Arbor Day At Willet Ave.

Willet Avenue School, Hicksville, has a number of nice traditions. Among them is the Annual Arbor Day Program. Each year, with appropriate ceremony, a living tree or shrub is planted in honor of some person who has contributed either to the welfare of the school or to society, or who was very dear to the school family, and is now deceased.

This year, a young Rhododendron Bush was planted in memory of a third grade student, Keith Moscoso, who was killed in a traffic accident last summer.

As part of the ceremony, all of the students who are members of service organizations come in uniform. After parading the colors and the Pledge of Allegiance, there are suitable musical renditions and poetry readings. This year, his classmates also told of their happy memories of Keith.

Hospital Honors Tara Watkins

Tara Watkins of Hicksville was recently honored at the Junior Volunteer Awards Ceremony at Winthrop-University Hospital in Mineola for her service to the hospital and the community it serves.

Miss Watkins was presented with a 100 hour award by Elaine Kohart, president of the Auxiliary. The Junior Volunteer program at the hospital is sponsored by the hospital Auxiliary.

Office Building Going Up On Broadway

April 28 marked an important day for Ivan Cipott, owner of the vacant property on the northwest corner of West Marie Street and Broadway, Hicksville. After almost three years, he has finally been able to break ground for an office building that has been planned since the property was purchased in 1984. The delay was caused by restrictions imposed by the Town of Oyster Bay G-1 zoning.

Mrs. Krogmann and Ivan Cipott look over excavations for proposed office building.

Bethpage Road Speed Limit Reduced

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Howard T. Hogan announced that the Town Board has approved a reduction of the speed limit on Bethpage Road, between Broadway and Woodbury Road in Hicksville.

According to Hogan, "the Town Board considered a proposal at the April 28 public hearing, and has approved reducing the speed limit from 40 miles per hour to 35 miles per hour.

"The Town's Highway Division has been instructed to begin to post the reduced speed limit signs and anticipates completing the task within a few weeks," the Councilman concluded.

Each child assembled a favorite whale at the Gregory Museum workshop.

Mrs. Halperin plays the autoharp as her students sing along.

With a capacity registration of twenty three youngsters, ages 5-8, all eager to learn about whales, the Hicksville Gregory Museum was a lively place on a recent Saturday.

Instructor Carolyn Halperin is a Resource Room teacher for Hicksville Schools, and serves on the Museum's Board of Advisors. The study of Whales has long been one of her special interests, and she has lectured on this topic at Hofstra, and in a number of Long Island School Districts, as well as teaching a recent in-service course at the Museum. On this busy occasion she was assisted by teachers Joanne Crown and Rosemary Barrow, and volunteers Joe Williams from the Junior High, and Nancy Sinclair.

The children saw films about whales in which they learned to identify different types of whales and their habits. They joined in singing some original songs by Mrs. Halperin, and as a craft project each assembled the proper parts to make a specific variety of whale.

Mrs. Halperin's next workshop will be for 8-12 year olds on June 13. Call 822-7505 for reservations. Members $5. Non-Members, $8.

LaFontaine Is Stroh's Islander Player Of The Year

Islander fans throughout North America have cast their ballots, and they've selected Pat LaFontaine as Stroh's Islander Player of the Year for the 1986-87 season.

More than 3,000 ballots were submitted by Islander fans throughout the season, and a late-season surge by LaFontaine pushed the center over the top. He nipped teammates Bryan Trotter, Mike Bossy, Kelly Hrudey and Mikko Makela in the voting, and emerged with the coveted Player of the Year Trophy.

Bob Romeo, the Northeast Region's Director of Sales for Stroh's Beer made the player of the year presentation to LaFontaine during on-ice ceremonies at the Islanders-Quebec Nordiques game on April 2.

Romeo said, "It's an honor for me to make this presentation to a player of LaFontaine's caliber. Not only is he a fine hockey player, he's also a fine gentleman."

The crowd responded with a loud ovation as Romeo presented LaFontaine the Stroh's Player of the Year Trophy and a check for $1,000. LaFontaine graciously decided to split that money among his three favorite charities: The Leukemia Society, Arthritis Foundation and the Little People's Fund are the beneficiaries of Stroh's and LaFontaine's generosity.

LaFontaine said, "This is a great honor for me, especially when you consider it was voted on by the fans. I'd like to thank the fans who participated in the voting, and my teammates who made this award possible."

The 22-year-old center took particular pride in this award because his parents and family were on hand at the Nassau Coliseum to witness the presentation. His parents, John and Jay, and his sister Renee were visiting from Detroit. And LaFontaine's finance, Marybeth Hoey, and his future father-in-law were among a large contingent who toasted his selection during a post-game party which was sponsored by Stroh's.

However, they weren't the only people celebrating. You see, as part of the Player of the Year program, all fans who submitted ballots, became eligible to win a luxury cruise with members of the Islanders aboard the Queen Elizabeth II.

LaFontaine dipped into a box that contained all of the submitted ballots and announced that Jeanine Anglim of East Meadow would join his teammates on the luxury cruise. Cunard Cruise Line will make sure that Anglim and a guest will be aboard the QEII when it sails from New York Harbor on June 26 on a nine-day Caribbean excursion.

This evening was a fitting conclusion to a banner regular season for LaFontaine, the former United States Olympian. He led the Islanders with 38 goals scored, and finished third in the entire National Hockey League with 19 power play goals this season. He was one of only four Islanders to play in all 80 regular season games this year, and finished with the highest shooting percentage on the club. In just his third full NHL season, he emerged as one of the league's best, and truly deserves the title of Stroh's Islander Player of the Year for the 1986-87 season. ADV.

Troop 683 Spruces The Museum

Robert Risoli with the pruning pole saw and his son, Bobbie, on the hand saw in the tree fork, volunteered to trim the trees around the historic Old Hicksville Courthouse, recently.

Young fellows from Boy Scout Troop 683, Hicksville, were on hand to offer spring clean-up service at the Hicksville Gregory Museum, recently. The brick building behind them is the Old Hicksville Jail or Lock-up, erected in 1915.

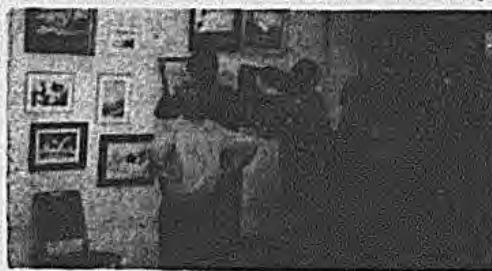

Many hands do make light work, especially if they are the hands of Hicksville Boy Scout Troop 683. Members of the troop turned out, recently, to do some "spring clean-up" work at the Gregory Museum's home, the historic Old Hicksville Court-house.

The Scouts are under the leadership of David Kean, who has been honored this year as "Scoutmaster of the Year" by the Nassau Rough Riders District of the Boy Scouts of America. The young volunteer workers were guided, also, in their service, by Mr. John Kean, Museum

Trustee, Assistant Scoutmaster Michael Speranza and Richard Evers, Museum Historian.

An added important service to the Gregory Museum was provided by Robert Risoli, Sr. of Bay Avenue and his son, Robert, who pruned the trees lining the Courthouse mall at Heitz Place. Risoli, a professional arborist, is a Museum volunteer worker. His alertness from his nearby residence, two years ago, sounded an early alarm when the Museum suffered an electrical fire and, it is likely, saved Hicksville's historic landmark building.

Senior Art At Hicksville Library

May is Senior Citizen month and to celebrate this the Hicksville Public Library invited Elizabeth Horning's, Town of Oyster Bay painting workshops to exhibit their art at the library.

A quote from Elizabeth Horning about this exhibit: "The artists in this show are a group of talented, motivated people of various backgrounds who happen to be over 60 years old. Many of them never painted before retirement.

Everyone is welcome to join senior painting workshops, where they will receive instruction in drawing skills and painting. Individual expression is encouraged in a spirit of friendly helpfulness."

Don't miss this exhibit, viewing will be until May 18.

On Saturday, April 25, the Scouts from Fork Lane Troop 3001 together with Troops from several schools in Hicksville, spent an action packed day at the Statue of Liberty.

We all arrived early (7:45) at the Hicksville train station. There were 100 of us. After some delays in the subway due to work on the tracks we arrived at the Ferry. Could our eyes be deceiving us? There were five thousand people already on line. We waited for sometime and then, we were there! Miss Liberty looked beautiful. For some of the girls and their families this was the first time they had traveled on public transportation and a ferry. Because of the crowds of people we did not have time to go into the Statue, but we did tour the museum and island. Everyone enjoyed that very much.

Everyone arrived home a little tired but filled with happy memories of their adventure in the City.

Fork Lane Computer News

It's been a busy time at the Floppy Disc-O Room at Fork Lane. Besides having a computer lab, we've started our computer math and language arts competitions. Each class competed against themselves. The first week of the competition each team competed and the second week the two top teams played against each other for first place, the next two top teams played against each other for second place and the last two top teams played against each other for third place.

Pat Collins' fourth grade class started our competitions. Their choice for the math competition was Number Munchers. They used the multiplication option on this disk.

Following are the Number Munchers winners in Miss Collins' class: 1st place: Joseph Ching, Jennifer Murray, Annemarie Fulfarro - 12,470 points; 2nd place: Kathy Tomolonis, Priti Tewari, Ricky Gonzalez - 10,900 points; 3rd place: Kimberly Spiegel, David Nelson, Scott Schuhert - 10,705 points.

Woodland Avenue Jump-A-Thon

Woodland Ave. School held their 4th annual Jump-Rope-A-Thon on March 4, and is proud to announce that they have raised $3,961.45 for the American Heart Association.

The Jump-Rope-A-Thon, coordinated by the school's physical education instructor, Mrs. Elizabeth Way-Stouges, consisted of 12 teams of approximately 6 students each. Each team member secured pledges from friends, neighbors and relatives prior to the Jump-A-Thon. On the day of the event, each team had a member jumping consistently for three hours. Students passed the rope to another team member when he or she became tired.

Teachers and the school's principal, Dr. Manus Clancy, volunteered their time to monitor the event and PTA parents coordinated a team of adult jumpers and also supplied and distributed juice to the thirsty jumpers. It was an afternoon of togetherness and excitement for a very worthwhile cause.

The winning team, whose members included sixth graders Jolene Apostolidis, Diane Buffolino, Filiz Dalplaz, Renee Fabrizio, Dawn Hooseck and Patti Woods raised $609.90 toward the total. The top winners for the school were Renee Fabrizio ($160) David Pagano ($145.30) and Jolene Apostolidis ($132.90). Congratulations!

All the students who participated deserve a tremendous thank you. They not only jumped for 3 hours but they also took hours to secure their pledges and then collected from their sponsors after the event. They did a wonderful job.

A very special thank you is extended to Mrs. Way-Stouges who devoted many hours of her time to organize teams, collect permission slips, supervise the event, collect and tally the donations. It is a tremendous undertaking and yet Mrs. Way-Stouges has organized the event for 4 consecutive years. Thank you for helping to raise such a large contribution toward research in heart disease and for instilling in our children not only an idea of what can be accomplished with their time and effort, but also a feeling of unity and pride.

Channel 21

Articles Stolen

The Eighth Squad is asking for public assistance in their endeavor to locate the persons or person responsible for thefts of auction articles from Channel 21 during the period from April 9 through April 22.

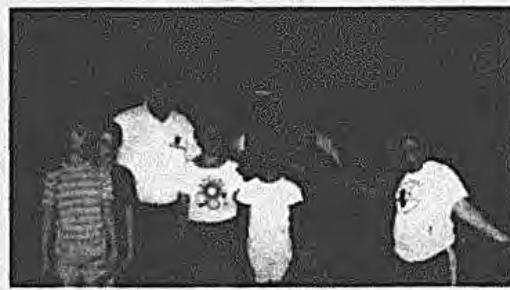

Channel 21, located at 1425 Old Country Road, Plainview, is missing an autographed Dallas TV script; an autographed Michael Landon script; an actual New York Knicks autographed basketball, plus various other trivia items, which had been donated for Channel 21's auction fund drives, which actually support the station.

The aforementioned items had been taken from an unlocked closet in the auction office. The building housing Channel 21 also has other tenants located therein.

Anyone who has any information as to the location of any of the items, or the taking of same, is asked to call the Eighth Squad, at 535-6800.

St. Ignatius CYO News

by Nancy Cassano

Baseball started this past Saturday after having to be postponed 2 weeks because of rain. The only thunder that roared last Saturday was from the bats when met with the pitch of a ball on the baseball field.

The news in the 7th grade league was the traveling team who swept a double header from St. Raymonds of Lynbrook. The winning pitcher of game 1 was Chris Murphy, who pitched a 15-0 shutout. The winning pitcher of game 2 was Andrew Gaynor. Dennis Cantalupo and Pete Morace had 3 hits apiece while Robert Genovese and Chris Koetter were the fielding stars of the game.

The 5th grade traveling team opened their season on May 2, with a 8-2 victory over St. Christopher of Baldwin at Cantiague Park. Billy Harvey pitched a masterful 3 hitter and struck out 16. Dennis Kelly contributed 2 clutch hits and Ralph Accardo stole 3 bases. On May 3, they traveled to Newbridge Park in Bellmore to meet St. Barnebus. Mark Micalizzi pitched a strong 5 hitter and struck out 9 in a 16-4 win. Christian Parsons hit 2 key doubles and scored 3 times. Scott Galdo also scored 3 runs and played a flawless 2nd base.

In our 4th & 5th grade intramural program, the first game between the Orioles and the Yankees played to a 4-4 tie in an 8 inning game. After the last 4 full innings, the pitching staff of the Orioles led by Brian Anstey, Jim Walker and Charles Dougherty left the Yankees scoreless. A great double play was made by Glen Turano and Brendan Amabile.

It was the Blue Jays over the Angels 4-2. The score was tied until the 5th inning when Paul Gomez walked to 1st base and was able to score on a single by Mike Jerome. In the 6th inning, Tony Cassano hit a triple and scored when Jimmy Famiglietti hit a single. Kevin Sullivan and Brian Cohen pitched an excellent game for the win.

A Bicycle Safety Program was presented at Fork Lane School on Wednesday, April 29, to celebrate Bicycle Safety Week.

Officer Anderson of the Traffic Safety Unit of the Nassau County Police Department presented a program which consisted of a lecture and film on bicycle laws and safety, a question and answer period and an inspection of bicycles for children in grades four through six.

Mr. Malorino's sixth grade class assisted in preparing the students for this program by writing notices to parents, making signs for the classroom, distributing and collecting permission slips, circulating bicycle safety information and helping Officer Anderson conduct the actual bicycle inspection.

The program was very successful in making the students aware of the importance of keeping their bicycles in excellent condition and in reminding them that their bicycles are vehicles on the road, much the same as automobiles. Therefore, when riding their bicycles, they must observe traffic rules and regulations in order to be a safe rider.

This program did much to alert children and parents to the importance of bicycle safety.

Mini Olympics At Nursery School

Children of the Trinity Lutheran Nursery School learn the ropes during the Mini Olympics.

The parents of Trinity Lutheran Nursery School students were entertained and impressed by the talents their children exhibited during the recent Mini Olympics.

The children performed on the trampoline and cargo nets and showed their skills with hula hoops, tumbling and on the balance beam.

Trinity Lutheran Church, 40 W. Nicholai Street, Hicksville, has an excellent Nursery School Program. If you would like further information, please feel free to call the school office (931-2211).

G. Scouts Visit Statue Of Liberty

By Marcia Gunnigle

On April 16, five of the older Girl Scouts from Troop 3001 arrived at Central General Hospital. The girls brought with them bunny rabbit Easter baskets filled with goodies to share with children in the Pediatrics Ward. The Scouts worked hard for several weeks making the bunny rabbits from milk cartons, cotton balls and pipe cleaners. The Brownies from our sister Scouts at Fork Lane Troop 3186 made little chicks to go in the baskets.

Imagine our surprise when we arrived at the Pediatrics Ward and were told that only one child was in the hospital. We were so grateful for that but what should we do with the baskets? We decided to share them with the many senior citizens who were there. The seniors were thrilled with the baskets, warm smiles and loving embraces the girls brought to them.

In the 75th year of Girl Scouting, Fork Lane Troop 3001 is proud to be part of this wonderful outreach.

Problems Of Finding Summer Employment

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Candidates are already declaring intentions to seek the Presidency in 1988. Is campaigning too long for the Presidency?

...Just think, he could grow up to become president...
But we'd have to announce his candidacy soon.

Watering Lawn Restrictions Approved By Input Callers

Most callers to Input believe that there should be some restrictions in watering lawns if there is a need to conserve water in answer to this question: "Should there be restrictions on watering lawns this summer to conserve water?" Here are some of the answers:

GOOD IDEA

Yes. It is possible to save some water by restricting the use of water on lawns. But, I believe that as water rates go up anyway, there will be less people who will want to water lawns than usual. The restrictions on watering lawns only represents a drop in the bucket in trying to solve the water problems of Long Island. But if it helps, I would stop watering the lawn.

H.R.

CONTAMINATION

Water is only wasted if it becomes contaminated. The worst thing that we do is not watering our lawns but to use insecticides on the grass which seep down and permanently ruin far more water than is consumed. We need more control over chemicals on lawns than we do on the use of water even if we are running short of water.

K.E.

ODD, EVEN DAYS

If the available water starts being reduced in any measurable quantity, there should definitely be water restrictions and odd-even days of watering for homeowners should be enough to keep the lawns from dying. The real restrictions should be on the office complexes, businesses, golf courses, and homeowners with underground sprinklers because they use far more water than the average household. I realize golf courses have to have grass but some way should be found to recycle water through a treatment plant as they do in many parts of Florida. For those large users of water who do not follow restrictions, the fines should be very, very stiff with possible jail sentences for repeat offenders (I'm including homeowners with underground sprinklers). As a matter of fact, it might be best to ban underground sprinklers altogether.

BE TACTFUL

In my opinion, placing restrictions for watering lawns should be very tactful. Some people do not know when to stop using water and setting limits for this would be a good idea. Although the weather forecasters aren't always correct when predicting rain or sunshine, timing is also important. It is hoped that each one of us will save water in other possible ways to help prevent any serious shortage. Water is something precious that we can't live without.

C.P.

START NOW

We should restrict watering lawns as soon as possible. Good water is in short supply now and, like in energy conservation, we must avoid wasting our unique water resource. We are so lucky on Long Island to have an adequate supply and we should not contaminate it or waste it. We should have an ordinance banning underground plastic irrigation systems. Fescue and Kentucky Blue Grass lawns will turn brown but will not be killed in drought periods according to Co-op Extension based on Cornell University research. We should also have an ordinance to ban irrigation on parks, town or village properties without the necessary permits. Conservation of water must be our top priority. In the place of a lawn, homeowners might consider well-maintained wildflower sod or other ground covers or planned landscape design. We have banned homeowners from burning leaves—maybe we should ban homeowners from washing cars on their property too in order to save water. A commercial car wash uses less water per car.

R.&G.B.

STRICT CONSERVATION

A short while back, the New York Times reported that the level of underground aquifers on which we on Long Island depend for our water supply are being drawn down faster than nature can replace them. We have come to accept the supply from this one and only major source as something which will go on forever. Not so! In Garden City alone, we pumped 1940 million gallons in 1986 and when one looks at the demand charts for that period, the situation becomes quite vivid. In that year, from April through September, Garden City water consumption rose dramatically far exceeding its base load. With the increase in new housing construction as well as multi-unit business establishments, it appears to be quite obvious that the demands in 1987, particularly in excess of the base load and beyond, are going to be more than can be handled and still maintain not only a level of volume adequacy but the purity of such supplies. Needless to say, conservation measures must be taken and New York State made a start in that direction when it set caps for Garden City of a one-year pumpage limit of 1836 million gallons which, as will be noted, is considerably less than the actual volume of water pumped during 1986. It is quite evident that strict conservation measures must be taken and the one-year moratorium on new building construction set recently by the Village will help to retain some semblance of the status quo. However, this cannot constitute a stop-gap so other measures must be taken to retain the purity and adequacy of our aquifers. In order to insure that the public does take conservation measures seriously, consumer rates will be based upon levels of use. And, while this will establish mandatory limits on many specific uses of water over the entire demand spectrum, obviously one of the most important will be restrictions on lawn watering in this Village where we are so proud of the greensward around our homes. However, within the reasonable limitations already spoken about by our authorities, I see no choice—we have got to conserve water in caring for our lawns and by observing common sense measures—I feel we can make a substantial contribution to alleviate the overall problem.

Problems Of Finding Summer Employment

By Dr. Robert Ricken

In all of our recorded history high school and college students competed fiercely for summer jobs. The college student whose school year ended a week or two later than other institutions was usually at a serious disadvantage when seeking employment. Status summer positions such as lifeguards were often secured a year in advance of the season. Government officials, including the President of the United States, would plead with local businesses to offer summer employment for the youth of our communities. Here it is, prior to the summer of 1987, and the only one pleading in the job market, are employers who cannot get applicants to staff their available positions.

Employers are suddenly being forced to advertise and be creative in order to find applicants for openings in their firms. The Mineola Chamber of Commerce funds a large advertisement in its local newspaper which lists local employment opportunities. These are not simply minimum wage positions. Some include training and offer careers in real estate, insurance and as travel agents.

The Town of North Hempstead recently has begun a job-matching program by sponsoring a mobile team made up of employees of the Town's Youth Services Division. They have an estimated 200 vacancies in their Job Bank and are sending their vans to parks and summer schools in order to encourage young people to work. In addition, the Job Bank has a walk-in location at Town Hall in Manhasset. Anyone from age 16-21 who is unemployed in Supervisor Kierman's Town has not made a sincere attempt to get a job.

Job Link is another service which has recently gone on-line to help employers advertise their openings. Anyone wishing to employ a person need only call the "Job Link" hot line and the position will be advertised, free-of-charge, in the libraries of Nassau County. The service is a timely unique brain child of the Task Force for Youth Employment which included representation from Long Island's major companies, community based organizations, schools and members of the Nassau County Youth Services Division. This collaborative effort has resulted in the publication of multi-page job listings each week in most libraries. Although many positions are for minimum wage there are salaries of up to $300 per week.

What are the explanations for the sudden job glut? It would be easy to oversimplify this response but after talking with some of Long Island's human resource coordinators, officials of school districts and perhaps most important of all the social workers who administer our community based organizations, the reasons are varied and complex. This list below includes causes which are factual and others which are the suppositions of these knowledgeable people.

1. If most of the schools in Nassau County have experienced a 30 to 40 percent decrease in their enrollments, so too has the 16-21 year old labor force.

2. Long Island's economy has been quite strong, especially since the end of the energy crises, and thus employment opportunities have stayed the same or increased while the pool of applicants has diminished.

3. Obviously the overwhelming number of available jobs are for minimum wage and many of today's youth seemingly want either more money or higher status positions.

4. In minority communities, where employment is still as high as 20 to 40 percent, transportation to the work place is extremely difficult. The planners who created Job Link are now directing their attention to a campaign to address the problem of educating young people about public transportation and encouraging industry to supplement County routes.

5. There is also a less documented feeling on the part of many employers that young people are simply not motivated to work. Middle class parents offer such a high degree of financial support to their children that they have damaged their work ethics. These young people, with money in their pockets and the use of the family car, are not going to work at the local fast food chain. Their unemployment is justified by their parents because .....they had such a tough year at school.
.....they are taking one class to lighten their load for the following semester.
.....they're going to have to work for the rest of their lives.
and.....this may be their last summer at home.

6. Many young people do not have the interview skills to secure a job. This too is not a phenomena of minority youth alone. Writing a resume, learning how to dress for an interview and role playing the interview itself are educational needs that must continue to be addressed.

Long Island employers are only beginning to come to terms with the cultural shock that they must be aggressive in securing applicants for their open positions. It seems that the future holds great competition between employers for our available labor pool. Everyone acknowledged the fact that competition was a reality in securing highly skilled employees. Today employers may have even more trouble hiring workers to perform menial and low skilled tasks. The people who staff the company's personnel offices may ultimately determine how well the business will be able to compete. We are in the midst of a revolution and the conscientious worker will be wooed and pursued.

Employers would do well to direct the personnel in their "think tanks" to develop perks for prospective employees. We are in the midst of a revolution in our regional job market.

Q. After finishing a meal at a good restaurant I had an experience that could have been avoided by the restaurant. When I offered a particular credit card the waiter said that they did not honor that card and did I have another. I did not have another and barely had enough money to pay in cash. Shouldn't the restaurant have told us in advance which credit cards they accept?

A. Not exactly. You should have inquired in advance if you did not see a decal of the card you had on display. They really have no way of knowing what card you have and it is an accommodation to you that the cards are accepted so you should have borne the responsibility.

ATTRACTIVE RESTAURANT

A great restaurant is Surfside on Hillside Avenue in New Hyde Park. You will enjoy the restful decor and attractive surroundings. Whether you order steak or seafood, you will find it well prepared and attractively served. I find it refreshing to dine leisurely, in a quiet setting. There is also ample parking and—it is so convenient. How nice to have such a good restaurant practically in our backyard! I think you will concur that this is a place you will want to share with your friends. E.E.

Q. I have heard it said that white wine is best with chicken. However, one of the best restaurants I know frequently serves chicken in a sauce made with red wine. I would appreciate your comment.

A. You are quite correct! The French, who may well be the best cooks in the world, prepare their famous coq au vin dish with red burgundy wine.

Incidentally, when chicken is served this way, it is preferable to order red wine rather than white to accompany the entree.

Q. Is it allowed for a restaurant to include a tip, automatically, on the bill for food ordered? A friend and I had that happen recently, and resented it because the service was very poor and we felt a tip was not in order. Please answer.

A. No. In this country the custom is not to add any tip to the bill and unless the menu stating the prices clearly says that this will be done it is not correct. Most people would not be happy with that system in the U.S. because diners have always had a flexible tip system in which they could give a better tip for better service and if this is not kept then the tip is just a fee.

Q. There is a great catering place in my neighborhood which features wonderful food at moderate prices. However, diners are always served "family style." Meat and vegetables are placed in large platters which guests pass around just as if they were eating at home.

There is one problem with this type of service, though. I notice that some people take more than their fair share or perhaps take all white meat when turkey is served. What can be done about this?

A. There is really nothing that you can do under the circumstances. Family style dining is a nice idea, but it doesn't work unless all the guests are considerate.

Why not ask the manager to provide conventional service in which food is placed on plates in the kitchen, for your next affair?

"OLD RELIABLE"

We call Mahoney's in Williston Park our "old reliable" because it never fails to provide us with a good meal. Last Sunday we went there in the evening. The place was filled but we still got a good seat. Mahoney's has a salad bar equipped with shrimp, soup and mussels along with the usual items that are found at salad bars. Some members of our party had veal and some had scrod but everyone said that they enjoyed the good food at this newly refurbished old landmark on Hillside Avenue. And, if you want something a little bit better, try their Irish coffee. G.K.

Q. I have noticed that Chinese restaurants do not provide knives when serving meals. Can you tell me the reason for this practice?

A. In the orient food is cut into small pieces before it is cooked.

This has the advantage of reducing cooking time and also minimizing any loss of nutrients. In China it is considered bad manners to cut food at the table.

Q. Recently while dining in a Portuguese restaurant, my friend and I were served a sweet white wine with our dessert. Would you have any idea what the name of this wine would be? It was delicious.

A. You may have been served one of Portugal's sweet white ports. They come from the area of Oporto and I agree with you that they are very good and surprisingly little known by Americans.

Q: We recently purchased an older home. We contracted with a plumber to install some new copper pipe and update the plumbing system which connects with a new well we had drilled approximately 150 feet from the house.

Our problem is that the new plumbing system is extremely noisy. Anytime the well pump is running, the noise is transferred through the house. Also, if the water is turned on anywhere along the line, this too can be heard anywhere in the house.

Unfortunately, we have received no satisfaction from the plumber who installed the system. Can you offer any suggestions on how to remedy this irritating noise? — G.A.

A: Noisy plumbing is more than just a nuisance. That is because noise is caused by some defect or unusually hard wear on parts of the system. There are generally three types of noise. They are water hammer, whistling and chattering.

Water hammer is the thump you hear when faucets are turned off abruptly, which is corrected with an air chamber, a short length of pipe, or in special cases, a shock absorber installed at the appropriate place.

Chattering is usually caused by loose pipe, worn faucet washers or other loose parts.

Whistling is due to the speed of water flowing through pipe that is too small, and is most common at bends and tees in the pipe. This can usually be corrected with a pressure-reducing valve.

I do not know whether I have hit on the possible cause of your trouble, and without an inspection, it is impossible to say. But these are possible remedies for plumbing noises.

And I also would advise that you get the opinion of another plumber, one who is an expert, who may be able to accurately diagnose your problem after a personal inspection. You will want to take corrective action in order to protect the plumbing system from any major damage.

Q: We recently enclosed our breezeway and I am ready to put carpeting and draperies in the new room. Because it has a concrete floor, we think it should have some kind of insulation put down before padding and carpeting are installed.

Can you suggest some way to handle this problem? We have air conditioning and baseboard heating. — W.W.M.

A: After the concrete has been cleaned thoroughly and is completely dry, apply a good masonry sealer to help protect against moisture.

For carpet laid on an on-grade cement floor you will need a special type of padding. Bonded urethane foam would be best. It is durable, firmer than most, and resists mold and mildew. This padding can be used in damp areas (porous concrete tends to transfer moisture) and is excellent for medium to heavy traffic areas.

In choosing carpeting, you might consider one of the newer commercial grades that come in an array of attractive styles and colors and offer the maximum in durability and stain resistance.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Your mental attitude just might be the key to how you suffer from, cope with or even stop arthritis in your own body.

Stress or a traumatic experience might be a catalyst or determinant as to whether you will be affected by arthritis.

Your genes might also affect significantly how and when you will be affected by arthritis.

These announcements were based on new research by medical specialists discussed at a special "Women and Arthritis" forum recently presented by Pfizer Laboratories in New York City. Participating were a medical specialist and a one-time medical patient whose mental attitude is credited significantly in her own cure.

The medical specialist is Fred Kantrowitz, M.D., an associate in medicine at Beth Israel Hospital, clinical associate in rheumatology/immunology at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston and assistant clinical professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School. Kantrowitz also maintains a private practice, including serving as team doctor for the basketball team of Providence College in Boston.

The celebrity is Jane Withers one of this nation's most beloved child film stars and star, too, as Josephine the Plumber in the longest-running series of commercials in television history. Now 61, she had been told that she might never be able to get out of bed or walk again, because of rheumatoid arthritis, at age 27.

"It took five nurses to turn me over in bed," she says, the arthritis had struck while she was going through conflict with her then-husband and then the stress of a divorce. "I realized that I would have children to raise on my own," she stated in an interview. "I told myself that I had to get better. It was my attitude. I created the image and then held onto the mental image of myself walking out of that hospital, running, jumping and dancing as I had done before. This positive attitude along with regular visits to my physician and following his advice, was the perfect combination to move on with my life."

Withers, following her recovery in less than nine months, raised five children, became very active in charitable causes, toured with her own shows, starred in very successful television commercials and in other productions, and toured the nation with a presentation of dolls she has collected.

Has there been any return of the arthritis?

"Yes," she replied, "following the tragic death of my second husband in an airplane crash, the death of one of my sons from cancer and the death of my mother after a long illness. But, in each, I went to work on my mental attitude and the arthritic effects, the inflammation of the joints again disappeared. Of course, I went immediately to my doctor for his assistance, and then the two of us went to work to stop that arthritis."

The "mind stuff" or "mental attitude" is just now being researched by medical specialists, and with it the study of stress as a possible contributor or catalyst of arthritis, according to Kantrowitz.

"There has been an increase in juvenile arthritis and it affects more the children of broken or single parent families. There is an increase in arthritis in women age 20 to 40, which appears to relate to the increase in divorces and the return of more married women to the workforce. We expect 700,000 women in the United States to contract arthritis this year."

Perhaps, according to the new research, stress will be, at least in part, a cause of that arthritis.

Women in later years contract arthritis in increased numbers, additionally. Could it be triggered by "first and second trauma?" we asked — the first trauma being retirement and the second, the death of a spouse. "Yes, it is very possible," states Kantrowitz.

The new research identifies both the increase in arthritis in women — afflicting more women than men over the age of 45 for osteoarthritis, and three to four times the women as men for rheumatoid arthritis — but in the light of expanded thinking as to how and why of the disease. "We don't know yet what really causes arthritis. But stress appears to play a role based on our new research."

As a physician Kantrowitz now examines his own patients for the range of possible causes — including stress and trauma to mental attitude — in addition to identifying the correct treatment.

The key to correcting or even defeating the disease, according to both Kantrowitz and Withers is to see your doctor at the first possible inkling that you might have even a touch of arthritis.

"We have medication available to us today, such as Pfizer's Felodene (Fenoxycam), which as an anti-inflammatory non-steroidal drug, is taken only once each day, allowing an even more positive mental attitude."

The pill, taken only once in 24 hours, allows the afflicted person to spend the rest of the time concentrating on positive living for today and tomorrow, rather than looking at the clock for the time to take the next pill for the arthritis.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I was totally amazed to read in your columns that you told an 18-year-old girl to disobey her parents. Who do you think you are, God? Are you not aware that children must obey their parents? It's in the Bible. Read it once in awhile. — Connie

Connie: You're writing about the girl who was 18 and had graduated from high school and wanted to work as a nurse's aid in a hospital. Her parents said no because they heard that doctors were notorious for abusing (sexually) young hospital employees.

I advised the girl to take the job and move out of her parents' house. Her grandmother wanted her to take the job and move in with her. I agreed.

Most parents use their God-given abilities to be wise and prudent when guiding the lives of their offspring. A few don't. This girl's parents are among the "few."

Dr. Wallace: Now that cocaine is in vogue and is addictive and dangerous, I'm sure a lot of teens would like to see a much milder drug legalized. We conducted a survey in our history class and 75 percent voted to legalize pot. We agreed that if marijuana was legalized, the tax received by the government would help society by hiring more agents to track down cocaine smugglers. Do you agree? — Marcia Marcia: It sounds a bit logical but not too practical. Besides, all teens do not agree with the teens in your history class. In a survey conducted a year ago, 5,292 teens from the United States and Canada responded to the question, "Should marijuana be legalized?" Sixty-five percent said no!

Dr. Wallace: My brother graduated from high school a few weeks ago and he received a lot of nice gifts from his friends and family. My parents told him to write thank-you notes to all of the gift-givers, but he argued that sending "thank-you" notes was "out of style" and was a "feminine act." I disagree and so do my parents. I think my brother is rude and crude. Don't you? — Angie Angie: A thank-you note is indeed appropriate when receiving a graduation gift and should be sent within two weeks of receiving the gift. And they should be sent regardless of the sex of the recipient. Let's say your brother is thoughtless rather than rude and crude.

Dr. Wallace: I feel compelled to write this letter so I can help other teens. A few weeks ago a dear friend of mine called and told me that her boyfriend was killed when he wrecked his motorcycle. You see, this boy was not wearing a safety helmet. And his head was severely injured in the accident.

We all miss him dearly, but we can't help but think that he would be with us today if only he would have worn a helmet.

So for all your teens who ride motorcycles without a helmet, please put one on when you are riding. Please do not let Brian's death be in vain. — Sharon Sharon: Many thanks for thinking of your fellow teens in a time of tragedy.

Dr. Wallace: My boyfriend and I broke up recently after going steady for two years. We were "in love" but were too serious for our age (both 16). We talked about getting married and raising a family. All that kind of thinking has ended since our mutual breakup.

Personally, I'd like to get on with my life and act like a normal teenager and date others. But, honestly, I feel guilty because my "ex" doesn't date and says that he won't. I feel bad about the situation but somehow I think that it is best for both of us. — Dorothy Dorothy: I agree. The days and weeks after a "breakup" are the most bothersome and depressing. The best way to overcome the blues is to get involved in all sorts of activities, and this includes dating others. Hopefully, if your ex sees you getting involved he'll do the same.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 4 feet 10 inches tall and I'm 15 years old. I'm tired of being teased. I know I'm short and I don't need people to keep reminding me. My dad is 5 feet 5 and my mom is 5 feet 1. Is there any way I can increase my height? Will I ever be as tall as my father? — Patty

Patty: Teens normally grow until they are 17 or 18 and can continue to grow until their early 20s. Heredity is the major contributor when it comes to build, which includes height, so it appears you will never reach 5 feet 11. But 5 feet 5 is a possibility.

Contact your family physician and explain your situation to the doctor. There are certain "remedies" that might help a little. But do not expect miracles.

Jamaican cuisine

By Charles Britton

Here's the latest culinary forecast: A tropical heat wave is heading our way.

It's the spicy cuisine of the Caribbean islands, especially Jamaica, the latest candidate for the next trend in dining.

Jamaican restaurants reportedly have become big hits in New York City, and, as the song goes, if they can make it there, they can make it anywhere. In the trend-obsessed business of dining, some observers put their ears to the ground and think they hear a reggae beat.

Well, I'm supposed to be one of these observers, so, you may ask, what about it? Is Jamaican food going to come in strong? I'll tell you — I don't know.

JAMAICAN CURRIED CHICKEN

1 chicken, cut up
1 clove garlic
Several grinds of fresh pepper
2 teaspoons curry powder, preferably Madras
1 teaspoon ground allspice
2 or 3 slices of fresh ginger, the size of a quarter
1 cup coconut milk (recipe follows)
1 or 2 potatoes, peeled and cut up

In large skillet moistened with cooking oil, lightly saute garlic and spices for 2 or 3 minutes, stirring. This is an essential step in any curry recipe; otherwise, the curry has a harsh taste.

Add chicken pieces and turn to coat them with fried spices. Add coconut milk and potatoes. Simmer gently, uncovered, for about 30 minutes, or until chicken and potatoes are well done. If you cover pan, coconut milk will curdle. Serve with plain rice and such condiments as sweet chutney.

Coconut Milk

We're likely to run into a little confusion of terminology here. In Jamaica, the fluid inside the whole coconut is called the water. It is not used in cooking. The milk is derived from the meat of the coconut, preferably freshly grated.

You also may use packaged unsweetened coconut, available in health food stores. Or frozen coconut milk is sometimes to be found in markets catering to an Oriental clientele.

To open a coconut: Preheat an oven 350 F. Using an ice pick or some other sturdy tool, pierce two of the eyes at the end of the coconut and drain out the water. Discard the water or drink it as a beverage, as you prefer. Do not bake an undrained coconut as it might explode.

Place the drained coconut in the oven for about 10 minutes until the shell cracks. Remove and allow to cool enough to handle. Wrap the coconut in a towel and tap a few times with a hammer to finish opening the shell. You will find that the meat has separated from the shell. Using a potato peeler, remove the dark skin. Cut the meat into chunks.

To make the milk, place the coconut chunks (or 2 cups of unsweetened grated coconut) in a food processor or blender. Cover with hot water and blend until a slushy puree is formed. Allow to stand 10 minutes.

Drain in a fine sieve, pressing down on the coconut pulp to extract all the fluid. Discard the pulp. The remaining white liquid is the coconut milk.

For thick coconut milk, allow the milk to stand and remove the heavy creamy layer that rises to the top.

Escovitch fish is an English corruption of the Spanish escabeche, meaning something pickled. Donaldson explained that this dish became popular in Jamaica as a way of keeping fish for a day or so in a hot climate. It makes an excellent summer buffet item. Use the smaller amount of vinegar the first time you try this. The Jamaicans like it tart and spicy.

ES-COVITCH FISH

1/4 to 1/2 cup white vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 or 2 bell peppers, cored and sliced
1 medium onion, peeled and sliced
1 or 2 carrots, peeled and sliced
4 or 5 whole allspice
1/2 teaspoon whole peppercorns
Red pepper flakes to taste
1 pound fresh fish fillets, such as red snapper
Oil for frying

Bring vinegar and water to a simmer. Add vegetables and spices and simmer for a few minutes. Vegetables should retain a little crunch.

Meanwhile, saute fish fillets in hot oil until lightly brown.

Place in single layer in shallow dish. Pour hot vinegar-vegetable marinade over them. If there is not enough liquid barely to cover fish, make some more hot vinegar-water mixture according to proportions you have selected. Serve at room temperature.

To make an intriguing Jamaican dish she developed, Donaldson began by boning chicken. You can do this, if you wish, but the dish does not depend on this step. Directions for boning poultry are found in many cookbooks. Donaldson stuffed her chickens with hard-boiled eggs — largely, she said, for appearance.

You can leave out the stuffing, but don't omit the allspice. It's what gives the dish its characteristic island taste.

ENID DONALDSON'S JAMAICAN CHICKEN

1 chicken (3 pounds), boned or not as you prefer
1 teaspoon ground allspice
Salt, pepper
3 or 4 hard-boiled eggs, shelled

Sprinkle chicken well with allspice, salt and pepper, rubbing it into flesh. Allow to stand for about half an hour.

If using boned chicken, roll meat skin side out, with optional eggs in center. Tie into neat roll.

Roast at 350 F until juices run clear, about 1 hour.

Donaldson served her chicken as a cold dish. A chicken roll served this way should be weighted down to assure that it slices neatly. Balance a plate and some canned goods atop the roll as it cools.

The need to preserve fish in a hot climate leads to a liking for salt cod. Sometimes salt cod from Canada is cheaper in Jamaican markets, Donaldson said, than the local catch.

COD FISH FRITTERS

1 pound salt cod
2 cups flour
1 red onion
2 tomatoes, peeled and seeded
1 clove garlic
2 stalks green onions
1/2 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Soak cod for about 8 hours in several changes of water. Length of time will depend on saltiness of cod. Fully soaked cod should not taste salty. Keep cod refrigerated during and after soaking.

Mince onions, garlic, green onions and tomatoes. Shred fish, discarding any skin and bones.

Place in bowl with seasonings and add most of flour. Add enough cold water to make thin batter. Stir until smooth.

Heat about half-inch of cooking oil in skillet. When oil is hot, take up about a tablespoon of batter and drop into oil, spreading it into thin pancake. Fry until golden brown and crisp on both sides. Drain on paper towels, and keep warm. These are usually served as a snack.

Here's a recipe for the experimental cook: boiled bananas. Donaldson said that the islanders often serve boiled green bananas instead of potatoes. She referred to the ordinary fruit, not the similar plantain (which is allowed to ripen, peeled, sliced and sauteed).

For this recipe you need bananas as green as you can get them, with very little yellow showing or, better, none at all. The bananas are peeled and the flesh is cut up and boiled in salted water to cover until tender, about 20 minutes.

Coconut cream is a dessert that features another Caribbean spice, nutmeg.

COCONUT CREAM

1 pint thick coconut milk
1 can (1 cup) condensed milk (or substitute cream)
1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/4 teaspoon salt
Whole nutmeg

Sprinkle gelatin over 1/4 cup of coconut milk (see instructions for making coconut milk in Jamaican Curried Chicken recipe) in cup measure. Allow to soften. Turn into saucepan with 1/2 cup more of milk. Heat very gently to dissolve gelatin. Add remaining ingredients and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Do not bring near boil.

Strain into individual serving dishes. Top generously with freshly grated nutmeg. Cool and refrigerate until set.

Jamaican rum is a favorite ingredient for a cooling iced punch, and Donaldson quoted this island formula:

DONALDSON'S RHYMING PUNCH

1 of sour
2 of sweet
3 of strong
4 of weak

The proportions can be based on jiggers for small servings or cupsful, to make enough for a party.

The sour would be the plentiful limes of the Caribbean, although lemon juice also will do.

For sweet — sugar. The strong would be rum, light or dark according to taste. And the weak can be water.

Add a generous sprinkling of nutmeg and a dash of bitters. Mix well and serve over ice. A wedge of pineapple or other fruit can be used to garnish the punch.

The Jamaicans have a saying, "No problem!" that they apply to almost every situation. You will find these Jamaican dishes "no problem!"

Versatile omelets

By Melanie Barnard
and Brooke Dojny

Omelets are the ultimate in fast food. Classic French-style omelets of two or three eggs are cooked in about 30 seconds and are quite delicious served plain. They may, however, be filled with a mixture limited only by your imagination. Try shredded cheese, diced ham or be thrifty and use up tiny amounts of leftover vegetables and meat that accumulate in everyone's refrigerator. Sweet fillings such as jam or sauteed apples make excellent omelet fillings. Dust the top with powdered sugar just before serving for a pretty presentation.

Both omelets are hearty enough to serve as a main course for brunch or for dinner and are excellent accompanied by hash brown potatoes and a tossed or fruit salad.

SPRING GREENS OMELET

4 slices bacon
8 ounces young, tender spring greens (dandelion, mustard, collards or a mixture)
1 medium onion
1 clove garlic
Salt and pepper, to taste
8-12 eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons butter, divided

In a medium skillet, fry bacon until crisp. Drain, crumble and reserve. Pour off all but 3 tablespoons drippings from skillet.

While bacon is cooking, trim greens, wash thoroughly and pat dry with paper toweling. Tear in rough pieces and then coarsely chop in food processor. Reserve chopped greens and do not wash processor bowl. Chop onion and garlic together in food processor.

Saute onion and garlic in drippings in skillet for about 3 minutes over medium-low heat until onion is softened. Add greens to skillet and cook, stirring often for about 3 minutes until greens are wilted. Mix in reserved bacon. Taste and add salt and pepper as needed. Keep mixture warm over very low heat or cover pan off the heat.

Break eggs into a large mixing bowl. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper and whisk gently until eggs are combined, but not frothy.

Heat 1 tablespoon of butter in a 7- or 8-inch omelet pan or skillet (preferably non-stick) over medium heat. When butter foams, add about 1/4 of the egg mixture. Shake skillet with a short back-and-forth motion and as soon as the bottom of the omelet begins to set, lift the edges with a small spatula or fork and tilt pan to let uncooked portion run underneath. After about 30 seconds of cooking, the omelet should be nearly set. Spoon about 1/4 of the filling down the center. Use a spatula to roll 1/2 of the omelet into the center. Then tilt pan over serving plate and use spatula to slide the omelet onto the plate, folding over the other 1/2 as the omelet slides out.

Serve the omelet immediately and continue to make three more omelets in the same fashion using the remaining ingredients.

Yield: 4 servings.

Preparation time: 20 minutes

SAVORY PUFFED OMELET

6 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup water
4 tablespoons butter, divided
1 small green bell pepper
1 medium onion
1 small rib celery
1 large clove garlic
1 cup drained, canned plum tomatoes (about 5 tomatoes)
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
Salt and pepper, to taste
4 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Separate eggs, placing yolks in large mixing bowl and whites into the bowl of an electric mixer. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and water to yolks and whisk until well blended. Beat whites to soft peak. Gently, but thoroughly fold the whites into yolks.

Heat 2 tablespoons butter in large (12-inch) skillet. When it foams, gently pour eggs into skillet and smooth top. Cook over low heat for 2 minutes. Then place in center of oven for 8-10 minutes until top just begins to color.

While eggs are baking, chop green pepper, onion, celery and garlic together in food processor. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons butter in medium skillet and saute onion mixture over medium heat for about 3 minutes, until vegetables begin to soften. Add tomatoes and thyme and simmer gently, stirring with fork to break up tomatoes for about 3 minutes until most of the moisture has evaporated. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

When omelet is done, make a crease down the center with a spatula and sprinkle the cheese over the crease. Spoon the vegetable filling over the cheese. Then use a large spatula to fold the omelet in half while sliding it out onto the serving platter.

To serve cut into 4 pieces.

Yield: 4 servings.

Preparation time: About 20 minutes.

MICROWAVE MAGIC

By Desiree Vives

A traditional gift on Mother's Day is a big box of chocolates wrapped in shiny paper with a pretty bow. It sure looks nice, but most moms I know are involved in the great national pastime of trying to decrease (or at least maintain) their weight.

Unless your mother is a trim size 8 who can afford to down chocolates with wild abandon, a more thoughtful treat might be a delicious dinner that's not too high in calories. Besides, isn't it about time you started cooking for Mom? Just think of all the meals she's cooked for you over the years.

You see? I can lay on the guilt almost as well as she can. (Just kidding, Mom!)

An ideal Mother's Day dinner should be something that's tasty, not too difficult to prepare and won't keep you long in the kitchen, so you'll have more time to spend with the woman of the hour. Today's quick-cooking microwave recipes make six healthy servings — enough to go around in case assorted siblings arrive to honor the family matriarch.

For this menu, you might want to make the Cheddar Corn Bread in advance, then just reheat in the microwave a few minutes before serving time. The carrots could be cooked until crisp-tender, then set aside while the fish cooks. When fish is done, complete the carrot recipe, adding water, cornstarch and almonds.

Serve with a tossed green salad, a light white wine and fresh fruit cups for dessert. Add a bouquet of bright spring flowers as a centerpiece and you'll have a meal any mother would love.

Carefully consider choice of garden room flooring

Q: We are in the process of adding a greenhouse addition to our home that will house a seating area, lots of plants and a spa. We have been advised to use tile on the floor but I am worried about it being dangerously slippery for those getting out of the spa. Do you have any suggestions? — O.S.

A: Undoubtedly, tile is a practical choice in many ways for greenhouse rooms. It is impervious to sun and water damage, highly durable and easy to maintain. The thermal properties of tile are also important in these spaces since tile absorbs heat from the sun and releases it slowly over an extended time.

The downside is that tile can be lethal when wet and especially slippery when one is barefooted. And, as everyone knows, it's hard.

In your situation, I would not abandon tile necessarily but would consider some of the new "non-slip" tile finishes. Sometimes quarry tile is rough enough if left unsealed. You might also consider brick or some of the small concrete pavers or tiles that are being made in interesting new colors and finishes.

Another solution is to use a different flooring around the spa that enables users to dry their feet before hitting the tile. In the solution pictured here, for example, 2-by-2 sections of wood decking have been placed around the spa as a walkway. Any moisture falls on the tile underneath and the decking sections can be easily removed for cleaning.

Q: We are looking for a dining table for a really small, rectangular dining room. There are normally only four of us eating, but we want a table with leaves that will allow the maximum number of guests. We entertain frequently and want the most flexibility. Should we get a round table or a rectangular table. — M.B.

A: Though many feel that round tables are more sociable and can actually seat greater numbers, I would recommend a rectangular table in your situation.

Since your room is rectangular, a table of this shape will seem appropriate and suitable. It is also much more adaptable. By putting one end against a wall and adding leaves, for example, you may end up getting more seating than you would with a round table in the same space.

A rectangular table will also enable you to serve buffet style by placing the table lengthwise along a wall. This could maximize your limited floor space for a cocktail party or buffet.

You can provide warmth and sociability with color and lighting, since your room is so small, you might also consider mirroring one wall. This can be particularly effective when the table is placed next to it since it makes both the table and the food appear more plentiful.

By James G. McCollam

Valuable 'corn' pitcher's identity unknown

Q: This "corn" pitcher has the British registry diamond on the bottom, but nothing to indicate the identity of the maker. Can you give me any information about it?

A: This is a Staffordshire pitcher made sometime before 1884 when the diamond mark was discontinued. There is nothing to indicate the identity of the maker, but the value would probably be in the $100 to $200 range.

Q: I have a 23-piece demitasse set. It is porcelain, hand-painted with a man and woman in a romantic setting. On the bottom of each piece is the enclosed mark. What can you tell me about its vintage and value?

Z.S.&CO.
BAVARIA

A: Your demitasse set was made by Zeh, Scherzer & Co., Rehau, Bavaria, Germany, during the late 19th century.

A dealer would ask at least $150 for this in good condition.

Q: Recently, I have seen quite a bit of pottery marked, "Vernon Kilns." What can you tell me about the company and some typical fair prices for its products?

A: Vernon Kilns operated in Vernon, Calif., from 1931 to 1958. They manufactured a good quality, attractive line of pottery that is finding increasing popularity with collectors. The prices are reasonable as the following will indicate:

- Bowls — $8-$10.
- Teapots — $40-$50.
- Cups and saucers — about $7.50.
- Plates — $10-$15.
- Pitchers — about $20.
- Creamer and sugar — $15-$30.

Q: I know that political buttons and other items used at election time to generate interest in various candidates are collectible.

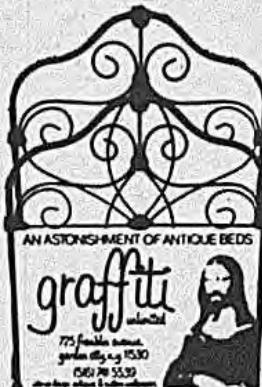

What I would like to know is how early in our history did this practice start?

A: It would appear the first serious campaign gadgets were medallions produced for Andrew Jackson. The 1828 version sells for $400; the 1832 version sells for about $150.

It is possible there were mugs made for James Monroe and John Adams, but it is not quite clear that they were distributed before or after the actual elections. These mugs sell for about $300.

The most valuable pieces are a pitcher made for George Washington at $1,500 and a mug for Thomas Jefferson at $1,250. Experts believe these were not used as campaign promotion, but for souvenirs of the actual presidencies.

Are ear infections in dogs contagious?

Q: Our dog has a very foul-smelling discharge coming out of his left ear. We allow our dog to run freely throughout the neighborhood. Is it possible that our dog got this ear infection from our neighbor's dog? Is this condition serious?

A: Since it is impossible to determine exactly what is wrong with your dog's ear from your very brief description, it also is impossible to state whether your dog got the condition from your neighbor's dog.

You should take your dog to a veterinarian for diagnosis and treatment. Most ear infections in dogs require treatment by a veterinarian.

A small amount of light brown wax in your dog's ears is normal. Wax is produced by glands in the outer part of the ear canal. Normally, ear wax protects the canal and the eardrum.

Dogs with ear infections usually shake their heads frequently and scratch at their ears. If the nails of the dog are long, lacerations of the ear may occur. At times, with severe infections, the scratching and head shaking may seem uncontrollable and the dog appears to be quite miserable. The visible area of the ear may be reddened. Pus and large amounts of dark reddish-brown to black wax in the ears may be noticed.

There are many causes of ear infections and the signs just described in dogs. Thorns and ticks on the outer flap or at the opening of the ear canal can cause your dog to scratch excessively. Ear infections can result from bacterial organisms growing within the canal.

Ear mites are a common cause for ear infections in dogs and cats. Ear mites live in the ear canal of dogs and cats and feed on skin debris. The eight-legged ear mites can usually be seen crawling among the dark, foul-smelling debris. Live ear mites appear as moving white specks approximately the size of the point of a dressmaker's pin. Depending on your visual acuity, you may not be able to see them without magnification.

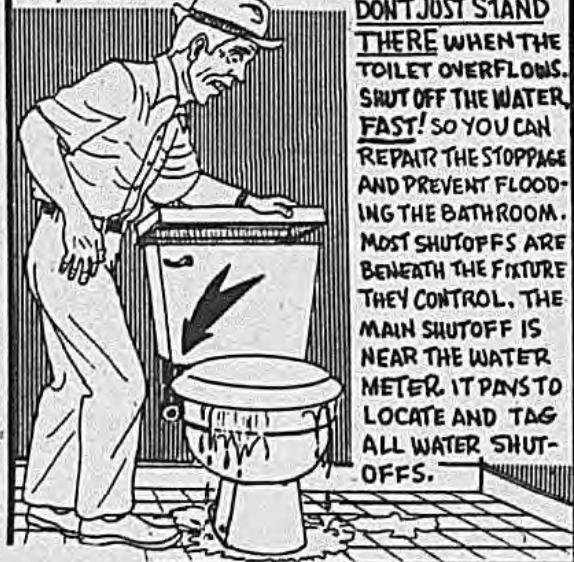

Veterinarians usually use a magnified otoscope to examine the ear directly for mites or examine some dark debris with a microscope for the mite. If mites are present, your veterinarian will probably dispense an insecticide or an oily preparation for you to place in the ears. Ear mites are contagious among pets. Therefore, if mites are diagnosed in one pet, all of the household pets should be examined. Animals with ear mites should be isolated from animals without ear mites. It would be difficult to say whether your dog acquired ear mites from your neighbor's dog.

It is unwise and irresponsible to allow your dog to run freely about the neighborhood.
