Marching Comets Compete In Show

"Bravo" for the Marching Comets. Hicksville was very proud of this group, as they marched to their new exciting 1986 Show, at Lindenhurst's Nassau/Suffolk Band Competition on September 28. The crowds of observers cheered, as they watched the Marching Comet's grand performance of both Jazz and Broadway music.

The Marching Comets opened with Woody Herman's "Fire Dance" which featured an exciting trumpet cadenza and trio. The marching was breathtaking and the dancing was simply beautiful. The second piece performed was Larry Kirschner's "Enchanted Kingdom", in which the music, marching, dancing and visual effects were fantastic and exciting.

The Marching Comets' performance was rated second in their overall score. The Marching Comets are organized by some wonderful, hard-working people.

Director James McRoy, Asst. Director Jean Ryder, Show Design Eugene Bennett, Starlette Coordinator Nancy Hosie, Drum Major Christine Tucker, and "Many supportive parents."

"Why not join the Marching Comets?" Next competition: October 19, 12 p.m., Levittown High School, Division Avenue, Levittown.

"Everyone is welcome to sit among the crowd of cheering observers."

Public Relations for Marching Comets, Connie Mancuso.

Tax Payment Correction Notice

A recent press release from the Town of Oyster Bay regarding the payment of the 1986-87 School Tax Levy indicated that payment by mail should be accompanied by the inclusion of Stub #2. This is not correct and is causing some difficulties in our Receiver of Taxes office.

Town of Oyster Bay residents are reminded that the first half 1986-87 school tax payments are due on and payable without penalty until November 10. When paying in person residents should bring in the entire tax bill. Those paying by mail should detach and enclose Stub #1.

Board Hears Building Plans On Office Site

Special to Mid Island Times
By George A. Mueller

Gans Realty Co., Inc. and Thomas J. Shannon petitioned the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay on Tuesday for a special use permit in a Plainview Industrial "H" Zone. They propose to use the site for business and office purposes and storage of documents in connection with their office operation. Fifty percent of the office space will be leased to another business. The property in question is located at the northwest corner of Terminal Drive and Ames Court.

Edward Robinson, attorney for the petitioners, spoke to the town first on the importance of a rapid decision on the petition. Agency bonding in the amount of $1,200,000 from Manufacturers Hanover for the proposed $1,600,000 project was approved in November of 1985. The contract for the sale of the 14,000 sq. ft. area was signed in February of 1986. The parties involved with the sale are looking to go to closing on the title of the land sometime before December 31 of this year. If closing is not accomplished by the end of the year, the deal could be negated. With the busy schedule of the Zoning Board of Appeals, the need for approval of a few small variances, the most prominent being a shortage of three to four parking spaces, could be a problem. Also an issue to be dealt with is the annulment of two old covenants placed on the property, which according to Supervisor Colby seem to be irrelevant at this time.

The parking problem of 66 parking spaces planned as to the town ordinance required 69 spaces needed, should be no problem according to Supervisor Colby, after hearing David DeBruin's (recognized traffic expert), projection of 59 employees needing to park vehicles once the project is completed. DeBruin added the parking demand would be half of the code ordinance requirement.

Edward Lynch, a real estate expert, recognized by the Board, testified that the property use would be in line with the existing use of the area by other industries.

Mark Stumer, the architect of the project, explained the structure of the building that in his estimation would enhance the appearance of the building and the industrial area in general. The materials used to construct the building would be three different types of glass, manufactured by Vitco, the glass company owned by Steven Gans of Gans Realty Co., Inc., and the operator of the new office building.

Supervisor Colby thanked all those involved for their presentation and the decision on this petition was reserved.

Town Taxes To Rise, Hearings Set For Oct. 21

Local homeowners in the Town will pay a higher tax bill this year according to the new Town budget. The increase includes the extra cost of shipping garbage to Pennsylvania. The owner of a house in an unincorporated area such as Hicksville, Syosset, Bethpage, Plainview and Jericho, assessed at $7,000 would pay $122.40 more than last year.

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby announced that the 1987 Preliminary Budget will hold the General Town Tax rate at 87 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for the fifth consecutive year.

The Town Board set a day and night public hearing on the Preliminary Budget for Tuesday, October 21. The hearings are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the Town Hall East hearing room in Oyster Bay.

Supervisor Colby said, "While costs continue to increase, department heads and other Town officials have made a conscientious effort to develop better, cost effective methods of providing needed services more efficiently. This has assisted us greatly in maintaining our low tax rate."

The proposed General Town Budget, that budget covering the entire Town, totals $37,096,428. The figure for 1986 was $34,892,886.

The children look forward to these days.

Editor's Notebook

An important correction has been received from the Receiver of Taxes regarding payment of 1986-87 School Taxes. A recent release sent by their department stated to return Stub #2 with payment...this is not correct. Payments should be mailed with Stub #1.

Good news for residents of Hicksville in the Old Country Road/East Avenue area. The Town has announced that a traffic signal will be installed shortly. Several serious accidents have occurred in the vicinity.

Hicksville H.S. is gearing up for the annual Homecoming game set for Saturday, October 25. Alumni reunions are scheduled for the night before - should be a fun weekend. V.P.

THE DEPT. of Environmental Conservation of the state has done what many civic leaders have tried to do for a long time. Stop the construction industry. The lid on water usage has made it so that in the Jericho Water Dist., which includes Syosset no new permits can be issued for water hookups because the district is already over its limit....A RELEASE issued by the Town this week was a little misleading. It said that the Town was holding the line on the general tax rate. It failed to say that there was a big increase in the garbage part town tax to be levied on unincorporated areas, which is most of the Town and your tax bill will be higher....WITH 50 many hospitals in the immediate area it would not be a surprise if some merged in addition to the announcement that Glen Cove Community is operating together with North Shore. October - Stamp Collecting Month

Pop quiz.

Which two historical figures appeared on the first U.S. postage stamps in 1847? When were the first U.S. commemorative stamps issued? And what was the problem with the "upside-down" 24-cent airmail stamp in 1918?

interests in areas as diverse as literature, sports, science, history and education to name a few."

The relatively low cost of starting a collection and the variety of types of stamps to be collected make stamp collecting a can't miss proposition.

"Promoting philatelic products is very easy," says Nienaber. "Stamp collecting may not sound very exciting at first, but it's a hobby that grows on you and the history of stamps is fascinating."

Today, stamp collecting is enjoyed by over 22 million people in the United States alone and is considered to be the world's most popular hobby.

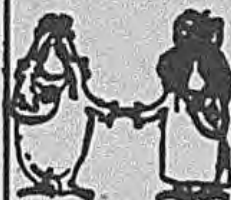

To help new stamp collectors, the 13th edition of "The Postal Service Guide to U.S. Stamps" is available.

Oh, yes, the answers to the philatelic trivia questions. They were easy for longstanding stamp collectors who can answer them without hesitation.

Benjamin Franklin, our first Postmaster General, was on the first five-cent stamp and George Washington was pictured on the 10-cent stamp in 1847. The first U.S. commemorative stamps were the 16 Columbian Exposition issues in 1893. And the mistake in the 24-cent red-and-blue "Inverted Jenny" airmail stamp of 1918 was that the airplane was flying upside down.

You learn something every day, especially through stamp collecting.

These postal trivia questions point out some of the enjoyment and fun of philately, a word derived from Greek for the study and collecting of postage stamps. American philately is 100 years old this year and October has been designated National Stamp Collecting Month. The theme, appropriately, is "Celebrate a century of organized stamp collecting in the United States, 1886-1986."

The Council of Philatelic Organizations (COPO) will co-sponsor the celebration along with the Benjamin Franklin Stamp Clubs, the American Library Association and the National Association of Elementary School Principals. (COPO is comprised of more than 450 national, regional and local stamp clubs.)

"Stamp collecting offers both pleasure and relaxation," says Hicksville Division General Manager/Postmaster Roger Nienaber. "It requires neither training nor expensive equipment. And so many people, young and old, enjoy it."

"Each collection is unique to its owner," says Nienaber. "People can tailor their collections to their

Denis Dillon Attends Fundraiser

In Hicksville, Sunday, October 5, Nassau County District Attorney Denis Dillon, the Right to Life Party candidate for Governor, accompanied by his wife, Anne Dillon, greeted a roomful of supporters attending a cocktail party fundraiser held at the Joseph Barry Council K of C Hall on Heitz Place.

Community members from Hicksville joined other pro-life representatives and friends from such towns as Bethpage, Garden City, Levittown, Hempstead, Mineola, Oyster Bay, Westbury, Williston Park, Greenlawn and Lindenhurst. In the intimate, relaxed, congenial atmosphere of the affair many spoke individually with Mr. Dillon allowing him to see, feel and hear their encouragement for his courageous campaign - "Standing Up for Life." Mrs. Catherine Malone, coordinator of the affair, introduced Mr. Dillon as "the Man of the Century." Addressing the audience, Mr. Dillon urged continued hard work in the last weeks of the campaign throughout New York State as well as on Long Island. He indicated that overwhelming votes on the Right to Life Party Line (Row E) will achieve a means of communication understood by the major parties which they can no longer ignore, as well as assuring that Right to Life continues as a political party.

Lena Harknett of Suffolk County, the newly elected State Chairman of the Right to Life Party, also stressed continued hard work and financial sacrifice to make the goals of the campaign a reality on election day.

August Building Permits $13.8 Million

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark announced that the value for building permits issued during the month of August, 1986 totaled $13,792,190.

Councilman Clark said, "five permits for condominiums, and thirteen permits for commercial and industrial additions accounted for a major portion of the increase."

"Permits for the construction of additions to one family homes also rose during August," Clark stated. Sixteen permits were issued for the construction of new homes with a value of $1,627,390. One hundred and fifty-two permits amounting to $1,757,633 were issued for home additions for a combined total of $3,385,023.

August's total valuation indicated an increase of $6.5 million over August, 1985 permit values. "The increased total number of permits issued during the month of August is evidence, once again, of the continued, balanced growth in construction in the Town of Oyster Bay," concluded Clark.

Traffic Light For Intersection

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark announced that a traffic signal will be installed at the intersection of Old Country Road and East Avenue in Hicksville. Clark said, "Supervisor Colby and I have been aware that this section of Old Country Road, between Levittown Turnpike and Newbridge Road (Route 106), has been the scene of numerous accidents, both minor and fatal. The most recent incident resulted in the death of a woman and severe injuries to her husband."

The Councilman noted that in January of this year he wrote a letter to the Nassau County Department of Public Works requesting that their Traffic Engineering Unit conduct a survey to determine the feasibility of installing a traffic signal. More recently Supervisor Colby pursued this request with a second letter.

"Old Country Road is a heavily traveled artery, dotted with business," said Clark. "Because it is four lanes wide many motorists exceed the speed limit, making it dangerous for pedestrians who wish to cross the road."

The traffic signal will be installed as part of a Nassau County requirements contract in the spring of 1987.

Our Children

Fathers' concerns in the spotlight

Fatherly issues deserve as serious consideration as those of mothers, who more frequently write in. Problems, pet peeves and joys of fathers are fair game for "Our Children," coming from the men themselves or from members of their families.

Q Years ago (20 to be exact) I left my wife and two young children, and have never been back. In the meantime a lot of things have happened. She or some lawyer found a way to declare me "dead" so that our marriage could be dissolved. She then married another man and had two more children.

I also remarried, but we have no children. We live on opposite sides of the continent, so our paths have never crossed.

Through one member of her family who lives near me I've kept up on her and the children, without her finding out anything about me.

I would really like to see my two boys, and the more I think about them the more eager I am to do so. But I don't want to hurt them or cause any more hard feelings than I already have.

I have no more love for my first wife than I had when I walked out, so that dead relationship should cause no problems. If I see my sons it can't lead to any real closeness because we live so far apart.

I need an objective opinion about all this.

A Your situation is a reversal of the classic movie "Madame X," about a disappearing mother. It obviously calls for some careful discussion and planning, including thing, will follow the meeting with your boys. That scenario, too, calls for decisions prior to the personal contact.

If all this cannot agreeably fall into place you may just have to realize that not materializing is a kind of delayed reaction to what you started or did 20 years ago. Being our own worst enemy is sometimes true, and very sad.

Q My husband has always been a big tease, and now he is continuing that practice with our children.

I didn't know about this trait before we were married, but I learned fast. At our wedding reception instead of gently letting me have a bite of a slice of our wedding cake he pushed it in my face. He never did that again, fortunately for both him and me.

He teases our children about their friends, how they look, their school work, even how they chew their food and hold their eating utensils. He thinks it is all good fun, even laughing when they begin to cry.

I've pleaded and tried to explain to him how awful this is for the children, but his reply always is that he is "just kidding." This is no joke to the kids and me.

A Adults who act this way are often trying to get attention, maybe to help overcome a feeling of inferiority. They may need professional help, through a competent psychologist or family counselor. Your physician or your children's school counselors might be able to lead you to one.

Even before that step, it is important to convince your husband that this help is needed and available. An adult relative or friend to whom he relates well might be useful in persuading him.

Q It may seem strange to you, but the saddest moments for me every year are at an airport when I put my wife and three children on the plane to visit her family. All of them are excited and happy, but I'm almost ready to burst into tears. (Men aren't supposed to do that, are they?)

A It isn't because I'll be alone; that is no problem since I have plenty to do. It is just that somehow I hate to see them go, maybe because of a not-so-hidden fear that something may happen or because I won't see those wonderful faces every morning and night.

You may think I'm foolish to feel this way.

A No way! Any human reaction that is perceived as a problem really is one, and yours certainly falls into that category.

Can't you ever arrange to have your own vacation coincide with their trip? Or how about trying to shorten theirs so you have to do without "those wonderful faces" for less time?

One more thing — who said men shouldn't cry? One of our problems is that too often we try to keep our emotions inside. Sometimes it is a better indication of strength to let them out.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

When to file for Medicare

Q I turned 65 in April of this year. I did not file for Social Security since I am continuing to work full time. I believe I should have filed for Medicare when I reached 65, but I didn't.

A Can I file for Medicare now? Will I be penalized for not filing on time? — G.L.

A You should file for hospital insurance (Part A of Medicare) immediately. It is free if you are age 65 and are eligible for monthly Social Security benefits.

For medical insurance (Part B of Medicare) there is a seven-month initial enrollment period. This includes the three months before the month you first became age 65 and ends three months after that month. If you don't take the medical insurance during your initial enrollment period, you can sign up during a general enrollment period.

Jan. 1 through March 31 of each, however, your protection won't start until the following July. Your monthly premium will be 10 percent higher than the basic premium for each 12-month period you could have been enrolled but were not. There are special rules if you are 65 and continue to work and have an employer health plan. You can wait to enroll in Medicare Medical Insurance (Part B) during a special enrollment period and you won't have to pay the 10 percent premium surcharge for late enrollment if you meet certain requirements. Contact your local Social Security office for details.

Q I belong to a veterans' organization. An item in your column recently has created much confusion regarding the use of military service for Social Security purposes. Could you review this situation and try to straighten out the confusion? — J.P.

A Military service from September 1940 through December 1956 may be creditable for Social Security purposes unless that same period of service is considered in computing a monthly benefit payable by another federal agency (other than the Veterans Administration). One exception: periods of active duty from 1951 through 1956 can be credited only if the only other benefit payable is military retirement and there was active service after 1956.

Military service from 1957 on is covered by Social Security.

All military information is considered automatically when you file a claim with the Social Security Administration. You did not or do not have to do anything for us to consider your military time.

Q I will be 65 in six months and plan to retire at that time. When I file for Social Security how long will it take to receive the first check?

A If you apply for retirement benefits two to three months before you retire you should get your first check shortly after your first full-calendar month of retirement. If you wait until late to apply for your benefits it may take six to eight weeks to start getting your checks after we receive all the documents needed to process your claim.

Some of the documents you need will be your Social Security card or a record of your Social Security number, your W-2 for the past year and your birth certificate. You must provide original documents or certified copies from the issuing agency. Photocopies are not accepted.

Homecoming Events Scheduled At H.H.S.

Plans are under way for exciting homecoming events at Hicksville High School on Saturday, October 25. The parade of colorful floats, the Marching Comets, and the H.H.S. Kickline will start at 12:30 p.m., following last year's route beginning at the Junior High School on Second Street, crossing Jerusalem Avenue and turning up Division Avenue to enter the athletic field behind the Administration Building. The football game with opponent Massapequa High School will kick off at 1:30 p.m., and half-time will see the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and the Junior and Sophomore Princesses. Conrad Weyer, President of Alumni Association, will preside over the judging of the floats.

At 8 p.m., Homecoming celebrants will gather for the festive annual dance. Tickets for this gala event, open to the entire student body, will cost $3 each if purchased in advance at school or $4 each at the door.

Bus Trip Nets Record Number

A record number of participants in Hicksville's Continuing Education Program have registered for a bus trip to the Statue of Liberty and the South Street Seaport. More than 600 people traveling in 12 motorcoaches will visit Lady Liberty on October 18, and many more were turned away because no additional buses were available.

During the past few years, more than 2,000 people each year have taken advantage of the many and varied trips scheduled to places of local interest as well as to such destinations as Hawaii, London, and Washington, D.C., according to program director Kenneth Keegan.

The complete listing of travel programs as well as a comprehensive offering of courses and workshops can be found in the Continuing Education brochure issued each fall and spring semester and mailed to all Hicksville residents.

Cochrane is a deputy chief staff meteorologist.

His wife, Joyce, is the daughter of Wesley and Pearl Hall of Rural Route 2, McAlester, Oklahoma.

Yevoli Announces Increased Revenues

Assemblyman Lewis J. Yevoli (D-Old Bethpage) says a new law will increase reimbursements to incorporated villages for services rendered in the handling of court cases involving violations of New York State law. The reimbursement fee would be raised to ten dollars from the present five dollars which has been in effect since 1939.

The legislation has been praised by the Tri-County Village Officials Association and will become effective in April, 1987.

"With a significant increase in the number of traffic violations and criminal proceedings and the corresponding increase in costs and fines for these actions," stated Yevoli, "the fees received by our villages has become insufficient. Presently, villages receive five dollars for trying cases while cities get a fifteen dollar fee for trying the same type of cases. I'm pleased that this new law will help the villages to meet growing budgetary needs in this area."

Yevoli added that the increases will mean up to $5 million annually to help meet the processing costs in connection with these types of cases.

Night Hearing On Bldg. Permit

Oyster Bay Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker announced that a night hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 28 on an application for a change of zone in Hicksville.

Ocker said, "the applicants, Robert R. Brown and Robert J. Brown, are requesting a change of zone from 'D' residence district to 'G' business district in order to permit the parking of up to forty (40) additional cars in connection with their automobile dealership."

The property is located at the south side of First Street just west of South Broadway, Hicksville.

"The hearing will be opened by the Town Board at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, October 7 and adjourned until 8 p.m. on Tuesday, October 28," said Ocker. "Anyone wishing to address the Board on this application may do so on October 7 but will not be permitted to speak again on October 28."

The hearings will be held in the Town Hall East hearing room, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

Couples Renew Marriage Vows

Sigmund and Helen Rafenski, of Bethpage, were among 138 couples to renew their marriage vows of 50 years at St. Lawrence the Martyr Church in Sayville on Sunday, October 5. Each couple was presented with a certificate to mark the occasion by the Most Rev. John R. McGann, Bishop of Rockville Center, who officiated the ceremonies.

National Merit Honors Six Bethpage Seniors

National Merit Honorees Robert Reale, William Claburri, Karen Miller, Sabrina Tellalian, Michael Cooper, Michael Trochenheim.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation honored six Bethpage Seniors recently for their academic efforts on the PSAT/NMSQT Test that was administered last October. Their achievements have earned them a place in the top five percent of the students across the nation who took this test. Five of the students were awarded Letters of Commendation: William Claburri, Karen Miller, Robert Reale, Sabrina Tellalian, and Michael Trochenheim.

Another student, Michael Cooper who scored the highest in Bethpage, has been named a Semi-Finalist in the national competition for scholarship funds because his score was so high that it placed him in the top one percent of the nation's students. Currently enrolled in four advanced placement courses, Michael is filling out the application that he hopes will qualify him to be a Finalist and improve his chances of entering the School of Engineering at Columbia.

Michael is also special in Bethpage because of his interests in Mathematics and Science. Last year he won the Bausch and Lomb Award and this year is developing an independent research project on "The Effects of Cathode Ray Tube Leakage on E. coli Bacteria," and hopes to submit it to the Westinghouse Science Talent Search before Christmas.

How he finds time to work on the School Newspaper and be president of his Temple Youth Group, while working at Dunkin' Donuts 20 hours a week, is one of those mathematical puzzles. But even that is a special interest to him because he finished in first place in Bethpage in the State Math Competition every year since tenth grade.

The stated purpose of the Merit Program over the years has been constant - to provide recognition and encouragement to scholastically talented high school students in all parts of the nation. The six students from Bethpage have fulfilled this goal admirably and more will be heard from them in the future.

Cong. Lent Visits Bethpage GOP

Club President Kevin Galloway has announced that U.S. Congressman Norman F. Lent and N.Y. State Assemblyman Philip B. Healey will be welcomed as the "Special Guests of Honor" at the next meeting of the Theodore Roosevelt Republican Club of Bethpage.

The meeting will take place on Monday evening, October 13 - Columbus Day, at the American Legion Hall on Washington Street, beginning at 8 p.m.

George F. Yochmann, Executive Leader of the Bethpage GOP Organization, commented that "It's really a special privilege to have both Congressman Lent and Assemblyman Healey visit with us on the same evening. Congressman Lent is currently in his 8th consecutive term, diligently serving his constituents in the House of Representatives. He is the ranking Republican member and the recognized leader of the Long Island Congressional Delegation to Washington. Likewise, Assemblyman Phil Healey is now serving his 8th consecutive term in the Legislature in Albany. It's up to us.

New York State is a great state in which to live, work and raise a family. We can be proud of our place in world commerce, industry and in the quality of our lives. But one of our greatest sources of pride is often overlooked: that being our huge forest preserves, wetland and marsh areas, and abundant fish and wildlife.

Now New Yorkers have an opportunity to help protect this unique heritage of wildlife so vital to the quality of life we all enjoy. "Return a Gift to Wildlife" is a program into which you may voluntarily contribute when you complete your state tax form. It's a "killing off" one of the 12 animals that have been dedicated by the State Finance Law to the protection, management and extension of wildlife in our great state.

The Need Has Never Been Greater

Hard economic times dictate hard financial decisions. This year, the federal government has already eliminated endangered species aid, jeopardizing the restoration of a number of birds and animals native to New York. In addition, thousands of acres of grassland, wetland, marshland and forest that are critical to the survival or extension of New York's wildlife are eliminated or disrupted each year. The New York State "Return a Gift to Wildlife" program is an important step towards a lasting solution to these problems, and an investment in the future of our wildlife.

Return a Gift to Wildlife

An Effective Program

Like the environment which only thrives when the whole ecosystem is addressed, the areas of work to be addressed through tax contributions are broad and comprehensive. The largest single element is earmarked for habitat protection so critical to wildlife perpetuation. A species management program will be strengthened to help maintain all species of fish and wildlife at desirable population levels for human enjoyment. A third element is the public use program which will provide increased opportunities for enjoying fish and wildlife. Lastly, the plan calls for greater awareness development of fish and wildlife values through the creation of better educational resources and information services.

Consider the added dimension wildlife brings to your life. Won't you return a gift through a contribution on Line 18 of the long form or Line 12 of the short form of your State tax return. Your gift is tax deductible on your 1983 tax return.

Vets' Monument Fund Continues

By Conrad Steers

The day for the dedication of the Korean and Vietnam Veteran Monument is getting closer and we are still short of funds, but the monuments will be erected by Veterans' Day.

In all of the articles I have written, I have overlooked the men and women who served during Korea and Vietnam without being in war zones. These Veterans did serve while some people went to another country. These men and women in the Armed Forces should be commended also, and should share the honor of the monument.

The work is not over, we still need the funds to pay for this tribute to our Nation's Veterans. Any donations you can give will be appreciated.

You can make the donation to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund, P.O. Box 412, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802. For further information you can contact Chairman Conrad Steers at 822-5938.

COMPETITIVE RATE..."

Everyone's amazed when they hear what U.S. Savings Bonds have to offer. Savings Bonds earn market-based interest rates—just like money market accounts—so you're guaranteed a competitive return, no matter what happens to interest rates. All you have to do is hold your Bonds for five years.

What's more, the interest you earn is completely free from state and local income taxes. And federal taxes can be deferred. You can buy Bonds for as little as $25. And it's easy—purchase them where you work or bank.

For the current rate, call 1-800-US-BONDS.

Rap sessions and support groups, knitting and crocheting, Hebrew lessons, dramatics, chorus, Bible Study, exercise and literature are some of the many choices offered.

A social worker will be coordinating the new Monday program. Many of the activities will be led by volunteers from the Older Adults group who will share their skills developed over many years of employment or personal involvement. The Monday program will also include presentations from guest lecturers. During the first six weeks Paul Kay, a psychiatrist will discuss grandparenting; Marvin Schwartz from the Metropolitan Museum of Art will conduct an art history program; and Sandra Rosencranz from the New York Council for the Humanities will discuss the image of older persons in contemporary fiction.

Some of the activities for the first six weeks are already registered to capacity. Registration is continuing where there are still openings. Individuals who can not be accommodated during the first six weeks in classes of their choice will receive priority for the next session.

The Monday activities are in addition to the four club programs. RADISH on Tuesdays, Older Adult Club on Wednesdays, and Mr. and Mrs. two Wednesday evenings a month, at the Y and the Mid Nassau Jewish Retirement Club, an Outreach group which meets Thursdays at the Suburban Park Jewish Center in East Meadow.

To participate in the programs Older Adults must belong to the Y as Senior Adult Club Members or as full Y members. The cost for a full year of senior adult membership is $25 per person or $49 per couple. For further information call the Older Adult Department at the Mid-Island Y at 622-3535.

Get the FREE Connection

For a limited time you can save money while customizing your phone service to fit your lifestyle or business needs.

Until October 17, 1986, New York Telephone residence and one- or two-line business customers can order Custom Calling Services (where available) without paying a connection charge. That means great savings for residence and business customers.

The four Custom Calling features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Speed Calling and Three-Way Calling) can be added to your present phone service. We make the connection from our central offices. There is no need for a visit to your home or office.

For more information about your free connection to Custom Calling Services, residence customers can call 1 800 942-1818 operator 19 and business customers can call 1 800 942-1212 extension 107.

Get a Branch Office Without the Office

Remote Call Forwarding, where available, lets you easily establish a telephone presence and broaden your customer base in other areas without having to open another office.

Select one or more areas in New York where you'd like to establish a local presence. Your business will be assigned a local telephone number in the area you select.

Your customers pay only the cost of a local call. The call will be forwarded automatically to existing phone lines in your home or office, even if it's quite a distance away. You pay the direct dial rate for the forwarded call and a monthly service charge.

With Remote Call Forwarding (also known as TELE-BRANCH Service) you're just as accessible as local firms to potential customers. In addition, your Remote Call Forwarding number will be listed in the local New York Telephone White and Yellow Pages directories at no extra charge. For more information about Remote Call Forwarding, call 1 800 942-1212 extension 317.

Input Callers Against Using Child Informers

Most callers to Input do not believe in encouraging children to inform on their parents concerning use of narcotics in answer to this question: "What do you think of children being encouraged to inform on their parents' use of narcotics?" Here are some of the answers:

EXTREME SITUATION

It would have to be an extreme situation before children should be used as informers on what parents are doing. If, for instance, there was some evidence of child abuse or of addiction, then it might be worthwhile to have the state come between the parents and the child. Wherever there are other ways, the use of children to inform should be avoided. J.E.

STICKY QUESTION

This is a very sticky question and I hope it is one that will not come up very often. If the parents are using narcotics to such an extent that it would corrupt the children, then I guess that using children as informers is something that could be defended. But, in general, parents-even those who use narcotics-try to protect the children from the harm of narcotics and the entire thing should be handled on an adult level. M.R.

MANY PITFALLS

There are so many pitfalls in using children to inform on their parents that I believe that the bad outweighs the benefit. For one thing, children sometimes imagine things or want to cause their parents trouble for some disciplinary action that has been taken against them. The authorities will become more deeply immersed in family matters and we will move closer to a police state. I am against this type of thing. K.W.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT

Except in rare instances where the problem is a direct threat to the well-being of a child there should be no encouragement given to children turning informer. We have many other ways to control drugs without encouraging a total breakdown in family life. The idea is bad. W.T.

OTHER REASONS

In the news article that is the basis of this question, there were other circumstances that would have led authorities to the parents and there was no real benefit in calling upon the child to turn informer. I do not believe in encouraging children to work against parents unless all other means are exhausted and the children are being involved. M.E.

ALREADY BROKEN DOWN

This question is a difficult one. No, it is not good to have children informing on their parents because it breaks down an important relationship between the parent and child. But it might be said that the use of narcotics has already broken down the relationship and the child might be in danger of addiction. The police would have to tread very lightly in a case like this and, if possible, refuse to tell where the information came from. C.S.

USE RELATIVES

So many lives have been destroyed and so many crimes have been committed because of the use of narcotics, I don't think children should report their parents to the police if they do use drugs. Instead, they should mention this to another older relative or their Guidance Counselor who could arrange to get help for them. Their parents are still their parents and should be given the opportunity to work it out. C.P.

NORMAL CHANNELS

I don't think much of it! And yet, it does seem that there should be some recourse to a legal remedy when parents are addicted to drugs with consequent harm both mentally and physically to their children. The fact is that little children are very impressionable and their ability to judge the nature of parental behavior in the area of addiction of any kind, whether it be drugs, tobacco, liquor or even sexual abuse, can easily be swayed by an overactive imagination, a little knowledge, hearsay, meanness, or the desire just to punish their parents for some grievance-real or fancied. For a formal program to be instituted suggesting to children that they report on their parents does nothing, in my judgement, to eliminate the problem. Actually, it probably would direct their thinking toward the formulation of evaluations which do not even exist creating different behavioral patterns and problems arising from the watchdog role they would assume. I just think that in this area we have got to let nature take its course with crisis situations coming to light through normal informational channels, i.e., friends, relatives, neighbors or even the children themselves as was recently the case in this area. P.G.S.

Manliness

Update

By Fred Von Burg

"You're a wimp. You should never have had children." These words are bad enough from a lifelong enemy, but from one's own son a few weeks after he's graduated from college?

Deeply stung, I reminded myself not to allow the competitive instincts to surface against my own flesh and blood, especially when he was still vulnerable with inexperience. But my reaction was almost involuntary. Drawing myself up to my full height advantage, I tried to hide the doubt in my mind when I said, "Listen, if I were the brutish macho man you want me to be, I'd thrash you right there," indicating the front stoop of our home.

"What, in front of all the neighbors?" he retorted. I was surprised. Evidently he didn't question my ability to make good on the threat, but rather my defiance of decorum. Successful in his testing of my authority, he reveled in the thought that I did not have an equal amount of nerve. Was this analogous to the young buck challenging the leader of the herd? That the contention was about a female completed the picture.

It was his own mother. But here the stag analogy failed. She, too, had welcomed him home while he looked for a job. What had festered was me doing the dishes. Ann, taking a break from typing a term paper for a course she was taking toward her master's degree, had been sitting in the kitchen eating a piece of pie. I stood over the sink with my sleeves rolled up. The obvious reversal of the traditional roles of bread-winner and mate had evidently irritated, and he was lashing out at the man who permitted this travesty.

"All right," I began, uneasy in my new defensive position against the hardened young judge I had nurtured. "Your mother is younger than I, and it so happens that in providing her with the education to a good livelihood, I am guaranteeing myself a secure old age."

"You don't look old and decrepit to me." He wasn't buying that reason, although I had made it sound convincingly selfish. What he would reject outright was the argument that Ann needed fulfillment. Ann had devoted full time to raising him and his two brothers, and I suspected that he held in contempt those who disregarded commitments because "I want to be me."

Perhaps the real reason, never articulated, was that I had wanted to see Ann repaid for her unselfish contributions, both in service and in money from a part-time job toward the happiness of our home. I did not view her further education as a withholding of what she gave us, though Francis possibly saw it that way. And I was the "wimp" who permitted this irresponsible ego trip.

If this made me no longer macho it was because I had discovered a higher manliness. It was something hidden amidst the classic lines of "Beowulf", the earliest sample of Anglo-Saxon literature. In that epic, time and again the greatness of the individual kings is implied by use of the term "the gift giver" or "the ring giver" or "the gold giver".

Well, gold I had very little to give, but a gift such as the richness, the fullness of life contained in education, that I could give. And Francis' mother was to receive as much.

I brooded long after the argument was over, unresolved as such arguments often are. The good answers, the deep-down reasons for my actions only came later. I didn't want to remind Francis that I not only had some say in giving him life, but I also contributed to a cornucopia of his experiences, most of them agreeable. I had done this freely; no man or woman forced this from me.

If his mother was the sore point in our argument, it was because like me, she had served, she had set a standard. I was not sure I was being judged by that standard. It could be that we had miscalculated and she had taken on more than she should, to the neglect of some obligations. When term papers were due, the vacuuming went undone, the laundry was late, but the meals were still there, and as I indicated, I pitched in as an example to the young men. And there was the rub.

No parent to teacher knows exactly where the education he or she imparts will lead. Certainly I had always helped out, ever since the men were boys and even before they could remember. I was mystified by Francis' attitude, his rejection of what I had taught more in action than word. That was supposed to be the best way. But whether it was television, peer influence, Clint Eastwood movies or what, I saw my efforts diluted. Would I live to see them vindicated?

The old stag had reached the point of decrease, as Francis made me see. But it was not as simple as wandering off to die, not as stark as the seed going into the ground, although I would not reject these useful analogies. To give someone a more full life, that was more manly than macho. The last four U.S. wars, with their scenes of men dying for their comrades-in-arms, for their families, their loved ones, for unknown strangers, these have illustrated partly that concept of the "gift giver." The intended gift was full, free life, and realized, what could be better?

This is not the place to go into the just war theory, nor to pass judgment on any war. I am merely referring to two/ed incidents, Congressional Medal of Honor material. If the price of the gift is the life of the giver, freely given, is there question of something more manly?

Perhaps there is a maturation of the concept of manliness as the youth grows older. Certainly I'd like to see an involvement in Francis from the overt manliness in "Beowulf", which first attracts, to the more subtle manliness of "the gift giver" contained in the same work. But give him time.

A. Have you heard the expression "Maiden Dinner?" My cousin said she will be attending one soon and I did not like to confess my ignorance!

A. This is a rather old fashioned term and it refers to the traditional dinner given by the bride-to-be for her attendants usually a few days before the wedding. The Maiden Dinner is the equivalent of the male Bachelor Dinner.

Q. What do you think of a girl who always orders the most expensive items on the menu when she eats out with a male friend?

A. I do not feel she is being considerate of her companion, and consideration of others is the essence of good manners.

RESTAURANT GUIDE

READER RATINGS

Q. Some restaurants make a big thing over a lobster tank, but I think it is disgusting to have to kill these animals in order to get a meal. Why do they have these tanks?

A. The reason is simple: that's how lobsters are killed in the home. The lobster tank lets the diner see that what he is getting is really fresh lobster. Possibly some squeamish people believe that the lobster tank should be a place where else but most diners want to see the live ones and of course do not you should be suspicious. They are killed instantly in boiling water.

TERRIFIC SAUERBRATEN

Your ad for Reinhardt's in Hicksville caught my eye last week. It's that time of year and the idea of a delicious Sauerbraten dinner was just right. On Sunday evening we dined there and found the food to be plentiful and delicious. The cup of soup was so packed with vegetables and meat that it was a meal in itself. Served with soup was a tasty pumpkin roll with raisins. The Sauerbraten was served with applesauce, red cabbage and potato pancakes. It was out of this world. Unfortunately we arrived too late to get the dumplings but after tasting the potato pancakes it would be hard to beat them.

The restaurant fools you from the outside. It really doesn't look that impressive but take my word for it: the food is great and service is courteous and helpful. I strongly suggest that you try their sauerbraten which, by the way, is their October Oktoberfest Special.

TOP RESTAURANT

Manero's in Syosset is a top restaurant. We went there Sunday and found that it was a friendly and fine place to take a full table. Most had prime ribs and found that Manero's in Syosset certainly lives up to its reputation for fine beef. The price is well within range for quality beef. The vegetables and salad were just very delicious and well prepared. Manero's has been on Jericho Turnpike, Syosset for quite a long time. If any of your readers have missed it they should try it now and they will like it. J.F.

GOOD PERFORMANCE

What a posh restaurant this Benihana is in Manhasset. It is designed with a beautiful bar and cocktail lounge where you can gather before and after a special meal. We did that last Saturday.

Probably most of your readers have been to Benihana, but if there are still some who have not we want to say that we were pleasantly surprised with its new form of entertainment. You see it is not only the food at Benihana but the performance of the chef who is an expert in the use of a knife. You can watch him prepare the shrimp with a few swats of the blade, also, a steak and all of the other items the people around you get. This is the performance. Then you are surprised that food prepared so quickly and with such acrobatics is so good to eat. We recommend this restaurant.

Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides - a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great, food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings".

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

FINE SEAFOOD

Our party of four had dinner at Estoril Granada, on Mineola Boulevard in Mineola. Seafood seems to be their specialty. We asked the waiter for suggestions and he thought we would enjoy Carne Porco Alentejana. This consists of pork and clams in a delicate brown sauce. It was a happy choice. The other couple ordered the Caldeirada, which is the Portuguese version of Bouillabaisse. Our friends heartily endorsed their choice. If you are hankering for something unique and delicious, I think you will enjoy Estoril Granada. We enjoyed the ambience of the restaurant and found the service excellent. G.W.

READER RATINGS

YOU CAN BE A RESTAURANT CRITIC. If you visit any of the restaurants selected for inclusion in this section-call 931-0027 at any hour and tell your ideas. We want you, the reader, to be our critic. Your message then can be printed in this space.

Q. I'm not Italian but I enjoy Italian food. However, I'm not sure of the proper way to eat spaghetti. Some of my friends simply use a fork. Others press a large spoon (held in the left hand) against a fork (held in the right hand) while twirling the spaghetti around the fork. Which system is correct?

A. In Italy both methods are used. The difference is regional. But then again in Italy Pizza is eaten with a knife and fork!

Our own preference is for the fork, no spoon, system.

Q. Help! What does someone do who enjoys eating out, but is constantly on a diet and has absolutely no will power?

A. One solution might be eating in a Chinese restaurant. The food is low in fat, desserts are simple and the usual beverage-green tea, with no cream or sugar-has no calories at all!

Another good idea might be choosing a restaurant with a big salad bar-a delicious and nutritious way to take the edge off an over-eager appetite.

Q. My wife and I both work and we like to try new restaurants. In some places we find the service is inadequate. What does a patron do who wished to summon his waiter, but finds the waiter has "disappeared" for a long interval?

A. He might try to get the attention of a waiter not assigned to his table, asking him to find his "missing" colleague.

Imperfect service is a common complaint by those who dine out. Even the best restaurants have difficulties of this kind once in a while.

If you find a restaurant has excellent food but is lacking in fine service, a word to the manager (or to "Input") might be helpful in correcting the problem.

SUPERB SERVICE

Devins is an upbeat restaurant in Garden City. It features superb continental food served by a staff that is attentive to your every need. We took a group of eight people there last week and found that the food was excellent and that the service was remarkably good at a time when many restaurants just let you wait and wait. The restaurant had many people in it but we were still taken care of with good service. Devins has excellent Italian veal parmigiana and fine fish dishes. We recommend that your readers go there and find out for themselves what a good place this is. L.R.

If you have Questions about etiquette or dining out you may call them in to WE 1-0027 and we will find the answer.

A fan's guide to sport of snacking

Ask any avid TV sports fan what he had for dinner last night.

If the fan is going to commune with a sport from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., as many will do today, you better believe he knows what he'll eat all day.

The snacks in the following guide are arranged by degree of complexity. Most of them require only an appetite and a napkin to eat them, thus diminishing interference with the games, be they Monday Night games or the Super Bowl.

OPEN THE CAN OR BAG — AND EAT

A familiar form of snacking, this category includes munching corn or potato chips out of the bag, with a possible side of canned bean dip. Also numbered among these snacks are pretzels, candy and nuts — particularly peanuts — and chunks of cheese. And don't forget the canned chili warmed in a crockpot, topped with crushed saltines.

ALMOST NO PREPARATION

Plain popcorn is the most healthy way to eat the puffy morsels, but when an occasional variation is desired, try this or the caramelized styles which follow in the "some preparation" category.

SPICY POPCORN SNACK

- 12 cups prepared plain popcorn
- 2 tablespoons each tomato paste and water
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon each salt, garlic powder, chili powder and vegetable oil

Place popcorn in large bowl and set aside. Preheat oven to 250 degrees. In metal $\frac{1}{4}$ cup measure or other small flameproof container, combine remaining ingredients; cook over low heat until mixture bubbles. Pour oil mixture over popcorn and toss quickly to thoroughly coat. Spread coated popcorn on jelly-roll pan and bake until dry, 3 to 5 minutes.

OLE' HOT APPETIZER

- 8 ounces cream cheese, softened
- 1 (15-ounce) can chili without beans
- 1 (4-ounce) can diced green chilies
- 4 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, shredded
- 1 small can chopped black olives
- 1 bunch green onions, chopped
- 1 large bag unsalted or lightly salted tortilla chips

In pie pan, layer first five ingredients in order listed. Bake at 350-degree oven 25 minutes. Decorate center with chopped green onions. Serve at once with tortilla chips.

SESAME BREADSTICKS

Preheat oven to 400 F. Spray cookie sheet with non-stick cooking spray and set aside. Using a 10-ounce package refrigerated buttermilk flaky biscuits (10 biscuits), separate biscuits and cut each in half. Roll each half between palms of hands into a 6-inch-long strip. Place strips on sprayed cookie sheet. In metal measuring cup, or other small flameproof container, melt 1 tablespoon plus 2 teaspoons butter or margarine. Brush each biscuit strip with an equal amount of melted butter or margarine and sprinkle each with $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon sesame seed. Bake until golden brown, 5 to 8 minutes. Makes 20 breadsticks.

CARAMEL CORN

- 6 cups prepared plain popcorn
- 1 to 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon light corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons margarine

Place popcorn in large bowl and set aside. In metal $\frac{1}{4}$ -cup measure, or other small flameproof container, combine sugar and syrup; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is melted. Add margarine and stir until melted; pour over popcorn and toss quickly to thoroughly coat. Let stand until popcorn is dry and coating hardened. Makes 6 servings.

CHILI CHEESE BALL

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cups shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 cup shredded Fontina or cheddar cheese
- 8 ounces cream cheese
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped pitted ripe olives
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup minced green onion
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon garlic powder
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped toasted almonds
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chili powder
- Crackers

In bowl, combine first eight ingredients. Blend well. Shape into ball. Roll in almonds and remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chili powder. Cover and refrigerate several hours or until ready to serve. Surround with assorted crackers. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

SOME PREPARATION NEEDED

These nibbles can be prepared quickly before the game(s) and then arranged within reach for hungry sports enthusiasts.

No one will guess the ingredients of this easy, tangy sauce.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT SWEET 'N' SOUR MEAT BALLS

- 2 pounds ground round
- 3 slices bread
- 1 onion, chopped
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- Garlic salt and pepper
- Salad oil

Mix all ingredients and shape into 60 tiny meat balls. Brown on all sides in frying pan in a little salad oil. Drain and set aside. Makes about 60 meatballs.

SAUCE

- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
 - 1 (8-ounce) jar grape jelly
- Combine ingredients in saucepan and heat through, stirring. Add meatballs to hot sauce in a fondue or chafing dish. Makes 2 cups sauce.

SCALLOPS IN HOT SAUCE

- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup olive oil
- 5 cloves garlic, coarsely ground
- 1 pound bay scallops
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup slivered red peppers
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup slivered green peppers
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onion
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons drained capers

In large skillet heat oil; saute garlic until golden. Add scallops, peppers, onion, Tabasco sauce and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until scallops turn white and vegetables are crisp-tender. Stir in capers. Serve hot. Makes about 4 cups.

This spicy treat is reminiscent of Spain's hundreds of tapas, snacks served during the cocktail hour.

CHICKEN WINGS SEGOVIA

- 2 pounds chicken wings
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup olive oil
- 8 whole cloves garlic, peeled
- 1 teaspoon flour
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chicken broth
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup dry white wine
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- 3 large sprigs parsley
- Pinch saffron

Cut chicken wings at joints; discard wing tips. In large skillet heat oil; add wings and garlic. Saute 10 minutes, turning wings to brown on sides. Remove wings and garlic; reserve. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons oil. Stir in flour; cook 1 minute. Add broth, wine and Tabasco sauce. Simmer, stirring constantly, 2 or 3 minutes, until thickened. Return wings to skillet. In blender or food processor, combine cooked garlic cloves, parsley and saffron. Process to form a paste; stir into sauce in skillet. Simmer 5 minutes longer until wings are tender. Serve hot. Makes about 20 pieces.

GREAT, BUT LET A NON-FAN PREPARE

You say you want to eat well, but not miss a moment of the on-screen action? If you're lucky enough to have a friend who's into cooking meatballs rather than watching footballs, everyone can be happy with these recipes.

HONEY-MUSTARD RIBS

- 3 to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ pounds pork spare ribs, halved crosswise
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup Dijon-style mustard
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup red-wine vinegar
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lightly packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons sesame seeds
- Parsley sprigs, if desired

Cut ribs into individual riblets. Place on a rack in a broiler pan. Cover with foil. Place in a cold oven. Turn oven to 325 F. Bake 1 to 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours or until meat is tender but not falling off bone. In a small saucepan, combine mustard and honey. Stir in lemon juice, vinegar, brown sugar, soy sauce, salt and pepper. Heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves. Place baked ribs in a shallow bowl; pour marinade over ribs. Complete now or make ahead.

To complete now: Cover with foil or plastic wrap; marinate in refrigerator at least 1 hour. Drain ribs 15 minutes, reserving marinade. Preheat broiler. Place ribs in broiler pan; broil 5 to 6 inches from heat, 2 to 3 minutes, brushing with marinade once. Turn; brush with marinade again. Broil 2 to 3 minutes or until browned and crisp. Place broiled ribs on a large platter; sprinkle with sesame seeds. Garnish with parsley, if desired; serve hot.

To make ahead: Cool and cover with foil. Refrigerate overnight or freeze up to 2 weeks. Thaw ribs overnight in refrigerator. Drain

Omelets — quick and delicious

Omelets are one of the most versatile dishes imaginable. They can be a down-to-earth mixture of cheese and eggs served at a truck stop on the interstate, or a lighter-than-air confection that marks the end of a wonderful French dinner. All of today's recipes can be prepared in 15 minutes or less, so individual preparation and cooking times are not listed.

After Work Gourmet

BASIC OMELET

2 or 3 large eggs
1½ teaspoons butter

Mix eggs lightly with fork. If desired, whites may be beaten separately, until they begin to froth, and then mixed with yolks. This will produce a fluffier, plumper omelet.

Heat a 7- to 8-inch omelet pan over high heat and melt butter in it. The pan should be hot enough to make the butter sizzle at once. Be careful the butter does not brown or burn.

As soon as butter has melted, pour in eggs and stir briskly with a fork, constantly shaking the pan with a gentle side-to-side motion. When you can see the track of the fork through the eggs, they have set. This will take less than 1 minute. Remove from heat.

At this point, place any filling to be used in the center of the eggs. Raise the handle of the pan and gently slide the omelet toward the opposite side of the pan. With fork, fold the edge of the omelet closest to the handle over the center. Fold the other side of the omelet over the center.

Transfer the omelet to a heated serving dish by turning the pan upside down over the dish. Guiding the omelet with a large fork or a spatula may be helpful.

If you are making more than one omelet, the first ones may be kept warm in a 200 F oven until the last one is done.

SOME FAVORITE OMELET FILLINGS:

1: One cup diced cooked potato (leftover baked or boiled ones are fine), sautéed with 2 tablespoons chopped onion in 1 to 2 tablespoons butter until crisp and brown. Add salt and pepper to taste.

2: One medium tomato, finely chopped, sautéed with 2 tablespoons sliced scallions in 1 tablespoon butter until thickened. While cooking, add 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley and a pinch each of basil, thyme, oregano and dill.

3: One cup fresh mushrooms, sliced, sautéed with 2 sliced scallions in 1 tablespoon butter until liquid has evaporated and mushrooms are soft. Add salt and pepper to taste and stir in 1 heaping tablespoon sour cream and 1 teaspoon dry sherry.

4: One-half cup each of chopped green pepper and onion, sautéed until soft in 1 tablespoon butter. Add salt and pepper to taste and a pinch or two (to taste) of curry powder.

5: One cup cooked broccoli, coarsely chopped, tossed with 2 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese.

6: One-half to 1 cup cooked shrimp, scallops or crabmeat (or a combination), cut into bits, sautéed in 1 to 2 tablespoons butter. Top this omelet with freshly made hollandaise sauce.

OMELETTE A LA MARMALADE

1 plain omelet (recipe above)
3 to 4 tablespoons jam or marmalade
3 tablespoons rum
Confectioners' sugar (for sprinkling omelet)

Spread jam or marmalade over omelet and roll up. Warm rum in small pan, but do not allow to boil. Place omelet on a hot serving dish and sprinkle it with confectioners' sugar. Pour hot rum over the omelet, ignite it and serve the omelet flaming.

Serves 2 for dessert.

¼ teaspoon vanilla
Dash ground cinnamon

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 5½ to 8 minutes
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Peel apples, core and slice into thin rings. Sprinkle with lemon juice and set aside.

Place butter in 1½-quart glass casserole. Microwave 30 to 45 seconds, or until melted. Blend in brown sugar and port or sherry, stirring until sugar is dissolved.

Add apple slices, tossing gently to coat. Sprinkle lightly with nutmeg. Cover and microwave 5 to 7 minutes, until just tender. Set aside (leave covered).

Whip cream with powdered sugar and vanilla several minutes on high speed of electric mixer, until soft peaks form.

Spoon warm apple slices and juice into small individual dessert dishes. Top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream. Dust lightly with cinnamon and serve immediately.

Serves 4 to 6

MARSHMALLOW FUDGE

3 cups sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 (5-ounce) can evaporated milk
1 (12-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 (10-ounce) jar marshmallow creme
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 20 to 25 minutes
Oven Setting: MEDIUM-LOW or DEFROST (30 percent power)

Combine sugar, butter and milk in large glass mixing bowl. Cover loosely with wax paper and microwave 20 to 25 minutes, stirring every 5 minutes. (Mixture should form a soft ball in cold water.)

Add chocolate pieces and stir until melted. Then fold in remaining ingredients.

Turn mixture into a well-buttered 13x9-inch pan. Refrigerate until firm, then cut into squares.

Makes 72 small squares

MUNCHING PEANUT BRITTLE

1 cup granulated sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
1½ cups lightly salted peanuts
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking soda

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
Cooking Time: 7 to 9 minutes
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

In glass mixing bowl, combine sugar and corn syrup, stirring to blend. Microwave, uncovered, 7 to 9 minutes until heated through and bubbling, stirring every 3 minutes.

Rapidly stir in peanuts, butter and vanilla. Blend in baking soda and stir quickly, just until mixture begins to foam.

Pour immediately onto greased baking sheet. Tip sheet, if necessary, to spread evenly. Let cool 15 minutes to ½ hour, then break up and store in airtight container until ready to serve.

Makes about 1 pound peanut brittle

ribs 15 minutes, reserving marinade. Preheat broiler. Broil, garnish and serve ribs as directed above. Makes 12 to 15 appetizer servings.

Recipe from "Make-Ahead Entertaining" by Mable and Gar Hoffman.

CHEESE PUFFS WITH MUSTARD HOLLANDAISE

½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
Dash cayenne
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup flour
2 eggs
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 ounces Camembert or soft cheddar cheese, at room temperature
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Bring first four ingredients to a boil slowly, then add the flour all at once. Cook, stirring, until mixture forms a ball in center of pan. Remove from heat. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Beat in mustard and Camembert cheese. Chill in refrigerator at least 1 hour. When ready to cook, drop mixture by the ½ teaspoonful into oil heated to 365 F and fry until golden. Drain on paper toweling. Roll in Parmesan cheese.

Serve hot on toothpicks with Mustard Hollandaise for dipping. Makes about 25 cheese puffs.

MUSTARD HOLLANDAISE

2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar
4 teaspoons light cream
Dash cayenne pepper
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1 tablespoon soft butter

Mix all ingredients in top of double boiler. Be sure water in lower part of double boiler doesn't touch bottom of top part. Beat with whisk or hand-held electric beater over hot water until thick. May be made ahead of time and refrigerated, but before reheating, bring to room temperature for at least 1 hour. Makes ½ cup.

Halloween's for grown-ups, too

Who says Halloween is just for kids? While they're out tricking and treating, there are plenty of adults who enjoy getting together to celebrate the evening with a grown-ups-only gala.

Following are several microwave-easy recipes for treats sure to please grown-up (and not-so-grown-up) goblins. A word to the wise, though: if you dress as a mummy, be sure to wrap the bandages to leave a space for your mouth. You wouldn't want to miss out on these!

SPICED APPLES 'N' CREAM

3 large cooking apples (Rome Beauty, Pippin, Jonathan, etc.)
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ cup port or sweet sherry wine
Dash ground nutmeg
½ cup heavy whipping cream
2 tablespoons powdered sugar

 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup minced green onion
1 (tablespoon) prepared mustard
2 teaspoons chili powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon garlic powder

SOME PREPARATION NEEDED

These nibbles can be prepared quickly before the game(s) and then arranged within reach for hungry sports enthusiasts.

No one will guess the ingredients of this easy, tangy sauce.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT SWEET 'N' SOUR MEAT BALLS

2 pounds ground round
3 slices bread
1 onion, chopped
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Garlic salt and pepper
Salad oil

Mix all ingredients and shape into 60 tiny meat balls. Brown on all sides in frying pan in a little salad oil. Drain and set aside. Makes about 60 meatballs.

SAUCE

1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
1 (8-ounce) jar grape jelly
Combine ingredients in saucepan and heat through, stirring. Add meatballs to hot sauce in a fondue or chafing dish. Makes 2 cups sauce.

SCALLOPS IN HOT SAUCE

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup olive oil
5 cloves garlic, coarsely ground
1 pound bay scallops
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup slivered red peppers
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup slivered green peppers
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onion
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons drained capers

In large skillet heat oil, saute garlic until golden. Add scallops, peppers, onion, Tabasco sauce and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until scallops turn white and vegetables are crisp-tender. Stir in capers. Serve hot. Makes about 4 cups.

This spicy treat is reminiscent of Spain's hundreds of tapas, snacks served during the cocktail hour.

CHICKEN WINGS SEGOVIA

2 pounds chicken wings
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup olive oil
8 whole cloves garlic, peeled
1 teaspoon flour
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chicken broth
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup dry white wine
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
3 large sprigs parsley
Pinch saffron

Cut chicken wings at joints; discard wing tips. In large skillet heat oil, add wings and garlic. Saute 10 minutes, turning wings to brown on sides. Remove wings and garlic; reserve. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons oil. Stir in flour; cook 1 minute. Add broth, wine and Tabasco sauce. Simmer, stirring constantly, 2 or 3 minutes until thickened. Return wings to skillet. In blender or food processor, combine cooked garlic cloves, parsley and saffron. Process to form a paste; stir into sauce in skillet. Simmer 5 minutes longer until wings are tender. Serve hot. Makes about 20 pieces.

GREAT, BUT LET A NON-FAN PREPARE

You say you want to eat well, but not miss a moment of the on-screen action? If you're lucky enough to have a friend who's into cooking meatballs rather than watching footballs, everyone can be happy with these recipes.

HONEY-MUSTARD RIBS

3 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ pounds pork spare ribs, halved crosswise
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup Dijon-style mustard
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup red-wine vinegar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lightly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons sesame seeds
Parsley sprigs, if desired

Cut ribs into individual riblets. Place on a rack in a broiler pan. Cover with foil. Place in a cold oven. Turn oven to 325 F. Bake 1 to $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours or until meat is tender but not falling off bone. In a small saucepan, combine mustard and honey. Stir in lemon juice, vinegar, brown sugar, soy sauce, salt and pepper. Heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves. Place baked ribs in a shallow bowl; pour marinade over ribs. Complete now or make ahead.

To complete now: Cover with foil or plastic wrap; marinate in refrigerator at least 1 hour. Drain ribs 15 minutes, reserving marinade. Preheat broiler. Place ribs in broiler pan; broil 5 to 6 inches from heat, 2 to 3 minutes, brushing with marinade once. Turn; brush with marinade again. Broil 2 to 3 minutes or until browned and crisp. Place broiled ribs on a large platter; sprinkle with sesame seeds. Garnish with parsley, if desired; serve hot.

To make ahead: Cool and cover with foil. Refrigerate overnight or freeze up to 2 weeks. Thaw ribs overnight in refrigerator. Drain

Omelets — quick and delicious

Omelets are one of the most versatile dishes imaginable. They can be a down-to-earth mixture of cheese and eggs served at a truck stop on the interstate, or a lighter-than-air confection that marks the end of a wonderful French dinner.

All of today's recipes can be prepared in 15 minutes or less, so individual preparation and cooking times are not listed.

BASIC OMELET

2 or 3 large eggs
1½ teaspoons butter

Mix eggs lightly with fork. If desired, whites may be beaten separately, until they begin to froth, and then mixed with yolks. This will produce a fluffier, plumper omelet.

Heat a 7- to 8-inch omelet pan over high heat and melt butter in it. The pan should be hot enough to make the butter sizzle at once. Be careful the butter does not brown or burn.

As soon as butter has melted, pour in eggs and stir briskly with a fork, constantly shaking the pan with a gentle side-to-side motion. When you can see the track of the fork through the eggs, they have set. This will take less than 1 minute. Remove from heat.

At this point, place any filling to be used in the center of the eggs. Raise the handle of the pan and gently slide the omelet toward the opposite side of the pan. With fork, fold the edge of the omelet closest to the handle over the center. Fold the other side of the omelet over the center.

Transfer the omelet to a heated serving dish by turning the pan upside down over the dish. Guiding the omelet with a large fork or a spatula may be helpful.

If you are making more than one omelet, the first ones may be kept warm in a 200 F oven until the last one is done.

SOME FAVORITE OMELET FILLINGS:

1. One cup diced cooked potato (leftover baked or boiled ones are fine), sautéed with 2 tablespoons chopped onion in 1 to 2 tablespoons butter until crisp and brown. Add salt and pepper to taste.

2. One medium tomato, finely chopped, sautéed with 2 tablespoons sliced scallions in 1 tablespoon butter until thickened. While cooking, add 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley and a pinch each of basil, thyme, oregano and dill.

3. One cup fresh mushrooms, sliced, sautéed with 2 sliced scallions in 1 tablespoon butter until liquid has evaporated and mushrooms are soft. Add salt and pepper to taste and stir in 1 heaping tablespoon sour cream and 1 teaspoon dry sherry.

4. One-half cup each of chopped green pepper and onion, sautéed until soft in 1 tablespoon butter. Add salt and pepper to taste and a pinch or two (to taste) of curry powder.

5. One cup cooked broccoli, coarsely chopped, tossed with 2 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese.

6. One-half to 1 cup cooked shrimp, scallops or crabmeat (or a combination), cut into bits, sautéed in 1 to 2 tablespoons butter. Top this omelet with freshly made hollandaise sauce.

OMELETTE A LA MARMALADE

1 plain omelet (recipe above)
3 to 4 tablespoons jam or marmalade
3 tablespoons rum
Confectioners' sugar (for sprinkling omelet)

Spread jam or marmalade over omelet and roll up. Warm rum in small pan, but do not allow to boil. Place omelet on a hot serving dish and sprinkle it with confectioners' sugar. Pour hot rum over the omelet, ignite it and serve the omelet flaming.

Serves 2 for dessert

½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash ground cinnamon

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 5½ to 8 minutes
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Peel apples, core and slice into thin rings. Sprinkle with lemon juice and set aside.

Place butter in 1½-quart glass casserole. Microwave 30 to 45 seconds, or until melted. Blend in brown sugar and port or sherry, stirring until sugar is dissolved.

Add apple slices, tossing gently to coat. Sprinkle lightly with nutmeg. Cover and microwave 5 to 7 minutes, until just tender. Set aside (leave covered).

Whip cream with powdered sugar and vanilla several minutes on high speed of electric mixer, until soft peaks form.

Spoon warm apple slices and juice into small individual dessert dishes. Top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream. Dust lightly with cinnamon and serve immediately.

Serves 4 to 6

MARSHMALLOW FUDGE

3 cups sugar
¾ cup butter or margarine
1 (5-ounce) can evaporated milk
1 (12-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 (10-ounce) jar marshmallow creme
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 20 to 25 minutes
Oven Setting: MEDIUM-LOW or DEFROST (30 percent power)

Combine sugar, butter and milk in large glass mixing bowl. Cover loosely with wax paper and microwave 20 to 25 minutes, stirring every 5 minutes. (Mixture should form a soft ball in cold water.)

Add chocolate pieces and stir until melted. Then fold in remaining ingredients.

Turn mixture into a well-buttered 13x9-inch pan. Refrigerate until firm, then cut into squares.

Makes 72 small squares.

MUNCHING PEANUT BRITTLE

1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup light corn syrup
1½ cups lightly salted peanuts
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking soda

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
Cooking Time: 7 to 9 minutes
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

In glass mixing bowl, combine sugar and corn syrup, stirring to blend. Microwave, uncovered, 7 to 9 minutes until heated through and bubbling, stirring every 3 minutes.

Rapidly stir in peanuts, butter and vanilla. Blend in baking soda and stir quickly, just until mixture begins to foam.

Pour immediately onto greased baking sheet. Tip sheet, if necessary, to spread evenly. Let cool 15 minutes to ½ hour, then break up and store in airtight container until ready to serve.

Makes about 1 pound peanut brittle

CHEESE PUFFS WITH MUSTARD HOLLANDAISE

½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
Dash cayenne
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup flour
2 eggs
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 ounces Camembert or soft cheddar cheese, at room temperature
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Bring first four ingredients to a boil slowly, then add the flour all at once. Cook, stirring, until mixture forms a ball in center of pan. Remove from heat. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Beat in mustard and Camembert cheese. Chill in refrigerator at least 1 hour. When ready to cook, drop mixture by the ½ teaspoonful into oil heated to 365 F. and fry until golden. Drain on paper toweling. Roll in Parmesan cheese.

Serve hot on toothpicks with Mustard Hollandaise for dipping. Makes about 25 cheese puffs.

MUSTARD HOLLANDAISE

2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar
4 teaspoons light cream
Dash cayenne pepper
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1 tablespoon soft butter

Mix all ingredients in top of double boiler. Be sure water in lower part of double boiler doesn't touch bottom of top part. Beat with whisk or hand-held electric beater over hot water until thick. May be made ahead of time and refrigerated, but before reheating, bring to room temperature for at least 1 hour. Makes ½ cup.

microwave magic

Halloween's for grown-ups, too

Who says Halloween is just for kids? While they're out tricking and treating, there are plenty of adults who enjoy getting together to celebrate the evening with a grown-ups-only gala.

Following are several microwave-easy recipes for treats sure to please grown-up (and not-so-grown-up) goblins. A word to the wise, though: if you dress as a mummy, be sure to wrap the bandages to leave a space for your mouth. You wouldn't want to miss out on these!

SPICED APPLES 'N' CREAM

3 large cooking apples (Rome Beauty, Pippin, Jonathan, etc.)
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ cup port or sweet sherry wine
Dash ground nutmeg
½ cup heavy whipping cream
2 tablespoons powdered sugar

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q: I have a big, ugly, rusty three-footed iron kettle that was handed down to me from my great-grandmother. It is really in sad shape. At one time it hung in an open fireplace for cooking stews and such. I'm sure it has only sentimental value, but I would love to clean it up. Do you have any suggestions? — A.J.

A: First, remove loose deteriorated coatings and rust by scraping and wire brushing. The wire brush should have stiff bristles and sturdy construction. After removing as much of the loose material and rough particles as possible with the wire brush, use an emery cloth to further restore the metal to good condition. You will need to use progressively finer grits of emery cloth (sold in most hardware stores). Use of power tools can speed the process. A wide selection of wire brushes is available to fit electric drills. Wire wheels and cup-shaped brushes can be chucked into a drill and will reach into crevices and corners where hand-brushing would be tedious and difficult. Coarse, medium and fine brushes are available to suit the project. Next, clean with Rust-Oleum 7700 Thinner Cleaner, oven cleaner or strong detergent solution. After cleaning, flush thoroughly with fresh water and allow to dry. After surface has thoroughly dried, apply one or two coats of 7778 (4279) Bar-B-Q Black paint by Rust-Oleum to restore the black finish. This same process can be used to restore barbecue grills and fireplace equipment.

Q: Recently I have noticed that some nails have started to come out of the wallboard I used to finish a garage into a family room. Some of the nails are starting to show, not very much, but enough that you can see they are there. I hammered some of them back, very gently, then covered them with a patching plaster that matched the white finish of the wallboard very well. Now the same thing is happening again. Is there some way I can hammer back these nails so that they do not keep coming out? — J.P.

A: Yes. First, go out and buy some threaded nails. Hammer back the old nails once again, then drive in a threaded nail close to each nail that was loose. Using a nailset, recess the old nails that were coming out as well as the new threaded nails. Fill these holes with patching plaster, leaving the patches slightly above the surface to allow for shrinkage. A day or two later, sand down the surfaces and, where necessary, apply a very thin coat of the patching material. Be prepared for the possibility that some of the old nails which haven't popped yet may do so at a later time.

Q: The brick front of our house needs tuck pointing. How is this done? — Z.W.

A: Rake out defective mortar between bricks to a depth of at least half an inch, then brush out all loose particles and wet interior surfaces with clear water. Fill joints with a fairly stiff but workable mixture of ready-mixed patching mortar, or one part portland cement, five parts clean, coarse sand and one part of hydrated lime. If color is to be added, use only lime-proof cement color sold by dealers in masonry materials. Add no more than 10 pounds of color to each bag of portland cement. All ingredients should be mixed thoroughly when dry, before water is added. To determine the amount of color needed for your particular purpose, make a few small trial batches before mixing the full batch for the tuck pointing.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 17 and I'm adopted. My parents are lovely people but for some reason they don't want me to find my birth parents. I think they are afraid they will lose me to some strangers but, regardless of what happens, I'll always consider the couple that adopted me as my parents.

A friend of mine is also adopted and both of us are searching for our birth parents and our adoptive parents are aware of it. Our research led us to an organization called ALMA (Adoptees' Liberty Movement Association). This professional association truly cares about the adoptee. They are like a big family and they do everything legally possible to help.

For those who would like to contact ALMA, please write to P.O. Box 154, Washington Bridge Station, New York, NY 10033. — Erin, Kingman.

Dr. Wallace: Recently you stated that a 12-year-old girl should not be dating a guy who was 21. Well, what about me? This guy, 21, is nine years older than the 12-year-old girl. I'm 19 and dating a 30-year-old guy. That's an 11-year difference. Not only are we dating, but we plan to get married this coming Christmas.

We are very happy and it's hard for me to think our relationship is wrong because of our age difference. — Kelley

Kelley: Once a person is out of high school, age difference in a relationship has much less significance.

Dr. Wallace: Rick and I were dating steadily but since I didn't like him as much as he liked me, I fixed him up with my girlfriend Marie. Now they are going steady and say that they are in love. Now I think that I really do like Rick and want him back.

Since "all's fair in love and war," I see nothing wrong in winning him back. Do you? — Carole Carole: Somehow I get the feeling that you are a bit jealous. Can you honestly say that you aren't?

Regardless, do not try to win Rick back. First of all, you might not succeed and next, you would lose a good friend in Marie. There are a lot of eligible guys in Worland. Find one who is "unattached."

Dr. Wallace: I love the sun and have a great tan but now I'm a little concerned. My physical education teacher told me that I'm getting too much sun and if I don't stay in the shade I might get skin cancer.

I'm Italian and have an olive complexion anyway, so I don't think my teacher knows what she is talking about. — Rose

Rose: Stop by your local Cancer Society office and pick up the free pamphlet, 'Fry Now, Pay Later.' It states that people who sunburn easily and have fair skin with red or blond hair are most prone to develop skin cancer. The amount of time spent in the sun affects a person's risk of skin cancer. A fair-skinned person who wears protective clothes, uses strong sunscreens and stays out of strong sunlight has a good chance of avoiding skin cancer.

While it is much less common among people with a dark, even black skin, these individuals can develop some forms of skin cancer.

Dr. Wallace: How dare you say that a baby sitter should be paid a minimum of $1.50 per hour. My sitters drink my soda, eat my snacks, watch my television, use my electricity and talk on my telephone. And the hardest thing they may have to do is calm a crying child or put him to bed.

In most cases, I go out after my child has gone to bed so why should I have to pay $1.50 per hour — for what? I get by for 60 cents per hour. — Mother

Mother: Your child is the most important possession you will ever have. An excellent sitter is worth every penny of $1.50 per hour. Anything less is a disgrace. Oh, yes, you forgot to mention that the sitter also sits on your couch and breathes your air.

Teens: What is the major problem confronting schools? For the first time in the 18-year history of the Gallup Poll on education, the adult public has identified "drugs" as the school's biggest problem. By a wide margin, adults favored expulsion of students caught using or selling drugs and permitting school authorities to search student lockers for drugs.

What do teenagers think is the major school problem? A separate youth survey revealed that teens themselves rank drugs, including alcohol, as the prime concern. It's unanimous! Hopefully, society soon can cut this cancer from our midst.

Healthy exercise for every body

Everyone should exercise regularly, right?

Exercise keeps the heart muscle working best, pumps oxygen, helps the blood system, keeps functional muscles in tone and joints limber. We can all agree on that — even if that exercise is just a 30-minute walk four times each week.

What happens, though, if you have had a stroke, or if your "get up and go" apparently has already gone? What can you do?

"Plenty," says health and fitness celebrity Richard Simmons.

The energetic exercise wonder of the television tube has turned his attention specifically to exercises for those he identifies as "physically challenged." The positive result has been the creation of a non-profit organization, the Richard Simmons' Reach Foundation, and he has published a book on specific exercises for those presently with limited physical ability. All of the net proceeds of his "Reach for Fitness" book, published by Warner, go to the foundation. To fund training for more trainers and adults, to research, and more public education on exercise opportunities for those with physical limitations.

Simmons describes his new direction: "For the last decade I have been helping people like themselves better. I've been helping them look in their mirrors and see the strong, beautiful people inside the packaging. After I established my network of Anatomy Asylum exercise studios, I learned that it wasn't just the overweight who had no place to go to exercise. There was another group of people who also had no place to develop themselves to their full physical potential."

Simmons has developed a series of exercises for those who might be chair-bound, for those with restricted use of limbs, for amputees — exercises (and the reasons for them) that work for the betterment of the rest of the body, and even to restore some activity for restricted limbs and joints.

The exercises are illustrated in the book not by Simmons, but by persons who are "physically challenged." Each exercise has been developed with the cooperation of medical and physical specialists — each of whom has contributed his or her counsel and talents in the development of the book.

Can everyone exercise for improved health? Richard Simmons says "yes" and proves it possible for most people. The exercise series he presents works well, too, for mature adults who just might not have done any exercise for several to many years.

Richard Simmons' "Reach for Fitness" is published by Warner Books, hardbound, 316 pages at a retail price of $17.95. Your library might have a copy now, and discount booksellers should have the volume at a lower price. (ISBN number is 0446-53102-4.)

For those with Parkinson's disease, the United Parkinson Foundation has created and published a special exercise program for mature adults affected with that disease. "The Exercise Program" is composed of 38 individual activities, clearly illustrated in a loose-leaf binder with pictures, instruction and verbal cues. Two accompanying cassettes provide the same verbal cues and music, where timing is needed, making it easy and enjoyable to exercise.

Copies of this special program for mature adult Parkinson's patients are available for $20, postpaid in the United States. Mail to United Parkinson Foundation, 360 West Superior St., Chicago, IL 60610.

Exercise can be healthy for almost everyone, and Richard Simmons and the United Parkinson Foundation prove it separately in new programs for those previously assumed unable to exercise for good health.

Recline in style

By Sharon Owen Haven

Q My husband and I are on a collision course. He wants a recliner in the family room. I think they are huge and hideous. A recliner would take up more room than we have comfortably available and I blanch at the thought of Naugahyde. Do you know of any alternatives? — L.O.

A A club chair and ottoman might serve the purpose, depending on how fussy your husband is about the angle at which he naps. You might also scout your local furniture stores for some of the new sleekly designed chairs that are constructed in permanently reclining positions. Of course, these are primarily contemporary styles and can take up as much space as a recliner.

You might also be relieved to know that there have been some significant improvements in recliners of late. You will find a wider variety of styles — from wing backs to small club chairs that take less space. In addition, a vastly expanded choice of coverings makes it possible for you to nix Naugahyde in favor of real leather or a herring bone wool, for example. The new designs in these chairs may even be impossible to recognize as recliners at all.

Q I have been interested in some of the new dramatic lighting effects I've seen in magazines. How can I add some pizzazz to my living room at night? — J.W.

A Happily, lighting techniques have come out of the theater and into the home. You can get a variety of exciting effects by using a combination of down-lights, up-lights, spotlights and floodlights, in addition to any traditional lighting you already have.

Down lights are installed high and cast a pool of light downward. Track lights or recessed can lights, for example. With new bulbs and fixtures they can illuminate a large area or pinpoint a small work of art.

Up-lights stand on the floor and shine upward. Because they cast shadows on the walls and ceilings, they produce dramatic effects when placed near plants or sculpture.

Spots and floods are used to cast light on particular areas or objects. There are a wide variety of specific fixtures available now from floodlights that will evenly illuminate an entire art wall to spot units with adjustable frames that will light an area of particular size and shape.

RECLINER — New designs in recliners, such as this model from Stratford, offer more variety in style and size.

You can control your lighting and vary the mood in your living room with an inexpensive rheostat installed with your general lighting. And, of course, you can play with what you have for endless combinations of direction, intensity and focus.

Be sure not to neglect the task-oriented requirements for lighting in your room either, whether its for reading, hobbies or other activities. Once the basics are provided, you can set your stage by shining on the special effects.

ANTIQUE OR JUNQUE

Clock is collectible — but not an antique

By James G. McCollam

Q: This clock was purchased over 60 years ago by my parents. It is marked "E. Ingram Co., Bristol, Conn. No. 1048." It is in good running order.

What can you tell me about its vintage and value?

A: This mantel clock is the "Pekin" model and was made in the 1920s. It isn't old enough to be an antique, but it is collectible.

A dealer would sell a clock like this for at least $175.

Q: This mark is on the bottom of my Belleek cup and saucer. They are pink porcelain and in very good condition. Please tell me what you can about their age and value.

A: These are not Irish Belleek; they were made by Ott & Brewer in Trenton, N.J., during the late 19th century. The plant manager was William Bromley Sr., who had worked at the original Belleek factory in Ireland.

Your cup and saucer would sell for about $150 from a dealer. If you plan on selling them, you will find it difficult to get the full retail price.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q: Our children are begging for a dog. We have been told that pet ownership adds a great deal to family life and that families owning pets are generally happier and closer. We are really interested in knowing the benefits of owning a dog. We are not sure that we want to become closely attached to a pet.

A: There are many reasons for owning a pet. A survey of 1,000 dog-owning households was recently conducted by the Ralston Purina Co. Ninety-nine percent of those who participated called their dog "a part of the family" and most said that their dogs are a constant source of companionship and love.

The survey supported earlier studies that assert that pets can be good for the owners' overall health and well-being and often help alleviate stress. Sixty-eight percent of those questioned cited companionship as the key benefit of owning a dog. One-third of the respondents said that their dog is a source of love. One out of five surveyed said that their dog provides protection and the same number said that owning a dog is beneficial to their children's growth and development of responsibility.

In another recent survey of over 13,000 participants (Psychology Today, August 1984, 52-56), 97 percent believed that all children should have pets. The three main benefits they stated are providing companionship or pleasure, learning how to be gentle and learning responsibility. Seven out of 10 respondents in this survey also felt that owning pets helped prepare young couples for parenthood mainly by getting them used to daily responsibilities and having another living being totally dependent upon them.

In the Ralston Purina survey, male dogs outnumbered female dogs, 54 percent to 46 percent. There are more crossbred dogs (mongrels) than any purebred breed. Thirty-one percent of all dogs are mongrels.

The Psychology Today survey indicated that dogs and cats are by far the most popular choice in types of pets. They are followed by fish, birds, rodents, reptiles, horses and other animals.

More than half of all pets routinely sleep in the same bed with a member of the family. Ninety-nine percent of all owners talk to their pets. Most of this chat takes place in a conversational way or as very brief words or commands. Half of the respondents felt that obtaining a pet had increased conversation and compassion for living things. Two-thirds of the owners reported there pets make them feel more secure, and nearly half said that having a pet made them feel safer from crime. Half of the owners kept pictures of their pets in their wallets or a display at home or in the office. Six of 10 owners stated that their pets were "extremely important" to them.

There are a lot of factors that should be carefully considered prior to accepting the responsibility of owning a pet. Pets do provide companionship, a living being to be cared for, something to keep a person busy, a being to be watched and trained, a helper in times of need, and a stimulation for socialization and exercise. Pets often are man's or woman's best friend.

NAILS TEND TO BACK OUT OF WOOD, PARTICULARLY IF THERE IS A MOVEMENT OR VIBRATION OF THE WOOD. DRIVE THEM BACK WITH A BARE HAMMER AND YOU ARE LIKELY TO LEAVE HAMMER MARKS.

LAY A PUTTY KNIFE OVER THE NAIL AND HIT IT WITH THE HAMMER UNTIL NAIL IS LEVEL.

IF YOU WANT TO DRIVE IT DEEPER, USE A NAIL SET OR A PUNCH.

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

The other day my neighbor took her small son shopping. The weather turns brisk at this time of year and Billy needed warmer clothes.

So off he went with Mom, leaving baby Joey home with Grandma. In the store he tried on several jackets before finding one that was very warm and fit him perfectly. Later, as a reward for his excellent behavior during the shopping expedition, Billy was treated to a delicious lunch with Mom.

Then back home they went, a little tired, but happy, and looking forward to sharing the story of their Big Adventure with a smiling Grandma!

Love,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Danny Moen and Christine Galvin.
