15th Anniversary For Senior Club

500 Households In STOP Program

Recording the second largest number of participating households, the North Massapequa S.T.O.P. Collection, held on October 14, was equally successful in the amounts of hazardous household waste brought in by concerned citizens, according to Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

"Environmentally sound disposal alternatives, such as S.T.O.P. (Stop Throwing Out Pollutants), are being sought by our residents who are increasingly aware that household chemicals cause a potential threat to the environment," said Clark. "The response to this program has grown each year. During the first year, a S.T.O.P. collection would draw perhaps 75 participants. Through continued publicity, word of mouth and resident concern, collections now average 320 participating households."

On this particular day, the program collected 81 44-gallon drums of hazardous waste, 800 gallons of recycled waste oil, 150 car batteries, 100 tires for recycling and two roll-off containers filled with non-hazardous latex paint.

Clark noted that two more S.T.O.P. collection days are scheduled before the end of the year. "On Saturday, November 11, a collection will take place at the Hicksville Firehouse at 20 East Marie Street, and on Saturday, December 16, the site will be the Town of Oyster Bay's Department of Public Works Garage, 150 Miller Place, Syosset. Both collections will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m."

Ten collection days have been scheduled for 1990 with the first date targeted for March. Additional information concerning future dates and locations can be obtained by calling the Department of Public Works, Environmental Control Division at 921-7347, ext. 5577.

Clark said, "Residents who have used the program have praised the Town's efforts to protect the environment."

Editor's Notebook

Next Tuesday, November 7, is an important day for every resident. It is Election Day and the polls are open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Voting is a small price we pay for freedom. The beleaguered Chinese students, the fleeing refugees of East Germany, the oppressed people of Poland, Hungary and the Baltic states obviously are paying a much higher price than we are to be free.

What is freedom worth? The editor recalls reading in a college French class one of LaFontaine's fables about a dog and wolf. The dog was well fed and for a time the wolf envied him until he perceived the collar and chain which kept the dog tied up. The wolf then decided to remain in the wild where he did not always eat well, but retained his liberty.

LaFontaine was quite right: freedom is just about everything. Be sure to vote on Tuesday!

Christmas Boutique

Chita will show us how to make a crazy quilt pillow top. Embroidery stitches will be taught so you may embellish your work just as Victorian ladies did in their day.

You may bring your own fabric scraps (men's old ties are great) and backing fabric or Chita has a $3 kit of coordinated fabric scraps and backing.

All are welcome to attend. Free, no tickets required.

This play is co-sponsored by the Hicksville Public Library and the Nassau County Arts Decentralization Consortium with public funds from New York State Council on the Arts Decentralization Program.

Join your Hicksville neighbors in making party favors at a workshop to be held Thursday, November 9, at 8 p.m., at the Hicksville Public Library.

Board Disputes New Teacher Ass't Position

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Traxler

After seven years of debate, a grievance proceeding and a pending lawsuit, the Hicksville Board of Education backed into a partial appeasement with the district's teachers aide union by unanimously approving the creation of the position of Teachers Assistant. The Teachers Aide Union has been calling on the district to upgrade its members to Teachers Assistants, since they have been performing duties of that position for the past eleven years.

The Board tabled two additional items on the October 25 agenda: (1) the upgrading of all presently serving Teachers Aides to the position of Teacher Assistant effective July 1, 1988, and (2) a recommendation directing the Superintendent to petition the New York State Education Department for Teacher Assistant Certification for all currently employed Teachers Aides.

The vote came at 12:30 a.m. following a lengthy discussion among the board members in which trustee JoAnn Miltenberg persistently maintained that the position could not be created without stated qualifications. (The recommendation for creation of the position was presented without such qualifications). Three board members informally stated that they were in favor of candidates having a minimum requirement, i.e. a high school diploma and in-service training; Mr. Collins would not reveal his feelings; and trustees Pat Rooney, William Bennett and Mrs. Miltenberg preferred teacher assistant candidates to have two years of college.

As Board President Mark Cardella began the roll-call vote, Mrs. Miltenberg pressed for qualifications to be set and suggested those in a draft job description from November 1985. The board hastily voted affirmation. Some members of the audience called out to ask what the November 1985 document stated. Vice President Daniel MacBride read the qualifications as: (1) an Associate Degree, or 64 undergraduate credits, and (2) license as a Teaching Assistant in New York.

Prior to the vote, trustees Bennett and Miltenberg were outwardly annoyed that the item had been placed on the agenda for action, especially in light of the fact that the present board, with two new members taking office just four months ago, had not discussed the matter as an official body. Mr. Bennett pointed out that regulations of the Commissioner of Education define the "teachers aide" and "teachers assistant," but the State "lets you set your own qualifications."

Mrs. Miltenberg and Mr. Bennett put forth a myriad of unanswered questions: would the teachers assistant be a full or part time employee? Would an advance in title bring an advance in salary? What would the budget impact be? Would the district still require aides? Who would pay the license fee? Should the district request temporary licensing? Were the aides told that if they were grandfathered (all present employees being upgraded simultaneously) and if the position were full time, that seniority would depend on alphabetical order?

In the first general public session, Linda Hild, President of the Teachers Aide Union, called on the board to "stop the talking...do what you feel is right." She stated that the teacher aides spend over 500 hours a week teaching, drilling and reviewing with the district's special education students. They work under the direction of the teacher and in a variety of situations. "The district has gotten the services of 'teachers assistants' for eleven years," Mrs. Hild continued, "and you paid the salaries of teachers aides."

In the Superintendent's report to the board, Dr. Catherine Fenton reaffirmed the district's grade weighting system. She explained that a district-wide survey revealed that residents wished to see the Regents level course as "standard." Following this mandate, the district is weighting its grades accordingly, with Regents level grades equalling 100% (for example, a grade of 85 would remain 85.) The 1989-90 Hicksville Senior High School Educational Opportunities Handbook states: "All courses are offered at a particular ability level, which is given its own mathematical weighting in determining your grade point average and your rank in class. The following weights are in use: Ability level, Regents - Weight, 1.00; Basic - 0.90; Standard - 0.95; Honors - 1.05; AP/IB - 1.10; Remedial - None." (AP - Advanced Placement/IB - International Baccalaureate Program)

Two senior honor students requested that the handbook should clarify whether classes are or are not going to be weighted and that guidance counsellors should be aware of such matters. In response, Dr. Fenton said that in the future the district will print the weight after each course so it will be understood.

Dr. Fenton reported that requests have been made to split the Kindergarten class at Woodland and the third and fourth grades at Fork Lane School. She said that the district had considered the situation and studied the ramifications of hiring teaching staff, providing additional special service time, and purchasing additional supplies, and has decided not to recommend the split of the classes. "Although splitting the classes may be an educational benefit to the students of those classes, the cost to other students in the district is too great," Dr. Fenton concluded.

Once again, trustee James Martillo side stepped the evening's action agenda and motioned that the district hire a consultant to look into the reorganization of central administration with the result of consolidation.

"It is our responsibility during budget deliberations" to handle the scope of administrative staff, objected trustee Rooney. Mrs. Miltenberg cautioned the new board members to "first take a look at what we have done (instructionally) to get where we are now." Noting that central administration payroll is under $600,000 whereas instruction is $17 million, Mr. Bennett questioned, "Where do you feel cuts could be made before we go out blindly." The three trustees objected to being called to vote on hiring a consultant when not enough concrete information was gathered and cost estimates were not presented.

"Is this (another) blank check?" rang out from an anonymous resident in the audience obviously frustrated by the board's possible lack of sensitivity to the taxpayers pocket.

The board agreed to direct Dr. Fenton to gather a few estimates from consultants regarding an analysis and possible reorganization of central administration.

At last month's meeting, resident Helen Lafferty called trustees Martillo and Collins to task on their financial statements filed following last May's school board election. She raised doubts as to the entirety of those reports and called for them to update their financial statements.

At the opening of the October 25 meeting, Mr. Martillo said that he had checked financial statements back to 1984 and that there were "a lot of irregularities." Mr. Martillo said that in 1985, there were no financial statements on record. He further added that in reporting last May, he was "just following the procedures."

Former candidates Thomas McGovern and Carole Wolf, defeated running mates in last May's election, approached the board to say that they followed the given set of guidelines and reported all monies or other valuable things spent or given by any person, firm or association. They said they filed a sworn financial statement stating that they each spent $808 on the campaign. They accounted for the cost of all advertisements in local newspapers.

Mr. McGovern held up a stack of papers containing paid political ads totaling $4,000 and asked trustees Martillo and Collins if "they have any knowledge of where the money came from for these ads."

President Mark Cardella jumped in and instructed the trustees that if they did not wish to take board time to reply, then they could pass. He suggested that Mr. McGovern and Mrs. Wolf write to Messrs. Martillo and Collins to get their answer.

Mr. McGovern chided, "It's just a matter of integrity." Mrs. Helen Lafferty asked the trustees if they had filed corrected statements. Neither wished to answer. "Is there no accountability?" queried Mrs. Lafferty.

Mr. Martillo then offered, "I made my statement," and Mr. Collins remained silent. Mrs. Lafferty vowed to take her battle to the Supreme Court or the Commissioner of Education.

Mrs. Lafferty then read a letter to the board, dated October 23, which she received from Robert D. Clearfield of the National Education Association of New York in which Mrs. Lafferty is told "legal action is being contemplated" against her for a "letter to the editor" she wrote on September 14. Mr. Clearfield's letter stated that Mrs. Lafferty's words were liable and defamatory towards HTC President Bob Zaleski. Mrs. Lafferty contends, "as a citizen I expressed my opinion regarding public issues and public figures."

In other resident opinion: Jo-Ann Broska urged residents to give generously to the Vietnam Veterans appeal for clothing and other items to be sent to Logan County in Appalachia, West Virginia. She also asked if the district could donate books which are no longer useful in Hicksville.

Another resident suggested that busing be a separate proposition on the next spring's school board election ballot.

Burns Avenue PTA President Cathy Corrado demanded that the district restrict heavy maintenance work, such as the welding of oil tanks and extensive roofing repairs, to non-school hours. She noted the extreme stress to students and staff from the poor air quality.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, November 21, at 8:15 p.m., in the conference room of the Administration Building, unless otherwise specified.

The Other Side: Aides VS Teacher Assistant

By Maureen Traxler

"The action taken by the Board of Education last week does not affect us," said Linda Hild, six-year president of the Teachers Aide Union. "It has no meaning," she emphasized, for the 48 districtwide aides who service special education children from elementary through senior high school.

Mrs. Hild has been working since 1982 when the aides union was formed to upgrade the aides to teachers assistants. She contends that the job description given them eleven years ago when the district initiated this service was, in fact, the job description of a teachers assistant.

At the October 25 board meeting, the position of teachers assistant was created, with qualifications stipulating two years of college and a New York State license. Mrs. Hild strongly feels that the amount of classroom time spent by the aides, the on-the-job training received under teacher supervision, the proven ability to deal with crisis situations and the eleven years of "glowing evaluations" is deserving of the teachers assistant title. She calls the district's pressure for a college degree "snobbery." "I can't honestly say a degree would have made me better (at my job)," she added.

Mrs. Hild's lawyer was scheduled to appear in court this past Wednesday to present before the judge her case against the Hicksville district and the Nassau County Civil Service Commission. She is confident that she, and the union, will win, and the district will be ordered to comply with the State law.

The teachers aides work directly with the students on academics - reinforcing, tutoring and drilling, under the direct supervision of a teacher. The position is a part time civil service job, not entitled to benefits. The salary range is from $6.12 to $7.90 per hour. The union has been working without a contract since July 1988.

Mrs. Hild said that the union has been through mediation, fact finding and super conciliation. Mrs. Hild confirmed that in June she requested renewed negotiations, but heard nothing from the district. With the difficulties arising following the Robert Izzo case, Mrs. Hild said that she did not press for a meeting over the months beginning in July.

"Frustrating" is how Kathy Hawkins (Woodland Avenue teacher aide) described the situation. "I feel we've been overlooked and ignored," she added, "and I resent it." Over her eleven years as an aide, Mrs. Hawkins has worked with youngsters having Down's syndrome and behavioral problems, and is now in her third year in the early learning center.

Mrs. Hawkins says, "how can you work with these youngsters for three hours a day and not care about them. We care. We used to get together and talk about the kids." She remembers the good feelings she received when students she had worked with from kindergarten moved up to the middle school.

"People don't realize our plight," she concluded, but she is still hopeful that some change will take place.

Betsy Woessner is in favor of upgrading the aides to teachers assistants, and she was disappointed by the way certain trustees "put down" the aides at the October 25 meeting. "I would not like to see the board discuss this in open session again," she added, "it's a personnel issue."

"All of a sudden, we're not qualified," she questioned, "after doing the job for eleven years."

Mrs. Woessner became a teachers aide eight years ago and began her job by working with emotionally disturbed children. She says she basically learned on the job, although she has taken a few psychology courses during this time. In 1982, just one year after Mrs. Woessner joined the Hicksville staff, the district set up an in-service training for the aides, but she says, before they could begin, the training was "scrubbed."

About the pending lawsuit, Betsy Woessner says she's thrilled and excited, "I always wanted to go to court." "Let the court decide, that's the only way to settle the issue with this district," she concluded.

Many districts throughout Long Island have been dealing with similar aide upgrading. A few of the school districts which have upgraded aides to teachers assistants include Massapequa, East Williston, Hericks, Roosevelt, Uniondale, Garden City (paraprofessionals) and Copiague. Mrs. Hild feels the results of her lawsuit will have an impact on all of Long Island.

Halloween Parade At Bethpage Library

Youngsters in fabulous costumes and a considerable number of parents turned out in droves for the Bethpage Public Library's traditional October festival, the annual Halloween Costume Parade and Party, held on a recent Saturday afternoon in October.

As autumn winds swept gorgeously colored leaves about the library's patio, young people in a wild profusion of costumes joined the parade that swirled in front of the building. There were versions of mummies, ballerinas, babies, Draculas, an enormous chocolate kiss, and a variety of fascinating clowns, witches, werewolves, pirates, gypsies, and cowboys.

The costumes were judged on originality and workmanship by a panel of four judges, who worked long and hard to arrive at their decisions.

While they waited for the judges' decisions, the young people were entertained by Magic Al who presented a dazzling

Halloween Comedy Magic Show.

After prizes in seven categories were awarded by Carol Shapiro, Children's Librarian, the exotic throng of young ghouls, goblins and other flamboyant characters enjoyed juice, donuts, and candy-filled trick or treat bags provided by the library.

Santa's Workshop

There will be a "A Visit to Santa's Workshop" Bazaar on Saturday, November 4, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, Old Country Road and Nelson Ave. (opposite Beacon Federal Savings Bank) in Hicksville. The church's social hall and gym will be filled with handcrafted items, all new costume jewelry, baked goods, Christmas table, snack bar, white elephant section, silent auction, and more - a shopper's delight.

Strike up the parade - costumed youngsters begin the annual October festival (costume contest and party) at the Bethpage Public Library in which young people in Halloween attire march around the library patio in a circle, while judges (in the center of the circle) deliberate to arrive at difficult decisions.

When the Yankee Clipper, Joltin' Joe Dimaggio hung up his spikes for the last time, the Yankees turned to future Hall of Famer Mickey Mantle to replace him;

When Ronald Reagan retired after his second term, America turned to an experienced George Bush to carry on;

And when Long Island's respected Veteran State Senator John Dunne stepped down, the Republican Party turned to Assembly Minority Leader Pro Tem Hannon to fill his seat.

With a thirteen year record of proven performance and leadership in the State Legislature, Assemblyman Kemp Hannon will continue the tradition of active and effective representation which the people of the 6th Senatorial District so richly deserve!

Dr. Bertram's 30th Anniversary

Dr. Malcolm C. Bertram, Jr., Senior Pastor at the Community Church of Syosset, United Church of Christ, celebrated the occasion of his 30th anniversary of ordination with a special sermon and renewal of his ordination vows on Sunday, October 29. The sermon, "30 Years - A Look Backward in Order to Go Forward", addressed the past, present and future aspects of Christianity in the family in general and in Dr. Bertram's own family.

Dr. Bertram asserted that he was led to the ministry, not by a revelation from God, but by his parents, who saw to it that he was always an active participant in the life of his church. He spoke eloquently of his college years, his early ministry, and of the good and bad times along his path of faith.

Dr. Bertram believes that "Ministry today is different than it was 30 years ago". There was a certain dependability about life in the church then. Today, he feels that "It is only the church institution in our society that has the strength and the will power and the faith to rise up and say no - people are more important than systems". Dr. Bertram concluded that he feels he has been blessed with the opportunity to "walk with people in their journey in faith", and he has confidence that "God's love is as relevant today as it has ever been".

Following the worship service, Dr. and Mrs. Bertram hosted a special Coffee Hour, during which the congregation assembled to congratulate Dr. Bertram for his years in God's service.

Next Sunday, November 5, the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be offered during the worship service, followed by a Forum in the Christian Education building. Shirley Akiworo of the Nassau County Department of Drugs will discuss the current drug problems in the county and the measures being taken to combat them.

All persons are warmly invited to participate in the services and Forums at the Community Church, located at 36 Church Street, Syosset.

Employees Honored For Service

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Angelo A. Dellgatti, third from right, presents a pin to Linda Manno of Syosset for 25 years of service to the Town, while Town Councilman Leonard B. Symons presents another 25 year pin to Daniel Casey. Also receiving pins were Ann Tirtito of Bethpage, 20 years; and Marge Pfoh, 20 years. The pins were presented to employees working in Town offices in Oyster Bay who reached 20, 25 and 30 year anniversaries in 1988. Later this year, the Supervisor will make similar presentations to employees at the DPW complex in Syosset and at Town Hall South in Massapequa.

Whole Language Approach

The International Interest in the instruction of children through the whole language approach has been reflected in the Bethpage Schools in a variety of ways. Teachers have been participating in conferences, workshops, and in-service courses, and have had their knowledge reflected in their work with their students.

Whole language instruction includes involving children in the active process of learning by using whole pieces of literature.

Thirteen elementary school teachers attended an introductory whole language workshop where Maxine Sherbo, a consultant with the Wright Group, and an instructor at Adelphi University, spoke about what whole language is, what a whole language classroom may look like, and how reading and writing fuse in the whole language program. The teacher awareness programs are coordinated by Dr. Regina Cohn, Director of Reading and Related Services for Bethpage Public Schools.

'Hicksville USA' Sign Refurbished

Oyster Bay Supervisor Angelo A. Delligatti, right, Carmine Monteforte center, president of Galileo Galilei Lodge #2253, Order Sons of Italy in America, and Joseph Giordano, past president of the lodge, admire the newly refurbished "Hicksville USA" sign at the intersection of Broadway and Jerusalem Avenue. The landmark, which was originally donated to the community by the Lodge in 1976, was vandalized. Through the efforts of the Supervisor, Cosmo Tile & Marble of Locust Valley was hired to do the work. Cosmo's owner, Joe Gallo, charged the Town only for labor, not materials, in the interest of "community service."

Warriors Defeat Kings Park 4-2

By A. Blicker
The Hicksville Warriors 1974 travelling soccer team defeated the Kings Park Cougars at the latter's field 4-2 on Sunday, October 29, despite playing the entire game with only 10 players, led by the sensational goaltending of Danny Bell, the outstanding play of left fullback Eric Blicker, and the magnificent play of striker Dom Perillo, who poured in a three goal hat trick while being double teamed every time he touched the ball.

Both teams had numerous opportunities in the game's first eight minutes but the defenses repulsed the offensive threats. Finally, Jason Kingsley, at center half, gained control of the ball, feeding Perillo, who carried it in and put it past the Cougar goalie. Kings Park came back to tie it at 1-1 which is the way the first half ended. Early in the second half, Danny Bell stopped a Cougar shot, and got off a long punt, which Perillo gained control of 40 yards out and then beat the Kings Park goalkeeper for a 2-1 Warrior lead. The Cougars again came back to tie it up, but the Warriors were not to be denied this day. At the 55 minute mark, Perillo converted a Kingsley corner kick, for a 3-2 lead, and his hat trick. Three minutes later Terry Aylward was set up by Karl Rice and put in the game clincher. The game's last 20 minutes featured great end-to-end soccer but no additional scoring.

Bell, playing his best game as a Warrior, had at least 15 saves, none of which were easy. Brian Harkins, at sweeper, controlled the middle, including one unbelievable save, when Bell got tripped outside of the goal mouth. Chuch Oliver had a strong game at right fullback and stopper. Eric Blicker, at left fullback, was at his defensive best, besides carrying the ball up whenever the opportunity arose. Nick McGreer had an effective game from stopper and halfback. Kris Friedrich played a fine game at halfback and fullback. Terry Aylward, in addition to his goal, had a strong game from halfback. Karl Rice was at the top of his game from the halfback position. Jason Kingsley had a fine game at halfback.

Congratulations to the team, Coach Pat McHugh and Assistant Pat Harkins, Jr. for a thrilling game.

Minutemen 13-0 Over Oceanside

By A. Blicker

The Hicksville Minutemen, my 1977 B travelling soccer team, defeated the Oceanside Cherokee 13-0 at Cantiague Park Sunday, October 29, to bring their LI Junior Soccer League record to 4 wins, 1 tie, 1 loss, strengthening their grip on second place in their Division, in a game of total domination, led by a three goal hat trick by striker Andres Turcios.

The Minutemen took control from the opening whistle, but for the game's first eight minutes the Cherokee defense rose to every challenge. Hicksville's persistence paid off, however, when right half Jason Brown gained control at midfield, crossing to center half Anthony Noya, who gave a perfect pass to right wing Jorge daSilva, who put in the game's first tally. From that point on, there was no stopping the Minutemen. Turcios scored his first, set up by daSilva. Danny dePinho then converted a penalty shot. Noya followed with a goal off a Brian Rigert assist. Turcios closed out the first half scoring, for a 5-0 Hicksville advantage, off a daSilva cross. At halftime, Hicksville was instructed to concentrate on passing in the second half, with no dribbling, in an effort to keep the score down, which unfortunately did not work.

Turcios completed his hat trick one minute into the second half, set up by Rigert. Declan Healy then converted a penalty shot for another tally. At this point, Tracy Koetter was moved from goalkeeper to right wing, switching with daSilva. Rigert then scored, set up by Jason Brown. Rigert then assisted Brown who put in yet another tally. Tim Dalton then assisted Koetter on two goals. Robin Blicker, who moved from left fullback to wing, then fed Bobby Braun, who scored. Dalton closed out the scoring on a rebound off a Blicker shot. In addition to the aforementioned, Greg Walunas, at sweeper, did an outstanding job of anchoring the defense, allowing Oceanside only one shot on goal, which took place in the first half.

Congratulations to the Minutemen for a super effort. Special thanks to Assistant Coach Tony dePinho, as well as our sponsor, Seaman & Eisemann.

Kramer Lane School is part of the Bethpage School District. County Executive Gulotta discussed the functions of County government with the students.

Famous Horse Story At Library

On Saturday, November 11, the Bethpage Public Library will present the new film release "Phar Lap" (color - 107 minutes), the amazing true story of the champion race horse who became an Australian hero. Unbeatable family entertainment, here is a compelling tale of triumph and tragedy.

Phar Lap won thirty-seven races in three years, only to die mysteriously after his greatest victory. Director Simon Wincer faithfully recreates the dramatic story of a noble horse and the gentle stableboy who was his best friend.

Showtime is 2 p.m. Tickets are available now in the library's Children's Room for all young people in Grades 3 and up and for parents who reside in District No. 21. For further information, please call 931-3907.
