March Students Of The Month

March Students of the Month are being honored at Saint Ignatius Loyala School during April. The students were chosen by their teachers for their effort, achievement, and good conduct. Each child received a certificate at a special honors assembly on April 7. The Students of the Month for March are: Class 1-1: Nilisa Cunha, Class 1-2: Robert D'Avino, Class 2-1: Scott Bryan, Class 2-2: Katherine Castoro, Class 3-1: Vincent Cona, Class 3-2: Lauren Adia.

"Babes" At Dutch Lane

"Babes": Beginning Alcohol and Addictions Basic Education Studies was presented to students in first and second grade at Dutch Lane Elementary School. The program was run by Karen Soloman, a psychotherapist from Central Nassau Guidance and Counseling Services.

Through the use of puppet characters, the children themselves perform a show which teaches: self-image and feelings, decision-making & peer pressure, coping skills, alcohol and other drug information, getting help and helping children from chemically dependent homes.

The students were able to learn at a level they could understand, they weren't afraid to ask questions and were very quick on answering any questions asked. "Babes" is not just for babies!

Fork Students Engage In "How To" Reports

Mrs. Heffernan's fifth grade students at the Fork Lane School in Hicksville have completed reading non-fiction and "how to" books for their oral book reports. Some children brought in pets, posters, baked goods, hand-made pillows, and even hieroglyphics to demonstrate what they learned.

Residents Vote "Yes" For Library Budget

In what became the biggest turnout for a library budget vote in a number of years, residents voted in favor of the proposed 1992-93 library budget on April 8. Library board Trustee Clara Bennett was also re-elected to serve another five year term on the Board.

The budget received overwhelming voter approval with 474 votes for and 262 votes against. "The Library Board of Trustees accepts the budget results as community appreciation for the wide array of library services offered by our dedicated employees. The library will continue to provide the community with programs and services through fiscally conservative management," said Library Board President Marc Herbst.

On behalf of the entire library board, Mr. Herbst wants to thank everyone who took part in the voting process.

The Library Board of Trustees meets the third Wednesday of every month at 8 p.m. in the Local History Room of the library. These meetings are open to the public.

Exhibit Opens On May 3

"Personality of a Creative Team," an exhibit by master photographer Julius J. Spedale, a commercial photographer in Hicksville, will open on May 3 at Maximus Total Beauty Day Spa de Luxe in Merrick, N.Y. The 50 black-and-white photography exhibit is a visual depiction of the multifaceted personalities that comprise the diverse staff at Maximus.

According to Maximus owner Richard Calcasola, Spedale was originally commissioned to capture his staff on film as a unique Christmas gift to his employees, but it blossomed into a character study of his entire team. "Julius' photographs so adeptly captured each individual's identity that I wanted to share the exciting results and host an exhibit."

Spedale, a photographer for over 20 years, is an acclaimed master whose work has won numerous awards including N.A.C.E.O. (National Association of County Information Offices) and several B.O.L.I. (Best of Long Island). Currently, he is working on an instructional video for advanced amateurs about the use of strobe photography in the home.

Calcasola's interest in photography and desire to encourage his creative team to express themselves prompted him to approach his friend Spedale with his unique Christmas gift idea. "With photography playing such an important role in the beauty profession, it's only natural for us to be behind the camera," Calcasola continues. "I thought it would be interesting to see my staff in front of the camera; behind the camera you are a professional, yet, in front of it, you are who you are." Calcasola, who is revered as an expert in the beauty field, serves on the board of directors of Intercos, an elite international hair association.

"Personality of a Creative Team" opens with a wine and cheese reception from 3-5 p.m. on Sunday, May 3 at Maximus Total Beauty Day Spa de Luxe, 2075 Merrick Road, and continues through Sunday, May 31. Hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday and Monday; 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Tuesday and Saturday; 9 a.m.-8 p.m. Wednesday - Friday. For more information

Spirit Week At Burns Avenue

The children at the Burns Avenue School in Hicksville recently celebrated Spirit Week. Each day featured a different activity and everyone showed school spirit! These activities included Crazy Hair Day, Favorite Team Day, Mismatch Day, Black and Gold Day, and Favorite Book Characters Day. On Character Day, students dressed up as their favorite book characters and told about the book at an assembly. All of the students and staff enjoyed the Spirit Week activities!

Pro Wrestling

The Hicksville-Jericho Rotary Club will be hosting Professional Wrestling at Hicksville High School on Friday night, May 1, at 8 p.m.

Feature match will be Nickoli Volkoff vs. the Brooklyn Brawler. For tickets call 800-525-0437.

Budget Vote In Hicksville Dist.

The Hicksville Public School District's 1992-93 budget vote will take place on May 20, between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m., in Hicksville's seven public school building voting locations.

In order to vote, you must be a U.S. citizen, 18 years of age or older, and you must have been a district resident for at least 30 days prior to the vote. Those who have voted in school district elections within the past four years or who are registered with the Nassau County Board of Elections need not register for the May 22 election. Absentee ballots will be mailed to all voters registered as permanently disabled. Other voters who qualify for absentee ballots must apply to the District Clerk at least seven days prior to the vote if the ballot is to be mailed, on May 19, if the voter will pick up the ballot in person. Absentee ballots must be returned by 5 p.m. on May 20. Call 933-6600 between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. for application information.

The proposed budget will be reviewed at the Budget Hearing on Wednesday, April 29, at 8 p.m. in the High School Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Environment Meeting

The schedule of the Town of Oyster Bay Environmental Quality Review Commission (TEQR) meetings for the year 1992 is as follows:

April 24, May 5 and 29, June 9 and 26, July 14, August 21, September 15 and 25, October 6 and 23, November 17 and 27, and December 8.

If necessary, more meetings may be subsequently scheduled.

The agenda for the meetings will include discussion of pending projects and other general business. The meetings will be held at 9 a.m. in the Environmental Control Division Conference Room, 150 Miller Place, Syosset.

Established in 1977, the TEQR Commission is authorized to study, analyze, and investigate and report on all environmental impacts of applications submitted to, or actions contemplated by the Town Board or other Town agencies.

Letters

To the Editor:

When a civic group is formed, it is accepted that even though they work for the good of the community at large, they represent a local area - people from their immediate neighborhood. The Concerned Citizens of Hicksville, by their very title, would have us believe they represent each one of us in Hicksville. So far I have not seen this to be true.

The founders of this group came together with a common interest; that being personal lawsuits against the Hicksville School District. The new President and Vice President of the CCH are involved in that same pending lawsuit. I am sure there are members of the CCH who do have the good of the community in mind; however, when a good number of their members are driven by personal goals, I think we need to be wary. After all, any court award or settlement derived from our school district is paid for by the taxpayers (before and after insurance deductibles). In essence, then, they claim to be concerned for the very people who they are suing...the taxpayer.

I am troubled that the Concerned Citizens are endorsing two candidates, both from the Old Country Road area. This is surely not true representation of all of Hicksville. These two candidates will protect the OCR area and the Duffy Park area when it comes down to closing schools. Each candidate has children in the Old Country Road School, and Dave Staton is the President of the Duffy Park Civic Association. If the CCH were truly 'concerned' for Hicksville, perhaps they would have been wise not to endorse any candidates. Last year the CCH endorsed three candidates; Lafferty, Black, and Pfaender. These members campaigned on closing one or TWO more schools in Hicksville. Because of their personal agendas, and their refusal to be guided by the $70,000-worth of reports they requested to help them select a school to close, NO SCHOOLS WERE CLOSED. They let down their constituents and Hicksville.

It is frightening to think that besides Mr. Pfaender, Mr. Black, and Mrs. Lafferty (all CCH members), there would be two additional candidates elected to sit on our Board who are members of this special interest group. Does Hicksville want the Board majority to consist of ANY club or group? I would rather see independent thinkers than a monopoly. Hicksville, we paid the price once and elected three CCH members to our Board last election. Be careful how you vote on May 20.

Letters

To The Editor:

I am writing this letter to announce my candidacy for the seat on the Hicksville Board of Education currently held by James Martillo.

Our community is at a crossroads. The decisions the Board of Education will make in the next year will shape the future of Hicksville for years to come. The educational issues we face are difficult and complex. This community does not need slogans and platitudes - we need solutions. Hicksville needs someone who is willing and able to take a stand and find viable answers to complicated questions. I am that person!

The issue of an elementary school closing is not over. All candidates must be willing to tell the community exactly where they stand on this issue. My position is this: No school should be closed. My analysis of this issue mathematically and logically leads me to the conclusion that closing an elementary school at this time makes no sense either financially or educationally.

The teacher's contract is now up. My position is this: we gave away the store last contract, now there must be fair negotiations with compromise by both sides. Taxes are killing us all and teachers must be willing to tighten their belts like everyone else. There must be a fair give and take, not a giveaway.

These and other crucial issues must be faced in a forthright manner. This community has had it's fill of vague generalities and fine-sounding slogans that mean nothing. Now is the time to start talking about the problems that face Hicksville and try to work toward solutions that will benefit us all.

I have lived in Hicksville for the past thirteen years and my husband and I have watched our children grow up here. We have three daughters; in September one will be in Hicksville High School, one in Hicksville Middle School and one in elementary school. I've been involved with PTA on all levels and am currently on PTA Council. I taught religious instruction at St. Ignatius for many years. I have been regularly attending Board of Education meetings and Board Committee meetings on Budget, Finance, Curriculum, Policy and District Facilities for 12 years and have frequently spoken out on the issues. I served on the Reorganization Committee in 1987-88. I am a member of Concerned Citizens of Hicksville and the Giese Park Civic Association. This past year I served on the Budget Advisory Committee of both Lee Avenue School and Hicksville High School.

We have all seen what the factions and cliques in Hicksville have done to this community. I am running as an independent candidate - I owe my allegiance to the voters of this district, not to one special interest group or another. The dissension and back-stabbing on the Board and in the community must come to an end; we have to heal the wounds and work for the common goal of a quality education for all our children - not just the chosen few. I urge all members of the Hicksville community to ask the candidates the tough questions and vote for those people who will take a firm stand on all the issues.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Linda Mirro

To The Editor:

The vendetta against East Street School by the cabal of trustees Lafferty, Black and Pfaender continues. So, what else is new?

They are concerned about the "safety" of the East Street children because the building was built before present day fire codes went into effect. Aren't these the same trustees who voted to approve the transfer of the 6th grade to the Middle School, a good part of which also was constructed before the present day code? Why is the much more heavily populated Middle School "safe" for the students while East Street is not? I don't recall hearing Lafferty, Black & Pfaender expressing any concern about the age of the Middle School - just East Street.

In their letter to the Times, they mention only the distance of East Street from fire headquarters on East Marie Street. Are the three trustees so ignorant of the East end of Hicksville, a community they are supposed to represent in its entirety, that they do not know that the Fire Department maintains a firehouse at the corner of Briggs Street and Woodbury Road? From Briggs to East is a straight six block run, then South one block to the school. From East Marie, it's another straight six block run along Plainview Road, and then North one block on Center Street, to the back of the school, or a seventh block on Plainview Road, then North one, to reach the buildings front. I know of no other school in the district that is more accessible to apparatus from TWO fire stations than East Street.

And if Lafferty, Black & Pfaender are so concerned about "safety", why are they so eager to put several hundred East Street students at risk in the event of an Austerity budget, by having them cross many of the most dangerous streets in Hicksville to reach other schools? If safety is the prime concern, common sense would dictate that if any school HAS to be closed, it should be Old Country. Dutch is almost within sight and Fork is not that far away. Old Country's students could easily reach Dutch and Fork with the minimum of vehicular traffic concerns.

Then why the continuing vendetta against East Street?

Letters

Could it be that the constituency for Lafferty, Black and Pfaender revolves around Old Country, Dutch and Fork and to preserve the "untouchability" of those schools, they are perfectly prepared to sacrifice another East End school? After all, pleasing their constituency is paramount, for a trustee voted out of office no longer has the ability to feed an overstuffed ego through being able to hold hundreds of Hicksville's children hostage to his/her playing of petty politics for purposes of personal aggrandizement. To say nothing of the thrill that comes from the unchecked power of being able to squander the taxpayer's money at will. (And boy, does the Board know how to squander our money!)

My youngest child graduated from Hicksville High a dozen years ago, so it doesn't matter to me except as a taxpayer as to which, if any, school is closed. But I am outraged by the persistent divisive efforts of some of the school board members to pit one section of the community against the other. It's time for ALL the Board members (and I do mean Lafferty, Black and Pfaender) to rise above their narrow parochial viewpoint and work to insure the best, most cost effective education for every child in the District, regardless of the neighborhood in which he or she may live. Isn't that what they were supposedly elected to do?

There's an old saying that the people get the kind of government they deserve. But, based on their performance so far, all I can say is oh Lord, what awful thing did we do to deserve the present Board?

Sincerely,
Donald G. Kloenne

Update from Asst. Chief Karl Schewitzer:

The reorganization of the Junior Firefighters in Hicksville has taken longer than expected. A key point is proper insurance. Fire Commissioners and insurance representatives are working to get the best all around coverage for the youths.

Chiefs are also looking into the Boy Scout-Firefighter-Explorer Program. In any event, it takes time and we apologize to all and appreciate everyone's patience. Thank you.

We are happy to print the names of teachers, but students also have names and if the photos are unidentified they usually will not be used.

To the Editor:

Last Wednesday, the Hicksville Public Library Board of Trustees presented its 1992-93 budget to the electorate for consideration. This budget received the greatest favorable vote plurality in recent history.

The Board accepts the budget results as a mandate to continue providing our community with a wide array of educational services through fiscally conservative management. The favorable results are a vote of confidence in the services provided by the employees of the library.

I thank all who took the opportunity to participate in our democratic voting process.

Gingerbread Men

Mrs. Simon's first grade class, at the East Street School, has been working with fairy tales. After reading "The Gingerbread Man," the children baked their own gingerbread people cookies. Before they could decorate them, however, the gingerbread people ran away. They left the children written clues around the school and luckily the cookies were all located. Finally, the first graders were able to decorate and enjoy eating them before they ran away again.

Peer Tutoring Program For ESL Students

At the Lee Avenue School in Hicksville, some basic beginner English as a Second Language students are being assisted in learning their new language by fellow students. This program began in February in Mrs. Dalo's fourth grade class and in Mrs. Mancuso's fifth grade class, under the guidance of Mrs. Anne LaBarbera, the ESL teacher at Lee Avenue.

After an initial lesson in each class by Mrs. LaBarbera to explain the program to the students, the daily sessions begin. The ESL student works with a different classmate each day using materials in the classrooms to review lessons and also materials provided by Mrs. LaBarbera. The students play language games with flash cards to practice listening and speaking and work with picture dictionaries and books to review reading and writing. A daily journal is kept by the peer tutors for each student and is checked periodically by Mrs. LaBarbera. All of the students seem to take their job seriously and to work hard together. It is especially rewarding for some "graduates" of the ESL program to be able to help the new ESL students learn English. The ESL Program is fortunate to have such enthusiastic helpers!

Varsity Letter

Doug Rausch of Hicksville earned a varsity letter in basketball this winter at Trinity College. Rausch, a junior center majoring in Computer Science, averaged 3.2 points per game, 2.0 rebounds per game. Rausch shot 85% from the field. Coming off the bench against Manhattanville, Doug scored a season-high 16 points while pulling down 12 rebounds. Rausch, a graduate of Long Island Lutheran High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rausch of Hicksville.

Lacrosse Game Memorial Dedication

The Hicksville High School Varsity Lacrosse Team has made plans to dedicate the game of May 8, to student Van Androutsopoulos who was killed in an automobile accident at the beginning of the 1991-92 school year. A special evening has been planned in conjunction with the Hicksville High School Booster Club and the Make-A-Wish Fund. The evening begins with the Hicksville PAL Midget Lacrosse Game at 5 p.m., followed by the High School Varsity games against Long Beach at 7:30 p.m. The town of Oyster Bay will provide lighting for the evening event. At half-time a special plaque will be awarded to Van's mother and the Make-A-Wish fund will accept donations in Van's name. Following the game at 10 p.m., a party will be held at Antun's in Hicksville, organized by the Booster Club. Tickets to the Lacrosse party are $30 with partial proceeds going to the Hicksville PAL. For additional information, contact the High School Physical Education Department at 933-6641.

Hicksville Gains History Trophies

The Hicksville High School National History Day team secured third and fourth place at the Hofstra University Competition.

Trophies for third place were awarded to Connie Young and Helen Woo for their videotape on "Exploring the West." Fourth place trophies went to Joaquin Ezcurra and Michael Chang for the videotape on "Exploring Disease and Medicine in History."

The team will now compete in the state competitions at Niagara Falls on May 9.

Notice Of (Annual) District Election Hicksville Union Free School District

Hicksville, New York
Notice Is Hereby Given that pursuant to the resolution of the Board of Education of Hicksville Union Free School District, Hicksville, New York adopted January 29, 1992, the Annual District Election of the qualified voters of this School District will be held on May 20, 1992, between the hours of 10:00 A.M. (D.S.T.) and 10:00 P.M. (D.S.T.) in the seven Election Districts, stated below, for the purpose of voting upon the following propositions(s):

Proposition No. 1

Shall the Budget approved by the Board of Education pursuant to Section 1716, be approved, and a tax on the taxable property of the District in the amount of such Budget, less State and Federal Aid and revenues from other sources be levied?

Proposition No. 2

In the event that the school district budget contained at Proposition No. 1 above is approved by the voters, shall the distance that students reside from the school they attend be for school bus transportation purposes as follows:

- Kindergarten through Grade 3 - those who live more than 1/2 mile from the school,
- Grades 4 through 5 - those who live more than 3/4 mile from the school,
- Grades 6 through 8 - those who live more than 1 1/4 miles from the school,
- Grades 9 through 12 - those who live more than 2 miles from the school.

No additional funding is required for the above beyond that stated in the budget.

Funds for said bus transportation are included within Proposition No. 1, however, the enactment of this Proposition is contingent upon the approval by the voters of Proposition No. 1.

Proposition No. 3

In the event that the voters approve the school district budget contained at Proposition No. 1 above, shall the sum of Forty Thousand ($40,000) Dollars be appropriated to the Gregory Museum for educational services associated with its programs and a tax be levied in that amount.

This Proposition is contingent upon the approval of the voters of Proposition No. 1.

Hicksville Hawks Update

By Al Bliker

The Hicksville Hawks travelling soccer team continued their undefeated season with a 1-1 tie against the Albertson Falcons, at windswept Grumman Field on April 5, in Under 19, Long Island Junior Soccer League play. They then proceeded to the third round of the New York State Cup, Under 17 Tournament, which will be played May 2, via a 6-0 pasting of the Rockville Centre Redmen, at the latter's field, on April 11. On April 12, in Hewlett, the Hawks steamrolled The Blue Thunder 7-0 in Under 17 League play.

The April 5 game was a defensive masterpiece on the part of both teams. The Hawks lone tally came off a Rich Kotschau corner kick, which was converted by Kevin Koehn, via a line drive goal. The game's next tally was also put in by Kotschau, but was called back due to a handball.

Their 1-0 lead held up until late in the game when the Falcons converted off a corner kick play. The April 11 game was settled in the first minute, as Earl Dennis scored off a David Baumritter setup. He quickly followed with a second score, and the route was on Rich Kotschau, off a Kevin Koehn feed and Baumritter, unassisted, closed out the first half scoring. The second half scorers were Stephen Fox, setup by Kotschau, and Baumritter, again, setup by Tommy Basaranlar.

The April 12 game featured total domination on the part of the Hawks over The Blue Thunder. Eric Bliker opened up the scoring with a solo charge, upfield, from left fullback. Baumritter scored his seventh goal of the season, set up by Basaranlar. Basaranlar then scored off a Fox assist. Fox followed with a tally setup by Neil Tomlinson. Danny Bell then scored off a Baumritter assist. Tomlinson then connected off a Lee Passavia setup. Passavia closed out the scoring assisted by Bell.

Dimitry Drouin, the Hawks goaltender, as usual, anchored three great defensive efforts. His play not only stops goals, but also sets up the offensive effort. Danny Longo, at right fullback, Mike Longo at stopper, and Scott McLaughlin, at halfback, all contributed to the Hawks fine effort. Congratulations to the Hicksville Hawks, Coach John Fitzgerald, Assistant Coach Pat McHugh, and Administrator Brian Koehn, for their great, undefeated soccer effort, which gives them a record of 4 wins, 2 ties. The Hawks look forward to the impending return of Ralph Schimmenti, from the injury list.

We'll do the rest!

Dental Health Assembly

Dr. Essner, a local dentist, visited with St. Ignatius Loyola school children on March 24. She spoke to the children in nursery through third grade on proper dental hygiene.

Accompanying Dr. Essner were many of her puppet friends. The puppets taught the children which foods were healthy for their teeth and which foods could cause cavity bugs.

Every child took home a coloring book and a brand new toothbrush, to care for their pearly whites!

Dr. Essner shows her giant toothbrush to Jennifer Ryan, David Sattler, Danny Rubertone, and Adam Hojnacki.

Music Director Honored

The Bethpage Memorial Day Parade Committee presented a Certificate of Grateful Appreciation to Mr. Fredric Cohen for 22 years of participation as band director in the Memorial Day Parade.

Mr. Cohen had worked in the elementary schools of Bethpage for 11 years coordinating band and music activities on that level until he was promoted to the High School in 1981. He was named Music Director of the Bethpage School District nine years ago and has provided leadership in all music programs, but especially in the Marching Band, Kickline, Orchestra and Chorus programs. The Kickline, "The Golden Girls," just won the Long Island championship in their division, an honor they have earned five out of the last seven years.

He leads the Golden Eagle Marching Band at the Newsday Band Festival each fall in a dynamic program and prepares for it carefully with the students in a special summer camp program. His leadership has expanded the number of course offerings in music at the High School, and his personal coaching has helped several of our students to receive County and State awards. This past year he served as New York State Chairman for the NYSSMA Festival, and he hosted the Nassau program here in Bethpage.

Mr. Cohen said, "I am very proud to be working in such an active and close-knit community like Bethpage. It is a wonderful feeling when dedicated community members like Charles Schwarz, Vito DeFanis and Kay Mazzie consider you worthy of such recognition."

Each year, the Bethpage Schools supply a marching band from each of the three elementary schools and its Junior and Senior High Schools. This type of cooperation is yet another example of why Bethpage is a very special community.

This year's parade will step off at 10 a.m., on Monday, May 25, from the Post Office on Central Avenue

Saint Ignatius Students Honors

Honor Students

The hard work of the students of Saint Ignatius Loyola was rewarded on March 18 and 19 when they received their report cards with their second trimester grades.

Students in grades four to eight who achieved an average of 96 or above and had excellent conduct were named to the Principal's List. These students were: Jamie Costello, Meaghan Kenny, Michelle Maier, Suzanne Smith, Lauren Sullivan, Alana Ample, Joseph Panarelli, Jonathan Sattler, Christina Wainer, Christopher Fingerhut, Joanne Smith, Omar Syed, Jason Ample, Christopher Lambot, Anthony Panarelli, and Michael Totino.

To be named to First Honors a student had to achieve a grade point average of 90-95 and have good conduct. The following students were named to First Honors: Thomas Periere, James Sferazza, Daniel Tergeesen, Meghan Keohane, Shannon McLaughlin, John Vaz, Bridget Donahue, Cydney Hayes, Jennifer Przybyszewski, Joseph Herb, Francesca Aquilia, Meghan Quinn, Melissa Zoleta, Antoniette Suppa, Nicholas Donahue, Ginamarie Palmiere, John Brannan and James Powderly.

The Effort Award for outstanding effort was given to Kara Lindsay and Dawn Vallone.

Congratulations to all of the students who worked so hard to achieve these distinctions!

Sheryl Kamholz Student Of Month

Sheryl Kamholz

Sheryl Kamholz, a Senior at Bethpage High School, was chosen as Student of the Month by the Elks Lodge. Methodical and hardworking, Sheryl has focused her efforts on her goal of being a lawyer working in the area of Civil Rights and Women's Rights. She first became interested in the field during her social Studies classes when she had to write a report on lawsuits dealing with "separate but equal" issues. She participated in Bethpage's Mock trial program serving as attorney for the Defense and then cross-examining witnesses.

She has always been a very involved student. This year, for example, she has served as treasurer of the Student Council, a director of the Student Civic Association, Assistant Editor of the Eagle's Cry, a Yearbook, and S.A.D.D. staff member, as well as being a Varsity swimmer, specializing in distance swimming. In the Student Civic Association, she was one of two students that met with students from twenty other schools to discuss environmental concerns and then worked a computer program on Earth-Net.

Her parents have supported her in whatever she has decided to do. Her mother, for instance, cheers her even when she comes in last. As a person, she sets specific goals for herself. In swimming, for example, though she competes in team competition as well as individual, her specific goal is always to beat her own previous "best time."

Fulfilling her dream, she was admitted to the Cornell School on Industrial Relations on an early decision basis and plans to work closely in the field of human relations. She is a hard worker and should be successful in reaching her goal as a lawyer.

Student Wins In Competition

In March, Charles Oliver of Bethpage High School competed in the annual Vica VI Regional Competition at New York Institute of Technology in Central Islip and placed 1st in Trade Electricity.

He will be going to the Con-

Town Reduces Pool Fees

The cost of purchasing individual memberships at each of the Town's four community park pools has been reduced this year, according to Councilman Leonard B. Symons.

"The Town Board has approved a fee schedule for membership at the Town's four community park pools, Bethpage, Marjorie R. Post (Massapequa), Plainview/Old Bethpage and Syosset-Woodbury, which not only holds the fee schedule at 1986 rates for family membership, but also reduces the rates for individual memberships and senior individual memberships," Councilman Symons stated. "Individual residents will save $20 on the new $70 rate while non-resident individual fees will be reduced to $85. Resident and non-resident senior citizen pool fees have been reduced $5 to $40 and $50 respectively and the Town Board has created a Handicapped Individual rate for those holding Social Security Medicare I.D. cards. The Handicapped Individual rate is $40 for residents and $50 for non-residents."

Councilman Symons added, "Resident families can still purchase a membership for $125 cord Hotel on April 29, 30 and May 1, to participate in the New York State competition. If a winner at the Concord, he will represent the State and go on to the national competition in June.

for the season while the non-resident family fee of $165 also remains unchanged."

"Summer 1992 promises pool side fun for people of all ages," Councilman Symons continued. "Once again, we have daily admission rates and guest books available as well as full season memberships."

Councilman Symons said that Town pools will open June 13 and will remain open through Labor Day, September 7. The hours of pool operation have been slightly reduced and reflect a savings of $28,500 in lifeguard salaries. From June 13 to June 30, Town pools will be open from 12 noon to 8 p.m. From July 1 to August 31, pools will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. On Labor Day, September 7, the hours will be from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"Registration forms for pool membership are expected to be going out April 27, with actual registration beginning May 23," Councilman Symons said. "Registration will take place at the parks Sunday, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Holidays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. On Tuesday and Thursday, registration will be from noon to 7 p.m."

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR AEROSPACE CAMP

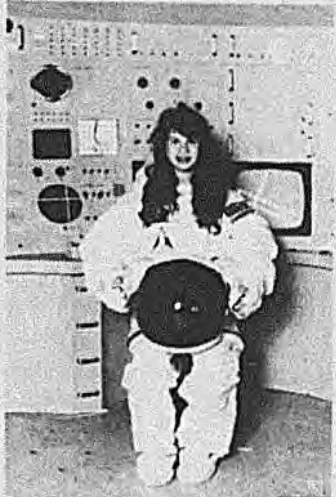

Applications are now available for a unique Aerospace Camp for boys and girls entering grades 5, 6 or 7 to be held at the Cradle of Aviation Museum in Garden City during the Summer.

The Camp has been very popular with the youngsters and suggested that parents sign their children up early. The Cradle of Aviation Museum, now in its formative stages, will eventually be the second largest air/space museum in the country.

The following activities will be available to youngsters who enroll in the four-day sessions:

- *Air and spacecraft simulations, including hands-on use of a Lunar Lander Simulator and airliner cock-pit simulator.
- *Anatomy of life support systems, including a chance to wear an authentic space suit.
- *Model rocket building and launching.
- *Planetarium sky show.
- *Hands-on instruction with selected aircraft from the Museum's collection.

Each camp session will be held from Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and begin on the following dates: July 6, 13, 20, 27; August 3 and 10. The tuition is $135 per session and covers counselor supervision, training material and equipment and lunch beverage. Students must provide their own lunch.

The Cradle of Aviation, a facility of the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, is located at Mitchel Field on Charles Lindbergh Boulevard in Garden City, adjacent to Nassau Community College.

For an application or further information, call 222-1191.

Distinguished Artists At Library

On Friday, April 24, the American Chamber Ensemble will be performing in the Bethpage Public Library, 47 Powell Avenue at 8:15 p.m., according to Oyster Bay Town councilman Leonard Kunzig.

"The American Chamber Ensemble comprises three renowned musicians," said Councilman Kunzig. "Naomi Drucker, a Hofstra faculty member, is a clarinetist who has performed throughout the world. At present, Ms. Drucker is the principal clarinetist of the Nassau Symphony and the New York Virtuosi, as well as co-director of the American Chamber Ensemble and the Drucker Trio.

"The other two members, Chris Finckel, cellist and Bernard Rose, pianist, are equally talented," Councilman Kunzig continued. "Chris Finckel has toured Europe, Austria and the Far East and has been involved in the premiers of more than forty composers' works. Bernard Rose, a graduate of Columbia and the Juilliard School of Music, is a dedicated teacher who has performed all over the United States. Mr. Rose is also the Director of Concerts at Sara Lawrence College."

Councilman Kunzig added that on Sunday, April 26, pianist Morton Estrin will hold a performance in the Jericho Public Library on Merry Lane at 3 p.m.

"We are very fortunate to attract someone of Mr. Estrin's incredible talent," Councilman Kunzig said. "He is a well known and loved recording artist, as well as a professor of music at Hofstra University."

"We will usher in the month of May with a performance by the famous Tanglewood Singers on Friday, May 1, at the Hicksville Library at 8:15 p.m.," Councilman Kunzig said. "Their much anticipated program begins with an "Oliver" medley and concludes with an "Oklahoma" cameo with numerous melodious pieces in between."

Councilman Kunzig added that The Tanglewood Singers comprises four exceptionally talented individuals. Soprano, Joy Hilborn has sung opera and pop concerts throughout the country and followed her successful New York concert debut with a recital in London. Norma Siran, Mezzo Soprano, has made numerous recordings and transcriptions for RCA, as well as made guest appearances with many symphony orchestras, including the New York Symphony and is on the staff of the Stacher & Horowitz School of the Arts. Tenor Herbert Pordum, has appeared with the City Center Opera Company and has been a featured artist with the Buffalo Philharmonic, the Boston Symphony and the Rochester Philharmonic. Bass-Baritone Gene Golluscio is a recipient of the Amato Scholarship and has concertized throughout New England.

Jottings From Yesteryear

I came across the name of Frank, a school friend, the other day that reminded me of the fellows that signed up for the Civilian Conservation Corps. CCC Camps for work during the 30's depression. Then there was Roosevelt's WPA - Work Progress Adm. The unemployed built roads, bridges and other projects, many of which are still in use. More alphabet was the NRA - National Recovery Act. Those days an old tire hanging from a rope on the tree limb was our swing.

In the early 50's a local Variety 5 & 10 Store between Nicholai and Marie Street, had a coupon for a free gift, no purchase needed. Having a dental appointment with Dr. Masek, I let my wife Eleanor off to get her gift and would meet her at the playhouse movie shortly. Matinees then had few people, she sat down alone until a man sat beside her with all the empty seats around. After about ten minutes she became a little nervous, when the man gave her an odd look, got up and moved several rows down. When I arrived she was relieved but puzzled until I realized the free gift in the bag on her lap had slid out of the bag onto the seat next to her. The gift was a carving knife.

When young traveling to and from Brooklyn they called the Sunrise Highway, Suicide Blvd. With all the serious accidents, deaths, fires and totaled cars, maybe Jerusalem Avenue should be changed to Suicide Blvd.

When we had that total blackout years back, my nephew thought he had caused it because the lamppost on their corner would not light unless the light weight pole was shook or bumped. When it flickered on then off he gave up and entered his house to find all lights out. Until the radio said what had happened, he blamed himself.

Gregory Museum's 4th Annual Science Fair Continued From Last Week

By Deborah F. Weintraub
On Saturday, March 21, the Hicksville Gregory Museum held its 4th Annual Science Fair in the Community Room of the Hicksville Public Library. As in past years, this year's experiments were extremely informative and students attending Hicksville Schools in (both public and private) in grades 1-8 were able to participate.

Beth. 'Torch' Third

"The Torch" the Middle School newspaper came in third in the Nassau Junior High School Division of the Newsday School Journalism Awards.

The newspaper staff went to Press Day workshops at C.W. Post College sponsored by the college, Newsday, and LISPA, Long Island School Press Association on March 25.

Special guest speaker, Stan Isaac, Newsday Sports Columnist spoke to all the writers at the conference.

The workshops the student reporters from John F. Kennedy Middle School attended were: Copy Editing with Newsday staff writer, Mr. Steigel, Feature Writing with Newsday's Warren Berry, the Entertainment Page with Newsday's writer Mr. Kaufman, Photography with Newsday's Mr. Killelea. Also workshops were led by C.W. Post professors and teachers such as Len Davenport, President of LISPA and advisor of Lynbrook High School Newspaper, "The Horizon" who led the Roundtable Issues workshop and Bethpage's Teacher, Debi Firestein, Treasurer of LISPA and advisor of John F. Kennedy Middle School's newspaper, "The Torch" who led the JHS/MS Journalism workshop dealing with goals and practical hints for successful journalism.

There was an on site News Writing Contest.

Two popular computer program workshops were: Macintosh/Page Maker and Desktop and Your Printer. Both of these workshops taught students how to work with the computer technology involved in journalism.

It was an exciting, educational and fun filled day for all, especially for the Newsday winners at JFK Middle School in Bethpage.

First Lt. Brian K. Nakamura has graduated from the 58-day Ranger course at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Columbus, Georgia.

The training is conducted at Benning, the mountains of northern Georgia, the desert at Fort Bliss, Texas, and in the Florida swamps. It is designed to develop confident and capable small-unit leaders.

Additionally, emphasis is placed on developing skills in the planning and conduct of ground, airborne, and waterborne patrolling operations.

Nakamura is the son of Douglas Nakamura of 427 Cole Place, Bethpage.

He is a 1985 graduate of Bethpage High School, and a 1989 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.

Curator Donald Curran watches on as Ian Fields explains "Temperature Germination."

David Rudin with his experiment on "Will Leaving an Important Ingredient Out of a Cake Recipe Make a Difference?"

Shaun Rajan and his experiment on "Light Refraction."

Jody Durkin explaining "Brine Shrimp" to Judge Richard Ranc.

Adam Smith setting up experiment on "How Air Pressure Works."

Ken D'Introno showing "How Sucrose, Fructose, and Aspartame Affect a Diabetic."

To the Editor:

Once again Mr. Pfaender, Mrs. Lafferty, and Mrs. Black found it necessary to continue their personal war against East Street School. Do they take it upon themselves to answer for the entire Board? It is perfectly clear they are driven to take every and any opportunity to 'bash' one of the district's elementary schools, when, in fact, if the district's buildings are in need of repair, it is the Board's responsibility to make sure these buildings are equally maintained.

I find it remarkable that, at this time, these three members of the Board would choose to quote portions from Stone Associates, and Bishop & Evans reports. They seem to pick and choose to use and make public only bits of these reports to suit their needs. These are the very reports they chose to ignore during the school closing process.

Mr. Pfaender stated publicly at the Board Meeting that he would like to close two schools - Dutch and East. When Mr. Evans clearly stated that, according to his research, closing two buildings would leave the District at least ten classrooms short, Mr. Pfaender said he DID NOT AGREE with Evans' demographics. How is it that Mr. Pfaender now believes that according to this same report, East Street School's enrollment will decline. In addition, these Board members tell us in their letter that East Street's current enrollment is 242 students. This is NOT correct. East Street's current enrollment is 281 students. I wonder what other falsehoods they would have this community believe?

As far as their fear of peeling paint and water damage, I am sure this community would rest assured if they had quoted the rest of that information from Stone Associates. The engineer's report stated that water damage of NO CONSEQUENCE was found in East Street AND Burns schools. I guess Mrs. Lafferty is not concerned with the peeling paint and water damage in Burns, since that is her neighborhood school - a school she fought to save from closing not so long ago.

As stated many times by Mr. Pfaender, Mrs. Lafferty, and Mr. Black, these reports are only 'pieces of the pie'. One must look at the importance of each piece of data. Is peeling paint a reason to close ANY building? I think not. Is the age of a building a reason to close it? Then we should close the Gregory Museum, Carnegie Hall, or perhaps Harvard University!

I'll quote you the MOST important piece to put in your pie, from Bishop & Evans' Final Report. "In order to preserve the neighborhood school concept, and to reduce the need for excessive student transportation, the geographic location of the schools to remain in service is IMPORTANT, particularly if these schools are geographically located in the four quadrants of a community, as is the case in Hicksville: for example; Burns, Woodland, East, Fork Lane, and Dutch Lane!" How can these board members call themselves "trustees" of our children when they would close East Street School because of its age even though a $45,000 report states East Street is SAFE and structurally sound (in some cases, more sound than other, newer buildings). These three board members fail to state East Street does have one of the newest and largest gyms and one of the largest all-purpose rooms. There is no valid reason to close East Street School, leaving only ONE school opened in the northeast part of town; Woodland School. Woodland School, under the current districting, cannot fit in more than a handful of East Street's students.

Letters

Mr. Black has his OWN redistricting maps (ignoring the professional redistricting maps this district paid for) sending almost the entire population of East Street to Lee Avenue

Letters

School. Will these "trustees" sleep easy at night when East Street children will be forced to cross over Plainview Road, Park Avenue, Old Country Road, and Broadway just to get to school? And what will they tell a parent if one of these children is injured? Sorry, but we wanted East Street closed because we felt your playground was not big enough!

I hope some people will come to understand this is not just an 'East Street' issue. East Street School has many merits. It has withstood the scrutiny of an engineer's report and has been named by Bishop & Evans as one school that should NOT be closed because of its location. If this school closes, the children will be the ones to pay! There may be something very wrong here in Hicksville, and that is a community issue.

Sincerely,
Dorrie Bennardo

Dutch Lane Writes To President Bush

Pupils Of The Ms. Marx' Class, Dutch Lane School, Hicksville: Michael Behr; Barbie Broshart; John Connelley; Christina Di Resto; Jennifer Elefonte; Edward Foley; Kathleen Fuentes; Michael Funk; Christian Graziose; Rebecca Gray; Nicholas Libock; Eleni Miglis; Thomas Porter; George Remy; Scott Rothbard; Renee Scozzari; Allison Seliger; Peter Tassone; Kimberly Waters; Rosemary Zollo

The students from Mrs. Marx' fourth grade class all wrote letters to President Bush, because they could not understand why we were helping the Russians when so many USA people need help! Below is one sample of a student's letter, and a response letter from the President.

The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500
Dear President Bush,

I am in the fourth grade and in Weekly Reader I read that Americans are helping Russians. Why are we helping Russians when there is starvation and homeless people in our country? You had better do something about it now! Russia may be poor but you should think about our country first. Starvation has plagued us for centuries and you can do something about it!

Sincerely,
Michael H. Behr

P.S.:
I hope you get re-elected.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington
March 25, 1992

Dear Girls and Boys:

Thank you for sharing with me your concerns about the homeless and the hungry in our society. Be assured that I am committed to bringing effective assistance to Americans who are in need of food and shelter. It is heartening to know that you want to help the needy in your community.

Part of achieving the American Dream is to ensure that all people have hope and opportunities to help themselves. Unfortunately, some people live with very little hope, and we must give them a helping hand. Solving the problems of homeless and hungry people is very complicated because individual circumstances vary, and there can be no single answer.

The Federal Government, through various agencies, helps homeless Americans with basic necessities: shelter, food, and social services such as mental health and drug counseling. In my 1992 budget, I have proposed additional funding of programs specifically designed to aid the homeless. I have also proposed "Shelter Plus Care" to provide housing assistance for homeless persons who are mentally ill or are recovering substance abusers.

There is also much that can be done to help the homeless and the hungry by local organizations and concerned young people like you. Together we can make a difference by howing that we care.

Sincerely,
George Bush

Awards And Ceremonies Night At Post 421

Photos, Story by Dick Evers

A large turnout of guests were on hand for the annual Awards and Ceremonies Night of the Charles Wagner Post 421 of the American Legion, Hicksville, at the Knights of Columbus Hall recently. Among the honorees were outstanding Nassau 2nd and 8th Precinct Police Officers nominated by their officers, and the Reverend Dominic K. Ciannella, Pastor of Hicksville's Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. Also honored were numerous Legionnaires who received long continuous service awards.

Post-Everlasting memorial services were a solemn moment to acknowledge the deaths of seven Post 421 members in the past year.

A buffet supper, music by the very talented Joe Ratto and dancing filled out the evening. Chairman for the affair was Past-Commander John Rizos. Among the community guests for the always popular affair were officers and ladies of the Joseph Barry Council Knights of Columbus, The William Gouse Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, The Masonic War Veterans and Nassau County Council, Vietnam veterans of America.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Do you think TV coverage of the Primaries has influenced the election results?

Input Callers Not Happy With Clinton

Most callers to Input think that Gov. Clinton will beat Pres. Bush if they are the two contenders for the Presidency in answer to this question: "Do you think Gov. Clinton has a good chance of beating President Bush?" Here are some answers:

Can't Win

I cannot see how the Democrats can ever expect to win with a candidate like Gov. Clinton. Pres. Bush has some things against him. First of all, the recession is proving to be a bigger problem than it appeared a year ago. If the recession gets worse Bush will be shaky. But even if Bush is on soft ground it will be difficult for voters to believe that Clinton can save the country. He has a credibility gap that keeps growing each day. I think the Democrats had better keep looking or they will remain out of the White House. M.V.

Bush Would Win

The polls show that Pres. Bush could beat Clinton right now. But they cannot predict what type of a campaign each contender will wage. Clinton has not come along as strong as most people would like but don't forget that before the nomination when Dukakis was named, Bush was portrayed as a wimp and it only took a few turns of the wheel to change things so that Bush became the leader and went on to a big victory. In other words, Clinton as an underdog, could turn around in a good campaign. G.F.

Brokered Convention

The Democrats would be better off going back to a brokered convention. The way things are now any incompetent can run and use up the valuable time with no possibility of being strong enough to win. When the politicians did the picking they were looking to win because their futures depended on it. The results of the open primary has been poor and if it continues, the Democrats may never be in the White House again. V.G.

Clinton Wins?

Clinton beats Bush decisively with respect to lying, weaseling and hypocrisy. He has no chance in an election, though. R.K.

Media Problems

Clinton has been a mess in his campaign. But much of it has been deliberately caused by the media. While the media often poses as a friend of liberals it does much to undermine them and bring up minor issues which are publicized into major ones. If the media continues to subject candidates to such intrusive reporting then we are going to have worse, not better, candidates. No self respecting people want everything about their lives questioned and put up for ridicule.

If you apply for any other type of position an employer cannot invade your private life. Why then do we allow this to happen to candidates? I don't really care who Clinton associated with. I do want to know how he plans to run the country and do a better job for more people than Bush has. If the press has its way we will pass up the good people and take only those who have dull lives and perhaps even dull minds. L.F.

Cuomo Needed

I am not sure that the primary is over and that Clinton has the nomination. A number of people who say they are political analysts say that it is all over but I find this hard to understand when Clinton does not have half of the delegates yet. I think Gov. Mario Cuomo is going to be drafted to the job and I think Bush will lose to Cuomo and it will not be close. D.C.

A Washout

Most people that I know can hardly believe that the Democratic party has nothing more to show than the candidates we have seen for the past three months. Not only do I not think Clinton will win, I do not think Tsongas would win nor Brown. So far it has been a washout. K.G.

Clinton For A Change

It would appear that if our deficit, our economy, unemployment, the crime situation etc. does not show improvement by November, George Bush will surely be beaten by Gov. Clinton. In spite of the negative publicity which Bill Clinton has so far received, he does offer a positive change, such as a deeper cut in defense spending, a better health care program, an end to the Reagan-Bush feud with Congress, a stop of ultra-conservative appointees to the Supreme Court and a more sensible approach to the abortion issue. Also to be considered is an end to the possibility of a Dan Quayle becoming president. C.K.

Too Early

Quite frankly, I don't feel that George Bush has accomplished all the things he was expected to which I and a lot of others felt he could and should bring to a head. Among them is the Gulf War which is far from being over - too many loose ends! But by far the biggest disappointment is the fact that we have not even begun to reduce the national debt. Simultaneously we are making serious promises to give substantial financial help to emerging democracies whose time-table for repayment is highly questionable. On the other hand, I can't even begin to get enthusiastic about Governor Clinton as a viable candidate in his own right quite apart from displacing President Bush. So, actually, I believe it is much too early to concede a victory for Clinton not alone whether he could defeat George Bush. Furthermore, there are a few formidable dark horses to be considered to wit, H. Rose Perot and even our Governor Mario M. Cuomo - not that I care for him but who has a flair for effective campaign rhetoric. Finally, there is the fact that Bush has a certain built-in popularity which is going to be difficult to overcome no matter who is the opposition. P.G.S.

Walt Whitman's Paumanok

by William Wrigg

This year the centenary of Walt Whitman's death will be marked by numerous cultural events throughout Long Island, especially between the dates of his death, March 26, and that of his birth, May 31, which occurred in 1819 in West Hills, a few miles outside Huntington Village.

Paumanok, the Indian name for Long Island, which Whitman adopted at an early age, meant much more than mere geography. It was for him a place to ramble, to teach in country schools and to experiment with country journalism. But, most of all, it became the symbolic nucleus around which his greatest work, The Leaves Of Grass, took shape.

After reading the first edition of Leaves of Grass, Ralph Waldo Emerson, America's leading writer of the time, commented: "This book must have had a long foreground somewhere for such a start." In tracing this "long foreground," one must go back to Whitman's early life on Long Island and the sights, sounds and experiences that became part of his very being.

There was his earliest experience of journeying down the wooded summits of West Hills through the rolling meadows to visit his maternal grandparents, the Van Velsors of Cold Spring. After a span of more than fifty years, Whitman could recall, the gray, shingle-sided house with its vast kitchen and huge fireplace. Even more pronounced were the memories of his jolly grandfather, the Major, waiting patiently while Grandma Van Velsor prepared the Sunday dinner in her cute Quaker cap.

When Walt turned five, his family moved to Brooklyn where he attended public school until his formal education ended at the age of twelve. During the next six years, young Walt worked in several Brooklyn print shops as a printer's devil, frequently sneaking off to holiday on his beloved Paumanok. One of his employers bitterly complained: "Young Whitman is constantly skipping off to rural Long Island."

By 1836, he was overcome by his longing for Paumanok and he secured a teaching position in Babylon and, then, in no less than seven other Long Island communities. It was the long spaces between school terms that afforded him time to indulge his favorite pastime, exploring the east end of Long Island. In summer, he gathered sea gull eggs on the sands of Peconic Bay; winter found him fishing through the ice of the Great South Bay, hauling in sweet, white-meated eels. Recalling these scenes years later, he wrote: "The shores of these bays, winter and summer are woven throughout leaves of grass."

But the greatest influence on Whitman's poetry was his frequent visits to Montauk with its atmosphere of storm and shipwreck. Here he would sit by the old lighthouse for hours on end, watching and listening to the pounding surf crash against the shoreline. It is not surprising that literary critics often compare the metre of Whitman's verse with the recurrence of lesser and larger waves rolling in, constantly rising and falling. Indeed, Whitman confirms this in his own words: "Once at Montauk, nothing but sea rushing in every direction, as far as the eye could reach, I knew that one day I must write of this mystic theme." He then goes on to state: "There is a dream that for years comes before me and I believe has entered into my practical life and certainly my writing.

It is a stretch of interminable sand with the ocean perpetually rushing in with rustle, hiss and foam. This scene, this picture, has risen before me at times for years. Sometimes I wake suddenly at night and can hear and see it clearly before me."

This makes it quite evident that the countless hours Whitman spent roaming Long Island's beaches were not wasted in idle loafing, as many of his family and friends thought; but, on the contrary, his receptive mind was absorbing the very tempo of the waves as they rushed on the shore.

If the surf pounding against Long Island's coastline provided Whitman with the metre of his poetry, it was as a rural school teacher and country journalist that he first became aware of the American character, the central theme of Leaves of Grass - "Americano! Conquerors! Humanitarians! For you a programme of chants." It was as a school teacher, boarding around, that he came close to the resolute farmers and villagers of rural Long Island. When Whitman left teaching to try his hand at journalism by founding "The Long Islander," he continued this close relationship with the rural folk of Long Island which he described as his deepest experience in human nature: "Never did I have happier jaunts than delivering my paper to Babylon and down the south road to Smithtown and back home to Huntington. The experience of those jaunts, the dear old farmers and their wives, the hospitality, the nice dinners, rides through the brush, the girls, the occasional evenings - all come to my mind to this very day." Here, then, was that lust for life, that delight in human nature which was gathering material for Leaves of Grass.

Whitman left Huntington for good soon after he turned twenty-one. His formative years were coming to an end and he was restless to experience - "Life immense in passion, pulse and power." The years ahead were to be spent in the teeming life of cities - New York, Washington and, lastly, Camden. But all too often this later association with cities obscured the initial importance of Long Island on his work. The truth of the matter is that Whitman's poetic metre and imagery were inspired by the natural surroundings of his beloved Paumanok, and also that he found in the sturdy inhabitants of its countryside the democratic spirit his poetry extolled.

Vegetarian View

By Margaret Winz-Peterson

Many Americans view dried beans and peas as "peasant food" — a filling meal only for the impoverished. How unfortunate because such culinary arrogance prevents them from enjoying a versatile, time-tested commodity, as rich in history as it is loaded with nutrition.

We now know why past civilizations survived and even flourished, albeit with diets that relied heavily on cooked dried beans and peas.

These plant foods (also known as legumes), the sweethearts of the new nutrition, are full of desirable complex carbohydrates.

They supply ample soluble fiber that appears to lower elevated blood cholesterol levels and other types of fiber that promote bowel function. Cooked dried beans and peas also provide valuable minerals and B vitamins.

Although legumes are naturally cholesterol-free and very low in fat, they should be eaten with grain products or a protein such as cheese to improve the nutritional value of their protein.

Many hesitate to eat cooked dried beans and peas because of resultant flatulence. Intestinal bacteria ferment undigested sugars and starches in legumes and produce gas. The problem arises more often in people who eat beans only occasionally because the digestive system does adjust to more frequent bean intake.

To add legumes to a diet with a minimum of intestinal discomfort, be sure to cook them thoroughly since uncooked starch is indigestible. Small portions should be consumed at any one time, and avoid gas-producing foods (like cabbage) at the same meal.

Choose varieties of legumes that produce less flatulence, such as lentils, split peas, black-eyed peas, lima beans, garbanzos and white beans. Tofu or soybean curd also pose little problem.

The long preparation time might stop many a cook from using more beans. Cut cooking time by presoaking the dried beans overnight. Or boil the dried beans for two minutes, remove from heat, cover and let stand for an hour. In either case, drain, rinse and proceed with the recipe for cooking.

Some stick to lentils, split peas and black-eyed peas, which need no presoaking and cook in about 30 minutes. Canned cooked dried beans are easiest, but convenience costs more in the checkout line. Remove extra salt from canned beans with a one-minute running-water rinse, or use them as is from the can in a recipe from which the salt has been omitted.

COLORFUL VEGETABLE SALAD

- 1 can (15-ounce) kidney or garbanzo beans, drained
- 3 cups cooked brown or white rice
- 1 large stalk broccoli, sliced and cooked until tender-crisp
- ¼ pound snow peas

"Reader Ratings"
The Last Word In Restaurant Guides

Where Our Readers
Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides and a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great, and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

Q. When ladies already seated at a luncheon table are introduced to each other, do they shake hands, seated, when they may conventionally do so?

A. No, they bow. In this country, there is very little shaking hands between women, although the hostess always shakes hands with her guests, male and female, and anyone acting the role of hostess, say a teacher at the school, a woman representative of a firm being visited by outsiders - would rise and shake hands with the visitors, women as well as men.

Q. There was a receiving line, with the hostess first in the line, and our representative next to her. As the guests entered I noticed that there was some confusion as to who should be greeted first - the hostess or the representative next to her. What is the rule when the host holds such a prominent position?

A. The rule is always the same. One greets first the person first in line, who is the hostess or the acting hostess, always shaking hands. Occasionally there is a line made up only of men, and in this case the first man encountered is the one one greets first. As a matter of fact, very often the most important guest, for whom the reception is given, is placed in the middle of the line.

Q. Is it proper to eat the little "extras" served with cocktails, such as olives or maraschino cherries, or should they be left in the glass?

A. It is perfectly all right to enjoy them along with the cocktail. If they are served on a toothpick that is what you can use to remove them. If not, finish your cocktail and then (as unobtrusively as possible) eat them with your fingers.

Q. Can you tell me the proper way to eat French fries? At a restaurant recently I saw a young man spear them with his fork and nibble them in mid-air. I found this appalling!

A. The best way to eat French fries is to cut them with the side of a fork into bite-size pieces. You are right-food should never be eaten while dangled in the air.

Desiree Viveca

Say 'cheesecake'

All the world loves a cheesecake, and the affair has been going on for quite some time now.

One of the world's oldest known cookbooks — written in Greece in A.D. 228 — contains a recipe for cheesecake. Locally produced cheeses were used, and Athenians were known to have many different methods of preparing the treat. In ancient Rome, wealthy patricians even brought in Greek chefs to prepare Athenian-style cheesecake for them.

Today, variations of this rich dessert are found the world over. A Russian version, known as pashka, is filled with raisins and candied fruit. (The original recipe is thought to have been imported through Byzantium into Russia during the spread of the Roman Empire.)

Centuries later, the French found out about cheesecake from the Russians. On a royal visit to Paris, Czar Alexander's entourage included his personal chef — now that's traveling in style! — who instructed Parisian cooks in the fine art of making pashka. But the French soon modified the recipe, producing a soft, creamy, heart-shaped dessert, and calling their new creation coeur a la creme.

In England, cheesecake tarts were once called "Maids of Honor" because the maids at the court of Elizabeth I were treated to these delicacies.

The cheesecake most Americans know and love (the kind made with cream cheese and eggs) was made popular in the United States by Jewish immigrants from the Balkans and eastern Europe, who brought with them a cheesecake recipe using white cheeses.

When a dairyman in upstate New York invented cream cheese in 1872, these immigrants incorporated the mild and creamy new cheese into their traditional recipes, and the modern cheesecake was born. Later, two New York City restaurants — Reuben's and Lindy's — became famous for their Jewish-American cheesecakes.

Versatile cheesecake can be served plain, with a light sprinkling of cinnamon or shaved chocolate, or piled high with fresh or canned fruit toppings. Whipped, lightly sweetened sour cream is also a tasty and decorative way to crown the dessert.

Variations of cheesecake have enjoyed world-wide popularity for hundreds of years, from ancient Greek times until the present. When you serve this rich and creamy dessert to your family or grab a piece of cheesecake on a midnight refrigerator raid, remember that you are serving up a slice of history.

Note: Never freeze cream cheese as this will alter the texture.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.

FRUIT-TOPPED CHEESECAKE

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¾ cup crushed graham crackers
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash ground nutmeg
- 1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 1 large egg
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 3 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 (21 ounce) can cherry or blueberry pie filling, or 1 (20-ounce) package frozen strawberries, thawed

Yields 6 to 8 servings

Preparation time: 10 minutes (plus standing and chilling time).

Cooking time: 12 to 14 minutes.

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power); MEDIUM-LOW (30 percent power).

Place butter or margarine in microwave-safe 9-inch round glass pie plate. Microwave at HIGH setting for about 1 minute, to melt. Add crushed graham crackers, flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir with fork to moisten. Press mixture firmly over bottom and halfway up sides of pie plate; set aside.

Unwrap cream cheese and place in a medium-size microwave-safe mixing bowl. Microwave for 1 minute on MEDIUM-LOW, or until cream cheese is soft. Add the ½ cup sugar, egg and lemon juice; beat with electric beaters until thoroughly blended. Pour mixture into prepared pie crust.

Microwave cheesecake at MEDIUM-LOW setting for 6 to 7 minutes. Let stand on heat-proof surface for 10 minutes, to partially cool.

Meanwhile, in small mixing bowl combine sour cream, 3 tablespoons sugar and vanilla extract; beat with electric beaters until smooth. Spoon topping evenly over cheesecake. Microwave 4 to 5 minutes on MEDIUM-LOW, or until set.

Let stand on heatproof surface until cool, then chill several hours or overnight. Top individual portions with fruit of your choice, or serve fruit on the side.

FOR TEENS

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Dr. Abraham: I'm a 13-year-old girl, and there is a boy who likes me, and I like him heaps. He is my age.

I've read a lot about sex, but I think I have a way of being with him that won't create any problems. It also gives me some pleasure, and I know it does to him, too. But you may think it is foolish.

He puts his arm around me and I get close to him. He also holds hands with me even though they get kind of slippery after a while.

I'm certainly satisfied, and he seems to be.

What do you think about this? — Our Sex

Our Sex: You're satisfied, apparently he is and I think it's just fine and not at all foolish.

You're a doll for sharing this with me.

Dr. Abraham: I'm so envious of my best friend for one good reason. She has straight, blond, shiny, beautiful hair, while mine is curly, dark and dingy. I'd like mine to be like hers so much that I could scream.

I'd like to dye and straighten mine, but my mother says it would look terrible with my dark skin and eyes. If I insist, she says I should wait until I'm old enough to move out of the house and am on my own.

I have other friends who have dark curly hair and they don't seem to be upset about it. I guess that is because maybe their best friend isn't blond and beautiful. — Dark Headed Dark Headed: How about talking this over with the person who cuts your hair and see what ideas he or she has that may be able to please you and also satisfy your mother? They may not result totally in "straight, blond, shiny, beautiful hair," but his or her suggestions might be helpful.

As a movie fan, I can't help thinking about some of the dark-haired favorites I've had, like Ava Gardner, Myrna Loy, Merle Oberon, Elizabeth Taylor and Norma Shearer.

Beauty is far more than hair. It can have depth as well as personality, charm, humor, sensitivity and feelings for others. You might consider such characteristics as well as the color and texture of your hair.

Dr. Abraham: I really need your help because I'm confused about my boyfriend. There are so many things about him that seem to be gay. Most of the guys he hangs out with are that way and he seems to like their company more than he likes mine.

For example, he always hangs out with two guys who live in a one-bedroom apartment. They only have one bed and good-paying jobs, so there is no excuse for that. He'll go to their apartment and won't show up at my house like he promises.

There is this other guy who I know is gay who lives out of town; he went and picked him up, and the guy stayed at his house for a couple of days and they both slept in the same bed instead of his friend sleeping on the couch. Then he told me that he was tired of him, but when the guy went home he picked him up the next weekend.

That all makes me feel like he is hiding something. I don't know for sure whether to think he is gay or not because we are engaged to be married. My friends keep telling me that he is just using me as a cover-up because he doesn't want anybody to know about his other side. If I talk about his friends being gay, he gets really mad at me. I am starting to believe that he is that way himself.

What do you think I should do? Please print this in your column because it is very important to me. — Confused

Confused: You seem to have a strong need for discussing this entire matter in depth with someone who knows you well and whose opinion you respect. A present or former school counselor or someone to whom that individual refers you may provide that role for you.

I hope you will seek that help as soon as possible.

In the meantime, please try to put your relationship "on hold," with no marriage on the schedule until you are more comfortable with your involvement with him or the decision to terminate it. A serious uncertainty should never be an element between two people, or for either one of them, if they are thinking of a lifetime together.

Spring is time for asparagus lovers

By Charles Britton

In a local supermarket the other day, I was paying homage to the new asparagus harvest. I stood intently by the produce counter and carefully chose this spear over that one, reaching for the fat stalks that I prefer.

Another devotee soon joined me, and she went for the thin spears.

"What's the matter with her?" I thought. "Doesn't she realize that the thick ones are best?"

"What's the matter with him?" she thought. "Doesn't he realize that the thin ones are best?"

I happen to know what she thought, because we struck up a conversation about it (you meet some of the nicest people around produce counters).

"Aren't the thick ones tough?" she asked.

"No, no," I said. "Anyway, I peel them."

She shook her head at my misguided tastes. I have to admit that the matter boils down to personal preference. The fat spears are just as tender as the thin ones but more succulent; the thin ones have a more pronounced flavor, fit better in some recipes and usually are less expensive. To each his own.

The Fats and the Thins can agree on substantial common ground: Fresh asparagus demands care in selection and preparation.

• Selection. The spears should be firm and fresh-looking. The butt end should be standing in water or, at least, should not be dried out. Ideally, you should be able to select individual spears, but usually you find asparagus already tied in bunches. In any event, look for tips that are smooth and closed. This indicates the youngest and tenderest stalks.

Allow five or six large spears per serving — more for real enthusiasts.

• Storage. Keep the ends moist by wrapping in damp paper towels, enclosing in a plastic bag and placing in the refrigerator, where asparagus should hold for three or four days. Alternatively, trim off the butt ends to expose new flesh; place the spears in a large measuring cup or other deep container with a couple of inches of water, as though the asparagus were flowers. Insert a plastic bag over the spears as a kind of tent. Place the covered asparagus in the refrigerator.

• Peeling. According to the common method of preparing asparagus, the cook snaps off the bottom of the stalk where it breaks readily. This procedure has the virtue of ease, but it wastes a third to a half of an expensive vegetable.

Chefs the world over peel the stalks. Thereby, you can usually eat the whole spear. I won't try to tell you that the job is fun, but it's simple enough and goes quickly with a little practice. For this, you will need spears of some thickness. Very thin spears are impractical to peel.

First, determine how long you want your asparagus to be. There's no point in keeping them longer than will fit into the pot or onto the plate. Trim the butt ends so that the stalks are all of the chosen length.

Next, plunge the asparagus into a sink full of cold water to dislodge any grit.

Hold each stalk tip end down. With a small, sharp knife, shave off the tough skin from the lower third or so of the stalk. If the skin is green, only this needs to be removed. If the stalk is pale and woody, go deeper — a 16th of an inch or more. You can use a vegetable peeler for this, but it is not as efficient as a knife.

If the peeled asparagus is not to be cooked immediately, stand it in a container with water.

• Tying. When asparagus is to be boiled in a large pot of water or steamed, tying it in bundles makes it much easier to retrieve and to serve. Tie the stalks in batches that you can encircle with your thumb and forefinger. Use two lengths of string, each about a third of the way along the stalk.

• Cooking. Numerous methods have been developed for cooking asparagus, each with its partisans. You can buy special narrow pots so that the tips steam while the rest of the stalk boils. But I have never seen the point of such apparatus, and I advise the following methods, none of which calls for single-purpose equipment.

• Boiling. The French bring a large pot of water to a rolling boil — the more water, the better — and simply drop in the tied bunches of asparagus. Bring the water back to the boil as soon as possible, then reduce the heat to a slow boil.

Do not cover the pan; this will cause the asparagus to take on a olive drab color.

Many standard cookbooks say to boil the stalks for 12 to 15 minutes. This is far too long. I generally cook them for 5 minutes or so. I start timing when the asparagus goes into the pot. This procedure assumes that you have a large quantity of boiling water so that the temperature is not too much reduced when the vegetable goes in. The stalks should retain a hint of crispness.

When done, lift the asparagus from the water (this is where tying the stalks pays off) and drain well. Place the bundles, still tied, on a serving platter, cut the strings and the stalks will fall into neat stacks.

Alternatively, you can boil asparagus in an inch or so of water in a covered frying pan. I don't think this method works as well. You have to leave the stalks loose, and you can cook only a single layer of asparagus at a time.

• Steaming. This is a very effective technique if you have a wok with a steamer rack. Results are the same as with boiling, but it's quicker, because it takes less time to heat the smaller volume of water necessary.

Bring about 3 inches of water to a rapid boil in a wok with a lid and a steamer rack. Place the asparagus, bundled or loose as you choose, on the rack. Cover and steam over brisk heat for 5 to 8 minutes. There's no need to drain the asparagus with this method.

• Stir-frying. This technique results in asparagus so fresh-tasting and tender-crisp that it's almost like a different vegetable.

For stir-frying, the stalks must be cut into lengths of about 1/4 inch. Hold the knife on a slant to produce lengths with long diagonal ends.

Heat 1 to 2 tablespoons of cooking oil in a wok or large frying pan with a lid. Add the asparagus pieces and rapidly toss and stir them over high heat until the vegetable turns a bright green, about one minute. Add 3 tablespoons of water and immediately cover the pan. Steam vigorously for 2 minutes. Adjust heat so that the water boils away in this time but the asparagus does not brown.

Remove cover. If liquid remains, rapidly boil it away. Serve immediately.

• Microwave. Place 1 pound of asparagus in a shallow, non-metallic baking or serving dish. Cover tightly with plastic wrap. Cook on high for 4 minutes, 15 seconds. For 1/2 pound, cook for 2 minutes 30 seconds; for 2 pounds, 7 minutes. When done, remove wrap, salt to taste and serve.

• Serving. Hot asparagus is wonderful just as it is. Long spears also may be served with butter or hollandaise sauce, made according to your favorite recipe. To serve asparagus cold, arrange the spears in a single layer on absorbent paper; when cool, refrigerate.

Cold asparagus may be served with vinaigrette (oil and vinegar dressing) or folded into an omelette.

• White asparagus. The fat spears of white asparagus are favorites in Europe but rarely seen here. Should you come across them, you will be startled by the price, for they rank as a very classy luxury indeed. They may be prepared in the same way as regular asparagus.

Is it possible to tire of plain asparagus? If so, here are some more elaborate recipes. The first two are winners from the recipe contest sponsored by the Stockton, Calif., Asparagus Festival.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY ENCHILADAS

- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 dozen flour tortillas
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup flour
- 3 to 4 cups chicken broth
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1/2 cup green taco sauce
- 3 cups grated jack cheese
- 3 cups cooked chicken, shredded
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 to 3 pounds cooked asparagus

Yields 6 servings.

In large frying pan, heat oil and cook tortillas one at a time to soften. Set aside to cool and drain.

Preheat oven to 425 F. In saucepan, melt butter and then blend in flour. Add chicken broth until thick and bubbly. Add sour cream and taco sauce. Heat thoroughly.

On each tortilla, place a handful of cheese, chicken, some onion, plenty of asparagus and 3 tablespoons of the sauce. Roll tortilla, place seam side down on a baking dish. Sprinkle with any remaining cheese and remaining sauce. Bake for 25 minutes.

ASPARAGUS LASAGNA

- 1 to 2 pounds asparagus, trimmed and cut into bite-size pieces
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 12 ounces fresh mushrooms, chopped
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon red pepper
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1 (8-ounce package) lasagna noodles
- 2 cups cottage cheese
- 8 ounces jack cheese
- Pepper to taste
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese (or more)

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Cook asparagus until tender; drain and let cool. Melt butter in medium-size saucepan. Add onions and mushrooms to butter. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until tender, about 5 minutes. Blend in flour, salt and red pepper. Gradually stir in milk; cook until thickened, another 5 minutes.

Preheat oven to 325 F. Cook lasagna noodles according to package instructions. Spread 1/2 cup of the creamed mushroom sauce in greased 13x9-inch pan. Layer noodles, asparagus, cottage cheese, jack cheese, mushroom sauce, pepper to taste and Parmesan cheese to make 3 layers. Bake for 45 minutes. Let stand 20 minutes before cutting.

Passionflowers and 10 good Apostles

Q. I was enthralled with the description of the passionflower in your column recently. However, in the part about the 10 petals referring to the 10 Apostles, I was under the impression the number of Apostles was 12.

A. The inflorescence of the passionflower is said to be symbolic of aspects of the Passion of Christ. The 10 petals were seen as the 10 good Apostles (excluding Peter and Judas), or, according to other views, the Ten Commandments.

The five upper petals were linked to five main events (birth, suffering, death, interment and hell). The three-colored corona represents the purple cloak in which Christ appeared before Herod. The center of the corona is white; Jesus was sent back to Pontius Pilate (by Herod) in a white cloak. The brown interior represents the seamless linen cloak. The stigma, the sponge and below the stigma are the five wounds.

The cross of the stigmata symbolizes the three nails with which Christ was nailed to the cross and the stalked ovary, the Lord's goblet.

Q. Recently, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus was in our town. I saw advertised at the end of the circus that exotic manure ("zoo doo") was being give away free to anyone willing to wield a shovel.

To your knowledge, is there anything more beneficial in using zoo doo than using regular manure fertilizer?

A. Scientifically speaking, I haven't analyzed the digestive juices of wild animals. But when you consider that elephants and giraffes eat almost the same grasses as a horse or cow, you would figure that the manure would be somewhat similar. However, lions and tigers are meat eaters, so that manure would be completely different.

Speaking from personal experience, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus was in my town several years ago. Being the game person that I am, I grabbed my shovel and filled several sacks with zoo doo. I must say the results were fabulous. The following year, my garden was superb.

I also had a letter from an 80-year-old gentleman who lived in upstate New York and reported to me that when he was a boy, his father had a small circus in Times Square. The circus' elephant, Dolly, became famous in his town in upstate New York for supplying the region's fertilizer. As the story goes, the vegetables fertilized by Dolly were the biggest and best that anyone had ever seen.

So my advice to you is: Whenever the circus comes to town, grab your shovel and take advantage of the free offer. Please keep me informed as to your results.

TOAD TIP

For years, I've been collecting toads in early spring from nearby ponds. To make them feel welcome, I save broken clay pots and sink them upside down in a shady, cool section of my garden where water tends to pool after a good rain. I also leave shallow plates of water out for my toads to sit in.

Every garden needs a good toad because they eat oodles of insects, such as ants, beetles, moths, caterpillars, slugs and squash bugs. The male toad has a lovely song from late March to early November, helping to keep my garden pest-free all season long.

Garden Talk

GARDEN TIPS

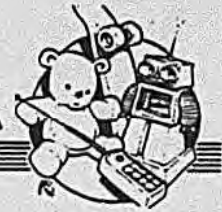

In praise of toads

- Toads are good gardeners because they feast on ants, beetles, moths, slugs and other plant pests.
- Attract toads by sinking broken clay pots upside down in a shady, cool section of the garden.
- Choose an area where water tends to puddle after it rains.
- Toads also like to sit in shallow plates of water in a cool area.

Nutrition and academic performance

Q. Do you think there is a relationship between a child's grades in school and his diet? My wife goes kind of bonkers on this subject, but I think she is going off the deep end. To listen to her, you'd think that all our kid has to do is eat well and he will be the smartest in his class.

I don't agree with that, but I need your input. Who is right? I sure hope you're on my side.

A. I don't like to straddle the fence on any issue, especially one as important as this, but I will a little bit, anyway.

That's because I feel that what children eat can affect their behavior and school performance, but it isn't the whole picture. The total home environment, parental attitudes and involvement, the teachers children have and their physical health and sleep patterns are among the other factors that can influence their school records.

Supporting your wife's point of view to some extent (and it may be of interest to you, too) is a new book titled "Eating for A's" (Pocket Books), which includes "a delicious 12-week nutrition plan to improve your child's academic and athletic performance." Its authors are Dr. Alexander Schauss, Barbara Friedlander Meyer and Arnold Meyer.

The link between diet and school performance is convincingly spelled out. We all know, or should know, that the food we eat relates directly to our total health. The emphasis in this book closes in on the food/school issue, with specific menus that families (and school lunch-room personnel) might want to consider.

Q. I've heard that there is some kind of government agency that publishes materials about safety for children, and they are free. The "free" item isn't what is important; the materials are — if they are practical and will protect kids.

We have five of them, and I guess I don't have to tell you that we just don't have enough eyes and ears to keep them healthy and with no broken bones. It is a constant struggle, which we have won (so far!), but we need all the help we can get.

Do you have any idea how we can obtain those materials, like maybe giving us an address? Thank you.

A. You are probably referring to the federal Consumer Product Safety Commission. Their address is simply Washington, DC 20207.

By writing to them you can get single copies of their publications and, perhaps, a list of all of them.

Here are some of the titles I've seen:

- "Tips For Baby's Safety."
- "Children and Pools: A Safety Checklist."
- "Handbook for Public Playground Safety."
- "The Safe Nursery" (a booklet to help avoid injuries from nursery furniture and equipment).

We would be closer to a safe world for children if others were on your monitoring wavelength.

Age-old remedies for New Age cure

By Jason Zappe

As health-care costs skyrocket, most people would prefer to take care of the problem at home without the need for overpricedalers.

The most common method of home treatments involves following the practices of folk remedies and New Age ways of healing. However, these methods are often scoffed at. At least, until recently.

In addition to rising health-care costs, people are also looking at more natural ways to live their lives. One way is to use herbs in healing instead of popping various over-the-counter pain relievers.

And as people adhere to healthier, more nature-based lifestyles, they are finding that New Age and folk remedies are based on the natural healing ways of using herbs and other natural products.

In their new book "Live and Be Well" (HarperPerennial), Joan and Lydia Wilen offer up a cornucopia of various ways to heal thyself without checking into Our Lady of Perpetual Money.

The Wilen sisters cover quite a lot of ground that includes appendicitis, blisters, canker sores, cholesterol, fatigue, menopause, memory, hiccups, shingles, prostate, sleep disorders, stiff neck, ulcers and warts, just to name a few.

In addition to helping humans overcome their problems naturally, they also include a section on natural healing methods for pets.

Some of their pet tips include:

- Fleas: To rid your pets of fleas, try adding some brewer's yeast to their food. Brewer's yeast is a good source of B-1, and fleas seem to hate it. Another hint is to put garlic in their food.

- Itching: They recommend dabbing on some apple cider vinegar.

- Ear mites: Look in your pet's ear and if you see crud that resembles coffee grounds, puncture a vitamin E capsule and gently rub it in.

For humans, the Wilen sisters offer much more comprehensive recommendations for all that ails you. But the Wilen sisters caution readers who want to follow their remedies that the book should be used solely under the guidance and supervision of a qualified health professional.

And they also state that even though they wanted to combine New Age with age-old remedies "the more research we did the more we realized that in many instances, New Age is Age-Old, rediscovered and given a new name," they write.

Their handy reference guide to common ailments is arranged alphabetically and following are a few of their remedies.

COLDS/FLU

- Age-Old: These include garlic around your neck, eating a raw Spanish onion before bedtime or taking garlic/onion perles.

- New Age: Color therapy involves wearing a red scarf around your neck to speed up the healing process. Gem therapy suggests you use a blue-green stone.

HEADACHES

- Age-Old: If the headache is over one eye, take a clothespin and put it on the lobe of the ear on the same side as the headache. You can also massage two drops of peppermint oil on your temples.

- New Age: For gem therapy, rub an amethyst stone on your forehead. For acupressure, place your third finger an inch above the bridge of your nose and massage the area in a circular motion.

MEMORY

- Age-Old: Take ginkgo capsules. Eat garlic. Throughout the day, drink two to three cups of rosemary tea.

- New Age: Gem therapy recommends wearing or carrying amethyst or amber calcite or both together. Aromatherapy recommends keeping crushed caraway seeds nearby and taking a whiff every so often.

SINUSES

- Age-Old: During a sinus attack, chew a 1-inch square of honeycomb for about 10 minutes. Drink fenugreek-seed tea. Apply an ice pack to the bridge of the nose. Inhale saltwater.

- New Age: Reflexology recommends using the inside top half of your thumb to apply pressure to the roof of your mouth. Acupressure recommends massaging the base of your three smallest toes.

SORE THROAT

- Age-Old: Suck on an olive. Throughout the day drink, horehound tea. Eat a few slices of pineapple.

- New Age: Acupressure suggests massaging the area between the thumb and index finger. Aromatherapy recommends inhaling the vapor of essential pine oil that has been added to a pot of boiling water.

FATIGUE

- Age-Old: Eat a handful of sunflower seeds. Try eating bee pollen, but make sure you're not allergic to it first. Eat foods rich in vitamin C. Take a B-complex vitamin.

- New Age: Aromatherapy recommends putting a drop of allspice or cinnamon oil on the inside of your wrist and take a whiff every time your eyelids weigh down on you.

CUTS AND WOUNDS

- Age-Old: For minor cuts, first rinse with water and dress it with any of the following: crushed geranium plant leaves, goldenseal powder, papaya pulp, cayenne pepper, moist tea leaves, wet pouch of tobacco or aloe vera plant leaf gel. Put raw honey on a cut until you can get medical attention. For scarless healing, remove the skin from the inside of the raw egg and place the wet side over the cut.

- New Age: For some reason, the Wilen sisters didn't have any New Age remedies for cuts and wounds. Maybe New Age thinking is to rush to the hospital.

These are just a sampling of the bounty of remedies. And even if you aren't ready to try any of them, the book makes for great reading.

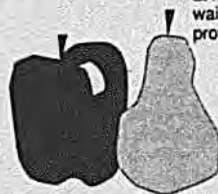

HEALTH WATCH

'Apple-shaped' women have greater health risks than 'pear-shaped' women

"Apple-shaped" women carry their weight in their tummy instead of their hips, while "pear-shaped" women carry their weight in their hips. The pear-shaped woman will face fewer health risks than her apple-shaped cousin.

To calculate a waist/hip ratio: Measure waist at narrowest part, hips at widest. Dividing waist measurement by hip measurement will provide the waist/hip ratio.

HELP YOUR HEART RECIPES

American Heart Association

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan that would not include more than 30 percent of daily calories from fat.

Cinnamon Orange Pancakes

Jump-start your day with a hearty and healthful serving of this breakfast dish.

¾ cup	all-purpose flour	¾ cup	fresh orange juice
2 Tbsp.	wheat germ		Egg substitute
1 cup	whole-wheat flour		equivalent to 1 egg
2 tsp.	baking powder	1 tsp.	grated fresh orange peel
1 Tbsp.	sugar		Vegetable oil spray*
1 tsp.	ground cinnamon
1 cup	skim milk

In a mixing bowl, combine all dry ingredients and mix until well-blended. In another bowl, combine all liquid ingredients and orange peel. Stir well. Pour liquid ingredients mixture into dry ingredients and stir only until moistened.

Preheat griddle or skillet for pancakes. Spray lightly with vegetable oil. For each pancake, pour ¼ cup of batter onto griddle or skillet. Turn each pancake when edges are dry and bubbles appear on top. Serve hot.

Makes 6 servings.

* Do not use vegetable oil spray near an open flame or a heat source. Read directions on can before using, and follow directions carefully.

Tangy salads — Hollywood style

At Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel's Theodore Room the other day I faced a menu with a choice of 10 salads. This Los Angeles landmark has come a long way, moving from a hangout of the stars to updated chic.

At one time, the Roosevelt was a place to see movie stars. Clark Gable and Carole Lombard rendezvoused here. The first Academy Awards presentation took place in the Roosevelt's ballroom.

Some 60 years later, spruced up, the Roosevelt is back in style, looking enough like its old self to spark nostalgia. But not in the kitchen. Chef Nandu Mondkar is with it. He changes menus with the season while staying true to California's demand for fresh light meals.

The salads speak for themselves. His Chinese Chicken Salad is a favorite. The Shrimp Salad with Garlic Rice Vinaigrette will never go off the menu, and the Duck Salad with Citrus Dressing is special. All three of them float to the table, calorie affordable. Equally important, they are quick and easy to manage.

SHRIMP SALAD WITH GARLIC RICE VINAIGRETTE

24 medium-size shrimp
2 heads Belgian endive
2 heads radicchio
2 bunches frise or butter lettuce

Dressing:
½ cup rice vinegar
¾ cup olive oil
¼ teaspoon tarragon
¼ teaspoon minced garlic
Salt, pepper, sugar to taste

Yields 4 servings.

Each serving has about 200 calories, 70 milligrams cholesterol, 1 gram fat, 195 milligrams sodium.

Drop shrimp in boiling water, turn down heat and simmer for about 6 minutes until shrimp are pink. Remove at once and drain under cold running water to stop cooking. Peel and devein shrimp and set aside.

Shred endive, radicchio and frise or butter lettuce into bite-size pieces. Put vinegar in bowl and whisk in olive oil, tarragon and garlic and season to taste. Pour dressing over greens and toss to coat. Divide among individual salad plates, top with shrimp and serve.

DUCK SALAD WITH CITRUS DRESSING

3 grilled, skinless duck breasts
1 pound mixed greens, washed and dried
6 yellow roma tomatoes
6 red roma tomatoes

Dressing:
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup lime juice

¼ cup orange juice
1 cup olive oil
1 teaspoon lemon zest
1 teaspoon lime zest
1 teaspoon orange zest
Salt, pepper, sugar to taste

Yields 6 servings.

Each serving has about 300 calories, 11 grams fat, 102 milligrams and 175 milligrams sodium.

Cut duck breasts in thin strips. Do same (julienne) with mixed greens. Coarsely chop tomatoes.

Put juices in a bowl and whisk in olive oil. Add zests (colored part of skin, only, grated) and season to taste. Pour dressing over greens and toss. Divide among individual plates and top with duck and tomatoes.

CHINESE CHICKEN SALAD

1 head napa cabbage
2 leeks
4 carrots
¼ pound snow peas
3 grilled skinless chicken breasts
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 (4-ounce) package rice noodles

Dressing:
2 tablespoons honey
¼ cup sesame oil
¼ cup olive oil
¼ cup rice vinegar
Salt, pepper to taste

Yields 6 servings.

Each serving has about 400 calories, 14 grams fat, 102 milligrams cholesterol and 120 milligrams sodium.

Cut vegetables in strips (julienne). Do same with chicken breasts.

Fill large frying pan with vegetable oil and place over medium heat until a drop of water crackles when dropped in. Dump in rice noodles a handful at a time. Remove with slotted spoon or spatula as noodles expand and turn white. Place on paper towels.

Put honey and sesame oil in a bowl and whisk in olive oil and rice vinegar. Season to taste. Combine vegetables and grilled chicken breast. Pour over dressing and toss. Divide among individual plates and top with rice noodles.

Q. We are in the process of re-decorating an older home where several rooms have been covered with wallpaper and then painted over without the removal of the paper. Can you recommend an effective, easy way to remove the painted wallpaper so we can prepare the surface adequately for new paint?

A. Wallpaper removal often is a slow and tedious task. It can be a very messy job, particularly in your case, where paint has been applied over the paper. If the paper was the strippable variety, it will be easier to remove than a non-strippable product.

Start by loosening a corner of the paper with a broad knife and then slowly work at peeling the paper away from the wall. If it will not peel off, score it in a small cross-hatch pattern with a wallpaper tool such as "The Paper Tiger" available from a wallpaper dealer or paint dealer.

Use caution when adjusting the blade, so that you cut through the layers of paint and paper, but avoid gouging the wall surface underneath.

The key to removal of a non-strippable paper is moisture. Repeated soaking or steaming of papered surfaces is the only way to break the bond of the old adhesive holding the layers of wall coverings to the wall.

The cross-hatching allows moisture to get behind the paper and soften the adhesive. The paper can then be loosened with a broad knife using care not to gouge the wall.

The most popular method of applying moisture is steaming, using a rented machine designed specifically for this purpose. The machine has a perforated plate, similar to an iron, which is held next to the wall to literally steam the paper until the adhesion breaks and the paper loosens.

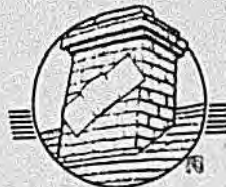

Black & Decker has introduced a new portable paper steamer, Steamworks, which is lightweight and somewhat easier to use than the bulkier rental products. Steamworks retails for approximately $50 at major home centers, hardware stores or paint and wallpaper dealers.

Another method is to use hot water with a sponge or garden sprayer. Instead of plain water, you can use a commercial wallpaper remover. This is a liquid enzyme remover that actually attacks the glue and breaks down its molecular structure, making the job much easier.

A key to removal is to steam or soak the paper long enough so that the moisture penetrates through to the adhesive. If you don't wait long enough for the paper to loosen, there's too much resistance and you can end up gouging the wall.

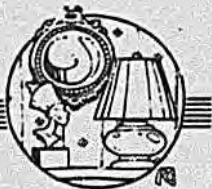

However, on drywall you do not want to soak any more than necessary. It's a tricky procedure of soaking the top layer just enough so it starts turning loose and coming off without damaging the underlying face of the wallboard.

Once the paper is removed, scrape and scrub off any remaining adhesive using a fresh solution of wallpaper remover and hot water, the broad knife and a nylon scrubbing pad. Give the wall a

Q. I happen to love the English country house look but live in a modern apartment with wall-to-wall carpeting (left by the previous tenants) and totally plain walls. There aren't even any moldings around the windows.

We don't own the apartment, so I can't think about built-ins. What else can I do? — T.A.

A. Invest in furnishings you can take with you: bookcases that look like built-ins, but aren't, for one example. Another: Large case pieces like armoires and secretaries, pieces with real visual "heft," are hallmarks of the English country look, which draws much of its charm from warm woods and a melange of patterns and textures.

The room we show here offers an innovative idea you might adapt. Never mind that it's not in an apartment (it's from the Masco show houses designed by Miller and Jedrzejewski, a creative team from Salt Lake City). The two large cabinets are linked by a window seat to create a complete "architectural unit" that gives presence to the entire wall.

The window seat, with its heaps of pillows, could be carpentermade, or it could be a low chest topped with a long cushion. Without it, you can imagine, you'd just have two big cabinets; with it, you have the look of built-in character.

Best of all, of course, all three elements can move on when you do.

Q. The kitchen in our new condo has a pass-through to the living-dining room, but when I'm working on the counters along the opposite wall, all I see are cabinets. They're white-painted wood but, still, I feel closed in and out of the fun.

Is there anything I can do? — S.T.

A. Consider having the back splash between the cabinets and counter tops covered in panels of mirror. It will be too low to reflect the view, of course, but you'll be surprised at how mirrors open up space, both visually and emotionally.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked
St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3 Our Fathers,
3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. M.F. gcap3

HOLY SPIRIT WHO SOLVE
all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately.
Thank you Holy Spirit. A.R.C. gcap3

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

Slot machine hits the jackpot

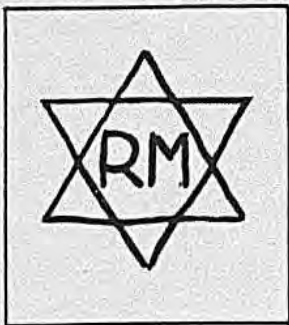

Q. Enclosed is a picture of a Mills' Jackpot Bell slot machine, also known as the Poinsettia or Reserve Jackpot. I understand that these were made between 1928 and 1932. I think that this one might have been made about 1929. Can you evaluate this for me?

A. Your date probably is correct. Sales records indicate that these slot machines are selling in the $2,500 to $3,000 range, depending on condition and market area.

Q. The attached mark is on the bottom of a German beer stein. It is also marked "5L" and "731." It is in the shape of a bear; the head forms the lid and is hinged to the main part of the stein.

Can you tell me anything about the origin, vintage and value?

A. Your 1/2-liter stein was made in Hohn Grenzhausen, Germany, by Reinhold-Merkelbach about 1900. It would probably sell for about $325 to $335.

EAST LIVERPOOL POTTERIES

The rich clay and coal deposits along the banks of the Ohio River near East Liverpool, Ohio, became the source of the growth of china manufacture that has thrived for more than 150 years. At one time or another, there were almost 50 potteries producing a variety of ceramic products, from simple pottery to semiporcelain china.

The Dresden Pottery operated under various names from 1876 to 1925. Their greatest claim to fame was that collectors are prone to believe that their "Dresden" china is the more valuable German Dresden. Actually, they produced mostly ironstone toilet and dinnerware.

The well-known Homer Laughlin set up operations there in 1868 and is still in business. The most universally known product was the popular Fiesta Ware that was made from 1936 to 1973. In addition, they made hundreds of patterns of semivitreous china. Today, it is one of the largest potters in the country.

The most prestigious of the East Liverpool potters was Knowles, Taylor & Knowles, operating from 1875 to 1931.

In addition to the common white ware produced by all the potters, KTK created a fine Belleek-type porcelain called Lotus Ware. It is avidly sought by collectors and commands prices equal to the finest European porcelain. Prices generally range from $500 to more than $5,000.

It was produced briefly in the last decade of the 19th century. Most of their production consisted of the common white ware produced by other potters in the area.

Some of the other potters whose names are familiar and readily recognized as collectible are Hall, Harker, McNicol and Sevres china (frequently confused with French Sevres).

The Great Depression of the 1930s and foreign competition have eliminated most of the original potters and only a few remain in East Liverpool today.

McCollam is a member of the Antique Appraisers Association of America.

JUNIOR EDITION

WIN A BIG PRIZE!

COLOR THIS ENTRY, CUT IT OUT, PRINT NAME, AGE AND ADDRESS.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

RULES BOYS AND GIRLS

Here is your chance to win One Dollar. ($1.00) - to spend or to save.

Here's all you have to do:

1. Contest is open to children 4 to 12 years of age.
2. Entries must be received by Friday, April 25, 1992
3. Paint, watercolors and crayons must be used on the above.
4. Decision of the judges will be final.

Mail your entry (just clip our cartoon) to this newspaper at:
105 Hillside Avenue
Williston Park, N.Y. 11596

Have you started your vegetable garden yet? I like to start mine indoors when the weather is still too chilly for them outside. Stringbeans are a good choice to begin with. Use an empty egg box or a milk carton cut in half. Fill it with soil and sink the seeds in deep enough to cover them, and about an inch apart. Keep them moist with water and put them in a sunny place.

Very soon you will see something poking up through the soil. When they are too big for the box they can be transplanted outside in your garden. You'll enjoy watching how the bean develops and you'll also enjoy picking and eating what you have grown from a little seed.

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

There are many causes for seizures in dogs. Dogs exhibiting repeated signs of seizures should be examined by a veterinarian and possibly by a veterinary neurologist.

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

Here is a picture of my precious one and only grandchild James John, born February 8, 1991. I am a grandmother for the first time at 80 years old!
Linda Ake
Garden City

Here he is - our precious and youngest grandson, Louis X. Keefe, who will be 3 years old on March 22. He has brought so much joy into the lives of his parents, Susan and Francis X. Keefe, Jr. of Oyster Bay. His loving personality and intelligence has endeared him to all the family. His maternal grandmother is Margaret L. Foery of Williston Park, and his paternal grandmother is Helen Keefe of New Jersey. His favorite toys are his trains and he is already doing very well with his golf swing which pleases his Dad immensely.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Obtaining a benefits estimate

By William M. Acosta

Q. I am 55, and my wife is 52 years old. We need to know what, if any, Social Security benefits we will be eligible to receive upon reaching age 62. How can we get this information? — D.F.

A. Social Security will give you a personalized benefit estimate at your request. Call our toll-free telephone number, (800) 772-1213, to ask for a Request for Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement.

When you mail in this form, we will mail back your complete earnings history, along with estimates of your benefits for retirement at age 62, full retirement age, 65, or age 70. We'll also give you estimates of disability or survivors benefits that might be payable.

Q. I am past 75, and I help an elderly lady two days a week. I earned $3,000 in 1990 and 1991. Since I am allowed to make as much as I want, do I have to report these earnings on my income-tax return? — M.M.

A. There is no connection between the Social Security earnings limits and the requirement to file an income-tax return.

Earnings must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service for tax purposes even though the income is below the Social Security earnings limit — in 1992, $10,200 for people 65 through 69, and $7,440 for people under 65.

Q. I was married for 25 years and then got divorced. If I decide to get married again, will my benefits stop? My ex-husband is still alive and he remarried. We didn't have any children. — J.R.

A. If you remarry, you will no longer be eligible to receive a divorced spouse's benefit on your ex-husband's account. A divorced spouse must be 62 or older and unmarried as long as the ex-husband is still living.

If an ex-husband is deceased, then you may remarry at age 60 or later without it affecting your benefits.

Check with your local Social Security office if you have any further questions.
