Special Recognition For Firemen

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta, right, presents check to Jericho Fire Chief Doug Heron, to reimburse the department for services rendered after the January 1990 Avianca Air Disaster in Cove Neck. The Jericho Fire Department was one of several fire departments which provided emergency care during the rescue operation following the air crash. The reimbursement was the result of an agreement between the County and Avianca Airlines, whereby expenses incurred by the County and emergency service units were reimbursed by the airline.

Concert Pops

Library Presents Garden Workshop

On Monday, August 12, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., the Bethpage Public Library will present a workshop with Ronald Enners on fertilizing, nutrients, PH, mowing and watering. He will discuss products and methods as well as pesticides - the good, the bad and the ugly.

The library is located at 47 Powell Avenue, Tel.: 931-3907, two blocks west of Exit #8 on the Seaford-Oyster Bay Expressway, Route #135.

Summer Music For Children

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church located at the corner of Old Country Road and Jerusalem Avenue in Hicksville is offering a Summer Music Program for children between the ages of 8 and 12 under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Soule, Organist and Choir Director. The program will run for two weeks, Monday through Friday, August 12-16 and August 19-23, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the parish auditorium. The objective is to provide children with an entertaining and instructional music program including sight reading, basic characteristics of music notation, music rhythm, meter and improvising through the use of folk music and music games. All materials will be provided for a fee of $15 per week or $25 for the two weeks. Special consideration will be given to families with two or more children. Mr. Soule is especially skilled in the training of children. He is a certified music teacher having graduated from Hofstra University with additional graduate studies at the Kodaly Institute and the Organ School in Swabisch Gmund, Germany.

This should be an exciting program for young children and members of the community are invited to participate. Parents may register their children by calling the Church Office, 931-1920, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 Noon, Monday through Friday.

Book Sale At Library

The Hicksville Public Library has a continuous Book Sale. Stop in and see what is currently being offered on the Book Sale table near the entrance door.

South on Jerusalem Ave. to Old Country Rd.
East on Old Country Rd. to Broadway
North on Broadway to W. John St.
West on W. John St. to Newbridge Rd.
South on Newbridge Rd. to Barclay St.
Parade ends on Barclay St. where Block Party will take place.
Refreshments will be sold at the Block Party.

Local Physicians Open Cardio Care

A group of local physicians have pooled their talent to open a new cardiac rehabilitation center in the Town of Oyster Bay. CARDIOCARE REHAB has opened its doors to patients on Long Island who wish to prevent the progression, re-occurrence or occurrence of heart disease. The program is offered at 890 Old Country Road in Plainview, on the grounds of Central General Hospital. Pictured at the Grand Opening of the Center are, from left to right: Alan Binder, M.D.; Robert D'Avino, M.D.; Stephen Marcellino, M.D.; and Thomas Tedare, M.D. Not shown in the photo are partners William Breen, M.D.; and Richard Maisel, M.D. The Doctors at CARDIOCARE REHAB said patients will not only benefit by the individually prescribed exercise program, but also, through the educational aspects of the program.

SAT Program At Library

On Saturday, September 21, at 2 p.m. the Young Adult Department of the Hicksville Public Library will present an SAT program.

A representative from the Princeton Review will cover such topics as an overview between the SAT and College admissions including a detailed introduction to the way the SAT is constructed. A substantial part of this session will concern strategies for improving verbal and mathematics performance. Admission is free but sign up is limited, so register now at the Library's circulation desk.

Letters

Printed By Request

Dear Chief Wigdzinski:

I wish to thank the Hicksville Fire Department for its voluntary assistance in watering the curb side trees that were recently planted along Broadway in Hicksville.

The private contractor who planted the trees is obligated to maintain the trees one year following the plantings and replace any trees which may succumb to the initial shock of being replanted or this season's weather conditions. The firm has and is expected to continue watering the trees periodically. However, due to the unusually minimal rainfall and high temperatures this summer, these trees appear to require additional watering and we are grateful that the fire department is willing to address this need. Once again, we can count on the Hicksville Fire Department to come to the rescue!

Very truly yours,
Angelo A. Delligatti
Town Supervisor

Design Beautiful

Nails At Library

Nail art and decoration is fast becoming the newest fashion - one that can be enjoyed by pre-teens, teens and women of all ages. However, as anyone who has had this service performed in a studio can attest, it is expensive.

If you want beautiful, fashionable nails but feel the cost is prohibitive, join us at the Bethpage Public Library on Tuesday, August 20, 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. You will meet Antoinette Brennan, a certified nail instructor who will teach you how to apply the various techniques of nail art to your own nails for a fraction of the cost.

The workshop includes instruction, demonstration and hands-on practice in the proper application of the many materials, such as glitter, lace and gemstones, which can be used in creating beautiful nail designs. It is limited to twenty participants. So sign-up as soon as possible at the adult Reference Desk. A fee of $5 to cover materials is requested when you register.

Youth Council Needs Your Help

By now you are probably aware of the woes of the Hicksville Youth Council. If you have not heard, we have come under the ax of the State Budget cuts. We are looking at a 20% cut in our state aid. This means that we are faced with finding alternative funding in the amount of approximately $33,000.

To try to deal with this deficit we have gotten together with a group of concerned citizens and have formed a "Save The Hicksville Youth Council Fund Raising Committee." The first event that we are planning is a "Save The Hicksville Youth Council Weekend." This will consist of a Fair/Garage Sale/Bake Sale, which will be held on Saturday, in the Beacon Federal Savings Bank parking lot on the corner of Old Country Rd. and Division Ave. in Hicksville. The hours will be from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. We will be constructing the booths and games ourselves and are in need of supplies and talented people to help us construct them. If you can assist us in any way please call us at 822-KIDS.

On Sunday, August 18, we will be holding a giant Outdoor Flea Market on the Hicksville High School Soccer Field facing Newbridge Rd. The hours of the market will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

We are also accepting donations to our garage sale and to our bake sale. If you are interested in saving your Hicksville Youth Council please call us at 822-KIDS.

HBA All Stars News Update

The Hicksville Boys 10 year old All-Stars are having a fantastic season, after 11 games they are still undefeated.

7/22 this impressive team faced off against Plainview with a 18-5 victory.

The pitching was superb. Brian Boyle had the saving coming in in the last inning to strike out the final 3 batters 1-2-3.

The outfielders Peter Martin, Joey Caruso, and Adam Geslak did a great job making some difficult plays. We also had solid infielding with Anthony Vernace, Brian Boyle, Tommy Kessler, Chris Swier and Kevin Soper.

Batting was strong with Brian Boyle going 2-3 with a tremendous home run, Kevin Soper going 3-3, Adam Geslak 3-3, with a triple, Peter Martin going 2-2 and Joey Caruso 2-2 with a double.

The next conquest was against an aggressive Freeport team-final score 11-3 on 7/24.

Rob Normile and Anthony Vernace pitched an incredible game with 11 strikeouts and only 1 walk between them.

Keith Engelhardt and Chris Cannizaro did a solid job as catchers.

The team combined for 15 hits with Greg Economou going 2-2 with a double and Rob Normile 2-2 with a homerun and a double.

The next game was on 7/25 against a strong Levittown team. Kevin Soper and Tommy Kessler came into pitch and were relentless with 10 strikeouts and only 2 hits.

Again strong fielding by this Hicksville team prevailed with some heads up fielding by Eddie Eicholz, Greg Economou and Peter Martin.

The batting was awesome with a combined team batting average of .679. Kevin Soper went 3 for 3, Joey Caruso 3 for 3 with a double, Anthony Vernace 3 for 3 with 2 doubles, Keith Engelhardt 3 for 4, Christ Cannizaro 2 for 3, Brian Boyle 2 for 3 with a double and Adam Geslak 2 for 2.

One of the most exciting games of the season was played against an unyielding Bethpage team on 7/27, with a final score of 2-1.

This Hicksville team just won't quit - down 1-0 until the 5th came back with Kevin Soper driving in the first run and in the 6th Keith Engelhardt drove in the winning RBI.

The fielding was excellent with no errors.

These Hicksville All-Stars definitely showed what they're made of with a fantastic come from behind victory on 7/28 against a very imposing Roslyn All-Star team.

Hicksville was down 3-0 in the sixth when Adam Geslak led off with a powerful single, Peter Martin then hit a driving double, Eddie Eicholz walked, Keith Engelhardt slammed a single driving in both Adam and Peter. Brian Boyle smashed a double sending Keith to third. Tension mounted as Tommy Kessler came up to bat. Tommy walked and with excellent baserunning caused Roslyn to make some overthrows sending Keith, Brian and Tommy home to win the game.

Fielding was super with a great catch by Chris Swier at second and an unbelievable game-saving catch by Tommy Kessler!

Great game Hicksville - Keep up the good work!

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, at a meeting held on July 23, 1991, duly adopted the resolution published herewith subject to a permissive referendum.

Dated: Oyster Bay, New York

July 23, 1991
Carl L. Marcellino, Town Clerk
Resolution No. 690A, 1991
Bond Resolution Dated July 23, 1991.

A Resolution Authorizing the issuance of $1,300,000 Serial Bonds of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York and the appropriation and expenditure of $200,000 current funds of said Town to pay the cost of the acquisition of approximately 2.16 acres of land located in the Oyster Bay Harbor for general Town purposes of and for said Town.

WHEREAS, all conditions precedent to the financing of the capital project hereinafter described, including compliance with the provisions of the State Environmental Quality Review Act, have been performed; and

WHEREAS, it is now desired to authorize the financing of such capital project; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. For the specific object or purpose of paying part of the cost of the acquisition of approximately 2.16 acres of land located in the Oyster Bay Harbor for general Town purposes of and for the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, there are hereby authorized to be issued $1,300,000 serial bonds of said Town pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 2. It is hereby determined that the maximum estimated cost of such specific object or purpose is $1,500,000 and that the plan for the financing thereof is as follows:

a) By the issuance of the $1,300,000 serial bonds of said Town authorized to be issued pursuant to this bond resolution.

Further details concerning said bonds will be prescribed in a further resolution or resolutions of this Town Board; and

b) By the expenditure of $200,000 current funds of said Town which monies are hereby appropriated thereto.

Section 3. It is hereby further determined that the period of probable usefulness of the aforesaid specific object or purpose is thirty years, pursuant to subdivision 21(a) of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law. It is hereby further determined that the maximum maturity of the serial bonds herein authorized will exceed five years.

Section 4. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance

Law, the power to authorize the issuance of and to sell bond anticipation notes in anticipation of the issuance and sale of the serial bonds herein authorized, including renewals of such notes, is hereby delegated to the Supervisor, the chief fiscal officer. Such notes shall be of such terms, form and contents, and shall be sold in such manner, as may be prescribed by said Supervisor, consistent with the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 5. The faith and credit of said Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such obligations as the same respectively became due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such obligations becoming due and payable in such year.

Section 6. The validity of such bonds and bond anticipation notes may be contested only if:

- 1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said Town is not authorized to expend money,
- 2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or
- 3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 7. Upon this resolution taking effect, the same shall be published in full in Massapequa Post, Mid Island Times, Syosset/Jericho Tribune, and Oyster Bay Guardian, the official newspaper, together with a notice of the Town Clerk in substantially the form provided in Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 8. This resolution is adopted subject to permissive referendum.

Dr. Leonard S. Weiss

Leonard S. Weiss, M.D., an orthopedic surgeon who resides in Woodbury, has been selected president of the 2,400-member Nassau County Medical Society. During his one-year term of office, Dr. Weiss wants to see more of the younger members assume roles of leadership in the society. He will also work to establish a stronger liaison between the society and state and federal legislators.

To complement this goal, Dr. Weiss says, "The public should have a better understanding of the complexities of the current health care delivery system, and the pros and cons of the many changes which are coming in the future. This knowledge will promote improved access and quality of care for everyone."

Dr. Weiss has practiced medicine in Levittown for 25 years. He is Chief of Orthopedic Surgery at Mid Island Hospital in Bethpage, and is an Attending Orthopedic Surgeon at Central General Hospital in Plainview. He is an Assistant Clinical Professor of Surgery at SUNY Stony Brook, and is Co-Chief of Spinal Surgery at Nassau County Medical Center. He is also affiliated with Winthrop University Hospital.

Receiving his medical degree from Washington University in 1957, Dr. Weiss took his internship and surgical residency at Upstate Medical Center. His orthopedic residency was at Western Reserve University Hospital. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, and a member of the Scoliosis Research Society. Dr. Weiss is a frequent visitor to local junior and senior high schools, where he has conducted courses for nurse-teachers in scoliosis screening.

He and his wife Gloria reside in Woodbury, and have three children. Carl, an orthopedic surgeon, is in practice with his father. Lauren is a PhD candidate and Meryl is a college student.

College Notes

Nancy A. Strayhan, a graduate of the University of Rochester with a degree in music, has been named to the Dean's List for academic achievement.

She is a graduate of Syosset High School.

A performance by singer Mary Mancini and accordionist Mario Tacca will highlight the fifth week of "Music Under the Stars" programs for Bethpage Community Park District residents, according to Town Councilman Leonard Kunzig.

The program will be held at the community park on Thursday, August 8, beginning at 8:15 p.m. In the event of rain, the performance will take place in the auditorium of Bethpage High School, Cherry and Stewart Avenues.

"Mary Mancini, who bills herself as a vocal artist, is equally at home performing opera, pop, Broadway and international music in seven languages," Councilman Kunzig stated. "With accordionist Mario Tacca, she has appeared at concert halls, hotels and clubs throughout the metropolitan area and recently completed a seven week tour of Italy."

Councilman Kunzig noted that the "Music Under the Stars" series is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community and Youth Services.

Applications Now For Relay Race

The deadline for submitting applications to enter the sixth annual Spiegel Associates Ocean To Sound Relay, the country's largest and most prestigious relay running event, has been set for August 23, it was announced by Arthur Sanders, president of Spiegel Associates.

Net proceeds from this Long Island-based 50-mile race, to be held on Sunday, September 22 will be donated to the Aspire Program for the rehabilitation of young amputees. The event features squads consisting of eight members who each will run between five and nine miles.

This year, the Spiegel Associates Ocean to Sound Relay Race will be offering the highest amount of prize money since its inception in 1986 - $7,000 - $2,500 going to the first place men's team, $2,500 to the first place women's team, $1,000 to the first place men's masters team and $1,000 to the first place women's masters team. The relay race, open to men, women and children, will include competition in seven team divisions: Men's Open, Women's Open, Men's Masters, Women's Masters, Mixed (minimum of four women), Corporate and Physically Challenged.

The relay will start at 8 a.m. in Wantagh Park on Nassau County's South Shore by the Atlantic Ocean. The course will travel a scenic path through the countryside of Long Island, meeting the Long Island Sound at Cold Spring Harbor, Lloyd Harbor and Oyster Bay. The race will continue towards central Nassau County and will finish on the track at the Mitchel Field Athletic Complex in Uniondale.

Patterned after the Edinburgh-to-Glasgow Road Relay in Scotland, previous Spiegel Associates Ocean to Sound Relay Races have attracted teams from all parts of the Northeast. The entry fee of $220 per team includes a gala post-race buffet dinner with dancing at the Salisbury Restaurant in Eisenhower Park and a special commemorative T-shirt. Trophies also will be awarded to the top three teams in each category. Race booklets will be sent to each team captain on or after August 1 (and thereafter on receipt of entry).

Spiegel Associates, the race's principal sponsor, has been one of Long Island's most prominent real estate acquisition, development and management firms for more than 40 years. Net proceeds from the race will be donated to "Aspire," the special program that has been set up in conjunction with Memorial Sloan Kettering and The Hospital for Special Surgery for young amputees. "Despite the economic downturn, Spiegel Associates still is dedicated to continue its involvement and association with this running event which will help provide many young amputees who live and work on Long Island with essential prosthetic devices, physical therapy and rehabilitation," stated Sanders.

The Relay will be conducted under the direction of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club, with Alan End serving as the Relay Director.

For more information, runners should call Alan End at 735-0981.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Should the name of the accused as well as the victim in sex cases be withheld?

"Isn't this wonderful? They've started separating trash here at the Supreme Court."

Call 931-0027

HOURS

•One subject to a caller per week•

Simply dial 931-0027 - 24 Hours a Day and follow these simple rules:

1. Wait for the beep.
2. Confine your INPUT to one subject.
3. Limit your opinion to five minutes (make notes before calling)
4. Leave your name and telephone, or simply use a pen name (your message can be anonymous)
5. Publishers reserve the right to edit, modify or omit any and all material.

Input Callers Divided On Thomas Issue

Callers to Input were divided in their answers on Judge Thomas in answer to this question: "Should Judge Clarence Thomas have to give his stand on abortion in order to be confirmed to the Supreme Court?" Here are some of the answers:

NO SINGLE QUESTION

No. This single question has little to do with whether he meets the Constitutional requirements to be a Supreme Court Judge. What we should be interested in is how qualified he is to render decisions on evidence as presented to the court not on his personal opinions on any subject. To ask a candidate for the judgeship to pre-judge a question is completely out of the realm of what the Senate committee is supposed to do. N.F.

HIS REASONING

While it is unusual to ask a candidate for the Supreme Court about specific opinions on any subject, the abortion issue is one that perhaps would show his entire process of reasoning on Constitutional matters. The abortion issue is one that covers privacy and respect for individual beliefs. If Judge Thomas gives an answer on his beliefs he should also be pressed to explain the reasoning process he uses to come by those beliefs. In that we could better understand whether he is a good candidate for the Judgeship. M.F.

POLITICAL COURT

Unfortunately the Supreme Court has now become mired down in political beliefs. So now we are talking of balancing the court and pre-empting any decisions to be made. If we put people in on their predisposed beliefs and then expect them to react always along those lines, then we won't need a court to hear evidence anymore. The abortion issue is only one issue. It should not be a reason to disqualify someone because they do not agree with a position. We lost Bork in this foolish way and he was well qualified for the job. If we keep on throwing out people who cannot muster enough political votes, then we will have a light weight court. F.H.

SHOULD BE QUESTIONED

Before considering whether Judge Clarence Thomas should be questioned on his opinion on abortion, certain facts should be acknowledged, namely: 1. Women throughout the centuries have resorted to abortion for unwanted babies, and legally or illegally, women will continue this practice. 2. While most women personally would not choose to have an abortion, polls indicate that the overwhelming majority of women do approve of the right of women to choose abortion. 3. Since the Supreme Court legalized abortion, this has become not only an emotional issue but a political issue. Thus the Reagan-Bush administrations for personal reasons have undertaken the task of changing the character of the Supreme Court by appointing judges who will definitely overturn Roe vs. Wade. Therefore it is up to the Senate, based on the opinion of their constituents, to question Judge Clarence Thomas as to his stand on abortion, and to vote accordingly. C.K.

ALL ISSUES

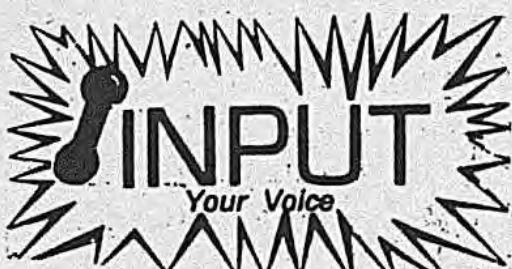

I believe that if the nominee has to give his stand on abortion in order to be nominated to the Supreme Court, the person should have to give his stand on every other issue that might come before the bench. J.A.

SHOULD NOT ANSWER

Unfortunately I believe that Judge Thomas will be asked to give his specific views on abortion and it is possible that many people who are for abortion will be instrumental in having him disqualified. This is the last stand you would expect for so-called liberals to have, but I believe they will try to pull it off. No. He should not be asked and should not answer if asked. I.V.

SHOULDN'T TAKE A STAND

I see no reason why Judge Clarence Thomas should have to announce his stand on abortion in advance in order to be confirmed to the Supreme Court. What this would amount to is that those even less qualified than he would be sitting in judgment on his qualification to sit on the Supreme Court. I believe that over the years, Presidential nominees to the Supreme Court have justified the faith of the public in the wisdom and good judgment of the Nation's most responsible representative in this extremely critical appointment and that this candidate will do his utmost to arrive at objective decisions on the highly divisive question of abortion as well as the vast number of sensitive issues facing this tribunal in the months ahead. P.G.S.

Going To College: A New Beginning

By SSG Paul C. McDermott

Strains of the Cornell Alma Mater filtered through my mind as I entered the office of the Registrar at St. John's University. I was registering for the Fall semester, and to say that I was nervous was putting it mildly. Here I was in the hallowed halls of learning, from whence have come lawyers, doctors, and such. Moreover, this is the home of the legendary "Redmen."

My college educated wife and son have stood at the forefront of this campaign to have me obtain my degree.

Being a Nam Vet, and a Reservist, I have numerous educational benefits that I have never had time for.

Yet I aspire to be a writer. Those in authoritative positions, having examined my work, assured me that the potential is there with these words, "Return to school, Paul. Get the training and polish you need."

I have instituted proceedings to claim my rights under the GI bill. Moreover, my loving wife has made special financial arrangements to assist me with college expenses. My family was there to help me through the often difficult college SAT. With their help, I achieved the level of acceptance required by this revered University.

At the student admissions office I am summoned into the presence of a scholarly looking man with gray hair, glasses, and that look of educated distinction.

He extends his hand, smiling. "Good afternoon, Paul. Have a seat, and welcome to St. John's."

Before him on the desk lies the story of my life. My High School diploma, transcripts from Adult Ed. courses I've taken, a resume of my twenty-one years with the Town of North Hempstead, and a copy of my military record.

"Some of this can be converted into college credits," he says optimistically. "Perhaps we can award you as many as twelve credits. I must warn you, however, the curriculum here is hard, and requires dedication. Study and perseverance are paramount if you hope to achieve your goal. He examines the registration card containing my course selections: English Composition, and English Lit.. "Very good," he replies, smiling. "You'll need more than English, Paul. Perhaps a Math to start the ball rolling in September."

I've always been a fan of the Redmen," I say brightly.

He leans back in his chair smiling. "There are plenty of activities to peak your interest, Paul. Being a Military man, I am certain that our ROTC program would surely benefit from your expertise. The varsity basketball team is only for our full time students, and a 'B' average is mandatory. Besides," he says, smiling, "you're too old."

The interview concludes with the setting of my fall schedule. I will take an English Composition and a Math course to start.

I spend yet another hour at the Bursar's office at which time I arrange to use the GI bill. Then I am counseled on other financial options open to me.

Before going home, I tour the majestic campus of this respected university, stopping to talk to the many students, both young and old. In September I would be one of them.

I have no idea what lies ahead, yet I feel that I am taking a positive step in the right direction. As I walk I feel a certain kindred toward the great names of literature. Men like Hemingway, Faulkner, and the immortal Poe. Perhaps some day I will measure up. Perhaps some day I will know the glory that was theirs.

Most certainly I am beginning that journey toward the realization of my dreams.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Paul C. McDermott lives in New Hyde Park and Ft. Totten. This is the first time he has submitted work for publication, although he has been writing for five years, mostly fiction, poetry and essays.

By profession, he is a soldier and a Vietnam veteran. "I have tried to write about my wartime experience," he says, "only to get bogged down in a quagmire of conflicting emotions."

Maybe someday he will be able to tell about Vietnam and in so doing come to terms with his own past.

KITCHEN KIDS

By Rena Coyle

Ice cream or frozen yogurt has a special way of finishing off a hot sticky day. When scooping these frozen desserts at home, top them off with a homemade sauce to add an extra dimension to the evening's treat.

Ice cream toppings are often bought in jars, then heated. But a homemade topping adds a richness to the sauce that can't be found in any jar. Your family will be surprised to find just how easy it is to prepare ice cream toppings at home. It also is a great way to add a touch of homespun family time back into the evening ice cream ritual.

Whether your kids choose to make butterscotch, hot fudge or chocolate sauce at home, be sure that an adult makes the recipe with them for the first time. Each step is simple and very quick to do, but there are a few steps with in these recipes that require an adult's help, particularly when the two pots of the double boiler need to be separated or removed from the stove completely.

If there is any ice cream sauce left over after all the sundaes have been made, put the remaining sauce in an airtight container and refrigerate. Then there will be sauce already made for the next time your kids have the urge to top off their ice cream.

OLD-FASHIONED HOT FUDGE

2 ounces semisweet chocolate
½ cup heavy cream
½ cup light corn syrup
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Utensils: Double boiler, measuring cups and spoons, mixing spoon, cutting board, knife.

Yields about ¾ cup.

Preparation time: 15 minutes.

Cooking time: 15 minutes.

Place chocolate on cutting board and carefully, using the knife, chop chocolate into smaller pieces. Put chocolate in top pot of double boiler.

Add heavy cream and corn syrup to pot and set it aside. Fill bottom pot of double boiler half full of water. Place it on stove and turn heat on medium high. Set top pot over bottom and let chocolate melt. This should take about 10 minutes. Give chocolate mixture a stir now and again until it is well-blended.

Once blended, turn heat off and put oven mitts on. Carefully remove top pot and add butter. Blend into chocolate mixture. Set pot aside. Put bottom pot on heat-proof surface. Let fudge sauce cool for a few minutes, but serve while it is warm. It will thicken once it is cooled.

READER RATINGS

Q. I do not understand why American restaurants continue to use French wording on their menus. Not long ago I ate in a place where various dishes were described as "a l'Espagnole", "a la Grecque" and "a l'Anglaise". Telling diners that the foods were prepared in the Spanish or Greek or English manner was not very helpful!

A. French cuisine is considered by many people to be the best in the world so it is not surprising that many terms dealing with food preparations are derived from the French!

Your waiter would have been pleased to inform you that a dish served "a l'Espagnole" is combined with tomatoes, onions and olives. One which is "a la Grecque" has a sauce of olive oil, lemon, spices and peppercorns. Anything served "a l'Anglaise" is boiled.

Don't be intimidated by French (or Italian, German etc.) expressions in menus. Those terms are not difficult to master and after a time you will begin to see they are a useful "shorthand" for the diner, telling him about methods of food preparation and ingredients.

If Your Restaurant is First Rate,
We have a message for you.

Each week Litmor Newspapers presents a select dining guide called Reader Ratings to its readers. The guide presents the messages of outstanding restaurants in this area and it also is a forum for readers to tell other readers about why they like certain restaurants.

Reader Ratings, although it is read by up to 100,000 readers is an inexpensive way to meet the public and have the public meet you. Throughout many years, Reader Ratings has helped build loyal followings for some of the best restaurants in the area.

If your restaurant qualifies as a leader in the area we want to talk to you about being included in our guide. The cost is nominal and the results can be great.

KITCHEN HINTS

You're suddenly going away

A dozen eggs sit in the refrigerator.

Here's the way to preserve them:

1. Break eggs into bowl; pierce yolks with a fork. Slowly stir to mix whites and yolks. Do not beat. Air bubbles would cause eggs to dry.
2. To stabilize texture, add $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt or sugar to each cup. Freeze.
3. The mixture can also be frozen in ice cube trays, then unmolded.

READER RATINGS

We have a truly great restaurant in Mineola, The Executive, on Mineola Boulevard. If you have not been there then I heartily recommend it. We were there a few nights ago and enjoyed a fabulous lobster dinner with linguine. My mouth waters just thinking about it.

You will enjoy the food, the warm, friendly atmosphere, and most of all you will be made welcome by Mr. Pavlovich or his son, Michael. The service is excellent, very attentive, and the prices are modest. We have been patronizing this fine restaurant for years, and I feel once you have dined there, you will plan a return visit.

H.E.

UNIQUE MENU

Monday night we dined at The Orchid Chinese Restaurant on Franklin Avenue in Garden City. We were delighted with this restaurant and heartily endorse it.

The ambience was both beautiful and restful with soft background music, and very attentive service.

It was by far the best Chinese food that we have ever tasted. The menu was unique and deliciously different. We chose two of the Jumbo Shrimp entrees which were superb. Looking over the interesting menu it was difficult to make a choice. Our remedy will be to make a return visit very soon. Incidentally they are open for lunch as well as dinner. We are pleased to have such a fine restaurant at practically our back door. E.E.

NICE PLACE

Bononi's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers. J.F.

YOU CAN BE A RESTAURANT CRITIC

Guide to Good Dining

MICROWAVE MAGIC

By Desiree Vives

Summer fruit goes skinny-dipping

Fresh summer fruits are yummy in fruit salads, pies, cobblers, compotes — and of course they're great to eat au naturel, with no other embellishment.

One easy way to dress up plain fruit that's sure to bring oohs and ahs is to accompany fruit with a microwaved fondue or dip. This makes an especially nice treat on those steamy days when you don't want to heat up the kitchen, or yourself, with a complicated dessert.

Cut larger-size fruit into bite-size chunks, or use a melon baller for melons. Smaller fruits, like strawberries, need no preparation beyond washing. Arrange fruit in a pretty bowl or on a serving platter. Make sure everyone gets a skewer; bamboo or small metal ones work fine, as do dessert forks and even toothpicks.

Almost any combination of fruits will do, as long as you aim for a variety of flavors, textures and colors: pineapple, strawberries, raspberries, bananas, melon, apples, mangoes, papayas, pitted cherries, grapes, sliced kiwifruit, nectarines and peaches — whatever you fancy.

Depending on the type of dip you serve, you might also include bite-size cubes of a firm cake — pound cake and angel food cake work well — that won't crumble into pieces in the dip.

Like cheese fondue, chocolate fondue melts smoothly when microwaved, doesn't burn and can be easily and quickly reheated whenever necessary. Microwave chocolate and butterscotch fondues in a container suitable for serving. If fondue becomes too firm, simply return to microwave for 30 seconds at MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power) setting, repeating if necessary. (Avoid overcooking, since this can make chocolate grainy.)

Chocolate-tipped strawberries make an attractive garnish for cakes, pies, puddings, ice cream and other desserts. And they're so easy to make in your microwave. Just select 1 pint of perfect strawberries with stems on; rinse thoroughly and set aside to drain.

In a 1-quart microwave-safe casserole melt 1 cup semisweet chocolate chips with 1 tablespoon vegetable shortening at MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power) setting 1 to 2 minutes (watch carefully). Stir well to smooth.

Dip strawberries into melted chocolate to coat all but stem end. Let cool on wax paper and refrigerate until ready to serve. (Or use chocolate to dip bite-size chunks of banana. Roll in chopped toasted almonds, then freeze. Kids love them.)

A hollowed-out pineapple makes a pretty container for cold or non-cooked dips, like Tropical Cream Fruit Dip. Mound dip into one end of pineapple and fill remainder with fruit. Decorate with sprigs of fresh mint and maraschino cherry halves for a special presentation.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK:

Fats and sugars absorb microwave energy easily and can reach high temperatures very quickly, so they cook faster than low-fat, low-sugar foods. Watch sweet fondues carefully to avoid overcooking.

TROPICAL CREAM FRUIT DIP

- 1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
- ½ cup powdered sugar
- 4 tablespoons frozen pineapple or tropical juice concentrate
- 1 tablespoon rum or brandy (optional)
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 3½ cups (8 ounces) whipped topping
- Fresh mint leaves and maraschino cherries

Yields 10 to 12 servings.

Preparation time: 5 to 10 minutes.

Cooking time: 1 to 2 minutes.

Oven setting: MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power).

Unwrap cream cheese and place in a 1½ quart microwave-safe container. Microwave 1 to 2 minutes, or until cream cheese is softened. With electric beater beat in powdered sugar, concentrate, rum and vanilla. Fold in whipped topping, transfer to serving bowl, and cover tightly with plastic wrap.

Chill at least 1 hour before serving. Garnish with fresh mint leaves and maraschino cherries and serve with assorted fresh fruits.

SIMPLE BUTTERSCOTCH FONDUE

- 1 (6-ounce) package butterscotch chips
- ½ cup whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon rum (optional)

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Cooking time: 2 to 4 minutes.

Preparation time: 5 minutes.

Oven setting: MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power)

Combine all ingredients except rum in a 1-quart microwave-safe casserole. Microwave 2 to 4 minutes, stirring every minute, until butterscotch chips are melted. Beat in rum. Serve immediately with an assortment of fresh fruits.

FOR TEENS

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Dr. Abraham: Last summer I met a guy from Ireland. We had a girl stay with us from there, too. We were all involved in the Ulster Project.

It was love at first sight for me, and I finally got him to notice me. Two weeks before he went home, we really started to talk. It was very hard on both of us when he left.

It has been a year since I've seen him, but we wrote, called, and sent pictures of each other.

My sister went to Ireland to visit Clare (my Irish "sister"). He was to give my sister something to give me, but he said he forgot. It hurt me very badly because I really love him. I'm only 14 and he's 17, but everyone tells me he does care.

What should I do, forget him or write and ask what happened? He's coming back to Ohio next summer to see me and his friends.

We're also of two different religions. — Torn Between Two Countries, Ohio

Torn: Why not keep the correspondence going by writing to him, but not asking "what happened?" By next summer you will have had a continuing relationship with him through your letters, and will then have a chance to talk about a lot of things. What is on your mind now may not be later on. A pleasant exchange of letters sounds like the way to help keep the relationship alive.

Two years is a long time in most people's lives, especially for teens, so cling to the hope that he will continue to feel the same way that you do.

Dr. Abraham: I'm having trouble with boys, especially one of them. I had a boyfriend who lives in another town not far away. We had been together for one year, three months and three weeks.

I really want him back. I'm hard-of-hearing and he is, too. We both go to the Illinois School for the Deaf.

I love him very much. It just seems that I can't get my mind off him. I wrote a letter to him, but he didn't write back. I miss him, and don't know what to do. — Courtney, Marseilles, Ill.

Courtney: If he is back in school with you this fall, you will probably be able to tell whether your relationship is really "on" or "off" by the way he talks to and acts toward you.

If it is "off," it's better for you to look in other directions. It won't be easy for you to put him out of your mind, but time has a way of helping along.

Dr. Abraham: I just turned 15, and I asked my parents if I could talk to guys on the phone. They said, "No," but that isn't fair. Most of them are just friends, and I don't see why I can't.

They say I'm too young to talk to guys on the phone, but all my friends do. I feel like I'm the only person at my school and among my friends who can't.

Why don't they understand that I'm growing up and need to do more things? Like I can't date at all till I'm 16. Now that isn't fair either. I don't understand why they won't let me. Don't they love me or trust me enough to use my best judgment on my life? It seems like I'm being punished for something I did, but what is it?

They say I'll have plenty of time to date when I'm 16, but I don't want to wait that long. Then they say all the other kids in the family obeyed these rules, and so should I. That was like 10 years ago, so maybe the rules need to be altered a little.

Why can't they let me talk on the phone with guys and go places with them as long as one of our parents takes us and picks us up, and save car dates for me till I'm 16?

Are my parents right? Am I right?

We always fight, no matter what the topic is. I'm so confused that I cry every time I have a fight with my parents. — Desperately in Need of Help, East Liverpool, Ohio

Desperately: The kind of conflict you are involved in with your parents seems to be among the most common parent/teen differences of opinion that I hear about from people your age.

It isn't a matter of their not loving or trusting you.

Their concerns are probably based on love, although sometimes it doesn't look like they are. It is more a matter of communication.

There is a great need for a calm conversation and exchange of ideas in situations like these. Sometimes a teen and his or her parents can manage to handle the communication between them without outside help. In other families a school counselor or someone else who is respected by all of you may be helpful.

Please write again and let me know how you're getting along. Incidentally, it may help if your parents see your letter and my reply. They will probably get a feeling of how much you are hurting.

Cooking Corner

Rivalry provides chicken contest sizzle

By Linda Susan Dudley

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — There was a cross-country rivalry at the May 16 National Chicken Cooking Contest.

The heat was on between San Diego contestant Kimberly Craig, 26, and the contestant from Chicago, Ill., Steven Craig, only five days her junior. The Chicago Craig is the brother-in-law of the San Diego Craig. (She's married to his brother, Doug, a 28-year-old Navy pilot.) Confused? Read on.

All started last year when Steven Craig called his sister-in-law out West to tell her he was going to enter the chicken cook-off. (Cooks send in recipes and one winner is selected from each state and the District of Columbia.)

Neither home cook had ever entered a cooking contest before. He challenged Kimberly to enter, too. She did.

In January, Steven heard he had been picked as a finalist. He called Kimberly to gloat.

"Since I hadn't heard anything, I assumed I was out of it," Kimberly said as she prepared her dish in the cook-off. It wasn't until a month later that contest officials called Kimberly to tell her she, too, was in the competition.

During the cook-off at the Statehouse Convention Center here, both Craig contestants were media darlings. Steven showed up on television news that night, and Kimberly's photo was featured in the Arkansas Gazette the next morning.

At the cook-off, each finalist, working in his or her own minikitchen, had to prepare the recipe twice, once for a panel of judges and a second time for display.

Kimberly was the only finalist using a microwave oven for her preparation. The recipe that won her the California title, Basil Rice Stuffed Chicken, calls for a whole, roasted chicken with a basil- and tomato-flavored rice stuffing.

Steven prepared leg-thigh combinations, stuffed with pesto and dressed with a honey mustard dipping sauce.

At the awards banquet in the Excelsior Hotel, cook-off headquarters, Kimberly and Steven ate dinner surrounded by family and fellow contestants. As the grand prize winner was announced, they clutched hands. That award, $25,000, went to Ohio contestant Judith Markiewicz. Then they announced second place, a $5,000 award.

"Illinois finalist Steven Craig."

More winners followed but Kimberly didn't place.

Later, at a press conference, Steven called Kimberly forward to announce she would, indeed, be a winner, of sorts. He said he would split the winnings with her.

This was the first year the grand prize was raised from $10,000 to $25,000. The next biennial chicken cook-off will be held in 1993 in Richmond, Va. The contest is sponsored by the National Broiler Council, the trade association for the U.S. chicken-processing industry. It is one of the nation's oldest competitions, dating back to 1919.

This year, the ages of the finalists ranged from 22 to 83. Seven were men.

Nine of the finalists had competed in the cooking contest before. And then there was the Texas cook who won $1,000 and fifth place on her fourth try behind a finalist's range.

Surprisingly, four of the five winning recipes call for dark-meat chicken or a mixture of dark- and light-meat chicken. White-meat chicken breasts are the favorite chicken part for consumers, according to a new survey on American chicken-eating practices conducted by the Gallup organization.

Results of the study were released to editors covering the 39th National Chicken Cooking Contest here earlier this month.

Information gained this year also was compared with statistics from a similar survey conducted in 1983 and there were differences but not too many surprises.

For example, consumers in the West use more herbs and garlic on their chicken. And — unlike the rest of the country — its low price is not a prime reason for buying it.

In 1983 fried was the most popular way chicken was prepared in this country. Today, baked is the most popular cooking method; followed by grilled; in a casserole; or mixed with vegetables, rice or pasta; broiled; and then, fried in fifth place.

In the West, however, cooks also stir-fried chicken as a regular cooking method — more so than any other part of the country.

The public opinion survey was also sponsored by the National Broiler Council and McCormick & Co., the spice company. The poll has a margin for error of plus-or-minus 3.1 percent.

Respondents in 1,004 households picked at random were surveyed.

In fact, Scott S. Ahlstrand, professional analyst for Gallup's Nebraska-based research group, called the changes in American eating habits since 1983 "a dramatic shift."

He added: "Americans are the most aware consumers. They have more of a heightened level of awareness of any country in the world at any time in history."

In 1983, 4 percent of consumers reported serving chicken four or more times per week, but that figure was up to 10 percent in 1991. This year 77 percent of those surveyed said they usually had chicken prepared in their household at least once a week. Almost half — 49 percent — said they had chicken prepared in their homes usually two or more times a week.

While chicken is generally considered to be an economical dish, the survey showed that the higher the family income, the more times per month chicken is served. Actually, families with an income of more than $75,000 serve chicken more than households with an income of less than $20,000 a year.

A cook's age also plays a role in the popularity of chicken.

Consumers over the age of 55 serve it most often and consumers 34 and under serve it the least, according to 1991 results.

About six in 10 consumers surveyed said they usually served chicken with the skin removed and cooks most likely to do this included those over 55 years old, those with incomes of more than $75,000, females, whites and those living in the south central or western regions.

This year's survey showed chicken breasts — either bone-in or boneless and skinless — were the part most frequently bought. These were followed by thighs, drumsticks and whole-leg quarters.

Minorities answering the survey differed, though. They said drumsticks were the most popular.

Whole chickens — although the most economical — were way down on the list of favorite ways to buy chicken. Older cooks were more likely to buy whole chickens and the purchase of whole chickens has dropped to nearly half what it was in 1983.

Not all the people surveyed cooked for families of two or more. In this year's poll, 18 percent, or 179 consumers, said they live in single-person households.

Thirty-six percent of the consumers queried, or 360 people, said there were children in the household.

Following are the top five prize-winning recipes. These cooks took home prizes ranging from $25,000 to $1,000 for fifth place.

SOUTHWESTERN OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN

- 3 slices white bread, torn in small pieces
- 3 tablespoons fresh cilantro leaves
- 2 tablespoons yellow cornmeal
- 2 tablespoons pine nuts
- 2 large garlic cloves, peeled
- 1½ teaspoons ground cumin
- ¼ teaspoon oregano leaves, crumbled
- ½ teaspoon salt, divided
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- 2 teaspoons egg white
- 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 1 tablespoon water
- 2 teaspoons honey
- 4 chicken drumsticks, skinned
- 4 chicken thighs, skinned
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Yields 4 servings.

In food processor container, place bread, cilantro, corn meal, pine nuts, garlic, cumin, oregano, ½ teaspoon of the salt, cayenne pepper and ground cloves. Process to form fine crumbs. Add egg white and mix until moist.

Place mixture on a large shallow plate and set aside. In small bowl, mix together mustard, water and honey; brush evenly over chicken. Sprinkle chicken with pepper and remaining ¼ teaspoon salt.

Dip chicken, one piece at a time, in bread-crumb mixture and press gently to adhere thin coating. Place chicken on rack in greased jelly-roll pan.

Bake in 400 F oven about 40 minutes or until chicken is crisp and brown and fork can be inserted with ease.

Grand-prize recipe from Judith Markiewicz of Canton, Ohio.

PESTO STUFFED CHICKEN LEGS

- ¾ cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1½ cups fresh basil
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled
- 1 tablespoon minced fresh ginger
- 3 tablespoons butter, divided use
- 8 chicken leg-thigh combinations
- Mustard Dipping Sauce (recipe follows)
- Cherry tomatoes for garnish

Yields 4 servings.

In blender container, place mushrooms, basil, garlic, ginger and 2 tablespoons of the butter. To make pesto, blend to smooth paste consistency.

Starting at thigh end, loosen top skin to create small pouch over thigh portion of leg. Fill pouch with pesto and pull skin back to original position. (To prevent skin from shrinking when cooking, pierce skin with tip of knife between pouch and leg bone.)

In baking pan with roasting rack, place chicken on rack and brush lightly with remaining 1 tablespoon butter, softened. Bake in 450 F oven about 35 minutes or until brown and fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Brush lightly with Mustard Dipping Sauce.

To serve, line tray with fresh basil, placing chicken legs stuffing side up on top. Garnish with cherry tomatoes. Serve remaining Mustard Dipping Sauce in separate bowl.

Mustard Dipping Sauce: In small bowl, place 4 tablespoons dry mustard, 6 tablespoons lite soy sauce, 4 tablespoons cider vinegar, 2 teaspoons sesame oil and 1 teaspoon sugar; whisk to combine. Let rest 5 minutes before serving.

Backyard Gardener

Two books for gardening and cooking

Today I have a garden book and a gardener's cookbook to share with my green-thumb friends.

"Butterfly Gardening: Creating Summer Magic in Your Garden" (Whitecap Books, 195 pages, soft cover, $22.95) is a creation of the Xerces Society in association with the Smithsonian Institution. The Xerces Society is an international non-profit organization dedicated to the prevention of human-caused extinctions of rare invertebrate populations and their habitats.

"Butterfly Gardening" combines the vibrant visual impact of more than 100 close-up color photos with solid information to form an inspiring book, one that adds a new lovely dimension to home gardening. Central to the book is concern for butterfly species that are quietly vanishing along with the habitats that support them.

In his introduction, Dennis Murphy, director of the Center for Conservation Biology at Stanford University, suggests that "the reintroduction of natural landscape elements into urban and suburban neighborhoods that are otherwise dominated by introduced species may be the greatest contribution to ecosystem conservation that we can make."

Just how to go about creating such needed havens for butterflies is fully explored in "Butterfly Garden Design," a chapter that gives a master list of butterfly plants and suggests layouts for large and small butterfly gardens. Complementing this chapter is an appendix of nectar plants for North American butterflies and moths. Another appendix lists North American butterflies along with their regional habitats and food plants.

Other chapters highlight the beauty and complexity of these creatures. Miriam Rothschild, in "Gardening With Butterflies," sees them as "dream flowers — childhood dreams — which have broken loose from their stalks and escaped into the sunshine."

"The Struggle to Survive" considers the many perils to survival faced by butterflies in all four of their life stages — egg, larva, pupa and adult. Their defense mechanisms are many. Some butterflies have eyelike spots at the lower corners of their wings. A predator aiming for the perceived "head" of its prey may well end up with just a few bits of wing as the butterfly escapes to live a little longer.

A section on the familiar cabbage white butterfly notes that "the pest of today becomes the rarity of tomorrow," and quotes from William Blake's "Auguries of Innocence":

"Kill not the moth or butterfly
For the last judgment draweth nigh."

"The Elegant Onion: The Art of Allium Cookery" by Betty Cavage (Garden Way Publishing, 156 pages, soft cover $6.95). This book is a gathering of more than 100 recipes for lovers of the alliums — aromatic onions, robust garlic, emerald chives, sweet scallions, redolent leeks and distinctive shallots.

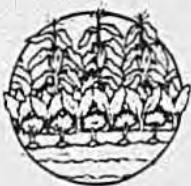

Next to the table of contents is this snippet of Carl Sandburg philosophy: "Life itself is like an onion; it has a bewildering number of layers. You peel them off, one by one, and sometimes you cry."

An introductory chapter speaks of the honored place in history of the onion and other alliums, and their benefits to health. Here, too, are growing and cooking tips, including a section titled "Onions Without Tears."

Among the "Breads and Pastries" are recipes for a beer and onion rye bread ring, Scotch scallop scones and onion bagels. "Condiments" holds such delectable-sounding treats as Grandma's Old-Fashioned Chili Sauce, Bermuda Banana Chutney and British Pub Onions in a port wine sauce.

Baked red snapper with shredded onion stuffing, Garden Patch Lasagna and Onion and Sausage Toadie (toad-in-the-hole) are among the entrees. Alliums are combined with other vegetables in such recipes as Sweet and Sour Cabbage Combo and Onion and Potato Parisienne. The soup section, of course, includes vichyssoise, "a classic favorite — the real reason leeks were created."

As you watch your garden's edible alliums grow, keep this happy thought from "The Elegant Onion" in mind: "Archaeologists in search of King Tut's remains unearthed a profusion of garlic cloves entombed with the mummy to ensure his everlasting youth and sexual prowess in the great beyond."

Our Children

Avoid alcohol during pregnancy

Q. My wife is very stubborn, and I've never been so frustrated. We don't drink a lot, but we've always had at least one drink before dinner. It's a social kind of thing and very nice.

However, now she is pregnant for the first time, but she sees no reason to stop this practice. She keeps bringing up "moderation" as her reason for continuing and just won't accept the idea that "moderation" may be too much.

I've read several times that just as a teen should say "no" to sex, pregnant women should give the same response to even one drink.

I know you're not a physician, but you seem like a smart guy, so I'd like your opinion.

A. I'm with you all the way. To be completely safe, there should be no drinking during pregnancy. None at all, zip. There will be plenty of time for it later if desired, so why take a chance?

All women are certainly not the same, so the effects of even very limited alcohol intake can differ, doing damage to the fetus in some women while others luckily slide through.

Maybe she'll stop if you join her in not drinking during her pregnancy. Perhaps that's a sacrifice on your part, but it's worth considering.

Most physicians seem to support drinking abstinence. I hope yours does. Why not ask him or her?

Q. Our little boy is going to have some leg surgery in the near future, and my husband and I have a conflict on how to approach it.

He says we should be there because our son would get comfort from our presence and not feel he is being abandoned to strangers, even though they are competent physicians.

Perhaps I'm being selfish because I don't want to be there. I just can't stand the thought of seeing what our son will be going through.

Am I being unreasonable?

A. I think that neither you nor your husband is being unreasonable.

If the physician or physicians are competent in their human relationships as well as in their surgical skills, your son will be in the hands of one or more who will have already established a relationship with him. So your son won't be "abandoned" to strangers.

A possible compromise is to support your husband in his desire to be there and provide whatever comfort he can, and for you to stay at home, near the phone and available if needed.

Dear Parents: Here is some information about the parent-child connection that hit the press not long ago. Perhaps it can provide an interesting topic for a conversation with your husband or wife, hopefully not a disagreement.

This research, which appeared in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, concluded that children whose parents held, cuddled and also showered them with warmth in other ways influenced their children's future behavior as adults. It seemed to contribute positively to their social adjustment. The conclusions applied to both parents, but especially to fathers.

Cold parents tended to lead youngsters in their families toward less successful social adjustment as adults.

In at least one way this seems to make good sense. Because parents provide a continuing model for their children, it appears to be logical that those with warmth tend to have children with the same characteristics. This conclusion can be contributed to by the family environment as well as by the genetic makeup handed down.

As with most research, let's be cautious about generalizing. Because there can be many other influences on children, every child will certainly not react to parents' actions in the same way.

This whole issue reminds me of those who wonder how children who are reared in the same family can sometimes differ so much from each other in their personalities. If you think about it for a moment, you'll probably agree that their family environment isn't really the same (for example, only one is the eldest, youngest or middle child), nor are their genetic pictures similar.

So, of course, there are many differences among siblings that parents usually learn to accept as normal.

Fitness Forum

Test your medical literacy

By Judy Miller

No other country on earth is as hungry for health news as ours. We crave information regarding nutrition, fitness techniques and overall medical care.

However, despite the medical world's outpouring of information and the media's ability to satiate — even overwhelm — us with health news, apparently we don't retain much of the information we demand.

Three recent surveys have discovered some disturbing news: We are becoming a nation of medical illiterates.

A survey of 2,000 Americans by the Public Opinion Laboratory at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb revealed that only about 25 percent knew that antibiotics could kill bacteria but not viruses.

A poll of 1,000 people by a research dietitian at Brown University for Nutri/System found American adults "lack a significant understanding of the most basic nutritional information."

Despite all the news linking heart disease and cholesterol levels, the Brown University survey showed that 48 percent of the respondents still don't know their cholesterol levels.

On the flip side, however, 72 percent knew that white streaks in meat are fat, compared to 61 percent in a similar 1989 survey.

Another poll, conducted for Health magazine, revealed that the other survey results were no fluke. According to the Health findings, most adult Americans would fail a human biology quiz geared to seventh-graders.

"Our national interest in health, it seems, is wide but not deep," said Bradley Bloch, author of Health's "Medical Illiteracy" feature. "We may walk the walk and talk the talk, but our actual understanding of bio basics is alarmingly poor."

We wondered if that's true. To find out, we devised a four-part medical literacy quiz.

There are no T-shirts, mugs or caps (or sweets) to win if you pass the quiz, but you might be relieved to find you are not among the medical illiterates. And, if you are among them, you might learn something.

Here's the quiz:

PART I

1. The body's immune system protects you against:

(a) antibodies, (b) vaccines, (c) antigens, (d) allergies, (e) don't know.

2. The strong tissues that hold joints together are called:

(a) muscles, (b) cartilage, (c) tendons, (d) ligaments, (e) don't know.

3. Which part of your ear helps you maintain your balance?

(a) outer ear, (b) semicircular canal, (c) eardrum, (d) ear canal, (e) don't know.

4. Dietary cholesterol is present in:

(a) grain products, (b) fruits and vegetables, (c) animal products, (d) soft drinks, (e) all of the above, (f) don't know.

5. Oxygen is distributed throughout the body by the:

(a) nerves, (b) blood, (c) lungs, (d) lymph system, (e) don't know.

6. Hypertension describes a condition. What is it?

(a) excess stress, (b) tension headaches, (c) hyperactivity, (d) high blood pressure, (e) don't know.

7. Active cells of the nervous system that transmit and receive messages are called:

(a) neurons, (b) opiates, (c) dendrites, (d) lipoproteins, (e) don't know.

8. An injury that damages a muscle is called a:

(a) sprain, (b) shin splint, (c) strain, (d) spasm, (e) don't know.

9. People who are farsighted have difficulty seeing things that are:

(a) too near, (b) too far, (c) poorly lit, (d) bright in color, (e) all of the above, (f) don't know.

10. Many myths surround vitamin C. Which of the following does vitamin C actually do?

(a) reduces cholesterol, (b) aids in healing wounds, (c) prevents colds, (d) aids in curing infections, (e) all of the above, (f) don't know.

PART II

Here is a list of medical words. Match the word with the meaning.

1. oncology
 2. pillion
 3. chilblain
 4. anomaly
 5. nostrum
 6. ataxia
 7. carpus
 8. phlebology
 9. macule
 10. glossodynna.
- a. discolored spot on skin.
b. inflammation of outermost extremities due to frostbite.
c. failure or irregularity of muscular coordination.
d. joint between the arm and hand; the wrist.
e. the science of the veins and their diseases.
f. pain or inflammation of the tongue.
g. temporary form of artificial leg.
h. a quack remedy.
i. branch of medicine dealing with tumors.
j. deviation from normal.

THE HEALTHY GOURMET

By Kit Seelaker

The Lodge at Cordillera, a small, 28-room resort in the mountains of Colorado, has a distinctly European air. Cross-country is the way to ski here, but guests come as much for the spa and the food as the snow.

They come all year, playing tennis, hiking and mountain biking in the summer, skiing and snowshoeing in winter. Or for body treatments and fitness classes in the spa anytime.

Machines in the exercise room are air-powered. Never mind adding weights, just push a button for more resistance. Treadmills, Lifecycles and StairMasters are all just steps away from a lap pool.

On the outdoor terrace, I saw two people soaking in a steaming jacuzzi watching a child build a snowman a few feet away.

But the European heart of the place is its dining room. Chef Philippe Van Cappellen manages to turn out both triumphant four-course meals with wine matching each course as well as some of the best spa cuisine in my palate memory.

Scallop salad with baby greens, salmon with English peas and rare duck breast with red onions were proud to be on the same menu with skinny steamed vegetables in a tomato coulis and chocolate mousse with orange zest.

Van Cappellen, who was trained in Europe, serves game in the winter.

"I order supplies," he says, "and then I make up my menu. I cook to preserve the taste of everything. That makes it easy to use less oil, eggs and cream."

For more information write Cordillera, Box 1110, Edwards, Vail Valley, Colorado 81632 or phone (303) 926-2200. For firsthand taste of Van Cappellen's talents, try the recipes below.

SALADE DE POULET

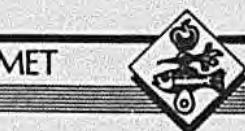

- 4 6-ounce boneless chicken breasts
- 1 tablespoon low-sodium chicken bouillon granules
- 1½ cups water
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 1 cup olive oil
- 1 head of romaine or butter lettuce

Yields 4 to 6 servings. Each has about 350 calories, 15 grams fat, 75 milligrams cholesterol and 150 milligrams sodium.

THE HEALTHY GOURMET

Salade de Poulet

- Calories per servings: 350
- Fat per serving: 15 grams
- Cholesterol per sandwich: 75 milligrams
- Sodium per sandwich: 150 milligrams

Remove skin from chicken breasts and place in ovenproof dish. Dissolve chicken granules in water and bring to boil. Pour over chicken. Bake, covered in oven preheated to 300 F until lightly firm, 15 to 20 minutes. Remove chicken with slotted spoon and pour broth off into saucepan.

Over high heat reduce chicken stock to ¼ cup. Combine this chicken stock with wine vinegar, mustard and pepper in blender and process on low. Slowly add oil in thin stream until mixture thickens and all oil is emulsified.

Slice chicken on diagonal to make wide, thin strips. Place these fanned out in casserole and cover with chicken stock/vinegar/oil mixture. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Clean lettuce and break into bite-size pieces. Scrape some vinaigrette off chicken onto lettuce and toss. Arrange lettuce on serving plate and cover with chicken slices. Serve at room temperature or warm in oven preheated to 350 F until chicken is barely warm. Serve immediately.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE WITH ORANGE ZEST

- Zest and juice of 1 orange
- Water
- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- One-third cup water
- ½ cup cocoa
- 4 egg whites
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- Juice of half a lemon

Yields 4 to 6 servings. Each serving has about 380 calories, trace of fat and cholesterol and 40 milligrams sodium.

Grate orange and squeeze out juice. Place small saucepan of water on stove and when it boils, add zest. Allow to boil for a minute, remove from heat and pour through strainer.

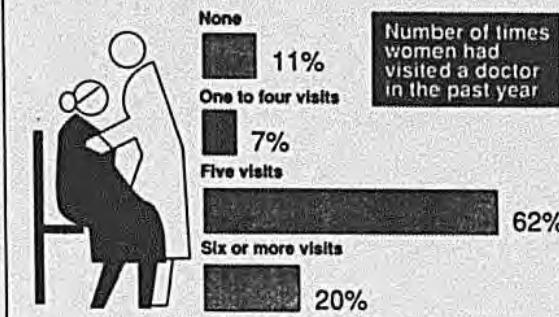

Add blanched zest to orange juice. Put one-third cup water in mixing bowl and sprinkle gelatin over it. Allow to soften. Heat orange juice in saucepan and add softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve.

Remove juice from stove and add cocoa, whisking until all lumps are gone. Beat egg whites in clean, dry bowl until frothy. Add sugar and continue to whip until stiff. Fold in lemon juice. Fold in cocoa mixture, spoon into individual serving dishes and chill overnight.

Here's How

Q. I am an elderly widow. My kitchen linoleum is old and has holes. I have to put a small rug on the floor to cover these holes. I want my son to install self-sticking tiles. I feel that we should first cover the older linoleum with plywood before the new floor installation. He disagrees. What advice do you have?

A. There is an important reason for installing a plywood underlayment over the older flooring. It is very likely your older flooring contains asbestos. The plywood subflooring will encapsulate this older flooring and prevent any adverse effects from the asbestos.

Your only other option would be to have the existing linoleum checked for asbestos content by professionals. If it does contain asbestos, removal must be done by licensed professionals as it can be a dangerous health hazard.

Installing a new plywood underlayment over the older linoleum is much less expensive than removing a flooring that contains asbestos. You should not consider leaving the flooring as is. If the older linoleum does contain asbestos, the eroding areas of the surface could begin to release fragments of the asbestos (usually contained in the felt backing) into the air, and this is a health hazard.

If the older flooring does not contain asbestos, you could remove the existing linoleum and glue residue. Your new floor would then be glued directly onto the current subflooring.

Do not glue the new tiles directly to the older flooring. This would not sufficiently encapsulate a flooring with asbestos content. And the deteriorating older linoleum is not a suitable surface for the bonding and durability of the new flooring.

Q. I own an adobe home approximately 30 years old. The exterior brick has always been painted. The last time we painted was a little more than five years ago. Recently we have been having a problem with the paint peeling off in rather large sheets near the foundation of our home. The original adobe is now exposed in these areas. What would you suggest we do to protect the bricks; paint does not seem to want to adhere to the rough surface, and I am concerned about moisture invading the bricks and weakening them.

A. It sounds like you have a moisture problem at the foundation. When your home was constructed, the contractor should have waterproofed the foundation walls. Even though the foundation was waterproofed, the coating may have grown brittle and cracked. As a result, considerable seepage often enters through the seams, cracks or porous sections of the wall. This would cause the paint to peel.

Inspect the lower section of the wall for any cracks or damaged sections. These can be repaired by special hydraulic patching cements. These cements enter the concrete pores, expand and harden to form a waterproof plug. They harden in minutes, which makes it possible to patch leaks even while moisture is present.

For added insurance against seepage, paint or cover the foundation wall with a masonry sealer. For the adobe brick you may have to use a special kind of block filler for sealing the brick. Older adobe brick required this. However, newer bricks are manufactured with a filler already in the adobe to prevent moisture problems.

Most of the above information assumes that you have a raised foundation rather than a cement slab for construction. If your home is built on a cement slab, the moisture problem could be due to a lack of proper perimeter insulation.

There should be a belt of insulation around the outer edge of the slab, and if possible between the slab and the footing wall. I also highly recommend that you consult a building contractor in regard to installing perimeter insulation.

Usually this consists of slabs of waterproofing insulation, such as Styrofoam slabs, around the edges of the floor and is exceedingly effective at preventing moisture penetrations at these critical points.

Another important factor is to assure that all drainage of water is away from the foundation and that the gutters on your roof extend over the exterior walls far enough to assure that excess water is carried away from the house rather than dumped at the foundation level.

Q. My mother always taught me that furniture should go at right angles to the wall. She said cater-cornering was tacky. I'd love to put the bed at an angle in the corner, but even though she's no longer around to scold me, I feel insecure. Can you get me over this? — M.G.

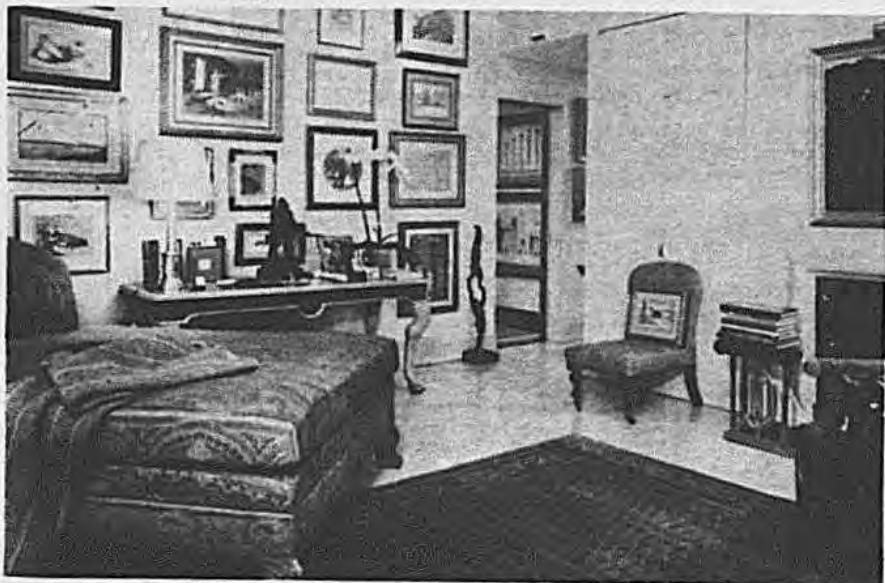

A. If I couldn't, no less a top designer than Bill Blass should offer assurance that today cater-cornering furniture gets no catcalls. The photo we show here was taken in Blass' own New York penthouse bedroom for the book "Manhattan Style" (Little, Brown).

His paisley-upholstered bed is angled neatly into a corner, leaving as much wall space as possible free to hold Blass' collection of master drawings, prints and paintings. Actually, the bed looks — and performs — like a sofa. With the antique desk, side table and upholstered chairs, the room itself is more like a library than a bedroom, another idea for creative space use from a designer who has indeed mastered all the angles.

Q. We have just bought a reproduction pencil-post bed. I think it looks very pretty without any canopy at all, but my husband is insisting that I make a canopy for it. Can you suggest something that's easy and won't glam up the Shaker-like simple look I love? — E.H.G.

A. Use a sheer or solid-color fabric, say, a crisp chintz or taffeta, and keep your canopy as straightforward in design as possible. One solution that couldn't be simpler: Toss a generous length of dotted swiss, for example, over MASTERING THE ANGLES — Designer Bill Blass catercornering the upholstered bed and hangs art from the floor to the ceiling in his own New York City bedroom.

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. Thank you Holy Spirit. E.P.C. gcagl

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. J.T.S. gcaigl

Strict school rules

School means different things to different people. Grown-ups usually say that school days are the best days of your life, although they might not always seem like it!

Just imagine, however, if you went to Tokyo's biggest secondary school, which has a 28-page rule book! Here are some of the rules:

• Long hair and curls are not allowed and any students with naturally curly hair must produce proof that they were born that way.

• When a pupil is spoken to by a teacher of the opposite sex, the distance between them must be more than eight inches.

• Pupils must march to assembly, with eyes turned towards teachers.

• The length of toilet paper used must not exceed 11.8 inches.

• If a pupil wishes to talk with a friend of the opposite sex, he or she must fill out an application form.

• The number of pleats in a girl's skirt must not exceed 24.

• When standing to attention, toes should be angled between 45 and 60 degrees and fingers should be extended straight with the palms touching the body.

• When bowing, the upper body should be inclined forward at 30 degrees and held rigid before resuming an upright posture in a smooth manner.

All these rules probably make your school rules seem a lot more lenient.

How long does it take to travel the world?

If the earth were completely dry, with no oceans separating the continents, you could walk around our planet, traveling by day and night, in less than a year.

If you were a tidal wave, you could cross the earth in 60 hours.

If you were a Boeing 747 jet and could fly non-stop around the earth, your trip would take around 44 hours.

If you were a speeding bullet, shot with enough force, you would make the trip in 14 hours.

If you were a beam of light, then your trip would take only a tenth of a second!

Why the human body needs its layer of skin

Have you ever wondered why we have skin? You probably just take it for granted, in the same way that you accept that you need ears, eyes, nose and mouth.

And if you have ever thought about skin at all, you probably thought it was there just to hold the rest of you together.

Well, in fact your skin has other uses. For a start, it enables us to sense touch, pain, cold and heat, which means we are able to take action to protect ourselves before any further damage is done.

Eyelids

Skin also helps us to regulate our body temperatures by allowing us to sweat.

The skin on a normal human body varies in thickness in various places. The skin of our eyelids, for example, is less than one millimeter thick, whereas the soles of our feet it can be up to three times as thick.

Skin is practically waterproof, which is why the insides of our body — which are mostly liquid — are able to live and survive and function in dry air.

In addition, skin is able to support hair growth, although the hair on a human being has little practical purpose. Most of the human body is covered by hair, although it is often so fine that you can see it only by using a magnifying glass.

Even with a magnifying glass, however, you won't find hair on the palms of your hands or the soles of your feet.

Cells

Skin consists of not one but many layers. The top layer — the stratum corneum — itself has about 20 layers of cells, the top one of which is continually flaking and being replaced by another below.

One of the skin's main functions is to warn us about changes in temperature. Your skin will begin to feel cold, for example, long before a fall in temperature will do the rest of your body any real harm.

Skin remains taut and supple for most of our lives, but begins to sag in old age when our muscles start to slacken.

ANTIQUE OR

By James G. McCollam JUNQUE

German punch bowl is a valuable gift

Q. Enclosed is a picture of an old punch bowl that has been in our family for years, a gift from an old German family.

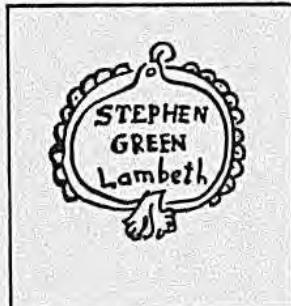

We get great pleasure from using it as a wassail bowl at holiday times and would like to know something of its origin and value. It is marked "Villeroy & Boch — Mettlach — 3037."

A. Your punch bowl with underplate was made in Mettlach, Germany, by Villeroy & Boch during the late 19th century. It is a choice antique and would be worth $700 to $800.

Q. I have an old stoneware bowl with straight slanted sides. It is 11 inches in diameter and 4 inches high. On the bottom is the enclosed mark.

Can you tell me anything about its vintage and value?

A. Stephen Green made everyday stoneware in Lambeth, England, during the mid-19th century. A bowl such as yours would sell in the $125 to $135 range.

Q. When we went through my grandfather's things, we found an old copper powder flask. It is embossed with three horses' heads. It cleaned up beautifully and the spout works well.

Can you provide some information about its age and value?

A. This would probably date back to the early 1800s and might sell in the $125 to $135 range.

Q. We have what appears to be a very fine violin. Inside it is branded "G. Pyne — London — 1914."

Does that suggest anything about its quality or value?

A. George Pyne did make very fine violins, and most of them sell in the $2,500 to $3,500 range.

BOOK REVIEW

"The Guide to Wallace Nutting-Like Photographers" by Michel Ivankovich, Diamond Press, P.O. Box 2458, Doylestown, PA 18901, $9.95 plus $2 postage, or at your local bookstore.

The growth in the popularity of Nutting's hand-colored photographs has led to the developing market in the work of his contemporary competitors.

This book broadens the field from Wallace Nutting photography to collecting hand-colored photography of the early 20th century.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item (one item per request) to James G. McCollam,

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Is it normal for people to grieve over the death of a pet? We recently lost a pet, and our whole family is having difficulty getting over this loss.

A. It is normal for people to experience intense grief following the death of a beloved pet. In most situations the death of a pet severs a strong relationship. Grieving often includes a feeling of loneliness, the urge to cry, feeling of shock, loss of appetite and being unable to sleep. Sometimes these occurrences last for only a short period. However, other individuals grieve for weeks.

Many methods to lessen or overcome intense grief following the death of pets have been advocated by grief experts. Talking about the pet's death openly is extremely important. Each family member should feel free to express his or her sense of loss.

Parents should answer children's questions regarding their pet's death. Generally, the death of a pet should not be hidden from a child. They need to know the truth regarding their companion. Children need to express their feelings to understanding adults. It is sometimes helpful if the child actually participates in the burial of the pet.

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

My youngest grandchild, Mysti Meredith, was born on October 24, 1986, to Mark and Michelle Rosenthal of Raleigh, N.C. She is sweet, good, outgoing and intelligent. Besides her good looks, she is a most pleasant child to have around, loved by all who meet her.

Proud Grandmother
Anne Rosenthal

Our grandson, Luke, has given us joy, happiness and much pleasure the short time he has been with us! He is a child of love, fun and completely makes everyone happy. His smile is contagious, you smile with him and are happy to be around him. He is the beautiful son of Michael and Debra Letosky. Adoring grandparents are Andrew and Dolores Lyons and Michael and Mary Letosky of Mineola.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

SSI payments when you go abroad

By William M. Acosta

Q. Can a person still get Supplemental Security Income checks if he or she leaves the United States? — T.A.

A. If you plan to leave the United States, tell us before you leave. We need to know the date you plan to leave and the date you plan to return. Usually, if you leave the United States for 30 days or more, you can no longer get SSI. Once you have been outside the United States for more than 30 days in a row, your checks can't start again until you have been back in the United States for a least 30 consecutive days. Call Social Security for more information.

Q. I currently receive Social Security disability benefits. I would like to try to go back to work, but I would hate to have my checks stop. Are there any rules that apply to my situation? — O.K.

A. There is a special rule, called a trial work period, that lets people test their ability to work or run a business for nine months (not necessarily consecutive) in spite of their disability. They continue to get full benefits during the trial work period, no matter how much they earn. After the trial work period, the Social Security Administration evaluates the work to see if it is "substantial." Call your local Social Security office for details.

Q. I have Medicare. However, my son was telling me that I should get "Medigap." Exactly what is "Medigap"? — W.H.

A. Medicare provides basic health-care coverage, but it can't pay all of your medical expenses, and it doesn't pay for most long-term care. For this reason, many private insurance companies sell insurance to fill in the gaps in Medicare coverage. This kind of insurance is often called "Medigap" for short.

Q. How often does Social Security review disability cases? I have been told that all cases are reviewed every two years. Is that true?

A. The frequency of the reviews depends on the expectation of recovery. If medical improvement is "expected," the case will be reviewed within six to 18 months. If medical improvement is "possible," the case is reviewed after three years. If medical improvement is "not expected," the case is reviewed after seven years. However, when we receive information about medical improvement or a return to work, we review a case at the time we receive the information.
