

K Of C Hosts Free Throw Meet

Tournament coordinators from the Joseph J. Gorman Council Bud MacKenzie and Clifton Symington pose with Nassau/Suffolk Champion, Heather Church and Romina Roselli after the tournament.

On Saturday, February 28, the Knights of Columbus of Long Island hosted the Third Round of the Annual Free Throw Contest. This tournament was held at Hicksville Junior High School, and brought together the respective K of C District Champions from Nassau and Suffolk Counties to compete in the 11 through 14-year-old categories. As expected, the tournament provided keen competition, excellent shooting skills, and as expected—the usual good sportsmanship and camaraderie among the competitors.

The Joseph J. Gorman Council of Syosset was fortunate to have six youngsters qualify for this round of the competition: Patrick Chrysler and Heather Church (11 years); Todd Kats and Romina Roselli (12 years); Chris Braga and Debbie Rosenback (13 years). They all demonstrated exceptional free throw skills, and performed extremely well against the other outstanding competitors.

Heather Church won the 11-year-old competition with a 12-25 score, and will move on to the NYS Southern Region Championships later in March; she hopefully will then progress to the NYS Championships at West Point. Pat Chrysler of St. Edward's School was tied for first place in the 11-year-old Boys' Category with a 18-25 score, and was placed into a tie-breaking shootout with another Long Island youngster. Despite an outstanding effort in four consecutive tie-breaking situations, Patrick has to settle for second best! We are sure that Patrick will come back next year to again demonstrate his exceptional talents. Congratulations to all the competitors and "Good Luck" to Heather Church in her pursuit of the State Championship.

Hicksville Library

Book Discussion

Wednesday, March 11, at the Hicksville Public Library, the book "Guerrillas" by V.S. Naipaul will be discussed. Suzanne Welker is the discussion leader. It will be held in the local History Room of the Library at 1 p.m. All are welcome.

"Guerrillas" is a complex novel set on a troubled Caribbean island, corruption and poverty are everywhere. This is a story without a villain, as there is not a character for whom the reader does not at some point feel deep sympathy and keen understanding.

A novel Mr. Naipaul himself said is "indistinguishable from truth". A continuously interesting and gripping book.

Nursery School Summer Camp

The Hicksville Cooperative Nursery School located in the United Methodist Church is once again offering a mini-summer camp program for 3-6 year olds. The program will be supervised by Karen Norwalk and Linda Beznover, fully certified New York State teachers.

The program will begin on Tuesday, June 30, and will continue through August 6. Parents can choose from a half day or full day and from a 3 week or 6 week program. Classes are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 12:30 (half day) or to 3:30 (full day). The fee is $30 per week for the half day and $45 per week for the full day which includes a snack in both the a.m. and p.m., pool fees and all trip expenses.

A full day includes a swim at Levittown Parkway pool and playground activities in our own indoor playground. A morning half day program consists of a variety of arts and crafts, block and manipulative toy play, woodworking, gym and music. Afternoons include lunchtime, outdoor play, rest period and swimming. There will be two groups of children divided by age and ability.

If you are interested in this program, please call 822-8257 or the school at 681-3246.

Road Work Ok'd By Town

The Oyster Bay Town Board has approved a bid for storm drainage and highway improvements in Hicksville, according to Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond.

"The Town has awarded a road construction and highway improvement contract for Princess Street, Gardiner Avenue, Nevada Street and adjacent areas and for highway improvements for Meyers Avenue and Jersey Street," Diamond said. "The project will include curb and apron improvements and the installation of catch basins for improved drainage where necessary. At the completion of the project all areas will be repaved."

Bi-County Construction Corp., of Central Islip, was awarded the contract with a low bid of $2,896,697. Construction is expected to begin in the spring of this year.

Delco Corp. Puts In Bid For Burns Ave. School

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Trailer

At the February 25 meeting of the Hicksville School Board, President William Bennett announced to the members and the community that Delco Corporation, the owners of the Delco and Mid Island Plazas, had approached the district with an offer to purchase the Burns Avenue School property. Mr. Bennett said that the district has listened to Delco's proposal, but no decision has been made. In light of the information, the Board approved the contracting of two consultant services to appraise the school property, at a cost not to exceed a combined total of $2,500.

During February, the administrative staff put themselves to the task of studying the possibilities for reorganizing the elementary level. Superintendent Dr. Catherine Fenton presented a 66 page report to the Board outlining options originally set forth in 1984 by Bishop, Pitruzzello and Evans, consultants working in conjunction with the then-Long Range Planning Committee.

The options deal with different organizational patterns which could be used. The district has already begun to implement one option - the 6-2-4 organization, arranging a K-6 elementary, 7-8 middle school and a 9-12 high school. The secondary reorganization will take place this September 1987.

Three other options reviewed called for the closing of schools, two options were considered infeasible - the K-8 elementary would not provide a high standard of education for grades 7-8 because the elementary buildings are not equipped to handle required courses. The kindergarten center option at Willet Avenue was rejected since Willet is not big enough to house the estimated kindergarten enrollment over the next ten years.

In considering elementary reorganization, parents and other community members have expressed concerns about the range of class sizes, inequity in class enrollments throughout the district, the number of sections available on one grade level and the opportunities for mainstreaming special education students. The report details the effects of the final option, the pairing of schools, which attempts to alleviate some of these concerns. The district's eight elementary schools would be paired, with one school housing grades K through 2 or 3, and the second school, grades 3 or 4 through 6.

In the pairing option, the district receives a narrower range of class sizes at the same grade level across the district, provides a number of sections per grade level in each school and enhances the opportunity to mainstream special education children at all grade levels. In summary, the report concludes, "Pairing the elementary schools can address the problems present with the current elementary school enrollments."

The report also notes the following disadvantages of such an organizational pattern: "the pairing schema...will require all elementary school children to make one more transition to another school than they now will have to do when they move to middle school after sixth grade." This option may also require additional buses.

The report concludes there are three courses of action to effect elementary reorganization: pairing schools, closing one or more schools or redistricting all K-6 attendance areas. (Redistricting by attendance areas was not covered in the 1984 consultant's survey.)

The Board approved the appropriation of $50,000 to purchase computer hardware and software and train personnel to study and plot population trends in the extensive detail needed to assess the possibilities of redistricting the actual boundary lines of the eight elementary schools. Dr. Fenton stated that the computer programming was essential to obtain accurate knowledge of where the population lies and how it will shift in the future.

For several months, the Legislative and Policy Committees have been studying the possibility of introducing Absentee Ballots for the annual budget vote and school board elections. No recommendations have come before the Board. In order to implement the procedure for the 1987 vote, it is necessary for the Board to pass a resolution 60 days prior to the scheduled vote, May 6. Therefore, the Board was caught in the position of adopting the absentee ballot immediately or waiting another year.

A lengthy discussion ensued, touching on such areas as the need to research the disabled community who would automatically be eligible to receive ballots, the initial cost of printing a standard number of ballots, and the legal procedures to be followed by residents wishing to

Editor's Notebook

Next Thursday, March 12, marks the 76th Birthday of one of the country's most familiar organizations - the Girl Scouts. The group got its start when Georgia born Juliette Low moved to England and started a girls' activities organization in Scotland. On her return to Savannah, Georgia, Mrs. Low began the first American troop for girls on March 12, 1912. Many activities are planned to commemorate the occasion beginning on March 8, including an anniversary stamp to be issued by the U.S. Postal Service. At 4 p.m. on Thursday, Girl Scouts around the country will gather in a Promise Circle to observe the special day. Happy Birthday Girls!

It's that time of year again when libraries and schools are getting ready to vote for next year's budget and trustees. We really don't want to discourage people from writing "Letters to the Editor" but must caution that the "Letters" column is not intended for use as a campaign platform. Advertising space is available for that purpose and we will happily supply rates and other data on request.

To all those drivers out there a word of caution. Spring is in the air and that means baseball and soccer practice! Let's be aware that many youngsters will be hurrying to practice either on foot or by bicycle in the near future.

Hicks School Help Kick The Habit

In observance of National PTA's Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week, the Hicksville Junior and Senior High School PTAs will present a program on March 11, 8 p.m., in the Hicksville High School Little Theater.

In keeping with this year's theme, "Positive Alternatives: A Community Responsibility," the program features Michael Dalvana, social worker, Hicksville Senior High School; representatives from TADA (Teens Against Drug Abuse), a high school group formed at the request of students; and representatives from community organizations which deal with alcohol and substance abuse education.

According to statistics cited by drug enforcement authorities, drug abuse among young people has not decreased or remained stable. Therefore, drug abuse remains a dangerous threat to today's youth.

The program is designed to help parents and students learn the facts about drug and alcohol abuse. Keeping the lines of communication open between parents and children will also be discussed.

Prior to the program, the Senior High School PTSA's business meeting will include a request for volunteers for its nominating committee, which will present a slate of officers in the spring.

The Junior High PTSA will present the following slate of officers for the 1987-88 year during its business meeting:

President: Terry Moehring
Vice Presidents: Pat Rooney
Recording Sec'y: Ginny Romano
Corr. Sec'y: Eileen Millis
Treasurer: Joclena Ocuto
Council Delegate: Joan Moeller
Nominations will be taken from the floor. You must be a member of the Junior High PTSA to vote.

Hicksville-- Then And Now

Bay Avenue, looking north from East Barclay Street was a quiet thoroughfare dotted with Colonial homes and boasting lots of wide open space back in March of 1942 when this photo was taken. Hicksville sons were being called to the colors as the country had been plunged into World War II three months before. This was before the start of the housing boom sparked by returning GIs four years later. Signs on the right, at the grade crossing of the Port Jefferson branch of the LIRR, advertised that Wonder Homes was building 390 new homes at 4% mortgages - and $27 a month pays all!

That $27 mortgage payment of 1942 will hardly be enough for your monthly parking fee today. In this photo taken today of the same area, most of the old homes are gone. But those houses on the left and right of Bay have steadfastly remained, with just slight alterations over the years. A one-story house now stands on the builder's lot. The railroad tracks were dug up in 1963 to make way for the overhead tracks of the Port Jefferson line.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

IT LOOKS like the new strategy of the GOP in the Town of Oyster Bay is for Supervisor Colby to quit before mid summer so that the party will be able to install a new supervisor and in that way slow down a steam roller by Democrats to take over Town Hall. Colby has till the end of the year to finish his term but he has said he will not run again. There is a judgeship waiting for Colby when he finishes up in the Town.....SOME LILCO employees are a bit dismayed to find that LILCO President, William Catacosinos, was given a $50,000 increase in pay when they are still recovering the loss of money for the austerity salaries that were imposed in 1984.....NOW the state is going to show a $300 million surplus for the year. This would be great if it meant that the state were using economy measures but the state expenses are up. Taxes collected are responsible for the increase. Politicians in the state and county have been overtaxing the public to show surpluses.....THE TOWN is sponsoring fitness classes for men over 50. Girl Scouts Mark 75th Birthday

By Dale A. Simons

A 75th birthday celebration would be a special time in anyone's life, but there is a birthday that is special in everyone's lives. The year 1987 marks the 75th year of Girl Scouting, and the entire nation will be celebrating this birthday. Girl Scouting was started by Juliette (Daisy) Gordon Low, who was born in Savannah, Georgia. When she married and moved to England, she began thinking about organized activities for girls, and she began her work with girls in Scotland. She returned to Savannah on March 12, and this is where she began her first American troop for girls. The week beginning March 8 in National Girl Scout Week, which will kick off a worldwide event, "The Girl Scout Promise Circle." Each local Association of Girl Scouts is conducting its own ceremonies, including: The Girl Scout Promise, songs, flag ceremonies, participation from each Girl Scout and Brownie Troop, prominent citizens and, of course, "The Girl Scout Promise Circle," which symbolizes the unity of Girl Scouts everywhere.

On the national level, the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., will be the starting point for all of the Promise Circles. That Promise Circle, from the nation's Capital, will feature 200 Girl Scout Patrols, from all over the country, of which two were sent down to represent Nassau County.

A 75th Anniversary stamp will be issued by the U.S. Postal Service on March 12. Look for it in your local post offices. Each Girl Scout and Brownie Troop will be donating 75 hours of service, to commemorate this 75th birthday, with a promise for a healthy life, a peaceful world, and good feelings towards other people.

The Girl Scout Promise is: On my honor, I will try to serve God and my country, to help people at all times, and to live by the Girl Scout Law.

The Girl Scout Law states: "I will do my best to be honest, to be fair, to help where I am needed, to be cheerful, to be friendly and considerate, to be a sister to every Girl Scout, to respect authority, to use resources wisely, to protect and improve the world around me, and to show respect for myself and others through my words and actions."

In this 75th year of Girl Scouting, let's all try "to live by the Girl Scout Law."

ComputerProg. Evaluated At POB School Bd. Mtg.

Special to Litzner Publications
By Maureen Traxler

The Plainview-Old Bethpage School Board met on March 2 and received two in-depth reports. The first report focused on the district's four-year program to implement the use of computers, and the second report reviewed and evaluated the physical education program at all levels.

Mrs. Marguerite Costello, Coordinator of Computer Education, presented the computer program evaluation to the Board. She said that computer knowledge is being taught in an effective manner in the district. She commended the citizens advisory committee and the staff committee on their work and accepted the recommendations in their entirety.

"At this time, the teachers are sophisticated and aware of the functions of computers in curriculum," Mrs. Costello stated. The teachers have some problems with programs, but through the co-curriculum concept and individualized instruction, Mrs. Costello is working to overcome these difficulties.

The elementary level is using two pilot programs - logo and keyboarding. Logo is a supplemental instruction to be used within the curriculum. Third graders have moved on to keyboarding, having the necessary eye/hand coordination. The Regents Action Plan calls for all students to master keyboarding before they move on to word processing. The fourth grade programs consist of "Kid Writing" and the word processor. Mrs. Costello assured the trustees and parents present that the children do not get bored.

The middle school program has been quite successful, especially through the networking of the special education and gifted children. At the senior high, students and teachers are getting "turned on" to the computer, and the Science Department at John F. Kennedy High School has purchased a laser disk.

Over the past four years, repairs and adjustments have been required. In order to become more self-sufficient, the district has sent some of its people to Commodore school. Each building now has its own maintenance kit and mini vacuum cleaner.

Mrs. Costello stated that she felt the Commodore computers were a wise first choice. She now recommends the purchase of several Apples next year. A phase-in replacement program would avoid large purchases down the road.

The Board established Wednesday, May 6, as the date for its Annual Meeting and Elections, and set April 22 as the date for its budget hearing.

The Board approved three dates to make up for the closing of schools this winter. School will now be in session on the following days: March 20, April 21 and May 28.

The next meeting of the Board is scheduled for Wednesday, April 8, at 7:45 p.m. at the Plainview-Old Bethpage High School.

Many Attend PTA Founder's Day Dinner

Hicksville's Council of PTAs 34th Annual Founders Day Dinner, at the Woodbury Country Club, brought out its usual strong following, on February 26. Mrs. Patricia Rooney of the Woodland PTA was the District Honored Guest. The Master of Ceremonies, Dr. Manus Clancy, extolled the years of imaginative, vigorous child-centered programs put into effect by Mrs. Rooney.

"Regulars" in attendance at many Hicksville PTA ceremonial dinners and enjoying "another good party," are, left to right; Mrs. Jay Sabatino, as radiant as ever, and Arthur Pennel and his super Anne.

Long-time fellow Hicksville School Board members, former trustee Cornelius McCormack and Thomas Nagle, Vice President of today's Board enjoyed the Woodbury Country Club PTA gala. Other school trustees present but not shown were Daniel Arena and Lawrence A. Moor.

School Board Trustee Carol Wolf obliges camera man Dick Evers with a gracious dinner pause. She was in fine company; Bill Becker, Director of School Facilities and Operations, and Jay Schwartz, School Board Trustee.

Mrs. Marlene Kroditor and Principal William Granville of the East Street School faculty with Kathleen Voorles just off camera at Founders Day Dinner.

Phil Bova (standing) can live up even a rousing get-together. The amiable Hicksville High School special education teacher shares joke with a senior Hicksville educator, Asst. Principal Joseph Giambolvo of the Junior High School.

"Now Dave, let me tell you what comes next," J.H.S. social studies teacher Mary Lou Dunbar seems to be saying as she enjoys the Founders' Day Dinner with David and Mrs. Bouton. The veteran master science teacher was an honoree of the Junior High PTA.

Albany Trip Slated March 17

Governor Mario Cuomo's proposed State Budget for 1987-88 calls for cuts in education aid, particularly "save harmless" and flat grants. These monies go directly to local districts, such as Hicksville. Our community is slated to lose $416,000.

On March 17, citizens from 57 Nassau County school districts concerned with the proposed loss in aid will be going to our State Capitol to meet with legislators to discuss this important matter. Lobbying efforts are most effective with the support of a broad spectrum of residents, in this case, parents, teachers, school administrators, senior citizens and local businessmen.

The Hicksville Council of PTAs is sponsoring the bus trip to Albany on March 17. Please join with representatives from your local PTA units and school district personnel on this vital excursion. The bus will leave Hicksville at 6 a.m. and return approximately 8 p.m. The cost is $15 per person. For more information and bus reservations, please call Norma Goerke-681-3769 or Peggy Gill-433-8607.

Anyone who is unable to participate in the trip on the 17th is urged to write to the Governor and the following legislators expressing their concerns about the proposed loss in State education aid.

Islanders Spark 5th Food Drive

On Thursday, March 26, the New York Islanders and John Gerald Jeweler will host their Fifth Annual Athletes Against Hunger Food Drive Program. The Islanders will collect nutritious, non-perishable food from their fans prior to the 8:05 p.m. game against the Vancouver Canucks at the Nassau Coliseum. The four previous food drives resulted in the collection of 50,000 pounds of food for the hungry on Long Island.

During games on March 21 and 24, volunteers will distribute special food collection bags to Islander fans. The bags are being provided by John Gerald Jeweler, which has five locations on Long Island and has been a long-time participant in the battle against hunger.

Surprisingly, hunger is a very real problem on Long Island where increasing numbers of people are falling below poverty levels. It is a community marked by dramatic contrasts from neighborhood to neighborhood. In an area boasting six zip code districts which are among the twenty highest in the nation in per capita income (with median incomes of $63,000 and more) 350,000 people need food assistance. As many as one-fifth of the people living in Suffolk County sometimes go hungry and 90 to 100,000 individuals who live in Nassau County are "at risk" regarding hunger. The number of community emergency food pantries has risen dramatically in the last ten years. In 1976, 13 pantries were identified in Suffolk County. By 1985 the number of agencies providing food to families on an emergency basis has risen to 110.

Long Island Cares, a regional anti-hunger organization serving all Nassau and Suffolk Counties, will distribute the food through its regional food bank. John Chicherio, the Executive Director of Long Island Cares, feels that the public must continuously be made aware of the hunger problem. "Many Long Islanders are not aware of the widespread need for emergency food assistance. We thank the New York Islanders and John Gerald Jeweler for making the food drive program possible. It not only provides our pantries with much needed canned goods, but also helps to awaken Long Islanders to the severity of the hunger problem."

Woodland Pupils Cook Up Storm

Mrs. Goldstein's Special Education Class at Woodland Avenue School in Hicksville cooks every week. For Valentine's Day, they had a sale to share some of their goodies. They baked and cooked candy, cookies, Rice Krispies Treats and popcorn. Their parents contributed other goodies. With the use of the computer, they made signs and invitations. They decorated their

"Sweet Shop" and made hats and Valentine name tags to wear. The children then became "clerks and cashiers" to serve their "customers," the children at Woodland Avenue School.

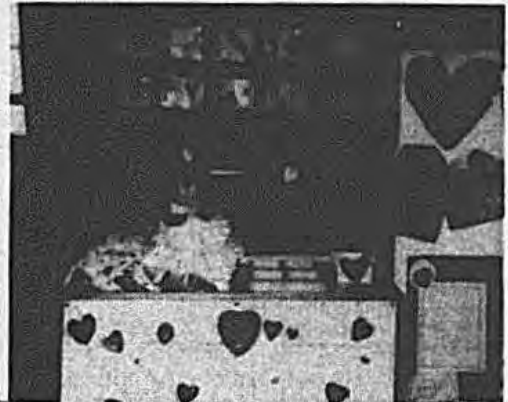

"A good time was had by all, as well as a fantastic educational and social experience, and as heard by one second grader, Matthew Trygar, "This is a great store. All stores should be this cheap."

First and second grade shoppers are assisted by shopkeepers, Tejo Varkey and Lauren Parker.

Teacher, Mrs. Marilyn Goldstein, assists Kirsten Cammarano giving our Valentine hearts.

3rd Graders High On Space Lab

On Monday, December 8, the third grade classes went into the gym where Sky Lab was. It looked like a big silver bubble, but it wasn't. We had to crawl into it through an opening. When we got in, we started to talk about space with Mr. H. We talked about the moon, earth, craters and stars. We saw a filmstrip. When Mr. H. turned out the lights, stars appeared on the side of the bubble. It was fun and we knew a lot of answers.

Tobay Bonds At Lowest Rate

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby has announced the sale of $10,900,000 of long-term serial bonds at a net interest rate of 5.77% to Citibank and Associates. This is the first time the Town's Bond rate has been below 6.00% since 1979.

Colby said that the favorable interest rate was attributable to the Town's high credit standing, the timing of the sale and the Town's excellent financial position.

"Since the Town qualified for M.B.I.A. insurance coverage, the Bonds will be rated AAA by both Moody's Investors Service and Standard & Poor's Corporation," Colby said.

The bond sale comprises consolidation of eight previously authorized bond issues for various Capital Improvement Projects, with a total value of $10,900,000. Details of the sale were handled by Fiscal Advisors, Inc. of Hicksville, N.Y.

HBA Seeks Donations

The Hicksville Baseball Association is a non-profit organization, open to children from 6 years to 18 years. H.B.A. has been serving our community for more than 30 years.

H.B.A. is growing every year—we have more children than ever before.

The "shed," which has been accommodating our children since the beginning with food and drink, is in dire need of renovation.

This association has been trying to get building permits for many years. We are happy to announce that we finally received approval from the Town of Oyster Bay to renovate our facility.

The construction will be a 14' by 40' single story extension. The building will consist of an expansion of our existing food area, lavatories and storage area.

At this time we need community support. Your tax-deductible contribution will make our project a reality.

Remember - many of you have been in H.B.A.-are in H.B.A.-or will be in H.B.A.

The Hicksville Baseball Association program is designed to build good character, good citizenship—therefore helping our children grow to be responsible community members.

We are hoping you don't overlook the opportunity and privilege of providing a permanent accommodation for your town, your society and your family.

Pupils Explore Ancient Lands

Mr. O'Grady's sixth grade class, under the direction and supervision of Mrs. Mancuso (substitute teacher), held an "Ancient Civilizations" exhibition on February 13. An open house was held in the afternoon and all of the classes were invited to stroll through ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome.

As children approached this classroom, they paused to see and listen to a speaker describe an Egyptian pyramid that was painted by these sixth graders and placed in the window next to the classroom door. The observers entered the classroom through the columns and archway of the Greek Parthenon, also described by the children who helped paint it. Strolling through this classroom was an educational experience. On one wall, the children drew a large mural consisting of the Egyptian sphinx, a pyramid and its cross-section, a Mesopotamian King, an Egyptian Queen, a Spartan warrior, Caesar, the Greek Parthenon, and the Roman Colosseum. The children's reports, which were written on these civilizations, were hung between the pictures on this wall.

On tables around the room were diagrams depicting various characteristics of the ancient cultures. An interesting table was that of the Egyptian culture, where one was able to find a mummy in its case, a slate of Hieroglyphics, the Rosetta Stone, a miniature pyramid, an Egyptian woman's hairstyle, and a model of an Egyptian family.

In the corner of the room was a life-size model of King Tutankhamun, made by a few ambitious and talented students. All around the room were students describing each exhibit as the classes observed them.

Two enjoyable skits were performed by these students, using costumes and props. One skit showed the entertainment that can be seen in the arena of the model Roman Colosseum which was created by these students. The skit consisted of three Roman gladiators fighting each other with the use of shields, swords and weapons used by the gladiators of that period. The second skit portrayed a time in the life of Alexander the Great, along with his wife and servants.

These sixth graders put their total effort into this exhibition and can feel proud of their accomplishments. The afternoon proved to be both educational and enjoyable for all.

obtain an absentee ballot. Some negative response came in the form of skepticism about moving in haste, without sufficient preparation.

The Board approved a motion to adopt the use of the absentee ballot in the Hicksville School District beginning with the election of 1987, and thereafter, by a 5 to 1 vote (with the absence of Mr. MacBride).

Mr. Bennett surveyed the trustees as to the placement of a referendum on the May 6 ballot to change transportation policy for 9th graders. The current policy limit for grades 7-9 (the present junior high) sets a 1 1/2 mile limit, all students beyond this receiving bus transportation. The referendum would change the policy for the 9th graders, having them conform with the present high school policy of a 2 mile limit.

If passed, the change would affect some 97 students currently riders, and save the district $105,000, the cost of 3 buses. The trustees approved the drawing up of such a referendum to place before the community.

Further items covered by the Board:

•On March 11, bids will be opened on the purchase of the temporaries at the junior high school. Before the district can dispose of the property, they are required to make a reasonable effort to sell them.

•Trustee Carol Wolf announced a Community Forum to be held at the senior high school on Thursday, April 23.

•Upon recommendation by Superintendent Fenton, 9 teaching positions were abolished due to declining enrollment. Two health positions were abolished due to the new requirements under the Regents Action Plan.

•The Board received 7 policy revisions and 6 proposed policies for consideration and approval at subsequent meetings. The policies covered such areas as the budget system—planning, adoption procedures and implementation; bidding requirements; use of seat belts on school buses; rental and service charges and development of administrative regulations.

The next regular meeting of the Board will be held on Wednesday, March 25, at 8:15 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Administration Building.

St. Ignatius CYO News

Last Wednesday night in the 1st & 2nd grade league, the Nets tied the Clippers with a score of 22-22, and it was a score of 25-22 for the Celtics over the Warriors.

In our 3rd grade league on Saturday in the Junior High, there was a basketball blow-out. The Lions defeated the Cougars in a heart stopping game. The two teams were evenly matched in a game where the score was tied 4 times and went into 2 overtimes. Danny McGovern of the Lions played excellent offense for his team and contributed 10 points to the score. Veeral Lakhani, Gary Lewis and Marty Theis also scored, while Patrick Scanlon and Matthew Bruckner played good defense. On the Cougars team, points were scored by Brian and Matthew Patwell and Danny Sydor, with Bryan Gorman and Jeff Puglia contributing to the team's defense. At the end of the 4th quarter, the score was tied at 14-14. Five minutes of overtime was played which again ended in a tie as both teams scored. The excitement increased as the game went into the 2nd overtime. Fans and teammates cheered as Marty Theis of the Lions scored the winning basket with no seconds left on the clock.

The Wildcats played the Tigers and each team was playing so hard, they both suffered injuries to their players. The injuries incurred wouldn't stop the determination on either team from trying to win. With both teams playing excellent basketball, the game could have gone either way at any given time, but it was the Tigers that beat the Wildcats in the end.

Frank DeStafano's Warriors beat the Bullits with a score of 36-14. Thomas Doherty, Karl Rice, Dennis Kelly, Matt Moone and Jason Andrews each scored for the Warriors while it was Tony Cassano and Matt Morillo who scored for the Bullits.

John Anderson's 76er's still remain undefeated at this time beating Don Cleary's Lakers last Friday night. Jason Cicardo and Tom Carolan helped bring the 76er's to a victory with each of them scoring for the team.

Playoffs in our 7th & 8th grade league has put Pete Cantalupo's Warriors on the warpath. Brian McDermitt and Chris Murphy scored 12 points each for the Warriors. Drew Turano scored 10 points and Dennis Cantalupo gave his team 3 points while also playing excellent defense. Scoring for the Lakers were Pat Hart, Robert Gephard, Brian Harkins, Joe Artel, Pete Morrace and Bobby Wernon.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Do you think the Iran problems will make it impossible for the Reagan administration to accomplish anything in the remaining two years of the term?

INPUT

Input Callers Think Cuomo Is Out Of Presidency Run

Most callers to Input think that Governor Cuomo is completely out of the race for the Presidency in answer to this question: "Do you think the Gov. Cuomo really means it when he says he cannot be drafted for President?" Here are some of the answers:

OUT OF RUNNING

Yes, Gov. Cuomo will not run for the Presidency this time around. I do not think that he would have ruled himself out so early if he had any intentions of running. Presently there are many Democrats who will build up campaigns and run. Of course Gary Hart is Number One and I believe he will be elected to the Presidency. K.L.

WILL BE DRAFTED

I think that Gov. Cuomo is going to have a change of heart when he sees how the Democrats are going to muddle up the try. Presently with Pres. Reagan in the dog house the field for a Democrat is widening. The party choice might have a chance and this will dawn on Cuomo. He will be drafted and he will run. H.R.

PERSONAL REASONS

No Cuomo is out. He probably has some reasons he does not want to air in public. But they have to be good reasons. Cuomo was all set to run and spent time and money getting set for the campaign. It is not because he is scared of winning. There has to be another reason and as yet he is the only one who knows what it is. G.E.

ENDED CHANCES

No Cuomo ended his chances now for running for the Presidency this time. When he made his announcement other Democrats geared up and the field is now tightening so that he would have less political supporters if he makes a change. Everyone will be committed and few will come to help him. He now has to stick by his decision and work with his party. J.W.

SLY GAME

I think Cuomo is playing a sly game. He wants the Democrats to run all of their candidates in primaries and then he wants them to see how futile things are. In that way he can save himself the trials of a long primary and step right in with the nomination at the convention. He probably is already organizing a nucleus to start a spontaneous draft campaign. H.D.

SOUTH AGAINST HIM

Cuomo found out in polls that he was not making any headway nationally. The South is still prejudiced and he would have had to convert them in the Democratic party to win. He obviously thought that he could not make the run and win so he decided to keep out of it. D.L.

HARD TO TELL

It is hard to tell why Cuomo decided not to run. He appeared to be setting up speaking tours and making party friends to get the nomination. I believe that Cuomo does not now want to run. But I have not the slightest idea of why he made that choice. J.T.

ONLY IN DEADLOCK

Cuomo might change his mind if the convention were deadlocked but there is no way he could arrange that in advance. The other contenders will get out there and fight for the nomination. They are not about to let him sneak in. So only if it is impossible to find a candidate will Cuomo be drafted and then I think he will accept. F.W.

MIGHT CHANGE

I believe that Governor Cuomo really meant what he said at the time he said it, based among other things upon the ambient he found in his "non-campaign" stops around the country. Having done that, he would now be in a position to demand a climate completely to his liking should it develop that no other candidate would be considered as strong a frontrunner as he. He is shrewd and calculating and had sized up and evaluated the disadvantages he might face entering the race at the start particularly in parts of the country where he is comparatively unknown. However, I believe I can see a hornet's nest of candidates seeking the nomination at the Democratic convention and from my point-of-view, I would put my money on Senator Bill Bradley as a dark horse. But, Cuomo is a far better politician and speechmaker and in the event of a stale-mate, I can see him changing his mind "with great reluctance" if the Party appealed to him to take the nomination in order to solve a sticky situation. This would also enable him to save face with his New York constituents who were not at all unhappy to have him continue as Governor. P.G.S.

READER RATINGS

THE BEST

There are not many Chinese restaurants that surpass the fine food of Long's at Mid Island Plaza in Hicksville. We have been going to this restaurant for many years and can truthfully say that there is not a restaurant around that consistently gives top Chinese specialties of all types.

Last week we tried their stuffed shrimp Islander chef's special. This was about the best new dish that we have had in some time. We must also report that the decor and service at Long's is friendly, courteous and very professionally carried out. We recommend it to all of your readers. G.J.

CONSISTENTLY GOOD

The John Peel room in the Island Inn is consistently a good restaurant. We have been there a number of times and have always found the food and decor especially enjoyable.

The menu at the John Peel room includes a complete dinner from appetizer through dessert. We had prime ribs there last Thursday and were particularly happy with the large portion of beef along with the fine ambiance of the restaurant, the service was attentive and prompt. As usual we had a good night at the John Peel room. B.R.

Q. Are restaurants allowed to serve you something else if you ask for "Coke" or "Coca Cola" and they do not serve it?

A. The answer is technically they are not. But many will say they only carry "Pepsi" or another beverage. But you should be able to know in advance and refuse something you did not order. At least the "Coca Cola" company probably would want it that way, and "Pepsi" will also if it is the other way around.

YOU CAN BE A RESTAURANT CRITIC - If you visit any of the restaurants selected for inclusion in this section - call 931-0027 at any hour and tell your ideas. We want you, the reader, to be our critic. Your message then can be printed in this space.

Q. Our club is scheduling a rather formal luncheon this spring. We wish to serve only one wine, for reasons of economy. What wine would you suggest we choose?
A. A chilled white wine would be best. It is economical, low in calories and appealing to most tastes.

UNIQUE MENU
Monday night we dined at The Orchid Chinese Restaurant on Franklin Avenue in Garden City. We were delighted with this restaurant and heartily endorse it.

The ambience was both beautiful and restful with soft background music, and very attentive service.

It was by far the best Chinese food that we have ever tasted. The menu was unique and deliciously different. We chose two of the Jumbo Shrimp entrees which were superb. Looking over the interesting menu it was difficult to make a choice. Our remedy will be to make a return visit very soon. Incidentally they are open for lunch as well as dinner. We are pleased to have such a fine restaurant at practically our back door. E.E.

NICE PLACE
Bomont's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers. J.F.

Q. At a public dinner, who is the one who proposes a toast and when is the toast supposed to be offered?

A. The toastmaster, as his name implies, offers the first toast. Other toasts may be proposed, with permission of the toastmaster, by honored guests on the dais, but not by the general assembly.

Toasts are proposed at the end of the dinner before any speaking begins.

GOOD EXPERIENCE
The Benihana of Tokyo restaurant in Manhasset is a good experience. While the price is not low, the food is good and you get the free entertainment of watching the chef cut the fish or meat in a flamboyant style.

We had the fish dinner which was cooked from beginning to end before our eyes on the hibachi. The salad has a special taste prepared with the house dressing which is a combination of oil, vinegar and spice.

We recommend this restaurant. M.V.

TOP IN DINNERS
The New Hyde Park Inn is a landmark on Jericho Turnpike in New Hyde Park. Most people have been there many times for one banquet or another. Throughout the years it has served as a top catering hall for many affairs.

As a restaurant it is equally good. We went there last week and found that it has a full menu for dinner and that all of the good things that were at banquets can be had in the restaurant. Because it is a festive type place it is a great one to celebrate a birthday as we did. Tell your readers that the New Hyde Park Inn is tops for dinners. We know. We were there. Y.R.

Q. While visiting relatives in Texas, I noticed that "coffee parties" were popular. They were usually held in fine restaurants from 10 a.m. till noon and the menu usually included elaborate hors d'oeuvres and desserts. Coffee, tea and sherry were served as beverages. Are coffees of this kind a new idea?
A. They are a regional form of entertainment often seen in the southwest. So far they have not "caught on" in this part of the country.

Lobster tales

First of all, let's get one thing straight: cooked lobsters are red. Uncooked lobsters can be a spectrum of shades, from mottled brown and rust to aquamarine to striped black and white.

Second, there are two basic types of lobsters: the Atlantic Coast ones have large claws like Mohammad Ali's boxing gloves (these often are known as Maine lobsters, just like the one in the photo above); the Pacific Coast lobsters just have legs.

Some say that the Pacific Coast lobsters are better because all the meat is in the tail and it's too much work to pick out the claw meat anyway. However, some Easterners would take you to the mat defending the succulent flavor of "their" crustaceans.

The point is that it's not the biological lore about lobsters that grabs the spirit. Talking about lobsters with lobster-lovers and those who dive and fish for the spectacularly beautiful sea creatures is an open invitation for tales of adventure and wonder.

For instance, Mike Swan, who has been diving 20 years, says, "Grabbing a lobster is like grabbing a $100 bill in a windstorm."

Lobsters swim backward, according to the owner/service manager of the Diving Locker in Pacific Beach, Calif., and no matter how experienced a diver may be, the actual sighting of lobster hidden in a rocky cove under the surface has nothing to do with actually bagging one. "You grab at the antennae and they break off. Same with the legs."

And then, because of the refractive quality of the water, everything looks 22 percent larger under water. So you might grab what you think is a 3 1/4-inch lobster (legal size is measured with calipers by body length, not tail size or weight) and get out of water and find it's not a keeper."

Here is a collection of lobster recipes:

- SPICY LOBSTER SALAD
 1 cup mayonnaise made with fresh herbs
 1/2 cup drained capers
 1/2 cup finely chopped celery

- 1/4 cup finely chopped shallots
 1/4 cup finely chopped scallions
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
 3 drops Tabasco sauce
 1 pound steamed lobster meat
 Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
 3 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley or coriander leaves

Put mayonnaise into a mixing bowl and add capers, celery, shallots, scallions, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, Tabasco sauce, and salt and pepper. Blend well.

Add lobster meat and carefully fold it in, leaving lumps as large as possible. Sprinkle with the parsley before serving.

Yields 6 servings.
 Note: This salad can also be made with lump crab meat.

BAKED STUFFED MAINE LOBSTER

- 10 (1 1/4-pound) live lobsters
 15 tablespoons butter
 Ritz crackers: 2 (16-ounce) boxes, actually 3 cylinders of crackers, plus 21 more crackers, equal to 12 crackers per lobster)
 2 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
 1 tablespoon garlic powder
 10 teaspoons dry sherry
 5 teaspoons tarragon leaves, dried

Preheat oven to 475 F.

Preparation of lobsters: With lobster on its back, squeeze lobster tail closed, and hold bent tail in left hand. With sharp knife, starting in center of live lobster, cut deeply into belly area without cutting through the shell. With lobster still on its back, the tail will relax and open. Now hold the belly with the left hand. Cut through tail to the very end, again avoiding cutting through shell.

With two hands, carefully open lobster slightly, but avoid splitting shell. Remove green tamale and save for stuffing.

With both index fingers, starting at head of lobster, clean out bella and all remaining intestine parts, including the gut which extends to the tail of lobster. (If the gut rips, gently separate tail even more and remove that part with a knife.)

Rinse uncooked lobster under cold water. Bake in preheated oven on baking sheet lined with aluminum foil for 23 minutes exactly. (Mueller-Vollmer notes that she has been preparing lobster this way 27 years and insists that 23 minutes is correct.) Remove lobsters from oven and let cool.

The timing for various sizes of small lobsters is:

- 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pound lobster — 23 minutes
 1 1/2 to 2 pound lobster — 25 minutes

Stuffing for lobsters: In saute pan, melt butter and add well-rinsed (in cold water) tamales from the 10 lobsters. Stir and cook 2 minutes, breaking up the tamale

By Paul Bensen

Rock Cornish game hens have become a staple in the frozen food sections of almost all supermarkets. Several times, when I've been vacationing in fairly remote parts of the country, I've been delighted to find these delicious birds even in small local stores.

Game hens are small, averaging about 1 pound each, and are far better in many poultry recipes, in my opinion, than chicken. They are a great choice for the chef in a hurry, because they can be kept in the freezer and defrosted before cooking. Game hens cook fairly quickly, and offer many possibilities for dramatic and unusual presentations.

GAME HENS WITH TARRAGON

4 game hens, about 1 pound each
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

1 stick (¼ pound) butter
Juice of 1 medium lemon
1 tablespoon fresh or 1 teaspoon dried tarragon
2 cups chicken stock or chicken broth
Flour (for thickening gravy)

Total preparation time: 10 minutes
Total cooking time: 60 minutes

Thaw and wash game hens. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper and place on vertical roasters, or in a roasting pan. Melt butter in small saucepan, add lemon juice and tarragon and brush mixture over game hens.

Bake at 350 F for 1 hour, basting often with tarragon-butter mixture. When game hens are done, remove to platter and keep warm. Remove most of grease from pan and make gravy by adding chicken stock and cooking down slightly, and thickening to desired consistency with flour.

Serves 4.

FIVE-SPICE GAME HENS

4 game hens, about 1 pound each
1 tablespoon five-spice powder*
2 tablespoons hoisin sauce*
1 tablespoon plum sauce or duck sauce*
2 tablespoons black bean paste (or chili sauce with garlic)*
1 tablespoon sherry
Salt to taste
¼ cup dark soy sauce
1 tablespoon maple syrup

Total preparation time: 20 minutes (all do-ahead)
Total cooking time: 60 minutes

Wash hens and pat dry. Mix five-spice powder, hoisin, plum (or duck) sauce and black bean paste (or chili sauce) and sherry. Rub cavities of game hens with half of this mixture, and skins with the other half, and salt. Refrigerating overnight adds greatly to the flavor.

Preheat oven to 350 F. Mix soy sauce and maple syrup and rub into skins. Roast back-up for 30 minutes, then turn breasts up and roast another 30 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve with pan juice.

Serves 4.

GAME HENS IN INDONESIAN HOT SAUCE

2 tablespoons hot water
2 teaspoons tamarind*
2 game hens, halved
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 teaspoons chopped hot green chili pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon ground coriander
¼ cup chicken stock

Total preparation/cooking time: 40 minutes

Stir hot water and tamarind together and allow to stand for 15 minutes. Strain liquid into bowl and set aside. Discard seeds.

Rub game hen halves with lemon juice and allow to sit for 15 minutes.

Finely chop onion and chili pepper, and mix with salt, sugar, reserved tamarind liquid and coriander, and make paste using mortar and pestle (or whatever you have available for the purpose). A food processor, if you have one, can be used effectively for this step.

Add chicken stock to paste and whisk (or process) until mixed. Transfer to large skillet and set aside.

Grill game hen halves over charcoal fire for about 5 minutes on each side (or broil for 5 minutes on each side).

Place skillet over moderate heat and simmer reserved sauce for 3 minutes, stirring continually. Add grilled game hens and baste with sauce for 10 minutes, or until most of sauce has evaporated.

Return game hens to charcoal grill (or broiler), and cook 3 to 4 minutes on each side, brushing often with remaining sauce.

Serves 4. (This recipe, though it is intended for four, allows only one-half game hen per serving. If you're cooking for people with hearty appetites, you may want to double it, serving each person two halves.)

NOTE: Ingredients in today's recipes marked with an asterisk (*) are available at Oriental food markets and in the Oriental sections of many supermarkets.

Let's all celebrate St. Paddy's Day

It's time again for the honoring of Ireland's St. Patrick and the wearin' of the green. Whether or not you're Irish, you are well-advised to wear at least a spot of the color, or you risk getting pinched!

March 17 is Ireland's grandest holiday, honoring the man who simultaneously brought Christianity to the Isle and drove out all the snakes. (Scotland, with its Loch Ness monster, could have used a guy like that.) The details of the saint's life are somewhat vague, but we know that he was born in Roman-occupied western Britain or Wales — so he was not a native Irishman, as one might suppose.

St. Patrick's Day has been observed in this country since 1762, when an Irish-style celebration took place in New York City.

There's a saying that "everyone's Irish on St. Patrick's Day," — and you don't have to be Irish to join in the fun. If you don't have time to prepare today's Irish-style recipes (they take a bit more preparation than most microwaved dishes), just micro-bake a few potatoes and serve with green-tinted butter. That's sure to get noticed!

DUBLIN LAMB STEW

1 pound boneless lamb stew meat, cut in uniform chunks
1 (¼-ounce) package commercial brown gravy mix
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 cup water

¼ cup red wine
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dried thyme
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 medium carrots, cut into ½-inch rounds
2 medium potatoes, cut into 1-inch cubes
1 small onion, chopped
1 stalk celery, diced
1 clove garlic, minced or crushed

Preparation Time: 10 to 15 minutes

Cooking Time: 40 to 50 minutes (plus 5 minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power); MEDIUM (50 percent power)

Combine lamb and gravy mix in 3-quart glass casserole. Microwave, uncovered, 5 minutes on HIGH.

Sprinkle flour over meat; stir. Blend in water, wine, Worcestershire sauce and seasonings. Add all remaining ingredients; cover.

reduce setting to MEDIUM and microwave 35 to 45 minutes, stirring every 10 minutes, until meat and vegetables are tender. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

Serves 4.

IRISH OATMEAL BREAD

2 (¼-ounce) packages active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal
¼ cup light molasses
1½ teaspoons salt
6 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 eggs, lightly beaten
2 tablespoons quick-cooking oatmeal (uncooked)

Preparation Time: 15 to 20 minutes (plus 4 hours resting and rising time)

Cooking Time: 20 to 26 minutes (10 to 13 minutes per loaf) plus 5 minutes standing time

Oven Setting: MEDIUM (50 percent power)

In small bowl combine yeast and warm water; set aside.

In large mixing bowl combine boiling water, margarine, oatmeal, molasses and salt. Stir to blend and let cool to lukewarm.

Add 2 cups of the flour and eggs, beating well to blend. Stir in yeast mixture, then add remaining flour, 2 cups at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until batter is smooth, about 10 minutes.

Lightly grease top of dough. Cover bowl with plastic wrap and refrigerate 2 hours.

Remove dough, shape into 2 loaves, and place in 2 ungreased 9x5x3-inch glass loaf pans. Sprinkle each loaf with 1 tablespoon uncooked oatmeal and cover loosely with plastic wrap. Let rise in a warm place about 2 hours.

Remove plastic wrap and microwave, 1 loaf at a time, 10 to 13 minutes, rotating ¼ turn after 5 minutes. Let stand in pan 5 minutes before turning out onto wire rack to cool.

Makes 2 loaves.

Here's How

Q: I have an irritating problem. What can you recommend to correct creaks and squeaks in a wooden stairway? — M.J.J.

A: Fixing this problem is usually easy, if you understand stair construction and assuming the overall condition of the wood is satisfactory (not deteriorating as you might find in an exterior staircase that is exposed to the elements).

Methods of correction will depend on construction of the staircase and whether it is open or closed. Open staircases, where the underside is exposed, can be repaired from underneath, while stairs that are enclosed on the underside with plaster or dry wall must be repaired from above.

The main parts of the staircase are the treads (the flat part you walk on), the risers (the board at the back of the stair that gives it height) and stringers (the side boards that support treads and risers). If any of these have worked loose, a squeak develops.

Working from above on an enclosed staircase, locate the area of each squeak by ascending the stairs and marking each problem area with chalk. If the stairs are carpeted, first remove the carpet to gain access to the joints between the treads and risers. Treads that are loose at the nose (front of the tread) can be secured with screws or ring-shank flooring nails or 10d finishing nails. Space the nails about 2 inches apart. Be sure to drill pilot holes first for the nail. Countersink the nail head and fill the nail holes with matching wood plastic.

Loose joints at the area of the tread can be treated two ways. One method is to drive small hardwood wedges or shims into the joint crack to force retightening. Dip the wedges in wood glue, drive them in with a hammer and block, then trim away the excess when the glue is dry.

Another option is to nail quarter-round molding in place at the back of the tread against the riser. Alternate nailing into both the riser and the tread along the molding's length (the width of the stair). If you have access to the underpart of the staircase, it is best to make corrections from underneath.

First, have someone walk up and down on the stairs while you observe from underneath. Mark the trouble spot with a piece of chalk. Staircases with risers usually have hardwood blocks attached to the joints between the tread and risers. If the blocks are loose, replace or refasten them. Glue each block to both surfaces of the joint (where the tread and top of riser meet.) After the glue dries, drive wood screws through the block into each surface.

Wedges inserted in the joints during initial construction may have worked loose. These can be replaced or reglued and reset. Instead of wooden blocks you can substitute metal angle brackets (three to a step) and install these at the joint.

For further reinforcement use 10d finishing nails along the bottom edge of the riser, where the riser meets the tread. Drive the nails up through the tread into the bottom edge of the riser.

Q: Our roof is about 30 years old and made of asbestos shingles. Several shingles are broken and need replacing. I don't think they make them anymore and I am not interested in used ones since they are so brittle.

What kind of shingle is best to replace them? Also, would it be OK to paint over the cracked shingles that aren't too badly damaged with flashing compound? — B.O.

A: Undoubtedly, your roof is ready for replacement. Almost all roofing materials deteriorate from exposure to the elements, and 30 years of service is a long time. Once a roof begins to deteriorate it is best to replace the entire roof.

There are many different types of roofing material available today that will give you a wide range of textures and colors, while also providing a durable, lasting surface. The newer fiberglass/asphalt shingles would be one choice that provides numerous color and texture choices and durability. It is not the most expensive in today's lineup of roofing selections.

Since re-roofing is not usually a do-it-yourself project, I suggest that you contact a reliable contractor to inspect your roof and make recommendations.

Q: I have not worked in 15 years but am 62 years of age. My husband is 64 but wants to continue working for several more years. Can I collect on Social Security myself? — R.V.

A: If you have worked in the past where wages were reported and Social Security contributions were taken, you just might have a claim on your own. You will only know this by checking with your local Social Security office, where they can check their records. For that meeting have your Social Security number ready, together with notes or a list of where and when you did work earlier. If you have enough quarters of reportable work in the program you can qualify on your own. If not, the counselor at Social Security can advise if you can qualify under the minimum benefit program.

Prior to turning age 65 your husband should file for the Medicare program, even if he continues to work.

The counselors at Social Security, we have found, are really "in your corner" in trying to qualify you for the program. It is not like some other government programs where you might have to undergo means testing or other examinations. If you have worked and paid into the system, the job of the Social Security representative is to get you into the benefit program at whatever level you qualify.

Q: A man keeps phoning me to say he has important Medicare information to bring me, and is almost demanding an appointment with me in my home. What should I have ready for him? — L.J.

A: Don't have anything ready for him, other than a "no, thank you," or "get lost" response. Medicare does not have representatives working in this way. This approach is typically used by some, perhaps unscrupulous, agents or salespeople for Medicare supplement insurance. You could subject yourself to high-pressure sales tactics following a ruse to get in your front door.

If you want to consider Medicare supplement insurance as a very valid consideration for yourself, get recommendations on companies and brokers from your friends. Talk to your own insurance broker. Check with your local area senior citizen publications. Then, interview three or more firms to learn of the range of policies and coverages before you make any decision.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, E.L.D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm an 18-year-old freshman at my state university and my girlfriend is a senior at my old high school. We have been going together for almost two years. Up until I left high school we seemed to be really going strong.

Well, last summer we had a baby and we felt that the best thing to do was to place it up for adoption. We had given it a lot of thought and felt that it was the best thing for our child. Although I still feel very strongly for our child, that is not the issue. You see, since my girlfriend has started her senior year, I have become secondhand. All she does is spend time with her friends. We do go out once in awhile but she doesn't seem interested.

Lately, she has been hanging around with a few different boys and I have noticed that she even goes out with them. It does hurt me very much, but all I want is for her to be open and honest with me. I know I can't make her love me and only me, but I do want to keep an honest relationship with her.

The big issue now is her college decision. As much as I try to talk to her about it, she just says she really doesn't know what to do or where to go. Yet I hear from her friends that she has applied to a few schools and even visited them. When I confront her with this she does not deny the fact that she has done it. All I want is an open and honest relationship with her.

Is there a way to make her realize that I love her as much as I do? Or should I back away quietly and let her further her life without me and the thoughts of our child? — Nick Nick: Have a talk with this girl and tell her you love her but realize that she needs time away from you. Wish her well and let her know you will be there when she needs help.

Dr. Wallace: In a recent column you seemed to give credence to the claim that firstborn children are smarter than their younger siblings.

It is true that some studies appear to show that firstborns, as a group, are somewhat higher achievers. But, remember, this is a statistical conclusion about a group, and is patently not applicable on a case-by-case basis. Reasons for the apparent higher achievement are the subject of much debate.

The random nature of genetic selection gives no likelihood that nature would favor one slot in the birth order as a more likely recipient of any heritable characteristic. In addition, many informed people doubt whether "intelligence" is an inherited or measurable (or even definable) characteristic, yet IQ tests are one of the mainstays of birth-order studies.

On the other hand, some studies show that parents, as a group, do invest more of their time and economic resources in firstborn children. Also, in family and social situations, firstborns are routinely accorded higher status than their younger siblings. These last two facts alone are sufficient to account for all apparent group differences in birth-order hierarchy.

All teens would be well-advised to direct their efforts to developing to the fullest their own talents and abilities. It is this that will determine their success, not any supposed superiority conferred by order of birth. — David David: Agreed! Being a "firstborn," I was just "showing off" a bit.

Dr. Wallace: I am a loyal, faithful reader of your column so I hope you will answer my letter.

Some fellows at church and I have decided to start a Christian rock band and will be playing "Christian rock."

Our problem is that a lot of church people are telling us that such a group would be wrong and sinful. Of course, we don't feel that way.

What do you think? We are all members of a Baptist church. — Ron Ron: Discuss your plans with your minister and get his feelings. If he gives the OK, then your problems are over.

But, if he doesn't ... then you guys will have to make the decision by yourselves. Personally, I think it's wrong to label all rock music as bad and sinful. Much of it is, but not all!

The band members should be judged on their personal lives, not because they enjoy playing Christian music in an unorthodox manner!

Dr. Wallace: I have many problems and they are called Doug, Bob, Mike, Bill, Joe, Pete, etc. I seem to like a guy for a while then I move to another. Is there something wrong with me? I do enjoy dating. — Ann

Ann: There is nothing wrong! That's what dating is all about — having fun and playing the field. Eventually, you will find "Mr. Right" but enjoy the others until you find him.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Q: I want to move back to Hollywood, Calif., and need the name of a social worker who can help me do it? Can you help? — B.G.

A: Whether considering a move to Hollywood or anywhere, if you are considered a "low-income" senior you do have some services available to help you do it. I cannot provide the name of a specific social worker, but can recommend the direction you should take.

Contact the Area Agency on Aging in your present area, telling them of your plan to move to the new area. There is an Area Agency on Aging in every region of the United States, funded mainly from the federal government. Through these agencies there are information and referral services, outreach services and meal and social service programs. Many also operate housing referral services, HUD Section 8 housing subsidy programs, day-care centers and more. The type and level of services vary from region to region, depending on the federal funding combined with the type of local government support or participation.

Your local Area Agency on Aging can provide you with information on the similar service in your intended new city. They can advise, too, of any social service to you both where you are now and where you might be moving. That is where to start. You'll find the Area Agency on Aging listed in the white pages of your local area telephone directories.

Cooking Corner

LOBSTER BISQUE

- 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pound Maine lobster
- Carrot
- Onion
- Celery
- Leek
- Bay leaf
- Fresh thyme
- Fresh tarragon
- Fresh basil
- Olive oil
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cognac
- 1 tablespoon sherry
- 1 tablespoon white wine
- 1 ounce tomato paste (or to taste)
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup whipped cream
- Lemon juice (optional)

Cook lobster in enough water to cover, plus 2-3 inches. Cook slowly — about 15 minutes. Remove lobster, reserving broth. Remove lobster meat from shells; chop meat and reserve. Cut shells into small pieces and cook them in olive oil. When shells turn red, add cognac, sherry, and white wine. Cook for a few seconds longer.

Peel and cut vegetables. Saute vegetables and spices in olive oil on low heat. To this pan, add lobster broth, lobster shells and tomato sauce. Add salt and pepper to taste. Cook over low heat 30-45 minutes. Strain mixture through a fine sieve.

Combine mixture with cream; add chopped lobster meat. Cook over low heat until well blended. Lemon juice may be added to taste.

Yields 4 servings.

as you cook. Remove from heat. Add curry powder, garlic powder, tarragon and stir. Crush Ritz crackers semi-finely. (Do not crush with rolling pin — that will be too fine.) Add butter mixture to crackers and stir slightly. Continue mixing process with hands, rubbing slightly between hands. This keeps stuffing light rather than soggy. Add sherry and again rub with hands. Taste for seasoning.

Assembly: From cooled lobsters, remove fat and liquid from belly area with a teaspoon. Wipe lobsters with slightly damp cloth. Place each lobster on an individual sheet of foil extending 3 inches on each side. Fill belly area with 4 to 5 tablespoons stuffing and lightly fill tail area with about 1 tablespoon filling. Fold foil over lobster on both sides. Take another piece of foil and wrap belly and tail so that the lobster is completely covered.

Note: Recipe can be prepared to this point and refrigerated 24 hours or can be frozen up to two weeks.

To bake: In preheated 450 F oven, bake foil-covered lobster 15 minutes or until meat and stuffing are heated through. If lobster has been frozen, defrost to room temperature four to five hours, being sure the lobster is completely defrosted before following baking instructions above.

Note: Do not prepare this dish in the microwave oven. Crackers and stuffing will be soggy.

Vegetarian View

Spring is sprung!

In culinary terms, spring means the arrival on the market of a fresh crop of tempting fruits and vegetables, and many vegetarians await the season with mouth-watering anticipation. Tender baby peas and asparagus are among my favorites at this time of year. Foltablespoons of the butter in large skillet. Add onion and saute over low heat until soft.

Add chopped asparagus and basil and continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until asparagus is just tender, 5 to 8 minutes. Stir in remaining butter and flours and cook, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes.

Slowly blend in vegetable broth or water and cook over low heat several minutes longer, until mixture thickens somewhat. Remove from heat and let cool.

When soup is cool, puree in blender until smooth. Combine in saucepan with scalded milk and seasonings. Reheat soup gently over low flame before serving.

Serves 4 to 6.

Backyard Gardener

By Patrick Denton

Like Topsy, they just grow and grow

With each gardening year our family's collection of potted and container flowers seems, like Topsy, to just grow — and grow. Last summer our large rock-covered plant platform at the side of our back lawn spilled over with gerberas and carnations, dwarf potted stocks and miniature roses, petunias and Star of Bethlehem plants, sedums, lilies, cinerarias, Christmas and orchid cactus plants, lobelia, azaleas and even a clematis, a curly tansy and a ginkgo tree.

I think myself that we've become just a little overpotted but my wife, now irretrievably struck with potted-plant fever, is planning the construction of a small brick mini-patio beside the espaliered peach tree, to accommodate some of the more heat-loving of our treasured container plants. She quite fancies sitting in the sunshine reading amidst pots of fragrant herbs, scented geraniums and plush eggplant happily laden with soft violet flowers and glistening purple fruits.

Some of our most delightful potted flowers this year were from Thompson and Morgan. Stockpot, this firm's new dwarf fragrant stock, bloomed and scented the air with its spicy fragrance for more than two months at our patio door. I set three of the plants with notched leaves (these assured double flowers) — in each 6-inch-wide pot. Cut back, when the flowers did at last fade, the plants rebloomed.

Another long-lasting potted flower from Thompson and Morgan was Lilliput Scarlet, which bloomed throughout the summer and early fall on bushy, 7-inch-tall plants with fully double, intensely fragrant, brilliant scarlet flowers. Lilliput thrived in 4- and 5-inch-wide pots.

I grew a taller carnation — Knight — in 8-inch-wide pots, three plants to a pot. These carnations grew to about a foot tall, producing a long season of fine double blooms in white, yellow, red and pink. I seeded both carnation and stockpot indoors in late winter and potted the plants in early spring.

From Thompson and Morgan also came Aster Contraster, a unique and fast-blooming dwarf aster with large and fluffy striped blooms. Contraster's shades of pink, red, rose and purple are painted on white-edged petals for an especially bright and charming look. This year I transplanted these asters into a flowerbed, but now that I've seen the very compact and uniform nature of the plants I would prefer to display them next year in patio pots.

Over the past few years I've become fond of the easy-to-grow ob-conica primroses for pots, and every year I look for a new one to grow from seed. Last year I chose Thompson and Morgan's newly introduced Blue Agate, and one of the plants is blooming now at my office window. It's been blooming since early September and it's quite as lovely as its picture in the catalog. Blue Agate's large blooms start off white, and develop through their long flowering period various shades of soft blue and light violet with a dark contrasting center.

Another plant I enjoy very much growing in pots is gerbera, or Transvaal daisy, and with this flowering plant, too, I look every year for new varieties to grow from seed. Last year my two best gerberas were both new introductions from Park Seed — Rainbow and Double Parade.

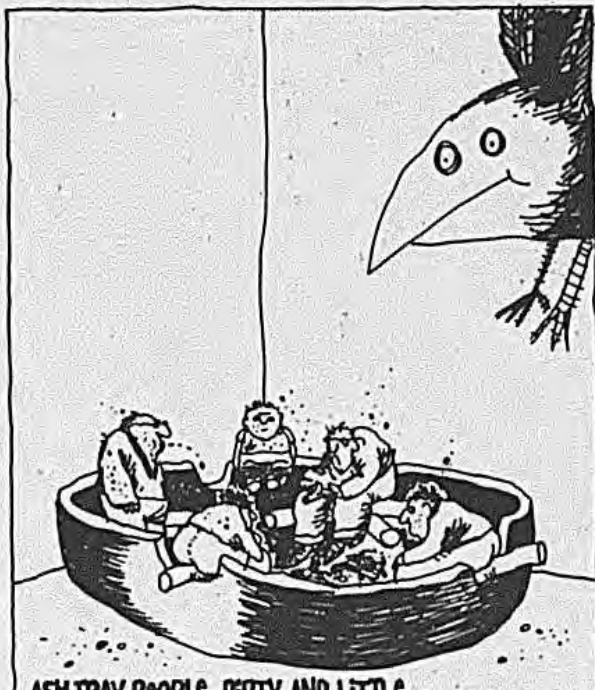

Double Parade formed a very neat and tidy, compact plant with strong and stocky stems bearing attractively fluffed double and semi-double blooms. Rainbow also grew compact and strong, with classic single daisy flowers in clear, intense shades of pink, yellow, red and white. From an early March seeding indoors both gerberas began to bloom in July.

I grow our gerberas in 8-inch-wide pots because I've found that just like seed-grown geraniums these plants bloom faster in pots than in the open garden. In cold winter gardens, gerberas can be wintered like fuchsias in any cool but frost-free spot with high humidity levels. This could be a cool greenhouse, sun porch or a bright basement room.

HOME DECOR

Even small bedroom can achieve star status

Q: I've always dreamed of having a luxurious bedroom with a vanity. Now I have a new condo but don't know how I am going to fit my queen-sized bed and clothes bureau into my small bedroom, much less add a vanity and any glamour. Do you have any ideas?
— G.G.

A: Any space can be made glamorous. Fitting all your furnishings in may take a bit more ingenuity.

When planning your room, first determine what options you have for positioning your bed. It may be that there is really only one place you can put your bed. Since your bed is the dominant furnishing size-wise, your options will be limited at best.

Once you've figured out where your bed must go, then you can plan the rest of the room. It's a lot easier to do this on paper, by the way. Sure beats shoving furniture around.

The bedroom pictured here is a good example of how to maximize space in a small bedroom and give it an aura of opulence, as well. Notice how built-ins are used to make the most of limited space. Modularity often can be used successfully in these circumstances, too.

The vanity was located in the corner in what is usually wasted space and the counter is a shallow 10 inches on the adjoining wall.

Panels of mirrors enlarge the small room visually and reflect the subtle lighting in addition to serving the vanity. Notice that there are no harsh overhead lights.

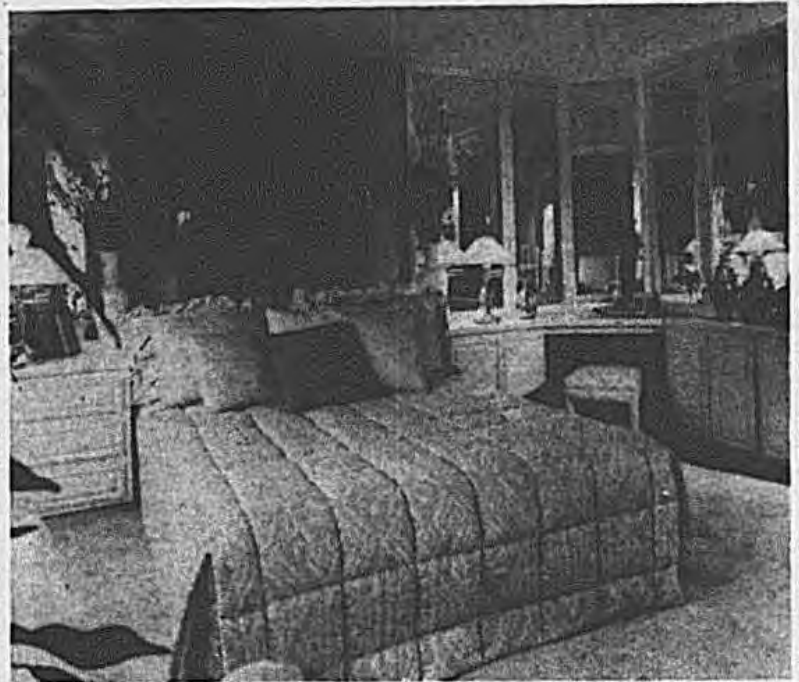

Soft colors, textures and fabrics add a restful elegance to the space. It can be done in your small space, too, so pamper yourself and give some reality to those fantasies!

Q: We are heavily into "country" and have been collecting accessories for years.

My husband wants to try his hand at making some country furniture. Do you know where we can find designs or plans for authentic country furnishings? — R.K.

A: I am aware of two books currently in print that would help you. One is called "Shop Drawings of Shaker Furniture and Woodware" by Ejner Handberg from the Berkshire Traveller Press, Stockbridge, MA 01262. This book is a collection of measured drawings to scale with dimensions and details of a variety of Shaker furnishings.

"Making Country Furniture" by Ed and Stevie Baldwin is a book of projects with detailed drawings, materials list and how-to instructions for a variety of furniture for every room of the house. It is published by Brick House Publishing Co., 3 Main St., Andover, MA 01810. Happy hammering!

LUXURIOUS BEDROOM — Careful space planning, built-ins, mirrors and subtle lighting all combine to create an ambience of glamour in this bedroom by Color Design Art.

Q: This Ansonia Regulator clock was given to us by my husband's uncle last year. Can you tell me when it was made and its value?

A: Your clock is known as a "drop octagon" and was made in the late 19th century.

The Ansonia Clock Co. was founded in 1851 by Anson Phelps. The company went out of business during the 1930s.

Currently, clocks like yours are selling for about $300.

Q: Are old movie posters and signs valuable? My father managed a theater before World War II and there are several old posters in our attic.

A: Old movie posters made before 1940 are quite valuable as the following will testify; they should be in very good condition.

- Charlie Chaplin — $500 to $5,000
- Joan Crawford — $150 to $550
- Bette Davis — $50 to $500
- Greta Garbo — $300 to $2,000
- W.C. Fields — $150 to $250
- Douglas Fairbanks Jr. — $100 to $700
- Helen Hayes — $50 to $300
- Katharine Hepburn — $75 to $275
- Clark Gable — $200 to $600
- Barbara Stanwyck — $100 to $200
- Gary Cooper — $400 to $550
- Laurel and Hardy — $750 to $1,500
- Mae West — $100 to $200

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam.

McCollam is a member of the Antique Appraisers Association of America.

Q: I am interested in your opinion of the following relish dish: 10 inches long, pierced handles, and decorated with tulips on a shaded background. The attached mark is on the bottom.

A: This mark was used by the ceramics factory in Markschwaben, Germany, during the second quarter of the 20th century.

A dealer would ask from $35 to $45 for it.

JUNIOR PAGE

Q: What are the signs of distemper in dogs? Our puppy seems to have a cold. Our neighbor thinks that the dog has distemper. Can distemper be treated? The puppy was a stray and we hate to spend very much money on him.

A: Canine distemper is probably the greatest single disease threat to the world's dog population. The virus is shed from infected dogs in the mucous and water fecal material. Kennels, runs, bedding and other areas used by infected dogs may contain the distemper virus for long periods of time. The virus may be carried by air currents in aerosol droplets and may contaminate water and feed dishes or toys. Unless isolated, almost every dog has contact with the distemper virus during its first year of life.

Canine distemper also occurs in many wild animals. Examples are foxes, wolves, ferrets, minks, skunks and racoons. It is extremely difficult to totally isolate a pet dog from the distemper virus. Puppies or young dogs are the most susceptible to canine distemper.

The signs of distemper vary greatly among dogs. Frequently the disease appears to be a "severe cold." Most infected dogs have fever for a few days then a normal temperature for few days and then another fever for several days. Among the early signs are squirting, congestion of the eyes with a white discharge, weight loss, coughing, vomiting, discharges from the nose and diarrhea. Infected animals may develop bronchitis, pneumonia and severe inflammation of the stomach and intestines. The distemper virus may attack the nervous system, causing partial or complete paralysis. This may look like "fits" or twitching. Nervous problems often persist many weeks after the dog has recovered from all the other signs of infection.

Another less common sign of canine distemper is a hardening of the footpads. The signs of the disease may last from 10 days to several weeks or months. Because the signs are so varied and distemper is so prevalent, any sick puppy should be taken to a veterinarian for a definite diagnosis. Dogs that survive a natural infection usually develop sufficient immunity to protect them from distemper for the rest of their lives. However, many dogs, especially puppies, do not survive natural infection. Therefore, the safest protection is vaccination for distemper.

Your veterinarian can advise you regarding the best distemper vaccination program for your particular dog. Canine distemper is a deadly disease for unvaccinated dogs. The cost of treatment of dogs with distemper and the extreme discomfort for the infected dog far outweigh the cost of a vaccination program.

Canine distemper can be controlled in our pet population.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

This is the first week of MARCH, the first month of the year. At one time March was the first month under the old Roman calendar, but in the sixteenth century the Georgian calendar placed it third, following January and February.

By the way, March derives its name from Mars, the Roman god of war. The planet Mars is also named after this god!

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are: Danny Moon and Kathleen McCullagh.
