Assessed Value Hike May Stabilize Taxes

School District Taxes for Hicksville and Plainview should not increase drastically, according to Abe Seldin, Chairman of the Nassau County Board of Assessors.

With an increase of nearly $2.8 million for Hicksville and $2.4 million for Plainview in taxable valuation from last year, Seldin said that unless the School Districts approved large increases in their budgets the cost to individual taxpayers should remain stable.

"School taxes are determined by assessed property value and the amount of the School District's budget," Seldin said. "The property values in Nassau County have not changed since 1938, except when additional building has occurred."

"Recent new construction in the county, plus the five year building phase in currently units second year should help keep taxes stable," Seldin said. "The phase-in required by state law is for reassessed values of existing commercial and industrial properties."

"The greater the overall value of taxable valuation the more people there are to share the taxes needed to support the school districts," he said.

"An increase in taxable assessed value helps offset any increases in spending and keeps the tax rate from going up as much as if the school district's taxable assessed value remains the same or goes down," Seldin said.

"The trend should continue over the next few years," he said.

Mari Street (Gebhardt Park Plaza).

by for additional alarms at Hicksville Fire Headquarters.

Overall command of the scene was handled by Hicksville Fire Captains Schweitzer and Kohn. The Hicksville F.D. Hazardous Materials team under Lt. O. Magee, of the County Fire Haz-Mat Unit attempted to identify the fumes. Shortly after, the N.C. Police Haz-Mat Unit arrived and the combined units worked together to take samples of leftover material in the drums. Brunswick Hospital later in the day identified the material as chemicals used in the manufacture of perfume. The chemicals were slightly toxic but most of the problems stemmed from the fact the fumes were strong inside and the hot weather outside.

The original user of the drums also responded to the scene at 62 Alpha Plaza off W. John St., opposite the entrance to Cantiague Park. Although the day was long, all agencies and firms involved cooperated. There were no serious injuries and units left the scene at 6:45 p.m. after the drums were removed.

Editor's Notebook

A recent editorial comment regarding people who deposit their trash at curbside on a Saturday or Sunday for a Monday pickup certainly caused quite a stir! We received many calls from readers who agreed that this is an unsightly practice and from others telling us that there is a Town of Oyster Bay Ordinance that is enforceable.

A call to the Sanitation Department revealed that garbage/rubbish should be placed for collection the night before pickup (usually not prior to 5 p.m.) and containers be removed within 12 hours on scheduled sanitation days. Violators will be given a verbal warning on the first offense and summonses will be issued to repeat offenders.

Residents can call in complaints anonymously and just give the location to anyone at the Sanitation Dept. 921-3850 (the office is not open on weekends).

On the subject of Town of Oyster Bay ordinances, residents are advised that door-to-door vendors or profit making organizations must obtain a permit from the Town Clerk's office. If anyone comes knocking on your door - ask to see it! If a solicitor at your door cannot produce a permit issued by the Town Clerk or proof of State Charities Registration (not-for-profit organizations) don't hesitate to contact your local police precinct.

Installation Planned For Hicksville Chamber

Plans are well under way for the Annual Installation Dinner Dance being held by the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening, September 15 starting with cocktails at 6:30.

Incumbent President, Marcos Ramirez has been re-elected, along with a slate of officers and directors to serve for the coming year.

Anyone interested in attending this gala event, being held at Antun's on Old Country Road in Hicksville, can make reservations by calling the Chamber office at 931-7071. Following the cocktail hour, there will be a formal sit-down dinner and dancing. Everyone is welcome.

This is always a well-attended function since it starts the fiscal year for the Chamber and gives everyone a chance to get together following the summer repast.

The Chamber meets throughout the year on the third Tuesday of every month. Presently, meetings are held at the Quaker Room of the Millbridge Inn at 12:30. Anyone in the business community, or interested in community activities is welcome to join - or even to pay a visit to a Chamber meeting and the present membership looks forward to a progressive year ahead.

Letters

To The Editor:

During the last several months, residents of the Northwest corner of Hicksville have had to put up with the installation of Sewer drains, new curbs, sidewalks and a repaving of streets. There were never large work crews, but at least there were workers every day laying concrete and doing other jobs necessary.

For the past two weeks all the workers have disappeared. The only things remaining are the dusty streets, the ripped up curbs and the tremendous hardship that all the residents of this area have had to endure.

We heard rumors that there was a concrete strike and that accounted for the lack of work. However, a recent call to the Town of Oyster Bay Engineering Department, and a discussion with Mr. Morello, resulted in a startling revelation. The contractor has been allowed, by the Town of Oyster Bay, to walk off the job and to complete another job.

As a resident of the Northwest section of Hicksville, I deplore the cavalier attitude on the part of the Township in allowing this contractor to suspend work while he finishes another commitment; thus placing hundreds, if not thousands, of families in a great deal of discomfort, dirt and grime.

Very truly yours,
Robert W. Zaleski

This letter is being printed on request.

Joseph Colby, Supervisor
Town of Oyster Bay
Audrey Avenue
Oyster Bay, New York 11771

Dear Mr. Colby:

I am writing in reference to the street and curb construction that has been in progress for the past two months at Nevada Street, Princess Street and the cross streets in between in Hicksville.

I have resided in Hicksville for the past twenty three years and I have never witnessed a more disgusting mess than what I have lived through this entire summer.

I have, on numerous occasions, called your office, various town officials and men directly connected to the contracted construction company, and yet the situation is unchanged. It is the old story, tomorrow, tomorrow.

I have been informed that the cement workers, who were sub-contracted, are off in another town fulfilling a previous commitment. How deplorable!

How long must we eat, breathe and sleep in dirt?

Where are the street cleaners? We have not seen one this entire summer. All we see is dirt.

Mr. Colby, we deserve better than this. As taxpayers, on behalf of my neighbors, fellow community members and myself, I am demanding better.

Sincerely,
Linda L. Hild

College Notes

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI) has announced the names of high school students who have been awarded the Rensselaer Medal.

From the local area are:

Robert Jacobs of 14 Theodore Drive, Plainview, son of Barry Jacobs, Bethpage High School.

Joshua Rosenow of 25 Maxine Avenue, Plainview, son of Richard and Linda Rosenow, Plainview-Old Bethpage High School.

Each year, RPI presents the Rensselaer Medal to high school students for outstanding achievements in the study of mathematics and science during their junior year. One junior from each of approximately 1,700 high schools is selected to receive the award.

Army Capt. Christopher G. Essig, son of George R. and Anna Essig of 55 Ellen St., Bethpage, has graduated from the Army's Combined Arms and Services Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The cornerstone of the Army's officer education system, the nine week course is designed to train officers in the skills needed to be an effective staff member with the force in the field.

The curriculum included preparing a command budget, setting up training programs, mobilizing and deploying mock units and giving staff presentations.

Art Exhibits Sept. Scheduling

The 1987 Rotating Art Exhibits, sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town of Oyster Bay Department of Community Services, will continue their tour of Town banks, libraries and businesses during the month of September. It was announced by Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes.

Now in its 13th year, the 1987 Rotating Art Program features 48 local artists proficient in a variety of art forms including photography, watercolors, oil painting and handmade Teddy bears. Hynes noted that for September, eight banks, nine libraries, three businesses and three Town facilities will display the exhibits.

A fuller life through achievement

Christine is blind. At Helen Keller Services for the Blind, we know it's important to help blind kids achieve. Some parents think they have to do everything for blind children.

And that's too bad!

Helen Keller social workers helped Christine's mom and dad understand she could learn to care for herself. Because she sees some light, we fitted her with special lenses in our low vision clinic. She went to our nursery school. Later, with our help, she attended a regular school where she did her lessons from braille books. Then, one of our mobility instructors taught her to use a cane so she could travel alone, anywhere.

Kids like Christine, and her father too, need Helen Keller Services. Help us to help them to a fuller life.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Waiting period for disability claims

Q: My husband had a stroke recently and won't be able to work for some time, if ever. He wants to file for Social Security disability benefits but we were told he has to wait five months. Is this true? — G.M.

A: He should apply as soon as possible because it takes some time to evaluate all the hospital and medical records to process his application.

If your husband is found eligible, there is a five-month waiting period. So his payments wouldn't start until the sixth full month of disability.

Q: If the husband passes away before the wife, does the wife get his full Social Security or just a part of it? — H.C.

A: The amount of the monthly payment depends on the widow's age when she starts receiving benefits and the amount the deceased husband would have been entitled to or was receiving when he died. Widows' benefits range from 71.25 percent of the deceased husband's benefit amount, if they begin at age 60, to 100 percent if they begin at 65.

Q: Will Medicare pay for plastic surgery, such as a face-lift? — L.O.J.

A: No. Medicare does not pay for plastic surgery unless it is to improve the functioning of a malformed part of the body or to correct the effect of an accidental injury.

Q: I started getting Social Security recently at age 65. I am having some financial difficulty making ends meet.

My sister in England has asked me to come live with her. This could ease my financial troubles but I want to make sure I can receive my Social Security checks if I go to live with her.

Please tell me if I will be able to receive my checks while living in another country. I am a U.S. citizen. — J.B.

A: In the situation you describe your Social Security checks will keep coming no matter how long you stay outside the United States, as long as you are eligible for the checks.

However, the situation could be different in other countries, so before anyone moves to another country he or she should contact Social Security first to be made aware of what the requirements are and what needs to be reported.

Q: I am interested in finding out if all I've paid into Social Security over all the years I have been working counts toward my retirement. I am presently 45 years of age and I have had many jobs in many different states. — B.W.

A: Unlike most pension plans, Social Security protection moves with you. A worker who is employed for a short time with a company does not generally earn any benefits with the company. With Social Security you begin earning protection with the first dollar you make and this protection stays with you when you change jobs or move to another state.

However, private pensions, IRAs, investments and personal savings are some of the ways Social Security can be supplemented since Social Security never was intended to replace all your lost earnings.

Q: My husband receives Social Security disability benefits because of Lou Gehrig's disease (ALS).

We have no children but have been raising our granddaughter for the past six years. She is 8 years old and we have been her legal guardian since 1981.

Is there any way I could get benefits for her and for me on my husband's Social Security record? My husband is 49 and I am 48 and I have never worked under Social Security.

A: A dependent grandchild or step-grandchild of the worker or spouse may qualify for benefits as a child if the grandchild's natural or adoptive parents are deceased or disabled at the beginning of the worker's period of disability and/or at the time the worker became entitled to disability or retirement benefits. The child also must be dependent on the worker.

If you want more details contact your Social Security office.

Summer Santa Wears Shorts!

A "Christmas in July" party, hosted by Margaret Alfano, brought Santa (Dick Evers) to her house a little early this year! Guests were members of the "Harmonies" bowling league who enjoyed a Christmas luncheon and grab-bag gifts from Santa. The weather outside was frightful but the "A.C." made it delightful!

EXHIBITS

In the Downstairs Gallery: and All Showcases: Earth Designs on Ceramic & Porcelain, By Esther J. Tollen

On Wednesday, September 2 at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage library will be showing the feature film entitled "The Big Sleep" starring Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall.

Humphrey Bogart stars as Philip Marlowe, Raymond Chandler's tough, cynical, but charming private eye. Marlowe is assigned to investigate the gambling debts of the wealthy General Sternwood's younger daughter and is plunged into a world of blackmail, deception and violence. Lauren Bacall is the general's older daughter and the sparks fly between her and Bogie in what is a classic duo performance.

The film runs 114 minutes.

On Wednesday, September 9, at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled "Still Of The Night", starring Roy Scheider, Meryl Streep and Jessica Tandy.

"Still Of The Night" is a contemporary romantic thriller about a cool, collected psychiatrist whose ordered life is disrupted when, after the brutal slaying of one of his patients, he meets and falls in love with the victim's mistress—a beautiful, vulnerable woman who may be a murderer. Oscar winner Meryl Streep and Roy Scheider star in Robert Benton's "Kramer vs. Kramer" subtle homage to the masterworks of the mystery genre.

The film runs 91 minutes and is rated (PG).

On Thursday, September 10, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., the American Lung Association will be sponsoring a program at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library entitled "Cigarette Break Away."

To register, call the American Lung Association of Nassau-Suffolk at 231-LUNG.

On Friday, September 11 at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled "Back To School" starring Rodney Dangerfield, Sally Kellerman, Burt Young, Ned Beatty, and M. Emmet Walsh.

Higher education will never be the same now that Thornton Melon (Rodney Dangerfield) has decided to go back to school! When his son has trouble adjusting to college, Melon, a self-made millionaire and owner of a chain of Tall and Fat Stores, decides to join him as a fellow freshman. Melon lightens his son's study load and smooths his social path while wooing English teacher Sally Kellerman and becoming the most popular student on campus! Comic genius Dangerfield is in top form as he throws himself into academic life, determined to have a lot more fun the second time around!

The film runs 94 minutes and is rated (PG).

On Monday, September 14, at 1 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting a Book Discussion/Review led by Barbara Krupit. The book is entitled "The House of the Spirits" by Isabel Allende.

"The House of the Spirits" is the magnificent epic of the Trueba family—their loves, their ambitions, their spiritual quest, their relations with one another, and their participation in the history of their times, a history that becomes destiny and overtakes them all.

On Tuesday, September 15, at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting a Book Discussion/Review on the book entitled "White Noise" by Don DeLillo.

This is the story of a college professor and his family whose small Midwestern town is evacuated after an industrial accident. Jack Gladney is professionally known as J.A.K. and a professor of Hitler studies at the College-on-the-Hill.

Gladney and his wife, Babette, live with four of the children of their previous marriages. Babette, a low-key and adaptable faculty wife who reads tabloids to the blind and teaches senior citizens classes in posture, is distinguished by her forgetfulness and her preoccupation with death.

On Friday, September 18, at 1 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage library will be presenting Barbara Krupit leading a discussion entitled "Insights Into Current Issues."

Barbara Krupit will discuss what's making the headlines that day, whether it be local, national or international news. You can discuss the issues and share your views.

On Wednesday, September 30, at 7:30 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage library will be holding a Board of Trustees Meeting in the staff room.

The public is invited.

The library is located at 999 Old Country Road in Plainview, opposite the Morton Village Shopping Center. 938-0077.

Defensive Driving Programs Slated

Driver Improvement Programs, member of the National Safety Council, announces its Fall program for the defensive Driving Course.

Successful completion of the course entitles motorists listed as principal drivers to a 10% reduction on the liability portion of their auto insurance policy if the auto insurance policy anniversary is in 1987. For auto insurance policies with anniversaries on or after January 1, 1988, motorists will be entitled to a 10% discount on both the liability portion as well as the collision portion of the insurance policy. Graduates of the Defensive Driving Course are entitled to the discount for up to three years after completion of the course. In addition, completion of the course also deducts three points from the motorist's license by the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles if violations have been incurred during the 18 month period prior to taking the course.

The six hour course is being offered in Hicksville at the High School, on September 21, 28; and November 23, 30.

All classes meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on both dates scheduled.

The fee for the course is $35. Registration is by mail only. Persons interested in the course should call 249-3331 to have registration materials mailed to their home.

Class Of '67 Holds Reunion

Hicksville High School Class of 1967 celebrated their 20th year reunion on Friday, August 14, at the Villa Victor in Syosset.

Almost 400 classmates and guests assembled for an evening of reminiscing and renewing old friendships. It was wonderful that so many from the "Class of 67" had traveled great distances for this special weekend. The surprise of the evening was the arrival of classmate Billy Joel. The reunion committee wishes to publicly thank Billy Joel for his patience in signing autographs and posing for pictures. We hope he enjoyed himself as much as his classmates did.

A family picnic was held the next day at Bethpage State Park and the celebration continued well into the afternoon.

World's Best Play In Local Tennis Event

Spectators for the first night of the Norstar Bank Hanlet Challenge Cup certainly were given two hard-fought matches to enjoy.

Henri Lecente, the 24-year old Frenchman who has been ranked as high as No. 5 in the world, battled a tenacious American Tim Wilkison to a final three set victory 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

In the second match American David Pate, the No. 8 seed, rallied to defeat another Frenchman Guy Forget 6-7 (4-7), 6-4, 6-3.

Tickets have been sold out for Saturday and Sunday play, the semi-finals and finals, but a few remain for the quarter finals on Friday at noon and 6:30 p.m. Loge and grandstand seats are available for between $10-$25 by calling Ticket Master at 888-9000 or (212) 307-7171.

Other participants in the tournament include Wimbledon Champ Pat Cash and the current No. 1 player in the world Ivan Lendl.

This $150,000 event presented by Chrysler-Plymouth is being held in Jericho on the same hard court surface that the U.S. Open uses. The Open starts next week.

Other entrants include the well-known Jimmy Connors.

Connors was the last American in the draw of this year's Wimbledon Championships reaching the semi-finals of the tournament. He holds a record 105 career tournament titles including eight grand slam events. Connors has been ranked among the top ten players in the world since joining the men's tennis circuit in 1972 and has won over $7-million in career prize money.

Jimmy Arias, a native of Buffalo who currently resides in Jericho, and Paul Annacone, a lifelong resident of Bridgehampton, have also entered the event.

Arias was a semi-finalist at the 1983 U.S. Open. He has won five career tournament titles and was a member of the victorious 1984 U.S. World Team Cup squad. His highest ranking was Number 5 in 1984. A runner-up at one event and a semi-finalist at another event this year, Arias is currently ranked Number 31.

Annacone eliminated John McEnroe from last year's U.S. Open in the first-round. His highest ranking was Number 12 in 1986, after he reached the quarter-finals of six tournaments, won two tournament titles in 1985 and reached the quarter-finals of Wimbledon in 1984. He has reached the quarter-finals of three events this year and is currently ranked Number 48 in the world.

Proceeds from the tournament will benefit North Shore University Hospital's Child Life fund, a treatment program that focuses on all aspects of a child's hospital stay.

UNICEF Vols Being Sought

Director Bill Kupec, Syosset International, has announced that planning will be developed for the creation of UNICEF programs, both in the schools and in the community. Activities will be scheduled in conjunction with the celebration of UNICEF's 40th Anniversary. Opportunities will be available to support UNICEF's Campaign For Life - Child Survival."

Local activities, in addition to the annual Halloween programs, will include, among others, house parties, a "Peace Week", educational programs, etc. All will serve to demonstrate the nature of the Syosset-Woodbury community as a caring and sharing people. Guided by Syosset International, the community, by its continuing involvement in intercultural affairs, can again express its dedication and commitment to the creation of a peaceful, understanding, and compassionate world. With the assistance and cooperation of the community residents, the involvement can establish a pattern for other communities to follow. And the ripple of dedication can become a wave of commitment!

Another important aspect of the UNICEF community program, will involve the sale of greeting cards. A community volunteer committee will be planned for this activity. A central location, staffed by volunteers, will be available for the sale of cards as well as for the dissemination of information concerning UNICEF.

Success of the various UNICEF programs will depend upon the enthusiastic support and the willingness of people to assist in this endeavor. Efforts will be made during the coming weeks, to recruit membership for the campaign. A general community meeting will be held, date to be announced, for interested persons and for UNICEF orientation.

Persons interested in becoming involved are requested to call Director Bill Kupec at 921-1997, or to write to him, at 29 Narcissus Drive, Syosset. As soon as the names of volunteers are received, preliminary committees and meetings will be organized.

The world of tomorrow - today's children - needs our assistance, our love and understanding, our guidance, our vision, our dedication, and our support. With the help of Syosset-Woodbury citizens, the community can work in harmony to meet the challenge and to contribute with significance.

People, communities around the world working together can make a difference.

Gary Hart is considering getting back in the Presidential race for the Democrats. Do you think he should come back?

Many Would Vote For Pres Who Wanted A Tax Hike

Many callers to Input said that they would vote for a Presidential candidate even if he advocated a tax hike in answer to this question: "Would you vote for a Presidential candidate who advocated a tax hike in order to stabilize the U.S. economy?" Here are some of the answers:

PROVE IT

I would vote for a candidate who could prove to me that a tax hike was needed to stabilize the economy. But I would also like to know exactly how he was going to trim the obvious waste that is now going on so that there would not be so great a tax increase. M.T.

NO MORE TAXES

No. I would not want a candidate who thought in terms of more taxes. We have so many things that we are already taxed for that do not mean anything. I believe that President Reagan is on the right track and I would vote for someone who would carry on his policies. I believe that many other people believe the same. We have less unemployment, and less inflation than at any other time in the last 10 years. I want to see this trend continued. It is easy to find something to complain about but I think that most people are able to remember the years under Carter and do not want them to return. J.S.

CAN BE ELECTED

Sure a candidate who wants to raise taxes can be elected, but he or she has to tell us why the taxes are needed and just how they will stabilize the economy. If a good enough argument is made, the people will vote in that candidate. F.T.

INCREASE TAXES

The issue is not just higher taxes or not. I believe that any candidate who gets elected will have to increase some taxes because we are still trying to do many things that need to be done. This tax issue should not be a determining one. Last election it appeared to be a big thing but only because there was no explanation of what taxes would be needed and for what purpose. N.R.

NO TRUTH

The problem is that any candidate who does not admit that taxes will have to be raised will not be telling the truth and people, who vote on the basis of who is in favor of a tax hike or not, will not be getting a truthful president if they select the candidate who says there will be no tax increases. V.T.

LOPSIDED DEBT

If what you mean by stabilizing the U.S. economy to be to reduce our lopsided national deficit, then we must go back to the root cause which is Reagonomics. When President Reagan decided to erratically increase military spending, while at the same time reduce taxes, he believed that he could keep the budget in balance by reducing domestic spending—all this against the advice of many prominent economists. Well, after almost seven years it would appear that our only economical salvation is to elect a president who will reduce military spending and, if necessary, increase taxes. Of course there are many other issues on which a presidential candidate should be evaluated. C.K.

WOULD SUPPORT

I would not only vote for a presidential candidate who advocated a tax hike, but I would support and campaign for him. We have to do something to stop the budget and trade deficit and the present wiping out of America's economy. The Reagan administration economy system can be compared to a father who only works one day a week because that's all that it takes to keep his defense car going and buy his beer. He indentures his kids in order to keep going and then brags about increasing employment. Meanwhile, he blames Mother Congress for economic problems because she insists on spending money for food and clothing for the family. The only question is whether American can keep going until 1989 with this system without a radical depression or other breakdown. I would recommend an immediate 10 percent surtax on all income and business taxes in order to reduce the deficit now. C.C.

CARTOON RIGHT

In the cartoon accompanying the question, you have illustrated my feelings on this subject exactly. How in the world could Congressmen and Senators possibly give preference to their constituents and still serve the powerful special interest groups. Actually, it almost seems impossible to run the nation as a democracy when every self-interested group or organization is making it utterly ridiculous for the elected Representative on Capitol Hill to say "No!" and meant it. I have no way of knowing or evaluating the various boondoggles for which funds are demanded or checking out the thousands of jobs the military must have to satisfy our defense needs. Yet, in both of these areas there are billions of dollars which cannot help but represent unnecessary spending. The easiest course for any President to follow would be to tax the people. To increase the tax on gasoline would also be included in this category and become a highly visible burden on the people but, somehow, Washington doesn't see it that way. In any case, it is so much easier to declare tax increases on income and, somehow, it seems so defensible. Yet, in my opinion, it would have just an opposite effect and destabilize the economy. Frankly, I would take a very negative view of any presidential candidate who would advocate that route instead of the much more difficult determination to slash needless spending. P.G.S.

Unsolicited Advice To College Freshmen

By Barbara Bengels

To begin with, yes, of course I know that the only people even mildly interested in reading this are the parents of incoming freshmen. No self-respecting seventeen or eighteen year old is about to take advice from anyone except one of his peers. Besides, anyone ready to enter college is out now doing one of two things - partying or earning the big bucks needed to buy Big Macs when totally despondent over the quality of cafeteria food.

However, after nineteen years of teaching college English I feel obligated to warn newcomers about some of the more intolerable faux pas they might make the first year, or even the first day, on campus. For example, the most common and most tactless blunder is to walk into my room and immediately complain that they don't need my class, English 1. Heaven knows, this might be true - but I haven't processed anyone into my course and except in very rare circumstances it's not my prerogative to switch anyone out. No matter how high a student's AP scores were, no matter what he's learned in his high school English class, the first thing he should learn in college is to bring grievances to the proper authority. (In this case, he should speak to his advisor or to the chairman of my department, though it's highly unlikely that anyone could talk his way out of basic required courses, particularly ones which emphasize process, courses where practice always improves one's ability.)

The second error students most frequently make is committed on the day they receive their first graded papers. Once, once in nineteen years, a student came to me and said, "I never received such a good grade in high school." Hundreds, however, have come to me shocked, whining that they can't understand how an A+ student in high school could receive so deplorable a grade on a college paper; there must be something wrong in my reading, in my grading, in my sensitivity, in my intelligence. Granted, even a madwoman who has chosen to read freshman papers as her life's work sometimes tires of them, sometimes even marking them a little less precisely than she'd like; nonetheless, it's the same old me marking all the papers in a class, the same me who's been doing it for nearly two decades - and there's a great likelihood that after all those years I may be doing my job in a manner acceptable to my university. Have confidence in your school's academic policies; give your professor the benefit of the doubt. Assume he knows how papers are supposed to be marked and how classes are supposed to be taught; if he doesn't, either there's something seriously wrong - or you've chosen your school foolishly. (Also remember how frequently you've been told that college is not high school; the standards really are different - and wouldn't you be disappointed if they weren't?)

Paper-marking brings to mind the two most heinous crimes to be committed in my class: cheating and plagiarism. Every single semester I mention to each of my classes that I'll tolerate the occasional late paper, the occasional absence, the occasional prevaricated death-in-the-family excuse (though I do prefer more innovative tales of woe - and am even receptive to the truth); what I can not and will not tolerate is cheating. Needless to say, every semester at least one student tries. Invariably they are caught, sometimes at great expense of time on my part. Freshmen, make it a point to allow yourself enough time for assignments, ask for more time if needed, withdraw from a class if absolutely backed up against a wall - but don't ever, ever submit someone else's work as your own. No college professor can tolerate the affront to his profession or his intelligence - and no student sounds as stupid and undeserving as the fool who says, "I didn't know my roommate (fraternity brother, cousin, girlfriend) had plagiarized this paper when he gave it to me." Better to flunk a course honorably than to be thrown out of college for cheating.

My final bit of advice is not intended for parents' eyes but is something they should know. When a student is doing poorly in a college class, when he's having a problem that is truly beyond him, the worst possible solution is to have dad call his professor. Let's face it: a college freshman is no longer a baby. Dad, if you don't want your son or daughter moving back home everytime life is difficult, you'd better insist they start handling their academic predicaments themselves. There are very few problems a college professor hasn't heard before, and very very few of my colleagues would turn a student away without trying to help him themselves or directing him to the proper person or agency. Our basic assumption, however, is that we are dealing with intelligent adults - and we certainly wouldn't expect to see parents at our conferences any more than we'd expect to see them assisting at job interviews.

Freshmen, take a deep breath, look in the mirror, realize you are now responsible adults, and act accordingly: go to your classes, work as hard as you are able, and with a little bit of luck, you'll prepare yourself for a job you'll enjoy doing each day as much as I enjoy mine.

Q. We are not wine drinkers. If we're giving a party, what kind of wines should we stock in order to take care of our wine-drinking friends' pleasure - from cocktail hour through dinner? W.L.A.

A. For the cocktail hour you might have on hand dry or sweet sherry, or dry or sweet vermouth, or any of the popular "aperitifs". Many choose a glass of dry white wine at the cocktail hour (either chilled or "on the rocks").

For the first course, or to drink with any fish, salad, chicken, veal or fruit, a chilled white wine is nice (such as Chablis, Soave, Riesling, Chenin Blanc, Pinot Chardonnay).

For the meat or game course (or the salad with cheese), serve a Burgundy, Bordeaux, Chianti, Cabernet Sauvignon or Zinfandel at a cool room temperature (from 60 to 70 degrees).

Rose wines should be chilled, like white wines. A rose is best served with a light dish and is more popular in hot weather than in cold.

For dessert you may serve the same wine you had from the previous course. Or if it's something festive like an anniversary, dessert time is the moment to bring out the champagne (the drier the better).

Some people enjoy a sweet wine with dessert such as port or a sweet sauterne or sherry, but one seldom sees this custom followed anymore in this country.

WONDERFUL CUISINE

Koenig's restaurant is one that defies time. It has been around for a long time but every time we go there we are well satisfied with the wonderful continental cuisine.

Koenig's is a place of good decor and it is a very comfortable restaurant. The establishment caters to large parties but if you come there with just two people, as we did, you are made welcome. The menu includes beef, chicken and veal and there is a large assortment of fish dishes. The prime ribs we chose were great and we think Koenig's in Floral Park is No. 1. V.T.

HISTORICAL AND GOOD

Last week we went to the Milleridge Inn in Jericho. This large restaurant is like a trip into another world. It has the historical approach to hospitality with the hostesses garbed in American continental dresses. The buildings are all wonderfully restored Revolutionary era buildings. The floors are wonderfully shined and add to the special feeling of going to the Milleridge Inn.

The food is exceptionally well prepared and the menu is a large one. Our party of four found it to be a wonderful time and we recommend it to everyone. H.F.

Q. I have noticed that tips are said to range from 15 to 20 percent of a bill in a restaurant. When you calculate this do you figure in the sales tax? R.K.

A. No you do not generally figure the sales tax in the tip but a great many people now are doubling the sales tax to quickly arrive at the amount of the tip. With the new increased fraction the tip will then closely approximate a 15 percent gratuity.

Q. In a good restaurant that we attended recently an accordian player came around to each table and asked whether we had any requests. My wife made a request and the musician played it. Is this music provided by the restaurant or should I have tipped? J.B.

A. Generally the musicians are paid by the restaurant to entertain all of the diners. But when you make a special request it is expected that a small tip will accompany the request. In this case $1 would have been a fair amount.

Q. My husband and I dine out with two other young couples at least once a month. We select a restaurant where we do not feel rushed, but nevertheless our evenings together seem much too short! Any suggestions?

A. Why not wind up the dinner with a relaxing drink or cup of coffee in one of your houses? This would not cause undue cost or fuss and it would be a nice way of "stretching" your time together.

TOP IN DINNERS

The New Hyde Park Inn is a landmark on Jericho Turnpike in New Hyde Park. Most people have been there many times for one banquet or another. Throughout the years it has served as a top catering hall for many affairs.

As a restaurant it is equally good. We went there last week and found that it has a full menu for dinner and that all of the good things that were at banquets can be had in the restaurant. Because it is a festive type place it is a great one to celebrate a birthday as we did. Tell your readers that the New Hyde Park Inn is tops for dinners. We know. We were there. Y.R.

CONSISTENTLY GOOD

The John Peel room in the Island Inn is consistently a good restaurant. We have been there a number of times and have always found the food and decor especially enjoyable.

The menu at the John Peel room includes a complete dinner from appetizer through dessert. We had prime ribs there last Thursday and were particularly happy with the large portion of beef along with the fine ambiance of this restaurant, the service was attentive and prompt. As usual we had a good night at the John Peel room.

NICE PLACE

Bonmont's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers.

READER RATINGS

Q. Will you please describe the correct procedure for introducing one couple to another (1) when the couples are approximately the same age, (2) when one couple is older or more distinguished in station than the other? M.J.

A. When the couples are about the same age it doesn't matter whose names are mentioned first. When one couple is older or more distinguished—or perhaps guests in your town—you introduce the younger couple.

Q. If your guests completely finish their white wine, down to the last drop, isn't it all right to pour red wine into their same glasses? H.B.

A. No. Either have separate clean wineglasses on the table for the red or wash the dirty glasses and bring them back to the table.

After Work Gourmet

By Melanie Barnard
and Brooke Dojaj

We've all heard that the only way to eat corn is to bring the big pot of water to a boil, then send the children to run to the field and race back with the corn, stripping the ears of their husks and silk as they gallop so that it can be plunged into the boiling water within just a few minutes of the picking.

We've eaten corn this way immediately after it was picked only one time and it was incredibly good — but we wonder whether that didn't have a little bit to do with the mystique surrounding the whole experience.

It's perfectly true that the sugar in sweet corn begins to turn to starch as soon as the ears are picked so, while fewer of us have corn fields anymore, we certainly do recommend that you try to buy your corn as fresh as possible and cook it as soon as you can. Check to make sure the husks are green and fresh-looking, the silk not brown and dried and the kernels plump when the husk is peeled back a little.

Since fresh corn is such a special summer treat, we probably like it best cooked in a large pot of unsalted water for 3-4 minutes after the water has come back to the boil and served with plain butter and salt and pepper.

We first had a corn and chicken chowder one summer on Martha's Vineyard when a spell of bad weather kept us indoors and inspired an urge to have a pot of something simmering on the stove. We found a recipe for chowder in a local cookbook for chowder and opted for chicken and corn because one of our guests was a clam-hater. That chowder was wonderful, but as it called for a stewing hen it did take a couple of days to make! We've developed a simplified and shortened version which would be superior if you wanted to scrape kernels from fresh ears of corn, but is also perfectly delicious if made with frozen niblets.

CORN GRILLED IN THE HUSK — COMPOUND BUTTER

4-6 ears of corn
Plain unsalted butter or compound butter of choice
(recipe follows)

Prepare and light barbecue fire or preheat gas grill.

Carefully pull husks of corn down to stem end and remove and discard as much corn silk as possible. Wrap husks back up around the ears, securing at tip with a twist tie or piece of string. Place wrapped corn in large bucket of water to soak for 10 minutes.

Place corn over moderately hot fire and cook, turning frequently, for about 20 minutes, or until kernels are tender when tested. If husks begin to blacken too much, brush with more water.

Remove with tongs to platter. When cool enough to handle, pull husks apart enough to expose some of kernels and spread with plain butter or compound butter of your choice.

Preparation and Cooking Time: 35 minutes (excluding building barbecue fire).

Yield: 4 servings.

COMPOUND BUTTER

5 tablespoons unsalted butter, softened
2 teaspoons minced fresh herbs such as basil, tarragon, dill, parsley OR 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan OR 1 teaspoon minced garlic OR 1 teaspoon minced jalapeno pepper OR $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cayenne pepper
Pinch of salt
Black pepper to taste

In small bowl combine butter, flavoring of your choice and salt. Mix with wooden spoon or fingertips to combine. Or, blend in food processor.

Yield: $\frac{1}{2}$ cup.

CORN AND CHICKEN CHOWDER

2 slices bacon
1 medium onion
2 ribs celery
1 pound (3 medium) boiling potatoes
2 cups chicken stock
1 cup water
1 pound boneless chicken thighs
3 cups corn kernels, freshly cut from the cob or frozen
2 cups half-and-half
1 teaspoon dried thyme
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon black pepper
Salt to taste

Cut bacon into $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch pieces and chop onion. Cook two together in large heavy saucepan or soup pot over medium heat for about 10 minutes, until both are beginning to turn very light brown.

Meanwhile thinly slice celery and peel and dice potatoes. Add to pot along with chicken stock and water, bring to simmer, and add chicken. Partially cover and cook over low heat for 12-15 minutes or until chicken is just cooked through.

Remove pieces of chicken with tongs and set aside. Add corn, half-and-half, thyme and pepper and simmer uncovered for 10 minutes.

Chop chicken into $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch pieces and return to pot. Taste chowder and season with salt if necessary. (It may not need it as both bacon and chicken stock can be salty). Serve hot in wide shallow soup bowls with plain crackers and butter.

Preparation and Cooking Time: 35 minutes

Yield: 4 servings.

MICROWAVE MAGIC

By Desiree Vives

But despite its name, Labor Day is a day of blessed relaxation. Set aside expressly to honor the working men and women of America, this is a day when workers traditionally unite with their fellows to protest unfair conditions, or simply express unity. It's also a day when many of us choose to stay home, put our feet up, and just take it easy. What a great idea!

We owe our day of rest to Peter J. Maguire, secretary of the Central Labor Union of New York City. In 1882 he proposed setting aside one day in the year as a holiday for the "working masses." And that's most of us.

"There are other worthy holidays representative of the religious, civil, and military spirit," said Maguire, "but none representative of the industrial spirit — the great vital force of every nation."

The first Monday of each September was suggested as an appropriate date since it falls midway between Independence Day and Thanksgiving, and thus fills a gap in the holiday calendar.

Parades have been associated with this day since Sept. 5, 1882, when New York City hosted a parade and festival honoring its workers. This first working person's parade was a great success, and the idea soon spread to other cities. By 1894, when Congress made Labor Day an official national holiday, the parade had become a fixed tradition.

I love a parade, but I really love a three-day weekend. I'll cook up a storm come Thanksgiving, but for this working woman, a simpler menu is in order for a non-laboring Sept. 7. Microwaved, of course.

MEXICALI CHICKEN CRUNCH

1 (10 $\frac{1}{2}$ -ounce) can condensed cream of chicken soup
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
1 (4-ounce) can mushroom stems and pieces
3 tablespoons canned diced mild green chilies, drained
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1 (6-ounce) package corn chips
3 cups diced, cooked chicken
2 large, ripe tomatoes, chopped
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Preparation Time: 10 minutes
Cooking Time: 13 to 15 minutes (plus 5 minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

In small mixing bowl combine undiluted soup, milk, mushrooms, chilies and onion. Stir well to blend; set aside.

Layer one-third of the corn chips in bottom of 2-quart glass casserole. Top with half of the chicken and sprinkle with half of chopped tomatoes. Pour half of soup mixture over tomatoes and sprinkle three-quarters of cheese (reserve remaining cheese for topping). Repeat layers (reserving final third of corn chips for topping).

Cover and microwave 10 minutes, rotating dish one-quarter turn after 5 minutes. Uncover and microwave 3 to 5 minutes longer, or until bubbly and heated through. Sprinkle top with reserved cheese, cover, and let stand 5 minutes. Just before serving sprinkle with reserved corn chips. Serves 4 to 6.

QUICK CARROTS AND ZUCCHINI

4 medium carrots, peeled and cut in 2-inch julienne strips
2 tablespoons water
2 medium zucchini, cut in 2-inch julienne strips
Butter or margarine
Salt, pepper

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
Cooking Time: 7 to 8 minutes (plus 2 minutes standing time)

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Combine carrots and water in 1-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave 3 minutes. Spread zucchini over carrots, replace cover, and microwave 4 to 5 minutes longer, or until vegetables are just tender. Let stand, covered, 2 minutes. Drain and season to taste with butter, salt and pepper. Serves 4 to 6.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW CRISPS

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or margarine
3 cups miniature marshmallows
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla
5 cups crispy rice cereal
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chocolate chips
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup dry grated coconut

Preparation Time: 5 minutes
Cooking Time: 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ minutes

Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Lightly butter 9x9x2-inch baking pan; set aside.

Microwave butter in 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ -quart microwave-safe mixing bowl until melted, about 1 to 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ minutes. Stir in marshmallows until coated. Microwave, uncovered, 1 minute; stir, then continue to microwave 30 to 60 seconds longer, or until marshmallows are almost melted. Remove from oven and stir until smooth.

Stir in vanilla, then fold in remaining ingredients until evenly coated. Turn into prepared baking pan and spread to let cool slightly. Press mixture evenly in pan with buttered back of wooden spoon. Let stand until cool, then cut into bars about 3x $\frac{1}{4}$ inches. Makes about 18 bars.

NDIWO ZA NKHUKU*YOKAZINGA YO*SAKANIZA NDI*NYAMA YA*NGOMBE YOKAZINGA*(Stewed Chicken)*Mixed With Stewed Beef

$\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 pound boneless beef shoulder or rump or round steak, trimmed of fat and cut into $1\frac{1}{4}$ -inch cubes

1 green bell pepper, cut into 1-inch squares

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

Freshly ground black pepper (about $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon or to taste)

1 or 2 Japanese eggplants OR 1 medium eggplant

2 medium onions (or 1 bunch wild onions), chopped

1 bouquet of herbs: parsley, rosemary and bay leaf

4 large or 8 medium ripe tomatoes

2 spoons of boiling water

2 spoons peanut oil

1 chicken, cut into pieces (skinned if desired) for finger food

Trim and cut meat and green pepper. Mix salt with pulverized black pepper, and roll meat cubes in mixture. In a preheated heavy pot, sear meat. Remove meat, then brown chicken and cook until done.

Peel eggplants, slice in $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch rounds. Cover with cold salted water and soak at least $\frac{1}{2}$ hour.

While eggplant is soaking, brown onions in cooking oil, then add small amount of boiling water and herb bouquet made of 3 sprigs of parsley, a sprig of rosemary and bay leaf. Now, peel and add tomatoes, cut into wedges, cooking mixture down to chutneylike consistency. Add browned meat and chicken.

Remove eggplant slices from water, pat dry with paper towels and then brown slices in hot oil. Scatter eggplant rounds and green peppers on top of meat/chicken mixture. Simmer, covered, over very low heat for half an hour or so. Continue to simmer until chicken is tender, but not dry. This should take another 25 to 35 minutes. Mix gently. Correct seasoning. Simmer 5 more minutes.

Yields 6 servings.

Note: This dish will improve if allowed to stand overnight. It is an excellent one for plan-ahead dinners. Just reheat slowly without a cover and serve hot.

(Mustard Greens With Groundnut Meal)

2 bunches fresh mustard greens
Water

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

1 bunch green onions, chopped

8 ounces cherry tomatoes

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon crushed pepper

4 ounces peanut butter or raw groundnut meal

2 ounces water

Trim any tough stems from mustard greens and carefully wash greens. Hold 3 or 4 leaves together and tear into small even pieces. Bring some water to a boil. Add salt and greens at once. Cook until greens are tender. Turn them upside down and add chopped onions, whole cherry tomatoes and pepper. Continue to cook until top ingredients are somewhat limp. Form a creamy paste with peanut butter. Pour smooth paste over entire surface. Cook slowly 10 minutes. Stir to blend mixture and continue to cook until right consistency is derived. Serve with nsima or rice.

NTHOICI ZOKAZINGA

(Baked Bananas)

4 ripe bananas or ripe plantains

2 spoons lemon juice

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup dark brown sugar

Grated rind of 1 lemon

5 tablespoons butter, melted

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon (optional)

Pour lemon juice over brown sugar; mix in grated rind. Pour in melted butter. Stir. Peel bananas. Slice in half lengthwise, or leave whole if so desired. Slowly roll bananas in butter-sugar mixture to coat completely. Arrange neatly in a baking pan. Bake in 350°F oven 15 minutes or until tender. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Serve piping hot.

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup boiling water

Heat oil in deep frying pan. Add cubed tomatoes and chopped onions. Mix well. Add ground red pepper, curry powder and salt. Sauté the mixture well. Keys to moth-free storage

Q: Is there anything other than mothballs or moth crystals that you can use to prevent moths in a closet? If aromatic cedar deters moths, should you line the whole closet with cedar? How long is cedar effective? Should it be sanded from time to time? — B.F.P.

A: The best protection against moths is to be sure to rotate your clothing so that all garments are worn and cleaned or aired. Keep your closets and drawers clean and free of clutter.

A long sunning followed by a brisk brushing, shaking or beating is one of the most effective measures against fabric pests. In addition to their well-known taste for wool, moths also will attack paper, straw, cotton or rayon. They also are attracted to clothes that are stained by such items as fruit juice, beer, milk, gravy, grease or perspiration.

Prepare clothes for out-of-season storage by having them laundered or dry-cleaned. A few days in the freezer also will kill all stages of insect life, as will pressing with a steam iron. Once your clothes are clean, store them in heavy plastic bags or clean cardboard boxes, tightly sealed.

Cedar helps, particularly if it is a cedar chest or closet that is relatively airtight. Three-quarter-inch heartwood of red cedar is best. You can line your closet completely and renew its effectiveness every few years by brushing 100 percent cedar oil over the interior. Periodic sanding also will renew the cedar aroma.

You can gain some of the benefits of cedar by hanging cedar shavings (pet stores carry them) in a pillowcase in the closet with the cleaned garments. An old-fashioned herbal repellent calls for a combination of two handfuls each of dried lavender and rosemary with 1 tablespoon of crushed cloves and a small piece of dried lemon peel; place the mixture in gauze bags to be kept in dresser drawers or hung in the closet.

But your best bet is to clean clothes periodically. Remember to sun, air and brush valuable but rarely used items from time to time. Don't store vulnerable fabrics in the attic in the summer. That is the warmest part of your house, and summer is the time when fabric pests are most active.

Q: I enjoyed the item in your column on how to treat efflorescence on brick. I am planning a number of small brick jobs around the yard. How would you recommend I treat the brick to prevent efflorescence before the bricks are placed in use? — N.A.R.

A: Since moisture seeping up from the brick (usually from the ground level) is the primary cause of efflorescence, your first step is to assure that any building site has proper drainage away from the brick.

If you are laying a brick patio in sand, provide added protection by using a plastic membrane under the brick.

After you have completed your building project, use a quality masonry sealer such as Thompson's Water Seal for further protection.

Q: I have several nice paintings framed in wood, with one framed in an ornate gold leaf. They have glass over the paintings, so I am not concerned about cleaning the glass. However, I am unsure on how to keep the wood frames, and especially the gold leaf frame, clean. Do you have any suggestions? — C.S.

A: The gilt on frames around pictures can be pure gold leaf, a tarnishable gold metal, gold paste wax or gold paint. And any raised decorative pattern can be made of plaster.

Don't take chances damp-cleaning an old frame if you think it might be real gold leaf on plaster. A damp cleaning adds enough moisture to loosen gold leaf and soak into fine cracks to dissolve the plaster.

If you are in doubt about gold on an old frame, a frame shop should recognize the type. For the real thing, use only a soft dry cloth. Wood is best cleaned with a soft dry cloth, also. Some lemon oil added to the cloth will help remove soil.

And, if you will consider adopting a pet Ralston Purina Co. may start you off with the pet and a batch of supplies — all at no cost to you.

HOW TO STAY YOUNG

The body is a wondrous machine with parts that can be maintained well to keep functioning as well as ever. The body also has the ability to regenerate itself to even better health if given positive attention and care. These statements are present as fact in understandable terms in the new book, "Staying Young: The Whole Truth About Aging and What You Can Do to Slow Its Progress," by Thomas Hager and Lauren Kessler.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Seniors — take a trip by bus for less

Mature adults, age 55-plus, will find new recognition and discounts for travel, at least through the end of 1987, aboard the Greyhound bus system. The Greyhound Golden Savers Seniors Club is the new program, where qualifying adults need only present proof of identification and age at any Greyhound station to secure a cost-free membership card.

The new discounts for mature adults are 15 percent from any fare — including promotional fares — on the Greyhound route system. For example, the cross-country special fare of $59 is reduced with the discount, to only $50.15.

"Mature adults are important as patrons of our expanding system," we were told by Chester Fisher, director of market for Western Greyhound Lines. "Greyhound has now absorbed Trailways system, and this gives mature travelers an even greater selection of destinations and routes — and all of these are available at a fare discount."

Expansions in the program benefits for 55-plus age members is possible. "We are looking at other beneficial tie-ins," stated Fisher. "We are already cooperating on a number of hotel programs," and it would seem the hotel accommodations might someday also be offered as discounts for members.

"If the program achieves success, as we hope it will, in these first months," Fisher said, "then it is possible the program will be made a permanent program for Greyhound Lines. With our increased service, our fine safety record, taking our passengers along scenic routes to their destinations, and the ease of traveling on our coaches, we are looking to be all the more service to our mature adult travelers."

Information on the new Golden Savers Senior Club may be secured from local Greyhound offices and the ticket facilities in terminals.

By Robert Wallace, E.D.

boys and when it comes time to "get serious" you won't have any reservations as to who is No. 1.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 14 and I'm adopted. My adoptive parents got me when I was an infant. My problem is that I hate my adoptive parents very much. They are very busy and they think that they are my real parents.

I happen to be going steady with a dude who is 18. My parents are trying to break us up just because Jason smokes pot occasionally and sometimes has a drink or two. Well, if they only knew, I smoke pot and drink too and I don't consider myself a bad person.

Also my parents don't trust Jason ever since I told him that he was "bastardized" for stealing. Well, Jason doesn't steal anymore. I think my parents love me because they keep telling me they do but still they put heavy restrictions on me. Believe me, I consider myself unfortunate for being adopted and I'm going to split the scene when I turn 18. I hate my "rules and regulations." — Jody

Jody: Why blame your adoptive parents for your incorrigible behavior? If you lived with your biological parents, chances are you would still be "unhappy" with their rules and regulations. Life is what you make it!

Please don't discard the love your parents have for you. Sure, they make mistakes because they are human beings, but so do you. Give them a chance. Good parents get that the way because of good kids, regardless if they are adoptive or biological.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 16-year-old and proud to say that I'm considered to be a "good" girl. I'm not into drugs, alcohol, tobacco or sex and my grade point average is near 4.0. The boy that I've been dating is a real sweet guy who attends church regularly and has high moral standards. Jeff's one major "fault" is that he is not a gifted student. He struggles to make C's and D's.

Because of this, my father doesn't like Jeff and wants me to date a guy who is smarter. Last week my dad insisted that I go out with Ted, the son of his boss and I did just to keep my father happy. — Tammy

Tammy: Have a nice private chat with Mom and explain why you no longer care to go out with the boss's son and that you want to date Jeff once more. Moms have a way of informing dads when the dads make glowing errors concerning whom their daughters date.

It's time to be thinking of peonies

As autumn approaches it's time to be thinking about peonies. Whether you have peony bushes that need lifting or dividing, or you wish to add to your collection, late summer and early fall is the favored time to do it.

Actually, peonies are relatively carefree in the sense that they prefer settling down into a comfortably familiar spot for at least five years before they show signs of needing a move. This period is longer if the site is particularly favorable. In fact, according to peony experts, an ideal site will accommodate a peony plant for more than a lifetime.

The ideal site would be one with rich, slightly heavy, deep, fibrous loam with shelter from strong winds and protection from the hot afternoon sun.

Annual mulchings of old manure and leaf mold are further attentions that keep the humus content, nutrition and moisture-holding quality at high levels in the soil. Scatterings of bone meal and wood ashes early in the season are further boosts to peony performance.

How can you tell if your peony bush needs digging up, dividing and replanting? When the clumps get too big and floppy, having lost their firm sturdiness, they are trying to tell you they are becoming overcrowded and that their coil has become exhausted. Another indication of over-congested growth is the cut flowers shedding their petals after only a day in water.

If you have a peony bush that seems to qualify for a new home with these symptoms, or if you simply wish to relocate a plant, the best time to perform the move is soon after the first reddish fall coloring appears in the leaves.

Problem of Slavery Delaying Adopting of Constitution

Philadelphia, August 20, 1787 (Delayed) - As the Federal Convention delegates review each article of the proposed Constitution one of the issues which keeps recurring is how, or if, slaves are to be counted to determine the size of a state's population for representation in the lower house of Congress. Further confusing the issue are bitter attacks on the concept of slavery, itself.

Rufus King of Massachusetts denounced slavery and voiced his strong opposition to allowing the continued importing of slaves. He had not spoken thus previously because he hoped "his concession would have produced a readiness to strengthen the general government." But now he sees no "manifestation" of this. Connecticut's Roger Sherman regarded the slave trade as "iniquitous". Governor Morris of Pennsylvania, standing on his wooden leg, delivered a lengthy objection to the concept of slavery. He noted as a person comes south from New England, as soon as you enter New York, where slavery is permitted, the ill effects can be seen. Things are better in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, both of which prohibit the keeping of slaves, but farther south one sees the wretched conditions resulting from slavery.

Despite the intensity of these remarks it appears the northern states will yield and allow slavery to continue at the price of obtaining the slave owning states' acceptance of the new central government. However there is some indication the southern states may agree to a prohibition of the importing of slaves after a yet to be decided date.

Many of the delegates, wishing to return to their homes, are becoming restless at the slow progress. In an effort to accomplish more each day the Convention is sitting for longer daily sessions.

By John Zweber, Observer

This is the point at which the optimum amount of food has been translocated from foliage to root, and the eyes will be dormant. Also at this point in most areas the roots will be able to settle in comfortably before the arrival of hard frosts. The more mild the area in which you live, the later this ideal time will be.

Ease your overgrown peony clump out of the ground gently, then cut off all the top growth right down close to the root. The only safe place for this material is the incinerator or the garbage. A common peony disease called botrytis is an infection that causes the flower buds to rot or dry up, and burning or trashing that spent top growth is a good preventive measure against it.

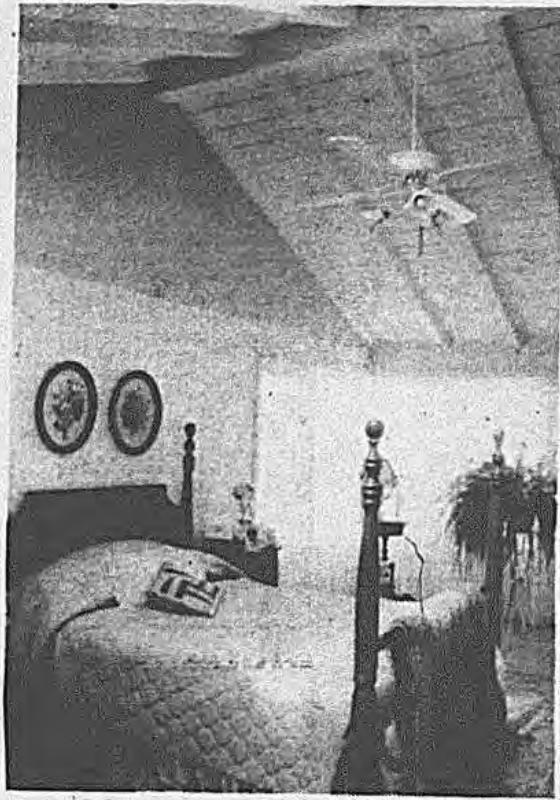

Now divide your clump of roots into smaller pieces, using a long knife or an old hacksaw blade. Unless you're willing to wait a few years for bloom, keep three to five eyes or growth buds, to each piece. And choose the young growth from the outer clump. Take care not to break any of these eyes or buds which appear on the crown of the root.

Choose a planting site as near the ideal that I described. Enrich it over a wide area, and deeply, with compost — or peat moss dampened with a fertilizer solution — and bone meal. Precessed or old rotted manure, if you have some, is fine to use at this point as long as it does not come into direct contact with the roots. It is perhaps safest reserved as a mulch.

Don't just dig a little hole and squish the roots into it. Dig the site over widely so that the roots can easily take hold lengthwise as well as downward. Remove sufficient soil to allow the roots to spread out, and set the crown no more than two inches below the soil surface, even less where the soil is heavy. This shallow planting is the single most important thing to remember in planting peonies. Planting deeper is the single greatest cause of failure to bloom with these otherwise easy herbaceous plants.

Press the soil about the roots gently but firmly so that no air pockets remain, then tread around the plants, allow three to four feet between the plants.

Decor Score

By Sharon Owen Haven

Q: We have just fixed up a room in our home for my mother.

For the sake of cheerfulness, we painted the high sloping ceilings white and used a light floral paper on the walls.

The room seems immense and not very cozy. Is there any easy way to fix this? — R.P.

A: Painting the ceiling a darker color will certainly lower it visually, but that is a great deal of work and may not be the most appealing solution, anyway.

Instead, think about making a change on the high end walls. You might look for a coordinating border that would complement your wallpaper and use it as horizontal perimeter around the room at the height of the lower side walls.

Then paint the triangular portion of wall above the border on the ceiling on the two end walls. Paint right over the original paper if you wish. Choose a paint color from your wallpaper pattern, but don't make it too dark or it will conflict with the cheerful effect you are trying to produce and make the walls look top heavy.

The appeal of this solution is that for a minimum of extra effort you have accomplished your goal of creating a cheerful, bright environment while adding a strong horizontal line that lowers the visual focus and gives the room a more cozy, human-scale atmosphere.

Q: The entire west side of our home consists of windows with ocean views. We want to retain these views but protection from the sun is a real problem.

Our current woven woods take care of the sun but cut out all the views. I don't want mini-blinds and I worry that verticals will look too stark.

What do you suggest? — J.E.

Considering all the new options in verticals, I would give them serious consideration. Their major appeal in your situation is controlling the sun without blocking your view entirely.

There is no need for verticals to look stark or commercial with all the finish options now available. You can select tough vinyl verticals in every possible color, soft fabric verticals, or you can have them covered in the fabric of your choice to match wallpaper or upholstery. There are even perforated verticals that resemble lace.

If you still don't like the appearance of verticals, you can always treat them like a widow shade and mount them behind a more traditional fabric window treatment.

Verticals can be mounted in window recesses with curtains on the wall surface surrounding the window. If you don't like the valance that comes with the verticals you can always add another over it.

It's hard to beat such flexibility in your circumstances, and there's no reason why you can't get a look you like.

BENCHWARMER'S SPORTS TRIVIA

Q: Long known as tennis' bad boy, this American star was the Wimbledon champ in 1974 and again in 1982.

A: With his determined, determined, determined attitude, McEnroe has been a top seed for more than a decade.

Q: How did Lacrosse get its ecclesiastical name?

A: From the Native American word "lakhshwa," which means "the little brother of war."

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Don't leave pets — or children — in closed car

Q. Is it safe to leave pets in parked cars? Our dog really enjoys riding in our car and looks so sad whenever left at home.

A. Closed or semi-closed automobiles can be extremely dangerous during the hot summer months for dogs, cats and children. Confining dogs and cats in closed automobiles on hot summer days is, unfortunately, still a very common practice despite the widely disseminated adverse publicity that they may rapidly become death traps.

Whenever the outside temperature is 85 degrees Fahrenheit or greater the temperature within a closed car may reach a lethal level within 15 minutes. In dark-colored automobiles, death-causing temperatures may be reached even faster.

Puppies, short-nosed dogs, obese dogs and old dogs are more prone to suffer heat stress. Signs of heat stress include a very high rectal temperature, rapid panting, fast pulse rate, reddened gums, weakness, an anxious or staring expression, and eventually total collapse and death. Rectal temperature may reach 106 to 109 degrees Fahrenheit; the normal temperature of the dog rarely exceeds 102.5. Vomiting is fairly common during severe heat stress.

Heat stress is an emergency situation. Immediate first aid should be administered. The dog should be immersed in cold water, but if this is impossible, spraying it with cold water is usually helpful. Ice applied to the head and between the thighs is beneficial. The dog should be moved to an air-conditioned room.

If the dog responds to first aid and is able to eat small amounts of ice cubes or drink small amounts of water, these should be offered. However, excessive amounts of oral water may be detrimental.

If the rectal temperature has not been lowered to 103 degrees Fahrenheit within 10 to 15 minutes after starting treatment, a cold water enema should be administered. A standard human enema bag can be filled with cold water and ice cubes. The tip should be lubricated and inserted gently into the anus. Hold the bag high until the dog displays discomfort, then allow the water to drain out. Rectal temperatures following cold water enemas are not meaningful.

Any dog suffering from heat stress should be examined by a veterinarian. Many dogs suffer relapses following the first signs of improvement.

The best treatment for heat stress in dogs and cats is prevention. Most cases of heat stress in pets is simply due to human negligence. It is a good rule to never leave pets or children unattended in automobiles, especially during the hot summer months.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

As I writing to you, we are in the last week of August. Soon it will be autumn - the weather, in fact, is already turning cooler.

A new month will start on Tuesday. Although September is the ninth month of the year, it gets its name from a Latin word meaning "seven". That is because, as you may have guessed, September was indeed the seventh month in an earlier calendar!

Your friend,

Aunt Tilly

P.S This week's coloring contest winners are: Brian Murphy and Kerry Weiss. Congratulations, both of you!

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

This is a picture of my 4 grandchildren Jennifer 15, Justin 11, Crystal 9 and Rebecca 1. They live in Denver, Colo. Jennifer was here last year during her summer vacation helping me to take care of great-grandma. She is also very busy taking care of her brothers and sisters while her parents are at work.
