Long Island Fair Set For October 9-12

The century-and-a-half old Long Island Fair will return again for its annual autumn run this year on the Columbus Day weekend at Old Bethpage Village Restoration.

The four-day extravaganza, running Friday through Monday, Oct. 9-12, will feature a spectacular array of farm-related exhibits, entertainment and events, according to County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta.

First held in 1842 and thought to be the oldest agricultural festival in America, the Long Island Fair recreates a typical 19th century fair in the ideal setting of a re-created 19th century village, Gulotta noted.

It will include corn-husking contests, magic shows, puppet shows, brass band concerts, folk singers, pony rides, a pumpkin patch, stilt walkers, a rope walker and much, much more.

A special feature this year will be an exhibit and demonstrations of Long Island's finest prize-winning heavy draft horses, including Clydesdales, Belgians and Percherons. Also featured this year will be an aviary housing exotic birds such as emus, cranes, black swans, pheasants and ravens.

Exhibits, which are judged and awarded prizes, include the finest of Long Island's agricultural produce, horticulture, domestic arts, poultry and livestock.

The fair is a joint effort of the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks and the Agricultural Society of Queens, Nassau and Suffolk. The entry fee is $5 for adults and $3 for children (5-17) and senior citizens (60 and over). The fee includes entry to the fair and to all village buildings and attractions. There is plenty of free parking with continuous free bus service to and from the perimeter parking areas.

Old Bethpage Village Restoration is located on Round Swamp Road, one mile south of Long Island Expressway exit 48. For further information call 420-5280.

Man Arrested In Woman's Death

On April 16, 1985 Yvonne Davl, 23, of 735 4th St., Bethpage was last seen going to dinner with her former boyfriend Michael Durango, 34, bartender, of 42 Stuyvesant St., Mastic.

Yvonne called her roommate that night from Bethpage stating that she would be home in fifteen minutes. She never returned home.

On April 17, 1985 her roommate Lucille Luttari, same address, notified the Missing Persons Squad, Det. O'Loughlin, and Yvonne was listed as missing.

On May 13, 1986 Pennsylvania authorities contacted the Missing Person Squad in reference to a body found Dec. 30, 1985 in Bristol Township, Penna. On May 27, 1986 the body, through forensic dentistry, was positively identified as Yvonne.

After an intensive investigation by Det. O'Loughlin, NCPD Missing Person Squad, Det. Douglas Morrell, Suffolk County PD, 5th Squad, and Penna. authorities, the boyfriend, Durango, was arrested at his home on a fugitive warrant from Pa. Det. O'Loughlin had testified to a Pa. grand jury which helped in the securing of a murder warrant.

Durango is being held on charges of Murder 1st, Kidnapping 1st, Conspiracy to commit Murder and conspiracy to commit kidnapping. If he waives extradition he will be taken back to Pa. If not he will be held till a governors warrant is secured.

AARP Meets On Oct. 6

The next meeting of the A.A.R.P. Chapter #1592 will be held on October 6, at Levittown Hall, at 1 p.m. Our guest speaker will be Curator Gary Monti from the Nassau County Museum Services Division. Mr. Monti's program will consist of a slide presentation entitled "Discover Your Long Island Heritage", a subject of great interest to all. We welcome visitors.

Editor's Notebook

This week, one of the other weeklies we publish, ran a story and photos about a reader's trip to the Island of Ischia, located in the Bay of Naples, Italy. It was most interesting to read about this scenic spot and to see some of the local sights there. It made me wonder how many other readers have some vacation photos and information to share. Quite frankly, I really didn't know much about Ischia before except that it's the name of a popular restaurant in Hicksville! If you decide to send us any vacation photos, please be kind enough to identify any people in the photos as well as where they were taken.

The general consensus of opinion was that last Thursday's Bicentennial celebration of the U.S. Constitution wasn't as much of a gala affair as it could have been. Perhaps it was the weather. From our standpoint, too many news articles about coming events were received too late for the September 11 edition and were not publicized. Please keep our deadlines in mind and consider that if you are relying on the U.S. Mail, there are delays that could be costly in publicizing the event you're planning. V.P.

The Hicksville Kiwanis Club was treated to a surprise visit by incoming Lieutenant Governor John Gridley of the Long Island North Division at their September 16 luncheon meeting.

Even though all elected officers in Kiwanis will not officially take office until October 1, Mr. Gridley wanted to get an early start to come to Hicksville to thank the club members for their outstanding performance during President Keith Pastuch's term in office, and to encourage them to continue with incoming President Charles Montano, Jr.

Letter

To The Editor:

A heartfelt thanks to all the generous neighbors of Tiptop Lane and adjoining streets, who opened their homes and hearts to us on September 1, at 1:30 a.m. when a fire swept our home, who supplied us with sheets, food, clothing, blankets, etc. And thank you everyone, who made phone calls, can't remember them all. We are grateful for your concern, and to the Hicksville Fire Department who answered the call so quickly and put their lives at risk and were so concerned for our well being and to members of Police of the 8th precinct who called the following day to ask how we were doing, we are very grateful and lucky to live among so many good people.

Forever grateful,
The Callaghan Family

Open House At Middle School

Parents of 7th and 8th graders are invited to attend Open House at the Hicksville Middle School on October 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Don't miss this opportunity to learn more about your child's education. Parents will follow their child's schedule, on an abbreviated basis, and learn the course of study planned for the '87-88 school year.

The Hicksville Middle School PTSA is sponsoring this event and would appreciate your support. Membership tables will be set up and an individual may join for $3, additional family memberships are $1.50 each.

Refreshments will be served. We look forward to seeing you on the evening of the 1st.

Steven M. Swierkowski, son of Walter and Barbara J. Swierkowski of 5 Library Lane, Plainview, has been officially accepted into the U.S. Military Academy's Corps of Cadets as a new member of the class of 1991 during the annual acceptance parade.

The parade followed six weeks of rigorous basic cadet training at the West Point academy. Training in military customs and courtesies, drill and physical conditioning, tactical exercises and the firing of weapons introduced the basic cadets to military life with special emphasis on leadership, duty, honor and country.

The academy is a four-year educational institution graduating men and women to serve as career Army officers. In addition to military training, the academy offers athletics and an academic curriculum which includes basic and engineering sciences and social sciences and the humanities.

The new cadet is a graduate of Plainview Old Bethpage High School, Plainview.

Hicksville Schools Begin A New Year

Summer was officially over last week, as nearly 4,670 Hicksville Public School students returned to class, ready to begin an exciting year of learning and growth. This school year marks the opening of the Hicksville Middle School for grades seven and eight and the start of a four-year Senior High School for grades nine through twelve.

District administrators and staff members met for an orientation program on Sept. 8, which celebrated the Constitution. The mood was set by music of a fife and drum player from the Bethpage Restoration Center. This year's guest speaker was the Honorable Frederick E. Parola, New York State Assemblyman, who shared his thoughts on the Constitution as we celebrate its 200th birthday.

Attendees were also introduced to 30 new professional staff members and five new administrators. The five new administrators are: Steven Aronowitz, Chairperson Language Arts 7-12; Toni Dims, Staff/Community Relations; Eileen Gelgen, Chairperson Guidance/Counseling Services 7-12; Patrick Pizzarelli, Supervisor Health/Physical Education K-12; Gregory Romano, Supervisor of Enrichment Programs K-12.

The Board of Education and district administrators are looking forward to a successful and stimulating 1987-88 school year for all staff members and students.

TOBAY Celebrates Constitution Day

Dorothy McGee, Chairlady of the Town of Oyster Bay Bicentennial and Historical Commission and members of the Tobay VFW Post 8033 Ladies Auxillary are shown after taking part in Town Hall ceremony honoring the U.S. Constitution's 200th Anniversary. The bell in the foreground was rung for 200 seconds by all of those participating, part of the Nation's observance, September 17.

Celebrating the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution at Oyster Bay's September 17, are President Theodore Roosevelt (James Foote) and Hicksville Gregory Museum Historian Richard Evers.

Led by President Ronald Reagan in Washington, the entire student body of the Hicksville Middle School are shown reciting the Pledge of Allegiance during a special school program on September 16 commemorating the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution.

Pee Wee Soccer Gets Underway

The first week of soccer for the Hicksville Pee Wee Intramural League was unfortunately rained out. Under threatening skies on September 20, all games were played with much enthusiasm.

Blast 2

Thomas McMahon scored the goal for the Cosmos. The offense played tough. Christopher McGunnigle and Thomas Werchenski ran and kicked hard. It was a good game. The Cosmos are coached by Ray Manzo.

Daniel Nagashema did an excellent job of goaltending for the Blast team, coached by Jerry Maryles. Andrew Minkoff scored two goals and Shana Barter played a steady defense.

Rowdies 4

The Rowdies, coached by Mike Tuccillo, started the season off with an exciting game. Paul Bailey, Brian Gallahue and Jimmy Moffet scored a total of 4 goals with the help of all team members. Jeff Brousseau in goal held the Arrows to 2 goals.

The Arrows, coached by Rick Budinich, got off to a good start with a strong defense by Nicholas Holman and Larissa Budinich. Edward Puerta played steady in goal and Matthew Puerta scored 2 goals.

Bucks 5

The Roughnecks coached by Gary Brenton, played hard the entire game. Matthew Hamlin, Bryan Swacey and Joseph Rini played a solid defense and offense throughout the game.

Offensive punch was provided by Brian Bruckner, Jordash Smacha and John Perino. Jonathan Weiner played a strong goal. The Bucks are coached by George Smacha.

The Hicksville Pee Wee Intramural League consists of boys and girls born in 1978, 79 and 80. All of the games are played at Old Country Road School in Hicksville. For further information call Joe Koloski at 433-3181.

Speaker Describes L.I. Youth Prog.

Mr. John M. Cragg, the executive director of Long Island Youth Guidance, Inc. was the guest speaker at the September 16 meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Cragg informed his audience that L.I. Youth Guidance, Inc. was incorporated on July 6, 1983 as a not-for-profit corporation under the laws of the State of New York. Its purpose is to help turn troubled young people around. They do this with 6 trained professionals and volunteer counsellors. Among the professionals, four of them have masters degrees: two in psychology, one in education and one in behavioral science. The volunteer counsellors are mainly recruited from churches in Nassau and Suffolk and are trained by the professionals. The program presently has about 100 children between the ages of 8 and 16 referred to Youth Guidance by police, probation and social service agencies. The Counsellors work with the children in one-to-one relationships. Wilderness camping trips, horseback riding and other recreational activities are sponsored by Youth Guidance to aid in the relationship building and provide for the youth's emotional, physical and spiritual growth.

Mr. Cragg was pleased to report that 85% of the youth in their program never reappear before a Family or Criminal Court Judge again.

Shamrocks Tie Garden City

by A. Blicker

The Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 boys travelling soccer team opened their Fall season with a 1-1 tie against the Garden City Raiders at Cantigue Park, Sunday, September 20.

The Shamrocks scored the five minute mark, off of a carry up left wing by Eric Blicker, who had been fed by striker Chris Koetter on a rising line drive, over the goalie's head, into the upper right corner of the net. Garden City came back to tie near the end of the first half.

The game featured strong end to end soccer and beautiful play by both goaltenders despite damp playing conditions. The Shamrocks Ed Jacobsen was at his defensive best, constantly coming up with the big play when needed. He was ably assisted by fullbacks Chuck Oliver, Kristian Friedrich and Greg Szumowski. Brian Harkins had a fine game at sweeper as Chris Doyle controlled the middle from the stopper position. The halfback play of David Lovato, Matt Fordum, Domenick Perillo and Kareem Holman featured crisp, on-target passes which continually frustrated the opposition. Up front, Eric Blicker, Chris Koetter, Karl Rice and Junior Tomlinson constantly kept pressure on Garden City's defense.

Thanks to the team and Coach Herb Fordum for a well played, exciting soccer game.

Minutemen Defeat Vikings

The Hicksville Minutemen, a fledgling 1977 "B" travelling soccer team, went tooth and nail against the Bayport Vikings at Tudor Field, due to the closure of rain-soaked Cantigue Park, their home field.

Hicksville's goal was scored by fiery halfback, Greg Walunas. The Minutemen are comprised of the following: Wings - Greg Blind, Robin Blicker, Mike Fitzgerald, Mark Spinner and Brian Zelders; Halfbacks - Jason Brown, Michael Coen, Greg Walunas; Striker - Brian Elgert; Stopper - Anthony Noya; Sweeper - Sean Flanagan; and Fullbacks - Tim Dalton and Michael Whitman. Goalkeeper is Robert Wagner. The defensive was ever aggressive, repelling many Viking charges while the goalie contributed numerous impressive saves. The offense demonstrated newly-learned passing techniques against the more experienced Bayport team.

Thanks to the team for their hard work and to Coach Bill Dalton and Assistant AJ Blicker for their patience and guidance.

Announcing one of the most significant developments in New York Telephone history—designed to give downstate New York Telephone customers simpler and, in many cases, lower rates. That means you will charged for all calls within a region. This also applies to all calls from one region to another. This will result in a reduction in many calling charges.

Areas have been expanded to include the entire "home" region. Flat Rate customers'

A simplified breakdown of these charges will appear on your bill. It will help you understand more easily just what you're paying for.

Now you can afford to call as often as you like.

Because the cost of many calls is lower, you don't have to think twice about picking up the phone. Now you can keep in touch with your favorite people more often—for less. So dial-it-up and enjoy!

Questions? For more information, call 1-800-643-1200 weekdays, between 8:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

Primary Calling Areas remain the same. What does this mean to you? Plenty! You'll see a real change in your phone bill.

automatically get more out of your telephone service than ever before.

Primary Calling Areas are larger than before.

And the present complex rate structure has been greatly simplified. We're taking the entire New York Regional Calling Area and eliminating all bands and zones. Calling charges will be based on seven "home" regions. They are:

- New York City (212 & 718)
- Nassau (516)
- West Suffolk (516)
- East Suffolk (516)
- Lower Westchester (914)
- Upper Westchester/ Putnam (914)
- Rockland and part of Orange County (914)

For Message Rate customers, the Primary Calling

New lower rates reduce the cost of calling an average of 6%.

For example, with Untimed Message Rate Service in the New York City "home" region, you can call from Manhattan to Staten Island or Laurelton, Queens, for only 10.2¢. And talk as long as you like. Many calls from Manhattan to the other six regions cost less, too. Each of the new regions has similar savings. See the chart for some specific examples.

	Old Rate	New Rate
Garden City calling Farmingdale	22¢	10¢
Bayshore	41¢	32¢
Riverhead	48¢	45¢
Manhattan	41¢	33¢
White Plains	48¢	40¢
Mt. Kisco	91¢	89¢
Spring Valley	91¢	86¢

A single rate (which varies according to the basic type of service, i.e., Message Rate or Flat Rate) will be

Marc Ramirez is sworn in for a second term as President at the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce dinner. Officiating is LILCO's Vice President Ira Frellicher, with M.C. Bernhard Bruns looking on.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gentile and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Goldman were part of the "native sons" element at the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce dinner.

New Chamber Directors being installed in office: Irwin Goldman, James Fyfe, Henry Brengel, Jr., Beth Dalton and Sheila Noeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hirschfeld, right, and Beacon Federal Savings Bank ladies Louise Celenza, left and Lee Carlson, shared a table.

Charles Montana, Jr. with Anton's owner Don LeCompte and Pat Breahe of the restaurant's staff who enjoyed their own catering.

Marc Ramirez Installed At Hicksville Chamber

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark, left, presents a citation to Marc Ramirez, president of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce on the occasion of the organization's installation dinner. Also on hand for the event was Assemblyman Fred Parola.

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta is shown lauding Hicksville Chamber of Commerce President Marc Ramirez for his efforts to reduce vandalism, a county-wide problem.

Kathy Steckler, President and Richard Murocco, Executive Director of H.A.D. enjoyed the Chamber's annual "happening."

1987-88 Chamber of Commerce officers taking their oath of office are: Milton Hirschfeld, Treas., Judith Lombardi, Secretary, and Ivan Calpett, Vice President.

Hicksville's Chamber of Commerce continued its President in office at the organization's Annual Installation Dinner, last Tuesday. Marc Ramirez "Mr. Electric," was sworn in by initiating officer Ira Frellicher, LILCO Vice President of Corporate Affairs. Among other Chamber members installed were Directors for the three year term, 1987-90: Louis Cesta, Beth Dalton, Henry Brengle, Jr., James Fyfe, Sheila Noeth and Irwin Goldman. The Chamber of Commerce staff for President Ramirez will be: Vice President Ivan Calpett; Secretary Judith Lombardi, and Treasurer Milton Hirschfeld.

Master of ceremonies for the installation was Bernhard Bruns. Among the guests were Assemblyman Fred Parola, County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta, and Town Councilman Thomas Clark. The County Executive is presenting the Chamber and its new President with a citation from the County Board of Supervisors, praised Marc Ramirez for his first term efforts to combat the county-wide plague of graffiti. The reinstated Chamber leader pledged to continue his efforts to cope with vandalism and to work for a better appearing Hicksville business area. The Chamber's ceremonies, cocktail hour and dinner guests were photographed once again, by Hicksville Gregory Museum Historian Dick Evers.

Benefit Concert Scheduled Oct. 7

Join pop singer Toni Arden and trumpeter-vocalist Jonah Jones and his quartet for an evening of exceptional entertainment at the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Nassau County annual benefit concert on Wednesday, October 7, beginning at 8:30 p.m. at Hicksville High School.

Miss Arden, who has thrilled audiences from London to Las Vegas, is most popular for her hits such as "Kiss of Fire," "I'm Yours" and "Sorrento." The singer has just completed a new album entitled, "The Exciting Voice of Miss Toni Arden."

Legendary Grammy award winner Jonah Jones is considered to be the number one muted trumpet player in the world and has sold over 30 million albums during his career. He has been nominated for a National Association of Recording Artists Society (NARAS) award and recently received critical acclaim for his new album, "The Feeling Doesn't Go Away."

UCP Nassau is a nonprofit health agency, nationally recognized for its innovative and high quality programs. For almost 40 years, the association has provided services for individuals with cerebral palsy and other developmental disabilities. Presently serving 1,000 children and adults annually, UCP Nassau operates a comprehensive treatment and rehabilitation center in Roosevelt, with on-site educational, therapy, vocational, medical and other support services.

Tickets are $10 and may be purchased in advance or at the door if supplies last. For reservations call UCP Nassau, Department of Development at 378-2000, ext. 230.

amber Dinner

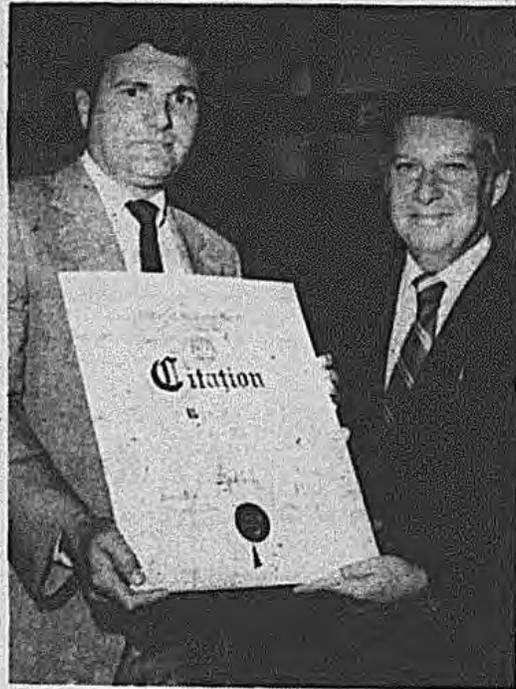

Marc Ramirez and his son Kenneth, enjoy a moment with Ivan Cipetti, the site developer who is building on West Broadway.

Bruce Gerry, Bill and Mrs. Wagner and Bill Ramsey oblige the cameraman.

Assemblyman Fred Parola and Ed Restivo, Peppercorn's genial proprietor, join Chamber President Marc Ramirez and Master of Ceremonies Bernard Bruns for a chat.

OCR School Celebration

A special assembly was held at Old Country Road School on September 16, to celebrate the bicentennial of our Constitution. Children and teachers wore red, white and blue and some classes carried American flags that they had made.

Dr. Daniel McCann, Principal, led the students in a discussion of the origin of the Constitution. After the Preamble to the Constitution was read, the audience stood to recite the Pledge of Allegiance and sing our National Anthem. "The Star Spangled Banner."

Dr. McCann then welcomed all the new students to Old Country Road. These children were introduced by their classroom teachers. A special presentation was made by a group of sixth graders, who welcomed new teachers to their school: Miss Cindy Handelman (1st grade), Miss Stephanie Kaplan (2nd grade), Miss Kathleen Englehart (6th grade), Mrs. Patricia Wagner (reading), Mr. Carl Schulz (Physical Education), Ms. Amy Noll (Instrumental Music), Mrs. Nonon Lapidus (Resource Room). These teachers received flowers, trimmed appropriately with red, white and blue ribbons.

Third grade students Kelly Malloo and Brian Soper.

Second grade students Amie Ghisone and Lenore Mims participated in the Constitution's Bicentennial celebration.

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gialotta, third, left, attended the 59th Annual Labor Day Parade of the Hicksville Fire Department which was recently held. Joining the County Executive were Councilman Angelo Delligatti, Town of Oyster Bay; Town Clerk Ann E. Ocker, Town of Oyster Bay; Gerard O'Brian, 1st Assistant Chief; William Schuckman, Chief of Department; Terrence Farrell, 2nd Assistant Chief; Pat Scanlon, 3rd Assistant Chief; and Councilman Thomas Clark, Town of Oyster Bay.

Holy Trinity Fall Season

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church at the corner of Old Country Road and Jerusalem Avenue in Hicksville launches its Fall program with a Rally this coming Sunday, September 27. To assist with the celebration Yo Yo the Clown will be present to entertain parishioners and especially the children at the coffee hour following the 10 a.m. Eucharist. There will be a focus on the ministry of teaching with the dedication of Church School teachers at the 10 o'clock service, together with a blessing upon the various ministries carried on by members of the congregation members of Hicksville and the neighboring communities who are not affiliated with a Church are invited to investigate the worship, educational and social programs of Holy Trinity with a special invitation extended by The Rev. Domenic K. Ciannella, Rector.

Miss Ann Flummer from Fort Washington, who is a second year student at the George Mercer Jr. Memorial School of Theology in Garden City, attached to the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island, has been assigned to Holy Trinity Church for her field work. She will be formally welcomed and introduced to her ministry this Sunday.

Passers-by will notice that the beautiful corpus that had been vandalized earlier this year is now restored to its place on the cross at the entrance to the Church. Father Ciannella and members of the Vestry thank the many members of the community who offered their solicitation and their gifts for the restoration of this corpus, which has been beautifully restored through the courtesy of North Shore Craftsmen, North Babylon. On Thursday, September 17, Messrs. Joseph Blaha, Arthur Ginnerver, Philip Gomez, Edward Rogers and William Wudite gathered and with great care repositioned the corpus to the corpus. While the effort was not easy, it was most satisfying and was done to the accompaniment of applause from those who happened to be passing by. The members of Holy Trinity Church once more invite the community to use this sign of God's love as a blessed assurance both of God's sovereignty and the continued divine source of peace, strength, justice and ecumenicity.

An invitation is also extended for members of the wider community to gather with their animals for the Annual St. Francis Blessing of the Animals on Sunday, October 4, 12 noon at the steps of the Church. This very simple, but meaningful service is held on the Sunday nearest St. Francis Day, which fortunately happens on a Sunday this year. Animals of sorts are invited for the blessing.

'77 Pioneers Lose Close One

By Jay Schwartz

The traveling Pioneers were playing harder, but lost a close game last Saturday. The Plainview Old Bethpage Cougars scored once, breaking the Pioneers' undefeated streak.

Goalie Greg Latini had not allowed a single goal in seven games this year, but during the second half a hard shot went over his head and could not be brought down.

In the first half the Pioneers had several scoring opportunities. Forward Dan Wolchok and later Tracy Koetter charged the goalie on breakaways, only to have the ball deflected. The momentum was on the side of the Pioneers, however, as fullbacks Dave Nelson, Robert Hsiey, and Richard Korchenki fought hard to keep the ball moving up field. They were assisted by Phillip Caputo and John Kanuck as halfbacks.

Aggressive play was the picture in the second half as the Pioneers were outshot and the defense was pressed harder to clear the ball. Tom Coffey, Jonathan Schwartz, and Dan Wolchok tried their best to attack, but the plays were broken up. The supporting halfbacks were Joe Matz, Joe Florio, Russell Brousseau and Peter Titone.

The Pioneers will get a chance to give back the loss when they meet the Cougars later in the season.

Singles Group Schedules Mtgs.

Taking $20 out of our new cash machine could get you a Grant.

As in Ulysses S.

The President prominently featured on each and every $50 bill.

Until September 30, our new Action Banking Center at Sears Plaza in Hicksville will be randomly dispensing $50 bills instead of $20s.

Which means you could win extra cash anytime you make a withdrawal.

Just drive in and withdraw up to $400 using your Action Banking Card or any other NYCE* card. Then the machine might give you a $50 bill in place of a $20.

And when you win, only the amount you requested will be deducted from your account.

So the extra $30 is yours to keep. Free.

We'll be giving away $4,500 this way. So come make a withdrawal. You might wind up looking free cash right in the face.

IN ALL SHOWCASES:
Gifted Program Exhibit-Plainview-Old Bethpage School District - Irene Pelled - Teacher.

On Thursday, October 1, at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled "Ginger and Fred" starring Gailletta Masina and Marcello Mastroianni.

Italian director Federico Fellini brings his unique understanding of humanity to this shocking satire of television and modern life. Giulietta Masina and Marcello Mastroianni star as a pair of over-the-hill Astaire and Rogers imitators reunited after 30 years for an extravagant Christmas TV special. The two aging hoofers struggle to maintain their dignity and recapture the magic amidst a garish display of dancing dwarves and flying monks. Fellini's tribute to the indomitability of the human spirit, exemplified by the aging couple, is both entertaining and deeply touching.

This film runs 127 minutes and is rated (PG-13). It is Italian with English subtitles.

On Tuesday, October 6, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., the Department of Motor Vehicles will be issuing Non-Driver Identification Cards at the Plainview-Old Bethpage library.

The fee for the ID card will be no more than $4.50. The Department of Motor Vehicles suggests that a check made out to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles be brought along and a staff member will advise you of the correct amount. Applications may be picked up at the Library. Being completed application with you.

Applicants must show: Proof of Age; Birth Certificate or medicare card and Proof of address; Utility bill or library card. Application will be processed in the Career Job Learning area. Photo will be taken in Magazine area.

On Thursday, October 8, at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting "Basic Pre-Retirement Planning" with speaker Tony F. Tortoric.

The program will cover health care, post-retirement activities, the effect on family relationships, sources of retirement income such as social security, pensions, income producing plans and establishing a new operating budget. Learn how to plan now so that you can enjoy your retirement later.

On Friday, October 9, at 1 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage library will be presenting Barbara Krupit leading a discussion entitled "Insights into Current Issues."

Barbara Krupit will discuss what's making the headlines that day, whether it be local, national or international news. You can discuss the issues and share your views.

On Monday, October 12, at 1 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting a book discussion/review led by Barbara Krupit. The book is entitled "Home Before Dark" by Susan Cheever.

In "Home Before Dark", John Cheever's daughter, Susan, has used his revealing unpublished journals, letters and her own memories of their life together in a talented and volatile family to tell the remarkable story of one of American literature's foremost writers. "Home Before Dark" is a moving chronicle of John Cheever's successes and failures as a son, brother, husband and father.

On Tuesday, October 13, at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be presenting Barbara Krupit leading a book discussion/review. The book is entitled "In Country" by Bobbie Ann Mason.

"In Country" is set in the summer of 1964, mostly in the small town of Hopewell, Kentucky. Its main figure is Sam Hughes, a bright spunky 17-year old girl whose father was killed in Vietnam before she was born. Sam lives with her maverick uncle Emmett, who also fought in Vietnam and has recently developed a skin condition that Sam worries may be from Agent Orange. She longs to know more about her father and also to understand why Emmett's life is so aimless and reclusive.

Discovering her father's letters home and the journal he kept in Vietnam, she even tries to re-enact the hardship and terror he describes, which leads to a heartrending confrontation with Emmett.

On Thursday, October 15, at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will present a program entitled Tapping Your Home Equity and Appropriate Retirement Strategies.

James J. Burke, CFP and Richard L. Bergen CPA, CFP will discuss investing the proceeds from your home equity loan. The basic premise is to seek a higher total return than the interest paid on money borrowed. Some investments to be covered are rental properties, real estate limited partnerships, oil and gas partnerships, precious metals and others.

Here is an opportunity to learn how to make your money work for you.

On Friday, October 16, at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled "Three Amigos" starring Steve Martin, Chevy Chase and Martin Short.

Saturday Night Live favorites Steve Martin, Chevy Chase and Martin Short saddle up as three gun-slinging silent screen heroes in John Landis's hilarious Western spoof. After a series of box-office flops, the Three Amigos take off for a personal appearance in Mexico. Before they know it, they're dodging real bullets when they come face to face with the dreaded El Guapo (Alfonso Arau). Will the zany trio head back to Hollywood or will they stay to vanquish El Guapo's vicious bandit army? Director Landis pays affectionate homage to those great old-fashioned Westerns with this wildly original slapstick comedy. The film runs 103 minutes and is rated (PG).

On Saturday, October 17 at 7:30 a.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be offering a bus trip to West Point, for the Army Vs. Colgate football game.

Join the library on a fun filled day to West Point. See the Corps of Cadets "Pass in Review" in a never-to-be forgotten spectacle. The parade time is 10:45 a.m. Bring a picnic lunch and a blanket and enjoy the pre-game activity of "people watching." Or take time before the game to sightsee. Some buildings will be open and a shuttle bus will be available for a fee of 50 cents. Game time is 1:30 p.m. All systems are GO, rain or shine.

We will be leaving West Point immediately after the game (approximately 4:30 p.m.). Register at the Circulation Desk. No refunds; no cancellations.

On Tuesdays, October 27 and November 3, from 7-10 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be offering a "Defensive Driving Course".

The Defensive Driving Course will save you:
...Dollars by reducing your Motor Vehicle Insurance Premium
...Driver Record Violation Points by deducting 3 points from the total on your driver record
...Your life by training you in safety smart driving techniques.

You must attend both sessions. This course is $30 per person. There are no refunds; no cancellations. Register at the Circulation Desk.

On Wednesday, October 28 at 7:30 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be holding a Board of Trustees Meeting. The public is invited.

On Thursday, October 29, at 3 and 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will be showing the feature film entitled "Colonel Red!" starring Klaus Maria Brandauer and Armin Mueller Stahl.

Director Istvan Szabo and actor Klaus Maria Brandauer, who collaborated on the 1981 Academy Award-winner "Mephisto," are reunited for this complex and powerful drama of ambition, betrayal and intrigue. Brandauer gives a remarkable performance as Colonel Red, a high ranking military commander of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, whose mystery-shrouded suicide in Vienna in 1913 prompted rumors of treason and sexual duplicity.

The film runs 144 minutes and is rated (R). It is German with English subtitles.

The library is located at 999 Old Country Road in Plainview, opposite the Morton Village Shopping Center 938-0077.

Fork Lane's Celebration

September 16 was a great day for all Americans, but especially for the young citizens enrolled in Fork Lane School. Bedecked in red, white and blue, students and teachers participated in the nationwide "teach-in" in celebration of the 200th anniversary of America's Constitution.

From Kindergarten to 6th grade, the many aspects of this important document were discussed: The people - Alexander Hamilton of New York, James McHenry of Delaware, J. Rutledge of South Carolina; the words - tranquility, liberty, posterity; the September feast in Philadelphia, and the fact that Rhode Island did not send a delegate to the Convention because they feared interruption of states rights.

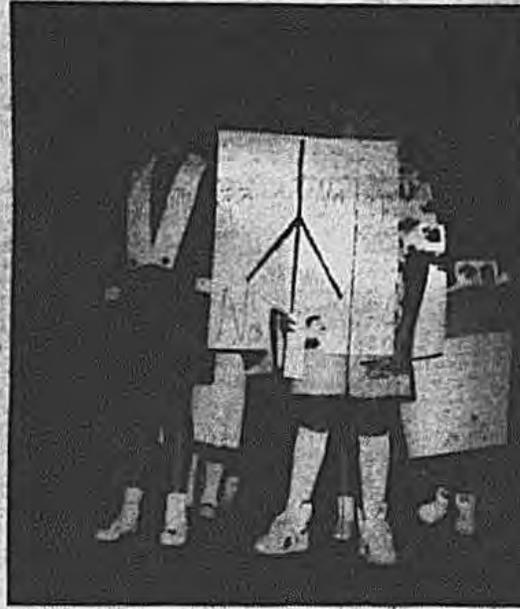

The highlight of the day was an afternoon assembly where all the children displayed their knowledge in one fashion or another. The program included traditional musical melodies, such as "Yankee Doodle" and "America", played on the flute by three sixth graders. Simple costumes designed by our fourth graders brought to life the dress of the 1700's in a short play. Mrs. Heffernan's third grade gave a presentation about the immigration of great-grandparents. Fifth graders in Mr. Pisan's class engaged in a play, "The Signing of the Constitution", and third graders in Mrs. Grib's class discussed flags in American History. Kathy Guadagni's Transitional class tackled the definition of specific words related to the Constitution. Ms. Kpbik's fifth grade read a poem, "To Be An American", and the sixth grade students discussed a "Student's Bill of Rights," an evaluation and reformulation of the original.

The PTA decorated the school lobby with bunches of red, white and blue balloons, and volunteers supplied cupcakes topped with American flags to each classroom.

The PTA is very proud of these young Americans. May they always hold their heads high and be guided by the simple words of the Preamble which set the tone for the rights and privileges guaranteed by the United States Constitution.

Left to right: kindergarteners Danielle Harris, Annetta Gonzalez and John Sanchez and first graders Steven Pflions recite on the theme "America, America the Beautiful."

Sixth graders Michelle Doherty and Justin Finocchio explain the "Student's Bill of Rights."

News From Hicksville Library

Sunday, October 11, at 3 p.m., the Hicksville Public Library will present the play "Social Security", performed by The Other Vic Theatre Company.

A laugh-out-loud comedy about teenage, middle age and geriatric love and romance. AT "THE GREEN POINT" LOW-RATE MORTGAGES for the purchase or refinance of an owner-occupied home or condominium in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Bronx, Queens, Staten Island, Nassau, Suffolk or Westchester.

FIXED RATES (below FNMA maximums and within FNMA guidelines)			CAPPED ADJUSTABLE RATE (loans up to $350,000)
10-YEAR	15-YEAR	30-YEAR	1-YEAR
10.50% annual rate	11.00% annual rate	11.50% annual rate	7.00% annual rate
10.99% annual percentage rate	11.37% annual percentage rate	11.76% annual percentage rate	10.54% annual percentage rate

Quoted rates are for self-liquidating, "full income verification" loans with a minimum down payment of 25% of appraised value on 1- to 4-family homes. The annual percentage rates include origination and placement fees. The Bank sets the interest rates on loans at the time of commitment (for a 90-day period), not at the time of application. The rates contained in this advertisement may change while an application is being processed, and may not be available at the time of commitment.

Repayment terms for 10-year (15-year and 30-year) fixed rate loans at the stated rates would be 120 (180 and 360) monthly payments of $13.50 ($11.37 and $9.91) per $1,000 borrowed.

Adjustable rate shown is a below-market introductory annual rate for the first year only. The annual percentage rate is based on the current value of "The Green Point's" Index Interest Rate (currently 11.00%) which is subject to change. The annual rate will not change more than 2% per year (up or down) and, over the life of the loan, will not vary (increase or decrease) more than 3% from the Index Interest Rate in effect at the time the loan is closed.

Ask for rates and terms on "no income verification" loans and on fixed-rate loans above FNMA maximums (up to $350,000).

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Do you think that the Miss America Pageant has much meaning in present times?

Here She Comes,
'Miss America'

You could have fooled me.

Input Callers Believe Pope's Meeting Was Step Forward

Most callers to Input believe that the meeting of the Pope with Jewish leaders produced some results in answer to this question: "Do you think that the Pope's meeting with Jewish leaders produced lasting results?" Here are some of the answers:

SMALL STEP

Yes, it seemed that it was a small step but it was an historic step because for centuries there had been some antagonisms between Christians and Jews. The Pope indicated that he saw no place for that to continue. So far as the specific issues, Waldheim, etc. there was no real answer but this after all, was a springboard for a larger dialogue that will bear fruit long after Waldheim is dead. H.T.

NO RECOGNITION

I was a bit disappointed that the Pope did not have any definite word on the recognition of Israel. This would have been a way for the Pope to prove to the world the weight of his words. Without that I cannot get very excited that any real history was made. G.E.

LASTING RESULT

I don't think that the Jewish leader who visited the Pope expected any more definite answers than they got on their questions. But I do think that there is no way that Catholics can harbor any ill will against Jews and remain in the church of the Pope. So this is a lasting result. D.W.

DIRECT ENCOUNTER

It all depends on what you expect to be a lasting result. No one thought that the Jewish leaders were going to convert the Pope or vice versa. It was a direct encounter that will have lasting results in that it set a precedence for Jewish leaders to take their difficulties directly to the Pope and at least know that they were given first hand attention. There could have been more positive answers but it was not a waste in spite of that. M.R.

FIRST STEPS

The answer to this question will have to wait for the test of time. Will Jewish-Catholic relations get better? If so, then as any long journey the first steps have been taken. We should not get over enthusiastic nor depressed because both sides seem genuinely interested in finding answers. L.W.

NOT WORTH IT

No there will be no lasting results from the Pope's talks with the Jewish leaders. The encounter came as a courtesy and the Pope was not about to do any negotiating. I do not think it was at all worth the trouble. M.W.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Everyone knew just about what the Jewish leaders would say because they had said the same things publicly for months before. And everyone knew what the Pope would say because he had expressed his views publicly so there was no great outcome of the meeting. About all it was worth was a start to a dialogue. V.D.

DEPENDS ON PARTIES

I believe that whether or not the Pope's meeting with Jewish leaders will produce lasting results depends upon the parties involved. If my Jewish brothers were open to hearing the Pope's message, yes it will be very, very effective and have lasting results. Our Jewish and Christian brothers need to understand the meaning of Catholic Christianity and why the Pope met Kurt Waldheim in the first place. The Pope is the Vicar of Christ - that word means he represents, he makes present once again, Jesus. The message of Jesus is very clear - it is forgiveness. Forgiveness is given without repentance asked for first. As Jesus died on the Cross, He hung there and said "Father forgive them" before his pillars had even asked for forgiveness. The woman caught in adultery and thrown at the feet of Jesus as He was preaching was forgiven her sins before she even asked. Pope John Paul II went to the prison where his assailant was (the man who shot him) and forgave him. All of that is absolutely necessary. The Jews who are very good people and who were hurt so much in the holocaust need to understand. This meeting with the Pope and Jewish leaders was very necessary and it must continue, that's the only way the healing will occur and both sides must forgive. J.A.

TURNING POINT

I see the Pope's meeting with Jewish leaders as a turning point for a new beginning of continuing dialogue and understanding between Christians and Jews. The Pope is an important figure who I feel can make a difference with other individuals in the endless quest for world peace between people of all religions. It is an extremely difficult goal to reach. But it is hoped, one that is not impossible to realize. C.F.

NO CHANGE

I don't believe that the Pope's meeting with the Jewish leaders produced any lasting results because the outcome of the talks was just about what they had expected - no change in basic philosophy and no capitulation to the demands for a complete revision of attitude with respect to Austria's President Kurt Waldheim. In a way, the Jewish leaders were asking the Pope to renounce some of the basic principles to which he has adhered in every other doctrinal encounter. If they were disappointed, they were no more so than those members of the Catholic faith he met during his visit here. Change is what they asked for - perhaps even demanded - but the Pope's rigid adherence to the time honored basis precepts of the Catholic Church was not to be moved despite contemporary cultural and social values. If the Jewish leaders expected a complete turnaround on the Pope's part, clearly it was never to be and it has always seemed to me that a meeting to try to understand each other's views without knuckling under might have produced more lasting results. But, perhaps I'm jumping the gun and only time itself will tell just what really developed from the encounter. P.G.S.

Yankees For One Day

By Roger F. Mooney

Quick, can you name the first man whose major league career consisted of one game with the New York Yankees?

I already have. Ed Quick. Quick was the first but not the last, according to "The Yankee Encyclopedia." All told, 26 men had the honor of wearing pinstripes for one day. Quick started one game in 1903 and lasted four innings, giving up five hits and one walk, while striking out one. He finished the day, the season, and his career with an earned run average of 4.50.

Two years later, Art Goodwin pitched a third of an inning for the Yankees, then known as the Highlanders. His ERA was a whopping 81.00. Phil Cooney, a righthanded hitting third baseman, followed Goodwin that season. He was hitless in three at bats.

In 1908, the Highlanders finished last with a club record of 103 losses. Righthander Andy O'Connor made his contribution by giving up 15 hits and seven walks in eight innings as a starter. Although he struck out five, he finished with an ERA of 10.33.

The following year a lefty from Baltimore made his only appearance with the Highlanders, working five innings in relief. Butch Schmidt gave up ten hits and struck out only two. His lifetime ERA was an unimpressive 7.20.

Larry McClure, a 25-year old outfielder from Wayne, West Virginia, was 0 for 1 in 1910. The club has a little more success than McClure, finished in second place for the first time since 1906.

In 1912, two players had the honor of wearing pinstripes for only one game. Twenty-one year old George Batten played second base and took the collar in three at bats. Homer Thompson, a catcher for Spring City, Tennessee, was also hitless in his one time at bat. (His brother Tommy had more success playing with four teams in six years.)

The Highlanders officially became the Yankees in 1913 and two more players came and went quickly. Jim Hanley pitched four innings in relief. He gave up five hits and four walks, and struck out two. Hanley had a career ERA of 6.75. Catcher Joe Hanson of St. Louis failed to get a hit in two at bats.

Yankee fans barely glimpsed Alex Burr and Bill Schwartz in 1914. Burr, a righthanded hitting outfielder from Chicago, did not have an official at bat in his appearance. Schwartz, a catcher did. He struck out.

In 1917, John Enright, a lefthander, was the starting pitcher in his only game. He lasted five innings and gave up six runs, striking out one and giving up five hits. The following season, Walter Bernhardt lasted two-thirds of an inning. He retired both batters.

Frank (Sugar) Kane, in 1919 pinch hit, or should we say pinch batted, since he failed to get a hit. Kane had played three games in 1915 with the Brooklyn club in the Federal league. He had more success there, recording two hits in ten at bats. Kane played the outfield for two of those games.

It was not until five years later, 1922, that the Yankees saw another one day wonder. Clem Llewellyn pitched one inning and gave up as many hits. It is tough to imagine that Clem's performance had any effect on the Yankees' march to their second straight pennant.

In 1925, the Yankees fell to seventh place. Heinie Odom, a 25 year old third baseman from Rush, Texas, enjoyed greater success. He was 1 for 1 and finished with a career batting average of 1.000. The next year a left handed hitting catcher from Fulton, New York, by the name of John (Honey) Barnes was walked in his only at bat. Barnes was the last of the one-game players until 1934. Floyd Newkirk ended that drought with one inning of relief. He was perfect except for a walk and a hit. George Washburn started one game in 1941 but manager Joe McCarthy probably regretted it. The 27-year old lefthander lasted two innings during which he walked five, struck out one, and gave up two hits. He finished the day, along with his career, with a 13.50 ERA. Washburn's appearance did not hinder the team as they clinched their twelfth pennant on September 4.

In 1947, the Yankees celebrated "Babe Ruth Day." That same year, Rugger Ardizola allowed four hits in two innings. The righthander from Oleggio, Italy, gave up two runs. Despite his efforts, the Yankees won their fifteenth pennant.

Frank Verdi had no official at bats in his only game during the 1953 campaign. The Brooklyn born shortstop became the manager of the Yankee's Columbus Ohio farm team in 1981. Lefthander Hal Stowe gave up one run in his only inning of work in 1960.

Manny Jimenez played seven years with three different teams. But his lifetime batting average of .272 was .061 points lower than his brother Elvio who played the outfield for the Yankees in 1964. The younger Jimenez finished the day 2 for 6.

During the 1970 season, Lloyd Colson pitched two innings in his only start. He gave up three hits and struck out three, but his 4.50 ERA was not what manager Ralph Houk was looking for.

The last member of this elite group pitched two innings in 1979. Roger Slagle was perfect and struck out two batters to boot.

Unfortunately, the righthander was involved in a trade with the Texas Rangers on November 13 that brought Eric Soderholm of the Yankees.

For 76 seasons, only 26 players have had the opportunity to play for the Yankees--if only for one day. It is not known how long these gentlemen were actually with the Yankees (although I would guess that most were called up in September) or why their careers lasted only a few hours. All we know is that they had an opportunity that many of us would dearly love to have.

Now, the next time anyone asks you who was the first player whose major league career spanned one game for the New York Yankees, you can tell him. Then you can ask him to name the other 25.

Q. I notice that some people pick up wine glasses by the bowl. However, I think it looks more elegant to pick them up by the stem. What is your opinion?
 A. I agree with you that it is more attractive to pick wine glasses up by the stem. In the case of white wine, it also keeps the wine cool for a longer time!

Q. I am a busy professional woman who finds it difficult to entertain at home. My working hours as an attorney are long and tiring. I really don't feel like coping with guests on the weekend. Would it be all right to repay my social obligations by inviting people to dine out?
 A. Certainly that would be proper. Social obligations do not have to be repaid on a strictly tit-for-tat basis. Your friends would enjoy a delicious dinner in a relaxed restaurant atmosphere more than an at-home meal served by a hostess they sense is harried and exhausted.

Q. Recently I attended an elegant wedding, and I noticed that the champagne was served in a tulip shaped glass rather than the traditional broad brimmed type. Is this something new?
 A. It is a fairly new idea. The theory now is that a tulip shaped glass preserves the effervescence (bubbles) of champagne longer than a wide brimmed glass.

Q. If two women dine out together, and neither is the guest of the other, what is the best way for them to pay the bill?
 A. The best way I know is by asking the waiter to bring separate checks, and why this is not done, more often I cannot understand. The second best plan is having one woman pay the check, then settling the bill afterwards with her companion.

WONDERFUL CUISINE

Koenig's restaurant is one that defies time. It has been around for a long time but every time we go there we are well satisfied with the wonderful continental cuisine.

Koenig's is a place of good decor and it is a very comfortable restaurant. The establishment caters to large parties but if you come there with just two people, as we did, you are made welcome. The menu includes beef, chicken and veal and there is a large assortment of fish dishes. The prime ribs we chose were great and we think Koenig's in Floral Park is No. 1. Y.T.

HAPPY CHOICE

We have found the Alpine Garden Restaurant on Hempstead Turnpike in Franklin Square a happy choice. Whether it is Austrian, Italian or French cuisine, you will be pleased with the specialties from the Alpine region. We have known the chef, owner, Franz, and his wife, Anna, for many years and find the warm welcome as well as the food excellent. The atmosphere is that of a garden and the ambience is cordial and not the least bit hurried. For a restful dinner away from home we endorse this restaurant both for good food and delightful atmosphere. M.M.

Q. I thought it was standard fare to get at least two vegetables with an entree but last week at the (name omitted) restaurant we were charged extra for vegetables. Is this right?

A. A number of restaurants have changed to charging extra for vegetables, particularly fresh ones, but the safest way is to look at the menu and ask the waiter. Sometimes there are extra vegetables and they are the ones that are given an added charge. But there are some restaurants that charge for every item individually.

EARLY AMERICAN

One of our favorite restaurants over the years has been Maine Maid Inn on Jericho Turnpike in Jericho. The Colonial Building, built in 1789 filled with authentic Early American antiques, the cozy fireplace, the Tiffany lamps... all make for a delightful ambience in which to have a leisurely, relaxing dinner with the best possible food.

We dined there Wednesday night starting with a cup of excellent soup. One dinner consisted of the special of the day. Lobster tail with shrimp and clams in a delectable sauce, served with a choice of baked potato or linguine. My choice was the Bass almonidine served with fresh peas, carrots and corn. A mixed salad with a choice of dressing, and Cafe espresso made for a memorable dinner.

Every time we dine there we say it couldn't be better, and, would you believe it is! E.H.

GREAT PLACE

We are always looking for a local restaurant that serves good food with friendly atmosphere and service. We tried the new C.K. Olliver's on Hillside Avenue in Williston Park and our search was ended. The menu has a nice variety of entrees and many interesting fish dishes. The blackened fish was a real treat. I recommend this new dining spot to your readers. J.B.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides

Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

Emilia
Northern Italian Cuisine

"Emilia's is like a little bit of Europe tucked away in the midst of American suburbia. Everything about the place is warm. Filet mignon au poivre vert is superior to many; the beef is absolutely top shelf quality."
OOO Cathy Urbach, Center Island Pennyvesper, January 1986

"Few restaurants on Long Island make you feel as welcome, comfortable and catered to as Emilia in Carle Place. Service is exceptional and the owners and staff go out of their way to be accommodating."
 * Florence Fabricant, New York Times, March 1986

"Emilia's Kitchen is fluent in Italian, with a soft French accent. The dining is tres excellent: the skilful interpretation of one cuisine, adding an extra touch from another."
 Critica Choize, Newsday, March 2, 1985

 Peter M. Gianotti, Newsday, March 2, 1985

FINE RESTAURANT
 A fine small Italian Restaurant that turns out good food is what we found at the Italian Garden Restaurant last week.

This good storefront type restaurant has excellent veal and fine shrimp scampi. Last week we went there for dinner and found that it is a cordial, fine place to eat in a restful atmosphere. The service is fast and efficient. The quality is as good and sometimes better than the best restaurants around. The Italian Garden is in a shopping center at 348 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola. It is a restaurant that all your readers should visit. They will like it and the cost is not high. E.R.

TELL THE WORLD
 You do not have enough endorsements in your paper for Iannone's in Hicksville. This restaurant is superb in its Italian food. I have gone there for many years and I can tell you that it always meets top quality standards. Last evening we had a wonderful veal parmigiana dinner complete with a cheese cake dessert and coffee.

I will tell you truthfully that the food served in Iannone's is as good as I have ever had even in my own mother's home. She was a real Italian cook who started in the morning and worked all day to give us a fine dinner. Tell more people about Iannone's and you will be doing them a favor. E.T.

READER RATINGS

Q. Who is served first at table and when is the proper time to begin eating? F.P.G.

A. The hostess is not served first unless she is the only lady at the table or is alone with her husband and children. If Grandmother or even a young girl guest is present the dishes are first presented to her after inspection by the hostess. When the hostess is serving from in front of her place, with or without the aid of a servant, she is served next to last and her husband last. For her to serve herself earlier will mean her food will be cold and her filled plate in the way.

After several people have been served, urged by the hostess, guests begin eating so their food will not be cold. And, except at breakfast, the polite husband waits until his wife has been served before beginning to eat.

Q. Is it considered bad manners to take anything to drink to your lips while there is still food in your mouth? B.C.J.

A. Yes, because this may leave particles of food in the beverage or leave an unattractive smear on the glass. Your mouth should be empty before you take anything to drink. Certainly you should avoid the effect of "washing down" food that is already in your mouth. It is amazing how many people are guilty of this breach of etiquette.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides

Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

After Work Gourmet

Save the tomato!

The evening news weather anchorman warns that the night may bring the first frost of the season.

You race to the garden to harvest the last of the tomatoes before the weather tinges the plants with the black of winter.

With our gardens as susceptible as any to the cold breath of Jack Frost, we have spent a good deal of time experimenting with the baskets of green tomatoes that seem inevitable at the end of each summer.

One of our favorite preparations is fried green tomatoes, and this version sports a Southern-style cornmeal coating and a zesty Southwestern-ripe tomato and jalapeno salsa. It is a hearty and colorful side dish to brighten up a meal of simple baked ham or broiled chicken.

Pork and brandied green tomatoes, is a twist on the classic duo of pork and apples. The sauce is just as good spooned over sauteed chicken.

You may, of course, be very daring and pick your tomatoes green even if there is no threat of frost. Or, if you have no tomatoes at all, your neighborhood green grocer may look at you slightly askance, but will be quite delighted to dispose of the green tomatoes hidden in the packing crate that couldn't be put out in the "vine-ripe" bin.

PORK AND BRANDIED GREEN TOMATOES

4 loin pork chops (each about ¾-inch thick, 1½-2 pounds total weight)

Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter, divided
1 tablespoon oil
1 large green (unripe) tomato (about 8 ounces)
3 tablespoons minced shallots
2 tablespoons Calvados, Applejack or brandy
¼ teaspoon dried thyme or 1½ teaspoons minced fresh thyme
½ cup chicken stock
½ cup heavy cream
Fresh thyme sprigs, optional garnish

Sprinkle both sides of pork with salt and pepper. Heat 1 tablespoon butter and the oil in skillet large enough to comfortably hold pork. Saute over medium heat for a total of about 15 minutes until nicely browned and just cooked through. Remove from skillet to warm platter. Pour off any excess fat, but reserve the unwashed skillet.

While pork is cooking, core tomato, cut in half crosswise and gently squeeze out seeds. Cut tomato into ½-inch dice.

Add remaining 1 tablespoon butter to skillet and saute shallots and tomato for about 1 minute over medium-low heat. Add Calvados and cook about 30 seconds stirring up browned bits from bottom of pan. Add thyme, stock and cream and simmer, stirring often, for 3-5 minutes until lightly thickened and coats a spoon. Taste, and add salt and pepper if needed.

Return pork and any accumulated juices on platter to skillet and warm through for about 1 minute.

Serve pork with sauce spooned over and garnished with thyme sprigs, if desired.

Yield: 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 30 minutes

SOUTHERN FRIED GREEN TOMATOES WITH JALAPENO SALSA

Fried Tomatoes:

2 medium green (unripe) tomatoes (about 12 ounces)
4 tablespoons flour, divided
4 tablespoons yellow cornmeal
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon ground cumin
1 egg, lightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons oil
Salsa:
1 fresh or canned jalapeno pepper
1 small white onion
1 clove garlic
8 ounces ripe plum tomatoes (about 3 large)
3 tablespoons cilantro sprigs
1 tablespoon olive oil
¼ teaspoon salt or to taste

For the tomatoes: Core and cut into 4 slices, each about ¼-inch thick. Gently squeeze out seeds and pat slices dry.

In shallow dish, combine 2 tablespoons of flour, cornmeal, salt, cayenne pepper and cumin.

Dust tomato slices with remaining 1 tablespoon flour, dip in egg and coat with cornmeal mixture.

Heat butter and oil in 2 skillets large enough to hold tomato slices. Cook over medium heat about 5 minutes per side, until golden brown and crispy.

While tomatoes are cooking, make salsa. Remove seeds and ribs from jalapeno peppers, washing hands after handling peppers. In food processor, coarsely chop together jalapeno pepper, onion and garlic. Core plum tomatoes, cut in half and gently squeeze out seeds. Add tomato and cilantro and pulse to chop tomato coarsely. Add oil and salt and pulse 2 or 3 times to blend.

Serve fried tomatoes with salsa spooned over.

Yield: 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 25 minutes.

Study money for food professionals

There you are: you have your nose in the food section again. This means one of two things — either you're just a normal person who likes to cook and eat the results, or you're a "Food Professional," compulsively scanning the paper for new recipes, new information on cooking and nutrition. If you're one of the second group (or would like to be), then read on — there's money in them thar grants!

The Cooking Advancement, Research and Education Foundation, or CAREF, is currently accepting applications for research grants. Applicants should be in the food profession, and have submitted a research proposal. CAREF requires that the project be "in the field of culinary arts and science and disseminate factual and previously unpublished information." In addition, projects must be "unbiased, timely and educational in nature."

To receive an application for a research grant, write to Mead M. Brownell, 21 Swegester Road, Cumberland Center, ME 04021. Completed applications must be received by Oct. 15, 1987.

CAREF is also accepting applications for the 1988 Culinary Scholarship Program. Since its establishment in 1984, CAREF has awarded more than $85,000 in grants and scholarships to "further educate talented individuals in culinary institutions worldwide." All those interested in a culinary career are encouraged to apply. Applications will be accepted through Dec. 15, 1987. For more information on the Scholarship Program, write to: CAREF, 167 W. 12th Street, New York, N.Y. 10011.

Meanwhile, here are two tasty microwave recipes to keep your culinary hand in practice:

BEEF TETRAZZINI

2 ounces (about one cup) medium egg noodles, uncooked
1 cup dry white wine
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
2 beef bouillon cubes, crumbled, or 2 teaspoons bouillon granules
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 pound beef top round steak, cut into narrow strips
3 tablespoons flour
¼ pound sliced fresh mushrooms
1 cup frozen peas
¼ teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
½ cup sour cream

2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley

In 2-quart round, glass casserole combine noodles, wine, onion, vegetable oil, bouillon and garlic powder, stirring well. Cover and place in microwave oven on paper towels (to catch drips). Microwave 10 minutes, stirring after 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, dredge beef strips in flour. Stir into noodle mixture along with mushrooms, peas and Kitchen Bouquet. Cover and microwave 5 to 9 minutes longer, stirring every 3 minutes, until beef is tender. Sprinkle on cheese and pepper, stirring until cheese is melted. Blend in sour cream, then sprinkle with parsley. Serve immediately.

Serves 4.

Preparation Time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Cooking Time: 15 to 19 minutes.
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

HERBED POTATOES MONTEREY

3 medium baking potatoes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup each chopped onion and green pepper
1 (8½-ounce) can cream-style corn
1 medium tomato, seeded and chopped
½ medium zucchini, sliced thin
¼ teaspoon, each, salt and dried oregano leaves
¼ teaspoon, each, pepper and dry mustard
¼ cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese
Minced fresh parsley

Scrub potatoes, then pierce with fork in several places. Arrange 1 inch apart, spoke fashion, on paper towel in oven. Microwave 8-10 minutes, turning after 4 minutes, or until potatoes feel soft when pressed. Wrap in clean towel and let stand to finish cooking while preparing sauce.

To make sauce, combine butter, onion and green pepper in 2-quart glass casserole. Microwave, uncovered, 2 to 3 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Stir in all remaining ingredients except cheese and parsley. Cover and microwave 2 to 4 minutes longer, or until heated through. Stir in cheese.

Split potatoes open; spoon hot vegetable-cheese mixture over potatoes, then sprinkle with a little minced parsley. Serve immediately.

Serves 3.

Preparation Time: 10 minutes.
Cooking Time: 12 to 17 minutes.
Oven Setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Cooking Corner

By Antonia Allegra

Although predictions are that its popularity in the United States will grow, the Spanish tapas — which falls somewhere between the appetizer and the full-course meal — is not a household word.

After a trip to New York, I told several people about my visit to a wonderful tapas bar.

In each case, there was a moment of silence before they asked, "Topless bar?"

It became routine: "No, no, tapas bar, where they have those little dishes with a variety of tastes that they serve in Spanish bars; like grazing."

Tapas means "little tastes," as in snacks or tidbits but in Spanish the word actually means lid or top, and the custom dates back perhaps 100 years in Spain's taverns.

Then, a slice of bread or ham or sausage was placed on top of the drink glass for the patron. The style grew to be little bits of food — both hot and cold selections — on small plates which are now customarily served before the late-night dinner hour in Spain, especially in bars.

In fact, the chef who is generally credited with introducing tapas to this country said the custom is the same thing as the trendy Southern California dining habit known as "grazing," where diners enjoy a variety of small tastes instead of one large entree.

That chef is Felipe Rojas-Lombardi and his bar/restaurant is The Ballroom in New York's Manhattan where he has been serving up tapas in a countrified Spanish atmosphere for five years.

Added Rojas-Lombardi: "People are more sophisticated and they want to try little bits of this and little bits of that. You don't have to eat the whole thing to enjoy it, to appreciate it. Having little tastes makes for a more interesting combinations of tastes and flavors."

And it seems to fit in with the current trend toward eating lighter. Smaller portions but certainly not small in scope.

Here is a selection of tapas that chef Felipe Rojas-Lombardi serves in his New York restaurant, as well as the recipe for his unusual white sangria, a popular beverage sold by the pitcher in the restaurant. The clear drink, studded with bright fruit slices, is a pretty image as waiters whiz past, holding shimmering pitchers aloft.

"There's no fruit juice! It's not a punch!" Rojas-Lombardi said with mock anger when someone in his restaurant asked him which juice he mixed into his sangria.

These dishes can be served in appetizer portion to start a meal, in great variety as a "grazing" style meal, or in larger portions as an entree or, for the vegetables, as a side dish.

GAMBAS A LA PLANCHA

2½ pounds fresh large shrimp (about 9 to 10 shrimps per pound), peeled (leaving the tail with the shell attached) and deveined

3 tablespoons olive oil
4 cloves garlic, peeled and finely chopped

Salt to taste
3 tablespoons Italian parsley, coarsely chopped
Lemon or lime wedges for garnish

In 12-inch or larger skillet, heat oil. When hot, add shrimp and allow to cook for 1 or 2 minutes on each side until barely cooked. Add garlic, toss, allow to cook no more than 1 minute. Do not allow garlic to brown. Sprinkle salt to taste and add parsley, toss and serve immediately. Garnish with lemon or lime wedges. Yields 6-8 servings.

MUSSELS MARINARA

4 pounds mussels, scrubbed and debearded

1 teaspoon baking soda, or 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour

Cold water
3 tablespoons olive oil

1 large onion (2 cups), finely chopped

3 small hot serrano chillies, halved, seeded and finely chopped

1 teaspoon coarse salt
2 tablespoons fresh rosemary leaves, chopped, or 1 tablespoon whole dry rosemary leaves

¼ cup dry white wine
Garnish: Sprigs of rosemary

Place mussels in a pot, add generous amount of water (much more than just to cover the mussels) and then add the baking soda or flour. Stir. Add mussels and soak for 2 hours, rinse well under cold running water and drain.

Heat olive oil in a 12-inch sauté (a skillet with deep, straight sides), add onions, garlic, serrano chillies and salt. Sauté for 3 to 5 minutes over high heat, stirring occasionally until the onion becomes translucent. Add rosemary leaves and sauté for 1 minute longer. Add white wine, stir and then add mussels and cover the sauté with a tight-fitting lid. Cook over medium to high heat for about 5 minutes, or until mussels open. Serve mussels and sauce, garnished with rosemary sprigs. Yields 6-8 servings.

TORTILLA DE PAPAS

3¾ pounds all-purpose potatoes

8 eggs
1 small onion (9 ounces) thinly sliced

¼ cup and 1 tablespoon olive oil

1¼ tablespoons coarse salt, or 1½ teaspoons refined salt

Peel, quarter and thinly slice potatoes. Heat ¼ cup of olive oil in a 12-13-inch skillet and add potatoes. Fry over medium-high heat, covered, stirring occasionally until potatoes are semi-cooked (about 10-15 minutes). Add 1 tablespoon salt and the sliced onion. Stir, cover and cook until onions are wilted and potatoes are tender, but not collapsing. Transfer to a bowl. Some of onion and potato mixture will stick to the bottom of the skillet. Do not scrape any burned mixture into the bowl. Allow this mixture to cool.

In separate bowl, beat 8 eggs and add to the cooled potatoes. Mix thoroughly. Heat a 10¼ inch skillet. Add 1 tablespoon of the olive oil and continue to heat the skillet — almost to the point of smoking. Carefully coat the sides and bottom of the skillet with the oil. Pour potato and egg mixture into the skillet and allow to set over high heat for 1-3 minutes. Then turn down heat as low as possible and cook gently until tortilla mixture is set enough to turn. (About 15 minutes.)

Place cover of a pot or a large plate over the skillet and gently flip tortilla over onto it. Then, slide tortilla back into skillet to cover other side over very low heat. This should take an additional 15-20 minutes until set. Press fingertips gently over top to check if tortilla is properly cooked. It should feel firm. Place a round serving dish or plate over skillet and gently flip the tortilla onto it. Serve hot or cold, garnished with tomatoes.

Yields 10-12 tapas portions.

CHICKEN A LA GALLEGA

3 pounds chicken breasts (about 3 whole breasts)

1 tablespoon olive oil
5 cloves garlic

1 bay leaf
2 teaspoons Spanish paprika

¼ teaspoon cayenne
1 tablespoon flour

¼ cup chicken stock
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)

Place the chicken breasts on a rack, skin side up. Sprinkle with ¼ teaspoon paprika. Roast in a preheated 450 F oven approximately 25 minutes, or until golden brown. Allow to cool and remove bone. Set aside. In small skillet heat olive oil and garlic and bay leaf. Sauté until garlic turns golden brown. Add the rest of the paprika, cayenne and flour. Mix well and add chicken stock. Bring to a boil, gently stirring constantly to prevent lumps. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly.

Cut each breast in half, lengthwise. Slice each half breast into three pieces, preserving its shape. Arrange the chicken breasts on a serving platter and pour hot sauce over the chicken. Garnish with freshly chopped Italian parsley. Serve at once.

Note: Rojas-Lombardi says this dish can be prepared without salt for a salt-free entree.

WHITE SANGRIA

1 bottle (25 ounces) dry white wine

2 ounces Calvados or brandy

2 ounces Triple Sec or Cointreau

4 to 5 tablespoons sugar

2 to 3 slices lemon or lime

4 slices orange

1 small green apple, peeled, seeded and cut into 8 wedges

6 strawberries, cleaned and cut in half

Ice

In pitcher large enough to hold all the ingredients, place Calvados, Triple Sec and sugar. Stir until sugar is totally dissolved. Add lemon slices, orange slices, strawberry halves and apple wedges, stir, add white wine. Mix well. Allow to sit for a few minutes, add plenty of ice and serve.

PICKLED ARTICHOKE

8 quarts of water
¼ cup fresh lemon juice

16 baby artichokes (about 2 ounces each)

1 lemon, halved
2 tablespoons plus ¼ teaspoon coarse salt

1 cup olive oil
4 garlic cloves

2 medium onions, cut into ¼-inch rings

3 medium carrots, peeled and cut into 3 by ¼ julienne

1 serrano chili, seeded and cut into fine julienne

12 whole black peppercorns

1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon dried oregano, crumbled

¼ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg

1½ cups dry white wine
¼ cup red wine vinegar

Garnish: fresh oregano sprigs

Combine water and ¼ cup lemon juice in large bowl. Cut off artichoke stem 1 inch from base. Rub exposed area with cut side of lemon. Starting from base, bend each leaf back and snap off at natural break. Cut 1 inch off top of artichoke. Trim and shape heart carefully with knife until no dark green areas remain. Rub with lemon. Halve artichoke lengthwise. Pull out small purple leaves at center and scoop out choko. Add artichoke to bowl of water. Repeat trimming with remaining artichokes. Bring water to boil in large non-aluminum pot. Add juice from ¼ lemon and 1 tablespoon coarse salt. Drain artichokes and add. Cook until just tender when pierced with knife, about 15 minutes. Drain well.

Heat oil in heavy large skillet over medium heat. Add garlic and stir 2 minutes. Add onions, carrots, chili, peppercorns, bay leaf, oregano, nutmeg and 1 tablespoon plus ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir 2 minutes. Add artichokes and stir 1 minute. Pour in wine and vinegar. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Cool. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 days. Garnish with oregano sprigs. Serve mixture at room temperature.

Yields 8 servings.

Note: Rojas-Lombardi said to prepare this recipe two days in advance. However, it can be prepared as much as 5 days ahead.

Quality Or Quantity?

One Sure Way To Get Results!

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper, you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity, the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient Readers = Results is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Removal of ivy is tricky business

Q. I recently purchased my home and it was a veritable ivy-covered residence. I noticed the ivy had spread into the basement, between the concrete foundation and the sill.

I elected to rip it all out. It was an arduous job. What is left now is a brown fibrous growth that tracks the outline of each of the multitudinous vines. The growth tenaciously adheres to the shingles and brick facing of my house.

Can you advise me as to what may be done to remove these tentaclelike growths from the wooden and asbestos shingles as well as the brick? — O.B.W.

A. The deposits you have left on the wall are the suckers that attach the vines. They should be left alone for two or three weeks, until they dry up and turn dark. They can then be removed with a stiff brush and some laundry detergent or a solution of trisodium phosphate. Chemicals or acids used on the suckers will do more damage to the wall than to the plant remnants.

If the suckers are left alone too long, they will rot and oxidize, becoming very hard and nearly impossible to remove without damaging the masonry surface.

Although you have already removed most of the ivy, I recommend that other readers considering the removal of ivy begin by cutting the plant at the roots and letting the vines dry prior to any removal from the wall. This makes the ivy easier to remove and lessens the damage that can be done to the masonry when ivy is rooted into the brickwork.

Q. My basement tile floors all around the cement block wall have water to touch (sweating), since it has been hot (90 degrees) and humid for the past two weeks. It wasn't like this when it rained constantly for about two weeks a month ago. Any suggestions? — G.T.

A. During the cooler months your furnace tends to keep excess humidity at bay — though not, of course, actual water, which is a completely different story.

In warmer weather the dampness comes to stay. It enters through basement walls or, since moisture-laden air is heavier than dry air, drifts down from the upper floors. The dampness can cause a number of adverse conditions such as mildew, rust, sweating pipes, dry rot, musty odors.

There are a number of steps you can take to help alleviate the problems. First, the simplest solution is to ventilate the area. Two windows at opposite ends of the area can be screened and left open to provide natural cross ventilation. Two small fans can help ventilation if the natural air flow is inadequate. Place one at an open window to exhaust air; the second at a central location to circulate frigid air entering through the other open window.

Porous basement walls, even though they may not leak, can be another major source of basement humidity. A coating of waterproof epoxy paint, intended specifically for concrete or cinder-block basement walls, will prevent much of this moisture transfer and decrease the amount of humid air that must be evacuated.

If your walls are chalky or powdery on the surface, you will have to clean them first with a wire brush or a strong detergent; this will prevent the new paint from flaking off. If these measures fail, you might consider the purchase of an electric dehumidifier. Consult with a dealer for the proper size for your basement area.

cial Security office to sign up for Medicare and Social Security. Then consider a private supplemental insurance to Medicare — to cover what Medicare doesn't and, if you have not already started, get involved in preserving your own health through fitness — exercise and diet, — as the best solution for yourself and for reducing your medical bills in the future.

Q. What diseases and afflictions should people expect because of age?

A. None. That's true, and science can prove at least 80 percent of the assumed "age-related" diseases are not related to age and the balance are not really age-related, either.

Like any motor, if we run it hard, and don't fuel it and lubricate it properly, something will break. The human body is very similar, and has one more advantage — it can help heal itself. So, even if you have "run it hard and put it away wet" — as the cowpokes put it so well — the body can recuperate, in most cases.

So anyone — younger or older — should not assume that health will be bad, because of aging. In what we consider older years. As a longtime writer health I take exception to the "gloom-and-doom" projections being made about the massive health care costs in the near and distant years. Those who propound those projections don't take into account the possibility of Americans of all ages taking a positive role in keeping themselves healthy.

Q. I am working today and the more I make the more that the government takes from my checks to fund Social Security. Why should I pay for Social Security benefits for today's senior citizens?

A. That Social Security was budgeted and funded on a pay-as-you-go basis, rather than as a truly invested pension fund, was a major bungle of Congress at the inception of the program. Successive sessions of Congress have looked at the issue and have done nothing to correct it.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, E.D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl with a very old-fashioned father. I am the head manager of a boys high school sport that requires a couple of hours time after school during the season.

I really enjoy being the manager, and the coach said I did a fantastic job last school year and he is looking forward to having me the head manager again this year.

I'm not a brilliant student but I did get C's and B's in all of my academic classes. Last night, my father told me that because I didn't have a B plus average he would not allow me to be the manager this year. This has really got me upset. More than anything I want to be the manager. It's my most enjoyable school experience. Please tell me what I can do to make my father change his mind. — Tammy

Tammy: Good sports managers are hard to replace and any good coach knows it. Have a talk with your coach and ask him to say a few words to your dad explaining that being a manager takes responsibility and is a marvelous educational experience. I hope your father changes his mind.

Dr. Wallace: I am 17 and so is my boyfriend. We live about 12 miles from each other. My mother gets upset when occasionally, and I emphasize the word occasionally, I will pick him up and go to a movie near his home. It saves a lot of time and since we both have our own cars my boyfriend and I like this arrangement. My mom doesn't like this because she feels that a boy should come to a girl's house and pick her up and bring her home after a date.

That might have been the way it was when my mom was dating but things have changed. Your thoughts, please. — Beverly Beverly: To me your dating methods are completely acceptable, but I can understand your mother's reasoning and she's the one who rightfully sets the rules.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 13-year-old girl who needs help, and fast. I'm considered tall for my age and I have a slender body. I take after my father who happens to be tall and skinny and I don't like it one bit. I would like to know what foods I should eat so I will gain weight on my legs. I've tried eating a lot of junk food but my legs still look like toothpicks. Help! — Skinny

Skinny: Only time and Mother Nature will turn this "skinny" duckling into a beautiful swan. Lay off the junk food and eat nutritious meals. You might as well be healthy while you are waiting. Twenty years from today you will be thrilled you have a slim build.

Dr. Wallace: My boyfriend lives 29 miles from me and sometimes it is hard for me to keep track of him. He is known as a sneaky sort of guy and there are times that I doubt his word.

Last Saturday, he was supposed to take me out but he didn't show up and he didn't call. I called him several times that evening and he didn't answer. Last night, I called and he answered. When I inquired about our Saturday date, he said he was at home in bed because he had the mumps. He said he was still sick. When I told him I would come and see him, he said his doctor said that he should have no visitors because mumps are highly contagious. When I told him I might come over anyway, he said he wouldn't let me in "for my own protection."

When I told my sister about all of this, she said my boyfriend was giving me a con job because mumps are no longer a disease and was wiped out about 10 years ago. Is this true? — Pam Pam: Your boyfriend indeed might be a con man, but he could have the mumps. According to the National Centers for Disease Control there were 9,500 reported cases of mumps in the United States in the first six months of 1987. The agency blamed the increase on unvaccinated high school students. For the past 15 years the number of mumps cases were in continuous decline with an all-time national low of 2,982 reported cases in 1985. In 1988 there were 152,209 reported cases of mumps.

Mumps almost were eliminated but not quite. Don't take a chance. Stay away from this guy for at least a couple weeks — maybe longer — a lot longer.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Questions about aging — for younger and older

The most disinformation — the lack of information — the distortion of information and the lack of corrective information about wrongful assumptions — in this nation has to be about senior citizens. The mailbox each day brings many questions, and then, as we make personal appearances to both senior citizen groups and to those in the balance of the national population, we collect many more questions.

For the benefit of the young in learning about the older generations, and for the benefit of present-day senior citizens for information you have requested, we present the following digest of questions and answers.

Q. I can't wait to turn 65 so that Medicare can pay all my medical bills. How and when do I file?

A. Though many believe Medicare to be the panacea in covering medical bills for those age 65-plus, it is not. Overall, less than half of medical bills of senior citizens are covered by Medicare. The program does not fund for preventative care — those bills for checkups or for remaining healthy, or for prescription drugs or for most non-acute care-hospitalization. Additionally, even covered services or procedures there are deductibles and pre-established price levels for what Medicare considers acceptable.

Medicare has become a patch-quilt system, juggled and jumbled politically by Congress. Even the new legislative approaches for a "total coverage" or "catastrophic care" program are rife with gaps. No one in Congress, nor in the organization that lobbys Congress on the issue, has proposed what we believe to be the best solution — to go back to the drawing board and redesign the entire system top to bottom and then re-enact the program on that basis. There are scores of individual bills in Congress for special coverages that ignore the real need and challenge of providing a comprehensive program.

Bulb flowers in pots add patches of color

In recent years I've come to appreciate having pots and planters filled with bulbs and other spring flowers in bloom close around our house during the spring. Last spring, for example, we enjoyed a lengthy round of daffodils and tulips, grape hyacinths, winter pansies and potted primroses clustered around our front door and grouped attractively on our well-traveled patio.

Other areas where such plantings offer bright patches of color, delightful scents and a lift to the spirits during the spring are on apartment balconies and sun decks, in window boxes and fixed brick or wooden planters, and even grouped strategically at high profile locations along garden pathways.

The bulb flowers for these outdoor container gardens are not "forced" in the usual sense — they're just potted for portability or display outdoors. When I plant bulbs for this purpose I generally use larger, deeper pots than the ones destined for blooming inside the house. I winter the pots simply along a partly shaded fence line sunk up to their rims in sawdust.

The planning for a spring flower bulb garden in stationary planters like window boxes and fixed wood and brick enclosures offers a choice of planting methods. In mild winter areas the bulbs can be set directly into the enclosure. In cold winter climates they can be wintered over in some shelter in pots that are then set into the planter once the plants are safely headed for bloom.

If a fixed planter is fully exposed to winter's cold in all but the warmest areas, it would be best to stick to the most hardy of bulbs for direct planting. Siberian squills, glory of the snow (Chionodoxa) snow crocus, grape hyacinths and tulips are among the most hardy of the spring flower bulbs.

If the planter offers some protection, as against a house wall, then you could probably quite safely include narcissus and hyacinths in your bulb garden. But

New Federal Constitution Accepted, Signed! Sent to Congress to start Ratification!

Philadelphia, September 18, 1787 (Delayed) Yesterday, after a long hot summer, the Federal Convention finished its work when the delegates signed the Constitution they have written.

What started out as an effort to strengthen the weaknesses of the Articles of Confederation has resulted in what observers and the delegates themselves, realize is an entirely new government.

One of the major differences is that while the old government was based on a pact between the thirteen states, the new government rests directly on the people. The evidence of this is in the opening words of the Preamble: "We the people of the United States..."

In the new Constitution the states give much more responsibility to the central government by yielding some of their precious rights. The result is expected to be a government which will more successfully meet their needs.

For example, under the Articles each state coined its own money, a situation which made it difficult to trade between the states or to engage in foreign commerce. The Constitution clearly makes this an exclusive right of the new federal government.

Three delegates remain opposed to the new concept of a centralized government and refuse to sign their acceptance.

After signing, most of the delegates walked to the City Tavern for dinner and their farewells.

The Constitution must now be ratified by the voters of the individual states through conventions of representatives elected by the people.

If ratified, how long will it last? We won't know for a hundred or even two hundred years from today.

give these bulbs a good 3-inch buffer zone of soil between the bulbs and the planter edges. Then in late winter, when the flower bulb plants have started into growth, that buffer zone can be filled in with some spring flowers like pansies and small primroses. Set the larger bulbs — tulips, narcissus and hyacinths — at least 5 inches deep in fixed planters.

It is possible to mix congenial types of flower bulbs in boxes and containers for a pleasantly blended bulb garden. If the planters are to be used for annual summer flowers, it's a good idea to stick to the earliest flower bulbs. Species, or snow crocus, planted together with the very early Kaufmanniana (water lily) tulips or Double Early tulips will provide a double wave of bloom in a planter. Siberian squills, grape hyacinths and Chionodoxa mix well with early narcissus like Lent Lily (Narcissus lobularis) and Tete-a-Tete. Hyacinths and muscari (grape hyacinths) make a nice bulb garden combined with Double Early tulips.

Though direct planting is the simplest method of setting up a container bulb garden, I still prefer, at least for some of our fixed planters, to pot the bulbs, shelter them over the winter, and then set the pots into the boxes and planters when the plants are ready to bloom. For one thing, I risk no bare or non-flowering display spots this way.

It's great fun to mix-and-match the pots of bulbs as they start to bloom, and far easier to put together a really effective display once it's possible to see exactly what you've got. It's also easier when assembling ready-to-bloom pots of flower bulbs to mix in pots of winter pansies and primroses in colors that blend well with the bulb flowers. I always have several pots of winter pansies ready for this purpose. And in late winter I usually purchase a few primroses and repot them for mixing with our bulb flowers.

Early last spring, for example, I set into a planter attached to our front fence five 6-inch wide pots — three with blue grape hyacinths separated by two vivid pink primroses.

Decor Score

VICTORIAN Home owners renovating Victorian houses can now get inside help from furniture designs such as these upholstered Victorian recliners from Stratford.

Q: My wife and I have painstakingly restored the basic structure of our old Victorian and now we are ready for the inside. Neither one of us likes the dark, cluttered interiors typical of that period, but we would like our decor to reflect a Victorian mood at least. How could we accomplish this? — R.F.

A: I would first isolate those elements of Victorian interiors that do appeal to you and build on them. Don't make the mistake of adding something you find ugly simply because it is authentic. It's 1987, and you have to live here, after all.

Clutter is always within your control. Just use less of the Victorians that appeals to you. This way favorite pieces get the attention they deserve and you avoid claustrophobia.

Dark woods are typically Victorian, but you might use them against light backgrounds or emphasize upholstered pieces that are covered in light fabrics. Fortunately, new interest in Victorian furniture has encouraged manufacturers to offer more in these designs.

Fabric treatments should be full but they needn't be heavy. Try cottons or other lightweight fabrics in Victorian-style patterns such as florals but with light, more contemporary color schemes. Use the same tactic with wallcoverings.

Art and accessories of the period will contribute significantly toward establishing the ambience you want. And, should your restraint leave large empty places, try using the palms and ferns the Victorians so loved to soften the hard edges of the furnishings and establish a connection with the outside.

Q: I am interested in using sheets in lieu of more expensive fabric for my decorating. Do you have any good tips or ideas? — C.W.

A: If you need lightweight material, sheets can be a real fabric bargain. They have the added advantage of providing wide lengths with no seams, particularly useful in making floor-length tablecloths and drapes.

There are countless ways to use sheets. Keep an eye out for articles in home magazines where specific ideas abound. Of course, sheets also can be substituted for lightweight cotton yardage for any decorating project.

For some great ideas and detailed how-to instructions, you might write for a new publication from Fieldcrest Mills. Titled "Fieldcrest's Profiled Design Decorating," this illustrated booklet is available for $3.50 from Fieldcrest Mills Inc., 60 W. 40th St., New York, NY 10018.

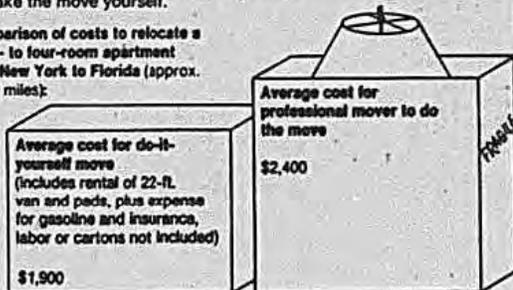

Just keep in mind that sheet patterns change with the rapidity of clothes fashions, so buy extra for errors, replacement or new ideas. You don't want to be caught napping without a sheet.

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

Chest may be half of sideboard

Q: This antique chest is made of oak and is in very good condition. Can you tell me when it was made and what it might sell for?

A: My first reaction is that this is the base of an old sideboard. If there are any indications that another section sat on top of this, it would indicate that you have only half of a sideboard.

If you are convinced that this is a complete piece of furniture, it would be worth $225 to $275. It was made about 1900.

Q: You always relate the price of china to the marks on the back. Why shouldn't a beautiful old vase be worth as much regardless of whether it has mark?

A: In the first place, people collect Wedgwood, Meissen, Rookwood, etc. They don't just collect old china. If collectors are looking for specific kinds of china, it forces the price up. So it's the fault of the collectors that the prices of marked ceramics are higher than unmarked pieces.

In addition to that, the marks are useful in determining vintage. For example, the way Rookwood is marked indicates the specific year in which that piece was made.

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

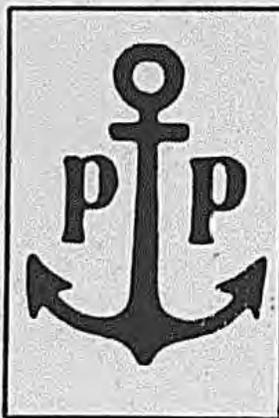

Q: What can you tell me about the value of my Hummel figurine No. 178, "The Photographer?" At antique shows I have seen it priced at widely different figures.

A: The value of your Hummel figurine depends on the trademark on the bottom.

Trademark No. 1 (1935-1950) — $325; Trademark No. 2 (1950-1957) — $180; Trademark No. 3 (1957-1964) — $140; Trademark No. 4 (1964-1972) — $125; Trademark No. 5 (1972-1979) — $110; Trademark No. 6 (1979-present) $100.

If you will send me a sketch of the marks on the bottom of your Hummel, I'll identify it for you.

Q: I have a blue-and-white plate that is inscribed "Julen 1968." On the back is the attached mark. What can you tell me about it?

A: This is a Christmas plate made by Porsgrund Porcelain in Norway. The company was founded in 1885 by Johan Jeremiason. The company has made tableware and decorative wares ever since. Your plate is the 1968 Christmas plate and would sell for about $100 to $125.

Can dogs have epilepsy?

Q: Is it possible for a dog to have epilepsy? Our 8-month-old dachshund recently had a fit. She layed on her side and kicked with all four legs for a short period of time. She then seemed totally exhausted. Following this episode the dog seemed fine and has not had any apparent problem since then.

A: It is possible for dogs to have epilepsy. Epilepsy is a disorder characterized by recurrent seizures, convulsions or fits.

A seizure is a sudden burst of uncontrolled activity resulting from an intermittent massive electrical abnormality within the brain. Although no two seizures are exactly alike, most consist of the following occurrences: nervousness, excessive chewing, foaming from the mouth, intermittent jerking, collapse, paddling with the legs, urination, defecation, salivation, loss of consciousness, and gradual recovery to normal.

Seizures usually last for less than five minutes. In unusual cases the seizure may last longer or one seizure may be followed closely by additional seizures. This is very serious and requires emergency veterinary treatment. There are many causes of seizures in dogs. Epilepsy is one form of seizure.

Epilepsy can be divided into two categories: inherited and acquired. A tendency for epilepsy through inheritance has been reported in many breeds. These include the beagle, dachshund, German shepherd, Belgian shepherd, keeshond, cocker spaniel, golden retriever, Labrador retriever, Irish setter, miniature schnauzer, poodle, Saint Bernard, Siberian husky and wire-haired fox terrier. In some breeds the problem seems to be limited to few family lines but in others it seems to be quite widespread.

Acquired epilepsy is usually due to a previous head injury or infection that resulted in damage to the brain. With acquired epilepsy, seizures continue to occur long after the initial disease is cured. The seizures that occur with acquired epilepsy are often only partial. In other words, only a part of the body is affected and the dog does not usually lose consciousness.

The treatment of epilepsy usually includes the use of anti-convulsant medication. These drugs are effective in approximately 60 percent of the cases. However complete elimination of seizures is rarely possible. Most treatment is considered successful if the incidence, severity and duration of the seizures is reduced.

Any dog experiencing repeated occurrences of seizures should be examined by a veterinarian. Dogs with seizures due to unknown causes should not be used as breeding stock. Many of these problems can be transmitted to offspring.

Fall is finally here! This week it begins officially with the coming of the "autumn solstice" - a time when day and night are of equal length.

You know in summer the days are long and in winter they are short. As a child I learned an old fashioned poem which said it rather well: "In winter I get up at night, / And dress by yellow candlelight. / In summer quite the other way, / I have to go to bed by day."

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly
