THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Borrowed Car, 'Few' Drinks, Bother Police

Adventures of Westbury Man Keep Cops Busy

Bert Milburn of Post Avenue, Westbury, started a chain of unusual events Monday afternoon when he went riding in a Chrysler coupe, borrowed from his friend, Joseph Potts, also of Post Avenue.

Nothing would have happened if Milburn hadn't had a few drinks before setting out on his joy ride and if Patrolman William Javens had not noticed his erratic driving. Javens arrested him at Cedar Swamp Road and Northern Boulevard for driving while intoxicated and discovered that he had neither an operator's license nor a registration card.

Dr. Louis Lutz of Central Park pronounced Milburn fit for driving, so Milburn was brought into court before Justice Mory for public intoxication as well as the other two charges. Justice Mory gave him a suspended sentence when Milburn insisted the judge that he meant no harm, had borrowed the car with the full consent of his friend.

Tuesday afternoon Joseph Potts reported to police at the third precinct, Mineola, that his car, a Chrysler coach, had been stolen. He had, he explained, lent the car to his friend, Milburn. Milburn had not returned it and he was afraid that Milburn might have gone out to the races at Saratoga in the automobile.

Second precinct police located the missing car, almost immediately. It was at Van Sice's garage, East Norwalk, where it had been taken following Milburn's arrest.

No Work Evasion, Relief Head Says

Avers Check Shows Idle Do Not Refuse Jobs Offered Them

Raymond Houston, executive secretary of the Nassau County TERA, said this week that an investigation made by his field agents failed to substantiate stories published recently in Nassau newspapers that persons on relief were turning down jobs offered to them by employment agencies and individuals.

His investigators, he said, had not been able to get in touch with all the persons quoted by the stories, but many of those whom they found said that they had been misquoted.

Those on the relief rolls in Nassau County, said Mr. Houston, were taking jobs if they could find them. More than 1,000 had been placed this year, he said, and had been dropped from the relief rolls. About 11,000 remain on the rolls.

GOP Honors Mrs. Roosevelt On Birthday

President's Widow Asks For 'Individual Freedom'

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, speaking before 200 Republicans who gathered at the Bay View Hotel, Tuesday evening to pay tribute to her on her 74th birthday, called for Americans to insist upon their "birthright and individual liberty."

Expressing the opinion that the Republican party had reached a turning point and is definitely on the upgrade she told her audience not to expect great changes overnight. "When a dam breaks," she said, "a tiny trickle of water first gives warning of the great flood that is to follow."

Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by her grandson, Cornelius V. Roosevelt, second son of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, arrived at St. Nicholas Beach at seven o'clock Tuesday evening. Members of the Edith Kernell Roosevelt Republican Club, of which her daughter, Mrs. Richard Derby, is president, the Men's Republican Club of Oyster Bay and the Clara Lee Republican Club were gathered to greet her. She was immediately called upon to cut the three-tiered birthday cake, iced in white with pink decorations and not large candles, which Mrs. Gilbert Hutchinson had baked for the occasion. Newsreel and sound cameramen required her to repeat the performance several times, which she did graciously.

Flanking the cake on either side were bowls of flowers, and two large vases filled with dahlias given by Frank Wardenburg of Oak Norwich. Young Daniel Harrington Jr., son of Mrs. Daniel Harrington who, with Mrs. Robert Clippage, was principally responsible for the program, got stage fright and balked at giving Mrs. Roosevelt a bouquet of flowers.

Mrs. Roosevelt then joined members of her family, including Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and their three sons, Theodore III, Cornelius and Quentin, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Derby and their three daughters, Sarah, Edith and Judith, at a picnic supper on the beach. Others in the party surrounding her included Mrs. Henry P. Dyer, Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel R. Osterberger, Mrs. Frank N. Doubleday, and Mrs. E. K. L. Cumming and Rev. and Mrs. George Talmage.

Just as the bonfire was lighted and the crowd gathered around to hear the speakers, next to Mrs. Roosevelt in the place of honor was Mrs. Leonard W. Hall Sr., former Assemblyman Leonard W. Hall.

Mrs. Derby, as president of the club which arranged the birthday picnic, acted as the toastmaster. She spoke of Mrs. Roosevelt's large family of friends all over the world of Mrs. Roosevelt's interest in people and of her ability to kindle enthusiasm in her listeners. She works. She conveyed the club's best wishes for a happy birthday to Mrs. Roosevelt.

Assemblyman Hall, who spoke after Mrs. Roosevelt, said that he hoped the Republican women would have many more similar beach parties with Mrs. Roosevelt as guest. "More of the Oyster Bay Roosevelt spirit is what this country needs," he said.

Colonel Roosevelt, who has just returned from South America where he captured a rare-toothed jaguar, said that he was proud of the jaguar, but far prouder of his toothless grandchild, young William McMillan, Jr., son of the former Gov. Grover Roosevelt. Scoring the economic and moral crippling to which the nation has been subjected during the present administration, he predicted a Republican victory in November. "The votes of the American people cannot be bought," he said.

J. Russell Sprague, Supervisor of Nassau County, spoke last. He praised Oyster Bay as a wholesome community with a fine town government. Referring to the November election, he warned against the Cuff charter which is to come up for consideration then. "Your present county government has served you well for many years," he said. "It is like a house in which you have always lived. It may need a coat of paint or a shingle here and there, but it's still sturdy."

There is no reason why you should fall for the high pressure salesmen who are going to try to sell you a brand new house," he said. "George Velez, assisted by his brother, Calvin, his son-in-law Leslie Reynolds, and Vernon Jennings, all of Oyster Bay, formed a four piece orchestra, that provided music for singing. Many old favorites, including "My Old Kentucky Home," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "Smiles" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" were sung. William Layton also entertained with accordion music.

Among those present at the picnic, in addition to those mentioned above, were Harry Tappen, Supervisor of Oyster Bay, Edward McQueen, Town Clerk, and Mrs. McQueen, Reginald Alton, of Sea Cliff, Charles Smith and many others.

Sea Cliff Man Found Wandering Along Beach

Arthur Painter, 61, of 1234 Avenue, Sea Cliff, who disappeared from his home Sunday, was found Tuesday wandering along the beach in Bayville. The man was unable to give an explanation of his disappearance, according to his son, William, who found him at the edge of police of that village.

It is believed that he was suffering from a senile or amnesia Sunday he had been clammishing with his son, the pair spending most of the day in the sun. The search was thrown off its track Monday night when a man named McCauley told police he had seen someone who answered Painter's description near the new Meadowbrook Hospital.

Mr. Painter is well known in Sea Cliff.

Find Chrysler Not Guilty in Auto Fatality

Magnate's Son Comforts Bereaved Mother At Inquest

Walter Chrysler, Jr., son of the motor manufacturer, grieved put his arms around the shoulders of a sobbing mother in city court Friday afternoon as Acting Coroner Reginald Moore found him not guilty of criminal negligence in the death of the woman's 11-year-old son.

The woman was Mrs. Mary Frankowski of Glen Head. She is a widow. Dressed in black, she sat on a bench at the rear of the courtroom and wept softly as Mr. Chrysler told how young Alex Frankowski had darted from behind a parked car into the path of the Chrysler machine. The accident occurred two weeks ago on the Glenwood-Glen Head road in Glen Head. Young Alex died last week of his injuries.

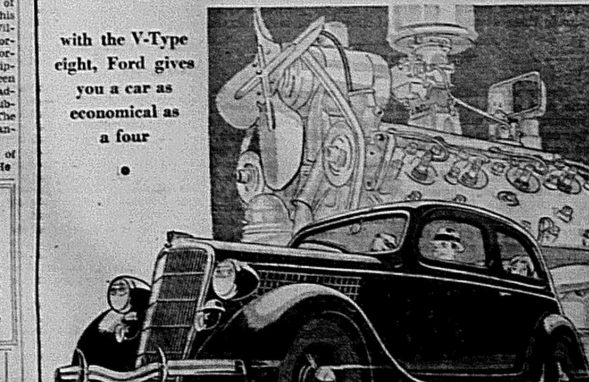

Most pathetic moment of the inquest was when Edie Ericson, 11, bowed forward of the dead boy, took the stand to give his viewpoint of the accident. He broke down and was unable to testify.

Witnesses agreed that the auto magnate's son did everything possible to avoid striking the Frankowski boy. After the accident he picked up the injured lad and rushed him to the North Country Community Hospital.

KEEP AWAY FROM THE SAND PITS!

The pathetic drowning last Saturday afternoon of two 15-year-old Nazareth Trade School boys focuses attention once more on a condition that has existed on the outskirts of Farmingdale for many years. The two boys met their death in the sand pits of the Farmingdale Sand and Gravel Company, drowning as one of them stepped into a deep hole.

It is the same story every year, and summer after summer we print in the columns of The Farmingdale Post the tragic death of boys who tried to escape from the heat by bathing in the abandoned and treacherous pits.

The pits are not, alas, located in Nassau County. In they were, their owners would have either to fill them or else erect a heavy fence around their edges. Suffolk County, however, has no such ruling, and there seems to be no way to force the owners of the land to enclose these artificial ponds.

Fences, of course, would be very expensive indeed, especially around large pits as that of the Nassau Brick Works, and we can see the point of the owners in refusing to build them. So until strict ordinance forcing Nassau, and puts into effect a decree to be nothing to do with the parents of Farmingdale to emphasize again and again to their children the danger of swimming in the sand pits.

DENOUNCING POLITICIANS

Comment on a widespread American habit—politician baiting—was made recently by a man who is a teacher of law and politics and for eight years was a congressman. He said:

"Next to softness of fibre, the chief reason why far larger numbers of young men and women do not try politics is the almost universal and shameless denunciation of public servants in America. . . . The politician is the person who actually brings things to pass within the fabric of government. . . . the able and useful politician is the man who persuades people to behave like human beings when they are in danger of being killed or maimed by the forces of nature and then happens in the best of democracies."

Abuses of politics are responsible for much of this disrepute. On its seamy side, politics is disheartening enough, but there is a brighter side of the picture. The long list of good laws enacted in civilized countries in the past century to improve the lot of the common man, to safeguard the honest accumulation of toil and to diffuse justice among multitudes in large measure the work of political hewers of wood and drawers of water. Without a knowledge of politics a successful conduct of affairs is difficult in normal times and next to impossible in emergencies.

Political evils are not inherent, and the time would seem ripe for many Americans to adopt a more discriminating attitude in characterizing the hostilities to political fortune whom they alone have put in office. This exercise of better sportsmanship calls for no relaxation of your mail and another man miles distant will deliver it promptly. This is a service too often taken for granted.

If anyone will take the time to read one or two issues of the Postal Record, which is the official publication of the National Association of Letter Carriers, he will gain a new vision of the consecration to duty and the sacrifice of personal comfort which is sometimes represented in the regularity with which the daily mail reaches to the humblest mountain home, or the most isolated island settlement.

The members of the National Association of Letter Carriers have had many problems during the past years. Through all the vicissitudes of their business, these public servants have gone steadily on their way, delivering the mail over their devoted routes, speaking words of cheer to those along the way who come to look upon them as friends and sometimes counselors. They have acquired a sound philosophy which is well expressed in the following words of one of their number: "A horse can pull; he can also kick. But while he is pulling he can't kick, like while he is kicking he can't pull." And so they go on pulling and eliminating the kicking.

Get acquainted with some letter carrier this summer, learn a little about his work and his thoughts. Many letter carriers carry much more than mail; they carry cheer, news of the outside world, and often worth while reading matter which is a gift from unknown friends to homes which otherwise would know little of literary richness.

Oh, well, if the Government keeps on it is comforting to know that not a soul in the country will have to be Andrew Carnegie in person, that the man who dies rich dies disgraced.—Boston Evening Transcript.

But from their point of view, it is more desirable to sustain themselves in these days of "sturdy pauperism" such a spirit should not be too severely condemned. At any rate, the objections should not come from Mrs. Dorn, unless he also is willing to retire from a one-sided competition made possible only with taxpayers' money.

In all fairness, however, it should be added that the Dorn plan may be one long step in the direction of a more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

At The Strand

This lovely young lady is one of the many beauties that appear in Al Johnson's latest picture, "Go Into Your Dance," which comes to the Strand in Farmingdale on Sunday and Monday, August 10 and 11.

Sixty Years Ago in Farmingdale

The following items were taken from the Farmingdale Record of August 12, 1907. On Friday last a man named Conrad, residing in this village, was arrested by a Brooklyn detective on a charge of being implicated in stealing a horse, wagon and harness from parties in Brooklyn.

Business in Central Park is brisk. John Bachtel has opened his new blacksmith shop and is overrun with business. He expects in a few days to put on an extra force to complete the work now on hand. As soon as the new time table on the Central Railroad goes into effect we anticipate a great boom in real estate in the village.

Over in Northport we understand that the ship business is booming and that Boss Jesse Carl is overrun with building; he comes from his yard the launching week one of the finest schooners ever built in Northport, and has the model out already for a big 800 tons burden to be built this fall. It is but justice to say that Boss Carl is the live man of the county.

Work was begun this week for 10 houses on Oak Street about a mile to the west of this place, on the land formerly owned by John H. Brush, but lately sold to New York parties. These buildings will be put up in neat, tasty style and occupied by city folk.

At Stewart's brickyard in Bethpage a change of the head manager has been made. W. H. H. Hindsdale, a gentleman in every respect, is now manager. A number of men were set to work immediately to get everything in order for making brick again in a very short time.

BABYLON THEATRE

When a reporter leaves his bride-to-be waiting at the church while he dashes off on a secret assignment, you can expect plenty to happen to his romance—and it does in Fox Film's "The Daring Young Man" now at the Babylon Theatre on a double feature program, and featuring James Dunn.

The supporting cast includes Mae Clarke, Neil Hamilton, Sidney Toler, Warren Hymer and Stanley Fields among others.

If you can picture the monster of "Frankenstein" and the vampire of "Dracula" vying with each other for horror honors, you can anticipate the chills and thrills that are packed into Universal's "The Raven" as the co-feature.

The plot concerns the mental flights of a famous surgeon. Featured in the supporting cast are Irene Ware, Lester Matthews, Samuel Hinds, Tom Conlay and many others.

"Front Page Woman" Warner Bros. fast moving comedy-drama dealing with the intense rivalry between a man and a woman reporter on competing newspapers, comes on Wednesday and Thursday.

Bette Davis, deserting for the moment the heavy dramatic roles she has portrayed in the past, and George Brent, the Irish-American actor, are starred in the picture, which includes a supporting cast comprising popular players such as Roscoe Karns, Winifred Shaw, Walter Walker, George E. Stone, Gordon Westcott and others.

RAYSHORE THEATRE

"Broadway Gondolier," sensational new musical comedy which revivifies the popular stars of "Gold Diggers of 1933," Dick Powell and Joan Blondell will be the screen attraction at the Ray Shore Theatre beginning Sunday, August 11 and playing through Wednesday, August 14.

In the all-star cast besides Dick Powell and Joan Blondell are Adolphe Menjou, Louise Fazenda, William Gargan, George Barbier, Grant Mitchell and the Four Mills Bros. Dick Powell in the role of the singing gondolier, renders several songs in the production. Joan Blondell, as the secretary to the radio magazine, sings a comedy song in the picture. Adolphe Menjou has the role of Dick's teacher, and the picture is said to be the best of the man of the screen appears in the worst clothes he has ever worn. There are many lovely features in the picture. One is the musical production, in which Powell, Blondell and Menjou sing. The Four Mills Bros. also do their act and Ted Rio and his famous orchestra play. The picture is a comedy romance. "She" has finally been presented as a screen play, and opens a three day engagement at the Rayshore Theatre, Thursday, August 15 and continuing throughout Saturday, August 17. The cruel and deathless "She" is portrayed with superb artistry by Helen Gahagan. It is her depiction of the ruthless matchmaker of the Korbis empire that perfectly justifies Leo's action in reclaiming love to Tanya when "She" offers him eternal life. Marked with cash, and used to the best of the work of Randolph Scott as Leo. Helen Mack contributes what is perhaps the finest performance in the exciting role of Tanya. Nigel Bruce distinguishes himself in the semi-comic role of Holly.

HICKSVILLE PLAYHOUSE

A few years ago a seventeen-year-old boy stepped onto the stage of a New York theatre, for his first stage job. His father, himself a stage star, was a friend of the star of the show. The boy played an extraordinary role. The story was told in the great star won prominence, went into more roles and became a stage star in his own right.

They met again when Lionel Barrymore and Charles Morris, the boy who had launched to stardom together for the first time since, at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, in "Public Hero Number 1," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Hicksville Theatre.

Old Friends on the Stage

Barrymore and William Morris, Charles's father, had been old friends on the stage. Through the years that followed the boy's first appearance in "The Copperhead," Barrymore had watched with almost paternal pride as Charles grew in "The Big House" and then, his most recent, "Society Doctor."

"It taught me a great deal," says Charles, "and still when I watch him work today I feel as though I didn't know anything."

"He's one of the finest actors on the screen," Lionel says of Charles. "He has it in the blood. His father was great before him. In the new picture Morris plays the adventurous Jeff Crane, and Barrymore an eccentric physician whose fate is woven into the story of a criminal case."

Today and tomorrow a double feature program appears at the Strand in Farmingdale, when both "Night at the Ritz" and "The Cowboy Millionaire" are presented. William Gargan is the star of the film, which tells of gay goings on at the smart New York hotel. George O'Brien is of course the cowboy millionaire, and here we have another thrilling story, the film telling of the adventures of a rich city youth who comes to take possession of his recently inherited ranch.

Christian Science Lesson - Sermon

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in the Church of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, August 11.

The Golden Text is: "He that loveth his flesh shall lose it, but he that loveth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Galatians 6:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh" (Galatians 5:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following correlative selection from the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man walks in the direction toward which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit" (p. 431-4).

AMITYVILLE THEATRE

"Front Page Woman" fast-moving comedy-drama dealing with the intense rivalry between a man and woman reporter on opposing newspapers 7 at the Amityville Theatre beginning Sunday, August 11, and playing through Tuesday, August 12. Bette Davis, deserting for the moment the heavy dramatic roles she has portrayed in the past, and George Brent, the Irish-American actor, are starred in the picture, which includes a supporting cast comprising popular players such as Roscoe Karns, Winifred Shaw, Walter Walker, J. Carroll Nash, Gordon Westcott and others.

At the Amityville Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, August 14 and 15, is a brand new twist in picture plots. "Won't Bet on Blondes." The big cast is headed by Warren William, Guy Kibbee and Claire Dodd, who for the first time is seen in a sympathetic role. A lovelier heroine would be hard to find. The story concerns a big-shot gambler who decides that the insurance business is more respectable and allows the same opportunity for profit. He therefore starts an insurance company which offers to insure anybody against anything. Several hilarious episodes in the counter-plot a riot of joyous comedy. Among them are the incident of the prospective father who wants to insure his wife against twins with unexpected results.

At the Amityville Theatre, Friday and Saturday, August 16 and 17, a double feature program will be presented. Remember the "Bright Eyes" who imitated a machine gun, told tales on Rialty Temple, tried to run her down with a doll carriage and proved herself a complete annoyance? She's Jane Withers, chubby independent little girl of nine, about so high, with dark brown hair, blue-gray eyes, who has proven herself another one of filmdom's sensational discoveries. Jane's latest picture "Ginger" with Jane Withers and Jackie Searl, "Ginger" boasts the world's champion small girl and boy heavies of the screen, and George O'Brien's new film "Hard Rock Harrigan" will be the associated feature.

ON THE BENCH

By RICHARD WILLIS

"Donkey baseball" comes out of the West and it is stopping at Sea Cliff despite the protests of indignant Cliffites who brand it as vulgar, weird and what not. Although a delegation of residents from the vicinity of Clifton Park put up quite a kick about the sport at a village board meeting on Tuesday evening, the town fathers decided that it would be all right to sponsor the games for the benefit of the local unemployed.

The way I understand it, all the players excepting the pitcher and catcher have a donkey at their disposal and the game is played under practically the same rules that govern a regular baseball game. As soon as the batter clears the ball, he mounts his jackass and teary around the bases. The fielders are equipped with the same animals and are allowed to take one step from the name to retrieve the ball. Otherwise they must mount and ride after the sphere.

If it planned to schedule two games, one on Monday, August 19 and the other on the following evening. The games will be played under the floodlights at Clifton Park between the American Legion, the first department and the Young Men's Club. This sport may be noisy, vulgar and everything else but it is bound to pack them in and I know one person who will be present. Here's where I get it in the neck from those indignant residents!

For those of you who frequent Jones Beach, the Women's National A. U. Long distance swimming championships, team and individual, will be held on Sunday, August 18, at 3:30 p. m. The event is being sponsored by the Long Island State Park Commission and the Women's Swimming Association of New York. For you girls who wish to enter the competition, get your entries in by Thursday, to Miss Elsie L. Vies, 204 East 77th Street, New York City.

It seems that every where you go people ask, "Have you seen the midget auto races at Freeport?" The fact that the management of the races has built more seating accommodations proves the auto races are quite the thing. Babe Ruth had a great time out at Jones Beach last Saturday basking in the water and letting the kids race to retrieve them. I'd like to have a dollar for every ball he autographed since the day he was hit by a baseball. Joe Phillips, of the Glen Cove baseball team, suffered the first major baseball injury that I have heard of on the North Shore this season. He slipped when he was running and hit his head on a concrete wall. He is recovering in the North Country Community Hospital here on the next fly, Joe.

Tennis Match Postmen Halted Won By Peets By Coal Co., 6-0

Spencer Peets of Great Neck defeated Frank Osgood, of Great Neck, on Sunday to take the finals of the annual Great Neck district tennis championship and the silver cup put up by John B. Gilliar for the winner of the singles.

Peets dropped the first set to Osgood 6-4, but won the next three sets 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. During the first set it looked as if Osgood might be going to take Peets into camp, but his game became erratic after the first set and he steadily slipped down to his usual form with only a few serious lapses.

Peets, who is one of the few good left-handed players in the area, plays a slow and easy game that tires an opponent out with his accurate placements and almost perfect lobbing game. He was playing the ball on both sides of the court with amazing accuracy yesterday when he got started and it was too much for Osgood to cope with after his net game collapsed.

In the first set Osgood played a fore-court game to good advantage and was placing unplayable smashes all around Peets while Peets was missing easy shots at the same time to help take the first set away. The rest of the match was very different, however, with Osgood unable to continue his devastating net game as Peets either lobbed over his head or placed his shots along the side lines so closely that Osgood was unable to kill them.

Lively Floor Show At Charlie's Inn

One of the cleverest and liveliest floor shows among the more popular of Long Island resorts is the one that is being presented twice nightly at Charlie's Inn at Elmont. Six versatile young ladies make up the cast of the show.

Spella Rose, a blues singer, who is called the Texas Guinan of Long Island, is mistress of ceremonies. Dorothy Real, a petite blonde, handles the torch singing assignment very handsily. The other four girls, Virginia White, Mary Murray, Monte Wells and Mona Leonardo, work as a chorus and each has a specialty of her own. Miss White performs a tap dance, Miss Wells is both an acrobatic dancer and tap dancer. Miss Leonardo, often makes dances twice each night and Mary Murray, the panther girl, amuses the patrons with her dances of the jungle. Charlie's Inn is owned by Laura Gonsky and is under the management of Charles Schneider, well known throughout Nassau County as a fine host.

Port Sports

By ARNOLD DICKERSON

With no night baseball games having been played in Port Washington for the last couple of weeks, it leaves us somewhat short of material. However, that is even worse than a passing comment. When the actual figures are perused it is noticed that the 1,000 or more people who were present at the Penn Red Caps' contest, it shows a distinct lack some place.

Granting there were 1,000, or even 2,000, in attendance at that game, the receipts should have been better than $1,000. That means that about 700 spectators either crashed the gate, climbed the fence or in some way evaded paying the small fee. Now, with 10 people doing that, a minute, it would take the gate clerk half an hour to complete the procedure. And that seems impossible, doesn't it? Yet the figures prove the fact.

No ball club can possibly exist with the odds so great against it before the game starts. Certainly those people who evaded the gatekeeper can realize that. And the 50 cents asked is not an exorbitant price or they might, in some small measure, be justified. Out of those 700 people it's a safe gamble that 600 of them could and didn't.

Last week finished the Port Washington Post Office team's lucky streak. After triumphing the "cool heave" the week before 4-1, the same team came back Friday evening and shut the mailmen out, 6-0. Hattie Lockman had the game in the palm of his hand and let Uncle Sam's boys down hard. Four hits were all they could squeeze out of him and nary a run. Be sure to watch the date for the next game because the rubber will find both teams on their toes and raring to go.

Speaking of the post office, that ball game with the Port Washington police never came to a head. But now we see that the police have some swimmers on their force and the mailmen say they will meet the cops in the water to give them a chance to even those previous baseball defeats. Of course the cops must swim minus their guns, night sticks, etc. and the mailmen without the burden of a loaded-down mail bag.

Another game with the House of David has been scheduled for August 14. If you don't obtain a ticket in advance or at the gate be careful, as values will be collected during the game. Just a precaution.

State Troopers Taken By Acey Tally In Eighth

Big Green Team Outthit 7-3; Good Fielding Saves Day

Although "Buddy" Meade allowed seven scattered hits and his team mates collected but three safeties, the Great Neck Athletic Club broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning to hand the State Troopers' team a 2-1 defeat at Memorial Field, Great Neck, on Sunday.

The Troopers scored their tally in the fifth inning, when Bill Reilly smashed out a single to center field, stole second and came in on Burns' single.

Blond hit a good game for the Troopers and had been given the proper support in the field the final count would probably have been reversed. The first Great Neck tally was registered in the first stanza on two errors.

Meade, who pitched a nice game despite the seven hits and two walks he issued, scored the winning run for the Acey outfit. He lined out a clean single, was sacrificed to second by Kaufman and tallied on Plummer's single to center field.

The Cops came near to tying off bettering the score in their half of the ninth. They got two men on base with but one out and a fast double play by Ruggiero at short and Ruris at second was all that saved the day for the Great Neck boys.

The Great Neck players gave an excellent fielding performance for the record; breaking crowd which attended the game. Two errors were charged up against them, one of which proved costly, but on the whole their play has improved greatly. This can be proved by the fact that the Troopers dominated Valley Stream last week and the week before Valley Stream took the Neekers into camp.

If the Acey boys can get their bats clicking, they will be a hard outfit to beat and they would be a fairly safe bet against any team on the Island.

CAREY CORK INSULATED SHINGLES

When the summer sun beats down, Carey Cork Insulated Shingles make hours much cooler. The cork provides real insulation, while the extra thickness makes a beautiful, deep shadow-lined roof.

Yet this unusual shingle costs much less than the price of ordinary roofing plus the price of separate roof insulation. Let us supply samples and quotations.

Large Estate Is Bequeathed By Mrs. Dows

Husband And Two Children To Divide $500,000 Holdings

Disposing of an estate believed to be between $500,000 and $1,000,000, the will of Gwendolyn Dows, wife of former Sheriff David Dows, of Nassau County, was filed Tuesday for probate in the office of Surrogate Howell here. Mrs. Dows died July 30 last in the New York Hospital, New York City.

The estate is divided almost equally between her husband and two children. The document was dated June 20 last. Although believed to be substantial, the estate was listed in the document as being less than $5,000 in real property, and "more than $20,000 in personal property."

Jewelry of the decedent goes to a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn B. Bliss, of Glen Head, while the antique furniture is to be shared by Mrs. Bliss and her brother, David Dows, Jr., also of Glen Head.

Mrs. Dows directed in her will that all her books, pictures, automobile, horses, livestock and household furniture go to her husband and be divided among him and their two children as he sees fit.

The residue is divided into three equal parts. One-third is to be placed in trust for her husband who will receive the income for life. On his death the principal is to be shared equally by the two children. One-third goes to the son of the testatrix to be held in trust for him until he is 35 years old, when he will receive one-half the principal, and the income from the balance for his lifetime. Until he reaches 35 he will receive the income from his principal portion. On his death the principal is to go to his wife and children.

Mrs. Bliss will receive the income from her portion for life. On her death the principal is to go to her husband and children.

David Dows, Sr., and the United States Trust Co. of New York City are named executors and trustees of the estate.

Storm Damage Estimated As Over $100,000

seers, attracted by photographs in metropolitan newspapers, swarmed over the field. The wireless station on the roof of the Grumman building was leveled with an estimated loss of $4,000. Skylights in the Grumman building and the Seversky hangar were broken, making it necessary for employees to hide under benches to escape the falling glass.

Greenhouses throughout Farmingdale also suffered greatly from the storm. Frank Zinda, owner of the Zinda nurseries on Broad Hollow road, reported that more than 2,000 of his panes were broken, and it was estimated that at the Zebulo nurseries more than twice that amount were broken. Neither carried half insurance. The City of Glass on Melville Road escaped without so great a damage, but workmen had to spend most of Friday putting in new panes.

The dry building roof on the drive building at the Independent Silk Works plant on Conklin Street was ripped off and skylights at the laundry plant were broken. At the height of the storm lightning struck the old Pratt barn on Fairview Road, and the building burned to the ground. Lightning also struck a large oak on the property of David O'Donnell on Fairview Road, and a tree at the Edward Johnson place on Merritt Road. Traffic was tied up all over the village as trees, came hurtling across the road.

Farmers in the area, too, suffered from the storm, although they were spared to salvage many of their crops which at first appearance looked ruined. The experimental orchard at the State College suffered heavy damage, many trees being uprooted. Trees at the Orchard Poultry Farm on Broad Hollow Road were also uprooted. Farmers reported in some areas that their entire crops had either been beaten by the hail or washed away by the heavy rain which followed.

Telephone and electric light linesmen worked all night and Friday repairing the damage, one employee reporting that he had never seen so terrific a storm in all his 20 years of telephone work.

Man Swims Eight Miles Across Sound

Anthony Marcus swam across Long Island Sound from Olen Cove landing to the Larchmont Yacht Club a distance of about eight miles, last Sunday in two hours and 35 minutes. He was accompanied by three friends in a rowboat.

Leaving the landing shortly after ten o'clock, he found weather conditions perfect and experienced no difficulty in crossing the Sound. Marcus was a member of the B. A. C. team that won the Junior National Long Distance Team championship at Ballston Spa, N. Y. in 1933 and a week later the Senior National Long Distance title over a ten mile course at Philadelphia.

one private ownership in Nassau County.

In 1931 the Long Island State Park Commission, in order to prevent the subdivision of this tract and to preserve it as a great future reservation for public recreation, by special legislative authorization, took an option on the entire property through a payment of $300,000 by the Township of Oyster Bay and $100,000 by the County of Suffolk. This option was extended from year to year until 1934, when the Bethpage Park Authority, created by the Long Island State Park Commission, acting as the Bethpage Park Authority, issued $1,000,000 of purchase money bonds to pay for the property, of which $100,000 was taken by the state company and the remainder by the Yorktown estate.

The development plans for the park provides for remodeling the existing 11-hole course, constructing three new courses, a large modern clubhouse, a polo field, bridge paths, picnic areas, recreational fields and playgrounds. Three of the golf courses are now open and the fourth, almost completed, will be open for play next spring. Work on the picnic and play areas, polo center, bridge paths, tennis courts and other recreational features is progressing rapidly and next spring will see the park in full operation. The construction and operation development of Bethpage State Park has been progressed as a work relief project.

The Bethpage State Parkway, now under construction by the Long Island State Park Commission and the New York State Department of Public Works, when completed will provide a direct connection to Bethpage State Park from the Southern Parkway.

Recent Thunder Storms Keep Light Crews Busy

The thunder and lightning storms of the past few weeks which ended, temporarily at least, the record breaking, warm, muggy weather, brought considerable relief to the suffering public, but to the Long Island Lighting Company they meant that the suffering had just begun.

The violent electrical discharges together with the rain, wind and hail combined forces to keep the operators and line crews of the Lighting Company working all night several nights in their efforts to clear the damage and to restore service. To add to the difficulties even the switching operations were seriously hampered due to the failure of telephone communication, in some cases, between sub-stations and generating points.

ate to 50 gallons of water to which should be added two pounds of sheet flour. Plainly, we cannot recommend this poison spray for green vegetables.

The United States Bureau of Entomology at Moorestown, New Jersey, under the direction of Doctor Hadley, is at work on this beetle and also the Japanese beetle, making tests and trying out various control methods. Doctor H. C. Hallock with several assistants is at Elizabeth, New Jersey, working on poison bait but until this country's work is completed, he is not making recommendations.

Traps of various designs have been employed. It is believed that a properly designed light trap will be of considerable use. The funnel trap has proved of most value thus far.

Hail Stones Injure Youth

favorably, but this time they admitted that they were just plain stupid.

The air corps at Fairchild Field suffered badly from the storm as twelve of their planes were damaged by the hail. The planes were damaged by the hail stones riddling the wings like machine gun bullets. One huge bomber was supposed to have been swept half way across the field by the wind, but officials refused to confirm or deny that rumor yesterday. On Tuesday what is said to be the last army plane in repair at Mitchell Field crashed as it was landing, so in a little less than a week they lost 13 airplanes.

The hail has made many nurserymen around Farmingdale inquire into the hail association, which functions out west, special insurance cover and nurserymen spend year to be sure, and the damage done by hail paired at no cost.

The job of moving the airplanes from East to Mitchell Field took place on Saturday, and it was pretty hard up when the bomber was along behind a truck, and the planes were damaged that send to Hartford to be repaired.

Next Sunday, August 11, will play the Major C. at the home field, Field, Farmingdale.

Water Front Lots To Go At Auction

Almost three miles of actual waterfront at Cape Gardiner, L. I., will be sold at public auction by J. Edward Brewer, on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, August 24 and 25.

The Gardiner's Bay waterfront at Cape Gardiner locks out to the Atlantic Ocean and is considered among the finest on Long Island.

The property to be offered adjoins the Caroline Gerard Memorial Park which is owned by the township of East Hampton.

The land in spots is heavily wooded with white oak and cedar. There is a town road running down through the center of the Cap and all lots will front on this road and run through to the water.

30 DAY SEASON

Long Island duck hunters will have only a thirty day season this year, with rigid regulations enforced in an effort to reduce the annual kill. The month will open on October 21 and will close November 19.
