P.O. Sponsors 'Design-A-Stamp'

"The sixth annual celebration of National Stamp Collecting Month is being held this October. The theme of this year's observance is 'Celebrate a Century of Organized Stamp Collecting in the United States,'" said Roger Nienaber, Hicksville Division General Manager/Postmaster.

The Postal Service, Hicksville Division, is sponsoring a Design-A-Stamp Contest open to all school children from Kindergarten thru 12th grade. Winners will be selected from Hicksville from three age groups: 8 years and under, 9-12 years; and 13-18 years. These winners will receive a Commemorative Mint Set and Stamp Collecting Kit. They will then be eligible to compete for a Divisional award, gift certificates and other prizes.

Suggested topics for stamp designs are: 1) Love; 2) Christmas 3) Hobbies such as stamp collecting.

Other relevant subjects will be considered.

Contact the Hicksville Post Office for more information on the contest which closes October 24, 1986.

Library To Show Chaplin Films

Charlie Chaplin films at the Hicksville Public Library, Friday, October 3, at 8 p.m.

"The Count"

Charlie Chaplin finds out that his boss is impersonating a count and all kinds of situations evolve. An early example of typical movie slapstick. The dance with Miss Moneybags is the first known use of a dolly camera which follows the dancers. Edna Purviance co-stars in this 1916 production.

"Easy Street"

A reformed hobo, Charlie Chaplin, becomes a policeman assigned to a beat on the toughest, roughest street in town. Written and directed by Chaplin, 1917.

"The Tramp"

Charlie Chaplin's earliest film of major classic reputation. Pathos and comedy are interwoven in this love story about a tramp, a farmer's daughter, and the girl's true love for another man. Co-stars Edna Purviance. Written and directed by Chaplin, 1915.

"The Rink"

A Charlie Chaplin classic. The Little Fellow leads a double life as a waiter and as Sir Cecil Seltzer, a graceful roller skater. 1916.

Town Will Close Incinerator Dec. 31

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby announced on September 25, that he and the members of the Town Board have scheduled the closing of the Town incinerator for December 31, 1986.

"Plans are currently underway to use this site for a state-of-the-art recycling/resource recovery plant," said Colby, "and closure of the incinerator will facilitate this project."

The incinerator, although aging, poses no health threat to the surrounding community. This fact was recently confirmed by the findings of three-and-one-half months of continuous air sampling by the Nassau County Board of Health. The plant is currently operating at partial capacity under a consent agreement with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation. Colby said, "notwithstanding the Health Department's findings, the community has expressed concern and the Town Board has chosen to demonstrate its good faith by shutting down the operation."

The December 31 closure is predicted on the construction of the transfer station now being built by the contractor who is currently hauling Oyster Bay's waste to Pennsylvania. The transfer station is expected to be completed by late fall and the additional time will allow the shipper to streamline operations and make any necessary adjustments before taking on the additional tonnage.

Many Receive Surplus Food

In spite of the heavy rain on Saturday morning, September 27, people were lined up around the corner and down the block before 8:30 a.m. when the men from Kiwanis arrived at Carvel to begin distributing the government surplus food as scheduled.

The application forms were distributed as the Mr. Electric truck backed up to the door to stack the goodies inside the store to keep them dry. Working inside the store helped to keep the people and the food dry.

Many, many, many people came to get some cheese, rice, powdered milk or honey according to their needs. Thanks to local publicity, these many, many, many people heard about the distribution.

The Hicksville Kiwanis Club had been allotted 3,000 pounds of American cheese in 5 pound blocks; 1,920 pounds of rice in 2 pound bags; 360 pounds of honey in 3 pound jars; and 300 pounds of powdered milk in 5 pound cartons. The people these food items were distributed to greatly appreciated this service provided by the Kiwanis Club.

Dick Evers Rotary Speaker

Mr. Richard E. Evers was the guest speaker, the history of Hicksville and the local area the subject and Hicksville rotarians the audience at the Rotary club's weekly luncheon meeting in the Milleridge Inn last week. Mr.

Evers, historian and former director of the Gregory Museum, gave a comprehensive historical background of Hicksville's early days to the current period covering several hundred years.

Rev. Jackson Ordained Sept. 27

Chemical Fire Causes Evacuation

Reverend Robert C. Jackson Sr. was ordained to the Sacred Order of Priesthood of the Ecumenical Catholic Diocese of The Americas. The Rt. Reverend Peter Paul Brennan, D.D. presided over the service which was held at Parkway Community Church in Hicksville on Sept. 27 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Marie Capelli, another Hicksville resident was the organist and soloist. The community was invited to attend.

Rev. Mr. Jackson is a graduate of Queens College and George Mercer Seminary in Garden City. The Rev. Mr. Jackson has been a resident of Hicksville for eighteen years. He and his wife Janei have three children, Robert Jr., David, and Karen. He has been employed by the Nassau County Probation Department since 1961 and is currently the Supervisor of the Intensive Supervision Unit. He will continue in this position while serving under the supervision of Bishop Brennan.

A garage fire involving chemicals in an Old Bethpage home around 9 p.m. September 24, caused the evacuation of 17 nearby homes.

The fire was reported at the residence of Peter Bochniwoth, of 1 Fams Court where some unknown chemicals in the garage and the resulting smoke caused ten firemen and the homeowner to be overcome. The smoke soon engulfed the surrounding area and firemen and Police evacuated the homes on Fams Ct., Belair Ct., Belair Drive, and Piper Lane.

The involved chemicals were later identified as Ammonia Peroxide - spray cans of Lubricant belt Dressing - 50 gallons of Liquid Thinner Dye and 20 gals of Solder Flux, all identified as cleaning chemicals.

Residents were back in their homes just after midnight. The fire was contained to just the one home which suffered considerable damage.

Soup Kitchen Progress Report

The Executive Board of the Hicksville I.N.N. (Interfaith Nutrition Network) met in session on Friday, September 23 at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Hicksville, the Rev. Dominic Ciannella, presiding. The board transacts administrative business relative to the operation of the Soup Kitchen which has been conducted there for over a year, expressly for the purpose of feeding the homeless and hungry of this community.

The mainstay of support for the Hicksville I.N.N. has been the ongoing churches and synagogues of the area, which number approximately twenty-three organized congregations from Hicksville, Bethpage, Plainview, Jericho, Westbury and Woodbury. Many of these congregations have pledged themselves to assume responsibility for at least a full month's expenses.

The actual cash outlay for this most worthwhile project is relatively low, since so much of the food, equipment and labor is donated by caring people. The Executive Board publicly expresses thanks to the many donors who have made this work possible. So many local businesses have responded regularly. These include, among others, Bakery II, Van Sise Farms, David Farms, Elio's in Great Neck and the Nabisco Corporation. Additionally, help has come from the local service clubs, such as Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary. The Board is most grateful for this input.

The Soup Kitchen is staffed by rotating teams of people donating their time. Individuals volunteer their time for various duties requiring use of whatever time they can make themselves available. At this time, there is need for a van driver to pick up food and materials once a month. Anyone interested in volunteering for this specific need, please contact the office of Trinity Episcopal Church at 935-4055, which is headquarters for Hicksville I.N.N.

Each weekday a hot meal is served in the Parish House at the church. As each guest leaves, they are provided with a "goody bag", which helps them through the remainder of the day. Currently, the Soup Kitchen is providing this help for over two hundred people per week. All homeless and hungry are welcome here. When we speak of the problem of "World Hunger", it is well to remember that our community is part of that world. Hicksville I.N.N. is doing something about it, not just wringing their hands!

In Memoriam

William F. Cutler
 William F. Cutler, formerly of Hicksville, died September 23. Mr. Cutler was the husband of the late Mary Ina. He leaves his son William Cutler Jr., daughters Marilyn Koliner and Alice Poole and nine grandchildren. Religious services were held at the Clayton Funeral Home in Kings Park.

Editor's Notebook

Congratulations to Sieg Widder and Jane Schreiber, two hard-working Hicksvillites. They were duly honored by the Hicksville Youth Council this past Sunday.

Speaking of Sieg, he informs us that the government surplus food giveaway that was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Hicksville last Saturday opened to a packed house. Despite inclement weather many were waiting for free cheese, honey, rice and powdered milk.

Donations are still being sought for the erection of two monuments at the Hicksville Junior High to honor the servicemen who fought in Korea and Vietnam. Mail donations to Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund, PO Box 412, Hicksville, NY 11802.

Movie buffs will be delighted to know that the Hicksville Public Library is scheduling four Charlie Chaplin films tonight. These classics begin at 8 p.m.

Just a reminder-the annual Blessing of the Animals will be held Sunday at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church at noon. Household pets of all kinds can be brought to the steps of the church for Blessing. V.P.

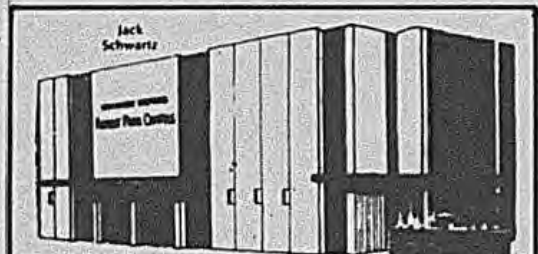

Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund

I am appealing to the Hicksville community to help to remember our servicemen who fought for our freedom in Korea and Vietnam. November 11 will be here soon and I hope we have two monuments erected at the Hicksville Jr. High School.

Many have donated thus far, but the ones who have not can still. The monuments is a remembrance for those who fought, were wounded or died for our great country. Many of Hicksville residents had loved ones who fought in Korea and Vietnam, and this is a kind way of saying thank you.

If you want to donate, mail check payable to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund, P.O. Box 412, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802 or for further information you can call Chairman Conrad Steers at 822-5938.

Girl Scouts Go Camping

Girl Scout Troops 3001 Fork Lane School; 3186 Fork Lane School; 3003 Holy Family School; 3680 Holy Family School and Troop 3550 Willet Ave. School, of the Hicksville Community, participated in a camp weekend September 19-21. Some Campers left by car and others left by bus. They arrived at Camp Tekawitha in Hampton Bays at 9:30 Friday evening. The Scouts disembarked with their personal equipment which they carried to their designated campsite. Their gear tucked away they headed back to pick up the troop paraphernalia which was then stowed in critter proof storage bins. That done they all went to the SBJ Lodge for games, hot chocolate and donuts. Then it was time to unroll the sleeping bags in their tents, put out their flashlights and go to sleep.

Saturday morning came early. Each troop at its own campsite prepared a hot breakfast over their charcoal fire. After cleaning up their campsites the leaders and scouts hiked to the beach where a group picture was taken. (Photo). They hunted and found beach treasures, some like the live starfish had to be left behind. They followed raccoon footprints but alas never found the raccoon. What they did find were the Brownies that had been invited for the day.

Returning to the SBJ Lodge, leaders supervised scouts in their preparations for lunch and the evening campfire. Scout Hostesses prepared beautiful nature centerpieces. Scout servers set up buffets. Program directors made delicious sloppy Joes and carrot sticks. Scouts gathered wood and kindling for the evening campfire. After grace everyone enjoyed the meal.

Adult Girl Scouts, from the Hicksville Community, Faith Frasca, Jean Flood, Carleen Murphy, Gina Diana, and Janet Hundt held two workshops. On an alternating basis every girl had the opportunity to tie dye muslin to be used as a bandana or armband and to make Philadelphia pretzels. While waiting their turn at the workshops the remaining scouts joined in group songs and games, making new friends with girls from other troops. That accomplished those Brownies not staying overnight left.

The troops returned to their individual campsites to prepare their evening meal. After dinner a beautiful campfire was shared by all those who wished to participate. It was here that the girls enjoyed the pretzels they had made earlier in the day. Another day done, fires extinguished the weary but happy Scouts made their way to their tents.

Sunday dawned and the hungry campers arose and ate breakfast. After cleaning up the scouts packed up all their gear, the troop gear and began the final cleanup of the site. While this was going on, several girls from each troop were supervised in making bag lunches for the ride home. Each girl was given a delicious sandwich, a bag of chips, an apple and a box of apple juice. After site director, Pat Dwyer inspected all campsites the happy campers departed for home. It was obvious that every camper was enriched by sharing this experience with other troops from their community. Their heartfelt gratitude goes to the leaders and community coordinators for this delightful weekend.

The leaders who gave so lovingly of their time were: Marcia Gunnigle, Sharon Fusco, Maureen Traxler, Fork Lane; Ellyn Masterson, Joyce Wagner, Willet Ave.; Marie Abrams, Kathy Parkinson, Jane Hipp, Janice DeFelippis, Joanne Doyle, Grace Barucheri, Regina Kosman, Holy Family.

'Israel Today' Lecture Series

Israel and its problems are constantly in the headlines, but beyond the headlines... What is really happening in Israel today? What are the roots of the issues? How can it affect American Jews?

In a special lecture series by Israeli authorities, you will have a chance to understand and discuss "Israel Today." The first of these thought-provoking community discussions will be on Thursday, October 23, at the Mid-Island YM & YWHA in Plainview. "Mysticism & Radicalism - The Evolution of a Philosophy for a State of Israel" will be discussed by Professor Yossif Ben Shlomo.

A professor of Jewish Philosophy at Hebrew and Tel Aviv University, Ben Shlomo teaches and researches the Jewish Mystics and Modern Jewish Philosophy. One of Israel's most brilliant university speakers, his lectures and discourses are filled to capacity.

Professor Ben Shlomo has lived in Israel since age 3, and in addition to being a scholar and author of books on philosophy, has served actively in the development of Israel. He served in the IDF and saw action in the major wars and was the Chairman of Israel's Ministry of Education, Department of Pedagogy. He received his Doctorate in Israel studying under Gershon Shalom. Ben Shlomo also did post-graduate work at Oxford and taught here in the U.S. at the University of Wisconsin.

In this lecture series "Israel Today," all the guest speakers are Israelis, directly involved with the subjects they are discussing. The series is co-sponsored by the Mid-Island Y, Bethpage Jewish Center, Midway Jewish Center, East Nassau Hebrew Academy, Manetto Hill Jewish Center and Young Israel of Plainview in conjunction with Bama'aleh, the Gush Emunim Settlement Department. Future lectures will be held at other sponsor locations.

The second lecture in the series will be on Wednesday, November 12 at the Bethpage Jewish Center. At all lectures, there will be a $1 admission charge to cover the cost of refreshments.

For further information about this first program, contact the Mid-Island Y, 45 Manetto Hill Road, Plainview 822-3535.

Cub Pack 172 Holds Meeting

East Street Cub Pack 172 is well on its way. Our first pack meeting was September 24. We are very proud to announce that our Pack has increased from 18 boys to 41 boys.

The evening was very busy and long. The parents were introduced to the business and procedures of Pack 172.

The Boy Scouts of Pack 172 set up a campsite for us. The tents went up and the filled backpacks came out. The Cubs didn't say a word the whole time. It was very interesting. One thing they learned was that you should put your clothes in plastic bags before they go into your backpack. This is to keep your belongings dry in case a boy accidentally gets pushed into the water.

The boys played a game and then refreshments were served.

After the refreshments, it was time for advancements. The Tiger Scouts were advanced to Bobcats. The Wolves were advanced to Bears.

The following Cubs received gold arrows: Richard Kruger, Chris Giarraputo, Jamie DiSilvestre, Greg Walunas.

Chris Giarraputo also received two silver arrows and Richard Kruger received one silver arrow.

Animal Blessings This Sunday

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church invites the participation of the community in the Annual Blessing of the Animals. This community service always takes place on the Sunday nearest the commemoration of St. Francis of blessed memory. Throughout the world this 13th century Saint is much loved by Christians as a preeminent model of Christlikeness and by all, Christians and others alike, as one who delighted in all of God's natural creation and as a brother and servant to all persons. St. Francis' humanity has been an inspiration to all humankind. The Blessing of the Animals falls very naturally on his commemoration day as St. Francis invited all creatures, great and small, to give thanks to God.

The Rector, the Rev. Dominic K. Ciannella, asks the members of the community to bring their household pets of all kinds to the steps of the Church, at the corner of Jerusalem Avenue and Old Country Road, Hicksville, at 12 Noon on Sunday, October 5, for this simple but moving ceremony.

Hospital Honors Local Employees

Local employees were recognized for their "tenure, outstanding service and top team spirit as concerned and caring members of the Mid-Island Hospital."

The honors, laudatory praise and cash gifts, were presented by the Hospital's Comptroller, Kevin Donohue, at a special awards luncheon program last week. Awards were given to employees with a minimum of five years of service, to thirty-one years.

Peggy Wall, Office Manager, (Hicksville), received very special honors from Donohue when he said, "you were here (at the Hospital) when the last brick was laid and the first patient arrived." She is with the Hospital for thirty-one years. The Hospital was founded in 1955 and recently celebrated its thirty-first birthday.

Other employees receiving awards included staff members who received $25.00 each for five years of service. They were: Rose Lencin, Nursing, (Hicksville); Kohman Lin, Nursing, (Syosset); Zivka Luketic, Dietary, (Bethpage); Carol Martin, Nursing, (Hicksville); Eileen Nalepa, Laboratory, (Hicksville); Angelas Steinberg, Nursing, (Bethpage). For ten years of service, employees received $50.00 each: Carol Cryer, Nursing, (Plainview); Marion Dobbie, Nursing, (Bethpage); Victoria Urbanowski, Nursing, (Hicksville).

Employees with fifteen years tenure received $75.00 each and were: Vilma Fernandez, House-keeping, (Bethpage); Mike Grippo, Linen, (Hicksville); MaryLou O'Brien, Nursing, (Bethpage); Rita Prew, Nursing, (Plainview); Fred Wolfram, Engineering, (Bethpage).

For thirty years of service, awards of $300.00 each were presented to: Kay Cunningham, Dietary, (Bethpage) and Ethel James, Dietary, (Bethpage).

The luncheon awards program is an annual event at Mid-Island Hospital.

Yevoll Praised By NYS Assoc.

Assemblyman Lewis J. Yevoll (13th A.D.) has been cited for his legislative record by the New York State Association of Counties.

Meeting at the Concord Hotel in Kiamasha Lake, the Association praised Yevoll's "outstanding public record" in support of key community services, including Public Health State Aid, Services for the Elderly, Handicapped Children's funding and Insurance Reform. The Assemblyman received the Association's gratitude for his support of twenty key priority bills which assist the needy and those on limited incomes.

Upon being notified of the honor, Assemblyman Yevoll stated: "I pledge my continued support for those in our community who need and deserve assistance to cope with the growing problems of the '80's."

Int'l Holiday Mailing Info.

"For those with relatives in the armed services stationed overseas, and those who wish to mail holiday greetings and packages to others living in foreign countries, now is the time to plan for holiday mailings," says Roger Nienaber, General Manager/Postmaster of Hicksville Division.

Parcels sent to military personnel in Australia, the Far East and Southeast Asia have to be mailed by October 17 if shipped by surface mail, the least expensive form of shipment.

November is the month when most parcels shipped via Parcel Airlift Mail (PAL) should be sent. PAL packages are airlifted domestically to a gateway facility, then airlifted on a space available basis from the gateway to the APO (Army or Air Force Post Office).

Packages up to 30 pounds and 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by PAL. Mailers pay the regular Parcel Post rate to the U.S. exit port or from the port of entry plus a fee for air service. The air service fee is 30 cents for parcels weighing two pounds or less, 60 cents for two to three pounds, 90 cents for three to four pounds, and $1.20 for four to 30 pounds.

November mailers can also ship military parcels by Space Available Mail (SAM). Items shipped by SAM are transported by surface means in the contiguous 48 states and flown on a space available basis from the U.S. to the overseas destination or from the overseas destination to the U.S. Packages up to 15 pounds and 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by SAM for regular Parcel Post rates to the U.S. exit port or from the U.S. port of entry.

When mailed from a military post office outside the 48 contiguous states, the weight of any piece cannot be more than 70 pounds and the size cannot exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined.

Assemblyman Lewis J. Yevoll (center) and Assemblyman Paul Harenburg are shown above with Steven Benson, Chairman of the Nassau County Young Democrats. Yevoll and Harenburg discussed Public Power at the recently held forum in Plainview.

Joseph Gumble (left) and John Harnett, a resident of Hicksville, have many pleasant memories of the Summer of '86 when they attended the Nassau Association For The Help Of Retarded Children's Residential Camp Loyaltown in Hunter, New York. Along with a full recreation and social program there was lots of time for relaxation and making friends.

Hicksville Ties Sachem

By A. Blicher

The Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 boys traveling soccer team came from behind, as has been their custom thus far, to tie the Sachem Trappers 3-3, at the latter's field this past Sunday, with a minute to go, on a break downfield by left wing Eric Blicher, who fed a perfect pass to striker Chris Doyle who put it past the Trappers goalie.

The Shamrocks had an outstanding first half, led by continuous ball control on the part of right half David Lovato and right wing Jason Kingsley. The two teamed for numerous assaults on the Trappers defense. Their constant pressure paid off when left wing Junior Tomlinson put in a lead from center half Matt Pordum. The defense was perfect and Ed Jacobsen, in goal, turned away every Trapper attempt.

The second half opened with a threading-the-needle pass by wing Eric Blicher, through three Trappers, to center half Matt Pordum, who scored on a rising line drive over the defender's head. The Shamrocks kept up the pressure but the Trappers then scored three unanswered goals, none of which goalkeeper Brian Pine had a chance on. Just as quickly, the defense rebounded which led to the tying goal.

The balance of the players were Dom Perillo, who continued his aggressive play at left half; Brian Harkins, who had a very strong game at stopper; Chris Koetter who was exceptional at both fullback and sweeper; Chuck Oliver who rotated with Koetter with good results; Karl Rice who had a gutsy first half at full; Greg Szumowski who is rapidly becoming a force to be reckoned with at full and Kris Friedrich, who had a grand second half at full.

Congratulations to the Shamrocks for a hard fought contest and to Coach Herb Pordum and Assistant Glenn Kingsley, Jr. for another exciting successful soccer game.

News From Hicksville Library

The Hicksville Public Library will present a concert by the Roslyn Artists String Quartet on Friday, October 10, at 8:15 p.m.

The Roslyn Artists String Quartet has received the highest acclaim from both critics and audiences alike. The members of the quartet are notable performers, both as soloists and members of various chamber ensembles, appearing at Alice Tully, Carnegie and Avery Fisher Halls. The aim of this versatile ensemble is to enhance attendance and increase audience appreciation of chamber music through the creative, diversified programming of its concerts.

This program is co-sponsored by the Hicksville Public Library and the Town of Oyster Bay, Department of Community Affairs, Cultural and Performing Art Division.

It is free and all are welcome.

Snekenberg-Hajny Wedding

Donna Snekenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Snekenberg of Hicksville, was married on September 20, 1986, to James D. Hajny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hajny of Garden City, and Moultonboro, N.H.

The Reverend Doctor John H. Krahn performed the double ring ceremony with the Reverend Charles Froelich assisting at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church in Hicksville. The bride's parents hosted a reception which followed at Savini's Crystalbrook in East Meadow.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Lynne Barr was matron of honor, and Susan LoCiceri was the bridesmaid. Lynne and Susan are sisters of the bride.

The groom's best man was Frank E. Hajny, and Thomas P. Hajny was an usher. Frank and Tom are brothers of the groom.

Donna is a graduate of Hicksville High School and obtained an Associate's Degree from SUNY at Farmingdale. She received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Accounting from New York Institute of Technology. Donna is currently employed as an Accountant at Euriamerica, a subsidiary of Ologilvy and Mather.

Jim graduated from Garden City High School, and obtained an Associate's Degree from Nassau Community College. He received a Bachelor of Science Degree from New York University. Jim is currently employed by a television production company, D.L. Taffner/Limited, at the International headquarters in Manhattan.

After a wedding trip to Mexico City, Merida, and Cancun, the couple will reside in East Rockaway.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hajny

'Express' Wins Intramurals

The Hicksville Express, 1978 intramural soccer team, led by scoring machine Tracy Koetter, defeated the Hicksville Blast in a hard-fought contest last Sunday 5-4. Tracy was at her unbelievable best as she scored all five Express goals, leading her team to a come-from-behind victory.

The game began with two Koetter goals; then the Blast bounced back for a tie game. Koetter then put the Express ahead 3-2, only to have the Blast rebound for a 4-3 lead. The seasawing continued as Koetter tied it up for the Express and then, with less than 30 seconds left, Tracy once again scored for the go-ahead victory.

The Express offense, all hustling and aggressive, was: Matthew Hamlin, Brian Swacey, Michael Baglieri, Matthew DePalma and the aforementioned Tracy Koetter. DePalma and Baglieri also handled the goalkeeper chore skillfully. The defense, who hung tough throughout the contest, were: Robin Blicher, John Kurkowski and Joey Zaffuto, with Chris DeStefano and Bryan Lagas handling the midfield.

Congratulations, Express, as well as to Coach Steve Baglieri and Assistant Lenny DeStefano for an exciting game. Go, well, Michael Bernius.

Youth Council Honors Two

Sunday's afternoon reception at Antun's held by the Hicksville Youth Council in honor of Siegfried Widder and Jane Schreiber was a very pleasant affair and a good time was had by all in attendance. Sieg was honored for his work with young people in Hicksville through various community organizations including Boy Scouts and the Youth Council. Jane was the recipient of a Special Volunteer award given for the first time for her efforts in coordinating the Park Avenue Neighborhood Watch group since 1983.

Barbara Nelson, Executive Director of the Youth Council presented Jane with a beautiful plaque in appreciation "of her tireless efforts on behalf of crime prevention and the Hicksville Neighborhood Watch Program". In her remarks following the presentation, Jane shared her experiences in running her group and gave credit to her fourteen block captains. Jane also stressed that it is important that everyone get involved in their community, particularly in crime prevention and encouraged everyone to participate in their neighborhoods.

The award to Sieg was presented by Bill Wagner, President of the Youth Council's Board of Directors who praised Sieg's long outstanding record of excellent community service. In accepting his award Sieg thanked everyone for their support of the young people of the community and the Youth Council's efforts. He also shared a few amusing anecdotes of his career in community service and ended his remarks by urging everyone to get involved with young people.

The event held at Antun's was an excellent opportunity for members of various community groups, such as Kiwanis and Hicksville Community Council to meet and chat informally about their various activities.

The awards reception is an annual event of the Board of Directors of the Hicksville Youth Council and each year members of the community are recognized for their contributions to the young people of Hicksville. For more information about the Youth Council or any of its programs, please call Barbara Nelson at 822-7688.

Board President Bill Wagner and Executive Director Barbara Nelson congratulate Sieg Widder on his award.

Honoree Jane Schreiber after accepting her award and encouraging everyone to get involved in making Hicksville a safer place to live and work.

Our Children

Raising kids not part of this 'man's world'

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Q: I used to think that I was alone in being an outsider in one's own family, but I now know that a lot of men feel as I do.

Just because we were there when the baby was born doesn't mean that we will continue to be part of a family team. Not by a long shot!

We now have two young children, and the full responsibility for them has been taken over by my wife. She is the one who talks and listens to them, and to whom they go with any problems they have. In fact, they will physically walk or run right past me to share their little bits of fun, questions or grief with her.

It's a "man's world?" Not in my family or in the families of a lot of guys I know. We are left out.

A: Even though most young children spend more time with their mothers than with their fathers, both parents have a lot of contributions to make to the growth and development of children. But the part each parent plays doesn't get dropped into his or her hands in a new package. It has to be shaped. So some key questions come up: What specific activities have you been involved in with your children? Have you discussed "shared responsibilities" with your wife? What do the two of you do together with your children? Do you spend any time alone with them, individually or together — and if you do, what do you do with that time?

I have sent you a copy of my article, "The Man in Your Young Child's Family." If other readers would like a copy, mail a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request to P. O. Box 572, Scottsdale, AZ 85252. No cost, of course.

Q: Feelings I have about my children may seem kind of strange because although I love them very much, I also envy them. Does that seem peculiar to you?

As I recall my own childhood, it wasn't nearly as happy as the early years are for my two. I was really a pretty miserable kid, having parents with whom I couldn't share anything. My father was never at home, and my mother seemed too busy with her friends to talk to and listen to me.

In contrast with that, here are my children with a mother (me) and a father who adore them and cherish the time we all spend together. I often wish I'd had that kind of home environment, and almost resent that it is part of their childhood.

I wish I didn't have this feeling, but I do, and I worry about it. You are the first person with whom I have shared this whole thing.

A: You seem to have analyzed your situation very well.

It sounds as though you learned from the negative aspects of your own childhood and are making certain that your children are not treated in the same way.

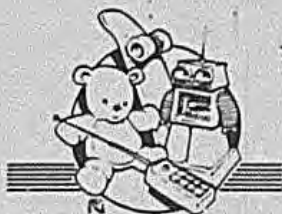

What appears to be the healthy family relationship you now have is something of which you can rightfully be proud. You deserve to enjoy it, and I hope you will.

Q: Thank goodness for bibs! At least they help reduce the messiness of our young child who drools so much.

But it isn't the slobbering that concerns me as much as the reason for it. I don't know the cause, and would appreciate your expertise on this subject.

A: If you had been more specific about the age of your "young" child, that might have been helpful. However, even with that information, I still would have referred you to a more knowledgeable source on this subject — your family doctor or pediatrician.

His or her diagnosis could include teething.

EAT YOURSELF SLIM

Diet strategy for dining out

By Shirley Bright Boody

Dear Shirley: Can you give me any tips on how to order food in a restaurant that will help me stay on my diet? I am not supposed to have fat, salt or cholesterol because I am 30 pounds overweight and I have high cholesterol and high blood pressure.

I am a 50-year-old man, and I travel all the time in my business, so I have to eat most of the time. I know that I eat a lot of things that aren't good for me, but I don't know what else to do. My wife said to write to you because you could help me, and I sure hope you can. Thank you. — James McC.

Dear James: Many people are faced with the same dilemma, and now many restaurants, from fast food operations to fine dining, are offering health- and diet-conscious customers better choices. Check ahead with airlines and restaurants — many of them will accommodate special diets today.

If you have no choices, order an entree that's broiled, baked, grilled or roasted. Select seafood, poultry (remove skin), veal or lean meat. Avoid all fried food, or if served eat only the inside to avoid the fat and the salt. Ask for fresh, steamed vegetables without sauce or salt, and salads with oil and vinegar on the side, instead of heavy dressings. Ask waiter to remove bread, rolls and butter.

Order wine spritzers instead of cocktails, or try the new non-alcoholic beer and wine. Ask for seafood or fresh vegetables instead of appetizers, and make dessert a fresh fruit, or share it with someone so you get only half the calories.

Remember that you never have to clean your plate. It's far better to leave food that is loaded with fat, calories and salt, than to eat it and suffer the consequences.

Dear Shirley: I am a real coffee lover and I can't even wake up in the morning until I've had at least four cups. I work all day and my boss always has the coffee pot on, so I drink about six more cups during the day.

I have always been a nervous person, but my doctor says I have to stop drinking coffee because that's what's making me nervous. I don't believe him. I think here is something else wrong with me that he is not telling me.

Drinking nine or 10 cups of good coffee during the whole day won't hurt a person, will it? — Janet G.

Dear Janet: You're drinking far too much coffee, and it can have very detrimental effects on your body, in addition to making you nervous. Recent studies on a group of men showed that the more coffee they drank, the greater the risk of heart disease. Drinking five cups a day increased the risk over two and a half times. Believe your doctor.

Dear Shirley: How many calories are there in a Big Mac? Which has the most calories, a Filet-O-Fish, six pieces of Chicken McNuggets or two pieces of Kentucky Fried Chicken? How many calories in a frosty shake and an order of onion rings or french fries? — Chris B.

Dear Chris: There are 563 calories in a Big Mac. Filet-O-Fish has 432, six Chicken McNuggets have 314, two pieces of Kentucky Fried Chicken have 393. Frosty shake has 420, onion rings have 270 and french fries 210 calories per order.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Does federal employee qualify for Medicare?

Q: I am a federal employee covered under the Civil Service Retirement System. A deduction from my pay has been made since 1983 for Medicare. I will be 65 in a few months and plan to retire. I have never worked under Social Security. Will I be covered under Medicare when I reach age 65 even though I have only paid in for about three years? C.D.

A: Your federal employment in and after 1983 will count toward eligibility for hospital insurance protection in the same way that work covered by Social Security counts. If you are a federal employee both before January 1983 and at any time during January 1983, you will be given credit for federal employment prior to 1983 if you need it to qualify for hospital insurance. This credit is only towards the quarters of coverage needed for Medicare, not for monthly dollar benefits.

Q: I have been divorced for three years after having been married to the same man for 31 years. I will be 62 next year and would like to receive Social Security benefits on his record. He is presently 64 and has no plans to retire. I have never worked. Can I get benefits on his Social Security when I reach age 62 even though he will still be working? — J.S.

A: Yes, a divorced spouse, who has been divorced for at least two years, can receive benefits at age 62 whether or not his or her former spouse receives them. The former spouse must be eligible for Social Security benefits regardless of whether he or she has retired. Also, the marriage must have lasted for at least 10 years.

Q: My sister's husband is disabled and he receives Social Security disability payments. My sister receives Social Security benefits for herself and their three young children on her husband's record. Her husband was recently involved in a crime and has been indicted for a felony. What will happen to their benefits if he is convicted of the felony? — K.K.

A: Social Security benefits are not payable for any month during which a person is in prison for a felony crime, unless that person is participating in a court-approved rehabilitation program which is expected to result in their being able to engage in substantial gainful work when released.

Even if a person is imprisoned for a felony crime his dependents may continue to receive benefits.

Q: I have always worked as a schoolteacher and recently retired. I was never covered under Social Security. My pension is from the state. My husband will be retiring under Social Security soon. I understand that there is a government pension offset which might affect my husband's benefits on his Social Security. Is that true? — A.C.

A: Yes. The purpose of the government pension offset is to eliminate windfall payments to retired government workers who have their own pensions and who would also receive Social Security benefits as a spouse or as a surviving spouse. The amount that will be used for figuring the offset against your Social Security spouse's benefits will be two-thirds of your government pension. The government pension offset applies only to Social Security benefits for a spouse or surviving spouse. It does not apply to Social Security retirement or disability benefits based on a person's own work, even if the person also receives a government pension.

Q: I will be 65 in a few months and I am planning to apply for Medicare. I have already been told by my doctor that I have a heart condition. Will this affect my eligibility for getting Medicare? — H.L.

A: There is no medical examination required to get Medicare. You should consider contacting us now, though, and not waiting until age 65 as you might be eligible for Social Security disability.

Q: I recently received a letter from IRS informing me my name is wrong on my Social Security record. How can I correct it? — J.F.P.

A: You should go to your nearest Social Security Office and request an application for a new card with your correct name. Be sure you have identification showing your old name and your new name, e.g., marriage certificate.

Q: I am covered by Medicare. I recently had to go into the hospital for five days. My part of the bill was $492, which I paid. My question is if I have to return to the hospital again in a week or two will I have to pay again? — S.A.

A: If you are covered by Medicare and enter a hospital for inpatient hospital services then the first day you are in the hospital begins your "benefit period." The benefit period begins on the first day you receive services as an inpatient in a hospital and ends after you have been out of the hospital or skilled nursing facility for 60 days in a row. You only have to pay one time for each benefit period.

Q: What if you are required to have X-rays but are too ill to go to the hospital to get them taken.

Will Medicare pay for the service of someone coming to your house to take the X-rays? — F.E.

A: Yes. Medicare can help pay for portable diagnostic X-ray services in your home if they are ordered by a doctor and if they are provided by a Medicare-certified supplier.

Backyard Gardener

Two stunning tulips

By Patrick Denton

Standing right in the middle of the spring tulip season are two types that offer some of the most stunning of all tulips available to home gardeners. They're the Triumph tulips, and the Darwin Hybrids.

Triumph tulips have emerged with the best features of both their parents — the early blooms and great sturdiness of Single Early tulips, and the large flowers and long stems of the later Darwins. They grow 16- to 20-inches high, and are fine for pots.

Among the many superior Triumph tulips, here are a few outstanding ones: Apricot Beauty, a luscious salmon-rose tinged with apricot; Atilla, a favorite of mine in light purple violet; Garden Party, white with a crimson edge; Paul Richter, geranium scarlet, fine for bedding and popular for Valentine flowers in pots; Merry Widow, a deep red edged in white, especially good for cut flowers and easy to establish in the garden over several years without having to dig and replant the bulbs.

But for me, the most difficult tulips from which to choose favorites are the Darwin Hybrids, for I've grown most of them and haven't found one yet that wasn't truly outstanding. All have large, brilliantly colored flowers on strong, thick stems — features happily bequeathed from their Fosteriana (Red Emperor) and Darwin parents. Darwin Hybrids grow to a height of about 2 feet.

Two fairly new Darwin Hybrids are Daydream, a delightful apricot-orange, and Dutch Fair, buttercup-yellow flamed and ribbed with scarlet in an unusually exquisite pattern. Especially early are Gudoshnik, an everchanging blend of rosy-red, cream and yellow, and Holland's Glory, a gorgeous and stately brilliant orange-red, especially for gardeners dazzled by blooms of mammoth size.

The Apeldoorns are all top-rated Darwin Hybrids. Apeldoorn is a huge, brilliant scarlet with a black base bordered in yellow. Beauty of Apeldoorn is golden yellow flushed scarlet and Golden Apeldoorn is a deep, golden yellow with a conspicuous black base.

Late spring brings a blaze of late-flowering tulips, among them the classic long-stemmed Darwins. Some of the newest Darwins are Greenland, a unique rosy-pink broadly striped with lush green and Sweet Harmony, a creamy lemon-yellow shading to an ivory white edging. Two unusual Darwins are Queen of Night, a black tulip and Temple of Beauty, with long, lily-shaped salmon rose blooms. Rosy Wing also bears long, beautifully shaped flowers, in pure pink with a white base. Smiling Queen is a deep silvery rose pink.

Blooming at the same time as the Darwins are the late bouquet tulips, whose main stems branch into three to six flowerstems. Two fine bouquet tulips are Georgette, buttercup-yellow edged orange red and Orange Bouquet, bright orange with a yellow base.

Three May-flowering tulips that I like to group together for a nice contrast in flower form are Orchid or Fringed tulips, Double Late and Lily-Flowered tulips. Orchid tulips are a type of Darwin, 24-inches tall with finely feathered, lacy petal edges. Some fine varieties are Burgundy Lace, a rich, wine red, Bellflower, delicate rosy-pink, and Swan Wings, an award-winning pure white.

Double Late tulips grow a little shorter at around 20 inches and bloom just slightly ahead of the other two kinds, with many-petaled, peonylike blooms. Angelique, pale rose pink, Mount Tacoma, white, Eros, old rose and Bravissimo, a fragrant turkey red, are some excellent varieties.

Lily-flowered tulips fall in height between the two others at about 22 inches and bloom with long, gracefully arching petals. Some outstanding types are Jacqueline, a large rose-pink. White Triumphator, the award-winning pink Mariette and Queen of Sheba, mahogany-red and orange

IF STATE regulations are upheld there may be a time in the very near future when local water districts will turn off water for a few hours per day to keep within pumping limits set up by the state. The state claims we will run short of water by the end of the century without controls. No mention is made for developing reservoirs or removing salt from ocean water as a future source.....THE COPS will be out with a new $71,000 grant to watch whether you are wearing seat belts or not. The threat is a $50 fine if you are stopped. Other counties only issue summonses to drivers stopped for other violations. Pre-School Storytime sessions at the Bethpage Public Library (for ages 3½-5) will begin on Thursday, October 9, and Friday, October 10, at 10:30 a.m. The weekly programs will include stories, songs, puppet fun, games, films, and much more. Preschoolers who are residents of School District No. 21, and who have had their third birthday before April 30, 1986 are welcome to attend.

Tiny Tots Time will begin on Wednesday, October 8, at 10:30 a.m. Each program in this monthly four-session series for parents and very young children (ages 2½ to 3½) will offer stories, finger plays, songs, films, and a brief discussion for parents of a variety of materials appropriate for use with this age group. Among requirements for Tiny Tots are residency in School District No. 21, the youngster's second birthday by April 30, 1986 and a parent in attendance at all times.

Please register early in the Children's Room, as participation in both programs is limited.

Saturday Storytime for youngsters in Grades K-3 will begin on Saturday, October 11, at 10:30 a.m. and will include stories, songs, puppetry, films, games and more. Once a month, as announced in special Children's Room flyers, there will be a Saturday Surprise Time craft program for the same age group, also at 10:30 a.m. No registration is required, but participation is limited to residents of District No. 21.

On Saturday, October 18, the Bethpage Public Library will offer a special Halloween film treat for young people - Walt Disney's fabulous masterpiece of animation, The Black Cauldron (color - 81 min.).

News From Bethpage Library

The story is set in the mysterious land of Prydain where there was a king of legendary wickedness, a brave young hero, a dangerous enchantress and a magical black cauldron - out of which wound a darkly evil spell that involved them all in fabulous, heart-catching high adventure.

Not yet in video cassette, this is a story of powerful enchantment in the highest tradition of heroic fantasy. It is inspired by Welsh mythology and based on the Chronicles of Prydain by the famous children's author Lloyd Alexander.

For added fun, there will also be a classic Disney cartoon, "Chips Ahoy" (color - 7 min.) starring Donald Duck, Chip and Dale.

Showtime is 2 p.m. and tickets are now available in the Children's Room of the Bethpage Public Library for all youngsters in Grades K-6 who reside in school district No. 21. For information, please call 931-3907.

On Thursday afternoon, October 30, the Bethpage Public Library will hold its annual gala Halloween Party for youngsters. Festivities will start promptly at 4 p.m.

Boys and girls in grades 2 to 6 are invited to join the Magic Circle Costume Contest dressed as their favorite storybook characters. Following the contest, there will be prizes galore, an exciting Halloween Magic Show, and delicious refreshments.

Serving as judges for the Costume Contest will be Laurence Bevan, Instructor for the Bethpage Public Library 55/Alive Defensive Driving Course; Glen Fuhrman, Manager; Norstar Bank, Bethpage Office; Eleanor Holownia, Treasurer of the Friends of the Bethpage Public Library; Leo E. Schuitland, President of the Friends of the Bethpage Public Library; Mary Swartz, Cooperative Extension Agent, Cooperative Extension of Nassau County.

Tickets are available now at the library for all youngsters residing in District #21.

For information, please call 931-3907.

On Monday, October 20, the season's first meeting of the Junior Stamp Club will take place at the Bethpage Public Library.

Under the guidance of Sol Hecht, stamp expert and Junior Stamp Club leader and teacher for eight years, District #21 youngsters in grades 4 and up will have an exciting time finding out about the world of stamp collecting - about history, geography, stamp values and much more. At each session, there will be stamp games, a variety of prizes and surprises, and the final session of the Club will be enlivened by a gala stamp party.

The Junior Stamp Club will meet approximately every second Monday at 4 to 5:15 p.m. through the end of May. Registration is limited and is being taken now at the Bethpage Public Library. For information call 931-3907.

How would you like to turn into a witch, werewolf, vampire or monster?

On Saturday, October 25, youngsters in Grades 2-6 will make daring, dangerous-looking, slightly scary disguises at the Bethpage Public Library. Young people will learn to make an intriguing variety, dynamic for Halloween or anytime, and all of them will be easy, effective and fun. A special make-up demonstration will be included in the program.

The workshop will begin at 2 p.m. Youngsters are requested to bring along a stapler, black and/or brown yarn, bottle of white glue, some sequins, magic markers, a white styrofoam egg carton, scissors, 1½ yards black fabric (optional). The library will supply the rest.

Registration is now being taken in the Children's Room of the Bethpage Public Library for youngsters who reside in District #21. For information, please call 931-3907.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark (second from right) looks over some of the hazardous products residents will be able to dispose of during the third and final S.T.O.P. (Stop Throwing Out Pollutants) Day scheduled for Saturday, October 4, in Hicksville. With Clark are Hicksville Fire Department officials Lt. Gene Petzak (left), Hazmat materials coordinator, 1st Assistant Chief Gerard O'Brien (second from left), Hazmat team chief, and Fire Commissioner Michael Kruppenacker. The S.T.O.P. Day is being sponsored by the Town in cooperation with the Hicksville Fire Department, whose headquarters at 20 Marie Street will be open between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on October 4 so residents can bring in their toxic materials for proper disposal.

Yevoll is seeking to get tight restrictions placed on local street usage for the sand and gravel trucks, some weighing as much as 30 tons.

Hicksville Grads Address Students

Two former Hicksville students class of 1975 and now assistant district attorneys, visited our high school Criminal Law classes on September 26.

Mr. Paul Lauricella from the Nassau County District Attorney's office and Doug Lobell from Brooklyn (Kings) County, addressed the students on the role of the prosecutor as distinguished from that of the defense attorney.

In the future, police officers and defense attorneys will also visit these classes. The students will see an actual criminal trial in progress sometime in October and conduct their own mock trial in December as part of their course of studies.

Six HHS Students Earn Commendation

Hicksville High School and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Illinois, are pleased to announce that six Hicksville students have been designated Commended Students in the 1987 National Merit Scholarship Program and will receive a Letter of Commendation in recognition of outstanding academic promise. The six honored students are Christine Gargan, James N. Munson, James P. Priest, Terence F. Shanley, Thomas R. Trenka, and Michael A. Whitton, and H.H.S. Principal Richard Hogan announced that these seniors placed in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants through their performance on the qualifying test in the 32nd annual Merit Program.

"The very high test performance of the young men and women who are honored as Commended Students in the Merit Program is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability," stated an officer of NMSC, which conducts the program. "We hope that NMSC's recognition of these high school students will increase their motivation to make the best use of their talents and to develop the skills that will be needed by the future leaders of our nation. Being named a Commended Student in this keen competition is a credit to those young citizens as well as to their schools, which play a key role in their development."

Participants entered the current Merit Program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in October 1985, when most of them were juniors. Although their qualifying test scores are high, the 35,000 young people throughout the nation who are Commended Students scored slightly below the level required for Semifinalist standing in the Merit Program. Only the 15,000 Semifinals, including H.H.S. seniors Scott O'Callaghan and Michael Doherty, whose names were announced on September 11, will continue in the competition for some 6,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1987.

Most Callers To Input Against Clergy For President

Most callers to Input do not believe that members of the clergy should run for President in answer to this question: "Do you think a clergyman should run for President of the United States?"

SHOULD RUN

Yes, I think a clergyman should run for President. I believe our country was founded on moral principles and the men who shaped our country had a firm belief in God. I think it's time for religious people to, once again, take an active part in government. M.S.

SHOULD NOT RUN

I feel, more than ever, that there should not be a religious leader as President. It would interfere with church and state as well as make the country vulnerable for a religious fanatic. If this country does allow religious leaders, like the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Robertson, or any others who feel that they have the capability to execute the Constitution and not the Bible, I really do feel they are lying to themselves. People in office in a religion have given up their own views and aspire to the views of their religious theism. J.R.

NOT APPROPRIATE

In view of our national policy which separates church from state, I do not believe that it would be appropriate for clergymen to run for President of the United States. While there is no law to stop a clergyman from running, I would say that his chances of being nominated by a major political party, let alone win the election, is as remote as the proverbial "Man in the Moon". As for the recent pronouncements by the Rev. Pat Robertson that, in my opinion, is no more than a little self-promoting publicity noise. C.K.

MUCH INFLUENCE

Someone once said that no one has as much influence on the minds of others as a writer, a teacher, or a priest. In my opinion, a clergyman should not run for President no matter what his or her political viewpoints are. It would be like the Middle Ages if a member of the clergy were elected. Church matters should be kept separate from the concerns of the state. C.P.

NO POLITICS

No, I do not think that the clergy should actively get involved in politics although many now do so. The problem is separating the funds collected for religious purposes and those for political purposes. Many people contribute to radio and TV clergymen for religious purposes. If this money is used to run a political campaign then it is not right. E.R.

WON'T BE ELECTED

There is no reason why anyone, including a member of the clergy, should be automatically disqualified from politics by law. But there is another question of whether they can do both jobs right. I would not vote for a priest or minister or rabbi to be president and I think that is really where it is at. They can run if they want to do so, but they probably won't be elected. L.T.

RELIGIOUS NEED

I would be against a member of a religious denomination I support running for any political office because that is using my affiliation and my contributions for personal benefit. There is plenty of need for more religious work to be done and if a clergyman is running around doing political work then who will do the religious work? L.W.

BASIC ISSUES

I do not really think that the Rev. Pat Robertson will run for President. But if he does I will vote for him. There is need for a return to basic moral values in this country and laymen have failed to bring about this return. If Robertson can do it we should be glad to have a leader of his caliber. I think people then should stop looking upon him as a religious leader but simply as a national leader. P.W.

AGAINST IDEA

A clergyman is an individual who has taken certain religious vows which have little flexibility to adjust for the practical solution of many of the problems of a population reaching close to a quarter of a billion people with all their diverse codes of ethics, morality and behavior. For example, it's not enough merely to stand rigidly behind the basic humanitarian precepts across the board as one religious leader might interpret them. Another clergyman might have a completely different point of view and each of them would feel the righteousness of his or her position from a religious point of view. We have seen the growing attitudes in certain quarters in government and among the populace denouncing anything religious whether it be school prayer, the exhibition of a creche at Christmas in a public place or anything condoned or legislated which could be interpreted as having government sponsorship or permission. We are such a diverse society that our President has got to have the wisdom of Solomon to orient his thinking in such a way as to subjugate his decisions to benefit the vast majority of the nation's citizens and still maintain a position of fairness, legitimacy, truth, honesty and national pride. And this applies equally with respect to international affairs. We have recently seen challenges of authority and basic doctrine in the Catholic Church with consequent divisiveness and yet the authorities involved each feel the strength of their particular stand as consistent with modern morality and practice and not contrary to church teaching. This opinion of mine could turn into a complicated dissertation which would serve no useful purpose. I take the position simply, that I don't believe that a clergyman should run for President of the United States. This, in turn, frees me to publicly denounce presidential decisions which I may feel are contrary to my own deeply seated religious beliefs. P.G.S.

Monday Night Laundry vs. Football

By Victoria Lemley

Coming from upstairs and encumbered with a clothing store of dirty clothes, there are two routes to the laundry room off the kitchen. Neither way is direct or without an element of risk.

Through the family room, there's the constant possibility of stepping on an assortment of Barbies and her belongings or stepping into a line of scrimmage - three or four children carpeting the floor along with the Garbage Pail Kids whose ownership is in hot dispute or tense negotiations. This sort of thing: "Smelly Sally is mine. You traded Dwight Bite for Undead Jed and Jameson traded Flashy Phyllis for your....."

One day to stay off the injured list and uninvolved is to go through the wide open dining room. However, there is always the chance a garment could tumble from the mountain top; they've all been warned about rolling up their socks. Something that strays could go undetected under the china for weeks! Yet my son would never forgive me if something unmentionable of his were to go "public" for any amount of time.

My mistake this particular Monday night was to be concerned about embarrassing my son at the height of the football season; a season that seems to spill into almost all of the ones I'm more familiar with - like summer, fall, winter, for instance. And where my husband is concerned there are only "heights" where football is concerned. I was coming through the family room, but coming between the fan and his football.

Without taking his eyes off the television screen and employing a left forearm I could feel through the light colored clothes, he had effectively sidelined me on my way to my goal: the delicates in the dryer.

"Watch this, Vic," he said, genuinely anxious, it seemed, to share yet another great moment in football history. It must have been the essence of locker room I was wearing in my arms that made him think for a moment he could share it with me. Before the next commercial he would come to his senses.

He wouldn't have forgotten so soon the one and only football game we ever went to together. It was Washington, so it must have been the Redskins. Mostly, I watched the clock; impatient for the game to end.

In all fairness to football, my husband had mentioned before the game began that we may be moving "but we'd talk about it after the game." It was then I learned there is no such thing as "two minutes left" in football.

Only recently my husband invited me to go to another football game.

Having just moved from New York, I suggested he see if someone else would like to go; convincing him I had just been to a football game.

"When were you at a football game?" he asked not so convinced. "In 1971, remember, just before we moved to Canada."

He wouldn't have forgotten and I remembered. He had used this play before. "Watch this, Vic" was a defensive tackle. He was stopping what appeared to be a walking wardrobe from blocking his view - the first or the fourth and from which camera angle, I'm not sure.

All I really wanted to do was pass. And without losing too many yards of laundry along the way do a load of whites so no one would be without underwear in the morning. Not as exciting as scoring a touchdown and definitely not as rewarding. Procter and Gamble has yet to offer a contract to endorse any of its soaps.

"Watch this, Vic" was at the least an interference and quite possibly an illegal use-of-the-hands penalty if it hadn't been for the clothes basket. I faked interest.

"Who's the cute one in the maroon helmet? Which is the one they call 'Big Mac' and sells refrigerators? I think I've seen that team on a Bob Hope show. Is this an important game? What's at stake here? Does this one decide who does in the turkey on Thanksgiving or bowls us over on New Year's?"

A time-out is called in the family room. No, it's an interception. My armchair linebacker has the basket and is rushing toward the laundry room. There's no stopping him; all I can do is pick up a few flying pieces.

Touchdown! And just as the delicates are done. What timing! What? No dance?! Not a chance he'll help sort and fold at half time either.

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about the LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite, we have to say that the specials are really "special."

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

RESTAURANT GUIDE

READER RATINGS

Q. My friend and I enjoy a relaxing drink at the bar before eating dinner in our favorite restaurant. How much should we tip the bartender?
A. Ten or fifteen percent of the bill is the usual amount.

Q. What is the correct way to eat crackers in soup?
A. Small crackers, such as oyster crackers, may be added to the soup and eaten that way. However, large soda crackers should really not be crumbled into the soup. It is better to keep them on the plate and eat them along with the soup.

Q. As a non-drinker, sometimes I feel ill at ease in a restaurant when everyone at the table orders cocktails except me. Should I say no to my companions?
A. There is no reason for you to feel uncomfortable or to give reasons why you do not drink. When the cocktail orders are being taken simply smile and say, "Nothing for me, thank you!" or if you prefer order ginger ale or Perrier water.

REAL WINNER

The Portuguese Restaurant Arlindo's on Mineola Boulevard, Mineola, is a real winner. The arched entrance to the restaurant makes you feel as though you are entering a retreat long ago. The decor is beautiful inside with a bright and new appearance.

Featured on the menu are fish and meat dishes with a distinct Portuguese flavor.

We were well satisfied with the food which included Shrimp cocktails paella (a combination of many fine fish treats including lobster, mussels, shrimp and scallops). The service was very good and Arlindo, the owner, personally thanked us for being among his guests. We highly recommend this restaurant. T.R.

Good Food
Mahoney's Hillside Restaurant has been a landmark in Williston Park since 1948. It is synonymous with good food, including steaks and chops. Seafood is a speciality. Last week they had a Grand Re-Opening. The restaurant has been newly re-decorated on the inside, with a modern up-to-date new kitchen.

In the spring the entire exterior was re-done, with beautiful windows surrounding it. All in all, not only is the restaurant visually beautiful but you can always be assured that you will have an enjoyable dinner. Our party of four was there Thursday night and we enjoyed the broiled bluefish and the Alaska King Crab legs, while the other couple enjoyed the Corned Beef and Cabbage and a steak. The salad bar is always a treat! Be assured the service will be attentive.

Continued success to Mahoney's. They have worked diligently to achieve this and are a credit to Williston Park. E.H.

GOOD LANDMARK
The Davenport Press, which has been around as a printing shop but never a restaurant, for many years is a good restaurant. They must have performed a miracle to change the old Davenport Press building on Main Street, Mineola into a restaurant. But let me tell you it is a good one.

There are several large intimate rooms. The large one we were in contains a real fireplace. There is a long bar at one end of the building. The menu is a good one. We had prime ribs that were juicy and tender with an appetizer called "Davey Jones Locker". It contained different types of seafood, shrimp, oysters and other choice pieces. We recommend the Davenport Press. R.H.

Q. Recently I was a guest at a club luncheon in a restaurant. Accidentally, I overturned my tomato juice. What was the right thing to do? The waiter didn't see the accident immediately. T.L.

A. A waiter seeing such an accident would immediately change the cloth, or if that was impossible at a long table, would spread a clean napkin over the spilled food. As the waiter did not do this because he was busy elsewhere, at a large luncheon you could have spread a napkin over the spot yourself, without undue discussion of the incident. Everyone occasionally has things like this happen.

Q. What do you do with the wrapper on a lump of sugar when you are dining out in a restaurant? Do you put it on the tablecloth, in the saucer of your cup, or in the ashtray? A.M.

A. This is one of those things for which there is no real rule. You just use common sense. I would say put it on the tablecloth, for if you put it in the ashtray it may start a fire, and if you put it in your saucer it may cause the cup to tip over when you put it back in the saucer.

Q. Why in some restaurants do I have to sit there so long before the waitress gives me the check?

A. Well, the answer to your question is hard to define. It might be simply because the restaurant is so busy that the waitress hasn't time to add up the check. But, at some of the better restaurants, you will never get a check unless you ask for it. In these establishments, they feel that the guests should decide how long they wish to talk or occupy the space after eating and only on rare occasions will they bring a check that has not been solicited and then with apologies.

Q. Some restaurants make a big thing over a lobster tank, but I think it is disgusting to have to kill these animals in order to get a meal. Why do they have these tanks?

A. The reason is simply that lobster has to be freshly killed to be eaten. The lobster tank lets the diner see that what he is getting is really fresh lobster. Possibly some squeamish people believe that the lobster tank should be somewhere else, but most diners want to see the live ones and if you do not, you should be suspicious. They are killed instantly in boiling water.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides
Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it publishes the last word in restaurant guides... a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings".

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

Works of tart

Some culinary efforts rely on their complexity and sophistication for applause. Others, like the fruit tart, are appreciated for their glorious simplicity.

There is no exact formula for the perfect fruit tart.

It may consist of a free-form pastry shell or be baked in a low fluted pan. The crust may be rich like shortbread, or flaky and cookie-crisp.

Underpinnings may include a thin layer of genoise cake or a glossy pastry cream.

The arrangement of fruit can be neat and precise, or an enthusiastic show of artistic virtuosity.

Even the size and shape depend on the cook's whim. Individual pastry shells hold a dollop of pastry cream and four or five bite-sized bits of fruit. Ten-inch shells hold a kaleidoscopic arrangement of fruits. And Martha Stewart, author of "Pies and Tarts," is fond of creating pastry "stars," "blossoms" and heart-shaped crusts filled with valentine-red berries.

MARTHA STEWART'S PATE BRISEE (BASIC PIE CRUST)

- 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar (optional)
- 1 cup (2 sticks) cold unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
- ¼ to ½ cup ice water

Put the flour, salt and sugar in the bowl of a food processor. All ingredients should be cold. Add the pieces of butter and process for approximately 10 seconds, or just until the mixture resembles coarse meal. (To mix by hand, combine dry ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Using a pastry blender or two table knives, cut in the butter until the mixture resembles coarse meal.)

Add ice water, drop by drop through the feed tube with the machine running, just until the dough holds together without being wet or sticky; do not process more than 30 seconds. Test the dough at this point by squeezing a small amount together. If it is crumbly, add a bit more water.

Turn the dough out onto a large piece of plastic wrap. Grasping the ends of the plastic wrap with your hands, press the dough into a flat circle with your fists. This makes rolling easier than if the pastry is chilled as a ball. Wrap the dough in the plastic and chill for at least an hour.

Lightly butter or spray with vegetable cooking spray the pie plate(s) or tart pan(s) you will be using. On a lightly floured board, roll out the pastry to a thickness of ¼ inch. Place the pastry in the tart pan, pie plate or pastry ring which has been set on a parchment-lined baking sheet, and press it into the bottom edges and along the sides. Trim the pastry using scissors or a sharp paring knife, or by rolling a rolling pin across the top of the pan. (I often cut the pastry an inch or so higher than the edge of the tart pan and tuck this overhang to the inside of the pan for extra height and reinforcement.) Crimp or decorate the edges of the pastry, if desired. Chill the pastry-lined pan until ready to use. Unbaked pastry shells can be refrigerated, well-wrapped in plastic, for up to one day, for longer storage; they can be frozen.

Makes two 8- to 10-inch tarts or single-crust pies, one 8- to 10-inch double-crust pie, or 12 2½- to 3-inch tartlets.

PRE-BAKED PASTRY SHELLS

To partially or completely bake unfilled pastry, preheat the oven to 400 F. Carefully line the pastry with aluminum foil, pressing it into the corners and edges, and weight with beans, rice, or aluminum or ceramic weights. Bake for 15 to 18 minutes (10 to 12 minutes for a partially baked shell). When the pastry begins to color around the edges, remove the foil and weights and continue to bake just until the pastry dries out and turns a light golden color for a partially baked shell, and a deeper amber for a fully baked shell. Let cool completely on a wire rack before filling. Baked shells can be stored in tightly covered plastic containers, or well-wrapped in the freezer.

MARTHA STEWART'S PATE SUCREE (BASIC SWEET CRUST)

- 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1 cup (2 sticks) cold unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
- 4 tablespoons ice water
- 2 egg yolks, lightly beaten

Follow the instructions for making pate brisee, but slowly add the egg yolks at the same time as the ice water. Roll out and bake as directed. Makes two 8- to 10-inch tarts or single-crust pies, or 12 2½- to 3-inch tartlets.

MARTHA STEWART'S NON-BUTTER CRUST

- 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon granulated sugar
- 1 cup cold vegetable shortening, lard or margarine, cut into small pieces
- ¼ cup ice water

Follow the instructions for making pate brisee, rolling out and baking as directed. Makes two 8- to 10-inch single-crust pies or tarts, one 8- to 10-inch double-crust pie, or 12 2½- to 3-inch tartlets.

While the tart is baking, prepare custard. Beat the egg and sugar until thick and pale yellow. Add the flour and mix until smooth. Beat in the cream and Cognac. Spoon the custard around the bottom of the softened plums and sprinkle with vanilla sugar. Return the tart to the oven and bake for approximately 20 minutes, until the custard is puffed and golden. Let cool before serving.

VARIATION: Four 4-inch tartlets can be made by cutting the plums into small wedges and spooning approximately ¼ cup of custard into each partially baked tartlet shell.

APPLE TART

A pate sablee — crumbly cookie-like pastry — is also the usual base for jam tarts, made by replacing the apples in this recipe with a thin layer of jam and pressing a decorative latticework of pastry strips on top. Any fairly thick pureed jam or fruit butter may replace the apricot jam as a glaze in this recipe — I usually use a wild-plum jam.

- 2 cups flour
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 4 tablespoons butter, softened
- Salt
- 1 egg
- 4 medium-sized apples
- Sugar
- Pureed apricot jam

Combine the first five dough ingredients in a bowl, stirring and mashing with a fork until the dough is fairly smooth, then work it with your fingertips until it forms a coherent mass. Transfer the dough to a floured pastry marble or board, and knead it for a couple of minutes. Gather the dough together in a ball and begin again — it will, at this point, be soft and sticky, wrap it in plastic wrap or wax paper and refrigerate it for at least a couple of hours.

Lightly butter a large baking sheet. Roll out the dough as rapidly as possible, being certain that it is always lightly coated with flour. Turn over the dough two or three times while rolling it into a circular sheet approximately 14 inches in diameter.

Fold the sheet and transfer it to the baking sheet, then unfold the sheet. (The dough is extremely fragile, if it should tear, don't worry — patch it up.) Roll up the edges to form a border, pressing all around with the tines of a fork.

Halve the apples. Core and peel them. Slice each of the halves crosswise into ¼- to ¼-inch thicknesses and arrange the slices, starting just inside the border of the pastry, in concentric overlapping rings. Sprinkle with sugar and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for about 1 hour, checking progress regularly after 45 minutes.

Using a pastry brush, paint the surface of the apple slices with the pureed jam, or simply dribble on the jam with a teaspoon, then smear it with the back of the spoon over the surface of each apple slice. Slip the tart onto a large flat, round platter. Serve hot, tepid or cold. Makes one 12-inch tart.

(From "Simple French Food" by Richard Olney.)

RED RASPBERRY TARTLETS

- Four 4-inch pate brisee tartlet shells, baked and cooled
- ¼ cup red currant jelly
- 1½ cups heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon framboise (optional)
- 1 pint fresh red raspberries

Melt the jelly in a small saucepan and strain. Brush the inside bottom and edges of the baked tartlet shells with a small amount.

Whip the cream (with framboise, if desired) to soft peaks and divide evenly among the tartlet shells. Carefully arrange the raspberries on top. Brush with remaining jelly and chill until ready to serve.

TART SHELL

- 2 cups flour, sifted
- ½ cup sugar
- Dash salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 egg

Sift together flour, sugar and salt. Work in butter and egg with fingertips to make a smooth dough. Roll out on a floured board. Fit into a greased and floured 9-inch fluted tart pan, pressing dough against sides and bottom of pan. Run a rolling pin over rim of pan to remove excess dough. Pierce bottom of pastry with a fork. Cut a circle of foil to fit shell. Place on bottom of pan and weight with rice or beans to keep pastry from puffing while baking. Bake at 425 F 10 to 15 minutes or until shell is lightly browned. Remove beans and foil and cool shell.

Salmon is perfect for chef in a hurry

Salmon, with its striking pink color and its adaptability to a variety of quick preparations, is a perfect choice for the chef in a hurry who wants to create a delicious, unusual and beautiful entrée.

Though today's recipes can only hint at the many ways to prepare this versatile fish, I hope they'll make salmon enthusiasts of you and your guests.

BROILED SALMON STEAKS WITH GARLIC BUTTER

- 4 salmon steaks, cut 1/4 of an inch thick
- 1/2 cup clarified butter
- 3 medium cloves garlic, minced

DO-AHEAD STEP: Make the clarified butter/garlic mixture a day or more ahead, refrigerate and melt as needed.

To make the clarified butter, melt one stick of butter (4 ounces), being careful not to burn it. Remove the melted butter from heat and allow the solids to settle to the bottom of the pan. Pour off the clear butterfat on top and discard the solids.

In 1 tablespoon of the clarified butter, briefly saute the minced garlic until it softens, do not allow to brown. Stir the garlic into the rest of the clarified butter and reserve.

Brush the salmon steaks with the garlic-butter mixture and broil, turning once, until cooked through (4 to 5 minutes per side). Broiling over charcoal or mesquite gives especially good results, but your oven will do just fine.

Serving suggestion: Carefully remove the bones before serving, and fill the center of the steaks with steamed vegetables (see text). If desired, make some extra garlic butter for the vegetables.

Serves 4

Total preparation/cooking time (including do-ahead step) — 15 minutes.

SALMON WITH ANCHOVY BUTTER AND HOLLANDAISE

- 4 salmon steaks or fillets, about 8 ounces each
- 1 recipe Easy Hollandaise Sauce (recipe follows)
- Olive oil to brush salmon
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 4 anchovies, minced
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 3 tablespoons caviar (optional)

Blend together butter, anchovies and paprika until smooth.

Sprinkle the salmon with salt and pepper to taste and brush lightly with olive oil. Broil, about 4 inches from source of heat, turning once.

Meanwhile, prepare the Easy Hollandaise Sauce (recipe follows).

A minute or so before the salmon is finished cooking, brush with half the anchovy butter.

Remove the salmon to a platter, spread with the remaining anchovy butter and serve each piece topped with hollandaise. The caviar (optional) should be mixed with the hollandaise before serving.

Serves 4.

Total preparation/cooking time — 20 minutes

EASY HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 4 egg yolks
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 pinch white pepper
- 1 pinch cayenne
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 stick unsalted butter

In blender or food processor blend lemon juice, egg yolks, salt, pepper, cayenne and mustard. Melt the butter in small skillet or saucepan until bubbling (it must be bubbling or the hollandaise will not thicken).

With the blender running on medium or high speed, slowly add the hot butter in a thin stream. Serve hot.

Makes about 1/2 cup

NOTE: For thicker hollandaise or to reheat, the sauce may be placed over hot water in a double boiler.

microwave magic

Microwave a better brussels sprout

By Desiree Vivea

If you've always hated brussels sprouts, it's probably because your mother (or the school cafeteria) overcooked them when you were growing up. Boil the sprouts too long and their flavor becomes overpowering and downright unpleasant. So no wonder you thought you didn't like them.

Well, now's the time to think again. Your microwave oven steam-cooks vegetables in a minimal amount of water, so boiled-to-death vegetables are a thing of the past. (They retain more vitamins, too.) Today's recipes call for frozen sprouts, but you can also use fresh. Peak season runs from October through February.

To prepare fresh sprouts, first soak in cold water about 10 minutes to remove any insects that may be lurking among the leaves. Rinse, trim stem ends, and remove any yellowing or wilted leaves. Cut a small, shallow "X" in stem end of each sprout to ensure even cooking. You may want to cut larger sprouts in half.

To microwave, place one pound of fresh brussels sprouts in a 1 1/2-quart glass casserole. Add 1/4 cup water and a dash of salt. Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 7 to 9 minutes, stirring gently after 4 minutes, until sprouts are just tender.

Brussels sprouts are known to have been cultivated in Belgium during the 16th century (and hence the name), but they were not well known in other parts of Europe until sometime between 1800-1850. And it was only after 1945, with the advent of commercially frozen foods, that brussels sprouts became a common sight on America's dinner tables.

Also called "Tom Thumb" cabbage (because of their diminutive size) brussels sprouts are, indeed, a miniature member of the cabbage family. They're a good source of vitamins A and C, and provide a fair amount of iron.

Better yet, they really do taste good when they're cooked properly. Try today's microwave recipes and see for yourself. You may find that you like brussels sprouts after all!

BRUSSELS SPROUTS CANTON

- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen brussels sprouts
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 clove garlic, minced

QUICK 'N' CREAMY BRUSSELS SPROUTS

- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen brussels sprouts
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1/4 teaspoon dill weed
- 1/4 teaspoon onion salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
- 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, cut in 1/4-inch cubes

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
Cooking Time: 4 to 6 minutes (plus 3 minutes standing time)
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Place frozen brussels sprouts in 1-quart glass casserole. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons water. Microwave, covered, 4 to 6 minutes, rearranging after 3 minutes, until heated through. Drain off water.

Sprinkle hot sprouts with dill weed, onion salt and pepper; toss. Sprinkle cream cheese cubes over sprouts, replace cover, and let stand 3 minutes.

Toss gently to distribute softened cheese. Serve immediately. Serves 3 to 4.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS IN CHEESE SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated onion
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger
- Dash each salt and pepper

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
Cooking Time: 6 to 8 minutes
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Combine all ingredients in 1-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave 4 minutes.

Toss gently to rearrange sprouts and microwave 2 to 4 minutes longer, until sprouts are tender and steaming hot.

Serves 3 to 4.

- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon each salt and ground white pepper
- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen brussels sprouts
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 3 tablespoons coarse dry bread crumbs
- Paprika

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 15 to 17 minutes
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Place butter in glass custard cup. Microwave 5 to 10 seconds, to soften. Blend in flour to make a smooth paste; set aside.

Pour milk into 2-cup glass measure. Microwave 3 to 4 minutes until hot (do not boil). Blend in flour paste, a little at a time, stirring well. Microwave 2 minutes longer.

Stir in salt, pepper, and mustard. Set aside.

Combine frozen sprouts and 2 tablespoons butter in 1 1/2-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave 10 minutes, tossing gently to rearrange after 5 minutes.

Pour prepared sauce over top of hot sprouts. Stir gently to coat sprouts, then sprinkle shredded cheese over top. Sprinkle evenly with bread crumbs, then dust lightly with paprika.

Microwave, uncovered, 1 to 2 minutes longer, until cheese is melted.

MARTHA STEWART'S NUT CRUST

- 10 ounces finely chopped almonds, walnuts, pecans, filberts or macadamia nuts
- 1 cup (2 sticks) unsalted butter, at room temperature
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon almond or vanilla extract

Preheat oven to 350 F. Butter the tart or tartlet pans you will be using.

Put all the ingredients in a large mixing bowl and mix until well blended, using an electric mixer or wooden spoon. Divide the mixture and press into the prepared pans. Chill for at least 30 minutes.

Bake the crust for 20 to 25 minutes, or until the shells are golden brown. Let cool on racks before filling. Makes two 8- to 10-inch tart shells or 12 2 1/2- to 3-inch tartlets.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q I recently purchased a house that has a front porch and steps made of slate. As this material is very slippery when wet I would like to know the best method of eliminating this problem. Would indoor/outdoor carpeting adhere to this type of a surface? Would this be the solution to my problem?—S.S.

A If you have not already tried it, I suggest that you give the floor a coat or two of terrazzo sealer. Probably one of the solvent types would be best.

No doubt your dealer has one of these sealers in stock. If his is of the emulsion type, give it a trial. It should not visibly affect the terrazzo except to give it better traction.

If the sealer fails to give the desired results, apply a coat of Ludox diluted about one-third with water. It should be diluted just enough so that it spreads easily. Ludox is a colloidal silica made by the Du Pont Co. to be added to floor wax emulsions to make them non-slip.

If you have trouble locating any of these products you can check with janitor-supply stores, which often carry such items.

Q If you dislike the looks of the slate, you may want to proceed with the installation of indoor/outdoor carpeting. This should be easy to install over the slate surface and it would correct the slipperiness problem.

Q Our green carpet in the living and dining room and hallway is in excellent condition, except for a small area from the foyer into the hallway. This area shows wear due to heavy traffic.

A Are there any alternatives other than replacing the entire carpeting?—R.B.

A Many newer homes use tile or slate, or even wood flooring in entryways for the purpose of increased durability in these heavy traffic areas.

You may want to consider cutting the carpet at an angle or with a curve which allows the entryway to flow through the corner of the room and continue down the hallway. You could extend the new surface along the hallway as well as in the entryway.

Suitable floor coverings would include vinyl or ceramic tiles, slate, parquet or other wood treatments which come in easy-to-install units. However, you will not be able to install a wood flooring on concrete. If it is a concrete sub-flooring, use one of the tile treatments.

Q We recently bought a 40-year-old house that has an outside, covered screened porch. We removed the tile that had been glued to the cement porch floor with black adhesive but the black adhesive is still on the cement.

Q Can we paint over this black adhesive? If so, how? Or, are we better off if we install a rug or straw mat over the black adhesive? If so, what kind of rug would withstand the rain that comes into the screened porch?—S.K.K.

A Your best bet is to remove the black adhesive prior to any type of resurfacing.

If the adhesive is not water-soluble, try using naphtha and steel wool. Careful sanding with an electric sander may also work well.

There are some commercial products on the market for the removal of different types of tile adhesives. Check with your tile dealer for recommendations.

Once the adhesive residue is removed you can paint the surface, re-tile, or install indoor/outdoor carpeting. All of these will withstand the outdoor environment.

If you decide to paint the surface be sure to use a good-quality masonry paint and apply a sealer prior to the final paint application.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 15 and have a big problem. My parents allowed me to date this summer for the first time with one condition. I could not get too involved with the boy. I've been dating Brian regularly for four weeks and I really like him very much. He is a super guy and any girl would say yes if he asked her to go steady. Well, he asked me and I'm on "cloud nine." I told him my answer would probably be yes but that I had a few things I had to straighten out first.

That's why I'm writing to you. If I asked my parents, not only would they say, "No way," they would stop me from seeing Brian "because we would be too involved."

Dr. Wallace: This is a once-in-a-lifetime chance for me to be going steady with the neatest guy in town. Please tell me what to do.—Ginger

Ginger: Be honest with Brian. Tell him that one of the conditions for dating was that you could not be "too involved." Express your feelings but explain that going steady could possibly mean that your parents will forbid you to see him. I'm sure Brian will understand.

Dr. Wallace: I am 19 and was born with a birthmark on my cheek and neck, and it is noticeable. In fact, at times it makes me self-conscious. I've been to several dermatologists and have been told the birthmark can be removed with a certain type of surgery. My grandmother, who has been my legal guardian since I was 3, is a lovely person but sometimes we don't agree. This is one of the times. She thinks that I shouldn't have it removed because it is God's will that I was born that way. I know this sounds stupid but sometimes I wonder if God did intend for me to remain that way.—Tina

Tina: Too many times. God is blamed for things that he shouldn't be blamed for. By all means have the surgery. It's easy for Grandmother to give advice. The birthmark is not on her face.

Dr. Wallace: My best friend and I went to a shopping center last Saturday and when she thought I wasn't looking, she stole a pair of sunglasses. I saw her slip the glasses into her purse when she thought no one was looking. Thank goodness she wasn't caught. When we left the store I told her I saw her steal the glasses. At first she denied it, but then she finally admitted it when I asked her to open her purse and show me.

Then she started to cry and begged me not to tell anyone. She said it was her first time and she would never do it again. I promised, but now I'm not sure that I should keep that promise. I think that maybe if I told her mother, my friend would be sure never to steal again. If she does and she gets caught, then I will feel bad. What should I do?—Joanne Joanne: There are times when one is justified in breaking a promise but this is not one of those times. Give your friend a chance to work things out herself.

Dr. Wallace: I am a faithful reader of your column and I was shocked that you wrote that boys are better at math than girls. When I was in fifth grade I was working in the seventh-grade math book. I will be a sophomore this school year and will be taking Algebra II.

I have already completed Algebra I and geometry and received A's in both classes. Math comes so easy to me that I don't have to study much except for my finals. I love math. How can you say that boys are more intelligent in math than girls when I have the highest average in all of my math classes?—Angie Angie: For once I'm innocent. The boys being smarter than girls in mathematics theory was reached by an intensive study conducted by the University of Michigan. Even if the theory is fact there are always exceptions to the rule, and you are living proof. Congratulations!

Dr. Wallace: How much sleep does a "growing teenager" (as my mother puts it) need every night? I am 13 and my mom insists that I get 10½ to 11 hours of sleep every night. She says it will make me healthier and make me grow taller.

I spend so much time in bed that I could stay awake for a month and still not be tired.—Carl

Carl: Sleep is vital for proper health and energy, but sleep itself will not promote growing taller than "mother nature" intends, according to Dr. George Christakis of the Miami University School of Medicine. He recommends no more than 10 hours per night and no less than seven hours. You cannot accumulate sleep. If you sleep 12 hours one night and six hours the next, it doesn't average out to nine good hours. It means that both sleeping patterns were wrong.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Here is the question: "Len, I want to do some work, to be active in my retirement years. Do you have some suggestions on how to get started?"

Yes, there are lots of ways to make money in retirement. You can work to produce income, and/or you can work to produce fun and income. It really depends on which way you want to go.

If you just want to produce some added income by getting a part-time job, try these:

Fast Food Restaurants: The supply of younger people to work under the "Golden Arches" and similar fast food establishments is dwindling. These types of businesses now must look to mature adults. You can work various hours, are more loyal as employees, and actually maintain the service discipline better. Start right down the street.

Day Care Centers: More and more mothers of young children are working, and this means that more and more children are in day-care centers. This may create real opportunities as chief cook and bottle washer for the snacks and mealtimes, for story-telling times and such. Start with the Yellow Pages or community directory.

Bus Drivers: Mature adults make great school bus drivers—again because you are able to work varied, and even short shifts.

This probably will require an up-graded drivers' license and a physical examination. For this opportunity, call on your public school system and private schools, day-care centers and even colleges.

Convenience Stores are springing up everywhere, and most do their highest volumes of business during two or three different times each day. One chain of stores we've seen hires senior citizens just to make the endless pots of coffee for patrons who pick up a cup each day en route to work. The shift is three to four hours, and great for early-risers. Others work the after-school rush. Here, your flexibility again is the key.

Telephone Sales opportunities are growing every day and are staffed mainly by part-time employees. The reason is that the average tele-marketer can handle about 60 calls each day before losing speed and effectiveness—and that equates to about four or five hours. Tele-marketing is used now to generate appointments for a company's salespeople, to sell newspaper subscriptions and to sell products. Check the classified ads in this newspaper for any listings.

There are also five "fun and money" ideas to share in this column, where you might have to create your opportunity. Consider these:

Travel Sales: Travel agencies many times use "outside salespeople" who work on commission to sell travel to groups. You might need specific travel agent training, but the cost of such could be tax-deductible in order to qualify for the opportunity. Start by talking to two or three local travel agents.

The Executive Secretary: Service clubs, local professional organizations most times retain someone to be their executive secretary—if not already doing it, most should be doing it. The job entails keeping membership rolls, preparing bulletins and meeting notices, keeping minutes of meetings, making room and luncheon meeting arrangements and handling telephone calls and reservations. Even a "stay at home" with a small computer can handle this job, and be a "very important person" to a lot of people. Ask five or six local service clubs if they could operate better with this type of service. I'll bet you'll find positive answers—and the opportunity for a few to several retainer checks, each month.

Real Estate Sales: On this I don't mean to join the crowd of people who "sit on houses," hoping that someone will come to visit and buy it. What is your field of interest? Be the real estate person who specializes in business or interest fields where you have experience or interest already. An example? A retired supermarket manager would understand the needs and operations of a convenience shopping center—so, perhaps, he or she would specialize in that type of property transactions.

DEAR ST. JUDE, HEARTFELT thanks for granting my needs. I shall always keep you in my mind and heart. Thank you. R.S. ho1

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers A.B. ho1

Quality Or Quantity?

One
Sure Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results

reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

A window seat that works

By Sharon Owen Haven

Q. I always thought it would be wonderful to have a window seat in the bay window of our living room, but now that we have one, nobody uses it. I hate to waste the space. Do you have any ideas for what else we can put there? — V.M.

A. There's no need to abandon the window seat entirely. Why not simply convert it to another use? If nothing else there are ample opportunities for storage here.

In the room pictured, the window seat was turned into a TV stereo center. Speakers were installed under the seat as well as slots for equipment and records.

By removing the cushions, the window seat serves as a display area or TV table. The extra attraction of this solution is that it is relatively easy to transform the media center back into a window seat if needed for large gatherings.

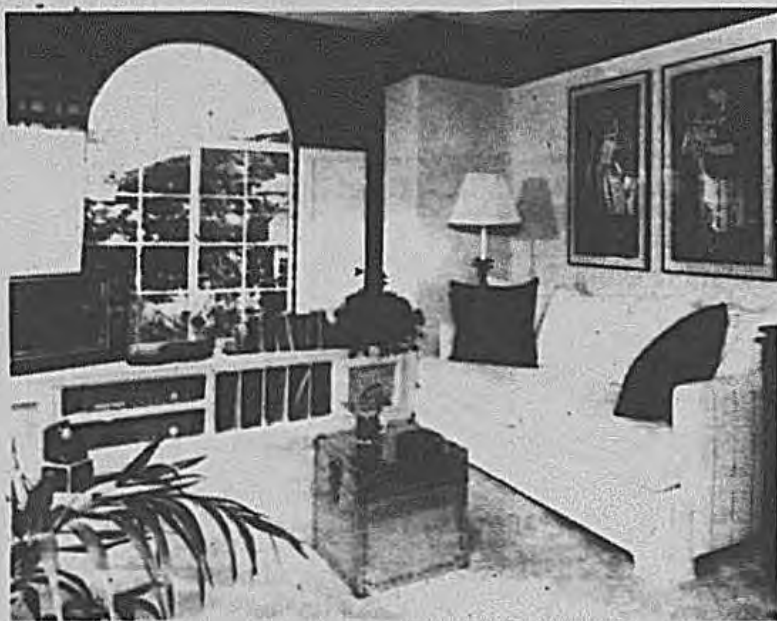

Q. We are busy planning a nursery for our first baby. My mother has lots of definite ideas about what furnishings are necessary, but I am not interested in investing much money in furniture that will be soon outgrown. What is your advice? — A.J.

A. Since the life span of a nursery ranges somewhere from six to 10 months, you are wise to question the necessity of making a major investment in furnishings. An infant doesn't even require his own room, much less the lineup of bathing and changing tables and cutesy infant furnishings that prospective parents are urged to buy.

It's much safer to change a squirming baby on the floor or your bed than on most changing tables. Lightweight, plastic baby tubs that can be carried to the water source are immensely more practical than any bathing table arrangement, so why waste your money?

You will probably want to invest in a good crib, although cradles are wonderful for a couple of months. A crib should be very sturdy, have a side that raises and lowers, and have an adjustable bed height. Check the rails to make sure they are spaced closely enough together so that a baby cannot wedge his head between them. The mattress should be firm and bumper guards are always a good idea. There are several crib styles that convert to youth beds or even desks when they are outgrown.

Other than a comfortable place to sleep, fresh air, light and you, your baby's needs are simple. Since the senses are the focus of a baby's development in this period,

WINDOW SEAT — Whether or not they are used for seating, window seats can make handy storage centers.

creating a stimulating (not overwhelming) environment can aid this development. Even newborns respond to primary color and movement, making mobiles a popular addition to the nursery. Everything else is for your comfort and convenience. Provide for storage in a manner that suits you, since your baby couldn't care less, and be sure you have a comfortable chair (rockers are great) for late-night lullabies.

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

Q: This serving dish and cream pitcher are marked, "Victoria — Austria — Blue Bird." I would like to know who made them, when and where. Can you give me an estimate of their value?

A: These were made by Victoria Porzellanfabrik in Alt-Rohlau, Austria, between 1900 and 1915. In 1918 this area became part of Czechoslovakia.

"Blue Bird" is the name of the pattern. The creamer would sell for about $35 and the pierced serving dish would be about $75. These prices are what a dealer would ask for them.

Q: When I asked you where I could sell a cast iron, antique parlor stove, you told me it was impossible for you to help me. I don't see why you couldn't come up with a better answer.

A: A few years ago I tried to help readers sell their antiques, but the results were sometimes unpleasant. I couldn't guarantee that I would provide a buyer and I couldn't control how much a buyer would pay. Many readers were disappointed and displeased with results over which I had no control.

The most unsatisfactory issue was that of distance. Buyers didn't want to pay for an antique without seeing it and sellers didn't want to ship their antiques without advance payment.

Q: The attached mark is on the bottom of a 8½-inch-tall figurine of a Dutch boy and girl, seated. Can you tell me the name of the maker, its vintage and the current market value? It appears to be porcelain.

A: This mark was used by the Gebruder (brothers) Heubach in Kopelsdorf, Germany, around the turn of the century. The company was in business from 1820 to 1925 and is well known for its porcelain figurines and dolls.

Your figurine would sell for about $375 to $425 in an antique shop. If you would want to sell it, you would probably have to settle for considerably less.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q: Our children want to take their 5-year-old poodle on our family vacation. I feel that leaving the dog in a kennel would be better for the dog and the family.

A: What is your advice regarding taking pets on vacation?

There are many things to consider when deciding how to handle pets during vacation. It is not always easy to decide what is best for the pet and for the family. As a member of the family, your dog deserves to be considered in vacation plans. Some dogs are excellent travelers. Others can take all the pleasure out of a trip.

Some of the things that should be considered:

- Is your pet a good traveler?
- Have you taken the dog on family vacations previously?
- Where will the family be lodging?
- What is the nature of the family's activities while vacationing?
- How much room is there in the family car?
- What are the alternatives to taking the dog along?

A week or two in a clean, well-run boarding kennel might be a perfect vacation for your dog. Any reputable boarding kennel should allow you to inspect the premises and answer your questions regarding routines, feeding, cleaning, rates, activities, etc.

Your veterinarian can probably advise you about boarding your particular dog. Depending on the nature of your vacation, boarding may be less stressful for your dog than taking it along.

If you decide to take the dog along, plan ahead. Many motels and hotels will permit dogs in their rooms or have kennels on their premises. However, you should check on this for each place you plan to stay in advance.

If your plans include visiting relatives or friends, they, too, should be asked if your dog is welcome and if they have suitable places for it to stay.

Dogs should never be left in parked cars during the warm months. Your dog probably will be most at ease if you take along its water bowl, food dish, bed and a few favorite toys. The dog should be fed with food it is used to and should wear a well-fitting collar with identification. The collar also should contain its license and current rabies vaccination tag.

If the motel allows you to keep your dog in your room, you should place a note on the door while you are away so that the maid is not startled when she opens the door to clean.

Wherever you go, remember that you are responsible for your dog's conduct and that the impression you make on the motel managers along the way may have a deciding effect on their attitudes toward all dogs and dog owners.

If you will be traveling abroad, health certificates and particular vaccinations may be required. Your veterinarian can advise you the requirements for each particular state or country.

By being careful and considerate and planning ahead, it is possible to include your pet in your vacation plans. Each family member's welfare, including the dog's, should be considered in making the decision.

A young friend of mine, who is almost four years old, just became the big brother of a baby girl. Of course, he is a little jealous of all the time Mom spends with his little sister.

So Mom hires a babysitter for little Karen and takes Tommy out alone one morning a week. They go to a special "Mommy and Me" nursery school, with other pre-schoolers and mothers. Mom gets a chance to be out of the house without the baby, and Tommy feels he is an important young man who receives special attention from Mom and his new friends at school.

I think Tommy is lucky enough to have a wise and loving Mom!

Your friend,

Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Kim Walton and Billy Dowd.
