The Glen Cove-Hicksville-Syosset League of Mercy Hospital recently donated a minivan to the hospital's Senior Day Treatment Center in Freeport. The 15 seat vehicle, fully equipped to accommodate elderly clients, transports individuals to and from the Center. The five day a week program is ideally suited to individuals who are having difficulty coping with their changing life situations and are exhibiting behavior or cognitive disturbances.

McDonald's Drive-In Given Town Bd. Okay

Oyster Bay Town Councilman John Venditto announced that the Town Board has granted a special use permit application in Hicksville. "The applicants, McDonald's Corporation and Paumanock Development Corporation, were seeking a special use permit to erect a restaurant with a drive-thru window in an 'H' industrial district," Venditto noted.

The property is located on the east side of Broadway (Route 107), south of Louis (First Street) in Hicksville.

In approving the special use permit the Town Board imposed twenty (20) approvable covenants, including a requirement that the subject premises be continually policed and maintained so as to be free of all papers, trash, debris or other discarded materials and that litter baskets be installed and emptied whenever necessary. That signage and lane designations be properly installed so that traffic flow is readily apparent to motorists and pedestrians and that stop signs shall be installed at all points of egress. Venditto noted that the road sign will be limited in size to 32 square feet and cannot exceed 12 feet in height.

"No building permits or certificate of occupancy will be issued," Venditto stated, "until a 'site plan' has been submitted and approved by the Town board."

PBC To Be PAL

The Nassau County Police Boys Club received a new name yesterday to start a new year.

Police Commissioner Samuel J. Rozzi made the new name official-Nassau County Police Activity League, PAL.

"The decision was made to call it Police Activity League because the unit serves both boys and girls and is dedicated to more things than athletics," Rozzi said.

"The more the 30,000 enrolled youngsters do participate in nearly every major sport. The program, however, includes such things as computer groups, chess teams, baton twirling, bands and cultural events."

Of the total number of youngsters involved, more than one third are girls and the name was changed to reflect the fact that the whole youth community is being served, Rozzi explained.

Lieutenant Ralph Giardina, Commanding Officer of the police unit, says the new name will be phased in over the coming months. He said the new name and logo would be substituted as present uniforms, signs and banners are replaced.

Two Injured By Elec. Wires

Two Suffolk County men were injured by high tension wires in Plainview at 8:15 a.m. on January 15.

Both men employed by the Giant Supply Corp. located at 20 Brooklyn Avenue, Massapequa, were delivering sheet rock to Aeroflex Corp. at 35 South Service Road, Plainview.

While operating the boom that lifts the sheet rock into the second floor window, Chylene Brown, 28 of 182 Parkway Blvd., Wyandanch, accidentally made contact with some overhead wires charging the truck and delivering an electrical shock to the operator. Mr. Brown sustained 3rd degree burns to his hands and thigh. He was transported to Nassau County Medical Center by police helicopter where he was admitted in stable condition.

Joseph Dunkley, 50, of 77 Floyd Street, Deer Park was assisting Brown and was dazed by the accident and was transported to Central General Hospital suffering from shock. His condition at this time is not known.

Whatever You Need

Oyster Bay Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker installs members of the Auxiliary Police of the Plainview Fire Department. Taking the oath are, left to right, Ulysses DeFelice, William Pancrolli, Gerard Resnick, Robert Esenziel, Ed Cirillo and Walter Henry. DeFelice, Pancrolli and Henry are former chiefs of the fire department and, Esenziel and Cirillo are former captains.

The Plainview issues circulate in Plainview, Oyster Bay Cove, Syosset, Laurel Hollow, Muttontown, Woodbury, Jericho, Brookville, East Norwich, Old Bethpage, Bethpage and Hicksville - See this special section in this edition.

Touring the newly opened Bernard Worob Antepartum Testing Unit at Long Island Jewish Medical Center are, left to right: Adiel Fleischner, M.D.; Elise Molloy, R.N.; Pat Stahlmiller, R.N. of Hicksville. The new unit offers specialized obstetrical expertise and the latest equipment and techniques for the assessment and care of difficult pregnancies.

Fork Lane Computer News

The response to the Name the Computer Room contest was terrific. The names were very imaginative and exciting. We had a very hard job deciding which name to choose.

The winner was Diane Traxler. Her name for the computer room was Floppy Disc-O.

The following are honorable mentions:

The Teen Room, Fun Learning Center - Irene Lee, Brain Machine - Elizabeth Lanza, Apple Orchard - Diane Traxler, The Apple Core - Diane Traxler, Big Apple - Robin Blicker, Mr. Smartalce - Lorraine Samsonoff, Computer's Ark - Joey Michie, Tropic's Room - Snera Patel, The Apple Star Room - Chris DePaoli, The Big Apple Room - Michael Buran, The Apple Dumpling Room - Kelly Wasiluk, Brain Game Room - Bryan Sarandrea, The Teaching Computer - Bobby Alexander, Kenny Computer Room - Merrv Senn, Snarkling

Competitors - Kim Spiegel, The Fun Circus Room - Sarah Beaulieu, Fork Lane's New One and Only Computer Room - Priti Tewari, The Apple Saucy Room - Vincent DePaoli, Cobra Computer Room - Scott Schuhert, The Apple Room - Brian Zeiders, The Computer Fun Room - Nichole Antzoulidis, The Apple Room - Jaime Doherty, Kiddieloco Computer Room - Jennifer Rose, The Mott Street Maulers - Donna Lando, Computer World - Kristi Amosato, Game Room - Craig Kemlein, Discs and Desks - Janet Zagarello, Computer Control - Laura Fitzsimmons.

As you can see from the amount of entries submitted, our students are enthused about computers. Next month our computer newsletter, News from the Floppy Disc-O Room at Fork Lane, will be written by Fork Lane students and edited by Charlotte Anstey.

Letters

To the Editor:

Do our esteemed elected officials talk to each other? Do they bother to read the newspapers? Does the right hand know what the left hand is doing, except when both hands are busily engaged in picking the pockets of the taxpayers? Don't ask - you already know the answer.

The hullabaloo about impending water crisis and its drastic restrictions has not yet died down and our genius Town Fathers have decided that as part of their recycling test, the unfortunate residents of the trial area will have to wash their garbage. Wash the garbage? And just how many thousands of gallons of water is that going to waste? We may not have enough water to wash our cars, our clothes or ourselves; perfume sales may soar out of sight to mask the stink, but obviously, we've got plenty of water to wash the garbage. We may be able to smell each other coming a mile away, but hey, the Town of Oyster Bay will have the cleanest trash on Long Island.

Separating glass, metal and newspapers from the rest of the trash makes sense and I'm all for it, but washing out cans, frozen food trays, used aluminum foil and such is a criminal waste of water. To say nothing about the difficulty of removing labels. Cans are not too bad, but have the Town officials ever tried to soak the label off a glass bottle? The manufacturers, glue them on to last through all eternity. And why take the labels off in the first place? The deposit redemption machines at the local supermarkets gobble up and crush bottles, labels and all, without any sign of indigestion. If the supermarkets find it no problem, why should the Town?

What are we supposed to do with liquid fats, such as meat drippings, bacon grease and used cooking oil? If we can't put them in cans or bottles for disposal, what do we do - pour them down the drains and clog up the sewer system? I suggest that before they come up with any more crackbrained schemes, our esteemed(?) representatives in Oyster Bay take some time out from their politicking to thoroughly research all the ramifications of their actions. Better still, when it comes to trash disposal difficulties, they should first consult with their wives. When it comes to getting rid of the trash, it's hard to find someone with more expertise in the field than the average housewife.

A GOLDEN opportunity now exists for the Town to clean up the parking lots at railroad stations where debris gathers in an unending stream. With the LIRR strike the lots are now virtually empty....THE International Association of Firefighters has local volunteer vamps more than a bit annoyed. The union group issued a request that all affiliated unions discourage members from serving as volunteer firefighters during their off duty hours because volunteers are "in competition" with paid firefighters....THIS week we are printing our largest issue for a month of January. We hope readers enjoy the Family Finances extra edition with its specially written features. Also remember that many worthy advertisers present their messages in our local newspaper. Please consider doing business with them....THE CRIME REPORT is published each week as a public service to alert residents of where crime is taking place in the area. Anyone seeing suspicious activity should phone 911....BURGLARS broke into the Maxim Smoke Shop 406 Jericho Turnpike, Syosset between Jan. 15 and 16. They entered through the roof but no loss was reported....AT YUMMY Yogurt 240 N. Broadway, Hicksville, burglars broke glass in a rear door between Jan. 16 and 17. They entered and stole cash....THE FRONT door of Jaragua 131 Jericho Turnpike, Jericho was pried open between Jan. 11 and 12. Burglars entered and stole a TV and radio....BURGLARS attempted to enter the Malone residence 105 Caffrey Ave., Bethpage on Jan. 16. They pried open a rear window but no entry was made....A REAR window of the Scarna residence 44 Armon Drive, Bethpage was broken by burglars on Jan. 7. They entered and stole a safe, assorted jewelry, a VCR, video camera, TV, radio and TV monitor. Entry was with a front door key....THE REAR window of Bada Inc. 936 Stewart Ave., Bethpage was broken between Jan. 10 and 12. Keys were stolen....A SIDE WINDOW was broken at the Jesilla residence 8 Heather Lane, Plainview on Jan. 12. Burglars entered and stole a VCR and assorted jewelry....A VCR and assorted jewelry were also stolen at the Friedman residence 8 Barby Lane, Plainview on Jan. 15. Entry was by breaking a rear window....BURGLARS broke into the Kops residence 18 Caffey Ave., Bethpage on Jan. 15. They broke a rear window to gain entry and stole a VCR and assorted jewelry....A REAR WINDOW was broken at the Ekambaram residence 36 Sylvia Rd., Plainview on Jan. 15. The loss was not determined....That's all the news for now...G.T.

Editor's Notebook

Local fire departments are actively recruiting volunteer firefighters to help reinstate their dwindling enrollments. Meanwhile, it is reported that the International Association of Firefighters has issued a request that all of their affiliated unions in the entire U.S. discourage members from serving as volunteer firemen during their off-duty hours!

Surely the officials must be made to realize that volunteer firefighters unselfishly dedicate themselves to serving their communities without recompense and expose themselves to extreme danger to save the lives and property of their neighbors!

Several fire groups are voicing their disapproval of the I.A.F.F.'s stand. We wish to be heard along with them. How about you?

Surplus Food Available Jan. 31

The next scheduled government surplus cheese distribution by the Hicksville Kiwanis Club will be on Saturday, January 31. The time will be at 8:30 a.m. The place will be at the Carvel store at 447 South Broadway, Hicksville.

The Kiwanis Club members will distribute cheese and whatever other government surplus food supplied to them by the warehouse. The distribution will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will continue until 11 a.m., or until the food items are all given out to the local residents entitled to receive it.

It is suggested that people who are eligible to receive government surplus food come early before the food is all given out. The Hicksville Kiwanis Club is pleased to provide this service to the needy residents of the area who are entitled to receive this type of help.

On Monday, January 12, the LIRR conducted an assembly program for the students of Fork Lane School.

Mr. James Burns, the LIRR Public Information Officer, spoke about railroad safety, the duties of various railroad personnel such as engineers, conductors, maintenance people and so on, and also discussed appropriate behavior which was expected from people who ride the train. He then showed a slide program which was followed by a lively question and answer period.

Everyone agreed that this was a most informative and enjoyable program.

Town Tax Payments Due

Oyster Bay Town Receiver of Taxes Gary F. Musiello reminds residents that the first half of the 1987 General Tax Levy is due on January 1, and may be paid, without penalty, through February 10.

"By law, a taxpayer has a 40 day grace period from the date the tax is due during which payment may be made without penalty," Musiello explained. "After that 40 days, a 1% penalty is added for each month the tax remains unpaid, retroactive to January 1."

Residents can pay in person at the Tax Office, Oyster Bay Town Hall West, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, at Town Hall South, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa or they can pay by mail. The Town Clerk's Annex, Newbridge Road and Duffy Avenue in Hicksville, will be opening to accept 1987 tax payments from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on February 4, 5, 6, 9 and 10.

When paying in person at the Tax Office citizens are reminded to bring the entire tax bill with their payment. Payment being made by mail for the first half of the year should include Stub #1 only. Stubs #1 and #2 should be included if the entire tax for the year is being paid.

Musiello also cautioned residents not to write on, cut, fold, staple or otherwise deface the tax stubs as it can cause the computer to reject the payment.

In Service

Navy Seaman Recruit Michael J. Krikalo, son of Jeanne G. Scott of 27 Holman Blvd., Hicksville, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Krikalo's eight week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Krikalo's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

Many Ways Found To Get To N.Y.

Some 6,500 Long Island Railroad commuters out of Hicksville who shuttle back and forth to the Big Apple were seeking other ways and means of transportation as the strike enters its second week tomorrow.

If there are eight million stories in the Naked City, there are as many out here in the burbs. The commuters, of course, were driving into Queens and Manhattan or taking local buses to subways in Jamaica and Flushing. Car pools were getting together for the 30-mile haul to N.Y.C. by meeting at such local staging area as Cantique Park or at the N.Y. State Dept. of Transportation Park & Ride Lot, north of Sears Department Store.

Meanwhile, the New York Helicopter Airline of Garden City reported rising business, ferrying commuters via the friendly skies into Manhattan for $50 - each way! (You don't have to be a millionaire, but it helps.) "Considering the headaches of driving, it's worth it," explained a mid-town Manhattan executive, "and it only takes 15 minutes." Commuters, it was reported, were even taking the plunge into Manhattan via boats. One boating company was setting sail with boatloads of passengers from Port Washington to Wall Street - A 50-minute trip costing $22 each way.

But, barring your car, skateboard or thumb, you can go by bus: There is 24-hour bus service from the Hicksville LIRR station into Flushing, where you can catch the #7 train for Queens and Manhattan. This N-20 Bus leaves every half-hour and costs $1.15 each way. Or you can take the N-22 at the same price from the Mid-Island Plaza to Jamaica subways. It leaves every 20 and 30 minutes.

This is really ridiculous. We now pay for garbage to be shipped to Pennsylvania. Now we must use a $15 container given to us by the Town of Oyster Bay - this must be put out on the curb Monday and Thursday whether there is anything in it or not! Real stupid. To top this off labels must be removed and cans and glass bottles washed out. They talk about conserving water. How can we when we're told to do this? Newspapers to be put there also but no color pamphlets or magazines. As I said before, the whole thing is really stupid. We did this during the war because it was necessary but not now.

Larceny Suspect Arrested Here

The Second Squad reports the arrest of a 24 year old Roosevelt man, January 17 for assorted charges stemming from larcenies that occurred at Gus Reidlinger's Towing yard, located at 34 Charlotte Avenue, Hicksville.

Police Officer Walter Sloan, on routine patrol, observed the subject walking in the vicinity of the yard prior to 4:35 a.m., carrying a satchel. When he investigated, the satchel contained assorted tools, 3 radios, a radar detector, and an equalizer. Further investigation revealed the items were taken from autos that were parked inside the two yards.

The subject, identified as Gary Williams, 24, of Lakewood Avenue Roosevelt, is charged with Grand Larceny 4th, Criminal Mischief 3rd, Possession of Burglary Tools, and Criminal Trespass. He was arraigned in First District Court.

Parents often feel their life was harder

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D

Q. Can you let a kid spout off once in a while? I hope so — because here goes.

My father can't get over the fact that I have an easier life than he had as a child. I go to school on a bus (he walked a mile each way through cold snowy winters), we live where it's warm all year (he didn't). I'm saving for a car (he didn't have one until he was grown up), I get a good allowance from him (he never received one), I work part-time because I want to (he had to), and I never wear worn-out shoes (he did).

I just wish he'd lay off. I'm 15 years old and can hardly wait until I go away to college.

A. Will it make you feel any better to hear that what you are talking about is one of the most common parent/child conflicts? Parents haven't always had it harder, but they often may feel they did. In many cases it was certainly true.

With a Depression and the millions of losses, injuries and tearful goodbyes of a major war in most of their backgrounds, their younger years frequently were tougher than those of the post-World War II, Korean War and Vietnam generations.

So a little patience and reading about the years of their youth may be in order. It might even be pretty fascinating stuff, like the books of Studs Terkel and the wartime writings of Ernie Pyle.

Q. Maybe you will think I am a hypochondriac or just looking for trouble, but that is not my goal. What I really want to do is avoid or prevent health problems for my two young children. They are 2 and 3 years old, and thank goodness are healthy. But I know a lot of things can go wrong, and I strongly believe that it is to their benefit (as well as mine) to catch problems early.

So what do you suggest to get me on the right track on this issue?

A. An obvious first stop — your pediatrician or family doctor for warning signs to look for. That individual may also have a favorite book or magazine to recommend for parents.

A possibility that recently came to my attention is a newsletter called Child Health Alert. It refers to itself as "a monthly survey of current developments affecting child health." Recent issues included articles on subjects like these: Harmful effects of passive smoking; child safety; insect re-pellents; vaccines; TV watching; sugar and hyperactivity. Its educational advisory board consists primarily of physicians.

You might write to them for further information (and maybe even a sample copy) at P.O. Box 338, Newton Highlands, MA 02161 — and then decide whether it is worth your having.

There is also the "classic" Virginia Apgar book, "Is My Baby All Right?" for you to consider.

Q. From what I see and hear, I guess we are among the poor people of this country. We have only one car and glad we can manage to afford it.

My husband uses it for getting to work on a sharing basis with four other men, so it is in regular use only once a week.

Our teenage son wants to drive it to school, but there are other days on an emergency basis when my husband needs it. So he and I feel it should always be available when that need comes up.

Our boy (he is 16) feels that is unfair. He sees no reason for it to lie idle when he has to take the school bus.

I see his point, but my husband has to come first. Don't you think so?

A. Of course he does, but there is a possible compromise.

Perhaps you can consider a time factor related to potential emergencies. If they usually occur early, the car may then be totally idle for the days when they don't happen.

How about thinking of your son using it one morning a week if certain contingencies are met: It definitely isn't needed by your husband that morning; your son earns the money for the gas; he takes no rowdy passengers with him.

It has to be assumed that he is a careful driver who has successfully completed driver training and has a valid license to drive.

Hicksville:

Then And Now

As in Kansas City, everything was up-to-date in Hicksville—they went and built a skyscraper four stories high—back in 1930 when this photo was taken of the spanking new Hicksville Professional Building at the southeast corner of Broadway and East Barclay Street. Built in 1927-28, this imposing structure offered an unparalleled view of the Nassau Plains for tenants and members of the newly-formed Town of Oyster Bay Club. The edifice was touted by the club as being "At the crossroads and geographical center of Nassau County." Rents were only about $1 a square foot; however, the "Great Depression," starting in 1929, kept the building sparsely occupied until the housing boom after World War II.

In photo taken today, the building has undergone a few facelifts over the years—and even Old Glory has fallen victim to the wrecker's ball. The building's new owners, the American Medical Insurance Co. (who took over in 1981), are thinking of restoring the flag. The firm has spent about $200,000 renovating the structure and also got rid of pecky pigeons that roosted on the ledges and window sills by treating the sills with a tar-like chemical substance. The building, formerly tenanted by LILCO, which left in 1979, is now occupied by the owners, the American Dental Centers and a Western Union office. Floor space now rents to the tune of $20 a square foot. (Photo by Adam DiPietro)

Foreign Lang. Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Megan Xiques has been named a United States National Award winner in Foreign Language.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American High School students.

Megan Xiques, who attends Holy Trinity High School was nominated for this National Award by Sr. Johanna, a Spanish teacher at the school. Megan Xiques will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Megan Xiques is the daughter of Jo-Ann and Richard Xiques. The grandparents are John and Marge Marquart also of Hicksville.

A fuller life through achievement

Christine is blind. At Helen Keller Services for the Blind, we know it's important to help blind kids achieve. Some parents think they have to do everything for blind children.

And that's too bad!

Helen Keller social workers helped Christine's mom and dad understand she could learn to care for herself. Because she sees some light, we fitted her with special lenses in our low vision clinic. She went to our nursery school. Later, with our help, she attended a regular school where she did her lessons from braille books. Then, one of our mobility instructors taught her to use a cane so she could travel alone, anywhere. Kids like Christine, and her father too, need Helen Keller Services. Help us to help them to a fuller life.

Quality Or Quantity?

One Sure Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

realities of life to his students, with a splendid wit, Jim Brazzell will long be remembered by two generations of Hicksvillians. His many colleague friends of the Senior and Junior High School faculties honored his long and fruitful service with a dinner at T.J. Courtney's recently.

Suspect Charged In Sears Burglary

The Second Squad reports the arrest of a 24 year old Bethpage man for Burglary 3rd degree, stemming from an incident that occurred in Hicksville at 10:10 p.m. January 12.

The subject apparently hid in the bathroom of Sears in Hicksville, after closing. Making sure no one was around, he then went to the jewelry department and allegedly took $50,000 in assorted jewelry, and placed the merchandise in a bag.

As the subject was leaving through a rear door, he set off an alarm, and police were notified. But prior to this, the subject was observed by Officer Robert Spikoski, while on routine patrol. He gave chase on foot, with Officer Norman McCloy assisting. The subject was apprehended after a few blocks and placed under arrest. The bag, which was dropped by the subject during the chase, was recovered along with the jewelry.

The subject, identified as Arthur Volpe, Jr., 24, 19 Lincoln Blvd., Bethpage, will be arraigned at First District Court.

Students Witness Metamorphosis

Compiled by Victoria C. Nasalek
Metamorphosis has occurred before their very eyes. The Central Boulevard students in Mrs. Janet Casella's third grade science class have witnessed a marvelous change in nature. Thirty-four students wrote individual stories to report this event. Parts from each were abstracted for this story.

Brian Colleuori begins, "My teacher sent away for caterpillars." At the larva stage, "when the caterpillars were babies, they were black and fuzzy," announced Aysel Akdeniz. "They had yellow stripes," adds most of the class. "They were very small," says Jason O'Connell and "very skinny," adds Mrs. Casella. The caterpillars were fed a green nutrient which Beth Zambri says looked gross. The children watched the caterpillars grow and grow and grow.

"And then the most exciting thing happened," exclaims Hulya Yilmaz. "The next morning we came in and they were in their pupa stage," she adds. The caterpillars had woven a silken case around themselves. "They weave a chrysalis and then wait," reports Joe Dorner. "They made kind of a spider web," Lauren Naso explains. "It was a pretty iridescent color," describes Sal Strocchia. "They hung for five days," reports Michael Tesoriero. A moth weaves a similar case called a cocoon. "We saved the chrysalis to show everyone," John Rubano proudly adds. While in the chrysalis or pupa stage, the insects don't move or eat. After five to ten days they shed their cases and are transformed into the adult stage of beautiful butterflies. "The wings open and a red color came out," described Shawn LoBosco. "They pushed the extra color out of their tails," says Justin Popiel. "I like when they squeezed the red stuff out," says Melissa McKinley. "It looked like blood," reports Tracey Grosso. "But it's not blood," reminds Shawn, "it's called marconium."

"These butterflies were the best the class had ever seen!" declared Louis Polenta. "They were all different colors!" says Kristen Bistygia. "They're called Painted Ladies," instructs Jason Trigger. "They were beautiful!" reports John Lagnese. "It was neat," adds Beth Zambri.

After their wings were dry, the butterflies were ready for flight. The class watched them fly around in the butterfly garden, "which is a box with sides you can see through," explains Kerri Miller. These third graders were then amazed to see the butterflies uncurl their long proboscis to draw up food. "They drank sugar water," adds Evan Nosowitz.

"Then they were strong enough to fly away," says Michael Auer. Mariann Rusinak, along with the rest of her classmates, wanted to keep the lovely Painted Ladies. But Friday finally came and the class had to set the butterflies free because as Tracey Grosso explains, "the next day was Saturday and no one could feed them. Everybody came outside to watch them fly away." Marc Konior sadly states, "We let them go in the rain." Suzanne Sullivan adds, "I didn't want to let the butterflies go." But Donna LoVerde explains, "I didn't want them to die either, so we let them go. But I was still sad." Mrs. Casella says her students had watched them being born and then grow up and leave. It was as though they were losing their own babies. Al Andres managed a smile and beautifully added, "Before they left, we wished them luck. One didn't want to go. He made us laugh. But, he went after all. After that we waved goodbye." "We were sad to let them go," adds Nikitas Koroneos. And finally Regina Stuart summarizes for everyone, "We miss them."

Air Force Colonel Receives Citation

Colonel William P. Knudsen, son of Sevald and Grace Knudsen of Hicksville, was awarded the nation's second highest peace time defense award, "The Defense Superior Service Medal" at ceremonies held in Florida last month.

An officer in the United States Air Force, Colonel Knudsen distinguished himself by exceptionally superior service as Deputy Simulation Program Manager and as Executive Officer to the Deputy Commander in Chief, at MacDill Air Force Base, Florida. The distinctive accomplishments of Colonel Knudsen reflect great credit upon himself, the United States Air Force and the Department of Defense.

The Medal was presented by Three-Star General Goodall during a private family ceremony. Among those attending were Colonel Knudsen's wife, Susan, his grandmother Grace Tully, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, his parents Sev and Grace Knudsen, brother Ken, and members of General Goodall's family.

A 1963 graduate of Hicksville High School, Col. and Mrs. Knudsen reside in Valrico, Florida.

Ken Lewis' 5th & 6th grade Pacers beat the Bullets on Friday night with a score of 28-20. Matthew Lewis and Joe Barile scored for the Pacers and it was Chad Passaro, Steven Talento, and Tony Cassano who were stealing the ball away from the Pacers to score for the Bullets.

In the 3rd grade league, it was the Lions over the Cougars 14-6. Good playing by Gary Lewis, Marty Theis, Veeral Lakhani for the Lions and Danny Sydor, Jeff Puglia, and Steven Locke for the Cougars.

Our 1st and 2nd grade kids don't know what the word quit means. With 7 seconds left on the clock, the Warriors tied the score against the Nets sending the game into overtime. Robert Haddad won the game for the Warriors by sinking the 1st basket in overtime. Excellent defense playing by Matthew Pinelli, Tommy Morillo, Ivan Anglin, Robert Baird, and Christopher Baird for the Nets. Andrew Colton, Danny Voss and Kevin Dubon played good defense for the Warriors.

On Monday, February 9 at 1 p.m., Barbara Krupit will lead a Book Discussion/Review at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library. The book being discussed is entitled "Edisto" by Padgett Powell.

Padgett Powell's first novel is about coming of age on an undeveloped strip of coast between Savannah and Charleston, a "named but never discovered place in the South, too small for the Arabs to bother to take." Simons Manigault, the boy who tells this story—initially as an exercise for his mother, who wants him to be a writer—is a precocious member of displaced gentry in South Carolina's low country. During his parents' discordant separation, Simons spends time at the Baby Grand, a black nightclub where he is accepted as a kind of freak or celebrity because of his race, his barely pubescent age, and his mother's eccentricities which have won for her the local appellation "Duchess."

***

"Men and Angels" by Mary Gordon will be the subject of the Book Discussion/Review at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library on Tuesday, February 10 at 8 p.m.

Our resident book reviewer, Barbara Krupit will once again help you to see the many different aspects of this book.

"Men and Angels" is about love—the love between men and women, parents and children, friends, the artist and her work—and about the failure of love when it cannot encompass the unlovable.

On Thursday, February 19 at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting the feature film The Trip to Bountiful" starring Geraldine Page, John Heard, and Carlin Glynn.

It's the story in the late 1940's of Carrie Watts (Geraldine Page) an old lady living in Houston with her son and his wife, who just wants to go home to Bountiful, Texas. Carrie seeking to escape the drab existence of her weak-willed son, Ludie (John Heard), and his shrewish wife, Jessie Mae (Carlin Glynn). Bountiful, Texas represents all the beauty and tranquility that Carrie has had to do without since moving in with her son. Jessie Mae, like an infant, does nothing but complain about her mother-in-law's inability to do anything but pout and sing gospels to lift her spirits. Carrie finally runs away from home...to go home. She becomes discouraged to find that neither bus nor train is scheduled to run to Bountiful anymore, and herein the journey to end begins.

The film runs 106 minutes and is rated PG.

News From Bethpage Library

"Hannah and Her Sisters," one of Woody Allen's most popular movies, recently named Best Picture of 1986 by the New York Film Critics Circle, will be shown at the Bethpage Public Library on Tuesday, January 27, at 8 p.m. The first in a series of recent feature films to be shown on Tuesday evenings at the library, "Hannah and Her Sisters" was directed by Woody Allen and stars, in addition to Allen, Mia Farrow, Michael Caine, Barbara Hershey, Max von Sydow, Maureen O'Sullivan and Lloyd Nolan. Admission to the showing is free, no tickets are required. Rated PG-13 the film is an hour and 47 minutes long.

"Hannah and Her Sisters" begins with a big family celebration - a Thanksgiving dinner - and covers several years in the lives of its principal characters, moving from the mind of one into the mind of another. Writing in the "N.Y. Times," Vincent Canby noted "With this film, it's apparent that Mr. Allen has become an urban poet of our anxious age - skeptical, guiltily bourgeois, longing for answers to impossible questions, but not yet willing to chuck a universe that can produce the Marx Brothers."

Remaining features in the Bethpage Public Library's Tuesday Night at the Movies series are: February 24 - "Twice in a Lifetime," with Gene Hackman, Ann-Margret, Ellen Burstyn; March 31 - "Jewel of the Nile," with Kathleen Turner, Michael Douglas, Danny DeVito; April 28 - "The Godfather Must be Crazy," with Marius Weyers, Sandra Prinsloo, Nixxu.

Callers Mixed On Whether Cigarette Ads Should Be Banned

Most callers to Input are against cigarette advertising in answer to this question last week: "Do you think that all cigarette advertising should be banned?"

STOP SALES

Yes. Cigarette advertising should be banned. It is foolish to have a Food and Drug Administration that keeps saying that cigarettes are harmful to the smoker but allows the sale of cigarettes to go on. We either have to believe that cigarettes are as bad as they say or that they are not harmful. If the sale is banned, then of course the advertising will not be allowed. K.T.

SHOULD BE ADVERTISED

The problem here is that if something is allowed to be sold in the free marketplace, then it should be advertised. The point to stop a product because it is injurious is not at advertising, but at the sales point. If it can be sold, then it can be advertised. F.T.

IMPOSE BELIEFS

Personally, I think that the cigarette ban is another case of wanting to impose a belief on someone. The tests are not absolute that if you smoke, you will get cancer. In fact, with the number of people who have stopped smoking gaining each year, it is difficult to know why there has not been a significant drop in cancer. My belief is that we are once again trying to find a simple answer for a disease that takes far more study to control and as long as we keep deluding ourselves that smoking is the final solution, we will not do the necessary work to find the causes. If everyone were to stop smoking tomorrow, cancer would go right on being a number one disease. J.R.

NO REASON TO STOP

The advertisements for cigarette companies that I have seen have always included the opposing viewpoint of the Surgeon General. Because of this, I do not see any reason why they should be banned. Unfortunately, many people will continue to smoke with or without this advertising. Whether or not people will decide to stop smoking or to start is their choice. C.P.

INCREASE SALES

The sole purpose of cigarette advertising is to increase smoking and to recruit new smokers. Some people might say that cigarette advertising is free speech and should be allowed. However, I don't feel that it is free speech--more of an act of conspiracy to commit murder against the American people. Some 300,000 die every year from cigarette smoking. K.S.

AGAINST ADS

All cigarette advertising should be banned. The Constitution doesn't protect for false advertising and for years, cigarette manufacturers have been associating cigarette smoking with youth and vitality. Cigarettes bring death and disease and this has been true in hundreds of studies. Although individuals can choose to gamble with their lives, we should not allow false advertising of tobacco products. V.G.

OPPOSED

I am opposed to all cigarette advertising. It perpetuates a lie to the public, especially our young people. A.B.

DON'T BAN THEM

The answer is "No!" I keep coming back to the same old contradictory situation with the Federal government subsidizing the tobacco farmers. In my opinion, as long as this condition exists, I don't see how we possibly could ban cigarette advertising. Furthermore, as long as we permit cigarette factories to manufacture and sell their product without restriction except for the health warning on the package and accepting the tax on their income, I see no logic to the prohibition of advertising that product to the public which consumes it. It's all part of the free enterprise system of which we are rightfully proud and we just can't have it both ways. One could just as easily ban the sale of Lotto tickets which are not a health hazard but which do draw off income from individuals and families which many can ill afford and the mere fact that it supports government budgets is hardly an end which justifies the means. And, thinking back to my own experience when I was a heavy smoker, I don't recall that cigarette advertising ever entered into my choice of a favorite brand. But, as a reformed smoker, I am still convinced that cigarette advertising should not be banned--it's a management tool which needs no third party to interfere. P.G.S.

In The Footsteps Of Marco Polo II

By Jerome J. Niosi, Ph.D.

Marco Polo, who had come to China as a young man of seventeen, was to stay for twenty-four years. He had become indispensable to Kublai Khan and, as a specialist in four Asiatic languages traveled throughout the huge empire trusted to handle the most sensitive matters. Any expressed wistfulness to return to Venice was ignored by the Khan until delicate matters of state intervened.

The aged and ailing Khan of Persia requested of his great uncle, Kublai, the hand of a Mongol princess in marriage. The great Khan agreed but decided that any overland route was unsafe because of anticipated hostilities. A sea voyage under the guidance of three experienced Venetian seamen, however, was entirely possible. The Polos were therefore reluctantly given permission to escort the princess to Persia. Consequently, the Polos would continue on to Venice and home. It was this return voyage which was to take three years which vastly expanded geographical knowledge as the entourage proceeded cautiously through the South Seas stopping in Singapore, Sumatra, India, across the Arabian Sea, the Gulf of Oman to Hormuz, and finally to Trabzon on the Black Sea.

Their mission completed, the Polos continued to Constantinople and then home. They had traveled some 15,000 miles and astonished their incredulous families who had long given them up for dead.

While we modern Marco Polos were to travel 26,000 miles we did not touch western Asia. We did leave for Hong Kong, a veritable shopper's paradise and our first McDonald's hamburger in weeks, courtesy of our friendly tour director.

Hong Kong was far from the "romantic" stereotype where Chinese junks and sampans ply the harbor. It turned out to be a modern, clean, western type city with impressive high rise offices and apartment buildings enhanced by a mountainous skyline. The city is efficient and high powered. If one can buy anything in the world, one can buy it in that British enclave at competitive prices. If what you wish is not in a store at the moment, someone will get it elsewhere or will deliver it to your hotel room by nightfall.

From Victoria Peak accessible by tramway, the visitor can appraise one of the world's most beautiful harbors. But it is in the harbor that the so-called "boat people" live their lives on ancient sampans, a curious anachronism set against the contemporary architecture of a modern metropolis. They sublist on the tourists and their days are numbered. The city fathers are completing shoreline housing and as the homes are completed, this Aberdeen section of Hong Kong will be eliminated bringing the city completely into modern times.

Another announced change will be the treaty sanctioned return of the city to China in 1997. The change leaves the inhabitants with whom we talked unconcerned. They believe that they have much to offer China which already seems amenable to increased capitalist economic activity. Besides the treaty of annexation prudently includes a transition period of fifty years before basic changes may be made in Hong Kong by China.

Further south is Bangkok, a warm, slower moving city replete with colorful ornate temples and a veritable fairyland palace area filled with sculptured variegated buildings in bright reds or covered with bright gold. It was a photographer's delight. Yet, nowhere can anyone see the American favorite, "The King and I." The movie is resented by the Thais as a caricature of their king portrayed as a kind of "monkey on a string." Today, Harvard educated King Bhumipol Adulyadej is popular with his people and rules, constitutionally the largest independent democracy in the Orient.

But Thailand does experience economic difficulties. How its people coped with such distress was demonstrated to us on a river boat trip. We observed a primitive society feeding, washing and sanitizing itself along the river banks and tributaries. It was a sharp contrast to the life represented by the sumptuous International Hotel Siam. On the other hand, the city Thais crowded in the Pizza Hut across the street for spaghetti and meatballs or the Kentucky Fried Chicken for the variety of its poultry.

From Bangkok we flew to Singapore, a city state which must be seen to be appreciated. It is spotless, modern and appears to be especially well-governed; a garden-type country enthusiastically supported by its people. A jewel in the east, Singapore, for us, can no longer be the stereotype Hollywood portrays when it presents its "atmosphere" movies. It certainly is no hardship post; one can be at home there and in some respects, more so. The prohibition against littering is rigorously enforced. The city means business when it decided to eliminate drugs. Drug pushers are executed.

One compromise in this delightful city is the trishaw. The handpulled rickshaws no longer exist. Instead, male drivers pedal their passengers on three wheeled bicycles. The trishaws seem to be tolerated as nostalgic transportation for tourists seeking atmosphere, much as the horse and carriage exists for visitors in Manhattan. Both are high priced and not generally used by locals. But we tourists were taken by the option which included a trip to the famous Raffles Hotel and an overpriced "gin sling" concocted at the Long Bar memorialized by writers of yesteryear.

Three days later we left the Marco Polo Hotel for a flight to Indonesia, the largest Muslim country in the world and specifically to Bali, a primitive island dotted with temples and decidedly in contrast to our luxurious Purna Bali lodgings. The glamor of the island popularized by the western press was more anticipated than realized. However, the friendliness of the Australian and Japanese visitors to the island was contagious. One yuppie Japanese vacationer was prompted to exclaim on the beach, "Japan and America, number one friends!"

We also experienced this friendliness in Tokyo, an amazing, efficient metropolis exuding quality control. Everything works well. Much is innovative. We were prepared for an economic miracle after the devastation of war, but the impact of modern Tokyo, clean, orderly, graffiti and smog free was totally unexpected. New cars darted easily through broad avenues lined by high rise buildings. Lavish department stores were filled with smartly dressed customers browsing through huge and varied inventories. One afternoon, our attention was captured by a sidewalk concert presented by the Royal Grenadier Marching Band which had been flown in from Great Britain to promote the department store's sale of British woolens.

Nor may Japan be dismissed as something unique. Theirs is a strongly motivated society with a tremendous desire to excel. Nowhere can this be observed more than in the mundane activities of daily living. Mirrors do not cloud up after morning showers. Shower curtains part at the middle; each part is held together by tiny magnets. In restaurants, waiters and waitresses give evidence of considerable pride in their work. In the railroad centers, ticket selling is handled electronically. A one hundred yen note may be inserted into a particular slot which after punching spews forth the same amount in coins. Move over and insert those coins in another slot. Punch in the destination and two tickets with change drop into the tray. There are no lines. Public washrooms are open, safe and immaculate. People move quietly and alertly to their destination and information is readily available. Everyone seemed able to speak English.

One such woman, in fact, hearing us conversing, invited us to a tea room for conversation. She was studying English and wished to practice and learn more about Americans. Her two children had graduated from Washington State and she had financed their education by crowding her home with different families in each of her house's eight rooms. Housing is critical in Japan and very expensive. We learned, further, that Japanese men are gradually assuming more of the household duties in a two income family. Proud of having been married for 32 years, she was surprised to learn that we had been married for 45 years, and that many Americans enjoyed endearing marriages as well. As we parted, she invited us to return to Japan for her graduation from college. She would be 58 years old.

We do expect to return to the Orient some day. There is so much more to appreciate. We will have to prepare for it. Japan is very expensive to visit.

In our own way, we were as astonished with what we saw in the Far East as Marco Polo had been. It was different, more modern than we had expected. The people in all countries were more friendly than expected. They were proud of their heritage, much older than ours by far and quite pleased with their accomplishments.

Foreigners no longer have significant influence in Asia. The English and Portuguese have left India. England will return Hong Kong. The Portuguese may well relinquish Macao thereafter. The Dutch are out of Indonesia. Close by, the Philippines while precariously striving for greater stability continues in its sovereignty. In all of Asia, only Afghanistan still seeks to maintain its independence. Meanwhile, the Palestinians continue their erratic steps toward nationhood.

Much of the enjoyment of this arduous journey in the footsteps of Marco Polo was due to the strenuous efforts exerted by Grand Circle's Lora Warren. Preeminent as a tour director in comparison with many others, Mrs. Warren developed an unusual congeniality among the travelers. Her own genuine friendliness and desire made the "Golden Lotus" trip a memorable one, indeed.

FINE MEAL

Last week we went to the LaCisterna restaurant in Mineola and were delighted with the meal.

The La Cisterna is a beautifully decorated restaurant with a fine large dining room set in a restful and inviting style. The service is good and the food is well worth a return visit.

We had veal marsala for one dinner and bass for the other. The veal was fresh and tender and the marsala sauce was exceptionally well done. The bass was fresh and flavorful. Starting off the meal we had salad and soup which also rated high. We were very satisfied with the visit and want to recommend it to your readers.

Q. Should the man give the order to the waiter when he is with a woman?

A. For many years it had been customary for the man in his role as head of the table, to give the complete order to the waiter. Others in the party would relay the message to him and he would give it to the waiter. But recently the trend is away from this. The waiter will go around to the various diners and take their order directly. Besides the recent changes brought about by equality of the sexes, many waiters say that they would rather do it that way because it minimizes the possibility of mistakes which are in the long run expensive for the restaurant.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

We had a delightful Japanese luncheon at The New Asahi Tokyo Japanese Restaurant in Glen Cove, and felt we had made an important discovery.

Our luncheon consisted of a warm, rich miso soup, salad, shrimp Tempura, which was coated with the lightest coating, fresh vegetables also batter coated, rice and a pot of tea.

This was a first experience with Japanese food and my companion and I enjoyed it so much we are looking forward to a repeat performance real soon. M.D.

WELL RECOMMENDED

We happened to be going by Ben's Kosher Restaurant on Northern Boulevard and Glen Cove Road in Greenvale last week and remembered that it was one of the restaurants recommended in your Discovery.

At first we thought that it was not going to be what we wanted but then after we were inside it became clear that Ben's is the whole thing, just as it used to be in those famous restaurant delicatessans that are now out of business in New York City. You can get anything from a sandwich to a full meal and the members of our group did all of that. To recite what we all had would be impossible but let it suffice to say that we were well pleased and recommend Ben's. E.M.B.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

Lauraine Murphy's still comes up with a great dinner when you go there. Last week four of us made the mistake of going to Lauraine Murphy's on Saturday evening without a reservation and at first we were a little annoyed that we would have to wait.

But everyone agreed after the meal that it was well worth the short wait. The food and gracious service is almost out of this world and this is backed up with a strolling orchestra to make the night something special. We recommend Lauraine Murphy's. E.R.

Q. When do you need a reservation in a restaurant?

A. The answer to this question is not one that can be decided for all restaurants. But generally it is a smart move to phone the restaurant before going to it in the evening. In this way the closing times can be ascertained even if the restaurant says that you do not need a reservation. It is almost always necessary to phone a restaurant in the evening if you are bringing a party of more than four even to restaurants that do not normally require reservations.

TRUE CLASS

A restaurant that is in the true class is Devins. It is one of the newer ones in the area but it is a welcome newcomer.

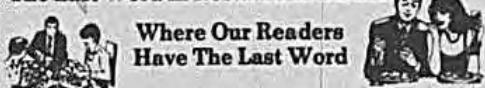

The classic design and decor of Devins is a delight to visit. And, as is needed in all restaurants that are truly good, the food is excellent. The menu includes a full listing of the best in Northern Italian and classically fine foods including fresh fish entrees.

Our party of four went there last week. I was the hostess and I enjoyed hearing the great compliments of our guests. The compliments included the excellent attentive service. I shall always go to Devins when I have guests who I want to enjoy a good meal. M.C.R.

LITTLE BUT GOOD

I think of all the restaurants you have listed that the small, but nice, BoMont's in Williston Park is the best. This little brightly decorated restaurant features some of the very best food you can find anywhere. They have steaks and they have special dishes every day. Very often we go there for lunch and I can truly say that I have always had good food, sociability and a lot of fun at BoMont's. Tell your readers about this good place. H.R.

Q. Who is served first at table and when is the proper time to begin eating? F.P.G.

A. The hostess is not served first unless she is the only lady at the table or is alone with her husband and children. If grandmother or even a young girl guest is present the dishes are first presented to her after inspection by the hostess. When the hostess is serving from in front of her place, with or without the aid of a servant, she is served next to last and her husband last. For her to serve herself earlier will mean her food will be cold and her filled plate in the way.

After several people have been served, urged by the hostess, guests begin eating so their food will not be cold. And, except at breakfast, the polite husband waits until his wife has been served before beginning to eat. Q. Is it considered bad manners to take anything to drink to your lips while there is still food in your mouth?

A. Yes, because this may leave particles of food in the beverage or leave an unattractive smear on the glass. Your mouth should be empty before you take anything to drink. Certainly you should avoid the effect of "washing down" food that is already in your mouth. It is amazing how many people are guilty of this breach of etiquette.

Q. Recently I was a guest at a club luncheon in a restaurant. Accidentally, I overturned my tomato juice. What was the right thing to do? The waiter didn't see the accident immediately. T.L.

A. A waiter seeing such an accident would immediately change the cloth, or if that was impossible at a long table, would spread a clean napkin over the spilled food. As the waiter did not do this because he was busy elsewhere, at a large luncheon you could have spread a napkin over the spot yourself, without undue discussion of the incident. Everyone occasionally has things like this happen.

Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the press, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

SPINACH-BASIL PESTO SAUCE

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup mayonnaise
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sour cream
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup spinach-basil pesto (recipe follows)
 Red leaf lettuce for garnish
 A hollowed-out red cabbage

To prepare sauce, combine mayonnaise, sour cream and spinach-basil pesto in medium bowl; cover and refrigerate.

Arrange lettuce-lined platter, flat wicker tray or basket with lettuce leaves. Place hollowed out red cabbage in center or in one corner of platter. Surround with radish roses, crinkle cut carrots, fluted mushrooms, celery sticks, scored cucumber slices, cherry tomatoes, etc.

Fill cabbage with spinach-basil pesto sauce.

Spinach-basil pesto: In food processor or blender puree 1  $\frac{1}{4}$  cups packed fresh spinach leaves,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup Italian or regular parsley,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup packed fresh basil leaves and 2 pressed cloves garlic; add  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese and  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup lightly toasted pine nuts and process.

With machine on, add  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup virgin olive oil in a slow, steady stream and process until smooth and creamy.

To make with mortar and pestle, place pine nuts and garlic in mortar and grind with pestle. Add cheese and stir and grind. Add finely minced spinach leaves, basil and parsley to pine nut mixture. Slowly add oil, continuing to grind and stir with pestle. Makes 2  $\frac{1}{2}$  cups.

PAELLA SALAD

8 ounces cooked shrimp, peeled and deveined
 3 cups cooked saffron rice (see note), cooled
 2 medium ripe tomatoes, cut in small pieces
 $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups diced cooked chicken
 $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups diced celery
 $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups frozen petite peas, thawed
 1 can (8 ounces) minced clams, drained
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cored, seeded and diced green bell pepper
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sliced green onions with tops
 1 cup mayonnaise
 2 tablespoons dry white wine
 3 tablespoons drained capers
 1 to 2 cloves garlic, minced or pressed
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
 6 to 8 large tomatoes cut in decorative tulips for stuffing

In large bowl combine shrimp rice, tomato pieces, chicken, celery, green peas, clams, green pepper and onions. In medium bowl blend mayonnaise, white wine, capers, garlic, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Pour dressing over shrimp mixture and toss lightly; chill. Serve in tomato tulip dish. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: Cook rice according to package directions. Use chicken stock for the liquid and add a pinch of saffron.

CHESTNUT MOUSSE CAKE

Genoise:

4 tablespoons butter
 4 eggs, separated and at room temperature
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 Pinch of salt
 $1\frac{1}{4}$  cups sifted cake flour
Mousse:
 4 eggs plus 3 egg yolks, room temperature
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar
 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup dark rum
 2 cups sweetened canned chestnut puree
 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
 1 cup whipping cream
Buttercream frosting:
 6 ounces semisweet chocolate, cut in small pieces
 3 tablespoons strong coffee
 $\frac{1}{4}$  pound plus 4 tablespoons unsalted butter, cut in 8 pieces and at room temperature
 Chocolate leaves and orange peel rose for garnish

For genoise: Butter a 9-inch round cake pan, line with waxed paper, and butter and flour the paper. Melt the 4 tablespoons butter; cool. In large mixing bowl beat egg yolks until they are lemon-colored; slowly beat in  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar and continue to beat for 8 minutes, or until thick and pale yellow.

Add vanilla extract. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff, but not dry. Add remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and beat until whites are glossy. Fold  $\frac{1}{2}$  of the egg whites into yolk mixture. Blend in  $\frac{1}{2}$  of the flour, then  $\frac{1}{2}$  egg whites, then repeat until all flour and egg white is incorporated. Gently fold in melted butter (do not overmix — keep the batter light). Spoon into prepared cake pan and bake in 350 F oven until cake has puffed and pulled slightly from edges of the pan, 25 to 30 minutes; cool in the pan on rack.

For chestnut mousse: In large mixing bowl beat the 4 eggs, 3 egg yolks and sugar together. In small saucepan combine gelatin, rum and  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup water. Let gelatin soften; dissolve gelatin over low heat. Cool. Combine chestnut puree with egg mixture. Add cooled gelatin and grated orange peel.

In large bowl whip the cream until stiff. Fold gently into chestnut mixture.

To form the mousse cake: Line a 6-cup bowl with plastic wrap.

Let plastic wrap drape over sides. Remove the genoise from the cake pan. With a serrated knife cut the genoise into 3 thin layers. Cut 2 of the layers into wedges; use to completely line bowl. Press the cake to the sides of the bowl. Spoon the mousse into lined bowl; fill to the very top. Cover the top with the uncut layer of cake, cutting to fit if larger than bowl. Bring the plastic wrap up and over to cover the cake completely; refrigerate overnight.

For buttercream frosting: In small, heavy-bottomed saucepan melt chocolate with coffee over low heat. Remove pan from heat and beat in butter, one piece at a time, until mixture is smooth. Chill frosting until mixture thickens to a spreading consistency. Remove mousse cake from bowl and peel off plastic wrap.

Invert cake onto a serving plate. Frost with buttercream. Refrigerate up to two days.

To serve, remove cake from refrigerator about 20 minutes prior to serving to allow buttercream to soften. Garnish with chocolate leaves and orange peel rose.

Serves 10 to 12.

Note: This is a lengthy recipe consisting of genoise, mousse and buttercream frosting. It is a spectacular dessert worth every minute of preparation time. The advantage of this dessert is that it is made two days ahead to allow flavors to fully develop. The genoise can be made several weeks ahead and frozen.

CARVED WATERMELON BASKET WITH FRESH FRUITS

1 large watermelon
 1 honeydew melon, halved and seeded
 1 cantaloupe, peeled, halved lengthwise and seeded
 4 kiwi fruit, peeled and cut in thin slices
 1 pint strawberries, washed and hulled
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup mint syrup (recipe follows), optional

Remove two sections of watermelon from upper portion, leaving rounded piece to form the handle. With melon baller, scoop and cut melon balls. Remove any remaining ing red watermelon flesh from inside melon. With melon "V" tool cut notches around edge of watermelon basket. With melon baller scoop and cut honeydew melon balls. For variety cut cantaloupe with crinkle cutter into small wavy chunks. Combine the melon balls and chunks with the kiwi and strawberries. Place fruit in watermelon basket and pour mint syrup over fruit. Chill until serving time.

Makes 12 servings.

Mint syrup: In a small saucepan combine  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar and  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup water. Bring to a boil and boil 2 minutes; cool slightly. Pour over  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup fresh mint leaves.

Cool syrup and strain.

STUFFED CHERRY TOMATOES

30 cherry tomatoes (about 1  $\frac{1}{2}$  pints)
 1 cup minced cooked ham, roast beef or shrimp
 1 dill pickle, minced
 2 to 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
 1 tablespoon Dijon-style

mustard
 1 tablespoon grated onion
 Dash of hot pepper sauce
 Salt to taste
 Red leaf lettuce for garnish

Cut off tops of cherry tomatoes. With melon baller scoop out pulp and seeds. Drain tomatoes upside down on paper towels. Combine remaining ingredients and stuff tomatoes with this mixture. Arrange stuffed tomatoes in a lettuce-lined basket.

Makes about 30 appetizers.

PINEAPPLE SHELLS WITH CHICKEN STIR-FRY

$\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon dry white wine
 1 teaspoon cornstarch
 3 chicken breast halves, skinned, boned and cut into cubes
 1 medium fresh pineapple
 3  $\frac{1}{2}$  tablespoons peanut oil
 1 teaspoon finely minced fresh ginger root
 1 sweet red bell pepper, cored, seeded and cut into strips
 12 snow peas, halved crosswise on the diagonal
 2 green onions, cut in 1-inch pieces
 1  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons white vinegar
 Cornstarch paste ( $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cornstarch mixture with 2 teaspoons pineapple juice)

In medium shallow dish combine salt, wine and cornstarch; add chicken and coat with marinade. Quarter pineapple lengthwise. With grapefruit knife remove flesh from each quarter and cut into small chunks. Reserve shells.

Measure 1  $\frac{1}{2}$  cups chunks for this recipe (use remaining chunks for another recipe). Place pineapple chunks in colander and drain (reserve juice).

Combine oils. Heat a wok over high heat until it begins to smoke; add 2 tablespoons oil and swirl around sides of wok. Add chicken and stir fry until cooked. Remove to platter and keep warm. Add remaining oil to hot wok. Add ginger and stir-fry for 30 seconds. Add red bell pepper, snow peas and green onions and stir-fry until crisp-tender, about 2 minutes. Return chicken to wok and stir to heat through. Combine vinegar with cornstarch paste and add to wok.

Stir-fry 2 minutes. To serve, divide stir-fry among the four pineapple shells and serve immediately.

Makes 4 servings.

Winter stews

When winter arrives, stews start simmering on back burners across the land. Warming and hearty, a stew is just the thing to take the chill off a winter night. For the busy chef, stews are a double blessing — they can be prepared well ahead of time, and they are a perfect way to use up odds and ends that have been collecting in the refrigerator. Most stews are also inexpensive and versatile, since they can use a variety of low-priced cuts of meat.

Stews are a truly American dish — European settlers learned stew-making techniques from the Indians, who made wild-game stews using dried plants and honey. Some Northern tribes even used the berries of the sumac plant to add flavor to their stews.

To prepare a stew, you will need a large, heavy skillet for browning the meat and vegetables and a large, heat-proof casserole with a tight-fitting cover to cook the stew. A cast iron Dutch oven is perfect for cooking stews, since the cast iron distributes the heat evenly and helps the ingredients to cook at an equal rate. A large electric skillet or an electric slow-cooker may also be used. If you use a slow-cooker, consult the manufacturer's instructions to compute the cooking time.

Most of the inexpensive cuts of meat that are used in stews tend to be quite tough, since they contain very little internal fat. It is important to check on the meat's tenderness during cooking. When the stew is done, the meat should be very tender. Gristle and tendons should be carefully removed before the meat is added to the stew.

Herbs can make a stew recipe your own creation, and judicious use of herbs can turn an ordinary stew into a special feast. As a general rule, dried herbs should be added at the onset, while fresh herbs, being more delicate, should be added 5 or 10 minutes before the stew is done.

Virtually any stew can be reheated, and many chefs feel that refrigerating a stew for 24 hours and reheating it to serving temperature (without letting it boil) is the best way to bring out a stew's fullest flavor.

My recipes for today are for two stews that are a bit different from the ordinary mix of beef, carrots, potatoes and celery. Caraway Beef Stew has a delightful, rich flavor. French Beef Stew with Olives is an old French recipe.

CARAWAY BEEF STEW
 ½ cup (1 stick) butter
 3 pounds chuck, sirloin or top round, cut into 1-inch cubes
 10 medium onions, sliced
 2 tablespoons Hungarian paprika

MICROWAVE MAGIC

By Desiree Vives

8x8-inch glass baking dish. Microwave 5 to 7 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes, until almonds are golden brown.

Stir in lemon juice, dill weed and salt. Add fish fillets, turning over to coat with butter mixture. Sprinkle with pepper and paprika.

Cover and microwave 5 to 7 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with fork. Let stand, covered, 2 minutes before serving. Garnish with parsley sprigs and lemon wedges, if desired.

Serves 4.

BUTTER CREAM SAUCE

½ cup butter
 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
 1 tablespoon fresh, snipped parsley
 Dash each ground white pepper and garlic salt
 ¼ cup light cream or half-and-half

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
 Cooking Time: 1 to 2 minutes
 Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Place butter in 1-cup glass measure. Microwave 1 to 2 minutes, or until melted. Stir in lemon juice, parsley, pepper and garlic salt. Slowly blend in cream.

Use immediately over fish, shellfish, steamed green vegetables such as broccoli, asparagus, etc. Makes about ¾ cup.

WHIPPED HERB BUTTER

½ cup butter
 2 teaspoons minced fresh parsley
 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 ¼ teaspoon each salt and pepper
 ¼ teaspoon ground dried thyme
 Dash paprika

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
 Cooking Time: 20 to 30 seconds
 Oven Setting: MEDIUM (50 percent power)

Place butter in small glass mixing bowl. Microwave, uncovered, 20 to 30 seconds, or until soft, watching carefully so that butter does not melt.

Add all remaining ingredients and whip with electric mixer until fluffy. Makes about ¼ cup.

VARIATION: Use 1 clove garlic, crushed and 1 teaspoon dried mustard. Omit thyme.

BUTTER CREAM FROSTING

½ cup butter
 1 (1-pound) box powdered sugar
 Dash salt
 5 tablespoons milk or half-and-half
 1 teaspoon vanilla or ¼ teaspoon vanilla and ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
 Cooking Time: 20 to 30 seconds
 Oven Setting: MEDIUM (50 percent power)

Combine butter and almonds in

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q: I have a problem with condensation on the inside of storm windows. Every year at this time, as the temperature goes down outside and I turn the heat on inside, we have condensation form on the inside of our storm windows.

I have tried innumerable means of insulation around and over the regular (inside) windows to no avail. Is there any solution short of replacing all of the windows? — M.J.L.G.

A: The combination of a tightly fitting storm sash and inside windows that are not weatherstripped is a common cause of this problem. Damp house air can leak out around edges of inside windows and be trapped by the storm sash that causes condensation.

Very often, drilling three or four small holes in the bottom rail of the storm sash cures the problem. (In fact, many prefab aluminum storm sashes have small sliding louvers in the bottom rail to provide ventilation when needed.) This might well be worth an experiment on one of your windows. If it works, do it to the others.

Q: My backyard cement slab has a very smooth finish and it is extremely slippery when wet.

What can I do to change this surface so it is no longer a safety hazard? I'd prefer not to cover it with decorative rocks or similar finishes. T.E.S.

A: You can roughen the concrete with muriatic acid. First try a 15 percent mixture of muriatic acid in water. Be sure to pour the acid into the water to prevent splashing of the acid.

Caution: this is a dangerous product and should be handled with great care. Wear old clothes, rubber gloves to protect your hands and goggles to protect the eyes.

I suggest that you use an old mop to apply the acid solution to your concrete slab. Test a small area to see how the acid reacts. If the 15 percent solution fails to roughen the concrete surface sufficiently, increase the acid content. When the solution quits effervescing, it has stopped etching.

Other solutions you may want to consider would be painting the slab area with a non-acid paint suitable for concrete. Or, you can apply a floor sealer and before it is dry, sprinkle the surface with fine sand.

However, for long-term durability, the acid etching will probably work the best.

Q: Our house is overrun with termites. I would appreciate your advice. We do not know what to do or where to start to combat this problem. Can you advise? — J.R.P.

A: Effective termite control is a job for a professional. Do not wait to have your home inspected by a qualified exterminator. Termite damage can be a major problem that will have a negative impact on the value of your home. Protect your equity and seek qualified help.

Check the Yellow Pages for listings of local firms. You may want to get more than one opinion and cost estimate. Extensive infestation by termites usually requires complete furnishing of the building under tenting.

HOME CARE-GIVING

Caring for a disabled or ill family member at home can be both a challenge and test of personal commitment. It is often the most humane care possible for the afflicted person and yet an opportunity to share with that person.

The "Family Caregiver's Guide" by Joan Ellen Foyder is a book you might consider if you are now caring for someone or are about to care for someone. The 85-page paperback has much of the information you need to know — from contacts to services, from "how to's" to "why to's." Also included, in the appendix, are just about all the forms you'll need for charting progress to recording medical supplies and expenses incurred.

Care-giving at home can be considered a burden or a real opportunity to share and this book provides a starting point for the latter.

"Family Caregiver's Guide" is available at $14.95, plus $2.50 for postage and handling from: The Futuro Co., 5801 Mariemont Ave., Cincinnati, OH 45227.

FAT AND YOUR HEART

A person can get confused these days with the talk about dietary fat and what it does to your heart and health. Who understands dietary fat? How does saturated fat differ from polyunsaturated fat? How do you identify which is which?

A report, the "Puritan Paper," has been published by the Puritan Oil Co., and it offers some valuable information for the price of a self-addressed and stamped return envelope.

The "Puritan Paper" was written by Frederick J. Stare, M.D., founder of the department of nutrition at Harvard University, and presently its professor emeritus. It suggests ways to lower the level of cholesterol in the body and helps the reader understand the meaning of dietary fats and their impact on coronary heart disease.

For a free copy of the "Puritan Paper," send your request with a self-addressed and stamped return envelope to: "Puritan Paper," P.O. Box 1230, New York, NY 10019.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: My boyfriend got a new video recorder for his birthday and now his big thing is to watch X-rated videos. I'm bored stiff watching them but he is on "cloud nine."

Our dates now consist of one long, boring movie and end with me fighting off his aggressive advances. No more dinners out, bowling or good movies. All these things are past history. — Theresa

Theresa: Why do you waste your time watching this junk? Refuse to spend another second in front of his video recorder. Either he starts taking you out or you will be his ex-girlfriend.

Dr. Wallace: I am 17 and dating a swell guy who is 22. I really care for him and he treats me like a queen. For my 18th birthday he plans on giving me an engagement ring. The problem is that I'm not ready for that kind of commitment. It's not that I wouldn't marry him in the future, it's just that I want to enjoy my teen years to the fullest, and that does not include talk of marriage.

In fact, I was thinking of breaking up with him so I could date other guys just to make sure Jim is the guy for me, but if I don't accept this ring, I know he will really be upset. What should I do? — Tammy

Tammy: If Jim hasn't bought the ring yet, tell him to hold off for a while. If he has, tell him to hold it until you are ready to accept the responsibility and love that goes with it.

It would also be best to break up soon so you can date others. If you don't, you will always wonder if the grass is greener. —

Dr. Wallace: I'm inviting a guy to my club's formal dance. Some of the girls in the club are going to pay for the before-dance dinner. But some of us, me included, think it's the boys' place to pay. What do you think? — Rose Ann

Rose Ann: If you do the inviting then you should do the paying. Tell your date this, but if he insists that he wants to pay, allow him the honor.

Dr. Wallace: I notice you promote SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) in your column and that's very nice, but do you honestly believe that SADD is actually lowering the drunk driving rate? Isn't it a fact that most all SADD members themselves have never been drinkers, therefore, even without belonging to SADD these teens would not have been involved in drunk driving? — Charles

Charles: You bring up a good point but fortunately officials in Florida have done their homework and discovered that SADD is indeed an effective organization. Broward County's (Miami) chapter of SADD, once shunned as just for sissies, now is so popular it is credited with cutting alcohol-related traffic deaths in half in the past five years.

Today, over 30,000 middle and high school students are active SADD members. According to Robert Hollingshead, supervisor of a drug-prevention program, the program is successful because it's highly organized. "Every chapter has an adult sponsor with official duties. They sponsor productive drug- and alcohol-free activities. SADD is not just a club, it's a way of life."

The Florida Department of Transportation recognized Broward County's SADD chapter for being a major factor in the drop in fatalities, the greatest such decrease in any suburban area. As you can see, Charles, SADD works!

Dr. Wallace: I really need your help. Lisa and I are best friends but lately weird things have been happening. Over the Christmas holidays Lisa slept at our house on three separate occasions. Now we have discovered that things and money from the house are "mysteriously missing."

Lisa slept in my sister's room (she is in college) and two rings that she had hidden in her dresser drawer are gone. Also, my sister's piggy bank and her sunglasses are missing. Lisa is the only person who could have taken these things. To make matters worse, the $25 I was saving for my dad's birthday present is also gone. I know Lisa took all this but I can't prove it. What should I do about this? — Rosa

Rosa: Call Lisa and ask her to meet you somewhere you both can talk in private. Tell her that things are missing from your house and ask her if she has any knowledge of why the things are missing. Don't be bashful if she says she knows nothing about them.

Tell her that she is the only one who could have taken them and ask her kindly to return everything immediately. If she doesn't, end your relationship with her. If she does, make her aware that the incident will be forgotten.

turned, most times to a non-existent "Capt. Prosser" at the VA Insurance Center in Philadelphia. The bogus application also claims that Congress has passed a law authorizing the dividends. There has been no such action nor is there any pending.

Annual dividends on GI insurance policies are paid by the VA to veterans who continue to pay premiums. Dividend payments are made automatically, usually on the anniversary date of the policy and no application is needed.

APPLIANCE AIDS

Doing the laundry is one of the more routine chores at home, today abetted by automatic washers and dryers. The appliances are a real asset to everyone, except those who might have trouble seeing the dial settings or handling the controls. Now, Whirlpool Corp. has introduced an automatic washer and dryer designed for easy reading and operation. The pair features large size control graphics and lid instructions, simplified — more automatic — operation, instructions in Braille or large type, and a larger knob adapter kit for people with arthritis. Your local Whirlpool appliance retailer should have information on these units now.

Whirlpool also has published two informative booklets on "how to" accomplish many of the home chores for the disabled: "Designs

Have you received an announcement in the mail claiming that you can collect dividends on expired VA insurance? If so, it is a hoax.

Have you problems in operating your automatic laundry machines because of poor eyesight or disabled hands? If so, there's an appliance company that has some innovations and answers.

Are you caring for a sick or disabled person at home and can use some helpful "how to" information? If so, there's a brand-new book that might prove of great assistance.

INSURANCE HOAX

If you have an expired VA insurance policy from World War II service, beware of a direct-mailed alert, claiming that you still can collect some dividends on the former policy. The Veterans Administration is once again warning World War II veterans not to be misled by false information regarding the payment of a special life insurance dividend.

"It is a hoax that has plagued the agency and veterans for almost 40 years," states VA administrator Thomas K. Turnage. "The VA does not pay dividends on lapsed insurance policies."

The mailing distributes "applications" — often poorly reproduced — to be completed and re-

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, Faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked.

St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. M.S. hj4

The perfect time in the gardener's year

By Patrick Denton

Most of January constitutes a sort of lull ahead of the storm period for home gardeners. The indoor seeding has yet to begin in earnest and we can luxuriate a little over garden catalogs and the planning of the year's plantings.

In a certain sense, this is the perfect time in the gardener's year, for here is gardening at its purest, as we dream our flawless dreams and explore in tranquil depth the ideal and unfettered landscapes of the mind.

And the vision at this stage remains pristine, untouched by bug or blight. No need now to think of leaves notched by vine weevils or beet and spinach greens marred with the wiggly meanderings of leaf miners. Soon enough these things may well arrive to test our ability to remain philosophical in adversity.

For now, the vision remains pure, so let's enjoy it. Besides, the vision does become reality sometimes. Who among us cannot recall at least a few splendid moments of triumph in the garden or among our potted plants indoors?

I can still see in my mind a small planting of Melody spinach in our salad garden a couple of years ago. So crinkly-lush, fat-leaved, bushy and spotless were those plants it seemed to be a terrible shame to mar the beauty of the planting by harvesting. However, our appetites overcame our sense of aesthetics and we enjoyed that year the most succulent spinach salads of our lives — each one in itself a supreme success story.

This year we acquired a new camera and stared up a garden photo album to capture our achievements permanently on film. Now we have visual proof of those long and massive clusters of perfect, uniform tomatoes. And photos will justify our victorious reveling in the thickly sprout-studded stems of our Peer Gynt brussels sprouts.

These photographs and our more notable garden successes each year have caused me to believe that the color pictures in most other catalogs are of real plants actually grown by somebody and not just concoctions magically contrived by some clever artist.

Every year brings its own unique round of successes and failures in the garden. For reasons that are not always completely clear, some years provide magnificent tomatoes and lousy potatoes. Some years are superb cabbage years while some other cool-growing vegetables might languish. And, though I suppose we all share a dream of having one day the perfect garden, I doubt that vision ever becomes fully a reality.

As the growing season progresses, all of us, each in our own way, have to negotiate some sort of compromise with our personal garden visions. Most of us must juggle our garden tending along with many other demands upon our time — family responsibilities, work, other hobbies and interests, as well as the need, sometimes, to rest.

Still, I very much enjoy clinging to my personal fantasy of a perfectly ordered garden in which every bed is neatly set out and smartly edged, every shrub and tree in a state of glowing shapeliness. I dream of year in which every flower is snipped away as its beauty fades, and of garden beds without a weed in sight.

With our large, woodsy and rambling garden, mine is a rather unrealistic vision, which in most years becomes tangible fact only in a few selected sites, set aside deliberately to indulge, at least on a limited scale, my passion for order.

But into even the most perfect plan, nature always seems to have a few challenges to drop, to keep our attention and to make life interesting — insect pests, for example, and larger pests in the form of dogs and cats cavorting through our flowerbeds.

And in our garden, what most often causes me to deviate from the neat plans I've made for each site are the volunteer plants that pop up uninvited. Often, I just can't bring myself to remove them, and elect rather to work my plans around them. Sometimes they even become centerpieces of the site.

CROWE'S FEATS

MEETING OF THE BORED

Quality Or Quantity?

One Sure Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper, you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity, the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Fit furniture shape to shape of the space

Q: I have a very tiny entry with one corner by a doorway. I would like to furnish it in a formal, traditional way with a table, mirror and some kind of seating, but there's simply not room for everything. Do you have any solutions? — S.T.

A: If you are persistent and patient, you can probably find unusually scaled or shaped furniture to fit most awkward spaces. In your situation, it shouldn't be very complicated.

Corner chairs were designed for precisely your problem. Though they aren't as common as regular chairs, they can be found in a variety of styles and several reproductions are now on the market.

With a small corner chair for seating, you should be able to get a table and mirror into your entry, as well. Keep the scale small and light. A small, graceful lowboy might work, or even a wall-mounted shelf if space is really cramped. A small or narrow mirror will not occupy any floor space and can be an effective way to complete the formal introduction to your home.

Q: I would like to cover a wall with fabric. How do I go about this? — J.D.

A: There are several methods you can use depending on the fabric you are using and the effect you want to achieve. Commercial fabric wall coverings usually come with paper backing and can be applied directly to the wall with a wall-covering adhesive.

Unbacked fabric also can be attached to the wall with an adhesive, but do a test first to make sure the adhesive does not leave the fabric stained when it dries. In any case, if the fabric has no backing, apply the adhesive to the wall, not the fabric. Perimeter edges can be covered with braid, ribbon, wood or metal trim.

You also can cover a wall with fabric without using adhesive by using a staple gun around the perimeter. Start in the center of each of the four sides and fill in, pulling the fabric taut as you go.

For a more finished look, nail lath strips to the top and bottom of the wall with vertical pieces every 5 to 6 feet (depending on the size of the fabric). Staple the fabric to the lath with a staple gun. You can make finished seams where the fabric joins by stapling from the backside over strips of cardboard.

There is a manufactured system called Fabritrack that is the easiest system of all for getting a professional look without adhesives or battens. Check the closest wall-covering suppliers.

For an upholstered look, staple bonded polyester batting to the wall first and then use one of the non-adhesive methods above. For a shirred wall, you will need three times the fabric as the width of the wall. The fabric can be gathered with shirring tape or threaded on a rod that is attached to the wall. This is a great solution for a heavily damaged wall.

Replace clock's veneer for higher appraisal

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q: Enclosed is a picture of my antique clock. It is weight-driven and was made by Jerome & Co. in New Haven, Conn.

I would like to know its vintage and value.

A: Jerome & Co. was in business from 1850 to 1883. The owner, Chauncey Jerome, was involved with other companies before and after that period.

If your clock is in good working condition and if you have the missing veneer replaced, your clock should be worth $500 to $600.

Q: There seems to be a lot of confusion about children's toys and salesman's samples. Can you clarify this and give me some idea as to the values of salesman's samples?

A: Basically, salesman's samples are more authentically detailed and much too fine to be sold as toys. Also, they are usually items that would not be considered toys, such as:

- Farm gates — $40 to $100
- Furnace (Round Oak) — $1,250
- Ice cream freezer (White Mountain Jr.) — $125
- Undershirt (Munsing) — $25
- Toilet seat (Church) — $50
- Jail cell (Pauly Jail Cells) — $1,000
- Post hole digger — $135
- Cattle gate (weight-driven) — $135
- Flood gate (dated 1885) — $225
- Food chopper (Rollman Mfg.) — $45
- Spittoon — $95

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam.

Q: I have a floral-etched glass vase with this mark on the bottom. It is 12 inches tall and about 5 inches in diameter. Can you tell me anything about it?

A: You are lucky! This was made by Sinclair & Co. in Corning, N.Y. Most of their glass is not marked. This vase was probably made about 1920 and should be worth at least $150.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q: We have a male cat that we do not intend to use for breeding. However, we are worried that if we have him castrated he will be more prone to becoming "plugged up." Does castrating cats cause any medical problems? Would you advise castrating our cat?

A: Castrated male cats usually make better pets than their uncastrated brothers and, on the average, spend less time in veterinary hospitals.

Unless you want to use your male cat for breeding, you should have him castrated. There are few advantages and many disadvantages to keeping a male cat as a pet.

Castration is the surgical removal of the testicles and is commonly referred to as "neutering," "altering" or "fixing" in the male.

Although castration of cats can be successfully done at any age, most veterinarians recommend the procedure to be done between six and nine months of age.

Many undesirable behavioral traits due to maleness are eliminated by castration. The level of the male hormone, testosterone, which produces masculine behavior and sexual maturity, declines rapidly following castration. Most castrated cats are not interested in breeding. However, an occasional castrated male will continue to attempt to mate if given the opportunity. Castrated cats usually do not seek out females in heat. Their roaming declines rapidly following neutering and they usually stay close to home.

Castrated cats do not fight over females in heat and fight less frequently to defend their territories. Aggressive behavior due to hunting and defense usually remain unchanged following castration. If more than one cat is kept, in a house, fighting to establish dominance will often occur. Generally, cats are loners and do not seek out or desire the companionship of other cats. Usually, a cat's only natural contact with other cats is for breeding.

Castration will usually eliminate the problem of spraying. Male cats mark their territories by spraying objects with their urine. The cat backs up to the object and raises its tail so that it starts to quiver as the cat squirts urine on the object. The urine of a male cat has a very strong, objectionable odor. If there is more than one cat in a household, castrated and intact males and spayed and intact females may all spray.

Castrated cats are not more prone to have urinary bladder stones or become "plugged up" as many people believe.

Intact male cats tend to neglect their grooming and are frequently dirty and unattractive. Castrated males will usually take better care of themselves.

Castrated cats are not fat and lazy. Neither of these characteristics are directly due to castration. Castrated cats need less food and usually are less active. Therefore, castrated cats should be fed less.

Cats castrated prior to reaching maturity will not develop a masculine appearance.

Generally, castrated cats are more docile, affectionate and playful. Complications due to castration surgery are rare. The procedure is routine and causes the cat little discomfort. It's, of course, done while the cat is anesthetized.

Castration does make most cats better pets. Your veterinarian can further advise you regarding your particular cat.

RULES BOYS AND GIRLS

Here is your chance to win One Dollar ($1.00) - to spend or to save.

- Here's all you have to do:
 1. Contest is open to children 4 to 12 years of age.
 2. Entries must be received by Friday, January 30, 1987.
 3. Paint, watercolors and crayons must be used on the above.
 4. Decision of the judges will be final.

Mail your entry (just clip our cartoon) to this newspaper at:
 105 Hillside Avenue
 Williston Park, N.Y. 11596

This week will go down in history as the Week of the LIRR Strike. If any of you have Dads or Moms who commute to the city, you'll understand what I mean.

This morning, shortly after 6 a.m., I drove my son to the subway on Hillside Avenue. Even though it was still dark the road was rather crowded at that hour. Also, part of Hillside was blocked off, so both east and west bound traffic had to crawl along in a single traffic lane. What fun!

The pot holes in the city streets were another problem. It was not difficult to tell when we were riding on the Nassau County streets (nice and smooth) and when we were in the city (Ugh!).

I am praying the strike will be settled soon!

Your worn out friend,

Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's contest winners are James Brennan and John Dolan.
