Hicksville Use Town Incinerator? 'Yes' Says Brandt; 'No' Says Dr. Curtis

Civic Leaders Disagree Over Present Plans For Burner

JOHN R. BRANDT

Two of Hicksville's most prominent citizens sharply disagreed this week over the proposal to have Hicksville join the other North Shore villages in the construction and operation of an incinerator.

According to Mr. Brandt, Hicksville residents are complaining about the incinerator in the Hicksville dump, and the village is growing enough to warrant the improvement if the North Shore communities are to enjoy it.

Believed that the negotiations the Town Board are making over the construction of the burner should be speeded up, "if the committee has the offers which it claims," he said, "but which it says are not in proper order for acceptance, it should get in touch with each bidder and have the orders whiplaid into proper shape at once."

Dr. Curtis, however, expresses doubt that the incinerator would be of vital importance to the community. "The construction of this burner," he said yesterday, "is of much more importance to the North Shore than it is to us. They have no dump while we have. The plan now before the Town Board seems to me to be the plan that is all voted against two years ago."

Dr. Curtis said that the incinerator would mean the civic worker declared that the community would pay the biggest bill, and would therefore be carrying the burden for the incorporated areas. "I only wish I think that we should not let the community make it to have the charges made according to the assessed valuation and not according to the garbage consumed," Dr. Curtis said.

'Chinese Wall' Will Divide Hicksville, Curtis Says

The use of the proposed town incinerator by the village of Hicksville should be studied by the Chamber, Dr. Curtis said, as it would mean the civic worker declared that the community would pay the biggest bill, and would therefore be carrying the burden for the incorporated areas.

Assess Costs Of Incinerator, Curtis Urges

Hicksville Man Scores Tonnage Basis As Unfair

Building a town incinerator from which revenue is to be raised on the basis of the tonnage burned is just another way for unincorporated areas to "pull the chestnuts out of the fire" for the incorporated areas, Dr. E. Wood A. Curtis, of Hicksville, stated today.

Dr. Curtis believes that revenues for garbage elimination should be based on assessed valuation and not upon tonnage. Methods of garbage collection on estates, where containers will not be carried to the road, he said, will require far more time and therefore will be very much more costly than in built up sections where housewives haul their garbage to the street for collection.

Southern State Parkway Work May Be Ended

No More Funds Available For 1935, Van Schaick Reports

PRESENT TERMINUS WILL BE CONTINUED

"Situation Is Hopeless," Park Commission Head Says

Construction work on the Southern State Parkway, south of Hicksville and Farmingdale, is facing complete suspension, as there are no more funds available for 1935. Money to carry on the project eastward from Amityville to Babylon has not been provided by legislative appropriation and only an unexpected allocation of funds from New York State's allotment of $28,000,000 for the federal highway relief administration will save the program for the year.

"We are making every effort to obtain funds so that the project may be continued," Benjamin L. Van Schaick, executive secretary of the Long Island State Park Commission, declared yesterday. "But the situation appears to be hopeless."

As far as the Southern State Parkway is concerned, the terminus at North Babylon, Amityville, will continue to be the eastern extremity of this largely traveled road. The extension of Great River, where it will connect with the Rockaway Park spur, has been surveyed, and has been acquired and most of the route has been cleared and graded. The immediate program called for completion to Belmont, Lake State Park, Babylon, this year.

Six road separation bridges are required along the route. These are to be at Deer Park Avenue, Babylon; Little Neck Road, and Belmont Avenue, West Babylon; Straight Path, Lindenhurst, and Great Neck Road, Copiague.

Parking Lot Is To Be Built At State Park

Work Is Also Begun On New Causeway Stretch

The parking field at the Bethpage Country Club in Farmingdale will provide for more than 1,000 automobiles, it was announced this week by officials of the Long Island State Park Commission as relief forces started work on the construction of the huge parking station.

The new field will be located just west of the new club house and will resemble that of Jones Beach in appearance. Boundaries of the parking area have already been laid out and in addition to the grading, speeded up through the use of modern motor equipment, workmen are also constructing adequate drains.

A PLAY FROCK

Pattern 8438—Long days of playing out-of-doors in the sunshine will soon be here and wise mothers are already buying their materials, and patterns to make the many little play frocks necessary in the life of the modern small girl. The gay little dress sketched is happily designed for ease and freedom of movement, adapted to an active child.

Under the sweet white collar with its gathered ruff, there are oblique rings at the shoulders of the dress. (See small sketch.) The puff sleeves are simply finished by being gathered in about an inch from the lower edge, forming a ruff. Shirred pockets and a sash in the back which slips through the side seams and underwashes in front complete the frock.

LAME AND VELVET

By CHARLIE NICHOLAS

Burgess of Paris creates this delightful evening ensemble in terms of metal cloth and velvet. The dress features the silhouette which adopts the simple lines of a monk's garb. The cord and tasseled skirt is in keeping with the idea and is such as designers are widely featuring this season. The call for glitter and gleam in the evening mode is answered in the sparkling gold and red lace which fashions the dress and the youthful evening hat. The cape is of velvet in a golden tone to blend in with the general color scheme. A square gold buckle holds it at the throat.

Spangles in Black Adorn Latest in Paris Gowns

Philippe de Gaston takes a million or so spangles in bright light black for a new frock. The entire gown from the bust to the hem is made of the spangles, varying slightly in size from small confetti to the size of a five-cent piece. They are placed, one barely overlapping the other, beginning with the small ones near the waist and increasing to the hem. Upward from the waist to the shoulders the same process is observed.

Filling in the corsage—which is cut very low and oval—forming a deep V-neck effect, color in the back from shoulder to shoulder, are bands of diamante. There is no belt on the gown, the waistline being marked by the waist and increasing to the hem. Upward from the waist to the shoulders the same process is observed.

A change in the silhouette is foreshadowed by Paris designers. Gown sponsors said daytime skirts edged by plait, 12 to 14 inches from the hem. Lavin permits petticoats to peek from under the lower hem after afternoon. Molyneux's much has cuts by tulle, tulle and shirtings. Evening dresses shorter in front. Patou sponsors amaran shades and shirred bottoms. Maggy Rouff—Crescent lines, from tulle, shirred bottoms, loose sleeves. Vivienne shows

THE HOME FACIAL

HAVING arranged your hair, articles and adjusted your head band, you are ready for first step in your home treatment. First a little skin tonic in the case of the small glass bowl. Moisture one of the small pads in the skin tone and add the cleansing cream to the pad. Start cleansing with sweeping upward movements on the neck, up and around the neck, then on the face—three upward motions on either side of the face. Then around the chin, around the mouth, down on the nose and across the forehead.

Always be sure to use an upward motion.

Applying the cleansing cream with a moistened pad of cotton is the best method and really cleanses the skin thoroughly, not only removes surface dust, but penetrates the pores.

Now, with the face really clean we go to the second step, which is: Saturate the large patter in the top of the face. Start patting the face, using a quick, staccato movement—a quick, slapping movement to whip up the circulation. Now up on the face, pat at the corners of the mouth, then across the mouth, then under the chin, then the other side of the face—keep patting briskly until your skin feels hot. Then pat the face for a minute, then knead under the eye and over the eyelids. Loosen. Repeat. This is excellent for setting under the skin.

Start patting the face, using a quick, staccato movement—a quick, slapping movement to whip up the circulation. Now up on the face, pat at the corners of the mouth, then across the mouth, then under the chin, then the other side of the face—keep patting briskly until your skin feels hot. Then pat the face for a minute, then knead under the eye and over the eyelids. Loosen. Repeat. This is excellent for setting under the skin.

The North Shore Hostess

By GERTRUDE MAYER

Cocoanut Topping

1 1/2 Tbsp. butter
5 Tbsp. brown sugar
2 Tbsp. cream
Cup coconut

Blend ingredients together and spread over cake instant it comes out of oven. Slip under broiler flame for minute. Don't leave too long. Will harden and make a hard brittle surface.

Almond Topping

Same as above, but use blanched almonds in place of coconut. Sprinkle almonds over top.

Pecan topping is awfully good too this way.

Cocoa Topping

Use two heaping tablespoons of cocoa in place of coconut.

The mape syrup icing recipe was given to me from a home-maker in Vermont. I have found it the best.

Cook one cup maple syrup (about 1 1/2 cups) until it is thick and glossy. Set aside to cool, beat into it about 1 1/2 to 2 cups confectioners sugar and anywhere from 1/4 to 1/2 cup of cream.

In all fairness I must admit that the more butter the smoother and richer the flavor. But it is expensive today so do try it with the least amount of whole half cup.

Hot Milk Cake

Easy to make and has a light, delicious taste and flavor.

Beat 2 eggs until light. Add one cup sugar. Beat well. One 1 cup milk with 1/2 tsp. salt and one 1 cup baking powder.

Heat 1/2 cup milk with 1 tsp. butter. Combine two mixtures. Bake in moderate oven 400-450 for 25 minutes.

STYLE NOTES

Outlook for many looks promising. Glittering blossoms are the popular motif.

Violets are again smart for corsage.

Let necklaces of flowers are in fashion.

Watch platings. Entire skirts so pleated.

Resort waists strikingly exotic. They are in vogue.

Choose pastel taffeta for children's party frocks.

Shades in Spring Hosiery. Fashion will turn to the outside for inspiration in the spring hosiery shades.

Among the new colors will be "ice tea," "ice cream," "ice blue" and "ice pink."

The first is a dark shade, the second a medium shade, the third a dark evening shade and the fourth a light neutral shade.

Since fabric colors will be bright for spring, hosiery tints will show a livelier quality.

MOVIES

STRAND

Events start at tomorrow at the Strand Theatre with "One More Spring," in which Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter bring to life the novel of the same name. This pair, which have been in love in so many pictures during recent years, brings back memories of "Daddy Long Legs" and their other hit, "Jack Abbot." It is also presented on the program and a cartoon and the last episode of the exciting "Riders of Red Dog" is given at the Saturday matinee only. Otherwise the whole program is presented on Friday and Saturday.

On Sunday and Monday, May 5 and 6, Rudy Vallee appears in his latest picture, "Sweet Music." It's all about the career of a famous orchestra leader who tries to help a singer gain success even though she hates him. Ann Dvorak is the rather peculiar young lady, and there are swell tunes and lots of complicated dancing in the show. Along with Mr. Vallee, and by that, we don't mean any comparisons, comes "Baboon," which concerns itself with monkeys and other such animals in Africa. The film was taken by that daring and much photographed pair of explorers, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson.

"Strange Wives," with Roger Pryor and Esther Ralston, comes along on Tuesday. The trials and tribulations of former Russian aristocrats who become refugees in America, the picture is one of the best of the season.

"The Good Fairy" brings thrills to an end for the week. Margaret Sullivan and Jack H. Butler head the cast of the picture, which isn't at all like its title sounds. It was taken from famous Broadway stage play of the same name.

AMITYVILLE

With a score as good as the best he has ever had in a film, Bing Crosby sings, romps and romances his way through the colorful pastures of "Mississippi," at Amityville Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, assisted by W. C. Fields, Joan Bennett, Quenelle Smith and Gail Patrick.

"Mississippi" is a story of the romantic South in the days when ladies swooned and men died for entertainment. Crosby, the Yankee sweetheart of Gail Patrick, declined to duel for his lady's love," is branded as a coward and forced to join Fields' acting troupe on "The River Queen" in order to escape the taunts of his former friends.

Outstanding among the season's first photoplays, Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery come to the screen of the Amityville Theatre Wednesday and Thursday in "Vanessa: Her Love Story," and adaptation of one of Hugh Walpole's most popular novels.

Although the picture sparkles with humor and contains elaborate production scenes that make it a real eye opener, it goes away remembering only that it caught and held that elusive quality of high romance which properly done, lifts a play to the heights of true artistry.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" at the Amityville Theatre Friday and Saturday is a relaxing comedy with three separate love tangles. Dick Powell and Gloria Stuart have the romantic leads, with Frank McHugh and Dorothy Dandridge in a semi-comic love affair, and Greta Farrell taking an eccentric millionaire over the jumps.

REGENT

Thrill film with Richard Barthelmess will be the featured attraction at the Regent Theatre for four days, Sunday to Wednesday, May 5 to 8.

The action of the story takes place almost entirely in the lounge of a Broadway theatre and depicts the unusual drama that occurs in the lives of a group of people in the space of four hours. Heading the well rounded cast are Joe Morrison, Gertrude Michael, Dorothy Tree and Helen Hayes.

"The Case of the Curious Bride" is the plot of the story concerns Barthelmess a condemned murderer, who spends the last few hours outside of prison, manifested to the rest of his defective watching a Broadway musical.

The program for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 9, 10 and 11, will include two fine features, "The Case of the Curious Bride" and "The Case of the Curious Bride," a dramatic mystery thriller, with Warren William as Perry Mason. The picture carries him through a series of astounding adventures in his attempt to clear up "Curious Bride" of the charge of murder and the case of her husband, Margaret Lindsay as the "curious bride" is called upon for real emotional setting and her work is always convincing and sincere.

The associate feature, "The Case of the Curious Bride," with that suave comedian, Edward Everett Horton co-starring with Karen Morley, gives you more

BAY SHORE

Sage and screen entertainment of exceptional merit is in store for everyone attending the Bay Shore Theatre this week-end. Commencing this Saturday, May 4, and playing through Tuesday, May 7, the attraction is one of the current season's outstanding romantic dramas, "The Wedding Night," in which Gary Cooper, who was acclaimed one of the screen's greatest actors after his great role in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," and Anna Eden, the blond Russian beauty, co-star. Cooper discards his familiar role of soldier and Anna Eden becomes a modern American girl in "The Wedding Night." The film, a dramatic romance, depicts a situation familiar to an American—namely, the younger generation against the dictates of the older generation.

Cooper, as the young author, proves that he is as competent a lover, as an adventurer, and Miss Eden demonstrates that she can portray the character of a modern American girl with the same great emotional ability that marked her earlier performances. "The Wedding Night" should top your must-be-on movie list.

Two hundred breathtaking beauties will be the featured attraction at the Regent Theatre for four days, Sunday to Wednesday, May 5 to 8.

Battery Negro Loses Shotgun

Oyster Bay 'Bad Man's' Wife Asks Police To Take Weapon

James White, Oyster Bay Battery Negro who killed "Katie" Johnson, a Negro bad man two years ago, is without a shotgun today because his wife phoned the Second Precinct, Nassau County Police, on Monday and asked to have the weapon confiscated.

White, who is a small, quiet and harmless-looking Negro, earned a reputation for being dangerous when he killed Johnson, a grand jury, however, refused to indict, holding that the killing was in self-defense. Since then, White is said to have gotten a wicked head. He was arrested two months ago for allegedly threatening Simon Garland, a Negro neighbor, with a shotgun. At his trial it was testified that White had attacked Garland with a razor. The case against him, however, was dismissed by Judge Augustus Morcy.

Hollywood Lowdown

The latest model of "Miss Ideal America" for 1936 is just 5 feet 1 inch in height and weighs only 120 pounds.

That's the verdict of the International Beauty Shop Owners, who seem to have had a lot of fun during their recent convention in New York, taking composite pictures and measurements and things to reach this momentous conclusion.

But what does Hollywood have to say? Most of the "Miss Ideal America" eventually had there, soon or later. And Beauty Berkeley, who has been in 80 let's listen to Beauty Berkeley on the subject.

"Don't believe a word of it," says the famous stage director. "The perfect average is a lot bigger than this—about 5 feet 7 inches tall. She's something you know you'd get under your arm when you HACE got her under your arm."

"Why," he concluded indignantly, "I don't believe I've got a girl in my entire troupe who has those fancy measurements. But let's take a look."

So the interviewer and the dance director did take a look, all the famous Berkeley chorines being assembled on Sound Stage Number 2 at the Warner Studio for one of their spectacular musical numbers that will be a climax in this case, to Dolores Del Rio's new picture, "In Caliente."

Berkeley was just the average poutermouthed dancing girl of the movies today is to quote Designer Orr Kelly, "a lot of nonsense."

The International Beauty Shop Owners aren't the only ones who can set up a composite "Miss Ideal America." Berkeley could, and did, do a little composite measuring of his own. And here's what he found out: The average "Berkeley girl" is 5 feet 4 inches tall. She weighs 118 pounds.

Berkeley reached this conclusion by taking the average of the measurements of 117 girls who have appeared in most of the screen's greatest musical pictures from the eye-catching "42nd Street" to "Gold Diggers of 1935." It seems to prove that the ideal American miss isn't getting any smaller. Which will no doubt be glad tidings to Mae West.

Of the stars and featured players this same level of interestingly carried out. The two smallest Warner studio actresses being Genevieve Tobin and Ruby Keeler, while May Franchin, Joan Muir, Verne Tennelle, Claire Dodd, Patricia Ellis and Margaret Lindsay are all above average height. Genevieve, 5 feet 2 inches, weighs 105, while Ruby, 5 feet 3 inches weighs 108.

Dolores Del Rio exactly coincides with Berkeley's new ideal, and Bette Davis and Joan Heddell are the two who come next. Alice Britte, 5 feet 4 inches, weighs 114, and Joan, 5 feet 4 1/2 inches, weighs 120.

So Beauty Shop Owners, there's your answer. "You may have your 'Miss Ideal America' only 5 feet 1 inch, 100 pounds, if you like," says Beauty Berkeley, "but don't send her to Hollywood!"

Fred Allen Jels

Lionel Barrymore will play the title role in RKO's filmation of "The Reine of Peter Grimm."

Warner will team Bette Davis and George Brent in "Front Page Woman," which was formerly called "Women Are Bunn News-papers."

Laura Hope Crews has joined the cast of principals in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Masquerade," co-starring William Powell and Ruby Keeler. . . . Following "Feather in Her Hat," Ruth Chatterton will be starred by Columbia Pictures in "Modern Lady."

Fox has borrowed Jean Muir from Warner for the feminine lead in "Orchids to You," opposite Paul McGee. . . . James Bush has been added to the cast of "Peacemaker," Richard Dix's newest starring flicker for RKO. . . . The new Jack Jack film, previously known as "Jim Burke's Boy," has been retitled "The Awakening of Jim Burke." . . . "Romance in a Glass House" may may be Claude Coppers' starring picture for Warner Brothers according to the present plans. . . . Fox has started preparations for the filming of "Way Down East" with Janet Gaynor as the star. "After the Dance" is the title of the Columbia picture in which Nancy Carroll and George Brent together for the musical team. . . . Metro will produce "Servants You See the Best" in "Alibi" here. . . . in "Annapolis" here. . . .

300 Fans See Fast Bouts In A.A. Exhibition

Donohue And Goldstein Set Pace With Brilliant Work

About 300 fans jammed the Elks Clubhouse in Glen Cove Friday night to witness the fourth boxing show sponsored by the Glen Cove A. A. The most outstanding battles of the evening strangely enough, were the opening clash between Jimmie "Tex" Donohue, of Glen Cove, and Vince Kramer of Central Park, which Donohue won on a decision, and the final bout of the evening which found Meyer Goldstein, another Glen Cove, setting back Teddy Simallo, of the Park Avenue Club.

Only six bouts were put on instead of the eight advertised, inasmuch as the opponent of Ziggy Newkirk failed to put in an appearance and Frank "Red" Lopez, the Oyster Bay brawler, became sick before his bout was ready to go on, thus necessitating a cancellation.

In the main event of the evening Meyer Goldstein put on a classy exhibition of boxing when he milled with Simallo who is one of the most outstanding boxers from the South Shore. Goldstein set the pace throughout the bout and because he piled up points in the first two rounds, he was able to coast through the final round to win a decision. The Glen Cove boy threw long body blows to Simallo's heart in the first two rounds which did considerable damage. The first ended with a thrilling climax in the third round with both lads trying to connect for a K. O. and brought the fans to their feet.

Jimmie Donohue kept his boxing record intact as he gained the referee's decision over Vince Kramer, of Floral Park, for his ninth straight victory in the squared circle. Donohue also set a fast pace for the first two rounds and had Kramer bleeding from the nose and very leg-weary at the close of the second round, thus making it easy for him to breeze through the last round to take the decision. "Tex" speed and deceptive feinting were two very helpful factors in his victory.

The only fight of the evening that did not meet with approval of fans was the battle between Angelo Florio, an Oyster Bay lad, and Leo Sullivan, of Westbury. Sullivan gained the decision over the Oyster Bay boy but the fight was so close that it was hard to pick a winner, and some of the fans didn't make any bones about letting the officials know that they did not like the decision. Florio exhibited a beautiful left hand in the first half of the fight and boxed rings around the Westbury fighter in the opening minutes, but Sullivan rallied in the latter half of the second and third rounds to take the decision. The fight was a very even match and a return bout between the two wouldn't hurt the feelings of the fans one bit.

The only knockout to be registered during the course of the evening came when Walter Morrow, of Glen Cove, was awarded a technical K. O. over Nixie Ciano, a colored lad from Oyster Bay, in 1:18 of round two. Morrow had too much class for the colored boy and had to take the initiative throughout the encounter as Ciano would merely weave or duck Morrow's jabs. A left to the head caused Ciano to go down in the second round, and Referee

Chapter Twelve

SYNOPSIS: Malibu, a deer and Gato, a mountain lion, have been raised by Tom Morris, an outworn in the Sierras with his father, an author, Bob Alden, a forest ranger, as love with her, has been forced to have the animals turned loose. Retaining two years later, Tom meets her pet again. They have many exciting adventures. Now, Gato and Malibu, a race ally guide, are engaged in a struggle to the death, while Malibu, caught in her pet's claws, endeavors desperately to release himself.

Chapter Twelve
 "The force was an appeal through the skin leaving a number of red marks that would have been fatal had they been deeper. Gato could hear his short hoarse panting breaths in his own ears. He seemed to be in a dull fevered mind as if they came from another person. Then with another frenzied burst, he threw the lion from him and managed to climb to his feet."

"What is it?" she asked eagerly, following his pointing finger. "But Alden said, 'I'll come on and get it. I'll have to show it to you. It's over here.'"

"You simply directed the line to Sang Soo," said Bob. "Wait here Sang Soo," she directed the grinning Gato. "I'll be back in a minute. Then she looked out of the door with the quite unnecessary but willing assistance of Bob's strong arms."

"Sang Soo laughed quietly to himself as if he would have no need to say he was back in a minute," he pointed out. Then he chuckled knowingly.

"Hello," Tom beamed at Alden over the side of the sleigh. "You're just the person I was looking for," Alden said, his eyes adding however, "looking for all my life." He waved to some distant spot gaily. "I've got a surprise for you."

FOREST JUSTICE

Bergman still struggled frantically with Gato knowing that he was fighting for his very life. Pushing drastically, he made iron bands of his wrists and shoved off the great cat with enough force to give Bergman a chance to run off. There was now a gain of a few yards between him and his attacker. Then Gato leaped in pursuit of him.

Bergman was now approaching the river bluff. In an agonized effort of exhaustion he staggered and fell to the ground. Then, as he saw Gato not far away, he grunted his self-up and continued running. His eyes were glazed over with fear and weakness, but he persisted on.

Then, just as he reached the bluff, Gato, with a long flying bound, attacked him again, landing squarely in the middle of Bergman's back, he knocked him off his feet and he lay on his back, looking up at the sky. They fought, their struggle at the edge of the bluff with the river below.

"Inch by inch they kept moving to the side. Bergman's face was a grotesque mask of horror as he looked up into that of Gato's and saw the murderous intent written there. The puma snarled and snarled with sharp savage teeth, then struck out with his paws and claws at the shore and river.

Bergman's eyes were starting from his head as he saw the dripping mouth of the cat and nearer to his own neck. Now he tried to summon to his aid his very last ounce of strength. They were on the very edge of the bluff and a single step would have sent them both into the river.

However, though Bergman had saved his own skin, he had not saved the expense of Gato. For his fall had not proved fatal after all. Gato lay on the surface of the water, he shook his head, then calmly swam to the shore and clambered up.
