Charles H. Stoll, 100, distinguished lawyer for over 75 years, and wildlife conservationist, of Hicksville and Huntington, died Saturday, September 3, 1988.

Originally from Beatrice, Nebraska, he came to New York, attended New York Law School and graduated in 1909. He then practiced law in New York City and subsequently in Hicksville,

Serving as a Judge, succeeding Judge Joseph Steinert, Stoll was an innovator on the bench and instituted a night court to accommodate the growing commuter population of Hicksville in the early '20s. Many old timers agreed that the night sessions were "better than the movies."

He was recognized as an authority in the formation of water districts and organized the water districts of Hicksville, Jericho, Dix Hills and other communities. He was instrumental in the creation of the present Suffolk County Water Authority.

Mr. Stoll devoted his personal life interest to big game hunting and fishing and was foremost in the field of conservation. He hunted throughout the world and his collection is housed in a wing of the Vanderbilt Museum. He conducted an expedition to the Arctic in 1928, where he secured the Pacific Walrus and Sub-Arctic Bird Groups, which are on exhibit in the American Museum of Natural History.

Mr. Stoll was a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Vanderbilt Museum, a member of the Camp Fire Club of America, the Adventurers Club, the Explorers Club, American Polar Society, and patron of the American Museum of Natural History. He was a life member of the Downtown Athletic Club, a member of the Huntington Yacht Club and the Bar Association of Nassau County.

He is survived by two grandchildren, four great-grandchildren of Florida and one sister, Pearl R. Francke, of Hicksville. Reposing at Wagner's Funeral Home, 125 Old Country Road, Hicksville. Funeral service Wednesday, September 7, 1988 at 10 a.m. Interment Plainlawn Cemetery, Hicksville, N.Y.

Snack Shop Operation Sought By Gas Station

A public hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 4, by the Oyster Bay Town Board on a request for a modification of restrictive covenants and permission to operate a snack shop in Hicksville, according to Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond.

"The applicant, Mobil Oil Corporation, is seeking a modification or restrictive covenants on a previously issued special use permit to utilize the premises for a public garage, gasoline filling station and to also permit a snack shop," Diamond said.

The property is located on the east side of Broadway, south of Bethpage Road in Hicksville.

The hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 4, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Town Hall East hearing room, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

Rain Delays F.D. Parade To Monday, Labor Day

By Michele Coyle

The 60th Annual Labor Day Parade and Drill Competition was held on Labor Day in Hicksville. Though originally scheduled for Sunday the 4th, rain prevented some 2000 participants from marching down the parade route.

According to official counts, 1335 men and 50 women marched along the parade route along with 502 band members and about 200 cars, fire trucks and other related apparatus. The Town of Oyster Bay helped by making certain roads along the route available.

The two-hour parade was highlighted by the awarding of trophies in several different categories to the participants.

The Hicksville Fire Department won first place for the "Best Appearing Fire Department (with 61 or more participants)" and "Best Appearing Ladies Auxiliary." The Bethpage Fire Department placed second in the "Best Appearing... (with 61 or more) category. The winner of the overall competition was East Rockaway.

The Ninth Battalion Parade and Drill was held simultaneously with the Annual Parade and judged separately. The 9 Battalion is one of nine in Nassau County and consists of Bethpage, Hicksville, Jericho, Carle Place, Farmingdale, Plainview, South Farmingdale and Westbury. This year Hicksville was the 9 Battalion host.

The hosts excelled in this competition by taking "Best Appearing Fire Department" and "Best Appearing Ladies Auxiliary" areas as well as second place in the "Best Appearing Musical" category, earning them the first place prize overall in the competition. Bethpage placed third in the "Best Appearing Fire Dept." area while Jericho placed third in the "Best Appearing Musical" category.

Over 6000 spectators filled the grandstands during the drill competition. Though the West Hempstead "Westerners" placed first in the overall competition, the Hicksville "Hicks" placed fourth in the fast paced Motor Hose Class C competition.

Several minor injuries were suffered during the nine event competition, but one major injury marred the day. Eric Pietzak of the Hicksville Drill team slipped and slid down the pavement during the Motor Hose Class C competition, suffering second and third degree burns. He was taken to the burn center at the Nassau County Medical Center. He was expected to be released today (Friday).

The 9 Battalion Old Fashioned Drill will be held this Sunday at noon in the area on West Barclay Street near the Hicksville Train Station. Admission is free.

Elspeth Howell, center, of Bethpage was recently honored for "outstanding commitment to customer and community service" by Long Island Lighting Co. Making the award presentation is Steven Maslak, left, manager of customer relations for LILCO, and Walter Wilm, the utility's vice president of customer relations. Howell, a customer representative in LILCO's Hicksville office, was recognized for saving a neighbor's life by administering CPR and first aid after he suffered a stroke.

Staffing/Grade Results

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Thaler

The Hicksville School Board held its final summer session on August 31. The focus of the agenda turned toward staffing for the coming year and grading results for the 1987-88 year.

The Board approved the appointment of Mrs. Linda Berg as Assistant Director of Instruction. One of the main functions of this office under state law is to keep records for special education students.

The District reported school-by-school elementary enrollments as of August 30. Several residents in the Fork Lane School area requested the district take another look at its second grade which is projected as a singleton class of 27 students, one of the largest in the district. A parent from the Old Country Road School questioned the slating of its Kindergarten for two sessions of 25 and 22 students. Superintendent Catherine Fenton assured residents that the size of elementary classes is determined by the professional judgment of the staff involved, and not by numbers alone.

On the middle school level, Dr. Fenton stated that the district was able to form 5 of the 6 "teams" in the 7th and 8th grades this year into heterogeneous groups containing a full combination of Honors, Regents and Basic students. Two of the three 8th grade teams will contain the full mix.

The District posted its senior high school grade distribution containing the June testing results and its Regents exam report for summer school sessions. Assistant Superintendent Dr. G. Robert Couillard noted "disappointing results," in light of the fact that the district has been focusing on student achievement of the Regents diploma. Dr. Couillard said that in the coming months, high school department chairs will be consulting with teachers to develop a specific plan of action to improve grades. Although further results detailing State and County-wide student grades will be available by November when the district will issue its Comprehensive Assessment Report, Dr. Couillard did not bank on Hicksville's scores being seen in a more favorable light. He said that the district is dismayed by our local results.

Resident Donna Martillo commended the district for looking into an expanded summer school program. She, once again, cited that some students are falling just short of the grade in reading and math and need further reinforcement during summer months.

Several residents requested information concerning the 4th through 6th grade academic enrichment program. Dr. Fenton said that the program is continuing, but that it will now be housed at Dutch Lane School and will be under the direction of the principal, Mrs. Nancy Burke. Although one of the enrichment teachers has accepted a position in another district, the program will proceed with the addition of another teacher from the Hicksville staff.

The Board unanimously approved a resolution to defer submission of the asbestos management plan required by law for each school building and all other auxiliary buildings. Under the State's procedures for deferral, requests must be filed on or before October 12, 1988. If a deferral is granted, the school district must file a completed management plan on or before May 9, 1989. Districts must begin implementing their management plan on or before July 9, 1989, regardless of whether or not a deferral has been received.

Hicksville has engaged a Hauppauge asbestos and hazardous material management firm, Environmental Compliance, Inc. Environmental Compliance will assess asbestos containing building materials and prepare the management plan to be submitted to the State and Federal governments.

Mr. Bruce M. D'Abromo, Director of Technical Services, presented a film clip on asbestos and answered questions from the Board and residents. He stated that asbestos must release fibers into the air in order to cause harm. Three conditions which initiate hazard are material deterioration, contact with fibrous material causing disturbance such as throwing a ball against it, and stirring up settled dust.

Staff and maintenance personnel in the district have been trained to recognize asbestos materials. Mr. D'Abromo stressed that much can be done to prevent fiber release, particularly maintenance and correct work practices. He added that his company does not conduct air quality tests, except after an abatement project. High priority areas will be designated, and testing will be done during low activity periods after school has been dismissed and during lunch hours in the boiler rooms.

The company's projected 3-year program will make recommendations as to whether asbestos should be removed, as opposed to encapsulation. Asked his opinion on the two options, Mr. D'Abromo said that the State EPA regulations do not indicate total removal at this time. He surmised that EPA would have to come up with some dollars for districts if they mandated removal.

Trustee William Bennett questioned the health and welfare of the children and staff upon removal of asbestos. Mr. D'Abromo said that his company would replace material with another type of insulation with no known health defects of today.

Top School Bd. Agenda

The Board approved the $63,200 contract with the consultant, citing no additional costs for the Federal AHERA Management plan. Other costs would be determined by the results of the management plan and the need to draw specifications for additional work.

On a related matter, Burns Avenue PTA President Cathy Corrado asked the Board why the temporaries have not, to date, been removed from the school's property. Dr. Fenton said that an inspection has found asbestos containing thermal wrap in the crawl space in each building. Before the district can demolish the temps, it must engage a specialist to remove the asbestos material. The contract is now going out to bid. Air quality tests will be conducted before and after removal. The district hopes to complete this work quickly and have the temps removed during the Thanksgiving recess.

The Board approved an $18,300 contract with Soot-Hunters, a boiler cleaning firm. Soot-Hunters will conduct six cleanings per year of all district boilers. Facilities and Operations Director Tom Shaw said that the district does not have the manpower to do such cleanings every 60 days and that the Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA) has been negotiating for many years to be relieved from this task, citing it as a health hazard.

The district recently purchased three special vacuums to be used in boiler cleaning. Mr. Shaw said these vacuums will be made available to Soot-Hunters. Mr. Shaw added that the district should see a savings in fuel bills, since the frequent cleanings will produce more efficient burners, and that the district's investment should be repaid in six months.

Dr. Fenton announced that the Women's Outreach Network will conduct mammography screening on October 31 and November 1, a service open to all women in Hicksville. She also noted that the district is removing obsolete kitchen equipment in elementary buildings.

The Board assigned chairs for its 1988-89 committees as follows: Finance-Carole Wolf/Dan Arena; Facilities-Carole Wolf/Mark Cardella; Curriculum-William Bennett/Pat Rooney; Policy-Legislative-William Bennett/Dan MacBride; Personnel (Ad Hoc)-William Bennett/Pat Rooney. Board committees will again meet from 8 to 9 and 9 to 10 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding the regular Board meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Board will be held on Wednesday, September 28, at 8:15 p.m., in the Conference Room of the Administration Building.

Letters

To The Editor:

Permit me to respond to the letter published in last week's issue in favor of the proposed group home. Obviously, your reader hasn't attended either recent meeting held in order to hear how local residents feel.

Residents are frustrated because we are offered pseudo options when we have virtually none. We pay the highest taxes in the country yet have almost no say in a matter of critical importance to our community, such as this. The rather sneaky way the real estate firms worked, the short time limit we were given to respond, coupled with the fact that there is no real forum for debate here, is discouraging.

I have known mentally ill people; some placid and some rather nasty, just as emotionally stable may be. The Agency that proposes to run this home is doing it for the first time. What if the medication fails? What if their evening 'backup' system fails? No one can vouch for the nature of these people because no one can vouch that a sane neighbor will not 'act out' one day (I've seen that, too!). So...is it really so peculiar that we feel this home should not be within walking distance to four schools. Does your reader feel that a soup kitchen, complete with vagrants as well as non-vagrant individuals, should be situated 10 blocks from a home for former psychiatric patients? That, in all of Hicksville, this is the very best site for both concerns? You must be kidding!

Whether this home becomes a reality or not, de-institutionalizing mentally ill patients is a need that must be met. Feeding the hungry is another pressing need. But right next door to each other? Whoever dreamed up 499 Jerusalem as the ideal site must also believe in the tooth fairy!

Name withheld by request

To The Editor:

As we have learned from the State representatives at a local meeting at the Hicksville Library, the housing of mentally or physically handicapped was created by a law. A law that was passed almost unanimously by our State Legislators. This was caused by the public outcry for action when the deplorable conditions of the institutions that took care of these people were revealed to the people about 10 years ago.

As we also know, these institutions replaced the families that could not or would not take care of these people. Unfortunately, instead of improving the conditions by better housing, supervision, use of better trained people, etc., the State decided to change the procedure.

It was felt then to give these people help and then release them into society or places that are now being established in our communities. The concept seems very practical and humanizing. But from what we have heard from neighbors, who have these people, the idea does not always work. The worst fears and misunderstandings have caused disruption in our localities.

Are we now telling people who have saved and sacrificed to move into peaceful communities, who their neighbors are going to be and we must accept it? This is the crux of it. We are not insensitive but do feel that the State is unfair and unjust. They take taxpayers' money and pay high prices for these houses, violate local resident ordinances, take the property off the tax rolls (for at least 20 years), and place a new situation in a community. A community of taxpayers who are already burdened enough with taxes, solving local problems, making a living and raising a family.

As we can see there is little recourse when the State says, DO IT! We can only continue to pressure our legislators to change the law and come up with something humanizing for the unfortunates - but reasonable and fair to the average hard working, sacrificing home owner.

Hicksville Charity Baseball/Softball Tourney A Success

By Marie Claque

The Charity Tournament game, organized for the benefit of the Association for the Help of the Retarded Children, Nassau County Chapter, proved to be an exciting and heartwarming experience for the participants and observers who attended. The tournament featured softball and baseball players from the St. Ignatius Catholic Youth Organization (CYO), the Hicksville Baseball Association (HBA), and the Police Athletic League (PAL). This was the first time that players from the three leagues were given an opportunity to play one another and the only time that children from all areas in Hicksville were granted the privilege of playing ball together.

The day's festivities commenced with special acknowledgement given to the dignitaries from the individual leagues in addition to guest attendees who included former heavyweight boxer Jerry Cooney and N.Y. Islander Bobby Nystrom, Pat Flatley and Gary Howatt. Their availability for this event was much appreciated and well received. An opening prayer led by Father Harral of the CYO set the tone for the remainder of the afternoon's activities. The teams were accompanied to the playing field by the color guards who were provided by Hicksville Boy Scout Troop #172 and Hicksville Cub Scout Pack #172. Individuals from the AHRC were also invited to join the players on the field which made all cognizant of the importance and meaning of the day. The sound of L.I. Marching Band, a group of talented young individuals, entertained while the teams prepared to play. Adorable Kerry McCarthy from the AHRC threw the first ball to represent the start of play after the singing of the National Anthem.

Half-time was marked by the creative and talented baton twirlers from Our Lady of Mercy's "Lucky Stars" represented by Eileen Hegmann, Maria Saccardi, Melissa Young, and Mary Decker and the PAL "Sparklers" which included Shabana Masters, Mindy Foresta, Christen Antsey, and Dianne West. We all thank you for a fantastic performance!

A total of $1700 was raised for the benefit of the AHRC with the majority of monies resulting from the sale of admission tickets by individual on the six teams. A generous monetary donation by the HBA should not go without recognition in addition to their contribution of profits made at the concession stand throughout the day. We thank the individuals who devoted their time and energy to servicing the concession stand during the event. A special thank you to the umpires and ground keepers who made the day possible and an additional thank you to the Nassau County Mounted Police Unit whose presence contributed a touch of class and a feeling of security to the day and the Hicksville Fire Department which provided an ambulance service in the event of an emergency situation.

"Thank you's" and expressions of gratitude are not complete without mention of the individual whose expenditure of time and energy made the day the success that it proved to be. Al Ciaccio is the individual whose dedication and devotion is responsible for the success of the day and it is indicative of his overall respect and love for mankind. We thank you for caring, Al.

The PAL Girls Softball team forged ahead to taste victory which resulted in its being awarded the softball trophy for the coming year. The Boys CYO

Baseball team should also be congratulated for its victory over the other two leagues and its possession of the trophy for the coming year. The sportsmanship and the interaction between all players is worthy of praise and confirmed that all participants of the day's activities were considered to be winners!

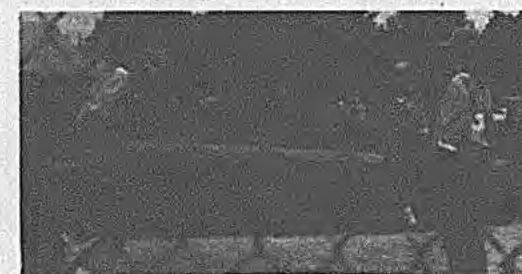

Al Ciaccio, coordinator of the Tournament, begins the day with special acknowledgement to individuals who made it all possible.

Kerry McCarthy throws the first ball to represent the start of the tournament as Little Leaguers look on.

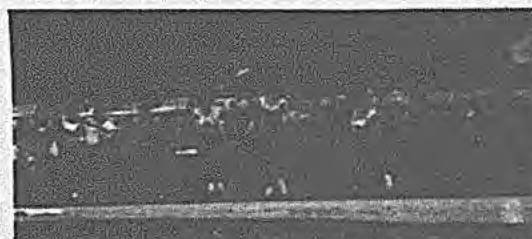

HBA 12 year old girls softball team waiting for play to commence.

C.Y.O 12 year old girls softball team takes the field.

Sound of L.I. Marching Band entertains while the players warm-up.

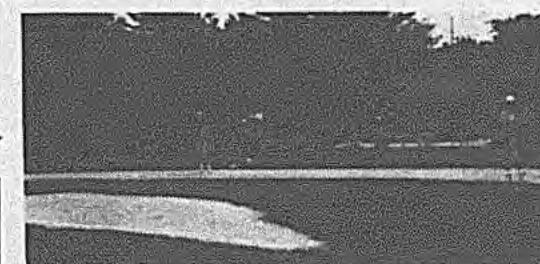

Lucky Stars from Our Lady of Mercy providing entertainment during half-time.

He's got it! Good try H.B.A. baseball team.

This CYO slugger helped the CYO baseball team win the trophy for this year. Good playing boys!

PAL Girls softball team take the field to experience victory and gain possession of the softball trophy for the coming year.

Hypoglycemia: Low blood sugar or high anxiety?

By Sheila Sobell Moramarco

Hypoglycemia essentially is a benign condition, more common in women than in men, that requires no particular treatment or precautions. The disease is the polar opposite of diabetes, because its victims have low, rather than high, blood sugar.

Its symptoms in the milder stages include heart palpitations, sweating, trembling, anxiety and hunger — the feelings you get when you realize a train almost hit you.

Although patients suffering from acute anxiety often have symptoms similar to hypoglycemia, the cause is quite different. Both are triggered by the release of epinephrine, the blood pressure-raising hormone, from the adrenal gland.

In the hypoglycemic, however, often combined with inaccurate medical testing, has made hypoglycemia one of the most misdiagnosed disorders on the medical books.

If Angela and Paul were examined today, they probably would discover that they never had the disease. The unfortunate combination of graduate school and a destructive relationship was probably more than they could handle; it simply made them sick.

For as long as I had known Angela, her car always looked like a health food store on wheels, with bags of munchies — raisins, fruit and nuts — stashed in the glove compartment.

But as soon as her divorce became final last year, her car's interior decoration underwent a radical transformation: like Mother Hubbard's cupboards, the car cache suddenly was bare.

For a while, I wondered whether my friend's marriage had driven her to eat rather than drink. When I finally got around to asking, her explanation surprised me.

"In graduate school," Angela said, "Paul and I had strange bouts of sweating and hunger that were finally diagnosed as hypoglycemia. If we didn't eat every three hours, we'd have an attack."

"Our way of avoiding the situation was to keep dozens of snacks secreted in the car. Even on long-distance drives or in traffic jams we'd have something to munch on."

But why then, I wondered, had the situation changed? Didn't Angela still require a ready source of food?

"Well, now that Paul's gone," explained Angela, "so is the hypoglycemia."

Angela's story isn't as crazy as it seems. Anxiety often triggers a variety of physical symptoms that mimic disease.

The problem with hypoglycemia is that it's easy to confuse its symptoms with those produced by a stress overload. This similarity, the excess of epinephrine is caused by low blood sugar; in the non-hypoglycemic, the superfluous discharge results from emotional stress.

As the disease progresses in severity, the central nervous system becomes involved. Another set of symptoms — dizziness, headache, clouding of vision, blurred mental acuity and even loss of consciousness — can set in.

"Healthy people who are convinced that they have low blood sugar want to blame their symptoms on a disease rather than on anxiety and stress," report Drs. Daniel W. Foster and Leonard Madison, professors of internal medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas. "And many will keep searching until they find a doctor who agrees."

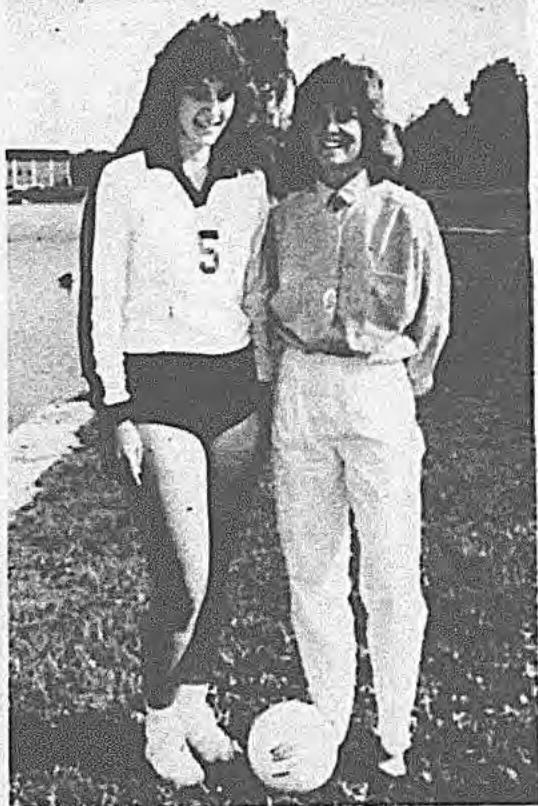

Although the diagnosis was extremely popular in the '60s, a more recent study shows that only one out of 100 people actually has the condition. Misdiagnosis is rampant, say the Texas physicians, because the medical test used to diagnose the condition frequently gives faulty readings.

The test's name is the five-hour glucose tolerance test. Patients suspected of having hypoglycemia are given a large dose of sugar solution on an empty stomach; then, blood is drawn on the hour for five hours to assess their glucose concentrations.

The catch is that perfectly healthy people can have a reaction to this test, producing symptoms along with a drop in blood sugar.

"This is perfectly natural and doesn't indicate the presence of the disease," the physicians caution. "In fact, with the glucose tolerance test, a large percentage of mankind (will test) hypoglycemic. It should never be used to establish a diagnosis of low blood sugar."

Although the glucose tolerance test is still popular, a majority of physicians appear to support a change in diagnostic procedure. For a definitive determination of the disease to be made, several criteria must be present: symptoms must appear within 1½ hours to five hours after eating, be rapidly relieved by taking food and disappear when blood sugar is normal.

Pauline Chealock of Hicksville, a sophomore business management major at Rider College, has been named captain of the 1983 Rider varsity volleyball team.

A 1986 graduate of Hicksville High School, Chealock is playing in her first season at Rider as a 5'9" hitter, after transferring from Seton Hall and sitting out last year. "Pauline is a real good athlete and we'll be expecting a lot out of her, in both her play and leadership," stated second year head coach Mary Harrington, a former standout volleyball player at Ohio University.

At Hicksville, Chealock earned All-Conference and All-County honors her junior and senior years on the volleyball squad. A fine all-around athlete, Chealock earned eight varsity letters at Hicksville, competing on the basketball and softball teams as well.

Rider begins its 1983 volleyball season September 21, with a home tri-match against Cheyney University and Bryn Mawr College.

Post Office Adjust. Window Service

Retail window hours will be readjusted at 133 Long Island post offices starting September 10, 1988 according to Roger Nienaber, General Manager/Postmaster, Hicksville Division.

Recently, Postmaster General Anthony M. Frank made convenient window service at post offices a top priority for his administration.

During the past month the Postal Service has been speaking with postal customers and monitoring lobby lines. The goal was to identify and then implement window hours which best meet community needs. Mr. Nienaber said changing lifestyles, with two or more family members working, has a dramatic effect on customers' ability to obtain postal services. Work schedules sometimes make it difficult to visit the post office during customary business hours.

"We feel that the new hours starting September 10 reflect community postal needs," said Mr. Nienaber. "Moreover, we are committed to the periodic re-examination of our window service needs. We will have the flexibility to make adjustments in our hours from time to time, should the needs of our community change."

"Based on our current assessment we are going to open the main post office in Hicksville, 185 West John Street, for 24 hour window service Monday through Friday. In addition, 78 Long Island post offices will be open longer on Saturday.

Most Long Island post office lobbies are open from 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Customers can pick up their mail and purchase stamps at stamp vending machines which are in most post office lobbies. The following post offices have 24 hour stamp vending equipment available: Babylon, Huntington Station, Deer Park, Commack, Center Moriches, Hicksville, Plainview, Old Bethpage, Jericho, Syosset, Rockville Centre and Farmingdale.

Stamps are also available at all A & P Supermarkets, Packaging Plus Stores and other select retail outlets on Long Island.

Stamps may also be obtained by phone by calling 800-STAMP-24 or by mail by obtaining a Stamps-by-Mail order form from a letter carrier or at the post office.

Mr. Nienaber expressed his gratitude to Long Island postal customers for their patience during the past months when window hours were curtailed.

Editor's Notebook

September means the reopening of school. It is also the time that neighborhoods are quieter and burglars sometimes become more active.

In the past, wealthy homes were particularly attractive to criminals. Now, however, the prime targets are middle class residences. The shift is due, in part, to security devices installed by rich homeowners to protect their valuables. Police believe middle class people must also educate themselves to be just as security conscious.

The prime time for burglaries is in the morning between 9 and 11. The next most popular time is selected by the "Dinner Burglar," who strikes at darkness up until 9 or 10 o'clock.

Another trend is the so called "Walk-in Larceny." It usually takes two operators. Two people knock on your door, one asking to use your phone for an emergency situation, or asking for a drink of water. You let them in and, while attending to the needs of one, the other unobtrusively grabs whatever is in sight in your bedroom.

Thirty per cent of the burglaries committed are attributable to the fact that the owners have left their doors unlocked. Almost as bad as the "open door policy" is the key under the mat.

When you leave the house, leave a light on. A bathroom light might also be a deterrent to a burglar who might have called first to see if anyone were home. Left on during the night it would give pause to anyone checking to see if occupants were either out or asleep.

When you return, have your key ready so that you can go right in. Listen for strange noises and watch for possible danger along hallways or under stairs.

The average burglary takes only a few minutes and the bedroom is the main target area - it is best to keep valuables in another part of the house (better still, in a safe deposit vault).

Neighbors should ask each other to collect the mail and keep an eye on the house when they are away.

One of the newest and most effective ways to combat burglaries is the Neighborhood Watch concept in which volunteers patrol the area regularly.

Community concern and security measures are indeed the best ways of coping with the criminals who come and wreck the peace of our suburban residential areas.

Cubs' Car Wash A Huge Success

By Kathy Walker

Cub Scout Pack 172 from East St. School had a sensational summer.

We began with a bowling party arranged by Josette Stanton. Then, thanks to Josette's hard work, she arranged a car wash. The VFW generously donated their parking lot and water. The car wash was a success.

Then we had two bottle drives that were very successful in spite of the heat.

The end of July was our Cub Scout picnic. It too was a warm day but the Cubs didn't feel a thing. They were all wet from the water gun fights. The Cubs played baseball, marbles, sang, played kick ball, listened to Swedish singers and of course had a water gun fight. What a fun day.

In August we spent an evening at Adventureland. Everybody had a really great time.

If you have a son between 6 years and 10 years, who would like to join Cub Scouts, please come to East Street School, September 29, at 7 p.m.

Mr. Walter Bailey was a great help to Pack 172. We want to extend our sympathy because he passed away this summer. The Cubs with him are Jarred and Jason Stanton, Gary Wimleki, Daniel Caccio, Marc Ferguson, Robert Dellagno.

Cub Scouts and their parents work together to make the car wash a success.

Robert Dellagno took a break as Mr. Ferguson sprayed the car behind him.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton not only arranged this car wash, but they also washed cars.

Cub Scouts Patrick Walker, Marc Ferguson and Ryan Walker are having a water gun fight.

Michael DelBagni and Paul Mackin played marbles.

The Cub Scouts sang songs. Patrick Walker, Michael DelBagni, Nicky Hart, Howie Sonneborn, Joshua Bergen, Marc Ferguson, Danny Caccio, Robert Dellagno, Greg Arlet.

Carol Rasmussen spoke with her friends from Sweden before they sang.

The parents enjoyed the picnic as much as the Cubs. Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. Bergen, Mr. Dellagno, and Mr. Caccio.

Cadet Johnnie Kitevski, son of Poco and Zora Kitevski of 18 Suzane Ave., Bethpage, has completed a U.S. Air Force ROTC field training encampment at Plattsburgh Air Force Base.

Field training, attended by cadets normally between their second and third year of college, gives an opportunity to evaluate each student's potential as an officer, according to an Air Force spokesman.

The summer's curriculum consists of orientations on jet aircraft, career opportunities, human relations education and equal opportunity training. Physical fitness and survival training is also emphasized.

The field training is four weeks, but cadets in the two-year ROTC program receive an additional two weeks of instruction in the development of air power and the contemporary Air Force.

Kitevski is a student at Manhattan College, Riverdale, N.Y.

IF YOU FEEL FORTUNATE YOUR CHILD JUST SMOKES MARIJUANA, THEN YOU SHOULD KNOW MORE ABOUT MARIJUANA.

Shall we start with the facts? Marijuana makes your child lethargic, apathetic and paranoid.

That's frightening. But so is this: Marijuana also causes mood shifts. And it causes your child to lose his memory.

It gets worse.

Marijuana causes a loss of motor coordination. Think about that next time your child drives the car home at night.

Had enough? No?

OK. Marijuana affects your child's reproductive system as well. It decreases your son's testosterone level. It can even lead to infertility.

Your daughter's reproductive system can suffer, too.

With marijuana, unfortunately, come menstrual irregularities. There's more.

Marijuana also does damage to your child's lungs. You think cigarettes are bad? Marijuana is far worse.

There are other effects that seem to show up with this "minor" drug: decreased productivity, absenteeism, impaired performance as well as impaired judgement and impaired learning capability.

Put it this way: It doesn't do much for your child's education.

If you'd like more information about marijuana or any other problem drug, contact your local agency on drug abuse.
