Memorial Event For Tom Sager

Friends of the late Tom Sager are planning a memorial fund raising event on Sunday, Sept. 20, from 12:30 to 6 p.m. at the Little Country Pub, located at 370 Old Country Road, Hicksville.

A buffet will be served, prizes raffled and everyone is invited to attend this tribute to a young man who passed away on July 1 after a fourteen month battle with Cancer. The services of the Pub and all prizes have been donated with the hopes that any proceeds from the afternoon will be donated in Tom's name to the North Shore University Hospital Cancer Research and Home Care Unit.

Tom was born and raised in Hicksville and graduated with Hicksville High's Class of 1980.

Bethpage H.S. Student Injured In Accident

A 15-year old Bethpage High School student on his way to the first day of classes is in critical condition at the Nassau County Medical Center after being hit by a car in front of the school Tuesday.

Jason Silver, a junior at Bethpage High School, was struck by a car as he attempted to cross Sycamore Avenue, according to Nassau County Police.

Police said, Scott Cooper, 19, of Floral Avenue, Bethpage, was driving the vehicle involved southbound on Stewart Avenue, and the accident took place at the intersection of Sycamore and Stewart. No charges are pending.

Silver, who is on a respirator, is in extremely critical condition in the intensive care unit of NCMC's Pediatric Department. He is unconscious and suffering from internal bleeding, and a fractured left leg, according to the hospital.

Bethpage High School Principal, Antoinette Mansfield, said "It is a tragic situation. Everyone at school is distressed at this grief-stricken situation. It is a horrible thing to happen under your window on opening day."

Dr. Mansfield said one of her supervisors ran to the scene of the accident and flagged down a telephone truck that then tapped into the phone lines and called emergency services. She added that she is currently investigating the history of accidents in the area to see if changes are needed. "Parents are very concerned," she said.

The inclement weather and the fact that it was opening day may have contributed to the incident, she said.

Local Woman Dies In Car Accident

A Hicksville woman was killed early Monday morning when she lost control of her car on wet pavement and struck a utility pole.

Nassau County Police said Debra Neirs, 27, of Jefferson Avenue, died at Nassau County Medical Center at 3:23 a.m. of injuries she suffered in the accident at 2:35 a.m. on Newbridge Road just north of Barter Lane in Hicksville.

Nassau County Police Det. John Hall said Neirs was returning home alone from an evening with friends at Channel 80 Sepper Club in Island Park and was driving "well over" the 40-mph speed limit when the car left the slippery road. She apparently was not wearing her seat belt, police said.

There was no indication that alcohol had a role in the accident, Hall said.

Neirs graduated from Hicksville High School in 1978 and earned a degree from Santa Monica College in California before returning to Long Island, where she ran Options, a Huntington Village clothing store owned by her sister, Roberta Neirs-Briceno.

Sculpture Exhibit Opens Sept. 14

"A Time Never to Be Forgotten," sculptural expressions of the Holocaust will be exhibited at the Mid-Island Y, 45 Manetto Hill Road, Plainview, beginning September 14.

Constitution Bicentennial Events Shaping Up

By Richard Evans, Education Chairman, Tobey Bicentennial-Historical Commission

Hicksville is taking an active part in the nation's celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the signing of the U.S. Constitution, Sept. 16 and 17. Both school and church groups especially, will be participating in the year-long commemoration of the world-renowned framework of government.

America's National School Tribute to the U.S. Constitution. Although only back in session a week, the new Hicksville Middle School (at the former Junior High School building) under the guidance of Principal Gerald Kelin, has made plans for a 12:30 student ceremony. Officers of the Student Council will sign the new Middle School Student Council Constitution they will be drafting during the first week of school. This formal adoption of their school constitution will serve, hopefully, to echo the great 1787 Philadelphia signing and bring home once again to students the importance of America as a nation of laws and an enduring framework of government.

Hicksville Schools

National Pledge

of Allegiance

At 1 p.m., September 16, there will be an opportunity for students and teachers at all Hicksville Schools to take part in the National Schools Recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance Ceremony. Led by President Ronald Reagan in Washington, our students will hear his words over radios or school public address systems and join him in the Pledge.

This great moment of youthful reaffirmation of belief in the ideals of the nation will be followed by their hearing an address by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger. The former Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, who heads the Federal Commission on the U.S. Constitution Bicentennial, will read and explain the meaning of the Preamble to the U.S. Constitution.

Houses of Worship

to Ring Bells

The Town of Oyster Bay Bicentennial Historical Commission has extended invitations to all Hicksville houses of worship to ring bells, chimes or carillons at 4 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 17, at the exact hour when delegates present in 1787 at the Constitutional Convention, signed and ratified the Constitution. This National Bell Ringing Ceremony will peal out America's joy and pride for 200 seconds. This will be followed, it is urged, by 200 seconds of silence and meditation.

It is hoped that only bells,

AOH Plans Annual 'Feis'

The Nassau County Feis Committee extends a hearty 'Cead Mile Failte' (One Hundred Thousand Welcomes) to their Fifteenth Feisanna, on Sunday, September 20 (Rain Date 9/27) at the Plainview Office Center, on Old Country Road - one mile east of the Seaford-Oyster Bay Expressway (Route 135) - to entrance at Hibernian Blvd., designated each year by the Town of Oyster Bay. This year's "Irishman of the Year" is Martin Higgins, National Chairman of the AOH Freedom For All Ireland Committee, a recipient of the prestigious JFK Medal, the Order's highest award, a past president of the Nassau County Board, founding chairman of the annual Mass For Peace held at St. Agnes Cathedral in Rockville Centre and respected community leader notes Hugh Forde, of New Hyde Park, Feis Chairman and New York State Director, AOH, 6th District which comprises Nassau and Suffolk County.

Our Feis celebrates our Irish culture in song, story and dance with over 200 competitive categories in step dancing, fiddle, accordion, ceil bands, pipers and drummers, singers, poets, arts and craft displays and Irish football games with the 'Liditzer' set for 1 p.m. on the sprawling grounds in Plainview. Gates open at 7 a.m. for competitors and 8 a.m. for the general public. Admission is $4 per person - children under 16 years of age with family or adult FREE!

Two Field Masses will be celebrated at 11 a.m. and 12 noon at the mobile unit. Official ceremonies will be held at 1 p.m. to welcome our distinguished guests, public and fraternal leaders reports Tom Moriarty, Nassau County Board President, including a presentation by Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta to the Irish-American community.

More than 16 Pipe Bands will compete, including the Detroit Police Department. Live dance music follow the reception and the 500 pipers and drummers will complete the festivities at 5 p.m., with a massed musical presentation. Come early, bring the family and share 'the spirit of the Irish' in Nassau County, the gateway to Irish culture.

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta proclaimed Israeli-American Day in the County of Nassau to recognize the substantial contributions that Israeli-Americans have provided for the community. The ceremony was recently held at the Lakeside Theatre in Eisenhower Park as part of the 1987 Summer Performing Arts International Night Series. Joining the County Executive is Ira Goldfine of Hicksville who is a member of the Jewish War Veterans, Nassau/Suffolk Region.

A fuller life through achievement

Christine is blind. At Helen Keller Services for the Blind, we know it's important to help blind kids achieve. Some parents think they have to do everything for blind children.

And that's too bad!

Helen Keller social workers helped Christine's mom and dad understand she could learn to care for herself. Because she sees some light, we fitted her with special lenses in our low vision clinic. She went to our nursery school. Later, with our help, she attended a regular school where she did her lessons from braille books. Then, one of our mobility instructors taught her to use a cane so she could travel alone, anywhere.

Kids like Christine, and her father too, need Helen Keller Services. Help us to help them to a fuller life.

Youth Director Kiwanis Speaker

Hope For Youth, Inc. was represented by Mr. David Hegerty, their Program Development Director, when he spoke to the Hicksville Kiwanis Club at the September 2 meeting.

Mr. Hegerty told the members of Kiwanis that Hope For Youth, Inc. was a 20 year old child care agency which was organized after Judge Elizabeth Golding suggested that children who were neglected and/or abused by their parents should be provided with a better life than to be put into an institution. Hope For Youth, Inc., is a voluntary, licensed child care agency dedicated to establishing and operating family-like homes for abandoned, neglected and abused children.

The first such home was in North Bellmore, and they now have four homes on Long Island. They have a live-in staff 24 hours.

Jewish Studies Series Announced

The Institute for Adult Jewish Studies announces its new fall and winter series and rabbis' courses for the 1987-88 year. The fall program will commence on October 19 and end on December 14. Rabbis from the eight sponsoring congregations will offer courses for attendees prior to each week's lecture. The fall program will take place at the Plainview Jewish Center, 95 Floral Drive, Plainview, on Monday nights from 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The winter series of four sessions will offer Eric Goldman and "The Jewish Experience in Film" at the Manetto Hill Jewish Center, 244 Manetto Hill Road, Plainview, January 11, 18, 25 and February 1, 1988.

Starting with Danny Siegel's "What Do Paul Newman, Bruce Springsteen, Kenny Rogers Know About Tzedakah?", and ending with a rousing "Rabbis Round Table", the lecture series promises to be one of the best ever.

Other lecturers will include Kenneth Libo (Jewish Cowboys); Oscar Israelsowit (Synagogues of New York); Jerome Horblatt (Jewish Law and the Constitution); Fred Rosner (Medical Ethics); Gary Resnikoff (Rabbis in Uniform-Terrorism); Gary Moskowitz (The Jewish Poor); a day and house a maximum of seven children per home. The children are carefully screened for compatibility. Guidance and Counseling is provided. Many graduate from high school and some go on to college on Hope For Youth scholarships.

Mr. Hegerty was obviously pleased to report that they had rescued many children from the governmental system of institutionalizing so-called problem kids. He also stated that help is needed in the form of donations of funds; furniture for the homes; volunteer time such as carpentry, plumbing, etc. to maintain the homes.

Further information is available at Hope For Youth, Inc., Northedge Bldg. Rm. 20, Stewart Ave., Bethpage, N.Y. 11714, or call 579-6580.

chimes and carillons will ring out at 4 p.m. Auto horns, whistles will detract from the nation's hearing our church bells chiming and the period of silence afterwards.

Many Other Community Ceremonies are Possible

The National Commission on the Constitution's Bicentennial is encouraging any and all meaningful ceremonies and programs to mark September 17, the 200th Birthday of the U.S. Constitution. Some community groups in the nation are planning 7 a.m. "sunrise ceremonies", involving a flag raising, the Pledge of Allegiance and a reading of the Preamble to the Constitution, having a speaker to recall the significance of the day. Hicksville clubs and organizations meeting, the evening of September 17, might well include the foregoing program in their meeting.

Church Services

Special religious services will mark the day at some Hicksville Churches and Temples. The 200th Anniversary of the Constitution fortunately will be observed throughout the entire coming year. It is expected that this Thanksgiving Day, Hicksville's 17 Houses of Worship will see many solemn and joyous services as America recalls its manifold blessings under the Constitution.

A Four-Year Bicentennial is Planned

Indeed, the Town of Oyster Bay Bicentennial Historical Commission, under the chairmanship of Dorothy Horton McGee, the Town Historian, is pleased to remind the Town's Hamlets and Villages that Constitution Day 1988 is merely the formal start of four coming years of U.S. Constitutional Commemorations. Town Bicentennial Commissions and Committees will observe the Ratification Process of 1787-1789, the Organization of the Federal Government and the 200th Anniversary of the Bill of Rights (1790-91).

Our September 16 and 17 commemorations will be the beginning, therefore, of year-long school and community celebrations and programs, as we reflect as a people on the values set down and implied in our American Constitution.

It is always a joy and moment of pride to recall the words of the great British statesman, William Gladstone regarding the U.S. Constitution. Writing to an American friend on the occasion of the Constitution's Centennial, Prime Minister Gladstone wrote (and we paraphrase him):

"I consider it the greatest work created by a body of men in a given time."

Editor's Notebook

With the opening of schools in the area the Insurance Institute has come up with some pertinent safety reminders.

Teach your children that they should always walk facing traffic, if there are no sidewalks. If they must walk before sunrise or after sunset, be sure they wear clothing with reflective tape.

Caution your children never to run between parked cars. And be sure they cross the street at intersections, not in the middle of the block.

If they ride the school bus, teach them to watch for oncoming traffic when they get off or on the bus, and to always cross in front of the bus.

Children who ride bikes should ride with the traffic and in single file. They should be alert for potholes, manhole covers and loose gravel.

Be alert for children who may dash into the street. Use extra caution at school crosswalks and mind the guard on duty. Have your car or van checked for faulty brakes, lights, windshield wipers and horns. Be especially careful in inclement weather and at sunrise or dusk.

Parents who plan to drive in car pools should call their insurance agent or company representative to make sure they have adequate liability coverage. The additional passengers bring the increased risk of a costly lawsuit, if an accident should occur. So, it may be wise to consider raising the limits of your liability coverage.

As in Ulysses S.

The President prominently featured on each and every $50 bill.

Until September 30, our new Action Banking Center at Sears Plaza in Hicksville will be randomly dispensing $50 bills instead of $20s.

Which means you could win extra cash anytime you make a withdrawal.

Just drive in and withdraw up to $400 using your Action Banking Card or any other NYCE card. Then the machine might give you a $50 bill in place of a $20.

And when you win, only the amount you requested will be deducted from your account.

So the extra $30 is yours to keep. Free.

We'll be giving away $4,500 this way. So come make a withdrawal. You might wind up looking free cash right in the face.

Portrait of the Great American Investor

John Alford has been cutting hair since 1955. The town's full of people who've never had their hair cut by anyone else. John's an expert at what he does—and he's also an expert investor. Because he invests in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Over 23 million Americans like John invest in Savings Bonds. They are the Great American Investors. People everywhere are discovering that Bonds pay competitive rates, like money.

market accounts, when held for five years or more. And they're free from state and local income tax.

Bonds are easy to buy. You can purchase them at most banks or through Payroll Savings at work. So, whether you are investing $25 or $5000, buy U.S. Savings Bonds. The Great American Investment. Find out more, call 1-800-US-BONDS.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

THE GREAT AMERICAN INVESTMENT

Bonds held less than five years earn a lower rate.

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulett attended the Charity Baseball Game for the A.H.R.C. which was recently held at the Abe Levitt Complex in Hicksville. The County Executive presented citations to the two participating leagues, the Hicksville Baseball Association and the Hicksville Police Activity League. In photo are: Albert Ciccone of Hicksville, Coordinator; George Simonelli, Coach of Hicksville Baseball Association; Councilman Angelo Dell'Aglio, Town of Oyster Bay; Bill Toelstadt of Massapequa, P.A.L. Coach; Councilman Thomas L. Clark, Town of Oyster Bay; (in front), Lou Faccini of Hicksville; and Gregg Harettas of Plainview.

Storytime Regis. For Tiny Tots

Pre-School Storytime sessions at the Bethpage Public Library (for ages 3½ to 5) will begin Thursday, October 8, and Friday, October 9, at 10:30 a.m. The weekly programs will include stories, songs, puppet fun, games, films and much more. Pre-schoolers who are residents of School District No. 21 and who have had their third birthday before April 30, are welcome to attend.

Tiny Tots Time will begin on Wednesday, October 7, at 10:30 a.m. Each program in this monthly four-session series for parents and very young children (ages 2½ to 3½) will offer stories, puppet fun, games, finger plays, songs, films, and a brief discussion for parents of a variety of materials appropriate for use with this age group. Among requirements for Tiny Tots are residency in School District No. 21, the youngster's second birthday by April 30, 1987, and a parent in attendance at all times.

Please register now in the Children's Room. As participation in both programs is limited, it is a good idea to register as soon as possible.

Saturday Storytime for youngsters in grades K-3 will begin on Saturday, October 10, at 10:30 a.m. and will include stories, songs, puppetry, films, games and more. Once a month, as announced in special Children's Room flyers, there will be a Saturday Surprise Time craft program for the same age group, also at 10:30 a.m. No registration is required, but participation is limited to residents of District No. 21.

St. Paul's Sunday School

St. Paul Lutheran Church in Bethpage is pleased to announce the beginning of our Sunday School year on Sunday, Sept. 13. All children from 3 yrs. old to 8th grade are welcome to join us.

The basis of our curriculum is the belief that telling the story of Jesus Christ is the central mission of the church. The teaching ministry of St. Paul's supports this mission both by nurturing the children in their faith and by helping them realize the call to be witnesses of this story in their daily living. The story of God's love grows in the children and is lived out through their relationships with others.

Our courses of study this fall are centered around the theme, "Chosen by God." The children will be taught the creation of the human family, the personal relationship between God and His followers, and the ongoing nature of God's everlasting love and forgiveness through times of trial and sin.

We're eager to teach the children. Won't you join us? Classes begin on September 13, from 9:15-10:15 a.m.

St. Paul Lutheran Church is located at 449 Stewart Avenue (just south of the railroad station) in Bethpage. The Sunday worship service begins at 10:30 a.m. weekly. We at St. Paul's invite you to join us in worshipping and praising the Lord. For more information, please contact the church office at 931-8262.

Career Counselling

Looking for a career? Need help with your resume? Schedule a meeting with the Career Counselor at the Hicksville Public Library. Tuesday and Saturday hours are available. Call for an appointment now: 931-1417.

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulett proclaimed Ukrainian-American Day in the County of Nassau at the 1987 International Night Series which was recently held at Eisenhower Park. Ukrainian-American Night was held in recognition of the outstanding contributions that Ukrainian-Americans have provided for the community. Accepting the Proclamation is the President of the Ukrainian Women's League, Xenia Zarycky of Plainview.

Hicksville 'A's First In Tourney

By Jay Schwartz

The '77 traveling "A" team from the Hicksville Soccer Club won first place trophies in their Labor Day Tournament at South Huntington Junior High. In five games they scored 19 goals and shut out all their opponents, 2-0, 3-0, 4-0, 6-0 and 4-0. Coach Richard Isley, with the assistance of Phil Caputo and Steve Florio had prepared the team well.

Experienced goalie Greg Latini worked wonders keeping each shot in his grasp. Jonathan Schwartz held on to Latini's shutout streak when they exchanged positions for some halves.

The sharp goals came from Dan Wolchok, Joseph Croce, Russell Brousseau, Tom Coffey, Greg Latini, Jonathan Schwartz and Richard Werchenski. Strong passing by Philip Caputo, Joseph Florio, John Kanuck and Joseph Matz made the scores possible. The strong defense was powered by Robert Isley and David Nelson.

The team thanks the coaching staff and wishes Tracy Koetter a speedy recovery and Peter Titone a safe return.

Hicksville resident Lawrence J. Fitzgerald recently marked 40 years of service with Long Island Lighting Company. Fitzgerald works as District Manager in the Customer Relations Department.

Our Children

Son doesn't live up to her great expectations

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Q. I'm worried about our 11-year-old son because his school work is just average, and I have a feeling that he could do better. He never has been an outstanding student, but somehow I believe he is capable of higher performance.

Over the years his teachers have told me that he actually is working to his capacity, and just recently the school counselor has said the same thing.

I have difficulty accepting those opinions, and that is why I am writing to you for yours.

A. It is often so hard for parents to be objective and realistic about their own children because they seldom see them in situations where they can compare them with other youngsters. Teachers and counselors usually can. Another problem is that too often we view ourselves as "authorities" in education because we have had 12 or more years of it.

I tend to believe that most teachers and counselors know their business, so it may be time for you to relax.

It is important that parents correlate the "three A's" of Achievement, Ability and Aspiration so far as their children are concerned. It sounds as though your son's achievement and ability are on the same level, and it is necessary to bring the aspirations you have for him in line with them.

Periodic conversations that you arrange with your school counselors may be of value.

Q. We have our first baby, a wonderful little boy. Only one thing worries us about him — he touches all parts of his body, not often, but repeatedly, and without discrimination. Every part seems to interest him equally.

He also is attracted by mobiles, colorful pictures, and musical sounds, but it is only the touching and feeling factor that concerns us.

Should we be concerned, and if so, what should we do about it? We certainly don't want to hit his hands, look angry, or yell at him.

A. It really is interesting that if babies discover and explore their fingers and toes, their parents are all smiles. But if the sex parts are touched, that may be considered "bad," or at least something to worry about. If young children ask about the stars, the moon, or weather, that is just fine. But if they are curious about their bodies, that may seem to be something less laudatory.

Because what you hinted at is a baby's curiosity about his genitals, I've sent you a copy of an article of mine called "Where Did I Come From, Mama?" subtitled "A few words about sex and the young child."

Others can get a copy by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with their request to me in care of P.O. Box 572, Scottsdale, AZ 85252. There is no cost..

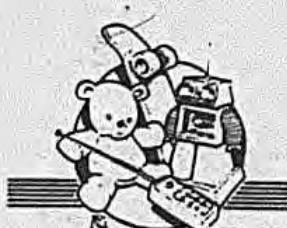

Q. I am very skeptical of the grading practices in colleges based on the two college students in our family. Both do well academically and receive good grades, so that's not the problem.

The issue is other students who cheat on examinations, copy the papers of friends, and also get good grades.

Knowing how hard our sons work, I just don't think it's fair.

I've heard about this situation from them as well as their friends, all of whom resent the casual attitude of some instructors toward this matter.

A. Are you listening, profs? Is it a big problem? Even if not, is it worth watching more carefully? Apparently some conscientious students feel you should.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Has retirement age changed?

Q: About two years ago I remember reading about the retirement age going from age 65 to 67. Will this change in the retirement age affect me? I was born in 1940. — F.W.

A: Starting in the year 2000, the age at which full benefits are payable will be increased in gradual steps until it reaches age 67. This will affect people born in 1938 or later. Reduced benefits will still be payable at age 62, but the reduction will be larger than it is now.

Q: My neighbor and I were discussing whether or not a woman could receive wife's benefits if her husband was still working. She said that the law was recently changed. Is this true? — G.R.F.

A: The change in the law pertained only to divorced spouses. Starting in January 1985, a divorced spouse, who has been divorced at least two years, can receive benefits at 62 whether or not his or her former spouse receives them. The former spouse must be eligible, (i.e. age 62 or older and enough work under Social Security) for benefits regardless of whether he or she has retired.

Q: Almost every time I've passed the Social Security office it seems quite crowded. Is it absolutely necessary that I go into the office to apply for benefits? I plan to retire soon. — E.D.P.

A: No, it isn't necessary to visit your Social Security office to apply for benefits. An application for retirement, disability or survivor benefits may be made by telephone with any Social Security office. If you phone the Social Security office we will be glad to schedule a time when you can complete your application by phone.

Q: I will retire later this year. I have an adult disabled daughter who has never worked. Can she get anything on my record? — J.T.

A: It is possible that your daughter may be entitled to benefits. Benefits can be made to an unmarried child 18 or over who was disabled before age 22. Your daughter will need to submit proof of her age and her relationship to you. In addition, she will have to furnish names, addresses and phone numbers of doctors, hospitals, clinics and institutions that have treated her and the approximate dates of treatment. Contact your local Social Security office for additional information.

Q: I filed for Social Security retirement benefits at age 65, however, I recently returned to work and am working full time. Can I draw benefits even though I am working and earning $18,139 a year? I am 68 years old. — M.L.P.

A: Even though your earnings are above the exempt amount, which is $8,160 in 1987 for people 65 to 70, some Social Security checks may be payable. We will deduct $1 from your benefit for each $2 you earn above the exempt amount. For example, if your monthly benefit was $475 you could receive one month's benefit and part of another. Contact your local Social Security office for additional information.

Q: I am a 74-year-old widow living with my daughter. I am entitled to a very small Social Security check. Is it possible that I could receive Supplemental Security Income? — H.M.M.

A: You may be able to get SSI checks even though you are living with your daughter. Your payment may be reduced, but it's always a help to have an income of your own. Under SSI you can get checks even if your children are financially able to take care of you. Contact your local Social Security office for additional information.

Q: I know Social Security pays benefits to the widow or widower and the children of a worker who dies. But can any other relative receive benefits? — D.T.V.

A: Survivor benefits can be paid only if the deceased worker had credit for a certain amount of work on jobs or self-employment covered by Social Security. Dependent grandchildren, great grandchildren and dependent parents, may qualify for survivor payments on the deceased worker's record under certain circumstances. Proof of support and other evidence will be needed. Contact your local Social Security office for additional information.

Storytime At Hicksville Library

The fall season is again with us and this signals the start of our storytime at the Hicksville Public Library. On Thursday, October 1, the first storytime of the new school year will be held at 10:30 a.m. or 1:30 p.m. Thereafter, each Thursday at the same time picture book stories, fables, fairy tales and flannel board stories, films, and games are in store for all 3½ to 5 year old Hicksville children. Registration is required and will be held in the Children's Room starting the first week of September. All children who wish to register must be 3½ years old by October 1 and present a birth certificate at the time of registration. Each storytime is approximately 30 minutes in length.

For those youngsters who are too young to attend our regular storytime, a special "Tiny Tot" storytime will be held every Wednesday in November, except November 11, and the first Wednesday in December at 10:30 or 11:15 a.m. All Hicksville children between the ages of 2½ and 3½ years old are invited to come and listen to favorite stories. Registration is the week of October 5 and a birth certificate must be shown at the time of registration.

Our regular movie time for preschoolers will again be held this fall. Starting in October all 2½ to 5 year old children are invited to come and see short films at 1:30 p.m. on the first Monday of every month. The film program lasts approximately one half hour and no registration is required.

Comm. English Classes Available

Syosset International has announced plans for the continuation of English classes for community residents, commencing September 11. The classes, conducted every Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. have attracted adult students from the various ethnic community groups.

Teachers of the classes include Anita Harless, Bea Weiss, Liss and Joe Longo and Bill Kupec. Classes are held in the homes of the students, on a rotating schedule. Light refreshments are served at the conclusion of each session, during the socializing period.

Classes are conducted on a conversational basis. Opportunities are presented for cross-discussion about community matters of interest. Orientation relative to local matters - school system, library procedures, shopping hints, medical procedures, etc. is included in the learning process. Monthly field trips add interest to the program.

Additional students are encouraged to join the program. Classes are organized according to the various ability levels of the students. In addition, adults willing to serve as teachers are welcome. The only requirement for admission to the English class is membership in Syosset International.

For further information, or application for membership, call Director Bill Kupec at 921-1997 or write to him at 29 Narcissus Drive, Syosset.

New York State is a great state in which to live, work and raise a family. We can be proud of our place in world commerce, industry and in the quality of our lives. But one of our greatest sources of pride is often overlooked, that being our huge forest preserves, wetland and marsh areas, and abundant fish and wildlife.

Now New Yorkers have an opportunity to help protect this unique heritage of wildlife so vital to the quality of life we all enjoy. "Return a Gift to Wildlife" is a program into which you may voluntarily contribute when you complete your state tax form. By checking off Line 18 on the long form or Line 12 on the short form, you can make a contribution to the New York State Conservation Fund. Money collected have been dedicated by the State Finance Law to the protection, management and extension of wildlife in our great state.

The Need Has Never Been Greater

Hard economic times dictate hard financial decisions. This year, the federal government has already eliminated endangered species aid, jeopardizing the restoration of a number of birds and animals native to New York. In addition, thousands of acres of grassland, wetland,

Most Input Callers Favor Death Penalty Over Prison

Most callers to Input do not think that life in prison is an adequate substitute for the death penalty, in answer to this question: "Do you think a full lifetime in prison would be an adequate substitute for the death penalty on capital crimes?" Here are some of the answers:

SHOULD NOT LIVE

No. In the case of a wanton crime where a gunman deliberately kills a human being, there is no reason to allow that person to live—even in prison. It is possible for the killer to adjust to prison and feel a certain amount of comfort there while his victim is dead and has no life. K.E. MIGHT BE PAROLED

Gov. Cuomo would say that it is the best way to deal with murderers to let them have life imprisonment. I do not agree because I know that prison reforms come along and make life in prison too good for someone who has no regard for the life of others. In addition, under reforms, the murderer might just be paroled in spite of the sentence and the pledge to society to keep the killer locked up. H.R.

DEATH PENALTY NEEDED

With life so cheap these days that every hooligan feels he has the right to settle his grievances with a gun or a knife, even the death penalty wouldn't be a deterrent. And yet, I have been appealing for that type of sentence as a palpable threat which might discourage some would-be killers. Unfortunately, our Governor is opposed to it and the crimes of this kind keep multiplying daily. So, it's really difficult to conjecture about substitutes for something which hasn't a chance to be enacted in its own right. In any case, I don't think that a lifetime in prison could be an adequate substitute either here in New York or in any other state. Even with long term sentences, paroles are abbreviated because of good behavior and often put potential killers back on the street many times simply because scarce prison space is needed for new inmates. Frankly, I believe that any penalty for a capital crime should include as a basic element physical punishment of some sort - something which offenders of this kind would find too horrible even to contemplate. Castration comes to mind or certainly, at a minimum, whip lashing of some kind. Somewhere in the Middle East severing a hand has been effective over the years as standard punishment for stealing and, as far as I know, is still used effectively. Finally, I don't believe we can afford the luxury of keeping capital crime offenders in jail for a lifetime. Do-gooders would shriek at the mere thought of more violent penalties but I am convinced that half measures cannot possibly stem the rapid rise of such heinous crimes. P.G.S.

APPEALS

Capital crimes have been committed even before recorded history and, for just as long, the issue of crime and punishment has remained with us. Opponents to the death penalty say that it is inhumane to execute criminals but, is it more appropriate to allow those shown to be guilty without a doubt of their own inhuman crimes to live in a prison system that is already seriously overcrowded, costly and needs improvement? For those convicted, it takes a total of ten years to exhaust all attempts for an appeal — that is time enough. C.P.

NO SUBSTITUTE

I do not think lifetime imprisonment is an adequate substitute for the death penalty. I believe punishment for cold blooded murderers should be death. The convicted one could have a choice of the chair, gas chamber, hanging squad, or lethal injection. A life for a life - that's justice—not a term in prison for a life. And it would also be a deterrent as the murderer would not be able to murder again, which has happened many times during the past years. E.E.

HAS HOPE

I don't think life imprisonment is adequate punishment because a person who kills another person and is sent to jail always has the hope of getting out. His sentence can be commuted, pardoned, and there is no deterrent quality to this type of sentence. Gov. Cuomo refuses to sign the death penalty bill on the basis he feels it is inappropriate and unfair. He should do his duties as a governor and not bring his own personal feelings into it. Anyone who says the death penalty is not a deterrent and won't stop violent crimes is absolutely wrong. Very few people will walk into the chair without a lot of thought and appeals. If some lives can be saved, it is a just penalty.

LIFE IS SUITABLE

Yes, life in prison without parole is a suitable punishment. In fact, the criminal should be at hard labor that produces good which can be sold—the proceeds of which would go to the victim's family. The death penalty in no way solves the problem of violent crimes. It is sheer revenge. Furthermore, there is always the risk of putting to death an innocent person. So, definitely, life in prison and working in that prison until natural death is a suitable punishment. V.G.

NO PROMISE

I am for life imprisonment for capital crimes with no promise of parole. The death penalty is morally wrong and also statistics prove it does not deter crimes. Killing another human being, even if he/she is a cold blooded murderer, is not justified. Also, we must consider that sometimes a person is wrongfully accused—our justice system is far from perfect. We are supposed to be a modern, civilized society - let us begin to act like it and find more productive ways to fight and prevent crime.

BOTH PENALTIES

I strongly believe that our criminal justice system needs both of these extreme penalties. I disagree with those that say that the death penalty would not be a deterrent for those that would commit murder. And, it just doesn't make sense to sentence a cold blooded killer to a life sentence knowing he will be paroled in 15 to 20 years. Certainly in our state, where Gov. Cuomo persists in vetoing a death penalty which has passed our legislature each year, there should be a true life sentence with no chance of parole for those who commit the heinous crimes. C.K.

Parents' Weekend - A College Event

By Joseph T. Loscalzo, MSS, CSW-P

By now, one would certainly think and expect my wife and me to know everything that there is to know about Parents' Weekends. After all, we have already guided five of our children through college and, in the process, have attended and participated in many of these weekends. Yet, it is precisely because our most recent sojourn to Bucknell University was such a priceless experience, with many and varied benefits, that my wife and I decided to offer some words of encouragement to other parents.

We both agreed to begin at the beginning and to acknowledge the competition for the time to be spent at Parents' Weekends. For example, we were teased, as we have been many times before, to join some friends on a trip to Las Vegas, or to visit some relatives in Florida and, along the way, to visit Epcot. The temptation was great because we don't have much time off and we have never been to Las Vegas or Epcot — and we have been to many college campuses. But Parents' Weekends were very special to our other children and, candidly, we have collected some of our most treasured memories for our Memory Box while carrying trays on a college cafeteria line. So, away with temptation and yes, yes to our son's and Bucknell's invitation, into the family car, and onto the highway for the struggle across New York's bridges with our compass set for Lewisburg, Pa.

It's not absolutely essential—we've had ample rain and snow in our time—but glorious weather helps. Our May weekend was just that—glorious, so that when we arrived on campus, the trees, shrubs and flowers bloomed, as if on cue—the parents are coming—you know those folks who pay the college tuition. But even more inspiring and exciting than the setting were the bright-eyed, pleasant, smiling, welcoming students who helped us "to settle in" rapidly.

Our thinking over the years has been to attend the students' plays, to listen to their singing, to cheer on their athletic activity. In addition, my wife and I have been Moliere enthusiasts and, on this first night, we could attend a play by John O'Keefe—England's Moliere. What's more, it was to be an 18th century comedy of intrigue—quite a challenge for 20th century drama students. They just might need our support. They got more than our support. They received our well-deserved applause. We and all the parents were wholesomely entertained.

The highlight of the early part of the second day was an opportunity for us to "return to class." To sit at a desk again, to listen to a lecture, to take notes, to learn—all this and no obligation to take end-term exams. What a treat! My wife and I, being the practised veterans we are, smoothly attended two different classes, then shared our notes and discussed them...Deja Vu, Mini-Matriculation, call it whatever...it was great fun and very worthwhile.

Parents can, and some do, go elsewhere for meals. But we like to join the students. There's something about the noise, the crunch, the portions of food on each tray—we are impressed—you might even say awed by the students' lifestyle and we did relax into the informality of our "college" lunch, while anticipating a dramatic change to formality—a candlelight dinner. So we "walked off" lunch and visited buildings, smelled the flowers until it was time to gather for dinner. The metamorphosis was complete. Parents and students wore their "Sunday Best" and graciously participated in an elegant dinner affair. For my wife and me, and we are sure many others, a glowing, heartening warmth came to us, not from the flickering candles, not from the delicious heated foods but from the students—guys and gals who sang to us throughout the dinner. Nor did it cease with the conclusion of dinner. Within an hour, at the impressive University Chapel, Bucknell's chorus and orchestra serenaded us with concerts that we will long remember and appreciate. How fitting it was to exit to an evening as "Glorious" as the daytime weather had been. In fact, with all that we had been exposed to, I could not resist looking up at the star-filled heavens and recall Shakespeare's famous lines, "There's no husbandry in the heavens tonight, the stars are all out." I'm still wondering why "Goodnight" occurred so quickly after that profound observation.

Our third and final day was a relatively short one, as we have learned it traditionally is. Parents do have to travel an assortment of distances, but here is where we were in for a surprise—a rousing, enthusiastic, inspiring performance of "Jesus Christ, Superstar." We have to surmise that many parents were slightly tardy returning "home." We were. We were on such an emotional high, participating in this enthusiasm that we needed to and wanted to walk and to talk with our son, with other parents, and then, finally, just to sit on a campus bench for meditation and reflection. My wife and I wondered aloud—no matter how much fun we might have had at Las Vegas of Epcot, would we ever have sat on a bench and meditated inspirationally?

There must be an epilog to this narrative so as to incorporate two very serious ideas. There was a sad moment at the candlelight dinner—we witnessed a mother and father look at their senior son and sadly state regret that they hadn't attended a Parents' Weekend previously. Our hope is that all parents will more readily, more eagerly join their children at Parents' Weekends in colleges all over the country. Try it—You'll love it! Finally, we observed more poignantly than ever before that our college students are capable of generating more warmth, more enthusiasm, more inspiration, more tolerance, more consideration, more love than all the nuclear bombs in the world. Let's find a way of harnessing it and, even more important—let's find a way of "exploding" it on a daily basis, not just on special occasions.

Q. While visiting France last year my friend and I ate in an elegant restaurant. We noticed that forks and spoons were facing downward on the tablecloth. Do you know why this was done?

A. This is an old French custom which is gradually giving way to the English and American way of facing forks and spoons upward.

Q. Recently I came across a menu expression that was new to me. Can you explain what "A la burgignonne" means?

A. Translated from the French it would mean "in the Burgundy style" and it refers to any dish served with small onions, spices, bacon, mushrooms and, of course, Burgundy wine.

READER RATINGS

Q. I often eat with friends at a local restaurant known for its beautiful decor and excellent food. However, for some reason the waiters and waitresses seem to wear grim expressions on their faces. They are not actually rude, but their manner is somewhat curt. Would it be a good idea to say something to the owner?

A. I don't know how the owner will take your comments, but you would actually be doing him or her a favor. It would cost nothing to have the employees a little more gracious and it would most likely increase the restaurant's business. Food and decor are important, but so is pleasant service.

Q. It seems every time I go to a certain restaurant with my wife, we're given very poor seats. Either we're put in a draft near the door or else we're seated next to the noisy kitchen. It is too bad because we like the restaurant otherwise. It has a nice cozy atmosphere and the food and service are good. What should we do?

A. One simple solution to your problem would be to request a better situated table when you are making reservations. You might also speak to the owner or headwaiter. If he sees you are frequent customers he will wish to please you.

Q. As a newly hired woman executive with a large store, I will soon be taking male clients to lunch on occasion. What is the best way to handle payment of the check?

A. A credit card would be your best solution. Another possibility would be a charge account with a good local restaurant.

The bills could then be presented to your employer.

Q. Last week, while eating in an elegant (and quite expensive) French restaurant, I saw a teenager sitting near me combing her long blonde hair at the table. Her parents seemed unconcerned!

A. The young woman's behavior was inexcusable. Arranging one's hair in a public place is always a breach of etiquette.

Her parents should have suggested that their daughter make a quick trip to the ladies room to fix her coiffure.

Q. When I am on a diet I find it difficult to find things at restaurants. What do you suggest? C.B.
A. The suggestion is that you check the ads and call restaurants. Many of them have special diet plates that will be just what you are looking for. Some restaurants will allow substitutions and you can make your own plate but you cannot be sure of this unless you check the restaurant policy in advance.

Q. - When on approaches a receiving line and is asked to give a name, does one say, "Mrs. Jones" or "Mrs. John Jones" or "Mr. Jones" or "John Jones"?

T.F.
A. You just say, "Mrs. Jones" or "Mr. Jones", or more usual now, "John Jones". If you are a very special Jones, the person who introduces you finally to the guest of honor sometimes has the opportunity to define you as it were. The receiving line should never be held up for lengthy conversations, however.

Q. Why in some restaurants do I have to sit there so long before the waitress gives me the check?
 A. Well the answer to your question is hard to define. It might be simply because the restaurant is so busy that the waitress hasn't time to add up the check. But at some of the better restaurants you will never get a check unless you ask for it. In these establishments they feel that the guests should decide how long they wish to talk or occupy the space after eating and only on rare occasions will they bring a check that has not been solicited and then with apologies.

Q. Some restaurants make a big thing over a lobster tank, but I think it is disgusting to have to kill these animals in order to get a meal. Why do they have these tanks?

A. The reason is simply that lobster has to be freshly killed to be eaten. The lobster tank lets the diner see that what he is getting is really fresh lobster. Possibly some squeamish people believe that the lobster tank should be somewhere else but most diners want to see the live ones and if you do not, you should be suspicious. They are killed instantly in boiling water.

NICE PLACE

Bomoni's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers.

MODEL OF SERVICE

The Galleria Restaurant on Nassau Blvd., Garden City is one that ought to get more attention. This new restaurant is a model for service. The personnel are at your service from the moment you enter the restaurant until you leave.

But this would not be enough if the food were not good. Last week we were very pleased with our dinners of shrimp marinara which had a very fresh tomato sauce on tasty shrimp. The main dish came with pasta and a freshly cooked vegetable which on this night was spinach and tomatoes. We had a dinner salad additional and topped the meal off with Italian coffee from a selection of six or more possibilities. We think this is a good restaurant. J.E.

GOOD EXPERIENCE

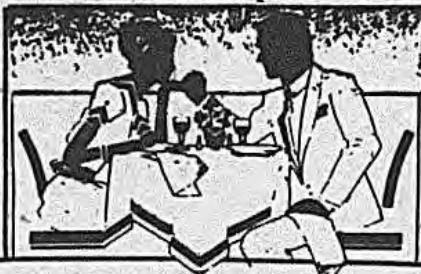

The Benihana of Tokyo restaurant in Manhasset is a good experience. While the price is not low, the food is good and you get the free entertainment of watching the chef cut the fish or meat in a flamboyant style.

We had the fish dinner which was cooked from beginning to end before our eyes on the hibachi. The salad has a special taste prepared with the house dressing which is a combination of oil, vinegar and spice.

We recommend this restaurant. M.V.

Celery is for cooking, too

Most of the celery sold in U.S. supermarkets probably ends up in salads or as edible swizzle sticks in Bloody Marys. Its mild, subtle taste and its crunchiness when eaten raw make it easy to forget that celery is delicious cooked in a variety of ways.

Europeans have prized cooked celery for thousands of years. The Romans were cultivating it before the birth of Christ, and recipes for it appear in the oldest surviving European cookbook, believed to have been written by Roman merchant Marcus Gavius Apicus.

The English have gathered and prepared a type of wild celery (known there as "smallage") for many hundreds of years, but it was not until the 17th century that Italian gardeners introduced cultivated celery to England.

Many of the European recipes for cooked celery involve complicated, highly seasoned sauces, possibly to compensate for celery's very mild flavor. The celery dishes we like best are those that don't overpower the flavor, and which let celery be itself.

When you buy celery, look for fresh, bright green leaves and firm stalks that snap crisply when bent. Very large stalks are tougher than smaller ones, but may be used in most recipes by scraping the outer fibers from the stalks. Removing these tough "strings" from celery stalks is a good idea, especially if they are to be eaten raw. Celery leaves are a great addition to soups, and the interior leaves, from the smaller stalks, are excellent in salads.

CELERY SOUP WITH FARINA BALLS

1 medium leek
4 tbsps. butter
½ tsp. celery salt
¼ tsp. freshly ground black pepper
¼ tsp. thyme
4 cups celery, cut in ¼-inch slices, plus leafy tops from 5-6 stalks
9 cups chicken broth
1 cup milk, mixed with ¼ cup water
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. paprika
¼ tsp. nutmeg
¼ cup farina
2 eggs
2 tbsps. fresh parsley, chopped

Wash and trim leek. Slice into ¼-inch slices, using most of green stem, but discarding toughest outer leaves.

Broccoli best in microwave

HALIBUT DIVINE

1 lb. frozen halibut fillets, thawed
1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen broccoli spears, thawed
½ tsp. tarragon
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 (10½ oz.) can condensed cream of shrimp soup
¼ cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Arrange halibut in 8x8-inch glass baking dish, with thick edges toward outside. Arrange broccoli spears on top of fish, with stems toward outside of dish. Sprinkle tarragon, pepper and lemon juice over top. Cover dish with plastic wrap and microwave for 12 to 14 minutes, until fish flakes easily with fork and broccoli is tender. Set aside. In 2-cup glass measure, heat soup for 3 to 4 minutes, until hot. Pour over fish and broccoli combination. Top with shredded cheese and microwave 1 to 2 minutes longer, until cheese is melted. Makes about 4 servings.

BEEF AND BROCCOLI ORIENTALE

4 tbsps. soy sauce
2 tbsps. each sugar and dry sherry wine
1 tbsp. crushed ginger (optional)
2 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. vegetable oil
1 lb. beef sirloin, thinly sliced across the grain
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
2 lbs. broccoli, washed and sliced
3 tbsps. water
¼ tsp. each salt and freshly ground black pepper

BROCCOLI DELUXE

1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen chopped broccoli
1 cup quick-cooking rice
1 (10½ oz.) can cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1 (8 oz.) jar pasteurized cheese spread
¼ tsp. each salt and pepper
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup slivered almonds

Microwave broccoli, in box, for 4 minutes. Drain in colander. In bowl, blend together rice, soup, milk and cheese spread. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave 2 minutes, or until cheese is melted. Stir in broccoli, salt, pepper, onion, celery and almonds. Microwave, covered, about 8 minutes, stirring once after 4 minutes, until rice is cooked. Serves 4.

Blend together soy sauce, sugar, sherry, crushed ginger, flour and oil. Place sliced meat in flat rectangular glass baking dish; pour mixture over meat, and cover with plastic wrap. Allow to marinate at least 1 hour, then microwave 4 to 5 minutes, stirring every minute, until meat is no longer pink. Set aside. Melt butter in 2-quart covered glass casserole; add onion, cover, and microwave 2 minutes. Add broccoli and water, cover, and microwave about 10 minutes, stirring often, until crisp-tender. Stir in meat, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and microwave 1 to 2 minutes longer, until heated through. Serve with rice. Serves 6.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens. Foods are cooked on HIGH (100 percent power) and uncovered unless otherwise specified.

BAKED CELERY WITH HERBS

Sauce:
1½ cups dry white wine
2 tbsps. fresh basil, finely chopped (or 2 tbsps. dried)
2 tbsps. fresh parsley, finely chopped
1 cup chicken broth
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

2 bunches celery, trimmed, leaves removed ½ stick (2 oz.) butter
Two-thirds cup freshly made bread crumbs

To make sauce, mix wine, basil and parsley in small saucepan and simmer 20 minutes (don't use aluminum saucepan, because aluminum will react with wine). Add broth and salt and pepper to taste. Continue to simmer another 5 minutes, or until sauce is reduced a bit.

While sauce is simmering, bring 4 quarts of salted water to boil in large pan or stockpot. Cut trimmed celery into 2-inch lengths and cook about 15 minutes, until just tender. Drain and set aside.

Preheat oven to 400 F. Grease baking dish with some of butter and add celery. Pour sauce evenly over celery pieces and top with bread crumbs. Dot with remaining butter. Bake until golden brown on top. Serves 6.

Superchicken, a bird for all season(ing)s

What makes chicken the super food it indisputably is? Versatility with a capital "V."

This fine-feathered fowl finds its way into soups, stews, salads and sandwiches, fricassées and casseroles, pies, pizza and even puddings.

It can be baked, boiled, broiled, barbecued, pan-fried, stir-fried, roasted, poached and preserved. It can be eaten whole, in pieces, sliced, diced, slivered and ground.

Chicken in one form or another is a favored ingredient in almost every culture of the world, and it's equally at ease at a backyard barbecue and a black-tie dinner for royalty.

It marries well with a wide range of seasonings — including such diverse flavors as garlic, nutmeg, ginger, basil, cayenne, rosemary, oregano, thyme, bay, paprika and caraway.

Just when you think you've explored all its flavor possibilities, new ones pop up. Think not? Take a look at following dishes gleaned from among winners in the 36th annual National Chicken Cooking Contest.

EAST COAST CHICKEN ROLLS

2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, halved, skinned, boned
1 (3 oz) pkg cream cheese
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
1 tsp. butter
2 tbsps. chopped green onions
1 (4 oz) jar shrimp cocktail, sauce reserved
2 tbsps. flour
1 cup seasoned bread crumbs
1 egg

Dredge chicken, one piece at a time, in flour to coat. Dip chicken in egg mixture, then roll in bread crumbs, coating well. In frypan, heat oil to medium temperature.

NOTICE

HAVE YOU A HIDDEN TALENT that has yet to be discovered in print?

We are looking for articles, not exceeding 3,000 words, on local topics, opinions, ideas, nice places to visit on Long Island, and even fiction. In our magazine section, we will try to "Discover" one new feature length article and writer per week. Each writer will be reimbursed a stipend of $25.00.

If you want to be published and be part of an issue of Discovery, you may submit your article to: Litmor Publications, 81 East Barclay Street, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801.

Add chicken and cook, turning about 10 minutes or until brown on all sides. Remove chicken to baking pan, place in oven, uncovered, and bake at 350 F for 20 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove wooden picks; garnish with lemon slices and parsley. Serve with East Coast Sauce.

Makes 4 servings.

East Coast sauce: In blender, place 1 egg, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon grated lemon peel, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chopped green onion; blend. Slowly pour in 1 cup cooking oil and process until mixture begins to thicken. Stir in 2 tablespoons light cream and sauce from shrimp cocktail. Chill.

PECAN CHICKEN WITH DIJON SAUCE

2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, halved, boned and skinned
12 tbsps. butter, divided
4 tbsps. Dijon mustard, divided
6 ozs. pecans, finely ground
2 tbsps. safflower oil
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sour cream
1 tsp. salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. freshly ground pepper

Place chicken between 2 pieces of wax paper. On hard surface with meat mallet or similar flattening utensil, pound chicken to $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thickness.

In small saucepan, place 8 tablespoons of butter and melt over medium heat. With wire whisk, beat in 3 tablespoons of mustard until well blended.

In shallow dish, place pecans. Dip chicken one piece at a time, first in butter-mustard mixture, then in pecans, dredging to coat.

In large frypan, place remaining butter, add oil and heat to medium temperature. Add chicken and sauté about 3 minutes on each side, or until brown; remove to baking pan and bake in 200 F oven about 20 minutes, or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease.

Drain frypan and deglaze with sour cream. Using wire whisk, adding remaining mustard, salt and pepper. For each serving, place chicken over small portion of sauce.

Makes 4 servings.

CHICKEN MONTEREY
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup all-purpose flour
1 (14-ounce) package taco seasoning mix
8 large chicken breasts, halved
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup melted butter
3 cups crushed tortilla chips
Sauce (recipe follows)

Combine flour and taco seasoning mix in a heavy plastic bag. Add pieces of chicken and shake to coat. Melt butter in a foil-lined (shiny side up) 11x13-inch pan. Place chicken in pan, turning once to coat with butter. Roll in crushed tortilla chips and return to baking pan. Bake in a preheated 375 F oven for 45-50 minutes or until well browned and tender.

SAUCE

3 tablespoons chopped onions
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon garlic powder
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon celery salt
1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk or half and half
1 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons chicken stock base
$\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups grated Jack cheese
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup grated cheddar cheese
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup sliced olives, drained
Yellow food coloring, optional
Garnishes: Additional grated cheddar cheese, lettuce, ripe olives, avocado slices, tortilla chips, tomato wedges.

Sauté chopped onion in butter until limp but not brown. Cool.

In small bowl, blend flour, garlic powder and celery salt together; add to cooled sautéed onions and stir into a paste. (Sauce may be held at this point until chicken is almost done). When ready to complete sauce, add milk or half and half, chicken stock base and Tabasco; cook and stir until mixture thickens. Do not allow to boil. Add grated cheese, olives and optional food coloring, and stir until cheeses melts.

To serve, line large serving dish with lettuce leaves. Top with mound of shredded lettuce and baked chicken. Spoon some cheese sauce over chicken and sprinkle with additional sliced ripe olives and grated cheddar cheese. Add a few whole tortilla chips.

Serves 6 to 8.

THANK YOU HOLY SPIRIT and St. Jude, C.E. hs2

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. MC. hs2

MAY THE SACRED HEART OF Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, have mercy on us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day for 9 days. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. Please continue to help, G.N. gcs2

MAY THE SACRED HEART OF Jesus be adored, glorified, honored, loved and preserved throughout the whole world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles pray for us. Say this prayer nine times a day for nine days and your prayers will be answered. Publication must be promised. Thank You, G.M. hs2

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit M.C. hs2

Quality Or Quantity?

One
Sure Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper, you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity, the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. What would be the best time of year to paint a concrete cellar floor and concrete side walls? Also, what type of paint should I use? — R.E.

A. You will want to paint this area when you can be assured that it is dry and as free from moisture as possible. Depending on the climate in your area, the best time of year probably would be during the summer months or early fall prior to the rainy, cold weather season.

Paint used over concrete, cement, mortar, asbestos cement and various types of blocks must be able to resist the alkali present in these substances which attacks ordinary oil-based paints. Satisfactory results can be obtained by using exterior latex paints meant for masonry, swimming pool paints or reinforced masonry paints.

Be sure the area is properly prepared for painting to assure success of the project. Brush away all dirt and loose material and remove oil or grease by wiping with a solvent.

Metal objects attached to these surfaces should be freed of rust and then primed with an anti-corrosive metal primer. Cracks and holes should be patched or caulked.

Excess fluorescence — the white powder that sometimes appears on concrete — should be brushed away. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions carefully for the paint you select, including the use of a primer if recommended for your paint type.

Q. I would appreciate your help and suggestions on how to remove the stain and ring in a toilet bowl. Evidently this is caused by hard water and neglect. Please advise. — M.F.

A. First empty the bowl of water. You can turn the water off and flush the toilet, or simply dip the water out and use a sponge for the excess moisture.

Try removing the scale and stain with a solution of oxalic acid applied with a dish mop.

An even stronger solution would be muriatic acid (one part muriatic acid mixed with nine parts of water — pour acid into the water when mixing, not the reverse). Be sure to wear rubber gloves and eye goggles for protection against splatters when using this solution.

After scrubbing, rinse with plenty of clear water.

There also are commercial products available for cleaning stained toilet bowls. Check the household cleaning section of your supermarket.

Another product that helps clean and prevent scale is white vinegar, heated and applied with a stiff brush.

Q. We recently had a spillage on our driveway of hydraulic fuel, which came from a leaf blower used by a contractor we hired. We have tried to clean the area with an asphalt cleaner that was purchased at a local home improvement store. It didn't work well at all.

We don't want to reseal the driveway, since that would cause a slick surface and we are on a steep hill. What can we use to clean this area? — S.K.

A. It is very likely the hydraulic fuel caused a chemical reaction when it came in contact with the asphalt. This would make it impossible to remove the stain with a cleaner.

You can apply a blacktop sealer over your driveway. To prevent slickness, either mix sand with the sealer and apply, or sprinkle sand over the top of the freshly applied sealer. This will protect your driveway and prevent the unwanted slickness.

and other remedial methods were discouraged by un-funding.

The blank check became larger and larger through the years, as senior citizen medical costs rose from under $500 in the first year to more than $2,000 on the average in recent years. As the costs increased the administration of Medicare and Congress looked to the senior citizens covered to pay more of the bill — so that in the past five years Medicare actually funded less than 40 percent of senior citizen medical bills — as deductibles, co-payments and premiums were increased.

The program was getting out of hand because the federal government had built no real, effective controls into the system. A few, token perpetrators of the most outlandish frauds were prosecuted. But basically the system was covering less and less while the cost was increasing rampantly.

A recognition that perhaps there was a better way to operate the program led to new changes, the most dramatic in Medicare's history: More home care would be covered, hospitals would be paid on a schedule basis rather than a percentage of whatever they billed, and more. And we are in the throes of those changes now.

There are five major flaws in the new approach, just as in the older approach, so that senior citizen patients are being discharged from hospitals when in need of more care because the flat, funding allotment has been used up for the specific procedure or illness. So there are horror stories most everywhere — because the "right" operation of the system still is not in place.

We can project yet another year of changes in the Medicare system and some senior citizens will get caught in the middle of the mud, and there will be un-funding and short-funding in some areas, and perhaps too much funding in others. But this is how government tends to work, perhaps by non-coordinated committees that do not look to the real intent of need, but instead to the voices and causes of self-interest.

Will Medicare be solved? We bet it will at some future time, but not in 1988, because it is another election year.

"kook" to shatter a life. Picking up hitchhikers is the easiest way a deviant can secure a victim.

Also, when the time comes that you are the driver, return the favor — don't pick up hitchhikers.

Dr. Wallace: I love chocolate (I'm a chocolate freak) but my mother won't let me buy it because she says it's bad for my complexion.

My health teacher said chocolate had nothing whatsoever to do with causing pimples. My mother says that my health teacher doesn't know what he is talking about.

What's the deal? — Richard

Richard: According to Dr. James Fulton, one of the world's foremost experts on acne, chocolate is not a major aggravating factor in most acne cases. While at the University of Pennsylvania, he conducted a study where 65 teenagers were fed 1 pound of chocolate per day (you should have been one of the teens in the study) over a controlled period of time. The complexion of two teens improved, worsened in two, but the majority stayed the same.

Dr. Wallace: I am 13 and was an only child until my mother had a baby girl three months ago. I love my baby sister, but her birth has brought me a lot of trouble. Ever since the baby was born, my parents have been treating me terribly. All they do is yell at me and tell me to "grow up."

To make things worse, I now have to "do my share" of the homework. I don't mind helping out, but they are never satisfied with my work.

Dr. Wallace, I'm scared and don't know what to do. I feel unloved and unwanted. All of their spare time is spent playing "go go" with the baby.

Angie: A new baby in the family is always cause for joy, but sometimes parents do neglect their other children unintentionally.

Usually a reminder will solve the problem. Please see that your parents read this column. It will let them know exactly how you feel.

Please write to me in a few weeks and let me know how things are going.

All we do is hitchhike on main streets during daylight hours, and we never accept a ride if the car's occupants look "shady." And we only hitchhike in pairs.

If you will tell us it's OK to hitchhike, we will show your answer to her father and be forever grateful. — Rose

Rose: Under no circumstances would I ever encourage anyone to hitchhike, and I mean boys as well as girls. You and your girlfriend should consider yourselves fortunate. It just takes one ride with a

Questions, challenges of Medicare

Imagine taking a 1,000-piece picture puzzle where half of the pieces are missing and you don't have a picture to work from as a reference for solving the puzzle. That's about the way the Medicare program has been over the years, and it has been confounded each year when the federal government mixes up the pieces, adding some and taking away others.

For those of you already age 65 and trying to make sense out of the program so that you can be insured at some level, or trying to understand what is covered and what is not, do not feel alone; the program has been, as depicted, a puzzle in the main. For those of you about to enter the program, do not despair — but we provide this alert so that you start your studying and planning early.

Consider this survey — albeit not very scientific — which we just completed. We talked with a score of communications practitioners in government — press secretaries to congressmen and in government agencies — and two-thirds of them identified Medicare as being their biggest challenge for understanding themselves and in communicating to constituents.

Medicare was created as a "panacea" in meeting the health-care costs of the elderly. That was the legislative intent in the concept that was to provide 80 percent of medical costs for covered adults, age 65 and older. Perhaps it was too simple and therefore effective in intent and coverage, because during the consideration and debate in Congress the bill, and the program became something else.

Certain medical lobbying groups wanted "blank check" coverage for their professionals and "no check or coverage" for other types of medical practitioners with whom they disagreed. So the ax fell, cutting off coverage in many areas of reputable medicine, and the lobbying groups dropped the ax again, cutting off coverage for any "wellness" programs or preventive health care. Acute hospital care was endorsed in the new approach, just as in the older approach, so that senior citizen patients are being discharged from hospitals when in need of more care because the flat, funding allotment has been used up for the specific procedure or illness. So there are horror stories most everywhere — because the "right" operation of the system still is not in place.

We can project yet another year of changes in the Medicare system and some senior citizens will get caught in the middle of the mud, and there will be un-funding and short-funding in some areas, and perhaps too much funding in others. But this is how government tends to work, perhaps by non-coordinated committees that do not look to the real intent of need, but instead to the voices and causes of self-interest.

Pungent, powerful Parmesan

Grated Parmesan cheese is a "must" for me on any Italian pasta dish. If I find I've run out, I'll make a special trip to the store to get more. But aside from pasta, there are a number of vegetarian dishes to which Parmesan can add its own special "punch." Sprinkle over soups or tossed green salads, into folded omelets, onto steamed buttered green beans or casserole dishes.

To dress up garlic bread spread with garlic/butter mixture then sprinkle liberally with grated Parmesan. Add a pinch of crumbled dried herbs and dust with paprika before baking. Delicious!

A member of the "hard grating" family, Parmesan originated in the Italian city of Parma, from which it takes its name. Made from a blend of whole and skim milk the cheese is aged up to two years, during which time it develops its unique and powerful flavor. Because it is so strongly flavored, Parmesan is never eaten alone, as are most cheeses, but is served only as a garnish or seasoning to other foods. A little bit goes a long way — but you don't need to eat much to get a good nutritional boost from Parmesan. One tablespoon has as much usable protein as a whole cup of milk (at only 25 calories), and it's a great source of calcium, too.

There's nothing to compare to the taste of freshly grated Parmesan. Chefs will tell you never to buy the packaged, pre-grated variety, and to choose imported Italian over domestic for the best flavor and quality. If you do grate your own and have more than you can use in the near future, just freeze in a screw-top jar and bring to room temperature before serving. The flavor will be almost identical to fresh-grated.

CREAMED SPINACH FETTUCCINE

- 1 pound green spinach fettuccine noodles
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ cup heavy cream
- Dash freshly ground black pepper

Cook fettuccine in plenty of boiling water about 10 minutes, or until done; drain well. Toss with 1 tablespoon of the butter and set aside.

Heat remaining butter in saucepan over medium-low heat. Stir in Parmesan cheese and cream. Sprinkle with pepper to taste. Toss with cooked fettuccine and serve immediately with extra Parmesan, if desired.

Serves 4 to 6.

Article I
In the Federal Convention: Agreement reached on selection of President.

Philadelphia, September 3, 1787 (Delayed) - Although rumors have persisted here that Federal Convention delegates were still considering establishment of a monarchy, as suggested by Alexander Hamilton in July, no action was taken to do so. Instead they have agreed on creation of the position of President to head the new executive branch of government. He will serve a four year term, but without any restriction on re-election.

This is a reversal from their earlier decision on a single seven year term.

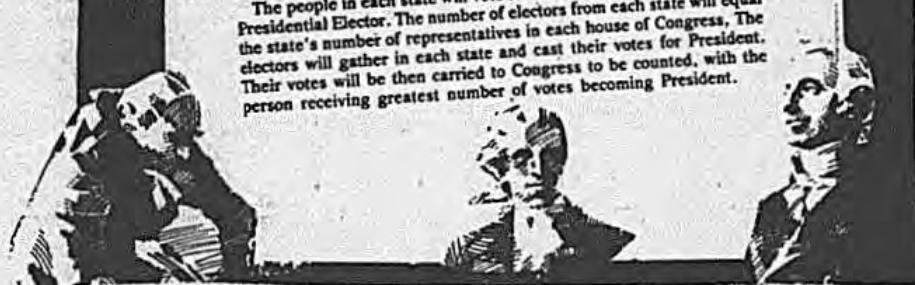

The diversity of opinions as to the method to be used to select the President have also been resolved.

Some delegates would like to have him elected directly by the people. But they are aware of the difficulty experienced by voters in learning about candidates for local offices. Therefore they were concerned about how much more difficult would it be for the people to make a decision about a candidate whom they do not know, have never seen and is hundreds of miles away.

Further objections were raised by a few delegates who have little faith in the ability of the general population to make any wise decision for such an important office. Because the Convention was unable to reach agreement, this problem was referred to the Committee on Postponed Matters.

Their response has been still another compromise. Although somewhat complicated, it was accepted by the Convention.

The people in each state will vote for a new position to be known as Presidential Elector. The number of electors from each state will equal the state's number of representatives in each house of Congress. The electors will gather in each state and cast their votes for President. Their votes will be then carried to Congress to be counted, with the person receiving greatest number of votes becoming President.

TOMATOES ANTONY
 1 small head butter lettuce
 4 large ripe tomatoes; sliced
 1 cup fresh basil leaves, finely chopped
 ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
 ¼ cup olive oil
 ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 Fresh parsley sprigs

Wash lettuce and pat leaves dry. Divide leaves among 4 individual salad plates, and arrange sliced tomatoes over lettuce.

In small bowl combine all remaining ingredients except parsley, blending well to form a smooth paste. Spread over tomatoes and garnish with fresh parsley sprigs. Serve immediately.

Serves 4.

EGGPLANT PARMIGIANA
 1 large eggplant
 6 large ripe tomatoes
 1 small clove garlic, minced
 1 teaspoon dried crumbled sweet basil
 ¼ teaspoon ground dried oregano
 Dash ground black pepper
 2 tablespoons minced onion
 ½ pound mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced
 2 large zucchini, trimmed and shredded
 ½ pound ricotta cheese

¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 400 F.

Trim eggplant and slice crosswise into paper-thin slices. Combine tomatoes, garlic, basil, oregano and pepper in container of blender; blend until smooth. Stir in minced onion and set aside.

Butter large casserole or baking dish. Alternate layers of eggplant, mozzarella, tomato puree, shredded zucchini, ricotta and Parmesan cheese. Top layer should be mozzarella.

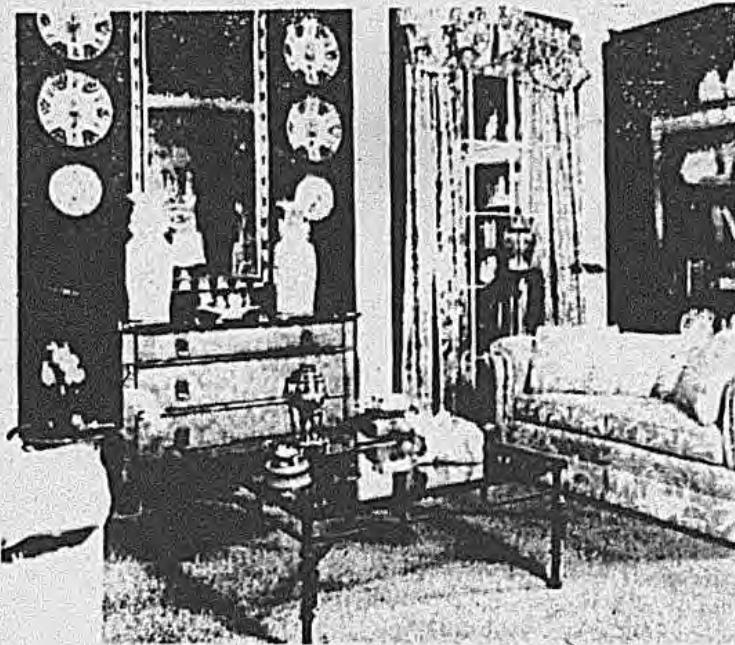

Bake, covered, in preheated oven 25 minutes. Uncover and bake 20 minutes longer, or until vegetables are tender and top is golden brown.

Serves 4 to 6.

Q: I have an air conditioner which is located dead center and 26 inches down from the ceiling in the middle of my dining room wall. How can I arrange pictures around it so it looks more attractive? — E.H.

A: Short of moving the air conditioner to a new location (which would be the ideal solution), you would be best to take a fool-the-eye approach.

By painting the air conditioner the same color as the surrounding wall, you will give it less attention. If the room has nice moldings or other architectural detailing, you might paint the walls a dark color and the detailing a bright, light contrasting color. This will make the room's appealing features more important visually.

Collections of artwork and accessories can also provide an alternative focal point for the eye. Again, color can provide a dramatic backdrop for these collections, as the wall pictured illustrates.

So far as arranging the artwork itself, there are few rules beyond trying to achieve balance — in terms of color, mass and spacing. That is, try to avoid overcrowding or bunching of heavy or dark items in one portion of the arrangement.

Planning is important, so try using paper cut-outs of your artwork, to size, and colored light or dark to match. Move these around on your wall until you get a balanced arrangement that pleases you.

If you still feel uncertain, you can get more detailed guidance from "Picture Framing and Wall Display," from Sunset Books.

Q: I am having no luck in finding a tasteful shower curtain that goes well with my bathroom. The solid colors are too boring and the patterns I've seen won't work. Is anyone making good shower curtains? — D.T.

A: Why don't you make your own? It is a simple matter to cut a printed bed sheet to size or sew together a couple of lengths of fabric of your choice. Lay the fabric against a clear plastic shower liner and mark spots on the fabric for hanger holes. Depending on the fabric, you can reinforce the holes with a buttonhole attachment on your sewing machine or punch right through.

The liner will protect the fabric from water and the fabric itself can be removed from time to time and laundered. Not only can you have an endless selection of patterns this way, but the fabric provides a softer, more tactile element in your bath than plastic would.

A delightful and inexpensive treatment I've seen was accomplished first by splattering the walls of a bath with paint. Then, the same paint was splattered on heavy muslin and made into a matching shower curtain in the manner described above.

it's a collectible

The exhibit that opened at the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of American History on June 24 and which will run until June of next year has given official recognition to something we've all known right along: that Superman is an American hero of mythic proportions.

The subtitle of the exhibition, "Many Lives, Many Worlds," gives an indication of its scope and of the multimedia star the Man of Steel has been for the past five decades. Created in the depths of the Depression by two Cleveland high school students, Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster, the superhero first appeared in a self-published magazine called Science Fiction in 1933. After several rejections, he finally became the lead character in a new comic book, Action Comics No. 1 in June of 1938, winning instant popular success.

The following year he became the first hero to have his own regular comic book title, as well as a daily and a Sunday newspaper strip. In the 1940, "The Adventures of Superman" made its radio debut, and was heard thereafter for 15 minutes every weekday afternoon, following the immortal introduction:

"It's a bird!
It's a plane!
IT'S SUPERMAN!"

From the '40s through the present, Superman has been with us in virtually every entertainment medium. Between 1941 and 1943, Max Fleischer Studio produced 17 animated Superman cartoons for Paramount; in 1948 and 1950 Columbia Pictures offered two live-action Superman movie serials. "The Adventures of Superman" came to television in 1954; the ill-fated George Reeves (he committed suicide in 1959) starred in all 104 episodes. The '60s saw The Man of Tomorrow on the Broadway stage, in a musical called (what else?) "It's a Bird - It's a Plane - It's Superman," while the last decade has seen Hollywood's glossy big-budget "Superman I," "II" and "III," with "IV" in release this summer.

Masses of merchandise have been marketed bearing the image of this prototypical superhero. The Smithsonian exhibition includes everything from radio scripts, storyboard sketches, comics, movie costumes and props and Savings Bond posters to toys, belts, banks, puzzles and paper plates. While all these items are collectible (Warman's price guide lists a '40s dime register bank at $70, a '30s Superman of America pin at $130, a secret code folder premium at $25, a 5½-inch pressed wood figurine at $350, a black metal Krypto-Ray gun at $175 and a 1939 felt "Action Comics - Superman of America" premium patch at $200), it is the comic books of the Golden Age that are far and away the most prized Superman collectibles.

Most valuable of all, of course, is the original Action Comics, No. 1. According to the latest "Overstreet Comic Book Price Guide," bible of comic book collectors, "If the one known mint copy of Action No. 1 ever sold, it would probably fetch a record price of $80,000 to $90,000. - Action No. 1 is showing signs of reclaiming its position as the most valuable single comic book."

Some other prices quoted in "Overstreet" for Superman comics in mint condition:

- Action Comics, No. 2 - $4,550.
- Action Comics, No. 3 - $3,400.
- Action Comics, No. 6 (introducing Jimmy Olsen) - $2,150.
- Action Comics, No. 29 (in which Clark Kent works at The Daily Star) - $805.
- Superman Comic No. 4 (first mention of The Daily Planet) - $1,450.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our children want a dog. However, I am fearful that they might get infected with worms or diseases that the dog might be carrying in its feces or urine.

Is this a rational fear or am I just being overly concerned? I can see a lot of good in our children having a pet.

A. It is wise to be concerned about the potential dangers to which your children might be exposed. But the fear of becoming infected with disease or worms from a dog should not keep you and your family from enjoying the many pleasures of owning a family pet.

There are some diseases that can be spread to humans through contact with infected dog feces or urine. However, if simple routine hygiene is practiced, the chances of becoming infected are very minimal.

The most common diseases spread from animals to man through feces or urine are hookworms, leptospirosis, roundworms, tapeworms and toxoplasmosis.

Dog hookworms do not infect humans. However, the larvae of hookworms can penetrate human skin and cause a local skin irritation called cutaneous larva migrans, most commonly seen in warmer areas of the United States. The disease is often called "creeping eruptions." Local treatment of the eruptions usually is effective.

If a human ingests a roundworm egg, a condition called visceral larva migrans can occur. Visceral larva migrans literally means "larva in migration through the viscera or internal organs." The roundworm larvae of dogs do not develop into adult worms in humans. Whenever the larvae of canine roundworms are released in the human intestine, they migrate through the intestinal wall. They then travel through the other abdominal organs. During their migration, the larvae damage the liver, lungs, nervous system and the eyes.

The infectious form of canine roundworms are the eggs, which incubate for several weeks in the ground where a dog has defecated. If a child places his hands in his mouth while playing in the dirt, he can swallow the eggs and become infected. Most children recover without any treatment.

Humans, especially children, can become infected with dog tapeworms by ingesting infected fleas while nuzzling the pet's fur or being licked on the mouth by a dog with a flea on its tongue. Although possible, the passage of canine tapeworms to humans is very rare.

Humans usually get leptospirosis by swimming in water contaminated with animal urine or by being urinated on directly. Children should be taught to wash themselves if urinated on by an animal.

Simple, commonsense hygiene will help you avoid the diseases described here:

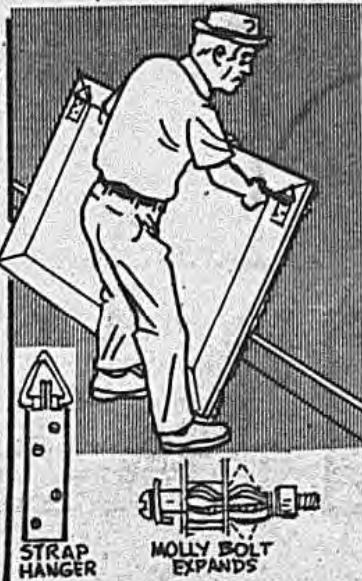

- Pet droppings should be picked up promptly and properly disposed of.
- Wash hands following contact with contaminated soil.
- Teach children not to put their hands into their mouths.
- Animals should not be allowed to lick humans in the mouth.
- Take pets to a veterinarian to get periodic checks for internal parasites.

The fear of obtaining a disease from a dog or cat should not keep you from owning a pet.

I hope all of you had an enjoyable Labor Day weekend. My own holiday was spent on the East End of Long Island.

I visited Montauk Point which juts out into the Atlantic and has a wonderful lighthouse. I also enjoyed staying at the Montauk Manor, a large hotel on top of a cliff looking into a bay. It resembles pictures of castles in Europe.

On Monday evening, my family and I were homeward bound. We had a wonderful three days, but, please don't mention the traffic. (It was bumper to bumper both ways!)

Your friend,

Aunt Tilly
