Mid Island Hospital Awards

Special Use Permit For Gas Station

A request for a special use permit in Hicksville will be the subject of a public hearing by the Oyster Bay Town Board on Tuesday, August 28, 1990, according to Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes.

"The applicants, Tartan Oil Corporation and Ingraham Bedell Corporation and Stewart Berger and Richard Berge, are seeking a special use permit, in an "F" Business District (Neighborhood District) to alter a gasoline service station," Hynes stated. "The property is located at South Oyster Bay Road and Woodbury Road in Hicksville."

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Oyster Avenue, Oyster Bay.

Open House At Nursery School

The Hicksville Nursery School is holding an Open House for Fall registration on Wednesday, July 11 from 10:30 a.m. - 12 noon for parents of 2, 2½, 3 and 4 year-olds in the school classrooms at W. Cherry Street and Nelson Avenue.

The Hicksville Nursery School is a non-profit, non-sectarian cooperative located in the back of the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1967, it has offered twenty-one years of quality education to hundreds of pre-school children as well as serving as field training center for students from S.U.N.Y. Farmingdale, Nassau Community College and Adelphi University.

The school seeks to offer the young child an environment in which he can grow emotionally, socially, intellectually and physically under the careful supervision of a fully trained staff. The program provides varied activities with an abundance of materials and opportunities for free creative expression under the guidance of skilled, N.Y. State Early childhood certified teachers. Art, media, woodworking, music and rhythmic movement, language arts, storytelling, dramatics, puzzles, doll corner, books and manipulative toys are all part of the daily program. A huge indoor playground permits daily large muscle activity even in the worst weather. A mid-session snack of milk or juice and crackers or fruits and vegetables is provided. Field trips are included to broaden the child's understanding of the world he lives in.

All parents who wish to, can share in the administration of the school. Monthly business meetings give parents the opportunity to make decisions on administrative needs. There are lectures, films, and "rap groups" to help parents learn more about parenting. Fundraising projects are most often social events helping young families meet other adults who are at the same stage in life.

We invite all parents of pre-school children to join us for a chance to play and learn together in our spacious well-equipped rooms. For further information call 931-3415, or 681-8246.

Second Half Taxes Due

Oyster Bay Town Receiver of Taxes, Gary F. Musiello, reminded residents this week that the second half of the 1990 General Tax Levy is due on July 1, 1990, and may be paid, without penalty, through August 10, 1990.

"By law, a taxpayer has a 40-day grace period from the date the tax is due during which payment may be made without penalty," Musiello explained. "After the 40 days, a 1% penalty is added for each month the tax remains unpaid, retroactive to July 1st."

Residents can pay in person at the Tax Office, Oyster Bay Town Hall West, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, or at Town Hall South, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa. They may also pay by mail. In addition, Oyster Bay Town Clerk Carl L. Mrcellino, said that the Town Clerk's Annex, Newbridge Road and Duffy Avenue, Hicksville, will be open to accept payments, by check only, from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on August 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10.

When paying the tax bill in person, residents are reminded to bring the entire tax bill with their payment. Payments being made by mail for the second half of the year should include Stub #2. Musiello urged residents who are mailing in their payment to do so at least 10 days before the August 10th deadline.

The Tax Office will be sending a computerized receipt, but Musiello advised residents to retain their cancelled check as additional proof of payment.

Board Approves, Denies Contingency Budget Items

By Maureen Traxler

The Hicksville School Board, in its first public meeting since the budget defeat of May 23 and its last public meeting before the start of the 1990-91 budget year, focused consideration on items to be included in a contingency budget. In the absence of any move to set a budget revote, the five trustees present deliberated the fate of summer programs and programs which are traditionally begun during the summer months.

The Board approved the Chapter I Program for remedial students in reading and math and the ESL (English as a Second Language) Program which provides foreign-speaking students with instruction in English during the summer months. Both these programs are government funded and would not incur any costs by the district.

The Board also permitted the use of playing fields. Although school is closed, community organizations have signed up for field use. The board felt that the fields would have to be maintained in any event.

The Fine Arts Department summer music program for its marching band was denied. For five years, the district has been providing a summer camp program either in the district or away at which the students receive direct instruction. Although the event is considered a curriculum requirement, Superintendent Fenton said that that requirement is at the board's discretion. Approximately 100 students are scheduled to participate this year.

This district has deposited $1,000 of the $15,000 tuition for the five-day program in Pennsylvania. The band parents were scheduled to provide transportation to and from camp and funding for the chaperones. In the event the program is cancelled, the district forfeits its deposit.

The Foreign Language Immersion Program scheduled to begin on July 2 was denied, since it is considered to be an enrichment extension for foreign language students. Estimated cost: between $150-200.

Also denied were summer administrative workshops. The all-day workshops at which district goals and how to implement them are discussed were held last year at a local establishment. Estimated cost: $500.

Certain items were tabled pending the seating of the new board in July. Those items included the Town of Oyster Bay Youth Activity Program for summer recreation, the Continuing Education (Adult Education) program which is basically self-supporting except for administrative and secretarial salaries, and Evening High School which is a continuation of the daytime program with employment preparation education. This evening program is mandated and receives state aid.

The board postponed a decision on acceptance of the State's proposal which would allow school districts to defer payments to the Teachers Retirement System. Assistant Superintendent William Hall recommended that the board approve full payment to the system and therefore not take advantage of the state's so-called borrowing gimmick.

Mr. Hall said that the borrowing plan would be "detrimental to the school district... cost $1.8 million in interest over 15 years, and would force the district to carry almost $300,000 as a liability on our books." The interest payment on the deferred yearly payment to the system will be deducted from the district's state aid for the next 15 years.

Mr. Hall said that a decision has to be reached by October 15, and he suggests the district come up with a plan to pay the 1990 payment on time.

The board approved, with changes, a bid of $253,200 for the replacement of oil tanks at the Administration Building, East Street, Willet Avenue, the middle and senior high schools. Question arose as to that part of the bid covering the middle school.

The bid specifications call for the middle school tanks to be installed inside the building. PTSA member Karel Rudis said that the parent/teacher/student unit has gone on record against the placement of the tanks in classroom space now occupied by the technology department. She read a letter sent to Facilities Director Tom Shaw which expressed the opinions of the PTSA and requested that the unit be notified as to the district's plans. Mrs. Rudis said, "To date, the PTSA had not received an answer to its April letter."

Assistant Superintendent Hall said that he would get back to the architect and winning bidder to assess necessary changes if the two ten-gallon tanks were housed above ground outside the building. The board approved the bid pending the outcome of these requests.

Senior Adult Club

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta, right, attended the Senior Adult Club of St. Ignatius Installation Luncheon and 20th Anniversary Celebration held at the Coral House in Baldwin. Joining the County Executive were: Tom Clark, Councilman, Town of Oyster Bay; Gertrude Soper, a Hicksville resident, honored as the Most Active Member.

Bus Service Kiwanis Topic

Miss Jane Cullick, Manager of Community and Governmental Relations for the Metropolitan Suburban Bus Authority (MSBA) was the guest speaker at the June 13 luncheon meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club.

In speaking to the Kiwanis Club members, Ms. Cullick mentioned the availability of the Nassau County Bus Map showing all of the different bus routes servicing Long Island Railroad stations, including a listing of Places of Interest served by the MSBA, as well as a variety of special information for bus passengers such as transfer points, etc. These maps along with time tables of all the "N" numbered routes are available by calling the MSBA Bus Information Center at 222-1000. She also mentioned that more new wheelchair lift-equipped buses are scheduled to be added to the fleet.

In photo, Ms. Cullick is shown with Kiwanis Treasurer-Elect Ed Draycott as she acknowledged the applause of the membership.

Open Letter to Your Readers:

I would like to express my most sincere appreciation to all who sent me flowers and greetings following my recent surgery. I heard from members of Hicksville Kiwanis, the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce, the Hicksville I.N.N. and innumerable friends and business associates. It is both humbling and gratifying to receive so many good wishes. The loving concern of all you good people is most supportive and I would hope to be back in the mainstream before very long.

Many thanks to everyone.

Sincerely,

Visiting Historic Phila. 1990 Style

By K. Blicher

On Tuesday, June 12, just a week before Fork Lane School graduation, Ms. Ann Bergeron's 6th graders went on a trip to Philadelphia. As a native of that city, it was my privilege to travel back in time with them. Boarding the bus just before 6 a.m., might seem daunting to some ... but Fork Lane kids had plenty of energy and were revved up and ready to go.

After a breakfast stop along the way, we arrived in the City of Brotherly Love before 10 a.m., and eagerly awaited our first destination - the Franklin Institute. While there, our students had ample time trying their skill at a variety of hands on projects. After lunch at the Institute, it was on to the Franklin Mint to learn about coins while actually observing how they are minted. Seems I heard several boys express the desire to grow up wealthy once they were mesmerized by the amount of coins on view.

Among our other stops were Independence Hall and Congress Hall where all of us stepped back in time and got an on-the-spot history lesson. For a few moments, we were all Founding Fathers and Mothers! Fork Laners also visited Franklin Square and walked the cobblestone path that old Ben Franklin himself trod so many years ago. Last stop was Betsy Ross's house which proved quite interesting. The beautiful, sunny day had flown by and we gathered our souvenirs and headed on our bus which transported us to our dinner stop and then back to 1990 - and Hicksville's Fork Lane School.

Thanks to Ms. Bergeron for the tremendous planning effort that went into this unique trip. Thanks as well to teacher chaperones Ms. Hillary Sperber and Mrs. Laurie Haddock for their assistance as well as to parent chaperones Carol Landau, Maureen Traxler, Karen Blicher, Vaso Pappas, Donna Andreski, Angie Bray, Steve Skrynecki, Bruce Kemmlin and "Uncle Joe." It's been a pleasure for yours truly to watch all of you grow and mature - congratulations to each of you on your graduation from Fork Lane!

For the month of July, Leonard Levine of Woodbury will be displaying his photos in the main lobby of Mid-Island Hospital.

Since 1970, Leonard Levine has taken an interest in photography and has had a one man show at the Inter Media Art Center in Huntington. Also, his work can be found in the Mixed Emotions Fine Art Gallery in Houston, Texas. For the past three years, he has been involved with the Town of Oyster Bay's Rotational Art Exhibit.

Len has traveled extensively as the executive vice president for a fine art paper company. He took up photography - both as a collector and as a self-taught photographer as an outlet for his creative urges. The work he has produced has allowed him to share his world with the viewer - to see things "not as they are, but as he would like them to be."

Thanks to the Town of Oyster Bay, Department of Community Services, Cultural and Performing Arts Division for coordinating the exhibit. Mid-Island Hospital is located on Hempstead Turnpike in Bethpage.

Western Breakfast

The first grade students at Old County Road School enjoyed a country western breakfast prepared by parents and PTA members. The breakfast, organized by first grade teachers Ann Marie Mones, Donna Kobilica and Kendi Szymanski, is an annual tradition at Old County Road School. Each year the breakfast revolves around a specific theme or color scheme. Last year the breakfast theme was Super Heroes.

Spring Concert At Woodland

Director Mr. Robert Pownall guided his student through a music ensemble.

Here school principal Dr. Clancy introduces Cynthia Decker and the school's chorus who performed brilliantly.

Fourth graders performing a string ensemble guided by Strings Director Mr. Ricardo Garcia. They are from right to left: Samantha Sclari, Stephen Krosel, Brendan Mulholland, Elizabeth Lau and Kelly Moore.

On June 6, Woodland Ave. School held its annual Spring Concert. Parents, relatives and friends were invited to attend and watch the children perform the numbers they learned all year.

Mr. Ricardo Garcia, Director of Strings, guided his students brilliantly through their numbers which sounded excellent. Mr. Robert Pownall, Director of Band led his students through a wonderful array of numbers which sounded very professional. In addition, Mrs. Cynthia Decker, Chorus Director, led the children through a great selection of songs while sixth graders, Danielle Buffolino, Aubrey Hill, Chris Brink, and Alex Rudis accompanied the piano playing the xylophone.

Congratulations to all students for doing so well and a special thank you to the instructors for teaching them so well.

After the Concert, everyone was invited to visit the classrooms and see all the work the children had done all through the year.

All in all, it was a very delightful evening for all who attended.

Big Band Concert Plans

A performance by Mike Carubia's Big Band and the vocal group "The Swing Syndicate" will highlight the first week of "Music Under the Stars" programs for Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

The program will be held at the community park on Thursday, July 12, beginning at 8:15 p.m. In the event of rain, the performance will take place in the auditorium of Bethpage High School, Cherry and Stewart Aves.

"The music of the 'big band' era has crossed generations and survived the test of time," Clark stated. "Today, Mike Carubia's Big Band is one of the best known groups carrying on the traditions of Duke Ellington, Glenn Miller, Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey and other 'big band' legends. This evening's concert will mark the 20th consecutive summer the group has performed for the Town of Oyster Bay.

"The Swing Syndicate was formed by Mike Carubia and is the only female swing group in the New York area," Clark said. "It has become a popular attraction at local clubs and festivals performing nostalgic favorites such as 'Chattanooga Choo Choo,' 'Saturday Night,' 'Satin Doll' and 'It Don't Mean a Thing.'"

Clark noted that the "Music Under the Stars" series is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community and Youth Services. This performance is being co-sponsored by WGSM Radio. For further information, contact CAPA at 795-5943.

For children, CAPA will sponsor a performance by Boppi the Clown on Tuesday, July 10, at 10:30 a.m.

"Presented by Kathy Caton-Rubinstein, this show emphasizes group participation and sing-along techniques," Clark said. "Boppi plays the guitar and keyboard as she sings well known songs as well as original compositions.

Library Meeting

A reorganization meeting of the Hicksville Public Library Board of Trustees will be held on Monday, July 9, at 7:30 p.m.

College Notes

Two Bethpage residents received degrees at the Union College 196th Commencement on Sunday, June 17. They are:

Aaron B. Ilan, son of Linda Ilan, 25 Audley Circle, who received an interdepartmental Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics/psychology. Ilan is a 1986 graduate of Bethpage High School.

Daniel R. Gould, son of Eugene and Rita Gould, 266 10th Street, who received a Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering. Gould is a 1985 graduate of Bethpage High School.

Right Around Home

By Maureen Traxler

Now that the doors of summer are opened to us, we're invited to enter into a different frame of mind. There are many recreational, educational and challenging events taking place in the coming two months that are just waiting for you to discover them.

For lovers of the majestic beast, the animal of royalty, two "A" rated equestrian competitions are about to take place. The Gold Coast Classic is scheduled for this weekend, June 29 to July 1, and the Nassau Classic will be held July 6-8. The events begin at 8 a.m. each day at Stillwell Woods on Southwoods Road in Syosset. A daily schedule of events can be picked up at the grounds.

Some 300 horses are expected to compete in show jumping and other events. Local horses and riders will face off against top competitors from the East Coast for trophies and prizes. There is no admission charge. A boutique area and refreshments are available.

For residents who have aspirations in the writing field, the Plainview-Old Bethpage Writers Club will be meeting during the summer at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library, 999 Old Country Road. This club consists of an informal group of people interested in writing and getting published. They share techniques and ideas. Often members read pieces they have written and receive encouragement from other members to submit them for publication. Several members have since succeeded.

The meetings will take place on June 30, July 7, August 4 and 18, and Sept. 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. The moderators are published writers themselves. And, it's free.

Things are still in full swing for the Hicksville Youth Council with a lineup of action-packed events for July and August. Monday nights throughout the summer are softball nights from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Hicksville Middle School. Or, if you prefer to watch the professionals, there's a trip to Yankee Stadium scheduled for July 18.

Other activities include biking to Jones Beach, the UFO show at the Planetarium, Action Park, Great Adventure, mini golf and more. Some events are free; some have a fee. All require a permission slip and advance registration. Just stop in at the Youth Council office, 175 West Old Country Road, Monday-Thursdays, 10 to 9, or Fridays 10 to 6, or call 822-KIDS for all the information.

The Town of Oyster Bay is sponsoring a Discover Oyster Bay Photo Contest, ages up to 17 years and 18 & over. Amateur photographers residing in the Town of Oyster Bay may participate. Your photo must be taken at an Oyster Bay Park or Beach from April 1 through Labor Day 1990. The theme is spring/summer play and recreation.

Photos can be either black and white or color, one photo per contestant, and must be postmarked no later than September 10. Name, age, address and phone number must be written clearly in ink on the back of the photo; all entries become Town property and will not be returned. Mail entries to "Play in Oyster Bay," Department of Parks, Recreation Division, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa, N.Y. 11758.

The Town also has many activities for all ages. The summer recreation program for youngsters 4 to 14 is free and is held at town parks from July 5 through mid-August. Registration begins July 2 and continues throughout the summer.

As part of this program, "Olympic" events such as a 50-yard dash, obstacle course and frisbee throw will be held in the Syosset-Woodbury Park on July 24 and the Bethpage Community Park, on July 27. The winners will compete in the 13th annual TOBAY Games at Theodore Roosevelt Park in Oyster Bay on Thursday evening, August 2.

Prior to the games there will be a talent show. Performers will be selected from the individual park events to take place in Syosset on July 18 and in Bethpage on July 20.

There will be a basketball free throw contest by age groups beginning at 9 years. The Syosset-Woodbury Park event will be held at the basketball courts on July 10, at 10 a.m., and at the Bethpage Park on July 12, at 10 a.m. For the more daring, there's a boogie board contest (that's short surfboards!) on July 27, 9 a.m. at TOBAY beach. Registration begins at 8 a.m.

The Town sponsors seniors summer activities, too, and residents can get information on these programs by calling 795-5943, ext. 7731.

For those of us who like to stretch out on the grass, tune out the world, and be entertained, there's the Music Under The Stars program. The curtain rises every night at 8:15 p.m., from July 9 through August 19, free of charge. For your free brochure, call CAPA 795-1000.

Here's to an enjoyable, relaxing, safe summer vacation for all.

Right Around Home will continue when possible throughout the summer. If you know of items of community interest, please send them to: Right Around Home, Litmor Publications, 81 East Barclay Street, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801.

Stratford School Achievement Award

Stratford Avenue School has received an "Outstanding Achievement Award" for this year in the National Math Olympiad. A select group of schools was singled out for this award. Teams had to score in the top 10% in order to be selected. Stratford was also the recipient of an additional award for "Meritorious Achievement" for the team whose highest students grade level was either 5 or 4.

For the Math Olympiad competitions, top honors go to John Fitzgerald, Grade 5, with a top score of 19 out of a possible 25 questions.

Winners in this year's mathematics competitions are as follows:

Grade 5

1st Place - Sara Freil - Ms. Segal - 2170 pts.

2nd Place - Laura Petro - Ms. Essner - 2066 pts.

3rd Place - Anthony Liberatoscioli - 2060 pts.

Special awards will be given this year to the following students for outstanding achievement with scores above 1800 pts.

Grade 5

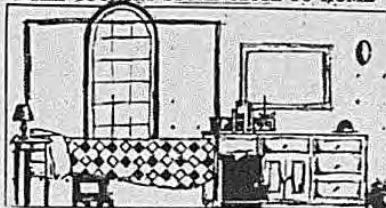

Kevin Merrick - Mrs. Wein - 1955 pts.

Douglas Tedeschi - Mrs. Barnes - 1810 pts.

Doreen LaPorta - Ms. Segal - 1808 pts.

Elizabeth Iovino - Ms. Segal - 1805 pts.

Expo Night At Woodland

Second Grader Harriet Andronikides guided her father through a tour of her classroom which included a "Zoo" created by all the first and second graders in Mrs. Elayne Kabokoff's and Mrs. Beverly Brown's classroom. The children all did research on various animals and then shared their information with all the other students in the class. The first and second graders also visited the Bronx Zoo earlier this month. The children have had a most memorable year in this classroom.

Employee Service Pins

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta, right, presented Nassau County Employee Service Pins to employees on behalf of the many years of outstanding service they have provided to the County. Joining the County Executive was Ernest C. Morrissey, an employee of the Nassau County Dept. of Public Works for 35 years and a resident of Bethpage.

Post 421's Honors At Legion Conv.

The Charles Wagner Post did itself proud at the Nassau County American Legion Convention. The post earned Nassau's 3rd Division trophies for its Americanism, Children and Youth, and Veterans' Rehabilitation Committees' work. Post 421 was honored also for its strong support of the James McClaime Memorial Library at Hofstra University. The Post, once again, provided hundreds of dollars to the purchase of rare and important books of New York history, in memory of members who died during the previous year.

Nassau County's American Legion officer-roster for 1990-91 will have Past-Commander Arlene Howard as Nassau 3rd Division Children and Youth Program Chairperson. Vice-Commander Gregory Bennett of Post 421, a Vietnam War veteran will serve as Nassau County American Legion MIA/POW Liaison Chairman.

College Scholarships Assist Worthy Students

Hicksville's American Legion Post 421 closed a second strong year under the Commandership of Arlene Howard reinstituting its Scholarship Program for high school students and winning four distinctions at the Nassau County American Legion Convention.

The Post 421 membership and its commander are pleased and honored to announce the names of the winners of two $500 college scholarships The Charles Wagner Post 421 Memorial Scholarships were awarded during high school commencement exercises to Jennifer Wernon of the Hicksville High School and to Christine Russo, a Hicksville student attending Holy Trinity Diocesan High School.

Jennifer is the daughter of David and Sharon Wernon of Scooter Lane. A very worthy graduate, a wholesome, unassuming top scholar who helps in the high school office. One of five children, Jennifer will be attending Hofstra University, studying to be an art therapist.

Christine Russo is the daughter of Carol Russo of Hicksville. Active in Holy Trinity student government, with a fine 93 school average, Christine will be attending the State University at Binghamton, where she will major in business administration.

1990 Amer. Legion School Awards

The Charles Wagner Post 421's Annual American School Awards were a notable part of the graduation and moving-up exercises of Hicksville Public and Trinity Lutheran School. This past week, 22 medals and framed certificates honored primary school students who distinguished themselves academically and in service and leadership to their school.

In the 30th year of this Post 421 Children and Youth committee program, the following outstanding students were honored for their scholarship and notable school citizenship: Burns Ave. School's Ryan O'Rourke, Stacey Patrone, and Golfo Kargeorgos; Dutch Lane School's John Neglia, Jason Shor and Rina Swidler; East Street School's Stacey Connelly and Robert Geramita; Fork Lane School's Kathleen Andreski and Craig Kemmlein; Lee Ave. School's Christine Gorney and Patrick Scanlon; Old Country Road School's Frank Intintoli and Maryann Mirabelli; Trinity Lutheran School's Johanna Cognago, Brian Hall, Bryan Kist, Christie Lewerentz; Willet Ave. School's Kenneth D'Introno and Christina Pero and Woodland Ave. School's Barbara Hundertmark and Laurie Zeller.

Post 421's School Award Medals were presented also to Catholic parochial schools in Hicksville for many years, but a Diocesan School policy, some years ago, discontinued awards to students of 8th grade graduating classes. Richard Evers, Americanism and School Programs Chairman has administered this now-traditional program of recognition and honor since the program was initiated under the late Commander Edwin A. Hodkinson.

The board also approved a $40,108 bid for district publications, pending decisions on the acceptance of adult education and a 1990-91 school calendar.

On personnel matters, the board accepted the resignation of Director of Personnel Don Bright, as of June 30, 1990, and the retirement of Lawrence Olvany, High School Assistant Principal. The board approved the appointment of Steven P. Furrey as an elementary building principal replacing retiring principal Dr. Frank Burke.

In other matters: the board

•awarded Tax Anticipation Notes in the amount of $7,500,000 to Ehrlich Bober & Co.

•approved a contract with Bank of New York authorizing Hicksville Union Free School District's participation in a Direct Payroll Deposit Program.

•approved the "Statement of Agreement" concerning use of the district's facilities as mass care shelters by the American Red Cross in the conduct of disaster relief activities.

•approved three regulations: 8411R Regulations for School Bus Scheduling and Routing, 4730R Guidelines for Homework Assignments, and 4739R-2 Standard Format for Written Work.

The board established July 10 as the date for its reorganization meeting. At this meeting the newly elected board members will be seated and the election of officers for 1990-91 will take place. There will also be further budget discussions.

In general public session, Joyce Jorgenson of the band parents called on the board to reconsider its position on the summer music program for marching band. Trustee William Bennett promised to bring the subject up for discussion again at the July 10 meeting.

Mrs. Carolyn Kelly requested that the Board change the method by which candidates run for school board seats. She preferred a direct candidate vote, where the top vote getters win the seat vacancies. At present, candidates must run for a specific seat against only the challengers for that particular seat. "This limits the voters choices," said Mrs. Kelly. "Candidates should not be running against each other, but for the board."

This change can be effected by a majority vote of the board. At this time, the board is discussing the possibility of making such a change with its attorney.

Jeff Siegel pressed trustee JoAnn Miltenberg to elaborate on her campaign platform that there are programs in the district which were started as pilots, are not working, but are still in existence.

Several students asked the board to consider putting the budget up for a revote. A sophomore honor student said, "You must never give up and accept an austerity budget."

Voicing negativism for the ESL program, Mrs. Helen Lafferty said, "The public school is not a place to foster cultural individuality." She asked the board to consider "the children who are short changed by not being able to mingle with the other children, to become part of our culture and part of our school district and our community."

Pending further notice, the July 10 reorganization meeting will take place at 8:15 p.m. in the conference room of the Administration Building.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the resolution published herewith has been adopted by the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, on June 19, and the validity of the obligations authorized by such resolution may be hereafter contested only if such obligations were authorized for an object or purpose for which said Town is not authorized to expend money, or if the provisions of law which should have been complied with as of the date of publication of this notice were not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of publication of this notice, or such obligations were authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Dated: Oyster Bay, New York
June 19, 1990

Carl L. Marcellino

Town Clerk

Resolution No. 567A - 1990

Bond Resolution

Dated June 19, 1990

A Resolution authorizing the issuance of $7,500,000 serial bonds of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, to pay part of the cost of the increase and improvement of the facilities of the Town of Oyster Bay solid waste disposal District.

WHEREAS, pursuant to the provisions heretofore duly had and taken in accordance with the provisions of Section 202-b of the Town Law, and more particularly an order dated June 19, 1990, the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, has determined it to be in the public interest to increase and improve the facilities of the Town of Oyster Bay Solid Waste Disposal District at a maximum estimated cost of $8,200,000; and

WHEREAS, it is now desired to provide funding for such project; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT

RESOLVED, by the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. For the specific object or purpose of paying part of the cost of the increase and improvement of the facilities of the Town of Oyster Bay Public Solid Waste Disposal District in and for the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, consisting of the increase and improvement of the facilities at the Solid Waste Disposal Area, including the construction of a remedial treatment facility for the primary purpose of removing contaminants from an underground water plume, at a maximum estimated cost $8,200,000, there are hereby authorized to be issued $7,500,000 serial bonds of said Town pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 2. The maximum estimated cost of such specific object or purpose is $8,200,000 and the plan for the financing therefore is as follows:

a) By the issuance of the $7,500,000 serial bonds of said Town authorized to be issued pursuant to this bond resolution. Further details concerning said bonds will be prescribed in a further resolution or resolutions of this Town Board; and

b) By the expenditure of $700,000 monies of said District, which monies are hereby appropriated therefor, which monies shall constitute the down payment required by Section 107.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 3. It is hereby determined that the period of probable usefulness of the aforesaid specific object or purpose is twenty years, pursuant to subdivision 6-a of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law. It is hereby further determined that the maximum maturity of the serial bonds herein authorized will exceed five years.

Section 4. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, the power to authorize the issuance of and to sell bond anticipation notes in anticipation of the issuance and sale of the serial bonds herein authorized, including renewals of such notes, is hereby delegated to the Supervisor, the chief fiscal officer. Such notes shall be of such terms, form and contents, and shall be sold in such manner, as may be prescribed by said Supervisor, consistent with the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 5. The faith and credit of said Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such obligations as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such obligations becoming due and payable in such year.

Section 6. The validity of such bonds and bond anticipation notes may be contested only if:

1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said Town is not authorized to expend money, or

2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 7. This resolution, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full in "Massapequa Observer," "Hicksville Illustrated News," "Bethpage Newsgram" and "Locust Valley Leader," the official newspapers, together with a notice of the Town Clerk in substantially the form provided in Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Input Callers Do Not Agree With Road Blocks

Most callers to Input do not like the idea of roadblocks to check for drunken driving in answer to this question: "The Supreme Court has said that roadblocks to check for drunken driving are legal. Do you agree?"

Here are some of the answers:

OFF THE ROAD

I do believe that drunks should be kept off of the road, but I do not think that because a fraction of the drivers are drunk that everyone should be stopped from driving any time a police force wants to rack up some arrests. The number of people caught in these nets is small and some are marginal. But the problem is that everyone has to be stopped without cause and this puts too much power in the hands of police. We have the Miranda law which protects people thought to be felons from search and even after arrested they have many more rights than drivers. The fact is that when you set aside rights saying the means justifies an end you are on the road to taking away many freedoms. The court was dead wrong. K.R.

DOESN'T LIKE IT

The logic is that drunks are a menace and this is good logic. I have two minds about this. I would not like to be stopped in the middle of the night and ordered to prove that I was sober. This certainly goes against the fabric of our Constitution. I do see the reason for this. However, I think the police could do a better job of surveillance and also there are machines that could be installed in bars to tell if someone is drunk and they could be stopped before getting into the car. If we think that roadblocks will do anything other than intimidate law abiding, we are foolish. We should not have roadblocks and even though the court says that police may use them, the citizens should pressure the police not to engage in this type of thing. S.T.

ROADBLOCKS O.K.

Yes. I do not drink and if the police want to stop and see if I am sober it will be alright with me. I think the idea will keep drunks off the road and save lives. J.H.

GOOD INTENTIONS BUT BAD

The roadblocks and other extreme measures against drivers is an example of good intentions gone wild. Generally people who have too many drinks are not criminals, but people who could be taught to control drinking. The laws are set to trap people who have had very little to drink and if there is an accident the police automatically blame the driver who had something to drink although it may not have anything to do with the accident. It is a good idea to discourage people from driving while drunk, but we will not solve a problem by discarding justice which is the basis of our democracy. Roadblocks are an invention of a police force that cannot control the great criminal population, but wants to bask in the glory of showing big arrest records. It is time for the country to recommit itself to the Bill of Rights and from that point on, work on criminal activity including driving while drunk. Our Supreme Court does not act like a legal body in making such statements that we can overlook people's rights for the good that would be achieved. If this is to be the law then we should have sidewalk blocks to stop and search pedestrians for hand guns and stolen goods. We would probably save more lives in a shorter time than with roadblocks for drunken drivers. F.V.

MINIMUM DELAYS

I will go along with the roadblock even though I may be delayed a little for the check. I do hope that the police will be made to have minimum delays because there are already so many roadblocks from traffic and construction that driving is a very hectic experience. J.F.

NOT APPEALING IDEA

My immediate reaction was that roadblocks for drunken driving was a sensible idea and that the Supreme Court had made a wise decision in endorsing it. But, the more I thought about it, the less it appealed to me not because it abridged the rights of drunken drivers but because it violated the rights of the sober driver who had done nothing wrong and was still obliged to undergo the inconvenience of delay and submit to a catechism of questions which, depending upon the mood of the driver, could possibly lead to an abrasive exchange of language with the officer. Needless to say, and probably rightfully so in many cases, police officers are quite sensitive about the dignity of their jobs and their own prerogatives as a minion of the law. I am certainly opposed to drunken driving especially since the sober driver is so often the victim of a road accident. I also respect the rights of the sober driver having to run the risk and inconvenience of a roadblock especially at early morning hours. I believe it would be unfair to him or her to be forced to undergo whatever unforeseen penalties might result under the circumstances. P.G.S.

PAST ISSUES

FLAG BURNING

I think they should have a law to put people in jail or a fine if people are burning the flag. This is their country and they should thank God that they have the freedom to say a lot of things but they should not burn the flag that symbolizes the U.S. I think people get away with too much and they don't appreciate it. I think burning the American Flag is disgraceful. N.H.

Catalog Madness

By Olivia F. Cadley

I have a love-hate relationship with catalogs. On the one hand I rue the day when my first order assigned my name to a list encompassing country-wide locations and products reuniting the gamut from "Toys for Tots" to "Victoria's Secret." (Incidentally, if these were Victoria's secrets, she wasn't the staid old matriarch we thought!) You never know what you'll find in the pages of catalogs these days. If your taste runs to something really different, I have found a few that just might suit you.

If you're looking for the perfect bed partner who doesn't snore, stays on his own side of the bed and doesn't hog the covers, is home every night, a handsome, scantily-clad macho man who is, in addition, machine-washable, then I have found just the thing for you. "My Perfect Partner" comes in twin, full, Queen or King size with matching pillow case in the event you want to snuggle close to your pillow. His cost is a mere $40 and his image cannot fade because he is stencilled indelibly to the sheet.

And while we're on the subject, how about these beauties from "Enticements Unlimited"? You may opt for a milk toe-tickler with rosebud center or an innocent looking drinking glass which conceals gorgeous centerfolds of luscious male or female models who will obligingly undress at the drop of an ice cube. As moisture evaporates, they disappear again ready to astonish (or embarrass) the next unsuspecting guest. Keep that ice coming!

There is really something for everyone in these mail order gems. For the beauty conscious there is the wrinkle-reducing pillow, guaranteed to erase those unsightly lines while you sleep (provided you sleep on your stomach of course). If you can't sleep on your stomach, well, at least lie that way and after a few sleepless nights

Now if you revel in being Mr. or Mrs. Clean, your personal ablutions need no longer be boring. You can vary the routine by laying one morning with lettuce or carrot or tomato soap and the next day choose from the orchard variety of "tart green apple, crisp lemon, sunny orange, sweet pomegranate or zingy black currant." Perhaps for the diet conscious one can skip breakfast or lunch!

For outdoor buffs there is the "solar-powered" golf hat with a built-in fan which directs a constant breeze toward your forehead to cool you on hot days." In case of clouds, you can switch from your solar power to a regular battery. (Let us hope the clouds don't roll by when you're in the middle of a shot!) You can also moisten the little attached sponge in the headband and direct the air flow to it. Meanwhile, you can concentrate on your golf.

How about a "thirst-quencher hat" for your convenience when watching a game, fishing or even mowing the lawn? This handy contraption holds two cans of your favorite beverage in containers on either side of its "sturdy poly helmet with built-in straw which curves around into your mouth. One size fits all." Just don't bow your head or tip your hat!

For those whose dreams exceed their wherewithal to fulfill the urge to travel, not to worry. You can satisfy that yen vicariously via a polished vinyl shower curtain printed in "exquisite detail" which depicts the whole world. They claim that you can even follow the world news while you shower. What a nice way to drown!

And again, if your dreams exceed the reality, you may give the appearance of a wealthy entrepreneur conducting big business via cellular telephone while you ride. The trick is that this "buy" isn't really a phone at all but an impressive replica. So (who's to know when they see you sitting back, phone in hand, whether you're making a big deal or just talking to yourself?

Never again be bored or impatient when waiting in line, riding trains, or caught in traffic. Woo your shattered nerves and pass the time with a 7" portable TV which slips in your pocket or purse and weighs a mere 7 ounces. I assume there is no inconvenient antennal

What about a "talking wristwatch"? You wear it to bed and if you're too lazy or too tired to turn over and look at the alarm, with the push of a button it will announce the time "in a clear, digitally synchronized female voice." It can also set the time automatically on the hour, half hour or quarter hour just in case you get lonesome and need a soothing voice. This amazing device will also wake you with a 5-minute snooze setting followed by that same voice pleading, "Please get up!" followed by 30 seconds of beeping in case you weren't paying attention.

While we're on the subject of talking instruments, how about that scale that will announce your weight and shut itself off after murmuring, "Have a nice day" or, if you prefer, "Good-by." I assume your preference would depend on the flick of the needle when you might like to add some words of your own like, "Shut Up".

Here's something for the busy parent who wants to lull a wee one to sleep with bedtime stories and who feels guilty because time does not permit. You can order a "story-telling clock that recites bedtime stories and sends brief encouraging messages in a gentle, grandfatherly voice. It can also be 'programmed' to recite five different messages for the morning such as, 'Good morning Sleepyhead, it's time to get up,' as well as 14 different bedtime story favorites." The cost for all this recording is only $99.75 and it plugs into any ordinary household outlet. I just wonder how long it would take any reasonable bright child to catch on to the hoodwink after he's searched everywhere for grandpa?

If you're a nervous, conscientious parent who is keen on keeping the little tyke comfortable, there is the "musical diaper alarm" which plays a tune as soon as baby wets. There could be trouble if baby likes the music and accommodates accordingly!

If you're a busy executive whose passion is ties, here's just the thing for you - the lighted electric tie rack which, "at the push of a button, revolves up to 72 ties in 25 seconds and has a 1.5 watt bulb to help you distinguish colors and patterns without disturbing your wife in case she is a light sleeper." I imagine that the assumption is that a busy executive is a most decisive individual capable of making split-second choices or else this gadget could be quite nerve-wracking.

For the plant lover who is fastidious about watering there is now a "musical soil monitor" which alerts you when plants are dry by playing the traditional Swedish melody, "The Cuckoo Waltz." Why that? Don't ask; just take my word. And if you feel that bigger is better you can send for the "space-age tomato plant which 'climbs to 10 feet tall and bears 20 to 30 pounds of tomatoes with no soil needed. Just add nutrients and water." You will receive seeds and a starter pot which is all you need to compete with Jack's beanstalk and become the talk (or the terror) of the neighborhood.

Finally, for someone who has absolutely everything, and you are looking for that special, unique eyecatcher, you can get a lamp made of "authentic boxer shorts dipped in fiberglass that fits nicely on a home bar or bedroom desk and comes in various patterns according to your taste." Now that's something I'm sure the man or woman who has everything hasn't got!

And so you see there is something new under the sun after all if only you will take the time to join the catalog addicts. Remember Ripley's "Believe It or Not" and TV's "Can You Top This?" I rest my case.

READER RATINGS

Q. When ladies already seated at a luncheon table are introduced to each other, do they shake hands, seated, when they may conveniently do so?

T.G. A. No, they bow. In this country, there is very little shaking hands between women, although the hostess always shakes hands with her guests, male and female, and anyone acting the role of hostess, say a teacher at the school, a woman representative of a firm being visited by outsiders would rise and shake hands with the visitors, women as well as men. Q. There was a receiving line, with the hostess first in the line, and our representative next to her. As the guests entered, I noticed that there was some confusion as to who should be greeted first - the hostess or the representative next to her. What is the rule when the host holds such a prominent position?

A. The rule is always the same. One greets first the person in line, who is the hostess or the acting hostess, always shaking hands. Occasionally there is a line made up only of men and, in this case, the first man encountered is the one one greets first. As a matter of fact, very often the most important guest, for whom the reception is given, is placed in the middle of the line.

Q. Is it normal restaurant procedure for a waiter or waitress to say "will this be on the dinner or a la carte?" before taking one's order in a moderate restaurant? I had a very embarrassing experience recently because a waitress didn't ask this information. Over the years, I have always been asked this question and never been in trouble. All the better restaurants in the city seem to do this. Thank you.

J. A. You are right. The waitress should tell you of the possibilities on the menu and she should inform you of how she is carrying it on her ticket.

Q. Tipping has always bothered me. I know there are many facets to it but why do I have to tip at all?

J.C. A. The answer to this is obvious if you think about it. If you want any control at all over what type of service you are going to get you should be able to give more or less according to how you have been treated.

Many people may not know it but waiters generally get a very low wage scale, some below-minimum wage because tips can be expected to balance the scale and they do depend on between a 15 percent and 20 percent tip to make the job worthwhile.

Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

TOP RESTAURANT

Manero's in Syosset is a top restaurant. We went there Sunday and found that it was a friendly and fine place to take a full table. Most had prime ribs and found that Manero's in Syosset certainly lives up to its reputation for fine beef. The price is well within the range for quality beef. The vegetables and salad were just very delicious and well prepared. Manero's has been on Jericho Turnpike, Syosset for quite a long time. If any of your readers have "missed it," they should try it now and they will like it. J.F.

EXPANDED DINING ROOM

One of our favorite Portuguese restaurants is Larcira's on East Jericho Turnpike in Mineola. They have recently expanded their dining room and we thoroughly enjoyed the atmosphere.

Our choice was Bacalhau cooked on the grill; actually it is codfish. The taste was superb. We have also enjoyed the way they prepare steak, served in a ceramic dish with sliced Portuguese sausage and an egg on top. The imported beer is superb. Larcira's has become a place to share with our friends. You will find the food is excellent and the prices are modest.

Q. Recently I was a guest at a club luncheon in a restaurant. Accidentally, I overturned my tomato juice. What was the right thing to do? The waiter didn't see the accident immediately. T.L.A. A waiter seeing such an accident would immediately change the cloth, or if that was impossible at a long table, would spread a clean napkin over the spilled food. As the waiter did not do this because he was busy elsewhere, at a large luncheon you could have spread a napkin over the spot yourself, without undue discussion of the incident. Everyone occasionally has things like this happen.

Q. Will you please describe the correct procedure for introducing one couple to another (1) when the couples are approximately the same age, (2) when one couple is older or more distinguished in station than the other? M.J.A. When the couples are about the same age it doesn't matter whose names are mentioned first. When one couple is older or more distinguished or perhaps guests in your town-you introduce the younger couple.

GOOD PERFORMANCE

What a posh restaurant this Benihana is in Manhasset. It is designed with a beautiful bar and cocktail lounge where you can gather before and after a special meal. We did that last Saturday.

Probably most of your readers have been to Benihana, but if there are still some who have not we want to say that we were pleasantly surprised with its new form of entertainment in eating. You see it is not only the food at Benihana but the performance of the chef who is an expert in the use of a knife. You can watch him prepare the shrimp with a few swats of the blade and a steak and all of the other items the people around you get. This is the performance. Then you are surprised that food prepared so quickly and with such acrobatics is so good to eat. We recommend this restaurant. S.C. and M.T.

Q. Is it proper to eat the little "extras" served with cocktails such as olives or maraschino cherries, or should they be left in the glass?

A. It is perfectly all right to enjoy them along with the cocktail. If they are served on a toothpick then you can use that to remove them. If not, finish your cocktail and then (as unobtrusively as possible) eat them with your fingers.

WONDERFUL CUISINE

Koenig's restaurant is one that defies time. It has been around for a long time but every time we go there we are well satisfied with the wonderful continental cuisine.

Koenig's is a place of good decor and it is a very comfortable restaurant. The establishment caters to large parties but if you come there with just two people, as we did, you are made welcome. The menu includes beef, chicken and veal and there is a large assortment of fish dishes. The prime ribs we chose were great and we think Koenig's in Floral Park is No. 1. Y.T.

FISH LOVERS

If you are a fish lover I would heartily recommend the Executive Restaurant on Mineola Boulevard in Mineola. We were there Friday night and thoroughly enjoyed the ambience as well as the well prepared food. I had fillet of sole which was absolutely delicious as fresh fish can be. One of the members in the party had steak, and the third party had pasta with white clam sauce which she declared was superb. In addition Bob Maddox, who plays the piano on Friday and Saturday added to our pleasure.

You will find the restaurant owners make you feel welcome, and the friendly service and affordable prices make for an evening well spent. E.P.

SPECIALTIES

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about the LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite, we have to say that the specials are really "special."

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

Q. If your guests completely finish their white wine, down to the last drop, isn't it all right to pour red wine into their same glasses? H.B.

A. No. Either have separate clean wineglasses on the table for the red or wash the dirty glasses and bring them back to the table.

LANDMARK RESTAURANT

Mahoney's Restaurant on Hillside Avenue in Williston Park is a perennial winner as a restaurant. Mahoney's has been a landmark in Williston Park for many years. It always was known for good food. About two years ago it expanded to about twice its size. In addition they added a salad bar with a special treat called mussels. But whether you like mussels or not you can always find something good at Mahoney's. I hope you will let your readers know about it too.

FINE SEAFOOD

Our party of four had dinner at Estoril Granada, on Mineola Boulevard in Mineola. Seafood seems to be their specialty. We asked the waiter for suggestions and he thought we would enjoy Carne Porco Alentejana. This consists of pork and clams in a delicate brown sauce. It was a happy choice. The other couple ordered the Caldeirada, which is the Portuguese version of Bouillabaisse. Our friends heartily endorsed their choice. If you are hankering for something unique and delicious, I think you will enjoy Estoril Granada. We enjoyed the ambience of the restaurant and found the service excellent. —G.W.

Each week Litmor Newspapers presents a select dining guide called Reader Ratings to its readers. The guide presents the messages of outstanding restaurants in this area and it also is a forum for readers to tell other readers about why they like certain restaurants.

Reader Ratings, although it is read by up to 100,000 readers is an inexpensive way to meet the public and have the public meet you. Throughout many years, Reader Ratings has helped build loyal followings for some of the best restaurants in the area.

If your restaurant qualifies as a leader in the area we want to talk to you about being included in our guide. The cost is nominal and the results can be great.

CAMOUFLAGE — Built-in bookcases enhance a room's basic structure and camouflage a sore-thumb radiator under a wide window.

Putting up a neat front

Q. Our spare room has a large window with a nice view outside, but inside there's an ugly, old-fashioned radiator in front of it.

I need some ideas on curtains. Can I hang them in front to cover the radiator, use short cafes or what? — H.S., Cincinnati

A. Forget trying to cover the radiator with curtains — you will just block both your nice view and the heat from the radiator.

Here is a simple solution that tidies up the entire wall, allows window and radiator to work at their best, and provides extra storage in the process.

Designer Abbey Darer frames both the window and radiator with built-in cabinets under bookshelves, all surfaced with laminate for easy upkeep. Standard radiator grilles put up a neat front without blocking the flow of heat ... the top becomes a neat extension of the bookshelves ... the window itself requires only a wide roller shade for light- and privacy-control.

Three points worth mentioning:

- The shade is translucent so the room glows with light even when it's pulled down.

- It has been mounted with the roller reversed for a tailored top finish.

- An edging of decorative trimming and a brass ring pull relieve the utilitarian simplicity — the trim picks up a color in the chair cushions.

Overall, built-ins such as these not only solve decorating dilemmas, they also enhance your home architecturally. It's what professional interior decorators call giving rooms good "bone structure."

Q. My roommate and I are looking for ways to spruce up our dormitory room when we go back to school.

We're both on scholarships, so any ideas you have should be inexpensive and easy to do, please. — L.S., Indiana

A. Here is a handful of ideas that rate A+ on both scores:

- Windows: Thumbtack generous loops of wide grosgrain ribbon at the top corners of the window frame to hold fabric swags — a lightweight Indian cotton bedspread or sheets offer lots of fabric for the money. Use a dime store matchstick blind under the swag if you need privacy — spray-paint to match swags.

- Walls: If dormitory regulations allow, install prepeeled strippable wall covering on the largest straight wall. It must be strippable so you can pull the covering off easily when you move ... and the wall itself should be relatively free of windows, doors and other "obstacles." The idea is just to dip the prepeeled paper in water and smooth it up fast and easy.

- Floors: Sisal carpeting is inexpensive, durable and needs no padding. You also can paint sisal if you want a decorative border — using acrylics.

- Accessories: Little things — pillows, lamps, bed covers, artworks — mean a lot when it comes to personalizing your space.

A sampler of fuss-free perennials

As I've planted and weeded in the front yard this spring I've been struck by the sturdy stubbornness of the musk mallow. These plants have a habit of seeding themselves so profusely that I could have a small mallow farm going here if I wanted.

I seeded musk mallow (Malva moschata) indoors several years ago, and set a group of five plants at the front fence end of a flower bed running the length of the driveway. They grew into soft, ferny mounds of slim-fingered leaves.

Every spring since then I've welcomed those fresh rounds of foliage and I've enjoyed monitoring the branching stems as they lengthen and form flower buds.

Then, in June and July, the 2-foot-tall plants become a mass of hibiscuslike flowers. Because the individual flowers resemble single rose blossoms, another common name for this desirable perennial is musk rose.

Malva moschata thrives in sunshine and well-drained, fertile soil. To keep my planting in glowing form I pull out the old plants every two years or so and leave new seedling plants to take their place. The seedlings are always perfect and remarkably strong. It takes quite a tight grip and hard tug to pull them out. No wonder the plants are so easy-growing and self-sufficient — an excellent perennial for a minimum-maintenance garden.

Another perennial that more or less takes care of itself, requires no staking and seldom becomes ill or insect-ridden is the almost indestructible daylily (Hemerocallis). This plant's arching, grassy, bright green foliage provides a magnificent backdrop for other flowers. And its own stout flower stems bear branching clusters of lilylike blooms over a long period.

Daylilies thrive in sun or part shade and in any soil as long as it's not too dry. In recent decades hybridizing of old orange, yellow and rust-colored daylilies has produced plants bearing a multitude of new, luscious colors while retaining the old original plants' vigor, hardiness, dependability and ease of culture.

Coral bells (Heuchera) brings easy growing dual delight with its bright clouds of small pink, red or white flowers floating on slender stems above dense clumps of pretty leaves with scalloped edges. The foliage in most varieties is beautifully marbled with gray. The bloom period is long, and the flowers last well in arrangements.

Coral bells will thrive in any good soil, in full sun to part shade. These are versatile plants, well-suited to the rock garden or used as a ground cover or as an edging for a flower border.

Gloriosa daisy (Rudbeckia hirta) is another no-fuss perennial flower. Modern varieties bloom the first summer from seed, providing gloriously bright masses of gold, mahogany, bronze or yellow flowers all summer and fall until frost. The flowers can be double, semi-double or single with chocolate brown centers.

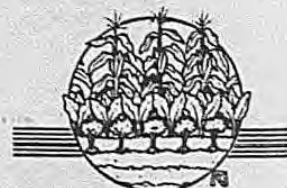

Another very long-lasting, easy-care perennial is lythrum or purple loosestrife, whose tall, flower-filled stems add lovely feathery accents to the flower garden. There is a deep purple, a bright carmine and rose red form. Lythrum plants bloom through the summer and the slender, willow-like leaves often take on pretty autumn tints.

Monarda (bee balm, bergamot, horsemint, Oswego tea) is a mint relative with many pleasant features, among them an easy habit the plants have of naturalizing and caring for themselves. Ideal for a decorative wildflower garden, monarda has fragrant leaves and bears heads of hooded, sage-like red, lavender, white or pink flowers at the stem tops.

One of the showiest spring flowering perennials is candytuft (Iberis sempervirens), a low-growing, stylish sprawler that brightens the month of May with its dazzling display of pure white bloom. Given a fairly rich soil, sunshine and normal watering, these plants continue in fine flowering condition for years at the edges of flower borders and in rock gardens. Candytuft is a good hanging basket and window box plant, too.

This has been a sampler of enduring fuss-free perennials that can be counted upon to deliver very satisfactory displays of bloom. Some more low-care perennials are yarrow, bleeding heart, hardy geraniums, (cranesbill), hosta and pulmonaria (lungwort).

Make waves with goobers — microwaves, that is

There is something special about peanuts. They have a comic strip named after them. Ex-president Jimmy Carter's clan grew them. And peanut butter was one of Elvis Presley's favorite foods.

Peanuts are popular the world over. They're a staple in West African cuisine, and finely chopped roasted peanuts are an important garnish in popular Thai cuisine. Peanut oil is the preferred oil all over Asia for wok frying, since it doesn't smoke, even at very high temperatures.

There is a jar of peanut butter in most every American household. I've even heard that the rage for goobers is on in Britain. Apparently, some innovative Brits are garnishing fried egg, ham and cheese sandwiches with peanut butter. Mmmm...

The peanut is a good source of iron and B vitamins, and a good source of fiber, too: there is about the same amount of fiber in 3 tablespoons of peanut butter as in two slices of whole-grain bread.

Peanuts are also a great source of protein. An ounce of oil-roasted peanuts without skins provides about 8.6 grams of protein — twice the protein of cooked dry beans — but at a pretty hefty 180 calories. (A tablespoon of peanut butter has almost 100 calories.) Dry roasted peanuts will contain about eight to 10 fewer calories per ounce than oil roasted. Still, not such good news if you're limiting your calorie intake.

But here is the good news. While high in calories, most of the peanut's fat content (about 80 percent) is unsaturated, the kind that doesn't raise blood cholesterol levels.

To make an unusual and lightly tangy salad dressing, combine ½ cup vegetable oil, 2 tablespoons peanut butter, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, a pinch of sugar, ground red pepper flakes to taste, and a dash of salt. Mix well and toss with a salad of fresh greens, mung bean sprouts, and cucumber. Interesting, and a refreshing salad in hot summer weather.

Ever tried a peanut butter shake? Just combine one scoop vanilla ice cream with 2 cups milk, a tablespoon of peanut butter (or more, to taste) and a teaspoon of vanilla. Whirl in blender until frothy.

Researchers have even been experimenting with a new kind of cheese — peanut cheese. More economical to produce than milk-based cheese, it is exceptionally high in protein and is said to have a pleasant, chewy texture.

Peanuts really get around. They make their way into airline snacks, kids' lunches, desserts, main dishes and more.

Today's microwave recipes feature the peanut in a main dish, a side dish and a chewy fudge that teams the great tastes of peanuts and chocolate: a combination that is hard to resist.

(Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.)

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

To get rid of the lumps in hardened brown sugar, place sugar in a microwave-safe container. Sprinkle lightly with water, cover tightly, and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) setting 15 to 20 seconds per cup of sugar.

ORANGE PEANUT CHICKEN ROLLS FOR 2

- 2 large chicken breast halves, skinned and boned
- ½ cup cooked rice
- ¼ teaspoon minced orange peel
- ¼ cup orange juice
- 1½ teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons coarsely chopped roasted peanuts
- 1 tablespoon chopped green onion

Yields 2 servings.

Preparation time: 15 to 20 minutes.

Cooking time: 8½ to 13 minutes.

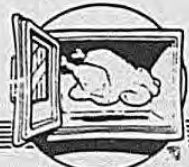

Oven setting: MEDIUM (50 percent power); HIGH (100 percent power).

With meat mallet, gently pound chicken breast halves to between ¼- and ½-inch thick. In small mixing bowl combine rice and orange peel; toss. Divide mixture evenly and spread over pounded chicken breast halves. Roll up and secure with toothpicks then place, seam-side down, in shallow microwave-safe baking dish.

Cover with plastic wrap, venting one corner, and microwave on MEDIUM setting 7 to 10 minutes, or until chicken is tender, rotating dish ¼ turn and turning chicken over every 3 minutes. Set aside.

In 1-cup glass measure combine orange juice and cornstarch. Microwave, uncovered, on HIGH setting 1½ to 3 minutes, or until mixture bubbles and thickens, stirring every half-minute. Stir in soy sauce and 1 tablespoon chopped peanuts.

Place chicken rolls on serving platter and spoon sauce over top. Sprinkle with green onions and remaining chopped peanuts. Serve immediately.

Trout season

Brooke's husband, Richard, is an avid trout fisherman. Each year on the opening day of the season, he gets up in the middle of the night in order to be at the stream with rod poised and flies tied at the crack of dawn.

Richard is usually home with his limit by 9 a.m., which is when the season begins for Brooke, who is an avid trout cook.

Trout, one of the most popular freshwater sport fish in the United States, has devotees all over the country.

Of course, each region claims that the best fish comes out of its own local waters. This is probably true, since nearly any fish fresh from the stream or the lake is preferred to its iced and stored counterpart.

However, these days trout are raised commercially on "farms" and brought to market in tip-top shape via state-of-the-art packing and shipping. Even more appealing is that these little beauties arrive in your kitchen already cleaned, boned and ready for cooking.

True trout fisherman contend that there is only one real way to cook a trout — and that is straight out of the water and into the skillet over an open fire at the side of the stream.

We can't disagree, though we do contend that there are other fine ways to cook a trout. Here are two of them.

Our Trout Amandine is a variation on a classic and raises this fish to new and rather elegant heights. This pan-frying method is equally good with small, whole, boned or unboned trout, as well as trout fillets. Serve it with butter and chive-sprinkled little red new potatoes and steamed green beans for a seasonal celebration.

Citrus and Herb-Broiled Trout couldn't be easier. Just stuff the cavity of whole boned or unboned trout with the fruit slices and fresh herbs. This is lovely accompanied by rice pilaf and sauteed snow peas.

CITRUS AND HERB-BROILED TROUT

- 4 (about 10 ounces each) whole small trout, cleaned (boned if desired)
- 4 tablespoons olive oil
- Salt and pepper
- 2 medium lemons, sliced
- 2 medium limes, sliced
- 1 bunch flat-leaf parsley
- ½ cup fresh tarragon sprigs or 1 teaspoon dried tarragon

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 20 minutes.

Preheat broiler. Brush trout liberally inside and out with oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Stuff cavities with 2 slices each of lemon and lime and several sprigs each of parsley and tarragon. (If using dried tarragon, sprinkle each with ¼ teaspoon.) Skewer cavity shut.

If using broiler, lay several lemon and lime slices and several parsley and fresh tarragon sprigs on rack in shallow broiler pan. Lay trout atop fruits and herbs.

Broil about 4 inches from heat for 4 minutes. Carefully turn fish with spatula and broil 4 to 5 additional minutes until skin is well browned and crisp and fish is just cooked through. Remove skewers and herbs and citrus from cavity of fish.

Lay fish on serving plates. Garnish lavishly with remaining parsley, tarragon and sliced fruits from cavity and from broiler pan.

Note: Fish can be cooked on grill. Omit broiling "bed" of sliced fruits and herbs. Instead, lay fruit slices and fresh herbs atop fish during last 4 to 5 minutes of broiling.

TROUT AMANDINE

- ½ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 3 tablespoons butter, divided
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 4 small whole trout, (about 10 ounces each), cleaned (boned, if desired) or 4 trout fillets (about 5 ounces each)
- 6 tablespoons sliced almonds
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley, divided
- 4 lemon wedges for garnish

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 20 minutes.

In pie plate, combine flour, thyme, salt, pepper and nutmeg.

Using 2 large skillets, divide 2 tablespoons butter and oil between them and heat. Dip trout in seasoned flour to coat. Saute trout, 2 to a skillet, in butter and oil over medium heat, about 5 minutes for whole fish and 2 minutes for fillets (if using only 1 skillet, simply cook half at a time.)

Carefully turn with spatula and saute same amount of time until skin is browned and crisp and fish is just cooked through. Remove fish to platter.

Pour drippings from 1 skillet into other and add remaining 1 tablespoon butter. Saute almonds over medium heat about 2 minutes, until golden brown. Add lemon juice and stir. Stir in 1 tablespoon parsley.

To serve, spoon sauce over fish and sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon parsley. Garnish with lemon wedges.

TIPS

• The very reliable Canadian fishing theory of cooking applies to both recipes. Simply measure the thickness of the fish just before cooking and then cook (broiling, baking or pan-frying) at the rate of 10 minutes per inch of thickness.

Time is ripe for summer beauties

As backyard gardens spill over with fresh tomatoes, cooks start looking for ways to put the vine-ripe beauties to good use. Non-gardeners, too, see the heaps of red tomatoes in the markets or roadside stands and want to take advantage of the best crop they'll find at the best price available during the year.

Botanically, the tomato is not a vegetable but a fruit, since it is pulpy and contains edible seeds that are not stones. The flavor of the tomato depends upon the ratio of sugar to acid: Too much acid and the tomato will be sour and unappealing.

And as appealing as the robust red globes are, if you can find the yellow ones, by all means try them. They come with a high price tag (several dollars a pound, usually), but buy a small quantity and serve fresh as an accent. They are sweeter and less acidic than even a vine-ripened red one.

And if taste isn't enough to convince you to go for tomatoes, no matter the color, maybe the nutritional statistics on them will: One medium-size tomato contains half of the recommended dietary allowance of vitamin C and almost a quarter of the recommendation for vitamin A. Tomatoes also contain B vitamins, potassium, iron and phosphorus.

Additionally, a tomato has almost as much fiber as a slice of whole-wheat bread. It is also low in calories (35 in a medium one), low in sodium and contains no cholesterol. (All magic words in these health-conscious times.)

A number of companies are marketing the dried tomato, which, when reconstituted and softened, tastes like a vine-ripe tomato and which can be stored on the shelf. Most of them are dried without salt, sulfur or preservatives and they are sold in small cellophane bags.

Here are some hints for getting the maximum benefit from tomatoes.

- If a recipe calls for peeled tomatoes, put a tomato on a slotted spoon and submerge it in simmering water for 30 seconds to a minute (time depends on ripeness of tomato). The skin should slide right off.

- Some spices and herbs that blend well with tomatoes are basil, bay leaf, curry, oregano, thyme, dill weed and sage.

- If it's necessary to ripen tomatoes, place them in a brown paper lunch bag and let sit at room temperature for one day up to several days. As the fruit ripens, it emits an ethylene gas, a plant hormone that is part of the natural maturing process, which hastens ripening. Check often to avoid spoilage.

- Once tomatoes are ripe, use as soon as possible. Never refrigerate tomatoes, as the chill air of the refrigerator kills their delicate flavor.

- The California Fresh Market Tomato Advisory Board says temperatures below 50 degrees Fahrenheit halt the ripening process and inhibit development of tomato flavor and aroma. Chilling for more than an hour or two stops the ripening process permanently. Today, most supermarket produce managers have switched to room temperature display and storage.

- Eat tomatoes out-of-hand, like an apple, for a snack or slice ripe tomatoes into sandwiches, cut into wedges to garnish a salad or add to the following recipes.

This is a spicy version of the Spanish gazpacho, a cold, tomato-based vegetable soup. From the cookbook, "Easy Cooking for Today," by the Canadian chef Pol Martin, the soup has only 94 calories and 2 grams of fat per serving.

CHILLED MEXICAN SOUP

- 4 fresh tomatoes, peeled and seeded, finely chopped
- 1 cup celery, finely chopped
- 2 scallions, finely chopped
- 2 medium cucumbers, finely chopped
- 1 small hot green chili, such as jalapeno, seeded and finely chopped (see note)
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- 4 cups chilled tomato juice
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- Salt and lemon pepper to taste

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Place finely chopped ingredients in bowl. Add Tabasco sauce, tomato juice, olive oil, salt and lemon pepper. Mix well.

Chill several hours. Serve soup in chilled bowls and garnish with thin slice of lemon.

CHEESEBURGER STUFFED TOMATOES

- 6 medium-size ripe tomatoes (about 2 pounds)
- Salt to taste
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 teaspoons basil leaves, crushed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
- ½ cup cooked rice
- ½ cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 slice (1 ounce) cheddar cheese, cut into strips

Yields 6 servings.

Preheat oven to 350 F. Cut off ¼-inch slice from stem end of each tomato. With spoon, carefully scoop out pulp, reserving 1 cup pulp. Lightly sprinkle insides of tomato shells with salt to taste; turn upside down to drain.

In large skillet, heat oil until hot. Add onion; saute for 2 minutes. Add beef; cook and stir until browned, about 5 minutes. Drain off excess fat. Add basil, 1 teaspoon salt, black pepper and reserved tomato pulp; bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, until liquid is reduced, about 8 minutes.

Stir in rice, shredded cheese and egg; heat gently just until hot. Spoon into tomato shells. Top with sliced cheese. Place on a baking pan; bake until hot, about 15 minutes. Serve garnished with parsley, if desired.

YELLOWNECK SQUASH WITH TOMATOES AND BASIL

- 2 pounds small yellowneck squash, or combination of yellowneck and zucchini
- ¼ cup olive or vegetable oil
- 1 cup chopped onion
- ½ cup water
- 4 large tomatoes, peeled and chopped
- 1 or 2 cloves garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon dried basil, crumbled, or 1 to 2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil leaves
- ¼ teaspoon each salt and pepper
- ¼ cup ricotta cheese
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon minced fresh parsley

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Trim squash and slice 1 inch thick; set aside. Heat oil in large, heavy skillet. Add onion and saute until translucent, then add water, tomatoes, garlic, basil, salt and pepper. Bring to boil, then reduce heat and simmer gently for 5 minutes. Stir in squash; cover and simmer over very low heat 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally, until squash is tender.

Turn vegetables into serving bowl; spoon ricotta cheese in center of vegetables, then sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and parsley. Serve immediately.

DRIED TOMATOES IN OIL

- 3 pounds ripe tomatoes
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 6-inch sprigs dry rosemary or 1 tablespoon of dry leaves (see note)
- 1¼ cups olive oil, approximately

Three pounds of fresh tomatoes yield about 6 ounces (1 pint) dried tomatoes.

Wash tomatoes. Slice lengthwise almost completely in half. Lay them with cut side up and sprinkle with salt.

To dry in dehydrator, place tomatoes, cut side up, about 1 inch apart on dehydrator rack. Put in 125 F dehydrator until individual tomatoes shrivel to flattish, small ovals and feel dry to touch but flexible, not brittle, from 17 to 23 hours.

To dry in oven, set tomatoes, cut side up, on wire racks placed in 2 shallow 10x15-inch pans. Bake at 200 F until tomatoes feel and look as described for dehydrator method, from 7 to 9 hours.

Pack dried tomatoes loosely in a 1- to 1½-pint jar with rosemary.

Pour in oil to cover tomatoes (they may mold if exposed to air).

Tomatoes are good to eat right away, but they're best when left to stand at least 1½ months. Store airtight at room temperature. Use as long as oil tastes fresh.

Note: Rosemary must be in dried form.

...

This salad contains the perfect combination of flavors. The basil, tomatoes and mozzarella cheese complement each other.

SICILIAN TOMATO SALAD

- 4 medium-size ripe tomatoes
- Lettuce leaves
- 1 medium-size red onion, sliced
- ¼ cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon red-wine vinegar
- 1¼ teaspoons basil leaves, crushed
- 1 garlic clove, crushed
- 1 anchovy fillet, minced
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Remove stem ends from tomatoes; slice. Line serving platter with lettuce. Arrange tomatoes and onions on top. Sprinkle with cheese; set aside.

To make dressing, combine oil, vinegar, basil, garlic, anchovy and salt. Pour over tomatoes. Garnish with additional anchovies, if desired. Let stand at least 15 minutes before serving.

FRESH TOMATO-GINGER VINAIGRETTE

- 1 medium-size fresh tomato (about 6 ounces), peeled
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh ginger or ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ground black pepper
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 tablespoon plain low-fat yogurt

Yields 1 cup.

Core and quarter tomato. In container of electric blender place tomato, ginger, salt, black pepper, oil, orange juice and yogurt; blend until smooth, about 30 seconds. Toss with mixed greens, seafood or chicken salads. Refrigerate in covered container up to 2 days.

UNCOOKED SUMMER TOMATO SAUCE

- 3 pounds ripe plum tomatoes, peeled, cored and cut into chunks
- 2 tablespoons fruity olive oil
- 1½ cups tightly packed fresh basil leaves
- 2 teaspoons red wine vinegar, preferably Balsamic
- 1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste

Yields about 4 cups.

Place all ingredients in food processor fitted with steel blade and pulse until tomatoes and basil are coarsely chopped. Adjust seasonings. Use immediately or refrigerate until needed, up to 3 days.

Eating flowers

Flowers are cropping up in the strangest places these days. Usually confined to the vase and garden, they recently have been putting in appearances on dinner plates and in salad bowls at some of the country's finest restaurants.

While the notion of eating flowers may seem novel to some, the practice is actually quite ancient. I have run across a medieval recipe for elderflower cheesecake and a 17th century recipe for parsnips cooked with marigolds.

Rose petal jam is probably as old as the art of making jellies and preserves, and crystallized violets have long been used to decorate cakes.

Elderflower wine and orange flower water are two other age-old preparations that rely upon flowers, and the Italians have been stuffing squash blossoms for centuries.

Now that spring has sprung and flowers are gracing our fields and gardens, it is a good moment to think about edible flowers. However, a few words of caution are in order.

First, be sure that the flowers you are about to toss in the salad bowl are indeed edible — not all varieties are. In addition, do not gather flowers from the roadside or any other location where they might be affected by toxic fumes.

To avoid problems, it is best to use flowers from your own garden so that you can be sure of what you're getting. Homegrown flowers also are much more flavorful than their greenhouse-grown cousins, which have had much of the fragrance and flavor bred out of them. But do be sure that any flowers you intend to eat have not been sprayed with insecticides.

Although flower petals are very delicate, it's a wise precaution to wash them gently, but thoroughly. After washing, drain the petals between layers of paper towels or clean kitchen cloths.

Except when using a whole flower as a garnish, it is generally best to use the petals only, for the bud and mature flowers can be rather fibrous.

My favorite way to eat flowers is in salads. Tossed among a variety of fresh, crisp greens, violet or nasturtium petals add vivid color, a contrasting soft texture and a mild taste.

Flowers also make decorative and delicious additions to mild vinegars and spreads for thinly sliced tea sandwiches.

You also may add flower petals to cakes or mix them with black tea leaves for an exotically scented potion.

Here are a few other possibilities to consider:

Nasturtium flowers have a slightly peppery taste and may be used as an interesting substitute for watercress or arugula.

NASTURTIUM SALAD

A variety of mixed salad greens, about 2 pounds

total, washed and spun dry
About 36 nasturtium heads
4 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons walnut oil
2 teaspoons prepared French mustard
2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Yields 6 servings.

Place greens in large salad bowl. In small jar, combine remaining ingredients for dressing, and shake well. Pour over just enough dressing to moisten salad. Toss and serve immediately.

I've adapted this recipe from a medieval preparation called sambocade, which appears in a manuscript cookbook dating from 1391 and is associated with the household of King Richard II of England.

The dried elderflowers (available in health food stores) give it a haunting flavor, and I like to think that this cheesecake was one of King Richard's favorites.

If you wish to substitute fresh elderflowers for dried, double the amount indicated and skip the soaking stage.

ELDERFLOWER CHEESECAKE

9-inch uncooked pie pastry
3 tablespoons dried elderflowers
4 tablespoons light cream
½ cup brown sugar
½ pound farmer or pot cheese
½ pound ricotta cheese
2 teaspoons dry bread crumbs
6 egg whites, beaten until stiff, but not dry

Yields 8 servings.

Bake pie pastry at 425 F for 10 minutes. Let cool.

Soak elderflowers in cream for about 10 minutes. Add sugar and stir until dissolved.

Push cheeses through strainer with back of tablespoon. Combine cheeses with elderflower-cream mixture. Add bread crumbs. Blend thoroughly. Fold in stiff egg whites.

Pour mixture into pastry crust. Bake at 375 F about 50 minutes or until firm but not dry. Turn off heat and allow to cool in oven with door open about 15 minutes. Serve warm or room temperature.

Happy birthday to the hamburger!

Even with all the talk about beef and nutrition, the hamburger always has fallen short of any controversy. Fourteen million burgers are eaten every day across the United States. This staggering figure computes into every American eating 30 pounds of hamburger each year.

The reason behind these facts: The hamburger, America's favorite sandwich, has just turned 100 years old this year.

Several people have been given credit for its creation. Fletcher Davis of Texas had been making his burger for years before introducing it to America at the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis.

Back East, Louis of Louis' Lunch in New Haven, Conn., started putting his burgers between two slices of bread in 1899.

And the burger was a topic of discussion as far back as 1889 in Walla Walla, Wash., in the local newspaper, the Union.

So when did this American phenomenon really make the scene? No matter the exact date — the hamburger has become an American institution. In fact, its reputation is somewhat synonymous with American eating. When talking with Michelin-starred chefs of France, a common question asked is "Do all Americans eat hamburgers?"

Well, there is a point to that question, because when my family travels overseas, the hamburger is always one of our first meals when we get back home. Even America's top French chef can be seen eating a burger on Sundays with his family at Burger King. It's a catchy habit!

Here is a recipe for America's favorite hamburger, along with some modern adaptations for your kids to create. All kids love patting their own burgers, plus making concoctions that make their burgers perfect.

Cooking the burgers will require some adult supervision, especially if the children are under the age of 12. But even the younger kids will have a ball patting and creating their burgers.

THE PERFECT HAMBURGER

1 small onion
1 tablespoon butter
1½ pounds lean ground beef
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dried garlic flakes
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
4 hamburger buns

Utensils: Cutting board, utility knife, small frying pan, mixing spoon, mixing bowl, grill or broiler pan, spatula, oven mitts.

Preparation time: 20 minutes.

Cooking time: 8 to 10 minutes.

Yields 4 hamburgers.

Place onion on cutting board. Carefully using utility knife, cut onion in half. Peel away outside skin and throw away. Place onion halves, flat side down, on cutting board. Cut each half into thin slices, then cut across slices so onion is cut into small pieces.

Place butter in frying pan and place on stove. Put heat on medium-high and let butter melt. Add onions and reduce heat to medium and cook slowly until they become soft, about 4 to 5 minutes. Turn heat off and place frying pan on cool burner.

Put beef in mixing bowl. Add Worcestershire sauce, garlic flakes, salt, pepper and cooked onions. Using mixing spoon, blend ingredients together.

Divide beef into 4 parts. Roll beef into small balls and then pat each ball into round patty, 1 inch thick. You can use a ruler to measure if you are unsure. Place hamburgers on plate and set aside.

Turn broiler on or have an adult set up the grill. When hot, split hamburger buns in half and place face up on broiler pan or face down on grill. Cook until bread begins to turn golden brown. With oven mitts on, carefully remove pan from oven and place on heat-proof surface. Remove buns. If cooking on grill, slide spatula under buns to remove. Set buns aside.

Carefully place hamburgers on pan and replace in broiler or place burgers on grill with spatula. Let hamburgers cook 4 minutes. On grill, flip burgers over using spatula. If cooking burgers in broiler, put on oven mitts to pull pan out slightly before flipping burgers with spatula. Push pan back in broiler. After turning over burgers, cook 4 minutes more.

Using spatula, remove burgers from grill or turn off broiler and remove pan, then slide burgers off pan. Place one burger on each bun.

CALIFORNIA BURGER

4 uncooked hamburger patties
3 tablespoons soft goat cheese
½ cup alfalfa sprouts
½ cup grated mild cheddar cheese

Utensils: Broiler pan, spatula, measuring cup, oven mitts, table knife.

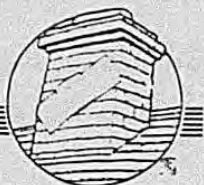

Yields topping for 4 burgers.

Turn broiler on. Place burger patties on broiler pan. Once broiler is hot, carefully place pan in broiler. Let hamburgers cook 4 minutes. Then, with oven mitts on, pull pan out slightly and flip over burgers with spatula. Continue to cook for 2 minutes.

With oven mitts on, pull broiler pan out slightly. Spread goat cheese evenly over burgers. Top each with sprouts and sprinkling of cheese. Push pan back in oven and continue cooking 3 minutes or until cheese has melted.

With oven mitts on, carefully remove broiler pan from broiler and slide burgers off pan with spatula and place on buns. Serve burgers while hot.

Only wood paneling can be refinished

Q. Our home is approximately 25 years old and has a paneled family room. The paneling is quite dark and I would like to lighten it some way without painting over the paneling.

The trend in furniture is to bleach somehow and add shading and that sounds like an attractive alternative to painting, but I don't know how to find out about this or if it would be possible. — M.A.G.

A. The first step is to make sure that you have wood paneling, not a vinyl- or plastic-finished paneling. Wood can be refinished, the plastic finishes cannot.

Vinyl and plastic have a slight sheen and lack the richness in grain of real wood. If you are still unsure, sand a small area. The finish will shred and flake off if it's vinyl or plastic.

If you have real wood paneling, the first step is to remove the finish with a commercial paint and varnish remover, following manufacturer's directions carefully.

The remover can be applied with a paintbrush following the wood grain. Complete removal requires the use of a putty knife for scraping off the residue. Use care not to mar the wood finish when scraping. This is a messy, tedious job. Two coats of varnish remover may be required to thoroughly clean the wood.

Follow with steel wool and a tack cloth, then apply lacquer thinner and wipe with rags while still wet. This will remove residual wax from the pores of the wood. Let the surface thoroughly dry before the bleaching process.

Apply a two-part wood bleach, following manufacturer's directions carefully. Test in an inconspicuous area first. Let the wood surface dry overnight following the bleaching process.

Rub the surface down with fine 000 steel wool and follow with a light surface sanding with medium to fine sandpaper. Finally, rub down with a tack cloth.

You may be satisfied with the natural finish at this stage, or you can use a light stain for the desired color. If a stain is to be put on, it should be given a light coat of shellac or other sealer before applying the final finish.

The natural wood should be finished with a top coat of lacquer or shellac. Another popular finish for wood surfaces today is called "pickling." This is a whitewash finish that often has a tint of color. It is transparent and emphasizes the grain of the wood.

Usually it is top-coated with varnish or polyurethane to protect the finish and make it easier to clean. It isn't difficult, but must be done with care for the best results.

It works best on open-grained woods such as oak, but should also work well on pine. You can use either latex-based or alkyd-based paint. Latex is easier since it can be thinned with water.

Use a flat white paint thinned by about one-third of its volume to give good penetration. Apply the paint solution to the wood surface (after it has been fully prepared as described above and wiped down with a tack cloth).

Use a brush or pad for paint application. Allow the paint to penetrate for a few minutes for a light tint, 10 minutes or so for more whiteness. Before the solution is dry, rub it off the surface with rags, working with a circular motion or across the grain so that some of the paint is left in the grain depressions.

Since it must be wiped off soon after application, it is best to work in one small area at a time or to have a helper work with you to wipe off the excess paint at the appropriate time.

You may want to test this application on a piece of scrap wood, or in an inconspicuous area, to achieve the desired results in timing before tackling the wall surface.

You can also add color tints to the white paint to achieve light, transparent pastel shades.

When the application is complete, let the wood dry overnight and sand with fine sandpaper, preferably using an electric finishing sander or pad sander.

Remove residue with a tack cloth and apply coat of clear varnish. When the varnish is dry, sand lightly and apply at least one more coat for proper protection.

Positive treatment for diabetes in older adults

At age 40 your probability of being diabetic is only 3 percent to 5 percent. But turn 60 plus and the possibility increases to 10 percent; and one in five adults 80 plus will have at least some complications of diabetes.

The problem is that half of the 11 million cases of diabetes are undiagnosed and so those with the disease are probable victims of its many serious complications, according to Loren Lipson, M.D., chief of geriatric medicine at the University of Southern California. He cites that:

• Diabetes causes most of the blindness in the United States, and when the disease is unchecked and untreated eventual blindness may be assumed.

• Diabetes is the leading cause of renal (kidney) failure unless it is treated.

• Diabetes accelerates heart disease, heart attacks and stroke, and is the major cause of toe, foot and leg amputations — because of gangrene — in the United States.

That's the bad news — the kind of facts that experts like Lipson present to mature adults, not to scare people, but to create an awareness so that individuals and their physicians will do something about it.

The good news is that most diabetes is treatable and the chronic condition may be stabilized naturally. Lipson states that 95 percent of people with the condition may be diagnosed as having Type II — diabetes mellitus — a form that does not use insulin as necessary treatment. This form affects older people with onset generally after age 40.

Type I diabetes, which does use insulin therapy, is also characterized as juvenile diabetes, most predictably affecting people under the age of 20.

"NIDDM — non-insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus — should be the concern of all older adults, but a positive concern," states Lipson. "An annual health checkup each year should include a blood sugar test for diabetes."

If diabetes is diagnosed and treated early the mature adult may live a very healthy and active life, even one without medication.

"Seventy percent of my diabetic patients can be treated simply by adjusting their diet," says Lipson. "Even with this knowledge the problem is that 95 percent of them fail to follow through with the easy changes in what they eat. Another 25 percent may be treated by the combination of diet change with moderate exercise — even a daily walk."

But he cites that "about 95 percent of the patients fail to follow through. Approximately 5 percent of the patients with diabetes mellitus need a non-insulin medication, combined with the diet and exercise programs."

When people diagnosed with diabetes treatable with dietary changes and/or exercises fail to follow through on the program, the disease may worsen, complications — such as blindness and heart disease — may be accelerated, and the condition may even advance to an insulin-dependent form of diabetes.

Dr. Mark Mengel, professor of family medicine at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center in Oklahoma City, identifies the high risk groups for diabetes:

- Anyone obese — 20 percent or more over normal body weight;
- Anyone with a family history of diabetes, especially a parent;
- Members of a minority group, including American Indian, blacks, Hispanic and Asians. (A research report by USC's Lipson identifies the American diet to be a key factor, because blacks in Africa and Asians in Japan, China and Korea all have low incidence of diabetes.)
- Women who have had gestational diabetes (temporary diabetes developed during pregnancy).

"Some older adults are afraid to be screened for diabetes because they fear the doctor will immediately put them on insulin, and they will have to take shots forever," Mengel said.

"But the vast majority of Type II diabetes does not need insulin. People shouldn't let fear keep them from going to the doctor. Diabetes can be treated. Not treating it may produce the most serious of complications."

Mature adults may or may not evidence symptoms of diabetes, but many of the possible signs for concern include: frequent urination, accompanied by an excessive thirst and the drinking of a large amount of fluids; rapid weight loss or gain; extreme hunger; easy fatigue; blurred vision or any change in sight; a tingling feeling, numbness or pain in legs, feet, fingers or toes; excessive weight; frequent skin infections or itchiness; drowsiness or the slow healing of wounds.

Excessive weight, according to Lipson, may be the most predictable sign and, too, the first identified step for correction.

"We need to decrease the caloric intake and substitute foods for their qualities — fruits and vegetables, fish, chicken and only lean meats, pasta, whole grains and beans. Fats must be reduced, and 55 percent to 60 percent of total calories should come from carbohydrates."

The best medicine for treating and controlling most diabetic conditions, according to the experts interviewed, may be in diet and moderate exercise.

For today's diabetes tests the physician draws only a single drop of blood. So of the tests are given after the patient has eaten a meal and others when the patient has fasted for several hours.

Unchecked, diabetes in mature adults may produce other and added serious health problems. But, if diagnosed early, the proper teaming of physician and patient may have diabetes in check quickly and naturally.

For information on diabetes, write the American Diabetes Association, 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016.

What is the value of my Mettlach stein?

Q: Enclosed is a picture of my Mettlach stein. It holds a half liter and is numbered 2074. The pewter lid has a ceramic insert.

I hope that this picture and my description will assist you in determining the value of my stein.

A: Your stein was made by Villeroy & Boch in Mettlach, Germany, during the fourth quarter of the 19th century.

It probably would sell for $500 to $600.

Q: My mother gave me an old teapot that she had inherited from her mother. It was supposed to be over 100 years old. It is decorated with two panels of a boy and girl courting and two panels of multicolored flowers.

The attached mark is on the bottom.

Can you tell me anything about the origin and what the value might be?

STEIN

...Made by Villeroy & Boch

century and would probably sell for about $125 to $135 in good condition. I doubt that a collector would be interested in this in the condition you describe.

BOOK REVIEW

"Illustrated Radio Premium and Price Guide" by Tom Tumbusch; Chilton Book Co., Radnor, PA 19089.

Lone Ranger, Superman, Dick Tracy, et al, collectors attention! Here is the book you have been looking for. It catalogs the premiums offered in exchange for cereal box tops and candy wrappers throughout the mid-20th century.

If you didn't know that the Green Hornet's Secret Compartment Glow-in-the-Dark Ring in mint condition sells for $400, you need this excellent handbook.

The last few pages are devoted to places to buy or sell your rare collectible premium.

Q: The mark on my Dresden figurine is "N" under a crown. It is a girl dancing in a white lace dress with applied flowers.

I would appreciate your opinion as to age and value. Part of the lace dress is missing.

A: This figurine was made by Sandzelli porcelain factory in Sandzelli, Germany. It is misleading to mark this "Dresden."

It was made in the mid-20th

Heat stress endangers children, dogs and cats

Q: How hot is the temperature in a parked car during the summer?

Our neighbor takes her dog with her to the grocery store throughout the year. I worry that the dog will have heat stress while she is in the store.

A: Closed or semi-closed automobiles can be extremely dangerous during the hot summer months for dogs, cats and children.

Whenever the outside temperature is 85 degrees Fahrenheit or greater, the temperature within a closed car can reach a lethal level within 15 minutes. In dark colored automobiles, death-causing temperatures may be reached even faster.

Puppies, short-nosed dogs, obese dogs and old dogs are most prone to suffer heat stress. Signs of heat stress include a very high rectal temperature, rapid panting, fast pulse rate, reddened gums, weakness, an anxious or staring expression, vomiting and eventually collapse and death.

Rectal temperatures in heat-stressed dogs can reach 106 F to 109 F. The normal temperature of the dog rarely exceeds 102.5 F. Heat stress is an emergency situation.

Dogs with heat stress should be immersed in cold water. If it's impossible to immerse the dog in cold water, spraying with cold water is usually helpful. Ice applied between the thighs and on the head is usually beneficial. The dog should be moved to an air-conditioned room. If the dog responds to first aid and is able to eat small amounts of ice cubes or drink small amounts of water, these should be offered.

Any dog suffering due to heat stress should be examined by a veterinarian. Many dogs suffer relapses following the first signs of improvement. The best treatment for heat stress in pets is prevention. Most cases of heat stress in pets is simply due to human negligence. It is a good rule to never leave pets or children unattended in automobiles, especially on hot summer days.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

For most of you this was the last week of school until September. A few weeks ago I asked what your plans are for the summer. One boy wrote to say that his parents are going to take the family to Disneyland in California. I was there a few years ago and had a great time. Another girl said that she will be going to camp for most of the summer. She has friends from the camp, so she's looking forward to camp.

Many children will be at home for most of the summer. Although this may seem sort of boring, there are lots of things to do in this area. If you check with your local library and park, you'll find fun activities for the whole summer.

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winner is Richard Lapsley.

RULES BOYS AND GIRLS

Here is your chance to win One Dollar ($1.00) - to spend or to save.

Here's all you have to do:
1. Contest is open to children 4 to 12 years of age.

2. Entries must be received by Friday, July 6, 1990

3. Paint, watercolors and crayons must be used on the above.
4. Decision of the Judges will be final.

Mail your entry (just clip our cartoon) to this newspaper at:

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

These are the two beautiful granddaughters of April and Carl Garraffo of Garden City. Stephanie Amanda Luckman, left, is three years old. She and her parents, Ann Marie and Jerry Luckman also live in Garden City. Gina Emily Garraffo, right, is one year old. She and her parents, Lisa and Carl Garraffo live in Oceanside.

We love them both very, very much. We are happy to share them with their other grandparents, Marion Luckman of Elmont and Joan and Vinnie Giardina of Valley Stream.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By William M. Acosta

Law change benefits adopted children

Q: Was there a change in the Social Security law regarding benefits for adopted children? — A.L.

A: Yes. Under previous law, adopted children generally could not receive benefits unless the adopting parent had lived with and supported the child for a full year before the parent became disabled or entitled to disability or retirement benefits.

The legislative change eliminated this requirement for most children. Contact your Social Security office for additional information.

Q: My brother told me that a person can get Supplemental Security Income even if he or she is not a citizen of the United States. Is that true? — L.C.

A: A person must reside in the United States and be a U.S. citizen, an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, or an alien permanently residing in the United States under color of law.

"Under color of law" is an alien status other than immigrant, under which the Immigration and Naturalization Service is allowing the alien to reside in the United States indefinitely.

Q: Someone told me that my ex-wife will be able to receive benefits when I retire.

Since I have remarried, does this mean that my present wife will receive a lesser benefit? — F.R.

A: Your ex-wife will be able to receive benefits on your work record if she is unmarried, 62 or older, and was married to you for at least 10 years.

The entitlement of an ex-spouse does not affect either the amount of your benefit or that of your present spouse.

Q: My wife and I have been entitled to Medicare for two years. We are planning to travel to various foreign countries. Will our Medicare coverage still be effective? — J.M.

A: Medicare generally cannot pay for hospital or medical services outside the United States. (Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Northern Mariana Islands are considered part of the United States, along with the 50 states and the District of Columbia.)
