Eagle Scout Court

L. I.'s Famous Shipwrecks Lecture Exhibit April 24

By Richard Evers

Memories of those who have "gone down to the sea in ships" in waters around Long Island are the subject of a Hicksville Public Library lecture and exhibit on the evening of Tuesday, April 24, at 8 p.m., in the Community Activities Room. Frank O. Braynard, Curator of the American Merchant Marine Museum at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, is the guest speaker. Mr. Braynard is a prolific author of books on maritime history. He will relate the story of the tragic first steamboat, the SS Savannah and tell of other notable shipwrecks off Long Island's coast. Mr. Braynard will give an update, also, on Operation Sail.

The program is being sponsored by the Hicksville Library's Local History Committee, and the occasion will see the official announcement of the coming creation of a Hicksville Historical Society.

Residents and non-residents interested in becoming Charter Members of the forthcoming historical society especially are urged to be present for this first event in what is hoped will be many programs for local and Long Island historical buffs.

The projected Hicksville Historical Society is being sponsored by the Hicksville Public Library. Richard Evers, Curator of the Library's Local History Room and Historian of the Hicksville Gregory Museum, is coordinating the new society's establishment.

Memorial Day Parade Plans

The William M. Gouse Jr. Post 3211 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is hosting the Hicksville Memorial Day Parade on May 28, and they are looking for participants. They need marching bands for the Parade, and any band groups that wish may participate. For more information call our Chairman Connie Steers at 822-5938 or call the V.F.W. Hall at 931-7843.

There will be Memorial Day Service at Plainlawn Cemetery and U.V.O. Memorial Day Services at Eisenhower Park and at Pinelawn National Cemetery on Sunday, May 27.

Parade Route

Assembly Sears Parking Lot at 8 a.m. Starting Time at 9 a.m. East on Nevada St. to Bethpage Rd. South on Bethpage Rd. to Woodbury Road, West on Woodbury Rd. to East Barclay St. to Broadway South on Broadway to Old Country Rd., West on Old Country Rd. to Jerusalem Avenue South on Jerusalem Avenue to Middle School.

"Get To Know Europe" Contest

The Governments of Germany, Austria and the City of Vienna, together with the American Association of Teachers of German, are sponsoring a "Get to know Europe Contest" for High School and Middle School students. Prizes include 60 free summer trips to Europe.

The contest is open to any high school or middle school student in good academic standing between the ages of 11 and 19. To enter, students simply answer the questions on an entry form which may be obtained through a German or Social Studies teacher. Completed forms must be returned by April 17. Winners will be chosen from among those who answered the contest questions correctly and will be announced in early May.

Library Bd. To Meet

The Hicksville Public Library Board of Trustees will meet on Wednesday, April 18, at 8 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Residents Oppose Group Home; Countdown Begins

By Maureen Traxler

Once again, the forty-day clock begins to tick, and area residents fear the countdown may lead to the erosion of their hopes and dreams of living in a quiet, middle-class neighborhood where their children can play freely and grow up in a peaceful surrounding.

The Town of Oyster Bay has been notified by the Nassau Center for the Developmentally Disabled that they intend to open a group home for mentally impaired adults at 2 Lehigh Road. With this notification, the Town has forty days in which to take action. There are three options: approve the site, offer alternate sites, or oppose the site on the grounds that the area is "saturated" with like facilities.

The Hicksville Community Council at its April 5, meeting provided the first forum for public discussion of the proposal for the home on Lehigh. Attendance was high, and residents passionately opposed the intrusion into their neighborhood.

"I have a two-year old and a nine-month old and my back door is only a couple of hundred feet from their back door," voiced one resident. "It's like Nazi Germany," cried out another. One woman, very active in the opposition, called out, "You're disrupting our communities."

Representatives of both the Nassau Center and the New York State Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (OMRDD) were present to inform the community of their proposal. Bob Lopez of OMRDD declared the move by a disabled adult into a group home as a "lifetime alternative." Most of the adults they service have spent their lives to date in the care of their parents.

The home slated for purchase on Lehigh would house 8 to 10 low-functioning adults (21 years or older). Mr. Lopez said that such a facility would require 3 staff members, two for nighttime coverage. Professionals, such as social workers, physical therapists, speech therapists and the like, would make regular visits to the clients at the home. A nurse would also come to the home to dispense medication, if prescribed.

Jane Reich, Adult Resident Associate Director of Nassau Center, described the average day - residents leaving the home from 9 to 4 daily to go to school, normal household activities, cleaning, cooking, recreation, and weekend activities consisting of community trips, outings to the movies, parks and museums, and visits from families. Residents may also elect to go home to visit their families.

Asked to comment on the mental disabilities of prospective residents, Mr. Lopez said that the client screening process has not been completed, but added that clients "generally come from the local area on Long Island."

Ellen Relly of Quality Assurance said that Nassau Center is at present in "conditional contract" with the owner, pending approval of the site. She would not disclose the purchase price, but added that OMRDD "will not pay more than the fair market value."

One resident, opposing the selection of another Hicksville site, said that she had obtained a list of established sites by community in the Town of Oyster Bay and that four communities had 4 or 5 sites already -- they are Hicksville, Syosset, Massapequa and Farmingdale. Thirty communities have none and a scattering have only one. "You have thrown us into havoc, and put a burden on our community," said the woman. She mentioned that her brother lives across the street from another group home established several years ago, and bitterly added, "Enough for my family."

Mr. Lopez replied that the state seeks to balance the need for community residences and has requested help on a regular basis from municipalities in developing residences in their areas. To date, he added, the state has not been successful in this endeavor. In order to fulfill the need for beds in such facilities, now estimated at 1500 to 2000 in the Long Island area, the state proceeds to bring sites on "in a timely fashion. This act," commented Mr. Lopez, leads "to some (communities) receiving more homes early on."

The audience seemed baffled by the random choice of sites with certain communities assuming unfair burden and by the lack of coordination between state agencies responsible for establishing homes. Council President Joe DePompa posed a solution. He urged Assemblyman Fred Parola to seek action to halt the site selection process until the procedure could be analyzed.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Hicksville Public Library Budget vote has been scheduled for Wednesday, April 18, between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. at the library. I encourage all registered voters to exercise their right to vote.

The Hicksville library provides a wide array of services for all residents. Besides having one of the largest book and periodical collections in Nassau County, our library offers residents the following services: audio cassettes, career counseling, college catalogues, compact discs, opiers, fax machine, homebound delivery, local history collection, public computers, public typewriters, records, reference, out of town telephone books, video cassettes and Votalker computer software for visually impaired. Your library also offers art exhibits, concerts demonstrations, lectures, plays, workshops, children's programs and young adult programs.

The library board of trustees has recognized today's economic climate, and has taken strenuous steps to minimize the proposed library budget. In fact, the board cut the initial proposed budget tax rate by more than five cents. A slight allowance was made for our books, records and tapes collection. The proposal also includes project staff related expenses such as health coverage, retirement system payments, and salaries.

The tax rates of school and library districts have received great publicity in the last year. These educational institutions face severe challenges. While many mandated costs have placed these taxing bodies in a difficult situation, we, at the Hicksville Library, have already been successful at addressing many issues that others are now facing.

Asbestos abatement at the library has been completed and paid for. We have added needed building extensions, such as the computer room now under construction, through fines and fees and/or within the confines of existing budgets.

Through forethought and careful planning, we have been able to propose a 1990-91 library budget of $1,925 million funded by a tax rate of only $1.51. For the average home in Hicksville, the cost is about $1.45 a week to provide the wide variety of services mentioned above.

The staff of the library works diligently throughout the year to meet your needs and the library board of trustees had done its utmost to assure the continuation of outstanding library services at the lowest practical cost.

I ask that you take the time to vote YES for the proposed 1990-91 library budget on Wednesday.

In closing, I wish to thank all the residents who signed nominating petitions to return me to the board of trustees. I will continue to work in the best interest of the Hicksville community.

Sincerely,

Marc Herbst, President
Hicksville Public Library
Board of Trustees

To the Editor:

During the Hicksville Community Council meeting held at the library on April 5, a number of questions were asked during the presentation of the library budget, and some concern was expressed about the increase in total clerical salary expenditures.

The library is converting to an automated circulation control system, which will result in considerably better service for the patron. We expect preparations will take about one more year.

a) Ten temporary part-time typists, who have been entering our library holdings into a data base, were granted an increase in September 1989.

b) The children's library is now open five days a week until 9 p.m. A part-time clerk was added to staff the additional three evenings.

c) an increase was granted clerical staff members for Sunday work.

d) An additional part-time clerical member was added to the children's library from 2 to 5 p.m. weekdays.

e) A part-time clerical worker has been approved for the periodical room.

The increases provide for then, a total of two new staff members, an additional two temporary typists, plus an unspecified amount for clerical salary increases pending negotiations with the Civil Service Employees Association. The total 1990-91 budget represents a 7.6% increase over the present budget. The average Homeowner's library tax bill will be about $75 per year.

As I explained during the program the library budget is carefully planned over many months, and all board meetings are open to the public. We meet the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m.

Kenneth S. Barnes

THE OFFICE CAT

By Gabby Tabby

WHILE THE Town debates over cluster homes which would allow houses to be clustered on property and make common open space, the idea has come a bit too late for Hicksville, Syosset, Bethpage and Jericho. Long ago the land has been filled. THE BAD weather has postponed the cleanup dates in Hicksville by citizens. The date, after a series of rains, has been postponed to April 21. IT FINALLY happened, a Plainview man drove his car through the wall on the third level of the Town of Oyster Bay Parking Garage in Hicksville. The car fell 34 feet to the sidewalk at Newbridge Road. The man in the car, Lawrence Hershkovitz, 47, was taken to Nassau County Medical Center in critical condition after the accident on Thursday, April 5. JACK R. Gannon, special assistant for Advocacy to the President of Gallaudet University in Washington, will discuss issues in deaf culture April 19, 7 p.m., at Lutheran Friends for the Deaf, Mill Neck. IT LOOKS as though that new multiplex theatre that the Broadway Mall wanted to construct in Hicksville will not be given the permit if whisperings from Town Hall are correct. It was supposed to be a 10 screen theatre with 3,200 seats and a food court with 500 more seats. SUSAN GORDON RYAN of Syosset has been selected as the winner of the 1990 Young Administrators Award for her work as the Executive Director of the New York State Parks Games for the Physically Challenged since they were organized in 1985. THE SENIORMOBILE will be in Bethpage on May 15, at the EAB Bank 500 Hicksville Road. Free taxi service for seniors is available by calling Yellow Cab at 249-1212. The Seniorsmobile will be at Dollar Dry Dock at Broadway Mall, Hicksville, May 21 and free transportation can be provided by Yellow Cab at 931-1111. THE POLICE REPORT this week includes a break-in at Royal Diner 495 Old Country Road, Hicksville on April 4. Entry was through a skylight and trash was stolen. POLICE arrested three youths in Bethpage, at King Kullen where a front window of the store was broken on April 9. STOLEN cars this week include a 1983 Honda from Seitz Drive, Bethpage on April 8, a 1978 Toyota Corolla from Seaman Ave., Bethpage on April 6 and a 1988 Chrysler Conquest from Scooter Lane, Hicksville on April 5. That's all the news for now. G.T.

Legion Offers Two Scholarships

The members of the Hicksville Charles Wagner Post 421 of the American Legion are pleased to announce the reestablishment of the American Legion Charles Wagner Post 421 Memorial Scholarships for worthy and needy Hicksville High School graduates.

Post 421 under the Commandership of Arlene Howard will offer, commencing with the graduating classes of 1990, scholarships for $500 each to the Hicksville High School and the Holy Trinity High School of Hicksville. This scholarship endeavor renews a Charles Wagner Post youth activity of bygone years in an effort to assist worthy young people in furthering their education and training.

The criteria for those applying to the Guidance Departments of their schools for scholarship consideration are as follows: recipients must demonstrate their economic need, must be worthy students of fine character, must be citizens of the United States, graduating seniors who will be attending any recognized institution of higher learning or vocational training.

The selection of the scholarship recipients will be left to the school administrator, but the Charles Wagner Post 421 School Affairs Chairman, Richard Evers, has the option of reviewing the application of the proposed scholarship recipient.

The 1990 Charles Wagner Post 421 Memorial Scholarships will be interim scholarships. The post is pleased to announce that 1990-91 will see the formal establishment of a Scholarship Trust Fund whose annual interest funds will be dispersed in scholarships to perpetuate the memory of the Post 421 namesake, Charles Wagner, who died of wounds while serving with the A.E.F. in France, during the First World War.

Lamb K Of C 25th Anniv. Dinner Dance

The Joseph F. Lamb Council No. 5723 Knights of Columbus, Plainview, will hold its 25th Anniversary Dinner Dance on Friday evening, June 22, at the Imperial Manor in Bethpage. The cocktail hour will start at 8:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 9:30 p.m. There will be a choice of either Prime Ribs of Beef, or Stuffed Chicken breasts. The seven piece band of "Amici D'America" will be on hand to provide lively music. The price of admission is $32.50 per person. (Note: the actual cost is much greater, but the Council is picking up the difference.) Tickets can be obtained by contacting Ticket Chairmen, P.G.K., P.F.N., F.D.D. Joseph Ehler at 935-3908 or P.G. Leonard Galati at 681-6573.

This affair will be the most important one that the Joseph F. Lamb Council has ever held. The Joe Lamb Council K. of C. was first organized in January of 1965 and the first Grand Knight was P.G.K., P.F.N., Thomas McNamee, who will be Honorary Chairman of the Dance. The Lamb Council has always been very active in both the Plainview and Hicksville communities with many works of charity and service. The present Grand Knight is G.K. Josef Ort.

It is anticipated that many of the Past Grand Knights of the Council will be on hand to greet their friends and brother Knights. All members of the Lamb Council, past and present, those active or inactive, are urged to be in attendance to celebrate this most important event.

The overall chairman of this affair is P.G.K., P.F.N., F.D.D. Robert Corrado, who will also be the master of ceremonies.

The co-chairmen for dinner and tables are P.G.K. John Lombardi and P.G.K. Daniel Paternoster. The Journal Committee is composed of P.G.K., P.F.N., F.D.D. Peter Volpe, P.G.K. Anthony Iannuzzi, and P.G.K., and present District Deputy for the 16th District, Otto Schmidtmann. The 25th Anniversary Gifts will be in the charge of P.G.K. Sam Repoli (present Warden of the 16th D.D.), and the publicity and photography will be handled by Frank Jopp (author of this article).

So brother Knights of Lamb Council, past and present, for a night to really remember, and for an opportunity to renew old friendships, try to be on hand for this important occasion.

On a different note: The April Knight of the Month is Frank Jopp (yours truly). I wish to sincerely thank the Council for this honor and it is certainly appreciated.

Jazz Program At Library

Friday, April 27, at 8:15 p.m., the Hicksville Public Library Community Room will be swinging with the sounds of Jazz. Back by popular demand... The Great South Dixieland Jazz Band will entertain all Jazz lovers. Come to the library and bring your friends for a delightful evening of Jazz.

This program is co-sponsored by the Hicksville Public Library and the Town of Oyster Bay, Cultural and Performing Arts Division.

Parents, Educators Conference

A recent study indicates that 3 out of 4 American adults think that the problems facing today's children are more severe than the problems they experienced growing up.

Hicksville High School is presenting a unique opportunity for adults in the community to learn more about the problems facing young people and the ways in which they can help.

An evening conference for parents and educators has been scheduled for May 10, at 7 p.m., at the Hicksville High School. The evening will include an introductory presentation about the difficulties of parenting an adolescent and a series of workshops on topics of interest to parents. Each participant will have a choice as to which workshop they wish to attend. Workshops will be presented by mental health professionals who have specialties both in their topics and in work with adolescents.

The conference is being coordinated by the Peer Support Network (a group of young people who provide peer counseling in the High School) in conjunction with the school social worker and the High School administration. There are 20 workshops from which to choose, among them: Stress Management for Parents, Understanding Drug Use, Cults and Heavy Metal, Communicating with Your Teenager, Drinking and Driving, and English as a Second Language. There is limited attendance.

Registration forms are available at Hicksville High School and must be returned no later than April 23.

For additional information, contact Mr. Dalvano, 933-6662.

INN Celebrates Fifth Anniversary

On April 1, the Hicksville Interfaith Nutrition Network celebrated their 5th Anniversary, with a party at the Jolly Swagman in Hicksville. It was a happy occasion attended by eighty-three people. Dorothy Eidsvaag chaired the anniversary dinner and Beth Dalton was the moderator. Rev. Dr. John Krahn gave the invocation. Pastor Grant, of Redeemer Lutheran Church where the I.N.N. is housed, gave comments on "Where The I.N.N. Is Headed." He said that there would be out-reach to the Spanish community, meals being served perhaps seven days a week, and encouraging families to take advantage of meals. Ultimately it would be hoped that everyone would find a place that they could call their own, where they could "Rest Their Head" at night, referring to the homeless in our area.

Pastor Grant was then surprised when he was given a plaque in recognition for being instrumental in the "Birth of the I.N.N.". Pastor Grant then said that "behind every successful man is a good woman," in appreciating his wife Nancy's contribution to his success through the years.

Effie Krogmann, of Krogmann Realty, was honored with a plaque for her five years of work as publicity chairman and board member of the I.N.N.. Effie also assisted in the "Birth of the I.N.N.."

Father Dominic K. Ciannella, who was unable to attend, and his congregation of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church will receive a plaque in recognition of their contribution as host church of the I.N.N. for four years. During this time, Father Ciannella served as chairman of the board with enthusiasm and leadership. -Sieg Widder, who has done just about every community service that can be done in Hicksville, was presented with an inscribed jewelry box, in appreciation for the thorough, efficient and compassionate job he did as treasurer of the board of directors, for the past five years.

Laura and Win Pechutski, owners of the Jolly Swagman, were given a Certificate in recognition of their service to the I.N.N. by cooking and storing food for us and for all their support.

Everyone was thrilled to have in attendance, the "Ladies and Men of the Soup Kitchen and St. Paul's" who were thanked for the meals they have prepared every Tuesday, at their own expense, for the past five years. These ladies and men are all members of St. Paul the Apostle R.C. Church of Jericho. The Rev. Mario Costa is their spiritual leader.

The I.N.N. is grateful to all these people for their personal sacrifice to others. The I.N.N. is also thankful for all the volunteers who so generously give of their time and talents. These are truly the "unsung heroes."

Sister Pat Kollner, Associate Director of the I.N.N., Hempstead, Diane Otten, her liaison for all the I.N.N.s in Nassau and Suffolk, and Rob Kammerer who is vice president of the executive board were all present.

There were many familiar faces in attendance. Sheila Noeth, a former board member was present. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kenny and Bruce Garry represented the Hicksville Lions Club. Vincent Murphy, Grand Knight of Joseph Barry Knights of Columbus was welcomed. Andrew Wallace, who is pro-bono Lawyer of I.N.N. was there too. Sister Pat Kollner gave the benediction.

It was a joyous time of celebration and thanksgiving.

200th Anniversary Of Washington Visit

To commemorate the 200th Anniversary of George Washington's visit to Oyster Bay, a special program will be held at the Vernon Middle School, East Norwich, on Monday, April 23, according to Town Councilman Leonard B. Symons.

"The program, which is being presented by the Town's Bicentennial Historical Commission and co-hosted by the Oyster Bay-East Norwich School District, will be held in the Vernon Middle School beginning at 10 a.m.," Symons stated. "The program will include music by the Vernon School Band, the Roosevelt School fourth grade singing 'Chester' and readings by members of the Oyster Bay High School drama workshop. In addition, John B. Dawson of Glen Head will portray George Washington and address the assembly, carrying out a tradition that the first President spoke to the school children of Oyster Bay 200 years ago on his trip to Long Island."

Symons noted that representatives of veteran, historical and civic groups are being invited to the program, which will also be attended by fourth grade students from the Roosevelt Elementary School and by fifth and sixth grade students from Vernon Middle School. The public is welcome as space allows. RSVP, Dorothy McGee at 922-5800, ext. 2253.

To further commemorate Washington's visit, during which he also stopped in Massapequa, a special stamp cancellation has been designed. Anyone using the Massapequa Post Office on Saturday, April 21, or the Oyster Bay Post Office on Monday, April 23, will be able to have the cancellation used on their mail.

40 New Members Of Honor Soc.

The Verisage Chapter of the National Junior Honor Society inducted 40 new members at the Hicksville Middle School on March 20. Dr. Catherine J. Fenton, Superintendent of Schools, was awarded an honorary membership. Induction ceremonies in the Bernard H. Braun Auditorium were led by Chapter President, April Rodriguez. Mr. Gerald Klein, Principal, addressed the new members on their roles as leaders of the future. The Eighth Grade Orchestra, directed by Mrs. Amy Noll, provided the music, and a reception following the ceremony was enjoyed by all. Chapter advisors are Mrs. Jane Wichmann and Mrs. Marie Marshall. The following students were inducted into the society:

Jonathan Barlow, Beth Ann Barozic, Meridith Bogart, Jaime Boyle, Andrew Burratolo, Helen Christodoulou, Bessie Chuang, Eric Chung, Christopher Colton, Stacey Comolli, Meghan Conk, Dana Cooper, Maggie Czarnogorski, Jamie Durkin, Jennifer Grassick, Glen Hinckley, Robert Hora, Syeda Hossain, Ali Ismail, Deepa John, Jennifer Karmann, Min Young Kim, Danielle Kurkowski, Michael LaPadula, Cindy Latzo, Janine Leyser, Sandra Lievano, Ashley Lounsbury, Danielle Monsees, Joseph Nieh, Sweetie Pandhi, Melissa Pawelzak, Jarrod Pfeiffer, Matti Rehman, Michael Rizzo, Nancy Rojas, Nicole Skidmore, Zenda Thomas, Jennifer Uihlein and Brian Wong.

Two Local Boys In Simon Play

Tom Barry and Mike McAuliffe

Two Bethpage boys who attend St. Anthony's High School in Huntington have been selected to star in the Grumman Theatre Guild's spring production of "Brighton Beach Memoirs" by Neil Simon. Tom Barry, a sophomore at St. Anthony's and a participant in many local productions, stars as Eugene Jerome. Eugene is fashioned after Neil Simon himself and his struggles while growing up during the thirties in Brooklyn. Mike McAuliffe, a junior at St. Anthony's and a featured performer many times at St. Martin of Tours in Bethpage, portrays his older brother Stanley. Both boys will undoubtedly give outstanding performances.

Local theatre fans may also recognize Pat Tropea as Eugene's mother Kate. Sy Siegel as his father and Bonnie Ryan as Kate's sister Blanche. Blanche's daughters are played by Christine Maynard and Nadine Berman. All have been seen in numerous local productions on Long Island.

"Brighton Beach Memoirs" is directed by David L. Rosenberg and will be presented on Fridays and Saturdays May 4, 5, 11, 12, 18 and 19 at 8 p.m., at the Bethpage Jr. High School on Broadway in Bethpage. Tickets are $9 for adults and $8 for seniors and students. For a few dollars more than it costs to see a movie, you can enjoy live theatre close to home. Don't miss it. If you would like more information about this production, call 931-7750.

Trinity High Alumni Breakfast

The Alumni Parents of Holy Trinity High School are holding their 2nd annual Alumni Parents Communion Breakfast on Sunday, April 29. Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Following Mass will be a full breakfast in the Cafeteria. A mini tour of the school will be offered to interested alumni parents after the breakfast. Admission is $5 per person. Please call Clare Mundy at 785-6807 for more information.

Easter At St. Paul's

The congregation of believers at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Bethpage wish all our neighbors God's blessings as we joyously celebrate our Lord Jesus Christ's victory over death in His resurrection from the dead.

Jesus' death on the cross is the greatest evidence of God's love for us. He sent His only Son to pay the penalty for our sins by dying at Calvary. But the story doesn't end there. On the third day, Jesus rose from the dead and gloriously proved that He has power over sin and death. Through our faith in Him and our acceptance of His perfect gift of salvation, we know that we, too, can overcome death and live forever with our Father in heaven.

We invite you to join us in worshipping and praising our Lord and Savior on Easter Sunday, April 15, at 8 and 10:30 a.m. St. Paul Lutheran church is located at 449 Stewart Avenue in Bethpage (just south of the railroad station.) For further information, please call the church office at 931-8262.

Improvement Team Visits Albany

On Tuesday, March 20, members of the Hicksville High School Improvement Team paid a surprise visit to the Albany Mall to attend a concert given there by the High School Orchestra under the excellent direction of Mr. Robert West.

The student musicians, along with Mr. William Gagnon, District Supervisor of Fine Arts, and Miss Mary Jane Caldwell, Fine Arts Teacher at the High School, warmly welcomed Mr. Gagnon, their Principal, Mrs. Gagnon, Asst. Principal, Mr. McDonough, Adm. Asst., teachers, Messrs. Redican and Zaleski, as well as Mr. Robert Durso, District Dir. of Instruction.

After a brief introduction delivered by Assemblyman Fred Parola, the Orchestra played an outstanding performance for their enthusiastic listeners. The natural acoustics of the Mall seemed to gather the music and then broadcast it, richly, to the farthest reaches of the huge enclosure. As they finished their final piece, the Orchestra was greeted with resounding applause from an ever-increasing audience.

After the concert, the students boarded buses taking them to West Point, while the School Improvement Team traveled west through a north-country snowstorm to Schenectady where they were attending a State Education Department Conference devoted to "Excellence and Accountability."

As part of their contribution to the conference, the Team representatives delivered a presentation which outlined Hicksville

High School's efforts at school improvement to date. The Team reviewed the results of student, faculty, parent, and staff surveys taken earlier in the year, the development of Hicksville High School's "Mission" Statement, and were especially proud to report that over fifty percent of the faculty had signed-up to serve on sub-committees to improve the climate and educational attainment of the secondary school.

The audience of over sixty School Superintendents, Central Administrators, Board of Education members, and Principals were genuinely impressed with the formal presentation as evidenced by the number of questions and the duration of the session which followed.

The School Improvement Team is chaired by Mr. Paul Vetrano, a senior member of the Social Studies Department, who met recently with community members, student representatives, secretaries, custodians, and teacher aides in an effort to gather suggestions and recommendations from them on the issue of school improvement. Other Team members include Mr. Quinlan, Physical Education Department, Ms. Faherty of the English Department, and Ms. Silverberg from the Special Education Department.

The School Improvement Team welcomes all suggestions from the Hicksville Community regarding ways to improve our High School. We encourage your participation and appreciate your support.

Johns Hopkins Talent Winners

The Hicksville Middle School has participated in the Johns Hopkins Talent Search for eight years. The University sets very strict criteria for candidates who are then screened through the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test.

This year, our largest number of seventh graders (49), participated in the 1990 Talent Search. In January, these students took the SAT-Verbal, and the SAT-Mathematics examination, as well as the Test of Standard Written English.

The following students received a Certificate of Distinction for their SAT-Verbal scores: Maggie Czarnogoraki, Syeda Hossain and James Woods.

The following students received a Certificate of Distinction for their SAT-Mathematics scores: Andrew Corley, Maggie Czarnogoraki, Jamie Durkin, Glen Hincley, Syeda Hossain, Joseph Nieh and Brian Wong.

The following students received a Certificate of Distinction for their TSWE scores: Mary Ann Aiello, Christian Bloom, Helen Christodoulou, Christopher Colton, Carrie Dunleavy, Jamie Durkin, Glen Hincley and Brian Wong.

In addition, four of the students' scores on the SAT-Math were above 550 and qualified for recognition at the state level: Andrew Corley, Glen Hincley, Joseph Nieh and Brian Wong. These four Middle School students will receive formal recognition at a CTY Awards Ceremony at Hofstra University on Sunday, May 13.

Successful Talent Search candidates are invited to participate in special college-level courses and programs designed for gifted and talented youngsters.

All of the above youngsters have been invited to attend the special meeting of the Board of Education on Wednesday, April 18.

Our Local Poet

Jimmy Cooley, Bethpage's well-known poet and the 'Little Corporal' in his local newspaper column years, stands proudly with his donation to the Hicksville Public Library's Local History Collection of two albums of photos and clippings recording the history of the AMVETS Robert O. Ulmer Post 44 of Hicksville, for the years 1954-1974.

VFW Host Memorial Parade

By PPC Carmine A. Somma

The Wm. M. Gouse Jr. Post 3211 Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U.S. will be hosting the Annual Memorial Day Parade on Monday, May 28. All Civic, Fraternal and Veteran groups are invited to participate in the annual Hicksville Memorial Day Parade.

For more information call Chairman Connie Steers at 822-5938 or call the VFW Hall at 931-7843.

Marching Bands for the parade and Band groups are needed.

Athletic Forum At High School

An educational athletic forum sponsored by the Hicksville Athletic Department and Athletics Helping Athletes Inc., will be held for student athletes and their parents on Thursday, April 26, at 7:30 p.m., in the Hicksville High School Auditorium.

Ed Card, former Olympic Bobsledder, will speak on "Performance Enhancing Drugs."

Dave Jennings, former All-Pro Punter for the Jets and Giants, and Mickey Shuler, All-Pro Tight End for the Jets, will share their views on "Alternatives to Drug and Alcohol Abuse."

The first 400 athletes who attend with a parent will receive a T-Shirt.

Create Designer Sweat Shirt

Create a designer sweatshirt (or tee shirt) on Wednesday, April 25, at 1 p.m. or 8 p.m. at the Bethpage Public Library, 47 Powell Avenue. There will be a charge of $5. for supplies, and participants must bring a pre-washed (no fabric softeners, please) 50/50 cotton poly or 100% cotton sweatshirt and a full cardboard insert to fit same, and 1/4 yard floral or geometric design fabric. Pre-registration is required, and payment is requested at that time. Please specify day or evening session. Call 931-3907 or stop at the Reference Desk.

If you don't keep their names alive, who will?

An invitation to place the name of a member of your family who immigrated to America in the only national museum created to honor them.

Whether your ancestors first set foot on American soil at Ellis Island, or entered through another gateway, here is a unique opportunity to show your gratitude. And to present your family with a gift that will be meaningful now and for generations to come.

When you make a $100 contribution to restore Ellis Island, the name you designate will be permanently placed on the newly created American Immigrant Wall of Honor. You can choose the name of an ancestor or just your own family name. And you'll receive an Official Certificate of Registration. To register additional names, list each name and country of origin on a separate sheet. And remember, there is a minimum gift of $100 for each.

Please send your contribution today. By acting now you assure that the Ellis Island Immigration Museum will be a place to honor your own heritage, as well as a monument to the great American traditions of freedom, hope and opportunity.

Open House At Nursery School

The Hicksville Nursery School is holding an Open House for Fall registration on Monday, April 30, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. for parents of 2, 2½, 3 and 4 year olds in the school classrooms at W. Cherry Street and Nelson Avenue.

The Hicksville Nursery School is a non-profit, non-sectarian cooperative located in the back of the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1967, it has offered twenty-one years of quality education to hundreds of preschool children as well as serving as field training center for students from S.U.N.Y. Farmingdale, Nassau Community College and Adelphi University.

The school seeks to offer the young child an environment in which he can grow emotionally, socially, intellectually and physically under the careful supervision of a fully trained staff. The program provides varied activities with an abundance of materials and opportunities for free creative expression under the guidance of skilled, N.Y. State Early Childhood certified teachers. Art, media, woodworking, music and rhythmic movement, language arts, storytelling, dramatics, puzzles, doll corner, books and manipulative toys are all part of the daily program. A huge indoor playground permits daily large muscle activity even in the worst weather. A mid-session snack of milk or juice and crackers or fruits and vegetables is provided. Field trips are included to broaden the child's understanding of the world he lives in.

All parents who wish to, can share in the administration of the school. Monthly business meetings give parents the opportunity to make decisions on administrative needs. There are lectures, films, and "rap groups" to help parents learn more about parenting. Fundraising projects are most often social events helping young families meet other adults who are at the same stage in life.

We invite all parents of pre-school children to join us for a chance to play and learn together in our spacious well-equipped rooms. For further information call 931-3415 or 681-8246.

"Teenager Of The Month"

To become an entertainment lawyer, specializing in music is the dream of Carol Berman, who was chosen as Teenager of the Month by the Bethpage Elks Club. An outstanding clarinetist and oboist in Bethpage's Band, Orchestra and Pit Band for four years, she was chosen this year as the 1st chair oboist in the All-County Orchestra. Her leadership abilities were demonstrated in her role as Drum Major of the Marching Band and as the Editor in Chief of our yearbook. Mr. Cohen, the District Director of Music described her as someone who "leads not only because of her musical ability, but because of her spiritual attitudes."

A strong achieving student, she is ranked at the top of her class with high SAT's and Advanced Placement courses. She has given of herself generously in the Student Civic Association where she is helping to plan Earth Day, in the Eagle's Cry where she is the Art Editor, and in the Student Council where she is Secretary of the House of Representatives. She coordinated a major revision of the Yearbook this year, introducing articles on all pages, new cover colors, and a title "The Big Picture" focused on a movie theme.

Carol is looking forward to a meaningful education at one of the Ivy Schools, majoring in Political Science and Music and is well prepared for the competition and pressures that she will face in the future. She has a clear sense of self and is well-adjusted in facing the challenges in the future. When you hear of the Michael Jackson in the year 2010, check to see if his lawyer's name is Carol Berman.

Stars Shine At Woodland

Clown act was performed by Ryan Krisel, Michael and Joseph Mianulli, Tara Strazzeri and Marc Valente, with helpers (not shown) Robert Hordern and Victor Valente.

Sisters Tabitha and Lauren Strauss dancing to "Be True To Your School."

Kindergarten girls Tracy Barry, Lisa Camilleri and Nicole Rebhan dancing to "Cover Girl."

Regis. Open For Walking

Walking is a popular form of exercise and one that most people can participate in. To help residents develop techniques to gain the greatest health benefit from walking, the Town of Oyster Bay Parks Department, Division of Recreation, is sponsoring a special Walking Program, it was announced this week by Town Councilman John Venditto.

"Registration for the Walking Program will be conducted through Friday, April 27," Venditto stated. "Registration forms can be obtained at all Town Hall and community park facilities and at all local libraries. They should be returned to the park managers or to the Parks Department, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa 11758.

"Offered in cooperation with the President's Council on Physical Fitness, the seven-week Walking Program is free to Town residents," Venditto said. "The class will meet twice a week. Participants can choose a daytime course between 10 and 11:30 a.m., on Tuesday and Thursday at Syosset-Woodbury Community Park or an evening course between 7 and 8:30 p.m., on Tuesday and Thursday at Marjorie R. Post Community Park, Massapequa."

Venditto noted that the courses will begin on Tuesday, May 1, and end on Thursday, June 14. "The Walking Program has been very popular with residents in past years," Venditto commented. "If you would like to 'walk your way to better health,' I urge you to take advantage of this free course."

For further information, contact the Parks Department at 795-1000.

On Thursday, March 29, Woodland Avenue PTA held its annual Talent Show. The all-purpose room of the school was packed with parents, grandparents, teachers and students who came to see Woodland's own stars shine bright.

The show opened with Kindergarten and First Grade twirlers who danced to "Baby's Got Her Blue Jeans On." Other acts included dancing, magic acts, a circus act with clowns, twirling acts and more. The Pre-schoolers were sensational in their roll over act where they sang "I Don't Care If I Ever Go To Bed" wearing their pajamas.

For the second year in a row the star of the evening was First Grader John Ammerata, who danced to the New Kids hit "Hanging Tough." The girls shrieked and the boys cheered when John took off his jacket and threw it on the stage floor. Hooray John!!!

Special thanks should go to backstage helpers Gregory and John Gallessich, Marita Rau, Dena Hordern, Linda Barry, Pat May, Preschool staff, Cindi Krisel, Betsy Karman, Sue DeFreitas, and to the Twirling staff, Mary Adams, Tracy Rebhan, Flo Gulli and Margaret Sehy.

Congratulations and many thanks to PTA moms Debbie Hordern and Debbie Mianulli who, once again, have made this event a most memorable experience for our children.

And last, but not least, Congratulations to all the students who performed. You were great!!!!

'Squeaky Clean' History Of Rock

'Squeaky Clean' presented their "History of Rock and Roll" show recently at East Street School. The show was informative, demonstrating the various musical styles that came together to become rock and roll.

Squeaky Clean is Suzanne Smithline playing electric and upright basses, Glenn Paul Manion playing guitar and 5-string banjo and Chris Patti playing drums. All three band members sing lead and background vocals.

Suzanne, Glenn and Chris perform mostly in elementary schools, middle schools and high schools and are scheduled to perform for over 45,000 students this year. They also perform at camps, community concerts and other special events including the International Children's Festival, the Children's Museum of Boston, the Brooklyn Children's Museum and the Theatre by the Sea Festival in Rhode Island. They have also been featured on Nickelodeon's hit pre-school program "Eureeka's Castle."

Squeaky Clean can be reached at: Squeaky Clean, c/o Drip Dry Records, P.O. Box 607, Cooper Station, New York, N.Y. 10276.

Residents Oppose Group Home; Countdown

Ron Beauman who spoke on behalf of the residents said that the system of site selection "has taken away our right to defend ourselves. You (the state agencies) have put our property values in jeopardy, taking away our financial stability."

Nick Boba, the Director of Adult Services at Nassau Center, said that his organization has extensive background with the developmentally disabled. He noted that Nassau Center operates a number of facilities in other areas: a pre-school program, a children's residence in Woodbury, a children's day program, and 8 adult residences - three in Woodbury, and one each in Seaford, Plainview, Massapequa, Wantagh and Farmingdale. Although the proposed site would be Nassau Center's first adult residence in Hicksville, it already operates an adult day program for clients 21 years and over on New South Road. At present, Hicksville also houses three full time group residences operated by other agencies and the Soup Kitchen operated by the Interfaith Nutrition Network.

Town Councilman Douglas Hynes said that he would not gloss over the situation and declared "the deck is pretty well stacked against you" when opposing a group home site.

Councilman Hynes referred to group homes as "a silent drain on the tax base," due to the fact that the facilities are run by not-for-profit agencies, and called for payments in lieu of taxes. The Councilman pointed out the pre-emption of Town Zoning regulations, thereby allowing 8 to 10 persons from different families to reside together. He did, however, make mention that he felt Nassau Center is a "financially sound organization."

"The State felt there was an overriding need to get these people out (of institutions, i.e., the Padavan Law), and mainstreamed into the community," said Councilman Hynes. "The only way to change this law is through legislative action."

Representing Assemblyman Parola, Jim Murphy updated the audience on legislation being sponsored by Mr. Parola in an attempt to effect changes in the law. His legislation includes lengthening the waiting period beyond 40 days, reimbursement of taxes, a maximum of 8 clients per home with supervisors per 4 residents, and prohibiting the location of a home within one mile of a school.

Mr. Parola's office has tentatively scheduled a public meeting on the 2 Lehigh proposal for Wednesday, April 25, at 8 p.m., in the middle school. That meeting date may be rescheduled since it conflicts with the School Board's budget hearing/meeting.

The Community Council's agenda also included a presentation of the library budget by Kenneth Barnes and an update on the 1990 census. The library budget vote will take place on Wednesday, April 18, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., at the library. Mr. Barnes outlined the proposed $1,925,789 budget which represents a $136,775 increase over the present budget and carries an estimate tax rate of $1.51 per $100 assessed valuation.

Library Director Barnes informed the audience that the library wishes to install a new automated circulation program which would computerize the lending operation. With that change, new charge desks would be installed to replace the present 30 year old equipment. The cost for clerical employees will rise in 1990-91 in connection with the computerization.

Mr. Barnes said that with the completion of the asbestos abatement program, the library will proceed with renovations to the community room. He noted that funds for that purpose have already been set aside.

The Census Bureau spokesman urged all residents to mail back their forms promptly. Among other results, the 1990 census will determine federal funds to communities for schools and the number of representatives in Congress. The Census Bureau will answer questions from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., seven days a week on their hotline number: 1-800-999-1990.

The next meeting of the Hicksville Community Council will be on Thursday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m., in the community room of the public library. At that time, candidates for Hicksville Board of Education Trustee will be invited to speak.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Did Al D'Amato do the right thing by going to Lithuania's border?

Input Callers Divided On Lithuanian Stand

Input callers were divided on what we should do about Lithuania in answer to this question: "Do you think Pres. Bush should take a stronger stand against Lithuania?" Here are some of the answers:

BUSH DOING HIS BEST

It is not possible to really take a strong stand for Lithuania as the President of the U.S. The problem is that Pres. Bush has to look at the over-all picture and see that what he does ends up getting the most out of the situation in Russia. By not pushing Gorbachev too hard he is not putting him in a position that his own country will rise against him. I don't think Pres. Bush could do anything more than he is doing. G.J. SHOULD TELL OFF

Pres. Bush is certainly not taking the same stand as Reagan would have taken. Bush was whimsical with China and he is almost silent with Lithuania. I think he should get in there and tell Gorbachev just how we feel about him holding nations captive to his old system. K.F.

WAITING, WATCHING

No. Bush has not done anything at this time. But I am not sure that just standing up and making a big proclamation that this country will not stand behind will make things any better. We will not go to war for Lithuania and I am sure that Gorbachev knows that. So if Bush makes any threats and cannot get backing to carry them out he might just as well do what he is doing. Waiting and watching. F.D.

MORAL SUPPORT

Lithuania will have to find its own way. We will give some moral support but we cannot take on the whole world to bring about democracy. We saw that in Vietnam and we should have profited by that mistake. Bush is doing the right thing. He is pushing and holding the Lithuanians back from any false security that they will get aid if they start to fight for independence. The help will not come so they should try to settle it by diplomatic means even though that may appear to take a little bit longer it will possibly work best. Bloodshed really does not win much because you have to sit down and negotiate after the fighting stops. So why not do that now? Bush is right in not rushing in and looking for a fight. N.S.

LAY DOWN RULES

Bush should lay down the rules. He should stop short of threatening military force but he should let the Soviets know that they cannot expect any economic help while they hold some nations captive. Bush should tell the Russians this and they may just have to listen because things are very bad there economically. G.F.

CAN'T LIBERATE WORLD

So many people still believe that we can still liberate the entire world that there are many people angry with Bush on not doing more for Lithuania. But realistically there is not much other than "jawboning" that he can do. We would never be able to give military support and besides it would be difficult to know whether Lithuania would be considered an internal problem or not. After so many years it is hard to say definitely that the problem is between two sovereign nations. Lithuania has been part of the USSR too long. I do believe that Gorbachev will finally make some concessions and that most of the countries who want to get out of the USSR will be allowed to do so with certain conditions. J.G.

ILL-TIMED TO JUMP IN

I just can't get excited about the Lithuanian contretemps. I sympathize with the people and their desire for independence but Gorbachev has his hands full trying to complete his glasnost program throughout the U.S.S.R. and undertaking an objective of dealing with every little uprising simultaneously with keeping the lid on the total situation is no small project. The population of Lithuania is just under four million people in an area of 26,000 square miles with its economy largely dependent on agrarian pursuits and some light industrial manufacture but it seems to me that at this moment it would be best for their people to concentrate on the agreement reached with the Supreme Soviet providing incentives to develop a market-oriented economy beginning this year. I believe it would be ill-timed for Pres. Bush to jump in and make a lot of noise at this moment on the Lithuanian situation while much more important matters are pending a meeting of the Soviet and American leaders at the summit in May. That doesn't deny the need to keep abreast of developments in the meantime and I am sure that the President's advisors are taking good care of that. P.G.S.

Discovery!

More Than Conquerors

By Wesley W. Eckblad

After proper liturgy, the British Army Chaplain first offered a dish of tiny pieces of "sawdust" bread, then a wine bottle was passed from one to another, but only after a gentle caution to drink sparingly, as so much water had been added that only a small amount of wine remained.

Stalag XIIA, Limburg, Germany, January, 1945, the coldest winter in a decade. My last participation in the Eucharist had been two months earlier in France on the other side of the "front." The Battle of the Bulge had caught thousands of ground troops in a suicidal situation where superior officers surrendered their troops after being totally surrounded by tanks and heavy weapons, with no hope of assistance from matching firepower or air support.

Days of combat were followed by weeks of marching under inhumane conditions: Token amounts of food barely sufficient to keep a dog alive, much less to replace calories burned in walking tens of miles a day; handfuls of snow to suffice for water; stops for natural functions so infrequent as to result in soiled clothing; strafings from our own unknowing airplanes - and always the repeated threat that those who couldn't continue would be shot.

On arrival at Limburg I learned that a neighborhood man I'd grown up with had been killed on patrol; also that a young medical captain from my hometown died when bombs from allied planes missed a rocket-launching site and fell in the camp where he was being held prisoner. This on Christmas Eve.

Limburg was to be a "processing" stalag for most of us. Standing shivering in the snow, we strongly resembled the paintings of the Revolutionary soldiers at Valley Forge. Bedraggled, underweight, still trying to thaw out frozen feet and hands, uncertain of our immediate and eventual fate.

After Communion the Chaplain spoke "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us." (Romans 8:37) Most of his listeners had a conviction that they had "let down" their comrades in their assigned task of helping to defeat an enemy whose stated goal was to control, if not rule, the entire world, including their own country. We stood there, a woeful group. Religion had always been a very private matter to me - to be lived, more than spoken. But his words coming after absorbing a part of the spiritual substance of the Word, gave a challenge and Hope.

Months of hardship, cruelty, starvation followed, interspersed with many moments of abject terror. The memory of being "de-loused" in the same room where unproductive slave laborers were gassed to death continues to haunt me. But indescribable are the emotions arising from watching young men die - just "die" - in box cars and our prison quarters, from starvation, exhaustion and neglect. Thousands of miles from loved ones, the concern of their comrades limited understandably by their own fear and helplessness, it was a lonely death. Hope was about all we had to sustain us.

The Chaplain then spoke of the promise in Hosea 2:15 wherein the Valley of Achor (trouble) would become a door of hope, leading to many treasures. For those who survived, words were prophetic. Incarceration provided acquired values that became cherished rules for living which could never have been learned elsewhere.

All of this took place during a cold, cold winter 45 years ago. For many and diverse reasons former prisoners of war, now only 80,000 of a total of 26 million veterans rarely spoke of it, either by choice, or inability - or both. Only in the last few years has an organization, American Ex-Prisoners of War brought them together so that they can share their experiences with others who understand.

In the military sense they were defeated in a battle, but in the long conflict of life, after acknowledging the valiant feat of those who became the actual conquerors - and their rescuers - they became "more than conquerors," believe me, I know many of them.

By May 8, the European enemy forces surrendered unconditionally, but those Americans held prisoner of war in Japan had to "hang on" three more months, each day taking its toll of probably hundreds for whom release would only come through death.

READER RATINGS

AMONG THE BEST

I have never seen anyone call in about Koenig's Restaurant in Floral Park, in spite of the fact that it is one of the best restaurants in Nassau County. Many of your readers may not know that the Pritikin Diet that is on the menu at Koenig's is tasty and a good way to dine out. They steer clear of salt, sugar and oil.

But those who do not want the Pritikin Diet that I am following can eat the best in continental food at Koenig's as people have been doing for many years. They have outstanding steaks and salads. When we went there last week the other member of our party had a steak dinner, while I can truthfully say I enjoyed the Pritikin menu.

SUPERB FOOD

I'm calling about a wonderful restaurant the George Washington Manor in Roslyn. My husband and I had occasion to have lunch and dinner there several times recently and I want your readers to know it's fantastic. The food is superb, they serve wonderful American-Continental food. The Sunday Brunch is a real delight. The decor and ambience can't be beat. I don't often do something like this but I just had to share this with you. Mrs. L.

GOOD NIGHT

Last Wednesday we decided to follow one of the suggestions in your Reader Ratings. We were mainly satisfied with what we got although the service was a little slow. We went to the Platt-deutsche Park Restaurant in Franklin Square. The place was no stranger to us because we have been there many times before at catered affairs. But this time we went to the smaller restaurant and had sauerbraten. Considering that the check was reduced because we had four in the party eating sauerbraten and they gave us all of the salad we could ever eat it was a very good night booth in food and cost. J.H.

Q. I have been invited to a formal restaurant dinner later in the year. However, I am also on a strict diet for medical reasons. Do you think I should mention that to my hostess?

A. By all means, tell her. If she selects the menu for her guests she will take your special diet into account. However, my own opinion is that where restaurant dinners are arranged it is better to allow guests to make their own food selections.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides

Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

READER RATINGS

We are grateful for your Reader Rating column in the Discovery section of your papers. We were celebrating a special occasion and hoping for a restaurant that was outstanding.

Ristorante Giulia at 570 Middle Neck Road in Great Neck proved to be all that we had hoped for and more. The cuisine is Northern Italian/French. The restaurant is both attractive and restful. The menu was diversified and not the usual run-of-the-mill bill of fare.

The warm welcome by the proprietors, the attentive service, and the truly fine food made for a memorable evening. We were aided in our selections by our waiter, and can only say that we experienced a mouth-watering dinner. A word of caution: please leave room for dessert, you will want to try more than one!

We came away utterly delighted in having found such a special restaurant. E.H.

How come your newspaper never reviews my favorite restaurant - B.K. Sweeney on Franklin Avenue? It is a super place for good friends to meet and dine together!

The food is outstanding: delicious entrees and great salads (served with gargonzoia and other tasty dressings). Portions are generous.

The atmosphere is lively and decorations - including a mural of the old Garden City Hotel - quite attractive. Service is cordial.

Parking behind Sweeney's is not too wonderful, however. It's hard to find a space at times and getting in and out can be troublesome. My suggestion is to park behind the medical building nearby - the doctors' offices are closed at night, so there is plenty of space.

See you at Sweeney's!

R.T.

Q. I have heard it said that white wine is best with chicken. However, one of the best restaurants I know frequently serves chicken in a sauce made with red wine. I would appreciate your comment.

A. You are quite correct! The French, who may well be the best cooks in the world, prepare their famous coq au vin dish with red burgandy wine.

Incidentally, when chicken is served this way, it is preferable to order red wine rather than white to accompany the entree.

DINING GUIDE

READER RATINGS

Q. When a couple dines out the woman is frequently placed in a seat against the wall. The man is then seated facing her with his back to the room. In a case like this, is it considered good form for the woman to summon the waiter?

A. Yes, the woman can signal the waiter, if necessary. She can also tell the man when the waiter is approaching so he can turn his head around at the proper moment and speak to him.

A. Have you heard the expression "Maiden Dinner?" My cousin said she will be attending one soon and I did not like to confess my ignorance!

A. This is a rather old fashioned term and it refers to the traditional dinner given by the bride-to-be for her attendants usually a few days before the wedding. The Maiden Dinner is the equivalent of the male Bachelor Dinner.

Q. What do you think of a girl who always orders the most expensive items on the menu when she eats out with a male friend?

A. I do not feel she is being considerate of her companion, and consideration of others is the essence of good manners.

FAVORITE RESTAURANT:

Our favorite Italian Restaurant, La Cisterna on Mineola Boulevard in Mineola now has an added attraction, accordion music playing Italian tunes and folk songs Wednesday and Thursday nights from 6 to 10 p.m. It reminded me so much of my trip to Italy.

We thoroughly enjoyed spaghetti carbonara and linguine Scilliana. We crowned our dinner with zabaglione mousse and cafe espresso.

Truly we felt we were in another world and left completely relaxed. The ambiance and service were superb and the warm welcome by Angelo our host made us feel we must repeat this special event soon. H.E.

FINE FISH

Last week we went to an authentic Portuguese Restaurant named Estoril Granada. It is located on Mineola Blvd. in Mineola. The fish dishes there are simply wonderful and so many of them offer sauces that are not found anywhere else.

We had a party of four there on Thursday and all of them said that they want to come back again.

The service and the decor make it a nice place to go. I'm sure that other of your readers would want to try it also. H.W.

Q. I have noticed that tips are said to range from 15 to 20 percent of a bill in a restaurant. When you calculate this do you figure in the sales tax.

R.K. A. No you do not generally figure the sales tax in the tip but a great many people now are doubling the sales tax to quickly arrive at the amount of the tip. With the new increased fraction the tip will then closely approximate a 15 percent gratuity.

Q. In a good restaurant that we attended recently an accordion player came around to each table and asked whether we had any requests. My wife made a request and the musician played it. Is this music provided by the restaurant or should I have tipped?

J.B. A. Generally the musicians are paid by the restaurant to entertain all of the diners. But when you make a special request it is expected that a small tip will accompany the request. In this case $1 would have been a fair amount.

Q. What is the proper way on addressing a waiter in a restaurant?

A. My own preference is "Sir", rather than "Waiter" because it shows more courtesy and people do like to be treated with respect. For a waitress I prefer "Miss" to "Waitress" for the same reason.

Q. When arriving early for a private party in a restaurant, who should do the seating when there is no waiter or captain on hand?

A. The man is expected to seat his woman companion. If he is accompanied by two or more women, he would seat his wife last.

Q. When vegetable are served in individual dishes should they be eaten directly from there side dishes or first transferred to the dinner plate?

A. Either way is correct, but my own preference is to transfer the vegetables with a serving spoon onto the main dish. The waiter can then be asked to remove the serving dishes, thus ridding the table of a great deal of clutter.

Q. I seem to remember that years ago salads always came to the table with the entree. But now they are served in advance of the main course. Why did this change occur?

A. Salads are now customarily served before the entree in order to provide the hungry diner with something to eat while his main course is being prepared.

With today's emphasis on nutrition, salads are treated with much more respect than they once were. They are regarded not just as accompaniments to meals, but as important courses in their own right.

Q. If an uncut loaf of bread is served to a couple in a restaurant, who should cut and serve it?

A. It would be gracious for the man to cut several slices from the bread for his woman companion and himself. Then he would offer the bread to her before taking his own portion.

GOOD LUNCH
 Our party of four met at the Orchid Restaurant for lunch last week and thoroughly enjoyed it. We thought the ambience was delightful and the food was great. The cuisine is Szechuan, Hunan and Cantonese. One word of warning: if you order a dish that has an asterisk, it means that the sauce is hot--so if you wish something a bit milder, please tell the waiter. Incidentally, the service was most attentive. We were so impressed with our luncheon that we started thinking about our holiday office party and thought it might be a great choice and we would book early. M.M.

Luna
ITALIAN RESTAURANT

"Recommended by Peter Gliontoli, Newsday"
As seen in the Daily News
Walter Kaner's Column
OPENED TWO YEARS ago, Luna is a warm, cozy, intimate 65-seat dining room with a pleasant, attractive setting.

Launched by the Tudisco family in Elmont, the restaurant served several generations of families. In 1987, Tudisco's oldest son, Vincent, and his son-in-law, Stephen DeFlorio, opened the new Luna at the present location.

Pleasant in setting, the dining room features peach and light-tinted gray walls. Mirrors and colorful pictures adorn the walls. Rust-colored chairs add splashes of color. Fresh flowers on each table provide more color.

Chef Vincent Tudisco and family dish out a tasty array of appealing Italian specialties, with meats and fish of fresh quality and deliciously prepared pastas. The service staff is friendly, attentive and courteous.

Very pleased

We have visited several times the Villa Portofino on Mineola Blvd. in Mineola and have been very, very pleased. We had stuffed veal which was fantastic, the mixed fish dish was great and the service was very concerned, not to mention the owners. After four or five visits we continue to be pleased and want you to really plug this restaurant because it's the best in Italian food! C.D.

Q. After finishing a meal at a good restaurant I had an experience that could have been avoided by the restaurant. When I offered a particular credit card the waiter said that they did not honor that card and did I have another. I did not have another and barely had enough money to pay in cash. Shouldn't the restaurant have told us in advance which credit cards they accept?

A. Not exactly. You should have inquired in advance if you did not see a decal of the card you had on display. They really have no way of knowing what card you have and it is an accommodation to you that the cards are accepted so you should have borne the responsibility.

Q. Is it allowed for a restaurant to include a tip, automatically, on the bill for food ordered? A friend and I had that happen recently and I resented it because the service was very poor and we felt a tip was not in order. Please answer.

A. No. In this country the custom is not to add any tip to the bill and unless the menu stating the prices clearly says that this will be done it is not correct. Most people would not be happy with that system in the U.S. because diners have always had a flexible tip system in which they could give a better tip for better service and if it is not kept then the tip is just a fee.

A. If I am dining out with a large group and do not feel like a cocktail, am I really obliged to order one so as not to put a damper on the party?

A. Absolutely not - and this applies to all size groups. No one should ever order an alcoholic drink to please others. If you wish, you may order a soft drink or mineral water, but this is purely optional.

Decor & Score

By Rose Bennett Gilbert

Ideas can come from anywhere

ELEGANT DESIGN — New design ideas from elegant old sources: Thibaut's wallcoverings and fabrics are inspired by the patterns on Royale Limoges china.

Q. This may seem like a dumb question, but I would love to know where designers get their ideas for all the new decorating products on the market. I've just been shopping for wallpaper and was staggered by all the patterns I found, in every style imaginable. Where do they all come from? — S.W., New York

A. From everywhere — and that's not a cop-out answer. A friend who's a professional colorist — she designs palettes for major manufacturers of fabrics, flooring and even computer hardware — once came home from Milan, Italy, with her suitcase full of shoes, all shades of purple. You can guess what color showed up in her next palette.

John Saladino, the New York interior designer, gets his new ideas from the past, literally. His rooms are softly faded and filled with references to the classics — columns, marble, scratch-coat plaster (he has been known to add instant coffee to make it look as if it's covered with lichen).

Wall coverings designers also look back for inspiration, especially now that so many home decorators are interested in "authenticating" their rooms with papers appropriate to the architecture.

There are plenty of old "documents" — period designs — to update for today's walls, using today's technology (easier to install and much easier to keep).

But ideas can come from anywhere, as shown by this photo — the floral print wall covering, border and fabric were inspired by the pattern on Royale Limoges china, a French classic since the 17th century. Made by Thibaut, itself one of the oldest wall coverings companies in America, the Royal Limoges 3 collection includes nearly 80 different designs — some lifted from the china, others, like the Directoire stripe shown with the floral — are appropriate companion designs.

So many design choices may indeed be staggering, but it's also one reason today's homes, collectively, are the best-dressed ever.

Q. This is a remodeling question, I suppose, but perhaps you can help us: There is a delightful back porch on the second floor of our house off the master bedroom. The trouble is, we look right into a neighbor's yard and vice versa. What can we do that will give some privacy without blocking us in? — W.J., Washington

A. Matchstick blinds are a good answer; wooden latticework is even better. Lattice was born in the outdoors, in the gardens of the 18th century, and it has a structural quality that's important when you're enclosing space.

Nicest of all, however, latticework will provide privacy without depriving you of backyard breezes and dappled sunlight — especially if you have a window opening or two cut into the walls. Round or arched-top openings are very pleasing for the way they contrast with the straight crossed lines of the latticework.

Simple steps for flower-bulb care

Few plantings over the course of the year bring such sprightly loveliness and welcome color to our gardens as the flower bulbs that bloom in the spring. So highly do I prize these special spring flowers that even as they bloom I'm thinking of how to ensure that they'll flower just as beautifully next year. Today I'd like to share with you some of the simple steps I take in the routine care of my spring flower-bulb plantings.

DEADHEADING

Remove tulip, daffodil and hyacinth blooms by cutting or snapping them off at their base as soon as they begin to fade. This will prevent the formation of seed, a process that uses a good deal of the bulb's stored energy that is better spent building the bulb for good bloom again the following year.

It's important to leave the stem that, together with the foliage, helps the plant assimilate nutrients to replenish the bulb. It is not necessary to remove the faded blooms on the smaller bulb flowers. Left alone, many of these will spread themselves around by means of seed.

MULCHING

After deadheading, I mulch rather than fertilize. According to the Netherlands Flowerbulb Information Centre, the time for fertilizing spring flower bulbs is in late summer, as established plantings begin their yearly cycle with new root growth and in the fall prior to planting new flower bulbs.

The period following bloom is a crucial one in the life cycle of a flower bulb. It's during the weeks after the flower fades that the bulbs need to rebuild themselves for another season of bloom the following year.

A shallow mulch layer of compost, old or processed manure or dampened peat mixed with any of these will help to add richness to and retain moisture in the soil for the general health of the bulb planting and for another round of really good growth and bloom.

Mulching the ground lightly in a bulb planting also prepares it for receiving annual flowers to follow the flower bulbs. I simply make shallow holes in between the bulb plants to receive annual transplants such as pansies, snapdragons, stock and calendulas. Wait until the soil has thoroughly warmed to set out warmth-lovers such as marigolds and zinnias, verbena, portulaca, celosia and geraniums.

Another quick way to start a fast follow-up wave of flowers over a flower bulb bed is to set nasturtium seeds individually or to scatter seeds of clarkia, alysum or candytuft over the area, and then top the seed with the mulch layer. These are fast-growing annuals.

FOLIAGE RIPENING

There isn't much to be done about this messy stage in the life of our spring flower-bulb plantings. Agonizing though it may be for the extremely tidy-minded among us, the foliage must be left to fade and wither in order to rebuild the bulb. Do remove the foliage once it has died down.

LIFTING AND STORING

Which bulbs to lift and store once the foliage has ripened is a topic of some discussion among home gardeners. As a general rule, the smaller bulbs, such as crocus, snowdrop, grape hyacinth and chionodoxa can be left to naturalize unless you wish to change their location or they become overcrowded, spindly and sparse of bloom.

Tulips given the same treatment will usually remain in good flowering condition for three years. Given a site that is dryish and warm in summer, species tulips will naturalize indefinitely.

Daffodils need to be lifted and stored for replanting in August only when they become very thick clumps that bloom poorly. This indicates a need for dividing and replanting. Where the narcissus bulb fly is a problem, lifting daffodil bulbs following foliage ripening and discarding the infested bulbs will ensure a pest-free, flower-filled planting through early spring.

Allow the surface of lifted bulbs to dry in a warm place out of direct sun. Then store them cool, dark and dry in labeled bags until planting time.

Timesaving hints for busy cooks

Life in the fast lane got you dizzy?

Sometimes it seems like 20th-century technology has done nothing but make life more hectic. And the 21st century isn't far off, so while things may be fast-paced now, they're bound to get even more so.

But if technology has complicated our lives in countless ways, it has thankfully given us some wonderful time-savers to make up for it — and your microwave is an excellent example. Following are some tips to get you out of the kitchen quick — and back into the fast lane.

■ Gather all necessary utensils and ingredients together in one place before you begin cooking. Do all preparation work (washing, chopping, slicing, measuring) before you begin to cook, and put items away as soon as you're done with them.

■ Does your family eat in shifts? Prepare one meal, then dish up onto microwave-safe plates. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate. Family members who will eat later can simply reheat dinner whenever they like. To reheat one plate (meat plus two vegetables), microwave on MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power) setting two to three minutes, or until heated through, rotating dish one-quarter turn halfway through cooking time.

■ Teach your kids the basic skills of microwaving as soon as they're able. A few minutes spent now will pay off in the long run as kids learn to make their own

■ Buy dried onion or garlic flakes or a small jar of minced garlic — faster than chopping fresh and just as good in many recipes. Grated cheese freezes well, so grate a good supply when you have a few spare minutes, then wrap securely and store in your freezer for quick access.

If life in the fast lane keeps you hopping, these microwave-quick recipes should be just your speed. (Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.)

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

No more waiting for water to heat on the stove when warming baby's bottle. Just place a full bottle (remove nipple) in oven and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) setting 15 to 20 seconds. (If milk/formula has been refrigerated, heat 30 to 50 seconds.) Attach top, shake and test on wrist. Don't try to microwave bottles fitted with plastic liners.

CITY SLICKIN' CHICKEN

- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts (about 1½ pounds)
- 4 slices bacon

- 1 (10½ ounce) can cream of mushroom soup
- ¼ cup dry sherry
- ¼ teaspoon dry basil
- ¼ teaspoon dried onion flakes
- Dash pepper
- Paprika

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 5 to 10 minutes.

Cooking time: 8 to 10 minutes (plus 5 minutes standing time).

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Wrap each chicken breast with bacon slice and arrange in 9-inch round glass pie plate. Cover with wax paper and microwave 4 minutes. Spoon off bacon grease.

Combine soup, sherry, basil, onion flakes and pepper in mixing bowl; stir. Spoon over chicken. Sprinkle top lightly with paprika. Cover and microwave 4 to 6 minutes longer, or until chicken is cooked through, rotating dish ¼ turn halfway through cooking time. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

CREAMED PEAS DELUXE

- 2 (10-ounce) packages frozen peas in cream sauce
- 1 (3-ounce) package French-fried onion rings
- ½ cup shredded mild cheddar cheese
- Dash pepper
- ¼ teaspoon dried parsley flakes

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Preparation time: 5 minutes.

Cooking time: 7 to 10 minutes (plus 3 minutes standing time).

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Combine all ingredients except parsley flakes in a 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole. Microwave, covered, 7 to 10 minutes, stirring gently every 3 minutes, until heated through. Sprinkle top with parsley flakes and let stand, covered, 3 minutes before serving.

PEANUT CHOCOLATE CRISPS

- 1 (6-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate morsels
- 1 cup salted peanuts
- 1 cup crispy rice cereal

Yields about 2 dozen.

Preparation time: 5 to 10 minutes.

Cooking time: 3 to 4 minutes.

Oven setting: LOW (30 percent power).

Place chocolate in 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover and microwave 3 to 4 minutes, or until chocolate is melted. Add peanuts and cereal and stir to coat with chocolate. Drop by teaspoons onto wax paper, then chill until firm.

Signs of spring

Asparagus has a very special place in our hearts. Yes, we dearly love its taste and its color and its interesting shape — but mostly we love it because its appearance each year transmits the unmistakable signal that "spring is here!"

True, many supermarkets now carry asparagus year-round — but it is unbearably expensive out of season, ranging as high as $7 and $8 a pound and its quality and freshness often leave a lot to be desired.

When asparagus does start to appear, we feast on it. For weeks, we buy large bunches every week. We serve it plain, steamed with just a gilding of butter; we drizzle it with vinaigrette and feature it as a first course; we pair it with eggs in omelets and frittatas; we coat it with olive oil, arrange it on a baking sheet and roast it in a hot oven until the tips start to char.

Here, we feature it as the main textural and flavor interest in Angel Hair Pasta with Asparagus and Prosciutto and, since salad season is also upon us, dress it with a warm vinaigrette in Chicken Salad Printemps.

To accompany the creamy pasta dish, offer a salad of spinach or arugula, and maybe plain fruit for dessert. A meal of the chicken salad needs little else but sliced French bread to round it out.

TIPS

• If asparagus stems are withered or tips are shriveled, don't buy it. Stale asparagus is bitter.

• The only time we peel asparagus stems is if we're serving it as a first course.

• If you can't find slender asparagus for the pasta dish, substitute regular asparagus, but add to the water a couple of minutes sooner.

• The Chicken Salad Printemps is also good served at room temperature or even chilled.

ANGEL HAIR PASTA WITH ASPARAGUS AND PROSCIUTTO

- 12 ounces angel hair pasta (thin spaghetti or vermicelli)
- 30 slender asparagus spears (about 12 ounces)
- 1 cup cream
- ½ cup grated Parmesan
- ¼ cup thinly sliced scallions, including green tops
- 4 ounces sliced prosciutto (1 cup)
- 2 tablespoons sliced fresh basil or 1½ teaspoons dried
- Coarsely ground black pepper
- Salt to taste

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 30 minutes.

Bring large pot of water to boil for cooking pasta and asparagus. Salt water, add pasta and cook for 4 minutes. Meanwhile, snap off and discard tough ends of asparagus and cut into 1-inch diagonal lengths.

After 4 minutes, add asparagus to pasta pot and cook for 2 to 3 more minutes, until pasta is al dente and asparagus is crisp-tender.

Drain well in colander and return to cooking pot set over lowest possible heat.

Add cream, Parmesan, scallions, prosciutto and basil. Toss for about 1 minute. Season with pepper and salt to taste and serve.

CHICKEN SALAD PRINTEMPS

- 20 asparagus spears
- 1 pound boneless chicken cutlets
- Salt and black pepper
- 7 tablespoons olive oil, divided
- ½ cup sliced almonds
- 3 tablespoons chopped shallots
- 3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar or 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon dried tarragon or 1 tablespoon fresh tarragon
- ½ teaspoon grated orange zest
- Green leaf lettuce
- Tarragon sprigs for garnish, if desired

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 30 minutes.

Bring pot of water to boil for asparagus. Snap off tough ends of asparagus and cut spears into 2-inch lengths. Add salt to water and cook asparagus for 3 to 5 minutes until crisp-tender. Drain and transfer to bowl.

Cut chicken into thin strips and sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Heat 2 tablespoons of oil in large skillet. Sauté chicken strips over medium-high heat for about 4 minutes, until nicely browned and cooked through. Transfer with slotted spoon to bowl with asparagus.

Reduce heat to medium. Add almonds to drippings in skillet and sauté for 2 to 3 minutes, stirring frequently until lightly browned. Add to chicken and asparagus.

Add shallots to skillet and sauté for 30 seconds. Remove pan from heat and add vinegar and remaining 5 tablespoons oil. Stir in tarragon and orange zest and season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour dressing over chicken mixture.

Make bed of lettuce leaves on serving platter. Arrange warm salad over lettuce, garnish with tarragon sprigs, if desired, and serve immediately.

Cooking Corner

By Glenda Winders

A conversation with author Carol Cutler

Carol Cutler didn't set out to be a culinary cognoscente.

In fact, when her mother tried to teach her to cook, her response was, "I'm going to work with my brain and not my brawn."

But the award-winning cookbook author, entertainment columnist and food critic has just brought out her eighth book, "Catch of the Day," a seafood compendium for cooks who want to eat light and don't have much time to spend in the kitchen.

Cutler's interest in food was sparked by her marriage to journalist B.J. Cutler.

"I needed an audience, and once I got married, I had one," she said in a recent interview. She recalled using butter to fry bacon the first time she made breakfast after the honeymoon.

"I became keenly interested in learning to cook," she said, and her husband's career took them to the best places for doing just that.

During their stay in New York City, she studied with Dione Lucas. After that came an assignment to Moscow, where she tried to reciprocate elegant dinner parties by cooking with a hot plate in her hotel room and, later, in a tiny apartment kitchen with food purchased on the local economy.

After three years of what Cutler called "food deprivation," her husband was reassigned to Paris.

"We arrived in September — harvest time," she said. "When I saw my first open-air market, my eyes bulged. I was standing next to a Parisian woman, admiring crates of green and black figs, and she said they were not ripe enough. I thought that was a spoiled attitude, and it turned me off food for awhile. All I ate were omelets and peaches."

Then one day she got a peach that was not quite ripe.

"I realized then there are differences in the same food product. You need to know how to buy, handle and cook food."

She plunged into a study that included work at the Cordon Bleu, in three-star restaurant kitchens and with private chefs. But she still didn't plan to make cooking her career.

"I was an art historian, writer and critic. That was my higher calling. Food was for plebeians," she said, laughing. "I did the study because I'm a compulsive person, and if I'm going to do something, I'm going to do it well. I decided cooking was worth doing well."

When the Cutlers entertained in Paris, Carol insisted on doing the cooking herself.

"I do not invite people to my home for catered food," she said, "and I gained a reputation for setting a nice table."

She was also popular for the light cuisine she perfected in the interest of keeping her husband healthy.

"I began to notice that when French connoisseurs left my apartment, they said, 'What a beautiful meal, and I don't feel stuffed,'" she said. "I realized it was a great compliment."

She filed her recipes in a folder, and when she returned to the United States, they became "Haute Cuisine for Your Heart's Delight" (Clarkson N. Potter, 1973), the first best-selling cookbook about cholesterol and one that remains a classic.

Cutler said all of her books have evolved from her current interests.

"Each has been a book I felt was right for me and for the time," she said. "When I was working full time at the National Portrait Gallery, I realized I didn't have time to be 'home on the range.' But cookbooks that claimed to be fast food just advocated cooking quickly and then adding a half-pound of butter, and that turned me off."

"I experimented after work. I had an idea that the women out there wanted to cook well, but quickly."

The result was "The Six-Minute Souffle and Other Culinary Delights." That book was followed by one on low-calorie desserts. "Pate: The New Main Course for the '80s" was also a product of entertaining while on a busy professional schedule.

"If I served cold (or hot) pate as a main course, the big guns were done days ahead of time, and I didn't have to worry about such things as overcooking a roast," she said.

A book on making fast homemade bread followed.

"The books were what I was doing. They evolved from the way I cook," she said. "And that leads automatically to the fish book. My husband says I'm a closet vegetarian. That's not true, but I do love vegetables and I eat less red meat and more poultry and fish, and it comes right back to cholesterol."

Asked for her food predictions for the '90s, Cutler said she sees a return to simpler ways:

- "Old home-style cooking but not so heavy, stews without the flour and fat, cooked slowly today and eaten tomorrow."

- "We're tired of food as art on a plate. We'll go to a restaurant for that, but we're not going to cook it ourselves. We don't have the expertise, the dexterity or the time."

- "Buy what you can't do yourself — fresh pasta, for example — because you can't do it as well as an expert. There's not a huge advantage to fresh unless you're making a delicate sauce, which most people don't do. Dried pasta has body to hold up better with a gutsy sauce."

- "We're through fire-bombing the palate. American food was bland, and it was up to us to experiment with flavors such as Szechwan and jalapeno. Now that we know what spicy flavors we like, we can calm them down."

Cutler says the traveling she has done has added to her culinary expertise.

"I put my cross-cultural taste buds into the book," she said. "It's not exotic, but it has a piquancy plain fish doesn't. The ingredients I can reach out for have a wide spectrum, and I call upon all of it. I have a knack for presenting fish in interesting ways, such as fish salad with grapefruit. I mix things."

Her predictions as to what she'll do next are less definite.

"God only knows," she said. "It depends on the way I want to eat next week. If I eat bean sprouts, my next book will be about bean sprouts."

Following are recipes from Carol Cutler's new book, "Catch of the Day."

WARM TUNA AND LEEK SALAD

¾-pound tuna steak, preferably in 1 piece

6 leeks

2 tablespoons olive oil

½ cup dry white wine

1¼ cups water

½ teaspoon dried thyme

Pepper

Vinaigrette:

1 lime

6 tablespoons walnut oil or extra-virgin olive oil

¼ teaspoon ground cumin

Salt and pepper

Lettuce

¼ cup chopped pimiento

4 cherry tomatoes, halved

(optional)

4 parsley sprigs (optional)

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 18 minutes.

Chilling time: 30 minutes.

Cooking time: 20 minutes.

Tightly cover tuna steak with plastic wrap and place in freezer for about 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, trim root ends of leeks and cut off dark green tops to about 1 inch above white part. Make a cross cut into light green tops to spread open leaves that often trap sand. Rinse very well under cold running water to wash away any trace of sand and grit, then cut into 2-inch lengths. Cut each piece in half, lengthwise, then cut into thin julienne strips. Put all leeks into deep non-reactive skillet, add olive oil, white wine, water, thyme and pepper. Bring to boil, cover and simmer for about 10 minutes or until leeks are soft. Remove cover, turn up heat and boil briskly to evaporate remaining liquid, about 4 minutes.

While leeks are cooking, prepare vinaigrette. Grate zest from lime and put into small bowl. Squeeze juice from lime and add to bowl along with oil, cumin and salt and pepper. Whisk together very well. Shred lettuce and place on 4 salad plates.

Remove tuna from freezer; it should now be firm enough to slice very thin. Heat a non-stick skillet until quite hot. If using a regular skillet, wipe it with oil. Place about one-third of tuna slices into hot skillet. Do not crowd slices; they should sear quickly. Turn after about 5 seconds and sear the other side for an additional 5 seconds. Remove cooked tuna slices to dish and repeat with remaining fish.

In skillet, briefly heat leek julienne. Mix in tuna and pimiento. Divide warm salad among 4 prepared salad plates and drizzle 2 tablespoons of vinaigrette over each. Garnish with 2 cherry tomatoes halves and parsley sprig.

CORN AND CRAB SOUP

2 leeks

3 cups corn kernels, fresh or frozen (if frozen, use unbuttered variety)

1½ celery ribs, sliced

1 medium potato, peeled and diced

¾ cup dry white wine

¾ cup chicken stock

¾ cup water

¼ teaspoon sugar

¼ teaspoon anise seeds

1 soft lettuce leaf

3 to 3½ cups milk

1 teaspoon salt

Pinch of ground pepper

Few drops hot red pepper sauce

½ pound lump or backfin crab, picked over

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Preparation time: 15 minutes.

Cooking time: 20 minutes.

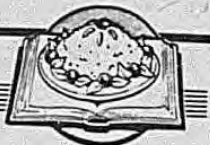

Clean leeks, then slice white parts only. In 2-quart non-reactive pot, put 2½ cups of corn, leek, celery, potato, white wine, chicken stock, water and sugar. Place anise seeds in center of lettuce leaf, fold over lettuce to envelop seeds, close with toothpick and add lettuce package to pot. Cover, bring to simmer and cook 15 minutes, or until potato is completely cooked. Remove from heat. Discard lettuce package.

Ladle vegetables and liquid into food processor or blender and puree until smooth. (If using blender, do this in batches. There should be about 2½ cups puree.) Rinse out cooking pot and pour puree into it. Add remaining ¼ cup corn, 3 cups of milk, salt, pepper and hot sauce. Bring to simmer, partially cover and cook 5 minutes.

If soup seems too thick, add more milk until desired consistency is achieved. Keep in mind that crabmeat will absorb some liquid.

Divide crabmeat among 6 soup cups and top with hot soup.

Restaurant critic wins favor with fans

"Bistro Cooking" by Patricia Wells; Workman; $12.95 paperback, $22.95 hardbound.

Patricia Wells has the best job in the world: She reviews restaurants in Paris.

Her weekly column has long appeared in the International Herald Tribune, and more recently she achieved a dramatic coup by being signed on as the critic for L'Express, the leading French news magazine. To be accepted among a people who invented the term chauvinism is a remarkable achievement for an American woman.

"Obviously, certain other critics aren't happy," she said on a recent visit to Los Angeles, "but basically I've had a very good response from chefs and readers."

Wells has brought a measure of American professionalism to French restaurant reviewing.

"For one thing," she said, "I feel I am not owned by anyone. In France, reviewers have called up the restaurant and said, 'Put on the dog for me.' And there's no tradition of a decent budget to do the job."

She, however, goes to restaurants anonymously and without warning, and her publishers are footing the expenses — no small matter in a culture where gastronomy is a national pastime and people regularly spend a large portion of their income on dining.

"Some of the top restaurants are really off-the-wall expensive," she said. "I would say that a better meal in Paris will cost $100 and up, and you can easily spend $200 per person, including wine. But there are not a great many such restaurants, and they are balanced out by the number of places where you can have a great meal for $10."

She reported a varied picture of French cuisine: "The quality of ingredients has never been better — all the chefs agree to that. There are more and more types of produce, and people are really into variety and freshness. But at the top level, there aren't a lot of people who can produce an exquisite meal that is so exceptional and worth paying for."

"If I invited you to dinner tomorrow night," Wells commented, "this is the kind of food I would make. I like it, my friends like it, and we all have a good time."

We may not be so lucky to have entry to her home, but the book is the next best thing. The recipes are simply presented, and reading it and looking at its atmospheric illustrations is almost like stopping in for a meal on the boulevard of a French city.

Here, for example, is a hearty, winey stew with Mediterranean seasonings, from Auberge de la Madone in Peillon-Village, just north of Nice:

DAUBE DE BOEUF

- 4½ pounds stewing beef, cut into large pieces (about 4 ounces each)
- 4 carrots, peeled and cut into rounds
- 3 medium onions, coarsely chopped
- 2 garlic cloves
- 1 sprig fresh parsley
- 1 celery rib, thickly sliced
- 3 bay leaves
- 1 tablespoon fresh thyme or 1 teaspoon dried
- ¼ cup brandy
- 1 bottle sturdy dry red wine
- ¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
- 1 teaspoon whole black peppercorns
- 3 whole cloves
- 3 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1 pound fresh mushrooms
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- Salt, black pepper
- Grated zest and juice of 1 orange

Yields 8 servings.

A day before serving stew, combine meat with carrots, onions, garlic, parsley, celery, bay leaves, thyme, brandy, wine and 1 tablespoon of olive oil in large non-reactive bowl.

Tie peppercorns and cloves in piece of cheesecloth. Add to bowl and toss well. Cover and refrigerate 24 hours, stirring once or twice.

Let meat and vegetables come to room temperature. Remove meat from marinade.

Drain well; pat dry on paper towels. Set vegetables aside. Transfer liquid and cheesecloth bag to non-reactive casserole. Bring to boil over medium-high heat. Boil 5 minutes to reduce slightly. Remove from heat.

In large skillet, melt butter in remaining ¼ cup of olive oil over high heat. Sauté meat, tossing, until well browned all over. Do this in stages so as not to crowd pan. Transfer meat to casserole.

In same skillet, sauté reserved vegetables until browned, about 7 minutes. Transfer vegetables to casserole. Add mushrooms to skillet; sauté until lightly brown, about 5 minutes. Set aside.

Stir tomato paste into casserole. Bring to simmer over medium-low heat. Simmer, skimming occasionally, until meat is very tender, 3½ to 4 hours. Stir in salt and pepper to taste, mushrooms and orange zest and juice.

Discard cheesecloth bag. The recipe can be prepared 2 or 3 days ahead and reheated to advantage. Serve with potatoes, rice or pasta.

Happy return to chicken dinners

Thank goodness for chicken, my mother used to say every Sunday. It was the only thing we all liked, and we would eat it fixed a number of ways. Chicken for Sunday dinner was a foregone conclusion.

In those days, chickens were almost all farm-grown. They had flavor. I drifted away from this delight when chickens began to be raised on production lines and tasted like cough medicine.

Now I have come full circle. I can find free-range chickens again — or at least brands that haven't been loaded with antibiotics and hormones — and I'm digging up my favorite recipes. It's Sunday dinner any night in the week, and no one at my table turns it down or picks at its food.

HERBED CHICKEN

- 2½ pounds chicken thighs or breasts, skinned
- 2 tablespoons low-sodium margarine
- ½ cup chopped onions
- 2 cups sliced mushrooms
- 1 green pepper, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 (1-pound) can low-sodium tomatoes, chopped; save liquid
- ½ cup dry white wine
- ½ teaspoon each basil, marjoram, thyme and oregano
- 1 cup non-fat yogurt
- 2 teaspoons all-purpose flour

Yields 4 to 6 servings. Each serving has about 275 calories, 83 milligrams cholesterol, 383 milligrams sodium.

Put chicken pieces in baking dish or Dutch oven that can go in oven and on top of stove.

In large skillet, melt margarine and add onions, mushrooms, green pepper and garlic. Sauté until onions are transparent, about 5 to 10 minutes. Add tomatoes with their liquid, wine and spices. Heat to merge flavors and pour over chicken.

Cover and bake in preheated 350°F oven for about an hour or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken pieces and keep warm.

Put yogurt in small bowl and stir in flour. Add this to tomato mixture still in baking dish and heat, stirring constantly. Do not allow to boil. When mixed and warm, pour over chicken and serve.

LEMON CHICKEN

- ½ cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- Freshly ground pepper
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate (unsweetened), thawed
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 pound boned and skinned chicken thighs or breasts cut in bite-size chunks
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 cup water

Yields 4 to 6 servings. Each serving has about 220 calories, 80 milligrams cholesterol and 200 milligrams sodium.

Put lemon juice, mustard, garlic powder, pepper, orange juice concentrate and oil in large skillet and heat until simmering. Add chicken chunks and continue simmering for 15 to 20 minutes until chicken is tender. Cover, reduce heat and continue cooking for another 5 to 10 minutes.

Put cornstarch in bowl and add water, stirring until cornstarch is dissolved. Add to chicken and cook, stirring until mixture thickens slightly, about 2 to 5 minutes. Remove immediately from stove and serve chicken with its sauce.

CARIBBEAN CHICKEN

- 1 lime or lemon
- 2 tablespoons rum (or orange juice)
- 3 cloves garlic, sliced thin
- 2 tablespoons minced fresh ginger or ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon Pick-a-Pepper or other hot sauce (optional)
- 2 chicken breasts (about 2 pounds) skinned and halved
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 (1-pound) can low-sodium tomatoes; don't drain
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- 1 cinnamon stick

Yields 4 to 6 servings. Each serving has about 260 calories, 80 milligrams cholesterol and 220 milligrams sodium.

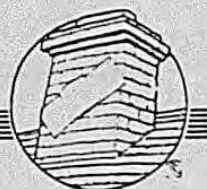

Peel lime or lemon and then slice it in half and squeeze all juice into double plastic bag. Add diced lime or lemon peel, rum, garlic, ginger and hot sauce. Add chicken pieces and close bag with twist tie. Refrigerate overnight, turning occasionally to make sure marinade gets to all of chicken pieces.

Heat skillet sprayed with non-stick coating for 30 seconds. Remove chicken from marinade, reserving marinade, and brown chicken on all sides in skillet. Remove chicken to a platter and keep warm.

Add onion to skillet and cook until transparent. Put tomatoes in food processor or blender and puree. Add to skillet with molasses, cinnamon stick, reserved marinade and chicken. Turn heat down and simmer for about 20 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken and keep warm on platter. Reduce sauce in skillet over high heat until it thickens, about 3 or 4 minutes. Put chicken back in skillet and let it heat through. Remove cinnamon stick. Place chicken on serving dish, pour sauce over it, and serve hot.

Adding drywall can deaden sounds from next door

Q. Our town house has a common wall shared with our next-door neighbor. The wall is made of concrete block with sprayed-on insulation and finished with dry wallboard. The noise from the neighbor's side is very disturbing, especially at night in our bedroom. Is there anything that can be done to the wall to insulate it better against this sound? — G.S.

A. A quick way to improve the sound resistance is to use a manufacturer's recommended adhesive to attach a second layer of drywall over the original (preferably your neighbor's side of the wall as well as yours).

If the first layer of drywall was installed vertically, install the new layer horizontally, and vice versa. You also can install a sound-deadening board under the dry wall. A better way is to build a free-standing wall two inches away from the existing one, which will require about 5 to 6 inches of floor space.

It is important that there is no connection between the second wall and the first wall. The framing of the second wall should be from wall to wall and ceiling to floor, leaving one to two inches of dead air space as a buffer for sound transmission. A blanket of insulation between framing members also will help.

Additional sound resistance can be obtained by installing resilient metal channels to the studs of the new (second) wall. These channels are installed horizontally and screwed to the studs. The dry wall is attached to the opposite side of the channel. Although builders use these frequently, they are not readily available in hardware or home supply stores. You may have to check with a building supply dealer.

Q. We live on the second floor of a three-story apartment building, which was converted into condominiums. We were not aware when we purchased our unit that the sound of foot traffic above would be a constant bother. Noise between units on the same level does not seem to travel nearly as bad as the sounds from above. Is there anything that can be done? — C.M.

A. Correcting this problem is somewhat more difficult than dealing with sound that travels through an adjacent wall. However, some of the same techniques do apply.

Installing either a second layer of drywall or high-density, mineral-fiber, acoustical tile on the ceiling will help. Even better would be the installation of a new drywall ceiling on resilient channels. The channels should be attached to the joists 24 inches on center, the same as wall installation. A padded carpet on the floor above also will help muffle the sound of footsteps and objects dropped on the floor.

Q. We live on a corner where traffic has continued to increase over the years causing some major noise problems. We are considering some renovations and would like to take some steps to help correct the noise problem. Do you have any suggestions? — C.H.

A. Controlling outside noise effectively is complicated.

The most effective method of subduing the sound is to construct a barrier between the street and the building. However, this is not always feasible.

If you do consider constructing a wall, the most effective would be a concrete block structure at least 6 feet high (this is assuming your home is not a two-story building). Such a wall can deflect nearly 60 percent of the street sounds. A wooden fence can reduce noise only by about 5 percent.

Adding wall insulation helps, but is expensive in existing structures. If your windows are only double-glazed, replace them with triple-glazed units. Or install double-glass windows with storm sashes installed tightly with felt strips at the edges.

Make sure all windows and doors seal tightly. Caulk or weather-strip where necessary. Use heavy-lined draperies, thick-padded carpeting, upholstered furniture and acoustical ceiling tile to help absorb the noise. Trees and hedges planted near the house also can absorb some of the noise.

FOR TEENS

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Not-so-unusual crush on teacher

Dr. Abraham: I guess a lot of kids have crushes on their teachers, but honestly, I can't imagine that they feel like I do about one of mine.

She is an English teacher, and she's wonderful. First of all, she's very pretty. And she's so smart, knows so much, and is down to earth. She really treats us as human beings, talks to us in such a nice way.

I have a feeling she likes me because it seems she talks to me more than to any others. She also is really interested in what I have to say.

I think about her so much, wondering what she does after school and how she spends her evenings and wishing I could spend more time with her.

I found out some things about her (don't ask me how). She is 24 years old, is married, and her husband teaches in another school.

She's really so wonderful, this dream person of mine. — Stargazing

Stargazing: How fortunate you are to have a teacher like that. Please try to realize that she is your teacher and not your girlfriend. I know that is very difficult for you to do. It also is difficult for me to tell you that she never will be more than a fine teacher to you.

I once had a teacher like her, and she, too, taught

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Retirement planning includes wills, trusts

Financial planning for retirement should include the tough decisions and the documentation necessary to transfer assets in the event of death of a spouse. The process may involve establishment of a trust, the inclusion of both names as joint ownership — with rights of survivorship — on all property, financial instruments and valuables, plus a legal will.

More than half the people who die each year do so without a will — and therefore are intestate, with the estate and its disposition subject to the whims, laws and direction of the state government and its courts.

According to a new study by the American Association of Retired Persons, the probate process may extend to one year or longer. Though all wills go through a probate process, the program may be accomplished in a much shorter time and at much less legal cost than an estate without a legal will.

Here are some specific questions from readers where the subjects and answers should have important information for all mature adults.

Q: We were both widowed and were married in 1970. I haven't any children, but my husband has two girls. We have put his home title under both our names with right of survivorship. We sold my home and invested the proceeds along with other money I had. If my husband should die, do his children become heirs to the point where I could lose my income and security? — Mrs. H.M. Wiaslow, Ariz.

A: Your financial planning, to date, appears most effective, with a home provided and invested income to back it up. That is positive teaming for a husband and wife. Your home, invested securities and bank accounts may all be held jointly, with ownership going to the survivor. By this step most of the probate process and its questions and delays are avoided.

Consider a trust — perhaps a living trust — for other assets, particularly if you both agree to some inheritance to his children. Or you may agree that if he were to die first all assets would become yours, with the total estate passing on to his children upon your death.

You should first be concerned about your own financial security and freedom today and, in the event of either death, that same protection for the survivor. Seek legal counsel to establish your right of survivorship on all assets and accounts possible, and then consider a living trust or, alternatively, a will, if the remaining assets are small enough to have few tax implications.

Write for a new 12-page report, "A Consumer's Guide To Probate," from the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP Fulfillment/D13822, 1909 K St. N.W., Washington, DC 20049. The cost-free booklet contains valuable information on the probate process, but does not discuss the living trusts or other methods of transferring property or assets.

Q: I have read that handwritten wills were legal, if there was no printing of any part of the will and if it was dated, written and signed in the person's own handwriting. Is this still legal? — V.C., Morongo Valley, Calif.

A: You are referring to a holographic will, a form accepted in some 25 states but a very questionable and often challenged form of estate disposition.

Denis Clifford, an attorney, author and expert on wills, states: "Holographic wills are not recommended because probate courts traditionally have been very strict when examining them after the death of the writer. One reason for this is that since handwritten wills are not normally witnessed, they are often thought to be less reliable. For this reason, they can be more difficult to get through the probate process because of the need to prove that the will was actually written in the deceased person's handwriting. A holographic will is never recommended, except as a last resort."

Q: My elderly and sick aunt in California has no children or husband now living. She wrote, telling me that she was leaving her home to me but that she wouldn't need to have her personally drawn will witnessed or notarized. There are 30 or more nieces and nephews, and I am concerned that they will challenge any such will. What should I do? — M.W., Evansville, Ind.

A: Your aunt has evidently prepared a holographic will, a risky procedure at best. Other possible heirs may challenge such a will, and you would have a costly and time-consuming battle to uphold the inheritance.

Here are some suggestions: Preserve and file the letter with her statement about wanting the house to go to you. This may prove to be valuable evidence in the event of any question.

Plan a trip to California to visit with her to discuss her desire and to establish both of your names on the property title with right of joint survivorship. Or prepare a "typed will" that is properly witnessed. The step should eliminate any questions. Probate can be a costly and time-consuming process, necessitating several trips from your home state to the state where the probate would take place.

In your visit, assist your aunt in identifying other assets she would want to pass to heirs at the time of her death and include these, also, in the prepared will. The document may be self-prepared or prepared with the assistance of an attorney.

To learn more about why and how to prepare a valid will, I recommend the "Simple Will Book" by attorney Denis Clifford (Nolo Press, 950 Parker St., Berkeley, CA 94710; $17.95, postpaid). California residents need to add $1.08 for state sales tax.

What is this Madonna worth?

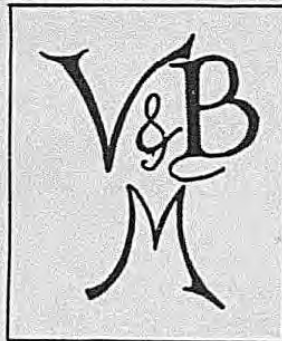

HUMMEL MADONNA
...This Flower Madonna was made between 1950 and 1958

Q: This Hummel Madonna was part of my mother's estate. A friend told me you could help us place a value on it. On the bottom is a "V" with a large bee.

A: This is the "Flower Madonna," made between 1950 and 1958. It was produced in two sizes. No. 10/I (9 inches) sells for about $300 to $325. No. 10/III (12 inches) sells for $700 to $800.

Q: The enclosed mark is on the back of a 12-inch plate with a picture of a castle on a river. Can you identify the maker? How old is it and how much is it worth?

A: Your charger was made by Villeroy & Boch in Mettlach, Germany, between 1890 and 1910. It would probably sell for $165 to $185.

Q: I have a 33-piece service for six of china marked "Hall" in a circle. The pattern is orange poppies with green leaves. I am interested in learning whatever you can tell me about this.

A: This is apparently the "Poppy" pattern made by the Hall China Co. in East Liverpool, Ohio. A complete set like this would cost at least $300 to replace. If you are considering selling, you will probably have to settle for less.

Q: Several years ago you wrote about china marked "Tunnicliffe." I picked up a small covered jar with this mark. It is blue on white with gold trim. Can you supply any information about this?

A: Michael Tunnicliffe operated a pottery in Tunstall, England, during the early 19th century. Your little jar is probably worth about $125 to $135.

Q: What can you tell me about a Barbie doll in a red bathing suit? She has a puffy bubble-cut blond wig and has a stand.

A: Your description suggests the 1962 Barbie. In mint condition and in the original box it lists for $80. Without the box and in average condition they sell for about $50.

Are there devices for tracking pets

Q: I recently read an interesting article about electronic identification of dairy cows. The process involved hanging a chain containing an electronically coded microchip around the neck of the cow. Are such devices available for pets? Are there national pet registries that could identify a found pet wearing such a device?

A: Electronic identification of pets is available in some parts of the United States. Infopet, a Canadian company, manufactures a microchip approximately the size of a grain of rice that can be surgically implanted under the skin of a pet. Usually the implant is placed at the base of the neck between the shoulder blades.

The microchip contains a 10-digit code that can be read by an electronic scanner. Infopet is currently in the process of distributing scanners to animal shelters and veterinarians throughout the United States. Currently, Infopet is available in Boston, St. Louis, Kansas City and most of Florida and California. Your veterinarian may know of other pet registries in your area.

In areas where Infopet is available, stray pets presented at animal shelters and veterinary offices are scanned. If the scan reveals a microchip, the personnel of the animal shelter or the veterinarian can call a central registry to identify the pet and its owner. There is an initial registration fee, a fee for placing the microchip and a yearly renewal fee.

There are several advantages in electronically identifying pets. The identification is permanent. It can't be lost like neck collar tags often are. The electronic identification cannot be seen and, therefore, may offer some protection against theft of pets and show animals.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

This week I started planning a vacation for next fall to the Outer Banks islands in North Carolina. The islands are long, narrow strips of land just off the coast. They are similar to Fire Island, a small strip of land off Long Island.

We are planning to rent a sailboat and explore the area and camp in our tent. It sounds exciting to us.

Do you and your family ever explore new places? Write and tell me what you like to do.

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Rachel Cohen and Alison Damast.

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

Our Grandson, Terrence Adam Zampino was born Sept. 21, 1989 to Mary Rose and Lawrence Zampino, former Garden City resident, son of Rosemarie and Joseph Zampino, who still reside here. Terrence is our second grandchild and we certainly are as happy with him as we were when Lorraine had Lisa fourteen years ago.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By William M. Acosta

Both parents' earnings offer protection

Q: My husband and I are in our mid-30s. We both work. I know that if my husband became disabled or died the children could get benefits on his record, but what if something happened to me? — B.N.

A: What many people don't realize is that children have the same protection under Social Security on their mother's earnings as they do on their father's. If either parent dies, becomes disabled or retires, his or her unmarried children under 18 may receive regular monthly payments from Social Security.

Q: If a person dies at the end of the month, is a partial amount due for the month of death? My husband died on the 31st of January. — K.L.

A: When a person who receives Social Security benefits dies, no benefit is payable for the month of death. That means if the person died anytime in July, for example, the check dated Aug. 3 (which is payment for July) should be returned, unless the check is made out jointly to a husband and wife. In that case, the survivor can bring the check to the Social Security office to have the payee information changed.

Q: I received benefits for my child and myself on my first husband's record after he died. My second husband, who never worked under Social Security, recently died. I am receiving Social Security retirement on my own work record. Could I again receive on my first husband's record? — B.H.C.

A: Yes, it is possible that you could re-establish entitlement on your first husband's record since your second marriage has ended. But whenever a person is eligible for benefits on more than one work record, the benefit payable is equal to the larger amount. Call the Social Security office for additional information.

Q: I am disabled and receive monthly Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks. If I start to work on a part-time basis, would my checks stop? — J.S.

A: You may continue to be eligible for SSI checks even if you start to work or earn more money, as long as you are still disabled or blind and otherwise qualify under the regular SSI rules. If you qualify under this rule, we will review your case to see if your health has improved. The checks will stop for any month your earnings and other countable income exceeds the SSI limits. Contact your Social Security office for complete details.
