Oyster Bay Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker presents citations at the Nassau County Fire Commission 9th Annual Awards Ceremony. Among the Town firefighters and residents honored were, left to right, former Captain of the Hicksville Fire Department and Gold Medal winner Thomas Sullivan, Asst. Chief of the Plainview Fire Department and Silver Medal winner Joseph Amato, Asst. Chief of the Syosset Fire Department and Bronze Medal winner Kenneth Johnson, Chief of the Hicksville Fire Dept. New Member For Kiwanis

Mr. Dennis R. Lynott, General Manager of the Hicksville Days Inn located at 828 South Oyster Bay Road, Hicksville, was inducted as a Kiwanian during the April 18 meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club. Mr. Lynott was sponsored by Kiwanian Beth Dalton, is a member of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce and the Long Island Innkeepers. He indicated that he enjoys golf, tennis and swimming, and hopes that as a member of Kiwanis he can help to improve the community. Since Mr. Lynott's application for membership was reviewed and approved at the club's recent Board of Directors meeting, Kiwanis President Dr. Joseph Lupo gave "K" Past President Sieg Widder the honor of inducting Mr. Lynott at this meeting. Prior to the actual formality, Mr. Widder briefed the members on the applicant's background, and then read "The Objects of Kiwanis International" to him. Mr. Lynott indicated that he would abide by these objectives, whereupon Mr. Widder congratulated him and welcomed him as the newest Kiwanian in Hicksville.

Jewish Center Hops For MDA

During the week of March 12, the students at Manetto Hill Jewish Center in Plainview held a Haman Hopathon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and raised $972 for "Jerry's Kids." The students received pledges on the number of hops they could accomplish in a timed two minute period. The donations collected will help Nassau County patients with neuromuscular disease. Barry Amper, Religious Educational Director, coordinated the event at the school.

For more information on sponsoring an MDA event, contact the office at 746-7403.

Hicksville Fire Report

On April 17 the Hicksville Fire Department responded to a motor vehicle accident at West John St. and Milton Place, Hicksville. A Pontiac Trans Am went out of control on wet pavement and struck a utility pole. Firefighters extricated the driver from the vehicle by cutting the roof off. He suffered leg injuries and a possible concussion.

On April 21, a resident who was previously cited for open burning and blocking a fire hydrant was critically burned on the face and arms as he poured alcohol on a fire he started to burn wood, construction debris. Again his vehicle was blocking the fire hydrant. He was treated at the scene and transported to the Burn Center via Police Ambulance. The County Fire Marshal's Office and the Arson Squad are investigating the incident which happened at 1 p.m. 5 Units under Chief Anthony Wigdzinski responded. Firefighters extinguished a small fire that started in the attached garage at the home at 14 Mayfair Lane, Hicksville.

Library Budget Wins By 50 Votes

The Hicksville Library Budget passed by only 50 votes last Wednesday. The budget voting produced only 502 votes, 276 for and 226 against. The new budget is $1,925,789.

For Trustee, Marc Herbst ran unopposed to retain his seat, and Anthony Prevete was elected to continue in the post he has filled for the late Peter DeNinno.

Candidates Forum To Take Place Apr. 30

The Hicksville Council of PTA's will host a Candidates Forum on Monday, April 30, beginning at 8 p.m., at the Hicksville Senior High School.

The following candidates are running for election: John Ayres and Carole Wolfe are seeking the seat being vacated by Mark Cardella. Jo Ann Miltenberg, who is seeking re-election, is opposed by Stephen Pendergast. Arlene Rudin, Jay Schwartz and Charles Strugatz will be vying for the seat of Daniel MacBride, who will not be seeking re-election.

At the beginning of the meeting, index cards will be distributed to the members of the audience so that they may write questions directed to the candidates. The candidates will be given time to introduce themselves and to make opening statements. They will then be available to answer the submitted questions. At the end of the program, they will each give a closing statement. Representatives of the Nassau District PTA will be on hand to serve as moderator and timekeeper.

Those who are not yet registered to vote are urged to do so on Wednesday, May 9, at their regular polling place between the hours of 3 & 8 p.m. Absentee ballots may be obtained by contacting the Clerk of the Board Janet Ulrich at 933-6592 on Tuesdays or by written request. Requests will be accepted up to seven days prior to the vote.

The PTA Council sponsors its Candidates Forum to help Hicksville residents become better informed voters.

Three Announce Candidacy For Bd. Submitted by Candidates:

Arlene Rudin, John Ayres and Steve Pendergast have announced their candidacy for the Hicksville School Board. Citing a run-away budget, poor community relations, and Board and superintendent ineffectiveness, they have pledged to their supporters, and the Hicksville Community a willingness to address these problems.

The theme for their campaign comes from the Whitney Houston song, "We believe that children are our future, teach them well so that they can lead the way." Children live up to the highest ideals we set for them. If we expect the best, we will get it! Since many of our children settle down here, they will become our town's future leaders. Therefore, it is important that we give them a sense that their educational accomplishments affect all of us.

Arlene Rudin and John Ayres are former School Board Trustees who bring to the job the experience and educational involvement that is sorely missing from the present Board. Steve Pendergast is a 35 year resident and a graduate of Hicksville High. He is committed to giving his children who presently attend our schools the same high quality education we were known for when he was a student.

To kick off their campaign a cocktail party has been planned for Sunday evening, May 6, at the Jolly Swagman. Tickets are $10 each and the proceeds will be used to finance their school board campaign. Tickets can be purchased by contacting the candidates at the following numbers: Arlene Rudin 931-0678, John Ayres 822-3108, and Steve Pendergast 938-4358.

The candidates are also seeking volunteers to help with the campaign. If you would like to help, please contact one of the candidates at the telephone number listed above. If you are not a registered voter and would like to vote in the May 23rd School Board vote, contact any one of the candidates.

Community Council Meets On May 3

Editor's Notebook

BARBECUE SAFETY TIPS

You start a backyard barbecue, just as you've done hundreds of times before, but the fire doesn't seem to be getting hot. So, you squirt extra lighter fluid into the pit. Suddenly, there's a flare — and a serious burn occurs.

Nassau County Medical Center, which maintains the only burn center on Long Island and one of few in the nation, is concerned for your safety. Burn Center director, Dr. Roger Simpson, says "Burns suffered from backyard barbecues can be dangerous. Third-degree burns of the hands, face and torso can result."

There are three degrees of burns. First-degree burns just redden the injured area. Second-degree burns blister and redden the skin, while third-degree burns destroy the skin.

The extent and degree of the burn will determine whether treatment of it requires a doctor or an emergency room.

But barbecue burns should not occur at all. You can prevent them by taking these precautions:

- Never wear loose-fitting clothing which can easily catch fire.
- Barbecue away from the house
- If you own a gas-fired grill, make sure it is properly maintained.
- Never use gasoline or kerosene to start a barbecue.
- Barbecue on a fire-proof surface.
- Use long-handled tongs, spatulas, and forks to handle foods and pots.
- Never reapply starter fluid to a smoldering fire. The fluid can ignite and flash back at you.
- Keep a garden hose handy.
- After barbecuing, leave the embers in place in the pit. Never dump hot coals in the trash can.

Letters

A Letter to All Hicksville Residents:

I am seeking election to the school board. I feel that we all need more mature responsible tax-paying citizens to represent us.

I have lived in Hicksville for over 10 years. My two boys attend school in Hicksville. I am a coach and the treasurer for the Hicksville American Soccer Club and have been for years.

I am a tenured administrative assistant principal at Thomas Jefferson High School in Brooklyn since 1987 and taught English for 20 years in City high schools.

I was a member of the school board from 1981 - 1987. I voted to form the Reorganization Committee. Their decision to keep all schools open must be reaffirmed by all candidates.

I believe the board must decide to make cuts in other areas and I promise to make those cuts. I believe a board member should listen to the people and I promise to listen to you. Please vote for me and support the budget on May 23.

Sincerely,
Jay Schwartz

Hicksville INN Special Treat

Left to right: Margaret Barruso, who devised the project, Mary Mahoney, Tech. Assistant to the Professor, Paul DeAngelis, Instructor who is Professor of the Restaurant Management Class and Alice Spinella, Coordinator of Personnel of the Hicksville Inn.

A group of 21 Young People from the State University of Farmingdale, who used their classroom knowledge and expertise to make their contribution to this worthy community effort.

Early in April, the Hicksville Soup Kitchen was literally taken over by experts in the culinary field. An enthusiastic group of twenty-one students (12 men and 9 young women), all from the Restaurant Management and Special Events Class at State University of Farmingdale, arrived with their Professor, Paul DeAngelis, to prepare the meal of the day for the homeless and hungry of the area. They brought with them the food for a really gourmet-style meal. The menu was as follows:

Meat Loaf, Mashed Potatoes, String Beans, Quick Bread, Homemade Vegetable Soup, Salad and Carrot Cake

The students also roasted a turkey and made sandwiches which were given to the "guests" to take home, along with small packages of cookies which were placed at each place at the table.

Plans for the special visit were devised by Margaret Borruso, who is one of the instructors at SUNY, and who also volunteers her time to the Soup Kitchen in Holbrook. The event was coordinated with Alice Spinella, the Personnel Coordinator for the Soup Kitchen held at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Hicksville.

This class usually cooks for special events held at the State University, including conferences, awards ceremonies and special receptions. The students recently entertained for the Chancellor at SUNY. They specialize in gourmet cooking, and the students had never before been out of the classroom. The young people were enthusiastic and innovative and their work and presence was much appreciated.

Two Musical Perf. For May 4

Lucille Villa

It will be a weekend of musical happenings Friday and Sunday, May 4 and 6, with two programs in the "Distinguished Artists Concert" series, according to Oyster Bay Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

Classical pianist David Buechner will take center stage at the Syosset Public Library, 225 South Oyster Bay Road, on Friday, May 4, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

"David Buechner has an impressive list of awards and distinctions including an unprecedented total of six major awards from the Juilliard School of Music where he studied," Ocker stated. "He has appeared in concert at major performing arts centers across the United States and has also performed extensively abroad."

For this concert, selections will include "Sonata in A Minor, K. 310" by Mozart, "Six Etudes After Paganini" by Liszt and

"Mujeres de Sevilla, Op. 89" by Turina.

On Sunday, May 6, the Hicksville Public Library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue, will be the location for a concert by soprano Lucille Villa. Show time will be 3 p.m.

"Lucille Villa made her recital debut at the Rockville Centre Library and has since concertized extensively throughout Long Island and the New York metropolitan area," Ocker stated. "She has also appeared on television, and most recently, she presented a series of recitals at Chelsea Mansion."

For this performance, Miss Villa will be accompanied by pianist Robert Kopelson. She will perform selections by such composer as Menotti, Puccini, Rodrigo and Schumann.

Ocker noted that the "Distinguished Artists Concerts" series is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community and Youth Services. It is also being supported by grants from Apple Bank for Savings and Long Island Savings Bank FSB.

Hicksville Kiwanis Hears Talk

Ms. Lavenia F. Collins, a Board Member of the Alzheimer's Association of Nassau/Suffolk Counties, was the guest speaker at the April 18 luncheon meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club. In speaking about Alzheimer's disease, Ms. Collins stressed the fact that there is no known cause or cure for this disease at this time.

What is known about it is: that it is an irreversible degenerative disorder of the brain and affects approximately 2.5 million people in the United States; that there is no test to determine absolutely if someone has it; that it is most common in people over 60, but has been diagnosed in people in their 40's and 50's; that it affects both sexes and people of all races and backgrounds; that it is still uncertain if it is hereditary or not; that its early signs of memory loss and mental deterioration eventually lead to difficulty in concentration, poor judgement, disorientation, and in inability to communicate. Although there is no cure available at this time, new drugs to combat memory loss are in clinical trials, and medications are available to alleviate symptoms such as depression, behavioral disturbances and sleeplessness. Scientists are applying the newest knowledge and research techniques to find the cause, treatment and cure for Alzheimer's Disease.

Should anyone want more information, advice or help with this problem, they can call 935-1033 to speak to someone in this non-profit, charitable organization. They are there to help.

EVERY FAVOR HAS ITS PRICE.

Two men. Neighbors. One is a Wall Street attorney; the other a Mafia chief. When their worlds suddenly collide, their lives are changed forever.

started the season with an exciting seesaw battle with St. Barnabus, which ended in a 5 all tie. Brian Rigert playing in his 1st game with the team, led the way with 2 hits. Doing a superb job of relief pitching and some excellent base running was, Joe Croce. The question being asked by Manager Mr. Patterson is, "Brian, how did I miss you for 2 years?"

The entire team and the CYO Board would like to send a special, Get Well Wish to, Christine Rigert for a speedy recovery. Your in all our prayers.

8th Grade Travel Team

The 8th grade Travel Team, started the season off on a sour note. With a 4 to 1 defeat at the hands of, Our Lady of Mercy. Mark Micalizzi and Shennen Maceo were the bright spots in an otherwise dismal performance in our initial outing. Fortunately, many games are ahead and the team is sure better days will follow.

8th Grade Girls Softball Travel Team

St. Ignatius beat Holy Family 16-3 on the first game of the season. All the girls played well, stand outs were: Kathleen Kelly striking out 15 and going 4 for 5 with 2 homeruns and 6 RBI's. Livia Cirillo and Christine Spina, both went 4 for 5 and Theresa Brannan with a triple and homerun.

Middle School Seeks German Pals

The German classes at the Hicksville Middle School under the direction of Suzanne Susskind recently participated in a nationwide campaign sponsored by their American Association of Teachers of German. They, as part of 110,000 students from all over the United States, wrote to Helmut Kohl, Chancellor of West Germany, requesting information about Germany and the possibility of establishing a pen-pal relationship with students of similar age. The campaign was highly successful and was met with much appreciation. The students are currently waiting to receive a personal letter from Chancellor Kohl, as well as a poster from Burgermeister Mopper of West Berlin, showing people standing on top of the Berlin Wall on November 9, 1989.

Community Unity Tournament Theme

"Community Unity" will be the theme for this year's, Hicksville Charity Tournament" played by, Hicksville Baseball Association, Hicksville Police Athletic League and St. Ignatius Catholic Youth Organization.

This year's tournament will be held on August 25, and all donations will benefit the, "Make A Wish Foundation". On April 17, all three organizations met with a representative from, "Make A Wish." Mrs. Eileen McCarthy. She discussed all the aspects of the organization.

Most children have a lifetime ahead to experience again and again the joy that having a wish come true can bring. But for the child who is afflicted with a tragic, life-threatening illness, a dream come true is a very special miracle. Transforming those dreams into reality is the job of the "Make A Wish Foundation." The foundation is the nations largest and strongest wish-granting charity, with chapters across the United States and internationally and supported by over 6000 volunteers. Make A Wish, has granted thousands of wishes of every variety conceivable, limited only by a child's imagination. Their work is made possible through the concern and support of people and organizations who care. All of us involved in this year's, Hicksville Charity Tournament are thrilled to be able to participate in such a worthwhile experience.

All the volunteers from each organization, HBA, PAL and CYO know how rewarding it is, to be able to teach our children the sports each organization offers. To see a child hit that grand slam homerun or just make it to first base is rewarding to all our coaches and volunteers. But this year's tournament will not only be rewarding to the coordinators, but the children will be able to contribute by getting donations so another child can experience a wish, that might not come true without their participation in the tournament.

Mark all your calendars for, August 25, 12 noon at the Abe Levitt Complex, Stewart Avenue and Levittown Parkway. You'll see the youths from, HBA, PAL and CYO compete for the winning trophy. But you'll experience the, "Community Unity" between these organizations to make some child's wish come true.

Each of us has the ability to make a child's wish come true. And isn't that the best wish of all!

Passover Seder Celebration

Ms. Louthan's class in the Hicksville High School had a Seder to celebrate Passover. The students made some traditional foods: matzoh ball soup, potato latkes and charoset. The students read from the Haggadah and learned about the origin of Passover.

Special Evening For Enrichment

On a recent Tuesday evening, students of Hicksville's Elementary Academic Enrichment Program and their parents converged on Dutch Lane School's cafeteria. Teachers of the gifted, Adele Nieforo and Ann Gladstone, had a wonderful evening in store for them: "Optical Illusions: Space Visualization and the Works of M.C. Escher." The session was to make connections among three of the children's units of study: Art Appreciation, The Great Brain and Math Challenges.

Dr. Robert Gerver, 1988 recipient of the Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics teaching, and a staff member of North Shore High School, proved that "seeing is not believing!" His multimedia presentation explored the beguiling art works of Maurits Escher and the mathematical concepts behind them. Participants discovered why Escher's prints are misleading and they investigated other optical illusions, through hands-on activities.

The highlight of the evening was a contest among the children and their parents. Prizes were awarded to the winners, and every participant went home with a booklet for further mathematical experimentation.

Hicksville Ties 2-2

By A. Bliker

The Hicksville Minutemen, my 1977 "B" travelling soccer team, brought their LI Junior Soccer League record to 2 wins, 1 loss, 1 tie, via a strong come from behind 2-2 tie against the Lindenhurst Bulldogs, at Triangle Park, on Sunday, April 22, led by two second half goals from striker, Jorge da Silva.

Lindenhurst broke out to a quick 1-0 lead four minutes into the game, on a charge down right wing. They increased their lead 2-0, 10 minutes later, and then the Minutemen took over, controlling the balance of the game. They peppered the Bulldog goalie with 10, on goal, first half shots, but he rose to the occasion each time. There were also numerous other Hicksville shots stopped by the Bulldog defense.

For the second half, Mike Whitman moved to goalkeeper and daSilva to striker. The move paid quick dividends, as daSilva scored early in the second half. Ten minutes later, he picked the ball up at midfield and carried it all the way in, on a breathtaking charge, putting it past the Lindenhurst goalie, for the 2-2 tie. At the other end, Whitman turned away everything that came his way, and punctured the air with some beautiful punts.

Kenny D'Introno had his usual, steady game from right fullback. Greg Walunas was at the top of his game from sweeper, constantly breaking up plays and getting the ball upfield. Tim Dalton had a great game from left fullback, after opening at left half. Bobby Braun had an impressive game from stopper, including some line drive shots at goal. Jason Brown, playing with the flu, had an exciting, productive game at right fullback. Anthony Noya, returning from a two-game absence due to a neck injury, gave a strong performance at center half. Declan Healy, getting his most playing time as a Minutemen, made his presence felt at left halfback. Andres Turcios had an exceptional game at right wing with numerous, on-target passes and some fine shots. Danny de Pinho was continually hustling and aggressive from left wing, and picked up the assist on daSilva's first goal. Robin Bliker contributed from left fullback and sweeper.

Congratulations to the Minutemen, as well as my Assistant Coaches Tony dePinho and Pete Whitman, for a fine soccer game. A special thanks to our sponsor, Seaman & Eisemann, for their support. All connected with the team look forward to the return of Brian Rigert, and wish his sister a most speedy recovery.

Student Council Charity

The Bethpage High School Student Council, advised by Mr. Rager, is completing one of its most successful years, contributing more funds to charities and community service, sponsoring numerous fundraising activities, and greatly bolstering student spirit.

The school year has brought success after success. The four school dances, including the Homecoming, Halloween, Holiday and Valentine's Dances have exceeded previous records of student attendance and money raised. The Student Council has also kept its promise to increase involvement in community and charitable affairs. Maintaining its tradition to hold a Thanksgiving Food Drive, Holiday Joy Drive, and Holiday Adopt-A-Family Program, the Council raised enough canned goods, stuffed animals, and coins to keep a small general store well stocked. The Student Council also reached out to the community by sponsoring the Homecoming Carnival and the Spirit Week/Olympics.

One of the most memorable events of the school year, co-sponsored by the Student Civic Association, was the first ever high school "Lip Sync" Contest. Over 15 groups performed, mimicking various popular singers in hopes of raising money for Suffolk State. The first prize went to the hilarious duo of Kenny Rogers/Jennifer Mulbach (Dolly Parton) and Anthony Galeotafiore.

Even as the end of the school year is approaching, the Student Council calendar is jammed with activities. On April 20 the Second Annual Volleyball Tournament (dedicated to Bethpage resident Jason Silver, victim of an auto accident) will be held. On May 19 the "Ice Cream Orgy" is planned. A last fling before summer dance, the "Luau" will be held on June 1 in the Senior Court.

Synagogue Expansion

North Shore Synagogue's $3 million renovation and expansion project is scheduled for groundbreaking in early October, directly after Yom Kippur. The plan includes a new sanctuary, new and larger nursery school classrooms; a social hall, reception and kitchen complex to accommodate 300 persons and complete refurbishment of all other parts of the building.

The Temple has approved having an exclusive caterer. The Catering Committee has scheduled interviews with several of Long Island's leading caterers. Selection is anticipated by early summer.

North Shore Synagogue now has over 700 member families. Religious School enrollment is at an all-time high with over 70 children in third grade, the start of bar and bat mitzvah training. According to Rabbi Fogel, the Senior Rabbi of the congregation, "This is a truly outstanding time in the life of our synagogue. We offer some of the most dynamic programs for families and children in the New York area and it is wonderful to see so many people becoming active in the congregation. The new building and the caterer will add an important new dimension to our congregation."

Construction is expected to take 11 to 15 months. The building will remain fully operational during this period and there will always be a finished sanctuary available (a new sanctuary will be built first then the existing sanctuary will be closed) for services, Bar and Bat Mitzvah, weddings and other religious activities.

North Shore Synagogue is a 36-year old Congregation, serving Syosset, Woodbury, Plainview, Muttontown, Brookville, East Norwich and Oyster Bay. It is located on Muttontown Road a few blocks from the Syosset LIRR station. Telephone is 921-2282.

Input Callers Mixed Ideas On Income Tax

There were mixed answers to the question last week on sales tax or income tax. The Question was: "Do you think a graduated National Sales tax on items other than food would be better than the present income tax? Here are some of the answers:

ANYTHING BETTER

Almost anything would be better than the tangle of rules and regulations that must be endured to pay the present income tax. What is happening now is that we are building up a whole field of people whose only occupation is to wade through the regulations made by the bureaucratic I.R.S. This is such a waste of human resources that it is almost laughable. N.F.

GRADUATED TAX

I believe that a graduated sales tax might be better than the income tax because after all the only use for money is to purchase things with it so when the tax cheats would be faced with a sales tax they would have to pay up at the place of purchase. The government could easier control the number of sales outlets than they can know what every wage earner is filing. I think it ought to be cheaper, quicker and without the red tape we now have. I know this would knock out a great many people who have made careers out of tax preparation, but it still would be better for most people. J.V.

NO FAIR TAX FOR ALL

I don't know whether there is any tax that is fair. The problem is the use of tax dollars rather than the way the tax is collected. No matter what the government comes up with I do not think that many people will be happy to pay a large chunk of their earnings for taxes. D.L.

NATIONAL SALES TAX

I believe a national sales tax if it is actually a replacement and not an additional tax would be better because it could be made to be at its highest point on strictly luxury items. For the first six months after getting rid of the income tax it would put a great amount of money into circulation because the withholding of part of our pay will stop and we can spend it right away. If there is any great depression I am sure that the Income tax will be knocked out and a sales tax will take over. N.T.

FOR INCOME TAX

There is no other way for the government to collect the amount of money it now does other than a direct tax on the income of every person who gets money. All other methods would not consistently yield the amount of money that can be taken with the present income tax. Whether we like the system or not, it will never go away. Too many government jobs and projects are financed through the income tax. And after all if we want a good government we do have to pay for it so let's stop all the fuss. G.D.

TWO PRONGS

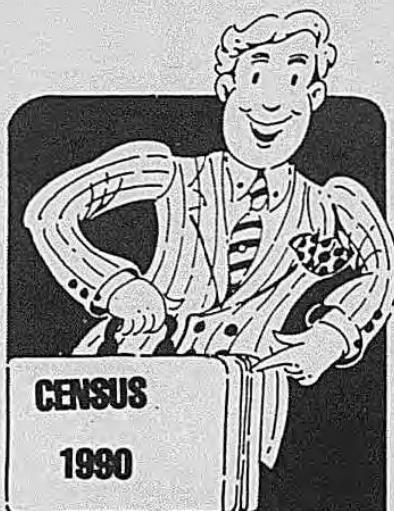

I believe that a combination of a lower graduated income tax and a national sales tax will help in making all those who have loop holes or just plain do not pay the tax pay up. If they buy luxury items they will have to pay at a high rate and that will make it no worthwhile to hold out on the income tax. J.F.

SIMPLIFY SYSTEM

From everything I read, our present system on income tax returns falls far short of 100% participation nation-wide. Needless to say, a significant number of illegal aliens are receiving income which is not reported by the employers and certainly not by the workers. As a result, IRS has no way of adding them to their list of taxpayers. A graduated National sales tax would at least include these illegal emigres in support of our federal financial needs as well as those who deliberately evade declaration. Some European countries adopted a national tax system which to the best of my recollection was a cumulative tax on every invoice starting with the components manufacturer right on through to the final bill to the consumer for the finished product or service. This may still be in effect and compares to the graduated National sales tax mentioned in the Question. This system might not be sufficient to attract adequate participation from high salaried executives or capital gains but it certainly would provide a tax revenue from the expenditures of the vast majority of residents. However, I can't say that I'm crazy about the idea and I would recommend a task force to study the results of European experience both as to revenue as well as problems. Other than that, I would recommend a simplification of our present system plus a tightening up of the entire process to include all income producers who are legally obliged to report. P.G.S.

Census Day Fun For All

CENSUS DAY - April 1, 1990

By Marjorie Wolfe

My '90 census arrived and was completed in 13½ minutes, one-half minute less than the Census Bureau estimates it should take. I was delighted to learn that researchers can now estimate the number of "blended" families -- roommates, housemates, and co-habiting couples. Even more reassuring is the fact that Law (Title 13, U.S. Code) guarantees that my census will remain confidential until the year 2062!

With tongue-in-cheek, I've suggested to the Bureau that the following list of questions should have been included in the '90 census:

1. Are you "transportation disadvantaged"? (An Edwin Newman term for someone who does not have a car.)
2. How many ROMEO's (Retired Old Men Eating Out) reside in your home?
3. Do you agree with the statement that "a house divided will bring in more rent"?
4. Do you refer to the children of the man with whom you are in LINKAGE as "Linkettes"?
5. Do you know your net worth per pound? (The "Harper's Index to the 1980's" reports that Donald Trump's net worth per pound is $9,700,000.)
6. Does your home suffer from "cabincreeper"? (A Rich Hall & Friends Sniglet meaning "n. structural condition in which the closing of one kitchen cabinet causes another to open.")

RESTAURANT GUIDE

Small Corner, Large Following

By JOANNE STARKEY

THEY swept into Elmont's Petite Corner restaurant: the Gold Coasters, with ankle-length white coats, furs, fashionable dresses and the unmistakable aura of people in the know. Now their secret is out. This is a gem of a restaurant, well worth a trip to Elmont.

This modest storefront does not lure the passing motorist, however. Nestled between an empty store and a lumberyard opposite the Belmont Race Track, the tiny establishment looks more like a corner bar than a fine restaurant.

Nor does the interior décor of this diminutive spot proclaim that a creative genius is in the kitchen. The walls are beige; the easily overlooked art is beige in spirit. Only the cloth tablecloths and candlelight hint that this is more than a neighborhood restaurant.

Upon entering, diners are greeted by the sunny smiles of the charming hostess and knowledgeable waitress. Soon the diners are smiling too. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres appear. First, there are crisp, snappy vegetables with a dynamite dip. Within minutes, other gratis goodies gush from the kitchen.

One evening, it was a small slab of superior chicken liver pâté garnished with slices of pickle and onion and a delicate carrot flower. Even cholesterol watchers broke their diets to indulge. On a week night, a wider array of tasty tidbits was offered: a cold plump mussel cloaked in a creamy sauce, a spinach-and-cheese-stuffed mushroom, a bacon-wrapped scallop and a small wedge of that exceptional pâté.

Appetizers might seem superfluous after these taste teasers, but every starter on the menu is recommended: plump mussels in a basil-flecked tomato sauce; whole mushrooms sautéed in herb butter; clams steamed in white wine, garlic and herbs; tender, tasty escargots; a full-size portion of the bacon-wrapped broiled sea scallops, and a Japanese favorite, negimaki, broiled steak rolls stuffed with scallions.

While most of the offerings are French, as the name of the restaurant implies, the food has an Oriental tinge. The best salad dressing is the tasty ginger. A super entree is tahihi steak: velvety, tender sliced sirloin with flavors that smack of the Orient. All dishes are artistically presented; the tiny carrot flower on the appetizer is a signature of the chef-owner, who recently celebrated his first anniversary here.

With food of the quality offered at Petite Corner, you might not expect bargains as well. Yet, Monday through Thursday, there's a dinner special. Soup, salad and coffee are secured by adding $3.25 to the price of the entree. Soups are wonderful. One evening the soup was a rich, creamy salmon chowder full of vegetables. On another visit, it was a light but flavorful chicken broth with vegetables. Onion soup reaffirms its classic standing.

Salads do not fare as well. They are easily skipable. The Caesar salad is bland. There is a choice of unusually good homemade dressings for the tossed salad, but the salad ingredients are mundane. The predominant player is iceberg lettuce, which is adorned with sliced mushrooms, cucumber and a few cherry tomatoes. Also advisable would be the elimination of the soft, squishy, super-market-quality dinner rolls.

No changes are needed at main course time. The best dish among a lineup of pleasers is the bouillabaisse. This is a bouillabaisse to dream about: firm, properly cooked lobster, clams, mussels, shrimp, scallops, squid and fish bathed in tomato, saffron and wine. There's a side dish of aioli, the garlicky French mayonnaise, to add and enrich the sauce. At $17.95, this is the most expensive entree on the menu but is, nevertheless, a bargain.

Other ocean pleasers, grilled salmon and sea scallops, also demonstrate the chef's light touch. Another sprightly entree is chicken breasts stuffed with Brie and mushrooms in a lulling brown sauce. Rack of lamb stuffed with spinach; crisp roast duck served with a tart sauce of crushed raspberries; tender veal fillet mignon with sautéed shiitake mushrooms, and an even tastier veal dish in mustard sauce also demonstrated the chef's skills.

Save room for dessert. The warm walnut pie with a gooey chocolate layer was the hands-down favorite at our table. The cheesecake is exceptional: the chocolate mousse creamy light.

Petite Corner is an adventure. It's easily overlooked on a commercial thoroughfare. Make no mistake about it, though. Petite Corner is a find.

READER RATINGS

We have lived in this area for a long time, and The Executive Restaurant continues to be one of our favorites. Whether your choice is steak or seafood, you can be assured it will be top quality, and well prepared.

The cuisine is Continental. In particular their Blackboard Specials are diversified. My favorite at the Executive is their Bouillabaisse. I have had this dish at many fine restaurants, and can truly say for my taste it is the best. Just thinking about it makes me want to make a return visit soon. The welcome we receive when we dine there is warm and friendly. The Pavlovich father and son are a great team, we feel we are visiting old friends when we dine there. You will enjoy the caring service as well as the ample parking across the street. H.P.

GOOD LUNCH

Our party of four met at the Orchid Restaurant for lunch last week and thoroughly enjoyed it. We thought the ambience was delightful and the food was great. The cuisine is Szechuan, Hunan and Cantonese. One word of warning: if you order a dish that has an asterisk, it means that the sauce is hot—so if you wish something milder, please tell the waiter.

Incidentally, the service was most attentive. We were so impressed with our luncheon that we started thinking about our holiday office party and thought it might be a great choice and we would book early. M.M.

Q. We've never had houseguests before this summer, and I'm more nervous about feeding them than anything else. How do you plan the meals? What do people want to eat in the summer? How fancy in our cooking do we have to be?

A. The best food in the summer is the simplest, healthiest, freshest kind. Give your guests the kind of food you like yourselves, and they'll be happy. Here are the menus of a weekend last summer on Cape Cod: our hostess had prepared much of the food for her six houseguests before we arrived:

Friday night dinner: Boiled lobster, coleslaw, garlic brown bread, lemon sherbet and brownies, white wine and coffee.

Saturday breakfast: Choice of three cereals, fresh fruit, bacon, eggs, English or bran muffins, coffee or milk.

Saturday lunch: Hamburgers or hot dogs at the beach concession (in case of rain, we would have made our own sandwiches at home).

Saturday dinner: Barbecued steaks, mixed green salad, a casserole of chopped spinach, artichoke hearts and sour cream, fresh fruit compote, macaroons, red wine and coffee.

Sunday breakfast: Melon, fruit juices, our host's famous waffles with strawberry jam or maple syrup, coffee or milk.

Sunday lunch: Beach picnic (if it had rained, it would have been a living room floor picnic) of roast tarragon chicken, a cold pasta with vegetables, fresh raspberries with creme fraiche, red and white wine and coffee.

TRIP INTO PAST

We always feel that we have a fine time and wonderful food when we visit George Washington Manor in Roslyn. It is like a trip into the past with modern food and service to visit the Manor.

They have a good menu of American food that is cooked just right. Last week we had a party of four people who visited the G.W. Manor and had entrees which included fish, beef and veal. Every person in our group said that they thought this restaurant is one of the finest they had ever been to. We decided then that we should spread the word around and decided to make this call J.H.

"OLD RELIABLE"

We call Mahoney's in Williston Park our "old reliable" because it never fails to provide us with a good meal. Last Sunday we went there in the evening. The place was filled but we still got a good seat. Mahoney's has a salad bar equipped with shrimp, soup and mussels along with the usual items that are found at salad bars.

Some members of our party had veal and some had scrod but everyone said that they enjoyed the good food at this newly refurbished old landmark on Hillside Avenue. And, if you want something a little bit better, try their Irish coffee. G.K.

q. When dining out I often like to begin my meal with a delicious shrimp cocktail. But the shrimp are usually quite large - too big to swallow in one bite. What is the proper way to eat them?

A. Impale the shrimp with your seafood fork and dip in the cocktail sauce. Take a manageable bite. Consume the remaining piece, dipping again into the sauce if desired.

In eating a shrimp cocktail it is never correct to cut the shrimp with a knife.

READER RATINGS

Q. We are not wine drinkers. If we're giving a party, what kind of wines should we stock in order to take care of our wine-drinking friends' pleasure - from cocktail hour through dinner? W.L.

A. For the cocktail hour you might have on hand dry or sweet sherry, or dry or sweet vermouth, or any of the popular "aperitifs." Many choose a glass of dry white wine at the cocktail hour (either chilled or "on the rocks").

For the first course, or to drink with any fish, salad, chicken, veal or fruit, a chilled white wine is nice (such as a Chablis, Soave, Riesling, Chenin Blanc, Pinot Chardonnay).

For the meat or game course (or the salad with cheese), serve a Burgundy, Bordeaux, Chianti, Cabernet Sauvignon, or Zinfandel at a cool room temperature (from 60 to 70 degrees).

Rose wines should be chilled like white wines. A rose is best served with a light dish and is more popular in hot weather than in cold.

For dessert you may serve the same wine you had from the previous course. Or if it's something festive like an anniversary, dessert time is the moment to bring on the champagne (the drier the better!).

FINE SETTING

The Maine Maid is the place to go for a restaurant in a fine traditional setting. The Maine Maid is an old Quaker House. In fact, the owner told us that it is a landmark. But the decor is restful and elegant and the service is good. The food consists of well prepared meats and fish. Some of them are prepared right at your table. Tell your readers to try it and they will be glad for the suggestion. Toby C.

Q. When dining out with a group of ten or twelve people is it necessary to wait until everyone at the table is served before starting to eat?

A. No, at a large table such as you describe it is usual to begin eating when three or four people have been served. It would be thoughtful for the host or hostess, if there is any, to urge guests to begin eating so their food will not get cold.

Criticisms of restaurants are sent directly to restaurants concerned on the form of a memo. Restaurants that consistently give bad service or food are dropped from these pages.

GOOD RESTAURANT

A surprisingly good local restaurant is the Surfside on Hillside Avenue in New Hyde Park. This good seafood restaurant has been discovered by many other people who assemble there on almost any night of the week.

We were there on Thursday and found that their shrimp scampi and red snapper were wonderful. The preparation of the food and the entire look of the restaurant is appetizing. It is of new construction and everything looks spic and span. The food was deliciously cooked and the fish was as fresh as if it were caught a few hours before. This is a very good restaurant. G.F.

READER RATINGS

Last week, my friend and I dined at Surfside Restaurant, on Hillside Avenue in New Hyde Park. We had been there once before and enjoyed it, as the seafood was truly great. Our choices were Trout, and Filet of Sole with Crabmeat stuffing. Dinner came with a baked potato and a great salad. White Chablis wine, then coffee completed this really fine dinner. If you enjoy fresh seafood, well prepared, I strongly recommend this restaurant. Surfside is not only attractive, with large windows on all sides, attentive service and ample parking, but we also found it offers a restful ambience. M.S.

Q. As newlyweds, we're giving our first dinner party in a couple of weeks. I'm doing a roast leg of lamb and am frankly terrified that disasters will occur. With my lack and inexperience, the lamb will fly off the platter onto the floor when I bring it in to be carved; the vegetables will be understeamed and hard and the dessert custard will be runny and never harden. I mean, I am catastrophic!

A. Courage! "Disasters" happen all the time to first-time, experienced or even professional cooks. You can cope, first of all, by maintaining a sense of humor, and sometimes by adding artfully, of course, a bit of bluff.

Pick up the lamb off the floor (with your hands encased in oven mitts, naturally) and say something to your guests like this: "That's how I always bring out the flavor in the meat. It's the final touch I always add."

If you've undercooked the vegetables, talk about how you purposely did it to give your guests "all the vitamins and iron they will need for the next month."

As for the runny dessert, spoon it into wineglasses. Put on top of the glass in each glass a strawberry, a sprig of mint or a shaving of chocolate, and give it a new, glamorous name — like "Meryl Streep's Dream Custard." Your dinner will be a great success, I promise you.

Q. Many years ago when I was growing up, roast beef was almost always served with a thick brown gravy. But today, "roast beef au jus" is the usual listing I see on restaurant menus. Can you explain this change?

A. There is a growing belief that the natural flavor of food may be enhanced, but should never be covered up by heavy sauces or gravies. Today people are more health conscious than they used to be and they often try to avoid foods such as gravies which have a high calorie and cholesterol content.

Good Food & Great Prices!

STRIPES — Used up and over the short length of the ceiling, striped wallcoverings make an attic room look higher and wider.

Stripes elongate space

Q. We're doing a tiny attic room over for guests, and my husband and I need you to help settle an argument.

We have bought striped wallpaper to use on the ceilings, too — they're low and angled and I thought the pattern would help. The trouble is, we don't know which way to run the stripes.

A. My husband says they should go the long way of the room; I say the short way. Who is right? — C.G., Dobbs Ferry

A. You win: Stripes elongate space, so you want to use them to push the short walls apart, visually speaking.

You can see how that works in the attic photo I found to show here, where the stripes run up and over the ceiling and down the side walls, where they seem to add height.

Just be careful when you're installing your paper: If you don't keep your overhead stripes precisely straight, your guests could wake up dizzy.

Charming as this attic hideaway is — the fabrics and wall covering are from Raintree Designs — I would recommend an all-over non-directional floral for such a ceiling application, rather than a precise stripe.

Q. We have a real old-brick wall in our living room. The previous owners told us they worked for weeks chipping off the plaster, but I'm entertaining a "shocking" thought.

I want to paint over the dark red brick. It's too rustic looking for my furniture and, besides, the room is already dark with lots of natural wood trim.

Do I dare? — A.M., Marlon, S.C.
A. Where is it written that all brick must be brick red?

I have a brick wall in my living room, too, and guess what color it is: white. And for the same reason you're contemplating such "heresy."

The white-painted brick is actually much dressier and will go better with your more formal furniture.

All brick is wonderful as an interior texture, and can be made to work with everything from drop-dead contemporary to country French.

Q. I'm curious about those square-legged, very simple tables you see everywhere these days, even in fairly traditional rooms.

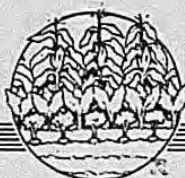

I've heard them called the "T-square" table and the "Parsons" table. Which is right, and where did Parsons come from (I can see why it might be called a T-square)? — E.L., New York

A. This simple — and simply indispensable — table is named after the Parsons School in Manhattan. The school, in turn, is named after the man who made it what it was earlier in this century: the first and most important school to teach interior design as a profession.

That man was Frank Alvah Parsons, who was president in the early 1900s, and expanded the school — then known as the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts — to include a branch in Paris.

Some pleasant memories of past plantings

The front roof line of my house would seem barren indeed without a lively display of summer flowers hanging in baskets across its length. I'm thankful for the many kinds of beautiful flowers that bloom in shady spots, for my home faces north. The roof overhang receives only a brief amount of early morning sun.

As I put together this year's baskets for setting out in May, I'm indulging in a little pleasant recollection of basket plantings in this location from years past. Of all the flowers I've grown here, my favorites are trailing tuberous begonias, three plants to a 10-inch-wide basket, one color in each of the six baskets.

Sometimes I plant the begonias alone, to bloom in their own private classic splendor. And sometimes I add a small patch of trailing blue Sapphire lobelia transplants in between each tuberous begonia plant. The lobelia adds a light, feathery touch to a begonia planting and the dark blue complements beautifully the yellows, oranges, reds and salmon of the begonia blooms.

Fuchsias are another favorite choice for filling this lineup of baskets. I have plans one year to root early summer cuttings of one variety for the elegant look of six uniform fuchsias across the front of the house. The problem with that plan is to decide upon just one variety among the multitudes of charming fuchsias.

One year I grew nepeta as a long trailer in the fuchsia baskets. It produced a pleasant drapery to fall below the more arching style of the fuchsia's flower-laden arms. Nepeta is decorative in its own right, with neat pairs of small variegated leaves and little blue trumpet-shaped flowers on slender stems. This trailer can be planted afterward in the garden as a ground cover. Be aware, however, that it's a fairly enthusiastic spreader.

For several years I planted impatiens in these hanging baskets. Pansies, monkey flower (mimulus) and pocket pouch plant (calceolaria) have all put on lovely summer displays in this site, too.

Beneath this basket lineup is a brick planter. Every year I must decide upon flowers to situate in this planter and which to grow in the baskets. One particularly successful summer arrangement saw the brick planter and long wooden portable planter banked with monkey flowers, which put on a glorious show of speckled yellow, red and orange. That year begonias in similar shades bloomed in baskets above.

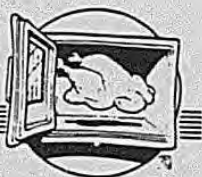

Another nice combination saw fuchsias in pink, white and violet blue above pastel shades of impatiens below. Nasturtiums grow rampantly in the brick planter. One year a really easy arrangement for this area would be bush nasturtiums in the planter and a trailing variety in the baskets.

Just poke the seeds into the prepared soil in planter and baskets and watch them grow.

A good part of the attraction such container plantings hold for the home gardener lies in their situations close to the house, where the beauty of the plants and their flowers is brought into sharp focus. This is true also of baskets and pots of flowers in parts of the garden that are are passed through every day.

One such area in my garden is the pathway leading to the greenhouse. There I have an arbor for baskets, a long plant table and a big old wheelbarrow to fill with flowers. This is a location sheltered by the high branches of trees, partly sunny and partly shaded, protected from the hot afternoon sun. Here I can grow many different flowers in pots and baskets. Nasturtiums and schizanthus have both brought wonderful splashes of color in the wheelbarrow.

Prunes: plum good for you

Call someone a prune and you're likely to get slapped. Try serving prunes, and you'll get an only slightly less violent response from some people. (I'll bet George Bush doesn't allow them in the White House!)

Like peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, prunes are a food you're supposed to express loathing for — that is, if you have any pretensions to sophistication.

I personally know people who are perfectly happy to hunker down to a meal of raw sea urchin at that chic little sushi bar downtown, yet they can't bear the thought of ingesting an innocent morsel of dried fruit. Hmph!

Think how many of your favorite treats are sweet and chewy: cookies, candy, brownies. How many of these things are good for you? Answer: none of the above.

But prunes (if you can't bear the word, think of them as dried plums) provide the sweetness and chewiness you crave without the accompanying guilt, because they're loaded with fiber and nutrients.

One prune contains only around 25 calories. (You can't say that for a brownie, can you?) Prunes are a good source of vitamin A, potassium, and iron. They are an excellent source of both soluble and insoluble fiber. One serving (about 2 ounces dried) provides roughly one-third of the suggested daily fiber intake.

In fact, prunes contain four of the five types of dietary fiber, each of which performs a different task in maintaining your body's health. Prunes are one of the few foods that offer such a wide variety of fiber benefits.

And they are easy to add to all sorts of dishes: chop and add to breakfast cereal (hot or cold), baked goods, fruit salads, yogurt, poultry stuffing. Prunes are the perfect accompaniment to many pork dishes — or eat them out of hand for a quick, nutritious snack.

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

To plump dried prunes, place contents of one 16-ounce package in a 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole. Add 1½ cups of water, cover, and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) setting for six minutes. Stir and microwave on LOW (30 percent power) setting four to six minutes longer, or until fruit is plump and tender.

MICROWAVE STEWED PRUNES

- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 2 cups water

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Preparation time: 5 minutes.
Cooking time: 7 to 11 minutes.
Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Combine all ingredients in 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover and microwave 7 to 11 minutes, stirring every 4 minutes, until prunes are tender. Serve warm or chilled.

Measure milk into 4-cup glass measure. Microwave on MEDIUM-HIGH setting 5 to 7 minutes, or until hot (do not boil). Combine all remaining ingredients in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole; stir to mix. Gradually stir in hot milk.

Cover and microwave on LOW setting 12 to 15 minutes, rotating ¼ turn every 5 minutes, until set. Let stand, uncovered, about 5 minutes before serving. Serve warm or chilled.

SWEET POTATOES PLUS

- 1 (23-ounce) can sweet potatoes, drained
- ½ cup chopped pitted prunes
- ½ cup crushed canned pineapple, undrained
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash salt
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Preparation time: 5 to 10 minutes.

Spring turkey talk

What is tasty, quick-cooking, inexpensive and lower in fat than even boneless chicken breast?

Yes, turkey cutlets!

Now marketed in convenient 1-pound packages, the cutlets are distributed nationwide. We buy a package just about every week and are always looking for new ways to cook this delicious meat that is fast becoming as popular as chicken.

Its flavor is a little more assertive and distinctive than chicken, yet, because its fat content is lower, the turkey cutlets can be dry if you're not careful.

Thus, in this tasty Ginger Turkey and Asparagus Stir-Fry, we specify enough liquid to ensure a generous amount of sauce to coat the gingery/garlicky meat and vegetables and to moisten the rice or noodles underneath. This stir-fry can stand on its own as a complete meal, with maybe a refreshing bowl of orange sherbet to finish.

Turkey Piccata, inspired by the classic Italian veal dish, is simplicity itself. The turkey cutlets are pounded flat to become "scallopine," quickly sautéed in olive oil and the pan is deglazed with white wine and lemon juice to make a delicious sauce. Serve with pasta tossed with minced scallions and Parmesan and some steamed broccoli or green beans.

TIPS

• Turkey cutlets can be substituted in almost every recipe calling for boneless chicken breast cutlets. Occasionally you may need to add a little additional fat or liquid to compensate for the turkey's lower fat content.

• If you don't have a meat mallet to pound the turkey, use the bottom of a heavy pot or saucepan.

• For the stir-fry, use either a wok or a large skillet. Just make sure it's hot before you put in the meat or it won't brown nicely.

GINGER TURKEY AND ASPARAGUS STIR-FRY

Sauce:

- 1½ cups chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon red pepper flakes

Turkey and Vegetables:

- 1 pound boneless turkey cutlets
- 12 ounces slender asparagus
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 teaspoons minced ginger
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ cup thinly sliced scallions, including green tops

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 25 minutes.

Combine ingredients for sauce in measuring cup or small bowl and stir well. Set aside.

Cut turkey into strips about ¼-inch wide and dry thoroughly on paper towels. Snap tough ends off asparagus. Cut asparagus on extreme diagonal, making pieces about 1 inch long.

Heat oil in large skillet or wok. When oil is hot, add turkey and cook over high heat, stirring for about 2 minutes. Add asparagus and continue to cook, stirring for 1 to 2 minutes.

Reduce heat to medium. Add ginger and garlic and cook for 1 minute. Stir sauce and pour into pan. Simmer, stirring frequently, for 2 more minutes, until sauce is clear and thickened and asparagus is crisp-tender. Stir in sliced scallions and serve over plain rice or noodles.

TURKEY PICCATA

- 1 pound boneless turkey cutlets
- ½ cup flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- 4 tablespoons olive oil
- ¾ cup dry white wine
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon lemon zest
- 4 thin slices lemon
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 25 minutes.

Place cutlets on work surface, cover with sheet of plastic wrap and pound with mallet or bottom of heavy saucepan to flatten. Combine flour, salt and pepper on plate. Dredge turkey in seasoned flour, shaking off excess.

Heat half of oil in large skillet. (You probably will need to cook meat in 2 batches; use remaining oil for second batch). When oil is hot, sauté turkey over medium-high heat, cooking about 2 minutes on first side and 1 minute on second side. Remove to warm platter.

Add wine and lemon juice to drippings in skillet, bring to boil and simmer, stirring for about 2 minutes until sauce is slightly reduced and thickened. Stir in lemon zest. Add lemon slices and heat through.

Pour sauce over turkey, garnishing each serving with 1 lemon slice, sprinkle with parsley and serve.

Coffee-cake break is good to last bite

When Kathy Wozniak goes to a party, the hostess usually gets treated with a creation from her kitchen. More often than not, the treat is a coffee cake.

Coffee cakes are like dumplings and warm chocolate chip cookies — foods that remind you of family and friends and Mom's homey cooking.

"Everyone likes something homemade," says Wozniak, who used to run her own business, Kitchen Creations. "Coffee cakes aren't real difficult to make. Especially those without yeast that are like a quick bread. But they look like something you spent hours on."

She makes a point of taking them to parties she attends and giving to her neighbors for holiday gifts. "It's a nice hostess gift."

If guests are coming to her home, she waits to make the coffee cake until last, so the kitchen smells good.

"Coffee cakes can be a real light touch, as opposed to heavy sweets or cakes," says Wozniak. "I especially like to include fruit in the recipe, and plenty of it."

She says most people like fruit and a crispy topping on their coffee cakes. A combination sugar-cinnamon topping is much more popular than the traditional powdered-sugar glaze. "And you don't overbake coffee cakes or they'll dry out, like anything else."

Coffee cakes have become more than a brunch offering, expanding to a dessert after the movies with a cup of aromatic coffee or, if made in a muffin tin, a quick snack for the office.

And while Wozniak prefers the quick-bread type to save time, there is nothing like a fresh-baked yeast coffee cake for gift giving.

Wozniak's recipes include family hand-me-downs as well as new ones she found in her cookbook collection.

"I have a real large collection of cookbooks. I like to spend the evening in front of the fireplace reading a cookbook."

Techniques were picked up from watching her mother. "My mother is a good baker. I was always right there alongside."

Recipes from Wozniak and others follow.

WOZNIAK'S BLUEBERRY COFFEE CAKE

½ cup margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup blueberries, drained

Topping:
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped nuts

Yields 2 (8-inch) coffee cakes or 1 tube-shape coffee cake.

Cream together margarine and sugar. Add eggs. Stir in sour cream. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Add vanilla, then add blueberries.

Pour into two 8-inch round cake pans. Mix together topping ingredients and sprinkle over coffee cake batter.

Bake coffee cakes at 350 F for 25 to 30 minutes. The mixture also can be baked in a tube pan. If tube pan is used, increase baking time to 40 to 45 minutes at 350 F.

WOZNIAK'S ORANGE CHIFFON COFFEE CAKE

4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
½ cup margarine, softened
¼ cup orange juice
2 teaspoons lemon peel, grated
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ cup chopped almonds
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Yields 1 (9-inch) coffee cake. In small bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Set aside.

In large bowl, cream 1 cup sugar and margarine. Add orange juice, lemon peel and egg yolks. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed.

Gradually blend in flour and baking powder. By hand, fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into ungreased 9-inch square pan.

In small bowl, combine almonds, 2 tablespoons sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle over batter.

Bake at 350 F for 25 to 35 minutes.

CINNAMON TWIST COFFEE CAKE

5 to 6 cups unsifted flour
1½ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1 cup milk
½ cup water
¼ cup margarine
2 eggs (room temperature)
¼ cup dark seedless raisins
Melted margarine
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
Oil

Yields 2 (9-inch) coffee cakes.

In large bowl, thoroughly mix 1½ cup flour, ½ cup sugar, salt and undissolved yeast.

Combine milk, water and ¼ cup margarine in saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 to 130 F). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and ¼ cup flour.

Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in raisins and enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel. Let rest 20 minutes.

Divide dough in half. Roll out each half into 12-inch square. Brush lightly with melted margarine.

Combine remaining ¼ cup sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle center third of each square with 3 tablespoons of sugar mixture. Fold third of dough over center third. Sprinkle with 3 tablespoons of sugar mixture. Fold remaining third of dough over the 2 layers. Cut into strips about 1 inch wide. Take hold of each end of strip and twist tightly in opposite directions. Seal ends firmly. Arrange in 2 greased 9-inch square pans.

Cover loosely with waxed paper brushed with oil, then top with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours.

When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator. Uncover dough carefully. Let stand at room temperature 10 minutes.

Bake at 375 F for about 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

GLORIA SCHWARTZ'S BROWN SUGAR GALETTE

1 envelope active dry yeast
5 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup warm water, 105 to 115 F
2 cups or more bread flour
¼ cup unsalted butter, melted
1 large egg
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon salt

Topping:
6 tablespoons chilled unsalted butter, cut in six pieces
¼ cup walnuts
4½ teaspoons sugar
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons unbleached flour
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Yields 1 (14-inch) coffee cake.

In small bowl, sprinkle yeast and 2 tablespoons sugar over water. Stir to dissolve. Let stand.

In food processor, with metal or dough blade, add 2 cups flour, ¼ cup melted butter, egg, lemon peel, salt, remaining (3 tablespoons) sugar and yeast mixture. Process until dough clings to the side, about 10 seconds.

If dough sticks, add 1 teaspoon flour. If dough is too dry, add water, 1 teaspoon at a time.

Process until dough is smooth and elastic, about 40 seconds. Transfer to large plastic bag and seal, leaving space for dough to rise. Let rise 1½ hours.

For topping, insert metal blade and blend butter, walnuts, sugars, 2 teaspoons flour and cinnamon. Use on-off turns until nuts are chopped. Refrigerate topping until ready to use.

Position rack in oven so coffee cake will fit comfortably. Preheat oven to 425 F. Grease 14-inch pizza pan. Punch dough down and roll out to 14-inch circle. Transfer to pan and crimp edges. Sprinkle topping over. Bake 14 minutes.

This can be prepared a month ahead and frozen.

To reheat after frozen, place frozen coffee cake on baking sheet in cold oven. Set oven at 425 F and bake 13 minutes. Cut in wedges and serve warm.

Adapted from Bon Appetit.

2-HOUR NUT ROLL

6 to 7 cups unsifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup water
1 cup margarine
3 eggs (room temperature)

Yields 4 jelly-roll coffee cakes.

In large bowl, thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved yeast. Set aside.

Combine sour cream, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 to 130 F). Margarine does not need to melt.

Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixture, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead a few times to form a ball. Cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Divide dough into 4 equal pieces. Roll out each piece to a 14-by-12-inch rectangle. Spread each with ¼ of either of the nut fillings or cherry filling (recipes follow). Roll each up from long side as for jelly roll. Seal edges. Place on greased baking sheets, sealed edges down. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Just before baking coffee cake, cut diagonal slits about 1 inch apart in rolls, starting from top surface of roll and cutting about two-thirds of way through. Pull cut pieces out alternately right and left.

Bake at 350 F about 35 minutes or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. When cool, if desired, drizzle with powdered sugar frosting.

Homemade soup in minutes

When your kids come home from school and they reach for something to eat, here is a new idea for a healthy treat!

Somehow soup seems just perfect for a convenient after-school snack. Up until now, soups either needed to be homemade in advance or warmed from a can. Well, not anymore. Homemade soup is as easy to make as nachos. Now your kids can prepare themselves a cup of homemade soup in just minutes in the microwave. Mug o' soups!

These three soups are incredibly easy to make. The ingredients are already in your kitchen. By simply keeping the recipe handy for your kids to see, they can chop the vegetables and add the broths for a quick and satisfying snack.

Barbecued vegetables please the palate

When the grill comes out of hibernation and gets its annual spring cleaning, the scent memories of charcoal and mesquite beckon us to light the fire once again.

Although often overlooked in this context, the vegetable kingdom provides enticing barbecuing options for vegetarians and non-vegetarians alike.

Until recent years, few people actually considered grilling vegetables — with the possible exception of roasting potatoes in aluminum foil or corn in its husk, which everyone learned about during campfires as a Boy Scout or Girl Scout.

These days, according to Phillip Schulz, author of "Cooking with Fire and Smoke" (Simon & Schuster, $17.95), "All manner of arresting vegetaria are being skewered or foil-wrapped and cooked over hot coals or lava rock with exceedingly palate-pleasing results."

Here are some general suggestions for would-be vegetable barbecue chefs, followed by specific ideas for individual vegetables and a few of Schulz's most fetching vegetarian recipes:

• Do not peel vegetables. Lightly oil their skins to keep them tender.

• Vegetables may be cooked either in a covered or an open grill. As a general rule, longer-cooking vegetables should be cooked with the hood down and vents open.

• Always oil the grid before you begin, and cook vegetables 4 to 6 inches above medium-hot charcoal briquets, throwing pre-soaked wood chips over the coals if desired. Turn periodically to ensure even cooking.

• Start vegetables over the hottest part of the grill to sear the skin. Then move them to the sides of the grill until the insides are sufficiently cooked.

• For delicate vegetables, set equal-size slices in a wire basket to simplify turning. Place sprigs of fresh herbs on top of vegetables for additional flavor.

• Moisten foil-wrapped vegetables with olive oil, vegetable stock or citrus juice for flavor enhancement.

• Roast vegetables with tough skins (especially yams, yellow onions, potatoes and unhusked corn) directly on hot charcoal for a strongly smoky result.

• To shorten grilling time of root vegetables, such as potatoes or turnips, parboil or precook them a few minutes in the microwave prior to grilling.

CORN

Before grilling, pull back the husks and remove the silks. Tie back the husks with kitchen string and soak the ears in ice water for 10 minutes to ensure moist steaming over the grill. Before setting over briquets, return husks to original position and tie in place with a piece of husk.

ONIONS

All types of onions can be successfully grilled, but Vidalia and red Spanish onions are especially nice. Quarter large onions and cook small onions whole; they're easiest to handle if you thread them on a skewer. Rub scallions with oil and set directly on the grill, turning frequently for a special treat.

EGGPLANT

Brush each slice with olive oil and grill in a basket. For a wonderfully smoky baba ghanoush (Middle Eastern eggplant puree), grill the eggplant whole until the skin is blackened. Remove skin and proceed with your favorite recipe.

SQUASH

Grill small zucchini whole and larger ones cut in chunks and skewered. Rub first with oil and a sliced clove of garlic. Small pat-tyan squash can be grilled whole; larger ones may be halved and grilled flesh-side down.

Here are some recipes adapted from "Cooking with Fire and Smoke."

Okra is not everyone's favorite vegetable because it has a tendency to become viscous during long periods of cooking. Not so on the grill. Each tender morsel is as crunchy and flavorful as a french-fried potato.

SKEWERED OKRA

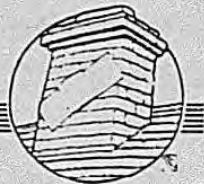

½ pound medium-size okra, tops lightly trimmed
1 large clove garlic, roughly chopped
1 medium tomato, seeded
1 teaspoon chopped fresh basil
¼ cup vegetable oil
Pinch of salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Yields 4 servings.

Place okra in single layer in shallow glass or ceramic dish. Combine remaining ingredients in container of food processor or blender. Process until smooth. Pour over okra. Let stand, covered, 1 hour.

Arrange okra on skewers and grill over high heat, basting frequently with any remaining tomato mixture, until golden brown, 3 to 4 minutes per side.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

In fixing water spots, a little dab will do ya

Q. A leaf from my jade plant dropped onto my piano and "leaked," leaving a mark on the wood finish.

How can I remove the spot? — J.D.

A. If the piano surface is a varnish finish, I suggest that you try spot removal with denatured or rubbing alcohol.

Moisten a small wad of cotton with the alcohol and dab the stain until it disappears. Do not use too much alcohol and do not rub or you might disturb the varnish.

The water has penetrated the varnish and attacked the shellac undercoat, turning it white under the varnish. The alcohol also will penetrate the varnish and re-dissolve the shellac underneath, restoring its original transparency.

Some other methods of removing water spots on a varnish surface include rubbing the stained area with toothpaste then buffing, or using sewing machine oil with cigarette ashes. Either of these can be effective if the water has not penetrated the varnish surface. The methods suggested here are for varnished surfaces and are not suitable if your piano has a shellac finish.

Q. I have a real brass lamp, which would be expensive to replace. Over the years, it has darkened in places where the protective coating has worn off. It also has become pitted in places.

What suggestions do you have to restore this otherwise attractive lamp? — P.M.

A. First, it sounds like you need to remove the remaining protective lacquer coating with lacquer thinner. If the pits are just surface marks, polishing with a good brass polish may be all that's necessary to remove them.

If you can't remove the marks yourself, take the lamp to a brass specialty shop that does repairs, polishing, etc. If they can't polish away the marks, they can fill the pits, using a process that is rather expensive but that does make brass look like new again.

After the brass is filled and polished, have the shop give it a coat of lacquer that will help prevent the brass from pitting for some time. You can apply a new coat of lacquer yourself, but the professional finish is usually much better.

Q. Recently we had our flat, tar roof replaced. During the process of hoisting buckets of hot tar to the roof, drops of tar fell on the sidewalk and brick wall.

What is the best way to remove tar from brick and concrete surfaces? — W.O.

A. To soften the dried tar, use a poultice of naphtha and powdered whiting; and cover it with a piece of glass or metal to prevent fast evaporation. Aluminum foil also should be effective, and easier to work with on vertical surfaces.

After a couple of hours, scrape off the tar with a dull knife blade and wipe with more naphtha.

Be very careful when working with naphtha because it is flammable and can be a fire hazard. If indoors, the area should be well-ventilated.

Because concrete and brick are porous, you may have some brown staining remaining on the surface after the tar is removed.

If this is the case, try bleaching the area with a solution of 1 pound oxalic acid powder or thioglycolic acid mixed with a gallon of water.

Always add acid to water, never water to acid. Wear protective clothing, eye goggles and rubber gloves. Avoid splashing.

Mop this solution on the stained areas (don't reuse the mop for other projects.) After two to three hours, rinse with clear water, scrubbing at the same time with a stiff-bristle brush (do not use a metal brush.) Repeat with a second treatment if needed.

We welcome hints and advice from our readers, and are happy to pass them along so they can benefit others. On the topic of smoke removal, one reader writes:

In February, I read with interest your column on the removal of smoke damage. Our business is medical equipment repair and we have on several occasions had to clean up and repair equipment damaged in fire. Of the many substances that we have tried to remove smoke, we have found rubbing alcohol to be the most effective.

We simply use a soaked rag or paint brush to apply the alcohol and wipe the smoke stains right off. This was not mentioned in the column and we thought you might like to pass along this to your readers as a tried and successful solution to the problem.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Calling Met Life early policyholders

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has already found 37,000 senior citizens in Connecticut and has paid out more than $1 million to beneficiaries of people who bought their "Industrial" policies 25 years ago for as little as 5 cents per week.

The company is now engaged in a quest to locate 3 million additional policyholders or beneficiaries throughout the United States. Its program is called the Metropolitan Family Reunion and is concentrated on one state at a time — the next is Rhode Island — while publicizing its quest and inviting communication from throughout the nation.

"These policies were all issued before 1965 and since then many of the policyholders have moved and may have forgotten to notify us of the new addresses. Policyholders may have died but beneficiaries may never have filed a claim on the policy. We want to find them and let them know that they have more insurance protection than they realize," states Robert J. Crimmins, Met Life executive vice president.

People who bought the then low-cost Met Life policies — or their survivors — may contact the company regarding the current status of the policy. They should provide their name, policy number, date of birth and Social Security number. If the policy number is not available, policyholders or people believing themselves to be beneficiaries should indicate the address where they were living at the time the policy was issued, the year issued (if possible) and the agent's name, if known. All inquiries should be sent to: Larry Vranika, Metropolitan Family Reunion, Met Life, One Madison Ave., Area 10U, New York, NY 10010.

VA PLANS BENEFIT CHANGES

Changes in benefits through the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) currently are being developed for submission to the federal Office of Management and Budget and Congress later this year.

The first major changes in the VA programs are proposed to include: revising qualifications for service-connected disabilities to recognize only those related to the performance of military duties; continuing all present services and benefits to those receiving them; adjusting the dependent benefits package; removing the present disparity of payments to surviving spouses (presently ranging from $539 for an enlisted person to $1,381 for the survivor of a general or admiral); revising hospital care eligibility; expanding long-term care eligibility on a phased-in basis and expanding outpatient care eligibility.

The changes, according to Secretary of Veterans Affairs Edward J. Derwinski, "are not to scale back current benefits, but to identify those areas that, by any definition, are patently unfair. Our work is aimed at improving access to the health-care system and correcting numerous imbalances in eligibility criteria."

Before any changes are made in the VA programs, approval must be granted by both the OMB and Congress.

THE GRANDPARENT CONNECTION

Grandparents and grandchildren have a very special affinity in most cases, and a new study published by the Gerontological Society of America says that the bond and relationship are particularly strong when the grandchildren are in college.

Grandparents were identified as having a stabilizing and buffering influence in times of family dissolution and reformation when living in close proximity to at least one of the grandchildren.

QUEEN MARY SEEKS 1939 PASSENGERS

If you sailed the Queen Mary during its 1939 inaugural year you may have an unexpected bonus aboard the classic ocean liner now docked in Long Beach, Calif.

Ship's historian Bill Winberg is seeking memorabilia from 1939 passengers. "We know where to reach the celebrities who sailed the Queen that year, but not the other passengers."

The Queen Mary is now a visitor attraction, historical site and hotel, and this year is celebrating its inaugural year with special programs, broadcasts, recreation, additions to its museum and special events.

One of the 1939 passengers who responds will be awarded a trip to visit the ship again, as part of the year's celebration.

Adults 55-plus also have a special discount at the Queen Mary during this 1990 year at $13, while general admission is $17.50.

People who sailed the Queen Mary in 1939 should contact historian Bill Winberg, The Queen Mary, P.O. Box 8, Long Beach, CA 90801. Telephone number is (213) 435-3511.

Brochures and other information are available by writing the public relations department of the Queen Mary at the same address.

TRAVEL CHANGE FOR AARP

American Express will provide travel and tour services for the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and its membership starting in January 1991. The new program will allow members to book AARP tours through their travel agent or by using a toll-free telephone number.

SENIOR SPELLING BEES

Spelling bees are the new rage in senior centers near Washington, D.C. Twenty centers participated in local competitions, which led to the national senior spelling bee championships conducted by the National Council on the Aging at its annual conference.

Local contests drew from 15 to 30 senior competitors and large audiences to cheer them on. The concept is being studied for expansion nationally. You can start practicing by recalling whether the "i" comes before "e," and when.

The DINING GUIDE

In the Discovery Section of this Newspaper

FOR TEENS

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

What worries you?

Dr. Abraham: To listen to my parents (and some friends of theirs), you'd think they are the only ones who had problems as teen-agers, and that our lives are a bed of roses. They ought to try "walking in our shoes" sometime.

Sure, they had a Depression and a war. I've heard their stories till I'm sick of them. But our lives aren't so darned perfect either.

The pressure of so-called friends regarding drinking and drugs, the fear of AIDS, the nuclear issue, and a future that is totally uncertain — those are just a few of the main things on our minds.

When some of us act kind of silly and irresponsible, it may only be on the surface. We have a lot of serious thoughts that we sometimes share with other kids.

I've tried to explain all this to my folks, but don't get very far before they turn the clock back to their own teen years. I'm the youngest one in my family, so my parents are a lot older than I am. — Garv

Gary: As usual, there are two sides to every story. Your parents obviously carry the memories of some tough times that they feel necessary to share with you. Your burdens are real, too, and you have stated your case so well.

The teen years often carry a lot of questions, puzzles, problems and difficult decisions.

Keeping communications open within a family isn't easy, but it is certainly worth working on. I'm glad you haven't given up on it, Gary.

This is an important issue for many teens, so I hope others will let me know their feelings on it.

ANTIQUE OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

What do you know about this statue?

Q: What can you tell me about the porcelain statue in the attached photo? It is 11 1/4 inches tall and is marked "Amphora — Made in Czechoslovakia."

A: This statue is made by the Amphora Co. in Trnovany, Czechoslovakia, between 1918 and 1938.

A dealer would price it at $500 to $600.

Q: The attached mark is on the back of a 10-inch plate. It is decorated with red roses and has a blue border. The basic color is tan and the glaze is slightly crazed.

Can you tell me anything about its vintage and value?

PORCELAIN STATUE

...Made in Czechoslovakia between 1918 and 1938; worth $500 to $600

Can you tell me anything about its origin and value?

A: Anthony Shaw of Burslem, England, introduced this pattern in 1856.

Your teapot probably would sell for about $165 to $185.

Q: My china is marked "E.M.K. over C. Co." I have eight five-piece place settings with five serving pieces.

Do you know who made my china and if it has any value?

A: This mark was used by the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. in East Liverpool, Ohio, about 1905.

A set like this would sell for about $265 to $285 in good condition.

Q: Since I have one cookie jar, I have decided to start collecting them.

The one I have is Humpty Dumpty sitting on a brick wall. On the bottom is "Abingdon — USA."

Can you start me off with some information about this one?

A: Your cookie jar was made by the Abingdon Pottery in Abingdon, Ill., about 1940. A dealer would price this at about $100.

There are lots of cookie jars on the market for less than that. You should concentrate on ones that are marked by the maker.

A: This mark was used by Villeroy & Boch in Mettlach, Germany, in the mid-1800s.

The value in good condition would be about $75 to $85.

Q: Among my mother's things was a vividly colored 8-inch bowl decorated with dragons. On the bottom it is marked with a picture of a vase and "Wedgwood — Made in England."

Can you tell me anything about its age and value?

A: You apparently have a Wedgwood Dragon Luster bowl designed by Daisy Makeig-Jones in 1913. This design was popular for several years.

It probably would sell for $300 to $325.

Q: I have inherited a teapot that is signed "A. Shaw." I have been told that it is Tea Leaf Ironstone.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Should I have my dog spayed?

Q. I am trying to decide whether to have my dog spayed. It seems unnatural to submit a pet to these surgical procedures.

What are the advantages? Is it really necessary for the average household pet?

A. There are many advantages and few disadvantages to spaying or castrating household dogs and cats.

Spaying is the term used to describe the surgical procedure used to remove the ovaries and uterus of the bitch and queen, a very routine procedure that does not usually involve a great amount of risk or pain for the animal.

Castration is the name of the procedure used whenever the testicles are surgically removed from the male dog or tomcat. It is very routine and apparently causes the animal little discomfort.

The most common reason for spaying and castrating animals is to make them sterile. There are many benefits to these procedures besides stopping reproduction.

Another advantage to spaying female pets is that their male counterparts are not periodically attracted to the yard. Bitches and queens in heat attract males. This can become a very real nuisance.

Spaying bitches eliminates the chance of getting pyometra, a severe infection of the uterus, and reduces the chances of getting mammary gland tumors later in life.

Castration usually reduces the tendency for male dogs and tomcats to wander looking for females in heat.

Fights between tomcats are very common. These often result in bite wounds and subsequent formation of abscesses. Castrating tomcats before they mature reduces the chance of them developing the obnoxious habit of spraying urine to mark their territory.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

This week I went to see "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles," a new movie that is very popular with children. The movie is about four teenagers with special martial arts skills who happen to be large turtles. It sounds a little strange, but really the turtles are a lot like other people. They have good times and bad, and like to help other people.

I've heard that the turtles were popular with children long before the movie came out. Did you watch them on cartoons? Do you like them?

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Peggy Smith and Amanda Tardska.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By William M. Acosta

Are benefits paid to a prisoner?

Q: Does Social Security pay benefits to a person in jail? — T.S.R.

A: Social Security must be notified immediately if a beneficiary is imprisoned for committing a felony. Benefits will not be paid during the months of imprisonment, but family members eligible for benefits can continue to receive them.

Q: Was there a recent change in the Supplemental Security Income law that affects children of military personnel? — N.F.

A: Most people who get SSI and leave the United States for 30 days or more are no longer eligible for SSI.

However, as of April 1, 1990, a child may continue to get benefits while overseas if the child is a U.S. citizen and is living with a parent who is a member of the U.S. armed forces assigned to permanent duty outside the United States and was entitled to receive SSI benefits in the month before the parent reported for duty overseas.

Q: I need a few more Social Security work credits. Would part-time work for my son, who has his own business, count? — R.G.

A: Work done by a parent for a son or daughter in connection with the son's or daughter's business, is covered.

In 1990, you earn one credit for each $520 of your covered annual earnings, up to a maximum of four credits for the year.

Q: I am getting married in June. Is it necessary to report a change of name to Social Security? — E.J.

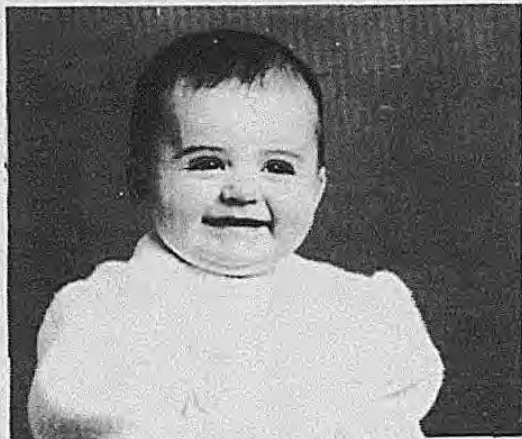

A: Yes. Unless the new name is reported to Social Security as soon as possible, your earnings may not be posted properly to your Social Security record.

To change a name, a person must complete a Form SS-5 and submit supporting evidence that identifies her under her old and new name, such as the marriage certificate.

Q: My late husband was in the Merchant Marine during World War II. Am I entitled to any benefits — even a flag? — M.J., Myrtle Beach, S.C.

A: Members of the Merchant Marine during World War II now qualify for many types of benefits through the federal Department of Veterans Affairs (formerly the Veterans Administration). Phone or visit the department, having ready information regarding your late husband's service in the Merchant Marine and a copy of the death certificate. The brave Merchant Mariners who sailed unarmed freighters and tankers during World War II have recently been recognized for many types of veterans' benefits. It is recognition long overdue.
