Four Injured In Accident

Four people were injured in a 3 vehicle accident on the westbound lanes of the Long Island Expressway in Plainview at 2:45 p.m. on July 17.

All three vehicles were westbound when the accident occurred. A tractor trailer was attempting to move from the right to center lane when it caused a vehicle in the center lane to brake suddenly and move to the left lane where it struck a third vehicle. After being struck the car in the turn lane moved towards the right lane where it struck the undercarriage of the tractor trailer and was dragged for about 500 feet. The vehicle which struck the car rolled over a few times and caught fire.

The tractor trailer was owned and operated by James Byrne, 44, of 7 Carlisle Dr., Old Brookville. Mr. Byrne was not injured. The truck in the center lane was owned by the Long Island Railroad and was operated by Ronald McAuley, 30, of 20 Essen Dr., Amityville. Both he and a passenger in the truck, Richard Pastor, 25, were taken to Central General Hospital in Plainview for treatment. McAuley suffered from possible fractured ribs and left arm. Pastor for possible fractured ribs. The car, a 1976 Granada, was operated by Lenora Osvana, 36, of 19 Georgia St., E. Northport. The driver's daughter, Gina Whitehead, 15, was in the car and was also injured. Both mother and daughter were taken by police helicopter to the Nassau County Medical Center in East Meadow where they were treated and released with minor injuries.

No charges were filed and the road which was closed at 2:45 p.m. was opened at 4:15 p.m.

Law Suit Launched Against School Dist.

A lawsuit has been filed against Hicksville and eight other Long Island school districts by Klass Publications, Inc., a publishing firm located in Malverne.

The school districts named in the action are: Bellmore-Merrick Central High School District, East Meadow School District, East Williston School District, Half Hollow Hills School District, Hicksville School District, Huntington School District, Plainedge School District, Port Washington School District and Wantagh School District. The attorney for Klass Publications, Inc., is Michael T. Sucher, Esq., 26 Court Street, Brooklyn, NY 11242.

The lawsuit alleges that certain restrictive language within the published school bid requirements with regard to their printing and publishing contracts and purchases are unnecessarily restrictive, anti-competitive and preclude the school districts from always having to accept the lowest bids. Klass Publications claims that due to these restrictive regulations, such as one that requires both typesetting and printing at the very same location, the school districts are paying much more money than they have to.

In each instance, Klass Publications has sent in bids several times, often being low bidder by a wide margin, only to have their bids rejected due to what Mr. Arthur Klass, President of the firm terms "technicalities".

Klass Publications, Inc., has been performing on school district contracts since 1979 and is one of the leading suppliers of school district publishing on Long Island, having performed numerous contracts, such as Calendars, Adult Education brochures, Course Catalogs, Newsletters, etc., for nearly half the school districts of Nassau County.

The action seeks a Declaratory Judgment and Injunction and will be heard in Supreme Court, Nassau County.

Editor's Notebook

Hicksville has three service organizations. Many people not involved wonder exactly what a service club is and what it does. During the month of August we plan to publish information on the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs but in the meantime, here is a brief explanation of the organizations, when they started and what their goals are:

KIWANIS: This organization boasts over 2000 mens clubs throughout the country meeting at weekly luncheons with each club having not more than two of a community's leaders in a business or profession. Kiwanis Clubs render constructive service in fields such as aid to underprivileged children, working with boys and girls giving vocational guidance, plus support of law enforcement, public safety and good citizenship. Their motto is "We Build".

The first Kiwanis Club received a charter in Detroit, Michigan, on January 21, 1915. The name was derived from the Indian word "Kee-wanis" which means to make one's self known. The name Kiwanis International was adopted in 1924.

LIONS: An International Association of non-political, non-sectarian service clubs composed of business and professional men. Membership is limited to one man representing a business or professional classification. Their objectives are good fellowship, international understanding and community service. Activities include agriculture, boys and girls citizenship, patriotism, civic improvements, community betterment, education, health and welfare, safety, sight conservation and the blind.

Founded in 1917 by Melvin Jones, Lions'

main headquarters is located in Chicago, Illinois.

ROTARY: Paul Harris, a Chicago lawyer, founded the first Rotary Club in that city on February 23, 1905. Members rotated their meetings weekly from one office to another, hence the name "Rotary". It is a worldwide organization now, comprised of business and professional men united in the ideal of service. Rotary is neither a secret nor religious organization. Its clubs are required to meet weekly and competitors of members and others are frequently invited.

Membership is limited to one representative of executive status from each business or profession. The objects are: (1) development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service; (2) high ethical standards of business and professions; the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations; and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society; (3) application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal, business, and community life; (4) advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in this ideal of service.

Subscribing to "He Profits Most Who Serves Best" the Rotary world is divided into 145 districts of varying numbers of clubs.

Beginning in August, the Mid Island Times will publish an in-depth history of each of Hicksville's service clubs including officers past and present, goals of the clubs and photos, when available.

September 5K Run Scheduled For Vets

John F. Kelly, General Manager/Postmaster, Quonset Division, starts 5 mi. Run for Veterans. This year 4,000 will participate in the race.

Four thousand runners will rally outside the Mitchel Field Athletic Complex on Sunday, September 7 at 9:30 a.m. in the (Vietnam Memorial) 5 Mile Race, in which each runner will symbolize a Long Island veteran killed in action during the Vietnam War. The proceeds will help fund the Vietnam Veterans Resource Center in Hicksville.

The race has been classified as a historical first, taking place on Long Island at the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum. Dennis McCoy, Race Coordinator has limited the field of runners to 4,000, which represents the number of Long Island veterans who were killed during Vietnam, according to Pentagon sources. The memorial service will commence at 7:30 a.m. on Sunday, September 7.

The service includes a fly-over by the 107 Tactical Fighter Wing, Michigan Air National Guard, and a religious service for our MIA's (Missing in Action) and KIA's (Killed in Action), led by various religious faiths throughout Long Island, and a 21 gun salute. A color guard representing 24 active veterans associations on Long Island will escort the runners to the starting line. 4,000 balloons, representing the veterans killed in action will be released prior to the start of the race by Chris Moeller, Jr., son of Chris Moeller. Opening remarks at the memorial service will be made by Francis T. Purcell, Nassau County Executive.

The race is being billed as the largest on Long Island, second only to the Long Island Marathon in runners, and the richest in prizes offered to the participants.

The first place prize for the top male and female winners include round trip accommodations for two for three days and four nights at the Marriott Sam Lord's Castle Resort in Barbados. Other prizes include a round trip ticket for two via Eastern Air Lines to anywhere in the United States. All participants will receive a specially designed running shirt, commemorating the Veterans Resource Center.

Applications for the race are available at all Citi-Bank outlets on Long Island, and Super Runner Shops in Huntington and New York, or call the Vietnam Resource Center at 935-6858.

Our Children

Firstborns not always brightest

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Q. I seem to have heard or read somewhere that the eldest child is often the brightest one in the family. It definitely isn't true in ours, and I wonder how common that development is. A little light on this subject might be interesting.

A. The implication of your interest leads to a key point related to research. No matter how strong the conclusion is in any piece of research it doesn't mean that it applies to all elements or subjects used in it.

Just because there appears to be a higher incidence of brightness among the firstborns does not mean that factor applies to all families. In fact, there can be (and are) mentally retarded children also among the eldest.

The reasons for the higher incidence of brightness may relate to many issues, including genetics. Also, because the eldest was at one time an only child, he or she perhaps received more parental attention, conversation and time than other children in the family.

Q. My husband and I have a disagreement over what may really be a "non-issue." Let me try it out on you to see what you think.

He and I went to an open house held at the beginning of the school year, and met the teachers of our two children. Both teachers were new to us, and we really had a chance only to see them briefly and hear a few of their comments before the group of parents. Both seemed to welcome a classroom visit or two by parents during the year. I went a few times to each teacher, but my husband didn't.

He feels strongly that schools are for children and their teachers, with no parental interference. I don't see a visit to the school as "interference." In fact, it appears to me that a teacher can do a better job with a child if he or she knows something about a youngster. Parents, as biased as they may be, are a good source of information.

So I want to visit. He doesn't, and even resents my doing so.

Which side are you on?

A. Because I believe that good education has to be a partnership between school and home, with each having some insight into what takes place at the other, it doesn't appear to me that parental visits to school or teacher visits to the home are interference. They can be, of course, but if each partner keeps the basic objective in mind — to improve the education of a particular child — and retains an attitude of helpfulness and professionalism, the youngster is the one who can benefit.

Visits in either direction can be overdone in frequency or length, but that doesn't seem to be the point behind your question. An occasional contact and a willingness to give pertinent information, ask questions, and discuss student strengths and weaknesses all appear to be fair game for concerned parents.

On the other hand, if either parent is reluctant about participating, that's all right, too. For whatever reason (discomfort, disinterest or a feeling that it just isn't his or her role), the decision has to be a personal one, respected by the other parent and the teacher.

Q. I have a nephew whose wife recently had a baby who is deformed. Although I have seen the baby only once, it seems to be a facial and head deformity (not a cleft palate).

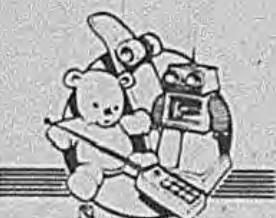

They apparently don't know what to do about it because they seem to have done nothing.

I feel close to them and really want to help, but I don't want to interfere in their lives.

A. The information you gave isn't really complete, but if your relationship with them is good, there are some steps you can take.

If they actually have "done nothing," a visit with the baby to their pediatrician or family physician seems appropriate, for some diagnosis as well as referral, if necessary.

Because you live in an area near New Orleans, and perhaps they also do, you might provide them with the following name and address: Georgia Moncada, Tulane University Hospital, 1430 Tulane Ave., New Orleans, LA 70112. She is the plastic and craniofacial team nurse there, and perhaps a conversation with her could be helpful.

Fight tooth decay with fluoride

By Shirley Bright Boddy
Registered Dietitian

Dental caries is one of mankind's most common diseases and currently it's costing Americans several billion dollars a year, yet it could be reduced as much as 60 percent simply by making some changes in the diet.

The idea that "teeth are what they eat" is never more true than early in life when they are being formed. Both dentin and enamel are developed by the mineralization of protein matrices. Deficiencies of dietary protein, calcium, vitamins A, C or D in children can compromise the development of hard teeth. Fortunately, these nutrients are usually available to children, but will they alone ensure good teeth? Unfortunately, no. There is another nutrient that is vitally essential to healthy dental development that is often missing from the diet.

What is it? Fluoride. Inadequate dietary fluoride (less than 1 ppm in drinking water) will cause tooth enamel to be poorly mineralized and so more easily broken down. Many kids in such circumstances will have devastating tooth decay problems that could have been prevented. Even after a tooth has erupted, fluoride uptake will occur on the enamel surface. Topical fluorides from dietary sources, dentifrices and mouth rinses are important aids to dental health, not only in childhood, but throughout life.

The two major oral diseases, dental caries and gingivitis/periodontitis are widespread, insidious and debilitating. The mouth contains many species of diverse bacteria that adhere to tooth enamel and eventually become dental plaque. There is overwhelming evidence that simple sugars in the diet contribute significantly to the problem because they are substrates for bacterial action. Organic acids are formed and the eventual breakdown of the enamel surface barrier occurs. The bacteria then can deeply invade the tooth.

The same bacterial plaque products can also diffuse into adjacent gingival and periodontal tissues, producing inflammation and destruction of the connective tissue and bone that normally anchor the teeth to the jaws. Both dental caries and periodontal disease are bacterial, but the bacterial plaque can be mechanically removed by a dentist.

Sucrose (plain sugar) is clearly the most cariogenic substance in our food supply, but lately the emphasis has been on the frequency of sugar intake, rather than the quantity at one time. For example, if five candies are eaten with in 15 minutes, the teeth are exposed to acid for about 35 minutes, or about 20 minutes of acid per candy. However, if the same number of candies are eaten 15 minutes apart, the acid exposure continues for 100 minutes, doing more damage.

Carbohydrates, eaten in the form of starch, are cleared from the mouth before breakdown into simple sugars occurs, and so are not as cariogenic.

Sugar substitutes are infinitely preferable to sugar so far as dental caries is concerned.

Caramels, honey and any sticky sweet foods are found to cause problems. Dates, raisins and sugary, dried fruits are not good between-meal snacks for anyone's teeth, especially children.

To improve your dental health get adequate dietary fluoride, limit sugar, floss and brush frequently, use fluoride-improved dental products and have bacterial plaque removed regularly by your dentist.

Jericho Man In Crossword Tourney

Nicholas M. Esposito of Jericho, will be among the finalists competing in the 1986 GAMES/Merriam-Webster 5th Annual U.S. Open Crossword Championship, to be held Saturday, August 16, in New York City.

According to Tournament Director Will Shortz, a Senior Editor at GAMES Magazine, over 9,000 aspirants entered the qualifying puzzle which was published in the March issue. The 250 finalists were determined after a challenging series of four tie-breaker puzzles.

A total of $3,250 in cash prizes is at stake for the top 20 finalists, including the Grand Prize of $1,500 and a six-foot-long pencil awarded to the champion. The top three finalists will also win Webster's Third New International Dictionary, and the 4th through 20th will be awarded Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary.

The day-long competition, being held in New York University's Loeb Student Center, will consist of five timed rounds, ranging from 15 to 40 minutes, each judged by speed and accuracy. Round No. 4 is a special round with audio clues presented to the contestants, adding an extra dimension of challenge.

Seven Hicksville Students Win Kiwanis Club Awards

By Sieg Widder

The July 16 meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club was a most happy occasion. This year's Kiwanis Scholarship and Awards winners, along with their parents, were the guests of the club. The Kiwanis Club members enjoyed meeting this outstanding group of Hicksville young adults chosen by the Scholarship and Awards Committee to receive the seven awards given out to the high school graduates.

The awards given to these Hicksville residents were, again as identified in the photo: Kelly O'Brien received a "Frank Chlumsky Memorial Award"; Jeanne Hughes graduated from Holy Trinity High School. The others are Hicksville High School graduates.

"Frank Chlumsky Memorial Award": Christine Cestari received the "Citizenship Award in Memory of All Past Kiwanians". Mr. Brian Monroe could not attend, but was awarded the "Leon Galloway Memorial Scholarship."

Miss Hughes graduated from Holy Trinity High School. The others are Hicksville High School graduates.

The "Frank Chlumsky Memorial Award" was established by the late Frank Chlumsky's family, and the related funds were turned over to the Hicksville Kiwanis Foundation to administer with the instructions that a monetary grant be given annually to the Hicksville High School graduates who most closely emulated "Uncle" Frank's civic activity while they were Hicksville High School students. The other awards and scholarships are funded by the Hicksville Kiwanis Foundation, Inc.

Fourth Degree Knights Meet

Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Bishop Walter P. Kellenberg, D.D., General Assembly, met last Monday, July 21, 8:30 p.m., at Joseph F. Lamb Council #5723, at Our Lady of Mercy cafeteria in Hicksville.

The following officers were elected at the regularly scheduled meeting of June 16:

Faithful Navigator-SK Joseph F. Ehler, Faithful Captain-SK John Charles Toussaint, Faithful Pilot-SK Olaf K. Costello, D.D., Faithful Comptroller-SK Ferdinand Bode, Faithful Scribe-SK Robert Kluck, Faithful Purser-SK Steve J. Gonzalez, Faithful Inner Sentinel-SK Carl J. Montalto, Sr., Faithful Outer Sentinel-SK Thomas Kopetic, D.D., Faithful Admiral-SK John F. Fletcher, Jr., PFN, Three Year Trustee-SK William P. Work is proceeding on an updated listing of Council Fourth Degree Chairmen and a budget for the coming Columbian Year. SK John Charles Toussaint will be contacting the Councils within the Assembly to establish meeting places. It is hoped to have this completed by the August meeting.

Installation of Officers will take place at a future date and place.

The most important program for this Columbian Year will be an increase of membership. 1986 marks the 100th Anniversary of the Statue of Liberty and it would be a fitting time for members of the Third Degree to become Fourth Degree members.

The Bethpage Rams look happy and confident as they prepare to compete in the Citibank/Brentwood Soccer Club Tournament in the 1978 Boys Division. The tournament, held annually in June, was sponsored by Citibank for the eighth consecutive year.

The Rams were one of 160 intramural teams competing in the two-day series of games. Frank Pellecchia, Tournament Director and Assistant Vice President of the Bank, reports that more than 3,000 players five to fifteen years old from Nassau and Suffolk counties competed in the 1986 games. They were cheered on by an estimated 20,000 spectators on each day.

Polo Match This Saturday

Fine music will provide the prelude for exciting, world class polo at the third annual Shearson Lehman Brothers Invitational Polo Cup, Saturday, July 26 at Bethpage State Park.

The Merrick Symphony Chamber Ensemble will open the festivities at Bethpage, performing from noon until 2 p.m., followed immediately by the match, featuring some of the world's greatest polo players.

The 12 piece ensemble will be led by music director Charles Gause in an eclectic program including works by Mozart, Bach and Scott Joplin.

Following the performance, the musicians will be replaced at center stage by the likes of Gonzalo Pieras, Martin Zubia and Hector Barrantes. Pieras and Zubia are ranked among the finest polo players in the world, while Barrantes is a man with royal connections; he is the stepfather to Sarah Ferguson who is due to wed Prince Andrew of Great Britain on July 23.

The Shearson Lehman Brothers Invitational Polo Cup has brought world class polo back to Long Island, once the mecca of the sport in this country. The quality of the play is reflected in the interest of network television, as the match will be featured as a 30 minute segment on NBC's "Sports World," scheduled to air August 10.

Tickets are available by calling 1-800-524-6200, extension 2522. Reserved tickets, which include a box lunch and reserved parking, are $35. General admission tickets are $12.50 for adults and $10 for children.

Mummer's String Band Performs

A performance by the Long Island Mummers' String Band will highlight the fourth week of "Music Under the Stars" for Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes.

The program will be held at the community park on Thursday, July 31, beginning at 8:15 p.m. In the event of rain, the performance will take place at Bethpage High School, Cherry and Stewart Avenues.

"The Long Island Mummers has won a unique place in the hearts of Long Islanders since it was formed 16 years ago," Hynes said. "Under the direction of captain and co-founder Jack Hulman, these high-stepping strutters with their spectacular costumes have added a festive touch to major parades on the east coast, presidential rallies and community concerts and have also performed at Madison Square Garden, Nassau Coliseum and on television."

For children, CAPA will sponsor Jerry Hartnett's "Marionette Musical Theatre" on Monday, July 28, at 10:30 a.m.

Jerry Hartnett has been pulling strings -- on his puppets, that is -- since the age of 12, much to the delight of his audience," Hynes said. "His first major show business break came when he was in the Navy and won a talent contest, which resulted in an appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show. Nightclub engagements, commercials and more television work followed, winning new friends and the praise of critics everywhere."

The award was presented to Miss Lydia Seligman at Syosset High School graduation ceremonies on June 29. The award was presented by Post Judge Advocate Richard Karpe.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

THE REPUBLICANS are crowing about the fact that they filed over 23,000 pages of designating petitions for their candidates for November election. In the meantime the Democratic party has had challenges on most of its candidate petitions which were filed by the Democratic County organization. Judge Harold Fertig of Syosset is in a tight situation with his Democratic and Conservative nominating petitions. The Republicans have dropped most protest against other Democrats. The protests were all technical, but they are pushing against Fertig. No consideration is given to whether the public will lose a good judge because of technicalities or not it's just politics. THE LATEST indictment in Oyster Bay alleges that a general service commissioner used Town materials and Town labor to build a gymnasium in the backyard. LILCO made it past the hottest day of the year, July 7, without a power cutdown but the utility says it was a miracle because they were able to exceed their top limits by 100 megawatts because, for once, everything worked perfectly. THE CRIME REPORT is published each week as a public service to alert residents of where crime is taking place in the area and as an aid in the Neighborhood Watch. YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

No payments in St. Thomas

Q: I am receiving SSI and was thinking about moving to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. Would I be able to receive my SSI check there? — L.G.

A: No. One of the basic requirements is that an eligible individual must reside in one of the 50 states, Washington, D.C., or Northern Mariana Islands.

Q: I married my second husband in December, 1974. Three years and nine months later he deserted me. For three years I had no idea where he was. I later made contact with him but things didn't work out. I finally divorced him in January 1985, and no longer hear from him. Since we are now both 65, could I receive Social Security from him? I have his Social Security number. — R.E.B.

A: Yes. It is possible that you could be entitled as a divorced spouse on your ex-husband's record, inasmuch as you were married for over 10 years. Contact your local Social Security office. It will be necessary for you to submit proof of your age and proof of marriage and divorce.

Q: Since the death of my son and daughter-in-law in a car accident, I have cared for their child. I will soon retire. Can the child receive benefits on my record? — P.D.

A: If the natural parents of a child are either deceased or disabled, it is possible to pay benefits on the grandparent's record. Your grandchild must have been living with and receiving one-half support from you for the entire year before your entitlement to Social Security benefits. Contact your nearest Social Security office for additional information.

Q: My wife and I were in a bad car wreck. The other party's insurance paid the hospital and medical costs. Can I file for Medicare? — J.E.M.

A: There are some situations where Medicare pays after other sources pay, making Medicare the "secondary" payer rather than the "primary" or the first payer. If you are in an accident, your automobile medical coverage (or the other driver's medical coverage), no fault or other liability insurance, may be the primary payee. Contact your Social Security office for particulars.

Eglevsky Ballet To Perform

A performance by the Eglevsky Ballet, originally scheduled for the Plainview-Old Bethpage Community Park, will now be held at Kennedy High School, Kennedy Drive, Plainview, on Sunday, July 27, beginning at 8:15 p.m., according to Oyster Bay Town Councilman Angelo A. Delligatti.

"Andre Eglevsky, a ballet dancer of world repute, opened his ballet school in Massapequa in 1955 and in 1961, a performing company which had developed was incorporated as the Eglevsky Ballet Company of Long Island," Delligatti said.

Today, the company's guiding light is Michael Vernon, who is ballet master, resident choreographer and artistic leader.

Delligatti noted that the program is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community Services and the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development and co-sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Arts Council, Inc.

From A Bethpage Poet's Pen...

The Kingdom

The hills were brightly lighted
With the rays of the setting sun.
And the Kingdom of the flowers
Knew that nightime had begun.

The daisies and the daffodil
Began to nod their head.
As the violet and dahlia
Chose their time to go to bed.

The roses and gardenia
Their fragrance clean and sweet,
Had closed their eyes to slumber
As evening called retreat.

Sweet Williams and their neighbors
The Lilies by the score
Said their goodnight to others
As they done each night before.

The Lilacs and Magnolia
Spreading essence far and wide,
Sought out the cloak of darkness
A place perhaps to hide.

But God was thoughtful to us all
And spread the earth with showers,
To make them thrive and give us
joy
The Kingdom of the flowers.

Vets 'Thank You' For Donations

I would first like to thank the kind citizens of Hicksville who have donated thus far to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund. Also, to the United Veterans of Hicksville for their always needed support. The veterans organizations of Hicksville have always given their all to the community.

But, to make the Korean Veterans and Vietnam Veterans Monuments a reality we need the fine Hicksville community's help to beautify our town. What better way to beautify Hicksville than to honor our servicemen with a monument that will remind people of the service these men did for our great country.

If you want to make a donation, you can send it to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund, P.O. Box 412, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802. For further information you can call Chairman Conrad Steers at 822-5938. Let's be proud of our veterans.

Remembering Wally Livingstone

By Doug Abrams

Cantique Park's Ice Rink seemed emptier this winter. The Nassau County Midget all-star team, with many of the area's best 16-17 year old hockey players, successfully defended its Long Island League title. The County's hockey leagues enrolled their usual complement of 400 players, ranging from Mites to Juniors. Winter came and went, but this time it was a winter without Hicksville's Wally Livingstone.

For sixteen years at Cantique, Wally was "The Rink" - Midget all star coach, director of Nassau County's successful youth hockey program and coach of an advanced summer conditioning clinic. When he died at age 48 last August 13, he left behind hundreds of friends and former players whose lives he had reached out and touched.

Wally was a masterful coach, combining knowledge of offensive and defensive technique with a rare gift for imparting that knowledge to players of all ages. He had no trouble coaching nine year olds all morning, twelve year olds all afternoon, and the Midget all stars at night. He had an uncanny ability to relate to an audience, and he held a simple formula for motivating players - his own boundless energy and enthusiasm were contagious, and everyone around him quickly became infected.

That same energy and enthusiasm had helped make Wally one of Long Island's best players in the 1950's. Late in his teen years, he became a high-scoring forward in Canadian Junior competition, quite an accomplishment for an American in those days. Then he played professionally in the Eastern and Atlantic Coast leagues. By the time he turned to youth-league coaching, experience had crafted a coaching philosophy that would guide his relationship with youngsters throughout his life.

Wally explained this philosophy during a postgame meeting in the Nassau Midget locker room one afternoon in 1978. It was our first year in the Long Island League and my first year as Wally's assistant coach. We had just lost our fourth consecutive game. We held a solid lock on last place, and an already long season showed signs of growing even longer. The players were not quite sure what to expect from the meeting but they learned soon enough. "It is all right to play your hardest and lose," Wally told them. "You should feel proud when you give your best, no matter what the scoreboard says. That's how you grow."

Even in defeat that afternoon, Wally had indeed made the players feel proud, reassured that the coach cared for them as individuals and not just as athletes. He had his finger on the team's pulse and sensed when to communicate with his players, instincts that many coaches strive for but never really develop. To Wally, these instincts came naturally.

From 1978 onward, Wally built the Midget all stars into a front runner. We won the State Championship in 1981-82 and finished runner up two years ago when we lost to Ithaca, 2-1, in the finals, Wally's last game behind the bench.

But Wally's impact on players extended beyond victories fashioned by his grasp of motivation and strategy. He could not stand the thought of benching anyone, so he found a role for each team member every game, win, lose or tie. He cared about the boys off the ice too, and was always there to help them seek prep school scholarships, plan for college, or talk about anything else that concerned them.

At Wally's funeral, a few of the Midgets recalled our narrow 2-1 loss in the State finals in northern New York's Clinton Arena four months earlier. "If only we had known," said one. "Just two more goals and Wally would have gone out a champion." The truth is, though, that even if Wally could have rewritten the script, he would not have changed a thing. He had played pro hockey in that same arena twenty-five years earlier. Now, in the few hours before the Midget finals, local fans stopped him to wish us good luck because, as one woman put it, "your boys have an uphill battle and they are such gentlemen." This is the way Wally would want to be remembered - as a champion who achieved the goals that really count.

At our Midget banquet following the 1981-82 state championship season, the team presented Wally with a plaque containing a poem written by one of the players. The final stanza assumed greater meaning last August when the plaque stood on display at Wally's wake: "The season is over and the games ended this year. But to think of friends not returning brings to our eye a tear. Our memories are joyful, ever proud to the end. We look forward to September and our coach, and friend."

Editor's Note: This tribute was written by Doug Abrams, Associate Professor of Law, Fordham University Law School. August 13 marks the first anniversary of Wally Livingstone's death at the age of forty-eight.

CAPA Sponsors Pre-K Program

Registration is now open for the fall session of the pre-kindergarten program sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town of Oyster Bay Department of Community Services. It was announced this week by Town Councilman John Venditto.

"For three-year olds, there are both two-day and three-day-a-week programs," Venditto stated. "Parents can choose a two-day-a-week program which meets Monday and Thursday or Tuesday and Friday mornings between 9:30 a.m. and noon or Monday and Thursday afternoons from 12:30 to 3 p.m. at a cost of $160. The three-day-a-week program meets Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons between 12:30 and 3 p.m. and costs $240. To be eligible, a child must be three years of age by December 1, 1986, and must be toilet trained.

"For four-year olds, there is a three-day-a-week program, which meets Monday, Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9:30 a.m. to noon or Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 12:30 to 3 p.m., at a cost of $240." Venditto continued. "There is also a four-day-a-week program which meets Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings from 9:30 a.m. to noon or Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons from 12:30 to 3 p.m. at a cost of $320. To be eligible, a child must be four-years of age by December 1, 1986."

The pre-kindergarten program, which is open to Town residents only, meets at the Syosset-Woodbury Community Park Center, 7800 Jericho Tpk., Woodbury. It offers youngsters meaningful experiences in learning and play while fostering the child's physical, emotional, social and intellectual growth, all under the guidance of certified teachers. Venditto noted that classes will begin the week of September 15 and continue for 15 weeks.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Most Input Callers Think Nassau Cty Cap Needed

Most callers to Input believe that Nassau County should have a law limiting county budget increases to four percent in answer to this question: "Suffolk County will give voters a proposition to limit county property taxes to a 4% annual increase. Do you think Nassau should submit a similar proposal?"

TOO HIGH

Frankly, I think four percent is too high an increase and that if the proposal goes through, it should be limited to three percent. The county is the worst user of tax money that does not benefit us. It has overlapping services with the town and many of the services are worthless to the people. They are just services made to keep friends of the politicians working. J.E.

GOOD IDEA

By all means, Nassau County should have a cap on what it can increase budgets. If this were submitted to the voters, it would go through very quickly. We think the county budget is too high and should be cut, not added to each year. Mr. Purcell is always talking about limiting services if there is less money. The question is why not? Let's not have the politicians start by threatening to take it away from senior citizens or the real poor. Take it away from the celebrations in the park, the overlapping Consumer Affairs department, which does the same thing as the state, and a dozen other departments could be closed up and we would not know they were gone. E.D.

HOLD THE LINE

Yes, I think there should be a top limit of four percent increase ever allowed on county budget increases. The county is doing less and less and getting more and more offices and money. At one time, they paid the parkway police. They turned this over to the state. The same with motor vehicles. The county is milking the taxpayers and should be held down. K.T.

NO FIXED LIMIT

I am against a fixed top limit on spending because it means that there will be across-the-board cuts if the budget exceeds the four percent. This can bring hardship on people who depend on welfare and other services from the county. J.T.

POOR LEADERSHIP

If we had good leadership, I would say that this is a poor idea. But, we do not have good leadership and it is a very good idea. The politicians have no self control. They use the taxpayer's money to provide services for a few so that they can build a constituency of voters. The only way to break this block is to have a cap on spending. Submit it to the voters and it will pass easily. M.T.

NO INCREASES

Forget the four percent. Let's submit that they cannot increase the budget at all unless inflation is higher than the amount of the increase and when there is less inflation, the budget should go down. Our politicians are keeping us poor by taxing for things that we do not need. The county government overlaps local government and we would rather have local government as it is in other states where taxes are low. We do not need a strong county government with its high taxes. L.E.

HIGH ENOUGH

In my opinion, the county property taxes for Nassau are already high enough. I do not think Nassau homeowners should receive a four percent tax increase every year. It is difficult to be able to afford to buy a house and just as difficult to be able to keep it. C.P.

BUDGET OVERHAUL

The recent history of our county tax increases doesn't seem to be all that bad except that the trend is ever upward in some cases, as much as eight to ten percent. My feeling is that the question might better be directed to an examination of the possibility of leveling off or possibly reducing the upward trend. I believe that even in Albany, some unexpected sources of unexpended funds have been found which has taken the heat off the need for additional taxation. So, why even talk about a limit to property tax increases which obviously condones an increase of some magnitude. I think that the whole Nassau County budget needs a fresh analysis to get rid of completely unnecessary expenditures. Having done that, we may or hopefully, should find that our budget doesn't need an increase of any kind. In my opinion, merely by limiting the budget increase to any specific figure just begs the issue and gives the politicians and bureaucrats a license to automatically increase expenses whether or not it may be needed. To my mind, the four percent limit in Suffolk can only be an illusory effort at budget control giving the county executives an opportunity to prove their competence by living within a specified limit which, by itself, is completely meaningless when the base upon which it is applied does not receive proper scrutiny. P.G.S.

OTHER ISSUES - SENIOR HEALTH CARE

I'd like to speak on the subject of senior citizens' health care. It's a very disturbing subject to me right now because I have a mother who is very sick and ailing. Trying to raise a family and working are a very important part of my life and take up a lot of my time. Having an aged, sick parent and wanting to help care for her has been a painful decision for my family.

Unfortunately, the agencies that social services provide are a horrendous situation for old people. All of us becoming old will have to face the inevitability of the lack of being able to take care of ourselves. No one is safeguarded from illness and feeble-mindedness but we need honest people who care enough about other people to care for them in a human way. C.K.

Great Grandparents Are A Privilege

By Pattie Schoenberg

His steps are slower than they used to be and his once thick black hair is now thinner and growing whiter by the day, but you could never mistake that playful twinkle in his eye.

At 88, my grandfather, Gus can still tell a tale that can enrapture any audience. He weaves a delightful spell as he relives his colorful life through his humorous tales when life was simple and people traveled from place to place by horse and wagon.

My two sons, Evan and Jonathan, take this precious treasure so lightly, that I can't help wondering if they truly appreciate what a gift they have each time they visit him and each time he mesmerizes them with his stories of bygone days.

As the boys get older, they are more familiar with his stories and often plead to hear just one more time how Gus fell asleep at the reigns and his horse actually found his way back home by instinct, or how their grandmother, Nana Flo was born on a hot summer day in a little room behind the candy store.

At 10 and 7, these may just be stories to them, but actually they are hearing history, history of a time gone by and a personal history of our family.

Recently, I found an old newspaper article which was written about my grandfather many years ago. It told the highly unusual tale of how he saved the life of a horse who had lost its tongue in a strange accident and was incapable of ever eating again. The article explained how my grandfather got the horse to eat again and before long was once again a show horse. The miraculous "horse without a tongue" made him a local legend to many of his peers.

Evan and Jonathan were particularly impressed by this and asked endless questions about how Grandpa Gus had achieved such a feat. Their eyes shone with pride that the man in the article actually belonged to them.

My grandmother, Rose, also has her own story to tell. Old photographs show that her figure has changed over the years, and her face may have a few more lines, but to her husband of 68 years, she is still without question the most beautiful woman in the world.

Nothing much ever changes in my grandmother's house. Maybe that is one of the things that I like best. I know that my college graduation picture will be on the nighttable by their bed, that my Aunt Jean's wedding picture taken on the day Pearl Harbor was bombed will be in the same place it has been for the last 44 years and that my grandparents will still not remember my husband's name.

But one thing I do know, and that is that no matter when we visit their home, my grandmother will prepare a feast that cannot be equalled by even the finest restaurant. The appetizer, the chicken, the noodle pudding, even the cole slaw and the applesauce will be homemade with love. Every meal is a history in and of itself. The applesauce is made with a hand mill that is no longer sold, some of her cooking pots have been in constant use for over 60 years, and many of her recipes have been handed down to her from her mother.

Dessert in my grandmother's house never changes either. For as long as I can remember we always have two of everything, two apple pies, two Mandel breads, etc. One for her guests and one without sugar for her husband, Gus, who has been diabetic for the past 40 years.

In the 68 years that they have been married, they have seen a lot of history. Through two world wars, the depression, and 17 Presidential elections they have been together, but their obvious love and respect for each other has not diminished with time. For after 68 years they still will share a kiss, a knowing smile, a gentle hug, a thoughtful word, and the example they set of what a good marriage is all about carries over to us all.

After every visit, my grandfather's eyes will grow misty and my grandmother will hug us all very close. They know how precious every minute of every visit can be.

My sons are more casual. As they kiss their great grandparents goodbye, they are already thinking about tomorrow's soccer game. The wonderful privilege that they have just enjoyed is soon forgotten as they begin to fight over who sat next to the window last.

WONDERFUL CUISINE

Koenig's restaurant is one that defies time. It has been around for a long time but every time we go there we are well satisfied with the wonderful continental cuisine.

Koenig's is a place of good decor and it is a very comfortable restaurant. The establishment caters to large parties but if you come there with just two people, as we did, you are made welcome. The menu includes beef, chicken and veal and there is a large assortment of fish dishes. The prime ribs we chose were great and we think Koenig's is Floral Park is No. 1, Y.T.

EXPANDED DINING ROOM

One of our favorite Portuguese Restaurants is Lareira's on East Jericho Turnpike, in Mineola. They have recently expanded their dining room, and we thoroughly enjoyed the atmosphere.

Our choice was Bacalhau cooked on the grill; actually it is Codfish. The taste was superb. We have also enjoyed the way they prepare steak, served in a ceramic dish with sliced Portuguese sausage and an egg on top. The imported beer is superb. Lareira's has become a place to share with our friends. You will find the food is excellent and the prices are modest.

HISTORICAL AND GOOD

Last week we went to the Millendge Inn in Jericho. This large restaurant is like a trip into another world. It has the historical approach to hospitality with the hostesses garbed in American continental dresses. The buildings are wonderfully restored Revolutionary era buildings. The floors are wonderfully shined and add to the special feeling of going to the Millendge Inn.

The food is exceptionally well prepared and the menu is a large one. Our party of four found it to be a wonderful time and we recommend it to everyone. H.E.

CHARMING DECOR

It takes many ingredients to make for delightful dining. Our party of six felt that we found them all at the newly decorated George Washington Manor in Roslyn. We enjoyed a most delightful Sunday Brunch and were unanimous in saying that it was a happy choice.

The decor is both charming and elegant, the food selection was diversified and exceedingly good. The service was superb. We all agreed it was a delightful way to spend a few hours on a Sunday. We have also been there for dinner and were well pleased. In particular we enjoyed the cozy fireplaces. We heartily endorse this very fine restaurant. D.J.

BETTER AND BETTER

The Davenport Press is an old landmark in Mineola having been, according to the menu, a bank and a printing establishment. The food at this restaurant continues to improve. Although it was good when it opened, they seem to be hitting their stride now with good service and everything else.

We had fine sirloin steaks at that restaurant last week and the potato (baked) and salad were very good. The price is moderate and all in all we felt it was a good experience. H.R.

FAVORITE RESTAURANT

The Hunt Room on Seventh Street is my favorite restaurant. I have been going there for a number of years and cannot think of any time I have been disappointed. The Hunt Room is like a small country club in the middle of town. It always has a good selection of very fresh fish and a number of specials each night of both fish and chicken, beef or lamb. This small restaurant is one of the nicest places in Garden City. In addition to dinner it is a great place for a luncheon business meeting. R.T.

GRILLED CHICKEN WITH PAPRIKA

2½ to 3 lbs. chicken
 ½ cup unflavored yogurt
 3 tps. paprika
 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
 Salt
 Freshly ground black pepper

Heat broiler and oil grid or rack of broiler pan.

Wash and dry chicken. Cut into eight serving pieces, discarding back and neck, or cut into four quarters. Trim off any fat. Combine yogurt, paprika and garlic in bowl and mix well.

Season chicken pieces with salt and pepper and place on broiler rack, skin-side-down. Brush with a coating of the yogurt mixture. Place under broiler about 2 to 3 inches below heat and cook 10 minutes, basting once or twice. Turn chicken pieces over and brush with yogurt mixture. Cook 10 minutes more, basting twice with yogurt mixture. Turn again, baste and cook for another five to six minutes. Check for doneness by piercing thigh with a sharp knife. Juice should run slightly pink or clear. Be sure chicken is done, but do not overcook. Serve at once.

Recipe from "The Williams-Sonoma Cookbook," by Chuck Williams. Random House, $19.95.

This recipe is dependent on a thick, rough-textured apple sauce. Best if homemade, the apple sauce not only adds flavor, but actually sears to the flesh as it cooks. Serve with more apple sauce on the side.

GRILLED TURKEY FILETS OR STEAKS IN CRANBERRY MUSTARD

6 turkey filets, or drumstick steaks, pounded thin
 4 tbsps. country-style Dijon mustard (with seeds)
 2 tbsps. cranberry juice
 Salt and freshly ground pepper
 Vegetable oil

Lay filets or steaks on large sheet of wax paper. Combine mustard and cranberry juice. Brush over top side of turkey. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Turn turkey pieces over and brush with remaining mustard mixture. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with another sheet of wax paper. Let stand one hour.

Preheat grill. If using pre-soaked wood chips or chunks (chips of gas), or other flavorings, sprinkle them over hot coals or lava rocks. Brush grid lightly with oil. Grill turkey pieces over hot or high heat one minute per side for filets, about two minutes per side for steaks.

LEMON-BASTED FISH STEAKS

¼ cup lemon juice
 ¼ cup olive oil
 1 small clove garlic, minced
 Pinch of dried oregano, crushed
 ½ tsp. finely grated lemon peel
 Salt and freshly ground pepper
 4 fish steaks, 1 inch thick
 Vegetable oil
 Preheat grill.

Place lemon juice in a small bowl. Slowly whisk in olive oil. Whisk in garlic, oregano, lemon peel and salt and pepper to taste. Pour over fish steaks. Let stand covered 30 minutes.

If using presoaked wood chips or other flavorings, sprinkle them over hot coals or lava rocks. Brush grid lightly with vegetable oil.

Grill fish steaks over hot or high heat, basting with remaining marinade, five minutes per side.

Makes 4 servings.

After Work Gourmet

Today's recipes are for three standout entrees that can be prepared in a hurry. Sautéed Scallops with Ginger can be on the table in 10 minutes, and Chicken Breasts with Mustard Sauce take just a couple of minutes more. Filet Mignon with Champagne and Mushroom Sauce takes about 25 minutes from start to finish. With the possible exception of the scallops, every ingredient in these recipes is available at any supermarket.

SAUTÉED SCALLOPS WITH GINGER

1½ lbs. bay or sea scallops
 Flour for dredging
 2 ozs. (½ stick) butter
 1½ tbsps. minced fresh ginger

2 tbsps. dry white wine

Juice of $\frac{1}{2}$ lemon

$\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt

Freshly ground black pepper to taste

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ tbsps. minced fresh parsley (optional)

Total preparation/cooking time 10 minutes

Drain scallops and pat dry between paper towels. If you are using sea scallops, cut in halves or quarters, depending on size. Use bay scallops whole.

Dredge scallops lightly in flour. In large, heavy skillet or wok, melt butter over medium-high heat until it bubbles (but do not allow to burn or smoke). Add ginger, wine and scallops and sauté two minutes, until scallops are cooked through and a light golden brown.

Using slotted spoon, remove scallops to heated serving platter and toss with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Sprinkle with minced parsley if desired, and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

MUSTARD CHICKEN

4 half chicken breasts (boned and skinned, if desired)

Salt and pepper to taste

Coating mixture:

6 ozs. commercial mustard (Grey Poupon is a good choice)

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ tbsps. dry mustard

3 tbsps. olive oil

$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. powdered ginger

1 tsp. soy sauce

1 scallion, minced

Total preparation/cooking time: 15 minutes

Dry chicken breasts on paper towels and sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste.

In medium bowl, combine coating ingredients, stirring until mixture is uniform.

Coat both sides liberally with mustard mixture. Broil chicken, bottom side first, for a few minutes on each side, until cooked through (exact cooking time will vary a bit with size of breast and heat of your oven). When you turn chicken over, baste each breast liberally with coating mixture that ran off while bottom sides were cooking.

Serves 2 or 4.

FILET MIGNON WITH CHAMPAGNE AND MUSHROOM SAUCE

4 beef tenderloin fillets, 6-8 ozs. each

12 ozs. champagne

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ tbsps. minced garlic

3 tbsps. minced fresh mushrooms

$\frac{1}{2}$ medium onion, finely chopped

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ sticks butter

1 bay leaf

1 tsp. minced fresh parsley

4 ozs. heavy cream

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Total preparation/cooking time: 25 minutes

In large, heavy skillet, melt 3 tablespoons butter over medium-high heat. When butter starts to bubble, add onion and garlic, reduce heat to medium and sauté three to four minutes, until onion is very lightly browned.

Add bay leaf, parsley and 8 ounces of champagne. Increase heat slightly and cook, whisking with fork to prevent sticking, until liquid is reduced by half. Remove skillet from heat and discard bay leaf.

In another heavy skillet, melt remaining butter over medium-high heat. While butter is melting, sprinkle fillets with freshly ground black pepper to taste. When butter begins to sizzle, add fillets and cook, turning once, until browned (four minutes per side for medium-rare). Remove fillets to heat-proof platter in a warm oven.

Add mushrooms and remaining champagne, whisking with fork to deglaze skillet. Cook down liquid, whisking constantly, until sauce is well thickened (three to four minutes). Add heavy cream and continue to cook, whisking, until sauce is reduced by about half. Meanwhile, reheat the onion-garlic mixture over low heat. Just before removing sauce from heat, add salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste.

Spread spoonful of onion-garlic mixture over each fillet, top with sauce and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

HOT THREE-SQUASH SALAD

2 medium zucchini

2 medium yellow squash

2 medium patty pan (summer) squash

4 to 5 scallions, sliced

2 tbsps. fresh dill, chopped, or

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ tbsps. dried

2 tbsps. red wine vinegar

Freshly ground black pepper

Trim three kinds of squash, then quarter zucchini and yellow squash lengthwise and cut into $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch pieces. Cut patty pan squash into cubes approximately same size as other squash. There should be about two cups of each squash. Cut bell pepper into $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch dice.

Heat water in pan, add squash and bell pepper. Cover and cook over moderately high heat three to four minutes. Do not let boil dry. Drain and set aside. In same pan, heat olive oil, add scallions and cook over moderate heat one minute. Stir in chopped dill and vinegar, add vegetables, mix and toss. Season with salt and pepper and toss again. Solution to windows with water spots

Q: The front window in my home has spots all over it resembling water spots. I've tried all the different kinds of window cleaners, soap, ammonia, vinegar and newspaper for drying, but whenever the sun hits the window it looks horrible. Do you have any suggestions? — D.S.

A: There are several additional things you might try. With a damp sponge, sprinkled with baking soda, rub the effected areas well and then rinse with clear water. You can also try chrome polish available from your auto supply store. Again, rub well and then dry, apply a sealer (Thompson's Water Seal) that comes in colors. As a last resort, try a solution of muratic acid (1 part mixes with 9 parts of water, pour acid payable with the concrete color into the water not the other way around). Mask the window areas with masking tape to protect paint or metal frames. Handle this solution with great care. Use rubber gloves, eye goggles and wear old clothes. Scrub the areas with the solution using a sponge and rinse well with clear water. If none of these methods prove effective, you may not be able to remove the spots unless you replace the window glass. Alkali in the water can permanently etch the glass causing the spots.

Q: We have red cement (not painted) that is 26 years old, in good condition but faded looking. For years we buffed it with Free Wax. For the last 10 years we have been unable to find that product. Nothing else works. The front and back areas are large (steps, porch and patio) and do receive some sun. Can you help us in any way? — R.F.

A: First, use a wax stripper to be sure that no wax remains on the surface. After the concrete has been thoroughly cleaned and is dry, apply a sealer (Thompson's Water Seal) that comes in colors. Select a shade of red that is compatible with the concrete color you have. You can wax the surface after it is sealed to enhance the red color. Be sure to select a good quality exterior clear wax.

Q: I have a perplexing problem. After it rains our 18-by-26 patio has standing water that does not run off. Condensation from the roof also causes standing water. The patio is against the house foundation. When it was built, a slope that would cause rainwater to run off was not provided. The concrete has probably sunken, also. Now about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch of rainwater remains after it rains. How can this be solved once and for all? Can I add some kind of material to build up a slope? What kind of material or other method would you suggest to correct this problem? — K.H.W.

A: This problem can be solved by adding a second layer of concrete over the current surface. You will want to make the second level thicker next to the foundation, sloping it away from the house so water will run off. Use a concrete glue in the concrete mix to insure a firm adhesion of the second layer to the existing surface. Paint and hardware stores will carry these products. Follow manufacturers directions carefully. To help correct the condensation dripping from the roof, install rain gutters on the edge of the roof that will carry water to a downspout away from the house and the patio area.

Seeking Baby Book Pages

In 1928, a new kind of record and scrapbook was published by The Mother's Aid of Chicago Lying-In Hospital, and through the years it has become an institution for hundreds of thousands of parents.

"Our Baby's First Seven Years" was created to be a comprehensive baby book which guided parents in recording their child's physical, psychological and social growth, as well as a collection point for favorite personal mementos and mementos.

Now the publisher of "Our Baby's First Seven Years" is looking to you who might have used the books in the early years to chronicle the birth and growth of your child or children — and they're offering prizes for the best pages.

Americans who have filled-in copies of "Our Baby's First Seven Years" can submit four to 10 photocopied pages to enter the contest. Photocopied pages which show some photographs will have the best chances with the judges. Cash prizes of $200 each will be awarded for winners from these eras: 1929-39, 1940-49, 1960-69 and 1970 to the present. Additional merchandise prizes will be awarded, according to the sponsor/publisher.

Deadline for this contest is Oct. 30, 1986, with prize notification to be accomplished by Feb. 1, 1987. For information or entry write: Our Baby's First Seven Years, Growing Up In America Contest, 5841 Maryland Ave., — MH445, Chicago, IL 60637.

Carol DeChant, spokeswoman for the senior visor organization, expressed great hope for entries from the earliest years of "Our Baby's First Seven Years." "It will be a great look at our families of the '20s and '30s."

Perhaps if you used this book for your children, you'll want to join the contest.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

D. Wallace: I'm writing in response to Nancy who, at age 13, believed that she should be allowed to date and have an occasional glass of wine. Well, I'd like her to hear my story. Maybe it will change her mind.

When I was 13, I too, thought I should be allowed to date and have an "occasional" beer. My parents didn't agree and this made me extremely rebellious. I ended up sneaking around behind my parents' backs.

By the time I celebrated my 14th birthday, I had tried about every drug on the illegal market. By the time I was 15, I had had sex with more guys than I can remember. Before I was 17, I attempted suicide several times, and I compounded my problems by running away four times.

Finally, when I was 17, I met a wonderful friend who guided me back to reality with the help of the Almighty.

All my troubles began when I started dating and drinking when I was 13. At the time I thought I could handle it. Now I realize I was much too immature.

P. Penny: Thanks for your words of wisdom. No one knows better than one who has had the experience, whether good or otherwise.

D. Wallace: Two years ago I met a super-guy and we dated on and off for over a year and I shared my love with him. I thought he loved me, too, because we shared our innermost secrets.

About six months ago he started acting strangely and he wouldn't even hold my hand. Finally, he stopped calling me. For the past two months I have been calling his house but his mother keeps telling me that he isn't home.

All my friends tell me that he is going steady with another girl. I don't believe this is true but I have no way of finding out. Should I ask his mother? — Linda

L. Linda: Don't waste your time on this guy. It's quite obvious that he is no longer interested in your company. He also is a loose. He should have the backbone to tell you he no longer wants to see you.

D. Wallace: When do people stop growing? I am 14 and I'm only 5 feet 2 inches tall. Both of my parents are rather tall. My mom is 5 feet 7 inches and my dad is 5 feet 11 inches.

T. Tom: People stop growing when their bones do, and that can come as early as age 15 and as late as age 25. Two important factors in height are heredity and diet. Let's hope you have 11 more growing years. You do have heredity on your side.

D. Wallace: Last year I gave birth to a beautiful baby girl. I made this choice even though I was unmarried.

I could have had an abortion but thank God I didn't. Instead, I found a much better solution called private adoption. Private adoption allowed me to pick my baby's parents and it allows me to watch my daughter grow up. These parents send me pictures and inform me of my daughter's physical and social development.

Naturally, I have no rights in raising my daughter, but I do have peace of mind knowing that my daughter is well and loved.

I'm writing to you, Dr. Wallace, to inform other girls who are pregnant and not married to strongly consider private adoption. Any social welfare agency can give girls more information. — Denise Denise: Excellent advice. I know many troubled girls will be encouraged to follow your lead. Thanks so much for taking time to help your peers.

D. Wallace: I am 13 and would be considered a pretty good kid. I get good school grades, do my chores and attend church regularly. I do like a certain boy but I have never been on a date.

Last night my mother demanded that I show her my diary. I have no reason to hide anything that I have ever done in my entire life but I didn't like my mother demanding that she read my diary, so I said no!

Mom says she has the right and I say that she doesn't. Who is right? — Jo Ann

J. Jo Ann: Mother has the right to read your diary but, if she is very wise, she won't. Teens need a degree of privacy and that includes not reading a teen's diary, unless the parent is aware of a serious problem and the diary offers some solution.

D. Wallace: My teacher said that mountains are getting taller. Is this true? — Gregory

G. Gregory: Some mountains are still "growing." These are the younger ones such as the Alps and our Rockies. Others, such as the Appalachians, which are considered older mountains, have reached their peak and are now actually shrinking due to erosion.

Of course, we are talking in terms of thousands of years.

Misdiagnosis of Parkinson

If a patient in the progressing stages of Parkinson's disease fails to respond to anti-Parkinson medication, the disease just might have been misdiagnosed in the first place by the doctor. The bold statement comes from the United Parkinson Foundation.

Instead of Parkinson's disease the patient might have an affliction commonly called "Parkinson plus," a term referring to several very rare neurological disorders such as Progressive Supranuclear Palsy (PSP), Shy-Drager syndrome and calcification of the basal ganglia.

Because the early symptoms appear very much like classical Parkinson's disease, many clinicians misdiagnose them. Moreover, standard anti-Parkinson medications are useful in these disorders' very early stages, but tend to lose effectiveness as the illnesses progress," according to Harold L. Klawans, M.D., president of the Chicago-based national foundation.

If you have a question on Parkinson's disease or possible misdiagnosis, contact the United Parkinson foundation at 360 W. Superior St., Chicago, IL 60610.

Protection From Crime

There are two fine books on the subject of personal and property protection from crime, and both are published in conjunction with national organizations for senior citizens.

"Protection Made Easy," by Warren J. Lucas is a 144-page paperback available through the National Alliance of Senior Citizens. In 10 chapters the book addresses, in an easy to understand style, methods and equipment for protection from and the avoidance of crime. Here are hints that include sure locks for doors and windows, to protecting your car and the avoidance of the incidence of crime for yourself. "Protection Made Easy" is available for $5 postpaid, from the National Alliance Of Senior Citizens, 2525 Wilson Rd., Arlington, VA 22201. Mention this column in your note to gain this low price.

"Keeping Out Of Crime's Way" is subtitled, "The Practical Guide For People Over 50," and is published by AARP — The American Association of Retired Persons — and Scott, Foresman and Co. The guidebook is practical and should be available through your local bookstore or library. Price for this book is $6.95. PUZZLED?

Are you puzzled why we run more Classified Ads in our areas than our biggest competitors including the N.Y. Times, Newsday, The Daily News and the free throwaways that come to your door?

The Answer Is Simple -

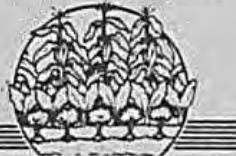

RESULTS: When readers run ads with us they get results, not numbers of printed copies or other irrelevant information.

An Ad, any ad, is only an advertisement for you when people READ it. Large numbers of copies printed and hung on door knobs or multi pages of newsprint in large out-of-town newspapers are not what count. Only readers get your message and can bring you results. The next time you are thinking of advertising something - remember that it takes readers to get your message.

And then you will know why so many more local ads are run in our newspapers than in the big papers, or the so-called saturation throwaways. Don't count door knobs - count customers.

Backyard Gardener

By Patrick Denton

Very often it's at this time in the gardening year that holes in the landscape and spots badly needing a splash of color become quite apparent. The same situation frequently arises in balcony and patio gardens, where some additional or replacement foliage and flowers would perhaps add that extra bit of pleasure to the outdoor summer at home.

It's also at about this time each year that my wife, an enthusiastic collector of usable junque, begins frequenting garage sales. These forays almost always result in a new planter or two for summer flowers.

Last year it was a huge old wooden wheelbarrow that painted a rich reddish-brown and set among a bed of ferns, presently is pouring forth cascades of Scarlet Gleam nasturtiums.

This year the new addition to our family of horticultural accoutrements is an old two-lid wood-burning stove, slightly cracked and rusty. But a coat of flat black paint has brought out the attractive engraving on its sides and front opening. In fact, so very appealing did it turn out to be that we decided to place it beside our shaded front door, and instead of planting inside it, set plants on its top surface and on a flat shelf extending the shade-loving plants we could have chosen to complement our new nearly free garden accessory — cascading hanging basket begonias to make bright splashes of color and light against its black sides, tumbling mounds of impatiens flowers or a cloud of fuchsias bearing bright, bouncy blossoms to contrast with its stark surface.

As it happened, we had in our little greenhouse a few pots of coleus, brushed out into masses of deep, velvety scarlet foliage, all ready to set outside. These have made a truly rich picture set on the black surface and the dark antique look of the stove displays to perfection the vivid velvety hues of the coleus plants.

A really dramatic specimen plant for a lightly shaded spot on a balcony or patio or in the garden is a fuchsia tree. This is simply a variety of fuchsia that naturally tends to grow in an upright form, taken and trained to grow like a small tree with one central stem or trunk. All side shots on the lower portion of the trunk are nipped off as they appear, to leave an arching, flowering umbrella to spread out at the top of the plant.

Young fuchsia plants are quite easy to train in tree or "standard" form provided they take naturally to an upright shape. They're wintered over in a cool, frost-free place just like hanging basket fuchsias.

In the sun, for emptied spots in the garden, marigolds and dahlias are veritable flower factories. These transplants, and many others, are commonly available at this time of the year in four-inch pots. Ivy geraniums and Black-eyed Susan vines thrive and put on a wonderful show of color in hanging baskets in a bright spot.

For patio tubs and pots in the sun, miniature roses and low-growing potted border dahlias, along with marigolds, geraniums and lantana are ideal for a summer-long show of color. Lantana, a scented plant with dome clusters of tiny flowers in bright sunny colors can be wintered indoors like geraniums in a cool bright spot and used as a source of cuttings for more plants in next year's balcony or outdoor garden.

Petunias, lobelia and salvia are more colorful annuals that can be planted at this time. These do well in sun or light shade, salvia being especially drought-tolerant. Monkey flowers (mimulus) are exquisite for close-up viewing in rich moist soil and shade. Their open-cupped, velvety blooms look quite like vividly marked and spotted gloxinias.

Star of Bethlehem, actually a white bellflower (campanula), is a pretty cascading plant. Last year I placed one of these in its pot in a lightly shaded spot at the edge of short rock wall by our patio.

NOTICE
HAVE YOU A HIDDEN TALENT that has yet to be discovered in print?

We are looking for articles, not exceeding 3,000 words, on local topics, opinions, ideas, nice places to visit on Long Island, and even fiction. In our magazine section, we will try to "Discover" one new feature length article and writer per week. Each writer will be reimbursed a stipend of $25.00.

If you want to be published and be part of an issue of Discovery you may submit your article to Litmor Publications, 81 East Barclay Street, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801.

Half the price of a postage stamp. That is all this newspaper cost you per week delivered to you by mail.

Call before 12 Noon Every Tuesday to have your ad appear 931-0012 • 294-8900 • 746-0240

Quality Or Quantity?

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Don't waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Decor Score

Match your decor to your lifestyle

By Sharon Owen Haven

Q: We are a family of musicians and music lovers. We turned an extra room into a music room that houses our grand piano, stereo system and TV but it is not working very well. The room is really too small and cramped for all this and none of us enjoys it much. Do you have any suggestions? — M.F.

A: Why not take a fresh look at your home with a view to your family's needs and lifestyle? Shake loose some of those traditional assumptions about how certain rooms "should" be used. If your family marches to a different drum than your neighbors, why shouldn't your home reflect this?

The photograph illustrates a solution that was perfect for one family and might inspire you, too. This family decided to convert an under-used formal dining room into a niche for their grand piano and to transform the adjacent living room into an appealing music and media-lover's haven.

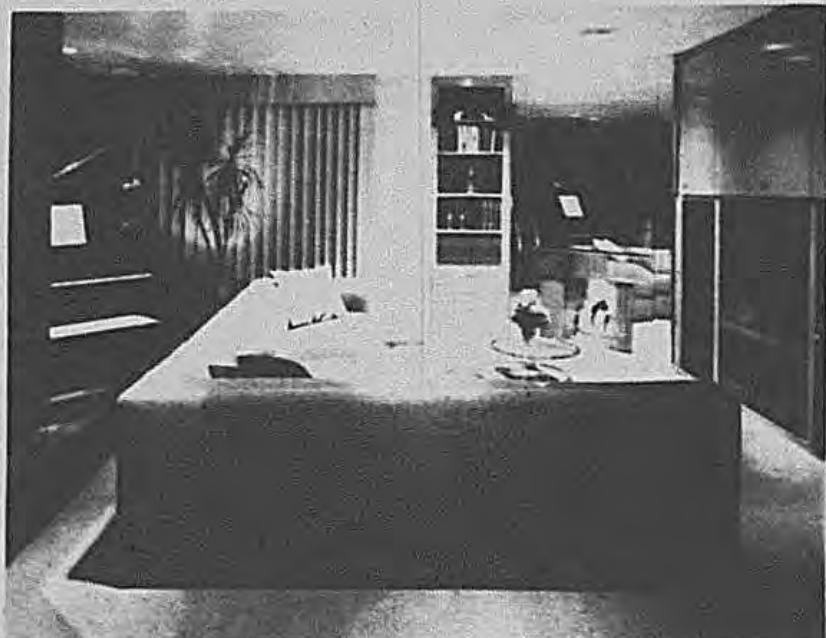

A dining area in the large open kitchen serves their causal entertaining style perfectly well. And the living room, which now reflects their avid shared interests, has become the hub of the home instead of an unused space to entertain infrequent guests.

A careful design featuring built-ins, minimal furnishings and simple lines maximizes the use of this room and gives it a dramatic elegance sure to appeal to visitors as well as family.

Take a new look at your activities and your environment. Your particular home may offer yet other possibilities for family harmony.

Q: We are ready to purchase a really high-quality sofa that will last. What specific features should we look for? — D.P.

A: Much of what constitutes quality construction cannot be seen in a sofa, so be sure to get specific information about how it is made. A good quality wood-frame sofa will be made of kiln-dried hardwood so it won't warp. Corner blocks should be screwed and glued and legs made of interlocking pieces joined to the frame. Avoid corner blocks that are stapled on or legs that are merely screwed in.

GRAND IDEA — By putting their grand piano in the seldom-used formal dining room, this family was able to create an appealing living/media/music room that best serves their individual lifestyle. — Photo by Kim Brun

The highest quality sofa springs are close together and tied eight ways with durable cord. The webbing under the springs should be laced with bands close together.

Good quality sofas have two or three layers of padding. Spring-down is often used for cushioning in better upholstery. The outer fabric should be tightly woven and soil resistant.

Your own tests should include sitting, squirming and bouncing. A quality sofa will be comfortable, substantial and silent. Check the upholstery and tailoring carefully. If it is shoddy, chances are the inside of the sofa will let you down, as well.

Your clock was made in Meissen

Q: This clock was purchased in Germany in the 1930s. The figures of men and children are beautifully molded and colored. It is about 2 feet tall and has blue crossed swords on the back.

A: The crossed swords mark was used by the Royal Saxon Manufactory (Meissen). This clock was probably made in the mid-19th century.

Most clocks of this caliber are sold at auction and the records indicate that they sell in the $2,000 to $5,000 range.

Q: This mark is on each piece of my 45-piece service for eight of Haviland china. Can you tell me when this was made and how much it is worth?

A: This mark was first used in the 1950s, so your set of dishes is not much more than about 35 years old. If you were to buy it now in a department store, it would cost at least $1,000 and you could insure it for that amount. However, for you to sell, you would be lucky to get half of that.

Collectors buy single pieces, they very rarely buy a complete set.

Q: Now that trans-Atlantic ocean liners are a thing of the past, items relating to them should be collectible. How about it?

A: You are quite right. This is a growing field starting with the Titanic, which sank in 1912. Regional cruise ships have replaced the giant trans-Atlantic liners. The following are things to look for:

- Ash tray (The Commodore) — $18
- Badge — (Normandie) — $25
- Mug (North German Lloyd) — $50
- Candlestick (SS Oronsay) — $35
- Coaster (Holland American) — $4
- Creamer (White Star) — $25
- Demitasse (Canadian-Northern) — $9
- Fan (French Line) — $20
- Money clip (Swedish-American Line) — $3
- Plate (French Line) — $5
- Pocket mirror 9 (American Lines) — $35
- Straight razor (American Lines) — $65
- Spoon (Queen Elizabeth I) — $14
- Tray (Carmania-Caronia) — $115

Gestation for Siamese cats

Q. We believe that our Siamese cat was bred approximately two weeks ago. Our neighbors told us that we should be able to feel the kittens in the abdomen of our cat.

We have tried to feel the kittens, but have been unsuccessful. Was our neighbor wrong or are we doing something wrong?

Also, we have heard that pregnancy lasts longer in Siamese cats than in other cats. Is this true? If so, how long is pregnancy in Siamese cats?

A. Pregnancy, or gestation, lasts between 63 and 69 days in most cats. The average gestation length is 65 days. The exception to these figures is the Siamese cat. Siamese may carry their young for as long as 71 days. Generally, any kitten born prior to 58 days of gestation is too immature to survive on its own.

By 28 days of gestation, an experienced cat breeder or veterinarian can usually tell by carefully palpating the abdomen whether a queen is pregnant. Prior to 28 days the kittens and their surrounding membranes and fluids are too small and indistinct to detect.

It is usually easiest to detect the kittens by abdominal palpation if the queen is comfortably standing. The queen should be relaxed. The palpator's hand is placed under the abdomen with the fingers on one side and the thumb on the other. This allows the contents of the abdomen to easily slip between the thumb and fingers.

In the anterior, or front part, of the abdomen, the two kidneys can be identified at the level of the last rib. Below the kidneys is the colon, a part of the intestinal tract. The colon contains soft, puttylike feces. Most posteriorly, or at the rear of the abdomen just in front of the queen's pelvis, the urinary bladder is often mistaken for a uterus containing kittens by inexperienced palpators. By gently pressing the abdominal contents together in this area, firm bumps or kittens can be felt in the pregnant queen.

It cannot be overemphasized that palpation of the queen's abdomen must be done gently. Too much pressure could injure the cat or crush a developing kitten. Pregnant cats handled too roughly may even abort.

At 28 days of gestation the kittens are approximately small walnut size or approximately 1 inch in diameter. As the gestation progresses, the kittens are more difficult to feel. This is because of the increasing amount of fluids within the pregnant uterus.

Not finding the small, walnut-size lumps at 28 days of gestation does not rule out pregnancy unless you are an experienced palpator. If you are unsure about the pregnancy status of your cat, you should take the cat to a veterinarian for an examination. Radiographs or X-rays of the abdomen can be taken later in gestation if there is still doubt regarding the pregnancy.

At the time your veterinarian examines your cat, a complete physical and any indicated vaccinations can be administered to assure that the queen will be in optimal condition at the time of birth.
