Paul Paine, an addition to the town of Hicksville,
has been elected to the Nassau Philharmonic
society Saturday morning.
Only 20 years old, but is an accomplished pianist, and has been featured in many other places.

Tainter To Go July 1; Board Is Unanimous

Colonel P. Stone Tainter, tax map expert of Par Hill, N. J., whose employment by the Town Board at Hicksville of $250 a month has been bitterly protested by civic groups, will leave the town's service as of July 1. The Town Board decided in executive session on Tuesday.

After the meeting it was reported that work on the town tax map
would be so far advanced by July 1
that Colonel Tainter's services could be dispensed with, without embarrassment to the project. It is after that time, it becomes necessary for expert advice, he has agreed to work on a day to day basis of remuneration. No one will be employed to take his place.

In spite of the fact that Councilman Howard C. Smith last week warned Chalmers Wood, president of the Non Partisan Civic Association, assuring him that he would use
"what influence I have to maintain Colonel Tainter in office," the board voted unanimously to part with the colonel's services at the end of June. The resolution was offered by Councilman John W. Anderson with Councilman Smith's support.

The only objection offered to Colonel Tainter was that he did not reside in Hicksville.

Movies Allowed
Oyster Bay children who are fond of movies and church-going found a friend in Dr. Walter F. Stillger, who has been elected to the board of the Visiting Nurse Association, disapproving both, was received. The letter, signed by Elizabeth G.
Thomson, secretary of the association, suggested that the board from moving picture houses and churches while the present serious fever epidemic lasts. The seriousness of conditions, the letter said, made it desirable to take such steps
to arrest it.

Dr. Stillger pool-poohed the idea of attempting any such thing, saying that they were legal grounds to enforce such an order. The only practicable means of ending the epidemic, he said, was to secure the cooperation of the parents and nurses. He said this was being done and the epidemic was now on the wane.

Improper Plates
Cause Of $5 Fine

The scheme whereby Henry Larsen of Woodbury Road, Woodbury, hoped to operate his two automobiles
with the same pair of registration plates failed on Friday.
When the two cars were spotted on the Jericho Turnpike by Patrolman James Looney of the Second Precinct.

Larsen put one plate of the pair
on one car and the other on the other.
He pleaded guilty to improper registration, and was fined five dollars
Tuesday by Justice Joseph P.
Leibuecher in the Hicksville Court.

Popularity Of Dr. Adolph Rave, Hicksville Physician, Disturbs Rochman; Trial
Result Of Accident

Because most of the panel chosen for the trial were intimate friends
of either Dr. Adolph G. Rave, Hicksville school physician, or Arthur J. Ferro, local realtor, Mr.
Ferro's suit against Dr. Rave has to be heard before a jury of four Tuesday morning in the Hicksville court. The case, an outcome of an automobile accident last March was finally decided in favor of the defendant, but no damages
were awarded.

Morris Rochman, Hicksville attorney, represented Ferro, and on questioning the jury selected by Justice Joseph P. Leibuecher found that most of them were close friends of Dr. Rave. He asked that they be excused, with the result that the 12 men called on the panel declined down to four.
Judge Leibuecher ruled that four men were enough, so the trial proceeded with two empty jury seats.

Both Mr. Ferro and Dr. Rave put in claims against each other, the doctor declaring that in the accident his car had been damaged
to the amount of $46.80, and Dr.
Ferro saying that damages to his fender and running board amounted to $56.70. The accident occurred on March 2 after the two automobiles were in collision on West Main Street in Hicksville.
According to testimony at the trial, Dr. Rave was struck by Ferro automobile while it was pulling away from the curb on East
Main Street near the Jerusalem Avenue intersection. Dr. Rave confessed that Ferro did not look to see if another car was coming, and was therefore at fault.
Ferro said that Dr. Rave was traveling along West Main Street at a high rate of speed and was driving recklessly.

More than 250 plant slips, to-

were sent to the veterans of the North-bers of the Junior Red Cross Council at the Hicksville High School.

The favors were made by the students in the East and Nicholas

The monthly program of the council was presented on Thursday evening at Jones Institute, when an Easter entertainment was given before inmates of the home. The High School orchestra played, and Henry Schneider, Amy Miller, Elsie Mc-Millen and members of the First Grade presented programs. Birthday cards drawn by the students, and candies made by students in the Home Economics class were also distributed. The candy was made under the direction of Miss Mildred Clarke.

Garrett Korffken, delegate to the

Nassau Legislators Return From Difficult Session

Democrats Pass Nassau County Legislation Over Vigorous Protests Of Local Representatives

By HOLLISTER STURGES, JR.
(Special to the Township Press)
ALBANY, April 18.—When from about fortnight in the state capitol and fighting a lost cause in defense of home rule, Nassau County's three legislators are returning home today from what is regarded as one of the hardest sessions in the annals of state history.
Each of the three representatives has made an excellent showing in the defense of the bills that were introduced to change the political complexion of the county, but opponents from the higher-ups bound Democratic members to vote for these measures, regardless of what personal thoughts might have otherwise dictated.

In the Senate the job of self-defense rested with the veteran,
"Uncle" George L. Thompson,
whose district is composed of Nassau and Suffolk Counties. The Lower House witnessed verbal battles by Assemblymen Leonard W.
Hart and Harold P. Herman.
Not in a single instance did the opponents of the bills win over a Democratic vote, so powerful was the control of the majority representatives. The bills were introduced from Washington and the entire 15-point program to strangle Nassau County was that "rigid gold stamp collector. Postmaster James A. Foley."

uable suggestions and ideas will be available for the asking, as admission will be free, and information as to how home repairs may be financed will be given. The committee is interested in taking action if the
are asked to get in touch with Mr.
Talarfaro or any other member of the committee.

Mr. Talarfaro, in reporting on the activities of his committee, said that the Odd Fellows Hall had finally been decided upon because of its size and accessibility. Use of the building will be free, and a small sum will be spent on repairing the floor and decorating the main hall.
The committee agreed that $500
would be needed to finance the exposition as light, insurance, advertising, and other expenses would total that amount. A grand prize, a refrigerator donated at cost by a local furniture store, will be awarded on the final night of the show, Saturday, and three smaller prizes will be given away each evening.

The exposition will be held to encourage remodeling and repairing Hicksville homes by borrowing material through the Federal Housing Act.
By this measure it is possible to borrow from $10 to $500 from other two Hicksville banks, or any other bank, providing that the necessary credit requirements are met.
The loan must not be paid back
for two or three years.

Attending the meeting last night
were Dr. Walter Stillger, chairman of the Hicksville Housing Committee, J. Fred Murphy, secretary, and Herbert Roebach, William Kuntz,
Leslie Terrill, Martin Oster, James Redfern, William E. Koutersky, Fun-
dation, Anthony C. Ocker, Leo Svanndick, Charles T. Lyon,

Pinches Torn Jugular
During Wild Ride
To Hospital

The bull-dog persistence of Patrolman Ralph Murphy, Glen Avenue, Glen Head, saved the life of a crash victim Sunday when he used his fingers as a tourniquet to shut off the flow of blood from a torn artery in the neck of a man who had been injured in a crash on the Satanic while being taken to the Nassau Hospital at Mineola.

The accident occurred at the corner of Woodbury Road and Jericho Turnpike. Felix Wencelawski, 35, of Mets Place, Williston Park, was driving from the wreckage of his car after it had been involved in a collision with a truck. He was injured when he was thrown from the car, and was taken to the hospital.

Wencelawski was covered with blood
when he was taken to the hospital.
He had a deep laceration in his neck, and a second laceration in his arm. A police officer, carried the victim to a police car, applied his finger-grip to the severed jugular, and sped him to the hospital.

Wencelawski will recover, doctors say.

PAC 8445

Designed in Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 38 requires 5 1/4 yards with short sleeves and 1 1/2 yards contrasting.

Street or Home
Pattern 8445—In looking for a new and practical pattern for your spring frock of printed fabric, the wearability not only for now under one's coat, but also for later on without a coat must be considered. The design sketched has all of the new style features for spring 1936. The high square neckline set off by the pleated jabot is new, being coming and easy to make. All sleeves are excellent for street wear and the same pattern may be used in cotton materials for a house frock—by making short sleeves—the pattern for which is given.

Long pants in skirt front and back, end in double pleats for grace and fullness and have a slenderizing effect.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

THE COTTAGE OR THE MANSION

A JUDGE went to a very poor man's home a court battle between the object of a boy who loved his "unsuccessful" father and his wealthy grandmother.

A poor man's home in preference to a half million dollar estate! A reader sends us the news item with the comment that "The judge seems to forget that money is a nice thing to have. There will have to be a lot in his father's house to make up for what this boy is losing. What do you think about it, Jean Newton?"

I think that not all poor homes are good homes, and not all rich homes are bad. Doubtless the possession of considerable money has speeded young people on the downward path. On the other hand, the lack of anything but difficulties for a start in life is not always the secret of success. It takes the strongest stuff to carve opportunity out of obstacles. The unknown catastrophes of frustrated lives would reveal many a worthwhile ambition and ability trampled in the crush of the struggle for existence.

I agree with our reader that there will have to be something in that poor man's cottage to compensate the growing boy for the advantages of which he is being deprived. If it is a case of love and money, the cottage must displace the mansion, then by all means the cottage has it. If in that cottage the boy has the guiding hand of a wise parent as against an over-protective woman in the mansion, the cottage has it. If in the cottage he has just begun struggle to bring out the best in him, if he finds there ambition, rest in life, as against stagnation, boredom, lack of objective to the mansion, then by all means the cottage has it. The question is what the boy would find in the cottage or the mansion.

Border Hopping

By CHARLES GORDON

© Bill Sydeman—WNU Service.

THE long, mustard-green arm of the customs officer beckoned vigorously. "Here, you! To the line. Mexico. Don't look that other gate."

The bronzed young man looked up quickly from his preoccupied study of a pair of very blue eyes behind a pair of aviator goggles.

"Darling, you mustn't." The girl who owned the very blue eyes moved her slim young body closer to him. "He'll probably remember you."

"When a start my run running?" he teased her. "How do you like being a bootlegger's bride, Sally?"

"Sally gazed at him adoringly. "How exciting everything looks! He'll surely have an eagle hand at the blarney Nogales saloon fronts. 'Can't we stop and snoot a little, honey?' he can promote the peach brandy for your father."

"I hope he appreciates our risk-taking life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for a little brandy for him. He's swung his long legs over the roadside water strider and lifted Sally bodily up on the sidewalk."

"Here's the Old Jail cafe. I've heard a lot about it."

"What a perfect hole of a place, Herb," Sally cried. "To look at those walls and that quaint ceiling, look like they were cut out of solid rock—like a real dungeon." She shivered ostentatiously.

"By Jove," Herb grinned expansively. "I know how the count, Monte Cristo felt. I never really appreciated his feelings before. Sally laughed appreciatively, and Herb, inspired with the countess of the Countess de Cacao and an attractive and attentive audience, enlarged upon his theme. "Sally, some one say a chap who is inattentive and inattentive could make a real place out of this. Waiters wearing penitentiary stripes. Some of them in hats and chains in the hallways. The waiter carrying a rifle like a jail guard, the orchestra playing behind bars—"

"I can serve with you about the orchestra," Herb roared. "From routing her line Sally looked up gaily at the orchestra that sat pecking sleepily at lay straggles. "But let's make a jail break out of here."

Sally's laughter into the hot sun, while Herb paused in earnest consultation with the bartender. Presently he joined her at the bar. "Seems like a good-sized joint, Herb," Sally speculatively measured the bottle that he displayed to her. "What'll we do with it?"

"We'll drink it," Herb replied. "It's across the border and mail it to dad before we do." Herb slipped the bottle under his arm in back and beneath his belt.

They fell in behind a string of cars headed across the international line, waiting for the customary search. Herb tensed himself for a cigarette, while Sally, leaning eagerly over the side of the car, watched the progress of the inspection.

Suddenly she gave a stilled little shriek. "Herb, look. That officer who scooted at a little while ago is taking a bottle of liquor from that car. What will happen to those?"

"Oh, not much," Herb was nonchalant. "Maybe a warning or something like that."

But Sally was not satisfied. She beckoned to a young officer. "What will happen to those people who take liquor?"

"They'll be tried to appear merely curious."

"Can't say, lady," the officer grinned amiably. "Maybe a fine. Maybe a couple of years."

"Take their car for one little bottle of liquor?"

"A plot is as bad as a carload to Uncle Sam."

Sally thanked him bleakly, as he turned to join the other officers that swarmed over a despoiled old car just ahead of them, driven by a very black negro. (The officer went directly to the left front wheel, wrench in hand, and removed the hub cap, taking out two small white rectangles which he referred to as dope.)

The old negro began declaiming vehemently that the presence of the dope was a complete disgrace to him, but notwithstanding was vigorously seized and led away.

"Herb," Sally whispered hoarsely. "That officer must be psychic. What chance have we?"

"All right, you're next." The unsmiling officer eyed their car with what seemed to Sally a menacing look, a look that boded no good for smugglers of peach brandy.

Painfully Sally forced a smile. "How clever of you to catch that colored man," and gathering courage at the officer's male susceptibility to flattery, "I don't see how you knew that dope was under his hub cap."

"Well," the officer rested one foot on their running board. "We had a tip about that guy. We pay for tips like that. This one was given in by the fellow who sold the stuff to him down in Sonora. He saw the coin hide it under the hub cap. . . . Being anything wrong?"

"Only what's under my belt," Herb said literally. "O. K.," the officer smiled broadly, misinterpreting Herb's pun. "You can bring across all you carry—under your belt. Go ahead."

How's Your Mayonnaise?

How do you know many variations you can concoct to try out on your new spring salads? The thing to do is to learn a good standard recipe and then change it to suit the mood of our salads. You can even use it as the basis for hot sauces. Mayonnaise, by the way is never cooked—if you cook it, it becomes a salad dressing.

For a really good mayonnaise try the following recipe. You'll need: 1 whole egg, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/8 teaspoon paprika, dash of cayenne, 2 cups Maida, dash and 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 cup vinegar.

Break the egg into a bowl, add the dry ingredients and 1/2 cup vinegar. Beat well. Add 1/2 cup Maida by tablespoons, beating continuously. The mixture will be thick and the rest of the Maida can be added 1/4 cup at a time. Beat hard after each addition. Be sure the oil has been thoroughly churned. Beat in the lemon juice, or vinegar if you like it better, for about 10 minutes. This makes one pint of mayonnaise.

Something Brand New
Now, if you want something brand new in a dressing, here's a recipe for mayonnaise. You'll need 2 ripe bananas and 2 cups of mayonnaise.

Slice or break ripe bananas into a medium sized strainer. Press through the strainer with a spoon, or beat the sliced bananas with a rotary egg beater until creamy. Add to the mayonnaise and whip until smooth.

A hot mayonnaise to serve with vegetables is made by stirring 2 tablespoons flour into 2 tablespoons

SEMININE FIGURE RETURNS TO NORMAL
Styles Designed for Shape as It Should Be.

Back to normal is the feminine shape. Fashions are designed for the figure that is as it should be. Those ready darlings who cast a shadow of broomstick proportions are no longer envied. They're lapped up their cream like so many kittens and they're wolfing down their cereals in the morning.

Adipose subcutaneous is no more popular than it has ever been, but bones must be neatly padded, the feminine anatomy a harmonious combination of lines and natural curves.

How is the lightweight going to chuck the boyish shape, be womanly looking? She must put on those exercises that produce a high chest and small, lifted rounded breasts. Deep breathing will help, but calisthenics that give hand pulls on muscles will prove a speedier method of expansion.

QUILTED FABRICS

CANDIES make a delicious garnish for simple desserts, and save the time necessary for preparing more elaborate ones. A bit of chocolate or maple fudge crumbled over ice cream, custard pudding, custard omelette, makes an otherwise plain dessert very stylish.

To make an old dust mop practically as good as new put a large tablespoonful of concentrated lye in a pail half full of boiling water and let the mop boil in it. Rinse thoroughly several times and put in the sun to dry.

One or two tablespoonsful of kerosene put into the boiler with the clothes will whiten them.

Begin early and start right with the clothes. It is especially important if it is to be strong, well and an efficient citizen.

The normal child eats with rest the food placed before him. Dangling over food or refusing to eat it will need hard work to overcome. It is far easier to form good habits than to break bad ones.

If the child is accustomed to a variety of foods very early, before he begins to form likes and dislikes, he will like and eat everything as he grows older.

It is the very exceptional child who is made ill by certain foods; of course, one must eliminate them if it is found to be a real case. Some children have illness and nausea to gain attention and something refused.

One's method of dealing with the food question must vary with the child. It will work with some to insist on the food on the plate being eaten before he has dessert. If not hungry enough to eat the food on the plate he is not hungry enough for dessert. A word of praise, a reward, often brings the desired result. As children are people, they should be treated as such. No two individuals enjoy exactly the same things, so we must be tactful in dealing with little people.

It is wise to look over the supply shelf often and keep it well filled, for with the holiday season, many unexpected calls may be made upon it.

A novel use of the quilted fabric is shown in this new spring ensemble. The crepe jacket is quilted with the design of the printed crepe frock. This unique method of quilting plain material in the same patterning of the print with which it is made up is being featured in a big way this season. Designers are also doing wonderfully clever things with quilting in a trimming way. Dresses and coats have quilted collars and cuffs and revers and if not quilted then intricate and delightful stitching is lavishly employed.

GRAY ACCESSORIES TONE COLOR SCHEME

New Idea Is Popular With the Younger Set.

Just to be different, the younger set has taken up gray accessories to don with vivid costumes.

The effect, it must be admitted, is both effective and new, and also serves as a restraining note in the color of color now under way in the style parade.

A striking example seen recently was a vivid raspberry red tweed suit, trimmed in gray knickerbocker, with gray belt, shoes, gloves and handbag in suede.

Another nicely worked out color scheme used slate gray suede in accessories with a bright green top of tweed. The trimmed sports hat was of gray felt, the handkerchiefs, walking shoes and handbag of gray suede, and the scarf of soft gray flannel.

Accessories are showing originality and dash these days.

A new idea in the accessory line is to have a matching waistcoat and scarf of bright plaid woven to wear with a solid-color tweed suit.

Look around you. On all sides you see ladies—lovely ladies. Gone are the flappers, the boyish look, the bored air of ennui. Complexions are all aglow with a newer loveliness. A saner and healthier attitude is being taken on the subject of the figure. Extreme thinness is not stressed to the extent it was a year or two ago. Figures are taking on the rounded curves, the graceful, slender line that feminine figures should naturally wear. And robes have attracted themselves to her. She has not suffered by the long absence. And we women—what a welcome we are giving her! Absence does make the heart grow fonder, doesn't it?

Beauty Talks

FEMININITY SUPREME

WE ALL remember the post-war days. Feminine faces suddenly taking on a mannish straightness. Feminine locks snipped shorter and shorter. Then the ridiculous extremes in eyebrows. First a heavy, unruly mass, then the pencil-like expressionless arch. And make-up applied too boldly and heavily or completely omitted. Lips shaped so unnaturally and rouged so highly that they smacked of boldness bordering on vulgarity. Too much—entirely too much of the extreme, the eccentric, the masculine. Femininity was locked in fashion's attic closet. The beauty-wise mourned her. To themselves seemed too long lost.

Now fashion has released her once more. And our new-found femininity is lovelier than ever. No color robe have attracted themselves to her. She has not suffered by the long absence. And we women—what a welcome we are giving her! Absence does make the heart grow fonder, doesn't it?

Figures are taking on the rounded curves, the graceful, slender line that feminine figures should naturally wear. And robes have attracted themselves to her. She has not suffered by the long absence. And we women—what a welcome we are giving her! Absence does make the heart grow fonder, doesn't it?

Look around you. On all sides you see ladies—lovely ladies. Gone are the flappers, the boyish look, the bored air of ennui. Complexions are all aglow with a newer loveliness. A saner and healthier attitude is being taken on the subject of the figure. Extreme thinness is not stressed to the extent it was a year or two ago. ## REGENT THEATRE

WEST POINT OF THE AIR—Wallace Beery as the gruff, soft-hearted, of "non-com" of Uncle Sam's flying forces is the star of this film, which brings back "Hells Divers" thrills. This thriller was made to order for Beery, giving him one of the best and most lovable roles he has ever portrayed. Others in the cast include Maureen O'Sullivan, Robert Young, James Gleason, and Robert Livingston. (Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.)

THE UNWELCOME STRANGER—Jack Holt and Mona Barrie are again teamed in this film, which stars Holt as the owner of a stock farm who "believes" orphans are his "lunx." Miss Barrie portrays the lovely young wife who humors her husband in his superstitious belief that his happiness is at stake. (Seal, clever boy artist, is featured as the orphaned orphan who causes complications. (Thursday, Friday and Saturday.)

WHILE THE PATIENT SLEEPS—This second "Clara Climb" mystery features Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee. The story revolves about attempts to wrest a fortune from a rich relict, which results in two murders. The action is fast and furious, winding up in a most surprising climax. (Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.)

THE IRON DUKE—This film finally proves that the British put out his hand as the latter, when he wants to, can really produce great motion pictures. George Arliss, as the Duke of Wellington, and the plot of course centers around his campaign against Napoleon. Battle scenes abound in the film, which critics agree is one of the best of the year. (Friday and Saturday.)

MURDER IN THE CLOUDS—Mary Astor and Lyle Talbot perform in this film, which as the title may indicate, centers around a murder in an air liner. The first of what we suppose to be a long line of similar films, it is an exciting novelty.

THEIR BIG MOMENT—Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville again join forces in this picture, which is supposed to be just as funny as their other successes. Dizzy and Daffy Dean also appear on the program. (Sunday and Monday.)

AGE OF INNOCENCE—Edith Wharton's famous novel comes to the screen. The doings of the not so gay Nineties are the theme of the film, which brings back Irene Dunne, a gay young divorcee. (Tuesday only.)

SEQUOIA—One of the outstanding pictures of the year, this lovely picture of animal life may be said to be one of the most beautiful ever filmed. Close ups of wild animals abound, and Jean Parker is the star. (Wednesday and Thursday.)

GRAND OLD GIRL—May Robson plays the part of an aged high school principal who is relieved of her job, only to have her old pupil, now the president of the United States, come to her rescue. Rather sentimental, but interesting and amusing nevertheless. (Wednesday and Thursday.)

WALLACE BEERY in "West Point of the Air" (Sun. to Tues. April 21 to 23)

BAY SHORE

LIFE BEGINS AT 40—Critics say this film easily surpasses Will Rogers' other favorites. Rogers portrays a double-faced, tender-hearted country editor who proves that the years after forty are the best and goes in quest of the fountain of youth. The film relates the romance of a young school teacher and a youth "road" to prison. The shrewd editor brings to light facts that clear the boy, and stir up a hornets nest of fun during the process. (Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.)

NAUGHTY MARIETTA—Victor Herbert's great musical comes to the screen. This spectacular romance of crooks days in New Orleans stars the lovely Jeanette MacDonald, glamorous heroine of "The Merry Widow," and Nelson Eddy, eminent American operatic baritone. The dramatic side of the adventure, thrills and perils of the period, is stressed as a thundering background for the glamorous music.

Mrs. Hodenpyl Dies Tuesday

Widow Of Locust Valley Man Was Active Relief Worker

Mrs. Annie Preusser Hodenpyl, widow of Anton G. Hodenpyl, who died on April 23, 1933, in Richmond, Va. while on his way from Florida to his Locust Valley home died of pneumonia Tuesday morning at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Hodenpyl was prominent as a charity worker and an active member of the Red Cross and local health and relief organizations. During the summer months she frequently opened her home and large gardens to the public, the proceeds from such affairs being donated to charity organizations. At many of these functions she would personally greet the visitors.

Mrs. Hodenpyl is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Hermit Reynolds and Mrs. Harold L. Sippy, and one nephew, Carl Breuer, vice-consul at Port-au-Prince, Haiti. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Bishop Frank DuMoulin will be in charge of the service. Burial will be made in the Locust Valley Cemetery.

Blackjack Owner Jailed After Old Feud Flares Up

"Everything Quiet?" Captain Hurley Asks Cop, Then Lends Hand As South Street Quarrel Reaches Audrey Avenue

After a long standing between Captain Hurley and Patrolman Newman saw Testa running toward them with Galato in hot pursuit. Thinking that Galato might have some very good reason for wanting to stop Testa, the captain put out his hand as the latter, who was a search of Galato as though he had been equipped with four-wheel brakes. Newman, in the meantime, took care of Galato. They were taken to the police both, where a search of Galato revealed a blackjack. The night he said, had started in the Village Tavern on South Street.

Galato, a powerfully built man who looked capable of subduing the much older Testa without a blackjack, was arraigned before Judge Augustus Mery on Sunday charged with possession of a dangerous weapon. He was held for action of the grand jury.

These FARMERS USE THEIR TELEPHONES

To Save Time and Trouble and to Make More Money from Their Farm Business

BECAUSE they have a telephone to help them, these neighbors of yours are able to plan their farm work better, take advantage of changes in market prices, and in general do a better farming job than if they had to rely on slower methods of getting things done.

JOHN ETTLING, truck farmer at Slingerlands, sells his produce on the Capital District Market and to local storekeepers. The latter always telephone their orders for the next day's delivery. In this way he always knows what part of the load is sold before it leaves the farm and can plan ahead of time to dispose of the remainder on the market.

W. H. FRISBIE, fruit and dairy farmer with 240 acres south of Westport, uses his telephone a lot in managing his farm efficiently. When interviewed last Fall he said: "Just yesterday I called my tractor dealer at Wadhams for several valves and gaskets and saved myself the time and expense of going out my way to get them. To get help the telephone saves me time. A few weeks ago I needed a man, and knowing a good one available at Bolton Landing 50 miles away, I called him at noon. That same evening he was here on the job. In sickness also the telephone affords a sense of security not to be reckoned in dollars and cents. Recently my daughter was ill with chicken pox, and it certainly was handy to be able to keep in touch with the doctor at that time."

Certainly a telephone helps out with farm work, but it also has other values on the farm. All the time it is on duty to protect you and your family should an accident or a sudden illness occur. All the time too it helps keep you and your family in touch with things—the neighbors, the town, or friends and relatives at a distance. Ask yourself, can you really afford to do without a telephone.

Lack Of Ordinary Caution Principal Reason, Traffic Survey Reports—Warns Of 'Right Angle' Collisions

Lack of ordinary precaution on the part of automobile drivers is blamed for a large percentage of auto accidents in an accident survey issued today by the Nassau County Traffic Survey. In a total of 1466 accidents since January 1, 1935, there have been 20 killed and 561 injured. An analysis of these accidents shows the high percentage of careless driving indicated by motorists with serious consequences.

The largest single cause of accidents is the right angle collision. Three persons have been killed and sixty-eight injured in 175 accidents of this nature. Speeding and failure to slow down for intersections, disregard of traffic signals and sign, and purposeful violations of laws and good driving practices, are primary causes of these accidents.

Sidewalking is responsible for two deaths and injury to seventy-nine persons. Two accidents of this group involved the sidwiping of parked vehicles, a sure proof of inattention on the part of the driver.

Tax Record 100 Per Cent, Harold Simonson Reports

One hundred per cent collection of taxes in the village of Old Brookville was announced this week by Harold Simonson, village treasurer. This record is particularly impressive, officials point out, in view of the difficulties experienced by other communities in collecting on their current tax levies.

Old Brookville has an assessed valuation of $4,000,000 despite the fact that three square miles of the village occupies. Practically all the property, however, contains large estates.

At a meeting last week Louis J. Demuth was appointed police commissioner. He will fill the unexpired term of P. Ernie Wood, who was elected village trustee last month.

At first night on Broadway an occasional huzrah and cheer is supplementing the usual polite applause these days.

Together nine pedestrians have been killed and 144 injured since the beginning of the year.

Jericho Man Re-views 6,000 Banks In One Year

James B. Alley, corporation lawyer whose home is in Jericho, has been appointed general counsel of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, according to reports from Washington last week. Mr. Alley directed the capitalization and reorganization of 6,000 banks in less than a year.

Mr. Alley has been a resident of Nassau County for the past 16 years, having moved to Malverne from New York City in 1919. He lived in that village until 1928, when he established residence at his present home in Jericho. Although the new head of the finance unit's legal staff has spent considerable time in Manhattan and other sections of the county during this time he has always maintained his legal residence in Nassau.

Mr. Alley became a member of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as a counsel in August, 1932, assuming at that time charge of the department handling matters involving the reorganization of the banks. He gained a reputation for speed in straightening out these problems and in February of this year was sent to represent the corporation in Detroit at the time of the banking crisis in that city.

Upon completion of his duties in Detroit, subsequent to the organization of the National Bank of Detroit which was capitalized through funds of the Reconstruction Corporation and the General Motors Corporation, Mr. Alley returned to Washington, D. C. and was immediately entrusted with su-

Subject advertisements begin to appear in New York want-ad sections this time of year, when Manhattanites plan on getting out of town for the summer.

Boat yards in Brooklyn, City Island and up on the Harlem River get busy "tinting" the yachts of the wealthy and new money for the summer sailing season. Roller skates buff down sidewalks and summer rains are forecast by the April showers.

SIDE LINES

By RICHARD HARKNEY

(The kid brother with an ardent desire to become a reporter finally persuaded the writer to turn over the column to him for a week and hope for the best. The other half of the family got busy and hunted up some paper and you are now left to his mercy.)

Hi folks! This is me pinch hittin' for that punk reporter brother of mine. Now I can tell all the stuff he does to fool you people. He writes this column of his just to fill up space and boy how he fills it up! Sometimes I wonder how he gets away with such tripe. He don't know what I'm writing because he left on a very important assignment and I'm rushing through this and I'm going to give it to the linetype operator so's it will be set up in type before he comes back and then will be surprised when he reads his own column (you know he reads his own stuff over and over again after every issue and I can just see him saying "Boy am I good!" But this time he won't think he's so good.

I been waiting a long time to get even with him and this is my opportunity. I wanted to tell you about me going out for track at Roslyn high school. I ain't so hot in Latin but you order see me run around that track. I went out for Varsity baseball but they called me "sonny" so I got mad and quit. They ought to know that I'm almost fifteen years old and wear long pants even though in track I wear those short little things. This writing for a newspaper is simpler than I thought it would be. Here I am the sports editor of a column as that big cheese of a writer can write. Oh boy! Come to think of it will he be mad when he sees what I done to his column!

I bet tho that he ain't on an important assignment. That's his usual excuse when he goes to see his girl. She's kinda nice, in fact awfully nice, but just the same he order keep his mind on his work. He left with his hair combed for a change so I guess he really is going to see her. I bet I ain't ever going to get so silly over no dame. I could be real mean and tell her name but he'd probably squeal he'd about the time I played spin the bottle at a party. Then would the fellows raze me! You can usually tell when he's got a date because he rushes around and pushes me and the rest of the family out of his way. He swipes my tie pin, uses my shoe polish and then crabs about the tie I took while he wasn't looking.

This is supposed to be sports column so I guess I better get down to sports. The baseball season opened this week officially but if you ask me it was a pretty cold opening. I even showed late Tuesday night. But me and the Williston Alkayents baseball team which I'm the manager of started right on the dot. I hit a homer the first time up and broke the bat so we had to call off the game until we can raise enough in our treasury to buy another one. If any of you fellows has an extra bat you don't want then we would appreciate very much if you would give it to us Alkayents. We won the Goodrich Street championship last year.

I just found this in THINGS I PROMISED NOT TO TELL so I guess I'll write them down just as they are. It says "Where did Lucky go after one of those dances?" (I wonder what could mean by that) . . . It also says "What coach of a Great Neck institution is very fond of angel cake?" . . . Then further down it says "Why did Doc Waters of Oyster Bay resign as manager of the A. A. football team?"

He has some NOTES ON A REPORTER'S CUFF so I guess I'll do him a favor and run them. This says "Phil Ruggiero, star athlete and Captain of St. Michael's school basketball team, will probably play short stop for the Great Neck A. C. team. . . . Then he has scribbled "Thank George Knottles." I can't figure it out but I'll let it go.

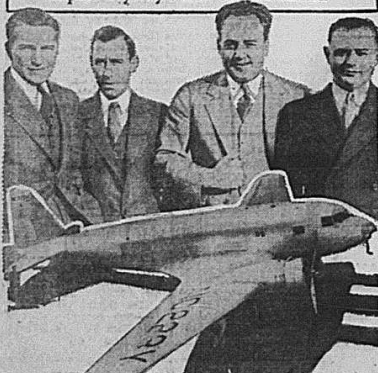

Well this is all I can think of for now. How about you people writing in and saying I'm better than my brother (the big stiff) and maybe I'll gyp him out of a job. Then I'll tell him where to get off. Goodbye.

P. S.—I forgot to tell you that another note scribbled says: "There are prospects of a colored A. A. team in Oyster Bay. The organization of such a team is headed by George Marshall, Bob Hall and George "Pumpkin" Farrell.

Reading this column over I think it's a wow. I bet the publisher sees it and hires me on account of because I could do this job just as good. For a while I thought it might be hard but I see where my brother has it easy as anything.

I want to be a reporter and if enough of you write in and tell them how good I am they ought to hire me. So long.

Bushwicks Take on Another Formidable Foe at Dexter Pk.

Woodhaven Sluggers Thirst For Victory Anent After Tasting Triumph In Opening Games

The Bushwicks, founding into form, take on another top-line opponent in the main attraction of a doubleheader at Dexter Park. The rival is the Chester Club of Pennsylvania and Chester comes here with the reputation of a tough ball club to beat. The first game of the doubleheader sends St. John's College against Providence College. The Bushwicks will start Chas. Perkins, ex-Dodger, to match Lefty Phil Wadner, star of the Chester. Perkins' big league experience covers several seasons with the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Nationals. Perkins is hitting his stride with warmer weather and will be armed to give the Bushwicks another victory.

Weinert has a strong club behind him which old timers at Dexter Park will recognize as containing many familiar faces. Bill Maitland, third baseman, who formerly played with the Bushwicks in the time of Eddie Gerner, is one and Jimmy Eberia, veteran left fielder is another.

The Chesters were once a favorite at Dexter Park and often were brought back as many as eight Sundays a year. Their rivalry with the Bushwicks is one of the oldest in the books.

The official opening at Dexter Park will take place next week with the New York Black Yankees as the opposition. There will be an official throwing out of the first ball, music and flag raising.

County Champs Receive Plaque For Cage Title

Omega's Honored At Banquet Of Loop At Elk's Club

The plaque emblematic of the Nassau county amateur basketball league championship is today enshrined in the crowded trophy case of the Omega Tau Delta club of Freeport following the presentation of prizes to the winning teams at the fourth annual league banquet held at the Freeport Elks clubhouse, Saturday night.

The other teams to receive awards for their brilliant records during the past season, were the Mineola Athletic association, north shore divisional title-holders and runners-up to the Omega; the Hempstead Athletic, runner up in the southern division and winners of third place in the playoffs; and the Oyster Bay athletic association, runner up in the north shore section.

Justice Peter Stephen Beck served as toastmaster at the affair, introducing the guest speakers. They included Assistant District Attorney David Holmes, Father McGowan of Freeport, chaplain of the Omega Tau Delta; Judge George S. Johnson of Bellmore, exalted ruler of the Elks; Jake Kodenberg, chairman of the Freeport park commission; Henry Viehlig of Freeport; William J. Murphy of Freeport; past exalted ruler of the Elks; Ralph Dauch president of the Hempstead Athletic; Tom Torfson of Mineola and William O'Keefe of Oyster Bay.

The speakers were unanimous in their opinion that the league has enjoyed its most successful season since its organization and that it had helped the sport tremendously by the sportsmanship that had been exhibited by its members during the campaign.

Newly elected officers were also inducted into office by Jake Katz of Mineola, chairman of the advisory board. William Joseph Hallinan of Garden City, former vice-president, officially became president of the league, replacing E. Joseph Ninesing of Great Neck. Andrew Cunningham of Freeport, replaced Hallinan as vice-president, while Edgar Gregg of Freeport retained his status as secretary and treasurer for another year.

Ernest Jaehne of Bellmore, past president, E. Joseph Ninesing of Great Neck, retiring president and Edward Binneweig of Rockville Centre, official scorer of the league for the past two years, were presented with tokens of esteem by William Hallinan on behalf of the league for the services that they had rendered he league.

Sea Cliff Nine Books Heavy May Schedule

Some Of County's Finest On Card For Cliffmen

The Sea Cliff Athletic Association has announced a heavy schedule for the month of May. Sea Cliff has always been known to offer the finest of semi-pro baseball on Saturdays anywhere on the North Shore, and the Association is determined to continue this season.

On May 4 the opening game will find the Hempstead Fire Department facing Sea Cliff at Clifton Park. Last year Sea Cliff defeated this fast outfit on two occasions and the firefighters are out for revenge with a stronger line.

To Play Port The following Saturday will bring together the Port Washington A. A. and the Cliffies. Port has deviated from its policy of not playing Saturdays but it was felt that in order to make claim to any County Championship, Sea Cliff must be on its list of wins.

On May 18, the Hempstead Monitors, also with an improved nine, will journey to Sea Cliff. Last year these teams broke even in a two game series. May 25, the Norwich Club of Hollis will break into Nassau County and try to avenge its two game defeat by Sea Cliff administered last year. This Club is one of the most consistent winning clubs on the Island and must always be reckoned with.

The only game booked by Sea Cliff for the month of June is the rematch with the Red Sox, which will be directed by Al Knapp and Cliff Marzica. Last year the Sox furnished Sea Cliff with the attraction on Fourth of July, a doubleheader and Roslyn came out the short end in both games. These teams will meet at Sea Cliff on Saturday, June 1.

Glen Head Aces To Open Season

Edward Smith To Coach Team Which Meets Spartans

The Glen Head Aces under the supervision of Coach Edward Smith will open their season on the diamond by taking on the Glen Head Spartans at the Glen Oval on Sunday afternoon.

Herb Smith of the Aces and Anthony Operski of the Spartans will probably hold down the mound berth.

Both teams have open dates. If there are any teams who would like to book a tilt with the Glen Head Aces they may get in touch with Fred Lee of the Aces and John Sharkey of the Spartans.

Warm Sundays, the new zoo in Central Park is besieged by thousands. It is educational, no doubt, for human beings to make the rounds and look at caged animals pacing up and down in their confining spaces, but it always seems a little cruel that their space is so limited. The sea lions are the only animals that seem really content to me, as they dive and bark and show off in their big pool of water.

Eagles To Open Ball Schedule With Orioles

Taking On Tough Assignment Of 30 To 35 Games

The Oyster Bay Eagles will play the Hicksville Orioles on Sunday afternoon. The Bay team has arranged a schedule of 30 to 35 games and to say the least they plan taking on a tough assignment.

According to reports from the organization they intend to play some of the best ball units on the Island. The team is built around the pitcher and has Bill Leighton as manager. Several of the Teddy Bear nine who are now playing with the high school aggregation are expected to join the Eagles at the close of the school year.

The line-up for the Eagles will include: Bill Leighton, ss; Ray Leighton, cf; Rocco Sacone, 2b; Mike Sussupinski, 1b; Eddie Sussupinski, 3b; Mike Renaldi, 1b; Steve Sussupinski, lf; Joseph Massana, c; Frank Bonar and Ben Wanser, pitchers.

Four High School Set For Ohio Field

Coach McElroy Enters Boys In Fast For Experience; Baymen Made Showing Last Year

Four members of a high school track team plan to pay their coach a visit Saturday to the Ohio Field. While the incident is a trivial matter, it is a reminder of the importance of the Ohio Field to the Baymen.

Horsemen Urge Trotting Track For State Park

Nassau Driving Club Ask Grandstand, Racetrack

Members of the Nassau Driving Club went on record at their meeting last week in favor of an athletic field and a half-mile trotting track among the improvements to be made at the Bethpage State Park. Their activities are now centered about Mineola, where they have a club house, track and stables.

The mounting costs of amateur harness racing there, however, have served to turn the eyes of the officials of the club toward the state park. The horsemen regard their organization as an asset instead of a liability to the owners of the fair grounds, since they pay half rent on from 50 to 100 trotters and pacers throughout the season, and furnish a large share of the entries for the annual trotting meetings held in connection with the Mineola fair.

The club, in its letter to Robert Moses, Long Island State Park commissioner, has asked that a track, stable and grandstand be erected. If this is done, the club will center their activities in Bethpage, and develop the state park into one of the racing centers of the island.

The club will hold its first harness racing meeting of the year at Mineola on May 30, Decoration Day. Reuben S. Smith of Rockville Centre is president of the club and other officers include Lewis A. Hallock of Speonk, L. J. Terry of Flushing, Dr. Joseph Lang of Floral Park and J. H. Andrews of Mineola.

Hicksville Gridders Hold Opening Drill

The Hicksville football club opened the second annual spring season yesterday morning at the high school field with a turnout of fifteen reporting to Coach Harold Bergold.

Coach Bergold sent his aspirants through a light workout consisting mainly of calisthenics and signal practice followed by the fine shooting of Ben Wright, former all-scholastic end at Mineola High, and Glenn Kerbs, Hicksville high school alumnus, who likewise holds down an end post.

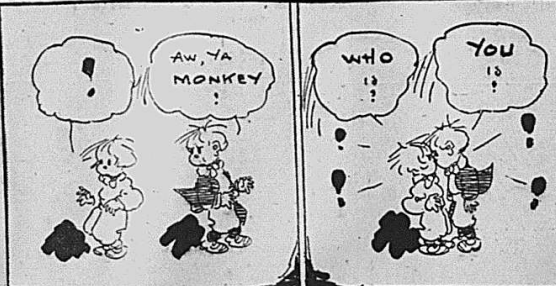

Coach Bergold stressed upon the players the necessity of keeping in condition and urged the centre islanders to dig hard during this spring practice.

Twilight Loop Baseball Starts At Cove Soon

Many Well Known Teams Entered In The League

Glen Cove baseball fans will be interested to learn that one of the best leagues of twilight baseball history in this community is just about ready for the umpire's "Play Ball". The league will open at Neighborhood Field on May 6.

The following teams are entered:
Sebas Club, Columbia Ribbon and Carbon Manufacturing Company,
Oyster Bay A. A., Locust Valley,
Spartans of Glen Head, Italian A.
C., Cantors Dairy and Lincoln House.

At a meeting of the committee and the team representatives held Tuesday evening at Neighborhood House various matters pertaining to the success of the league were acted upon, lists were entered, rules were drawn and the finest sportsmanship was displayed. Three new members have been added to the committee this year: Joseph Oakes representing Oyster Bay, James Horn, Glen Head, and a Locust Valley man will be named. Local members of the committee are John J. Dunn, chairman; James
Clark, John Settlecker, James
Cocks and Harry W. Bigelow, secretary.

The one ambition both on the part of the committee and the team representatives is to give this community fine baseball, provide healthful out-of-door activity and develop community spirit and sportsmanship. Assurance has been given that each team entering this year is composed of good material and will make a good showing.
Should it develop after a few weeks
that a team has lost interest or has not material for a good team, such team or teams will probably be dropped from the league. It is not expected that this will be necessary.

The committee will meet on April 23.

The next meeting of the committee and team representatives will be to May 3. This will be the final meeting prior to the opening of the league. All lists and entry fees must be in on or before that evening.

Dealers in athletic equipment who may desire to submit bids for furnishing local outfits for the league during the season should plan to be at the meeting Thursday evening.

The selection of umpires is under consideration. No decision has been made. Several have been suggested. Anyone interested either in the job itself or having a suggestion should communicate with Secretary Bigelow at 3 Highland Road or with any member of the committee.

"Panic," the verse drama of Archibald MacLeish was presented to Broadway in three performances purely as an experiment. Set on the evening when banks were crashing in 1933, "Panic" told the grim story that fate, immutable rule of the gods to whom there is no appeal—these were the causes of the collapse of industry. And he tells it in verse that one reviewer describes as "terse beauty."

Glen Cove Has Bout Card Scheduled For Elk's Club

Many Stars To Swing Mitts In Ring On April 26;
Largest Ring Attraction Ever
Presented

On April 26 the Glen Cove A. A. will hold its biggest boxing show
at the Elks Club, Glen Cove at 8:30 p. m.

Dick Kalkata of Hicksville, the Cramer brothers from Central Park, and some of the stars of the Paragon Club of Freeport will compete against the Glen Cove team. The A. A. team will be composed of Red Lopez and Florio of Oyster Bay, Ike Donahue, Meyer
Goldstein, Joe Campbell, Walter
Morrow, Buster Vaughn and Zigie Niedzwiecki.

Every effort is being made to surpass any other boxing show held on Long Island. Old Johnson, New York representative at the intercity bouts held at Chicago, has been invited to compete against Zigie Niedzwiecki. This bout will probably be as exciting as their former bout in the Golden Glove competition.

Ike Donahue will be hard-pugh-ed to keep his record of eight victories in as many starts. Buster Vaughn will make an effort to keep his slate clean. This is only his second fight winning a decision over his opponent in their previous bout.

Lopez to Appear
Red Lopez of Oyster Bay is expected to put up his usual whirlwind fight. Florio of Oyster Bay will put on a fine fight.

Joe Campbell and Walter Morrow, two new faces, will make their initial bout to the fight fans of Glen Cove.

This is the Glen Cove A. A.'s fifth effort to promote amateur boxing in Glen Cove. The fighters are taught and trained by Glen Cove's own ring old, Benny Kaplan, under the Adult Education and Recreation Program.

Erasmus Tops Manhasset Unit At Lacrosse

City School Team Takes

Count

Led by Tom McCartin, the Eras-

dued the Manhasset Ten 7-4 Saturday afternoon at the local field.

With the score tied at 4-4 in the final period, the Brooklynyates tal-led three goals in as many minutes to win. Following a scoreless first period, Erasmus tallied three times in the second while their rivals

CLEAN UP THE JUNK YARDS

Valuable as the so-called auto-gravies are, it does seem imperative that something be done about their location. The argument that they constitute a health menace does not find corroboration in fact, since at the worst they become unhealthy only when rain-water collects in the pools.

Likewise, to urge that they are a fire hazard cannot be considered adequate, for unless gasoline is left in the tanks, there is not much opportunity for a fire to start.

It all comes down to the fact that these graveyards succeed in destroying the economic value of surrounding property because of their extremely disorderly appearance. We must have such institutions in order of, but as the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce decided at its recent meeting they must be regulated. All residents interested in the welfare of the town should support the petition which the Chamber is presenting to the Town Board. If passed, this ordinance will relocate these dump yards to the industrial areas where they belong.

POLICE JEALOUSY

It is not easy for a chief of police to find fault publicly with other police departments as Chief Skidmore of the Nassau County Police did before the Nassau Charter Commission last week. The chief complained that the police of incorporated village departments were uncooperative and that it was practically impossible to induce them to call in county assistance when needed.

This is not a new complaint, but we cannot remember having heard Chief Skidmore make it in public before. That means that it is time for the taxpayers in incorporated villages to think about it. A part of their money goes to support the Nassau County Police and if their local chiefs are too jealous or too stubborn to summon county aid when it is needed they are spending that money unnecessarily. These taxpayers must also decide if they are satisfied to pay heavily to maintain comparatively inefficient local police when for a smaller cost their homes could be protected by an up-to-the-minute county police department.

Chief Skidmore told the Charter Commission that the 1,000 policemen now employed in Nassau County could be cut down considerably with centralized control. He said the "booth system" in force now in many villages was wasteful and that in modern patrol systems, equipped with radio, one man could do the work of five in villages. These are considered utterances that taxpayers ought not to reject without scrutiny. Police budgets in Nassau County villages have been increased enormously, arguably without a corresponding increase in efficiency. The Nassau County Police operates throughout the county with its own radio system and a very complete system of criminal identification. The advantages of protection under such a system are obvious.

But whether the villages act to merge with the county system or not they ought to eliminate the jealousies and friction that exist. These, curiously enough, do not emanate from the village police alone, but often from the village boards that control them. It is impossible in Nassau County to have one system of traffic control, to cut down accidents and fatalities and to save the motorist from much confusion because village officials will not co-operate. What would happen in a major emergency one can only conjecture. All we can do is pray that one never occurs.

THE MAYO CASE

Although unquestionably in the right, the Town Board emerges from the Mayo dispossession case with less prestige than if it had dealt more frankly with the issue in public. At the board meeting two weeks ago and again this week, Supervisor Tappen declined to state in public the reasons for ordering Mayo off Centre Island Beach where he has lived since 1923 as caretaker. Town Board detractors have been less considerate. They have passed along the report that Mayo is being dispossessed because he had the hard nose against Edward Tilford for the post of Republican county committeeman. This story is believed by a great many.

The story we have been able to get from officials, with reluctance, is very different. Mr. Mayo, they say, engaged to act as caretaker of the beach, to keep the beach clean and provide comfort station facilities for the public in exchange for the right to sell refreshments and rent boats. He did not, they say, keep the beach clean. He is said to have refused comfort station facilities to certain people and in one or two instances to have abused persons in a profane manner. Members of the Board received these reports from sources sufficiently reliable to convince them of their truth. They then exercised their prerogative of cancelling Mr. Mayo's lease. Although he was ordered off the beach more than a year ago Mr. Mayo has continued to reside there and force has not been used to remove him.

The Town Board has acted within its authority and has tempered justice with mercy. In temporizing, however, it hasn't gained Mayo's gratitude and has lost the confidence of some persons. No mayor principle has been at stake in the Mayo case, as many persons believe, but the Town Board's course has shown that a vacillating, indecisive policy gains nothing.

Generally the fellow who tries to soak the rich ends up by getting the seat of his own pants in the rain-water barrel.

Uncle Sam and the Russians have agreed to disagree.

Stores Agree Skidmore Raps To Discontinue Nassau County Animal Sales Village Police

A. S. P. C. A. Convinces Merchants Practice Is Unprofitable

There will be fewer live baby chickens and bunnies sold in New York stores for this Easter than ever before, according to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Storekeepers have been convinced by the society that it is practically impossible to raise them except under the most favorable conditions. Cautions among the chicks is so great that their sale is no longer profitable.

Upon the solicitation of the A. S. P. C. A., five and ten-cent stores and others have agreed on the sale of the chicks for commercial purposes only and will dispose of them only in lot of six or more. The majority of the stores, it is said, will confine their sales this year to the little artificial chicks, which are more lasting and serve the same purpose.

Easter bunnies, according to Sydney H. Coleman, executive vice-president of the A. S. P. C. A., are a little more hardy than the chicks, but only a small percentage of them in the hands of children survive Easter but a few days. The chicks experimented with the chicks last year and with careful handling was not able to raise any of them only in lots of six or more, dealers and experts are the baby chicks likely to grow to maturity, according to Mr. Coleman.

"These little things should not be given to children as playthings," he said. "Children tire of them quickly and most get chicks die of maltreatment or neglect within a few days. In fact, the giving of any living creatures as pets should be under careful supervision. The bunny or the chick can be reared by experts, but otherwise they are subject to unnecessary suffering. Invariably after Easter, large numbers of the bunnies that are fortunate enough to survive a few days are turned out when the children have no further use for them."

County Chief Says Small Departments Are Not Co-operative

Incorporated village police departments are "incomplete to handle the job before them and unco-operative with major county authorities," Abram W. Skidmore, chief of the Nassau County police, declared Friday night at a meeting of the Nassau County charter commission at Mineola.

In only a few instances, Chief Skidmore said, have the village departments given complete co-operation with the county force. He added that it was practically impossible to induce them to co-operate in county assistance when needed.

Urging formation of a county police unit for Nassau County, he declared: "It is bound to come, so why not get the ball rolling now?" He said that while 1,000 policemen are engaged in the county now, it would be possible to cut down manpower considerably with centralized control.

"The county police," he said, "is in effect in many villages, was characterized as 'wasteful' by the county executive, who added that with modern patrol systems, equipped with radio, one man can do the work now done by five in villages."

Skidmore opposed the plan suggested in the bipartisan charter, now at Albany, to place the head of the County police directly under the county president. This, he said, would be detrimental to the county in that the chief would be given a "political puppet."

Dr. Calkins' announcement said that a liberal arts curriculum will be established with a wide range of choice adapted, under guidance, to individual needs of students. The college will also offer two-year terminal curricula for occupations classified as "semi-professional," and for those students who, on entering college, have no definite plan of a two-year certificate but who desire a two-year general education. The completion of which may be looked upon with a sense of pride and satisfaction.

The college will also meet the requirements of those students who wish to prepare for upper division specialization in the junior and senior years of a liberal arts college. The college will also offer a two-year certificate, based on this work, will be given.

In the development of the athletic program, stress will be laid upon those sports which can be carried over into life and which will add to the leisure time happiness of the individual. The social and athletic programs will be developed to meet the needs of both boys and girls."

Chancellor Chase said that the university's School of Education will establish a branch on the Hofstra campus which will make it possible for teachers in the area to complete their credits for degrees.

The location of the college makes possible a greater amplification of the scope of the School of Education to the teachers and administrative officers of the school systems of Long Island, already known to it through the courses given by the university's Division of General Education in Hempstead," he said. ## Hofstra Place, In Hempstead, Chosen As Site

He pointed out that Nassau County and western Suffolk represent the world's most concentrated area of wealth, and that on the whole the average inhabitant can afford and desires to send his son or daughter to an institution of higher learning. The school systems are finely equipped and housed and the teaching staffs are comparatively well paid.

Dr. Chase said that of the 64 counties in the state, Nassau ranks 60th in area but eighth in population, and that the major portion of the population is concentrated in the southern portion of the county within 15 or 20 minutes by bus or auto of the new college.

The Hofstra property lies on the main east and west highway which passes the Hempstead station of the Long Island Railroad, with north and south links conveniently near. Bus service passes directly in front of the estate, which is situated near enough to Hempstead to benefit by all of its transportation connections yet isolated enough to give it the seclusion and quiet necessary for a college center.

Proctor Rufus D. Smith, 10 Delaware Road, Bellerose, is chairman of the committee which recommended the establishment of Nassau College and which, for the present, will work out an instructional program and administrative details. Members of the committee are Dr. Calkins, Archibald I. Bouton, dean of the University College of Arts and Public Science; H. Deane, director of the Division of General Education; Milton E. Loomis, dean of the Washington Square College; John T. Madden, dean of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance; and John W. Withers, dean of the School of Education.

Chancellor Chase said that from the beginning Nassau College will have a service of a strong faculty and competent leadership.

"All of the resources of New York University, administrative and scholarly, will be available to the new college from the outset," Dr. Chase said. "The university's background of over 100 years will lend the college prestige and support. It is prepared to assign men of outstanding ability in academic fields to the college."

Mr. Chase said the college will be prepared to serve so as to strengthen the curriculum. It will always be under the spur of an educational leadership in touch with the times and methods of "American education."

Chancellor Chase said that it was the intention of the university to grant a number of tuition scholarships to needy and competent students of Nassau and Suffolk Counties which would be known as "Hofstra Scholarships." For the year 1933-1934, he said, 30 scholarships at $500 each will be offered to seniors graduating from high schools of the two counties. The scholarships will be competitive and will be offered in equal numbers to girls and boys on the basis of a three-fold test of high scholarship, excellent character and outstanding leadership.

velop further the in-service and pre-service training of the teachers of the Nassau and Suffolk school systems.

A program of adult education under the direction of the Division of General Education will be made possible covering such subjects as music, art, literature and science that will be of general culture and community interest and value to the surrounding neighborhood."

William S. Hofstra was born May 29, 1861, in Holland, Mich., of Dutch ancestry. Early in life he became identified with lumber, pulp and paper businesses. He established the Nassau Lumber Company in Hempstead and developed one of the largest retail lumber centers in the East. He was also closely identified with lumber and paper in Canada and was a director of Price Brothers and Company of Quebec and Liverpool, England. He died May 15, 1923.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofstra are survived by one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Anglin of New York City.

Ideas About The

By CHARLES W. SMITH

A Few Impressions

When Assemblyman Leonard W. Hall telegraphed late on Thursday evening: "Jump on a train, get up here early! It just couldn't be done so easily and promptly as that. It was 2:30 the following afternoon before I reached Albany."

The fireworks were all over; then the most harmful "ripper" measures had already been passed about all that remained was the Governor's coup de grace when he signs the bills. There were still a few optimistic souls both in Albany and here in Nassau who believe he may veto them instead—because of his established views on the home rule institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofstra are survived by one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Anglin of New York City.

Fresh Water Fishing

To the Editor:

There has been a great deal of agitation as to the policy of the department of water supply, gas and electricity of the City of New York with respect to issuing permits to fish in the several ponds of the Brooklyn watershed in Queens and Nassau Counties.

As the ponds in this watershed are an integral part of the distribution system, supplying nearly three million persons in the City of New York, it is not surprising that the department has been very reluctant to issue permits to fish in the several ponds of the Brooklyn watershed in Queens and Nassau Counties.

Owing to the inadequate force of the department for properly policing these ponds and due to local conditions making it very difficult to protect them at certain hours of the night, it was thought best at one time to completely prohibit all fishing, but the promised co-operation of the Long Island State Park Commission, the state police, the Inland Water League and such groups of the State of New York, has given the matter a different aspect.

It has now been determined that fishing will be permitted to all male persons who have a state fishing license, women are not required to have a license they will be permitted to fish without one.

If any person commits a nuisance and they have a license, complaint will be made to the state conservation department for the cancellation thereof and such other police action as may be necessary.

It is hoped that during the present season those who are interested in fishing in fresh water will co-operate with the department so as to prevent any pollution of the Brooklyn water sources by not only committing nuisances themselves but also promptly reporting those who do.

It is hoped that none will forget the fact that three million persons in the Borough of Brooklyn drink from the water supply in which they are permitted to fish.

JOHN E. EASTMOND, Deputy Commissioner, Borough of Brooklyn.

On the other side of the ledger is the fact that Nassau County became the best publicized section of New York State, due to the "ripper" legislation it enacted and the reprehensible character of its present attitude.

As for the reason of the splendid bait offered in the Assembly by Leonard W. Hall and Harold P. Herman, I found these gentlemen were heroes of the moment; particularly the first named for two reasons: First, as senior Assemblyman Mr. Hall had led the fight and second, because he is truly himself, right at home, under such conditions there may be a little fish in him somewhere; but, whether or not, let us hope so.

With the Mr. Grease for weeks and last week-end did until it interested him in the Albany was emphasized on Friday evening, Chief Editor, Manager Paul, who via Sunday morning of endless and building road-dogs of the Welfare Council, Wallace and Patterson were afternoon by it was the first and Board members. Other Nassau, Wilson of Long of Sea Cliff, Nassau, Mr. Harold M. It was changed status, symphony of the party of the best time. The best time, Democratic, he committed a retort, as important a life of a spirit. ## Ideas About The

A Few Impressions

When Assemblyman Leonard W. Hall telegraphed late on Thursday evening: "Jump on a train, get up here early! It just couldn't be done so easily and promptly as that. It was 2:30 the following afternoon before I reached Albany."

The fireworks were all over; then the most harmful "ripper" measures had already been passed about all that remained was the Governor's coup de grace when he signs the bills. There were still a few optimistic souls both in Albany and here in Nassau who believe he may veto them instead—because of his established views on the home rule institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofstra are survived by one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Anglin of New York City.

Fresh Water Fishing

To the Editor:

There has been a great deal of agitation as to the policy of the department of water supply, gas and electricity of the City of New York with respect to issuing permits to fish in the several ponds of the Brooklyn watershed in Queens and Nassau Counties.

As the ponds in this watershed are an integral part of the distribution system, supplying nearly three million persons in the City of New York, it is not surprising that the department has been very reluctant to issue permits to fish in the several ponds of the Brooklyn watershed in Queens and Nassau Counties.

Owing to the inadequate force of the department for properly policing these ponds and due to local conditions making it very difficult to protect them at certain hours of the night, it was thought best at one time to completely prohibit all fishing, but the promised co-operation of the Long Island State Park Commission, the state police, the Inland Water League and such groups of the State of New York, has given the matter a different aspect.

It has now been determined that fishing will be permitted to all male persons who have a state fishing license, women are not required to have a license they will be permitted to fish without one.

If any person commits a nuisance and they have a license, complaint will be made to the state conservation department for the cancellation thereof and such other police action as may be necessary.

It is hoped that during the present season those who are interested in fishing in fresh water will co-operate with the department so as to prevent any pollution of the Brooklyn water sources by not only committing nuisances themselves but also promptly reporting those who do.
