Gets Arrested In Order To Show Cops He Won't Go To Jail

When John Hogan, 40-year-old Oyster Bay, was arrested last week, following his acquittal on a disorderly conduct charge by Justice Lebkuecher in the Hicksville court, there was no one arresting him because he could always get away. He arrested himself again, and remembering Justice Lebkuecher's attitude, took him before Justice Moore in Oyster Bay.

Judge Moore, however, refused to handle the case, saying that Hogan was a "crazy man," so Thornton took him back to the court, where his case will come up on the second time on Friday.

Fishermen Find Body Of Jones Beach Bather

Police Believe New Yorker Had Heart Attack Following Early Season Dip; Body In Hicksville Morgue

The mystery of the first disappearance of the season at Jones Beach was solved on Friday, when two fishermen stumbled on the nude and badly decomposed body of Gerald Hill, Manhattan attorney, of 32 East 33rd Street, who disappeared from his cottage at Oligo Beach more than a month ago.

William and Peter Villa of 3075 32nd Street, Long Island City, discovered the body, and notified police. Hill was officially pronounced dead by Justice Augustus Morey of Oyster Bay, who ordered the body removed to Morey's morgue in Hicksville.

Detectives said that a preliminary investigation of the body showed no foul play, and it is believed that Hill suffered a heart attack after entering the bay April water.

Catholics Hold Breakfast At Parochial Hall

150 Attend Second Annual Church Event

BRANDT, CURTIS AMONG SPEAKERS

Holy Name Society And K. Of C. Group Are Hosts

More than 150 persons, including prominent Catholics, dignitaries and town and county officials, attended the annual Communion breakfast given on Sunday morning at the auditorium of the parochial school by members of the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus of Hicksville and the Holy Name Society of St. Ignatius Roman Catholic Church. The breakfast followed a special service at St. Ignatius Church.

The event was given under the joint sponsorship of the two Hicksville organizations. Thomas J. Colgan acted as toastmaster at the affair, with Michael J. North, chairman of the large committee which arranged the event.

The continued support of the Catholic Church movement was urged in speeches by Thomas Faulkner and P. Gordon Edwards, past Grand Knights of the Bishop Malloy Council of Freeport, and by the Rev. George Bitterman, rector of St. Ignatius Church. Father Bitterman, who recently celebrated his 50th anniversary of his entrance into the priesthood, gave the invocation and made a short address.

Other speakers on the program included Rev. Edward A. Curtis, president of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce, and John R. Brandt, Hicksville drug store proprietor and member of the Oyster Bay Town Council.

This is the second joint Communion breakfast held by the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society of Hicksville. The first was held last year. Its success resulted in members of the St. Ignatius parish arranging for a similar affair this year.

Annies Victim Puzzles Police

Farmingdale police had one of its first annies cases on their hands last Saturday when A. B. Mendelk, 21-year-old Brooklyn, walked into the Conklin Street booth and announced to Captain Arthur Powell that he had no idea where he was or how he had got there.

He remembered his name and address, however, and Captain Powell telephoned his parents at 100 West 10th Street, Brooklyn, to come to take him home. They could give no reason for his temporary loss of memory, other than to say he had been studying in the usual hard and had been in a melancholy mood the past few days.

Mendelk could not recall how he had got to Farmingdale, nor where or how he had spent Friday night. All he remembered was having supper at his home on that day.

Be Friendly Is Advice Of VFW Contest Winner

That, As Well As Being Accommodating, Is Receipt Given By Hicksville's Most Popular Girl

Be friendly and accommodating, that are you more than likely to be the most popular girl in Hicksville. At least that's what Mary Small, who is a little shy about the whole thing, but who nevertheless ought to know because she won the recent V. F. W. popularity contest, has to say about it.

Miss Small, who is known to most Hicksville because she works at the post office, polled 128,000 votes at the recent VFW post contest, defeating her nearest rival, Madeline Blumman, by some 40,000 votes. Other girls in the race included Chubby Raymond, who got 61,500; Olga Carls, with 61,000; Dorothy Hill with 50,000 and Dot Jensen with 30,100.

Miss Small, who is a dark blond, attributes her popularity, besides friendliness to a certain amount of shyness, a bit of shyness and the entire lack of brazenness that the modern girl is supposed to have. She doesn't believe in painted fingernails and wears little make-up. All together she is, if not exactly an old-fashioned type, a modern counterpart of it.

Hicksville's most popular young lady won her title at the cigarette dance given on Thursday night in the old fire hall on East Marie Street. The prize, aside from the esteem gained from the title, was a night ride. More than 150 persons attended the dance, the admission fee to which were cigarettes, and which will be given later this month to veterans at the Northport Hospital.

The Norge refrigerator was won by George Vouts of 210 Post Avenue in Westbury, four-year-old Ann Green of Queens Village pulling the winning ticket out of a barrel.

One result of the Ludlams' contest was that 21 Ludlams here are encouraging Mayo to stay on at the property on the ground that he belongs to them and not to the Town of Oyster Bay.

Mr. Ludlam said that his ancestors originally owned Centre Island and that the beach leading from Centre Island to Bayville, most of which has been disposed of since after years by the tides, is still theirs with the exception of the road which they sold to the town. Seven of the 21 Ludlams are now in the town of business in Pine Hollow, Oyster Bay. Tuesday evening and decided to tell Mayo to "sit tight" while they proceeded to claim their rights.

One result of the Ludlams' contest has been that Mayo, whose furniture was moved out by a town constable and three helpers last week, has taken possession of the premises again on the advice of his counsel, George Mulry of Garden City. The sign which last week told the Ludlams to ask Supervisor Tappen, who had been disposed of since after years by the tides, is still theirs with the exception of the road which they sold to the town. ## Centre Island Beach Claimed By 21 Ludlams

Quetta's India

CHRISTIAN, Quetta.—For half a century a British officer who had the earth seemed to go on a day last week of Quetta, Baluchistan and north heaving the quaking buildings were burying scores of victims and a squadron of aviators and a squadron of tanks, when the Royal Air Force barracks collapsed and natives stampeded into streets paying wildly to their feet. When the dust settled, the damage had taken a toll. An estimated 30,000 natives lost their lives. Quetta's terrible valley was buried under a mountain of rubble. The city was cut off from the world by a telegraph and railroad station and nurses worked to exhaustion. Two days later the government issued orders ordering abandonment of Quetta. It is estimated that 100,000 natives and 10,000 British troops remain beneath the mountain of rubble.

Adult Program Ends Till Fall

Out-Of-Door Recreation Activities Begin Now

Thursday, June 6, is the date set for the official closing of the classes conducted under the Nassau County adult education and recreation program, according to notices posted in all schools this morning.

The date of closing anticipates the beginning of regatta examinations in the public schools, where most of the adult classes are held. The only department under the adult program which is not affected is the home economics branch, which will continue to operate with its minor schedule changes throughout the summer. General Supervisor Edwin D. Philbrick said today, "does not mean, as some people seem to believe, the end of the classes. We expect to open again in the fall on an even broader program, if possible."

Although arrangements for a summer recreation program are being rushed to conclusion to permit a start at the earliest date, what form the project would take this summer, Mr. Philbrick could not yet say. He did indicate, however, that he anticipated work at any time that the plans had been crystallized.

Moses Refuses To Make Offer

Moses "wouldn't play." The 500-acre tract, he said, was in direct line with the migratory flight of the birds and the pond was about the only fresh water lake along the line of flight between Cape Cod and the Florida Sound.

It was particularly important, Mr. Cox declared, that the birds be provided with a place where they could rest and recuperate in the night. Decrease in food will in the United States, he said, was causing the greatest apprehension and he felt sure that if the town refused to continue the sanctuary it would open itself to grave and justified criticism. The birds would stop coming here in less than 15 years if they were shot at every time they passed through, he said.

The Audubon society director said the preserve was more than a mere sanctuary, but an educational institution and research laboratory as well, and he warned the board that its discontinuance would be bad for politicians as well as bad for the birds. He offered the co-operation of the Audubon Society in maintaining it.

Announcing that he spoke as one who had been vice-president of the Order of the Game Protective Association, which held the lease for the 500-acre tract before it was appropriated in 1931, William Loeb said he didn't think the Mill Neck game warden could spend enough time to give the sanctuary effective supervision.

Mr. Loeb said the Game Protective Association had to guard constantly against poachers and he believed the town would have to appoint a patrolman to protect the property. In any event, he said, he didn't think the town could conduct the sanctuary as efficiently as the state and he felt that the town would be making a mistake in undertaking an expense which would constitute one more burden upon taxpayers who now have all the load they can stand.

"I dislike to see any increase," Mr. Loeb declared. "I believe the town board was in not providing definitely that the town mustn't be charged a toll over public highways. I believe the town board was in failing to provide for the repayment of the $20,000 it paid for the option on Bethpage Park. I think, on the whole, it would be better for the town and the sanctuary if some arrangement could be made to give Moses a lease for 10 years. By that time we ought to know what we want to do with the land. I believe the character of the men available here as game wardens would not be satisfactory. To be a satisfactory game warden requires more than merely to be a good fellow or a good politician."

Sixty Years Ago in Farmingdale

The following items are taken from the Farmingdale Headlight of May 30, 1875.

Our very quiet village was awakened from its usual serenity on Saturday last by an affair which at one time threatened to culminate seriously to some of our people. It seems that our people had been unable to collect the school tax due from a certain party, and finding that his frequent solicitations for the same were ignored, determined upon enforcing the law. On Saturday our officials, armed with the necessary legal documents proceeded to seize such property as would satisfy his claim. He was flanked by a small army who had come to see the fun. As soon as our plucky solicitor appeared on the scene he made up his mind that as the distance was long, a self-proclaimed article would be preferable, so he selected a cow. But the lady of the house, however, had no idea of letting her dairy suffer by the loss of so valuable an assistant, and proceeded with all possible speed and collected all the available arms in the vicinity, when she appeared before the distinguished officer and informed him that it was decidedly impractical for him to remain on the scene. The Collector seeing such decided opposition to his wishes, and such an array of convincing arguments, determined to desist, which he did by returning in good order, without the loss of a man.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.—The undersigned accepts the challenge

recently thrown out through the Headlight by Mr. Sammis of Babylon, to run his dog against anything that barks, and will run our dogs on a fresh fox, started in the regular way was 50 or 100, the dog that picks up the fox is first at the burrough, or ahead it, to be declared the winner.

ANSEL SMITH

On Sunday there arrived at the depot at Dupingham's Station per C. R. R. about 150 gentlemen and ladies from New York. A number of wagons were waiting for the parties, and conveyed them to the proposed city of Wayman—about one mile south of the depot. They took the cars back to the city at 4 o'clock. Their object was to view the lots they purchased from the Daymans Company, and quite a number have made up their minds to build dwellings this season.

A new public school house has been begun in this place, the estimated cost of which is $3,000. The structure is to be two stories in height, and will be 30 x 40 feet.

Brick making has been suspended for a time, on account of the large quantity on hand.

The rumour that the Central and Long Island railroads will be under one management is without foundation.

AMITYVILLE THEATRE

In her new starring Paramount film, "Goin' To Town," at the Amityville Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 9, 10 and 11, Mae West undergoes the strange and eventful transition from a broom-sweeping coquette to the heart of society in Southampton, without losing her poise or her wit-cracking ability.

Mae West's adventures in "Goin' To Town," which presents her in modern clothes, and up-to-date settings, start way back in the cattle country where she inherits the money of a cattle baron, and decides to go after a handsome young Englishman on whom she has had an eye for some time.

Remember "Dracula," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Frankenstein," "The Mummy," and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," and you'll have "Werewolf of London" which is the feature attraction at the Amityville Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, June 12 and 13.

"Werewolf of London" is a picture based on the fabled creature who are men of the time but who become transformed into wolves each month during the full moon.

Henry Hull, one of the greatest character actors of modern times, plays the title role in this film. Warner Oland is another who is seen as half man and half wolf. Valerie Hobson is the wife of Hull, and the high spot of the picture is the scene in which she sees the man she loves turning into a wolf and attempting to kill her. It is a gripping story of a British scientist who is bitten by a werewolf while on an expedition into the wilds of Tibet.

Herbert Ross, the greatest picture-maker in the career of the First National Production, "Black Fury," at the Amityville Theatre, Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, is a gripping story on the dynamic story, "Jan Volkman," by Judge M. A. Mummamano, and the play "Bonnie" by Harry R. Irving, and is packed with tremendous scenes, a number of which were screened in the interior of a great Pennsylvania coal mine.

The story is marked by heroic and death-defying action which leads to a thrilling climax in which one lone man fortified by dynamite, holds a battalion of mine police at bay. Thrills and pathos, and there is a dramatic story of a coal miner who is betrayed by the girl he loves.

Blonde Mona Barrie and Latin Gilbert Roland are romantically teamed in Fox Film's mystery comedy, "Ladies Love Danger," the other feature at the Amityville Theatre, Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15. Mona saunters into Gilbert's bachelor apartment, and after explanation settles herself for the night. A murder, half an hour earlier, in the apartment next door, makes the mystery even more mysterious.

STRAND THEATRE

One of the outstanding mystery novels of the year comes to the Strand seven on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, when "While the Patient Slept," starring Aline MacMahon, is shown. "Captain Hurricane," a sea thriller, also is presented, this making one of the most exciting double bill attractions to come to Farmingdale in a long time. James Barton is the star of the latter picture. "While the Patient Slept" continues on his merry career in "Life Begins at 40," the film coming on Sunday and Monday, June 9 and 10. This most gripping of crime stories, one of the best that Rogers has ever done.

Nine persons are caught in a lightning web of sinister circumstances in "Murder on a Honeymoon" which comes on Tuesday, June 11, only. The manner in which a strange crime is solved makes one of the most absorbing and hilariously funny pictures that has come to the screen in recent months. A companion film to "The Penguin Pool Murder," the new duet features Edna May Oliver and James Gleason in the characters of the school teacher and detective and the know-it-all, hard-boiled police inspector. "Murder on a Honeymoon" centers about the murder of a well known man on

Port Washington Sluggers Bombard Bohack Combine

Blast Out Nineteen Hits Against Three Pitchers And Break Seven-Game Streak Of Foe

By ARNOLD T. DICKERSON

Blasting out 19 hits against three pitchers, the heavy-hitting Port Washington Athletic Association baseball team broke the seven-game winning streak of the Bohack nine on the Port Washington Junior High School athletic field, Sunday, and won by a 16-4 count. Except for the pitching staff, the Bohack team was much better than the score indicated. But the powerful bats of the Port sluggers were too much for the trio of pitchers to contend with and the home team won easily.

Nick Gazzo and John Decker stole the batting show for Port Washington by hitting circuitous, while Mike Henderson, an former Port boy in a Bohack uniform, duplicated one of the hits for the visitors.

Artie Lewis did the throwing for Port, and showed up three strikeouts in the initial frame. His battery mate, Nick Gazzo, suffered a split digit in that position, and had to be replaced by Strap Smith. In view of the fact that Strap hasn't been behind the plate for a matter of years, he turned in a really remarkable performance.

Port Scores As usual, Port scored in the first frame. Bill Smith walked, and second and scored on Rucker's single to right. Rucker was trapped between first and second, and Rice drove the game's second home run. Mike Alfano scored second and advanced on Bill Yarnott's single.

Port continued its laughing seventh by driving in the first. Mike Alfano scored second and advanced on Bill Yarnott's single.

The Government You Keep

By VIRGINIA M. BACON

The President stands self-revealed. When the President finally appears after due deliberation, taking four days to thoroughly assess the implications of the Supreme Court decision, he reveals what we had hitherto only suspected, namely that though the methods and measures adopted by the New Deal were unconstitutional, the President was not. He was a man of the people, and his habits and customs and daily ways of living as nothing else may. If these rights were worth protecting when our country was young and our population small, how much more vital are they to us today, when the problems of one section of our country are the problems of the whole. Our only chance of living happily together is on the principle of live and let live, and we now have

Idea About Things

By CHARLES W. BOSTON

Back to Normalcy
Passing of the NRA means that a price of necessities of life should be reduced (oh, yeah!) and salaries and wages be raised and be cut (what, again?). It means also that competition of a sort will again rule the market of trade, commerce and industry. The NRA has been basically on a very defective basis, and with results that may prove injurious for a time. It is a time when some cases may be a positive factor in stimulating that recovery which is the natural result of the depression. ## STREET SIGNS FOR HICKSVILLE

Long ago, of course, Hicksville should have had street signs. It seems rather ridiculous that a village nearly 250 years old should be struggling along with a few unpainted sign posts when such communities as East Meadow, nearly one-tenth as old, should have all the streets of their rather widely scattered community marked out.

But such are the mysteries of the government of an unincorporated area, and it seems to us that it would be best for the Chamber of Commerce to go ahead and start a drive for funds on their own account, and pay little attention to the Town Board and its efforts to give us the signs. It was a gloomy picture that Superintendent of Highways Schnepf, a Hicksville man, painted at the Chamber meeting last week of the chances of the Town coming through, and he was quite right when he said that such incorporated villages as Mill Neck and Bayville are going to object to paying for street signs in Hicksville.

As Hicksville is an unincorporated area, the cost of the signs must come from a general fund, which all the villages in the township must subscribe to. That is what is causing all the trouble, and as we see it, it is going to keep right on doing it.

With the Democrats

By ALBERT R. BEATTY

All highways will lead to the Pavilion Royal on Merrick Road in Valley Stream, Wednesday evening, June 19, when the Nassau County Democratic committee will hold its Long Island rendezvous. Plans for the affair, which will be one of the most brilliant social events of the season, were completed at a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements, held at the headquarters in Mineola Tuesday night.

John H. Egurol, president of the Garden City and the Democratic nominee for a seat in the lower house of the State Legislature from the First District of Nassau County last fall, is chairman of the dance committee. The vice-chairman are Martin P. O'Leary of Manhasset, Mrs. Agnes Cunningham of Floral Park and Mrs. Annie Ford of Lynbrook. Miss Mary Donovan, secretary of the Baldwin Democratic Club and personal secretary to Judge John S. Thurgood, equity leader, holds down the treasurer's berth and Barnet S. Fox of Rockville Centre, who assists Judge Thurgood at headquarters, is the group's secretary.

Other prominent Democrats who are serving on the committee are Rene Carreau of Merrick, Mrs. Agnes Desjardis of Bellmore, Frank J. Quigley of Bellmore, James A. Chime of Wantagh, John McQuillan Jr. of Wantagh, Alexander T. McGrath of Seaford, Frank Muscarella of East Meadow, William Berker of Floral Park, Harold Looman of Freeport, Mrs. Mary Hannon of Freeport, Robert P. Vickers of Baldwin, Mrs. Loretta Falconer of Baldwin, A. E. Elzenbogen of Bayville, Edward Rowles of Roosevelt, Maynard C. Schill of Hempstead, Frank G. Ramsey of Hempstead, Robert J. Quigley of Floral Park, Mrs. Agnes Paine of Floral Park, Arthur O'Malley of Valley Stream, Mrs. Grace Tripp of Valley Stream, William River of Cedarhurst, Joseph G. O'Connell of Woodbury, N. Y., John D. Leiman of Lawrence, Mrs. Joseph D. Maloney of Inwood and Miss Ethel M. Oala of East Rockaway.

Also Patrick Kelly of East Rockaway, Jules M. Dreyfus of Oceanide, Mrs. Agnes Kennedy of Manhasset, Albert R. Beatty of Port Washington, John Dwyer of Westbury, Mrs. Elizabeth Young of Westbury, Miss Mary C. McDonald of Carle Place, Fred Wigmore of New Hyde Park, Mrs. William Walsh of Elmont, George Powell of Elmont, William Burke of Williston Park, Mrs. Mary Daly of Roslyn Heights, Joseph Kenney of Roslyn Heights, T. Daly of Roslyn Heights, Daniel P. Dugan of Great Neck, Mrs. Margaret Trotter of Great Neck, John Sheridan of Glen Cove, James A. Moore of Oyster Bay, James T. McLaughlin of Glen Head, Mrs. Alexander F. McKay of Sea Cliff, Walter P. McManus of Great Neck, Thomas B. Clair of Massapequa, Edward Berry of Arminville, Jeremiah P. Hennepey of Hicksville, Charles Brennak of Central Park and Miss Margaret Devers of Baywood.

A capacity crowd is expected at the dance and Democratic leaders from all sections of the county, including Judge Thurgood, have indicated their intention of being present. Tickets for the affair may be purchased from any member of the committee or at Democratic headquarters in Mineola.

Although this is the off season in Nassau County politics, the Mineola

Killing the Goose

Rushing in again where angels fear to tread, the point should be made that one of the most serious results of the depression was the reduction in, or entire pausing of, stock dividends. Many whose incomes depended upon the class of investments they made themselves suddenly bereft of their chief means of livelihood, after years of faith in "gold edged" securities, supposedly as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. Even bank stocks went the way of all others—with two exceptions, generally speaking. These were the insurance and the theatre (generally utility companies, practically absent in the ability to hold their full financial promises during the darkest days of the depression. Of both these institutions (again, with few exceptions) it may be said they kept the country going until the government itself came to the rescue.

To one holding no stock of any kind in any utility organization, it seems a trifling thing to make a special target at this time of institutions which never have faltered in meeting their obligations, including the payment of wages in cash in order to keep the wheels turning, which in turn proved a tremendous blessing to the merchants and property owners in their home communities.

In a nutshell, then, if all business (big and little) could have followed the lead of insurance and utility companies, there would have been

PROTECTING WILD FOWL

The present excitement about the Tobay Beach bird sanctuary, if it accomplishes nothing more, ought to make Oyster Bay people conscious of the extraordinary bird life within our environs. The lake at Tobay Beach, Irving Cox assures us, is the only fresh water lake of importance on the line of flight between Cape Cod and Pimlico Sound. That establishes its value at once and shows how essential it is that it be kept up. Bird lovers already know many varieties of birds that stop over. Mr. Cox named only a few and even that was a revelation to many who attended the Town Board meeting on Tuesday. No international airframe ever will be so busy.

The President attacks the Court, as though its duties were not circumscribed and limited to determining whether acts of Congress are, or are not, in accord with the Constitution. In this it has the final word, but it does not decide and it does not decide the body which is not elected by the people nor responsible to the people is therefore a super-government, merely those who are elected by the people, though. As Senator Borah so clearly pointed out, were the Court to consider anything other than the terms of the Constitution, that, in the long run, would be a complete definition of despotic power.

The stuffed shirts will inflate themselves again; lambs will tie themselves to Wall Street for an old-fashioned abasement; business and professional men will return to golf for recreation instead of politics; charitable societies will continue their activities as if nothing had happened; for there will be need of the mass ever.

On the whole, though, more people will mind their own business because more people will have more of their own business to mind—all without pump-priming and the spending of other folks' money. But what will become of the college-trained experts in mind-boggling?

We believe the Town Board used good judgment in accepting Mr. Cox's offer to lend the Mill Neck game warden's services on a part time basis during the summer. Other help will be needed too, but the Town must protect wild life at Tobay Beach even if it costs money to do it and it will cost money. With characteristic selfishness the Long Island State Park Commission withdrew its staff at the bird sanctuary before the Town could make provision to take over its functions. The fact that the Town had been most generous with the commission in the past apparently made no difference.

The State's refusal to come to terms with the Town is not so regrettable as many think. It will cost money, but the Town can't afford to let the money be pointed out, but there is no good reason why all of the money should be taken from the Town treasury. We are sure that some money could be raised by the right kind of appeal to the school children of Oyster Bay Township. Indeed the children in any event should be encouraged to visit the sanctuary and see the amazing number of varieties of wild life that live there. Incidentally they will see what a really fine property we own at Tobay Beach and without a doubt will be impressed with the desirability of keeping it. Contributions from the school children of America rebuilt the "Constitution" when it was headed for the graveyard of worn-out ships. Why shouldn't school children be asked to help in supporting a sanctuary that is so important to wild fowl of the Atlantic coast?

The President refers to the right of the "National Government" to legislate in the place of the forty-eight states. But the "National Government" which has drafted over 5000 laws or decrees, the violation of which carry criminal penalties, was not created by Congress under a grant of blanket powers to the President, but those who have shown such concern for the public welfare were the palace politicians. The President, who never could have been elected on their own account, many of them with a background of failure, malfeasance or obscenity, are now endeavoring to perpetuate the fraud, whose one idea is to "get even" with the rest of the world. This lawmaking body of two years is not only not elected by, nor responsible to, the people, but its decisions are not subject to be overruled by the people. It can only be decided by the Supreme Court if a case comes before it. The government can refuse to be bound, as indeed this government has done for two years. It turned down the Briber case, and only agreed to the submission of the Schechter case when it was challenged.

If we are to be governed by any Super-body compare the Justices of the Supreme Court with the Professors, Frankfurter, Moore, Tunney and General Johnson, and Miss Perkins, who were the first the President called in consultation, in his dilemma. There are no greater lawyers than Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Brandeis, Stone, and Cardozo.

The President's feelings were evidently so intense that he displayed an incredible abandonment of all restraint of expression, a complete "laissez-faire" and revealed his determination to extend Federal power further into the States, and that it had proved to be impossible by illegitimate means, then he was ready to take it to the people. The President now tells us to put it briefly that he is impatient unless he is omnipotent. Senator Borah, on the other hand, assures us that the powers of the national government are limited, and that the demands of a nation in distress are faithfully and patiently employed. It is for the people of this country, not the President himself, to decide whether the executive

Sturdy Americanism

It has been a journalistic pleasure to peruse copies of "The 349," published by the National American League of Minnola. The little magazine is thick packed with interesting information, the smartly printed and replete with considerable credit to its editor, Colonel Arthur A. Stewart.

In these days of half-baked pacifist propaganda it is comforting to realize that the men who did their bit in the World War will not hesitate to do it again. If it ever becomes necessary. Indeed, the worst of the consequences of the war are the objects can do is to delay preparedness in that eventuality, at a cost of much blood and treasure—not their own, of course.

The news believes in "an adequate national defense is, and probably will continue to be for many years to come, the very best assurance against war; just as an adequate police force is the best insurance against any form of banditry."

The army and navy must be prepared to hit hard and fast if it is to hit at all. We may have France and England to hold the line for a year or so until we get ready to fight in the next war—if there is a next war.

INSURANCE

The normal seasonal increase in the number of cars on the highways during the coming few months, naturally will bring an increase in the number of accidents. Legislation cannot keep the reckless or intoxicated driver off the road. He will take his annual toll of life and injury.

The only compensation for an accident is insurance, which is of little enough value in the case of personal injury. It therefore is important that it be the right kind of insurance, and with a reputable company. Few motorists take the trouble to read a policy. Few know the actual provisions of their coverage.

There are two kinds of insurance. First is that for which you pay in actual dollars and cents. Investigate the company before you take out a policy. Find out its reputation for paying just claims. It is not necessarily the largest company that will be the fairest in making settlements. Be careful of the agent with whom you do business. Be sure that he is master of the subject of insurance, an intricate one and bewildering to the average man or woman.

The other sort of insurance is careful driving. While it is true that you cannot always depend upon the other fellow, at least depend upon yourself. There are many traffic hazards on the North Shore. Wide roads lead to speeding, cutting in and out of traffic and the inevitable crash. Be careful. Be sure that your car is in good mechanical condition. A good rule to observe on the highway is "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Remembering it may mean a life saved.

Fight On Toll Is Postponed

Sparring for time in its defense of the Jones Beach Causeway toll fight, the Long Island State Park Board has granted a postponement of the case to be determined by Justice Paul Bonynge in Nassau County Supreme Court on Monday morning.

The State counsel moved for the postponement on two grounds: One was that they had been served with notice a few hours late. The second was that they had written the State counsel a letter asking permission to determine if it was to be a party to the litigation and hadn't received answer. The RFP felt the money used in constructing the new Meadow Brook Causeway.

The Man Behind

What does Supreme Court Justice Thomas J. Cux of Hempstead mean in stating that the National Republican Alliance has formed no part of the charter movement? Was not "partisan politics" responsible for its submission to the legislature by alien Democratic legislators and did not Justice Cux furnish much of the "heat" that went behind its presentation.

He has long tried to hide behind the political skirts of others in this case and Kings, but the hand of Cux is not the voice of Jacob.

Smack 'Em Down
A general meeting of the Nassau County Republican committee will be held in the police auditorium at 11, according to an announcement mailed to each individual committee member by Chairman George R. Brennan. While the special purpose of the gathering is not stated, it is to be understood that party strategy in connection with the coming campaign will be outlined and discussed.
