Director Knapp provided "food for thought" by presenting a number of current topics before the assembly on Friday morning. The subjects presented were pertaining to Boulder Dam, some new plants on the NRA, the recent careful operation in which a man's chest muscles were used to keep his heart beating, how the jury update went to see the cows milked and humorous events. Fred and a number of other important assembly dismissed itself too soon, however, taking their signal from an invitation of a dialogue between Archie Stone and Rigo Ponte.

The senior dance on the night of Washington's Birthday was one of the biggest dances of the season. More than 60 couples were present and danced well into the morning. The gym was decorated with orange and blue paper, together with American flags and a picture of Washington. The senior class wishes to thank all those who gave their support to the success of the dance and to those who helped with the decorations.

Joe Roach was in charge of the assembly program Monday, with V. C. Corey, Ed Diberger and Al Blaine supporting him. The first speaker, Cory, told of the work of Stephen Babcock, who invented the Babcock tester for butterfat. Most of Babcock's work was along lines of feeding and nutrition and he made this his life work.

Ed Diberger told the story of Dr. William Beebe's latest exploration of the deep in the bathysphere. The record depth was set at this time, being 3,028 feet below the surface. Al Blaine summed up the chances of a college graduate pretty well in his presentation of tight thought and it's time we seniors started thinking it over.

The Chemistry Club will hold its regular meeting in the Agronomy Building Friday night at 7 p. m. The program will be in charge of L. M. Steak and B. O. Mandato.

Preparations for the commencement dances of Phi Sigma Chi fraternity are already well under way. A committee has been appointed to plan the decorations and the orchestra has been contracted. Dick Wuesterfeld has charge of the notes for the active chapter and the publication will be called "The Now and Then."

Monday night the senior class will hold a cake and candy sale. It will start at 8 p. m. and will be held in the social hall of the senior dorm.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peters attended a lecture at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn, given by Father Hubbard, the Glacier Priest, on the geology of Alaska, and on Wednesday went to Westbury to a meeting of the Long Island Shade Tree Association.

Two Offices Puzzle Town Councilmen

Board Members Wonder If Anderson Can Be Mayor At Same Time

John W. Anderson's recent announcement that he would run for mayor of Massapequa Park on the Liberty ticket in opposition to the present, official, Peter F. Collieran, is providing the town board of Oyster Bay with a tough problem. As former Justice Anderson is a town councilman, the board must decide whether he can hold two positions at the same time in the event that he wins the village election.

Supporters who drafted Mr. Anderson for the mayoralty and political offices throughout the territory surrounding the South Shore village seem to think the election will be an easy victory for the former justice.

The town board members, early this week, discussed at length the possibility of Anderson's drawing two salaries and holding two elected offices at the same time. It is believed that Supervisor Harry Tappen said it would, in his opinion, be possible as one office is in village government and the other in town government.

It is expected Town Attorney Charles I. Wood will be asked for an opinion on the subject.

Auto Hoodoo Brings Arrest

Just outside of Westbury, however, the Simpson car ran out of fuel, and, according to detectives, they had to all pile into the Buick car again, and back to Westbury and seek another automobile. This was simply done and a few minutes later found the boys riding back toward town in their recently acquired vehicle being property of Nelson Simpson of Hicksville, which police say, they had picked up outside of the Westbury Theater.

They were no sooner on the open highway however, when the Alderman's car, following the example of the other two, ran out of gasoline.

Discouraged by this behavior in all their cars, the boys got back into one car and, according to police, decided to try their luck again by breaking into a filling station.

They picked the two owned by Charles Verill at the Oyster Bay Road intersection, and it is alleged, there piled upon the rear door, and carried away nearly everything they could lay their hands on.

Nelson Simpson, in the meantime, was walking along the Turnpike near Jericho, on his way to report the theft of his car, when police saw him saw the young men drive by in his automobile. Attracting the attention of a nearby police car, he told Patrolmen Albert Schorr and Joseph Damp of the affair.

The officers gave chase, but the boys refused to stop, and Damp pulled up ahead of them. While both cars were going fast more than 60 miles per hour, Schorr jumped from one car to another and grabbed the wheel of the boy's car. Just as he brought it to a stop, he fell from the running board to the pavement, suffering a dislocated shoulder. "In the meantime Ramf and I picked up and covered the quarter," with a revolver.

This would mean that he conducted a "palace" of business in the township and did not have to get a license, if it were not for the fact that the area in which he lives is zoned as a residential district only. Rogoza, however, contends that he carried on his business prior to 1930, when the district was changed from a business to a residential area, and therefore need not comply with the new regulation.

In addressing Mr. Rogoza, who appeared slightly bewildered by the nature of the case, Judge Morey said: "I am going to make everyone take one and if they don't and keep on peddling, I'm going to fine them or send them to jail. I haven't dismissed any of the cases and don't intend to."

The Farmingdale Civic Association, in an announcement, made early this week, declared that the members would support local athletic activities. The group feels that interest in activities is warranted by the attendant publicity and the benefit the community might obtain from the interest of out-of-town persons.

Major interest will be in baseball, the report indicates. While the local civic are basing their action on the activity of various Hicksville organizations and their support of the football champions, it is felt that baseball will offer itself more for recognition in Farmingdale.

The group feels that the interest of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce and the Businessmen's Association is indirectly responsible for the good showing made by that village's team.

Two or three nickels a day more than pays for a telephone in the home. Weigh the cost against what it saves and does for you.

How Much Does a Telephone Cost?

IT'S QUITE NATURAL to think that a family without a telephone saves the cost of it. But often they spend more than they think they save.

For instance, families without telephones may pay for calls from public telephones... fares for trips that are easily saved by a phone call... bills for illness due to needless exposure in bad weather... say nothing of the cost of probable pressing, cleaning and repairing of clothes.

And besides these money costs, a family with a telephone may save a lot in other ways. One of the big items is worry—worry about other members of the family when they are delayed returning home... worry about relatives and friends in other places... worry about the possibility of an emergency—sudden illness, fire, burglars, accidents.

And then, too, think of some of the other things a telephone brings them—talks with friends... news... invitations... their name in the Telephone Directory where friends and business opportunities can easily find them.

Why don't you learn more about this—come in and talk it over with us at any of our Business Offices.

Two or three nickels a day is all it costs to keep a phone in your home—at most, a nickel apiece for a family of three.

Hempstead's Model Home

Nassau Better Housing Show At Hempstead June 3 To 8

Home Of Cape Cod Design, Costing $8,500 With Site Will Be Main Award Of Event

Construction is proceeding along on Hempstead's model home under supervision of Mr. George Estabrook, Chairman of the Construction Committee. "Care Free Cottage" is the high spot of interest in the Better Housing Program and Exposition. The Better Housing Show will be held in the Hempstead Armory, June 3 to June 8, inclusive, for the purpose of stimulating interest in home ownership and home construction in Nassau County.

The house is being erected on a corner plot in the Duncan Estates, Hempstead. It is in the popular Cape Cod design, with six rooms including novel innovations, required by present day demands. The estimated cost is $8,500 including the site. "Care Free Cottage" will be given away as the main award at the Better Housing Show.

Plans were drawn by Messrs. M. R. Johns and William P. McCulloch, associated architects, and call for many modern features of construction and equipment. The Better Housing Committee accepted this design because it meets with public demand in the low price field, permitting a family of modest means to own a custom-built home, planned for utmost comfort, yet soundly constructed.

One will find the recessed entrance typical of early "Down East" heritage and compatible with the exterior design. The handsome fireplace adapted from the old "New England Inn" with its unique oven is prominently featured. This, together with the natural wood paneling, ceiling beam and appropriate wall paper, assures maximum homeliness.

Houston Will Meet Jobless

Monthly Meetings Will Be Held At Mineola, Director Says

Invitations will be sent to all organizations of the unemployed interested in the work of the Nassau County Emergency Relief Bureau asking them to send representatives to confer with Raymond W. Houston, acting executive director, once a month on matters pertaining to the unemployed of the county.

This plan has been adopted to allow for an exchange of ideas between the representatives of the local organizations and the Bureau. Complaints and suggestions will be received and the policies of the Bureau will be discussed and explained.

During the past month I have received more invitations to speak before clubs than I was able to accept," said Mr. Houston in announcing these plans. "Under the new plan we will be able to inform organization representatives of our policies and to form a closer contact with them."

The Bureau officials are unanimous for the policy whereby the public may be informed of the doings of the Relief Bureau and for this reason have decided on the above plan to achieve this purpose," concluded Mr. Houston.

Hall Seeks To Have Police Officials Give Vote Returns

(Special To The Township Press) Albany, February 27—Leonard W. Hall, of Mineola, who represents Nassau's Second Assembly District, has introduced a bill which provides that all election returns be given in each district to the police in charge so that all reports can be immediately relayed to county police headquarters in Mineola. The purpose of such a measure is to speed up and make more efficient the election returns and avoid former experience of the lengthy delay in a final complete list of ballots.

Modern construction features include streamline copper piping, concealed radiated, knotty pine wainscoting, rock wool insulation, oil burner, authentic period fixtures and wrought iron hardware.

Lehman Names Long Islanders To Committee

Group Will Arrange Plans For Conservation Anniversary

Long Island is well represented on the special committee appointed by Governor Lehman to arrange a program for celebrating New York's fifty years of conservation which will begin in May and extend throughout the summer and fall.

Long Islanders appointed to the committee are Henry L. DeForest, Cold Spring Harbor; Meade C. Dobson, Forest Hills; George B. Gerard, Huntington; Jerome V. Jerome, East Islip; Hon. Robert Moses, Babylon; State Senator Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., Douglaston; Mrs. Almeron W. Smith, Plandome; and Raymond H. Torrey, Hollis.

For the first time in the history of the development of conservation by the State of New York, Long Island is included in the conservation program. The State Conservation Department is now developing the 6,000 acre Camp Upton tract as a State demonstration forest and game preserve. More than 300 workers of the Civilian Conservation Corps have been engaged since last summer in improving this tract of land which has been lying idle since the Great War by cutting fire lanes, planting grain foods for bird and animal life, and is preparing to plant a large section in white pines and spruces. A game preserve will be set aside in this area with a certain amount of public shooting allowed in other areas.

It is planned to open the State's conservation celebration with a large dinner in New York City in May. This is to be followed by celebrations of appropriate character in various parts of the Adirondacks centering around Lake Placid.

Congressman Assails Income Tax Publicity

Bacon Asks Aid Of Rotarians In Pink Slip Fight

Congressman Robert Bacon's fight against the "pink slip" section of the income tax laws which provides for publicity for tax returns was carried on with new determination this week, as the congressman gained the support of the United States Chamber of Commerce and other business organizations throughout the country. Tuesday night he spoke at the Hotel Commodore in New York at an informal meeting in celebration of the thirtieth founding of the Rotary club.

"The publicity provision," he said, "is a governmental invasion of the private rights and security of the citizen. The effluvia will be used as government writs of assistance to snoopers."

The agitation for publicity, Mr. Bacon declared, "has been belied down in the cooking pots of the demagogues whose ulterior motives are not the public interest but class cleavage and the creation of class hatreds."

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Creation of the World.—This is one of a series of Bible pictures made by Matthew Merian, Seventeenth century engraver. It depicts the creation of the world as told in the first chapter of Genesis: "In the beginning upon the face of the deep. And the spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. And God said, 'Let there be light; and there was light.' The whole story of creation is told in less than 600 words. 'Dehida,' the Hebrew word in the accompanying print, takes the literal meaning of 'separation' or 'setting apart.' According to Hebrew scholars the word is not found in the Bible, but occurs in the post-Biblical Hebrew writing, such as the Talmud and the Cabala. In the scene reproduced it doubtless has a mystic significance.

Mrs. Harold Pattison and Mrs. Francis Pettie will be hostesses. Miss Lela Van Meter, Miss Barbara and Mrs. Moore in vocal and instrumental numbers. The St. Paul's Orchestra will also participate.

On Ash Wednesday there will be a service for Boys and Girls at 8 a. m. closing promptly at 8:25. At 10 a. m. there will be a service of the Holy Communion.

St. Hilary's will hold an all day session on Thursday with a hot luncheon at noon.

Every Friday evening during Lent there will be a service at 8 p. m. with a Guest Preacher. Friday, March 1, The Reverend Arthur R. Cummings, M. A. B. D. will have the sermon.

At 4 p. m. every Friday afternoon during Lent a Girl's Sewing Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Miner C. Hill on East Main Street.

Try a Want Ad—It Pays

May Consider Two Charters

At the head of the board of representatives would be a county president, who would be chosen by the entire electorate for a term of four years, at an annual salary not to exceed $12,000.

President Appellate Bureau Heads of assessors of seven members. Each representative would be paid $25 a meeting, his or her compensation not to exceed $1,200 a year. A vice-president of this board would be paid $6,000 a year.

Broad powers are proposed for the county president, subject to ratification by the board of representatives.

The county president could appoint a county treasurer, a county commissioner of public works, a county health commissioner, head of every part of the county. A department of taxation is set up under the county comptroller and the county board of representatives would fix the county tax rate.

"We have given the chief executive of the county a cabinet," said Justice Cuff today and make him responsible for the administration of every part of the county. He would appoint county heads as listed and approve of the county budget after it had been referred to the district representatives.

A department of taxation is set up under the county comptroller and the county board of representatives would fix the county tax rate.

The charter guards against too many county offices and officers," Justice Cuff added. "All requests for additional officers and employees would have to be made to the county president."

Justice Cuff explained that the county board of representatives would have a clerk and an official reporter, who would take stenographic records of the meetings. The clerk would prepare a legislative calendar and all sessions would be public. Means for mailing the calendar are provided. The president would be empowered to inquire into every department of the county, to engage an attorney and a stenographer to take testimony when he sat in an investigative role. The charter provides that the county president and vice-president could be removed only by the Governor.

Seven on Board of Assessors One of the desirable parts of the charter, according to Justice Cuff, is that which provides for the appointment of a county board of assessors of seven members, one from each representative district, who would serve seven years each at a salary not to exceed $5,000 a year each.

Another novel feature is that designed to stop "ticket fixing" in cases of motor vehicle law violations. The proposed charter provides that a policeman making out a summons for a motor violation must make it out in 10 minutes and within 15 minutes must telephone the name and details to his immediate superior and telephone the facts to headquarters.

This Justice Cuff said, would stop "ticket fixing" because of the double check on the matter.

The department of purchase would be a new part of the county governmental machinery, through that department everything in the county would have to be contracted for and delivered. Even highway contracts would have to be awarded by this department.

In the judicial section a new court system is provided, consisting of seven judges, who would be elected for a six-year term, each from each of the representative districts. They would rotate and would be known as district judges. Each would receive $8,000 a year.

The county president, or executive, would appoint one of the justices as a presiding judge. This court would take the place of justices of the peace whose offices would be abolished.

The charter provides for the establishment of a county civil service body and a referendum vote in cases where villages might wish to turn over its police departments to the county or where a village or city might decide to become a part of the county government.

Members of the Bi-Partisan Charter Commission in addition to Chairman Cuff are: C. Walter Randall, of Garden City; William S. Patis, of Hewlett; Ferdinand I. Haber, of Cedarhurst; Mrs. Jeanne Marion Doane, of Oceanside, and William Stratton, of Malverne.

Birdmen Take Flight; League Ruling Dislike

Manhasset Team Forfeits Amateur Tilt To Oyster Bay A. A.; Objects To Decision Of Referee And Leaves Floor Mid-Play Of F.

The Manhasst Red Birds after five minutes of play refused to abide by a decision of League Referee Jaehne on Saturday night and stalked off the floor for the locker room, amid a tremendous roar of disapproval from a capacity house in the Oyster Bay A. A. was given a forfeit victory at the Oyster Bay high school court.

Mike Marmorale and "Jabbo" Jablonsky became tangled up while battling for possession of the ball and the latter was accused of illegal use of the hands and objected strenuously.

his decision the Red Bird contingent took flight from the Bayviewatorium. They refused to continue play unless Jablonsky was permitted to remain on the floor.

Game Shortlived

The game promised to be a thriller but was shortlived. Ray Monahan and Mike Marmorek opened the scoring in the first few minutes.

Manhasset came through with a foul apiece. But the Bay pair retaliated with two flips from the penalty stripe. Flance tossed in two throws for the final three points.

Previously the Red Birds had knocked off the Mineola A. A. and the Glen Cove Aces in a surprise return to form and they were considered a good chance to turn the tables on the Donoghuenen or at least to show them that they were not invincible.
