County Working With HAD

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta, left, joins with Richard Murdocco, Executive Director, Help Aid Direction, Inc., to review documentation concerning their joint efforts. Nassau County has been working closely with Help Aid Direction, Inc. to assist it in achieving its goals and objectives on behalf of the residents. In this particular effort, Help Aid Direction, Inc. will be continuing outpatient treatment services to individuals and families with alcohol related problems.

Dutch PTA Ice Cream Day

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays Dutch Lane PTA sells ice cream and juice during lunchtime. There are six choices of ice cream, apple and orange juice, all selling for fifty cents each. Some 5th graders, Angela Becker, Jill Snyder and Susanne Klein having ice cream.

New Recycling Program

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta, center, and Town of Oyster Bay Supervisor Angelo Delligatti, right, announced at a recently held press conference that a comprehensive office paper recycling program will be implemented in office buildings operated by Nassau County, beginning in early October. The program will save County Taxpayers up to $100,000 annually. The program will begin initially at the County's Executive Office Building and the Old Court House Building in Mineola, as well as the Dept. of Recreation and Parks Administration Building at Eisenhower Park and will enable office paper to be recycled on a large volume. Looking on was Guy Mazza, N.C. Recycling Coordinator.

Budget Comm. Residents Sought

The Hicksville Board of Education is interested in establishing a Citizens' Budget Advisory Committee and is asking that interested residents apply.

The purpose of the committee will be to analyze the 1990-91 budget in preparation for monitoring the 1991-92 budget, to give ongoing advisory recommendations to the Superintendent, and to give a final advisory recommendation to the Board of Education.

Volunteers are asked that their application for membership be in the form of a letter to the Board of Education, Administration Building, Hicksville, New York, explaining their interest in serving on such a committee. All members of the committee should also be residents of Hicksville. Applications for membership on the committee should be received at the Board Office by the close of the workday on October 15.

The procedure to be followed for selecting members of the committee will be as follows:

1. Board members will have an opportunity to read all application letters, and each board member will nominate five people for the committee

2. The total membership of the committee should be no more than 21 residents

3. Those whose names appear on the lists of two or more board members will be asked to serve on the committee

4. If the nominating process does not yield at least 21 names for the committee, all those whose names appear at least once on the board lists will be resubmitted to board members. Board members will be asked to nominate an additional, specified number of committee members from that list

5. The committee will meet as scheduled during the budget development process to review procedures and give input to the administration in preparing the new budget

6. The Citizens' Budget Advisory Committee will elect their own chairperson. Mr. William Hall, Assistant Superintendent, Business Services, will act as an information consultant to the committee.

Holiday Schedule

On Columbus Day, Monday, October 8, Metropolitan Suburban Bus Authority buses will operate on a weekday schedule.

Budget Vote Possible; Homecoming In 2 Weeks

By Maureen Traxler

Packed onto the Hicksville School Board's September 26 agenda were several emotion-charged items, such as a recommendation for a third budget vote, the formation of a Citizens Budget Advisory Committee and the establishment of criteria for school closings. But none proved more urgent to the students assembled there that night than the plight of the senior class faced with the loss of their district as a site for the upcoming SAT examination and the hefty fees to be imposed for their homecoming activities just two weeks away.

Under austerity guidelines, the district is charging organizations for the use of buildings, and therefore, planned to charge Princeton, the administrator of the SAT and PSAT exams, for the one day testing in October and November. The district also planned to charge the students $120 for the use of the gym for their homecoming dance on October 11. The students would also have to pay $1300 in security fees and fees for field clean up and removal of debris after the homecoming parade during the October 13, football game.

Asked for a clarification on the administration of the SAT's, Board counsel Greg Guercio said that the SAT's "can be considered an examination provided for under the auspices of the Superintendent of Schools" and therefore, the fee can be waived.

The answers for homecoming were less positive. Since the district determined additional identifiable costs, those fees stated in Board policy will be passed along. The students, as well as other groups, asked for a reduction in fees, but Board president JoAnn Miltenberg said that this could not be done without revising the district's policy which could take several months before action.

"There is no tomorrow for us," pleaded Senior Class Secretary Barry Manning, as he pressed the Board to understand that homecoming is part of their student activities. The students offered to drive the floats away from school property for dismantling and to provide their own cleanup effort; they also asked why they have to pay for the use of their own gym for the homecoming dance. But the students left the meeting with no immediate answers.

High School PTSA President Terry Moehringer stepped up to the microphone and pledged that the PTSA unit would pay the fee for the use of the gym for the dance, and pledged to amass a cleanup committee to assist after the parade. Trustee William Bennett suggested that staff members donate their time for this purpose, and James Martillo urged Board members to do the same.

It was learned earlier this week that the High School PTSA paid an adjusted fee for the use of the gym for the homecoming dance, reflecting the elimination of heating charges which are not necessary. PTSA Pres. Terry Moehringer said that she has formed a cleanup committee of about 100 people for the homecoming game events on Saturday, October 13. With a large portion of the cleanup costs removed, "it is hoped that fees will come down for the students," added Mrs. Moehringer.

Third Budget Vote

Trustee Arlene Rudin recommended that the Board resubmit the 1990-91 budget for a revote at $51,584,000, the figure proposed at the August 29th vote. Mrs. Rudin reasoned that residents "have seen what austerity has cost in the district," the loss of facilities to groups such as the Youth Council, CYO and students. "That's what our community is all about," she added.

Mrs. Rudin suggested that putting back the $1.7 million taken out during austerity (supplies, transportation) and the loss of $300,000 in state aid for transportation reimbursements adds $2+ to the tax levy at the start of next year, "even before we look at a budget (for 1991-92)."

"The people feel angry and deceived," added Mr. Bennett, as he opposed a third vote. He advised that in order to save money the budget must impact on staff salaries and benefits.

President Miltenberg said that it would be hard to ascertain how the district would finance the difference between the austerity budget and the $51.5 figure, especially without a clear definition of the impact of the TRS controversy.

Mrs. Rudin sharply disagreed with Superintendent Catherine Fenton on the number of districts in Nassau County which have agreed to take the state proposed deferred payment for districts' 1988-

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! All Bethpage residents are summoned to the fair. Come celebrate your town.

The Central Park Historical Society of Bethpage is putting together a real bash. This Saturday, October 6, community groups, service and fraternal organizations, PTA's, PAL and Scouts will come together for their first annual "Bethpage Day."

The day will begin with a parade, starting at Central and Stewart Avenues at 10 a.m., continuing through town and ending at the Community Park. Some of the hullabaloo going on will include an antique car show, the Long Island Banjo Society, demonstrations by the St. Martin's Players and Norma's School of Dance, the Nassau County Police Concert Band, a local rock group and a huge merchants' raffle.

Fifty prizes have been donated by local merchants and raffle drawings will be held throughout the day. The grand prize is a 27" color TV; other prizes include a party worth $175 donated by a caterer, 100 gallons of fuel oil by Greco, and free limousine service for an evening.

Historical Society President and Event Chairman Daniel Schiavetta says the day was organized to rally together all the local groups one day a year to celebrate their uniqueness. "Bethpage has a lot of clubs," says Mr. Schiavetta, and some of them are engaged in "extraordinary things."

Groups were encouraged to set up booths and display tables. They may sell items or offer services or information about their group. Profits garnered at booths are strictly fundraisers for that particular group.

The Historical Society will be selling T-Shirts, emblazoned with their new logo and the words "First Annual Bethpage Day." The Society also has available postcards depicting old scenes of Bethpage and its townspeople.

The spark which triggered Saturday's happening was ignited several years ago. In 1986, Bethpage held such an event to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the name change from Central Park to Bethpage. Past residents felt there was confusion and misidentification of their town with Central Park in New York City. A highlight of the '86 event was the proclamation of the Town Board declaring October 3rd, "Bethpage Day." Reflecting that, the Historical Society chose the first Saturday of October to be set aside for the fair.

The Historical Society began to put together a video tape of the 50th Anniversary 2 years ago through the kind assistance of resident George Hogan, filming professional with CBS. This active group meets on the third Wednesday of every month at the Library on Powell Avenue.

Bethpage has many things to celebrate, not the least of which is its Water District which has proven to provide quality water to its residents. In statewide voting, Bethpage lost out as "best" by only 2 votes out of 5500.

This is your day - Bethpage. Share in the excitement, make it a day to remember, and let it start a tradition.

Budget Vote Possible; Homecoming

89 contribution to the Teachers Retirement System. Dr. Fenton said that at a recent meeting she heard that only 5 of the 40 districts had agreed to the plan, but Mrs. Rudin said that "many" will go along with the state plan. She suggested that the Superintendent should ask for a list of the districts complying with the plan.

Asked for a timeline for possible vote dates, counsel outlined two scenarios. If the Board secures the approval of Nassau County for a supplemental tax, two weeks lead time is sufficient. If the Board wishes to finance the difference between the austerity figure and $51.5 million by asking the voters to approve a budget note, a technical proposition would have to be drawn up with the aid of New York bonding counsel. This type of a proposition could require two months before a vote.

The Board was not able to come to a decision on a third vote, and tabled action on the item until further information could be obtained. A special meeting was set for 9 p.m., on Wednesday, October 10, at which time this item would be finalized.

School Closings

In her efforts to see that the Board does not delay action on the controversy of closing schools, President Miltenberg requested guidelines from the Trustees on how to approach the discussion. She asked a series of questions in order to gather opinions from the Board.

All but Carole Wolf wished to see the closing of two elementary schools (Wolf - 1). All members wished to preserve the concept of community or neighborhood schools by carving Hicksville into sections and keeping a school open in each portion. Sections would be determined by major roadways. Most members wished to see closings by September 1991, and most felt that Superintendent Fenton should make a recommendation to the Board on possible buildings to be closed. All agreed that the ultimate decision lies with the Board.

Dr. Fenton said that as the educational leader in the district, she could prepare data to identify the most likely buildings to be closed to insure optimal educational benefits to the students. But she said that she could not presume to know the real estate value of the properties and could not advise the Board as to the best resale property.

The Board requested all data generated in the Superintendent's search to determine the best possible answer to school closings. Mrs. Miltenberg thanked the members for their insight in helping her prepare further agenda items on this issue.

Citizens Budget Advisory Committee

The Board agreed to a list of general guidelines for establishing the committee. The Board agreed to publish the criteria in the local newspaper. Applications for membership should be received by October 15. The Board members will review the application letters and a selection process will follow. Total membership on the committee will not exceed 21 residents. Asst. Superintendent William Hall will be present at meetings to facilitate discussion, and no Board members or administrative staff will participate.

Board Committee Reports

Mrs. Rooney reported that the policy committee discussed the idea of at large elections. Through this method, candidates run for a seat without regard to filing for a specific seat, and winners are chosen on the basis of who gets the majority of the votes. A switch to this method would require a public referendum and vote with implementation the following year. Asst. Superintendent Couillard was asked to look into this method.

With the budget process for 1991-92 due to start this week, the finance committee reviewed options for preparation of the coming budget. Bennett said he could not see how zero based budget procedures could be accomplished this year. He felt there would be too much employee training involved.

William Collins favored both zero based budgeting and the menu budget which would itemize certain aspects such as transportation and sports.

Dr. Fenton said that zero based budgeting was a very technical process, and would take a year to program in the districts computers. "It would revamp the entire budget which we are used to reading," stated Dr. Fenton.

After discussion, Dr. Fenton agreed that the Board may not be looking for zero based budgeting in the purist form, and said that the Board's wishes are "achievable. Maybe we could put off beginning the budget process for a month."

Other Board Matters

The Board approved filing an application for state "Excellence in Teaching" funds for the 1990-91 school year.

The Board approved authorization for administration to receive, set up funds and administer receipts and expenditures of funds for the following programs: Athletic Department - sum of approximately $40,000; Elementary Academic Enrichment Program - sum of $6,900; and "Olympiad Contests" for Willet Avenue School - sum of $255.

The Board approved the appointment of Stephen Aronowitz as Adult Education Coordinator and Guy LeVaillant as Coordinator of Computer Services.

In the general public session, resident Janet VonBargen charged that "children should be your top priority," as she challenged the Board's decision to continue the Adult Education program and payments to the Senior Citizen directors. She said that in allowing programs which previously were said to be disallowed during austerity, the Board "loses credibility and seriously jeopardizes future votes." She said she believes in light of soaring energy costs that the adult education programs are no longer self-sustaining and should be taken away from the austerity budget. She also believes that the senior citizen advisors are classified as a social group and not educational.

Mrs. VonBargen emphatically stated that if the Board decides to go ahead with the continuing education program, she will contact the appropriate departments in Albany to check "if the district is complying with austerity and to see if our children's rights are being protected."

President Miltenberg said that in light of these facts, she questions "whether the spring program should run."

Letters

To the Editor:

Hicksville Be Proud

The month of June is always a hectic time. The winding down of the school year, exams, Regents, HBA, the closing of organizations like Scouts, Graduations, Dance Recitals...speaking of Dance Recitals, I thought it might be nice to share with you the fact that Pam Durkin and Pegge O'Connor Schools of Dance (I did that by alphabet) make a marvelous contribution to the youth and future of our community. The Dancing Schools and the Hicksville High School PTSA work together and after a recital, each school makes a substantial contribution, to the High School PTSA Scholarship Fund. I thought Hicksville and the Patrons of these dancing schools should know and appreciate that fact. Here is a perfect example of the school - the PTA and the Community working together for the good of our children. It is appreciated and most commendable. We certainly can be proud! Artists Sought For Rotating Program

Artists, craftspeople and photographers are being sought by the Town of Oyster Bay to exhibit their works in the 17th Annual Rotating Arts Program sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Dept. of Community and Youth Services, according to Town Councilman John Venditto.

"The aim of this program is to offer exposure to artists by showcasing their work to a large and varied audience," Venditto said. "All types of arts and crafts will be considered. The 1990 program includes photography, oil paintings and watercolors, pastels, calligraphy, acrylics, sculpture, serigraphs, graphics and pencil drawings, to name a few."

Artists will be required to bring a sampling of their work to a preview, Sunday, November 11, where the work will be judged for acceptability into the program. If approved, artists will then be required to bring their work to a "Showcase," Wednesday, Dec. 5, from 8:45 a.m. to 12 noon, where local business people, library personnel and bank managers will select the works of their choice to exhibit. The works will then be displayed in the co-sponsoring facilities for periods of one or two months. An evening meeting will be held with the accepted artists prior to the "Showcase" to go over procedure.

The program is open to artists who reside in Nassau and Suffolk Counties. Only original works completed within the last five years will be accepted. Participating artist are required to submit three works in the same category to the preview, no larger than 42" x 48". Due to limited space availability, only sculptures that fit into the library showcases will be accepted.

Applications can be obtained by contacting CAPA at 795-5943 between 9 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. weekdays. They must be returned to CAPA, Dept. of Community and Youth Services, 977 Hicks-ville Road, Massapequa, N.Y. 11758, no later than Friday, November 2.

Officers Installed At Lamb K. Of C.

The Joseph F. Lamb Council No. 5723 Knights of Columbus, Plainview/Hicksville, held the official installation of officers at the meeting, held on Thursday evening, Sept. 20, at Our Lady of Mercy School basement in Hicksville. A very large crowd of wives, friends and well wishers were on hand to witness the ceremony.

District Deputy PGK Otto Schmidtmann from the 16th D.D. and also District Deputy PGK Edwin Forte from the 14th D.D. led the team that officially installed the new officers of the Joe Lamb Council. The officers will serve during the Columbian year which started on July 1st and will end on June 30, 1991.

The newly installed officers are as follows: Grand Knight - Josef S. Ort; Deputy Grand Knight - Peter S. Volpe, PGK, PFN, FDD; Chancellor - Robert F. Corrado, PGK, PFN, FDD, and newly installed Nassau-Suffolk Chapter Chairman; Warden - Bill Ohm; Recorder - Robert W. Andruzzi; Financial Secretary - Henry D. Schettini; and Treasurer - Roe Catalano.

Also installed were: Advocate - Joseph F. Ehlert, PGK, PFN, FDD; Lecturer - John N. Lombardi, PGK; Inside Guard - Frank W. Jopp; Outside Guards - Joseph Palminteri and Louis J. Parisi; and the three year trustee is PGK John N. Lombardi.

Installed as Chaplain was Msgr. James E. Boesel, who is pastor of Our Lady of Mercy Church.

Assisting D.D. Otto Schmidtmann and D.D. Edwin Forte in the ceremony were: 16th D.D. Wardens - PGK Sam Repoli (from Joe Lamb Council), and Raymond Ludwig (from St. Pius Council), and also 14th D.D. Wardens - PGK Danny Ramirez (from Oyster Bay Council), and DGK John Bannon (from St. Francis Council).

Honored guests included: 17th District Deputy - Stephen McKenna; Nassau Aux. Chairman for membership - Don Pesonen; General Insurance Agent - Ed Ventura; G.K. Ralph Plaisance (from St. Pius Council); G.K. Tom Fazio (from Joseph Gorman Council); and PGK Bert Wengler (from Holy Innocents Council).

Food, drinks and refreshments were served to the many in attendance and all on hand certainly enjoyed the evening.

On a different note - the Council Picnic was held on Sunday, Sept. 9, and it was a great success. Many families from the Council were on hand to enjoy the hotdogs, beer, soda and the many activities which took place. Chairman Robert Andruzzi and Co-chairmen - PGK John Lombardi and PGK Anthony (Tony) Iannuzzi all did a grand job and are to be commended for their efforts.

Finally, the "September Knight of the Month" of Lamb Council is brother Knight Robert Andruzzi. Congratulations Bob for all your many efforts for the Council.

Most Input Callers Do Not Take Rinfret Seriously

Most callers to Input do not take the remarks of the GOP Gubernatorial candidate seriously in reply to this question: "Gubernatorial candidate Pierre Rinfret says we should arm a civilian volunteer force to deal with crime. What do you think?" Here are some of the answers:

WON'T BE ELECTED

It is hard to find much to say about what Mr. Rinfret says. In the past week he has devoted his campaign to everything other than running against Governor Cuomo and I do not think he stands much chance of being elected. To simply by-pass our police force and Auxiliary Police and issue more hand guns certainly will not calm down the crime wave. I think it will only make it worse. Luckily Rinfret won't be elected dog catcher. N.F.

CREATE HAVOC

There may be something in enlisting civilians to help support the police in fighting crime by giving information to the police and cooperating with them. But the idea that we want everyone running around with a gun will create a new form of havoc. It would be a step back and not a step forward. F.D.

CUOMO HAPPY

I think that the GOP is out to sabotage the election system by nominating someone like Rinfret. No one knows how he was selected, what he stands for and why the GOP should think that he is number one in contenders against Mario Cuomo. Only Cuomo can be happy about that choice. J.F.

WHY CONSIDER HIM?

Why waste time and space even considering what Rinfret says? He is only a shadow candidate. One to keep the seat warm. For some reason the Republicans believe that Governor Cuomo is unbeatable when he really is not. Arming civilians will hardly do anything except have more shootings and more criminals running around. The whole thing is just absurd. L.M.

ARM PEOPLE

There may be something in allowing a number of civilians who can qualify to carry guns because the criminals will then not be so brave. Look at what Bernie Goetz was able to do when he was attacked. I think that had an impression on these young punks. A few more like that and you will see crime go down. G.S.

NO QUALIFICATIONS

Who takes Pierre Rinfret seriously? Surely not the voters and that is who he would need to become Governor. Rinfret hasn't shown anyone that he has any qualifications to be Governor so it really does not matter what kind of odd things he utters to get on TV and in the headlines. L.W.

ATTRACTING ATTENTION

Rinfret doesn't think he will ever be Governor so he is now just going around saying anything to attract attention. The trouble is that some people will believe him and think carrying a gun will solve some problem. Perhaps carrying a gun by a competent marksman who was psychologically sound would help, but to arm everyone is just nonsense. F.G.

ALREADY DONE

We already have auxiliary police, Guardian Angels and other authorized groups who assist the police. Does anyone know where Rinfret has been all this time? He simply showed his ignorance to talk about arming civilians to fight crime. It is already being done in a controlled and responsible way. J.D.

MAKES HEADLINES

I believe that Pierre Rinfret's idea of arming a civilian volunteer force to deal with crime was really meant to make the newspaper headlines rather than look for popular support. Had he instead suggested an expansion of the Auxiliary Police or even the Guardian Angels under the supervision and training of the Police Department, I would say, that made good sense. Instead of arming such a volunteer, unpaid force I would have the authorities issue them free uniforms, walkie-talkie radios and flashlights. C.K.

MORE POLICE ON BEAT

As far as I am concerned, the illustration accompanying the "Question" in the Garden City News says it all! But before that, I can't recall when we have ever had such a poor candidate for Governor and that goes for the Democrats, Republicans, et al. I don't even want to spend time on his so-called affiliation with the Republican Party and his platform in general not to mention his vacillation as a candidate on any basis as well as his problems with campaign financing. But, this latest brain-wave is really one for the books. Our biggest problem today is the availability of fire-arms to anyone for any purpose with the apparent inability of any organized group to do anything about it. To put guns in the hands of a civilian volunteer force to deal with crime is just asking for it. What a mess that would be! As the cartoon depicts, it's about time we drew a more serious bead on the National Rifle Association demanding a ban on assault weapons. With that in place, the job of our police force would be improved immediately particularly with the greater emphasis on an expanded foot patrol unit within the Police Department. And if Pierre Rinfret thinks he would unite the people with diatribe - forget it! P.G.S.

Meeting The Neighbor Quite By Accident

By Michael Golden

The doorbell doesn't normally ring at eight on a Sunday morning, and so I was more than a little curious as I went to open the door. I was even more surprised to see in front of me an elderly lady, obviously distraught, as she babbled, almost incoherently: "I'm sorry...it was an accident...I'll pay for everything...I didn't really mean to..."

I took a sip from my coffee cup, thought for a moment, looked at her, and said: "Huh?"

"I mean, it really wasn't my fault, it was an accident..."

I was getting a little impatient. Who was this woman? What did she want? Doesn't she know it's Sunday morning, no time to be babbling away at strangers?

"Uh, what accident are you, uh, talking about?"

She looked at me as if I'd just landed from another planet. "Why, don't you know?" she asked, astonished. "My car. It's in your back porch!"

"Oh," I said, the coffee nearly spilling from my cup.

Things still hadn't quite registered. I just looked at her for a moment, not knowing quite what to say. All I could think of was: "Just what, exactly, is your car, uh, doing in my back porch?" I doubt I've ever said anything more inane in my life.

I then vaguely recalled the previous night, when my wife bolted up in bed, startled, sometime before one a.m., and woke me up.

"What was that noise?" she asked.

"What noise?" I hadn't heard a thing.

"That noise. It sounded like an explosion. The whole house shook. How could you not hear it?"

Probably just an earthquake," I said. "Go back to sleep."

Joan got out of bed and looked out the window to the front of the house. She went downstairs and looked out the front door. She is a very methodical person. Nothing doing. It didn't occur to her to look in the back of the house, of course. Nothing ever happens in the backyard.

I went with my surprise visitor through the house to the back door leading from the dining room to our screened-in back porch. I opened the door, and, sure enough, a spanking new Mercury was sitting in the middle of the porch, in the midst of an avalanche of wood, screen and assorted debris. Havoc and destruction, reminiscent of television news footage of Hurricane Hugo, was everywhere.

"Nice parking," I said. Wait'll my wife sees this, I thought. She was already on her way downstairs from the bedroom. "Good Morning, honey," I said. "Let me introduce you to our neighbor." Joan silently surveyed the carnage. Her facial expression described, I thought, a person who had just won a million dollar lottery, but had lost the ticket.

"My flower garden! I worked on it all spring! It's destroyed!" she said.

Well, life isn't always a bed of roses, I thought. And, I mused, this is certainly a rather unique way to meet one's neighbor. I had always wondered who lived in that house behind the redwood picket fence in our backyard, which had separated us as effectively as if the Berlin Wall had been built there. Then I realized that the Berlin Wall, too, was being brought down.

"I'm just so sorry," rambled our neighbor. "This is just so embarrassing. But it was an accident, and I really couldn't help it. I was parking my car in the garage, and the accelerator pedal got stuck, and I..."

I thought of an Indiana Jones movie where careening vehicles went right through buildings. An army M-1 tank couldn't have been more efficient. She had driven right through the back of her garage, through our back fence, across our backyard, decapitating several hedges in the process, trampling our patio furniture, and levelling a brick flower-bed wall and the wood and screen porch wall.

I marvelled at the glistening car sitting in the porch with only a few scratches and a shattered headlight to show for its version of Demolition Derby. Our neighbor also seemed none the worse for wear, at least physically. It gave me a new, healthy respect for the workmanship on the much-maligned American-made cars; they're much sturdier than I ever imagined.

That day our backyard became the hang-out for the curiosity-seekers on the block. Word must have traveled quickly, as neighbors I hadn't seen in months trampled through the wreckage. A friend of mine came over with a video camera to record the scene for posterity. It's amazing how cheery and friendly people can be in the wake of destruction (other people's, of course).

After the dust settled, we were left now to do one of my least favorite things in life: dealing with insurance companies. I thought of those television commercials in the wake of last year's San Francisco earthquake, with misty-eyed victims hugging appreciatively their insurance benefactors. Of course, reality soon set in. The company that we're supposedly in good hands with paid for the depreciated value of the table and for the one chair of our matched set that was destroyed. As far as I could see, the table still served its original purpose as well as when it was purchased. Just try buying a depreciated table sometime. And try finding a chair that matches a set you bought six years ago.

Our porch has now been repaired and we have, quite literally, mended fences with our neighbor. But there is still one project left for me: painting the fence and the porch wall.

Only this time, I'll be sure to look both ways before I paint.

"GOOD OLD DAYS"

All of the good places are not gone. For many years we have been going to Lauraine Murphy's in Manhasset. And it appeared that last Saturday several hundred other people had the same idea. But after a surprisingly short wait, considering the number of people who appeared to be waiting, we were seated in the inner dining room at Lauraine Murphy's. The place had not changed. They still serve the warm popovers at each meal. The food was great. Most in our party had roast beef with one holdout for scallops but everything came out wonderful and considering the number of people that must have been served that night it is nothing short of a miracle. We surely recommend Lauraine Murphy's to your readers. H.J.

Q. Last week we went to a well known restaurant with a party of four people. Each person ordered something different and the result was that the waitress brought the orders out at different times. What happened was that some people had to sit there and let their food get cold while waiting for the others. Some in the party said "go ahead and eat" but no one wanted to do that because it didn't seem right. What should have been done?

G.H.

A. What should have been done is that you should have complained to the management. You have mentioned a good restaurant and we are going to send the complaint on to them. The food should all be served at once or as nearly as possible. Otherwise no one is dining together and you might as well have all gone alone. That restaurant will have to get on the ball.

Q. I have noticed that tips are said to range from 15 to 20 percent of a bill in a restaurant. When you calculate this do you figure in the sales tax.

R.K.

A. No you do not generally figure the sales tax in the tip but a great many people now are doubling the sales tax to quickly arrive at the amount of the tip. With the new increased fraction the tip will then closely approximate a 15 percent gratuity.

Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

Q. Next month my husband and I will be entertaining out of town business associates. While they are here we expect to take them out one evening for dinner. While price is no problem (because the company will cover our expenses), we are a little nervous about where to take them. It is the first time we will be meeting our guests and we have no idea what their tastes are!

A. When you entertain people you do not know well it is best to choose a "classic" restaurant with French or American cuisine, rather than one which serves more specialized food. Once you select a likely place it might be a good idea to try it once before your guests come if you haven't eaten there lately. That way you would make sure the food and service are satisfactory at the present time. Always remember that restaurants can change!

DINING GUIDE

READER RATINGS

Q. Sometimes I see diners encircling their plates with the left hand while they eat with the right hand. It almost looks as if they were protecting their food from being stolen! I don't like this mannerism and wonder what you think of it.

A. You are correct, it would be much more graceful to put the left forearm just on the edge of the table or simply to place the left hand in the lap while eating with the right hand.

Q. Is it proper to eat the little "extras" served with cocktails, such as olives or maraschino cherries, or should they be left in the glass?

A. It is perfectly all right to enjoy them along with the cocktail. If they are served on a toothpick that is what you can use to remove them. If not, finish your cocktail and then (as unobtrusively as possible) eat them with your fingers.

Q. Can you tell me the proper way to eat French fries? At a restaurant recently I saw a young man spear them with his fork and nibble them in mid-air. I found this appalling!

A. The best way to eat French fries is to cut them with the side of a fork into bite-size pieces. You are right—food should never be eaten while dangled in the air.

Q. While visiting France last year my friend and I ate in an elegant restaurant. We noticed that forks and spoons were facing downward on the tablecloth. Do you know why this was done?

A. This is an old French custom which is gradually giving way to the English and American way of facing forks and spoons upward.

Q. Recently I came across a menu expression that was new to me. Can you explain what "A la burgulgnonne" means?

A. Translated from the French it would mean "in the Burgundy style" and it refers to any dish served with small onions, spices, bacon, mushrooms and, of course, Burgundy wine.

Q. I often eat with friends at a local restaurant known for its beautiful decor and excellent food. However, for some reason the waiters and waitresses seem to wear grim expressions on their faces. They are not actually rude, but their manner is somewhat curt. Would it be a good idea to say something to the owner?

A. I don't know how the owner will take your comments, but you would actually be doing him or her a favor. It would cost nothing to have the employees a little more gracious and it would most likely increase the restaurant's business. Food and decor are important, but so is pleasant service.

GOOD DINING

Recently we went to celebrate an anniversary and had a delicious dinner at TR's in Williston Park. This small busy little restaurant (it has expanded a bit upstairs) is an experience in good dining. The menu has many innovative items on it and it includes excellent salads and quiches. In addition they have good fish and meat entrees.

We left the restaurant with the feeling that there are still many good things that are done in a better way. We want to recommend TR's on Hillside Ave., Williston Park, to everyone because we believe they will enjoy it. R.M.

GOOD NIGHT

Last Wednesday we decided to follow one of the suggestions in your Reader Ratings. We were mainly satisfied with what we got although the service was a little slow. We went to the Platt-deutsche Park Restaurant in Franklin Square. The place was no stranger to us because we have been there many times before at catered affairs. But this time we went to the smaller restaurant and had sauerbraten. Considering that the check was reduced because we had four in the party eating sauerbraten and they gave us all of the salad we could ever eat it was a very good night both in food and cost. J.H.

GOOD EXPERIENCE

The Benihana of Tokyo restaurant in Manhasset is a good experience. While the price is not low, the food is good and you get the free entertainment of watching the chef cut the fish or meat in a flamboyant style.

We had the fish dinner which was cooked from beginning to end before our eyes on the hibachi. The salad has a special taste prepared with the house dressing which is a combination of oil, vinegar and spice.

We recommend this restaurant. M.V.

HAPPY CHOICE

It takes many ingredients to make for delightful dining. Our party of six felt that we found them all at the newly decorated George Washington Manor in Roslyn. We enjoyed a most delightful Sunday Brunch and were unanimous in saying that it was a happy choice.

The decor is both charming and elegant, the food selection was diversified and exceedingly good, the service is superb. We all agreed it was a delightful way to spend a few hours on a Sunday. We have also been there for dinner and were well pleased. In particular we enjoyed the cozy fireplace. We heartily endorse this very fine restaurant. D.J.

Q. Does the sofa always have to face the fireplace? In our part of California, we don't use the fireplace all that much and I hate looking into that blank hole. — S.H.

A. Out of respect for the architecture, the fireplace has traditionally been the focal point around which rooms are arranged. However, you can easily turn the furniture's back on an underused fireplace and never miss it — as you can see from the Southwestern-flavored family room we show here.

The loveseat-sofa duet angles toward the fireplace without actually facing it; the diagonally laid area rug and strategically placed tables underscore the room's off-center orientation — away from the walls toward the center of the space.

There's another good reason for this kind of arrangement, one you'd never guess unless I told you so I will: the sofa is a sleepers. Made by La-Z-Boy and covered in a deep, rich plaid, it looks company-ready by day and is definitely ready for company by night.

Back to the fireplace: Even though it's not the center of attention, it holds its own as an art center. An ever-changing display of paintings and objects is simply propped against the wall on top of the mantel.

One more thought about unused fireplaces: Take advantage of them as a ready-made "niche" in which to display more than unburned wood. Green plants are always good fill-ins during the warmer weather; dried flowers, a sculpture, or a decorative, painted firescreen are other solutions to the "black hole of Calcutta" between crackling fires though I can't imagine anyone having the sheer atavistic luxury of a working fireplace and not cuddling close to enjoy it.

By Rose Bennett Gilbert

Q. Our home is contemporary in both architecture and interior design, but I am growing bored with so many all-white walls. In fact, I am thinking of putting up wallpaper, but most of the patterns I've seen are traditional flowers and things, so I'm afraid to try it. Can you recommend a type of pattern that would look right in a contemporary room? — L.R.

A. Any one of today's three hottest looks in wall coverings could be compatible with contemporary furnishings:

- Faux finishes.
- Animal patterns.
- Watercolor-washed effects.

Faux finishes — fool-the-eye marbles, stone and patterns that pretend to be hand-painted surfaces — are appropriate. Indeed, they add architectural strength to the background of any room.

Animal patterns — leopard spots, leathers, snakeskins, feathers — can be sophisticated and witty, especially if you repeat the pattern in fabric for throw pillows, say, or chair seats.

Watercolor-washed effects will add subtle colorations to your walls without making a direct statement in pattern. With a touch of pearlescence, they can be very high-style; with more focus on earthier tones, such as the plums, mauves and pale greens, they can be perfect backgrounds for contemporary rooms with a Southwestern accent.

I put the question to two professional designers in the wall-coverings industry, and they came up with two more ideas:

- Look for traditional patterns — like the florals that frightened

you — recolored in a contemporary palette.

• Textures are always terrific in modern plain walls, creating subtle all-over patterns.

ALTERNATIVE INTEREST — A sleep sofa and loveseat arrangement highlight the conversation area and draw attention away from an unused fireplace.

Backyard Gardener

By Patrick Denton

Today I have some thoughts on potted tulips and a children's project to share with my gardening friends.

TULIPS FOR VALENTINE'S DAY

A planting the first week of October, using a carefully chosen variety, will yield a pot of tulips to enjoy in bloom or to give as a special gift on Valentine's Day. Here are some commonly available varieties that are well-suited for this project.

Paul Richter is an excellent choice in scarlet for potted valentine tulips. Stockholm has orange-red double flowers. Prominence is deep red. Preludium rosy pink. Charles is a scarlet single early tulip; Christmas Marvel is cherry pink. Monte Carlo is a double yellow tulip. Atilla purplish violet. Apricot Beauty a salmon rose. Merry Widow is red edged in white.

Given roughly 16 weeks for rooting in darkness at temperatures near 13 F, tulip bulbs potted the first week of October can be brought out during the fourth week in January for bloom at Valentine's Day.

For a really nice show of bloom, set the bulbs as close as possible on top of a layer of planting mix in the pot. Just watch they are not touching each other or the pot sides. Arrange them so that their tips rest at about rim level or just slightly below, and set the flat sides of the bulbs facing the pot rim so that the big lower leaf that emerges from that side will develop toward the outside of the pot.

Six to seven tulip bulbs will fit in a pot 6 inches wide. For a larger arrangement plant 10 to 12 bulbs in a pot 8 inches wide.

Keep the planting mix moist during the cold rooting period. When roots show through the drainage holes and top growth has started, bring the pots into a cool, dim place for a few days so that the plants can start adjusting to warmer temperatures and light. Then set the pot in a bright place with coolish room temperatures for bloom. Keep the soil moist, and turn the pot regularly for even growth.

A CHILD'S GARDEN

Have you ever noticed little boxes of alfalfa sprouts in the fresh vegetable section of the grocery store, or seen sandwiches made in a cafeteria-style restaurant with these little sprouts? They're full of vitamins and minerals and are very fast and easy to grow at home. In fact, the sprouts are usually ready to eat in just five days.

You can buy alfalfa seeds for sprouting in health stores, where you will also find special sprouting lids that fit any glass jar that also fits a wide-mouth canning lid. These lids are handy, but a piece of cheesecloth or fine netting can also be used over the jar top.

Start the project by putting 2 tablespoons of the tiny seeds into a clean jar. Cover them with about a half cup of water and let them soak for about five hours (or overnight).

Before draining the water away, fit the jar top with a cover of cheesecloth or fine netting held with a canning ring or a rubber band. If you have a set of special sprout tops, screw the one with the smallest holes on the jar. Now you can empty the water without washing the seeds away. I save this soaking water for my plants, because it's so rich in good things that plants like. This water is also good for adding to soups, stews and gravy.

Now give the seeds a rinse. Just hold the jar with its cover on under the tap and let slightly warm, not chilly, water run into the jar. Swish the seeds around a little and empty the jar. Do this every morning and evening. Keep the jar propped at a slight angle with its screen top facing down. I set the jar right in the dish drainer by the sink.

As the sprouts grow, they will throw off their seed coverings. By the third or fourth day, you will be able to rinse most of these away if you want to by changing to a top with slightly larger holes and filling and swishing the jar to let the seed covers (the hulls) float out the top.

When the sprouts are 1 to 2 inches long, rinse the seeds with cold water. Put the fine screen back on the jar and store the sprouts right in the jar in the fridge. A cold water rinse will freshen sprouts stored this way, but try to use them as soon as possible. They're good in salads and floated on soup, as well as in sandwiches.

A culinary celebration of beer

It's time again for the world-famous Munich Oktoberfest, or October Festival: 16 days of sporting, dancing, feasting — and beer. Germany has had a lasting love affair with the golden brew; by the 14th century, a number of major breweries were well-established there. But beer's history goes back much further: It was popular in China by about 2300 B.C., and it whetted the whistles of Sumerians as long as 5,000 years ago. (They even wrote hymns to the divine Ninhasi, goddess of beer.)

Several millennia later, America's founding fathers got into the business. William Penn (you remember him from American history — they named Pennsylvania after him) opened Philadelphia's first brewhouse in 1685, and even George Washington kept a small brewery at Mount Vernon.

Beer devotees are still popping kegs — and cans — with gusto, through the long hot summer and well into the football season. But beer has culinary potential even many beer-lovers have yet to recognize.

In Germany, beer is a staple recipe ingredient, as in the Bratskellar Pork Chops and Sauerbraten. You can even use beer to marinate meats in the fridge for several hours before cooking, both to tenderize and to add flavor.

To make delicious tavern-style dip, combine 10 ounces cheddar cheese spread, 8 ounces cream cheese, ½ cup dark beer, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and a tablespoon of dark spicy mustard in a 1½-quart microwave-safe dish. Microwave on MEDIUM (50 percent power) 5-7 minutes, stirring every minute until heated through and blended. Serve with crackers and bread.

Many recipes call for stale beer, and if you're like me, you never finish a beer, anyway — so here are some delicious ways to use up the leftovers.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.

microwave magic

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

When a recipe calls for stale beer and none's on hand, you can make beer "stale" by microwaving 30 seconds to 1 minute, then let sit for 10 minutes before using.

BEER-CHEESE SOUP

- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped celery
- 1 (14½-ounce) can chicken or beef broth
- ½ cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup shredded mild American cheese
- ¾ cup stale beer
- Dash pepper

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 10-15 minutes.

Cooking time: 11-16 minutes. Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power); MEDIUM (50 percent power).

Combine onion, celery and 3 tablespoons of chicken or beef broth in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover and microwave at HIGH setting 2-3 minutes, or until vegetables are soft.

In small, separate bowl, blend flour with small amount of broth to make smooth, runny paste. Add to vegetable mixture along with remaining broth. Stir in water. Microwave at HIGH setting 7-10 minutes, stirring every 3 minutes, until mixture boils and thickens slightly. Add shredded cheese, stirring until melted, then stir in beer and pepper.

Microwave at MEDIUM setting 2-3 minutes longer, or until heated through.

BRATSKELLAR PORK CHOPS

- 4 (1-inch-thick) pork chops
- 1-2 tablespoons dark mustard
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 (16-ounce) can sauerkraut, drained
- 1 (12-ounce) can beer

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 10-15 minutes (plus several hours to marinate).

Cooking time: 30-40 minutes (plus, 5 minutes standing time).

Oven setting: MEDIUM (50 percent power).

Arrange pork chops in 8-inch-square microwave-safe baking dish, with meatiest portions toward outside. Spread with mustard. Sprinkle with onion, then top with sauerkraut. Pour beer over all. Cover dish with plastic wrap and refrigerate, to marinate meat, 2-3 hours.

To cook, turn back one corner of plastic wrap to vent and microwave 30-40 minutes, rotating dish and rearranging pork chops every 15 minutes. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving. Serve with potatoes.

SAUERBRATEN

- 1 (12-ounce) can stale beer
- ¾ cup red wine vinegar

- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon whole cloves
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 6-8 gingersnaps, crushed
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2½-pound beef pot roast
- 1 large onion, sliced

Yields 6 servings.

Preparation time: 10-15 minutes.

Cooking time: 45-60 minutes.

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power); MEDIUM (50 percent power).

Combine beer and vinegar, spices, gingersnaps and brown sugar in 2-cup glass measure; stir. Microwave 1 minute at HIGH setting; set aside.

Cut meat into serving-size pieces and arrange in 3-quart microwave-safe casserole. Arrange onion slices over top, then pour liquid over all.

Cover and microwave at MEDIUM setting 45-60 minutes, or until meat is tender, turning over halfway through cooking time. (If using meat thermometer, meat should reach 170 F.) Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

KITCHEN KIDS

By Rena Coyle

Easy dinners for kids

With school in full swing, any time-saving idea for meal preparation is welcome information. Finding recipes for snacks or dinner can quickly become staples in your kids' cooking repertoire.

Here are two very easy ideas for your kids to try.

The first recipe is for Taco Salad With Chicken. Kids will love the idea of cooking this recipe because it is a favorite of kids anyway. The first time you let your kids try this recipe you will want to carefully talk through the recipe with them.

Perhaps the night before, have your kids do all the chopping and preparation while you are there just in case of questions or problems. Then the next day they can put the recipe together on their own. The real secret to getting your kids in the kitchen alone is for both you and your children to be comfortable with the recipe and your children working alone in the kitchen. This confidence level happens at different times, depending on you and your kids.

The second recipe for Taco Pizza will work well as both a snack or light supper. It is a recipe that is quick to make and will be perfect for a snack before a sporting event or as an after-school snack, and will tide your kids over until dinner.

Again, if your children have never worked in the kitchen or are young, you will want to prepare it with them a few times before you feel comfortable with them working on their own. But it won't take long before you will have complete confidence in your kids when preparing either one of these recipes.

TACO SALAD WITH CHICKEN

- ½ cup sour cream
- ½ cup plain yogurt
- ½ cup chunky salsa, either medium or hot
- 2 medium tomatoes
- 1 green bell pepper
- 3 green onions
- 1½ teaspoons margarine
- 2 cups cooked chicken meat, pulled into bite-size pieces
- ¼ cup water

- 4 cups torn lettuce
- 1 package taco seasoning mix
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Utensils: Measuring cups and spoons, 1 small mixing bowl, plastic wrap, 1 large mixing bowl, paper towels, cutting board, sharp knife, skillet, wooden spoon, 4 serving plates.

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 30 minutes.

Cooking time: 8-10 minutes.

Combine sour cream, yogurt, and salsa in small mixing bowl. Blend until thoroughly mixed. Cover with plastic wrap and put it in refrigerator until you are ready to serve salad.

Rinse tomatoes and green pepper under cold running water, then pat dry with paper towel. Put one of the tomatoes on cutting board and cut in half through stem. Place tomato halves flat-side down on cutting board and trim off stem. Cut several strips through tomato and then cut across strips, making small cubes. Repeat this cutting process with remaining tomato. Set tomato pieces aside.

Place pepper on cutting board and cut in half. Rinse halves under cold water, scooping out all seeds, and with your hands, pull out ribs. Put pepper skin-side down on cutting board and cut into thin strips. Cut across strips, making small dice. Set pepper pieces aside.

Put green onions on cutting board and trim off roots. Then slice onions as thin as possible. Set aside.

Put margarine in skillet and place on stove. Turn heat on medium high and let margarine melt. Add onions, peppers, chicken, water and taco seasoning mix. Toss together to blend and then cook 5 minutes. Add tomatoes and cook another 3 minutes until heated through. Turn stove off and place skillet on cool burner.

Divide lettuce between 4 serving plates. Spoon chicken mixture over lettuce and top with sprinkle of cheddar cheese. Serve sour cream dressing at table and spoon it on over salad.

Cooking Corner

U.S. captured by Soviet spirit and food

By Linda Susan Dudley
and Maureen Clancy

Actually, the visiting chefs were only one segment of a three-week long San Diego Arts Festival: Treasures of the Soviet Union. Yet, these half dozen men in white coats and chef's hats came to town and created a blizzard of interest in all foods Soviet.

Working in a variety of unfamiliar kitchens, the Georgian chefs had to contend with outdoor grills that didn't perform as they did in their homeland, American salt that had more iodine and sometimes meant they oversalted foods and familiar (to them) ingredients not available here.

"What amazed us was the incredible choice you ... have in the supermarket. I've seen produce I've never seen before," said Georgi Gorgodze, spokesman for the chefs as the only one who speaks English. "I saw fruits and vegetables I didn't know existed."

In Georgia, the chefs' native homeland, foodstuffs are available seasonally; in restaurants the food is served in the various styles of Georgian cuisine — not in an ethnic mix such as diners find here.

Georgia is nestled on the southern slopes of the Caucasian Mountains, between the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea.

Wine grapes are one of Soviet Georgia's major crops, and the region supplies the Soviet Union with almost all of the champagne it drinks. The republic is also a major producer of fruit and vegetables for the Soviet Union. In fact, Georgia is often called the "California" of Russia and is a popular resort area.

Georgians hail their nation with the toast: "Sakartvelos Gaumarjos."

Few dishes prepared in a Georgian kitchen are particularly complicated or time-consuming.

Traditional ingredients in most savory dishes include garlic, walnuts, hot chillies and fresh herbs — kinza (which is our cilantro) being the predominant herb. A popular dried spice is a combination of saffron, crushed kinza seeds and a relative of the fenugreek seed.

Cooking Corner

Fresh herbs that are bountiful from springtime on include tarragon, kinza, basil, savory, mar-joram, mint, flat-leaf parsley, lovage and dill. Georgians use as many fresh ingredients as possible; however, it is common to see bouquets of herbs, garlands of marigolds (they used the dried flowers like saffron), braids of garlic and strings of chillies hanging decoratively in the kitchen.

Georgians have a flair for adding the unexpected to produce the exotic. Fresh pomegranate juice and seeds or prepared pomegranate syrup add unexpected flavor to vegetables, meal and poultry. Ground dried berries add flavor to hot kebabs and other meats.

The classic, almost mandatory start to every Russian meal is vodka, a clear, odor-free, pure distillation of water and, generally, potatoes or grain. It is drunk in one gulp from special tiny glasses.

Of course, vodka holds its own pretty well in the United States, too.

"Vodka is the most popular category of distilled spirits in the United States, by a considerable degree," said David Wachsmen, a spokesman for Absolut Vodka.

Sour plum sauce and sour fruit leather are also used in various dishes as well as being eaten as condiment or confection.

Ajika — a fiery chili sauce — is a must in a typical Georgian household. Some sauces have ground walnuts added and others include whole dried cilantro seeds. The sauce is usually made from scratch, not commercially bottled.

Georgians don't eat lots of sweets and desserts. After a meal, they might have fresh fruit, slices of churchkbela, a thickened walnut and grape juice mixture and black Turkish coffee.

Gastronomic glasnost gets off to a sprightly start with these recipes for vodka-enhanced creations.

PENNE A LA VODKA

- ¾ pound penne pasta
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- ½ pound tomatoes, peeled and chopped
- 4 tablespoons heavy cream
- Coarse salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
- 4 tablespoons vodka, steeped overnight or longer with 1 tablespoon hot red pepper flakes
- Freshly grated Parmesan cheese to taste

Yields 4 appetizer servings.

Bring 3 quarts salted water to boil and cook penne until al dente.

Meanwhile, make sauce. Heat olive oil and butter in skillet. Soften onions without browning and add tomatoes. Cook for about 5 minutes. Add cream and cook for 1 minute. Season with salt and pepper. Add vodka and simmer for 2 minutes.

Toss penne with sauce in heated bowl and serve with cheese.

AJAB SANDALI (Georgian Ratatouille Stuffed in Cabbage)

- 1 eggplant
- 1 green pepper
- 1 medium red pepper
- 1 onion
- 1 carrot
- 2 tomatoes
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped fine
- 1 tablespoon each mint and savory
- 2 tablespoons each basil and parsley
- Salt, pepper and cinnamon to taste
- 1 head cabbage
- Olive oil
- 1 tablespoon chopped coriander
- 1 cup yogurt and 2 cloves garlic

Yields 8 appetizer servings.

Peel and cube eggplant. Sprinkle with salt and let sit for ½ hour. Remove seeds from peppers. Small dice peppers, garlic, onion, carrot and tomatoes.

Saute each vegetable until golden or medium tender. Add savory, mint, basil and coriander when sauteing tomatoes. Place all ingredients in bowl. Add salt, pepper, parsley and cinnamon to taste. Mix well.

Blanch cabbage leaves. Place ratatouille in cabbage to form rolls. Top with garlic/yogurt mixture. Serve cold with shot glasses of chilled vodka.

From the Sheraton Hotels.)

VODKA TOMATO SOUP

- 3 (35-ounce) cans Italian plum tomatoes, with their juice
- 3 cups chicken broth
- ¼ cup chopped fresh coriander, or to taste
- 1 teaspoon hot red pepper flakes
- Juice of 1 lime
- 6 drops red pepper sauce
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 teaspoons Bovril or glace de viande (available commercially)
- 1 small onion, minced
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 8 ounces (1 cup) plain or pepper vodka

Yields 8 servings.

Combine all ingredients, except vodka, in saucepan and simmer for 30 minutes. Puree coarsely through colander. Add vodka and taste for seasoning. Cover, chill and serve icy cold in glass bowls.

PIRET AND GEORGE MUNGER'S LEMON BAVARIAN CREAM

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- 2 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup citrus-flavored vodka
- 3 teaspoons lemon zest
- 1½ cups half-and-half

- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
- Fresh mint leaves and thin lemon slices, for garnish
- Melba Sauce:
 - 1 (1-pound) package frozen raspberries, thawed (or 1 pound fresh berries)
 - 2 tablespoons raspberry jam
 - 1 teaspoon Kirschwasser or Framboise

Yields 8 to 12 servings.

Soften gelatin in cold water in small saucepan. Stir mixture over low heat until it is completely dissolved.

Using electric mixer, whip cream cheese until it is fluffy and light. Add sugar, vodka and zest, and beat until mixture is smooth. Stir in half-and-half and gelatin, and refrigerate mixture until it is slightly thickened (about 30 minutes).

Fold whipped cream into thickened gelatin and pour mixture into 2½-quart ring mold, Charlotte mold or bowl. Refrigerate mold until mixture is firm.

To unmold, dip bottom of mold in warm water. Place plate over top of mold and invert it. Garnish with fresh mint leaves and thin slices of lemon.

To make the melba sauce: Puree raspberries, using blender or food processor fitted with steel blade. Add jam and liqueur, and puree again. Strain sauce through fine sieve to remove seeds. Spoon sauce around Lemon Bavarian Cream and pour remainder into creamer or gravy boat so guests can help themselves.

SHRIMP IN VODKA WITH ORANGE BEURRE BLANC

- 1 recipe corn bread, baked in 6 individual bundt molds (use a favorite recipe)
- 1½ pounds shrimp
- 2 cups white vermouth
- ¼ cup pepper vodka
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 scallions, white part only, sliced thin
- Sauce:
 - 3 tablespoons reserved liquid from shrimp
 - 3 tablespoons white wine vinegar
 - ¼ cup white wine
 - 1 cup plus 1 tablespoon fresh orange juice (approximately 2 oranges)
 - 1 tablespoon diced orange zest
 - 2 sticks unsalted butter, at room temperature
 - Salt to taste
 - Pinch cayenne pepper
 - 2 to 3 tablespoons heavy cream

Yields 6 servings.

Make corn breads. Shell and devein shrimp, keeping tails on. Set them aside, and reserve 6 to 8 shells.

Bring vermouth, vodka and butter to simmer in 12-inch skillet. Add scallions and shrimp, and boil for 1½ minutes, moving shrimp around constantly. Remove shrimp with slotted spoon and keep warm.

Boil liquid, adding reserved shrimp shells, until it is reduced by half. Reserve 3 tablespoons for sauce, saving rest for another use.

Combine shrimp liquid, vinegar, white wine, orange juice and orange zest in small heavy saucepan, and bring it to boil. Simmer for about 5 minutes, until liquid is reduced by half, and lower heat to medium low. Gradually whisk in butter, about 2 tablespoons at a time.

Keep heat low enough so sauce never starts to simmer, or it will become thin and separate. Add salt to taste, a pinch of cayenne pepper, and a few tablespoons of cream. Set sauce aside to keep warm.

To assemble: Place ring of corn bread in center of each plate and spoon sauce around bread. Hang shrimp over edge of corn bread with their tails on the plate.

PEPPERED VODKA OYSTERS ON THE HALF SHELL

For oysters:

12 oysters, shucked, shells and liquid reserved

1 cup vodka

2 limes, juice only

2 tablespoons shallots, minced

2 tablespoons black pepper-corns, crushed

For the ajika:

2 red bell peppers

6 red chili peppers

½ cup fresh cilantro

½ cup fresh basil

1 tablespoon dried coriander

1 teaspoon salt

Dash of vinegar

Yields 3 to 4 servings.

Combine in saucepan liquid from oysters with vodka, lime juice, shallots and peppercorns and bring to a simmer. Gently add oysters and allow to cook only until edges begin to curl, roughly 1 minute. Remove from heat and cool.

When completely chilled, place oysters back in half shell, spooning a little of poaching liquid over oyster, and garnish with ¼ teaspoon ajika.

For the ajika:

Seed red bell peppers, cut off stems of chili peppers, leave seeds. Grind ingredients in food processor being careful not to liquefy the paste.

Ajika recipe from "The Classic Cuisine of Georgia" by Julianne Margvelashvili

Yields 1 cup.

Preparation time: 10 minutes.

Whip cream to soft peaks. Fold in mint and horseradish and transfer to shallow serving bowl. Refrigerate for up to 6 hours. Garnish with mint sprigs before serving.

To serve, dip fruit into sauce or spoon sauce onto dessert plates to serve with fruit. Thread fruit on 6-inch bamboo skewers for a nice presentation.

Note: If using prepared horseradish, rinse and drain thoroughly or the vinegar can curdle the cream.

HORSERADISH CHIVE MAYONNAISE

4 teaspoons prepared horseradish, or 4 teaspoons

grated fresh horseradish (see note)

1 tablespoon snipped chives

Black pepper to taste

½ cup mayonnaise

Yields ¼ cup.

Preparation time: 10 minutes.

Stir horseradish, chives and black pepper into mayonnaise. Let stand 15 minutes to develop flavors. Serve with cold roast beef or on a roast beef sandwich.

Note: If using fresh horseradish, add ¼ teaspoon vinegar to sauce.

HORSERADISH COCKTAIL SAUCE

1 cup chili sauce

1½ to 2½ tablespoons

drained prepared horseradish, or grated fresh

horseradish

½ to ¾ teaspoon Tabasco

1 teaspoon lemon juice

Yields 1 cup.

Preparation time: 5 minutes.

Combine all ingredients in small bowl. Let stand 15 minutes to develop flavors. Serve with raw clams or oysters or cooked shrimp.

Horseradish is hot!

By Melanie Barnard and Brooke Dojov

Most people only know horseradish as the little jar on the refrigerator door, but we'd like to introduce you to it in its fresh state.

Horseradish grows as a brown, knobby root that looks rather like gingerroot. Under its tough brown skin is pure creamy white flesh that releases its pungent aroma and flavor when grated. It's delicious!

Although horseradish is harvested in the fall and is at its strongest and freshest then, it does appear in specialty produce markets year-round. It's a good keeper and can be stored in the vegetable crisper for weeks without losing its heat.

And hot it is! Again, like ginger, a little goes a long way. But as we Americans are developing more and more of a taste for spicy hot foods, we're turning to intensely flavored condiments such as horseradish to satisfy our cravings.

Prepared horseradish in a jar is grated and mixed with vinegar, which helps preserve it. Both fresh and prepared horseradish are great just plain, but are even more wonderful stirred into various base ingredients to make a sauce.

In New Orleans, at the oyster bars, you mix up your own cocktail sauce to taste out of ketchup or chili sauce, Tabasco, lemon juice and snowy white horseradish. That's just what we suggest doing at home, because then you can achieve just the right degree of intensity that you like. We give you some guidelines in our recipe for Horseradish Cocktail Sauce.

Horseradish Chive Mayonnaise couldn't be simpler, but spread generously onto an ordinary roast beef sandwich for a combination truly sublime.

Horseradish Mint Dipping Sauce is made with whipped cream, chopped mint and horseradish. Its faintly sweet-sharp flavor is wonderful with fresh fruit, and is especially nice served with a brunch.

TIPS

•Taste your jar of horseradish to make sure it still has its bite. After several months on a refrigerator shelf, it loses it.

•To rinse prepared horseradish if you don't want the vinegar, place in a small sieve and run under cool water. Press to extract water.

HORSERADISH MINT DIPPING SAUCE

½ cup heavy cream

2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint

2 teaspoons grated fresh horseradish, or 2 teaspoons rinsed and drained prepared horseradish

Cubes of fresh fruit such as melon, strawberries, bananas

Mint sprigs

KITCHEN HINTS

Dishes leave the washer clean

But they are dull and spotted.

Here's how to keep them shiny:

1. The intense heat of the dishwasher bakes detergent spots onto dishes, glassware and cutlery as they dry.
2. As soon as the dishwasher stops, open the door and pull out the racks.
3. Better still, stop machine a few seconds early and pull out racks.

Use a professional for chimney problems

Q. We purchased an older home last spring. We used the fireplace twice. Although there was no evidence of smoke seeping back into the room, there was a very pungent odor that remained after the fire was out.

With the fall season approaching, I know we will again want to build a fire even if we have a problem with lingering odors. Do you know what might cause this and what we can do? Perhaps there needs to be better drafting up the chimney. How can this be accomplished?

A. Have a professional chimney sweep inspect your system. A professional can recognize problems quickly, evaluate the system and offer recommendations for safer, more efficient use.

In some older homes, masonry chimneys were unlined. When old bricks and mortar have deteriorated and cracked, problems arise and smoke and other flue gases can easily escape into your home.

This also happens when the chimney is missing portions of clay liners, or from a cracked or broken liner, loose mortar or open joints.

Another major cause of problems is poor installation of chimney liners. It may be that your chimney needs to be relined.

The buildup of creosote is also a major problem in chimneys. It forms in different fashions and textures, including a hard tarlike glaze, a crusty type that resembles corn flakes, and a light fluffy powder.

When too much builds up it can cause odors, but more important it can ignite quite easily. That's when a chimney fire occurs. A buildup of only 1/4 inch of creosote means it's time to clean.

It is best to have your chimney inspected once a year by a qualified chimney sweep. A professional will check for external deterioration and make sure that a 2-inch clearance to combustibles exists on all sides of an internal chimney (an important safety rule).

If your chimney does need cleaning you can expect a complete cleaning from a chimney sweep, which includes removing the creosote from the flue, stovepipe and clean-out door area. On a fireplace, the smoke chamber and smoke shelf also will be swept and vacuumed.

A professional chimney sweep will analyze the chimney system. This involves checking for cracks in the clay liner tiles, loose mortar and that the stove pipe is secure. The point where the chimney connector passes through a wall also will be examined; that's one of the biggest trouble spots.

There are some do-it-yourself techniques for cleaning chimneys, but this is an area where I would recommend a professional for safety reasons. Look for a professional chimney sweep certified by the National Chimney Sweep Guild, or one that comes with good client references.

Q. Please tell me what I can use to clean my set of aluminum pans. I was using Sunbeam Metal Klean, but am unable to find it any longer. Can you suggest something else? I like my pans to be bright.

A. There are numerous metal cleaners on the market. Check with a well-stocked hardware store or housewares outlet for one particularly recommended for aluminum.

A home remedy for cleaning aluminum pots and pans (particularly effective in cleaning the inside discoloration) is to use cream of tartar (scientific name is potassium bitartrate).

Fill a pot with water, dissolve a small box of cream of tartar in the water and bring to a boil. Let your aluminum utensils simmer until the dark discoloration and stains disappear, and the natural color is restored.

This is a solution that can be used on cast aluminum and other aluminum pots and pans. However, do not use on other materials.

Here's How

FOR TEENS

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Dr. Abraham: I'm a guy 16 years old who always had a squeaky clean complexion, but not now. Blackheads, whiteheads and blotchy red spots have taken over. Needless to say, I don't like it, and my girlfriend thinks I need help. My parents do, too, but I hate the idea of going to a doctor about this. I'd rather take care of this myself if that's possible. After all, I'm no dummy.

So that's why I'm coming to you. What's your advice? — Stan

Stan: It sounds like you may be ready to take your girl's, parents' and my suggestion — get yourself to a competent physician. At least I hope you are.

A specialist (dermatologist) should be considered, preferably one whose record on such teen issues comes to you from a good source.

How about seeking a recommendation from your family physician or friends who have coped successfully with a problem like yours?

You'll prove you're not a dummy, Stan, by getting the help you need.

Dr. Abraham: Because my boyfriend is nice in so many ways, I hate to criticize him, but he does do something that really bothers me.

Twice I've gone grocery shopping with him, and both times he helped himself to whatever fruit appealed to him. He seems to like them all, but grapes, berries and cherries are his favorites. Maybe that's because it's easier to snatch them than some of the larger ones.

When I told him that it's shoplifting, he just laughed and said it wasn't because he ate them and didn't take them out of the store with him. I then told him that he did take them out (inside his body), but then he became angry and wouldn't talk to me for the rest of the day.

Don't you think I'm right about this? Could he get into trouble for what he does? — Carrie Carrie: Although what he does may not be classified as shoplifting, it is stealing, in bad taste and an exhibit of poor manners.

You have a couple of choices: Remind him that it is unacceptable behavior (taking a chance that your comments may again trigger anger on his part) or stop grocery shopping with him.

It may be correctable, but some habits are hard to break. I've seen some well-dressed older people filching grapes and popping them into their mouths. It's certainly an ugly practice.

Dr. Abraham: I really like this guy, but one problem of his gets on my nerves. Maybe it's not awfully important, but it sure bothers me.

He lets his fingernails get too long, but I guess that wouldn't be so bad if he at least didn't let dirt get under them. To add to the problem, he likes to garden and takes pride in the flowers that he raises (especially beautiful roses).

We have good times together, and he has a good sense of humor, but this non-cleanliness gets under my skin.

Any ideas of how to get him to clean up his act? — Barbie

Barbie: If you have the kind of relationship you mentioned and he has that good sense of humor, why don't you tell him what you told me? Be sure to include some nice words related to the flowers he cultivates.

Another approach might be an inexpensive little kit as a birthday or other gift, one that includes a nail clipper and a file.

Or you could do both, the conversation (in a pleasant, perhaps kidding way) and the present.

Dr. Abraham: My boyfriend had a cleft palate, and it is hardly noticeable. He just has a small scar on his upper lip, and that kind of gives his face a little added character. He is really very good-looking, with a yummy smile that all my friends (except one) flip over.

That one keeps telling me that anyone who had a cleft palate also has an intelligence problem. I tell her that's not so with him, but she doesn't believe me.

Please try to help me out. I'm very fond of him. — Marian Marian: Your "friend" is wrong on all counts. A cleft palate has no relationship at all to intelligence. People who have had one (whether corrected or not) represent a range of intelligence like any other part of our population, from very low to highly gifted.

If she won't believe you or me, you can probably document this information by contacting a surgeon who specializes in this field. If she won't believe him or her, you might just charge it up to envy, which is what it seems to be.

Dr. Abraham will answer teen questions in his column. Write to him c/o Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit. M.O.D. gc01

Avoiding liver problems from medications

Many symptoms which senior citizens attribute to "normal aging" may actually be the signs of adverse drug reactions, according to the American Liver Foundation. Adverse drug reactions, caused when a patient takes more than one prescription medication at a time, may produce scarring of the liver — called cirrhosis.

"Once damaged, the liver cannot metabolize medications as effectively," states Thelma King Thiel, foundation president. Added negative side effects are also created.

A recent government study of 250 elderly patients found that 40 percent of those who experienced drug-induced side effects confused their symptoms with typical aging signs and did not alert their physicians.

The American Liver Foundation reports that 70 percent of all liver diseases are preventable, and recommends that mature adults:

- Inform your physician about all drugs you take and the conditions for which you are being treated;
- Make sure that you understand completely all instructions provided with each prescription;
- Report any unusual side effects, no matter how slight, to your physician immediately; and
- Never take medication and alcoholic beverages at the same time.

For more information send a self-addressed and stamped return envelop to The American Liver Foundation, 1425 Pompton Ave., Cedar Grove, NJ 07009.

REDUCE HEALTH RISKS

Seniors at risk for chronic disease could reduce their health costs of illness by as much as $4,500 annually through greatly improved health habits. That is the conclusion of a new study of 1,558 high-risk participants in an ongoing senior wellness program for Bank of America retirees in California.

The research looked at retirees — with an average age of 69 — showing major risk factors for cardiovascular problems, cancer, diabetes and other chronic diseases. Leading the study was health economist J. Paul Leigh of San Jose State University for the Senior Healthtrac program of Blue Shield of California.

According to Leigh, the study also "tracked the number, and equivalent costs, days spent in the hospital, number of visits to the doctor and sick days at home during the one-year period."

Findings included:
• Smoking one less pack of cigarettes each day would reduce the next year's health costs by an average of more than $2,300 per person;

• Moderating alcohol intake would save more than $1,000 in health care costs;

• Use of seat belts would reduce health costs by $520;

• A regular exercise and weight reduction program would lower costs another $750.

"Given the high costs of care in the later years, attempts to change and improve health habits offer potential for meaningful reduction in total lifetime medical expenses," Leigh concludes in the report.

Blue Shield's Senior Healthtrac director, Harry Harrington, adds, "We believe this research clearly shows that a viable health promotion and disease prevention program can help improve senior health and avoid unnecessary costs by decreasing the need for medical care."

More information about the new study is available to individuals and organizations by writing Harrington at Blue Shield of California, 2 North Point, San Francisco, CA 94133.

NO FLU SHOT SIDE EFFECTS

Many mature adults shy away from having flu shots because of an erroneous fear of side effects, while influenza affects senior citizens more than any other age group. A new study reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association shows that influenza vaccine produces no more adverse symptoms than a placebo. The research conducted at the Hennepin County Medical Center, Minneapolis, was a randomized double-blind, placebo-controlled test with 336 elderly veterans.

"Influenza is a common and preventable cause of serious illness and death in the United States," according to Karen Margolis, M.D., who led the study. She and her colleagues cited earlier studies of elderly respondents who said fear of side effects of flu shots kept them from their doctors' offices and the shots.

ANTIQUE OR

By James G. McCollam

JUNQUE

Your lamp stand was a fairly good investment

Q. This walnut lamp stand with square legs is 29 inches high and the top measures 17 by 20 inches. It was purchased in Ohio for $45 in 1971.

When was it made and what would it cost today?

A. This stand was made in the mid-19th century and would probably cost $265 to $285 today in an antique shop. Since that beats inflation, it was a fairly good investment.

Q. The attached mark is on the bottom of a figural group consisting of a boy in a sailor suit and a girl in an old-fashioned blue and white dress. The figures are 13 and 12 inches tall.

I would appreciate your opinion of their value. Do you know what the mark means?

A. Your figurines were made by the Gebrüder Heubach (Heubach brothers) in Lichte, Germany, during the late 1800s. A dealer would probably price them at $400 to $500 for the pair.

Q. I have a bronze figure of a young boy dressed in a suit. He has both hands in his pockets and is holding a violin under his arm. It is 16 inches tall including a wood base. It is signed "J. Garnier."

Can you tell me anything about the origin and value of my young violinist?

A. Jean Garnier was a well-known French sculptor in the 19th century. He probably modeled the original clay figure about 1875.

Your bronze statue was probably cast from the original about 1900. I find pieces similar to this selling for $500 to $500.

Q. We have a bisque finish cookie jar that is marked with crown and wreath, "Royal" above the crown, "F. M." inside the wreath, "Bonn, Germany" below. It is decorated with lavender and pink flowers with gold trim.

Can you tell me when this was made and its current value?

A. Royal Bonn porcelain was made in a factory established in 1755 by Franz Mehlum. Your cookie jar was made in the early 1900s and would probably sell for about $100 to $110.

Q. We have an Ingraham banjo clock that has two round wooden pots on each instead of the usual brass brackets. Can you determine when it was made and what it might sell for?

A. Apparently you have the Ingraham "Nile" model made about 1900. It is currently selling for $265 to $285 in good condition.

BOOK REVIEW:

Q. Is there a simple way to determine if a cat is pregnant? We have a Siamese cat and suspect that she is pregnant. How long is pregnancy in cats?

A. Pregnancy, or gestation, in most cats is between 63 and 69 days. However, it is normal for Siamese cats to carry their kittens for as long as 71 days. Generally any kitten born prior to 58 days of gestation is too immature to survive on its own.

By 28 days of gestation, an experienced cat breeder or veterinarian can usually tell if a queen is pregnant by carefully feeling her abdomen. Prior to this time the kittens and their surrounding membranes are too small to be detected. To feel the kittens through the abdominal wall, the hand is placed under the abdomen with the fingers on one side and the thumb on the other side. This allows the contents of the abdomen to easily slip between the fingers and thumb.

In the front of the abdomen, the two kidneys can be identified at the level of the last rib. Below the kidneys is the colon, a part of the intestinal tract. The colon contains soft, puttylike feces. Most posteriorly, or at the rear of the abdomen just in front of the queen's pelvis, the urinary bladder and uterus can usually be identified. The urinary bladder is often mistaken for the uterus containing kittens by inexperienced people.

By gently pressing the abdominal contents together in the posterior abdomen, firm bumps or kittens can be felt in the pregnant queen. It cannot be overemphasized that feeling of the queen's abdomen must be done gently. Too much pressure can injure the cat or crush a developing kitten. Pregnant cats handled too roughly may even abort.

At 28 days of gestation the kittens are approximately small walnut size or about 1 inch in diameter. As the pregnancy progresses, the kittens are more difficult to feel. This is because of the increasing amount of fluids within the pregnant uterus. Not finding the small, walnut-sized lumps at 28 days of gestation does not rule out pregnancy unless you are experienced in this technique.

If you are unsure about the pregnancy status of your cat, you should take her to a veterinarian. X-rays can be taken later in gestation if there is still doubt regarding the pregnancy.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Have you noticed the leaves on the trees have started to turn colors? As the weather gets cooler in the next few weeks, you will see more colors on the trees and then the leaves will fall to the ground.

When I was a little person I used to help rake the leaves into big piles just so I could run and jump in them. Do you help your parents clean all the leaves off their lawn? Do they let you jump in the leaf piles afterwards?

Your friend,
 Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Kerry Needles and Peggy Smith.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Benefits for divorced spouses

By William M. Acosta

Q. I was married in 1947 and divorced my wife in 1976. I will be 65 in December. My ex-wife will be 61 at that time. Will she be eligible to receive benefits on my account at age 62 even if I decide not to retire and continue working? — M.P.S.

A. A divorced spouse who has been divorced at least two years can receive benefits at 62 whether or not her or his former spouse receives them. Their marriage must have lasted 10 years of more. The former spouse must be at least 62 and eligible for Social Security benefits, regardless of whether he or she has retired.

Q. I understand that sometime in the future Social Security is changing the retirement age. I was born in 1940. Will I be affected? — A.Y.

A. Those born in 1938 or later will have to work beyond the traditional age of 65 to receive full benefits. Starting in the year 2000, the age at which full benefits are payable will be increased to gradual steps until it reaches 67. For example, for someone born in 1938, the retirement age would be 65 years and 2 months; for someone born in 1940 it would be 65 years and 6 months. When fully phased in, people born in 1960 or later will be able to receive full benefits at age 67. These changes reflect the fact that Americans are living longer than ever before.

Q. I am thinking about getting married. I am 65 years old and am currently receiving benefits on my own work record. How long would I have to wait before I could become entitled as a wife on my husband's record? — L.T.

A. You must have been married to the worker for at least a year before becoming eligible on his record. If a person is entitled on more than one work record, he/she is paid whichever is the larger amount. A wife's benefit at age 65 is half of the worker's primary benefit amount.

Q. I am disabled and receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI). What happens if I start to work? — R.O.

A. You may continue to be eligible for SSI checks even if you start to work or earn more money, so long as you are still disabled and blind. Your checks may continue as long as you remain disabled or blind and you otherwise qualify under the regular SSI rules. Checks will stop for any month your earnings and other countable income exceed the SSI limits. Under this rule your case is reviewed to see if your health has improved and to see if you are still disabled or blind under our rules.

Cross Country Needs $ Help

What's a 145er? I'll tell you. A 145er is a Hicksville High School girl who is willing to pay $145 to participate in the world's toughest sport - high school cross country. A girl who is willing to subject herself to hours of rigorous training in order to race 3.1 miles over hilly, mountainous terrain. Last weekend the 145ers journeyed to Albany, New York on their annual trip to one of the Northeast's toughest courses. Running against 16 teams from 5 states and Canada, the girls finished 6th despite the fact that their number one runner and captain, Erica Moncayo was out with an injury. The total costs of the trip which are usually partially defrayed by the district were borne by the girls' X-C and Track fund. The fund which is raised by the girls themselves now has a balance of minus $168. The district's austerity policy threatens one of Nassau's premiere girls' running programs. Future trips to prestigious invitational events such as the Yale Invitational in the winter and the Penn Relays in the spring are in danger. Athletes who have worked hard for years are in danger of not being able to compete against the very best. Any donation to help defray the cost of the Hicksville girls' running program may be sent to: Hicksville Girls' Running Sport Fund, c/o Jenny Anderson, 341 Acre Lane, Hicksville, New York 11801

Make check payable to Hicksville Girls' Running Sport Fund. Thank you from the 145ers.

Hicksville Library Fall Art Show

Applications for the 15th Annual Fall Open Juried Art Show, scheduled to take place Nov. 5-18, are now available, according to Oyster Bay Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

Sponsored jointly by the Town of Oyster Bay Dept. of Community and Youth Services, Cultural and Performing Arts Division, the Independent Art Society (IAS) and the Hicksville Public Library, the exhibition will be held at the Library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue, from Monday, Nov. 5 to Sunday, Nov. 18. The show, which is open to all artists, will consist of original works in six categories: Oil and acrylic, watercolor, pastel, graphic mixed-media, sculpture and photography.

Entries will be accepted on Saturday, Oct. 27, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the library. The fee for IAS members will be $8 for one entry and $12 for two entries. Non IAS members will be charged $12 for one entry and $18 for two entries. Entry fees are non-refundable.

Works will be selected for entry and judged for awards by Stella Russell, Ph.D., former Chairman of the Art Dept. at Nassau Community College, Everett Molinari, instructor in advanced painting at Nassau Community College and noted watercolorist Mary Rowinski. Unaccepted work must be picked up on Saturday, Nov. 3, from 10 a.m. to noon. There will be cash awards as well as ribbons and a Gold Medallion Grumbacher Award. All awards will be presented at a reception scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 18, from 2-4 p.m., at the library. Refreshments will be served.

For further information and an application form, write or call the Hicksville Library at 931-1417.

GRANDPARENTS - Send in your grandchildren's photos and enter our "World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren" contest. Just send a photo and a brief description of the child (or children) along with your name and address to: Litmor Publications, Beautiful Grandchildren Contest, 81 East Barclay St., Hicksville, N.Y. 11801. We'll do the rest! By the way if you want your photo returned, just write your name and address on the back of the picture and we'll even do that too!

Town Taxes Due On October 1

Town of Oyster Bay residents are reminded 1990-1991 School Taxes are due October 1, 1990, and payable without penalty, through November 13, 1990.

"By law, a taxpayer has a 40-day grace period from the date the tax is due, during which payment may be made without penalty," explained Town of Oyster Bay Receiver of Taxes Gary F. Musillo. "After that 40 days, a one percent penalty is added for each month the tax remains unpaid, retroactive to the due date of October 1, 1990."

At Hicksville Library

Prem C. Chatpar, MD, board certified rheumatologist, will speak on "All About Arthritis" on Monday, October 15, at 8 p.m., at the Hicksville Public Library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue in Hicksville.

The program sponsored by the Long Island Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, will cover advances in treatment, role of diet and exercise, research in the 1990's as well as discussion of specific rheumatic diseases such as Lupus, Lyme disease, Rheumatoid Arthritis and Osteoarthritis. Ample time will be given for questions from the audience.

Library Friends Program Oct. 11

The Friends of the Bethpage Public Library is sponsoring a program on Thursday, October 11, at 8 p.m., that will tell you all you ever wanted to know about UFO's and were afraid to ask...Have aliens from outer space visited Earth?...Where have UFO's been sighted?... Come to hear Tom Affatigato of the Vanderbilt Planetarium present the most compelling arguments for and against the possibility of extra-terrestrial visitation.

The Bethpage Library, at 47 Powell Avenue, (phone: 931-3907), is two blocks west of Exit 8 (Powell Ave.) on the Seaford-Oyster Bay Expressway (Rte. 135). All welcome.

Town Supervisor At Library

On Wednesday, October 19, at 7:30 p.m., the Park Avenue Neighborhood Crime Watch Group will be sponsoring a meeting at The Hicksville Public Library Community Room. The special guest speaker will be Town of Oyster Bay Supervisor Delligatti. The meeting will revolve around a discussion about the neighborhood.

The Hicksville High School Marching Band participated in the first of five Tournament of Bands competitions, on Sunday, September 30.

This competition was held at Brentwood Senior High School. In addition to Hicksville, the other bands participating were: Copiague, Lindenhurst, Mineola, Plainville, Levittown, Deer Park, Sachem, St. Francis Prep, Walt Whitman and Brentwood Senior High Schools.

In a tournament of bands competition, bands are grouped according to the number of players in the band proper as follows: A Group I band has up to 45 players; Group II, 46-65; Group III 66-85 and a Group IV 86 and above. Each performance must be a minimum of eight minutes and a maximum of 12 minutes long. Timing begins with the first step or note of music. The scoring is based on 100 points broken down as follows:

Marching Execution	25 points
Music Execution	20 points
Music Analysis	15 points
General Visual Effect	20 points
General Musical Effect	20 points

The Hicksville High School Marching Comets take the field as a Group IV band with 120 musicians and 25 members in the color guard. At Sunday's performance of Cumberland Gap and New World Symphony the musicians executed precise formations while maintaining a high level of musical excellence, which brought the cheering fans to their feet. Hicksville won High Music, High Visual and Best Drum Major trophies. When the scores were totaled, Hicksville had scored higher than all the other bands from Long Island and received the first place Trophy with overall point total of 65.6. Way to go Hicksville!

The Bands next competition is Saturday, October 6, at Hofstra University. We invite everyone in the community to come out and cheer them on to another victory.

Fred Parola, right, Assemblyman from the 14th AD and Jeffrey Cohen, left, Republican Candidate for the Assembly in the 13th District, wish Theodore Roosevelt Republican Club Executive Leader George Yochmann, center, a happy birthday when a surprise birthday cake was brought out at the conclusion of last month's meeting. "The best birthday present I could receive," said George, "is that the people in the 14th AD return Fred Parola to the Assembly and the people in the 13th AD elect Jeff Cohen to the Assembly." Yochmann went on to remind everyone that the next regular meeting of the Bethpage Republican Club will be held at 8 p.m., on Monday, October 8, in the American Legion Hall located in the LIRR Parking Lot.

Ground Broken For Marketsquare

An official Groundbreaking Ceremony, which signified the beginning of construction by Spiegel Associates of Jericho, on its new Bethpage Marketsquare shopping center, was held recently on the site of the historic Nassau Farmers Market. Some of the project's key executives who were present that day were: Arthur D. Sanders (in bulldozer), president of Spiegel Associates; standing left to right: Fred Werfel, Spiegel Associates' director of construction and property management; Jerry Spiegel, chairman of Spiegel Associates; and Town of Oyster Bay Supervisor Angelo A. Delligatti. In an effort to demonstrate Spiegel Associates' desire to make the Bethpage Marketsquare reminiscent of the old Farmers Market, one of the Market's former merchants, Dennis Rugolo of Oakdale, was on hand, along with the original sign from his Carpet and Furniture Den, to participate in the ceremony. The center is expected to be completed in the spring of 1991.

Young People's Library Program

"The Rescuers" - Walt Disney Film Classic - Saturday, October 20, 2 p.m.

A hair-raising, fur-raising, animated Disney classic, featuring the intrepid Miss Bianca and Bernard, two gallant members of the international "mice squad" in a high action thriller. Adapted from Margery Sharp's famous novel, this features the voices of Bob Newhart, Eva Gabor, and Geraldine Page. Color - 73 minutes. Unavailable on videotape. Grades K-6. Register now.

Pumpkin Decorating Frolic - Saturday, October 27, 2 p.m.

Katherine Agrillo, a specialist in crafts for children, will present fascinating pumpkin fun for Grades 1-5. Youngsters are invited to create their own exciting Halloween creatures. Children should bring: 1 small pumpkin, 4 permanent marking pens, some yarn, trims and odds and ends, and a bottle of white glue. The library will supply the rest. Registration begins on October 1.

Gala Halloween Party - Tuesday, October 30, 4:15 p.m.

Master of magic David Levitan will present an exciting Halloween magic show - to be followed by refreshments, treats, and spooky fun galore. You can come in costume if you care to and join in the fabulous activities. Grades 1-5. Registration begins on October 1.

All of the above programs are open to youngsters in School District #21. Bring your library card as your ticket of admission. For further information, please call 931-3907.

Elks To Aid Charities

The Hicksville Elks, Lodge #1931 announce the return of "Las Vegas" nights on Friday, October 19, and Saturday, October 20, from 8 p.m. till 1 a.m., both nights. Black Jack, Roulette, The Big Money Wheel, Joker Seven and other games of chance will be available. Admission is free. Refreshments will be for sale, and "The Push" is back.

Proceeds from these evenings go to fund various committees that work within the community: youth activities, veterans, Police and Firemen Award Nights, Elks NYS Major Project, Cerebral Palsy Home Health Care plus various other charitable endeavors.

So come on down for some fun and the knowledge that if you don't win as much as you would like, the money is going to a good cause.

Address: 80 East Barclay Street, Hicksville (Make a right at the first light after the LIRR trestle; if you are going north on Broadway - Route 107 (Make a left at the first light after the 106-107 split (East John St.) to the end and make a right and another right under the LIRR; if you are coming south on Broadway) (If you are coming from Woodbury Road after it goes under the LIRR, it becomes East Barclay Street).

Parking is available across the street in the Municipality Parking lot. For information or directions call 931-9310 after 4 p.m.

High Risk Maternity Help

The overwhelming majority of pregnancies progress normally, but occasionally and often without prior warning, complications develop. A team of highly-trained specialists is now in place at North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove, to provide the most highly-sophisticated level of care to those experiencing difficulties throughout pregnancy, during or after delivery.

"Many underlying conditions can complicate a pregnancy, including gestational diabetes, hypertension, maternal heart disease, maternal lupus, previous miscarriages, or RH sensitization, a condition in which the mother develops antibodies against factors in the baby's blood," said Solan Chao, M.D., Associate Director of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

The capability to care for high-risk maternity patients and their babies depends upon the presence of perinatologists - obstetricians who receive additional training in maternal-fetal medicine; neonatologists, to immediately begin treatment of premature or sick infants; and full-time anesthesiologists, who are ready to assist should an operative delivery suddenly be required to ensure the health of the newborn or mother.

The safe and healthy delivery of high-risk infants is further enhanced through state-of-the-art ultrasound testing, amniocentesis to pinpoint genetic problems in the fetus, and genetic counseling to determine if couples may be at risk for conceiving a child with birth defects.

This array of medical personnel and special services is not usually available in a community hospital setting. Their availability now, however, is the direct result of the Glen Cove hospital's recent merging with North Shore University Hospital-Cornell University Medical College in Manhattan.

'Bayhouses' Folklore Tales

Folklorist Nancy Solomon and Tom Stewart, Bayman will be at the Hicksville Public Library on Wednesday, October 10, at 8 p.m. Ms. Solomon has fascinating tales to tell about these small houses built by fishermen on the marshlands of Long Island's South Shore. Slides will be shown about boat building, decoy carving, fish smoking and other work experiences.

Tom Stewart, a Bayman will demonstrate the art of decoy carving.

An absorbing subject and all are welcome to attend.

College Notes

Justine Franzke, daughter Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franzke of Bethpage, plays midfield on the Berry College Lady Fury Soccer team, currently ranked No. 3 in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Franzke, a junior psychology major at Berry, is a 1987 graduate of Bethpage High School. She was an NAIA Honorable Mention All-American in 1987.

In Service

Navy Ensign William M. Haas, son of Carol A. Haas of 49 Field Avenue, Hicksville, was designated a Naval Aviator. Presentation of the "Wings of Gold" marked culmination of 18 months of flight training.

Haas's curriculum included basic studies in engineering and navigation, training flights in simulators, aircraft familiarizations, basic and advanced instrument training, extended navigation flights and landings aboard an aircraft carrier.

He is a 1981 graduate of Hicksville High School.

Meeting Cancelled

The meeting on October 19 of the Park Avenue Neighborhood Watch Group and Angelo Delligatti at the Hicksville Public Library has been cancelled. The new date will be sometime in November. Please watch for the date in the paper.

Throughout the month of October, Judith Lindo of Jericho will be exhibiting her photography in the main lobby of Mid-Island Hospital in Bethpage.

Judith Lindo first became acquainted with photography as a child model. As a young girl, she was a subject for her father, a professional photographer. Her own interest in photography began with the birth of her first child. Since, her eye has grown to capture the wonder of children, nature and the scenic beauty abundant on Long Island. Judith has explored both black and white and color photography. Along with her explorations, she utilizes her own darkroom. Her recent work has expanded to "hand animated" print enhancement and hand coloring.

Judith has a permanent display at Stony Brook University Hospital where she won first place in a photo contest in the scenic category. She has received a first prize with the Kodak and Mets Photo Contest in the Future Mets category and has a picture published in an 1990 Mets Yearbook. Also, Judith has sold stock photography.

Thanks to the Town of Oyster Bay Department of Community Services, Cultural and Performing Arts Division for coordinating the exhibit. Mid-Island Hospital is located on Hempstead Tpke. in Bethpage.

Chamber Installation

Legislative Briefing

State Senator Kemp Hannon, center, is congratulated by Plainview/Old Bethpage Republican Club President Neil Arundel, left, and Executive leader Dr. Charles Artale for his strong insistence on a "cap and save" approach to government financing, which is intended to counter the reckless "tax and spend" philosophy favored by the Governor. Hannon and the Senate Republican majority were able to successfully enact legislation in the past session which will cap future State spending increases while also eliminating waste and inefficiency in government.

Nursery School Holiday Plans

North Shore Synagogue Nursery School is looking forward to the month of October, with all its meaningful holidays and activities! Our children are already in the throes of the High Holidays excitement! Just over their Rosh Hashanah involvement, they learn about Yom Kippur, with its touch of "I'm sorry" and sanctuary visits - and music (which is always so special during holiday time)... The joy of Sukkot - with its Sukkah Building (yes, we're building them ourselves again this year).

We look forward to decorating boxes with branches, leaves, fruit, vegetable, and whatever ideas come to our youngsters' creative minds. (Last year, one of our classes made a replica of the night time sky on the roof).

The joy of cooking is particularly evident on this holiday. Sampling the different colored apples - then making apple sauce - are favorite activities. Making salads (fruit and vegetable) are fun and delicious and healthy.

On the 2nd day of Sukkot, our Nursery School children will be consecrated at the Tot Shabbat. This is always a very meaningful service, encompassing all the joy and special feelings of our fall holidays.

With Agway Energy Products, on the job, you'll always sleep tight. That's because with every delivery of heating oil, we guarantee our customers an additional measure of comfort and peace of mind.

Hicksville Chamber Dinner, Installation

Continuing its steady vigor and congeniality, the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce had a fine turnout for its Annual Installation Dinner-Dance at Antin's Old Country Manor. Ivan Czipott, the prominent site planning engineer, was reinstalled as President. County Executive Thomas Gulotta was the installing officer inducting the following officers, as well: Beth Costello, Vice President; Duane O'Neill, Secretary and John Giunta as Treasurer.

Following a cocktail hour and buffet, the many attendees enjoyed supper, music by The Summer Breeze ensemble, comedian Jean Brenner and a Viennese Table.

Chamber President Ivan Czipott reported a year of progress in Chamber programs, numerous new memberships, some success in Downtown beautification efforts. He acknowledged an unsuccessful effort to assist Delco Corp., with its plan to re-establish its multiple-film theatres at the Broadway Mall.

Enjoying the cocktail hour and buffet are TOBAY Councilman Tom Clark, Ellie Draycott, Community Council; Assemblyman Fred Parola; and Mrs. Corinne Clark.

Newly re-inducted Chamber President Ivan Czipott, Ed and Pat Restivo and Don LeCompte.

John Budnick extending greetings and congratulations from Town Supervisor Angelo Delligatti to the new officers/members at the Chamber Annual Dinner.

Part of the Community Council table's congenial group, President Joe DePompa and Vice President Edward Draycott.

Masters of the Hicksville festive Board at the Chamber affair: Ed Restivo of Peppercorn's Restaurant and Don LeCompte of Antan's Old Country Manor.

Photos, story, Dick Evers of Hicksville Gregory Museum

On the dance floor to The Summer Breeze's music, are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Benjamin, enjoying the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce party.

Harvey Brittan, the realtor and Jack Foster, proprietor of the Sizzler Steak House, obliging photographer Dick Evers.

Directors of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce being sworn in: Marc Ramirez, immediate past-president; Edward Restivo, Frances Antonelli, Mike Matranga and Effie Krogmann, past-president.

Enjoying his job, Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta installing the Chamber of Commerce new officers, including Directors Jim Fyfe, manager of the new Hicksville North Fork Bank branch and Henry Brengel, Jr., president, Empire Moving and Storage.

LEGAL NOTICE "NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS" RE: 1990-1991 SCHOOL TAXES

The undersigned Receiver of Taxes for the Town of Hempstead, County of Nassau, State of New York, hereby gives notice that he has received the School Tax Roll and Warrant attached thereto dated October 1, 1990 and will be in attendance to receive taxes at:

200 North Franklin Street
Hempstead, New York 11550
On

Monday, October 1, 1990 and each weekday thereafter from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. (Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays excepted).

Penalties: The following scale of penalties is hereby prescribed for neglect to pay the School taxes after they become due and payable.

First half due and payable October 1, 1990. If the first half is not paid on or before November 10, 1990, penalty will be added at the rate of one per centum per month from October 1, 1990, calculated to the end of the month during which payment is made.

Second half due and payable April 1, 1991. Penalty on the second half will be added after May 10, 1991, at the rate of one per centum per month from April 1, 1991, calculated to the end of the month during which payment is made.

Discount Where Applicable: If the full year's tax is paid on or before November 10, 1990, discount where applicable will be allowed on the second half of the tax at the rate of one per centum of the second half. No discount allowed on payments made after November 10, 1990.

Town To Host Artist Concert

The Town of Oyster Bay Dept. of Community and Youth Services Cultural and Performing Arts Division, in conjunction with the Bethpage Public Library, will be conducting an evening concert on Friday, October 12, featuring the music of award winning pianist Mark Salzman, according to Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes.

"This is the first in a series of Town-sponsored distinguished artist concerts slated to take place at different Town libraries throughout the fall, winter and spring," Hynes said. "They are free to Town residents."

Salzman attended the Juilliard Pre-College division and graduated the college division in 1984. He then studied chamber music and composition at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for two years. As the winner of Artists International's 17th annual Young Musicians Auditions, he was presented in his New York debut recital at Carnegie's Weill Recital Hall in October, 1989. Salzman has devoted much of his time to the in-depth exploration of the music of Beethoven, Haydn, Schubert, Liszt and Ives.

"Mark Salzman is a renowned concert pianist," Hynes said. "His exceptional talents have brought him wide-sweeping recognition. We're fortunate to have an artist of his caliber playing here in the Town of Oyster Bay."

The Bethpage Library is located at 47 Powell Avenue, Bethpage. For more information about the concert, contact CAPA at 795-5943.

Hynes noted that the "Distinguished Artists Concerts" series is being supported by a grant from the Long Island Savings Bank, FSB.

Fire Dept. Open House

The Bethpage Fire Department would like to invite all residents to its annual Open House. This year we will be hosting two. The first will be Sunday, October 14, from 12 noon til 4 p.m. at fire station, number 4, Stewart Ave. and Farmers Ave. Parking will be in the Grummans lot at Pine Ave. The second Open House will be at Fire Station Number 5, Union Ave. and Berryhill Ave., on October 21, from 12 noon til 4 p.m.

We will be providing pamphlets on Fire Safety as well as demonstrations on what to do if fire strikes.

Citrus Fruit Fund Raiser

The PTSA's of the Hicksville Middle School and Senior High School are holding a Citrus Fruit fundraiser. Navel oranges, juice oranges and seedless rosy red grapefruits are being offered by the case or half case.

The fruits will arrive just before Thanksgiving fresh from Florida and will keep up to two months. Orders must be received by November 1.

To place your order, clip and send the coupon below to: Terry Moehring, 3 Joseph Lane, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801. Any questions call 931-1475.

No cash, checks only - make checks payable to "Hicksville Sr. High School PTSA."

PINS Program In The Area

PINS, Inc. is a non-profit Parent/Youth Assistance Group dedicated to helping 10-16 year olds increase their self-esteem and reach their potential 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Teenagers and parents benefit from participation in PINS, Inc. because trained counselors are available when needed. Since problems are addressed outside the traditional office setting and in an environment that is comfortable and natural, PINS counselors become very familiar with the youths' friends and lifestyle. This approach helps open previously closed lines of communication.

The small close-knit neighborhood that once helped our parents and grandparents raise their children may no longer exist in the way it once did. However, PINS believes in the benefits that a caring, concerned community provides and its counselors thus invite all members of the youngsters' community to become involved and provide the encouragement needed for the youths to believe in themselves. Situations are often easier to resolve when there is a non-threatening network of people and resources available to rely upon. With the support of the local community, PINS' counselors have increased the self-esteem of numerous youths by engaging in everyday activities with them.

The results from this unique community oriented non-traditional counselling program have included better relations between parent and child, increased attendance and improved grades in school and a reduction of involvement with the police and courts. To learn more about PINS, Inc. and all the benefits it can provide, call Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at 516/YES-3598. The initial consultation is free with payments thereafter based upon a sliding scale. Of course, all information is respected as highly confidential.

Hot Lunch At Dutch

Once again Dutch Lane parent volunteers come up to school to sell pizza on Tuesdays ($1 a slice) and hotdogs on Thursdays ($1.80 a dog). The children really look forward to having these hot lunches and it gives parents a break from having to make lunch two days a week. As a fundraiser, the money made goes towards the 5th and 6th grade end of the year class trips!

After getting their hotdogs the students put on their own relishes.

Adam Smith, John Doyle, Jake Danzi, Justin Rostenberg and Chris Cannizzaro back at the lunch table after getting their hotdogs.

Gregory Museum Workshops Offered

The Gregory Museum is pleased to announce two new upcoming workshops for the fall. Reservations are required for all workshops as space is limited. Reservations are confirmed upon receipt of payment. To register for a workshop please stop by at the Museum or call. The number is 822-7505.

The first workshop is titled "Personalize A Sweatshirt," and will be held on Saturday, October 13. Artist Connie Williams will provide the guidance for our budding artists to sponge paint designs to create their own unique, carry-it-with-you picture. Please bring your own pre-washed sweatshirt or T-shirt. This workshop is open to all over the age of 8. It will be held from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. There is a charge of $6 for members and $8 for non-members.

The second workshop is titled "A Tree Is Nice," and will be held on Saturday, October 20. This workshop will be presented by Rose Davis, Naturalist and Certified Early Childhood Specialist. The children will examine tree parts and learn how a tree trunk grows and lives and how it dies and decomposes. They will choose the tree they want to be and make a tree puppet. This workshop is open to children ages 4 to 6 and will be held from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Children from 7 to 9 will participate in the 2:30 to 3:30 workshop. There is a charge for this workshop of $6 for members and $8 for non-members.

We have many more workshops coming up this fall. Please call the Museum for more information.

If you're not already a member of the Hicksville Gregory Museum, perhaps you might consider a membership. Members are entitled to free admission to the Museum and also receive a discount in our gift shop. A yearly membership is offered to individuals for $10 and a family membership is available for $20. Those with family memberships are entitled to a discount at all workshops.

How To Increase Travel Pleasure

The Bethpage Public Library, 47 Powell Avenue, will present a program - Friday, October 5, at 8 p.m.

This lively talk will feature practical advice on how to economize an airline and cruise fares, hotel rates, telephone calls back home, and car rentals. You'll learn about home exchange organizations, safety precautions, how to avoid jet lag, advantages of frequent flyer programs, finding a doctor abroad, special interest travel discounts, touring and dining inexpensively, dealing with other languages and currencies, how to pack effectively and final preparations before leaving.

Speaker, Howard Goldberg, is the founder and President of "Adventure on a Shoestring," a 27-year-old NYC-based sight-seeing organization. He has been presented on the front page of the "Wall Street Journal," "Reader's Digest," and "Changing Times." His style is informal, full of anecdotes, and he will be responsive to the questions and interests of the audience.

The Bethpage Library is two blocks west of exit 8 (Powell Ave.) on the Seaford-Oyster Bay Expressway (Rte. 135), phone 931-3907.

Youth Council Board Meeting

The Hicksville Youth Council will hold its monthly Board Meeting on Tuesday, October 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Youth Council, 175 West Old Country Road, Hicksville, New York.

THEY WANT TO WORK.

YOU TRAIN THEM. WE'LL HELP PAY FOR IT.

Now there's a program that shares training costs when a business hires and trains the jobless. It is called The Job Training Partnership Act.

This program establishes a partnership between business and government. It provides up to 50% of on-the-job training costs. And you may qualify for tax credits of up to 50% of the first year's salary.

The program is administered by local Private Industry Councils—organizations made up in the majority by local business leaders who tailor it to meet specific local needs.
