Burns Students Visit Washington

On April 26 and 27, Ms. Ricker and Mrs. Pasetship's classes from Burns Ave. School journeyed to Washington, D.C. The 42 visitors covered a lot of ground in their 2 day visit. The White house, The Smithsonian, Ford's Theater and Arlington Cemetery were some of the highlights of their trip. Everyone had a wonderful time.

Town Bd. To Address Commuter Parking Need

In response to residents' concerns regarding parking regulations in Bethpage, the Oyster Bay Town Board has scheduled a public hearing on July 10 to consider adopting certain amendments to the Town's Code of Ordinances according to Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

Along with the electrification of the Long Island Railroad's Ronkonkoma line, came an increase in the number of commuters using Bethpage lots. "Before this electrification, adequate commuter parking existed in Bethpage," Clark explained, "our studies indicate that, while there is still ample parking, there is a need to ensure that all commuters who wish to use these fields are guaranteed fair treatment in terms of cost and time restrictions. The proposed amendment is aimed at accomplishing this."

The Town Board will suggest corrective measures which include implementing two types of parking in said fields. Unrestricted, ten cents for two hours, parking will be available. These slots are intended for use by patrons of local shops and facilities. In addition, permit metered parking will be available to accommodate commuters. Permits will be available to Oyster Bay Town residents only.

Clark stressed that, "the parking situation will continue to be monitored, and when deemed necessary, additional modifications will be made."

The meeting will be held in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, beginning at 10 a.m.

Covenant Change Hearing July 24

Permission to remove and/or modify the restrictive covenants on a building in Plainview will be the subject of a Tuesday, July 24 public hearing by the Oyster Bay Town Board, according to Councilman Leonard B. Symons.

"The applicants, Bruce Mellish and Keith Mellish, are seeking the modification of restrictive covenants so that the property may be used for any permitted use in a business 'F' district, neighborhood business," Symons said.

Symons noted that the property is located on the southeast corner of Washington Avenue and Plainview Road.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

School Dist. Undecided After Defeat Of Budget

By Maureen Traxler

The residents of Hicksville overwhelmingly voted down the school district's proposed $53,084,000 budget for 1990-91 on May 23 by a tally of 3583 "nays" to 1558 "ayes." The board did not discuss the possibility of a revote and made no indications that they would move in that direction.

"The Hicksville community came to a sensible conclusion," commented trustee William Bennett. He added that the budget which represented a 20% increase over the present year was "much too high and unaffordable for them." Mr. Bennett called on the Board of Education to take a "serious look" at the district's finances and to find an "innovative" approach to the reduction of spending.

The budget issue of "The Bulletin Board" shows that if the voters fail to pass a school budget, expenditures which cannot be made under an austerity budget include: new equipment (except in science and technology), transportation below the two and three mile state limits, library books, most youth recreational activities, funding for the Gregory Museum, interscholastic athletics, senior citizen field trips, and all capital projects other than those dealing with health and safety.

Preliminary estimates show that by removing unallowed expenditures, the school district would arrive at a $51.1 million austerity budget. The adjusted projected tax rate would be reduced to $3.83 under an austerity budget.

According to Assistant Superintendent William Hall, under the new state budget which is in place, Hicksville will receive $169,500 in additional aid. This would further reduce the tax rate by approximately 10%.

Mr. Hall also indicates that the State will make available to school districts a loan from the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS). This will be done through revisions in the system's investment earnings assumptions, which will reduce the amount districts are required to donate to the retirement system. Districts may take advantage of the loan at an interest rate of 8% if they wish.

In Hicksville, the adjusted TRS savings of $1,200,403 would ultimately cost the district $1.8 million.

The board unanimously approved a successor agreement with the CSEA Teacher's Aides extending the agreement from July 1, 1985 to June 30, 1988 through June 30, 1990. The agreement includes a 9% salary increase effective July 1, 1988 and a 9% salary increase effective July 1, 1989. Also effective July 1, 1988, employees who have completed 12 years of service will receive a yearly longevity payment of $150.

The district's Teachers Aides work 3 hours a day, five days a week, and the salary range during the 1987-88 school year was $6.12 to $9.47. The present contract is scheduled to expire June 30, 1990, and the aides are expected to reconvene negotiations with the school district.

In other business, the board

*granted tenure to 26 employees, all but one from the teaching staff, *approved four candidates for I.E.P. (Individual Evaluation Program) Diplomas for the June 24 high school graduation *approved for 1990-91 the extension of the contract with Tom-For Transportation ($994,573) and a revised contract totalling $120,944 with We-Transport Revisions of the We-Transport contract include the transfer of 8 runs to Jaco Transportation totaling $294,350.

*approval of a contract with Shayne, Dachs, Stanisci, Corker & Sauer to act as special Insurance Counsel with costs not to exceed $20,000 without the express written approval of the Board.

The next regular meeting of the Board is Wednesday, June 20, at 8:15 p.m. in the conference room of the administration building.

Election results by polling district are as follows:

School	Yes	NO
Burns Avenue	180	390
East Street	313	852
Woodland Ac.	192	496
Lee Avenue	293	707
Fork Lane	182	498
Dutch Lane	184	245
Old Country Road	214	395
	1,558	3,583

Voting on the three seats for school board trustee, a three-year term, residents elected Carole R. Wolf to the seat held by Mark Cardella; Arlene Rudin to the seat held by Daniel MacBride; and reelected JoAnn Miltenberg. The term of office will begin July 1, 1990.

Right Around Home

By Maureen Traxler

The Hicksville community is home to such lovely inspirations as the spire of St. Ignatius Church, the "Golden Gates" at Trinity Lutheran Church, and the Memorial Fountain in the Triangle between Broadway and the beginning of Jerusalem Avenue.

But, we must add to these the awe-inspiring and thought-provoking murals of the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church on Field Avenue.

Two Greek immigrants, George Filippakis and his brother John, hand painted the church's Byzantine icons. The brilliant colors in the paintings span walls, altar and dome ceiling, and was eight months in the making. The entire project, completed late last summer, was financed by an anonymous donor.

The Greek church, which registers some 600+ members, has just begun groundbreaking on a new educational center, adjacent to the church. The center will house 10 classrooms, a library, meeting rooms, teachers' rooms, priest's office, administration office, one all purpose room large enough to accommodate approximately 300 people, a kitchen, lobby and utility room.

The church offers many services to a growing Greek community, including Greek school to preserve heritage; catechetical schools; GOYA, the Greek Orthodox Youth Organization; senior citizens groups; a PTA and ladies Philoptochos Society, providing educational support and social and philanthropic activities, a junior and senior choir and Hellenic Dancers.

It was a very, fine night, indeed, when people interested in exemplary education came together to honor the Hicksville Middle School for its acceptance in the New York State Education Department's "Challenge" program.

On May 23, the school district hosted a ceremony honoring faculty, staff, parents and students who participated in the rigorous selection process. The ceremony was followed by a reception, a display of students' work and entertainment by a student string ensemble.

Dr. David Payton, Supervisor of Middle Level Education, NYS Education Department expressed "a sincere thank you" for Hicksville's participation in the Challenge of Excellence in Middle Level Education. "The Challenge will 'help design middle level education for all schools in New York State,'" added Dr. Payton. "We still have four years to go before the Department of Education makes recommendations to the Board of Regents, and we ask for continued support."

The Challenge program will help determine whether changes are needed in regulations for students ages 10 to 14, in addition to evaluating student performance and disseminating information about successful programs.

Principal Gerald Klein noted that it took the combined effort of all segments of the educational community to achieve this distinction. He introduced a member of the faculty, staff, parent organization and student body who each from his or her own experience, shared a glimpse of middle school life.

Student Jennifer Sullivan described the middle school as "the time between the shelter of the elementary school and the independence of the high school," and parent Jan Mullee said that through the team teaching effort, the staff can help youngsters "deal with difficulties, and at the same time mold strengths."

Superintendent Catherine Fenton presented marble "bricks" as a symbol of "the very fine structure we have built" to the 25 members of the committee which spearheaded the Challenge activity.

Only three years in existence, the Hicksville Middle School has taken root in the community, and can proudly display its "Challenge" banner.

Nassau County District Attorney Denis Dillon warns homeowners to be on the alert for a family of flim-flam artists that come to Long Island every spring to bilk people out of money. The family, last known as the "Williamsons," number up to 2,000 nationally, and prey primarily on the elderly.

According to Dillon, "The Williamsons offer the homeowner a variety of services, such as termite inspection and treatment and roof coating, at low prices. However, their too good to be true bargains end up being very expensive for the homeowner."

The District Attorney said initial contact with the Williamsons may be through a well dressed and polite child. Their pitch may be "Our daddy has just done a driveway job (or roof or termite job) in the neighborhood and he has some material left over. He can give you a really good deal if you let him do the job right now." If you fall for the swindle, you will end up paying a price that is usually more than a reputable company would charge for the same work. In addition, the "top quality" materials that are promised are usually nothing but a cheap substitute.

Dillon said although they may not use the name Williamsons, there are ways to distinguish a Williamson family member from an honest businessman. For example, each year the Williamsons sell their cars, vans and trucks and purchase the newest models. The van or pick-up truck will be marked only with a magnetic sign. They will ask you to pay cash, or if you write a check, will insist that you go to the bank with them to cash it.

The District Attorney added, "The family members generally go out in groups to work an entire neighborhood. If you notice such activity in your area, contact your local police department. If you have any questions regarding a contractor, call the County Consumer Affairs Office. All contractors must be licensed in Nassau County."

Letters

To the Editor:

Although I voted "no" on the school budget, I derive no satisfaction from the fact that it was voted down.

We are now faced with a crisis in which nobody wins. In fact, we all lose. The cause of this unenviable situation is not the taxpayers of Hicksville who have shown more intelligence and wisdom than our School Board and School Administration combined. The final blame lies in the School Board. Ever since the month of January, the Board heard the taxpayers' negative reception to a budget of such inordinate magnitude. Yet, the Board didn't even take token measure to lower the budget to a more acceptable level. Watching the Board in action, or rather inaction, it was worse than business as usual. The Board didn't give any credibility to the good sense of the taxpayers. They didn't watch our lips.

Since the Board created this situation of unprecedented animosity, it cannot now remain passive and let the schools operate under an austerity budget. I submit that all is not yet lost, the Board can still redeem itself. There is still time for the Board and Administration to work in concert towards reducing the defeated budget by some $2.5 million and have another vote before the new school year. However, very little of this amount should be taken out of the about $2 million that cannot be spent under an austerity budget. It stands to reason that any budget contains items that can be postponed to a more appropriate time in the future without making the earth shake uncontrollably.

If our elected and appointed school officials would show some good sense and responsiveness to the wishes of the taxpayers by presenting for our approval a more ordinate budget, I'm confident that the taxpayers of Hicksville will respond in kind by showing their benevolence.

Although we all have our moments of anger and frustration, we do not cut the telephone wire when we receive an annoying phone call. Reason always wins!

Sincerely,
Jean Diradourian

To the Editor:

Thank you for your generous support towards my campaign for Trustee of the Hicksville UFSD. Although not elected, I was not defeated.

I raised issues including: 1) failure of administrators to implement practices and procedures to promote children's safety; 2) inappropriate union influences in the election process; and 3) budgetary mismanagement, referable to preserving buildings and jobs without advancing educationally sound goals.

Although the other six candidates ran in two blocks of three each, and outspent my campaign budget by more than five and ten times, I received 17.7% of the vote in a three candidate race.

Your friendship and personal responses from community members made it all worthwhile.

Very truly yours,
Charles R. Strugatz

Four Named To Hall Of Fame

Four former Hicksville High School graduates will be inducted into the Hicksville Hall of Fame on Sunday, June 24. Those elected - Maryknoll Sister Catherine "Kitty" Heilig, Dr. John P. Santamaría, John Barcellona, and Dr. Mark J. Shikowitz - have been chosen by present graduates to lead the senior class onto McCormack Field during commencement ceremonies.

Persons chosen for this honor are former Hicksville students who have made their marks with important achievements and contributions to their community and/or profession. Anyone may nominate a former student of the Hicksville schools for this honor. A committee made up of student representatives with guidance from an administrative advisor determine, from those nominated each year, whose life and career they value and hold in the highest esteem. The names of these individuals elected to the Hall of Fame are then added to the commemorative plaque hanging in the high school lobby in tribute to their accomplishments since leaving the district's schools.

It is the hope of the Board of Education that this ongoing project, now in its sixth year, will serve to inspire current and future students and to instill a sense of pride in our schools and in the community.

Sister Catherine "Kitty" Heilig Class of 1940

Several years after graduating from Hicksville High School, Sister Heilig entered the Maryknoll Missionary in upstate New York. She has since tallied over 40 years of arduous, often dangerous work with the people of largely underdeveloped areas of South America. The type of people she has served are the farmers who live in very small and isolated communities along the rivers, often unknown to each other and unknowing of resources and skills which could so improve their lives: literacy, nutrition, and health care. She also has faced the hardships and diseases rampant within the wet jungles. Known by her Spanish name in Bolivia, "Catica," Sister Heilig's name once appeared on a list of "agitators," those who taught and raised the level of consciousness among the poor. Sister once said of her work, "God's Reign of justice will come when we can share and learn with and from one another. The injustices which exist here will delay the coming but we are on the road which leads that way."

Dr. John P. Santamaría Class of 1973

Dr. John Santamaría is presently the Director of Pediatric Emergency Services at St. Joseph's Hospital in Tampa, Florida, as well as a Clinical Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at the University of South Florida, College of Medicine. He is a volunteer pediatric physician for the Judeo-Christian Free Clinic, a group which recently received a presidential award for community service. John also supports a charitable organization called "For Haiti With Love" and visits Haiti to provide medical care for the poor. He has adopted the expenses of a Haitian child's food program as well as contributing to the building of a village marketplace. Dr. Santamaría's resume and his energies are endless. He has written and/or presented numerous papers on his work. He is further involved in scuba diving and serves as the Associate Regional Coordinator for the National Divers Alert Network. He has become well-known in the area of hyperbaric medicine and has been recommended to patients with diving related illnesses. Other interests include his love of music and theatre which were nurtured while at Hicksville High School and have grown to a long list of credits in these areas.

John Barcellona Class of 1965

John Barcellona is best known for his flute performances as half of the famous Moyse Duo, combined with Louis Moyse, world renowned flutist, pianist, teacher and composer. Mr. Barcellona is also a member of the internationally acclaimed Westwood Wind Quintet (recordings on Columbia, Crystal, and WIM Records), and is Coordinator of Woodwinds and Flute Instructor at California State University, Long Beach. He has been principal flutist with Peter Nero and the Master Symphony and the Pacific Symphony, and has played with the New York City Ballet and many other orchestras. His studio credits include "St. Elsewhere" and recordings for "Disney." Mr. Barcellona is the Music Director of the Southern California Flute Orchestra and is a clinician and California Representative for the Muramatsu and E.F. Dean Flute Companies. He is the Music Director of the Southern California Flute Orchestra, which is a 12-member professional ensemble of bass, alto, and soprano flutes and piccolos. Furthermore, he was nominated to the national Academy of Arts and Science for a Grammy Award in 1989.

CRAFTY KITCHENS By Allison Ashton Design trends for the heart of the home

CRAFTY KITCHENS — New kitchens have a sophisticated country look with work islands, efficient lighting and built-in appliances. Shown here: Appliances by KitchenAid, Inc.

Think about how you use the kitchen in your house.

If the kids do their homework at the counter while Mom cooks dinner, if you tack the monthly bills up on the refrigerator and if it's the place for family powwows, your kitchen is a lot more than a place to churn out dinner.

It's the center of your home. And if it's cramped, poorly lit and badly laid out, your kitchen is not serving your family's needs.

More than ever, kitchen design reflects the room's importance.

On the design front, the sleek Eurostyle kitchens we loved a few years ago have taken on a homier, sophisticated country look.

Taking the best of features of Eurostyle (smart use of space and improved storage) and combining them with cozier design elements, kitchens look less like high-tech laboratories and more like a place where a family might actually want to spend time. The look is clean, but with a more human touch.

Look for flowing design — the cooking area opens out to dining nooks and sitting areas so the cook isn't shut away from family members or guests.

Cheerful colors reign, and so does plenty of bleached wood. The old-style glass-front cabinets people were tearing out a few years ago are in favor again. Dark wood cabinets and counters are being bleached and restained for a lighter look. For a more modern twist, designers are bleaching wood and staining it with a light wash of color, such as blue or purple.

You'll also find work spaces to accommodate more than one cook. Kitchen islands are still popular, and the coming trend is varying counter heights. For average-size women, the average 36-inch-high counter is ideal, but kids work better at 30 to 32 inches, and taller family members are more comfortable with counters that are 42 inches high.

Appliances keep a low profile. Functional stainless steel is a popular finish, but designers are also finishing dishwashers and refrigerators to blend in with the cabinetry.

Appliances will also be moved to more convenient spots. For example, one designer likes to put the dishwasher near the table, where plates can be scraped and loaded with a minimum of hassle.

Lighting is another element that used to be overlooked. Make the most of whatever natural light is available (you can even add a skylight or a garden window over the sink).

Then shed light on work areas. The idea is to install lighting to illuminate work areas, not the back of your head, which will cause you to work in your own shadow. Overhead lighting should be supplemented with task lighting that illuminates work stations.

Track lighting is an easy-to-install do-it-yourself remedy. Under-cabinet lighting illuminates countertops. Over-cabinet lighting and soffit lighting help improve light generally. And don't overlook sources such as an exhaust hood over the cooking range.

From kitsch to country, 10 that matter

If you're thinking of redecorating your home, or if you've just moved, chances are you're wondering what's "in" (and what's "out") in interior design.

Surprised? Well, consider this: Comfort has been given a back seat to design for some time — all in the interest of being “modern” or “contemporary.”

Radically modern has given way to "understandable modern" and "friendly contemporary."

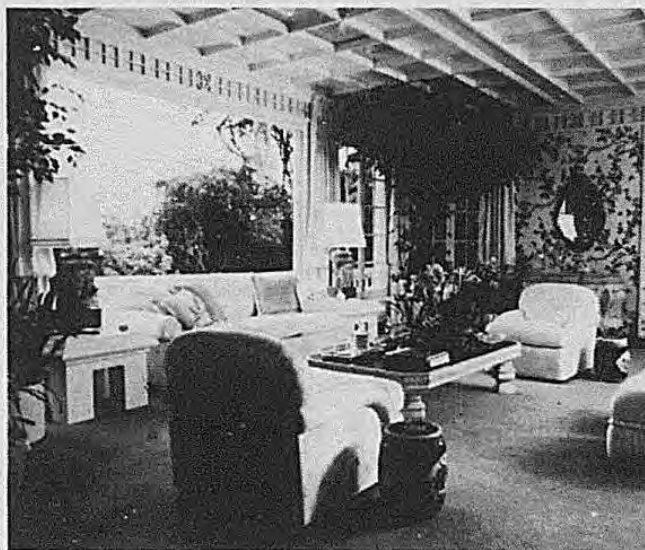

But keep in mind this recent observation by the CEO of a Toronto-based chain of furniture stores: "The trend is that there isn't a trend." In other words, as long as you make comfort a priority, you can't go wrong.

This is a broad category, encompassing everything from interesting clutter to austere Amish.

American country ranges from casual, with wicker furnishings combined with rich fabrics, to retro (classic looks from America's past).

European country is also known as "sophisticated country." According to Home magazine, this style is characterized by "Rustic finishes, as well as rustic interpretations of sophisticated designs of Chippendale, French and Italian styles along with washed painted finishes, faux and distressed details."

Fabrics and wall coverings tend toward chintz, with floral/botanical themes. Designs are subtle, restrained and elegant.

SOUTHWEST

Oh, it may not remain the rage. But remember, Southwest was the prevailing style in Arizona and New Mexico long before the big designers discovered it.

Southwest kitsch is the low-end, trendy side, characterized by desert colors and accessories: wildly painted hand-carved wood snakes

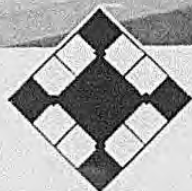

Classic Southwest is a reaction to the overkill of kitschy Southwest. It's a return to a more traditional, more primitive kind of furniture, combined with authentic Indian art — rugs, weavings and pottery.

South of the Border/Mexican is characterized by architectural details such as adobe or plaster walls, clay tile floors, arched Welcome to the 1990s, a decade in which you can sun-worship from your sofa and garden high and dry in a downpour. Or swing in the shade on a scorching afternoon.

Solariums, porches, gazebos and greenhouses all but erase the dividing line that separates what's inside and what's out. Through architecture, they allow homeowners to commune with Mother Nature, while steering clear of her stormier side.

Acquiring such an addition doesn't mean you have to buy a new home, take on a night job or suffer through months of painful renovation.

Commission from an architect the simplest porch, and leave the construction to a contractor. Or hammer and nail your way to the perfect solarium, gazebo or greenhouse with detailed plans, prefabricated materials or do-it-yourself kits — some so simple that no tools are required.

All are available through building supply emporiums or by mail order and in a variety of price ranges.

GAZEBOS

With their lacy latticework and fragile form, gazebos rank not only as the largest and most elaborate of garden ornaments, but also as the most functional. And they're almost as popular now as they were in Victorian times.

While its charm elevates it to focal-point status, the gazebo also provides shelter, a place for the homeowner to escape the April shower or harsh July sun. The gazebo can serve as a breakfast nook, napping spot, tearoom, library and lookout, all in the course of the same day.

Distinguished by up-curved eaves, latticework, turned finials or scrollwork brackets, these miniature buildings are still most famous for their shapes — either simply square or octagonal.

Most echo the Victorian era in styling, but there are countless designs available with the most modern featuring screens or shutters for protecting those within.

SOLARIUMS AND GREENHOUSES

The quintessential sun space — or solarium — combines the greenhouse effect with the charms of Grandmother's sun porch.

Sun spaces boast both beauty and brains. Besides adding valuable square footage and cutting down on a home's heating bill, a solarium's unique curves, lines and materials make it a reflection of its owners' personal style. Thus it's no surprise that these sunniest of home improvements have home improvers investing $400 million annually.

Many green thumbs, meanwhile, are moving their plants from house to greenhouse, be it a simple lean-to, easy-to-install window box or full-blown structure complete with built-in cooling and irrigation systems.

Plans abound in gardening magazines, how-to manuals, books or by mail order and offer the gardener hundreds of ways to create his personal, year-round Garden of Eden — right in his own back yard.

IT IS A MATTER OF TRUST.

Remember when everyone had an "uncle" in the jewelry business, someone they could trust.

Remember how he'd ask what you were looking for and you said, "Well, I'm not sure but...uh...I want to spend $300."

Remember how he always brought you the perfect selection to choose from? They were so perfect that you couldn't pick which one you wanted. And he never showed you something that cost $200 more than you wanted to spend just to tempt and frustrate you. Why? Because he was family. Because he respected you. And why did you always feel like you got a deal? Because you trusted him. Because you knew your purchase was the right one.

IT'S A QUESTION OF VALUE

SMALL-SPACE DESIGN How to make every inch count

By Nanette Wiser

Whether you rent or own, there is probably a corner in your home you can't quite figure out what to do with. It's tiny but appealing and could be a haven from the hustle-bustle you tussle with daily.

Perhaps, like many families, your home has to house special gear for an at-home business, an elderly live-in parent, children from multiple marriages or returning adult children.

No matter what the reason, small can be both beautiful and functional. A closet can become an office; a butler's pantry can be transformed into a teen-ager's music and study room with the help of space-saving ideas and furnishings.

Rose Bennett Gilbert, a syndicated design writer, offers some ideas for maximizing small spaces. Light colors, she reminds, always make a room look larger, as do mirrors that stretch the space.

If a room has height, take advantage of the high ceiling by lifting a bed off the floor with a ladder and building a desk and lounge area under the sleeping loft.

Keep furnishings simple, such as white wicker, or make every furnishing count as two. A louvered kitchen table hinged to a wall with wings that flip up can double as a work station and a dining area. A coffee table can be adjusted up or down and serve as a dining table by adding cushions, if necessary.

Modular furnishings for multiple use can be found in department stores, home supply centers, Pier One, Conran's, Scandia Interiors, The Door Store and others. Or hire a local craftsman to build the small-space saver of your dreams, such as a versatile room divider that separates a kitchen and living room and holds linens, dishes and art on one side, books, television, stereo and knickknacks on the other.

Gear your storage system to the age, possessions and abilities of the user and to the activities that will be conducted in that area. A 7-year-old's possessions are different from a 27-year-old's, with coordination, height and self-control all important considerations.

Gilbert describes one successful remodel, highlighting the details that make it work. A tiny bedroom becomes a teen's palace by moving a bed off the ground and illuminating it by a wall lamp. Add shallow bookshelves built into the back of the sleeping loft and storage shelves behind louvered doors to whisk away clutter.

Narrow navy-blue blinds on the window provide color and privacy while white-painted walls and light-colored furniture that is sleek and narrow make the room look larger. The finishing touch? Accents of red, white and blue on the bedding and a taupe-toned plush rug that stretches the floor space.

In another remodel of a tiny kitchen in 1,001 Home Ideas, a wall was removed and a skylight and dining/cooking island added to erase that cramped feeling. Cabinets were painted soft white, and matching ceramic tile enhanced the feeling of light, as did the coordinated kitchen appliances.

A mirrored backsplash is both eye-catching and provides a visual room-extender. Storage solutions are unique: An ironing board tucks away into a drawer, and space-saving sliding bins, trays and lazy Susans eliminate searching and stress.

Storage systems are the buzzword of the '90s, and closet organizers and specialty stores make this a pleasure to incorporate into your home design. According to Judith Miley of Clairson International and the Center for Home Organization and Interior Space Efficiency (CHOISE), "Today's remodelers are more than doubling a home's accessible storage capacity without necessarily increasing the square footage devoted to such utilitarian spaces as closets, pantries and utility rooms."

For example, by designing a bedroom closet's vertical space better, items once stored in bulky bedroom dressers or chests can be consolidated into coated wire mesh drawer systems right in the closet. The closet organizers are tiered for storing linens, blankets and boxed items and offer easy-open ventilated drawers for intimate wear, knits and other items.

Miley suggests that remodelers use vertical spaces as storage spaces. For example, you can attach shoe organizers to the back of closet doors or tier racks of hooks on the back of children's room doors.

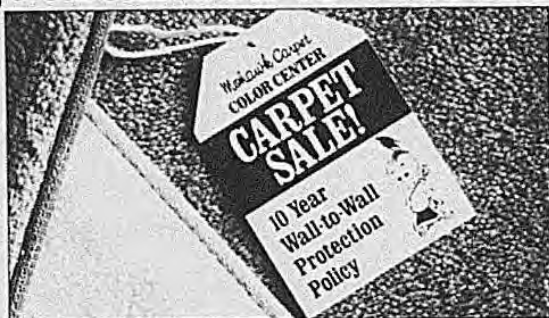

In homes with high ceilings, position minilofts of extra shelving about 18 inches from the ceiling for seasonal items that can be reached by a step stool. Look around the house for other vertical spaces that can be converted into storage, such as under-stairwell areas (for bookcases) or hanging pot racks over kitchen islands to free up storage space.

Bathrooms are expected to accommodate more than one person and activity at a time. The bathroom frequently features fitness equipment, a dozen skin and hair-care appliances, double sinks, magazine racks and display shelves.

Some ideas? Run wall-to-wall shelving at about 6 feet height around the perimeter of a small bathroom for decorative, functional linen storage. (Then you can install a compact, stackable washer/dryer in the former linen closet.)

Today's bath planners are using kitchen storage techniques in this room as well, especially in the casing around the toilet. Why not raise a replacement tub on a platform, adding storage drawers in the step of the platform?

Hicksville Historical Society Organizes

The organizational meeting of the newly formed Hicksville Historical Society on May 22 saw the election of its first president, Mrs. Valerie Pakaluk. The Hicksville native was chosen unanimously to take the helm of the new historical society.

Serving as vice-president will be Richard Evers, historian for the Gregory Museum and Hicksville Public Library, who received the first presidential nomination, but "declined the honor in view of heavy current writing commitments."

Other officers elected included such well-known Hicksville community workers and residents as Mrs. Henry (Ruth) Schreiber elected as Treasurer, Mrs. William (Carolyn) Kelly as Recording Secretary, and Mrs. Maureen Traxler as Corresponding Secretary.

The membership dues for the Hicksville Historical Society were set at $10 per family or household, and the regular meetings will be held on the fourth Tuesday of each month. Special programs, it is understood, may be scheduled for other evenings. An effort was commenced to enroll the charter members in the society's committees. The May meeting will be the last meeting until the September gathering. In the interim months, the by-laws and charter committee will be meeting and membership dues will be gathered. Charter members are asked to make membership dues checks for $10 available to the Hicksville Historical Society and to mail the checks to 8 Midland Avenue, c/o Mrs. Pakaluk, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801.

Refreshments closed the congenial meeting and members also enjoyed a short slide lecture by Richard Evers dealing with the 1928 Siberian Archaeological Expedition of Hicksville's Judge-resident Charles Stoll, and Harold McCracken, the noted pictorial book editor. The well-known Hicksville Old Courthouse Town Justice of the Peace and lawyer was an outstanding sportsman, big-game hunter and groundwater authority who died in 1988, his centennial year.

Richard Evers, standing, chairing the organizational meeting of the newly forming Hicksville Historical Society, on May 22, in the Public Library. Mrs. Carolyn Kelly, the just elected Recording Secretary is taking the minutes.

News Briefs From HBA

May 11, at the Major Field, the Major Division's Redsox made its 2 wins in a row with a 6-4 victory over a tough Yankee team. Pitching and defense was at its best with the Redsox, Joe locco and the Yankees' Bobby Campbell each pitching a 1 hit ball game going into the 6th inning. The Redsox exploded for 5 runs in the 6th with Joe locco driving in two runs and Robby Rogers and Sean Sullivan getting key hits to drive in three more. The game wasn't over yet. The Yankees staged a rally in their half of the inning, scoring 3 runs and having the bases loaded with one out...Pitcher Chris Kerney then got down to business by striking out the last two batters to preserve the win.

On May 14, the Boys Farm's Twins and Blue Jays were at it head to head. Great pitching from John Fiorillo and Mark Parente's three shutout innings gave the Blue Jays a 10-5 victory over the Twins. Super hitting by John Fiorillo, a grand slam home run gave him 4 RBI's and Carl Johnson had 2 hits, with 2 RBI's. Also a RBI for Sean Glover and Andrew Hamlin, Michael Funk, and Anthony Cappabianca contributed to the win. Excellent fielding plays made by Ryan Golden, Michael Funk, John Fiorillo and Andrew Hamlin.

In the cool of the evening on May 18, the Rangers squared off against the Mariners. It was a well played game by both sides but the win went to the Rangers. The outfield was protected by Ryan Hildebrandt and John Harrigan, Amar Agha caught well for the whole game and the in field defense did well. There were 17 strikeouts between Adam Geslak and Howard Sham. However, the day was made by John Harrigan when his long single brought in two runs to almost guarantee the win for the Rangers. Strong hitting came from Sean Goldswaiter, Howard Sham, and Amar Agha hit a HR. At the end of the game the score was 9-6.

On May 19, the Girls Senior Division Manager L. Flash said that "the girls played one of the better games of the season." Liz Jurgensen played an excellent third base with Jennifer Sullivan pitching. Lynn Romano was at bat six times and hit safely six times. Charisse Maisonet was closing pitcher with a close score of 22-21. Team 3 was the winner. Thanks to B. Cunningham and his team for playing shorthanded.

Mrs. Heffernan's and Mr. Pisan's Fifth Grade classes performed a play on the "Body Systems" for the third, fourth and sixth grade classes. Each group represented a different body system. Their descriptions were put to music under the direction of Mrs. Haddock, Fork Lane's music teacher. Each student then quizzed the audience on a specific part within each system.

Local Man New Air Controller

Gregory Lopez

Gregory Charles Lopez recently completed the Federal Aviation Administration's 9-week Air Traffic Controller basic course at the FAA Academy here. Lopez agency's principal source of and his family are residents of Hicksville.

Before coming to the Mike Monroney Aeronautical Center in Oklahoma City, Lopez passed stringent written and physical examinations under civil service. Transportation, is the nation's regulatory agency for aviation. The FAA Academy is the technical training, with 300 resident courses.

The FAA is still seeking air traffic controller students. Those interested in becoming an air traffic controller should send a postcard to the FAA, Department AC, Box 26650, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73126. Candidates must not be over 30 years old.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

In the face of falling tax revenue do you think Pres. Bush is ready to refute his promise of no new taxes?

Variety Of Answers On Rise In Racism

There were a number of different ideas given by callers in response to this question last week: "Why does it appear that racism is on the rise?" Here are some of the answers:

AN EXCUSE

There is a pecking order in society just as there is in a barnyard. Everybody today looks down on everybody else. White people look down on black people. Black people are looked down upon by Puerto Ricans. Black people look down on Koreans. Everybody is looking down on somebody else while trying to be on the top of the heap. I don't know why society has gotten this way, all sensitive. They don't like ethnic jokes. Nobody can take a joke anymore. Everyone thinks someone is out to get them. The excuse that "I didn't get the job because I was black, yellow, Catholic or whatever" is a convenient idea to use for failure. And it is used quite often especially in New York. Nobody blames themselves. They blame what other people think about them. I think it is time for people to step back and look at themselves a little more and then they can appreciate other people. H.S.

WRONG PROBLEM

I have noticed lately that racism seems to be on the rise. It is that people want to blame the blacks for all their personal problems. It appears nowadays that families have broken apart, taxes are higher and people care less about values than they used to care about years ago. They don't care about religion or to visit the old people. The people hurt the most are the older people who remember when families were closer. It is very sad and to try to blame black people has nothing to do with the problem that exists. K.P.

NEVER GONE AWAY

While it appears that there is a rise in racism in this country in recent months, the truth is that racism has never gone away but was simply there all the time waiting for events to wake it up. In the north we have made believe that racism was only a southern matter. The fact is that it is more prevalent in the north because we have covered it over with bigotry and when it comes out in the open it is more ugly. N.G.

NOT ON RISE

I do not really think that racism is on the rise. What we have is the advancement of the blacks and it comes into economic collision with white interests. So when that happens frustration sets in and there are acts of violence. We can only deal with these matters in the harshest terms to get rid of them. B.H.

BLACK LEADERS

I do not know that there is more racism now than before. The fact is that Black leaders are doing their utmost to magnify any incidents that come up. After all, the boycott of the Korean grocers was really racism against people of the yellow race who seemed to be a target for the black leaders to make a mark. We have to believe that some of the black leaders are more interested in promoting their own images than in helping their people. This was apparent in the Tawana Brawley case in which a fake story was used to incite racism against white people including the law enforcement officers. I think we still do not have equality among the races but the recent incidents could and should have been avoided. N.H.

IN THE OPEN

There is no doubt that the shooting of Yousef Hawkins was racially inspired and the same could be said of the Howard Beach affair. This was not a reading of the feelings of white people but rather an unfortunate reaction of a few. The fact that justice is hitting on these racists and that very few white people are taking their part means that the bulk of white people do want harmony between races and want to see an end to the bigotry and feelings that have led to that violence. It appears that racism is on the rise because these things brought it out in the open and I think it will show the absolute insanity of racism and not lead to any increase. G.S.

CONTINUING PROBLEM

I have only the metropolitan area to go by but clearly the cases of race related violence are more predominant here as compared to other areas of the country. It seems to me that the "Question" answers itself. The news we read, see and listen to daily contains an ever-increasing volume of stories about occurrences which are sparked by racial differences and this is not just black vs. white but runs the gamut of nationalities of all colors and creeds. Even at the recent meeting at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, while intending to establish a base for improvement in racial harmony, seemed to me to highlight the problem in a way which perhaps accentuated the differences. Needless to say, statistical information showing an increasing ratio of black dropouts vs. white doesn't help especially in consideration of the opposite record in both attendance and performance by orientals. Actually, it seems to me that education is the nub of the problem but that will take time to correct with racism a continuing problem for some time to come aggravated by court cases and professional rabble-rousers who seem to be immune to correction by the authorities. I don't think that the increase in racism is merely a matter of appearance but a fact we have got to recognize on all fronts demanding increasing steps to ameliorate. And, probably chief among those fronts tied inextricably into racism is the accelerating crime rate inspired largely by drugs which keeps escalating providing its own cause and effect on the problem. P.G.S.

How My Wife (Almost) Became A Big Shot

By Daniel Lionel
"Dear Mrs. Lionel:

Quite frankly, not everyone qualifies for American Express Card membership, and rarer still are those who receive a second invitation to join," began a 2 page letter addressed to my wife and signed by Kenneth I. Chenault, President of American Express, no less! (She never received the first one.)

He went on to tell her that he believed her to be a person who would appreciate such a prestigious membership and that her application was pre-approved.

This was pretty heady stuff, considering that until this letter arrived my wife's fiduciary relationships had been generally restricted to paying her charge account bills at Fortunoff's and verifying the computer tapes at Waldbaum's checkout counter. Apparently, Mr. Chenault could see evidence of her fiscal capabilities that must have been dormant all these years.

Thus, the letter was designed to open up a whole new world to her with visions of her becoming a world traveller and a bon vivant. As an American Express Card holder she would receive instant recognition and virtually unquestioned credit at worldwide fine restaurants, stores, hotels and resorts. No longer would she have to check our bank balance before plumping for a new blouse at Stern's or a new lampshade at Bloomies.

When I arrived home and started to work on our pre-prandial martinis she casually passed the letter to me with the sort of glance I interpreted as "So there!"

"Just another piece of junk mail," I said.

"Didn't you notice," she said, "it was addressed specifically to me? It's not a circular but a personal letter." Of course I recognized the usual computer processed mailing piece but my wife, who seemed genuinely intrigued with the vista of instant riches and all it could imply, was not inclined to allow it to remain in the waste basket where I tossed it.

"You're not really going to sign up for that. Are you?" I asked, suddenly shaken by the thought that this could mean financial disaster and even a whole new relationship. "Why not?" she answered. "It's about time I had such financial independence and if American Express thinks I'm worthy of it without even filling out a long application, I should think you would too."

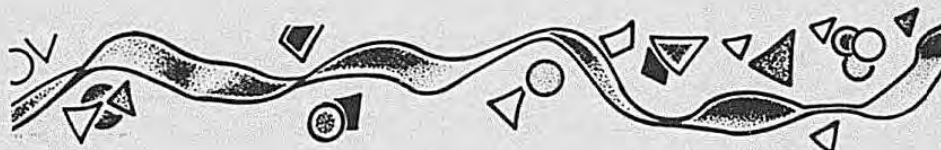

With more than a trace of panic which I couldn't quite control in my voice, I sputtered "But have you read the small type on the back of that thing you're supposed to sign?"

"Oh you mean about the late fees and 2 1/4% interest if I'm overdue a few payments?" Sure. I read all that small type and while I was reading it I thought to myself who does Mr. Chenault think he's kidding with all that flattery? Well, he's really not kidding me and I'm only kidding you!"

With that we hoisted our martinis.

SPECIALTIES

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about the LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite, we have to say that the specials are really "special."

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

Q. I have noticed that tips are said to range from 15 to 20 percent of a bill in a restaurant. When you calculate this, do you figure in the sales tax?

R.K. A. No you do not generally figure the sales tax in the tip but a great many people now are doubling the sales tax to quickly arrive at the amount of the tip. With the new increased fraction the tip will then closely approximate a 15 percent gratuity.

We enjoy dining out and when we find a truly outstanding restaurant we like to share it. Ristorante Giulia is just such a one. It is located at 570 Middleneck Road in Great Neck; the cuisine is Northern Italian/French.

There is an antipasto display, shortly after you enter, which we could not resist, with roasted red peppers, thinly sliced, grilled eggplant, plus fresh mozzarella cheese, salamis, olives. It was exceptionally good! Crisp rolls and breadsticks, with a glass of white wine started the salivating juices rolling.

Our next two choices were Saltimbocca Fiorentina, which consisted of veal with prosciutto, sage, white wine and spinach, our other choice was Filet Mignon, with a green pepper sauce.

We topped off this fine dinner with cafe espresso.

The attentive service plus the fine food, the welcome atmosphere made for a memorable evening. I heartily endorse Ristorante Giulia. MM

DINING GUIDE

READER RATINGS

Last week, my friend and I dined at Surfside Restaurant, on Hillside Avenue in New Hyde Park. We had been there once before and enjoyed it, as the seafood was truly great. Our choices were Trout, and Filet of Sole with Crabmeat stuffing. Dinner came with a baked potato and a great salad. White Chablis wine, then coffee completed this really fine dinner. If you enjoy fresh seafood, well prepared, I strongly recommend this restaurant. Surfside is not only attractive, with large windows on all sides, attentive service and ample parking, but we also found it offers a restful ambience. M.S.

LIKE HEAVEN

I have gone to the Casa Mia twice in the past three months. The first time was excellent. The second time was superb and if this is any indication of this fine Italian restaurant I can hardly wait for the next time we dine there. The atmosphere is intimate and warm. The service is attentive and courteous and the food is so exquisite you think you are dining in heaven. If you enjoy chicken, try their chicken Valdosta and don't leave before you taste their desserts. You'll love everything about this delightful dining experience. A.D.

KATHLEEN'S IS JUST DUCKY

My dictionary defines ducky as "delightful; darling; dear", and this is exactly how my wife and I found Garden City Park's Kathleen's Restaurant to be when we "ducked" in there for dinner on a recent weekday evening. We both ordered from the most reasonably priced blackboard specials. She savoured Veal Kathleen and regatoni with fresh pum tomato sauce, embellished with fresh onions and cerery, accompanied by a fresh garden salad with creamy Italian dressing, for $11.75.

I most thoroughly enjoyed fresh broccoli soup, fresh sole, stuffed with crab meat, and served with spinach and mushrooms for $10.95. We also enjoyed a carafe of Kathleen's most authentically Italian Rive Delgarda house wine, from Verona, Italy, vineyards, at $8.75.

We both appreciate the lovely floral arrangements of fresh pink and white carnations and baby's breath in white ceramic vases, that graced each of the restaurant's tables.

Kathleen's is also ducky, web-footed-wise, with an impressive array of duck decoys and other duck memorabilia. Even Kathleen's partners Willie Ryan and his father-in-law Frank Lauria wear duck decorated polo shirts. We risked "ruffling their feathers" to inquire about the reason for their most pervasive duck theme and they fully explained without making a single wisequack. Incidentally, we also found out the reason why Kathleen's is closed to the public on Sunday is because they cater to private parties on that day. J.C.

Beier's Legend Lives On

An ancient adage proclaims that "the more things change, the more things stay the same." My wife and I feel that this saying is especially apropos in regards to Floral Park's well known Beier's Restaurant and "Confectioner of Quality."

Although former long-time owners and operators Arthur and Ann Melosh are no longer on the local scene, new owners and operators Anthony Forgione and John Bach certainly seem to be faithfully following the Melosh's enviable reputation of serving most competitively priced breakfasts, luncheons and dinners. We both especially recommend their blackboard specials.

While dining there recently on two such blackboard specials, my wife raved over her succulent shrimp scampi, served with fresh broccoli and baked potato for $7.95, while I shared her enthusiasm over my $8.95 broiled salmon with equally fresh broccoli and rice. We enhanced our Beier's dining out experience with a most moderately priced $4.95 decanter of a delicious Soave Bolla white wine.

We have previously enjoyed several of Beier's German specialties, including pot roast, sauerbraten, and its famous $7.95 wurst platter, a splendid example of where wurst is actually best!

J.C.

Q. What kind of food should we serve for our housewarming? We have invited 100 people for a three-hour open house in the afternoon.

A. During the day, you might serve coffee, tea, fruit juices and sodas for beverages. (After 5 p.m., have an open bar or serve an alcoholic punch.) Sandwiches and munching food (bowls of popcorn, nuts, etc.), plus sweet items (cupcakes, cookies, brownies) appeal to all generations.

At one open house I attended, there was a pizza cook at work on the patio; at another, there was a hot dog and hamburger stand in the back yard. An ice cream cone server is always a great hit, indoors or out — although if you have a newly carpeted house, it is best to keep all dripping food outdoors!

Q. We know of at least 80 people who are coming to our housewarming on a Sunday afternoon, and many are bringing little kids. We don't have any children, and we're very worried about what to do with those children who are coming. I wish I could have put on the invitations "Don't bring your kids."

A. On Sundays people like to be with their children, so if you had put that phrase on your invitations, you might not have had many guests! Hire a couple of baby sitters to organize games for the little ones — even to read them stories. The older ones should have balls to play with in the back yard.

Q. We're having a christening party for our first baby. Someone said we should have a "christening cake." What's that?

A. Ask a specialty baker to make one for you — a white cake with white icing — perhaps with your baby's initials and birthdate contained in the icing design.

Traditionally, the mother and father cut the first piece and share it, as they did with their wedding cake. A newborn obviously can't share in the christening cake, but if your baby is several months old, you should give him or her a taste of the first piece! After all, it's his first party.

READER RATINGS

We have lived in this area for a long time, and The Executive Restaurant continues to be one of our favorites. Whether your choice is steak or seafood, you can be assured it will be top quality, and well prepared.

The cuisine is Continental. In particular their Blackboard Specials are diversified. My favorite at the Executive is their Bouillabaisse. I have had this dish at many fine restaurants, and can truly say for my taste it is the best. Just thinking about it makes me want to make a return visit soon. The welcome we receive when we dine there is warm and friendly. The Pavlovich father and son are a great team, we feel we are visiting old friends when we dine there. You will enjoy the caring service as well as the ample parking across the street. H.P.

FINE SEAFOOD

Our party of four had dinner at Estoril Granada, on Mineola Boulevard in Mineola. Seafood seems to be their specialty. We asked the waiter for suggestions and he thought we would enjoy Carne Porco Alentejana. This consists of pork and clams in a delicate brown sauce. "It was a happy choice. The other couple ordered the Caldeirada, which is the Portuguese version of Bouillabaisse. Our friends heartily endorsed their choice. If you are hankering for something unique and delicious, I think you will enjoy Estoril Granada. We enjoyed the ambiance of the restaurant and found the service excellent. G.W.

WONDERFUL CUISINE

Koenig's restaurant is one that defies time. It has been around for a long time but every time we go there we are well satisfied with the wonderful continental cuisine. Koenig's is a place of good decor and it is a very comfortable restaurant. The establishment caters to large parties but if you come there with just two people, as we did, you are made welcome. The menu includes beef, chicken and veal and there is a large assortment of fish dishes. The prime ribs we chose were great and we think Koenig's in Floral Park is No. 1. Y.T.

Microwave dairy recipes go light

Do you like dairy foods but don't like all the fat and calories? Then you will be delighted with a pamphlet being offered by the American Dairy Association that teams low-fat dairy products with fresh vegetables, fruit, pasta and seafood.

The pamphlet, called "Light 'N Easy," offers 11 recipes, nine of them microwavable. Recipes use low-fat or non-fat yogurt or milk and leaner cheeses like cottage cheese, Romano and Provolone. Each recipe includes a nutritional breakdown, including calories per serving, protein, carbohydrates, calcium and riboflavin content.

Microwave recipes range from Hot Pepper Cheese Dip to Yogurt Green Beans with Pears and Walnuts to Chutney Peanut Sauced Chicken. See below for three of the pamphlet's microwave recipes: Pasta and Vegetables with Pesto, Date Nut Muffins and Turkey Stuffed Green Pepper Halves.

For a copy of the pamphlet, write to "Light 'N Easy," American Dairy Association, P.O. Box 760, Rosemont, IL 60018. Include 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed business-size (No. 10) envelope.

NOTE: Some weeks back I offered a MICRO-TIP for warming baby's bottle. I suggested microwaving a full bottle (sans nipple) at HIGH (100 percent power) setting for 15 to 20 seconds before wrist-testing for temperature.

A. Binyon of Burbank, Calif., wrote in to say that an authority on baby care at a local hospital advised against microwaving baby's formula or breast milk. Microwaving, it appears, can destroy helpful enzymes in the milk. Instead, heat water in the microwave until hot, then submerge the bottle in the hot water until it is warm.

Thanks also to A. Binyon for this week's MICRO-TIP — it really works!

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

Here is a great tip for stamp collectors: To remove stamps from envelopes, place envelope in oven and place a very damp sponge over stamp. Microwave for 30 seconds and let stand one minute. Repeat. Remove sponge (careful — it will be hot!) and gently peel off stamp.

PASTA AND VEGETABLES WITH PESTO

- 4 ounces uncooked linguine
- 1 cup low-fat cottage cheese
- 1 cup packed fresh basil leaves (about ½ ounce)
- 2 tablespoons grated Romano cheese
- 1 tablespoon each olive oil and ground walnuts
- 2 cloves garlic
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup each shredded carrots, julienne red pepper strips, and sliced fresh mushrooms
- ¼ cup sliced green onion

Yields 4 servings. Calories per serving: 289.

Preparation time: 20 to 25 minutes.

Cooking time: 6 to 7 minutes.

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Cook pasta on stove according to package directions; rinse, drain, and keep warm. Meanwhile, place cottage cheese, basil, Romano cheese, olive oil, walnuts, garlic and pepper in work bowl of food processor or blender; cover. Process until smooth; set aside.

Place butter and vegetables in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole; cover. Microwave 6 to 7 minutes, or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Stir twice.

To serve, combine cooked vegetables and cottage cheese mixture. Toss with hot pasta. Serve immediately.

DATE NUT MUFFINS

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup skim milk
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- ½ cup diced dates
- ¼ cup chopped pecans
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- Cinnamon sugar

Yields 15 muffins. Calories per muffin: 147.

Preparation time: 15 to 20 minutes.

Cooking time: 2 to 3 minutes (per batch of 6 muffins).

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in large mixing bowl. Combine milk, butter, egg and vanilla in small mixing bowl. Stir liquid ingredients into dry ingredients just until moistened. Stir in dates, nuts and orange peel.

Line 6 microwave muffin cups with paper baking cups. Fill each with 2 rounded tablespoons batter. Sprinkle top of each with ¼ teaspoon cinnamon sugar. Microwave 2 to 3 minutes, or until tops are firm to touch. Rotate muffin cups twice during cooking.

Carefully remove muffins from microwave muffin cups. Cool on wire rack. Repeat with remaining batter. Serve warm or cold.

Spring greens soups

Greens have moved uptown! Long considered down-home, country fare, greens now are featured ingredients in very swanky menus in big cities.

About time, we say! Greens are good eating, wherever you happen to be.

Like every growing thing, greens have a season. And they are at their peak right now and into early summer while they are still young, tender and rather delicately flavored.

Later, while still eminently edible, greens will need longer cooking and will have a stronger, more bitter taste. Fortunately, some of the more common greens are available in the frozen food section, and they are quite good, having been picked and processed at their best.

In cooking, the word "greens" is somewhat like "lettuce" in that it is a generic term for a whole genre of produce. In fact, greens are a rather close cousin to lettuce, though far more assertive and, at least to our minds, with more personality.

We like to informally divide greens into two categories.

The first category includes collards, dandelions, mustard, turnip, beet and broccoli rab (the flowering tops of turnip). Unless very, very young and tender, these greens need to be cooked, albeit briefly, before eating.

The second group in our greens family includes spinach, escarole, kale, arugula and Swiss chard, which often are eaten raw as salad accents but also can be cooked.

TIPS

• Greens can be very sandy. Be sure to wash them thoroughly.

• Snap off and discard the tough stems from greens. If the leaves are especially big and mature, also remove and discard the tough ribs down the center of each leaf.

• Cooking time will vary greatly from a few seconds to 10 minutes, according to age and variety of the greens. They are done as soon as the leaf is tender and wilts, but overcooked greens are delicious, too.

NANA'S CHICKEN AND ESCAROLE SOUP

- 6 cups chicken broth
- 2 cups water
- 3 slim carrots, thinly sliced (about ¼ cups)
- ¼ cup acini pepe, or other small pasta
- ¼ teaspoon dried marjoram
- 8 ounces boneless chicken breast fillets, thinly sliced
- 3 ounces escarole, coarsely chopped (2 to 3 cups)
- 6 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- Coarsely ground black pepper
- Additional grated Parmesan cheese for passing at table

Yields 4 servings (about 9 cups). Preparation and cooking time: 25 minutes.

In 4-quart saucepan, bring broth and water to boil. Add carrots and cook 3 minutes. Add pasta and marjoram and cook 6 minutes. Add chicken and cook 3 minutes. Add escarole and cook 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir in cheese and liberal amounts black pepper, to taste.

Serve with additional Parmesan cheese passed at table.

COLLARD GREENS AND KIELBASA SOUP

- 12 ounces Kielbasa or other smoked sausage, sliced ¼-inch thick
- 1 cup beef broth
- 3 cups water
- 1 (16-ounce) can tomatoes in juice, undrained
- 1 (16-ounce) can white beans, undrained
- 1 teaspoon dried rosemary
- 6 ounces coarsely chopped collard greens (about 3 cups)
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce or to taste

Yields 4 servings (about 10 cups).

Preparation and cooking time: 25 minutes.

Lightly brown sausage in large skillet over medium heat, stirring often, for about 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, in 4-quart saucepan, bring broth, water, tomatoes, beans and rosemary to boil. Simmer 10 minutes.

Remove sausage from skillet with slotted spoon and add to saucepan. Simmer 5 minutes. Add collard greens and simmer 2 minutes. Stir in olive oil and Tabasco.

Seafood appetizers: Chip 'n' dip of '90s?

It's 5:30 on Friday and the first wave of pinstriped-suited lawyers is washing into San Diego's Fish Market.

Don sidles up to the oyster bar, ogles the Apalachicola beauties and says, "I'll take a dozen."

Jim is nestled into the sushi bar, "Two California rolls and an Anchor Steam please," his clarion cry as he trades commodity figures and the week's conquests with his pals.

In the sunset twilight at the Fish Market's teak bar, Nancy and Franny can't decide whether to split an order of pasta, creamy with Nova Scotia lox, or settle for the salmon ceviche. They're in the mood for "sole food," they giggle, and they've come to the right place.

All over the country, grazing on the ocean bounty has picked up where tapas has left off.

Seafood appetizers have become the cocktail franks of the '90s. Fifties matrons may have nibbled on canapés and Swedish meatballs, and '60s sycophants daintily served up tofu tasties at love-ins. But the monotonous vegetable dips and guacamole of yesteryear have slipped into dim culinary memory.

According to a recent Gallup Poll in American Health magazine, food and mood go hand in hand. Our mood is sensible, sybaritic dining, so the taste buds of the '90s demand organic ingredients, healthy choices and sophisticated flavors that mix nouvelle with au naturel.

What better candidate than seafood appetizers? Savvy party givers are polishing off hors d'oeuvres inspired by the current rage of restaurants specializing in La Mer's magical bounty.

Cookbook publishers know "let them eat fish" is the new battle cry. Two of the best compendiums are "The Encyclopedia of Fish" by A.J. McClane (Holt, Rinehart and Winston) and "The Great American Seafood Cookbook" by Susan Herrmann Loomis (Workman Publishing). Both advise on quality seafood and how to choose it, and offer a cornucopia of chowders and appetizers worthy of King Neptune.

Finding the freshest, tastiest fish for your pre-supper crowd is just as key as the recipes you choose. Make friends with your butcher, fishmonger or local fisherman, and you'll always have access to a tempting supply.

Loomis recommends you follow these rules when selecting seafood for your appetizers:

- Take a sniff and follow your nose. Any odor is an instant sign of decay.

- Use your eyes. Is the counter clean, the seafood cold and swaddled in ice?

- Do the counter people handle the fish gently and avoid damaging the texture? Dark red spots on fillets indicate a bruised fish.

- Avoid packages with liquid in them.

- If you rub your fingers on the bottom of the package, and they come away smelling fishy, move on.

Once you get your seafood home, put your purchase in a pan on the bottom shelf of the refrigerator where temperatures are coldest. Loomis recommends eating the seafood the day you bring it home, but top-quality seafood, properly wrapped, can last one to four days in the refrigerator.

Loomis suggests setting shellfish still in the shell in a pan and covering with "a damp towel to keep them cool and moist. Don't put them in fresh water or set them in ice, which will kill them. When in doubt, check the shells. They should be closed and, if open, they should close easily when tapped (clams and mussels)."

Now that you have all this seafood know-how tucked away, it's time to share your expertise with your solemates.

The fun is in the planning of the party. If it's a warm afternoon, why not invite 10 of your friends over for a festive and rousing triathlon of water polo in the pool, a "Go Fish" card tournament and seafood appetizers as you watch "A Fish Called Wanda"?

Decorate the tables in fish netting and nautical red, white and blue paper plates and napkins, and use small bowls with handy snacks of goldfish crackers on each table. Stick a vase of flowers in a swim fin and scatter fish lures on the table for an authentic touch. For a grand finale, tune up with the score from "The Little Mermaid."

Offer two hot and two cold appetizers for a glorious ocean feast.

BAKED OYSTERS WITH CILANTRO PESTO

- 1 bunch cilantro, fresh
- ¼ cup pine nuts, toasted
- 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, fresh grated
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 cloves fresh garlic
- ½ teaspoon black pepper, ground
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 1 large serrano chili, seeds removed and chopped
- 12 medium-size gulf oysters

Preheat oven to 375 F.

Place all ingredients except oysters in food processor, reserving only olive oil. Start mixing while slowly adding oil through top of processor. Continue mixing until smooth.

Open oysters and arrange them on half shell in baking dish.

Top each oyster with spoonful of pesto mixture and bake in preheated oven for 15 minutes.

Transfer oysters to individual platters and serve at once.

SHRIMP BUTTER

- 8 ounces bay shrimp
- ¼ cup butter, salted
- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 1 teaspoon dill weed
- 10 drops cayenne pepper sauce
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine all ingredients in food processor and refrigerate overnight to fully develop flavor.

Serve as spread on crusty French bread or toasted pita chips.

BAY SCALLOP CEVICHE

- 1 pound bay scallops
- ¼ cup red onion, diced
- ¼ bunch fresh cilantro, chopped
- ¼ cup black olives, chopped
- ¼ cup stuffed green olives, sliced
- ¼ cup green bell pepper, diced
- ¼ cup red bell pepper, diced
- 1 fresh jalapeno pepper, seeded and minced
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 7 limes, squeezed for juice

Rinse scallops and drain well.

Prepare vegetables and combine with scallops.

Add lemon juice and freshly squeezed lime juice. Juices must completely cover this scallop mixture; therefore, more lime may be necessary depending upon size of container used.

Allow mixture to marinate in refrigerator for at least 12 hours, and serve with tortilla chips. Ceviche may be stored for several days without deterioration of product.

FRESH CANADIAN SALMON CEVICHE

- 4 ounces fresh salmon with skin and bones removed
- Juice of 1 lime
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- Salsa:
- 2 jalapeno chilies, diced
- ¼ green chili, diced
- 2 large tomatoes, seeded and diced
- 1 tablespoon cilantro, diced
- ¼ cup yellow onion, diced
- Pinch salt
- Pinch white pepper
- Pinch cayenne pepper
- ¼ teaspoon garlic puree
- ¼ cup tomato juice
- ½ cup shredded or chopped iceberg lettuce
- 12 corn tortilla chips
- Fresh cilantro leaves for garnish
- Sliced avocado for garnish

Cut salmon into ½-inch squares. Be sure that all bones have been removed. Toss salmon in lemon and lime juice, cover and let marinate for 24 hours.

Dice chilies, tomatoes, cilantro and onion. Add seasonings and garlic. Add tomato juice as necessary for smooth consistency, blend. Let sit overnight.

Drain juice from fish, reserving 1 tablespoon to mix into salsa. Toss fish and salsa together.

Line round platter with tortilla chips. In center of plate make a bed with shredded lettuce. On top of bed place ceviche. Garnish with fresh cilantro leaves and sliced avocado.

MONTEREY CALAMARI FRITTE

- 5 ounces cleaned calamari
- 2 beaten eggs
- 2 cups panko chips (dried Japanese bread crumbs)
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 teaspoon garlic puree
- 1 tablespoon grated Romano cheese
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh parsley

Check calamari to make sure its cuttlebone, ink sack and beaks have been removed. Cut calamari into rings about ½-inch wide. Toss calamari in egg mixture, making sure all rings and tentacles are coated with egg. Drain excess egg and toss calamari in panko chips to coat evenly. Lay pieces on baking sheet and refrigerate for 30 minutes so panko will cling to calamari.

Using deep pot, heat 1 quart of vegetable oil to 375 F. Using wire skimmer, carefully sift off any excess panko from calamari. Carefully place calamari in hot oil. Be extremely careful as calamari tends to pop and splash hot oil. Turn calamari so that all sides are browned evenly — about 2 minutes.

Remove calamari with skimmer and place into saute pan with 1 tablespoon melted butter. Toss the calamari with melted butter, garlic, Romano cheese and parsley.

NEW ORLEANS STYLE BARBECUE SHRIMP

- 3 tablespoons butter, unsalted
- 8 to 10 medium or 6 large gulf shrimp
- 2 teaspoons BBQ Shrimp Spice (recipe follows)
- 3 ounces dark beer
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Place 1½ tablespoons of butter, shrimp and BBQ Shrimp Spice in hot saute pan. Toss or stir until shrimp is pink but not fully cooked.

Add beer and Worcestershire and reduce by half. Sauce should have consistency of heavy cream.

Remove from heat and swirl in remaining 1½ tablespoons of butter. Serve with crusty French bread for dipping in the sauce.

BBQ SHRIMP SPICE

- ¼ cup salt
- ¼ cup onion powder, granulated
- ¼ cup garlic powder, granulated
- ½ cup thyme, whole
- ½ cup basil
- ¼ cup oregano
- ¼ cup cayenne pepper
- ¼ cup white pepper
- ¼ cup black pepper
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon rosemary

Yields 4 cups.

Freshly chopped rosemary is best for this mixture as dried rosemary does not soften sufficiently in the cooking process. All other spices may be dried.

Mix all ingredients well.

Asparagus one of spring's great joys

For vegetable lovers, one of the greatest joys of spring is the appearance of tall, proud bunches of bright green asparagus, on sale for prices that don't break the bank.

Although I have always been crazy about asparagus — that is, ever since I discovered the kind that didn't "grow" in cans — I only recently discovered that the best is yet to come.

For, as British food authority Jane Grigson describes in her charming "Vegetable Book" (Penguin 1978), there is a sublime white asparagus grown in the Venetian Alps that puts our sprightly green variety to shame — especially when this fat white asparagus is eaten in a charming trattoria just moments after it is picked, with a light dressing of olive oil and wine vinegar.

Never mind. I am still happy to see skinny green asparagus at my greengrocer's around the corner. Even if it has traveled 3,000 miles and was picked the day before yesterday, it still tastes good to me.

However, that is not to say that one can grab just any bunch of asparagus and expect to have a superlative dining experience. It's best to select only those stalks that are bright green. The tips should have purple flecks and be tightly closed, and the stalks should be firm. Refrigerate the asparagus until you cook it, which should be as soon as possible.

Although almost everyone agrees that the best way to prepare asparagus is to quickly steam it, there is much controversy about whether to stand it up (which means you must invest in a special asparagus pot or tie up the bunch and use your stock pot), or lay it flat on its side. I admit that I have never cooked my asparagus standing up, so I cannot pretend to be the arbiter of this conflict. Suffice it to say that I have always steamed my asparagus lying down on a rack above boiling water.

The trick is to stop the cooking while the asparagus is still bright green and has a bit of crunch. A minute too long over the heat and it will turn an olive color, have a mushy texture and develop a nasty taste. I'd venture to say that anyone who dislikes asparagus is only familiar with overcooked or canned specimens.

For those of you who share my love of asparagus and for others who are willing to give it another try, here are some recipes to help you celebrate the season.

"To my tongue," said the late Bert Greene, "nothing anoints a cold spear of asparagus more felicitously than the combined flavors of lemon and mustard."

BERT GREENE'S

CLASSIC COLD ASPARAGUS VINAIGRETTE

- 2 pounds asparagus, trimmed and peeled
- 1 small shallot, minced
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed
- ½ teaspoon coarse (kosher) salt
- 1½ teaspoons Dijon mustard
- Juice of ½ lemon
- ½ to ¾ cup olive oil or vegetable oil (or a mixture)
- 2 teaspoons red wine vinegar
- ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1 hard-cooked egg, yolk and white minced separately
- ½ cup chopped fresh parsley

Yields 4 servings.

Steam asparagus and drain on paper towels. Arrange spears in shallow serving dish and sprinkle with minced shallot.

Place garlic and salt in small bowl and mash together with back of spoon until mixture forms paste. Stir in mustard and lemon juice. Whisk in oil, vinegar and pepper. Spoon dressing over asparagus.

Garnish asparagus with alternating bands of chopped egg white, parsley and egg yolk. Chill thoroughly before serving.

CHRISTOPHER STYLER'S ASPARAGUS WITH ORANGE AND PINE NUT DRESSING

- 1 orange
- 2 tablespoons pine nuts (pignolia)
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped Italian parsley leaves
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Kosher salt
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 1½ pounds asparagus (not pencil asparagus)

Yields 6 servings.

Halve orange and squeeze gently to extract 2 tablespoons juice.

Coarsely chop orange wedges, pine nuts and parsley in food processor fitted with metal blade, using quick pulses. Combine olive oil, reserved orange juice and lemon juice and add to ground orange mixture in steady stream while continuing to pulse. (Mixture should be finely chopped, but not smooth.) Transfer to bowl and beat in salt and pepper to taste.

When ready to serve, trim asparagus. Bend asparagus until they break. Discard tough lower part. If you like, peel bottom 1 or 2 inches of stalks.

Pour 1 inch of water into large skillet with tight-fitting lid. Add 2 tablespoons salt. Heat over high heat to boiling. Add asparagus. Cover skillet and cook asparagus until tender, but still bright green, about 4 to 5 minutes. Drain.

Shake or whisk sauce until thoroughly blended and pour over asparagus. Serve hot or at room temperature.

Versatility of cosmopolitan meatballs

Next to hamburgers, meatballs are America's favorite. We took Swedish meatballs into our hearts and stomachs, believe spaghetti and meatballs is one word and are ready for Middle Eastern Meatballs. You'll find recipes below.

Meatballs are attractive to us because they are all the things a cook requires of a signature dish — inexpensive, easy to fix and easy to eat. Moreover, they also are delicious for either family or entertaining. For a big party, use them as appetizers. For a Sunday night supper, meatballs are the main event.

Buy the leanest beef available or get top round, trim off the fat and grind it yourself in the food processor. You may also use ground turkey or chicken or, for the Middle Eastern Meatballs, ground lamb.

MEATBALLS IN MUSTARD SAUCE

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 slice whole-wheat bread torn in bite-size pieces
- ½ cup onion, finely chopped
- 1½ tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
- 3 cups cooked rice or noodles
- Mustard Sauce:
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup low-sodium beef or chicken broth
- 1 cup non-fat milk
- 2 tablespoons chives, or the tops of green onions, chopped
- 3 tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
- Freshly ground pepper

Yields 6 to 8 servings. Each serving has about 310 calories, 50 milligrams cholesterol, 14 grams fat and 175 milligrams sodium.

Preheat oven to 400 F. Mix beef, bread, onion and mustard. Make about 24 medium meatballs. Place them in baking pan and bake, uncovered, until light brown, about 25 to 30 minutes.

For sauce, mix flour and broth in saucepan and stir in milk, chives or green onions, mustard and pepper and cook, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens.

Stir meatballs into sauce, heat together for about 5 minutes and serve over hot rice or noodles.

SWEDISH MEATBALLS

- ¾ pound ground beef
- 1 onion, minced
- ½ cup dry bread crumbs soaked in 2 tablespoons milk
- Freshly ground black pepper
- Pinch ground nutmeg
- 1 tablespoon low-sodium margarine

- 1 tablespoon thyme, ground, or ¼ teaspoon dried
- 1 cup low-sodium beef broth
- ½ cup non-fat milk
- 1½ tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon low-fat sour cream
- 1 tablespoon non-fat yogurt

Yields to 4 to 6 servings. Each serving has about 300 calories, 70 milligrams cholesterol, 18 grams fat and 135 milligrams sodium.

Combine ground beef, onion, bread crumbs, pepper and nutmeg. Shape into medium-size meatballs. Put margarine in large skillet, heat briefly and add meatballs. Brown them, turning often. Drain fat from skillet and add thyme and beef broth. Cover and simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Remove meatballs with slotted spoon and keep warm.

Mix milk and flour and add to skillet. Cook over low heat until thickened. Blend in low-fat sour cream and yogurt. Now put meatballs back in skillet and heat in sauce.

MIDDLE EASTERN MEATBALLS

- ¾ cup currants
- ½ pound lean beef or lamb
- ½ cup minced jicama or water chestnuts
- 3 tablespoons minced chives or tops of green onions
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon allspice
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon mace
- Freshly ground pepper
- Sauce:
- ¾ cup non-fat yogurt
- ¾ cup fresh cilantro, minced, or 3 tablespoons dried mixed with 1 teaspoon olive oil
- Freshly ground pepper to taste

Yields 4 to 6 servings. Each serving has about 140 calories, 35 milligrams cholesterol, 5 grams fat and 50 milligrams sodium.

Plump currants by soaking them in hot water for about 30 minutes. Drain and place in bowl. Add beef or lamb, jicama or water chestnuts, green onions or chives, garlic, allspice, cinnamon, mace and pepper and mix well. Shape into medium-size meatballs. Place in single layer in baking dish and bake in preheated 400 F oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

For sauce: Combine yogurt, cilantro and pepper. Refrigerate. Serve meatballs with toothpicks for dipping into sauce or heat meatballs briefly in sauce — do not boil — and serve.

You can have whiter fiberglass tub — just don't scrub

Q. We have precast fiberglass tub and shower units in a home we recently purchased. They are dingy and dirty-looking.

A. As I have never had fiberglass installations before, I do not know how to clean them and restore a whiter, brighter look to the surface. Regular cleaners, such as 409, have not been very effective.

Can you recommend a method of cleaning for these units? — A.Y.

A. It is important to avoid abrasive cleaners such as scouring powders. These can cause permanent damage to the surface. This could be a problem you have inherited from the previous owners if the surface is already scratched.

Try cleaning the fiberglass with a water conditioner such as Calgon. Let this set as a paste and then flush away with fresh water.

A paste of baking soda left to set overnight and then flushed away with clear water is another effective cleaner.

Non-abrasive commercial bathroom cleaners that contain EDTA (ethylene diamine tetraacetate) are also effective fiberglass cleaners. One such product is Gel Gloss.

Marine stores carry a range of products for use on fiberglass boats to restore the finish. These can be used on your bathroom fixtures, too. Some of these products should be used with a buffer for best results in restoring the original luster and whiteness.

Q. Some clothing with a fishy smell was stored in one of our closets. The closet developed a musty, fishy odor. I have gotten rid of the clothing and aired the closet, but some of the fishy odor still remains.

Do you know of anything I can use to combat this odor, which seems to have penetrated the walls and perhaps the carpeting?

— C.H.

A. One product that is quite successful in treating odor problems in small areas is Odors Away. It is an industrial odor killer now available to the public. It comes in a concentrated form in half-ounce fluid containers.

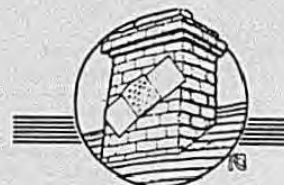

Check housewares stores or a good hardware store, or contact Odors Away, 550 W. 70th Place, Chicago, IL 60638.

Q. Our lovely built-in maple buffet was damaged when a chafing dish was dropped on the counter top. There are several dents on the surface. Other than these spots, the rest of the finish is not marred.

Is there any way to correct these spots without refinishing the entire surface? — K.G.

A. Often, minor dents can be removed with this treatment: First get a wet cloth and an iron. Set the iron on high and place the wet rag on the dent. Then briefly put the iron on top of the rag.

This lifts the dent right out of the wood. Be careful not to get too much moisture on the wood, and be sure the surface is thoroughly dried after the process. Moisture left on the wood surface will damage the finish.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. A.B. hjn1

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. Maintaining independence while partially sighted

When your eyesight is failing, do not assume that you'll be helpless in a nursing home. In this column we feature a reader's letter regarding independence for a mature adult with sight limitations.

Q: My mother, at 81, has fading eyesight and still wants to live as independently as possible. Shouldn't she be in a nursing home? — R.G., Las Vegas, Nev.

A: Put the question to your mother, and without any pressure. A nursing home should not be the first consideration or assumption, particularly when she may be able to function well on her own. Her independence should be your first and positive consideration, together with health and safety.

If she wants to remain in her own home, help make that possible. Here are some suggestions.

• Check with her eye specialist. Ask for a layperson's explanation of her eye condition and prognosis. Ask for specific suggestions on how she can live best with a failing-sight condition. Ask if there is medical intervention that may help the condition.

Learn about the specific abilities in her eyesight that may be failing. The problem may be in perception, occlusion, clouding, light or focus. When you know the specifics of what is failing you may better deal with it.

If you get positive and helpful answers, then team with your mother to make whatever lifestyle corrections may be necessary. If you get negative answers or an answer similar to: "She's old and you have to expect these things," ask for her file and seek the counsel of another specialist.

Once the research is done, consider, also, the following:

• Lighting: Examine your mother's home while squinting your eyes. Look for dark spots in rooms that could produce problems. Identify all lighting instruments and check them for their rated capacity, and increase the wattage of the bulbs or fluorescent tubes. A 50 percent gain in light levels may be the key to her independence and ability to see everything she needs.

• Walk the home: Be sure that electrical cords and stray furniture pieces are out of walking paths. Do not try to move all the furniture around to a new scheme — because your mother is familiar to the location of each. If you do find a piece of furniture to be repositioned, discuss it with your mother first, asking her recommendation for a new location.

• Colors and contrast: Use the squint test again and look at the light switches, electrical cords and appliances. If the wall is a dark color, a white face plate for light switches and power connections will make it easier for her to find them. Consider daubing electrical plugs in red — so she may identify and handle them easily.

• Entertainment: If she has a small television set, consider a "family gift" of a larger-screen set.

Write the Library of Congress for information on one of the very best services available to people with limited sight or who are blind. Books, magazines and other publications are available on cassette tape and phonograph disc audio-recordings free of charge. Write to: National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, The Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542.

• Participation: Your mother sounds determined to remain independent, and that is to her credit. Support and be involved in her independence. Set aside any personal fears or pity because these attitudes will get in the way of any positive support. There may be a need for additional help in the future — perhaps a companion or part-time housekeeper, if she is to remain in her own home. You should commend and assist her independence.

Art nouveau slag glass lamp is valuable

Q: Enclosed is a picture of a lamp. We would like your opinion on its value. It is 21 inches tall and 16 inches wide. The base seems to be bronze-finish pot metal.

We can't find any mark, but we know it to be at least 60 years old.

A: This is an art nouveau slag glass lamp made about 1910 to 1920.

The figural base contributes considerably to its value, which is $500 to $600, almost twice the value of a lamp with a similar shade, but an ordinary base.

Maastricht."

Do you have any information about an item like this?

A: Your cup and saucer were made by the Petrus Regout company about 1930.

They probably would sell for about $15 to $20.

Q: Please evaluate my hand-painted porcelain vase.

It is 7 inches tall and decorated with poppies and leaves above branches with leaves and berries. It is marked "RS&K".

A: Your vase was made by Reissner, Stellmacher and Kessel in the Turn-Teplitz area of Austria about 1900.

It probably would sell for about $125 to $135.

Q: I have a round Mickey Mouse Ingersoll wristwatch. The hands have yellow gloves and there are three pictures of Mickey Mouse on the second hand dial. It has a metal band decorated with little figures of Mickey.

Is this one of the valuable ones?

A: Your description matches the Mickey Mouse wristwatch made in the early 1930s. It lists for about $350.

I should warn you that I can't confirm the authenticity of this via the mail. You should have it authenticated by someone who can actually examine it.

Q: I have a 45-piece service for eight, plus sugar bowl, cream pitcher, covered vegetable bowl, platter and gravy boat. It is decorated with a floral design with green leaves. The enclosed mark is on the bottom.

Can you tell me when this was made and its value? I would also like to know who made it.

A: La Belle china was made by the Wheeling Pottery in Wheeling, W.Va.

Your set probably was made about 1900 and might sell today for about $200.

Q: I would appreciate any information you can provide about a hand-painted porcelain hair receiver.

It is decorated with pink flowers and green leaves. The mark on the bottom is "M.Z." over "Austria."

A: Your hair receiver was made by the Moritz Zdekauer in Al-trohlau, Austria, between 1900 and 1915.

It probably would sell for about $35 to $45.

Q: My cup and saucer with an Oriental-style pattern has a picture of a sphinx on the bottom and is imprinted "Petrus Regout,

What to consider in choosing a dog

Q: Can you give us some sound advice regarding which breed of dog would be best as a pet for our family?

A: We don't want to buy a dog just because of its appearance or current popularity.

A: Without knowing your family or lifestyle, it is impossible to make a sound recommendation regarding the breed of dog you should purchase as a pet.

The American Kennel Club recognizes six major groups of dogs: hound, terrier, working, sporting, non-sporting and toy breeds. The classification is based on the functions the dogs originally were bred to perform.

Most of the dogs classified as sporting breeds are bird dogs. These dogs tend to be extremely energetic and require a lot of exercise. Therefore, they are not suited as backyard or household pets.

Hounds evolved as hunting dogs. Because of the stamina required to hunt over long distances, many of these dogs are too energetic to be satisfactory family pets.

The working breeds were bred to aid their owners in herding and to aid in times of war. These dogs are generally very loyal and try to please their masters.

The toy breeds were developed to be companions for man. Because of their small size, they are ideal as house pets. Although many of these dogs bark a lot, their aggression is primarily for display only and confrontation is met with timidity.

The terriers are an energetic group of hunting dogs. Most terriers are independent and prefer one master. Terriers, generally, do not get along well with other dogs.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Last Monday was Memorial Day. Some people consider it the first day of summer, because the beaches open then. Other people are happy to get a long weekend. But there is a real meaning behind all the festivities.

Memorial Day is a day when Americans remember all the men and women who served in wars fighting for their country. Although you are not old enough to remember any wars, you can find out about them by asking your parents what it was like.

Someone once said, "He who doesn't remember the past is destined to repeat it." As the first generation in a long time to grow up during peaceful times, it is important for you to learn more about wars and those who fought them.

Your friend,

Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Carolyn Crescio and Virginia Sewell.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By William M. Acosta

Medicare medical insurance deductible

Q: I know about the deductible for Medicare hospital insurance, but does the Medicare medical insurance also have a deductible? — P.K.

A: Yes. In 1990 the annual deductible is $75.

Each year as soon as you meet the annual medical insurance deductible, medical insurance generally will pay 80 percent of the approved charges for covered services you receive during the rest of the year.

Medicare medical insurance (Part B) helps pay for doctors' services and a variety of other medical services and supplies that are not covered by the hospital insurance.

Q: I am currently receiving widow's benefits on my deceased husband's record and have been receiving them since my 60th birthday.

If I remarry would my benefits stop? — T.E.S.

A: Ordinarily a widow loses her Social Security rights when she remarries. But benefits can continue without any reduction in the amount to a widow who remarries after age 60.

If your new husband gets Social Security checks you can take a wife's benefit on his record if it would be larger than your widow's payment.

Q: I lost my Social Security card several years ago, but I had remembered the number.

Does it matter that I don't have a Social Security card? — V.L.

A: For your own protection and convenience, you should get a replacement.

If you try to get another job your employer will want to see your card. And there is always the possibility that you have not remembered your correct number.

To apply for a replacement you need only visit a Social Security office, taking along proof of your identity.

Q: I plan to file for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability benefits.

If I am found disabled and become entitled to benefits, do my wife and child also get benefits? — C.M.

A: SSI benefits are not paid on the basis of relationship.

To be eligible for SSI a person must be disabled or blind or age 65 or older, have limited resources and income, and meet certain requirements.

Disabled or blind children, as well as adults may be eligible. It makes no difference how young a disabled or blind person is.
