It does seem that it's those who don't love garlic who are in the minority. In the 14th century, King Alfonso of Spain created an order of knights based solely on a shared dislike of the pungent bulb. (The order can't have been very large!)

Garlic has a number of interesting properties, aside from its marvelous flavor. It's been found to dilate the blood vessels and reduce fatty deposits. It has medicinal properties, too, and was used during both world wars to control infections. It's even a natural pesticide, and a common ingredient in commercial dog food (they love the flavor, too), helping to discourage fleas. And everyone knows that garlic wards off evil spirits and vampires!

You will find both white- and pink-skinned garlic in your market. Pink garlic is slightly milder and sweeter. Giant, or elephant garlic is also slightly sweet. Cloves should be firm and solid. Store in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place, but do not refrigerate. Fresh garlic will keep considerably longer than onions.

Press individual cloves with the flat side of a knife, and skin will slip off easily. Crushing a garlic clove will release more oil, and a more intense garlic flavor, than will dicing or chopping.

There are only between 1 and 2 calories per fresh garlic clove, so if you love the flavor, go ahead and indulge.

BEEF TACO SUPPER

- ¼ cup minced onion
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tbsps. tomato paste
- 2 tsps. chili powder

- 12 cooked taco shells
- 1 small head iceberg lettuce, shredded
- 1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 large tomatoes, chopped
- Mexican salsa (optional)

Preparation Time: 10 to 15 minutes

Cooking Time: 10 to 19 minutes (plus 3 minutes standing time)

Crumble ground beef into 1½-quart glass casserole. Add onion. Cover and microwave 5 minutes, stirring once.

Stir in garlic, tomato paste, chili powder, cumin, salt and pepper. Cover and microwave 5 to 9 minutes longer, stirring twice, until meat is no longer pink. Let stand, covered, 3 minutes.

Fill taco shells with beef mixture. Garnish with lettuce, cheese.

Q: Could you please tell me if there is any asbestos in 12x12-inch acoustical ceiling tiles, about 20 years old, made by Armstrong or by other companies?

A: If so, should I be concerned about the tiles and remove them? — J.S.

Acoustical ceilings made before 1973 usually contain asbestos. If the ceiling is in good condition, there is no reason for action but if the material is flaking or if there is water damage, the material should be analyzed.

If an asbestos-containing product is in good condition, and fibers are "locked in" or encapsulated, there is no danger. But when asbestos materials are loose, crumbly or deteriorating, tiny microscopic fibers are released into the air. This condition is called "friable" and usually occurs when the material is worn, damaged or undergoing renovation. If inhaled, these fibers can be harmful.

In most cases, asbestos in the home is not a health threat. You should only be concerned if it is friable or if you plan to remove or replace it.

Home owners should never remove asbestos-containing materials themselves. It is almost always best to leave alone asbestos that is not flaking or damaged, since disturbing it can release harmful fibers. If you want to have the asbestos removed by a professional, make sure the contractor you hire has been trained in the safety precautions to be used when removing asbestos, ask for references and carefully review the work before it begins.

Anyone concerned about asbestos may call the Consumer Product Safety Commission on the toll-free hot line 800-638-2772 or write 3660 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 1100, Los Angeles, CA 90010, to get the pamphlet "Asbestos in the Home."

Q: I have two rooms that are papered with a "flocked" type of wallpaper. Over the years this has gradually turned to an off-white color.

Can this be cleaned? If not, what would be the best method of removing the paper? I have enclosed a sample. — R.K.M.

A: If the flocked white stripe in the sample of wallpaper that you sent me has yellowed, this is a natural chemical change caused with aging. White often yellows over the years. Cleaning will not restore the original white shade.

It is very difficult, almost impossible, to clean flocked wallpaper. Your best bet will probably be replacement. You should have no trouble removing the paper. It is one of the strippable, canvas-backed varieties. It will come off easily when you pull it up at a corner or a seam.

Q: I have a two-story house. The previous owner put up a cement staircase that is on the outside of the house and touches the siding. Because of moisture, I've already had to replace the siding once and now the siding is beginning to rot again.

Do you have any suggestions? Several people who have looked at the problem suggested removing the stairs with a crane or tearing them out and rebuilding. — T.S.W.

A: It is difficult to analyze your problem without a thorough inspection of the condition and the environment of your home in respect to the staircase, moisture retention, direction of wind and rain, amount of sun exposure, etc., on this side of your home.

However, if you decide to go ahead and replace the siding, use a water sealer on the siding. Be sure to use the sealer prior to painting. This should help protect from moisture damage.

You can also use a concrete sealer on the concrete staircase. Concrete tends to retain moisture. A good masonry sealer will help prevent this.

the staff, in most cases, quite responsive.

Q: I am legally blind and am unable to see my toenails for cutting, and therefore need to go to a podiatrist for the cutting and for a fungus. It costs me $20 each time, and so far, Medicare will not pay for any of it.

Is there a way I can make them know this is a necessity? — M.S.

A: Medicare does cover toenail clipping each 60 days when the patient has a Mycotic fungus or has certain medical conditions from diabetes. If your fungus is that called Mycotic, you should have coverage by Medicare.

Check your doctor and have him document your condition and submit a copy of this letter with your claim. If they will then allow the coverage, bundle up your past, similar bills for re-presentation as a claim.

You also may take your question to Social Security, requesting a review of the decision.

Q: I am 55 years old and wish to join the American Association of Retired Persons. Where do I contact them? — B.G.

A: The American Association of Retired Persons is located at 1909 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20049. Membership is now open to anyone age 50 and over for $5 per person or per couple. Send your check or money order with your name, address and birthdate and request membership. It's that easy.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 18 and my boyfriend, Tom, is 21. I've been dating Tom for about six months but I only see him once every other week because he lives about an hour's drive from me. The only other time we have contact is when he phones me. I've asked him for his phone number several times but he won't give it to me. He always changes the subject. In fact, he won't even give me his home address so I can write to him.

He knows everything about me (I told him) but I hardly know anything about him. My mom thinks this is very strange and that he is probably married or has another girlfriend.

I asked him about this and told him what my mother said, but he said my mother was mistaken. What do you think? If you agree with my mother, I'll dump him. — Sabrina. Sabrina: He is either married, has another girlfriend or has something worse to hide.

Dr. Wallace: Your column is very depressing when you show acceptance and give approval to premarital sex. Unwed pregnancy is only one bad result of sexual contact. Other ill-effects include guilt, loss of self-esteem, feeling used, disease and infection and lack of trust. Please be more careful when you promote premarital sex for teens. Your approval will influence a lot of those TWEEN 12 and 20. — Phil.

Phil: I don't know whose column you have been reading lately but I can assure you it wasn't mine. At no time (not even one teeny-tiny time) have I ever promoted premarital sex for teens.

Dr. Wallace: Just a thought about the adults who put down today's teen music because of the terrible lyrics. My parents love country music, and for your information, country music talks more about sex, divorce, drinking, affairs, fights, murder and robbing than rock 'n' roll or heavy metal.

Maybe adults should "clean" up their own music before they judge teens' music. You probably won't answer this letter but I feel better after writing it. — Jerry.

Jerry: You bring up a good point. Let's agree that poor lyrics are unacceptable, regardless of the type or class of music.

Somehow I find it hard to find fault in Willie Nelson's "Whiskey River" or Hank Williams' "Your Cheatin' Heart."

Dr. Wallace: I am a faithful reader of your column so please answer my question. It's very important to me. Jim and I have been going together for three years and are thinking about getting married. I do love him very much but he has a "problem" I cannot overlook. In fact, it could cause us to break up. Whenever he drinks a soft drink, he burps out loud and never says excuse me.

When I tell him he is being very rude, he gets upset and says, "It's not bad manners, it's a good drink." He honestly believes there is nothing wrong with burping (very loudly, I might add) in public without saying excuse me. Who is right? Oh, yes, he also says, "Don't blame me, blame the food." — Jane.

Jane: Burping out loud in public is rude and crude. Inform this dude it's not the food; it's his attitude that affects your mood to desire solitude.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a parent who is very upset by the number of students who are all "drugged up" on our high school campuses. It's outrageous! Why should my teenager be subjected to such rubbish? Why can't the schoolteachers and administrators do something about this terrible situation? You are a former public school administrator. What is the solution? — Concerned Parent.

Concerned Parent: A recent survey conducted by Parents' Resources Institute for Drug Education indicated that the weekends are by far the most popular time for drug use by students from sixth through 12th grades. The survey asked:

1. When do you drink alcohol?
2. When do you smoke marijuana?
3. When do you use cocaine?

Dr. Wallace: Recently Rich asked me out but since I was going steady I turned him down. Now I've broken up with my "steady" and I'd like to go out with Rich but he lives in another town and we rarely see each other.

How can I let him know I'm available? I don't want to seem pushy. I do have his phone number. — Jill Jill: Call and inform him you're available. He will be happy to hear from you. You will not be pushy. Call it pleasantly assertive.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Social Security and Medicare take the lead in questions received this week. With the changes in the coverages, the scope of the questions should prove of value to most readers.

Q: I am 64, work full time at a company where this is a group health plan, and intend to continue working.

When I turn 65, must I also start funding Medicare premiums as well as my share in the company health plan? — L.J.

A: No, you do not have to fund both, and the change in Medicare came about only a year ago. People who continue working beyond age 65 and have a company group health plan now need not also pay premiums for the Medicare supplemental — Part B — coverage.

At age 65 everyone should be enrolled in Medicare by personal application at the Social Security office. If still working and covered by a company health plan, you may request an exemption from the Part B coverage. Bring a letter or memo from the company that documents the coverage. By all means, do enroll for the Part A coverage.

When you stop working and are no longer covered by the company health plan, take such notice within seven months to the Social Security office to instate the Part B coverage without penalty. For non-working people age 65 and over who fail to file for Medicare Part B coverage on a timely basis, there can be added premium costs of 10 percent for each year late in filing.

Q: Last year I had angioplasty and there was a standby medical crew in case I needed bypass surgery. They charged $500 plus $85 for consultation.

Why doesn't Medicare cover this? — R.C.

A: Medicare normally does not pay for procedures not performed — but if there was a valid medical reason for the standby medical crew, ask your doctor to put such information in writing. Take the letter to your Social Security office and ask for a "review of the decision." You might get a reversal in your favor at this level.

If not, and if the claim is for more than $100, you may come right back and submit a "request for hearing." The decision from the hearing will be final.

There are two appeal levels open to all Medicare claimants. Mistakes can be made in the system, or the medical information provided by the doctors might be lacking — either of which can lead to a original claim denial.

If you have a question or want further consideration, march right in (have your Medicare paperwork and any added information you can develop in hand) and ask for a review of the decision. You'll find

PUZZLED?

Are you puzzled why we run more Classified
Ads in our areas than our biggest competitors including the N.Y. Times, Newsday, The Daily News and the free throwaways that come to your door?

The Answer Is Simple -

RESULTS: When readers run ads with us they get results, not numbers of printed copies or other irrelevant information.

An Ad, any ad, is only an advertisement for you when people READ it. Large numbers of copies printed and hung on door knobs or multi pages of newsprint in large out-of-town newspapers are not what count. Only readers get your message and can bring you results.
The next time you are thinking of advertising something - remember that it takes readers to get your message.

And then you will know why so many more local ads are run in our newspapers than in the big papers, or the so-called saturation throwaways. Don't count door knobs - count customers.

Quality Or Quantity?
 When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.
 When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.
 With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.
 Our (not so secret) ingredient -
 Readers = Results
 is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Fireplace face-lifts can transform room

By Sharon Owen Haven

Q. Our used-brick fireplace in the living room is at odds with our modern tastes and contemporary artwork. How can we make it less of an eyesore? — N.V.

A. Of course, the least expensive quick-and-dirty solution is to paint it out. By painting the fireplace the same color as the surrounding walls, you can make it almost disappear and serve as an innocuous background for your contemporary art.

If your budget permits, you might like to try a more ambitious solution such as the one pictured. Here a new wall inset with mirrored, lighted display niches was constructed 12 inches in front of the old fireplace wall. The interior fireplace walls were extended with new masonry and a contemporary brass opening added. A new cantilevered raised marble hearth with a mirrored toe-kick adds an elegant contemporary look.

This type of solution could transform your eyesore into a dramatic and riveting focus for your entire room. It also can create an effective, gallery-type setting for sculpture and ceramics.

Q. I recently saw a picture of a room that had a beautiful flag-stonelike floor that reputedly was made from paper grocery bags. Is this possible? Can you tell me how to do it? — S.G.

A. Yes, this is an inexpensive and amazingly attractive treatment that will glamorize the ugliest of floors. Here's how:

First, clean, scrape, patch or sand the existing floor as needed to create a smooth surface. You can apply this treatment directly to plywood sub-flooring.

Then tear (don't cut!) brown wrapping paper or paper bags into irregular shapes that approximate flagstone. Vary the size and shapes for interest.

Mix equal parts of white household glue and water, brush on one side of each "stone," and position them in overlapping patterns that cover the entire floor surface. Smooth out wrinkles with a rolling pin.

When the paper is dry, apply four to five coats of satin polyurethane varnish, allowing at least 24 hours of drying time between each coat. This may seem irritatingly time-consuming, but the results are worth it.

The finished floor is so durable that it can even be used in the kitchen. Its rich, warm beauty belies the humble material from which it is made. And best of all, your major investment will be a couple of cans of polyurethane.

Q: These two chairs are part of a set of six that was divided among my sisters and me. Can you tell me when they were made and how much they are worth? Would they be worth more if the set were intact?

A: Your chairs were made around the turn of the century and would be worth about $125 and $135 each. I doubt if the set of six would sell for more than that. It would probably be more difficult to find a buyer for six than it would for one or two.

- "Everything I Have Is Yours," 1933 — $15.
- "I'm An Old Cowhand," Bing Crosby, 1938 — $6.
- "Lily of the Prairie," Indian girls, 1909 — $8.
- "Minstrels' March Two-Step," 1913 — $15.
- "My Doughnut Girl," Red Cross girl, 1919 — $15.
- "My Sweetheart Went Down On The Titanic" — $12.
- "The Pussycat Song," — 1948 — $10.
- "Shortenin' Bread," black girls, 1939 — $8.

Q: This mark is on the bottom of a large porcelain compote. It is decorated with a windmill and boat. Please tell me what you can about its vintage and value.

A: This mark was used by Erdmann Schlegelmilch in Suhl, Germany, during the 1860s. His later mark was the better-known "RS Germany."

Your compote would probably sell for $250 to $275.

Q: I have heard that old sheet music is valuable. Could you provide some typical prices?

- A: Sure! Here they are:
- "Ain't She Sweet," flapper cover, 1927 — $4.
 - "America Today," President Woodrow Wilson cover, 1917 — $3.
 - "Check & Doublecheck," Amos & Andy, 1939 — $10.
 - "Everybody's Teddy," Teddy Roosevelt, 1901 — $14.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our 8-month-old Irish setter has developed the disgusting habit of eating her own bowel movements.

We allow the dog to spend a lot of time indoors with us and it is getting increasingly difficult to be affectionate with her.

What can we do about this annoying behavior? Why does our dog do this? Is it normal?

A Eating of one's own stool, or coprophagy, is relatively common in young dogs. The cause is unknown and it is also unknown why some dogs develop this habit and others do not.

There are many theories for this behavior, including boredom, nutritional imbalances and diseases. Lack of digestive enzymes, unbalanced diets and vitamin and mineral deficiencies have been suggested as likely causes. Vitamin B deficiency is the most likely deficiency related to this condition.

Coprophagy has been seen in dogs with digestive upsets such as gastritis, pancreatic disease, and ear infections. Dogs with rabies often attempt to eat their own feces. Puppies that are teething or are parasitized with digestive tract worms often are stool eaters.

It has been stated by many animal authorities that coprophagy may be normal in dogs — that it is nature's way of achieving a more efficient absorption of nutrients from the diet. This is also believed to be true of rabbits. A dog eating its own feces may be a vestigial wolf spirit — the spirit to be an efficient and vigorous hunter and scavenger.

Whether normal or not, and whether it is or is not a leftover from ancestral days, it is disgusting to most modern-day dog lovers.

The first step to control coprophagy in a dog is a thorough physical examination by a veterinarian to eliminate any possible physical causes. At the time of the examination, a fresh stool sample should be taken for examination for the eggs of digestive tract worms.

Your veterinarian can review and evaluate the diet your dog is currently consuming. If no physical or nutritional reasons are discovered during the examination, behavior-changing techniques should be tried. The dog should be disciplined whenever it is seen eating its stool. Often this is all that is required.

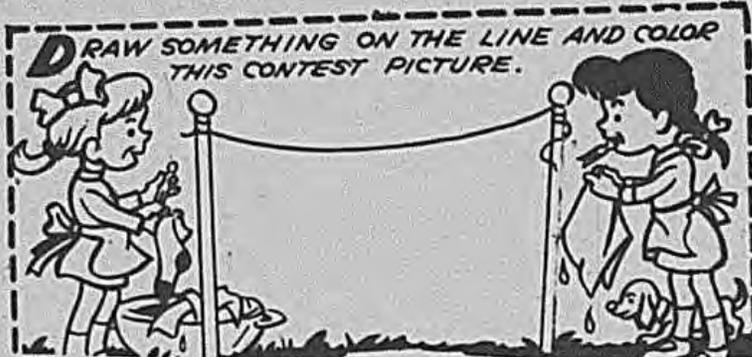

Another effective way to control coprophagy is to clean up the dog's stools immediately following defecation. Of course, this requires your accompanying the dog on her jaunts about the yard.

* Cleaning up behind your dog is a good idea whether or not the dog practices coprophagy. It makes your yard a much more desirable place for children to play and for you to relax.

Although many have advocated the use of different food additives to make the stools taste or smell bad, these are not very effective.

Discipline and good sanitation are the best ways to handle this annoying habit. Do not give up on your dog. Its behavior can be changed for the better.
