Bethpage Club To Be Scene Of Rotary Dance

500 Expected At Affair Set For September 25

Members of the Farmingdale Rotary Club have decided the plans of the committee arranging the dinner dance which will be held by the local Rotarians on September 25, when Rudolph Webber, chairman of the affair, spoke at the week-day luncheon at the Bethpage Club yesterday.

Invitations will be sent to Rotary Clubs all over Long Island, as well as to the largest gatherings in the city, and more than 500 persons are expected to be present at the affair, which will be held at the Bethpage Country Club. Entertainment will be provided, and one of the island's best dance orchestras will furnish the music.

Music was the order of the day at the meeting Wednesday, the Rotarians singing many Rotary songs to the accompaniment of Miss Ann Purson's ace piano playing. One of the largest gatherings of the year was present, as many club members had returned from their summer vacations. Two honorary members of the group, the Rev. Jonathan Sherman, of St. Thomas Church, and Rev. Frederick Morley of the Farmingdale Methodist Church were present. Rev. Morley of Huntington was also present.

President Charles Bocker, accompanied by Jerry Allard, will attend the district conference at Pointe-aux-Lac this week, and will report on the convention at next week's meeting.

Annual Garden Club Show Set For Next Week

Plans are being completed this week for what the Garden Club of Farmingdale believe will be one of the most successful shows ever held by the organization. The exhibition will be held at the Farmingdale High School gymnasium on Saturday, September 14, from four until ten o'clock.

Mrs. Harry Emers is chairman of the show committee, which also includes Mrs. Alfred Parry, Mrs. David Welsh, Mrs. Thomas O. Dunbar, Mrs. Charles' Meias, Miss Lillian Kraemer, Mrs. Ida F. Raynor, Mrs. C. W. Jordan and Mrs. Fred Feilsen. Mr. Dankerke is president of the club, Mrs. Dunkerke secretary, Mrs. Jordan, vice-president and Mrs. Emers treasurer.

Entries are open to any amateur in Nassau or Suffolk counties, and there will be no entrance fee. Commercial and professional gardeners are invited to display their flowers, but cannot compete for prizes. All exhibits, the committee has announced, must be in place and ready for judges by one o'clock on the day of the show. The public will not be admitted until after four.

Everyone should know (and probably does) by this time of the gala day about to be held under the joint auspices of the Women's Republican Club of Hempstead, Inc., the Hempstead Republican Club, Pulaski Republican Club and the

With the Republicans

By CHARLES W. SMITH

The vacation season has been an unusually intermittent affair this year for most of the big-league Republican politicians. While it would not be strictly true to claim that lay-offs have been entirely impossible, the fact remains that to most of them rest, ease and relaxation have been undertaken with one eye always open to local political demands all through the summer.

Superiority of Russell outwardly expressed, that spells not only "Victory" but with pluralities that are likely to stagger the opposition. It is natural, therefore, that greater demands should have been made upon the party leaders during the past summer than has been customary in the past, and those whose comfort and personal inclination have been used to the "old" are, just as naturally complaining the least. Not only those who look for re-election this fall have cheerfully surrendered time and pleasure to party duty by contributing their presence to Republican functions large and small, but practically all officials and job holders have joined enthusiastically in one way or another in keeping the organization ball a-rolling.

Now that everyone's back on the job, the Republican campaign may be considered definitely underway. From now on the voters may expect to learn something of party strategy, the "ifs" and "buts" of the past summer may be thrown aside, most of it as silly season dope without much basis in fact. Just as it is possible at this moment to consider the Republican candidate for President in 1936, so much the local political conjuncture of the past few weeks is disappearing and probably "way" of the track.

There are interesting and somewhat complicated situations in each of the five governmental units of the county that will tax considerable thought and many conferences to iron out, and to a certain extent the heavy work in this connection must wait until after the primaries. North Hempstead, in particular, presents a condition that requires real statesmanlike qualities from its leaders, but that requirement will be forthcoming as always in that township.

In every unit there is manifest a disposition to estimate the feelings and desires of the rank and file that is most encouraging. The old-time idea of placating the disgruntled at the expense of the faithful seems to have been thrown out of the window. While committees are being granted more power and initiative than ever before, the ordinary citizen outside the inner circle of government is being given his full measure of consideration also. In other words the leaders in the county have had their ears to the ground for many months. They know pretty well what the people need and want, and while every effort of their cannot, in the nature of things approximate absolute perfection, the "greatest good of the greatest number" is to be a cardinal principle of the coming campaign.

PLAN LUNCHEON The Ladies Aid Society of the Farmingdale Methodist Church is planning a "covered dish luncheon," which will be a stopping place, and in the immortal phraseology of country journalism, "a good time was had by all."

TO THE COMMUTERS OF LONG ISLAND

A Statement About Proposed New Fares

FOR SOME YEARS the commuters of Long Island have had lower railroad fares than the average in the New York territory.
All eight railroads serving the metropolitan area, except the Long Island, have been granted increases in fares since 1918. Five of these railroads have increased their commutation rates from 15 to 40 per cent in the last ten years.
The Long Island Railroad, on the other hand, has relied on its resources, engineering skill, management and rigid economies to preserve the existing fare schedule.
But a combination of circumstances no longer makes this possible. The Long Island Rail Road is compelled to apply for an increase in weekly, monthly and school tickets, effective October 1 in order to make both ends meet.
This situation has been aggravated by other factors: In recent years there has been tremendous highway development on Long Island which has cut deeply into the railroad's revenue.
Long Island Rail Road revenues in 1933 and 1934, respectively, were less than in any year since 1918. Passenger revenues alone last year were less than in any year since 1920.
Frighth revenues dropped to less than in any year since 1918.
In the last five years the total passenger revenues have fallen off 35 per cent, freight revenues 40 per cent, mail revenues 36 per cent, freight revenues 70 per cent, and revenues from incidental sources 52 per cent.
Total revenues—in dollars and cents—have dropped from $111,000,000 to $23,000,000, which is less than the railroad's passenger revenue alone in 1931.
And in the first seven months of this year the Company's revenues have failed to meet operating expenses and fixed charges by $17,000,000.
Meanwhile, costs have gone up.
Peak wage rates were restored in April, as per national agreement.
Fuel and material costs have risen steadily under the impetus of the government's recovery program.
Taxes last year were twice what they were in 1918, when commutation rates were what they are today. In fact, taxes last year were $200,000,000 more than in 1918, although revenues were $16,000,000 less.
The railroad has tried to meet this situation by cutting costs to bedrock. Transportation costs have been reduced by 50 per cent.
There is only one solution—that the Company has striven to avoid. And that is an increase in commutation fares in line with rates on other railroads serving this territory.
The increase proposed ranges from 15 to 20 per cent weekly, monthly and school tickets.
At the same time the Company will make permanent the 12-trip weekly ticket, which has become so popular. And also the unrestricted 10-trip "beaver" tickets to take the place of the old restricted 20-trip and 50-trip fare tickets which have gone out of date.
The Long Island Rail Road is reluctant to file a tariff which represents an increase in commutation fares. It represents, however, must have additional revenues in order to meet the cost of performing the service which its patrons require. It realizes that the proposed increases affect the great majority of its patrons and it respectfully requests them to consider the reasons which make this action unavoidable.
