Special Town Elections Set For April 28 On Districts

There will be a special election in the Town of Oyster Bay on April 28 for voters to decide if there should be councilmanic districts established in the Town. A citizens group, Nassau-Suffolk Neighborhood Network, collected petitions representing five percent of the registered voters in Town and presented them to the Town Board. State law mandates that the Town must call a special election 60 to 75 days from the date of the petition.

If the referendum passed, Town Board members would be elected on a district basis to represent particular areas instead of the Town-wide system presently used. Democrats who now are not represented on the Board, believe that they would have some representation under the councilmanic or "ward system."

Similar drives are going on in the other two Towns in Nassau County.

Local Girls Pen Egyptian Tale

You'd think one full-time career each would be enough for Bethpage High School teachers Susan Yansick and Christine Healy. However, they share another career as writers and their first novel, "Yesterday and Tomorrow" will be published in March by Worldwise Library.

Susan, who lives in New Hyde Park, and Christine, who lives in Plainview, write as a team under the pen name Erin Yorke. Together, they've created a rollicking romance novel which "Rave Reviews" says has "the pacing of 'Raiders of the Lost Ark,' the adventure of 'Romancing the Stone,' and the romance of 'The African Queen.'"

Susan Yansick says that "Yesterday and Tomorrow" was inspired by her own trip to Egypt where she was "almost abducted."

For further information on this meeting or on the many services available through Resolve, please send a stamped self-addressed envelope to: Resolve, P.O. Box 516, Plainview, N.Y. 11803. For directions to the library call 938-0077.

Serious Water Problems Discussed At Public Mtg.

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Traizer

Water - a precious natural resource. Seventy-five percent of the earth's surface is water, and yet only 3% is suitable for human consumption.

The Hicksville Community Council hosted a program at its March 5 meeting on the serious water problems facing the 15,000 customers in the Hicksville Water District. The program was presented by the three members of the District's Board of Commissioners and two engineers from the consultant firm, H2M Corporation.

The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) has studied the usage of water and determined that serious conditions could result from continued abundant use. The DEC formulated a state-wide goal of water conservation. Commissioner Nicholas Brigandi explained that this state mandate brings new restrictions on the amount of water the District may pump.

The DEC set a pumpage cap of 2632 million gallons for any current five-year running average, with a 2782 million gallon maximum in any single year, while maintaining the five year average below 2632 million gallons. The current five year period is 1983 through 1987. Based on the yearly allowable rate of 2632 million gallons, the total pumpage for the five years would be 13,160 million gallons. After calculating the actual pumpage for 1983-86, the District's limit for 1987 would be 2095 million gallons. The District would have to accomplish a 27% decrease in consumption over 1986 to conform with the regulations.

The installation of the sanitary sewer system and the rising number of automatic sprinkler systems are largely responsible for the additional water pumpage levels in recent years. But, increased pumping is rapidly decreasing our finite underground water supply. The Commissioners stressed the need for all residents to conserve and recycle our limited water supply for ourselves, as well as for generations to come.

The Board of Commissioners has embarked on an ambitious campaign to bring about the necessary reforms. A survey was sent to consumers and results show that a majority of residents are willing to conform to a regimen which will lower consumption.

In addition, other actions are being taken by the Board:

- Reverse water rates - Under this program, the more water used, the higher the rate the consumer will be charged. This plan went into effect at the beginning of this year.

- Leakage repairs of older water pumps.

- Water conservation kits - The District will distribute kits to all consumers containing shower restrictors, toilet leak detector dye tablets and toilet plastic water bags which decrease the amount of water used.

- Contact major water users and alert them to the need to conserve water.

- A public awareness program.

The Board of Commissioners of the Hicksville Water District urged all consumers to make changes in personal habits in order to lower water usage. The Board issued a 39-page report, compiled by Holzmacher, McLendon and Murrell, Consulting Engineers, entitled, "Water Conservation Program for the Hicksville Water District," dated February, 1987, which states specific changes residents can make that will save the district millions of gallons a year.

The second half of the program centered on a discussion about the advances by Delco Corporation to purchase the Burns Avenue School and property. School Board President William Bennett addressed the subject.

Mr. Bennett reviewed the aspects of the sale discussion as presented to the public at the School Board meeting of February 25. He noted that the Delco Corporation expressed an interest in purchasing the property to build a parking lot. Mr. Bennett said that he has sought legal advice as to the placing of restrictions on property use at the time of sale, if the property were to be sold.

Joining Mr. Bennett in fielding questions from the public was Board Trustee Lawrence Moor. The two officials expressed concerns over rising school budgets and the fact that Hicksville has the second lowest enrollment in Nassau County. They said that they were aware of the commercial and industrial development of Hicksville and wished to protect the Burns Avenue neighborhood.

Mr. Bennett explained that in order to sell a district school, a referendum must be placed before the voters. The next scheduled

School Board vote will take place on May 6. If the School Board wishes to have a referendum appear on the ballot, the Board is legally required to file for such a referendum by March 16.

The Hicksville Community Council meets on the first Thursday of the month, at 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the Public Library.

Letters

To the Editor:

Hicksville water raised their water rates by more than double, approx. 140%. This huge increase is unjust for laundromat operations and the poor people we serve.

I will have to raise my prices or install more washers to increase business volume and make up for the loss. If water conservation is the objective a 5% reduction should be imposed and penalize those who fail to conserve. I've already reduced my water consumption by 5-8% but this savings will not make up for the loss.

The poor people will have to pay once again or wash clothes less! There is no justification for such a tremendous increase.

George,
Owner Operator of Hicksville Laundromat

Editor's Notebook

In recent weeks there have been comments made about the Gregory Museum, its location, its founder and a man, Richard Evers, who has become known as "Hicksville's Historian." For years, hours of time have been spent in recording information about our hamlet. It seems a shame to kick people around who have given of their time and effort with little or no financial reward and even less praise for their hours of community service.

It is even more of a shame that loud voices are heard when there may be some business benefit to be gained from their criticism.

Water conservation has become a prime concern to Long Island residents in recent months. Most Water Districts are issuing precautions for conserving the precious commodity and warning of serious caps to be placed. Here are a few water saving tips that we all should follow:

- Toilet tank leaks are a major factor of wasted water. Water level in tank should be kept below the overflow tube.

- Showers require less water than a bath. Shut off water when soaping up during a shower and save 20 to 25 gallons of water. Water saving shower heads and flow restrictors are also available.

- Dish washers use 12 to 17 gallons of water. Run washers only with a full load. Washing machines use 30 to 40 gallons per load. Limit washings and use wash control levels if machine has them.

- Faucets and outside hose bibbs should be checked for leaks and washers should be replaced when necessary. A dripping faucet can use up to 25 gallons per day and a 1/8" stream of water can equal 400 gallons per day.

Many of us will remember that these "tips" were taken for granted years ago. Those mentioned are but a few, call your Water District for a more detailed list of conservation hints. V.P.

It includes employees and retirees, from all former Bell System operating companies, AT&T, Western Electric plus the Rochester Telephone Corporation and certain Canadian telephone companies and subsidiaries.

The Pioneer Association was founded in 1911. It provides social and public service opportunities for all telephone employees - current and retired. Active Pioneers include current employees with 18 years or more of telephone service, Life Members who are retired employee Pioneers, and Future Pioneers who are employees with less than 18 years of telephone service.

The Paumanok Chapter, with over 11,500 members covers both Nassau and Suffolk Counties on Long Island and is one of the 99 chapters belonging to the Telephone Pioneers of America. The Chapter has eight life member clubs, four in Nassau and four in Suffolk.

Nationally, Telephone Pioneers of America through volunteer efforts, raised $3,500,000 for the restoration of the Statue of Liberty. This was the largest amount raised by a non-industrial organization. Locally, the Paumanok Chapter and its Life Member Clubs have been assisting the Arthritis Foundation in fund raising, lending support to several charitable organizations, providing entertainment at nursing homes, sponsoring bowling for visually impaired persons, collecting food, books for the needy and veterans hospitals, helping Nassau County in an environmental cleanup project and many other fund raising activities to help the communities in the area covered by each Life Member Club.

Each Life Member Club holds an open meeting each month with its respective Life Members to provide a means of fellowship and to plan their various activities. The Sagamore Life Member Club serves those members who reside within the Town of Oyster Bay in the communities of Bethpage, Levittown and East Meadow north to Oyster Bay and Glen Cove. Sagamore has over 1050 members and meets on the first Tuesday of each month beginning at 9:30 a.m., at the Plainview American Legion Hall, 115 Southern Parkway, Plainview. The Nassau Mid-Island Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America (S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A.) is hard at work preparing for its 37th annual show, "Kollege Daze". The show will be presented April 24-25, at Chaminade High School, Mineola.

S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A., also known by the shorter name, The Barbershop Harmony Society, is the largest male singing organization in the world, with more than 37,000 members and 818 chapters, located throughout the United States and Canada. It is a non-profit, charitable organization, that was founded in 1938 to perpetuate an old American institution, the barbershop quartet, with its unique style of four part close harmony singing. Men of all ages and from all walks of life participate, drawn together by a common interest in harmony singing and good fellowship.

In 1964, the Society adopted the Institute of Logopedics as its primary charity. The Institute treats people, mostly children, who have serious speech defects, limiting their ability to communicate. The Society has contributed nearly six million dollars to help with this work. Funds are raised for this cause by putting on annual shows, and giving other singing performances.

The Nassau Mid-Island Chapter membership is drawn from towns all over Nassau County, and also includes some members from Suffolk and Queens. It is the only chapter in Nassau, and holds its meeting every Tuesday night at 8 p.m., at Winthrop Hall, Church of The Advent, 555 Advent Avenue, Westbury. Guests are welcome, and any man who likes to sing and can carry a tune, can become a member. For information call 378-5137.

Tickets for Friday and Saturday night, April 24-25, are $7; discounted tickets, Friday night only, are $6 for students and senior citizens. Order tickets well in advance by calling 489-2644 or 938-1062, as the show is always a sell-out.

To the Editor:

I am writing regarding the recent offer of Delco Development to purchase the Burns Avenue School. It is my understanding that a considerable sum of money has been offered for this property and that, as plans now stand, Delco Development states that the property will be used for a parking lot. Delco Development, the new owner of Mid-Island Plaza, is apparently in the process of renovating and enlarging the Plaza. Publicity I have seen regarding it shows it to be a much larger, two-story complex, including department stores, restaurants and a bus station.

Mid-Island Plaza is surrounded on three sides by private homes and the Burns Avenue School, which were there before the Plaza was built. The homeowners and the school's PTA have fought a constant battle over the years against being overrun by the commercial expansion of the Plaza. The Plaza has remained remarkably contained as a result of this continuing struggle.

I was a member of the Burns Avenue PTA Board for a period of 10 years. During that time, a number of developers attempted to erect a variety of commercial establishments within the bounds of Mid-Island Plaza and the property immediately surrounding it. Each time, because of the close proximity of the school and the danger of increased traffic and hazardous conditions that would result, these ill-advised expansions were prevented. It is obvious that the removal of the school would open the door to the unbridled expansion of Mid-Island Plaza and the blight of parking lots, strip shopping centers, fast food restaurants, etc. (all of which we already have in great abundance) to those who are attempting to commercialize a quiet residential neighborhood. Although I am aware that it is not the School Board's primary responsibility to concern itself with non-educational matters, with concern for the community at large should be an ingredient in its decision-making process.

In view of the many years of careful study of the Long Range Planning Committee, I am questioning the Board's consideration of this offer. I served as a member of that committee and the very real possibility that a school or schools might need to be closed was a serious option that was discussed at length. There was no doubt that an educational plan for closing one or more schools would have to be done carefully and thoroughly investigated and evaluated before any decision could be made. It would have to be done in such a way as to insure the educational standards our children now benefit from, and perhaps, even enhance our educational system.

Now, along comes a developer with a fat checkbook and the School Board is giving serious thought to this offer. In fact, giving it far more weight than any other offer that I have observed in the past. In a matter of a few short weeks, an appraisal of the Burns Avenue property has been done - meetings have been scheduled in order to accommodate a referendum and we seem to be moving toward a swift conclusion.

What happened to the careful planning and ideals put forth by the Long Range Planning Committee? Perhaps we should not have wasted our time and money on that committee and just put all of our schools on the auction block so that we could sell them to the highest bidders. Oh, I am sure that our administration can come up with an after-the-fact educational plan to accommodate the sale of Burns Avenue. But, is that not the tail wagging the dog? Is Burns truly the best school to close, educationally? From outward indications, it is not the obvious choice to me. It is not the oldest (East St.), the smallest, without a gym (Willet Ave.) or the school in the most hazardous location (Old Country Rd.). In fact, on the positive side, Burns Avenue services an area of our community where there are no other nearby schools to send local children, as would be the case with Dutch, Old Country and Lee and East, located a short distance from each other.

It is not my place or intention to decide which school should or should not be closed - it is a difficult decision, with many facets to be considered. It is for this reason that I take exception to the way this particular offer from Delco Development seems to be influencing this very important decision - it appears to be being made on the basis of money and quick disposal.

I am very well aware of the financial crises that face school districts today; and I am not so naive as to think that money and taxes have nothing to do with education. However, the money that would be received from the sale of Burns Avenue is, at best, a temporary windfall, and does not solve the problems of financing the education of our children in the long run. Unfortunately, the sale of the Burns Avenue School and the destruction of a neighborhood will remain with us forever and we will have contributed to the "paving of Hicksville" and perhaps closed a school that would have served our children well in the future. We will certainly be living down to the ugly terms that have been attributed to our community - "transportation hub, parking lot, shopping mall" - it certainly does not sound like an appealing place to live or raise children.

If it is determined that, educationally, Burns Avenue is the best school to be closed, the property should be used in a way that will benefit the residents of our community (homes, senior citizens, etc.) - not sold to those whose only motive is profit and used by those who want to park their cars, shop or take a train so that they can return to the peace and quiet of their trees and grass in surrounding communities, a safe distance away from the noise and pollution.

Very truly yours,
Nancy Staron

To the Editor:

We are deeply saddened and concerned that the Hicksville School District seems to be moving so quickly to sell the Burns Avenue School Building and the surrounding school property. While it might be necessary to consider re-districting our school population, the offer from Delco Development seems to have precipitated a hasty action on the part of the Hicksville School Board to eliminate Burns Avenue School. This will ultimately result in destroying the residential quality of the surrounding neighborhood and the entire community as well.

Should Hicksville have to contend with a bus depot, multi-level parking garage or night clubs etc? It is time to put a stop to the distraction of our community of Hicksville. Don't sell out our children and our community.

St. Ignatius CYO News

By Nancy Cassano

On Wednesday night at Lee Ave. School, the 1st & 2nd graders ended their season with the Warriors over the Celtics and the Clippers over the Nets.

In the 3rd grade league, the Wildcats beat the Lions and the Tigers beat the Cougars. Billy Murphy of the Wildcats led his team in points by scoring 5 baskets. He was followed closely by Kristin Baricovac, who made 4 baskets. Robert Isley and Anthony Panarelli also scored.

On the Lions team, Danny McGovern scored 10 points. Marty Theis and Patrick Scanlon each scored a basket, but it wasn't enough to overtake the strong offense of the Wildcats. The final score was Wildcats 21, Lions 14.

John Flynn's Tigers beat Frank Puglia's Cougars with a score of 24-12. Joe Basso was the big scorer for the Tigers with 8 points, followed closely by Chris Kearney with 7 points. Jason Korman and Sean Dorney also scored for the Tigers to bring their total points to 24. Andy Fayda and John Flynn helped the team out by playing good defense to keep the Cougars score down to only 12 points. Danny Sydor obtained 8 of the 12 points for the Tigers. Brian Patwell & Steven Loche also scored for the Tigers. In the 5th grade league, it was Andy's Gang over the Bulls. Mike Famigletti led Andy's Gang to its victory by scoring 14 points himself. When all the damage was done, the final score was Andy's Gang 28, the Bulls 22.

At this time a special thank you should be extended to our 8th grade boys who volunteered their Saturday mornings to teach the fundamental skills and good sportsmanship to our 1st & 2nd graders. Many Thanks to: Brian McDermott, Glen McNamee, Jerry McKay, Drew Turano, Joe Artale, Mike Montana, Richard Arthur and Bill MacMelville. Congratulations on making the program a big success!

Kiwanis Speaker On Disabled

In the photo, Ms. Steinberg is being presented with a certificate of appreciation by Kiwanis Program Chairman Dr. Joseph Lupo for her informative presentation and discussion. (Photo by Sieg Widder)

Ms. Lois A. Steiner, the Director of Communications for the Nassau Center for the Developmentally Disabled, Inc. was the guest speaker at the March 4 luncheon meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club.

Ms. Steinberg explained that the Nassau Center is a non-profit organization that provides services for autistic and developmentally disabled children and adults, and that their goal is to help individuals achieve maximum mental, physical and emotional growth.

The Nassau Center was formed in 1958 by parents whose children had a mysterious disorder for which there was no known cause, no cure, and nowhere to turn. They united to form the Nassau Center which began serving six students. It is now the largest agency of its kind in the New York metropolitan area, and now serves more than 350 developmentally disabled clients whose ages range from two to senior citizens over sixty.

The Children's Day Program serves ages 5 to 21. The Adult Day Program serves people over the age 21. All programs are individualized and based upon the clients specific priority needs.

Ms. Steinberg further described some individual achievements and accomplishments on the part of some of the clients of the Center.

For additional information, Ms. Steinberg can be reached at the Center located at 72 South Woods Road, Woodbury, N.Y. 11797 or at 921-7650.

Willet Students Study Archaeology

Since both the fourth and fifth grade curricula in Social Studies involved the study of American Indians, an enrichment workshop on prehistoric Indians of Long Island was held for these classes in the Library/Media Center at Willet Avenue School, Hicksville.

The program has been developed by the Suffolk County Archaeological Association, and consists of:

1. Preview material for the classroom teacher or group leader with vocabulary pertinent to Indian archaeology, charts clarifying the time periods to be studied, and background relative to a study covering Long Island Indians from as long as 9,000 years ago.

2. Slides showing how an archaeologist works, his tools, the care taken to uncover and document each find, illustrations of artifacts found on Long Island and the clues to alert a knowledgeable investigator. They also included information about the way the Indians migrated to Long Island after the Ice Age and described their fellow inhabitants - the mammoth, the giant sloth, and the sabre toothed tiger. Bones of these ancient mammals have been found nearby.

3. Examination of authentically prepared replications including Indian tools for scraping skins and grinding grain, clay pots typical of the early periods, gourds, arrowheads and spear-points.

4. An identification session in which each student was given a chart, and, after examination of a collection of typical debris items, tried his hand at identifying each as an effocfact or an artifact, and speculated as to what it was and what purpose it had served.

The workshop was conducted by Julie Clark, through arrangement with her supervisor, Gaynell Stone, well known for her work at Hoyt Farm.

A similar workshop will be conducted on Saturday, March 21 at the Hicksville Gregory Museum. Interested students between the ages of 8 and 12 can call the Museum for reservations at 822-7505.

Knudsens Return To Hicksville

Sev and Grace Knudsen, of Hicksville, have returned from a three month vacation visiting friends and relatives along the East Coast, including Virginia Beach, Ocean City, Maryland, Moorehead City, North Carolina.

They also had an extended visit with their son, Bill and his wife Sue in Tampa, Florida for the Christmas holidays. While in Florida the Knudsens took a trip to Disney World and Sea World. They even watched a taping of Hollywood Squares at the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood, Florida.

Now they're back and happy to be home again. Even though they missed the snow Sev enjoyed plenty of golf games and loved them all.

Youth Council

'Rent A Kid' Serv.

The Hicksville Youth Council provided employment services to youths aged 14-21 residing in Hicksville. As many young people have discovered, businesses usually hesitate to hire people under age 16. For this reason, we provide 14-16 year olds the opportunity to gain employment experience through our Rent-A-Kid program.

Rent-A-Kid is a program designed to benefit both the young people and the homeowners in our community. If a homeowner needs help and wants to hire a Rent-A-Kid, he or she needs to call us several weeks in advance and describe the job that needs to be performed. The homeowner must also sign a liability waiver to insure the safety of the youth he or she hires. All young people are interviewed one or more times and are required to have a permission slip signed by their parents. A match is made according to how close the Rent-A-Kid and employer live to each other, in addition to the ability of the young person with regard to a specific job. Although the service of matching youths to employers is free, the young people are paid for the work they do. The amount is discussed in advance between the Rent-A-Kid employer and worker. Common Rent-A-Kid job listing include babysitting, housecleaning, snow shoveling, painting, indoor garage/basement clean-up and yardwork.

The vocational program at the Hicksville Youth Council provides young people aged 16-21 with the opportunity to develop and enhance their employability skills. They can learn how to properly fill out applications, succeed on job interviews, and write resumes. They may also be referred to local businesses that list jobs with our agency. The vocational program is provided as a free service to both the young people in Hicksville as well as the businesses who call to inform us of their job openings.

If you have a Rent-A-Kid or a vocational job to list or if you are 14-21 years old and interested in working, call Gigi Goldberg, the employment coordinator, at 822-7594 from 10 am - 9 pm Monday-Thursday and 10 am-6 pm on Friday.

They're Honored For Recall Work

The New York Public Interest Research Group, Inc. (NYPIRG) announced today that Alice Weinstein, of Woodbury, and Marion Weisfelner, of Plainview, were two of the 1987 recipients of the NYPIRG Citizen Awards. NYPIRG, New York State's largest consumer organization, said that Weinstein and Weisfelner were being honored for their work in fighting for the recall of the Audi 5000s, an automobile plagued by numerous cases of sudden acceleration.

"Alice Weinstein and Marion Weisfelner are two of the great unsung heroes for citizens in New York State," said Tom Wathen, NYPIRG's Executive Director, in presenting the awards at the group's annual conference in Albany. "Their work has doubtlessly saved lives and prevented injuries and has shown people everywhere that they can fight back when a giant company negligently endangers their lives."

Weinstein and Weisfelner are founders of the Audi Victims Network, a group of people who have had sudden acceleration accidents with their Audi 5000 cars. The car has the highest accident rate for any auto defect ever investigated and is the subject of a government investigation.

Wathen said that "Weinstein and Weisfelner have been at the forefront of efforts to publicize the dangers with this car and to pressure the company to fix the defect." Weinstein and Weisfelner appeared in a CBS "60 Minutes" program on the Audi 5000 last November and have been quoted in numerous other television, radio and newspaper stories about their campaign against the defect.

"These accidents were happening since 1978, but it wasn't until Weinstein and Weisfelner started organizing victims of this accident last year that people became aware of the problem," said Wathen. Weinstein had two accidents in her car in 1984, with the second resulting in serious injuries to her and her daughter. Weisfelner had an accident in 1986, where her car hit a tree.

Wathen said that the NYPIRG Public Citizen Awards go to individuals each year who volunteer their time to be leaders in causes that defend the rights of citizens. Past recipients have included Harry Chapin, for his work on world hunger, and Lois Gibbs, for her work at Love Canal.

National Consumer Activist Ralph Nader was present for the awards ceremony. The third award went to Dr. Paul Connert of St. Lawrence, New York.

Ed. Board Sets Transport. Meet

The Hicksville Board of Education has scheduled a special meeting for Monday, March 16, to discuss a resolution which will alter the current transportation policy. The policy change will affect students attending ninth grade next year by requiring them to live beyond the two mile limit to be eligible for transportation next year instead of the one and one-half mile limit currently in effect. Since the ninth grade will be located at the high school next year, this policy change will bring the ninth grade in line with other high school students. Action must be taken at the special meeting instead of the regular March 25 meeting in order to meet the legal advertising deadline so that the resolution can appear on the ballot for the May annual budget vote and election.

The Board will not be discussing the potential sale of the Burns avenue property at the meeting and that issue will not come before the voters in May. Only preliminary steps have been taken to date in response to an offer to purchase the site by Delco. The Board has only authorized contracting with two appraisers for an assessment on the Burns property, no further actions or decisions are contemplated at this time. The public will be informed of any further progress on the matter by the Board of Education.

Interested members of the community who wish to discuss the proposed transportation resolution are invited to attend the meeting on March 16 scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the conference room of the Administration Building on Division Avenue. Those interested in addressing the Burns Avenue School issue should attend the March 18 meeting of the District Facilities/Community Affairs Committee, to begin at 8 p.m., or the Finance Committee, scheduled for 9 p.m., or the regular meeting of the Board on March 25, when the Board will discuss the budget.

Hicksville Deli Robbed By Gunman

The WEO Deli at 102 N. Broadway in Hicksville was robbed of $700 at 8:45 p.m. on March 8.

Peter Horadnitsky (63) of Dix Hills was approached by a male black who was armed with a handgun and demanded the day's receipts. The victim complied and the subject escaped on foot in an unknown direction. No injuries were reported.

Hicksville--

Then And Now

Its paneled courtroom was a shambles, the Judge's bench smeared with paint, after vandals and lit-fires threatened the closed former Hicksville Courthouse in 1969. A timely, far-sighted Town Board's 35 year lease to the Trustees of Hicksville Gregory Museum fortunately preserved the structure. Old-time residents knew the 74 year old landmark building on Helts Place as "the Town Hall." It had had a colorful, significant history as a Town Justice of the Peace Court, village meeting hall, polling site and as the place from which Hicksville draftees went to the World Wars. From 1935-1967 it was the Nassau County Fourth District Court. (Photo by Gardner Gregory)

Today's Old Hicksville Courthouse is listed in the Federal Register of Historic Buildings. The safeguarded building is nationally known and thousands of people visit the Earth Science Museum trustees have created at Helts Place. Over 300 local residents and many businesses worked under the visionary leadership of Dr. Gardner and Ann Gregory from 1969 to 1973 to preserve the courthouse and turn it into one of the best mineralogical museums in New York State. ## Dental Hygiene 3rd Grade Subject

Miss Javorowsky's 3rd grade class at Lee Ave. School got a lesson on dental hygiene from Christine Zino and Diana Backer, students from SUNY at Farmingdale.

The children saw a video with Charlie Brown on the correct way to care for their teeth, like proper brushing and flossing. They were taught all about the good foods and bad foods. They were also taught all about plaque, cavities, x-rays, the different teeth and its correct names and what jobs they do. The children asked a lot of questions and got a lot of answers.

Stella Lippert helps with the demonstration on proper flossing.

Exploring At Old C. School

At Old Country Road School, the teaching staff and children are exploring a wide variety of science materials under the direction of their Principal, Dr. McCann. The science program at Old Country is designed to emphasize a hands-on approach to learning. Whenever possible experiences are designed to provide students with opportunities to interact as directly as possible with the natural world. This approach will allow students to practice problem-solving skills, develop positive science attitudes, learn new science content and increase their scientific literacy.

The third graders in Miss Dillon's and Miss Soeger's class are working on a unit of study entitled "Stream Tables: From Rocks to Soil." The unit of study offers insights into the forces of nature and man's attempt to control these forces. In their "science room" the children explore and experiment watching a stream of water, generated from an elevated plain to the "basin" or "ocean" at the lower end of a 4'x8' containment table. The activities in the stream table also include the building of land forms such as deltas, mountains, bays and canyons. Students also have the opportunity to read and carry out systematic investigations and to write out their observations and experiments.

The children at Old Country are excited about their explorations. They enjoy and are motivated to learn. These children are challenged to learn and they respond with enthusiasm and determination.

Softballers Seek Girls 13 To 16

This season registration for HBA Girls Seniors has been very slow. Don't let this program fall apart! Hicksville has something most neighboring towns do not - a Girls Senior Softball League - 1985 New York State Champs; 1986 Long Island (Nassau-Suffolk) champs.

Girls - don't let this scare you. The only qualifications we have are that you want to play and supply your own mitt. You don't have to be good. Just register and plan on having fun. Parents - some other towns can't watch the smile on their girls' faces after making a game winning hit or a game saving catch. Hicksville parents can. Tell your girls to play ball!

Registration fee is $63 for the first child or $75 for two or more. This excludes Late Registration Fee.

Ages (as of July 31, 1987) for leagues, depending upon registration: Instructional - 6, 7 years for boys and girls. Firms - 8, 9 year old boys. Minors - 8, 9, 10 year old girls; 10, 11 year old boys. Majors - 10, 11, 12 year old girls; 11, 12 year old boys. Seniors - 13, 14, 15 year old girls and boys. Traveling Team - 16, 17, 18 year old young men and women.

Statue Of Liberty Performance

Miss Gagliardo's 1st graders at East Street School put on a first class performance honoring The Statue of Liberty. This commemoration took place on October 28, the actual day of the statue's 100th birthday.

The songs with their corresponding movements, saluted not only Miss Liberty, but America - land of freedom and opportunity and also New York City which harbors the place where she stands.

The stage was appropriately decorated with a large figure of Lady Liberty, created by the 1st graders with the help of their art teacher, Mrs. Witte. A long title banner reading "Long Live Miss Liberty" in bright bold red and blue letters draped over the large statue and smaller posters depicting Lady Liberty.

As part of the finale, narrators spoke proudly about Miss Liberty's history, symbolism and great importance to our country and its people. "Long Live Miss Liberty" delighted its audience.

This was one birthday celebration well worth attending.

First graders salute Miss Liberty.

Youngsters at East Street put on a smashing show.

Stop Leaks
Of Toilet Tanks

Toilets are notorious for their hidden leaks. They can waste hundreds of gallons a day undetected. Leaks occur when the toilet is out of adjustment or when parts are worn, so it's important to check it periodically. It's not hard or complicated.

Most toilet leaks are at the overflow pipe or at the plunger ball. If it's at the overflow, the water level is usually too high, although sometimes the overflow pipe gets a leak below the water line. Gently bend the float arm down so the valve shuts off the water about a half inch below the top of the overflow pipe. Sometimes that valve is worn and will run like a leaky faucet and has to be replaced. If you're an experienced do-it-yourselfer you can do the job. Otherwise, call a plumber.

Plunger-ball leaks aren't as easy to spot. The best way to check is to drop a little food coloring into a tankful of clear water and wait 5 to 10 minutes to see if it shows up in the bowl. If it does, you probably have a leak at the plunger ball, either because the ball needs replacing or because the mechanism is out of alignment. This, too, is a relatively simple repair for a do-it-yourselfer. Distributed by Hicksville Water District.

Can We Talk?

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Why do you think that so few eligible voters turn out for the annual school district elections?

This is their idea of benefits

Callers Divided On Whether Iran Spells End Of President

Callers to Input were divided on whether the Iran scandal will halt accomplishments for the Reagan administration in answer to this question: "Do you think the Iran problems will make it impossible for the Reagan administration to accomplish anything in the remaining two years of the term?" Here are some of the answers:

SIT TIGHT FOR REMAINDER

Yes. The Iran scam and the poor way it was handled makes it impossible for the Reagan administration to do much other than to sit tight for the remainder of the term. Congress is in the hands of the Democratic party and the people will not believe Reagan when he comes to them for support as he has in the past. There will be very little that he can accomplish. J.E.

BOOBY TRAP

Unfortunately, as with the Nixon administration, a Presidency that was going well fell into a booby trap and may not be able to do much to get out of it for the remainder of the term. The fact is that we are much better off with Reagan than we were under Carter and there had been some noteworthy advances made in righting the left tilt of the government under the Democrats. It is hard to believe that this one incident is being used to turn off that progress but it is. The press could not stand to let the people decide on the merits of the administration's conservative issues. It blew this one thing out of proportion so that it may well be the only thing that Reagan is remembered for when, in fact, he was doing so much right before that came up. H.R.

POLITICAL CASE

No. I believe the whole thing has been blown out of proportion and the ones who are deploring what has happened are faking. They are building a big political case here but if Reagan were able to run again against someone like Gary Hart, he would beat him easily because the bread and butter issue of employment is what most people vote on and Reagan has a good record presently on that so he will still keep a good following. J.S.

NO SHORTCUT

No. The Democrats think they have a shortcut to turn back to the liberal focus of the past and get through so many of their social schemes. What they do not understand is that simply by discrediting the President they still will not be voted in by people who, for the most part, do not want to go back to those old worn-out social programs that were enunciated by Mondale, Carter and the rest. The Democrats could come back if they would break their stranglehold by the ultra liberals and once again be a party that represented the majority of the people. The working man's party is needed, but the liberal element is always in control. N.R.

IT'S OVER

Yes. It appears that the Reagan administration has ruined everything and that the next President may well be a Democrat. We have now had two Republicans who lied to the people and most voters are going to believe that we should once again change parties and get truth back into the government. For the rest of his term, Reagan will have to live with this mess. K.W.

DEMOCRAT CONTROL

Reagan won't be able to do much in the next two years but it isn't entirely because of the Iran scam. It is because the Democrats control the legislative branch and won't let him do very much. It will be politics right down the line that will be the deciding factor. W.E.

NEW FRAMEWORK

Somehow, the idea that the President is the be-all and end-all of this government of ours has gained a foothold and it's completely wrong. We've got a Congress made up of duly elected Senators and Congressmen and they, together with the President and his cabinet and staff, constitute the entire law-making structure. Mr. Reagan admitted that he and his appointees were out of line in the Iran imbroglio and in an effort to emphasize his intention to start the last two years with a clean slate, he has appointed several fine candidates to fill key jobs who apparently have met with the approval of the members of the Senate and the House and, as far as I can see, even the most vocal critics in the media. He has a few other spots to fill and I fully believe that these too will be carefully staffed with first class officers. I think that Reagan has entered a phase of his Presidency in which his propensity for selecting life-long friends for important posts has reached its zenith and he fully realizes that the accent for the critical work ahead has to be based on the quality of key personnel rather than the old "buddy-buddy" system. I fully believe that Ronald Reagan, as canny and persuasive as he can be, will dedicate himself to compromise to the greatest extent possible without any real sacrifice of his basic principles and I believe that the members of both Houses will also try to be accommodative without forsaking their own high principles. They must be familiar with the fact that their constituents will also be looking critically at any sign of vindictiveness for its own sake. The people are just as sick of Iran-Gate as are their representatives, as well as the Administration, and they want to see accomplishments and not back-biting. I fully believe that Reagan can and will establish a solid framework for significant achievement during the remainder of his Presidency. P.G.S.

PAST ISSUES

WATER ISSUE

Who cares if Cuomo is going to run or not. In the Jamaica Water District, we have more serious problems to worry about. One day there was something in the water and we could all have been killed by drinking it. No one fights for their rights -- the rates are extremely high and, yet, we're afraid to drink the water! Our water isn't safe and nobody cares. Something should be done about it.

Can We Talk?

By Jo Whatley

The need to communicate. How strong it is! We telephone friends and waylay acquaintances on the street to chat and infuse our family's ears with a landslide of frivolous and not-so-frivolous verbalization.

When the verbal channels can't, don't or won't open, there are other methods we have found to be effective enough to get our messages to others. These methods and channels can relay both subtle and not so subtle thoughts and directives.

Bumper sticks have been around for a while conveying assorted messages from the quietly revealing "I am a proud Grandma/Grandpa" to the forceful social statement: "When guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns." Stickers proclaim a vehicle owner's preference for places "I Love New York," people "Koch ain't Much," to things - "I Love My Car, (dog, cat, etc.), and instructions "Don't rattle my cage," "Hit Me, I Need the Money," "When I Stop, Please Stop With Me."

The least popular bumper stickers should be those gummed to our cars while they are parked at Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, Six Flags Over Georgia or anywhere else we seek more common forms of entertainment. Why do we not find them plastered to our bumpers at museums, concert halls or lecture centers. Tacky, huh?

The bumper sticker now has a more condensed form: the car window stick-on. You've noticed by now those yellow diamond-shaped cards equipped with suction cups. These cards stare blatantly at us while we wait for the light to change. Traffic lights seem so much longer when our attention becomes riveted on the inane message "Baby on Board." Perhaps it should read "Baby is Bored." Are the parents just proud and want everyone to know about their offspring? Or is it that they want us to take extra care? We are driving as carefully as possible. We don't want to bump anyone. And what if there is a terrible accident? Emergency help finds the sticker but looks for hours in vain for the baby who supposedly was "on board."

It took a while to figure out "No Radio in Car." This might have meant that the person wants to talk since he hasn't anything to listen to. It also might indicate that the person wants you to know that he is serious while driving and wants no distractions. The true message seems to be "Don't mess up my car by breaking in. There is nothing of value for you to take."

One individual's rear window does catch the eye and is a candidate for "Window With the Most Little Yellow Things Stuck to the Back Window" award. We know much more about the owners of the car than we probably care to including (1) they have a child (yep, "Baby on Board" again), (2) they "Love Tennis" (3) they'd "Rather Be Flying" - even though they "Love Tennis" (4) they "Drink Coke - Don't Snort It" and lastly that (5) someone in the family is a "Party Animal" (even though they "Drink Coke - Don't Snort It.")

T-shirts are a provocative form of non-verbal communication and more personal since we wear them. Messages they convey are close to our hearts so to speak. Every message conceivable is worn across the chests of people of all nations.

If the shirt sports the name of a place, we know that the person has been there, knows someone who has been there - or is there, wants to go there or got the shirt at a real bargain. We can ascertain whether or not a person likes animals and if so, what species. And what cute messages: "If you can read this, you are too close." Images of famous personalities abound on fabric: Superman, Buckwheat, Springsteen, Nixon (Nixon?) Mattingly, Pluto and Tweety Bird. Porches, 4-wheel drives, Big Mack trucks - all roar across shirt fronts. The designs are endless since we can create our own and have them custom printed.

Can we talk? Well, yes - usually. Sometimes. When people will let us. If we aren't embarrassed and tongue-tied. Do we really have something to say? Let's really let loose. Let's walk up to someone and relate to him everything we have tried to reveal through our non-verbal channels. Ten to one someone will haul us away in a vehicle with "Mental Ward" painted on the side and "I'm a Nut" on the bumper sticker.

READER RATINGS

FINE FOOD
The Italian Garden Restaurant at 348 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola isn't the biggest restaurant you have listed, but it may be among the best.

We went there last week and enjoyed the fine pasta, shrimp and veal dishes that this big little restaurant serves. You get the feeling that things are being prepared for you instead of on the big assembly line, the way things are done in the very large restaurants.

The food is fine Neapolitan. The service is prompt, personal and well done. This is a restaurant that should be recommended. R.K.

FINE FISH
Last week we went to an authentic Portuguese Restaurant named Estoril Granada. It is located on Mineola Blvd. in Mineola. The fish dishes there are simply wonderful and so many of them offer sauces that are not found anywhere else.

We had a party of four there on Thursday and all of them said that they want to come back again.

The service and the decor make it a nice place to go. I'm sure that some of your readers would want to try it also. H.W.

VERY PLEASED
We have visited several times the Villa Portofino on Mineola Blvd. in Mineola and have been very, very pleased. We had stuffed veal which was fantastic, the mixed fish dish was great and the service was very concerned, not to mention the owners. After four or five visits we continue to be pleased and want you to really plug this restaurant because it's the best in Italian food! C.D.

IRISH ATMOSPHERE

I think that many of your readers are Irish or of Irish descent as I am but it doesn't really matter. There is a nice cafe in Bethpage called Kenny's Cafe that has just great food and a lot more.

It has good service and entertainment, folk songs and ballads on Friday and Saturday nights. We went there last week and found the food to be very good and the entertainment to be something special. I think that many of your readers would like to go to this fine place and I bring it to your attention. It is located at 729 South Oyster Bay Road, Bethpage. M.O'D.

Q. As a newly hired woman executive with a large store, I will soon be taking male clients to lunch on occasion. What is the best way to handle payment of the check?

A. A credit card would be your best solution. Another possibility would be a charge account with a good local restaurant.

The bills would then be presented to your employer.

AMONG THE BEST

I have never seen anyone call in about Koenig's Restaurant in Floral Park, in spite of the fact that it is one of the best restaurants in Nassau County. Many of your readers may not know that the Pritikin Diet that is on the menu at Koenig's is tasty and a good way to dine out. They steer clear of salt, sugar and oil.

But those who do not want the Pritikin Diet that I am following, can eat the best in continental food at Koenig's as people have been doing for many years. They have outstanding steaks and salads. When we went there last week the other member of our party had a steak dinner, while I can truthfully say I enjoyed the Pritikin menu.

Q. Last week, while eating in an elegant (and quite expensive) French restaurant, I saw a teenager sitting near me combing her long blonde hair at the table. Her parents seemed unconcerned!

A. The young woman's behavior was inexcusable. Arranging one's hair in a public place is always a breach of etiquette.

Her parents should have suggested that their daughter make a quick trip to the ladies room to fix her coiffure.

GOOD WORDS

A very good friend invited me to lunch at the Maine Maid Inn in Jericho last Friday. I really don't know if I can find enough complimentary words to describe my experiences. First of all the Inn is charming and the decor is very relaxing. The waitress was so sweet. On her recommendation we both ordered the Friday special of Lobster Tail Scampi. It was served with rice or linguini and in addition we received a few shrimp on the rice. For dessert, again on the waitress' suggestion I had chocolate walnut pie which was simply magnificent and my friend had cheese cake ammorata. I admit I had to taste it too and will order that next time I visit the Maine Maid. By the way, we were completed with our meal in one hour. Great for all those business people out there and we didn't feel rushed at all. In fact, there was time for more coffee.

Q. I am a busy professional woman who finds it difficult to entertain at home. My working hours as an attorney are long and tiring. I really don't feel like coping with guests on the weekend. Would it be all right to repay my social obligations by inviting people to dine out?

A. Certainly that would be proper. Social obligations do not have to be repaid on a strictly tit-for-tat basis. Your friends would enjoy a delicious dinner in a relaxed restaurant atmosphere more than an at-home meal served by a hostess they sense is harried and exhausted.

Q. Recently I attended a formal tea in a fine restaurant. I noticed that thinly sliced bread with the crusts left on was served with butter and preserves. Later seafood sandwiches with crusts removed were also served. Was this unusual?

A. Actually, no. The idea was to provide people of simple and more complex tastes with a variety of pleasing tea accompaniments.

Q. We are not wine drinkers. If we're giving a party, what kind of wines should we stock in order to take care of our wine-drinking friends' pleasure from cocktail hour through dinner? T.R. A. For the cocktail hour you might have on hand dry or sweet sherry, or dry or sweet vermouth, or any of the popular "aperitifs." Many choose a glass of dry white wine at the cocktail hour (either chilled or "on the rocks").

For the first course, or to drink with any fish, salad, chicken, veal or fruit, a chilled white wine is nice (such as a Chablis, Soave, Riesling, Chenin Blanc, Pinot Chardonnay).

For the meat or game course (or the salad with cheese), serve a Burgundy, Bordeaux, Chianti, Cabernet Sauvignon or Zinfandel at a cool room temperature (from 60 to 70 degrees).

Rose wines should be chilled, like white wines. A rose is best served with a light dish and is more popular in hot weather than in cold.

For dessert you may serve the same wine you had from the previous course. Or if it's something festive like an anniversary, dessert time is the moment to bring on the champagne (the drier the better!)

Some people enjoy a sweet wine with dessert, such as port or a sweet sauterne or sherry, but one seldom sees this custom followed anymore in this country.

Q. A friend of mine insists that wine glasses are held differently if they contain white or red wine. Can this possibly be true?

A. Your friend is correct! Chilled white wine is always grasped by the stem of the glass so the wine will not be warmed by the heat of the hand. Red wine, on the other hand, is drunk with the hand grasping the bowl.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q: My daughter's condo is located on a very busy thoroughfare. The living room faces the street, creating a noise problem from the heavy traffic flow. The windows are draped (medium-weight fabric and lined), plus mini blinds. The volume on the TV must be turned up quite high to be heard. The windows are on the west and south side of the living room. Is there any solution to this noise problem? — D.G.

A: Unfortunately, nothing you do will completely block out street noises. The most effective method of subduing the sound level is to construct a barrier between the street and the building.

Most effective would be a concrete block wall that is at least 6 feet high. If the condominium is a two-story building, the barrier would have to be that much higher to help protect the second floor level. Such a wall can deflect nearly 60 percent of the street sounds. A wooden fence can reduce noise only by about 5 percent. In your situation, this may be completely beyond consideration, unless the problem is severe enough for the home owners association to consider the financing and construction of such a barrier. Heavy-lined draperies, thick padded carpeting, upholstered furniture and acoustical ceiling tile can all help absorb noise, but won't correct the problem. Some added things you can do for windows facing the street are to install wood-framed casement windows that are double-glazed and compression-sealed.

Another treatment is double-glass windows with storm sashes installed tightly with felt strips at the edges, and felt weatherstripping for all windows combined with the heavy drapes.

Uninsulated frame walls can be made more resistant to noise with high density insulation, such as vermiculite blown in. This is both expensive and difficult to do with an existing wall.

Q: Ten years ago a new asphalt shingle roof was installed over the original existing shingle roof. The roof is exposed to a lot of sun and our summers are hot and humid.

It seems that the roof needs to be replaced again and I am considering the Alcoa aluminum shake shingles.

Will the two layers of asphalt shingles have to be torn off? How about the noise from heavy rain or hail on the aluminum shingles? Is a special layer of insulation required? Will it really keep my house cooler in summer and warmer in winter? — L.B.P.

A: Installing a new roof over the current roofing is probably inadvisable. Although re-roofing over a single layer of shingles is common practice, that's about as far as you should go. Another layer could increase the weight of the roof so much that it would sag or collapse.

Your selection of an aluminum shingle will provide you with a roofing that is extremely resistant to the ravages of weather. It will not rust and will remain moisture-tight for long while. The cost is much higher than a number of other roofing selections, but when the cost is amortized over the life of the material, it may be much lower. In addition, maintenance is not a great problem. Aluminum has the further advantage of reflecting hot rays of the sun, thus promoting coolness in the house during the summer.

Proper insulation when you install the new roofing will keep the house warmer in the winter and should protect you from undesirable sounds. I recommend that you contact a qualified roofing contractor who can inspect your roof and provide you with cost estimate and recommendations for the proper installation of the aluminum shingles.

It would be advisable for you to get more than one opinion and price quote. Be sure that any agreement you reach with a contractor is in writing. You may also want to check references with previous customers.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I read your column regularly and I know you encourage teens to use seat belts when they are riding in an automobile. If my brother had followed your advice he might have been killed.

Tommy was riding in the front seat unseated when his car was struck by a pickup. Tommy and the driver were thrown clear of their car and both suffered only minor cuts and scrapes.

The police officer on the scene said that they would have been seriously injured or possibly killed if they had buckled up. What do you think about that? — Mike.

Mike: Your brother was indeed fortunate. He beat the odds.

According to the University of California, you are 25 times more likely to be fatally injured if ejected than if you stay inside and are buckled up. When ejected, you crash through the windshield, window or open door. And probably smash headfirst into the pavement, a rail or oncoming traffic. Meanwhile, the passenger compartment usually remains intact, however much the exterior is damaged.

Even if there's a fire or submersion (which accounts for fewer than 1 in 200 injury-producing accidents), you are better off wearing a belt. If you are not restrained, you will probably be knocked unconscious. But if you are wearing a seat belt, you are more likely to remain conscious enough to extricate yourself.

Don't be fooled into thinking it's safer not to buckle up! Fasten your seat belt when you ride in an automobile, even if the trip is short.

Dr. Wallace: I am 13 and have an older sister 15 and a brother 16. My parents have been having severe marital problems for the past three years. My brother and sister side with my father but I side with my mother.

We talk privately and Mom confesses that things would be much better for her if she divorced my dad, but somehow she just can't seem to do it. I keep telling her to "go for it" but she hasn't done it yet.

What can I do to get her to divorce my father? He is not a bad man but he "bad-mouths" my mom a lot and he is constantly trying to win me over to his side, but he is just wasting his time. I love my mother too much. — Terri.

Terry: Parents are very unwise when they pressure children to "take sides" in marital disputes. As you can see in your case, it's them against us.

If a divorce is necessary, let it be Mom's decision without encouragement from you. Your role should be to encourage both Mom and Dad to try to save the family and make the marriage successful. Talk with your brother and sister and encourage them to do everything possible to get your parents to openly discuss their differences.

Divorce should be the last option.

Dr. Wallace: I want to warn teenagers (especially girls) about hitchhiking. I am 18 and used to hitchhike everywhere because I had no means of transportation. About six months ago my friend and I were picked up by "this very nice-looking man."

Instead of taking us to the beach, he drove to an isolated spot and tried to attack us sexually. We finally escaped but we wound up being punched and kicked. I honestly thought this guy was going to kill us. If he had had a gun he probably would have.

I'm writing to beg teens not to hitchhike ever, regardless of the circumstances. It just takes one bad experience to ruin a life. — Marge.

Marge: You are very right. Also, never pick up hitchhikers if you are driving.

Agreed, most people are fine, but as you said, "It just takes one bad experience..."

Dr. Wallace: I am 15 and the guy I'm seeing is 22. Our problem is my parents. They refuse to allow me to see him because of our age difference.

I feel they are being super-conservative. After all, my mother was 21 and my dad was 31. And that's a 10-year difference. Our difference is only seven years.

I'm tired of sneaking behind my parents' backs to see Ed. What can I do to get them to realize that seven is three less than 10? — Peggy.

Peggy: Age difference loses much of its negative force when both parties are 18 and over and out of high school.

Do yourself a big favor and tell Ed goodbye until you graduate from high school.

of an eye examination, when the patient has a symptom or complaint which necessitated the visit; treatment for eye disease and for those who have had cataract surgery, glasses or contact lenses. Medicare still does not cover other prescription glasses or contact lenses nor the payment for eye examinations to determine any lens prescription.

Eye care is one of the few health care areas that offers Americans a choice in the type of practitioner. According to the American Optometric Association, about 60 percent of Americans choose optometrists for their

Q: This is the first winter we have lived in our home that was purchased last summer from the previous owner. The home is approximately 8 years old.

We have discovered cold drafts of air coming in and around the electrical outlets. This is creating a drafty, uncomfortable environment. How is the cold air getting into the electrical outlet?

I have considered caulking around the outlet box but first I would like your recommendations. — S.G.

A: The air gets into the structural primary eye care, with 40 percent opting for the ophthalmologists.

What is the difference between an optometrist and an ophthalmologist?

— Optometrists are primary care providers who examine the eyes and vision system; diagnose eye disease and vision problems; provide treatment in the form of prescription glasses, contact lenses, vision therapy and low-vision aids. Optometrists hold the doctor of optometry degree, earned through a minimum of six to eight years of college and professional-level education.

Forty-eight states and the District of Columbia have laws permitting optometrists to use drugs for diagnostic purposes during the course of an eye examination. Twelve states authorize doctors of optometry to utilize drugs to treat eye disease and similar legislation is pending in several other states.

— Ophthalmologists are physicians who specialize in the eye. They pursue additional study after medical school and perform eye surgery, treat eye disease and sometimes prescribe lenses.

Optometrists refer their patients to ophthalmologists when their diagnosis determines need for a medical or surgical solution. Some new concepts, according to Ferris, are being used to team optometrists for primary eye care with ophthalmologists — for the advanced, medical and surgical needs — in the same eye health centers.

The new Medicare provision, which was part of the 1986 budget reconciliation bill, was written by Sen. (then Rep.) Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., and it received bipartisan support for its successful passage.

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes
 Cooking Time: 8 to 11 minutes
 Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

In large mixing bowl combine rice, chicken, celery, 1 cup of cheese and chilies; toss.

In separate bowl blend together sour cream, mayonnaise, salt, garlic powder and pepper. Add to chicken mixture and stir well to blend. Turn into buttered 2-quart glass casserole. Microwave, uncovered, 7 to 10 minutes, rotating dish 1/4 turn after 4 minutes.

Sprinkle cheese evenly over top, then sprinkle with crumbled corn chips. Microwave 1 minute longer, or until cheese is melted.
 Serves 4 to 6.

CHICKEN MAURICE

- 1/2 cup Burgundy wine
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 chicken bouillon cube or 1 teaspoon chicken bouillon granules
- 1/2 teaspoon dried crumbled thyme leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/4 teaspoon each salt and pepper
- 1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 8 small new potatoes, quartered
- 1 cup pearl onions, peeled
- 1 cup thinly sliced carrots
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1 (3-pound) chicken, cut into serving pieces
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 1/4 tablespoons cornstarch

Preparation Time: 10 minutes
 Cooking Time: 37 to 40 minutes
 Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

In 3-quart glass casserole combine wine, water, bouillon, thyme, marjoram, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Add mushrooms, potatoes, onions, carrots and celery and microwave, covered, 5 minutes.

Arrange chicken pieces over vegetables, bone side up, with thickest portions toward outside of dish. Cover loosely with wax paper and microwave 15 minutes.

Turn chicken pieces over and rearrange, spooning some of vegetable mixture over each piece. Recover with wax paper and microwave 13 to 16 minutes longer, or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken and vegetables to serving platter.

In small bowl combine the 2 tablespoons water with cornstarch, then stir in small amount of hot pan juices. Blend cornstarch mixture into remaining pan juices. Microwave about 4 minutes, stirring after 2 minutes, until mixture boils and thickens. Pour over chicken and vegetables.

Kippers — smoked herring — are usually fried in butter or boiled in water in a frying pan. When cooked in this manner, they are often eaten for breakfast. The following recipe comes from Snaffles, a Dublin restaurant.

MARINATED KIPPERS

4 large kippers on the bone
4 tablespoons olive oil
Juice of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon parsley — finely chopped

Skin and remove filets from raw kippers. Lay on serving dish. Pour over olive oil and lemon juice. Leave to marinate at least 1 hour. Sprinkle with parsley and serve with toast triangles.

POACHED SALMON

1 small salmon (about 6 pounds) or a piece of salmon
1 ounce butter
1 onion
2 to 3 sprigs of parsley
1 bay leaf
Salt and pepper

Clean and wash salmon. Put other ingredients in fish kettle with enough water (or water and milk) to cover fish. Boil 2 minutes, then simmer, allowing 5 minutes per pound plus 5 minutes. Drain and place on large dish or bed of Colcannon (recipe follows). Strain liquid in which salmon was poached, and make a rich white sauce with it, to be served with the fish. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

COLCANNON

8 new potatoes
6 green onions
½ pint of milk
1 small cabbage
1 ounce butter
Parsley
Salt and pepper

Peel, boil and mash potatoes. Finely chop green onions, add potatoes, pour on boiling milk and beat until fluffy. Cook cabbage, chop finely and pour on melted butter. Add to potatoes with chopped parsley, salt and pepper and beat well, keeping hot over a low heat. Melted butter may be added to individual servings, if desired.

Makes 8 generous servings.

Note: Kale can be substituted for cabbage in season and leeks for green onions. Leftovers may be fried in bacon fat until crisp and brown on both sides.

CORNERED BEEF (OR BACON) AND CABBAGE

4 pounds of corned beef (or back bacon)
1 large carrot
2 whole onions
Cloves
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ teaspoons dried thyme
¼ bunch of parsley
1 large cabbage
Salt and pepper

Put corned beef (or back bacon) in a large saucepan. Add carrot, sliced; whole onions, one stuck with a few cloves; mustard and herbs. Bring to boil and skim, then cover and simmer 45 minutes. Add cabbage, cleaned and cut in quarters. Cook 2 hours. Season with salt and pepper. Serve meat surrounded by cabbage. The saved stock may be used as a soup base, and is very good with dried peas, split, yellow or green.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

IRISH STEW

3 pounds of lean lamb chops (or mutton)
2 pounds potatoes
1 pound of onions
½ pound lean bacon
Sprig of parsley
Sprig of thyme
¾ pint of water
Salt and pepper

Cut chops into large chunks, but trim away surplus fat and gristle. Bones may be left in. Peel potatoes. Thinly slice one-third, leaving the rest whole unless they are large, then they may be cut to a more convenient size. Place sliced potatoes in pan, then a layer of sliced onion, then meat and bacon. Add remaining onions with chopped parsley and thyme.

Finish off top with whole potatoes. Add water and season to taste. Cover tightly and place in 325 F oven 2 to 2½ hours. If preferred, stew may be cooked in Dutch oven or covered saucepan on top of stove. Simmer gently, and check to see it does not become too dry.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

RABBIT RABBLE

1 large rabbit, cut up
English mustard
¼ pound fat bacon, cubed
½ pint sour cream
Salt

Spread rabbit pieces with lots of mustard. Fry small cubes bacon and put in casserole. Fry cut-up rabbit. Place in casserole and cook in 400 F oven 40 minutes until tender. Transfer rabbit to a heated platter. Add sour cream to casserole and heat without boiling, scraping the juices that adhere to the pan. Season and serve with steamed potatoes.

Makes 4 servings.

IRISH WHISKEY CAKE

½ glass Irish whiskey
½ glass sherry
½ pint of milk
6 squares of either sponge cake or pound cake
½ pint whipped cream
Almonds
½ cup jam (fruit of choice)
2 eggs

Slice squares of sponge cake and sandwich together with jam. Put in glass bowl and moisten with whiskey and sherry. (More than given quantities may be used according to taste.) Cover over all with custard made from eggs, milk and sugar, but cool custard before pouring. Decorate with whipped cream and almonds.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHICKEN GRATINEE WITH MUSHROOM MARINARA SAUCE

2 ounces butter (¼ stick)
4 ounces fresh mushrooms, sliced
½ cup marinara sauce
¼ cup dry red wine

1 tablespoon minced fresh parsley
4 chicken breast halves, boned and skinned, fat removed
2 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons bread crumbs, (freshly made, if possible)

Total preparation/cooking time: 20 minutes

In heavy skillet, melt butter over medium heat. Stir in mushrooms and saute briefly. Stir in marinara sauce, wine and parsley, reduce heat to low and simmer, covered, for a few minutes while chicken is cooking.

In small bowl, combine Parmesan and bread crumbs and reserve.

Preheat broiler. Meanwhile, pound chicken breasts, between sheets of waxed paper, to a thickness of about ¼ inch.

On baking sheet, broil chicken 4 inches from source of heat for 4 minutes, or until white throughout, but not overdone. Sprinkle cheese/bread crumb mixture over chicken and return to broiler for 45 seconds, or just long enough that cheese starts to bubble and bread crumbs are lightly browned.

Remove chicken breasts to platter, top with sauce and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

HERBED CHICKEN BREASTS

4 chicken breast halves, boned and skinned
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
3 ounces (¾ stick) butter
¼ cup fresh parsley
½ teaspoon dried thyme
¼ teaspoon dill weed
¼ teaspoon dried marjoram
1½ teaspoons dried tarragon
¼ teaspoon dried rosemary
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup fresh bread crumbs

Total preparation/cooking time: 30 minutes

Pound chicken breasts between two sheets of waxed paper until uniform ¼-inch thick. Place chicken breasts, inside facing up, on sheet of waxed paper.

Blend together mustard and 6 tablespoons of butter. Spread mixture evenly over chicken breasts.

In bowl, combine herbs and sprinkle mixture evenly over butter/mustard mixture on chicken breasts. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Roll chicken breasts and secure with toothpicks. Dip in beaten eggs and then in bread crumbs, to coat.

In large skillet, heat remaining butter over medium-high heat. Saute chicken breasts briefly until golden brown on all sides. Remove to ovenproof dish and bake 20 minutes at 375 F.

Serves 4.

SAUTEED CHICKEN BREASTS WITH ARTICHOKE HEARTS

4 half chicken breasts, boned and skinned
1 (6-ounce) jar marinated artichoke hearts
2 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded and finely chopped
8 ounces mushrooms, thinly sliced
6 scallions, cut in ¼-inch slices

Zest of ½ lemon, grated
3 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons olive oil
Flour for dredging
Salt and pepper to taste
4 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
¼ cup dry white wine

Total preparation/cooking time: 25 minutes

With back of heavy wooden spoon or wooden mallet, pound chicken breasts between two sheets of waxed paper until about ¼ inch thick and uniform.

Remove artichoke hearts from jar and slice them. Leave enough of marinade from jar to dampen artichoke hearts. Set slices aside in medium bowl, prepare tomatoes, mushrooms, scallions and lemon zest, and mix these in with artichoke hearts.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter and 3 tablespoons oil over medium-high heat. While butter and oil heat, dredge chicken breasts in flour, shaking off any excess. Saute chicken until golden brown and slightly crisp on both sides, being sure breasts are cooked through. When chicken is done, remove to platter and keep warm.

With spatula, remove any brown or burned particles from frying pan. Reduce heat slightly, add remaining olive oil, then add reserved vegetable mix. Cook, stirring, until vegetables begin to soften. Mushrooms should just begin to brown and give off some moisture.

Add lemon juice and wine. Stir until mixture is heated through. Spoon vegetables and sauce over chicken and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

Charming treatment subs for canopied bed

By Sharon Owen Haven

ENCHANTING — A room to delight any young girl, this creation by Raintree Designs highlights a simple bed hanging that is as enchanting as a full canopy.

Q: We have moved into a new home and are redecorating my daughter's room. She has her heart set on a canopied bed and we simply cannot afford to buy one.

A: Is there some way we can make a canopy over her existing bed? — J.W.

A: I am certain that what appeals to your daughter is a look and a mood that can be captured in many ways. There certainly is no need to go out and buy a new bed.

Ideas for bed hangings that imitate a canopy are many but difficult to communicate without visual aids.

A simple solution is to install four rings in the ceiling over the bed, one above each corner. Take a piece of fabric slightly larger than the top of the bed and sew a gathered length of fabric the height of the ceiling to each corner. Clip these corners into each ring. This will create a free-falling canopy over the bed with fabric hanging down at each corner of the bed.

Pictured is an even easier solution — a length of fabric draped over an antique towel bar. You can create a drape by attaching the fabric to the bedpost or the wall. Make your own "towel bar" out of a closet rod and finial.

You might also consider a complementary window treatment such as the Empress Eugenia style draperies shown in the room. It is the abundance of fabric that creates the soft, lush effect that appeals to many young girls, so use it in pillows and table skirts, too.

You will undoubtedly get a more personal and unique result by designing your own bed hangings, and it could be a delightful project to undertake with your daughter's participation.

Q: We've decided to redo our living room — new carpets, drapes, furniture the works!

A: My first task is to decide on a color scheme, which has me thoroughly intimidated. Since we are making such a major investment, I don't want to make a mistake.

A: My favorite colors are green, blue and yellow. Do you have any suggestions? — P.K.

A: There are several fail-safe approaches to color. One is to use a scheme of related hues. Green and blue, for example are cool colors that you could use together, just don't use too many colors and make sure that one is dominant. Once you've created a harmonious scheme with blue and green, you could add some pizzazz with a small accent of yellow.

Another foolproof scheme is the neutral or no-color approach. By making the major background neutral you can add interest with texture and pattern. You could also experiment with using your favorite colors as accents (pillows, carpet and accessories) without making any irrevocable major purchases.

White and one bright color is also a fail-safe scheme. You might team up a bright blue or green with white for a bold, dynamic setting, just beware of diluting the effect with too many colors in your accessories.

You can't go wrong if you start conservatively with color and experiment as your confidence grows.

BENCHWARMER'S SPORTS TRIVIA

Q: Scotland's Jackie Stewart, a well-known sportscaster, previously was a race car driver. How many Grand Prix victories did he win?

A: Stewart rugged 27 Grand Prix victories between 1965 and 1973, a world record.

Q: Roger Clemens' fastball helped him strike out how many Seattle Mariners in Boston, April 29, 1986?

A: The Red Sox pitcher fanned 20 batters in one game. That's a baseball record only to stand a while.

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

Southpaw specialists would like this cup

By James G. McCollam

Q: What can you tell me about this left-handed mustache cup? There are no identifying marks on the bottom.

I would like to know when it was made and its current value.

A: Left-handed mustache cups are worth almost twice as much as the right-handed versions. Yours was made about 1900 and would sell for about $35 to $45.

There are collectors who specialize in left-handed cups exclusively.

Q: I have inherited several hand-painted plates that are just marked "Bavaria." Can you tell me who made these, when and how much they are worth?

A: There was a lot of decorative porcelain made by various manufacturers in Bavaria (a province of Germany) during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. If they are not marked by the maker, it is virtually impossible to determine their exact origin.

Here are some prices as seen at a recent antique show:

- Plate, 6 1/2 inch, female portrait — $70.
- Plate, 8 1/2 inch, apple, pear and grapes — $15.
- Plate, 9 inch, blackberries and blossoms — $45.

- Plate, 13 inch, yellow and red roses — $55.
- Plate, 8 1/2 inch, female portrait — $100.
- Plate, 9 inch, female portrait — $75.

Q: I have a white plate with a blue windmill that is marked "Made in Holland." It is 9 inches in diameter and the attached mark is on the bottom. Can you tell me what this is worth?

A: The mark you sketched was used by De Porseleyne Fles in Delft, Holland, since 1655. There have been many different companies using that name over the years.

Since your plate is marked "Made in Holland" it was made after 1901 when it was required by law. It would be considered "souvenir" Delft and would sell for about $35 to $45.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q: We have a small apartment with not much room for a pet.

Both my husband and I are gone during the day. Would a parakeet be a good pet for us? If so, is it better to get a male or female?

A: Although parakeets generally make excellent pets for apartment dwellers, there are several things that you should consider before purchasing one.

Parakeets are sociable beings. They enjoy being around other birds or people. If you want your bird to be friendly and sociable, you should not leave it alone for long periods every day. Days spent alone can be very dreary for your bird.

One way to help a parakeet overcome loneliness is to provide toys for it. There is some controversy regarding whether a parakeet ought to have a mirror in its cage. Many parakeets view their reflections as surrogate companions. There probably is very little harm in this and a mirror may keep an otherwise bored bird happy.

Another way to provide companionship for your bird while you are away from home is to simply buy another bird. If you do not want to raise parakeets, you can house two males or two females together. After a short while they learn to live together quite happily. If you do decide to house a female and male together you should have some idea of what you are going to do with the offspring.

Before buying a parakeet, you should consider the average lifespan of your chosen pet. Parakeets often live from 10 to 18 years. Therefore you should be prepared to take care of your bird for many years. It is really quite cruel to form a bond with a pet such as a parakeet and then decide that you can no longer care for it.

Parakeets need a well-balanced and varied diet to stay healthy. Pet food companies market balanced birdseed mixtures. These are often enriched with vitamins and minerals. Before purchasing a parakeet you should be willing to make a long-term commitment to always provide your bird with only the best-balanced birdseed mixtures.

Parakeets need plenty of things to keep them busy and frequent opportunities to fly free. Therefore it is important to remove objects from the room that may endanger the parakeet whenever it is flying free.

If you travel, arrangements must be made for someone else to care for the bird. Although there are exceptions, parakeets and other family pets do not often live together well. A well-behaved dog will usually accept a parakeet as a family member. Cats and birds do not usually co-exist peacefully. Other small furred animals and birds do not usually live together well, either.

Many people buy parakeets to imitate the human voice and learn words. This ability varies a great deal among birds. Not all parakeets have the aptitude to learn to speak. Unfortunately, it is difficult to predict which birds are going to be able to imitate their owner's speech.

Parakeets can make excellent pets and can provide their owners with many years of enjoyment and companionship. However, before buying a parakeet, you should decide if having a bird that does not talk or imitate your speech is acceptable. If you are not willing to accept this possibility you should not purchase a parakeet.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Next Tuesday is St. Patrick's Day. He is the patron saint of Ireland, as your probably know.

It is not certain where Patrick was born. Some people say he was British and others believe he was French.

At the age of 16 Patrick was kidnapped and brought to Ireland as a slave. After a time he was able to escape when he was told in a dream where to find a boat.

Many years later he returned to Ireland. Since he knew the language and customs of that land, he was able to do what many others had failed to do: to persuade the Irish people to give up their pagan ways. Before Patrick's death Ireland became a civilized nation.

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly
