Resource Recovery Review Hearing Set For Aug. 12

The Town of Oyster Bay's Environmental Quality Review Commission will convene the final public participation Scoping Session on a resource recovery facility on Wednesday, August 12.

The issues raised at the public meeting will be used by American Ref-Fuel in preparing a draft Environmental Impact Statement.

Copies of the Preliminary Scoping document submitted by American Ref-Fuel to the Commission are available for review at all public libraries within the Town and at the Town Clerk's offices in Oyster Bay and Town Hall South, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa.

Carrier Alert Celebrates Anniv.

Five summers ago, the Postal Service, the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) and the National Rural Carrier Association organized Carrier Alert. Last June President Ronald Reagan presented the NALC with a Volunteer Action Award for its participation in Carrier Alert.

Carrier Alert is a volunteer community service provided by the Postal Service. Letter carriers watch participating customer's mailboxes for unusual accumulations of mail that might be a sign of illness or injury. The Postal Service then reports the situation to a sponsoring social service agency, through locally developed procedures, for follow-up.

Over 30 post offices have registered over 1000 Hicksville Division postal customers for Carrier Alert. In the past five years carriers throughout the Hicksville Division have been commended for saving lives of elderly customers whose mail was building up.

"Carrier Alert shows how much we care about our customers, not just their business," says Roger Nienaber, General Manager/Postmaster of the Hicksville Division. "The Postal Service is a good neighbor in every community in the country. We walk the sidewalks and drive the roads throughout Long Island and around the nation everyday. And Carrier Alert shows how we watch out for the people in our community while we deliver the mail."

Hicksville Civics Form A United Coalition

By Ellie Draycott

Representatives from the existing and newly reactivated civic associations met on July 20 at the Hicksville Public Library to unite in their interests and to set up a line of communication with each other.

Realizing that many of the concerns and problems facing residents of Hicksville relate to the entire community, not just to a single area, a coalition of the civic groups has been formed. Each civic association has its specific goals and its own character of problems. The logistics of our town, created by the Long Island Rail Road, Old Country Road and Broadway, tend to separate Hicksville into little communities within one large one. Awareness of the issues facing one area is often not realized by residents in another area of town. The coalition is an effort to unite the community; to work together in conjunction with our elected officials, to resolve our problems in an open and constructive way.

The first meeting of the Council of Civic Associations of Hicksville was attended by Kathy DeRosso and Gary Hansen of Duffy Park, Rose Maggio of Hicksville Gardens, Maryann Ferrado, Bob Dwyer and Mike Regan of Northwest, Margaret Kelly and Cathy Greenfield of West Green, Glenn Sutker and Joe DePompa of Northeast, Tom and Fran McGovern of Glass Park, Eileen Richards and Ellie Draycott of Midland.

Anyone interested in forming a civic association or reactivating a dormant civic association in the areas not yet represented may contact Tom McGovern at 938-7309 or Ellie Draycott at 935-5793 for assistance.

Busy Weekend Planned At St. Ignatius Festival

St. Ignatius Church is holding its annual summer festival on the parish grounds at 129 Broadway, Hicksville, Tuesday through Sunday, July 28-August 2. A Haunted House for children and many new game booths have been added this year.

The festival will include the traditional ferris wheel, loop-de-loop and other rides, the popular dunk-a-tank and paint-a-face, Las Vegas and other legal games of chance and skill.

The extensive menu will again feature zeppole, the Italian pastry made before your eyes by Father Tom Costa.

Father Fred Harter, pastor of St. Ignatius, said that all proceeds from the festival will again be used for the needs of the parish and the people of the area, regardless of race, color or creed.

"I hope everyone will remember the great time they had last year and join us again for six days of fun and excitement," he said.

The festival will be open Friday 7-12 p.m.; Saturday 7 p.m.-3 a.m.; and Sunday 4 p.m.-midnight.

Bill Henne is chairman of the festival, assisted by Deacon Bill Mahoney and Frank DeGaidano, plus hundreds of your friends and neighbors.

The Postal Service is celebrating the fifth anniversary of a program called "Carrier Alert" whereby postal carriers watch participating customer's mailboxes for unusual accumulations of mail that might be a sign of illness or injury. Over 1000 Hicksville customers have signed up for the program, and there are more than 30 post offices registered to handle it.

Since this issue marks the last day of July, we look forward to a busy August getting prepared for those back to school activities. Any club publicity people are reminded to think ahead to those September meetings and make sure you send us the notices in enough time. Those first days of getting youngsters in the back to school habit are hectic and you might forget.

We hope you're all enjoying your summer as much as we are. Things have slowed down considerably during these "lazy, hazy days" but we know it won't be that way for much longer. V.P.

Bethpage Teen Contest Finalist

Debra Giardino, daughter of Charles and Arlene Giardino of Bethpage, is a finalist in the Miss Metro New York National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Suffern, on November 28. She is in the 12th grade at Bethpage High School and is 17 years old.

Miss National Teen-Ager is celebrating its 17th anniversary. There is no swim suit competition. Scoring is based on poise, personality, a written application, a personal interview with the judges and academics.

The winner of the Pageant will receive full sponsorship into the Miss New York National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held in Albany next May, the official crown and banner, a $1000 award and other prizes and awards. Any contestant in the Pageant is eligible to win various college scholarships and awards and need not win the Pageant to win a scholarship or award. Over $30,000 will be awarded.

Debra's hobbies include aerobics and writing. Her sponsors in the Pageant are D. Valente & Sons, S&J Body & Fender Repair, HairAfter, Bon Appetit Deli, George Moerler III, Charles and Arlene Giardino.

Musical Performance Set For Thursday

Plaza Theatrical Productions' fully costumed and staged performance of the musical "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" will highlight the fifth week of "Music Under the Stars" for Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman John Venditto.

The program will be held at the community park on Thursday, August 13, beginning at 8:15 p.m. In the event of rain, the performance will take place in the auditorium of Bethpage High School, Cherry and Stewart Avenues.

Venditto noted that the program is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community Services and co-sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Arts Council, Inc. and the Roslyn Savings Bank.

St. Paul's Sponsors Moonlight Bowl

St. Paul Lutheran Church, 449 Stewart Avenue, Bethpage, is sponsoring a Moonlight Bowl at Plainview Bowl at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 15. The cost is $8 per person which includes 3 games - 1 regular game, 1 no top (9 pins equals a strike), and 1 crazy bowl (leave it to your imagination!) - and a hero and salad buffet following bowling at which time prizes will be awarded.

Reservations for the August 15 Moonlight Bowl should be made by contacting Donna at 931-7045 evenings. Money is due no later than August 9. Last year's event proved to be a great success, and a good time was had by all. St. Paul's Fellowship Commission invites the community to join in the fun - and you don't have to bowl like a professional to enjoy yourself!

George F. Titterton, right, and wife Aida, 2nd right, of Farmingdale, pose with their grandson John P. Titterton, Jr., center, and his parents, John F. Sr., and Elizabeth Titterton of Huntington. Scene was annual Grumman luncheon where John, Jr., was one of 12 Long Island high school seniors honored for winning the 1987 Grumman Science and Engineering Scholarships, each worth $24,000. Grandfather George, is a retired senior vice president of Grumman, so took extra delight in his grandson's award. Young Titterton, valedictorian of his class at Cold Spring Harbor High School, will study engineering at Notre Dame University.

A fuller life through achievement

Christine is blind. At Helen Keller Services for the Blind, we know it's important to help blind kids achieve. Some parents think they have to do everything for blind children.

And that's too bad!

Helen Keller social workers helped Christine's mom and dad understand she could learn to care for herself. Because she sees some light, we fitted her with special lenses in our low vision clinic. She went to our nursery school. Later, with our help, she attended a regular school where she did her lessons from braille books. Then, one of our mobility instructors taught her to use a cane so she could travel alone, anywhere.

Kids like Christine, and her father too, need Helen Keller Services. Help us to help them to a fuller life.

Bible School Comes To Close

On Friday, July 24, St. Paul Lutheran Church's Vacation Bible School came to a close. With the help of a dedicated staff, an enjoyable two weeks of fun and fellowship was had with 61 children from St. Paul and other churches in the community. Each day was full of activities including singing, Bible lessons, outdoor recreation and arts and crafts. Beautiful projects were crafted by the children ranging from a Bible picture cube from the Nursery class to colorful banners and photo frames from the older classes. As a new attraction, a videotape was added to the program. Each day followed the adventures of two puppet children, Nanny and Isaiah. This videotape helped the students learn about God's many wonderful promises, the theme of this year's Vacation Bible School.

The children also decided where the money from their daily offerings should be donated. The missions they chose are: Bethesda Lutheran Home, Lutheran Bible Translators, Covenant House, Lutheran Community Services and the Ronald McDonald House.

On Friday evening the children presented their closing program to family and friends. They sang songs, recited verses and displayed their projects. One class even presented the song "Jesus Loves Me" in sign language.

Watch next summer for signs of 1988 Vacation Bible School.

St. Paul Lutheran Church is located at 449 Stewart Avenue (just south of the railroad station) in Bethpage. The Sunday worship service, as well as Summer Sunday School for children (which operates on a walk-in basis), begin at 9 a.m. weekly. We at St. Paul's invite you to join us in worshipping and praising the Lord. For more information, please contact the church office at 931-8262.

Our Children

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Q. My husband insists that when our children have head colds they should go to school anyway. His reasoning? Colds have to run their course because there is no cure for them.

A. I disagree on the school issue. Do you?

A. I'm not a medical doctor, but common sense (plus a little knowledge) tell me that an ignored cold can lead to complications that sometimes may be serious. Also, parents of other children may resent having youngsters with colds in the same classroom.

Q. I think my son is involved in a worthless activity, and I just wish he would spend less or no time on it. It's stamp collecting, a hobby that I thought went out with the horse and buggy.

A. He is a good student, has friends (none of whom, by the way, shares his enthusiasm for this hobby), and really is delightful in other ways — but this one just drives me batty!

A. Based on what I've heard and read in recent years, and in listening to people while standing in post office lines, it doesn't sound like this interest is as old-fashioned as you indicate. In fact, many adults and children appear to enjoy the hobby, and also learn a great deal through it — history and geography, for example.

A. It may be worth trying to discover why you have this strong dislike. Is it perhaps due to something that happened to you a long time ago or related to a person with this hobby of whom you didn't approve?

A. Your son doesn't seem to have a problem on this subject. Maybe you do.

Q. I'm responding to the letter

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. I have not worked at all for the past several years because I was home raising my children. Soon I plan to return to work. Do the work credits I had from before still count? — M.L.V.

A. Yes. The Social Security credits you have already earned are still on your record. When you return to work your new credits will be added to your record. This means that you and your family will be eligible for benefits if you become disabled and can't work for a year or more. If you die your dependents will be eligible for regular monthly benefits.

Q. I will soon be 65 and I plan to continue working. Presently, I have hospitalization through my employer group health plan. What happens regarding Medicare when I reach 65? — E.D.M.

A. Employers with 20 or more employees are required to offer workers and their spouses age 65 the same health benefits that are offered to younger workers.

you received from a distraught and frustrated parent of a 4-month-old who was searching for advice about "disciplining" her baby.

A. This is a common complaint by parents, especially when their child is below or in the toddler stage. I agree with your advice to seek consultation with her pediatrician for possible undetected physical reasons.

A. At this early stage of development a mother and child must become a "unit" for the maturational process to develop. A certain degree of "spoiling" may be essential for an infant who is showing the anxiety this baby seems to have. Even at his early age it is so important to lay a foundation of trust and "one-ness" that he needs to feel together with his mother.

A. I feel a lot of concern for this mother because she must have some guilt and anxiety herself. Is she able to get some relief in caring for him? Does his crying signify a possible strong sensitivity certain babies feel toward abandonment, which might be indicated if he can't sleep at night?

A. The most important matter is the quality of the relationship between mother and infant that forms the basis for any child's further development. This one requires immediate and careful understanding, sensitivity and professional guidance.

A. Your letter stresses some important points, with the bottom line going like this: The family relationship is significant as it relates to early development. You'll note that I said "family" rather than "mother," because even these days the father may be left out too often.

A. You have a choice. If you work past 65 and accept your employer's health plan, Medicare will be the secondary health insurance payer. If you reject your employer's health plan, Medicare will be the primary health insurance payer.

A. For more information, contact your employer or your local Social Security office.

Q. Is there some kind of book that lists the doctors who accept the amount Medicare pays as full payment? — E.D.F.

A. Medicare Participating Physician/Supplier Directory (MEDPARD) is a public document intended as a reference source to help Medicare beneficiaries identify physicians and suppliers in their area who always accept the Medicare-approved amount as payment in full, except for the deductible and co-payment. This directory is available at all Social Security offices for your review.

At Adelphi, You'll Meet Influential People Who Can Help You Throughout Your Life.

There's a tendency these days for certain colleges to sound more like vocational schools.

We don't believe that's wise. Or that confining higher education to short-term career needs is practical or prudent anymore.

Consider this:

The U.S. Department of Labor estimates that people of college age today may switch careers three or more times in the years ahead.

Consider, too, that rapid changes in technology and in the practice of every profession make future job requirements in many fields hard to foresee.

Besides, at Adelphi we don't want to prepare you just for your first, entry-level job. We want to educate you for leadership, and for life.

That's why we've taken an imaginative new approach to the whole idea of higher learning. Learning that's rooted in 2500 years of academic tradition. Learning that draws on the creative powers of today's faculty.

As an Adelpian, you'll pursue a well-integrated course of study that combines programs in the liberal arts and sciences with forward-looking education for the professions.

Instead of a narrow curriculum embracing little beyond a preparatory major field, you'll grapple with the fundamental elements of thought and knowledge.

In the process, you'll discover the qualities of character and intellect that distinguish enlightened leaders.

You'll awaken to the potential of your own mind, and learn to cultivate its powers of reasoning, analysis, and creativity. That's what we mean by a commitment to the intellect. It's what makes this university distinctive and distinctively different.

Join us. Because it may take the wisdom of the past 25 centuries just to survive in the next one.

P.O.B. Library August Schedule

On Saturday, August 1 at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting a show performed by the Summer Drama Workshop, directed by Macey Levin. First come, first seated.

On Wednesday, August 5 at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled, "Careful, He Might Hear You" starring Wendy Hughes, Robyn Nevin, Nicholas Gledhill and John Hargreaves.

This brilliantly acted and exquisitely photographed film won 8 Australian Film Awards, including Best Picture, Best Director, and Best Actress. A six-year-old boy (Nicholas Gledhill) becomes a pawn in a bitter custody battle between two of his late mother's sisters. One aunt (Robyn Nevin) is poor, sweet and plebian. The other (Wendy Hughes) is beautiful, aristocratic and sexually repressed. Adapted from Summer Locke Elliott's award-winning novel.

This film runs 116 minutes and is rated PG.

On Friday, August 7 at 1 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting Barbara Krupit leading a discussion entitled "Insights Into Current Issues."

Barbara Krupit will discuss what's making the headlines that day, whether it be local, national or international news. You can discuss the issues and share your views.

On Monday, August 10 at 1 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting a book discussion/review led by Barbara Krupit. The book to be discussed is entitled "The Accidental Tourist" by Anne Tyler.

After the senseless murder of their 12-year-old son, Macon and Sarah Leary are losing their marriage too. Macon is unable to cope when she leaves him, so he settles down by moving back home with two divorced brothers and spinster sister Rose.

Macon is a writer for guidebooks for businessmen who hate to travel. Macon's own journey takes him from an unremarkable marriage to a retreat into the bosom of his eccentric family.

On Tuesday, August 11 at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting Barbara Krupit leading a book discussion/review. The book to be discussed is entitled "Machine Dreams" by Jayne Anne Phillips.

"Machine Dreams" is the story of the Hampsons, a family moving inexorably toward dissolution, often unknowingly, often against their own will, yet always caught in the subtle connections of love.

It is a chronicle of an American family, a story of inherited sorrow and the circular nature of love.

On Wednesday, August 12 at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled "Heartburn" starring Meryl Streep, Jack Nicholson, Jeff Daniels, Maureen Stapleton and Stockard Channing.

Academy Award winner Meryl Streep and Jack Nicholson star in this wickedly funny and painfully honest drama about marriage and infidelity. Rachel, a wise and witty writer of cookbooks, is seven months pregnant with her second child when she discovers that her husband, a prominent syndicated columnist, is having an affair. Academy Award winning director Mike Nichols, known for his brilliant commentaries on American values, brings warmth and humor to this touching story based on Nora Ephron's best-selling novel.

This film runs 108 minutes and is rated R.

On Friday and Saturday, August 14 and 15 at 8:30 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting War, Sex And Death: An Evening of Three Comic One-Act Plays.

Wazri "Next by Terrance McNally.

If "war is hell," what could be worse? Any army draft physical. Remember the personal questions? Remember the probing, the probing, the probing? Remember the impersonal treatment by a lady medic? No! Re-experience one of life's worst ordeals as additional problems between the reluctant examinee and the female examiner make national war a preferable situation.

Sezi "Dracula's Blind Date" by Frank Scoblete

"Vengeance is sweet...and so is your blood" should be Dracula's "line" as he preys upon the past of the Van Helsing after a one hundred year snooze. However, getting your blind date to "succumb" to your charms is our suspicious world becomes a formidable task for the sensuous Master of the Night. Besides death and taxes, some things never change...they only get worse.

Deaths "Death Knocks" by Woody Allen

So there's this garment district guy whose time has come but he's so used to wheeling and dealing that he decides to "make a little business" with the ultimate consumer...Death. All negotiations hinge on a critical deal of...gin rummy. But, if Death doesn't knock first, will it knock again?

On Wednesday, August 19 at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the film "Out of Africa" starring Meryl Streep, Robert Redford and Klaus Maria Brandauer.

A beautiful love story, directed by Sydney Pollack, "Out of Africa," which takes place on a Kenyan coffee farm in the early part of this century, is an eloquent, splendidly photographed memoir of (Streep's) love affair with an elusive, free spirited pioneer (Redford). It is a very personal and unique story as well as precise and knowing look at different cultures.

This film runs 150 minutes and is rated PG.

On Wednesday, August 26 at 7:30 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be holding a Board of Trustees Meeting. The public is invited.

On Wednesday, August 26 at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the first of the Mystery Series films entitled "Clue" starring Eileen Brennan, Tim Curry, Madeline Kahn, Lesley Ann Warren, Christopher Lloyd, Michael McKean and Martin Mull.

You've played the game—now see the movie! The suspicious characters and sinister rooms made famous by the popular Parker Brothers board game come to life in the stylish comedy whodunit "Clue." Thrills and laughs abound when a group of eccentric characters are summoned to a luxurious dinner party in an elegant, but deserted, New England Gothic mansion. During the evening, each guest's darkest secret is revealed. The event becomes dangerous for all—and fatal for some—as the mood of nervous tension builds to one of uncontrolled terror!

This film runs 87 minutes and is rated PG.

Irish Flavor To Park Music Prog.

"A Musical Taste of Ireland" featuring the Paddy Newman Band and Tara Pipe and Drum Corps will highlight the third week of "Music Under the Stars" for Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes.

The program will be held at the Community Park on Thursday, July 30, beginning at 8:15 p.m. In the event of rain, the performance will take place in the auditorium of Bethpage High School, Cherry and Stewart Avenues.

Born in Malton, County Cork, Ireland, Paddy Newman came to the United States at the age of 12, and, soon after, began his musical career," Hynes said. "Considered one of the leading proponents of the piano accordion, Newman, along with his band, has performed at Carnegie Hall, on television and on radio and has been heard worldwide on the Armed Forces Network."

Hynes noted that the program is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community Services and co-sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Arts Council, Inc. and the National Westminster Bank USA.

For children, CAPA will sponsor a play entitled "A Choice for Cinderella" at the park on Wednesday, July 29, at 10:30 a.m. Performed by The Open Stage, the old fairy tale gets updated with new songs and a new message.

For further information, contact CAPA at 795-5943.

3/4-Year-Olds Play Soccer

Yes, it's true - three and four-year-olds play soccer with the Hicksville Americans Soccer Club. This is one of the few soccer clubs on Long Island to offer organized soccer to such young children. In fact, the Hicksville Club was the first on Long Island to offer such a program, which is now in its tenth successful year.

These youngsters receive a full uniform and a soccer ball. They play on a neighborhood field with ten children on each team, a coach, and a referee. The main objective of this program is fun (no standings are kept). This is a good opportunity for young children to get: good exercise, play with others their age, and learn a little about soccer.

Last year's registration included over 100 three and four-year-olds, 80 five-year-olds, and 60 six-year-olds in the Squirt program. They also offer intramural programs for seven, eight, nine and ten-year-olds.

The Hicksville Americans Soccer Club has one last registration date for children born between 1977 and 1984:

Among the 4,191 graduates of Boston University was Hicksville resident, James D. Houston, who received a JD in Law.

Speaking at the Commencement ceremony was the Honorable William H. Rehnquist, Chief Justice of the United States, who told the graduates to "bear in mind this nigh universal message from the older generation, and from generations long past, to the younger generation. The most priceless asset that can be accumulated is time well spent".

AIFS Volunteers Badly Needed

The foreign exchange program of the American Institute for Foreign Study may be cancelled unless a few additional host families are found. A group of high school students has planned to visit the local area for the month of August. They will be attending classes in the morning and going on excursions some of the afternoons. Host families are desperately needed in order to allow these honor students a first-hand opportunity to taste American life. They will be arriving this Saturday. If interested, please contact Susan Harwood, the Local Coordinator at 681-7861 immediately.

Recreation Part Of Summer School

Summer school was never better, especially for the students of the Hicksville Summer School program at Old Country Road School in Hicksville. Along with administrator Charles Wayne and staff, the children had a wonderful day on their first field trip - enjoying the rides at Nunley Park in Freeport.

This was one of several trips included in a curriculum stressing both academic and recreational activities and one the students look forward to each year.

TOB Hearing Set For August

The Oyster Bay Town Board has scheduled a hearing to consider amending the section of the Building Zone Ordinance of the Code of Ordinances, according to Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond.

"The August 4 public hearing has been scheduled to consider amending Section 16, 'Non-Confirming Use' of Appendix A (Building Zone Ordinance) by deleting the section in its entirety and adding a new Section 16."

Diamond said. "The new section will require gas stations which existed prior to the adoption of the aforesaid ordinance (January 27, 1953) and are in a 'F' business district, to apply to the Town Board for a Special Use Permit to make structural or substantial alterations."

The hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, August 4, 1987 at 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

Mixed Opinions On Banning Of Pit Bull Terriers

OUT OF HAND

Yes. From all I have heard, pit bulls are dangerous animals and they should not be house pets for anyone. The problem is that they will get out of hand and bite someone for no reason. There is no reason to keep this breed of dog at home. K.S.

GUARD DOGS

Pit bulls would have their place as guard dogs and now, because of the excessive publicity given to pit bulls, they would scare most intruders away. But, like all guard dogs, they make very poor pets because they may bite more than the burglar. They should be classed as wild animals. R.P.

TRAINING

I think that pit bulls can be trained to respond to people who are friendly and to treat them right. The problem is that they have been trained to be vicious and then we blame them when they act as taught. Most dogs will bite if trained to do so. Pit bulls can be held as pets and we should allow owners to take full responsibility and keep them. Too many laws are just restrictions on people's rights. N.T.

INPUT

Callers to Input had mixed opinions in answer to last week's question: "New York City has outlawed keeping pit bull terriers as pets. Should Nassau County pass a similar law?" Here are some of the answers:

DOG TRAINER

I'm a dog trainer and do not think pit bulls should be banned. People don't realize it but when you bring a puppy into your home, it's like a newborn child. This puppy knows nothing. You teach it to go to the bathroom, you teach it not to rip your furniture, you teach it all the things so you can live with this dog. It's like a child and can be spoiled if you let the puppy get away with it, it's going to do it. Every puppy can be trained. As far as being vicious, if you take this dog when it's young for obedience training and teach it to behave around children, the dog will get used to all this. If the dog shows its teeth, you correct it. You wouldn't allow a child to bite and you don't allow a dog to bite. One breed is just as good as another breed—it's the way they're brought up. If you abuse the dog, you'll get abuse back; if you give it love and attention, you'll get nothing but love in return. Any dog, no matter how gentle, will stand up for its master. M.W.

SHOULD HAVE LAW

Although dogs have been called man's best friend, some—such as the pit bull terrier—have been known to be dangerous enemies. In my opinion, most people do not keep these dogs solely as pets in the same way as they may have beagles or poodles. I feel that Nassau County should also forbid individuals from having pit bull terriers. It is said that behavior is learned or acquired. It is difficult to say, though, what could be done with those dogs that have already been trained to be ferocious. People don't always change their behavior—neither do animals. C.P.

OWN WORST ENEMIES

Needless to say, pit bulls are their own worst enemies. They are members of the canine family like any other breed, but have been trained to sharpen an innate instinct for attack and fighting. In my opinion, they could be just as easily trained for peaceful pursuits but this would not match the character of most of the owners. Unfortunately, it is the demonstrated trait of these masters which has set the pattern for the N.Y.C. law and, as much as I would prefer not to enact such a law in Nassau County, I see no choice but to follow their pattern. Actually, any demonstrated action on the part of owners to train pit bulls to fight or to attack people or adversaries should be emphasized as an illegal act subject to appropriate penalties. And, I might add that the reason pit bulls stand out more than any other breed is based to a large degree on appearance and reputation. For example, wolves have recently been found to be less vicious than reputed. But, there are a number of other dogs equally pugnacious to pit bulls and "guard dogs" come to mind as a breed I would not wish to tangle with. Actually, as far as I am concerned, it's the human breed which really needs the curb. P.G.S.

OWNERS' LAW

Nassau County should not pass a law banning pit bull terriers; however, I think there should be a law throughout the country to outlaw owners of dogs who have trained their pit bulls and other breeds to be mean and vicious. They are doing it and the dogs are just obeying a command. It is a known fact that most criminals who commit sadistic crimes were mistreated as children - this is the case with a vicious animal. We have two dogs in our home—one a pure bred animal that came into our home as a puppy. He was treated with love and affection. He is very docile and has a wonderful disposition. The other is a dog that was picked up off the street by my son and was about two months of age at the time. That dog was very nervous and high strung when she came into our home. She became a member of our family and is a very loyal pet; however, she still is a very nervous dog. We call her street-wise as she's very sharp and wise. Treat it mean and it will be mean. Treat a dog kindly and you'll have a man's best friend. Let's get off the case of the pit bull and put the blame where it really belongs -- to those who use these dogs to hide drug caches, fighting matches and training them to be harmful animals. Let's arrest those people and leave the dogs alone.

OWNER, BREEDER

"Pit Bull Mania" has gotten completely out of hand. It is not the dog as much as it is the owner and breeder. It's people who are dealing with drugs and other illegal activities who want the protection to guard their illegal goods and will only turn to some other potentially dangerous breed. A truly conscientious breeder would not sell a dog to a person of questionable integrity. This is a sad commentary on today's way of life when one breed of dog has to be outlawed because of people exploiting them. It seems ridiculous to outlaw one breed of dog when the people are the true culprits and are free to continue their crimes and destroy yet another breed with their corruption. The root of the problem is not dogs—it's two-legged monsters.

PAST ISSUES

A CHANGE

In reference to last week's Input question, I believe that it is appropriate at this time to comment that while Col. North may have readily come across as a national hero at the conclusion of his appearance at the Congressional hearings, now that other witnesses have been heard (especially Secretary of State George Schultz), it has become obvious that the philosophy and activities of Col. North and Admiral Poindexter have done immeasurable damage to the credibility of President Reagan. And now that the full impact of Col. North's open admission of deceiving Congress, of shredding important documents, of undertaking unauthorized foreign policy and of acting above the law, etc., it would appear that far from being a presidential candidate—let alone a national hero—Col. North is more apt to go down in history as the can-do Marine most responsible for the downfall of the Reagan regime. C.K.

The Trials & Tribulations Of The 'Great' Outdoors

By Bob and Janet Jackson

Bob: One time I made the erroneous assumption that going on a camping vacation was fun and restful. Our maiden camping vacation turned out to be neither. It was over a Fourth of July weekend, the children were very young. We started out and all went well until we started to set up. We were in the middle of a meadow with only a shade tree about three feet high, and the temperature was mild. In the low 100's. We had never camped before and this was the first time with our brand of new pop-up, that had been Janet's suggestion. She had assured me that camping would be fun, carefree and extremely restful.

We found out that an icebox does not chill warm cans of soda or beer and that without an awning, there is no way to sit outside at 12 noon, and inside the canvas works like an oven on low bake. To make matters worse, Janet had just broken her toe the evening before, but we thought that wouldn't cause any major problems. Besides we were anxious to use our new toy.

The sun was in all its glory in a cloudless sky, the trees perfectly still in the windless air, the birds gaily flying about and meanwhile we sat sweating and miserable, too hot and uncomfortable to even talk. We couldn't go swimming because we found out the beach was one half mile down a steep hill and Janet couldn't make it on crutches.

We had made no real preparation and knew nothing of what we were doing. We sat and we kept wondering and asking each other if we were having fun yet?

I thought that I had made the biggest mistake possible. Who said camping was fun and restful? This was to be a weekend affair and I would have been willing to pack up after an hour or two.

Janet: If anyone wishes to truly test the strength and stability of one's marriage, may we suggest camping. Nothing, and I mean nothing, can parallel this experience or test your coyness to this extent. I had wanted to try camping and had gone on a campaign to point out all the positive advantages it possessed. I had emphasized the beautiful picture I had in my mind as we would be communing with nature. Having never camped in my life, I was totally unaware of the negatives.

Bob would not entertain the idea until all the children were out of diapers. He also pointed out he had camped during his Army basic training, also known as bivouac. I pointed out that he could hardly count that; after all, a pop-up tent had almost all the comforts of home, minus the bathroom, shower, or hot water. We would have electricity.

Little did I know that Bob's camping experience was much closer to reality than mine. My picture of camping and communing with nature did not include, rain, mud, collapsed tents, lost kids, insect bites, emergency trips to gas stations, hospitals, etc., or fights over whose turn it was to sleep with Karen, a sort of Russian roulette since she frequently wet the bed and that usually included your sleeping bag as well.

Getting to the camp site presented no problem in itself. Pulling a camper was a new experience. One time Bob suggested I drive a little while. I pulled out onto the parkway, stepped on the gas and the car went about 10 mph. What seemed like a wide gap in the traffic became a harrowing experience as an 18 wheeler came barreling down blowing its horn. I panicked, Bob was amused with a coy smile playing around the corners of his mouth and the kids were screaming, "we could have been hit!" And they nearly were. I quickly pulled off the road, leaving the driving to Bob, forever. I would sit by his side and be nervous as I helpfully navigated and pointed out all road hazards; like "Watch that guy."

Bob: The ride was somewhat nerve racking. I had never pulled anything of this size before, and of course, the trunk was also packed with great care with all the essentials we felt would be necessary for a stay in the wilderness of a Suffolk County campsite. After hooking the trailer up, we set out and watched the gas indicator gleefully sliding from F to E in half the time it would normally have taken. I also found that as much more effort was required to pull it, it also required more time to stop it. I very carefully negotiated all turns and was finally getting into the swing of things, when I realized I couldn't back up, or even make a good U turn. I knew the fun was yet to come, to maneuver amongst tree stumps and ruts in an attempt to find a fairly level area to set up on so we wouldn't roll out of bed.

The dealer who sold us the pop-up trailer indicated there was an instructional booklet giving step by step illustrations of how to set it up. We pulled into our spot. (I hadn't yet figured out how to back up this 2,000 pound metal and fiberglass monstrosity.) I gave Janet the instruction book and she would read it while I set it up (an example of true coyness). The book said it could be set up in 7 minutes. Janet decided to time me and see how close I came. Now my mechanical acumen has proved to be less than admirable. It can be compared with the success ratio of a tree surgeon attempting open heart surgery. After about two hours, several cut fingers and innumeral muttered colorful epithets, the job was completed as we stood and glared at each other, while the giggling and smiling spectators who had gathered asked us if this was our first camping experience!

Janet: This was only the beginning. The crowd gathered due to the fact that while we had been busy the children had socialized with every campsite telling everyone it was our first time. They had also imparted all information they had possessed about our financial status. Total strangers were coming up to us asking, "Are you the couple with three kids, two dogs, two cars, two TV's and an above ground pool in the back yard?" We were grateful that they didn't have a copy of our W2 forms.

What really took the cake was after supper, which I had cooked while standing on my crutch, Bob suggested I elevate my broken toe and he would do the dishes. As I sat on the chaise longue, Bob washed the dishes. (We hadn't learned to bring paper plates yet.) Two couples walked by and said in a loud voice, "Isn't that terrible, look at that poor guy." I could have killed them, if I could have hobbled fast enough. Didn't they see the crutches? I was furious. It didn't bother Bob, but their double standard had infuriated me as well as hurting my self image.

We did not learn how to camp on this maiden voyage, but how not to camp. We were to stay the weekend, instead we arrived at 3 p.m. on Saturday and left by 12 noon on Sunday.

I didn't dare tell Bob, after my campaign to set him camping and spend a great deal in purchasing this pop-up, that I was on the verge of tears. We had been at each other all day, fighting with the kids. This was not the picture of camping I had envisioned or the brochures had depicted.

I hated it. There was no point in sharing my feelings now. I knew I was doomed to endure it for years, no matter what I said. I gritted my teeth and prayed it would get better; it couldn't get worse. I also wasn't about to risk an "I told you so."

Each and every trip was an adventure, as we began, we always wondered what we forgot or what could go wrong? It became almost a game because each time something was forgotten and something always went wrong.

Bob: By the time I did achieve some degree of success in backing this thing into the driveway on the first or second try, the kids were no longer interested in going with us and we had grown weary of sleeping on the bookshelf and wearing raincoats to the bathroom. I had decided that Daniel Boone and Kit Carson really deserved a lot of my respect and decided that the call of the wild was better left to heartier souls.

Not all of our camping trips were disastrous. Often we got to really enjoy it. We didn't fight all the time and occasionally we got along together quite well.

We learned a great deal. Janet learned not to criticize my driving, or choice of a spot, or setting it up; knowing that if I didn't do it, she was the only other qualified adult in the family.

Actually, all kidding aside, these incidents were all based on actual facts.

Our purpose was to show that through a concerted effort of compromise and cooperation, to not criticize, and point out mistakes prolonged what could have been the shortest camping career in history, a maiden voyage to rival the Titanic's, into a pleasurable experience which we looked forward to and enjoyed for quite a few years.

But an even more pleasurable experience which we have enjoyed for quite a few years is our marriage. Our confidence in each other helped to enhance our own self confidence.

CONSISTENTLY GOOD

The John Peel room in the Island Inn is consistently a good restaurant. We have been there a number of times and have always found the food and decor especially enjoyable.

The menu at the John Peel room includes a complete dinner from appetizer through dessert. We had prime ribs there last Thursday and were particularly happy with the large portion of beef along with the fine ambiance of this restaurant, the service was attentive and prompt. As usual we had a good night at the John Peel room.

NICE PLACE

Bumont's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers.

FINE ITALIAN

A really first rate Italian restaurant is located on Hillside Avenue in New Hyde Park. We went to the Flanona Restaurant last week and were amazed at the excellent pasta and veal.

In fact, I am of Italian descent and was surprised that a restaurant could produce food that rivaled the home kitchen preparations of my mother.

I wanted to let everyone in on this exceptional find so I decided to call and give the comments to you so that you can print them in the newspaper.

The service was just fine at the Flanona and it is a nice attractive restaurant. J.L.

HISTORICAL AND GOOD

Last week we went to the Milleridge Inn in Jericho. This large restaurant is like a trip into another world. It has the historical approach to hospitality with the hostesses garbed in American continental dresses. The buildings are wonderfully restored Revolutionary era buildings. The floors are wonderfully shined and add to the special feeling of going to the Milleridge Inn.

The food is exceptionally well prepared and the menu is a large one. Our party of four found it to be a wonderful time and we recommend it to everyone. H.F.

ORIGINALITY, INSPIRATION

The other night we decided to go to a new restaurant and we hit upon the ad for the restaurant with the novel name, Your Place Or Mine in Williston Park. While we had never been there before it appears that many other people had heard of it before us. The small restaurant was filled to overflowing. But we were treated courteously and well.

The food at this restaurant is exceptionally good and prepared in a different modern style. It has wonderful vegetables and the entree of beef that we had was cooked with originality and inspiration. In other words this is not just an ordinary restaurant, we think it is the best. Your Place-Or Mine is located in Williston Park on Hillside Ave. M.J.

The Hunt Room on Seventh Street is my favorite restaurant. I have been going there for a number of years and cannot think of any time I have been disappointed. The Hunt Room is like a small country club in the middle of town. It always has a good selection of very fresh fish and a number of specials each night of both fish and chicken, beef or lamb. WORTH IT
 We watch your restaurant pages each week and last week noticed McKeon's in Hicksville. My husband and I went there for dinner and found it to be a great place. The service was good and the food was delicious. We thought for a minute we had bypassed it because it's on a busy intersection where Broadway (Route 107) and Bloomingdale and New South Roads meet. We're glad we looked for it from the ad in your newspaper—it is definitely worth it. V.K.

STEAK LOBSTER
Barrister's in Mincola is a new clean restaurant that always seems to be a nice place to go. We have been there several times and always found that the Barrister took care of us well. On Thursday we had the surf and turf dinner which gives you just enough steak and a half lobster so that you can enjoy the best of two worlds.
In addition to the main entree they have a nice salad bar at the Barrister which allows you to eat as much of that fare as you wish. And the main course is served with potato and vegetable.
We think that a $10 price for a meal like we had is one of the best buys on L.I. and it is at a nice restaurant to boot. G.R.

Q Whenever I go to a restaurant with my husband, the waiter usually brings us to our table, then pulls out just one chair. Why does he do this?
A. The waiter is picking out what he considers to be a choice seat, either because it faces the room, or has a view, or is out of the stream of traffic. The woman takes this seat, unless for some reason she expresses her preference for another.

When people take time to write us... you know that we've taken the time to throw a spectacular party!

Dear Dennis:
I cannot thank you enough for the absolutely fantastic job you and all of our staff did to make the 5th birthday party for Tony on Friday night, June 19, the "Social Event of the Season."
People have not stopped talking about the wonderful time they had. They told me that you handled the whole thing with the same style and grace that you have shown in the past. All the staff had a smile and added to the very pleasant atmosphere.
The birthday cake, I must say, was not to be believed. It was so beautiful, I never got to taste it. The B. J.'s minicolumn of notes, I think, was even better than the main course the club took on. It must be so, because many of the guests had the same thing.
Thank you for the party and for the wonderful time that you and all of our staff had with the group. We will appreciate, Dennis, to show they are really devoted and had the time of his life. He was thrilled to see beyond anything he could ever have imagined.
Again, Dennis, thank you for making the party so very best. The "Party 50" is beautiful, and I look to go out to get me for me for me for me for me for me for me. It's to be back with you to make your own time.

La Dora

NORTHERN ITALIAN CUISINE

La Dora, named for the river that flows through the Asta Valley, is a consistent, inviting, very good northern Italian restaurant that makes a few side trips.

Rigatoni alla vodka, which has gone from trend to cliché, could make a comeback with La Dora's lush version. The pink sauce incorporates cream, tomatoes, bacon and enough butter for all your bread.

For a mouthful of liveliness, sample the seafood salad. The dressing of olive oil and lemon juice is a perfect gloss for a haul of squid, anchovy and shrimp cracked on romaine lettuce. La Dora's escargots are plump snails, thoroughly garlicked and touched with Gorgonzola. It should appeal even to those who recall the thought of eating these fellows.

La Dora's homey minestrone is a harvest in a bowl, full of seasonal vegetables and tinted with tomato. The stracciatella Fiorentina, or spinach-egg drop soup, by comparison seems sleepy. Not bad, just dull.

Lightness is the key quality for the main courses. Breaded veal with wine and capers is tender meat, flawless and capers is a textbook example of how scaloppine should be cooked. And for a dose of richness, try the veal scaloppine in cream sauce, accompanied by artichoke hearts, silvers of prosciutto and pimiento.

Then, Zevagnin will bring you a plateful of conch, or paper-thin ribbons of fried dough under a snowfall of powdered sugar. You'll like them, even as a substitute for fender sweets.

READER RATINGS

Q What do you do with the wrapper on a lump of sugar when you are dining out in a restaurant? Do you put it on the tablecloth, in the saucer of your cup, or in the ash tray? A.M.

A. This is one of those things for which there is no real rule. You just use common sense. I would say put it on the tablecloth, for if you put it in the ash tray it may start a fire, and if you put it in your saucer it may cause the cup to tip over when you put it back in the saucer.

Q. Have you any tips for parents who take their children to restaurants? These experiences can be hectic, but I feel they are a necessary part of the youngsters' training.

A. Why not pick a restaurant that features children's menus. Avoid places with gourmet food and elaborate service. Choose meals with a few courses as possible. Select foods you know children like-but they are excited and restless, so do not expect them to finish everything on their plates.

After Work Gourmet

By Melanie Barnard
and Brooke Dojny

Pasta is probably America's favorite meal. The old standby of spaghetti and meatballs may be maligned in the world of haute cuisine, but it sure tastes good in the world of real food.

In addition to providing a counterpoint to great sauces and the basis for healthy starch intake, we have discovered a new use for pasta that is especially valuable for warm-weather cooking. At this time of year, when even the most dedicated cook wants to avoid prolonged periods in an overheated kitchen, we have found that freshly cooked pasta can provide its own heat source for cooking accompaniments. Many fresh and delicate raw ingredients, which are most plentiful and appealing in the summer, are at their best after brief cooking periods. So, with the idea that the hot drained pasta could generate enough heat to "cook" its own sauce, we experimented with several ideas and loved the results.

Small pieces of seafood, such as tiny bay scallops, need only a minute of cooking time by any method, and when tossed with steaming capellini, the raw shellfish cooks to a perfect degree of doneness in no time at all. Vine-ripe tomatoes and delicate fresh herbs retain their clear colors and flavors best by brief cooking; cheese tends to burn and separate over anything but the lowest of heat.

Our basic method is to have to all ingredients cut in small sizes and placed, along with all of the sauce components, in the bottom of a mixing bowl. Then the drained hot pasta is immediately turned from the colander into the bowl. All of the ingredients then are gently and thoroughly tossed for about 1 minute during which the "cooking" takes place. The result is a marvelous, fresh-tasting blend of flavors, textures and colors that is super-quick to prepare and requires nothing more than one pot of boiling water to heat up a kitchen.

Either of the recipes that follow creates a dish that constitutes a complete main course and, with little more than a simple green salad and fresh fruit dessert, becomes a complete meal. The most time-consuming part is boiling the water.

CAPELLINI WITH SCALLOPS, LEMON AND DILL

- 1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon zest
- 1/4 teaspoon coarse ground black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 8 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 pound small bay scallops
- 3 tablespoons minced fresh dill or 1 tablespoon dried dill
- 4 scallions
- 12 ounces capellini (angel hair pasta)

- Fresh dill sprigs, optional garnish
- 1 teaspoon julienne of lemon peel made with a lemon zester, optional garnish

Bring large pot of water to boil for pasta.

In large mixing bowl, whisk together lemon zest, pepper, salt, lemon juice and olive oil. Add scallops and minced dill and toss gently. Thinly slice scallions, using most of the green parts, and toss lightly with scallops.

Add about 2 teaspoons salt to boiling water and cook capellini until al dente, 3-5 minutes. Drain well. Immediately pour scallop mixture into pasta pot and add drained hot pasta. Toss lightly but thoroughly for about 1 minute until scallops are opaque.

Serve sprinkled with dill sprigs and julienne of lemon peel of desired.

Yield: 4 servings.
Preparation and cooking time:
25 minutes

CAVATELLI WITH DICED TOMATO AND CHEESE

- 1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
- 8 tablespoons olive oil

- 1/4 teaspoon dried red pepper flakes
- 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 pound ripe plum tomatoes
- 8 ounces mozzarella cheese
- 3 ounces thinly sliced prosciutto (optional)
- 1/4 cup lightly packed fresh basil leaves or 1 tablespoon dried basil
- 12 ounces cavatelli or other similar shaped pasta
- Salt to taste
- Small fresh basil leaves for garnish (optional)

Bring large pot of water to boil for pasta.

In large mixing bowl, whisk together vinegar, oil, pepper flakes, black pepper and garlic.

Core tomatoes and cut in half crosswise. Gently squeeze each half to remove seeds. Cut tomatoes and cheese into rough 1/2-inch dice. Add to mixing bowl and toss. Cut optional prosciutto and fresh basil into slivers. Add to mixing bowl and toss.

Add about 2 teaspoons salt to boiling water and cook cavatelli until al dente, 8-10 minutes. Drain well. Immediately pour tomato mixture into pasta pot and add drained hot pasta. Toss lightly but thoroughly for about 45 seconds until the cheese begins to melt. Taste and add salt if needed. (Prosciutto and cheese can be quite salty.)

Serve garnished with basil leaves, if desired.

Yield: 4 servings.
Preparation and cooking time:
25 minutes.

microwave magic

By Desiree Vivea

We're eating better these days: more fresh vegetables, fruits, whole grains and leaner meats, like chicken. And do we Americans like our chicken! Last year we consumed more than 13 billion pounds of the succulent fowl.

As part of their campaign to inform consumers about the dangers of a high-fat diet, Holly Farms, a major chicken producer, has published a "Fat Alert" booklet. The pamphlet outlines six easy-to-follow steps for reducing fats, as well as a calorie-saving table of fat substitutions. They suggest we remove skin and trim off all visible fat before cooking for reduced calories and cholesterol.

CHICKEN THIGHS PARMESAN

- 6 chicken thighs
- 1/4 cup seasoned bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 10 minutes per pound (plus 2 minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power)

Remove skin from thighs, rinse and pat dry. On wax paper combine bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese. In shallow dish combine butter, mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Brush thighs with butter mixture and then roll in crumbs to lightly coat both sides. Reserve remaining butter mixture and crumbs.

Arrange thighs in circular pattern on microwave-safe roasting utensil; cover with wax paper. Microwave 10 minutes per pound.

Halfway through cooking time, turn thighs over; spoon on remaining butter mixture and sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Cover with a double thickness of paper towels. Complete cooking; remove paper towels during last 2 minutes of cooking time. Let stand, uncovered, 2 minutes before serving.

Serves 3 to 4.

TERIYAKI WINGS

- 9 chicken wings
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 teaspoon dried mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Preparation Time: 5 minutes

Cooking Time: 10 minutes per pound (plus 10 minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power)

Cut wing-tip section from wings and set aside to cook in soup or stew, if desired. Rinse remaining 2-part wing portions and pat dry. In 1-quart zipper-type plastic bag combine remaining ingredients. Add wings to bag and marinate at least 4 hours. (Marinating wings several hours before cooking allows a mild "Oriental" flavor to develop and turns wings a rich mahogany color.)

Place marinated wings on microwave-safe roasting utensil; cover with wax paper. Microwave 10 minutes per pound. Halfway through cooking time, turn wings over; re-cover and complete cooking. Let stand, covered, 10 minutes before serving.

Serves 3.

CHICKEN PICCATA

- 2 whole boneless chicken breasts, split
- 1 1/4 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1 large lemon
- 1 to 2 tablespoons melted

butter or margarine

- 1/2 cup water
- 3 tablespoons dry white wine
- 1/4 teaspoon regular or low-sodium chicken broth granules

Preparation Time: 5 to 10 minutes

Cooking Time: 10 minutes (plus minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Cut chicken breasts in half; rinse and pat dry. Place breasts between sheets of plastic wrap; with meat mallet or edge of plate, pound each breast half into about a 1/4-inch-thick cutlet.

On wax paper mix bread crumbs and salt. In shallow dish beat egg and milk with fork until blended. Dip cutlets into egg mixture and then into bread crumb mixture to coat both sides. Set aside for 10 minutes so coating can set.

Preheat microwave browning grill or dish according to manufacturer's directions. Meanwhile, cut 6 thin slices from lemon and set aside; from remaining portion squeeze 1 tablespoon juice. When grill is preheated, brush lightly with butter. Place breaded cutlets on grill; cover with wax paper. Microwave 7 minutes. Let stand, uncovered, 2 minutes. Place cutlets on serving platter; cover with paper towel.

In small bowl, combine water, wine, lemon juice and chicken broth. Pour onto microwave browning grill; stir to loosen brown bits. Microwave 3 minutes, stirring twice. To serve, spoon sauce over cutlets. Garnish with reserved lemon slices.

Serves 4.

What's hot? Sticky, spicy cinnamon rolls!

Lynette Finch bakes cinnamon rolls based on the recipe from her grandmother, Mabel Campbell, who moved from Wisconsin to Great Falls, Mont., and then to San Diego, always carrying her method for Parker House/Cinnamon Rolls.

Finch says that Campbell, "was a wonderful grandmother and a good cook. The kind of cook who whips up scrumptious meals at the drop of a hat — not gourmet but just good plain, wholesome food. Her cinnamon rolls were famous in our family — Grandma Campbell fixed them anytime we all came to her house to stay. We would wake up to the smell of those cinnamon rolls baking and scramble to the kitchen to watch her finish them off and drizzle the icing over the top.

"When I became a young woman with a kitchen of my own to run, I wrote and requested her roll recipes. She sent back this recipe which I still have in the green ink she used to write it."

GRANDMA CAMPBELL'S HOT ROLLS

- 1 cup milk
  - 1 cup water
  - 4 tablespoons lard or shortening
- Bring to a boil and cool to tepid. Add:
- 2 beaten eggs
  - $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar
  - 1 tablespoon salt
  - Cinnamon coating
  - Melted butter (4-6 tablespoons)
  - 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
  - 1 cup sugar

Dissolve 3 yeast cakes or dry yeast in  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup water (tepid). Add 5 to 6 cups flour to make stiff dough. Knead on board. Remove to greased bowl and cover. Let rise to twice its size.

Roll out dough on floured board until a little thicker than pie crust. Pull and shape as square as possible. Spread generously with melted butter.

Combine cinnamon with sugar and sprinkle over buttered dough. Starting at the side next to you, roll snugly to other side. Wet edge with cold water underneath the seal to roll.

Using sharp knife, slice rounds of rolled dough 1 inch thick.

Arrange cut rolls next to each other in baking pan, leaving a small space between rolls for rising. Let rise until double in size and bake in preheated 375 F oven 30 minutes.

Make thin icing of powdered sugar and milk or water and pour it over rolls while they are hot.

Note: Finch usually turns the dough over once in the greased bowl so that both sides are greased and the cloth covering the rising dough does not stick to the dough (she wets the cloth). She also beats her oven to 150 F and places the bowl of rising dough on top — because the yeast needs warmth to rise.

CINNAMON ROLLED BISCUITS

Baking powder biscuit dough:

- 2 cups flour
  - $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
  - 2 teaspoons baking powder
  - $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cream of tartar
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
  - $\frac{1}{4}$  cup vegetable shortening
  - $\frac{3}{4}$  cup milk
- Filling:
- 2-4 tablespoons butter, melted
  - $\frac{1}{4}$  cup brown sugar
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped walnuts or pecans
  - $\frac{1}{4}$  cup raisins (optional)

Biscuit dough: Preheat oven to 425 F. In large mixing bowl, stir and toss together flour, salt, baking powder, cream of tartar and sugar until completely mixed. Drop in shortening and work it into dry ingredients, using pastry blender, two knives or fingertips, until a fine, irregular mixture of small crumbs is achieved, resembling fresh bread crumbs.

Add milk all at once and stir briskly with fork just until dough holds together. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface and gently knead dough about 12 to 14 times (usually less than a minute) until smooth and no longer sticky.

Prepare Cinnamon Rolls: Place dough on lightly floured surface. Push, pat and roll dough into a rectangle about  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch thick. Brush it with melted butter. Combine brown sugar, cinnamon, walnuts or pecans and raisins in small bowl and mix them together. Spread nut/sugar mixture evenly over dough, pressing in with hands.

Beginning at one of long ends, roll dough into a tight cylinder, like a jelly roll. Cut into slices about 1 inch thick and place them on baking sheet or in cake pans, about  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch apart. In preheated oven, bake 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Remove from oven and serve warm.

And, speaking of cinnamon, here are some more baking recipes featuring the spice.

CINNAMON ENGLISH MUFFIN BREAD

- 2 ( $\frac{1}{4}$  ounce) packages active dry yeast (2 tablespoons)
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 cup warm water (110 F)
- 1 cup milk, room temperature
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup honey
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup butter, melted
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup raisins
- $5\frac{1}{2}$ -6 cups all purpose or bread flour
- Cornmeal

In large bowl of electric mixer, dissolve yeast and sugar in water. Let stand until foamy, 5 to 10 minutes. Add milk, honey, butter, salt and 2 to 2 $\frac{1}{4}$  cups flour. Beat at medium speed with electric mixer 2 minutes OR beat 200 vigorous strokes by hand. Stir in cinnamon, nutmeg, vanilla, raisins and enough remaining flour to make soft dough.

Turn out dough onto lightly floured surface. Clean and grease bowl; set aside. Knead dough 6 to 8 minutes or until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl, turning to coat all sides. Cover with slightly damp towel. Let rise in warm place, free from drafts, until slightly more than doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Grease 2 8x4-inch loaf pans; generously sprinkle cornmeal over bottoms and sides. After dough's first rising, punch down dough; divide in half. Shape into loaves. Generously sprinkle cornmeal over tops. Press into surface of each loaf. Place dough in prepared pans. Cover with dry towel. Let rise second time in warm place, free from drafts, until doubled — about 45 minutes.

Meanwhile, preheat oven to 375 F. When dough has doubled, slash loaf tops as desired and bake loaves 30 to 35 minutes or until bread sounds hollow when tapped on bottom. Remove from pans. Cool on racks.

Yields 2 loaves.

This is a batter bread that only needs to be mixed together and baked.

HOT CINNAMON BATTER BREAD

- $\frac{1}{4}$  pound butter
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon ground cloves
- 2 to 2 $\frac{1}{4}$  cups unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1 egg, beaten
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup buttermilk
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon baking soda
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon baking powder

Preheat oven to 350 F. Cream butter and sugar; add spices and mix in flour well. Reserve  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of this crumbly mixture for top. Add beaten egg and buttermilk mixed with the soda and baking powder to the rest.

Pour into a greased, floured 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -quart ovenproof glass baking dish. Cover top with the reserved crumbly mixture. Bake 30 to 35 minutes. Serve hot with butter.

This cake contrasts the textures of chewy sponge cake, soft whipped cream and crunchy crushed candy.

CINNAMON CRUNCH CAKE

- 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  cups granulated sugar
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup water
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup light corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon baking soda
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon oil of cinnamon
- 1 (10-inch) sponge or chiffon cake, purchased or homemade
- 2 cups heavy (whipping) cream
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup powdered sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon vanilla

In heavy 3- to 4-quart pan, combine granulated sugar, water and corn syrup. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, until syrup registers 300 F on candy thermometer.

Remove from heat immediately; quickly stir in baking soda and oil of cinnamon. Stir until blended; then immediately pour foamy mixture onto a 12-inch square of buttered foil. Let cool; break into coarse crumbs with a flat-surfaced mallet or rolling pin.

Split cake horizontally into 4 equal layers. Whip cream until stiff; blend in powdered sugar and vanilla. Reassemble cake on serving plate, spreading half the cream between layers. Spread remaining cream over top and sides of cake. Pat crushed candy generously over top and sides. (There will be leftover candy; store it airtight.)

This is an unusual nutty-cinnamon flavored cookie that has its own baked-on frosting.

CINNAMON STARS

- $3\frac{1}{4}$  cups very finely ground hazelnuts or almonds
- 1 $\frac{1}{4}$  cups superfine granulated sugar
- 7 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- 1 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 3 egg whites
- Royal Icing (recipe follows)

Combine hazelnuts, superfine sugar, confectioners' sugar and cinnamon in a large bowl; beat in egg whites, blending well to make a stiff dough; wrap in waxed paper; chill several hours or overnight. The mixture will be sticky.

Roll out dough between sheets of waxed paper to a  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thickness. Remove top sheet of waxed paper. With a 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch star cookie cutter, cut out as many stars as you can. Carefully remove dough from bottom sheet of waxed paper. Place dough on greased cookie sheets. Reroll scraps of dough and cut out as many stars as you can. Let stand 3 hours to dry.

Prepare Royal Icing (see below). Preheat oven to 350 F. Spread tops of cookies evenly with icing, using a metal spatula; let stand 15 minutes, or until icing is dry to touch.

Bake in preheated 350 F oven 20 minutes, or until icing is light brown. Remove cookies from oven; let stand on cookie sheets 1 minute, then remove with wide spatula to wire racks to cool thoroughly.

Yields 2 dozen cookies.

Royal Icing: Beat 1 egg white and a pinch of cream of tartar in small bowl until foamy. Slowly beat in  $1\frac{1}{4}$  cups sifted confectioners' sugar until icing forms firm peaks. Keep icing covered with damp towel while working.

When you

My driveway is cracking up

Q: Our asphalt circular driveway is beginning to show the wear and tear of the years. Although most of the cracks are small on the surface, there are also a number of small potholes that need repairing.

The first step is cleaning. Sweep the surface clean of all debris. With a flat spade, lift any encrusted dirt and grease deposits. You can scrape the surface hard with the spade without fear of damage.

Next use an oil/grease detergent made especially for cleaning asphalt driveways. Mix and apply the detergent to the driveway. Use plenty of detergent and a stiff broom to scrub the mixture into the asphalt. Rinse with plenty of clear water to remove all dirt and grime. Let the surface dry completely and then inspect it for any remaining signs of grease or dirt. You will need to remove all signs of grease and dirt prior to the application of a top coat or the new surface will not stick properly.

After cleaning, inspect the area for cracks and potholes that will require patching. This would include cracks that are 1/4-inch or more wide. Smaller cracks and fissures will not require patching as the new top coating will fill these better than a patching compound. Soft spots that appear as hollows in the surface and seem "wrinkled" will also require treatment prior to resurfacing. Usually, when you tap a chisel into one of these spots, the surface will readily crumble.

With the chisel, clean the breaks in the surface. Remove all of the soft and crumbly asphalt and cut back into the harder lower layer. You will probably end up with an area somewhat larger than it started out (both cracks and potholes). However if you do not get all the old loose material out, the new patch will not adhere properly. Clean out the chiseled areas with a stiff broom or you can use the garden hose to flush out the area as long as you let it dry completely before using patching material.

Don't skimp on the blacktop filler (sold in premixed bags). When filling the cracks and potholes slightly overfill, mounding the mixture over the patched area so it is slightly higher than the normal level. For larger potholes, try tamping the mixture as you fill the hole to compact it in layers as you go. Now place a scrap of hardboard or plywood over the patched areas and drive your car over the flat wood. The weight of the car will compress the patch into the cavity. Patching compound works best in weather that is 70 degrees Fahrenheit or higher. Let the patches set about two weeks before you apply the top coating. Be sure to sweep the area to remove any little chunks of the sticky asphalt patching.

Apply the top coat (a liquid asphalt driveway coating) in wide ribbons to about 35 square feet of area at one time. You can pour the coating directly out of the container onto the driveway. Using a coating applicator (a wide, large broom) spread the mixture out evenly. Work the topping with into little cracks in the asphalt, then "level" the topping with light, even strokes. The trick is not to leave any puddles of topping on the surface, but to spread it out.

Wait 24 hours for the first coating to dry before applying a second top coating. Then let the job set for at least 36 hours before using. You should renew the asphalt surface about once every three years.

Q: After about a year of use my dishwasher looks dingy and dirty on the inside. It still cleans the dishes, but I would like to know if there is any particular product that would clean away the stains and water deposits? — A.T.

A: Powdered laundry bleach will help considerably. Simply fill the soap container with the bleach instead of a dishwasher detergent. Run the machine empty for the full cycle. This will both clean and disinfect the washer.

even though I can't get SSI? Federal law says that your children are not forced to support you or keep you from getting help. Can I get Medicaid or SSI? — L.B., Cumberland, Md.

A: The problem you have in getting Medicaid or SSI is that you own your home. Both programs are welfare-based where assets cannot exceed $2,000.

You should have Medicare to assist significantly with your medical bills. If you do not yet have this coverage, get to the Social Security office immediately.

Welfare agencies will take the position that you can refinance or effect a sales-leaseback of your home, to provide the cash you need.

I suggest you contact your local area Agency on Aging — there is one in every county of the United States — to seek information on local services that might be available to you based on your actual income as a part of the mean test. You should qualify easily for the luncheon meals programs, and even some personal-assist services. There can be a wealth of services available to you that can be cost-free or at low cost, reducing your present budgetary concerns.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 13 and an only child. Both my parents work every day so I'm left alone at home during the summer. I've asked my parents if they would allow me to have a cat or dog but they say no because pets are dirty and smelly. This isn't true because I would keep my pet clean, well fed and well loved.

Please tell me how I can convince them that a pet would be good for me. I want a pet very much. Please answer my letter; it's very, very important to me. — Bruce Bruce: Dr. James Lynch, professor of psychology at the University of Maryland, is an expert on human loneliness and he has found that pets can reinforce ties between family members and encourage activities and interaction.

"Pets make you laugh and take your mind off of your troubles. They are marvelous therapeutic agents," he says.

Pets are excellent companions for youngsters who are alone after school because both parents are working. A study by a University of Minnesota group found that pets serve as beneficial playmates, provide comfort and enhance a child's self-esteem. The researchers further concluded that as sources of love, companionship and responsibility, pets can help smooth the transition from childhood to young adulthood.

"Dogs and cats provide affection and companionship, and are also one of nature's sources of love. And love is one of the most important health tonics we have," Lynch says.

For a wonderful free booklet to share with your parents, please write to: Pets Are Wonderful (PAW), 500 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 200, Chicago, IL 60611, and ask for Pets Are Wonderful Family Members. Good luck. I hope your parents reconsider.

Dr. Wallace: I am 13 and have a big problem. This summer I have to baby-sit my sister's 3-year-old son who happens to have a very bad habit — he bites. Already he has bitten me three times and once I had to go to the doctor for treatment.

To make things worse, my sister has a puppy and he also bites — not hard but it hurts.

I'm afraid if my sister doesn't get muzzles for her son and dog, I'll be eaten before school starts. Help! — Tina

Tina: Talk to your mother and have her settle the matter one way or another. Young puppies bite because they are teething and also the bites are usually playful and not vicious. Not so for the 3-year-old boy. Stern discipline applied to his "bottom" can do wonders in helping to eliminate his "problem."

According to Dr. Ellie Goldstein, a California bite specialist, he would rather be bitten by a dog than by a human if given the choice, because people's bites often transmit more bacteria than those from an animal, and they are the ones most likely to become infected.

Goldstein suggests washing the wound from a bite immediately with soap and water and seeking professional help if pain persists or swelling occurs.

Dr. Wallace: You stated that a "popular" teen is honest, friendly, loyal, smiles a lot and has a good sense of humor. Do you really honestly believe that? Let me give you my traits of popular teens.

First, they must be attractive and have good bodies — girls slim, boys a "hunk."

Next, their parents must be socialites and that means they have money, which also means the popular teen will have a snazzy car.

Oh, yes, intelligence must be present. Dumb students are never popular even if they are honest, smile a lot. —

Drugs, alcohol and sex are definitely in for popularity. Popular girls will only have sex with popular guys but popular guys will have sex with any girl who is ready, willing and able.

Also, popular teens have parties in their homes without supervision. Naturally, only popular kids are invited. Besides doing drugs, getting drunk and having sex, these popular teens talk about going to college, making money and spending the summer in Europe.

Since I'm average-looking, work hard for my money, have slightly above-average intelligence and don't plan on going to college I have nothing to smile about.

I must admit that I enjoy reading your column regularly even though I only agree with you half the time. That's not too bad, I guess, because I only agree with my teachers and my parents about 10 percent of the time. — Kim

Kim: You and I have different interpretations of the word "popular." (Webster's defines popular as pleasing or approved by a majority of the people.) But that is what makes life interesting. If we all agreed on everything it would make things very "unpopular!"

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Help for 'notch year' beneficiaries?

Q: I would like to know if an ex-spouse can collect on her former husband's pension when he retires?

We have been married for 30 years and are now in the process of getting a divorce. He is 55 and I am 56.

I understand there is a new federal law to take care of ex-spouses. He is leaving me with nothing. I lose health insurance, dental, etc.

I think I have earned half of that pension. What can I do? — J.N., Piedmont, W.Va.

A: You probably need to start with a new attorney as it sounds as if your soon-to-be ex-husband is dictating the terms of the divorce. If your state has community property provisions, you should receive half of any assets.

On health insurance, a good attorney can probably negotiate for a continuance — at least for period of time — funded by your husband.

The legislation regarding access to pensions concerned military pensions, and has upheld the right by ex-spouses for a portion of military pensions.

Divorce laws vary from state to state, but you will find most of them with far more protection for the woman who is cut off from income and pension benefits.

You probably have more rights than you are assuming — or that your husband is allowing — right now. This is a job for a tough, legal professional to work on your behalf.

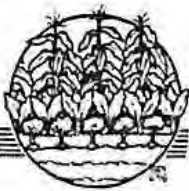

Q: I am a woman, age 80. I would like to be eligible for SSI. I am partially deaf — really deaf without a hearing aid.

My Social Security check is only $218 per month. I own my home and receive room and board from a son, who has to live with me because of my safety and well-being.

Would I be eligible for Medicaid

Backyard Gardener

By Patrick Denton

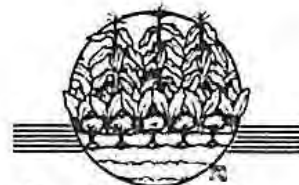

It's about this time each summer that I try to spend a little time with my garden diary, making lists of outstanding vegetables and annual flowers to repeat next year, and even beginning to plan for next year's garden.

If it seems a little odd to be deliberating so far ahead, it's also very logical when you think about it. After all, the current garden is now fresh in the mind. Spots of ground that have shown an obvious need for added fertility stand clearly revealed. Perennial plants that failed to bloom at their woody center can be noted while the disappointment is fresh in the mind so we'll remember to divide and rejuvenate them early next spring (or in the fall in mild winter climates).

This too is often the time when I pot up a few small plants from the garden to bring in later for autumn houseplants — a young French marigold cut back and fertilized; a baby alyssum plant or two; a small, dark opal basil from our late-seeded outdoor planting; one of the dwarf, tiny-leaved and neatly mounded spicy globe basil plants that are edging the flower bed beside our driveway. And I usually start more houseplants from cuttings of pineapple sage, geranium, coleus and zonal geraniums for young plants that are far easier to keep indoors in the winter than their more ponderous parents.

Small fuchsia and Martha Washington geranium plants are also most convenient to find places for over the winter. These require very cool but frost-free conditions to survive successfully and flower well next year.

One looming theme in our calculations this summer as we assess the garden and how it is meeting our needs is the desire to simplify. Like many home gardeners, who find their beloved hobby just a little overwhelming at times, we are always looking for ways to streamline the makeup of our garden to make it as convenient and satisfying as possible to care for.

insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution.

At last! Apparently a great compromise on composition of Congress Philadelphia, July 23, 1787 (Delayed) After a long month of hot humid weather, the atmosphere has become cool and dry during the past week.

While it is not clearly established if there is a correlation between weather and the accomplishments of mankind, we do know that a great compromise has been arrived at by delegates to the Federal Convention, resolving the problem of composition of the lower house of Congress.

Earlier in the summer most of the delegates of the twelve states (Rhode Island still refuses to attend) agreed on the need for a more effective form of government than provided by the Articles of Confederation. Moving ahead without specific authority, they boldly devised a plan for a highly centralized federal form consisting of, in addition to a congress, an executive and a judicial branch. The individual states would surrender some of their sovereign rights to this central government and in doing so would become part of a more perfect union.

The plan calls for a two house Congress, and it was on the distribution of membership among the states in these two houses that the delegates spent long hours in debate.

The smaller states wanted equal representation as in the existing Continental Congress. The larger states wanted the number of Congressmen from each state to be in proportion to the size of that state's population. The opinion of the mid-size states varied according to the specifics of the resolution at hand.

At the beginning of this week they compromised: the lower house representation would be on the basis of population; the Senate would have equality from each state.

That evening the large states' delegates were seen meeting informally in the Indian Queen Tavern. Possibly they were discussing an effort to overturn the compromise. In any event nothing came of it.

By John Zweibel, Observer

The first logical step in the simplification of a garden plan is to pinpoint difficult-to-manage spots that bring the greatest frustration for one reason or other. Sometimes it's just a matter of improving the condition of the soil in an area to make it simpler to garden in. Each year we try to pinpoint impoverished areas for beefing up with compost or composted manures.

But some spots, ones filled with tree roots for example, we are content to use as composting sites. Other areas lacking in usable soil we plan to make beautiful with potted plants

When a real need arises to pare down the garden chores, it's sometimes a good idea to look for a bed or two that can be eliminated. We're doing that this fall — nothing drastic, just extending the lawn to take the place of two very small and rather picky flower beds. We'll lose only a minuscule amount of growing area, but we'll eliminate a good deal of awkward toil.

As fall approaches we also begin casting a calculating eye upon parts of our yard that we'd like to upgrade, renovate or landscape with some permanent plantings. Lining up perennials and shrubs for a site is just a matter of choosing ones with the greatest personal appeal from kinds that will adapt well to the area.

Assessing a site for permanent plantings involves determining how dry or moist the soil stays in summer and winter, how robust and fertile the soil, how much sun the area receives, how well drained it is. All these factors will come into play when choosing plants.

Few tolerate wet soils. Some that do are Japanese iris, ferns, astilbe, and bleeding heart. Some permanent plantings will thrive in warm and sunny spots and will tolerate some drought when established — lavender, yucca, broom, cotoneaster, rosemary, rugosa roses, sedum, yarrow, beebalm, dusty miller.

Others do best with shelter from hot sun and a well-drained but evenly moist soil. These include most woodland type plants like ferns, hostas, lily-of-the-valley and, where they are hardy, rhododendrons and azaleas.

Simple, no-sew fabric treatments soften windows

Decor Score

By Sharon Owen Haven

SIMPLE DRAPE — Even where curtains are not needed or wanted, a simple drape of fabric can add interest to a window and soften its architectural lines.

Q: We have a very old home with thick walls and deep-set windows. There are folding solid shutters on the inside so we don't really need curtains (nor is there space for them when the shutters are open.) But the windows look too bare to me. How can I warm them up a bit? — B.C.

A: You might try a simple drape of a lightweight sheer fabric at the top of the window just to soften its perimeter. It might even be possible to find scarves or light shawls that can be used instantly without resort to a sewing machine. They all should be sufficiently thin to fit inside the window well without hampering the shutters.

Another option is to paint the woodwork around the window a different color than the walls and/or add a fabric treatment outside the window well along the outer perimeter of the molding on the wall. Again, a simple, no-sew drape knotted at the two upper corners would do the trick.

If your window well is deep and low enough you might take an entirely different approach and turn it into a window seat. An inviting niche of cushions and pillows has to be the ultimate way to warm up bare windows!

Q: My daughter has outgrown her frilly curtains and canopied bed. She has a new bed with a black-and-white striped comforter and red skirt. All her furniture is white. We still need draperies, wallpaper and accessories. Could you give us some suggestions to make the room attractive and less masculine — E.T.

A: Black and white can definitely be harsh without the relief of some bright color. Since you've chosen a red bed skirt, that's the obvious accent color to repeat elsewhere in the room.

Before deciding on window treatments or wallpaper, see if there is a theme or design motif that appeals to your daughter. Does she have a special hobby or interest like dancing, horses, sports, rock stars? Or do the shapes of hearts or apples or cherries appeal to her?

If she has a particular interest, you can add warmth and personality to her room with appropriate pictures or posters framed in red. Or you could pick hearts, apples, cherries or flowers as design motifs to add feminine accents of red to the room.

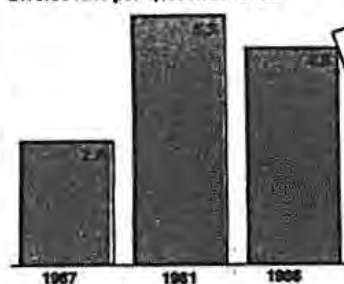

If you use a hobby theme, I would keep the wallpaper simple — a clean geometric in black, white with maybe some red, certainly nothing fussy. If your daughter likes one of the red design motifs, you probably can find a paper that incorporates it.

I would suggest you opt for tailored fabric window treatment like Roman shades or laminated fabric shades, for example. You might repeat the black and white stripe on the windows, relieved with a red heart-shaped pull. Pile pillows on the bed — at least one of them a red heart.

Your mirror is a fine example of its type

Q: This mirror was among the things that I inherited from my grandparents. Can you tell me anything about its vintage and value? It is over 3 feet high and almost 2 feet wide. It is made of walnut.

A: This mirror would be classified as Victorian Renaissance Revival and was made in the third quarter of the 19th century. It is a very fine example of its type.

A dealer would price it at from $375 to $425.

Q: I have started a collection of beer steins, but I don't know much about them. Could you explain why steins have hinged lids?

A: In the early 16th century, a hinged lid was added to beer mugs to keep flies out of the beer. The bubonic plague had made the Germans very health-conscious.

The original name was steinzeugkrug which means "stone-ware jug." It was eventually shortened to stein.

In the last half of the 19th century thousands of handsome steins were produced by Villeroy & Boch in Mettlach, Germany. These are the most popular with collectors today.

One of the best books on steins is the "The Stein Book" by Gary Kirsner and Jim Gruhl.

Q: This mark is on the bottom of a porcelain chocolate set consisting of the pot and six cups and saucers. It is decorated with a picture of a beautiful lady with some doves.

Who made this set, where, when, and what would it sell for?

A: Your chocolate set was made by Erdmann Schlegelmilch in Suhl, Germany, about 1860.

This is a very early mark and your set would sell in an antique shop for about $275 to $325.

Q: At a recent antique show, one of the dealers was displaying a fireman's trumpet with a price of $500. Are things like this really so valuable?

A: Fire-fighting collectibles are very popular. There is a newsletter on the subject, "Firemanics." Here are some of the items currently being listed:

- Badge — $30.
- Bucket, galvanized — $85.
- Bucket, leather — $1,250.
- Alarm box, iron — $140.
- Firehouse alarm bell — $350.
- Helmet — $140.
- Trumpet horn — $550.
- Hose nozzle — $40.
- Watch fob — $35.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Dogs and cats are vulnerable to snakebite

Q: Are dogs and cats susceptible to poisonous snakebites? We live on the edge of town and allow our pets to roam about the neighboring fields and woods. There are poisonous snakes in the area. The animals are very curious and I constantly worry that one of them will get bitten.

A: Poisonous snakes kill more animals annually than do all other animals combined, except for man. There are over 100,000 animal deaths in the world each year attributed to snakebites. Over 15,000 domestic animals are bitten annually in the United States. Rattlesnakes account for approximately 80 percent of the deaths due to poisonous snakebites of domestic animals in the United States.

There are two classes of poisonous snakes — the elapine, which include coral snakes, and viperines, which include pit vipers. Examples of pit vipers are the rattlesnake, cottonmouth, moccasin and copperhead. Elapine snakes have short fangs and tend to hang on and chew their victims. Their venom affects the nervous system of the victim and kills by paralyzing the respiratory system. Viperine snakes have long, hinged fangs. They strike their victims and then withdraw. The venom of viperines causes a lot of tissue damage at the bite site. The tissue around the bite usually dies and rapidly decays.

Domestic animals vary in their susceptibility to the venom of pit vipers. In descending order of susceptibility are the horse, sheep, goat, dog, rabbit, pig and cat. In other words, horses are most susceptible and cats are least susceptible. Cats often survive snakebites that would probably be fatal to a dog of the same size. Dogs and cats are the species most often presented to veterinarians for treatment. Due to the small weight of dogs in proportion to the amount of venom injected, the bite of even a small snake is often fatal.

Because of their size, horses and cattle seldom die as a result of snakebites. However, very serious wounds often result. Animals bitten by snakes should be presented to a veterinarian as soon as possible following the bite. If possible, the snake should be killed and also presented to the veterinarian. The snake's head should not be mutilated because identification is often dependent on the characteristics of the head. Animal owners should not endanger themselves or waste a lot of time in pursuing the snake.

If the bite occurred on the legs, a flat tourniquet should immediately be applied between the bite wound and the animal's body. Care must be taken to not apply the tourniquet too tightly. A good rule to follow is to test the tightness by inserting a finger under the tourniquet band and if this can be done easily, it is applied properly. A tourniquet properly applied can be left in place for up to two hours.

Animal owners should not try to remove the venom from the bite wound. Applying a tourniquet, keeping the animal calm and transporting the animal to a veterinarian as soon as possible will maximize the chance of recovery. Snakebites are a serious danger for both humans and animals.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

As I write these words to you, July is drawing to a close. This Sunday we will be going into a new month.

August, the eighth month of the calendar year, was named after the Roman emperor Caius Julius Caesar Octavianus. He was the stepson and heir of the famous Julius Caesar, and he was given the title "Augustus" (which means venerated), after his victory at the Battle of Actium in 31 B.C.

Augustus later spent much time in beautifying the city of Rome. It was said of him that he found Rome in brick and left it in marble!
