Local School Boards Vary In Number

By Maureen Traxler

The number of members on local boards of education may vary across the state. According to Education Law §1702 of McKinney's Consolidated Laws of New York, union free school districts shall have not less than three nor more than nine trustees.

It is interesting to note how the school boards in the northeast section of Nassau County differ in relation to the number of students enrolled in the district. The Jericho School District with 1,895 students has a board composed of five trustees. In Bethpage with 2,464 students and Hicksville with 4,431 students, the local board has seven trustees, and in Syosset, with enrollment approaching 5,300 the board totals nine trustees.

The Board of Education is an important component in the operation of the school district machine. The board conducts school district public business, holds committee meetings on key matters, proposes yearly budgets to the community, advises the Superintendent of Schools, and oversees the education of the student body.

Under its powers and duties in Education Law §1709, it establishes "rules and regulations concerning the order and discipline of the schools...prescribes the course of study by which the pupils of the schools shall be graded and classified...prescribes the textbooks to be used in the schools," along with many other duties, including, property maintenance, providing transportation where applicable and hiring and negotiating with academies.

School board trustees receive no monetary compensation for their service on the board, and generally hold office for three to five years. Elections to seats on the school boards are staggered, "so that as nearly as possible an equal number of members shall be elected to the board each year" (Education Law §1702).

One local board increased the number of their members since they were established. The Hicksville Union Free School District, established in 1896 with five members, increased its members to seven in 1957. As far as can be ascertained, the Syosset board has always been composed of nine members.

The Superintendent's offices in Jericho and Bethpage believe that the number of their board members has remained the same over the years.

Education Law §1703, Change in number of members of board of education, states: "the number of members...may be increased or decreased at the annual meeting by a majority vote of the qualified voters." Notice must be given on the vote of the proposed change. Section §1703 further states:

"The board of education of any such district shall, upon the application of at least twenty-five voters or five percent of the number of voters who voted in the previous annual election...which ever is greater...include in the notice of the annual meeting...the proposition to increase or decrease..."

The number of members of each local board of education is, therefore in the hands of the electorate.

Spring Concert A Huge Success

This year the Spring Concert, Art Show and Expo were held on Wednesday, May 31, at Dutch Lane School.

The evening began with classroom and special area teachers exhibition. In addition to the artwork exhibited in the hallways, student artists demonstrated various techniques used to create artwork done during the year.

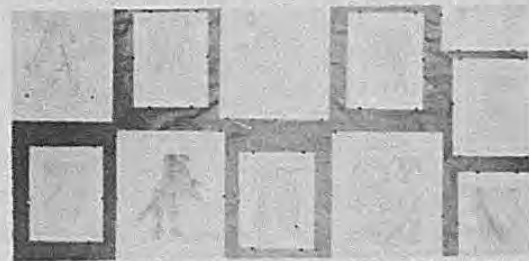

The Spring Concert was held in the gym where the chorus sang, strings played, and instruments filled the room with song. It was a very successful event.

Students with their violins play a song for the audience.

Here students from the 4th, 5th and 6th grade chorus sing out a song.

"Tone Drawings" drawn by students were displayed in the hallways. (Story and photos by Cathy Doyle)

All You Need To Know About Lyme Disease
Isn't there always something to take the joy out of life? For those of us who enjoy the outdoors, now there's Lyme Disease, named after an unsuspecting town in Connecticut where some observant physician first discovered it.

We have just read a directive from the Department of Health about this pesty condition, however, and it is reasonably reassuring. First of all, Lyme's Disease cannot be transmitted unless the causative tick is attached to the skin for at least three hours. Secondly, it can be successfully treated with antibiotics, if caught early.

Here are a few precautions suggested by the Health Department:

- Carefully check pets and use tick collars or sprays; pets can carry ticks into the home.
- Avoid high grass and other areas of overgrown vegetation. Do not brush against bushes, trees, plants, and other greenery - if possible.
- Use insect repellents that contain the chemical "DEET."
- Tuck pant legs into socks and shirttails into pants when walking in areas with overgrown vegetation.
- If a tick bite does occur, the best way to remove the tick is to use tweezers. Grasp the tick as closely as possible to the skin, then pull gently, but firmly, until the tick releases its hold. Petroleum jellies, lighter fluids, etc., are no longer recommended to aid in tick removal. Use a magnifying glass to insure that all tick parts have been removed.
- Be aware of symptoms: a rash that usually appears in and about the site of the bite and slowly expands in a circular manner. The rash may be accompanied by fever, headache, malaise, stiff neck, muscle and joint pain, and enlarged lymph glands. The onset of the Lyme Disease can be up to 32 days from the time of the bite. See a physician if symptoms occur.

Letters

To the Editor:

This letter is directed to Mrs. Cardella, Rudin and Broska since their letters to the Editor failed to address the central issue concerning the involvement of District Unions in our school board elections, namely the funneling of funds in support of candidates to the school board.

Allow me to give you one example. During the election I observed, and have copies of, full page and half-page advertisements that appeared in our local papers, totaling $6,104. You should be asking who paid for the ads, and how was the money raised?

Mrs. Cardella, in her letter of some weeks ago, offered a wonderful suggestion. Why not inform the community as to who funded the school board candidates? So let's hear from those involved, and get a full Financial accounting in the columns of the Mid Island Times, for all the community to read.

Sincerely,
Bill Bennett

To the Editor:

Thanks to Dick Evers for his timely dual picture story (MIT 6/10) of the recent June 3 protest at Hicksville's local abortuary on West John Street. The weekly "regulars" were pleased to have the Church of Hicksville members join them in bearing witness and offering alternatives to the deadly child abuse performed within this building.

It was over a year ago, in May of 1988, that an Operation Rescue (sit-in) at this site, closed down the death dealers for a day. At that time, many local residents were present in support of life. If this same support could manifest itself on a more consistent basis throughout the year more lives would be saved, and who knows the abortionists might even be put out of business! Together we can make a difference!

Sincerely,
Catherine Malone

Local Vet Awarded POW Medal

During a special ceremony held aboard the Intrepid on Armed Forces Day, May 20, Hicksville resident Joseph Abbondandolo was presented with the POW Medal in recognition of his service and imprisonment during World War II.

On the front of the medal is an eagle, symbol of the United States and the American spirit. Although surrounded by barbed wire and bayonet points, it stands with pride and dignity, continually on the alert for the opportunity to obtain freedom, symbolizing the hope that upholds the prisoner of war. On the reverse, below the words "Award to" is space where the recipient or next of kin may engrave the prisoner of war's name, below it is an inscription naming the purpose of the award, "For honorable service while a prisoner of war." The shield is from the coat of arms of the United States of America. Joe served in the U.S. Air Force with a rank of Tech. Sgt. He was shot down in Poland and spent nine months in Stalag 4. In the photo Joe is seen receiving the POW Medal from General Rossi.

'Stadtfest' At East St. School

Each year at the East Street School, a "Stadtfest" is held by the students in the sixth grade classes of Mr. Robert Hilsky and Dr. Leo Kanawada. This "country festival", at which six European countries are represented, consists of student-led groups turning an ordinary classroom into a panoramic display of a country's architecture, music, cities, maps, flags, costumes, food, and colors.

In these six classrooms each centering around restaurant tables clad with flowers and music in the background, the students teach visitors (parents, students, teachers) about the historical leaders and policies of their country, feed them a hot entree and a cold dessert, conduct a visit through the countryside with their travel brochures and picture displays, and converse in the language of that nation. This miniature of Disneyland's Epcot Center provides a creative and imaginative outlet for the genius of young people, and makes an interdisciplinary educational program into a pleasurable day of fun and learning.

Eric Chung seems satisfied that Mr. and Mrs. Piscitelli are enjoying his German "Wiener Schnitzel" and "saurbraten."

Spanish home cooking never tasted this good, says Bonnie Pinkham.

Board Hears Petition For New Restaurant

By Michele Coyle

The Town of Oyster Bay Board heard a petition from William J. Gorham Industries, Inc., Julie Lerman and Alex Shah for a change of zoning on Bloomingdale Road and Hazel Street, Hicksville in order to establish a restaurant and parking lot.

John Coffey, representing the petitioners explained that under current zoning, the land in question falls under three different zones (industrial, residential and business). He said that by changing the zoning to a business district a single homogenous use of the property would be permitted.

Mr. Coffey noted that the addition of a restaurant at the location would upgrade the area which is presently made up of auto body shops and light manufacturing firms.

According to Mr. Coffey, Mr. Shah is a 16 year veteran of the restaurant business and currently runs an eatery in Manhattan.

Mr. Coffey said that the restaurant, which allows 130 seats for patrons, will only seat 75 and will include parking for 25 vehicles in order to maintain Board of Zoning ordinances. He stated the hours of operation to be 11 a.m. to 2 a.m., possibly earlier during the week and later during weekends. There would be no dancing on the premises, however, a take-out business would be involved. There will also be two party rooms for small gatherings.

Councilman Leonard Symons said that residents had voiced concern over the debris left on the property. A letter from the Bloomingdale Road Property Association echoed those sentiments. It stated that the property was "Turned into a dump." Renovating material is being discarded on the entire front of the building. It is an eyesore as well as a health hazard.

Mr. Coffey said that the property had been cleaned up of the renovation materials and two additional times of items dumped by other unknown persons. He said that a vacant piece of property attracted people to dump garbage. He added that the grounds would continue to be policed.

The board closed the hearing and reserved its decision.

Middle School Special Olympics

In October, 1988, Hicksville Middle School students were asked to take part in a special program during their physical education classes. More than 100 boys and girls volunteered to participate in the New York Special Olympics "Run for the Gold" fund raising project.

The purpose of the Special Olympics is to contribute to the physical, social and psychological development of children and adults with mental retardation. The funds raised allow the committee to maintain current programs and to bring to the mentally retarded, sport training, participation and competition.

The Special Olympics Committee, through their billing process, collected $5,700 raised by Hicksville Middle School students. No student collected money. The students were required to get sponsors for a twenty minute walk or run. Minimum standards were required and many students received T-shirts, watches and athletic bags. Linda Thomas raised the most money - $232. Kuldeep Gyani had the most sponsors - 49, and raised $207. Patricia Cuti - $185, Jennifer Hisgen - $179; and Ted Carter with $161 were the top five fund raisers. A total of seventeen students raised more than $100 each.

Congratulations to all students who gave of their time and energy.

This project was the culmination of the Hicksville Middle School Fitness Program in physical education. Hopefully the students will continue to participate with such enthusiasm so that more programs may be instituted and made available to the mentally retarded.

Ballet Trip From Library

After a 25-year absence, the famed Kirov Ballet - the classical Leningrad-based company of which Rudolph Nureyev, Mikhail Baryshnikov, and Natalia Makarova were members before their defection - returns to the Metropolitan Opera House for a three-week engagement this summer. The Bethpage Public Library is now accepting reservations for a bus trip to see the Kirov in a performance of the ballet classic, "Giselle", on Saturday, July 8. The entire company last visited the United States in 1986, when it performed in California, Philadelphia, Virginia and Trenton, but the Met, the only New York house considered large enough, was unavailable then. The New York Times acclaimed the Kirov's performance as "a Giselle worth waiting for, infused with passion and romantic resonance."

Schedule: The bus will leave promptly at 4 p.m., allowing sufficient time for dinner before the 8 p.m. performance.

Registration: $50.50 per person, includes seating in the Dress Circle and round-trip transportation on air-conditioned motor coach. Register at the library, or mail check payable to: Bethpage Public Library, to the library, at 47 Powell Avenue, Bethpage, N.Y. 11714 (please include home phone number).

A Tribute To Edward Ahearn

I lost a good friend last night. His first name is Edward. For some reason, almost everyone called him Eddie. I prefer Ed to me, he looked more like an "Ed" than an "Eddie", if you know what I mean.

His full name is Edward M. Ahearn (accent on the second syllable, please). Good Irish stock. Sturdy, robust, rough-hewn. That's how I knew him and how I'll remember him. Tough when he needed to be. Gentle when he wanted to be. Quick to smile, quick to anger, usually quick to forgive. Ed would give the shirt from his back to a friend. All you had to do was ask.

Ed was Commander of our American Legion Post in Bethpage. That's how I got to know him, when I joined the post some four years ago. So you see, I didn't know Ed long. But I knew him well. And I had a very great affection for him. You wouldn't say that to Ed, but I think he knew. I hope so.

I can only share a few recent years. I know that Ed served in World War II. I'm told he was in the 94th Infantry, Third Army (Patton's army, he would say proudly). Some of the guys at the Post knew Ed from "way back. Harry, for instance, served with him all through the war, in the States and overseas. They were in a "communications" company. The two of them had to carry around a large, awkward switchboard wherever they went, in addition to carrying their packs, rifles, etc. They were the only two men in their outfit so burdened. You'd hear the story from one or the other of them, sooner or later.

When Ed was discharged from the Army, for whatever reason he joined the Naval Reserve. He would spend one evening a week at meetings, and two weeks a year on the high seas, until he retired some years ago, after serving 20 years. But he still had access to the government "commissary", with all its privileges. We used to kid him about that, like it was the only reason he joined the Reserve.

But what I really want to tell you about is this: Ed Ahearn is, in my opinion, one of our unsung heroes. He wasn't a saint, and he'd be the first to tell you so. But when he took over as Commander of this American Legion post, it was ready to go under because of lack of attendance, bad management, and internal strife.

In his two years as Commander, he turned the post around 180 degrees, to the point where it is now an active post, in the black, with a whole new spirit.

To someone not in the American Legion, that might not sound like such a big deal. But it means that about 188 members, plus 50-60 members of the Auxiliary, have a Legion home, from which they can function in serving their community and its people in the manner in which they should.

Ed's post completely modernized its Legion Hall, and made it accessible to the handicapped, in those two years. Two boys were sent to Boys State, hundreds of high school students took part in oratorical contests, essay contests, and other Americanism projects.

Ed initiated a Teen Dance for juniors and seniors in the Bethpage schools. He and his post contributed time and money and energy to such things as the National Child Welfare Fund, the Special Olympics, the USO, the Kings Park Psychiatric Center, the Northport Veterans Hospital. His post "adopted" the struggling widow and children of a deceased Vietnam veteran (an Agent Orange victim), and helped them get a new start in life. He and members of his post spent many hours placing flags on the graves of deceased veterans, marching in the Bethpage Memorial Day Parade (Ed was also on the Memorial Day Parade Committee). The post held a successful Veterans Day Dinner-Dance to help raise funds to support all those projects, and many more activities, too many to mention.

Of course Ed didn't do it all by himself. But he was the catalyst that brought the whole thing together. Without his strong leadership, much of this good work might never have happened.

I know there are plenty more "Eds" out there. And maybe I'm writing this letter for all of them. But I personally know what this one did, and I want to let people know about it.

I'm proud to be able to say I was Ed's friend. Not just because he was Commander of my American Legion Post, but because of the kind of person he was, and the kind of things he accomplished. And I know I speak for a lot of people when I say: We will miss him.

Town To Hold July 4 Program

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes invites all Town residents to attend Oyster Bay's observance of the Nation's 213th birthday at Townsend Park, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, on Tuesday, July 4, beginning at 11 a.m.

"This year's Independence Day celebration will be especially meaningful," said Hynes, "because it coincides with the Bicentennial Anniversary of the Presidential Inauguration. This will be reflected in our Townsend Park observance with the reading of excerpts from the April 30, 1789 Inaugural Address of President George Washington."

The program will also include massing of colour guards from Town, County and regional veterans' organizations and music by the Oyster Bay Community Band. Boy Scouts from Troop 39, Oyster Bay, will lead the Pledge of Allegiance.

The July 4th observance is sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Bicentennial Historical Commission in cooperation with the Town Parks Department and the Oyster Bay Community Band.

Confirmation Of Faith At Good Shepherd

The Confirmation Class of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Lutheran, at 99 Central Park Road, Plainview, recently "graduated" to become members of the Church.

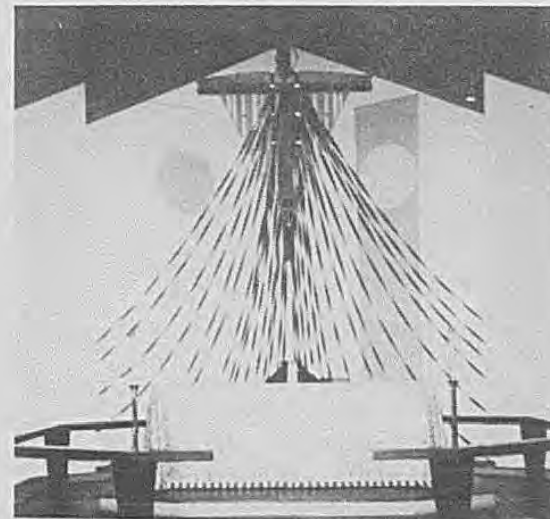

Five young adults reaffirmed the vows made for them at their baptism, and participated in the Rite of Confirmation, on a recent Sunday.

Pastor Christopher George Hoyer is shown here, asking each confirmand to individually reaffirm his or her commitment to their Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

A view of the altar at which these young adults restated their vows. The background is a representation of the Holy Spirit coming down from heaven and entering the hearts of all believers. The Christus Rex, or Risen Christ, completes this beautifully-illustrated theme.

On June 1, twenty six little 4 and 5 year olds graduated from Dutch Lane's Pre-K Class. All the students received diplomas and school bags filled with goodies from the PTA.

The children entered the room by marching down the center isle, then they welcomed all parents, grandparents and guests. The pledge was said and then the A.M. and P.M. Classes sang together Skid-A-Ma-Rink, I had a Little Turtle, and That's What Friends are for. Diplomas were then handed out by the teachers and refreshments were served. It was a beautiful ceremony and much thanks goes to teachers Diane Scinocco and Hedy Roestenberg, A.M. Class and Susan McDonald and Lois Scally P.M. Class.

2nd Graders Visit NCPD

On Wednesday, May 17, Mrs. Hoch's and Ms. Masterson's 2nd graders from Dutch Lane went to Nassau County Police Departments open house. It was a very educational trip and the children learned how the "all" emergency number actually comes into the police station, bicycle safety, gun safety, how criminals are caught and held in overnight cells, they got to sit on a police motorcycle and to ask the officers any questions they might have!

Looks like the "bad guy" John Doyle gets caught by "officer" Jacob Danzi as the two 2nd graders have fun pretending.

Mrs. Hoch's and Ms. Masterson's students listen carefully as the officer explains how a guard has to keep alert when guarding the jail cells filled with criminals.

Many officers play in the band and the students enjoyed taking time out to listen to the music.

Here the police officer explains gun safety and shows that there are many different kinds of weapons.

volunteers and professionals that provide emergency medical services to the people of Nassau County are your first line of defense against illness or injury.

At Syosset Community Hospital, the doctors and nurses in our ER—specialists in emergency medicine—are ready to handle your emergency with some of the most modern equipment and facilities you'll find anywhere. And we're part of a network of metropolitan area hospitals that, together, can provide advanced care for severe burns or trauma.
