On The Firing Line

By F. H. ALMIRALL

"Please buy a Buddy Poppy!" This is the cry of the day. It is a cry that will indicate the depth of our respect and gratitude to those soldiers, sailors and marines whose memory will be honored on Memorial Day, May 30.

The fourteenth annual Buddy Poppy sale, to be conducted simultaneously here and in approximately three thousand other cities in the United States is the method by which the Veterans of Foreign Wars obtain funds for their disabled comrades and for the orphaned children of America's war dead.

Do you remember the thrill of witnessing the parade of the United States Marine Corps band, "somewhere in France"? Do you remember the gallant, marching lines of khaki and olive drab which returned months later to march again victorious but with significant gaps in their lines? The average person recalls these things, perhaps only once in a great while. It takes Memorial Day to bring these memories back to us with renewed force.

In the fields of Flanders, the poppies still grow, but the scarlet blossoms which Americans will see everywhere about them, do not grow. They are made, if they are genuine Buddy Poppies, by thousands of disabled veterans whom the world war is not only a memory—men who are still enduring and most of whom must continue to endure as long as life lasts, the illness, pain, suffering, handicaps, the loss of limbs or sight which have robbed them of their birthright—of independent self-supporting individuals.

The welfare of these disabled heroes is the first concern of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of the U. S. It is for them that we ask your support and assistance in the poppy sale.

Did you know that Memorial Day—originated in 1863? It was set apart during the Civil War for the decorating of the graves of the soldiers, as a result of an order issued by General John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. It has since become the custom to decorate the graves of soldiers of all wars.

David Lawrence, noted political commentator and reporter, is the authority for the statement that a soldiers' bonus bill will be passed by the present session of Congress over a Presidential veto.

Ever since the Big Dismalness, I have been wondering if I shouldn't have stayed in the service. Soldier stories make me

Masons Hear Kinsolving At Service Here

One Hundred Attend Masonic Affair Sunday Night

"Keep your upper story unlocked," said the Rev. Arthur B. Kinsolving, D. D., Dean of the Cathedral in Garden City, told more than 100 Farmingdale Masons who packed St. Thomas' church at a special service on Sunday evening.

The text of the Dean's talk was based on Dan Byrne's book on American "Vespers," which tells how the explorer went forth "with religion, adventure and romance." "Keep your upper story unlocked," the Dean declared. "We need faith in times like this in all phases of life, especially in business." The Dean condemned regimentation, stressing the need of individuality and courage.

He concluded his talk by saying that Farmingdale suggested first of all to him the hospitality offered by the late Rev. Henry Meier, former pastor of St. Thomas'. He added that he was the most disgruntled man he ever knew.

Dean Kinsolving led the members of the Bethpage Lodge of the Masons in the procession into the church. The service is an annual affair, and was attended in part by members of neighboring chapters, as well as by wives and families of the Bethpage Lodge.

Man Drowned Off Bayville

spent their time trying to right the boat. But Paederka was terrified and could not be calmed. He turned the boat over several times. This had been going on almost three hours when some men, as yet unidentified by police, saw the struggle and appealed to young Mayo to send out help. Mayo, attempting to row out himself, Mayo told Wilbert Schenck, who operates the power boat at Waua Beach and Schenck raced out alone to the capsized craft. Mayo and a companion set out in a rowboat. Several hundred yards away from the rowboat Schenck said he could see three men clinging to it, but a moment later there were only two. Paederka apparently overcame by fright and exposure, had let go. Schenck pulled the Mulvaney's body in very weakened condition, aboard and brought them to shore where they were placed a few minutes later and taken to the North County Community Hospital in Glen Cove.

Patrolman Stephen Roselle of the Bayville police department, Patrolman William J. Martin of the New York police department, Patrolman William Garrit of the Nassau County police and Schenck grasped for Paederka's body, which they recovered at 2:30. Dr. John F. Donohue pronounced him dead and Governor Augustus Meyer ordered the body removed to Devine's Funeral Parlor.

Detectives Henry Kohl and Reginald Ballard of the second squad conducted an investigation.

MOVIES

STRAND

Events at the Strand start off tomorrow with Richard Dix in Zane Grey's thriller "West of the Pecos". In the film Mr. Dix portrays a cowboy, the picture is packed with excitement, tense situations, hard riding, straight shooting and all the other ingredients of the successful action picture. It is a he-man story of the winning of the West and it burs the authenticity one has come to expect of a Zane Grey novel. "The Great Bridge" which features Barbara Stanwyck, completes the double attraction program. Both pictures are shown on Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11.

What happens when a poor New York family wins a great deal of money on an Irish Sweepstakes ticket is the story of "The Winner Ticket" which is presented on Sunday and Monday, May 12 and 13. "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head" with Claude Rains playing a large cast, is the other attraction on the program. The story has to do with a brilliant head of a powerful newspaper who is employed to write sharp, timely editorials for his paper, most of them on the behalf of munition manufacturers who seek war. Also in the cast are Joan Bennett, Lionel Atwill, and Baby Jane.

"Of Human Bondage", one of the best films of recent years, comes to Farmingdale on Tuesday, May 14. Leslie Howard of course heads the cast, assisted by Bette Davis, Alan Dech, James Bond, Miss Mary Johnson, Robert Chapman and Della Mulder will have charge of this presentation. The fourth theme, the modern high school, will be directed by Miss Jean Wagner, Mrs. Catherine Harwood, Ralph Carr, Miss Mary Hogg and Miss Victoria Geiger.

carefully cultivated, sometimes perfectly natural. You find out the most amazing things by just calling a picture player up on the phone.

Here's a Crestview number. It's James Cagney's. Dal it. A housemaid answers. Good-bell talk to us. He comes on—and you can't believe it, but it's a fact. The belligerent Jimmy almost whips when he talks over the phone! How different from the way he shouted at that gangster in "G-Men".

A star whose wide answers the phone is Pat O'Brien. But Pat listens in on another extension. If you hear a slight click, that's Pat. When he makes up his mind whether he's home or not, he'll talk in on an extension. Extension O'Brien—only he's hard to get on the phone. He won't have a phone in the nursery, and that's where he spends most of his time. Over the phone, Joe E. Brown has a practical joke to play. He's a manager who answers first. If he thinks we're important enough, he'll push a button and plug in on Joe. There's an extension in every room in the Brown house—and in Joe's own room there are three. Too bad we can't be there to watch when the phone rings—Joe never picks up the right one, and always has to answer the other two before he gets the one he wants. But this time, Joe is shouting, and ten to one he'll make us do a little suffering to pay for what he's gone through. You thought so! He's pretending he's his Filipino servant—and what a jar!

Janet is an old retired lecture time dropper. Sometimes she sneezes in a phony way, and sometimes her colored maid does it for her. If it can, her voice drips scoldings until she finds out who you are. Then, if she likes you, it takes on warm, caressing tones. But if you talk to her more than a couple of minutes, she's bound to sneeze in a phony way, and ten to one she'll make us do a little suffering to pay for what he's gone through. You thought so! He's pretending he's his Filipino servant—and what a jar!

REGENT

A tip to Bernie fans. Turn off your radio and go down to the Regent Theatre on Tuesday, Wednesday, May 12 to 13, where you can see the old maestro himself in "Blond Harmony". It will afford you as much enjoyment as a month of listening to him. And even if you are not a Bernie fan, see him and be converted. Starred with George Raft in a film that is an adroit blend of comedy, melody and drama. Ben Bernie and his lads romp along scattering laughs and thrills every foot of the way. Raft plays the part of a musicist and dancer in Bernie's company. Only Bernie knows that he is an exconvict and that he has a talent for singing. Grace Bradley furnishes the romantic interest.

Two fine features are on the program presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday May 16, 17, 18. How a dizzy young heiress "adopts" a gang of Broadway "citizens" and makes them her friends. The picture is the story of "Hold 'Em Yule," the new Damon Runyon story, one of the features on the program.

Adapted from Runyon's widely-read short story of the same title, "Hold 'Em Yule" features Patricia Ellis, George Romero and Larry Crabbe in the leading roles. In the picture the gang of "citizens" really adopt the girl to make her father pay, but she turns the tables on them when, however, her father sees what a swell girl they do of making the girl work while he tells them that he will pay handsomely if they make her marry the man of his choice.

The humorous manner in which they use the persuasion and "persuaders" in order to accomplish this, is shown in the climax which takes place in the Yale Bowl at the annual head regatta. "The Florentine Dagger" new murder mystery melodrama, produced under the auspices of the Ciolek, is a real Ciolek, is the associate feature.

The picture deals with the murder of a theatrical producer with both his daughter, who is the star of a play in his theatre, and the playwright suspected of the crime.

Methodists Will Observe 150th Year In Glen Cove

Week Celebration To Mark Anniversary—Former Pastors And Members To Return For Homecoming Dinner

The 150th anniversary of Methodism in Glen Cove will be observed during the week of May 19 to 26, during which time a pageant, "From Yesterday Unto Tomorrow," will be presented by members of the congregation of the Carpenter Memorial M. E. Church. The Rev. Kenneth Kingston, pastor of the church.

The week's program will get underway Sunday, May 19, when at 9:30 that morning a special church school meeting will be held before the former superintendents and officials of the Sunday School. Morning services will follow with the Rev. W. W. Wilson of Flushing, pastor of the church 10 years ago in the pulpit.

That evening the pageant will be presented. According to Mr. Kingston it will include six scenes: The home of Jesse Jones in 1785; the camp meeting in 1806; the preaching of Lorenzo Dow in 1822; the building of the church in 1844; and Daniel Goodell and the friendly friends.

Other features of the program, which has not yet been completed, will be a homecoming banquet on Wednesday night, May 22. Former pastors and members of the church will return to join the present-day members and officers. Speakers of the evening will be the Rev. W. H. Alderson, superintendent of the North District of Brooklyn. The following evening a Community Day celebration will be held with representatives of all civic and fraternal organizations of the city attending.

On the final day of the fete the Rev. W. M. Hutton, pastor of the church, will preach at the morning services. An informal supper will be given by the Epworth League at 1:30 p. m. afternoon in commemoration of its 45 years of existence. Former officers and members will attend.

The annual church Chest will be held at the 7:45 p. m. service at which Bishop Francis J. McConnell will speak. The church school orchestra of the Port Washington M. E. Church and George Vidor, Organist Bay singer, will provide special music.

The special program prepared by Mr. Kingston will briefly outline the history of Methodism in Glen Cove.

It is he begins with the year 1785, with Methodism only a few months old, when Ezekiel Cooper was sent to Long Island as circuit rider. He found only two societies formed then with a combined membership of 24. He established four more, among that number being Muskies Cove—now Glen Cove.

First meetings were held in the homes of Jesse Jones, the initial class leader, and of Letting Carpenter, Sr.—the latter's family gave the present church its name. For almost 42 years meetings were conducted in the homes of members, and various itinerant preachers and class leaders served the faithful here. In 1827 the public school was located for services and in 1844 the first Methodist Church was built. An enlarged building was erected in 1861 and the present church at School Street and Highland Road was put up in 1910.

Among former pastors who have been invited to attend are: The Rev. Lincoln H. Caswell of Cornell Memorial M. E. Church, Ithaca; the Rev. H. H. Mower, Oneonta; the Rev. W. D. Curnutt, Auburn; M. E. Church, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; the Rev. William M. Nesbit, Wilmington, Del.; the Rev. W. M. Hughes, Taber, N. J.; the Rev. W. W. Wilson, Flushing; the Rev. George M. Baird, Newfield, M. E. Church, Bridgeport, Conn.; the Rev. H. M. Hancaster, Danbury, Conn.; and the Rev. Alphonse M. Morgan, Carmel, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ketchum of Brookville have rented the house owned by Mrs. Carrie Burnstead on Highland Avenue.

Oyster Bay Downs Westbury High By 5-2 Cove

Purple and Gold Sluggers Win Second League Game

The Oyster Bay H. S. baseball team won its second league game last Friday on the home field when they defeated Westbury 5-2.

The visitors' lineup: the locals 5 to 3 but their hits were scratch singles that just cleared the infield and they were kept well scored. Oyster Bay was aided by 4 Westbury errors and two hit batsmen that put men on bases when they were brought home by the hits that followed.

Hayden Kier

Oyster Bay scored twice in the first as Yanotti was safe on a hit and Joe Minicelli drew a base on balls. Agostino was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases. Bladyk was hit to short and Yanotti and Minicelli scored home as Mills fumbled Bladyk's grounder, before he there, he seemed to be Agostino on the forced play. The locals scored two more in the second when two successive errors by the Westbury first baseman, Alvin and Young on the base paths. Melillo's three bagger sent them both across the plate soon afterwards.

Westbury scored their two runs in the third as Brumby took first when hit by a pitched ball and Beatty was safe on a fielder's choice. Agostino's three wild third, catch, Brumby and the latter scored. The ball rolled to the outfield and Beatty scored to begin the second error of the game play. Except for these two successive lapses the local team played perfect ball.

Oyster Bay scored again in the fifth when Peinkowski was hit by the pitcher, advanced on Yanotti's single and scored on Agostino's fly to deep second.

Joe Livio took the mound for Oyster Bay and pitched the first four innings giving 3 balls, 4 hits and striking out 3. He was relieved by Peinkowski when he walked the first two men up in the fifth. Peinkowski finished the game and was credited with 6 strikeouts and had 1 hit and no walks charged against him. He pitched 6 and 7th innings but 6 batters faced him, 5 being retired by strikeouts and the 6th by a weak roller to first.

Walsh on the mound for Westbury, turned in a good game with 6 strikeouts and only 3 bases on balls and 3 hits for the 7th inning.

Poor support and only three batters turned his chances of a win.

Port Sport Shorts

By ARNOLD DICKERSON

The recent rains that have been deluging the country side may have been blessing to farmers, but not to the like but they certainly played havoc with athletics in the vicinity. Ball games, track meets and tennis matches suffered mostly and many of them had to be postponed. The Port Washington Athletic Association-Hempstead Fire Department ball game, scheduled for last Sunday, was washed out as was the seventeenth annual invitation track and field meet that was to be held on the Flow, or Hill School Athletic Field, Port Washington, Saturday afternoon. The Port Washington High School-Manhasset High School ball game for Tuesday afternoon also bowed to the will of the weather man.

The postponement of Port Washington High School's invitation meet was the biggest disappointment of the let teams represent Glen Cove, Great Neck, Hicksville, Mineola, Oyster Bay, Roslyn, Sea Cliff, Westbury, Manhasset and Port Washington were disappointed. The meet has been set for May 15 and promises to be one of the closest in the history of the event.

Coach Leo D. Costello, of the Port Washington squad, has made no promises but he has uncovered some material that should give Port Washington much better than a seventh place this year.

On the same subject, the Port Washington boys will get real water tomorrow when they attend the St. Paul invitation meet at Garden City. Here they will have to vie with the best from the local schools. They will face the St. Paul, Stuyvesant, Bayville and many others.

Two men who have been playing basketball in and about Port Washington are, Al Knapp and Brudy Tyson, both of Port Washington.

Both have been cast as first string players and rather surprisingly and for good reason. Last Sunday, in the box opening game, Knapp unknocked his arm for the first time in his career. He was hit by a line drive from the Oyster Bay Athletic Association to his head and a brace of Tyson went the route behind the plate and gathered three hits in four trips to the plate. No bad for a starter.

The Port Washington High School baseball team have been clicking so well in league games to date. In three starts it has lost a like amount of contests but then the school can't have everything all in one year. Coach Costello's boys cleaned up on the grid iron last fall and won the North Shore championship. Then, during the winter months the basketball squad was second only to Mineola High School's quietest. A first and a second in two major sports isn't bad for one year's work so the baseball team should take it hard but just take a little slack in the law of averages.

Ray Patten, Joe Malton and Floyd Thompson should be potential point getters for the Port Washington High School track squad in the school's participation this Spring. The boys will split up the sprints and Thompson shouldn't do worse than a second in the broad jump. In practice he has been hitting around 20 feet with little effort and will probably do better when pumped. And watch him as a dark horse in his sprints.

Replacing Worn Money

A constant stream of old paper currency and worn coins runs from the banks into the treasury and is exchanged for new money and coined money. The exchange amounts to millions a day. A $1 bill, for instance, rarely is in circulation more than six months before it goes back to the treasury to be replaced by a new one. The old paper money is destroyed. The coins are melted down and reissued.

Average Death Rate

Slightly over one thousand individuals under one year of age die yearly, 6 out of 1,000 individuals from one to four years die yearly, but between the ages of ten and fourteen, of these about 15 individuals die yearly. The average death rate for all ages is about 11 per 1,000 per year.

Amityville High Outscores Bay Track Combine

Opening Meet Of The Current Season For McElroymen

The track team of the Oyster Bay High School opened its schedule on Thursday at the home field. The Senior weight squad met Amityville and lost to the visitors by a score of 54½ to 31½. The Juniors met Hickville and swamped the mid-Island 27 to 13. The combined totals gave the Purple and Gold honors for the day by the narrow margin of 9½ to 6½.

Amityville, being a Suffolk County school, does not sponsor a Junior weight squad, and so the Hickville Juniors were invited to join the meet so that the entire Oyster Bay team could see action.

The meet produced a bit of a wrack record when Frank Homeyman was timed in 55.149 seconds in the quarter mile. This time bettered the former mark of 56 seconds set by Frank Talano of Westbury in 1933. Kretz of Amityville equalled the track mark of 25 seconds in the 20 yard dash. He joined Williams of Amityville and Gus Catasenas of Manhasset as joint holders of the record.

Double Winners

Merritt Thomas of Hickville and Barbara Williams of Amityville were the only double winners in the meet. Williams, the colored star of the Amityville squad, won the 100 yard dash and the Broad Jump. He also ran as a member of the winning relay team. Thomas won the 220 and the Broad Jump to score 10 of the 13 points recorded by his team.

In the Senior weight event, Amityville won 7 of the 11 events contested and had part of a third win in another event. Homeyman and Agostino scored the only victories for Oyster Bay in the Senior events, which Dawson and Melillo led in the High Jump with wells of Amityville.

In the Junior events Oyster Bay won 4 of the 6 events contested with Mershon, Dean, Smith and the relay team of Perrone, Harry Mazzara and Mershon being the winners. The local team scored a clean sweep in the 100 yard dash, Mershon, Perrone and Watson crossed the line in that order.

Bobby Lee Former Lightweight Champ Now A Boxing Instructor

By RICHARD HARKNETT

Bobby Lee, former lightweight champion of the South, whose gentle Southern drawl provides a veil for a powerful pair of fists, has returned to the temperate zone and to Roslyn, where he has been boxing instructor at a private school in Florida during the winter. His name is of equal repute on either side of the Mason Dixon line.

Turning from the squared circle to the job of instructor, Bobby has attained a degree of success that parallels his ring triumphs. He has been boxing instructor in Port Washington and Oyster Bay and some time ago staged a blistering exhibition with Mike McTigue at a North Roslyn benefit show.

He once more is "on the loose" but hopes to find a berth as an instructor in the art of fistiana. Boxing fans won't have to turn back the pages of time very far to find where Bobby at various times trained with Jack Britton, former world waterweight champion, at Saratoga Lake, and several times with Harry Gordon, Louis Firpo, Bart Madden, Young Stribling and Jack Redden of Canada.

Tackled 'Em All

He tackled them all, never arguing about the weight, although some of his opponents had 15 to 20 pounds on the small "Rebel" package of dynamite. But he took them all on whether he got by or got hurt.

Lee's most recent post was that of physical instructor at the Palm Beach Private School, where he was regarded as one of the outstanding coaches of the school. He was coached by his cousin, Tommy Gibbons, heavyweight, is considered by Lee as "the toughest" he ever fought. Gibbons, who was regarded as one of the outstanding featherweights in the South, took Lee, then a beginner. Lee took him with some to spare.

The match, considered a filler before the Young Stribling-Norman Jarett fight, proved to be a surprise.

Set-up? Gibbons played with Lee for several rounds, apparently considering the affair a set-up, believing that he could polish off Lee in the fourth or fifth so that the main bout could start on time.

Although young and inexperienced in ring generalship, Lee could take it. In the fourth round Gibbons saw his golden opportunity and sent a whizzing right to the chin—a haymaker. The punch took Lee's feet six inches from the floor, from which he rose at the count of nine.

At this point the most exciting featherweight battle in the history of boxing began, according to the people who saw the event. Both fighters, literally fighting at the mouth, sailed into one another like a pair of maddened tomcats.

Lee bounced from the canvas four times in the fifth sixth and seventh rounds, each time reverting the battle with enthusiasm. In the seventh Gibbons is said to have butted Lee on the chin. He carries today a scar which he attributes to this.

But despite the protest of the referee, who declared that Lee had won on a foul, the youngster insisted that the slaughter continue.

"I was mad as the devil," he says. "I wanted to break Gibbons' jaw and I went after him with all I had." A hard right uppercut to the stomach stunned Gibbons, and as he toppled forward another right settled the issue. Four men carried Bobby's opponent from the ring and eight men worked on him for an hour before he was revived.

Bobby's qualifications as an instructor go unchallenged. He believes there's an opening somewhere on the North Shore and would like to get in touch with persons interested. Roslyn 935 is his phone number.
