Fire Comm. Meet On Nov. 6

Because of other pressing matter taking place on the regular monthly meeting night in November, the Board of Commissioners of the Hicksville Fire District wishes to announce Regular Board Meeting will be changed to November 6, at 7:30 p.m.

No Hicksville 3rd Vote, TRS Payment Approved

By Maureen Traxler

A last ditch effort to salvage a school budget in Hicksville for 1990-91 went down to a 6-1 defeat at the Board of Education's special meeting on October 10, after it became apparent that additional funds could not be obtained to restore items lost under austerity.

A second perplexing development came late in the evening when several board members realized that the district was proceeding with plans to accept the deferred payment of the Teachers Retirement System contribution offered by the state. The issue of the TRS payment became clouded when, on the one hand, the board approved in July that it wished to see the payment made as soon as possible, and on the other hand, when the board requested a budget reduction in August, it did not specify line items to be affected. It seemed that Administration took the August initiatives as an indication that the board wished to stretch out the financing over several years.

Some board members were not pleased with this plan. In order to meet the October 15 deadline for payment of the nearly $3 million contribution and at the same time pay off the "deferral" with interest as soon as possible, Trustee Carole Wolf motioned that the business office pay $2,558,833 towards the TRS payment. The amount would consist of $826,225 remaining in the $2.3 million 1990-91 budget line after $1,473,775 is expended for the 1990-91 TRS contribution, plus $1,116,000 in reserve from the 1989-90 contribution and a credit of $616,608 from the 1988-89 contribution.

With the authorization of the $2,558,833 payment, approximately $420,000 remains to be financed over a short period of time. Trustee Arlene Rudin has indicated that she will motion at the next general meeting to pay the remaining amount "before the end of this year, because that was the intent of the board."

Mrs. Rudin explained why she had placed the recommendation for a third vote on the evening's agenda. She wished to see if it was possible to "bring the budget back and not cost the taxpayers any more than what they would be paying on austerity."

Bond counsel Martin Geiger of Hawkins, Delafield and Wood commented that he would be "hard pressed to recommend" the board's asking for a supplemental tax levy. He stated, "A supplemental tax has not been done in current times," and the county and town tax assessors may not know how to go about executing the additional tax levy.

In regard to requesting voter approval for a budget note, he said that he was not aware of any district not solving their budget dilemma by the time the tax levy is set (the third Monday of September). Either districts have secured a budget for the coming year or they are on austerity.

Approval of a budget note, another alternative the board sought to explore, would not authorize an increase in the budget per se, explained Mr. Geiger, but it would give the district the ability to cover the funding for those items lost under austerity by borrowing and paying back the loan in the 1991-92 school year.

Mr. Geiger also noted that he felt voter approval would be needed to transfer any monies which came from the TRS deferral to the expressed use of restoring transportation this year.

Assistant Superintendent for Business William Hall informed the board that no monies would be further available from TRS funds to help alleviate the additional monetary burden of a budget proposal which includes transportation, sports and other items lost under austerity.

In expressing his dissatisfaction with a third vote, Trustee William Bennett said that "if we raid funds," we jeopardize stability. "We have seen municipalities collapse because they dipped into reserve," he added. He cautioned against financing this year's budget "on the backs of the students of 1991-92."

Prior to the board probe into ways to finance a third vote, several residents urged the board not to offer a third vote. Their comments included: "The people have spoken" in two votes already; Be fair, "austerity means austerity for everyone"; A third vote would be "insulting our intelligence," and plans should be formulated to "economize" in the future.

But an equal number of students pressed for a budget now which would restore services to them and their classmates. They put forward their arguments: that the students "are making a lot of sacrifices," that the decisions of the board will "determine the future of every student in Hicksville," and that they are told they are the future, then "help us be the future."

Letters to the Editor

OPEN LETTER OF THANKS:

I wish to express my deep gratitude to the Hicksville Council for honoring me with the President's Award at their dinner last week at Antons. I am deeply touched. But this prestigious award above all I wish to share with all the people and friends of Hicksville whose support, cooperation and involvement have been expressed by their interest in "A Better Hicksville."

Accomplishments realized in our community in the past and present is not the product of an individual but collectively the concerted efforts of everyone, and I jubilantly applaud and thank you all. Much still needs to be done to keep abreast with the continual changes and growth we foresee coming to Hicksville. We must join together to ride the crest of progress into the 21st Century, with more zest and vigor and with Hicksville in mind in the forefront. We have a great town, full of wonderful people, caring and loving people who desire to see it dressed at its best. Stagnation breathes rot and decay. We should not let that happen.

Tradition is well and good among family circles. It is mere repeating of models of the past which forms a monolithic, fixed bloc which leaves no place for legitimate development, and to the necessity of the people to confront new situations in the community. Hicksville Community Council and other concerned organizations have been and will continue to be the vanguard of everyone devoted to a better Hicksville. Our task is to perfect and adopt what we have, and at the same time to move forward into areas of concern. We must join for ourselves and our children. The imponderables of history and of the past is best left to God. This is our legacy we wish to leave to the young people, who will be following us. Remember: Mediocrity has a way of resenting excellence.

I am also proud and honored to have shared the limelight of the evening with the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of Hicksville, recipients of the Community Service Award and I wholeheartedly congratulate them. They are the future builders and leaders of our community and country. It's satisfying to know that we leave our town in good hands, and who have at heart the deep feeling and the desire of working and living and remaining in Hicksville.

Let us all unite and show them the way through our examples, understanding and encouragement, so that our youth may be prepared to solve the problems they will encounter concerning the future of our community. We shall stand proudly with you, my young ones, to guide and lead you on your journey.

Finally, I thank God for all His blessings and for a supportive and understanding family and for four wonderful granddaughters who give me great pleasure and a sense of gratitude and satisfaction. Lincoln once said "The better part of one's life consists of his friendships - Hard working, concerned, common - looking people are the best in the world; that is the reason the good Lord makes so many of them."

Truly, my cup runneth over - Thank you and God Bless!

Anthony Previte

GOP Candidates Night Meeting

Senator Kemp Hannon spoke at a recent rally of the Plainview Republican Club, which is gearing up for the fall elections. Senator Hannon addressed the crowd and discussed taxes, crime, the Environmental Quality Bond Act and other issues facing the state. Pictured are Robert Schmidt, left, Executive Leader of Plainview and Cella T. Eckert, President of the Plainview Republican Club thanking Senator Hannon for joining with the Senate Republican majority in passing a tough new anti-crime, anti-drug legislative initiative. Unfortunately, these "get tough" measures failed to win the approval of the Assembly majority necessary to be enacted into law.

To the Editor:

The purpose of my letter is to encourage the resident-taxpayers of Hicksville to attend the public meetings of our school board and participate in the decision making process of the board by expressing their feelings and thoughts regarding the unparalleled state of our school budget which is destined to get much worse during the following two school years.

To understand the dimensions of the problems and get a sense of what our school board is doing to alleviate the burden of never-ending higher school taxes, it is essential to observe the board in its deliberations and judge for oneself who among the trustees makes things happen, who merely watches things happen, and who just wonders what is happening. Only with this first-hand knowledge of the workings of the board on a whole and the contribution and participation of each individual trustee will we be in a position to make an intelligent choice at the next school election which is only seven months away.

Sitting by the sidelines and carp achieves nothing. One must be vocal and let the board know that we are not to be taken for granted. That one budget vote a year is enough and final. That the trend of seeking higher and higher tax revenues must stop. That our board should start a new trend of reducing expenditures without penalizing the students. That our board should take a long and hard look at what has been heretofore considered sacrosanct. I'm convinced that each trustee well knows the real nature of the beast and what to do to combat it. The question is: will the board have the courage to do it?

Considering that there are only six public meetings left till the adoption by the board of the 1991-'92 budget, it is not too soon to get involved and gain a sense of what is ahead of us. Just come to the meetings and voice your views. You may even like it. It's more entertaining and educational than any T.V. show.

Sincerely,

Jean Diradourian

To the Editor:

I have a suggestion:

The Town of Oyster Bay is looking for a parcel of land to construct a community park for the Town of Hicksville, which is the only major town in the Town of Oyster Bay that does not have a community park.

The Hicksville School District is looking to close an elementary school and sell its property to help its budget problems. The Hicksville School District and the Town of Oyster Bay should get together and discuss the Town's possible purchase of the school and its land. The school could be used as a community building and the land as a park. Hicksville will then have what Bethpage, Syosset, Massapequa, Plainview, etc., have.

Hicksville could have a community pool, lighted sports field for baseball and even a midget football program. Once a year we could have a Hicksville day and celebrate in our park as our Bethpage neighbors do.

I'm sending a copy of this letter to Angelo Deligatti, the Town of Oyster Bay Supervisor, and Catherine Fenton, the Superintendent of Schools in Hicksville.

Sincerely,
Al Ciaccio

APPLICANTS: AMERICAN REF-FUEL OF OYSTER BAY, 757 North Edridge, Houston, Texas 77079; the TOWN OF OYSTER BAY and the TOWN OF OYSTER BAY SOLID WASTE DISPOSAL DISTRICT, Town Hall, East Building, 54 Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, New York 11771. PROJECT: The Applicants propose to construct and operate the Town of Oyster Bay Solid Waste Incinerator to be located on the northern portion of the Oyster Bay Solid Waste Disposal Complex in Old Bethpage. The site is bounded on the south by the LILCO transmission line easement and the Old Bethpage Landfill, on the east by Winding Road, on the north by Bethpage-Sweet Hollow Road, and on the west by Claremont Road.

Presently, the Complex consists of the following facilities: a waste receiving and weighing station, inactive incinerators, recycling operations, a long haul transfer station, a methane collection system, a leachate treatment plant and the Old Bethpage Landfill which is currently being capped and closed.

The proposed facility would include two mass burn boiler units and a 31-megawatt (nominal) turbine-generator and have a daily throughput capacity of 1,080 tons of mixed municipal solid waste. Steam produced will be used to generate electricity, a portion of which will be sold to the Long Island Lighting Company. The facility will operate continuously 24 hours per day, 7 days a week.

The incinerator will be equipped with dry scrubbers for SO<sub>2</sub> and acid mist control, a fabric filter baghouse for particulate control and a selective non-catalytic reduction system for control of oxides of nitrogen. Emissions will be discharged from a common stack 330 feet above grade. Process water will be drawn from an on site well at a rate not to exceed 80 million gallons per year. Ash residue will be transported off Long Island to a permitted landfill for disposal.

PERMITS: Applications have been filed for: a permit to construct and certificate to operate an incinerator, permits to construct and certificates to operate two process, exhaust or ventilation systems (lime Silos), a permit to construct and certificate to operate a stationary combustion unit (emergency generator), a permit to construct and operate a solid waste management facility and a Long Island well permit.

LEGAL NOTICE

PSD DETERMINATIONS: The NYSDEC has reviewed the project proposal and has determined the incinerator to be subject to the federal prevention of significant deterioration (PSD), 40 CFR 52.21. The Department has tentatively determined to issue a PSD approval pending review of all public comments. Information relative to the tentative determination and draft permit conditions are

SEQR STATUS: The Town of Oyster Bay is lead agency for the State Environmental Quality Review (SEQR) of this action. Draft and Final Environmental Impact Statements have been prepared and accepted for this Project. On January 17, 1989 the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay passed Resolution No. 95-89 adopting a statement of findings pursuant to SEQR. PUBLIC HEARING: All persons, organizations, corporations or government agencies which may be affected by the proposed Project are invited to comment on the applications. A legislative hearing on the applications, will be held to receive unsworn statements from the public in the AUDITORIUM BUILDING G, NASSAU COUNTY PLAINVIEW OFFICE COMPLEX, 1425 OLD COUNTRY ROAD, PLAINVIEW, NEW YORK 11803 AT 1:00 P.M. AND 7:00 P.M. ON NOVEMBER 20, 1990. All persons, organizations, corporations or government agencies which may be affected by the proposed Project are invited to attend either or both hearing sessions and/or to submit written comments on the above-noted Project. It is only necessary to attend one of the two hearing sessions however since a cumulative record will be taken and all persons at their option will be given the opportunity to speak at only one of the two sessions. Comments may be submitted in favor or in opposition to the overall Project and equal weight will be given to both oral and written statements. It is requested that lengthy statements be submitted in writing since a 5 minute time limit may have to be imposed on all speakers if there are a large number of persons wishing to speak to ensure that all persons will have an opportunity to be heard. Please note that it is NOT necessary to file a written request in advance to speak at either session of the legislative hearing. Written statements regarding this Project from those persons who do not intend to appear at the hearing may also be filed with the Office of Hearings at the address indicated below either before the hearing or during the hearing. The hearing will be conducted pursuant to 6 NYCRR Part 624 (Permit Hearing Procedures).

This hearing location is reasonably accessible to persons with a mobility impairment. Interpreter services shall also be made available to deaf persons, at no charge, upon written request to the Administrative Law Judge named below within a reasonable time prior to the hearing pursuant to SAPA §202(1).

ISSUES CONFERENCE: A pre-adjudicatory hearing issues conference will be held on NOVEMBER 21, 1990 AT 10:00 A.M. IN THE AUDITORIUM BUILDING G, NASSAU COUNTY PLAINVIEW OFFICE COMPLEX, 1425 OLD COUNTRY ROAD, PLAINVIEW, NEW YORK 11803. The purpose of this Issues Conference will be to define, narrow and resolve, if possible, the issues concerning the permit application which are raised by the various parties as subjects for adjudication at the subsequent adjudicatory hearing sessions. IT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT THAT ANY PERSONS REQUESTING PARTY STATUS APPEAR OR BE REPRESENTED AT THE ISSUES CONFERENCE IN ORDER THAT ALL VALID ISSUES MAY BE FULLY DISCUSSED. Following this Issues Conference, the Parties will then be advised by the ALJ regarding the date for the start of the adjudicatory hearing taking into consideration the needs of the Applicant and the availability of witnesses for all parties.

Notwithstanding the above, if all disputes among the Parties are resolved and/or all objections and/or requests for an adjudicatory hearing are withdrawn or otherwise resolved, the adjudicatory hearing may be cancelled.

FILING FOR PARTY STATUS:

Party Status to participate at the Issues Conference and at any subsequent adjudicatory public hearing, which, if held, would follow the legislative hearing and Issues Conference at some adjourned date to be determined will be accorded ONLY to those persons who file a written statement requesting Party Status and who can provide a clear demonstration of social, economic, or environmental interest which are likely to be affected by the proposed Project. PLEASE NOTE THAT MERE OPPOSITION TO THE PROJECT IS NOT A SUFFICIENT BASIS TO BE GRANTED PARTY STATUS. Specifically, all persons, groups, corporations, or agencies desiring party status at the adjudicatory hearing must now file a specific statement in writing containing precise grounds for opposition, support, or interest in this Project, including the nature of the arguments and evidence which the person or organization intends to present at the hearing & any other matter believed relevant. ## Legion Dinner Honors Arlene Howard Peppercorn's upstairs hall rang with the sounds of revelry and comradeship recently, as the Charles Wagner Post 421 of the American Legion honored its Junior Past Commander, Arlene Howard. The two-term commander is a World War II Navy veteran, community civic and church leader, the mother of a notable family of young men and women.

Mrs. Howard's two years as Post 421 leader were notable for: a

Hicksville Blasts Merrick 6-3

The Hicksville Minutemen 1977 B. Travelling soccer team scored an impressive 6-3 victory over the Merrick Eagles, Sunday, October 4, at Cantiague Park, led by a three-goal, first half hat trick by striker, Jorge daSilva.

The Minutemen put on the offensive pressure from the game's opening whistle, scoring three goals in the first 18 minutes. At the five minute mark, daSilva converted a Kenny D'Introno pass. Merrick came back to tie at the 12 minute mark, but the score further ignited the Hicksville offensive effort. daSilva hit Tommy Coffey with a perfect cross, which he carried around three defenders, converting at the 14 minute mark. daSilva then was knocked into the goal post, as he went up for a header. When play resumed, the Minutemen had a corner kick which was perfectly placed by Anthony Noya, and headed in by daSilva. For the next 15 minutes, there was strong, end to end soccer, and at the 33 minute mark, D'Introno again set up daSilva who put in his third, for a 4-1 halftime lead. In the extreme heat and humidity, for some reason unbeknownst to all present, the referee then allowed the first half to continue for an extra seven minutes; thus a 42 minute half was played, rather than a 35.

The Eagles poured on the offensive pressure to open the second half, but Hicksville's defense, led by goalkeeper Bobby Braun, rose to the challenge. Greg Walunas, at sweeper, hit Coffey, with a long clearing pass which he converted into a goal, from 25 yards out, on a breakaway, three minutes into the second half. Merrick came back to make it 5-2 shortly. Seventeen minutes into the second half, Coffey backed passing to the charging Jason Brown, who put the ball in the net for a 6-2 lead. Merrick came back to make it 6-3. The game's final 10 minutes saw both teams with numerous chances but the defenses held off the offense.

The balance of the Minutemen were Tim Dalton, with a superb game at left fullback; Richard Werchenski with effective play at sweeper and fullback; Andres Turcios, with a great game at halfback; Alcino Silva who hustled and wing and halfback; Bobby Wagner who showed aggressiveness from the win position; and Danny dePinho who gave it his all from wing and sweeper. Congratulations to the team, Coach Tony dePinho, Assistant Al Blicher, and Sponsor Seaman & Eisemann, for an exciting, winning contest.

Town Restricts Building Permit

Thirteen restrictive Building Permits have been placed by the Oyster Bay Town Board on a special use permit granted in Plainview, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

"The applicants, Arnold Gallo and William Gallo, were seeking a special use permit to utilize property located in an 'H' industrial district on the north side of Fairchild Avenue south-east of the intersection of Dupont Street for mixed use office and warehouse," Clark stated. "Pursuant to a public hearing held on April 24, the Town Board has granted the application subject to 13 restrictive covenants."

In granting special permission to use a portion of the premises for office purposes, the Board stipulated that any alteration to increase the size of the present building will not be permitted without Town Board approval after a public hearing. The Board also stated that all water conservation measures as set forth in the Town's plumbing code must be adhered to.

With regard to maintenance of the property, the premises must be kept in good condition at all times. Outside storage of material, equipment or waste is prohibited. Debris, garbage and refuse must be stored in closed containers fenced in on three sides, and garbage pickup is prohibited between the hours of 10 p.m. and 8 a.m., the following day.

The Board covenanted that exterior lighting must be contained within the subject premises and prohibited the use of any exterior audio communication system. Further, the Board stipulated that all signs must comply with the Town's sign ordinances and that parking will be permitted only in designated areas, leaving the driveway free at all times for fire and other emergency apparatus.

Clark noted that no building permit or certificate of occupancy will be issued until a site plan has been submitted to, and approved by, the Town Board. The plan must be to scale and show the location of all access and egress; location, layout and striping of all parking areas; location of dumpsters; location and identification of all building on the site; the size, type and location of signs, exterior lighting and landscaping, as well as any other information deemed pertinent by the Dept. of Planning and Development.

Right Around Home

By Maureen Trazler

The Hicksville Gregory Museum has won the support of many hundreds of residents, educators, local business people and some corporations in its 27 years of service to the public. The latest entry on the Long Island Earth Science Center's list of patrons is Billy Joel.

The world-famous singer and composer just recently forwarded a $500 check to Richard Evers, the museum historian, wishing the museum's Historical Committee every success with its Economic History of Hicksville book project.

"Hearing from the busy musical celebrity was one of the most exciting things to happen since I've been fundraising for the museum," says Mr. Evers.

Last week's boost to the museum and its historical committee morale was the result of collaborative efforts by Ed Bady, the museum's skillful volunteer photographer and his historical (hysterical, as their wives say) sidekick, Mr. Evers. It seems, a couple of years ago, Ed enlarged and mounted a 1965 newspaper picture of Billy's combo, The Lost Souls, on the way to compete in a talent show at the World's Fair. Dick was in charge of getting the photo to Billy.

Well, Dick had a little problem because he didn't know Billy's address. So, he went to "Plan B." William Berning, son of Dick's acquaintance, Carolyn Berning, owned an Army/Navy Store in Amagansett, and Billy had stopped by the shop once in a while. Mr. Berning agreed to hold the photo until he saw Billy. But Bill didn't stop in again. Dick had to find another approach.

"This time he contacted the friendly offices of the Hicksville Post Office, and they agreed to get the package to Billy out on the East End.

Along with the photo, Dick remembers enclosing a warm, covering letter saying how much the community was proud of Billy and his achievements. He also mentioned that the community admired him particularly because he was proud of his home town and speaks fondly of growing up in this part of Long Island.

The letter and photo finally reached Billy Joel several months ago. So you can imagine Mr. Evers' surprise when he opened his mail last week and found the sizable donation from Hicksville's prominent former resident - Billy Joel.

Here's an event that will delight the bright, inquisitive minds of the youngsters and raise up nostalgic thoughts for moms and dads. The Pioneer Telephone Museum will host an Open House on Sunday, October 28, from 1 to 4 p.m.

"Come meet your host, Alexander Graham Bell, the man who started it all," boasts the Pioneers' flyer. Visitors will see exhibits of old and new equipment, as well as replicas of two phones from the 1880's and 1890's crafted by Charles Nass of Hicksville.

The Telephone Pioneers is a group of some 7,000 active and retired telephone company employees from Nassau and Suffolk. The museum is located in the telephone company's building at 445 Commack Road. There are 13 volunteer Pioneer guides available to conduct tours of the museum, which is otherwise only open by appointment. For further information about arranging tours, call 543-1321.

If you're looking for a pleasant afternoon, bring the family and view the Pioneers' exhibits at their Open House. Admission is free and light refreshments are provided.

Bethpage Library Hosting Concert

Music lovers in the Town of Oyster Bay will have a musical treat on Friday, November 9, when the "Distinguished Artists Concerts" series presents The New York Gilbert & Sullivan Players' "Wand'ring Minstrels," according to Oyster Bay Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

"This is one in a series of Town-sponsored distinguished artist concerts slated to take place at different Town libraries throughout the fall, winter and spring," Ocker said. "They are free to Town residents."

Romance and wit as only Gilbert and Sullivan could compose it will be performed by The Wand'ring Minstrels at the Bethpage Public Library, 47 Powell Avenue, Bethpage. Show time will be 8:15 p.m.

"The Wand'ring Minstrels are outstanding performers, in case, soprano Cynthia Reynolds, tenor/director Albert Bergeret, baritone Richard Holmes and accompanist Andrea Stryker-Rodda, drawn from the New York Gilbert & Sullivan Players roster of more than 100 talented singers," Ocker stated. "In addition to their repertoire of complete roles in NYGASP's full productions, the minstrels have the versatility to sustain a fast moving format with quick costume and make-up changes (some of which occur on stage), which sometimes requires a performer to play two characters at the same time. For this performance, pianist Stryker-Rodda will provide accompaniment."

New York Gilbert & Sullivan Players is America's pre-eminent professional Gilbert & Sullivan repertory ensemble. Over the past 16 years the company has presented over 1,000 performances throughout the Eastern United States.

"They've captivated audiences of all ages," Ocker said. "Now they'll be playing in our own backyard." For more information about the concert, contact CAPA at 795-5943.

Ocker noted that the "Distinguished Artist Concerts" series is being supported by a grant from the Long Island Savings Bank, FSB.

While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

Saturday evening, October 6, was unusually warm. A bright full moon was visible in the sky and from the football field at Hofstra University, the exhilarating sounds of Marching Band Music filled the night.

The Hicksville Marching Comets were among 14 bands which participated in the CMBC (Cadet Marching Band Co-Operative competition) sponsored by the Cadets of Bergen County, New Jersey.

This tournament differs from the usual Tournament of Bands Competition Hicksville competes in, in the following ways:

- The judges are selected from all over the United States rather than exclusively from the tri-state region.
- There are more than four size categories.
- The criteria for judging the bands performance is much stricter and usually results in lower scores.

This was not so for the Hicksville High School Marching Comets who participated in the Group IV category. When the scores were totaled, they marched away with the awards for High Music, High Visual effect, Best Drum Major, Highest overall effect and the highest overall score winning the first place trophy with 74.3 out of a possible 100 points.

The Hicksville High School Band Parents Association extends a warm invitation to all neighbors and friends to attend the All American Tournament of Bands Competition to be held at Hicksville High School on Sunday, October 21, at 12 p.m.

This band show will be featuring 12 of the finest bands on Long Island competing for high honors.

The Band Parents Association dedicates this show to the U.S. Armed Services. Representatives from the Hicksville American Legion Post, as well as the Veterans of Foreign War, will be on hand to give out awards.

County Executive Thomas Gulotta, Councilman Thomas Clerk, Congressman Norman Lent, and Assemblyman Fred Parola will also be on hand to present citations and awards.

Residents are urged to mark their calendars for Sunday, October 21, and come on over to the Hicksville High School football field and support the Marching Band and their fellow countrymen who are over in the Middle East protecting democracy!

New Glaucoma Service At N.S.G.C.

Glaucoma, the "sneak thief of sight," is a leading cause of blindness in adults. In fact, one out of every seven blind people is a victim of glaucoma. Because of that, North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove has started a new service to help patients suffering from this common ailment.

According to Edward Brennan, M.D., Deputy Chief of Ophthalmology at the Glen Cove institution, acute glaucoma appears suddenly with cloudy vision and frequently pain in and around the eyes. Rainbow-colored rings around lights are another symptom of the disease. Unfortunately, the more common form, called chronic glaucoma, progresses painlessly and slowly, with such minor passing symptoms that patients often postpone a visit to their ophthalmologist.

"Glaucoma is caused by a build-up of pressure in the fluids of the eye," Dr. Brennan said. "Increased pressure damages the retina and the optic nerve which conducts the visual impulses to the brain for interpretation. Side- or peripheral vision - is affected first. Without treatment central vision disappears and blindness results, with no possibility for restoring vision."

The eye specialist stressed that if the disease is detected early, medical treatment can halt its progress. Everyone over age 40 should have a yearly eye examination that includes a diagnostic test for glaucoma, particularly those who have a family history of the disorder.

Treatment of glaucoma, aimed at reducing the pressure in the eye, may include medication alone, laser surgery or more conventional surgery, or a combination of these approaches.

"Most cases can be well-controlled," Dr. Brennan concluded, "especially if found early."

Providing this new service is another way comprehensive health care is being made available now at North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove. Residents of the region need not travel far distances to receive optimal medical treatment. It is available now at their community hospital.

Nuclear Medicine

There are many ways to look inside your body to pinpoint problems and make sound diagnoses. One way is through nuclear medicine scanning - a new, safe, painless method of finding out "what's wrong".

Through nuclear medicine many ailments can be diagnosed -

- Cancer can be diagnosed through bone scans
- Heart and coronary artery disease can be diagnosed through thallium imaging
- Thyroid, liver and gallbladder disorders can be discovered

-Veins in the lower parts of the body can be tested for clots

These are just some of the special nuclear medicine tests that help physicians diagnose conditions in organs that are hard to evaluate through conventional means - and they are all available now at North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove.

This is one of the ways we are making your hospital more outstanding.

Input Callers Think Terms Should Be Limited

Most callers to Input believe that incumbents should be limited in office in answer to this question: "Do you think the number of terms in the State Legislature and Congress should be limited by law?" Here are some of the answers:

TOO MANY INCUMBENTS

Definitely there are too many long term incumbents who have made up blocks of contributors to keep them in office. And except for a short time of running for office they do very little in the way of contributing anything to government. Since we have already limited the term of office of the President I believe we should do the same thing with Congress and the State Legislature. This will cut off the professional politician and give more people a chance. B.G.

LAME DUCK

There are many good sides to limiting the length of office of legislators. But one of the bad things is that if we limited the office to two or three terms on the last term the legislator will be a lame duck and will not really have to worry about what can be done at election time because he will not be able to run anyway. So while I see the benefits in limiting office holders from building up large treasuries and having so many people who are beholden because of jobs etc., I still think that laws limiting the number of terms won't do what has to be done and that is for the people to take a more active role in politics and vote people out instead of legislating them out. N.F.

LIMIT TERMS

So many of our long term Assemblymen and Congressmen are just there for the ride that it seems very important for us to limit the terms. It also allows new ideas to flow and gets rid of the great campaign treasuries that are built up by incumbents. In addition, incumbents have all types of privileges to use the mails to distribute what are little more than campaign ads as news letters. Newcomers don't have much chance of unseating incumbents unless the law restricts how many times they can run. Our political system has grown like a big business and both parties have a lock on who can run. Limiting terms will do much to lessen that hold. V.H.

WON'T BE ENACTED

I agree that terms should be limited, but here is a question in my mind how you can ever get a law like that enacted with the incumbents voting for it. Will they vote a law which will end their long careers? And if they won't then it cannot be enacted because incumbents are always the majority. F.D.

SWEEP OUR GOOD TOO

The idea of keeping on turning over political posts seems to have a favorable following by many people but it would sweep out the very good with the very bad and we need all of the good people we can get in political posts. I would be against it for that reason. We should not limit terms but just not vote for people who are doing a poor job.

"WE ARE THE PEOPLE"

An emphatic yes. Definitely limit by Constitutional amendment the number of terms in the legislature and the U.S. Congress. I suggest two consecutive terms for each office holder with one full term out of office before becoming eligible to run for the same position again thus the democratic process will be better served. Hopefully we will also see a return to political candidates committed to their party's stated principals and national platforms. The occurrence of the cult of the political personality has corrupted the American political scene much too long. Also it's high time American voters are aware of the other political options open to them. Namely, initiative, referendum and recall. Finally let's not forget that "We are the people" as used by the East Germans against their corrupt, inept officials. H.R.

FORM A NUCLEUS

There is a lot of lip-service devoted to the question of limiting the terms of the members of the State Legislature and Congress but it never actually gets off the ground as a really serious objective. To be honest, I believe we have seen enough of the attitudes of occupants of current seats in these establishments with particular respect to the national deficit to make it perfectly clear that unlimited renewals of these jobs is a detriment to healthy fiscal control. Too many PAC organizations effectively exert pressures on their elected representatives to make balanced judgements and decisions possible. Organized labor is one of the most potent and effective forces to wield their influence and it might even be said that their effectiveness doesn't stop with elected officials but includes staff appointees in key positions as well. I am sure that many citizens would like to see such controls become a matter of law but from a practical point of view, how is it to be accomplished? Perhaps the starting point is to identify those current office-holders who also subscribe to these views and form a nucleus of strenght from within. P.G.S.

Embarassing Moments

By Paula Freda

Most of us have lived through at least one embarrassing moment that we can remember - the I'd-like-to-dig-a-hole-and-hide-in-it kind, in my case, a hole in the sand on a Coney Island beach, some thirty odd years ago. And if that old woman who shared in it is still alive (or not), I hope she'll accept my profoundest apology.

My path crossed hers on a warm sunny Saturday morning. My two teenage girlfriends and I had decided to go to the beach. At our separate homes we'd each packed a tote bag, with the proverbial beach towel or blanket to lie upon and bask in the sun. I don't remember why I didn't pack one, but I did bring a torn remnant from an old sheet. It served its purpose. I placed it down carefully, anchoring the corners with my shoes, my beach bag, and a brown paper bag containing sandwiches. The fourth corner I left alone. With the other three locked in place, my temporary comfort zone wasn't going anywhere.

We headed for the water. After about an hour, goose pimples set in. We hurried out, heading straight for our separate stations.

I noticed it immediately; my sheet was gone. It must have blown away, I reasoned. There was a heady breeze. I dried myself off, then went searching. The beach was filled with sun-worshippers. By now the remnant had probably been trampled and unwittingly buried under the sand.

Oh well, I should have thought, it was just an old piece of percale cotton which I probably would have discarded when I left. But to a fourteen year-old girl, who hated gritty sand stuck to her damp back, it felt important.

I'd almost given up hope, when I saw it, buried under a corpulent, grey-haired woman in a print skirted bathing suit. She basked in the sun under a straw hat, with her belongings at her side, seemingly oblivious to the rest of the crowded beach.

I figured that the wind had blown the sheet in her direction, and seeing it orphaned, she'd picked it up and promptly adopted it as her own.

"Well," I told my friends, as I returned, "that's the end of my sheet."

"Go tell her it's yours," spoke one of my friends.

I was the timid type, but she was right, I felt. It was my sheet. Gathering my teenage individuality, I straightened my shoulders and trudged over to the sleeping woman.

"Ms.," I called. "Ms."

She opened intense brown eyes, surveyed me disdainfully from head to foot, then scowled at me.

I plunged right in, "Ms., did you find this sheet?" I asked. She glowered at me.

I wasn't sure she'd heard me. I was nervous, and I'd spoken hardly above a whisper. My words had probably gone with the wind.

"Please," I said, attempting to throw my voice. "I think you have my sheet!"

It was hate at first sight. "You kids are all alike," she spouted with a heavy accent. "Go away!" she hollered. She promptly closed her eyes again, totally ignoring me.

I retreated. "Forget it," I told my friends. "She's not giving it back."

"But it's your sheet. She has to give it back," my other friend said. "Go tell her again."

Again I approached the woman. This time she hollered louder. Again I slunk back. But by now I was getting annoyed. After all, it was my property, no matter that it was a stupid piece of cloth. It wasn't about the sheet anymore. It was the principle behind it.

I needed just one more prodding which my friend who had spoken first, quickly supplied.

God knows where I got the courage or the nerve, perhaps because I'd always been an idealist. I took a deep breath, straightened my shoulders and marched over to the woman. "You're lying on my sheet," I told her. "I want it back!"

She began spluttering epithets in her native language. Now I was mad. I bent down and yanked the sheet from under her.

I'm glad there were no policemen at that moment patrolling the beach. The woman was now cursing me out both in English and her other language. A crowd had begun to form around us, but neither she nor I noticed. I'm also glad she wasn't the violent type, never even bothered to get up, just kept shrieking at me. I felt vindicated. I took her physical inaction to mean she was guilty. I bundled the remnant and walked back to my friends. They wore expressions of astonishment, at what their timid friend had done. "She wouldn't give it to me," I explained.

The matter was forgotten. The woman took a towel and spread it out, continuing to glare in our direction. Grumbling and complaining about the rotten kids nowadays, she lay down and closed her eyes again.

We stayed a couple of hours more, letting the sun dry our bathing suits while we wore them. Finally, we decided to leave. We pulled on our clothes and started packing our stuff away. As I rolled up my sheet and placed it in my tote bag, I noticed something white sticking up through the sand. I pulled it out. "Oh--my--God," I murmured, glancing moronically at my friends. They swallowed nervously. "Oh--my--God," they repeated. It was my sheet.

It seemed impossible, yet both sheets were exactly the same size and torn in exactly the same places. But the awful truth remained that I had ripped that poor woman's from under her. I felt like an utter idiot. I had just set my assertive calendar back by at least ten years. That made me age 4.

As I said, I was an idealist. Still am. I had to make it right, make restitution. Against my friends' entreaties not to, I walked back to the woman, prepared to apologize profusely. She never gave me the chance. I think this time she sensed my approach, because her eyes opened wide before I'd reached her. I'm glad she was not possessed of supernatural powers. I don't think I'd be alive today. My ears rang with her expletives. I didn't say anything. I just dropped the sheet at her side and walked back to my friends. None of us spoke. We simply gathered our belongings and left. We never returned to that particular bay again.

That day I learned the true meaning of the words, 'rash judgments'. I also never took a sheet to the beach again.

READER RATINGS

Q. When ladies already seated at a luncheon table are introduced to each other, do they shake hands, seated, when may they conveniently do so? - T.G.

A. No, they bow. In this country, there is very little shaking hands between women, although the hostess always shakes hands with her guests, male and female, and anyone acting the role of hostess, say a teacher at the school, a woman representative of a firm being visited by outsiders - would rise and shake hands with the visitors, women as well as men.

Q. There was a receiving line, with the hostess first in the line, and our representative next to her. As the guests entered I noticed that there was some confusion as to who should be greeted first - the hostess or the representative next to her. What is the rule when the host holds such a prominent position?

A. The rule is always the same. One greets first the person first in line, who is the hostess or the acting hostess, always shaking hands. Occasionally there is a line made up only of men, and in this case the first man encountered is the one one greets first. As a matter of fact, very often the most important guest, for whom the reception is given, is placed in the middle of the line.

Each week Litmor Newspapers presents a select dining guide called Reader Ratings to its readers. The guide presents the messages of outstanding restaurants in this area and it also is a forum for readers to tell other readers about why they like certain restaurants.

Reader Ratings, although it is read by up to 100,000 readers is an inexpensive way to meet the public and have the public meet you. Throughout many years, Reader Ratings has helped build loyal followings for some of the best restaurants in the area.

If your restaurant qualifies as a leader in the area we want to talk to you about being included in our guide. The cost is nominal and the results can be great.

KAFE KRISTAN'S RESTAURANT'S CUISINE IS CULINARY TOUR DE FORCE

My wife and I are still enthusing over the most delightful last Saturday evening dining and dancing experience that we shared at Floral Park's Kafe Kristan's Restaurant. We both also agreed that our dinners were excellent, and since we had frequently dined at Kristan's, that the cuisine is truly a culinary tour de force.

My wife thoroughly enjoyed her $13.95 Veal St. Moritz: breaded veal, sauteed with fresh garlic, topped with Swiss cheese and tomato and served in a unique wine sauce with a marvelous pasta side dish. I raved over my $14.75 fresh Shrimp Monterey: jumbo shrimp, wrapped in bacon, stuffed with crabmeat, topped with Kristan's "top secret" creamy garlic sauce and served on a bed of rice.

Included in our entree price was the choice of either a homemade soup or serving ourselves from Kristan's unbelievably bountiful salad bar. We chose the salad bar which features no less than 20 fresh fruit and fresh vegetable items and a selection of seven superb dressings: bleu cheese, French, green goddess, olive oil and vinegar, Russian, Thousand Islands and vinaigrette. Our most memorable meal was commendably complimented with an $8.95 full carafe of August Sebastian California Country White Zinfandel. We didn't have any room left to indulge ourselves in any of Kristan's divine desserts, so we finished with fresh brewed decaf coffee.

Our service, too, was super, thanks to our most courteous, lovely waitress, Laura Schneider of Elmont, who proudly carries Irish, Italian and German bloodlines.

Our evening was further enhanced by the magical music of Kristan's most popular Jimmy Barr Duo, an every Saturday evening 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. headline attraction. The two localities, baritone Jimmy on base guitar and tenor Al Varriale on drums really wowed the packed house, including the wedding party and guests who emerged from Kristan's private catering room to trip the light fantastic to the scintillating strains of the dynamic duo!

Meeting and greeting the many guests were Kristan's most hospitable host and hostess, owners and operators Chris Black and Stan Pieri.

Incidentally, singing pianist par excellence Doug Bittner tantalizingly tickles the ivories at Kristan's every Monday evening from 8 p.m. "till whenever."

Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

SUPERB SERVICE

Devins is an upbeat restaurant in Garden City. It features superb continental food served by a staff that is attentive to your every need. We took a group of eight people there last week and found that the food was excellent and that the service was remarkably good at a time when many restaurants just let you wait and wait. The restaurant had many people in it, but we were still taken care of with good service. Devins has excellent Italian veal parmigiana and fine fish dishes. We recommend that your readers go there and find out for themselves what a good place this is. L.R.

Q. Will you please describe the correct procedure for introducing one couple to another (1) when the couples are approximately the same age, (2) when one couple is older or more distinguished in station than the other? M.J.

A. When the couples are about the same age it doesn't matter whose names are mentioned first. When one couple is older or more distinguished or perhaps guests in your town you introduce the younger couple.

Q. If your guests completely finish their white wine, down to the last drop, isn't it all right to pour red wine into their same glasses? H.B.

A. No. Either have separate clean wineglasses on the table for the red or wash the dirty glasses and bring them back to the table.

SPECIALTIES

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about the LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite, we have to say that the specials are really "special."

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

Q. I have noticed that tips are said to range from 15 to 20 percent of a bill in a restaurant. When you calculate this, do you figure in the sales tax? R.K.

A. No you do not generally figure the sales tax in the tip but a great many people now are doubling the sales tax to quickly arrive at the amount of the tip. With the new increased fraction the tip will then closely approximate a 15 percent gratuity.

READER RATINGS

Q. What is the correct way to eat crackers in soup?

A. Small crackers, such as oyster crackers, may be added to the soup and eaten that way. However, large soda crackers should really not be crumbled into the soup. It is better to keep them on the plate and eat them along with the soup.

Q. When I am on a diet I find it difficult to find things at restaurants. What do you suggest? G.B.

A. The suggestion is that you check the ads and call restaurants. Many of them have special diet plates that will be just what you are looking for. Some restaurants will allow substitutions and you can make your own plate but you cannot be sure of this unless you check the restaurant policy in advance.

Q. I have noticed that Chinese restaurants do not provide knives when serving meals. Can you tell me the reason for this practice?

A. In the orient food is cut into small pieces before it is cooked. This has the advantage of reducing cooking time and also minimizing any loss of nutrients. In China it is considered bad manners to cut food at the table.

Q. Recently while dining in a Portuguese restaurant, my friend and I were served a sweet white wine with our dessert. Would you have any idea what the name of this wine would be? It was delicious.

A. You may have been served one of Portugal's sweet white ports. They come from the area of Oporto and I agree with you that they are very good and surprisingly little known by Americans.

CONSISTENTLY GOOD

The John Peel room in the Island Inn is consistently a good restaurant. We have been there a number of times and have always found the food and decor especially enjoyable.

The menu at the John Peel room includes a complete dinner from appetizer through dessert. We had prime ribs there last Thursday and were particularly happy with the large portion of beef along with the fine ambience of this restaurant, the service was attentive and prompt. As usual we had a good night at the John Peel room. B.R.

TOPS IN DINNERS

The New Hyde Park Inn is a landmark on Jericho Turnpike in New Hyde Park. Most people have been there many times for one banquet or another. Throughout the years it has served as a top catering hall for many affairs.

As a restaurant it is equally good. We went there last week and found that it has a full menu for dinner and that all of the good things that were at banquets can be had in the restaurant. Because it is a festive type place it is a great one to celebrate a birthday as we did. Tell your readers that the New Hyde Park Inn is tops for dinners. We know, we were there. Y.R.

NICE PLACE

Bomont's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers. J.F.

Q. I want to create an English country mood in our living room, but I don't know what to do about the floor. It's covered with wool wall-to-wall carpeting that was there when we bought the house and is still in good condition.

I have floral chintz curtains, a small floral wallpaper, and floral-stripe upholstery: sofa, love seat and one armchair.

Would it look too busy to use a couple of small print rugs over the wall-to-wall? — D.S., Cleveland

A. Assuming that there is a common color to make all those prints work together, no. It will look busy, but not too, since that's a hallmark of the English country mood you're after. The idea is that the room appears to have evolved over the years, with furnishings added as they were acquired. The "decorated" look is very un-English, but more appealing to the American eye.

Take the photo we show here. It has many of the ingredients you describe: print curtains, small floral wall covering, and wall-to-wall carpeting overlaid with a large floral rug by Stark Carpets. And I do mean large floral: the super-scale is what makes it work with all the other florals.

Another pointer: The chintz of the curtains is repeated on the table skirt and throw pillows while the upholstery itself is a solid color that provides visual relief from so much pattern.

A final thought about choosing an area rug: Remember that it should relate to the colors in both the room's other patterns and to the wall-to-wall carpeting beneath it.

Q. I've heard antiques dealers and auctioneers refer to some furniture as "borax." What does it mean? My dictionary defines it as a cleaning agent. — Puzzled in Atlanta

A. "Borax" is furniture industry slang for homely, overelaborate,

By Rose Bennett Gilbert usually cheap, furniture.

Once upon earlier times, coupons were packed in boxes of borax — a cleaning agent, just as your dictionary told you — and homemakers could exchange them for pieces of furniture. It wasn't great furniture, as you can imagine, but the term has survived, perhaps longer than those tables and chairs.

Q. We have an old barn that has to be torn down anyway when a road is widened. I'm thinking of saving the old weathered boards to panel our family room. Is that a good idea? What about bugs? Should the boards be treated in any way after they are installed? — D.C., Hunter, N.Y.

A. You can add charm — not bugs — if you stack the boards under cover where it's room temperature for a week or so, and spray with bug repellent. The boards will shrink in the room's warmth before they go up, and any bugs will have time to beat it. Before installing, brush the surfaces clean with a brass wire brush.

Before installing, staple black felt building paper to the wall. This way, you won't notice so much if some shrinkage does occur; the black will minimize the gaps. Nail the boards tightly to each other and finish with varnish, polyurethane or other finish. Remember that they will darken the wood to a certain extent; if you want to avoid that, use a water-white lacquer, either brushed or sprayed on.

Here's another neat trick: If your boards have too many unsightly knotholes, you can fool with Mother Nature. Start with powdered woody putty, add tinting powder (from a paint store), and mix to match the color of the natural wood. It will dry lighter; experiment until you arrive at the right color.

Dab into the knotholes and "sculpt" to create wood grains. No one will ever guess your knot's not the real thing.

COUNTRY MOOD — From the oversize pattern in the carpet to the tiny wallpaper motif, a merry mix of floral prints yields an English-country mood.

Backyard Gardener

By Patrick Denton

I often wonder what it would be like to have mountains of free time to fuss over the care of my garden. I fantasize about flower beds perpetually cleaned of dead bloom and offending debris, of pristine vegetable plots in shining weedlessness. Alas, such reveries present an ideal always just a little beyond my grasp.

Meanwhile, dearly beloved among the plants I grow are ones that require a minimum of care for a lavish return in beauty and bounty — the raspberries and peonies, for example, and the self-cleaning sorts of impatiens and marigolds.

The aspect of maintenance is one that many home gardeners will want to consider as they select and plant spring flower bulbs this fall. How much care will these plants need? For how many years will the bulbs bloom before needing to be dug, sorted to size and replanted?

Most of the small bulbs —

crocus and snowdrops, winter aconites (eranthus), trout lily (erythronium), grape hyacinths (muscari), star of Bethlehem (Ornithogalum umbellatum), Spanish bluebells (Scilla campanulata) and Siberian squills (Scilla sibirica) — will naturalize easily for many years until the planting becomes overcrowded.

And now, the results of research into perennializing tulips, daffodils and hyacinths give us some useful guidelines for getting as many good years as possible out of these popular large bulbs.

The trial involved monitoring plantings in different climate zones in the United States over a period of four years. The findings clearly indicated that given a few basic conditions hyacinths and tulips can be counted upon to flower well for at least three years. Daffodils will continue for much longer.

The three key factors contributing to long life in the trial plantings were a well-prepared and well-drained site, the selection of varieties best adapted to perennializing and fertilizing. Of these, drainage turned out to be the critical factor.

Bulbs grow best in a deep loam or sandy soil. If a high clay content causes poor soil drainage, then time taken to improve the soil conditions will be important for the long life of a flower bulb planting. Locating bulbs on a slope, if this is possible, is one way to help ensure improved drainage. Mixing compost, peat moss or composted bark deeply into the soil will improve drainage and let air into the soil.

To open up a heavy clay soil for planting flower bulbs, or other plants for that matter, use enough organic matter to make up one-third of the volume of soil in the bed. Coarse builder's sand can be used at a greater rate as a substitute for the organic matter to lighten a clay soil, but the soil/sand mix will not hold nutrients and needed moisture as effectively as soils amended with organic matter.

For really good root growth in bulbs, a bed should be prepared to a depth of 12 to 14 inches. If beds are not prepared that deeply in a clay soil, the water that accumulates on the undisturbed clay layer makes root injury likely. If you must plant tulips, daffodils and hyacinths in more shallowly prepared soils, plant them 6 inches deep rather than the recommended 8 inches deep to the base of the bulb. This will allow space for root growth above a clay layer.

If your soil is very acid, add some dolomite lime as you prepare a site for flower bulbs. A pH between 6.0 and 6.8 is ideal. And incorporate a slow-release bulb fertilizer such as Bulb Booster into the soil at planting time and again each following autumn over the bulb site.

Here are some commonly available tulip varieties that were found to be superior for long-term plantings: White Emperor, Orange Emperor, Holland's Glory, Oxford, Merry Widow, Beauty of Apeldoorn, Parade, Golden Apeldoorn, Golden Parade, Monte Carlo, Golden Oxford, Gudoshnik, Orange Bouquet, Rosy Wings, Gordon Cooper, Maureen, West Point, Burgundy Lace, Orange Favorite.

Among daffodils the top varieties for perennializing included Ice Follies, February Gold, Unsurpassable, Flower Record, Barrett Browning, Tete a Tete, Jumble, Suzy, Geranium, Cheerfulness, Hawera, Mount Hood, Sugarbush, Peeping Tom, Professor Einstein, Jack Snipe.

Among the best hyacinths were Blue Jacket, Delft Blue, Ostara, Jan Bos and City of Haarlem.

Crisp and colorful snow peas

Tender yet slightly crunchy, and mildly sweet, snow peas can make the most mundane vegetable dish seem somehow exotic. Even people who can't bear regular peas like them (I know — I live with one of them!).

Snow peas are available fresh or frozen, and fresh ones are available all year-round, although prices are best during the summer months.

When shopping for fresh snow peas, look for smooth, bright-green pods (the whole pod is edible). Pods should be cool and crisp, and relatively flat — peas inside should be tiny and underdeveloped. Larger-size peas mean that the pod will be older — and not as tender.

How to store: Rinse snow peas under cold running water; then drain and dry. Store in plastic bag or covered container for four to five days.

To prepare for cooking: Trim off tips and, if you wish, remove string that runs along the side of the pod to which the peas are attached. Leave pods whole, or slant-cut them into two to three pieces, depending on their size.

Also called Chinese peas, snow peas are similar to sugar snap peas, but the latter are a little larger and heavier than Chinese peas and need to be briefly steamed, while snow peas frequently are eaten raw.

Snow peas are a standard ingredient in stir-fry dishes, and they adapt extremely well to microwaving. Since they cook very quickly, add toward the end of cooking time, and watch carefully to prevent overcooking.

(Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.)

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

For a quick hot compress to ease aches and pains (or for warm hand towels to pass around after a messy meal), dampen towel or hand cloth, ring out excess moisture and fold evenly. Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) setting about one minute, and it's ready for use.

SNOW PEAS WITH SHRIMP AND CASHEWS

- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 teaspoon freshly grated ginger, or ¼ teaspoon dried ground ginger
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 pound large fresh or defrosted frozen shrimp, cleaned, peeled and patted dry
- ½ pound fresh snow peas
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ½ cup cold water
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon sherry
- 2½ ounces salted cashews (about ½ cup)

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 15 to 20 minutes.

Cooking time: 7 to 11 minutes.
Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Mix onion, ginger and oil in 3-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover and microwave 2 to 3 minutes until onion is just crisp, stirring once.

Stir in shrimp. Cover with plastic wrap, turning back a corner to form vent. Microwave 1 to 2 minutes, stirring once. Add snow peas. Microwave 1 minute, or until shrimp start to turn pink and peas just start to soften. Set aside, loosely covered.

Blend cornstarch, water, soy sauce and sherry in 2-cup microwave-safe measure until dissolved and smooth. Microwave 1 to 2 minutes, stirring twice, until mixture starts to thicken.

Add cornstarch mixture and cashews to shrimp. Microwave 2 to 3 minutes to thicken slightly. Sauce will be thin enough to pour over rice or noodles.

Tip: Shrimp are tricky. In less than a minute they zap from succulent to tough and dry. This recipe works with large shrimp that have been patted dry. If using smaller shrimp, cut back microwave time by at least a minute.

- 3 tablespoons rice wine vinegar
- ½ teaspoon powdered ginger
- 6 ounces fresh or frozen, thawed snow peas
- 1 (4-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, drained
- Dash freshly ground black pepper

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Cooking time: 10 to 12 minutes.
Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Combine butter, green onions and garlic in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole. Microwave 3 minutes, stirring every minute, until vegetables are tender. Add fish, water, vinegar and ginger. Cover and microwave 5 to 6 minutes, stirring halfway through cooking time, until fish is tender. Stir in snow peas and mushrooms. Microwave 2 to 3 minutes longer, to heat through. Sprinkle with freshly ground black pepper and serve with hot cooked rice.

SNOW PEAS WITH MUSHROOMS AND BEAN SPROUTS

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
- ¼ cup chopped fresh green onion
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon instant chicken bouillon granules
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon water
- 12 ounces fresh or frozen, thawed snow peas
- ¼ cup fresh bean sprouts

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Preparation time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Cooking time: 10 to 12 minutes.
Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Combine butter, mushrooms and green onion in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover and microwave 5 minutes, stirring twice.

In small dish, combine cornstarch, chicken bouillon granules, soy sauce and water; stir to make smooth paste. Stir gently into mushroom mixture. Microwave 3 to 4 minutes, or until mixture is bubbly and thickened, stirring twice. Stir in snow peas and bean sprouts. Cover and microwave 2 to 3 minutes longer, or until snow peas and bean sprouts are crisp-tender.

Fall fun at school

Before I became a class mother for the first time, I didn't realize how much coordination and planning are required to organize one grade.

There are all the trips to plan, parties to organize — complete with food, activities and cleanup — and of course there are the bulletin boards to theme and decorate.

Faced with our first party, fall being the theme, I realized how incapable I was of coming up with many art activities. So I added cooking ideas to the activity list, since that is what I know best.

If you're faced with this first-time dilemma of what to do with 27 little people, here are some of the cooking projects that worked well for us.

Also, before planning a cooking project, find out what kind of facilities your school has. Many schools today have small kitchens available, otherwise check with the cafeteria to see if your class can come in there after lunch, or at least if you can bake in the cafeteria oven.

Now that you're set up, think about the kids' abilities and ages. A recipe you can make with one child at home does not always translate to cooking with an entire class.

For example, with no kitchen facilities, 30 second-graders and I made six apple pies. Not many of these children had ever worked with a knife before, but they were more than happy to start. It was all we could do to get the apples cut and the knives out of the kids' hands without an accident. We succeeded, but it was tough.

When making apple pies with kids under the fourth grade, cut the apples first. Let the kids toss the filling together and make a streusel topping. Both of these activities are safe, leave lots of room for flexibility to the recipe, and they can keep many hands busy at the same time.

Another cooking project that has good autumnal flair is baking doughnuts and serving them with warmed apple cider. Again, baking is a good project for a class because you can divide into smaller groups and everyone can take turns pouring, stirring and measuring. And when the doughnuts are baked, there is plenty for everyone and no fear that one kid will have a larger piece than another.

AUTUMN APPLE PIE

- 1 (9-inch) prepared pie shell
- 5 cups peeled, sliced apples
- ¼ cup apple cider
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons tapioca
- Topping:
- 3 tablespoons butter, room temperature
- 3 tablespoons honey
- ¾ cup oatmeal
- ½ cup walnut pieces
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

Utensils: Baking sheet, 2 large mixing bowls, mixing spoons, electric mixer, measuring cups and spoons, paper towels, oven mitts, cooling rack.

Yields 1 9-inch pie.

Preparation time: 30 minutes.

Baking time: 45 minutes.

Preheat oven to 350 F. Place pie shell on baking sheet and set aside.

In large mixing bowl, combine apples, cider, sugar and tapioca. Toss together until well mixed. Scoop filling mixture into pie shell.

Put honey and butter in remaining large mixing bowl. With electric mixer on medium speed, blend together until smooth.

Add oatmeal, walnuts and cinnamon and blend in on low speed.

With your fingers, sprinkle streusel topping over apple filling, lightly pressing it into the pie. Once all the topping is on top of pie, wash your hands.

Put on oven mitts and carefully place baking sheet with pie in oven. Bake 45 minutes.

Turn oven off and with oven mitts on, carefully remove baking sheet and place on cooling rack. Cool for at least 15 minutes before cutting.

Crisp fruit plays special role in recipes

By Linda Susan Dudley

It's that time of the year for harvesting apples, and there's nothing like an apple pie, warm from the oven. But don't stop there. There are any number of other delicious dishes that are enhanced by the flavor of apples, fresh or cooked.

Apples are commercially grown in 35 states. The top seven apple-producing states are Washington, New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Virginia, California and North Carolina.

Apples are certainly one of America's favorite fruits. On the average, each person eats about 50 apples a year, or 18 pounds. About 20 kinds of apples are important in the United States and more than 300 varieties of apples are commercially grown in the United States, by more than 15,000 commercial apple growers. But chances are, when you go to your local store to buy apples, you will find Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, McIntosh, Granny Smith and now the new Galas or Royal Galas from New Zealand.

Raw apples are eaten out of hand or in fruit salads. Apples may be stewed and pureed for applesauce, baked whole, or used as an ingredient in baked desserts.

About 45 percent of the country's apple crop is processed into applesauce, juice, slices for pies, apple butter, dried apples, baby food, jam and jellies — even apple candy and chips.

Among the apple's good points:

- There are only 81 calories per medium-size apple.
- Apples contain no cholesterol.
- An apple's mildly fibrous texture acts as nature's toothbrush.

When you bring apples home from the store, they can go into the fruit bowl on the kitchen table. However, chill them as soon as possible if you don't plan to eat the apples right away. The longer apples sit at room temperature, the shorter their storage life. Cold temperatures slow down the ripening of apples.

The International Apple Institute identifies the following as today's most popular apple varieties:

Cooking Corner

CORTLAND: This aromatic apple is a cross between a McIntosh and a Ben Davis. It was introduced at the turn of the century at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, N.Y. The Cortland's white flesh makes it great for salads and fruit cups, and it's good for cooking, too.

CRISPIN-MUTSU: Called Crispin or Mutsu, depending on which region of America you buy it in, this variety is a cross between a Golden Delicious and a Japanese variety, Indo. This apple was first introduced in Kuroishi, Aomori Prefecture, Japan, in 1930. It has coarser flesh than the Golden Delicious but has a stronger tree, larger fruit and better keeping ability (not shriveling in storage).

EMPIRE: Offspring of the Red Delicious and McIntosh, the Empire enjoyed its debut in Geneva, N.Y., in 1966. It boasts a sweet-tart taste, a wonderful, crisp texture and excellent keeping qualities. Serve Empire apple slices with cheese slices.

RED DELICIOUS: Sweet and juicy. Excellent for snacks, salads and the lunch bag.

GOLDEN DELICIOUS: Born and bred in Clay County, W.Va., in 1890, the Golden Delicious is believed to be a chance seedling cross between a Golden Reinette (English) and a Grimes Golden (also West Virginian). A good choice for applesauce.

GRANNY SMITH: Granny Smiths were originally found on Marie Ann "Granny" Smith's farm in Sydney, Australia. The Granny Smith is a tart-crisp, green apple. It can be baked, cooked, tossed in salads or teamed with sharp cheeses. Granny Smith apples are also popular as snacks.

IDARED: Child of the Jonathan and Wagener, this firm, very red variety was discovered in Moscow, Idaho, around 1935. The Idared has excellent keeping abilities. Its fresh tart flavor mellows in storage and takes on an almost winelike taste. This apple can be used for apple pies.

JONATHAN: Fragrant and flavorful, this variety comes from Philip Rick's farm in Woodstock, N.Y., circa 1800. First known as the Rick apple, after its discoverer, it was later renamed Jonathan after Jonathan Hasbrouk, who brought the variety into the horticultural limelight in 1826. The Jonathan is great for fresh eating and is also a good cooker.

MCINTOSH: Discovered by John McIntosh, a farmer of Scottish descent in Dundas County, Ontario, Canada, in the early 1800s, it is thought to be a chance seedling of a Fameuse ("snow" apple). Parent of the Cortland, Empire and a bushel of other varieties, the McIntosh has been described as the "perfect snacking apple." It is also good in salads.

ROME BEAUTY: Very mild flavor, excellent for baking and all culinary uses; fair for snacks and salads.

WINESAP: Moderately tart, firm. Excellent for snacks and salads. They are mostly available in the late season, from November until early summer.

PIPPIN: A green apple, mildly tart, firm. Excellent for all baking and culinary uses.

GRAVESTONE: A tart, juicy red and green apple. Excellent for all culinary and salad uses, except only fair for baking. Fine for snacks.

From the childhood primer that starts out, "A is for apple" to New York City's nickname, The Big Apple, this crisp fruit plays a popular role in our lives. Just as asparagus spells spring, strawberries signal summer and cranberries mean winter, apples equal fall.

Here are some recipes that bring out the goodness in a number of apple varieties, including some that are best served fresh and others cooked or baked.

APPLE BLUE CHEESE SLAW

- 2 Red Delicious apples (about 6 ounces each) cored and thinly cut julienne
- ¼ cup thinly sliced red onion
- ¼ cup each dairy sour cream and mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 ounce crumbled blue cheese
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon sugar
- Salt and pepper

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Combine all ingredients; mix well. For optimum flavor, refrigerate 6 hours or overnight.

Variation: Apple Blue Cheese Slaw may be prepared with Mustard Vinaigrette instead of dairy sour cream and mayonnaise. To prepare Mustard Vinaigrette, combine 3 tablespoons each olive oil and white wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon Dijon mustard; mix well. Yields about ½ cup.

There is an exception to every rule and this recipe is the delicious exception to the general advice not to cook Red Delicious. It combines the flavor of an apple dumpling with an exceptionally easy way to make it.

DELICIOUS APPLE DEEP-DISH DUMPLINGS

- 2 Red Delicious apples (about 6 ounces each), cored and cut into 1½-inch chunks
- 2 tablespoons raisins
- 2 teaspoons each packed brown sugar and butter or margarine
- Pastry for 1-crust (9-inch) pie
- Whipped cream (optional)

Yields 2 servings.

Divide apple and raisins between 2 (2-cups each) shallow baking dishes. Sprinkle with sugar; dot with butter. Cut pastry slightly smaller than top of dish; place on apple mixture. Bake at 450 F 10 to 12 minutes or until pastry is golden. Serve warm and pass whipped cream to top dessert if desired.

GOLDEN PORK STIR-FRY

Vegetable oil

- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- ½ pound lean boneless pork, cut into thin strips
- 2 cups broccoli flowerets
- 1 red or green pepper, vertically sliced into thin strips
- 1 Golden Delicious apple, cored and cut into 16 slices
- 1 quart sliced napa cabbage
- Sweet-and-Sour Cooking Sauce

Yields 4 servings.

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in non-stick skillet. Stir-fry garlic until lightly browned; remove and discard. Add pork and stir-fry until browned; remove from skillet and reserve. Add 1 tablespoon oil to skillet; heat. Add broccoli and pepper; stir-fry about 1 minute. Add apple, pork and cabbage; stir-fry 1 minute longer. Add Sweet and Sour Cooking Sauce; cook and stir until sauce thickens and coats all ingredients.

Sweet-and-Sour Cooking Sauce: Combine 2 tablespoons chicken broth or water; 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1 teaspoon each cornstarch, sugar, grated fresh ginger root, vinegar and ¼ to ½ teaspoon crushed red pepper. Yields about ¼ cup.

GOLDEN STEAMED FISH FILLETS

- 1 onion, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 pound cod or other white-fish fillets
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 Golden Delicious apple, pared, cored and cut into 16 slices
- 1 medium zucchini, cut into ¼-inch slices
- ¼ cup drained, sliced pimiento

Yields 4 servings.

Saute onion and garlic in butter. Place fish fillets on onion; sprinkle with lemon juice, parsley, salt and pepper. Cover and steam about 5 minutes or until fish is almost cooked. Arrange apple, zucchini and pimiento on fish; cover and simmer about 3 to 5 minutes longer or until fish flakes when tested with fork at thickest part. Apple and zucchini should be barely tender.

BUTTERSCOTCH APPLE PIE

- 4 cups (about 1½ pounds or 4 medium) Winesap apples, pared, cored and thinly sliced
- ½ cup packed brown sugar, divided
- Pastry for 1 crust (9-inch) pie
- 2 eggs
- 1½ cups half-and-half
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Dash salt

Yields 8 servings.

Toss apples with ¼ cup brown sugar, arrange in unbaked pie crust. Bake at 375 F 20 minutes or until apples are almost tender. Remove from oven, reduce heat to 350 F and cool while preparing custard.

Beat eggs and remaining brown sugar about 2 minutes or until thickened. Add half-and-half, cornstarch, vanilla and salt; beat well. Pour over apples; gently move apples to evenly distribute custard.

Bake at 350 F 35 to 40 minutes or until apples are tender when tested with a fork. Cover edge of pie with foil the last 15 minutes to prevent overbrowning.

APPLE CINNAMON CAKE

3 eggs
1½ cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cups flour

1 to 2 tablespoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking soda

¼ teaspoon salt
6 medium (about 3 pounds) Newtown Pippin apples, pared, cored and cut into eighths
¼ cup (about 2¼ ounces) coarsely chopped almonds
Sweetened whipped cream or vanilla ice cream

Yields about 12 servings.

Combine eggs, sugar and oil; mix well. Combine flour, cinnamon, baking soda and salt; add to egg mixture and blend thoroughly. Stir in apples and nuts. Spread in greased 8-inch square pan.

Bake at 325 F 75 to 80 minutes or until wooden pick inserted near the center comes out clean. Serve warm with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Tip: Cake may be baked in a greased 13x9x2-inch pan at 350 F 45 to 55 minutes.

against side of bowl. Stir in pumpkin and raisins.

In larger bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Make well in center, pour in pumpkin mixture and stir with wooden spoon for 15 to 20 strokes, or just until no specks of flour remain. Do not overmix.

Spoon into muffin cups and bake in center of preheated oven for 22 to 25 minutes, until muffins are well-risen, golden brown, and a tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or at room temperature. (Can be reheated in 375 F oven for a few minutes. These muffins freeze well for about a month.)

BAKED PUMPKIN

1½ to 2 pounds sugar pumpkin or other winter squash
1 tablespoon butter
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Salt and black pepper to taste
Water

Yields 4 servings.

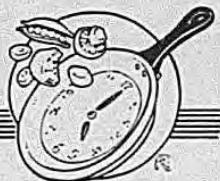

Preparation and cooking time: 15 minutes.

Use heavy knife or cleaver to cut pumpkin or squash into 4 pieces. Scoop out seeds and fibers and arrange in glass baking dish, cut sides up. Place small pieces of butter in cavities and sprinkle with nutmeg, salt and pepper. Pour about ¼ inch of water into bottom of dish.

Cover tightly with plastic wrap and bake in microwave oven for 10 to 12 minutes until almost tender. Turn dish once during cooking. Remove and let stand 2 minutes. Carefully remove plastic wrap and serve.

(Alternatively, bake, covered with foil, in 425 F oven for about 40 minutes until tender.)

Autumn pumpkins

By Melanie Barnard and Brooke Dojny

Once, when Brooke was a budding young cook, she looked at her enormous Halloween pumpkin, thought, "What a waste to just toss this on the compost," and decided to turn it into a pie.

Many hours later, after much arduous cutting, scraping, baking and mashing, she had a couple of quarts of pale yellow, very watery puree that would have made a most tasteless, decidedly undelicious pie!

The hard-won lesson gleaned from this disaster was that commercial pumpkin puree is one of the few canned products that is infinitely better than fresh. The producers use the best varieties of pumpkin, harvest the crop at its peak, process it so that each can is consistent with the next — and then sell it inexpensively.

We cook a lot with pumpkin puree in the fall, using it for moist and flavorful muffins and breads as well as in puddings, custards and pies.

Pumpkin Ginger Muffins, which are a breeze to make, are wonderful for breakfast, but we also love them with simple soup or egg suppers.

We have also learned that when using pumpkin as a cooked vegetable, bigger is most definitely not better. The best pumpkins for eating are the small (under 6 pounds) sugar or sweet pumpkins. Their flesh has a firm, meaty texture, and a deep, rich flavor.

We like to cook pumpkin or any winter squash in the microwave, where it bakes in about a third of the time it takes in a conventional oven, with no detriment to its texture whatsoever. This type of squash goes beautifully with other autumn dishes such as braised pork or chicken dishes.

TIPS

• All winter squashes, with the exception of spaghetti squash, are interchangeable and are cooked in the same manner.

• If the whole pumpkin squash is too large for your family, ask the produce manager to cut it up for you.

PUMPKIN GINGER MUFFINS

1 egg
½ cup brown sugar
½ vegetable oil
¼ cup milk
¾ cup pumpkin puree
¾ cup raisins
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Yields 12 muffins.

Preparation time: 5 minutes.

Baking time: 20 to 25 minutes.

Preheat oven to 400 F. Grease or line 12 muffin cups with paper liners.

In small bowl, whisk egg with sugar, oil and milk. Break up any lumps of brown sugar by pressing

The melting chocolate turned funny

Don't fret, it can be saved.

Here's how to correct "seized" chocolate:

1. When chocolate "seizes," either the temperature was too high, or moisture got into it.
2. Add 1 teaspoon of solid vegetable shortening for each 2 ounces of chocolate. Do not use butter or margarine.
3. Place over low heat and stir until the chocolate melts smoothly.

It's time to inspect the roof

Q. Our home is just a little over 15 years old. It is part of a major development where all the homes are of the same basic construction and age. Recently, several of our neighbors have invested in new roofing.

Although I have not had any serious problems with our asphalt shingle roof, it may be time to consider repair work or reroofing.

How long should the original roofing last, and what should I look for in deterioration that would indicate a new roof is advisable? If we do need new shingles, can these be applied over the existing ones?

A. It is wise to inspect your roof at least twice a year. Problems identified and corrected early can ward off more serious repair work later.

Your inspection should start on the interior of the home. Look for signs of water damage.

Water from roof leaks can travel unseen along beams and rafters into the interior walls. Water damage may result on the ceiling, near the ceiling along walls, or farther down and still be the result of roof leaks.

Inspect the attic, particularly after a hard rain. Use a flashlight to examine the roof sheathing and rafters for wet, darkened or stained wood, which indicate leaks.

On the exterior check the condition of your shingles. A pair of binoculars is helpful. Look for cracked, warped, frayed or missing shingles. Valleys of the roof (where two sloping sections meet) are particularly susceptible to damage and leaks because this is where the heaviest flow of water is carried. Inspect for signs of excessive wear.

Because of safety factors and potential damage to your roofing, it is best not to go onto the roof yourself. Footsteps on roofing shingles can damage their surface and if the roofing is weak it can give way.

If you suspect your roof needs repair or replacement it is best to call a roofing contractor to make the inspection. Many contractors provide free inspection service.

If you do need a new roof, often a second roof can be installed over the original roofing. Usually a third installation is not recommended due to added weight.

Things to look for in a qualified contractor:

- The contractor should be insured so you are not liable for any accident that could occur on your property during the job. The contractor should be bonded and licensed.

- Check references from previous customers. Things to ask should include information on cost factors (Did the contractor meet his bid or charge more for last-minute extras?); efficiency of workmen; was the site cleaning satisfactory after completion? And most important, was the job completed to the customer's satisfaction?

- Get a written guarantee and go over everything concerning the job in writing before you agree to have the work done. It is usually best to get more than one bid.

- Know what work will be performed, what materials will be used, how long the project will take. Get everything in writing. Don't sign a thing until all specifications are written out to your satisfaction. Keep a copy of all paperwork.

- Check the completed job, even if it means going up on the roof with your contractor.

Q. The grout between the tile in our bathrooms has become dingy and gray over the years. I have tried various cleaners, but they have not done a very good job. Do you have any suggestions?

A. To get rid of the soapy film that builds up on bathroom tile, wipe with a solution of 1 part vinegar and 4 parts water. Rinse thoroughly with clean water.

For more stubborn stains apply a solution of ¼ cup household bleach mixed in a gallon of water. Apply with a sponge or brush with a toothbrush. Rinse thoroughly. Some commercial tile cleaners with bleach are K14 or Tilex.

Other methods of removing stains include rubbing the grout with a typewriter eraser, or even lightly sanding the surface of the grout to expose a fresh clean underlayer.

If these methods are unsuccessful, try removing approximately ¼ inch of the surface layer of grout with a grout saw and re-grout over the older layer.

FOR TEENS

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Dr. Abraham: I'm 19 years old, but I've never had a boyfriend and have never been kissed.

I used to like a guy for eight years, but he wasn't a real boyfriend.

When I realized I really liked a new one about three years ago, I almost forgot about the first one. I thought we had something going, more than a friendship. But when I saw him at the mall with another girl, I was lost, hurt, and confused.

A friend of mine called him and asked what was going on. He said he and I were "just friends." But I felt it was more than that.

We stopped talking for a while; then we started talking again, but it was only as "just friends," although everyone says he really likes me a lot.

My problem is this: He still wants to be "just friends." He says he doesn't want to lose or hurt me and wants us to always be together.

I can't stand it anymore. I want more, and I know he does, too. His friends tell me that he's afraid to start something with me.

Is there something wrong with me? Do you think it will ever be more than "just friends"? What can I say to help him realize that being more than friends is OK? — No name,

No name: No, it doesn't sound like anything is wrong with you.

Some people who are like your friend worry about getting too involved. They may wonder what they would do if they ever wanted to get out of the relationship without hurting the other person. So being "just friends" may seem to them like a good way not to be overly involved.

Why not tell him what you told me, that being more than friends is all right. If he still wants the "just friends" arrangement, you could continue with it. It might in time lead to something more, without any pressure from you. I hope so.

Dr. Abraham: Are all boyfriends as demanding as mine is? I hope not, because then there would be a lot of unhappy girls, which is the way I am right now.

Maybe it's good that he wants to spend so much time alone with me, but I don't think it is right for him to come on so strong against my seeing old friends. I've known a lot of them much longer than I've known him.

Don't get me wrong about his being alone with me; it's not for sex or anything like that. It is just that he doesn't ever want anyone else around.

Except for that he is pretty nice, I guess, but don't you think that is just too much? — Jancy,

Jancy: Even if you have a full commitment to each other, his demands seem to be a kind of overkill.

You might tell him that you need and want more space, more freedom to be with your friends and into other involvements. If he stubbornly holds on to the limits he tries to impose on you, that may tell you it is time to think about cutting loose from him.

If you stay on, you're taking a risk of losing relationships that are apparently precious to you. It doesn't sound like you are ready for that. You don't seem to be fond enough of him to consider facing that loss.

Dr. Abraham: I'm only 13 years old, but I've read a lot about how men are interested in sex more than women are. Maybe that's true, but not in my case.

I can't help looking at guys, up and down and in every way I can. It is a kind of obsession with me. It seems to me that I'm looking — and would like to touch — more than I think the guys I'm watching would like to as far as girls are concerned.

Do you think it is because I just became aware of how interesting they are, or what? — Interested, Anywhere

Interested: Neither sex has a monopoly on attitudes toward the other one. And within each sex and age group there is a broad range of feelings and attractions toward the other.

Your age and maturity could be related to the interests you mentioned. Such attitudes aren't limited to sex; they also may occur in connection with other factors that are new and fascinating for a person.

The only time they could be questionable is if they lead to activities that are in some way destructive to the individual involved.

If you limit yourself to "looking," it may not be a negative issue in any way.

Know your rights in terminal illness

Medical technology has advanced to such a degree that natural death may be deferred for hours or days, months or even years through the use of machinery.

Not one of us wants to think about dying, for we should be more concerned about living the fullest, happiest and most successful life here on earth.

But we should be concerned about the extraordinary and costly medical and machine methods that may be used to prolong life, even if we are in a vegetative state, with no hope of recovery.

Because medical practice has assumed, over the years, that life must be prolonged at all cost and implication, organizations and individuals have responded, advocating a person's right to a natural death. They cite both the indignity of the artificial life continuance, and the costs of such procedures.

"Right to die" advocates state that they are not promoting euthanasia — inducing death — but instead insisting that no extraordinary methods should be used just to extend life by artificial means when the condition is unquestionably terminal.

The organizations urge that individuals should have the right of self-determination, and not that everyone should be bound by their recommendations. The proposals have flared into controversy, into legal confrontations, and several times to deliberations by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Determining who has the right or obligation of decision is the center of the debate. Recent Supreme Court decisions appear to support an individual's right to order the withholding of extraordinary methods of life extension, if a proper direction is given, accepted and enacted.

How may someone provide specific direction to medical practitioners for a natural death? How may you, in making your own decision, direct such action — for or against the use of extraordinary methods — when at the times of such emergency you probably will be unable to speak for yourself?

The first legal approach was a "Living Will," a statement given to the personal physician, directing that no extraordinary methods or practice should be used when the only and imminent outcome will be death. Most states accept the Living Will as part of law, but the directive has failed many times.

Medical practitioners, who have personal or professional convictions otherwise, have often refused to follow the Living Will directives. Emergency and paramedic professionals and services are in no way obligated to Living Will provisions, for their mission is, under the extreme pressure of time, to preserve life until they can transport the patient to a hospital. The removal of emergency techniques and procedures, once in place, causes ethical concerns by medical practitioners.

In many cases, family members who knew about the Living Will were still powerless to fulfill the patient's directive, because this particular legal instrument directs only the medical doctor to act, following consultation with other physicians to assure the prognosis.

Another legal instrument has been devised for use instead of or in combination with a Living Will: a Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care. This legal instrument states your specific direction regarding health care, granting legal power to another person to act for you in fulfilling your declared wishes.

A Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care may be limited to the specific direction regarding extraordinary methods of life extension, or may cover broader areas of concern, to be effective at any time you may be incapacitated. Some legal experts advocate this type of instrument for people who want, in the event of any personal incapacitation, to prevent any conservatorship action by other family members.

Preparing and filing a Living Will and/or Durable Power of Attorney may be inexpensive. Here are sources of information:

- American Association of Retired Persons offers a cost-free report, Health Care Powers of Attorney, stock number D-13895. Request the publication by title and stock number from: AARP Fulfillment, 1909 K St. N.W., Washington, DC 20049. Allow six to eight weeks for delivery.

- Society for the Right to Die offers information on both Living Wills and the Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care. Membership contribution is $15 per year, but you may request information and the forms without cost or obligation by writing: Society for the Right to Die, 250 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10107.

The Living Will and Durable Power of Attorney instruments are serious business, and should be considered carefully before any action. Your attorney may be consulted for answers to your questions, and should be specifically sought for counsel if a Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care is to be used to prevent a conservatorship action.

Your pitcher was made between 1912 and 1936

Q. This beautiful antique pitcher is marked "Losol Ware." Can you tell me anything about its origin and value?

A. Losol Ware was made by Keeling & Co. Ltd. in Burslem, England, between 1912 and 1936.

Your pitcher would probably sell for $35 to $45.

Q. The enclosed mark is on the back of a turkey platter. It is decorated with a rural scene of a barnyard with cows and sheep. It is 18 inches long and 12 inches wide.

Can you identify the maker and provide an estimate of its value?

A. Your platter was made by Thomas Wood & Sons in Burslem, England, about 1890.

It would probably sell for about $50 to $60 in good condition.

Q. My Currier & Ives plate is marked "Wm. Adams & Sons Ltd. — England."

Can you tell me when this was made and what it might sell for?

A. Several Currier & Ives scenes were reproduced on earthenware plates made by Adams and other manufacturers during the mid-20th century.

They usually sell for about $25 to $35 each.

Q. I would like to know the origin and value of a 1-quart pitcher decorated with flowers and foliage.

The mark on the bottom is an owl sitting in a crescent moon inside a circle. Over the owl's head is the word "Ivory."

A. The mark you describe was used by the Edwin Bennett Pottery in Baltimore, Md., about 1880. The company was in business from 1846 to 1936.

Your pitcher would probably sell for about $35 to $45 in an antique shop.

Q. Is there any way to determine the maker of my "Rebekah at the Well" teapot? It has no marks on the bottom.

A. Charles Coxon introduced "Rebekah at the Well" to America when he adapted his design from the original by Samuel Alcock & Co. in England.

Coxon's design was produced by the Bennett Pottery in Baltimore in 1852. Since that time similar designs have been made by several manufacturers.

The unmarked version might sell for $65 to $75.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Why cats forsake their litter box

Q. Our favorite cat has quit using the litter box. We have tried changing the kind of litter that we use, but this has not solved the problem.

How can we get her to use the litter box again? Although we have four cats, we do not want to get rid of this cat.

A. One of the most common behavioral problems in cats is not using the litter box. There are many reasons for this very annoying behavior.

Cats are generally very clean animals. Evidence of this is their almost constant grooming. Because of this characteristic cats are usually fussy regarding their litter boxes.

Whenever several cats are kept inside with only one litter box, unpleasant odors usually occur very rapidly. Some cats do not like to use litter boxes that smell bad. Therefore, the problem may be corrected by simply emptying the litter box more frequently or by having individual litter boxes for each cat.

Changing brands of litter causes some cats to quit using the litter box. Cats are creatures of habit. If the new litter does not smell right, the cat may choose not to use the box. Whenever new litter is going to be used it should be mixed gradually into the old litter over a period of time.

Points on Pets

Stress can cause cats to quit using their litter boxes. Stress can take many forms. It can be caused by something as simple as changing the arrangement of furniture in the house. New pets or children added to the household can cause stress in pets.

Keeping litter boxes clean, making only gradual changes in types of litter used, and avoiding stressful situations in the cat's environment will help prevent or correct behavioral problems related to the litter box.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

AUNT TILLY

This past week I went on vacation to a log cabin. The cabin was near the top of a mountain, and we had to carry all our food, water and clothes in backpacks all the way up the hill. They were very heavy. When we got to the top, there was a beautiful view of a valley that made our climb worth it.

The cabin has been at the top of the mountain for many years, and even though it is never locked up, it is clean and neat inside. There are wooden bunks and furniture that have been built by hikers over the years for everyone to enjoy. There was even a notebook on the table for passers-by to write their thoughts in. It is a truly wonderful spot.

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Janna Jachniewicz and Melanie Chambers.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

No Social Security paid for month of death

By William M. Acosta

Q. I am representative payee for someone who receives both a Social Security check and a Supplemental Security Income payment.

Are both checks payable for the month of death? — W.P.

A. A Social Security benefit is not payable for the month a beneficiary dies, even if he or she dies on the last day of the month. Any check received for the month of death must be returned.

An SSI payment is payable for the month in which an SSI recipient dies. Return any SSI checks received after the month the SSI recipient dies.

Q. My sister has been receiving Social Security benefits for herself and her daughter based on her deceased husband's work record. She just received notice that her benefits will stop when her daughter reaches age 16.

Why will the mother's benefit stop when the child reaches age 16? — U.G.

A. Children's benefits were designed to help the family unit during the dependent years of the children. At age 16, children are generally maturing and becoming independent of the parents.

Also, as the children become more able to care for themselves, a mother is freer to seek work rather than staying home to care for the children.

Q. I understand that disabled people are able to deduct certain work expenses from their earnings when they attempt to test their ability to work. Please explain. — C.O.

A. When you work and receive Social Security or Supplemental Security Income disability benefits, certain impairment-related work expenses you pay can be deducted from earnings.

Social Security must approve each deduction and the amount in each case. It does not matter if the item is needed for daily living, such as a wheelchair.

For more information call Social Security and ask about work incentives.

Q. My daughter told me that there has been some recent change in the Medicare law regarding Pap smears. Is this true? — S.G.

A. Yes. As of July 1, 1990, Medicare medical insurance will help pay for the cost of Pap smear screening for early detection of cervical cancer.

Before this new coverage, Medicare paid for Pap smears only for patients who were being treated for certain medical conditions, including certain forms of cancer.

Medicare will pay 80 percent of the approved charge, after the beneficiary meets the usual medical insurance annual deductible ($75 in 1990).
