Walkamerica Ambassador

"Walkamerica" Youth Ambassador Meghan Couler, 8, of Hicksville, flashes a big smile as she presents an award of appreciation to Commissioner John B. Kiernan (Williston Park) of the Nassau County Dept. of Recreation and Park, which hosted the recent successful March of Dimes "Walk-a-thon" at Eisenhower Park in East Meadow. All proceeds raised through the event went to fight birth defects.

Summer Reading Program

All members and their families are invited to a final club party on Monday, August 27. Dan Conley from Connecticut will sing his original songs, accompanying himself on the guitar. Refreshments will be served and party times are 4-5 p.m. for "Monkeyshines" and 7-8 p.m. for "Library Safari." The reading club parties are funded by a grant from the Chase Manhattan Bank and this is the second year the Children's Room has been awarded a grant for their reading club programs.

Don't forget, there is still time to register for the summer clubs and registration for the many August workshops starts Monday, July 30.

Our unique Safari decorations wee done by staff member Lolita Vosper.

The first day of the July registration drew a large crowd of parents and children to the Children's Room of the Hicksville Public Library. Almost 700 books were checked out of the Children's Room July 2, and we hope that many of the books will be included in the Summer Reading Clubs. There are two reading clubs, one for younger non-readers and one for independent readers. The "Monkeyshines Club" is designed for children who are read to and there are over 50 registered already. The "Library Safari Club" boasts almost 100 members and each member gets a chance in a raffle every time they come to the library or read so many pages. There is still time to register for either club.

Office Use Request Denied

A request for a change of zone in Plainview has been denied by the Oyster Bay Town Board, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

"The applicant, Gladys Abel was seeking a change of zone from 'D' Residence District to 'R-O' Residence-Office District, for the purpose of utilizing the subject as an office without the requirement that the Petitioner reside there at," Clark stated. The property is located at 1140 Old Country Road in Plainview.

"In denying the application, the Board found that the proposed use would be incompatible with the general residential character of the area and would disturb and unnecessarily interfere with the health, peace quiet and comfortable enjoyment of life in this community," Clark explained. "The Board also cited noises and disturbances as well as an adverse influence to the flow of traffic as reasons for turning down the change of zone request."

Convenience Store Permit Denied

A request for a special use permit in Plainview has been denied by the Oyster Bay Town Board, according to Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

"The applicants, Amoco Oil Company, Lessee and Ernest Markowitz, fee owner, were seeking a special use permit in an 'F' Business District to raze and rebuild an existing gasoline service station, to operate a convenience store in conjunction with a gasoline filling station and for permission to continue to operate between the hours of 10:30 p.m. and 6:30 a.m.," Ocker stated. The property is located at the southeast corner of Old Country Road and Grohans Lane in Plainview.

"In denying the application, the Board found that the proposed use would be incompatible with the general residential character of the area and would disturb and unnecessarily interfere with the health, peace, quiet and comfortable enjoyment of life in this community," Ocker explained. "The Board also cited noises and disturbances as well as an adverse influence on the flow of traffic as reasons for turning down the special use request."

Ocker noted that a public hearing on the application was held on June 5, 1990.

Board Against Alcohol Sale At Service Sta.

By Michele Coyle

The Town of Oyster Bay Board reiterated its stand against permitting the sale of alcohol at gas station-convenience store establishments during a hearing at Town Hall East last Tuesday.

Kenneth O'Brien, Attorney for the petitioners, Sun Refining and Marketing Company and SIMCO, which is seeking to operate a convenience store in conjunction with a service station at Hicksville Road and Union Avenue in Bethpage, told the Board that his client would seek to continue the sale of alcoholic beverages similar to those presently being sold at the Dairy Barn on the same property. The Dairy Barn establishment will be demolished if the petition is approved.

Supervisor Angelo Delligatti and Councilman Howard Hogan, Jr., reminded the attorney that the Board would not approve the use if it included the sale of alcohol at a service station.

Mr. O'Brien stated he understood this policy and would ask his client to reconsider.

According to Town spokespersons, the Town sets the uses of where alcohol may be served while the State issues licenses.

The proposal, as presented, calls for a four bay service area, six pump islands, a small office with restrooms and a convenience store.

Councilman Douglas Hynes asked if the canopy denoted in the plan could be eliminated as it seems to intrude upon the character of the neighborhood.

Mr. O'Brien responded that canopies have become an integral part of service stations and called on Gerard Schaeffner, an engineer with Petroleum Associates to testify. Mr. Schaeffner stated that the canopy provides protection for patrons during inclement weather and also acts as a screen to fire suppression equipment.

Supervisor Delligatti commented that oil companies, in general seem to be moving in one direction with regard to canopies. "A large canopy may be appropriate on Sunrise Highway or Jericho Turnpike, but I question it in an area as mixed as this area." He advised that an alternative to the canopy be considered.

Edward Lynch, a real estate expert called upon by the petitioners, agreed with the Board that a large canopy would intrude on the character of the area, which he described as mixed business and residence. "The size should be modified to fit in better," he said, but added that the sight of the canopy was better than the sight of exposed fire apparatus.

Traffic expert Vincent Donnelly was called upon by Mr. O'Brien to report the findings of a traffic study. Mr. Donnelly stated that there would be no negative impact on traffic safety or congestion and added that a 50 percent reduction in the existing curb cuts should prove beneficial. A decision on the hearing was reserved.

The Board also withheld its decision on increasing metered parking spaces for commuters in Bethpage after hearing from civic leaders of that hamlet. Michael Steiniger of the Central Civic Association of Bethpage informed the Board that installing the meters may cause a hardship for some volunteers who work for nearby organizations.

Dennis Brady, of the Bethpage Chamber of Commerce, requested that the meters not be installed. He felt they would adversely affect local merchants.

Action was, however, taken on several items including:

- changing the name of Park Street (between Woodbury Road and Heitz Place) in Hicksville to Harding Avenue.
- accepting a negative declaration from Town Environmental Quality Review Commission for the petition of Peter DeJana for a Special Use Permit to store and repair vehicles outdoors and to construct and use a two story industrial building to furnish municipal services on the northside of West John Street in Hicksville.
- appointed Paul Duffy of Horan Real Estate of Syosset the appraiser of a strip of land adjacent to 20 Gables Drive in Hicksville at a fee not to exceed $300.

Hearing dates were also set for two petitions:

Letters

Printed By Request

Dear Mrs. Miltenberg:

I know this letter may be a little late - but I think it is important to let you know how I feel. I am a member of the High School Band and was at the July 10 Board Meeting when contingency funds were denied to send the students to summer Band Camp. First, you should know that "Band Camp" is not a "camp" at all. It is a week of intense rehearsals. We put in 16 hour days working in the hot sun as a unit - together. You need to understand that these rehearsals are not as intense when held in the district (where the Board suggests camp should be held this summer). Attendance is poor, minds wander and students who are not in band are at the school "hanging out." Due to these factors, the unit - (the togetherness) is not as strong.

The members of the band prefer to think of the unit as a family. We have "Parents" (represented by our two Band Directors, Mr. McRoy and Miss Bolts). There are aunts, uncles and cousins (represented by the staff and Band Parents who chaperone). Most important of all, we see brothers and sisters in our peers. Unlike some families, everyone in our "family" is friends. Each one of us has seen every other person through bad times and good times. There is no other group in the school as close as the Band. By denying us the right to continue these workshops away from home and in a structured environment, Band Camp as well as the Marching Band season become useless. As the saying goes, "If you can't do it right, don't do it at all." No goals will be reached, and a feeling of frustration will override the feeling of accomplishment.

You must know that by voting "No" to the summer music program, you killed something in each member of this group. Our family is being split and something inside us has crumbled. If you had seen the tear-filled faces cover over the hopeful grins I think you would have realized what a terrible mistake you have made. What you took from these talented students can never be restored. I can not speak for the entire band, but it will take me an extremely long time to forgive you for taking away something that I have worked so very long and hard to achieve.

Sincerely,
Jacqueline A. DePalma

Hicksville College Bound Higher

In recent years, the Hicksville Public School district has undergone recent changes in structure as well as academic criteria and performance. The results are proving favorable: the graduating class of 1990 has exceeded Hicksville's average college-bound percentage with an 85.1% of this year's graduates planning to attend college in the Fall. This percentage is up from 76.3% of the 1989 class.

The results of regents exams over the past two years have also revealed a higher percentage of passing grades with more students taking the tests.

Furthermore, Hicksville made notable advances in many academic as well as non-academic areas. The Math Club went from six students last year to 30 this year and earned a team trophy for placing among the top teams in Nassau County. The Middle School Science Team finished sixth at the New York State competition after winning first place in Nassau County. Middle School students also earned several prestigious awards at the Long Island Science Congress. There were many awards in Foreign Language, among them Helen Woo's perfect score on the National Latin Examination, and Dora Santoli's national recognition in a creative writing contest sponsored by the French National Honor Society. Students earned top awards in Vocational Education, most notably Amy Sue Galian placing first in a New York State Skills Olympics competition. Two Hicksville students (Matthew Voss and Guy Carloni) placed third in the State in the National History Competition in Syracuse. Hicksville athletes were among the best in the County. The Soccer Comets are the Nassau County Champions, the Baseball team made it to the playoffs, the Lacrosse team was the most improved team in the county and the Gymnastics and Kickline, as usual, won top county awards. Art students made notable strides and many fine arts students were accepted to the top art schools in the country. The Hicksville Marching Band carried the Town to the East Coast Championships in Pennsylvania.

Administration points to many factors which have caused this burst of talent. According to the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Catherine J. Fenton, it has been a broad base of changes starting in the elementary schools, which has strengthened the Middle School, which in turn strengthens the High School. These current students and graduates are now the products of these changes.

Administrators in turn offered other perspectives on Hicksville's success. Mathematics Chairperson, Les Mann, said that it was encouraging that the math team soared from six students to 30. By supporting all students, he said he found that "standard math students joined the math team simply because they like the subject," and that they no longer have only honors students coming out for the team. It is this attitude that is producing winners in Hicksville. The encouragement and support on the part of the faculty and staff, and the attitude of the students that they have nothing to lose and everything to gain has been instrumental. It is this willingness on the part of the students to trust that they have the skills and the confidence to go out and try, to speak up, to take tests and to take chances.

Social Studies Chairperson, Ken McGinnis, gave the Middle School a great deal of credit. Aside from the Middle School being only one of three middle schools in the county chosen by the State for excellence, Mr. McGinnis points to the fact that the students are conditioned in the Middle School to take part in after-school activities. By the time these students enter the High School, he said, they are used to staying after school to participate in events and teams academic or otherwise.

The attitude that Hicksville students can achieve so much has also been supported by the community. The partnership Dinner, now entering its third year, is an opportunity for the students to thank all those community members who support the Hicksville Schools with generous scholarships each year. This Alumni Dinner, also entering its third year, acknowledges those students in the top 20% of the graduating class. This type of involvement has made more students and parents aware that there is community support and that scholarships are available for many students.

Finally, a new chairperson in the Guidance Department, relatively new chairpersons in math and science, and seasoned chairpersons in other departments who are guiding teachers who are talented and young, and others who are professional veterans, has provided an energetic mix and a positive force in the district.

Dr. Fenton pointed out at the Board of Education meeting on July 10, that the district proudly acknowledges these outstanding accomplishments and continues to offer this challenge to the students, to make them the best that they can be.

'Around The World With Pops'

A program entitled "Around the World with the Pops II," featuring the Concert Pops of Long Island will highlight the third week of "Music Under the Stars" programs for Plainview-Old Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman Leonard B. Symons.

The show will take place at the community park on Sunday, July 29, beginning at 8:15 p.m. Kennedy High School auditorium will be the location in the event of rain.

"The Concert Pops of Long Island, under the baton of Dean Karahalis, is a favorite with Town audiences of all ages," Symons said. "The group always provides a memorable evening of musical entertainment with its fine mosaic of classical, pop and Broadway show tunes."

Symons noted that the "Music Under the Stars" series is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community and Youth Services. This performance is also being co-sponsored by the Lincoln Savings Bank with WGSM Radio as media sponsor.

For children, CAPA will sponsor a performance by award-winning folk singer Patricia Shih. She will perform at the community park on Wednesday, July 25, at 1:30 p.m.

This program consists of songs with social content that are not only fun, but have meaning and speak of issues and ideas," Symons said. "Audience participation is also an integral part of the show with the children clapping, singing along and giving suggestions for lyrics."

Ordained To Deaconate

Richard P. Gill, L.C., was ordained to the deaconate on June 30, in St. Joseph's Cathedral in Hartford, Connecticut. Richard is a member of the Legionnaires of Christ. He is the son of Catherine Gill of Hicksville, and the late Joseph A. Gill.

After graduation from St. Ignatius School in 1971, he went on to Hicksville High School (class of 1975). Richard received B.A. and M.A. degrees from St. John's University before joining the Legionnaires in 1981. He is one of fifty-five Legionnaires who expect to be ordained to the priesthood on January 3, 1991 in Rome.

Fourth Annual Charity Tourney

The Hicksville Charity Tournament under the direction of Mr. Albert Ciaccio is very pleased to announce for the first time this year the "Hicksville Community Hero Award" which will be presented the day of the tournament to Police Officer Mr. Steven McDonald.

Mr. Steven McDonald with his wife Patty and son Connor will be attending the opening ceremonies of the Fourth Annual Hicksville Charity Tournament. This year's tournament will benefit the Make A Wish Foundation. Steven is a true inspiration to all the lives he has come in contact with. He truly represents a symbol of courage and spirit and that goes hand and hand with what the Make A Wish Foundation is all about.

The Make A Wish Foundation

is a wish granting charity for children with life threatening illness. Having a wish come true is magic for a child; for parents it's a time to create a new memory, one that may just have to last forever.

With the "Community Unity" between the Hicksville Baseball Association, the Hicksville Police Athletic League and St. Ignatius Catholic Youth Organization all taking the time to work together. These organizations work hard all year long to keep the children of Hicksville active in sports, and now the children of Hicksville all come together to help a child's wish come true. All the children involved in the tournament will be raising donations to benefit the Make A Wish Foundation.

The tournament will be held on August 25, at 12 noon, at the Abe

Levitt Complex, Stewart Avenue and Levittown Parkway, Hicksville. If you are unable to attend and would like to make a donation, please send a check or money order to Make A Wish Foundation, 382 Main Street, Port Washington, New York 11050. If you would like to join us for the day, bring chairs and sit back and watch the "Community Unity" come together and shine.

The winning teams will be presented trophies donated by Tiger Trophies of Levittown. All our flyers, posters and tickets are supplied by Big Apple "Quik Print" of Hicksville. We would like to "thank" Art and Carol Schmall for a wonderful job.

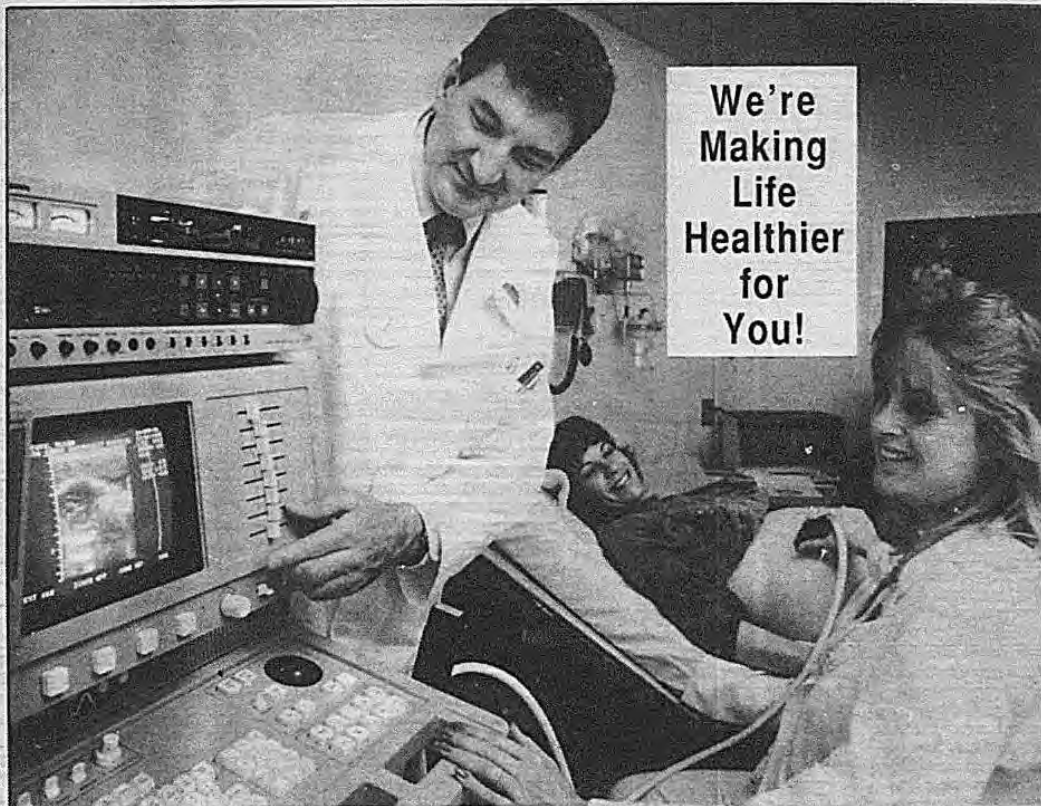

"A special dream...a secret, hoped for wish...that is the essence and wonder of childhood."

Dinosaur Days At Museum

"Days of the Dinosaurs" being held on Thursday, July 26, at Gregory Museum, will have two sessions in the afternoon, not one in the morning. The first session from 1-2 p.m. is for ages 4-6; the second session from 2:30-3:30 p.m. is for ages 7-9, but older children up to age 11 will be welcomed.

At the workshop children will go back millions of years and relive the days of the "terrible lizard." Take a look at the lifestyle of different dinosaurs. What did they eat and how did they disappear. Create a dinosaur model.

Thursday, July 26, ages 4-6 from 1 to 2 p.m. and ages 7-11, from 2:30-3:30 p.m.; Members $6; non-members $8. Reservations are required. 822-7505.

We're Making Life Healthier for You!

A Window into Your Body

A new "window into the body" can help pregnant women learn more about the health of their unborn babies, enable people with circulation problems to determine if their blood vessels are blocked, and provide early detection of pelvic tumors. This state-of-the-art, high resolution, ultrasound scanner is now in operation at North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove.

Radiologists with special training are staffing the new diagnostic radiology unit, making it possible for patients to receive the same medical care previously available only at major medical centers. It is no longer necessary to travel long distances to be assured of the very finest in medical care.

This is just one of the steps we are taking to make your hospital outstanding...

Section 5 - Term: The partnership begins on the date of this certificate and continues for thirty (30) years, unless previously terminated. The partners may agree to extend the term after its normal expiration, but each limited partner will be able to withdraw his or her capital from the partnership at that time.

Section 6 - Initial Capital Contributions: The amount of cash or property (at its agreed value) to be contributed to the partnership's capital by each partner is shown on Schedule A. Except as provided in Section 8, no interest or other compensation shall be paid by the partnership to any partner with respect to his capital contribution or his capital account.

Section 7 - Limited Partners' Capital: No limited partner (in that capacity) may be required to make any additional capital contribution or be personally liable for any partnership losses, debts, obligations or liabilities beyond the amounts set forth opposite his name on Schedule A.

Section 8 - Transfer of Interests: Each partner may assign his partnership interest (including his or her right to receive a share of the profits or other compensation by way of income and a return of his or her capital account), but the assignee shall not become a substituted partner unless (1) the assigning partner so provides in the instrument of assignment, (2) the assignee agrees in writing to be bound by the provisions of the agreement and certificate, and (3) the assignee pays the partnership a fee or not more than two hundred dollars ($200) to cover the costs and expenses of preparing, executing, and recording an amendment to this certificate. If all of these conditions are met, the managing general partner will prepare or cause to be prepared for recording an amendment to this certificate to be signed and sworn to by each of the limited partners, the general partners, and the assigning and assignee partners.

Section 9 - New Limited Partners: No right is reserved to admit additional limited partners to the partnership except (1) by unanimous agreement of the partners; (2) in the event of an assignment by a limited partner of all or any part of his or her limited partnership interest, the assignee may become a substituted limited partner under the conditions set forth in Section 8.

Except as set forth below, no partner has the right to reform the partnership and continue its business on the withdrawal, retirement, death, dissolution, adjudication of bankruptcy, or adjudication of insanity or incompetency of any general partner, except insofar as may be necessary to the dissolution and winding up of the partnership's affairs.

11.2 Reformation. If, within six (6) months of the withdrawal, retirement, death, dissolution, adjudication of bankruptcy, insanity, or incompetency of the general partners (if there is one), or if not, the limited partners (or the survivors of them), elect to continue the partnership's business, (1) the partnership shall not be dissolved, (2) the partnership and its business shall be continued under the provisions of the agreement (with the appointment of one or more of the limited partners as general partner, if there is no surviving general partner), (3) the general partnership interest owned by the general partner who has withdrawn, retired, died, been dissolved, adjudged bankrupt or adjudged insane or incompetent, shall be converted into a limited partnership interest and the general partner (or his trustee in or other personal legal bankruptcy, executors or administrators, successors or assigns, or other personal legal representatives) shall become a limited partner, and (4) this certificate and the agreement shall be amended to reflect these changes.

Ultrasound Scanner At Glen Cove Hospital

A new ultrasound scanner has been installed at North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove, bringing new capabilities to the institution's diagnostic radiology service. This state-of-the-art machine - an Acuson - enables physicians to diagnose a variety of conditions difficult to detect on less sophisticated equipment.

"Diseases of the vascular system, such as blocked arteries, pelvic tumors, and other abdominal problems are some of the conditions the new ultrasound scanner can detect," said Mitchell A. Goldman, M.D., Chief of Diagnostic Ultrasound and C.T., Department of Radiology. The Acuson has color Doppler capabilities, which make it possible to view vascular obstructions by actually watching blood on a video screen as it flows through the body.

The new machine also has important obstetrical uses. Some of these include detecting bleeding in pregnant women, determining the progression of a pregnancy, and as an aid in amniocentesis. The sensitivity of the detection is greatly increased with the new machine. New vaginal techniques made possible by this technology enable doctors to detect abnormalities in the uterus and to identify pelvic tumors at an earlier stage than with more commonly used equipment.

Barbara O'Malley, M.D., a physician with special training in diagnostic ultrasound, has been hired to add to the unit's staff. She is a graduate of the State University of New York, Downstate Medical Center, and is Board-certified in Diagnostic Radiology.

The new improvement in ultrasound is just one of the forward steps North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove is making to better medical care to residents of the region.

8th Grade Boys Travel Team News

On Tuesday, June 26, St. Ignatius 8th Grade Travel Team opened the playoffs with a bang by crushing St. Aloysius of Great Neck 10-0. Mike DelPerico, Bryan Higgins, and Sheen Maceo led the way each stroking two hits in a game that saw our biggest outburst of the year. As eight runs scored in inning three, every player scored at least once, as the boys cruised into the sectional finals.

On Thursday June 28, we played St. Josephs of Kings Park for the Sectional Title and came away with a 4-0 triumph. Sheen Maceo was once again dominant tossing a three hitter and K'ing IZ. With the game tied at 0, in the some fifth Jason Andrews singled some Dennis Kelly on a well executed hit and run play for the games first run. Glen Turano then delivered Mark Micalizzi and Jason Andrews, with runs 2 and 3 on shot up alley to right center, Chris Boukas rallied the fifth, on an RBI single by Dennis Kelly to close out this all important victory.

Saturday, June 30 was the day of the "Diocese Championships" and the wonderful news our team once again, was chosen the winner of the Bishop Ryan Sportsmanship Award. This award is given to the team that displays the best character and sportsmanship and it is truly a great honor to be chosen in two consecutive seasons.

From the Manager, Joe Andrews: Congratulations on a great season not only for the success but also for your great desire and character. Thank you parents for these great young men, of whom you should be very proud. A special thanks to Mr. Mike Galdo for all his help during the season.

In a season battle that saw four league changes, St. Francis of Wantagh captured the Diocese Championship 4-3. Both teams played inspired baseball, in a thriller that was anybody's game right until the final out.

By Barbara Lewis Lucky Seven....Travel Teams Make It to Playoffs....

St. Ignatius was very proud in the beginning of the season to be able to enter "7" Travel Teams with Diocese. In the boys division we entered teams in grade 5, 6, 7, 8 and a 9th and 10th grade league. For the girls softball we entered a 7th and 8th grade team. With the excellent managers and coaching staff of these teams, all 7 made it to the playoffs.

Our 5th and 6th grade boys and 8th grade girls lost in the first round of playoffs, but our 7th grade girls and 7th, 8th and 9th and 10th grade boys all went on to the "Championship Games." The girls 7th grade and the boys 9th and 10th grade league both won the "Championship Games."

Another special award given out by the Diocese is the "Sportsmanship Award." This year we are very proud of our boys 5th grade team, managed by Larry Connolly and our 8th grade team managed by Joseph Andrews. For Larry, this being his first year, was a great honor; for Joseph Andrews, it's even better the second year in a row.

It's a great feeling to have all seven travel teams going into the playoffs, but to come away with two championships and two sportsmanship awards means CYO must be doing something right. CYO is doing something right, we have excellent managers and coaches who give up their free time to teach your children not only the game of baseball or softball but the discipline that goes along with the game. Congratulations to all our travel teams for all their efforts and to their parents who support these youths to continue.

Our most sincere congratulations to the managers and coaching staff.

7th Grade Girls Travel Team News

The 7th grade girls travel team completed their season on Saturday, June 23, by defeating St. Peters 15-5 and St. Mary's 11-9. These two victories capped an undefeated season for the girls and gave them the "Division Championships." The Diocesan Championship games were played on Saturday, June 30 with St. Ignatius playing St. Barnabas for the championship. With both teams having undefeated records this game promised to be an exciting and well played match. Both teams played a terrific game with St. Ignatius defeating St. Barnabas 7-6.

All the girls played fantastically. Lauren Guerriero did a great job pitching, striking out ten batters. Megan Wood and Michelle Zaffuto made some great catches in the outfield. Also working hard in the outfield were Fontayne Mitas, Kristy Haley, and Lauren Snadecky. The infield was covered by Meredith Hennessey 1st base, Erin Mitchell 2nd base, Carolyn Galdo short stop, and Beatrice Clark 3rd base. Completing the defensive lineup were Mindy LeCren and Colleen Gardner sharing the catching duties. Leading the offense was Beatrice Clark with a 3-run home run in the 5th inning this timely hit was the turning point of the game.

Manager, Nancy Galdo would like to congratulate all the girls on their undefeated season and to thank them for the pleasure of coaching this group of fine young women. Manager Galdo would like to thank the girls' parents for their help and support during the season.

Then a special plaque was presented to P.G.K. John Lombardi, who was selected as the Joe Lamb

The "Family of the Year" award was given to P.G.K., P.F.N., F.D.D. Robert Corrado and his family. P.G.K. Corrado and his wife Laura and family have lived in Plainview for many years. Bob has also been very active in the council for many years and has also served in the office of District Deputy for several years. In addition, he has been a Navigator, the top office in the Fourth Degree of the Bishop Walter P. Kellenberg Assy. P.G.K. ## Input Callers Have Own Ideas On Music Rating

Most callers to Input believe that popular music has gone too far but there is a difference of opinion on the question of the week: "Do you think that records, tapes and videos should be marked on the outside wrapper according to a rating system?" Here are some of the answers: NOT GOOD IDEA

Ever since they created a rating system for movies, the pictures have gone down hill. Some producers even make the pictures worse so that they can at least get a PG rating if not an R. The same thing will happen to popular music with ratings. They are bad presently but they will not improve with ratings and teenagers will find ways of getting them regardless of the ratings. J.G. CENSORSHIP UNREAL

The problem with all of these types of censorship is that they are unreal. If there was no market for dirty music there wouldn't be much of it sold. The thing we are trying to do is to find some simple way of avoiding the fact that we no longer teach morals in the home and therefore we have youngsters who like the lowest forms of music and motion pictures and TV programs. A rating system is a waste of time. L.D.

END JUNK

I believe there ought to be a rating system so that those who do not want this type of thing can just avoid it. Now we have these lyrics in the middle of arrangements and they are being accepted even though they really are exploiting the audience which is being given junk instead of music H.G.

COMMERCIAL ASPECT

Unlike the music of the 60's and 70's which was crated to make a cultural statement today's popular music is written more to make money. To use a rating system for records, tapes and videos that may be offensive or obscene would only serve as a guideline for parents. It would not make these music products less accessible to teenagers who may want them since they may be obtained from older friends or relatives or viewed on MTV. It is my hope that lesser known and more innovative artists who are less commercially oriented become more widely accepted. The public deserves the best music not mediocre talent. C.P.

NO OUTCRY

A rating system won't work unless there is some type of public outcry against the people who make this type of thing. Presently the most weird and most obscene is given the most attention and one group tries to go further than the previous one. While we give all of this high critical praise to the weird people in music we will have more and no rating system will change that. C.M.

EASIER TO SELECT

A rating system just makes it easier to determine which albums are the best so far as I am concerned. I like music to be down to earth and if they want to "X" rate it then I know what I am getting. I would say thanks for the ratings; you save me time. L.H.

DON'T NEED CENSORS

This nonsense of putting ratings on music is just another bit of modern censorship. Why should the lyrics offend anyone? You can hear any of this by taking a short walk down the street. So then people worry that it is in music. Why should music be so removed from the real thing. We do not need more censors. K.J.

WOULD BE HELPFUL

The cartoons shown with your "Question" do a good job of implicitly illustrating the kind of language that might be the subject of the rating system you suggest. As a musician, I resent the kind of language which has infiltrated popular songs through records, tapes and videos. Even in the movie theatres one is not safe from shocking language which is designed to elicit boisterous reactions from the audience. It has nothing to do necessarily with the plot and can serve no other purpose but to reward the viewer or the listener for thoughts and language which, quite honestly, is not fit to print. While I believe that a suggested rating system would be designed to control language and explicit moral turpitude, I believe it would actually have the opposite effect by drawing attention to the very thing it was designed to obviate. When we consider means of control for drug and alcohol abuse we inevitably conclude that it is the responsibility of the parents which certainly should be the path to follow with respect to records, tapes and videos clearly designed to titillate base thoughts. However, following that line of thought, I guess I can't avoid agreeing that a rating system would be helpful to the parents in their vigilance. P.G.S.

Wear It Once And Throw It Away

By Denise Stamp Yannone

Something sinister is happening in the fashion industry. Perhaps it's a conspiracy to get women back into the home and out of the workplace, or perhaps clothing manufacturers view the nineties woman through fifties glasses. Almost all cotton, cotton/ramie and even many acrylic sweaters and knits carry labels with words like strike terror in my heart — hand wash and lay flat to dry. I work fulltime, cook, clean, shop and fix leaky bathroom pipes. Occasionally I will even do windows. I do not hand wash. Correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't this the post-industrial age? The washing machine and clothes dryer aren't exactly high-tech electronic equipment available to only a privileged few.

Who are all these people who have the time to hand wash and lay flat to dry their sweaters and other knits? Do they reside in huge mansions with special sweater drying rooms? They couldn't possibly live in tiny studio apartments. Even three rooms wouldn't be large enough to hold the average wardrobe of soggy sweaters. Perhaps they use custom-designed stackable drying racks with miniaturized electronic heating elements. Do these people employ scores of sweater soakers who gently wash, but do not twist or wring their knits? Do they own stock in Woolite? Or are there piles of dirty hand wash sweaters stealthily lurking under beds and in large garbage bags at the backs of closets in every home in America? What happens when there are no more clean sweaters?

More laughable still is the fact that men's sweaters carry the same caveat against machine washing and drying. Now we know where all the single men have gone. They are at home on Saturday night washing their shirts and sweaters. Clothiers get serious. I know precious few men who will hand wash a dish, let alone a delicate knit high fashion garment.

Another remarkable variation on this theme is the sweater that can be machine washed and tumble dried to remove excess moisture, but which then must be laid flat to dry. How long do you leave it in the dryer — five, ten, fifteen minutes? Do you stand there sweating over your sweater, checking periodically trying to catch it at the peak moment: the perfect blend of damp and dry? If you wait one second longer will a monstrous mass of mishapen yarn leap from the dryer?

Then there are garment labels that boldly proclaim dry clean only. At the price of dry cleaning today, a simple thirty-five dollar sweater can end up costing seventy dollars after one season of dry cleaning — coincidentally the price of a new sweater! These basic axioms will always apply:

1. The sweater will need to be cleaned after each wearing.
2. The sweater will never be ready at the time promised.
3. You will get to the cleaners three minutes after closing on Saturday afternoon and you will need this sweater for either a major date on Saturday night, your husband's sister's son's bar mitzvah on Sunday afternoon, or for a blockbuster business meeting on Monday morning.

After spending no less than four months looking for a light blue cotton sweater that I could machine wash and tumble dry, (they do exist but are much rarer than stockings you can wear more than once) in desperation I bought a hand wash lay flat to dry sweater. Sure it took only three minutes to soak the thing, but it took me fifteen minutes to rinse out all the soap. I laid the sweater on a sweater rack with a towel under it and placed it in the bathtub to drip, which necessitated another ten minutes of careful adjusting to avoid stretching the delicate fibers. Twenty-eight minutes later I have a sweater drying in a bathtub I need to use. I remove the sweater from the drying rack and carry it dripping wet to the kitchen table where I will temporarily roll in in the towel. But the towel is drenched so I grab another from the linen closet and carefully roll the sweater. Then I mop the kitchen floor. This procedure costs me eleven minutes but at least the bathtub is free. The only problem now is that the sweater sits snugly in my last clean towel!

The logical course of action was to place the first towel in the dryer, which took another fifteen minutes. After showering and dressing unrolled the sweater and painstakingly placed it back on the drying rack, soaking up another five minutes of my precious time and bringing the total elapsed time to fifty-nine minutes — nearly one hour to do a three-minute wash. At least the sweater had stopped dripping so I could strategically position it near a heat vent. Two days later my light blue sweater was still damp.

Right now I own approximately twenty assorted dress, work and casual sweaters plus five vests. By hand wash standards this would amount to a minimum aggregate washing time of 24½ hours per month! Let's not forget another 50-60 days drying time (figured at a scant single washing per month). I own only one hand wash sweater. I will not buy another. Now hand-washers raise your red, rough hands and confess. Who are you?

READER RATINGS

Q. Why in some restaurants do I have to sit there so long before the waitress gives me the check? A. Well the answer to your question is hard to define. It might be simply because the restaurant is so busy that the waitress hasn't time to add up the check. But at some of the better restaurants you will never get a check unless you ask for it. In these establishments they feel that the guests should decide how long they wish to talk or occupy the space after eating and only on rare occasions will they bring a check that has not been solicited and then with apologies.

Q. Recently I was a guest at a club luncheon in a restaurant. Accidentally, I overturned my tomato juice. What was the right thing to do? The waiter didn't see the accident immediately. T.L. A. A waiter seeing such an accident would immediately change the cloth, or if that was impossible at a long table, would spread a clean napkin over the spilled food. As the waiter did not do this because he was busy elsewhere, at a large luncheon you could have spread a napkin over the spot yourself, without undue discussion of the incident. Everyone occasionally has things like this happen.

Q. How many people does a bottle of champagne serve at dessert time?

A. Normally four. If you're at a wedding-rehearsal dinner or an anniversary party, the toasting might go on for quite a while, so you have to supply twice as much champagne for your guests as you would for a regular dinner party.

If you have questions about etiquette or dining out you may call them into WE 1-0027 and we will find the answer.

Q. If I'm awaiting my host in the restaurant and he or she is very late, is it all right for me to order my own drink at the bar and pay for it? A. It's far nicer to wait for your host to arrive before ordering a drink.

SPECIALTIES

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite we have to say that the specials are really "special".

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

Q. Have you heard the expression "Maiden Dinner?" My cousin said she will be attending one soon and I did not like to confess my ignorance!

A. This is a rather old fashioned term and it refers to the traditional dinner given by the bride-to-be for her attendants usually a few days before the wedding. The Maiden Dinner is the equivalent of the male Bachelor Dinner.

Q. What is the correct way to eat crackers with soup?

A. Small crackers, such as oyster crackers, may be added to the soup and eaten that way. However, large soda crackers should really not be crumbled into the soup. It is better to keep them on the plate and eat them along with the soup.

Q. What do you do if you enter a restaurant and some friends at another table tell the waiter to see what you are drinking because they want to buy you a drink and you do not drink? E.R.

A. There is no set answer to your question. You obviously have some very generous friends who do not know your habits. The best thing to do would be to inform the waiter that you do not drink but you might make a gesture with a water glass towards your friends table as a toast.

Q. If I have a party of about 30 guests, is it best to go to a restaurant or a regular caterer?

A. Generally you can find a restaurant that would be more interested in that size party than a caterer although some caterers do have mid-week and off-season rates. But, in general restaurants have rooms that they can close off and give you special service. Often the price is no higher than the menu rates.

GOOD PERFORMANCE

What a post restaurant this Benihana is in Manhasset. It is designed with a beautiful bar and cocktail lounge where you can gather before and after a special meal. We did that last Saturday.

Probably most of your readers have been to Benihana, but if there are still some who have not we want to say that we were pleasantly surprised with its new form of entertainment with its You see it is not only the food at Benihana but the performance of the chef who is an expert in the use of a knife. You can watch him prepare the shrimp with a few swats of the blade and a steak and all of the other items the people around you get. This is the performance. Then you are surprised that food prepared so quickly and with such acrobatics is so good to eat. We recommend this restaurant. S.C. and M.T.

Q. There is a great catering place in my neighborhood which features wonderful food at moderate prices. However, dinners are always served "family style". Meat and vegetables are placed in large platters which guests pass around just as if they were eating at home.

There is one problem with this type service, though. I notice that some people take more than their fair share or perhaps take all white meat when turkey is served. What can be done about this?

A. There is really nothing that you can do under the circumstances. Family style dining is a nice idea, but it doesn't work unless all the guests are considerate.

Why not ask the manager to provide conventional service, in which food is placed on plates in the kitchen, for your next affair?

READER RATINGS

Q. When ladies already seated at a luncheon table are introduced to each other, do they shake hands, seated, when may they conveniently do so? T.G.
A. No, they bow. In this country, there is very little shaking hands between women, although the hostess always shakes hands with her guests, male and female, and anyone acting the role of hostess, say a teacher at the school, a woman representative of a firm being visited by outsiders - would rise and shake hands with the visitors, women as well as men.

Q. There was a receiving line, with the hostess first in the line, and our representative next to her. As the guests entered I noticed that there was some confusion as to who should be greeted first - the hostess or the representative next to her. What is the rule when the host holds such a prominent position?
A. The rule is always the same. One greets first the person first in line, who is the hostess or the acting hostess, always shaking hands. Occasionally there is a line made up only of men, and in this case the first man encountered is the one one greets first. As a matter of fact, very often the most important guest, for whom the reception is given, is placed in the middle of the line.

Q. Not long ago I ate in one of the most expensive restaurants on Long Island. Everything was beautifully cooked and served, but ketchup was placed on the table in the original Heinz bottle. I was appalled!
A. Perhaps the restaurant was afraid dinners would not recognize the ketchup if it was placed in anything except the familiar bottle. I agree, though, that a Heinz bottle was out of place in the setting you describe. A small crystal dish, with a word of explanation from the waiter, would have been more appropriate.

Q. What are the rules of etiquette for eating cakes or confections?
A. Large pieces of cake should be eaten with a fork, and so should large or small cakes that are sticky or messy. Tiny cakes served in a paper frill may be picked up by the fingers and eaten the same way as chocolates or bonbons.

TRIP INTO PAST

We always feel that we have a fine time and wonderful food when we visit George Washington Manor in Roslyn. It is like a trip into the past with modern food and service to visit the Manor.

They have a good menu of American food that is cooked just right. Last week we had a party of four people who visited the G.W. Manor and had entrees which included fish, beef, and veal. Every person in our group said that they thought this restaurant is one of the finest they had ever been to. We decided then that we should spread the word around and decided to make this call J.H.

DINING OUT

The New York Times, Sunday, March 27, 1988

Small Corner, Large Following

By JOANNE STARKEY

THEY swept into Elmont's Petite Corner restaurant: the Gold Coasters, with ankle-length white coats, furs, fashionable dresses and the unmistakable aura of people in the know. Now their secret is out. This is a gem of a restaurant, well worth a trip to Elmont.

This modest storefront does not lure the passing motorist, however. Nestled between an empty store and a lumberyard opposite the Belmont Race Track, the tiny establishment looks more like a corner bar than a fine restaurant.

Nor does the interior décor of this diminutive spot proclaim that a creative genius is in the kitchen. The walls are beige; the easily overlooked art is beige in spirit. Only the cloth tablecloths and candlelight hint that this is more than a neighborhood restaurant.

Upon entering, diners are greeted by the sunny smiles of the charming hostess and knowledgeable waitress. Soon the diners are smiling too. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres appear. First, there are crisp, snappy vegetables with a dynamite dip. Within minutes, other gratis goodies gush from the kitchen.

One evening, it was a small slab of superior chicken liver pâté garnished with slices of pickle and onion and a delicate carrot flower. Even cholesterol watchers broke their diets to indulge. On a week night, a wider array of tasty tidbits was offered: a cold plump mussel cloaked in a creamy sauce, a spinach-and-cheese-stuffed mushroom, a bacon-wrapped scallop and a small wedge of that exceptional pâté.

Appetizers might seem superfluous after these taste teasers, but every starter on the menu is recommended: plump mussels in a basil-flecked tomato sauce; whole mushrooms sautéed in herb butter; clams steamed in white wine, garlic and herbs; tender, tasty escargots; a full-size portion of the bacon-wrapped broiled sea scallops, and a Japanese favorite, negimaki, broiled steak rolls stuffed with scallions.

While most of the offerings are French, as the name of the restaurant implies, the food has an Oriental tinge. The best salad dressing is the tasty ginger. A super entree is tahini steak: velvety, tender sliced sirloin with flavors that smack of the Orient. All dishes are artistically presented; the tiny carrot flower on the appetizer is a signature of the chef-owner, who recently celebrated his first anniversary here.

With food of the quality offered at Petite Corner, you might not expect bargains as well. Yet, Monday through Thursday, there's a dinner special. Soup, salad and coffee are secured by adding $3.25 to the price of the entree. Soups are wonderful. One evening the soup was a rich, creamy salmon chowder full of vegetables. On another visit, it was a light but flavorful chicken broth with vegetables. Onion soup reaffirms its classic standing.

Salads do not fare as well. They are easily skipable. The Caesar salad is bland. There is a choice of unusually good homemade dressings for the tossed salad, but the salad ingredients are mundane. The predominant player is iceberg lettuce, which is adorned with sliced mushrooms, cucumber and a few cherry tomatoes. Also advisable would be the elimination of the soft, squishy, supermarket-quality dinner rolls.

No changes are needed at main course time. The best dish among a lineup of pleasers is the bouillabaisse. This is a bouillabaisse to dream about: firm, properly cooked lobster, clams, mussels, shrimp, scallops, squid and fish bathed in tomato, saffron and wine. There's a side dish of aioli, the garlicky French mayonnaise, to add and enrich the sauce. At $17.95, this is the most expensive entree on the menu but is, nevertheless, a bargain.

Other ocean pleasers, grilled salmon and sea scallops, also demonstrate the chef's light touch. Another sprightly entree is chicken breasts stuffed with Brie and mushrooms in a liling brown sauce. Rack of lamb stuffed with spinach; crisp roast duck served with a tart sauce of crushed raspberries; tender veal filet mignon with sautéed shiitake mushrooms, and an even tastier veal dish in mustard sauce also demonstrated the chef's skills.

Save room for dessert. The warm walnut pie with a gooey chocolate layer was the hands-down favorite at our table. The cheesecake is exceptional; the chocolate mousse creamy light.

Petite Corner is an adventure. It's easily overlooked on a commercial thoroughfare. Make no mistake about it, though. Petite Corner is a find.

BEAUTIFUL PLACE

Last week we read an ad in your section about Gerlich's restaurant in Glen Head.

I must say we were well pleased with the wonderful food and service at this restaurant. But I do not think the advertisement does the place justice. It is a beautiful place just to be in. It is decorated in a way that would thrill antique lovers with its Tiffany lamps and antiques.

In addition to all of this they have a pianist who plays at the delightful bar. We suggest you recommend this to all readers. Thanks for giving us the chance to phone in.

CHILD'S HAVEN — Using one sprightly pattern on windows, floor and door frame imparts country charms to a child's room.

Decorating rules are meant to be broken

Q. The decorating magazines are showing so many different prints and patterns all mixed together in the same room.

I have to admit that I'm confused. Maybe I'm too old-fashioned, but I like things that go together.

Are there any rules on how to use prints that don't match? — B.B.

A. Yes. And like all rules, they are meant to be broken once you have mastered them, one reason professional decorators can be so cavalier about mixing patterns and colors with what looks like gay abandon.

We'll get to the rules in a moment, but first, look at the photo we show here. Although there are a number of patterns in the room, one motif dominates — in importance and in placement.

What makes the floral print (by Laura Ashley) practically pop out of the picture? The fact that it plays against a solid surface. The wall has been painted a plain color; the wall-to-wall carpet also is a solid background for the flowered area rugs.

But the main print steals the show; these others are the chorus. And there you have one of the most important secrets in successful pattern mixing:

- Let one pattern dominate so the eye has a focal point.

Some additional guidelines:

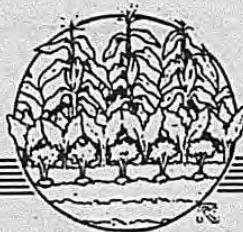

- Choose patterns that are different in design but alike in color, say, a large floral and a plaid, stripe or check.

- Choose patterns that are alike in design and color but decidedly different in scale; for example, a large windowpane check and a small stripe or paisley.

A common color denominator is always essential to make patterns "go together" successfully. I'd suggest — as I often do — that you work with fabrics, wall coverings, rugs and accessories that have already been coordinated on the designer's drawing board.

If you decide to brave your own mix, bring home large swatches, spread them out on sofa or floor, and eyeball everything from a distance till you can decide if the conglomeration is pleasing or off-putting.

Sweet peas and fun for kids

Today let's look at some summer gardening concerns, and a project for the youngsters.

SWEET PEAS

The dream of every sweet pea fancier is to enjoy copious bouquets of sweet-scented, large-flowered, long-stemmed blooms throughout the summer.

Too often, alas, the warm, dry summer weather plays havoc with sweet pea plantings. Leaves harden. Growing points go thin and spindly. The few flowers that form are small, short-stemmed and fast-fading. Aphids usually move in to further lessen the general appeal of the plantings.

There are remedies. Begin by applying a light scattering of a balanced granular fertilizer over the root area. Cover the fertilizer with a good 2-inch mulch layer of some soil-plumping, moisture-retaining material such as compost or composted manure mixed with a little damp peat.

Follow this with a long, deep watering. And while the weather is dry and warm, take whatever measures you can to maintain deep levels of moisture in the soil as well as a humid atmosphere around the plants. Keep the soil surface well dampened so that it will constantly evaporate moisture. Treat the vines to a fine spray-misting from the hose once, or even twice a day if possible in hot weather.

Wash off any aphid colonies you see on the plants during your spray-misting rounds, and apply a follow-up dusting with rotenone to catch malingers. To help keep my sweet pea vines healthy and productive this summer, I'm watering them once a week with a mild solution of fish and seaweed fertilizer emulsions mixed.

A CHILD'S GARDEN

Summer vacation is a great time for projects with plants. For children out of school looking for something interesting to do, here are a couple of ideas.

You will need a carrot. It can be a big old carrot that has been hanging around for a while.

For the first project all you will need is the top of the carrot. Ask an adult to help you with cutting it. Leave about 1/2 an inch of the orange part, and the same amount of green stems if the carrot has started to sprout from its top.

Then press the carrot piece into damp sand or peat moss in a saucer or bowl. If you don't have sand or peat, just put a little water in the dish. Soon, leaves will appear and you will have a pretty plant to keep at a bright window.

Here is another thing to do with a carrot. Cut the stem in the same way, then cut off about 2 inches from the tip of the carrot. Next, hollow out the carrot. You may need some help with this and with the next part, which gets the carrot ready for hanging upside down. Three strong pins stuck into

Keep the hollowed-out carrot filled with water. Soon the stems and leaves will start to grow from the bottom. They will curl up around the carrot to make a ferny hanging plant.

Have fun.

Kids love summer marshmallow treats

Ever wondered what is in a marshmallow?

Irma S. Rombauer and Marion Rombauer Becker's classic "Joy of Cooking" Volume 2 offers a recipe for making your own, and the ingredients they list are gelatin, water, sugar, corn syrup, vanilla and salt.

You boil the mixture and test it with a candy thermometer, then beat it, then beat it some more. Sounds like it might be fun to make marshmallows once, just so you can say you have done it, but I find it much easier to simply buy the things.

Commercial marshmallows come in large and miniature sizes. It takes about 10 miniature marshmallows to equal one large. For 1 cup of marshmallows, use about 11 large or about 100 to 110 miniature.

Also commercially available is marshmallow creme, a gooey white concoction that is great for ice cream desserts and for use in frosting and fudge recipes.

Store marshmallows in a plastic bag in the freezer; this will prevent them from becoming firm and stale. You can easily cut large marshmallows with kitchen scissors while frozen if you want to make smaller pieces to add to salads and desserts.

To make marshmallow pie fillings in the microwave, combine one 10-ounce package marshmallows (any size) with ½ cup milk in a 3-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover and microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) setting two to three minutes, or until marshmallows puff and melt. Stir well until smooth, then refrigerate to cool and thicken. When cool, fold in 1 cup whipping cream, whipped, and desired flavorings: for fruit pie, fold in 2 cups sliced fresh peaches, strawberries, bananas, etc.

You can also flavor the marshmallow mixture with liqueurs for a variety of fancy pies. For Kahlua Pie, stir in ½ cup Kahlua; for Grasshopper Pie, stir in ¼ cup creme de menthe and 2 tablespoons white creme de cocoa; for Shamrock Pie, stir in ½ cup Irish Cream; for Brandy Alexander Pie, stir in ¼ cup dark creme de cocoa and 2 tablespoons brandy. Turn into a crumb pie shell in a 9-inch pie plate and chill until serving time — easy as pie!

Marshmallows add a special touch to so many dishes — melted atop the sweet potato casserole at Thanksgiving, or folded into a fancy fruit salad when company comes over. In chill winter weather, there is something particularly comforting about a mug of steaming hot cocoa with a big, puffy marshmallow on top.

Marshmallows are standard summer fare, too. A camping trip just wouldn't be right without a big bag of marshmallows to roast over the evening campfire at the end of a straightened-out wire hanger or shish-kebab skewer. (Don't use sticks from the trees and bushes around you unless you know they are safe!)

I can remember "pretend camping" with childhood friends. We would stick a marshmallow at the end of a fork and toast it over the gas flame of the kitchen stove — usually burning the marshmallows and covering the top of the stove with bits of charred goo. If we couldn't be out camping, we improvised. And we loved it.

You can improvise, too, with your microwave.

S'Mores are a classic camp-out treat — but they are also easy and fun to make at home, in your microwave. There is no need to get a fire going or find a suitable stick for toasting the marshmallows — and these won't make a mess of your kitchen, either.

Kids also love Rocky Road Pillows, and these are easy enough for even the littlest tykes to have a hand in making.

Adults will appreciate Frozen Marshmallow Cadillac Torte, a dessert that's easy to make and a refreshingly cool midsummer treat.

(Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.)

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

Kids like watching through the oven door as marshmallows expand and puff up during microwaving. Microwave just until marshmallow puffs, to prevent possible scorching.

S'MORES

2 graham cracker squares
½ of a plain (1.05-ounce)

milk chocolate bar
1 large marshmallow

Yields 1 S'More.
Preparation time: 1 minute.
Cooking time: 15 to 30 seconds.
Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Place 1 graham cracker square on paper napkin. Top with chocolate, then with marshmallow. Microwave about 15 to 30 seconds, or just until marshmallow puffs. Remove from oven and top with remaining graham cracker square.

Coleslaw — An American original

Truly an American original, shredded or thinly sliced raw cabbage tossed with dressing seems to have originated in the late 1700s in Dutch New Amsterdam, now New York.

The first koolsla (the name in Dutch means cabbage salad) dressing probably was nothing more than a mixture of fresh heavy cream thinned with equal amounts of cider vinegar and sugar.

Today, depending upon where you live, coleslaw may have a creamy dressing or one tossed with a sweet-and-sour vinaigrette and may have enhancements and embellishments that run the gamut from pineapple or oranges to jalapenos or blue cheese.

All coleslaws benefit from advance preparation to give the acid in the dressing time to tenderize the cabbage. Most slaws are made with ordinary green cabbage, though red cabbage, Savoy cabbage and even Oriental bok choy can be turned into slaw. Green cabbage is tenderized in about an hour, while red cabbage takes longer and Savoy or bok choy can be enjoyed in about 30 minutes.

Personally, though we like to sample all versions of coleslaw, we find ourselves to be rather traditional in our own favorite recipes at home. The following versions are inexpensive, simple and quick to make, keep well in the refrigerator for several days, and can be expanded easily to serve a crowd.

Rather than the usual mayonnaise dressing, our creamy "boiled" dressing for the Heartland Coleslaw has more character and is a better option for picnics since the egg yolks are cooked.

We like nothing more than a bit of sharp mustard and the tang of celery seed to flavor this simple, soothing coleslaw that is the ideal counterpoint to barbecued pork or chicken slathered with sharp, vinegary or peppery sauces. It is also a perfect condiment for corned beef or pastrami sandwiches.

Sweet-and-Sour Coleslaw, with its colorful additions of red bell pepper and shredded carrot, looks and tastes perfect with plain grilled steak or chops. It is also a fine accompaniment to cold sliced meats and poultry.

TIPS

• If using a food processor to make coleslaw, use a thin slicing disc; the shredding disc processes it too fine.

• Taste coleslaw for salt and pepper about an hour after it has been made, when the dressing has blended with and softened the cabbage.

• When shopping for green cabbage, look for heads that are circular and fairly lightweight for their size. The flavor will be sweeter.

HEARTLAND COLESLAW WITH BOILED DRESSING

1½ tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1¼ teaspoons dry mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon coarse ground pepper
¾ cup milk
¼ cup cider vinegar
2 egg yolks
½ teaspoon celery seed
6 cups thinly sliced cabbage (about 1½ pounds)
2 tablespoons minced onion

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Preparation and cooking time: 20 minutes.

In heavy, medium-size saucepan, whisk together sugar, flour, mustard, salt and pepper. Slowly whisk in milk and vinegar until smooth. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring almost constantly, for 2 to 3 minutes until mixture thickly coats back of spoon and comes to boil.

Lightly beat yolks in small bowl, then whisk hot milk mixture into egg yolks to warm them. Scrape sauce back into pan. Cook, stirring constantly over medium-low heat, for 1 to 2 minutes, until thickened and smooth. (Do not allow sauce to boil at this point.)

Combine cabbage and onion in mixing bowl. Pour dressing over and toss well to thoroughly mix. Chill at least 1 hour or up to 24 hours before serving.

These most American of berries are prized treat of the season

High on the list of summertime delights is getting the blues — blueberries, that is.

You might even find that the blues put you into a slump, for this is one of the traditional ways of preparing this very American berry.

The Indians introduced the Pilgrims to the wild blueberry, and New Englanders have been making desserts of it ever since, dishes with dour Northeastern names like "slump," "grunt" and "buckle."

Elsewhere, blueberries are more likely to make their appearance in pies and muffins, but in any form, they are enjoyed throughout North America.

Blueberries are closely related to cranberries, and it was a cranberry grower, working with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, who developed commercial blueberry varieties around 1910.

Since then, the fruit has become a large cash crop in the South, which produces early-season fruit, in the East and on both sides of the Canadian border, where the bulk of production takes place from July through September.

Out of season, the fresh fruit is flown in from New Zealand, although at a very steep price, and you can find it frozen at any time.

Blueberries, which are rich in vitamin C and have only 90 calories per cup, can be eaten fresh, but cooking greatly enhances their flavor. The fruit varies somewhat in size depending on variety; you should look for plump, fully ripened berries, dark in color with a light gray bloom.

Like all berries, they do not benefit from being kept. If you have to store them, pick over them to remove any squashed or moldy examples, but do not wash them. Keep them loosely covered in the refrigerator for as little time as possible.

When you are ready to proceed, rinse and drain the berries thoroughly. Remove any small stems still clinging to the fruit.

Some blueberries have a more pronounced flavor than others, and many recipes direct you to enhance the taste with lemon juice. This requires a nice judgment, for lemon can easily overwhelm the delicate berries. A few drops of lemon juice is best.

Another way to bring out the flavor of blueberries is to add a very little dry red wine, about a teaspoon per basket.

Some people think that our first recipe is a grunt, some say it's a cobbler, and some believe that it's a buckle. Others allow you to call it anything you like. The late James Beard said that it is a grunt, and since this is his recipe, I will concur. It is followed by a dish that is, quite definitely, a slump.

BLUEBERRY GRUNT

3 cups blueberries
 ½ cup sugar
 ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
 ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
 Dash ground cloves
 ¼ cup molasses
 Dash lemon juice
For crust:
 1 cup flour
 1½ teaspoons baking powder
 Dash salt
 3 tablespoons butter
 1 tablespoon vegetable shortening
 1 egg, lightly beaten
 ½ cup milk

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Preheat oven to 375 F. Spread berries in deep 9-inch pie pan. Combine sugar and spices and sprinkle over berries. Drizzle molasses over them and sprinkle with lemon juice. Bake berries for 5 minutes, or just until they begin to render juice. Remove from oven and raise temperature to 425 F.

Make crust by sifting flour with baking powder and salt. Blend in butter and shortening. Stir egg and milk together and add to flour mixture to make light dough, adding a bit more milk if necessary.

Drop dough by spoonfuls onto berries, spreading to make even coating. Bake 20 minutes or until crust is well-browned.

Serve warm. Cream is an excellent accompaniment.

BLUEBERRY SLUMP

1½ cups water
 ¾ cup sugar
 3 cups blueberries
 Dash lemon juice
For dumplings:
 1 cup flour
 2 teaspoons sugar
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 Dash salt
 1 egg
 ½ cup milk

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

In 9-inch frying pan with cover, simmer sugar and water until sugar is dissolved; add blueberries and lemon juice and cook 2 minutes. Set aside.

In large bowl, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Separately beat egg with milk and lightly stir into flour mixture. Mix until just blended.

Bring berries to simmer. Drop batter by tablespoons onto berries, leaving spaces between dumplings; simmer, tightly covered, for 20 minutes. Serve hot by placing dumplings in bowls and spooning berries over them.

The blueberry appears not to be widely known in Europe. Its close relative the red currant is held in high esteem there and is correspondingly scarce here. An exception appears to be Scandinavia.

I learned this recipe from the Swedish mother of an old friend, and it has become one of my great favorites for this time of year. The dish is nothing but stewed fruit thickened with a starch. Omit the cream and you have a low-calorie, low-fat treat.

BLUEBERRY CREAM

2 baskets blueberries, picked over and washed (about 6 cups)
 ½ cup sugar
 2 heaping tablespoons potato starch or cornstarch
 1 pint whipping cream

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Drain berries very well. Place them in large saucepan with most but not all of sugar and turn heat to moderate. Berries will render their own juice and begin to simmer. Watch pot carefully for mixture will boil over instantly.

As berries begin to simmer, taste mixture. It should be somewhat too sweet when hot, for it is going to be chilled later. Add a little more sugar if needed. You can also add a very little lemon juice if berries seem too bland.

Traditionally, this dish is thickened with potato starch, which closely resembles cornstarch in appearance and action. The amount of starch you use depends on how thick you like the final result. I like it quite thick, so I use heaping tablespoons. Dissolve cornstarch in a little water and quickly add it to simmering fruit, stirring immediately.

The first time you make this dish, add only part of the dissolved cornstarch to see how thick it will be. The remainder can then be added. Simmer for 2 minutes, until mixture becomes thick and loses any pasty taste from starch.

Turn mixture into serving bowl. Cool to room temperature and then chill. Serve with unwhipped cream passed separately.

Variation: Reduce starch to 1 tablespoon in order to make a thin blueberry sauce. This is excellent over vanilla ice cream or frozen yogurt.

***

Blueberry muffins are always welcome. These may be made with frozen berries.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

¼ cup sugar
 ¼ cup shortening
 1 egg
 2 cups flour, sifted
 4 teaspoons baking powder
 ½ teaspoon salt
 1 cup milk
 ½ to 1 cup blueberries, fresh or defrosted

Yields 12 muffins.

Preheat oven to 400 F. Grease 12 muffin cups or line them with paper or foil cups.

In mixing bowl, cream sugar and shortening until fluffy. Beat in egg. Separately, combine dry ingredients. Stir into shortening mixture alternately with milk. Stir in berries.

Fill muffin cups ¾ full. Bake for 20 to 25 minutes, until nicely brown. Turn muffins out onto rack. Serve warm.

BLUEBERRY RICE MOLD

¾ cup instant rice
 1½ cups milk
 Dash salt
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 2 tablespoons cold water
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 ¼ cup sugar
 ½ cup milk
 ¼ teaspoon almond extract
 1 cup whipping cream
 2 cups blueberries

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Combine rice, 1½ cups milk and salt in large saucepan. Mix just enough to moisten rice. Bring to boil and simmer gently, loosely covered, for 10 minutes or until all milk is absorbed. Fluff rice with fork, remove from heat. Lightly oil 6-cup mold.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine egg, sugar, ¾ cup milk and gelatin. Add slowly to rice, mixing well. Return to heat and cook over very low flame, stirring gently until mixture coats metal spoon. Remove from heat. Stir in almond extract. Chill until slightly thickened.

Whip cream and fold into rice mixture. Fold in blueberries. Spoon into mold. Chill. Unmold and garnish with additional whipped cream and blueberries.

Note: This dessert may be made with dry-pack blueberries, defrosted and drained.

LATTICE-TOP BLUEBERRY PIE

¾ cup sugar
 ¼ cup flour
 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 Grated zest of 1 orange
 4 cups blueberries
 Pastry for 2-crust pie
 2 tablespoons orange juice
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Yields 8 servings.

Preheat oven to 425 F. Combine sugar, flour, cinnamon and orange zest; toss with blueberries. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry, building rim high. Fill with blueberries. Sprinkle with orange juice and dot with butter.

Roll out remaining pastry and cut into ½-inch strips. Arrange over filling. Seal and flute edge. Bake at 425 F for 10 minutes, then lower heat to 350 F and bake 35 to 40 minutes longer, until crust is golden and filling begins to bubble.

Note: This pie may be made with frozen, thawed blueberries.

Summer fruit desserts

There is perhaps no greater confirmation of the arrival of summer than that first bite into a perfectly ripe peach, with its sweet taste, mellow texture and fragrant aroma combining to transport us right into the orchard itself.

What can be better than a tart-sweet cherry or a soft, plump raspberry plucked right from the bush? Is there anything more refreshing than a slice of chilled watermelon in the midafternoon? And then there are cantaloupes in their prime, fleshy and satisfying enough to make a meal in themselves — a dieter's delight.

Is it the abundance of summer fruits or their brilliant colors that make them so irresistible? The fact that they are available to us with little to no preparation is also of great appeal. These days all fruits must be washed carefully to rinse away pesticides if the skins are to be eaten. (Some people prefer to avoid any risk by peeling the fruit altogether.)

Because summer fruits make such strong statements, I often prefer to serve them just as nature provides. It's nice to present the small fruits like cherries, grapes, apricots and nectarines in a crystal bowl of ice water, providing guests with cloth napkins to catch any drips.

Another simple approach is to make fruit kabobs by spearing whole small fruits or cubes of larger ones onto bamboo sticks. Take care to arrange them with pleasing color combinations. Since fruit loses its vibrancy quickly after it is cut, it's a good idea to prepare the kabobs right before serving.

It's also nice to serve melon balls and blueberries in scooped-out cantaloupe "bowls" or to set a mixed fruit salad into a hollowed-out watermelon.

For some interesting flavor and texture variations, try drizzling a bit of best-quality balsamic vinegar on strawberries (as the Italians do) or stirring some finely chopped mint into a fruit salad.

If you are feeling a bit more ambitious and have a yen to make a fresh fruit pie, here are two appealing options. The first recipe calls for a pie of uncooked fruit, using a simple glaze on top. The second is a healthful and whole-grain variation of the traditional fruit crumble.

Kristina Turner is a macrobiotic cook who has explored the healing value of foods. She has found that "naturally sweetened, low-fat desserts are much less likely to bounce you around than conventional, high-fat, sugar-laden treats. And much more likely to bring out the true sweet tenderness in you."

This simple and imaginative recipe can be used for any fresh fruit in season. The fruit is uncooked and lightly glazed so that all of its luscious goodness comes right through. The jelling agents — agar-agar and kuzu — are readily available in health food stores. Turner finds that by toasting the flours for the dough, they become more flavorful and more easily digested.

KRISTINA TURNER'S PEACH PIE

Nutty Oat Crust (see recipe below)

- 4 cups fresh sliced peaches, apricots, pears, nectarines, peeled if desired, or equivalent amount of blueberries or pitted cherries
- 2 cups unsweetened apple juice
- 2 tablespoons agar-agar flakes
- 2½ heaping tablespoons kuzu stirred into ¼ cup cool water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Pinch sea salt

Yields 1 10-inch pie.

Prepare crust as directed below. Bake and set aside to cool.

Arrange peaches or other fresh fruit on prebaked crust. Bring juice and agar-agar to a boil, then simmer 5 minutes. Add kuzu/water mixture and stir until thick. Add vanilla. Cool for a few minutes, then pour over fruit. Refrigerate until set, about 1 hour.

NUTTY OAT CRUST

- ¾ cup rolled oats
- ¾ cup whole-wheat pastry flour
- ¼ cup brown rice flour
- ¼ teaspoon sea salt
- ¼ cup finely chopped walnuts
- 2 tablespoons light (untoasted) sesame oil
- ½ to ¾ cup water

Lightly roast first oat flakes, then flours, by stirring in heavy skillet over medium heat until they just begin to smell toasty. Take care not to brown or burn. As each flour is toasted, transfer to bowl. Blend.

With fork, mix salt, walnuts and oil into flour. Add just enough water so that dough holds together when you squeeze it a little, but is not sticky.

Oil 10-inch pie plate. Spread crust mixture evenly into plate, beginning in center and pressing with fingers into thin crust, pushing extra dough up sides to form rim. Flute edge, if desired. Bake until light brown and crispy, about 20 minutes, in oven preheated to 350 F. Cool on cake rack. Fill as directed above.

Ways to help your child do well in school

Q. My husband has told me at least a thousand times how involved his folks were in his schooling when he was a kid. My parents stayed out of mine, but I did as well in school as he did.

So what's the big deal about checking up on the kids' schooling and spending a lot of time going to school meetings?

He thinks it is essential. I'm not at all sure it is. How about you?

A. Drawing conclusions based on the experiences of only two people (you and your husband) is pretty questionable. More extensive research indicates that parent involvement on a partnership basis with their children's schools generally helps the youngsters learn more and better.

From an excellent source, the National PTA, some suggestions to parents were recently offered regarding their children's education.

Under the heading of "Nine Ways to Help Your Children Do Well in School" were these ideas. They may be worth your considering — and perhaps discussing with your husband if you can bring yourself to do that.

- Show your children that their education is important to you. Set aside at least 15 minutes a day to talk about assignments and school activities.

- Monitor their homework, helping them if they need it, but don't do it for them.

- Read to or with your children, and let them see you reading every day.

- Turn off the TV except for special shows or at agreed-upon times. Serve as a good role model — don't spend all your time watching TV.

- Get to know their teachers and obtain any special help that your children may need.

- Attend all parent-teacher conferences, PTA meetings, and as many school events as possible. Learn about school rules, budgets and curriculum, and make your opinions known.

- Be sure that your children are properly supervised before and after school hours. Teachers say the No. 1 cause of students' difficulties in school is that too many are left alone before and after school.

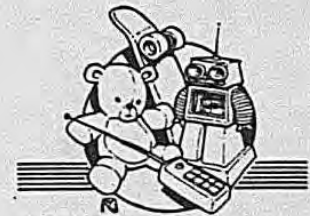

- Don't allow your teen-agers to spend their weekends partying. Partying and drinking can have very negative effects on their schooling and health.

- Help your children feel good about themselves. Children with good self-esteem are better students and grow up to be happier and healthier adults.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

It's easy to make your steps non-skid

Q. We have a summer home that has wooden stairs at the main entrance. The steps are painted and during wet weather are very slippery and dangerous.

How can these steps be treated so they are less slippery? I prefer not to use unattractive adhesive strips, which eventually curl and come loose.

A. Making a painted surface non-skid is not difficult. However, you will have to repaint.

Choose a good exterior paint. Be sure that the existing painted surface is free of any dirt or grease and all peeling paint. The surface should be well-sanded prior to application of the new paint. Remove any residue with a tack cloth before painting.

Apply a new coat of paint and carefully sprinkle sand over the freshly painted surface. I would recommend a 30-pound-grit sand as coarse enough to do a good job. You can buy this in 5-pound packages at hardware stores or lumber dealers.

A good method of application is to take a cardboard container, such as a small paint bucket, and punch a series of small holes in the bottom so you can shake the sand evenly over the tread surface of the steps (like a salt or pepper shaker).

Apply ample sand over the freshly painted surface. A depth of approximately 1/4 inches should be enough. The weight of the sand will help embed the particles evenly into the new paint.

Let the surface dry thoroughly, then remove the excess sand. A utility vacuum does a good job of removing the loose sand once the surface is dry.

When the excess sand has been removed, you are ready to apply the final coats of paint. One or two additional coats will usually do the job, covering the surface, but leaving enough texture so that the steps will be non-skid.

Q. Can you suggest a way to smooth down claw diggings on a large wing chair? The material scratched is imitation leather — a soft plastic of some sort.

The chair was covered about 30 years ago and looks perfect except for the cat scratches. I am devastated when I think of the cost of recovering this large wing chair.

A. The success of the repair job will depend on the extent of the damage. However, there is a liquid vinyl on the market, available at many auto parts supply stores. It is inexpensive and you can do a surprisingly professional-looking repair job.

Basically, you rub the sticky liquid vinyl in the hole, tear or scratch with a spatula. Then you place a piece of "graining paper" over the liquid vinyl and slide an iron over the paper for up to 60 seconds to let the vinyl cure.

Then remove the iron and the graining paper. The scratches or holes are repaired. Liquid vinyl is available in various colors.

If you cannot find a color that matches your chair, there are vinyl repair kits available with several bottles of different colors. You should be able to mix these colors for a close match.

The area you are working on should be free of all dirt and grease. Clean with some detergent and water and allow to dry thoroughly before you begin the repair job.

MORE ON GLASS DOORS

One of our readers writes, "Regarding your article on cleaning glass shower doors of soap and scum, I have found an even simpler and less expensive way."

"Regular algecide of the type used in swimming pools and spas will remove scum and soap residue with no scrubbing."

"This same product is harmless to the user's hands and may be used to clean bathtubs and for other cleaning tasks."

"The concentrated algecide may be diluted 1/2 algecide to 3/4 water. It is also available in already diluted gallon sizes and may be used full-strength. Merely wipe on with a cloth and rinse with clear water."

Say this prayer 9 times daily; by the 8th day your prayers will be answered. My prayer has been answered. Say it 9 days. It has never failed. Publication must be promised. P.M.C.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. K.A.F. gcjy3

HOLY SPIRIT WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit. R.T.gcyj3

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Can you get lump sum SS payment?

Is there a way to get a lump sum payment of Social Security benefits?

How do you find out about long-term care insurance?

We address these questions with answers, mainly for seniors.

Q. Is there a bill in Congress that would allow people to take their full amount of Social Security money in one lump sum if they wanted it that way?

I'm on welfare and would like to do this. — A.M., Selma, Calif.

A lot of ideas have been proposed regarding Social Security, but no such proposal is being considered as legislation in Congress.

My sources in Congress also advise that no such concept would be considered, and if proposed, would not become law.

There have been ideas presented to Congress for a conversion of the future Social Security program into an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) concept. In that proposal, today's middle-years workers would be offered some conversion values of their Social Security contributions. Even this concept is not in the form of legislation now or in the foreseeable future.

Social Security specifically was designed to provide monthly retirement subsidies. Practically and politically, a lump sum payment is not even a remote possibility.

Q. I want to buy long-term care insurance.

Where can I find out about the companies and their policies available in my state? — L.C., La Rue, Texas.

Your state insurance commissioner can supply a list of companies and policies available. A phone call or a letter to the commissioner's office at your state capital should bring the publication by return mail.

A policy listing does not mean any endorsement by the state insurance commission; instead only that the company and the coverage meet certain minimum standards.

Long-term care insurance policies vary widely in coverage and price.

Many have restrictions or limitations for pre-existing or specific conditions or illnesses — you find these cited in the "small print," generally sheltered in a lot of legalese.

Many will require you to be hospitalized before entry into any level of nursing facility — skilled, intermediate or custodial care — while most nursing home admissions do not follow immediately after hospitalization.

Before buying long-term insurance from anyone, consider several to many different policies. List your concerns and any pre-existing medical problems. Resolve how much funding per-day will be necessary if you are in a nursing home.

Write to the American Association of Retired Persons/Fulfillment at 1909 K St., N.W., Washington, DC 20049, requesting cost-free copies of their publications on long-term care and insurance.

Do not rush into or be rushed into this type of insurance purchase. There are fine policies and, perhaps, one to meet your needs — but purchase a policy based on your own needs and concerns as an aware consumer.

China cabinet was made about 1900

Q. I hope you can tell me when my china cabinet was made and how much it is worth.

It is 76 inches high and 42 inches wide, with curved glass on three sides. It has lion heads near the top of the posts and lion paw feet.

CHINA CABINET

...A fine example of its type, worth up to $1,200 in good condition

A. Your china cabinet was made about 1900 and is a fine example of its type. It would sell for at least $1,000 to $1,200 in good condition.

Q. My porcelain figural group consists of a boy sitting on a sled and a girl standing beside him. It is marked "Late Dresden."

Please tell me when this was made and what it is worth.

A. Anything marked "Late Dresden" is not "real Dresden." The company that made the original Dresden china moved to Meissen and marks its product with crossed swords.

Your figural group was made

Q. Can you tell me anything about a plate signed by Charles Dana Gibson? It depicts a group of men and women in old-fashioned clothing ice skating. It is titled "They All Go Saating."

A. Charles Dana Gibson was an illustrator. In 1900-1901 he produced a set of 24 drawings for Life Publishing Co. called "The Widow and Her Friends."

Royal Doulton reproduced these drawings on a set of plates. They are now selling for about $100 each.

Q. The enclosed mark is on the back of a 10-inch cake plate that is hand-painted with a variety of fruit.

I picked it up at a yard sale for $5. Did I come home with an antique or junque?

A. This mark was used by Retsch & Co. in Wunsiedel, Germany, in the mid-20th century. For $5 you got a bargain; it's worth at least twice that.

At 40 years old, it's hardly an antique, but it is worth collecting.

Q. Among the things inherited from my husband's mother is a ceramic plaque marked with a castle and "Metlach - V.B." It is numbered "2597" and is pierced so that it can be hung on the wall.

I would like to know something about the value and origin of this plaque.

A. Your plaque was made in Mettlach, Germany, by Villeroy & Boch during the late 1800s. It is currently being offered at $800 to $900.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam.

Pomeranian has spells of lameness

Q. Our 8-month-old Pomeranian has intermittent periods of lameness in her rear legs, which seem to be bowed.

What is causing her problem? Will she grow out of this condition?

A. Without actually examining your dog it is impossible to tell you what is causing her lameness. However, from your very brief description it appears that your dog is suffering from dislocation of the kneecaps, also called patellar luxation.

Patellar luxation is a common cause of intermittent lameness in toy and miniature breeds of dogs. Although not limited to these breeds, poodles, terriers, Chihuahuas, Pomeranians and Pekingese are often affected. Patellar luxation is considered a heritable disease in toy and miniature breeds. It is also usually considered to be congenital, that is, present at the time of birth.

Observant owners usually first notice lameness in one or both of the dog's hind legs at about 6 to 8 months of age. Usually the kneecap dislocates to the inside of the leg. It is often easy to feel the displaced kneecap lying on the inside of the leg. In many cases the kneecap moves back and forth between the normal position and the displaced position. Affected dogs often appear to be bow-legged.

All dogs thought to have patellar luxation should be examined by a veterinarian. Veterinarians diagnose dislocated kneecaps by physically feeling the position of the bones of the leg and by examining X-rays of the rear legs. Other abnormal conditions may mimic the signs of patellar luxation.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By William M. Acosta

Could I name nephew as my SS beneficiary?

Q. I have never been married. My only surviving relative is a nephew. Could I name him beneficiary of my Social Security benefits? — G.R.F.

A. Social Security, unlike many private insurance policies, does not allow you to name beneficiaries.

The Social Security law allows payment to certain dependents, namely a spouse, unmarried children under age 18, 19 if still in high school and disabled children if they were disabled before age 22.

Q. Is it true that if you move to a different state the amount of your Supplemental Security Income changes? — L.H.

A. A change in your household or a change in your living arrangement can affect your SSI amount.

Also, if you received a state supplement where you lived previously, your new state may not pay a supplement. Ask about this when you report your change of address.

Your change of residence must be reported to Social Security within 10 days after the end of the month in which the move occurred.

Q. My neighbor told me that the disability determination for a widow differs from that of a disabled worker. Is that true? — R.S.P.

A. For disabled widows' benefits, disability is based on medically determinable physical or mental impairment so severe that it prevents the individual from engaging in any gainful activity. Factors such as age, education, and work experience cannot be considered as they are with disabled workers.

Q. After all these years I understand that the retirement age is due to change. Why? — Y.T.

A. Starting in the year 2000, the age at which full benefits are payable will be increased in gradual steps until it reaches 67.

The scheduled change in retirement age affects people born after 1937. The change reflects the fact that life expectancies have increased since Social Security was enacted in 1935 and the change will help ensure that Social Security remains financially stable well into the next century.
