Senior Citizens Recognition

Oyster Bay Town Receiver of Taxes Gary F. Musiello, left, recently attended the Town's Senior Citizen Recognition Day Luncheon and took time out to congratulate Bethpage resident Peggy Bardsley, the 1992 Town of Oyster Bay Senior of the Year. Bardsley's husband Frank was also on hand for the occasion.

Commitment To Education

Discover Splendors Of Greece

Discover the many splendors of Greece in a fascinating one-hour travel program with Martin Gavrin on Monday, June 22, at 8 p.m.

This lively and entertaining program incorporates three projector slide shows, recorded narration and continuous music. Mr. Gavrin often travels with a tape recorder and records the music of the land he visits, which in turn he incorporates into his shows.

Admission is free and open to the public. Further information about this travel program can be obtained by calling the Public Relations Department of the Hicksville Public Library at 931-1417.

National Merit Scholarship Invitees

Hicksville High School has announced those students eligible for the 1993 National Merit Scholarship Program. Eleventh-graders Monica Alexandria, Domenick Freda, Mark Hadjis, Catherine Hora, Maura Johnston, Michelle Levitt, Linda Thomas and Victor Yee have placed among the approximately 50,000 of the highest scoring participants on the 1990 PSAT/NMSQT exams, which determines those students eligible for this honor.

Of the 50,000 "high scorers," who have shown outstanding academic potential, only about 15,000 of them (the top scorers in each of the 50 states) will be honored as semi-finalists. The other 35,000 will be commended for their performance on the PSAT/NMSQT exams, but only semi-finalists will have an opportunity to advance in the competition for some 6,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1993.

Semi-finalists and Commended Students in the 1993 Merit Program will be informed of the standing in September 1992.

Good luck to all eight of Hicksville's candidates!

Students Visit Middle School

The Hicksville Middle School welcomed the district's 5th and 6th grade public school children during the final two weeks in May as part of the orientation program for new students. With the Board of Education's fall vote to place the district's 6th grade classes in the Middle School come September, both the current 5th and 6th grade classes are preparing for the move.

Each elementary school participated in the orientation program on different days. Each two-hour program began with a general introductory meeting in the auditorium followed by a film presentation. Student tour leaders from the Middle School then accompanied the youngsters on a tour of the building. The student tour leaders worked very well with the younger grade students, and served as excellent role models.

Residents OK Propositions Staton, Martin Elected

By Maureen Traxler

In another high turnout of residents for the annual school elections, the $50,356,098 budget for the 1992-93 school year passed by a three to one margin, with 3,196 "yes" votes to 1,068 "no." Proposition #2, calling for a change in transportation policy which would see all 6th, 7th and 8th graders in middle school beginning September 1992 receive the same mileage eligibility, that is, 1 1/4 miles from school, passed 2,862 to 2,104. Proposition #3, a $40,000 service contract with the Gregory Museum, won passage 2,825 to 1,217.

The team of David Staton and Voley Martin swept the community and were elected to the Board of Education. Their three-year terms will begin on July 1, 1992. David Staton received 2,738 votes to his opponent, Carol Reden's; 1,443. In a three-way race, Voley Martin racked up 2,096 votes as opposed to Linda Mirro's 1,254 and current trustee James Martillo's 1,027.

The following action was taken at the Board's regular meeting held prior to receiving the election results on May 20:

- * Bids were accepted on window and roof replacements;
- * Approval of a resolution whereby Hicksville School District will participate in a cooperative bid for fuel oil with the Syosset School District;
- * Approval of participation in the Teachers Registry for the 1992-93 school year at a slight increase in annual cost to $13,000;
- * Rejection of bids for food service management received on April 2 and authorization of new bidding to open on June 4 (The District tightened specifications to meet regulations of the National School Lunch Program. Under the national program, the district could be eligible for reimbursements in some areas from the federal and state governments.)
- * Approval of an extension of the Workers Compensation and Long-Term Disability contract with Wright Risk Management for the coming school year at an $893 increase over the current contract;
- * Acceptance of a donation of $100 from the Hicksville Congress of Teachers to help defray the costs incurred by the high school student government in its campaign against graffiti;
- * Authorization of the sale of $8,500,000 in Tax Anticipation Notes for the 1992-93 school year (These notes are issued in anticipation of the collection of real estate taxes to be levied for school purposes for the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1992); and
- * Authorization for the district to apply for a Moody's rating.

Superintendent for Business Stuart Opdahl explained that due to the unsteady economic times, the banking industry is looking for their party assurances of fiscal stability in its dealings with many institutions. Approximately half of the school districts now have ratings. The banking industry will more readily invest in institutions which have received a favorable rating. The Board announced the retirements of Fine Arts Director Robert West and 16-year veteran principal John Mateer of Lee Avenue School. The Board further announced the appointment of Nora Richards as a teacher in Old Country School, effective September 1992, and the appointment of Maureen Bright, as Administrative Assistant for Public Information, effective September 1.

In the Superintendent's report to the board, Mr. Mugavero said that he was working with the PTA to establish a Hicksville Scholarship Day. He and the PTA units have been sketching out a program, with the hopes of raising funds to help graduates pursue further education.

Under Mr. Mugavero's direction, the district will be drawing up a Teachers Handbook. It is hoped that the handbook will be ready by the start of next year, and it will contain information of importance to the teaching staff, such as policies, school calendar, rules and regulations.

Certain items of interest were covered by board committee chairs. Trustee Jim Black reported that the district will be making a change in standardized testing. At present, the district administers the IOWA tests in the fall, but will be moving that test schedule to the spring. In the 1992-93 school year, the first year of

Letters

To The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who attended and organized the "Senior-Senior Prom" held at Hicksville High School on Sunday afternoon, May 17.

The decorations, music, food, contests and door prizes were received with tremendous enthusiasm by the 240 senior citizens who attended. One gentleman remarked to me that he resided in Hicksville 45 years and never had enjoyed a social event more than this one.

Such an event does not happen overnight. Well over a year ago, the Student Government at Hicksville High School voted to create this affair as a service project. During the past year a tremendous effort has been made by students, parents, community merchants and members of my staff to make this a memorable moment for a very special group of our community, or senior citizens.

My thanks, therefore, to all those who contributed to the success of this event.

- Carl Calma and the wonderful orchestra, "Second Chance"
- Dave Masters for his help with obtaining food donations
- Mr. and Mrs. Bartley
- The merchants of Hicksville
- Mrs. Falkowski and Mrs. Rombach
- The dozens of Hicksville High School students who decorated, waited tables and served food.
- And a special thanks to our Director of Student Activities, Mrs. Nancy DeSorbo, Mr. Raymond J. McDonough, Dean of Students and Student Government Vice-President Colleen Bartley whose organization and leadership skills resulted in an afternoon that will long be remembered.

Sincerely,
Richard G. Hogan
Principal

To the Editor:

(The following was read at the May 20 Board of Education meeting prior to the tabulation of the election results.)

Hicksville has been overwhelmed with the subject of school closings for the past few years. In my opinion, too few residents consistently concern themselves with the educational opportunities offered in Hicksville and with the funds needed to sustain and improve our schools. Instead, as issues arise, they become involved but in many cases residents remain ill-informed.

Letters to the Editor are not always accurate nor are campaign flyers. In order to help our children, we all need to take advantage of the opportunities available to us and attend Board Committee Meetings, as well as Board Meetings, and join committees such as the Budget Lay Committee. We need to question our elected officials as well as our school administration on a consistent basis in order to let them know we are watching and we care.

After tonight's election, additional elementary school closings will almost certainly take place. In fact, most of the questions asked candidates at the forums I attended dealt with this subject.

It is my opinion that the actions of the Board have adversely affected our children's education for too long. I personally believe that inequities exist in our elementary schools, whether it be singleton classes, extremely large classes, or very small classes, the special area teaching load has been impacted as well by the underutilization of buildings. I also believe that this district has wasted millions of dollars over the years in keeping eight buildings open and in commissioning numerous reports to study the issue.

In December, 1990, the PTA Council's voting body asked the Board not to close Willet Avenue or any school without studying the entire district. In closing one elementary school without thoroughly reviewing the entire district in terms of parity and redistricting, I believe the Board made a grievous error. I feel this has hampered and will hamper future decisions.

Secondly, while it may seem cruel, I feel that any decision on redistricting should affect every school in order to achieve a ripple effect that would not cause any part of our community to bear the entire burden. Receiving children into a building will usually be perceived as a benefit to that school, but losing students is almost always seen as a hardship especially to those children. Both the Superintendent and our PTA Council School Board Liaison spoke about this ripple at our meetings. I repeated this thought at other meetings I attended, believing that this ripple would see children moved from every building.

Now, with far-reaching decisions only a few months away, I ask all the Board members - those currently serving and those who will be elected tonight - to set aside their personal agendas, past mistakes, and thoughts of vindictiveness in coming to terms with what this district needs to take us successfully into the 21st Century.

We need strong Board leadership and a true desire of all seven members to work together. We need honesty, we need dedication, and we need fairness. It has been extremely hard for me to remain neutral on this issue, which I felt necessary to do as the President of the PTA Council. That role demands that I seek cooperation from all the units. Publicly I have taken no position on School Board candidates because I am too closely identified with PTA, and as I believed it was necessary for the leader of a diverse group to maintain her working relationship with all members.

Finally, all the candidates running today can count on support from various members of the community who belong to the PTA. However, no candidate can claim support from the PTA. If anyone has alluded to this support or made phone calls which may have implied this support, it was wrong and a disservice to our organization.

Thank you.

Sincerely
Peggy Theis

To the Residents of Hicksville:

On behalf of the children of this school district I would like to thank you for your overwhelming support of our school budget. We have truly aimed at developing and presenting an educational program within the means that our taxpayers can afford.

We believe that the children are our future. However, we are also concerned with the plight of the homeowner and our senior citizens in terms of their being able to afford to continue living in our community.

Again, we thank you and hope you continue to support our school programs.

Very truly yours,
Salvatore Mugavero
Superintendent of Schools

O.B. Art Show
Junior Div.

For the third year in a row, top honors in the Town of Oyster Bay Art Show, Junior Division, went to a project completed in Hicksville's Middle School Grade 8 Studio Art. The Award of Excellence in this category went to Angela Miele (now a 9th grader) for "Olympics" a 3-D project completed last May. The Certificate of Excellence was awarded to Tania Trikha for her project, "Inspiration From Old Photograph," completed in the Grade 8 Studio Painting course.

Special Olympics Swim Champs

Two Hicksville High School Seniors successfully competed in the Swimming Events at the Special Olympics on April 5, at Jericho High School. Michele Crivelli and Christopher Cirillo were Hicksville's first students in recent history to enter these events. They received ribbons, a sport bag, and a terry cloth robe which proclaimed "I'm Preferred" - and indeed they are!

the change, the tests will be given in both the fall and spring, followed by spring only in the 1993-94 school year. This new testing schedule will allow the district to include second grade students in the program, and will give a more accurate measure of student progress from year to year.

Mr. Black's policy committee reports also noted that next year the elementary academic enrichment program will begin for 4th and 5th graders in September. In January, third grade students will be added to the program. The sixth graders will then be included in the tenth-period enrichment program at the middle school. The Middle School honors foreign language program will be eliminated beginning in the 1993-94 school year. By offering a regents and conversation program only the district feels students will receive a more solid foundation in the language. Level I will be given in two parts, spanning seventh and eighth grades. Mr. Black noted that the district felt that the accelerated course made more sense during the years that foreign language was included in the elementary curriculum.

Trustee Helen Lafferty reported that there was a lack of AIDS instruction in the curriculum of the 8th, 9th and 10th grades and that the Curriculum Council would be working on this over the summer and will have a program ready in September of 1992. The Policy Committee also discussed community use of schools. This issue will be a topic for a board work session on June 3, at 8 p.m.

Trustee Richard Pfaender added that the facilities committee discussed the lighting renovations taking place at the high school, noting that test areas in the hall, home economics room and boys bath room will be redone first to assess the new lighting. Complete relighting is expected to be accomplished by the fall. The lockers at the middle school have been renovated, and the district expects to renovate the high school lockers in the fall.

Prior to the board meeting, the board held its annual celebration for Silver Anniversary staff members. Those honored for 25 years of service included: From the Senior High School - Michael Breheny, Michael Bunting, Arnaldo Farraro, Leonard Goldberg, Nancy James, Lawrence LaMarca, William Owens and William Schuck; from the Middle School - Lauretta Biasi Rayzak, Stephen Clonen, Mary Smith and Marge Steinbach; from Burns Avenue - Anthony Carmo, Theresa Sgamato and Linda Shell; from Dutch Lane and Old Country Road - Howard Schack; from East Street - Joan Sparr; from Lee Avenue School - Joan Flanagan; from Old Country Road - Maureen Kuperberg, Lee Firester; and from Woodland - Alice Boyle and Manus Clancy.

Superintendent Mugavero announced that at the June Board meeting, school district retirees - both professional and civil service - will be honored.

The next meeting of the board will be held on Wednesday, June 17, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The Past Meets Present At JFK

The past 130 years came alive recently for the eighth grade students at John F. Kennedy Middle School in Bethpage. Under the direction and instruction of Hy Pryluck, Reading and Study Skills Specialist at JFK, and Surelle Helberger and Tom Duffy, Social Studies teachers at JFK, the students wrote research reports and created original projects which illustrated their understanding of various aspects of life in the past.

Their original artifacts, including models, dioramas, fashions, audio tapes, and bulletin board displays brought to life the information they had gathered with the research skills they had learned.

Pictured are: Tiya Gordon, Jennifer Brennan, Nicole Antzoulides, Kristin Coppetta, and Laura Barth, all from Mrs. Helberger's classes, modeling the fashions they created to illustrate their reports' themes. Behind them can be seen some of the other projects created by Mrs. Helberger's students. The projects created by Mr. Duffy's classes were also shown during a display and fashion show for the parents of JFK students. The past took on new meaning for the students and parents of JFK!

Athletes Help Athletes

Hicksville's Middle School athletic leaders, members of Athletes Helping Athletes, Inc., met with Tauna Vandeweghe, Gary Baldinger and Don McPherson to speak with the Middle School students concerning drug and alcohol abuse prevention at a recent special program.

The presentation featured Don McPherson, former All-American quarterback at Syracuse and currently with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League, Gary Baldinger, of the Buffalo

Bills who played in the last two Super Bowls, and Tauna Vandeweghe, former member of the U.S. Olympic Volleyball and Swimming Teams.

Following these keynote speakers, the student athletes led a general discussion, explaining how the leaders were helped to make the right lifestyle choices and to answer any questions. Discussions were held on alcohol and drug prevention, staying in school, and participating in sports or other school-related activity as a positive lifestyle choice.

HHS Band Leads Memorial Parade

By Linda Carpenter

Hicksville High School Marching Band led the big parade on Memorial Day. They looked proud and sounded grand playing "God Bless America," as they filed past the viewing stand on Jerusalem Avenue and took their place in the stands at Hicksville Memorial Park.

It was uncomfortably chilly on this Memorial Day, as words of introduction, prayers and speeches were made. Despite the cold, the band held its position and under the adept direction of Mr. James McRoy, went on to play our National Anthem and "America."

Colleen Bartley and John

Butt, seniors, also from Hicksville High School's music department, delivered fine thoughtful dissertations for this occasion, as we all considered the past and hoped and prayed for a kinder future. In closing, Taps was played by the band members, John Christ and Liz Jurgensen. The band then followed with their final song, "God Bless America."

They say, "Our future is in the hands of our youth." I can't think of finer hands than these well disciplined, talented and educated young people. They display their colors well and gave us all a good sense of pride and patriotism.

Rotarian Of Year

Dr. Ronald N. Platt was presented the "Rotarian Of The Year Award" by the Hicksville-Jericho Rotary Club on May 15.

Dr. Platt received this highest honor for his hard work and dedication in community service. Last year he received the "Presidents Award" again for his outstanding service to the community. Dr. Platt is at Island Chiropractic in Hicksville. His fellow Rotarians salute him for his continued "service above self."

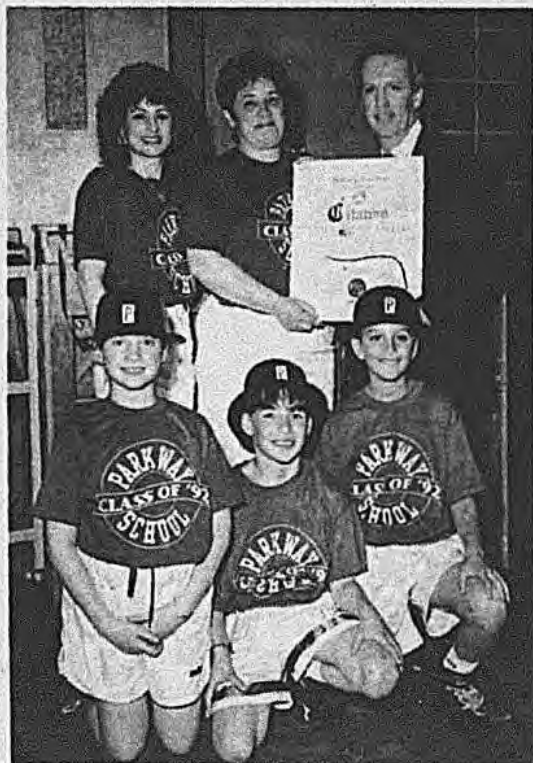

Community Council Meets June 4

Hicksville Community Council will hold its June meeting Thursday, June 4. The program will be:

- Social Security and Medicare - Social Security Representative Jim McWilliams
- Town of Oyster Bay Report - Councilman Tom Clark

The meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. at Hicksville Public Library Community Room.

Gym Show

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Leonard B. Symons (back row, right) presents a citation to Joan Kaufman, a physical education teacher at Parkway Elementary School in Plainview, who has coordinated the school's gym show for the last 25 years. Also on hand for the occasion were Principal Ronelle Hershkowitz (back row, left) and (front row, left to right) Melanie Sherman, Adam Rosenfeld and Adam Moss.

Hicksville Hawks Update

By Al Blieker
The Hicksville Hawks travelling soccer team met their match on Sunday, May 17, at Grumman Field, losing 3-0 to the Wantagh Cosmos, in the Long Island Chase Cup Tournament quarter finals. The Hawks put up a valiant effort, holding the Cosmos to two tallies until the game's closing minutes, but found that playing without four of the team's top players was too much to overcome against such a worthy foe.

On Wednesday, May 20, Hicksville rebounded for a 2-0 victory over the Newfield Angels at the latter's field, in Long Island Junior Soccer League play, in which they are undefeated, bringing their overall record, including New York State Cup Tournament games, to 7 wins, 3 ties and 1 loss, with a goal differential of 45 to 9.

The Hawks were led by a tenacious defense, which repulsed everything thrown at them by the Angels, anchored by the superlative goaltending of Dimitry Drouin and ably assisted by the great play of Eric Bliker, Richard Kotschau, Danny Longo and Mike Longo, the four stalwarts of the Hawks backline.

Scott McLaughlin, at halfback, set up the Hawks first tally on a fine run down the left side, punctuated by a perfect cross to halfback Tommy Basaranlar, who was breaking down the right side, which he converted to a goal.

Their second tally was set up by a super, individual effort on the part of Earl Dennis, who took the ball away from the Angels goalkeeper, who had wandered far out to the right, to make a stop. Dennis, once he gained control, of the ball, fed it to the left, to Steven Fox, who put it into the empty goal.

David Baumritter, Danny Bell, Kevin Koehn, Lee Passavia, Ralph Schimmenti, and Neil Tomlinson all contributed fine play toward the winning effort.

Congratulations to the Hawks, Coach John Fitzgerald, Assistant Coach Pat McHugh, Administrator Brian Koehn, and Trainer Richard Humann, for two exciting soccer games. All involved wish the Hicksville

Hawks good luck in the Memorial Weekend, Potomac Maryland Soccer Tournament.

Teacher Chosen To Work At Labs

Gerard Kratchman, a professional staff member of the Hicksville High School Science Department, is one of 10 Long Island Science Teachers selected to work as a Research Assistant at Brookhaven National Laboratory this summer. The program, sponsored by the Department of Energy, is designed to update science teachers on the current status of various research programs. This work/study program provides a weekly stipend as well as graduate credit, familiarization with research equipment, and daily communication with two researchers and professionals. Mr. Kratchman will work on four particular research programs in the chemistry department.

The Hicksville A's Weekly Update

The Hicksville A's faced off against the Plainedge Mets on Tuesday May 19.

Adam Gesiak did a nice job pitching striking out six in the first three innings. James LaPadula had the save, pitching the last three innings superbly only allowing two hits. Chris Cannizaro did a great job as catcher.

Jack Sandie made a terrific catch in left field. The bats were strong with Jack Sandler going 2-2, Keith Englehardt going 2-3 and Peter Martin with a hard hit triple.

Final score Hicksville 9 Plainedge 7.

On a scorching Saturday, May 23, the A's came up against a strong Smithtown/St. James Team, for a double header.

Tommy Kessler did a fantastic job pitching with 8 strike outs - holding down some hard hitting batters.

Keith Englehardt was excellent as catcher.

The defense was strong with nice plays by Nick Schmidt, Kevin Soper at short, James LaPadula in center, Brian Boyle at first and Matt McLoughlin at third.

The weather wasn't the only thing hot with Kevin Soper going 2-2, Chris Swier going 2-2 with a triple and James LaPadula with a triple. Hicksville won 6-2.

The second game Kevin Soper came in to pitch and did a terrific job. Chris Cannizaro did a fine job catching.

The fielding was strong with great plays by Jack Sandler in left field and Josh Strugatz at 2nd.

This Hicksville team continues to play great ball - good job A's!

In their second game, Hicksville roared past Levittown 12-2. Tommy D'Angelis threw a NO-hitter and struck out nine batters to notch his first victory of the new season. Leading the offense was Kevin Wrede, Joe Flynn and Joe Dolezal. Jim Famiglietti again led the defensive effort.

The all-inclusive cost is $44 per person and is payable when you sign up at the Reference Desk. There will be no refunds. Don't miss out on the fun! The library is located at 47 Powell Avenue, two blocks west, Exit 8 on the Seaford Oyster Bay Expressway (Route 135), phone 931-3907.

Woman Performs In Dance Concert

Debbie DePompa, who received her baccalaureate degree in dance from SUNY College at Brockport on May 18, performed with other graduating seniors from the dance program on the eve of their commencement in the Senior Dance concert in the Hartwell Dance Theater.

DePompa was a member of DANCSCORE, SUNY Brockport's touring dance ensemble. A 1988 graduate of Hicksville High School, she is the daughter of Irene and Joe DePompa of East End Avenue, Hicksville.

According to Rosanne Mazieraki, senior concert coordinator, the concert included original choreography by 16 seniors and three graduate students, as well as two faculty pieces. The evening's program provided a variety of dance styles - African-Caribbean, jazz and modern, and one structured improvisation, she said.

A tradition at SUNY Brockport's commencement weekend, the Senior Dance Concert enables students from the dance department, one of the most extensive in the nation, to demonstrate what they have learned about dance technique, performance, choreography and technical production.

Information On Home Selling

When You're Ready To Sell Your Home, Will Your Home Be Ready For Sale? - With Raymond Zorovich of the Long Island Board of Realtors.

Are you thinking of selling your home? This may be a difficult task in today's soft real estate market.

Join Raymond Zorovich of the Long Island Board of Realtors at the Bethpage Public Library on Wednesday, June 10, 7:30 p.m., as he helps you unravel the complications and questions of selling your home.

Mr. Zorovich will cover the four main considerations that go into a successful home sale: Investing in Improvements, Establishing the Selling Price, How to Advertise for the Best Response and Understanding the Home Buyer. There will be a question and answer period following each segment.

Selling your home will undoubtedly be one of your biggest undertakings. Learn how to take the worry and stress out, while protecting this all-important investment.

All are welcome. The library is located at 47 Powell Avenue, two blocks west of Exit 8 on the Seaford Oyster Bay Expressway, (Route 135), phone 931-3907.

TOB Athletic Awards

Graduating Seniors Eric Basta and Lorraine Simonelli have been chosen by the High School to receive the Town of Oyster Bay Athletic Achievement Awards. Lorraine and Eric will be presented their certificates at the Town Board Meeting in Oyster Bay on June 2.

The Hicksville Public Library, in recognition of his many years of active involvement and support, officially dedicated the Peter N. DeNinno Computer Room during a moving ceremony on Sunday, May 17.

Friends, family, community members, and business associates gathered to praise Mr. DeNinno for his constant effort to expand the cultural and public services aspect of the library. Mr. DeNinno passed away on April 15, 1989, while serving as a Hicksville Library Board of Trustees, a position he held for almost 12 years until his death. He was a teacher of language arts in the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public School District for over 30 years. "It is very fitting that we dedicate this room, which is geared toward higher education, to a man who dedicated most of his life to the betterment of education and public services," said Library Board of Trustees President Marc Herbst.

Mr. DeNinno's good nature and humor was noted by several of the honored speakers, notably Library Director Celeste Watman, Board President Marc Herbst, and school district colleague Lucian Veneziano. Mr. Herbst spoke of how Mr. DeNinno influenced his life and eventually led him to seek the position of a Library Board of Trustees. Local Historian Richard Evers, who was a neighbor of Mr. DeNinno for many years, reminisced about Mr. DeNinno's Christmas lights, that were left up all year long. "Peter always loved to savor the holidays for as long as possible," said Mr. Evers.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas Clark commented on the many hours he and Mr. DeNinno spent volunteering on various community committees as Hicksville was developing.

The most touching moment occurred when Peter DeNinno's sister, Agatha Mongelli, thanked the audience for honoring her brother in this fashion. "If he were still alive, I know he would be very honored," she said after thanking everyone.

Councilman Clark presented Mr. Herbst with a Nassau County Citation, on behalf of Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta, recognizing the dedication of the room and Mr. DeNinno's constant push to increase library services.

making the Hicksville Public Library one of the most active and finest on Long Island.

A special red ribbon for the dedication ceremony was donated by Flowers by Peter Kenny. Mrs. Watman and Mrs. Mongelli had the honor of cutting the ribbon, officially dedicating the room.

Former School Board Trustee William Bennett, Library Trustee Tony Previte, and Library Senior Clerk Rosemarie Curley at the Peter DeNinno Room dedication.

Another library commendable project seen to fruition makes folks happy; Hicksville Library Trustee Anthony Previte, well-remembered retired library public relations director Bernice Neufeld, and Library Trustee Clara Bennett.

Councilman Tom Clark chats with Mrs. Agatha Mongelli and Ms. Virginia Milosica of the Peter DeNinno family at the dedication of the Hicksville Library Computer/Study Room in late-Trustee DeNinno's honor.

Marc Herbst, President of the Hicksville Public Library Board of Trustees, welcoming guests to the dedication of library's Peter N. DeNinno Computer/Study Room.

The new Public Library Computer/Study Room will see much activity with these teachers: Marie Chiques, computer instructor for the visually handicapped; Richard Shapland, teacher of the blind, and Anthony DeLouise, library computer instructor.

Hicksville historian Richard Evers recalling his neighbor and library honoree's many warm human qualities at the Peter DeNinno Room library dedication, Sunday.

Mrs. Celeste Watman, Director, Hicksville Public Library and Mrs. Arlene Rudin, Treasurer of Hicksville Board of Education, enjoying new library facility's dedication.

ARE YOU OVERLOOKING LONG ISLAND'S WILDEST NIGHTLIFE?

The black-crowned night heron (Nycticorax nycticorax) is a mostly nocturnal native Long Islander who is highly discriminating. You won't find him at just any watering hole. And for dinner the fish had better be fresh, the ambience unhurried.

You might say the black-crowned night heron is a hard bird to please. But The Nature Conservancy has been working hard for 38 years to provide the night heron and hundreds of other animals and plants the finest accommodations available on Long Island.

We've saved 18,000 acres of ecologically significant land on Long Island alone, from the last 19-acre remnant of the Hempstead Plains to our 2,000-acre

Mashomack Sanctuary on Shelter Island. Nationwide, we've preserved nearly 4 million acres of forest, prairie, desert, island, and mountain. And our international program is fighting to save the world's rapidly vanishing rain forest. You can help The Nature Conservancy do its vitally important work. For $15, not much more than the cover charge for one of Long Island's hottest night spots, you can become a member of the Long Island Chapter. You will receive the Long Island Chapter Newsletter and

The Nature Conservancy Magazine to keep you informed of Conservancy activities. As a member of the Long Island Chapter, you can participate in hikes and education programs led by experienced naturalists, and you are welcome to volunteer to take part in Chapter operations.

If you're concerned about Long Island—not just about its native flora and fauna but also about the water we drink, the air we breathe, and the quality of life here—we urge you to give us a hand. Just call (516)367-3225. You can help protect your environment. And you can have a wild time!

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR AEROSPACE CAMP

Applications are now available for a unique Aerospace Camp for boys and girls entering grades 5, 6 or 7 to be held at the Cradle of Aviation Museum in Garden City during the Summer.

The Camp has been very popular with the youngsters and suggested that parents sign their children up early. The Cradle of Aviation Museum, now in its formative stages, will eventually be the second largest air/space museum in the country.

The following activities will be available to youngsters who enroll in the four-day sessions:

- *Air and spacecraft simulations, including hands-on use of a Lunar Lander Simulator and airliner cock-pit simulator.
- *Anatomy of life support systems, including a chance to wear an authentic space suit.
- *Model rocket building and launching.
- *Planetarium sky show.
- *Hands-on instruction with selected aircraft from the Museum's collection.

THE AEROSPACE CAMP AT THE CRADLE OF AVIATION MUSEUM will introduce youngsters to the "anatomy" of life support systems including the chance to wear an authentic spacesuit.

material and equipment and a lunch beverage. Students must provide their own lunch.

The Cradle of Aviation, a facility of the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, is located at Mitchel Field on Charles Lindbergh Boulevard in Garden City, adjacent to Nassau Community College.

For an application or further information, call 222-1191.

Each camp session will be held from Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and begin on the following dates: July 6, 13, 20, 27; August 3 and 10. The tuition is $135 per session and covers counselor supervision, training

Music Students Win Top Medals

At the NYSSMA Major Adjudication Festival, both the High School Band and the High School String Ensemble received Gold Medals, and the High School Orchestra took home a Silver Medal.

The Middle School 8th Grade Band also received a Silver Medal, and the 8th Grade Orchestra took home a Bronze Medal.

On the elementary level, the Lee Avenue Band and the Winds and Percussion Group received Silver Medals. Congratulations to all the participants!

Hicksville Places Second At VICA Regional Competition

Congratulations to Hicksville High School student Renee Turchiano who placed second at the New York State VICA Regional Competition in the Job Interview Category. Renee attends the Levittown Memorial Education Center as part of the Hicksville Vocational Education Program.

Alcoholism Program Earns State Approval

Central General Hospital in Plainview has received the formal state approval to continue its program for inpatient treatment for alcoholism. The announcement was made jointly by Robert J. Bornstein, Administrator of Central General, and Marguerite T. Saunders, Director of the State Division of Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse and the Division of Substance Abuse Services.

Central General Hospital received its state Operating Certificate to continue the Chemical Dependency Detoxification Unit at its Plainview location. The program now serves an average of 800 clients per year.

Ms. Saunders said the awarding of the Operating Certificate indicates that Central General Hospital meets the regulatory, structural and program requirements for providing quality care to alcoholic persons and their families. "Treatment works," she said. "For addicted persons, treatment is the bridge between dependence and independence. As part of the state's comprehensive treatment system, this program demonstrates that alcoholism is a treatable disease, from which persons can and do recover."

The New York State Division of Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse is the Cabinet-level agency charged with coordinating alcoholism prevention, education, treatment and research programs in the state. It operates 13 inpatient rehabilitation programs across the state (serving 5,000 persons per year), and licenses and supervises another 500 treatment programs and supports and funds prevention programs. The Division's 1991-92 appropriation was $120.7 million, including $82.2 million to aid local programs and $35.2 million for state operations.

History Team Finishes Second

Congratulations to Hicksville's National History Day Team for their fine showing at Niagara Falls. Winning second place in the Media Competition were high school students Helen Woo and Connie Young. Their well-researched videotape is entitled "Exploring the Western Frontier." They will now compete in the National Championships to be held in Washington, DC. Anyone wishing to view their videotape, may make arrangements with their advisor, Dr. William Lemmey.

Good luck to Helen and Connie at the Nationals!

H.B.A. Annual Carnival June 6

Hicksville Baseball Association invites everyone for fun at the 40th Anniversary Carnival Saturday, June 6, 1-5 p.m. at Abe Levitt complex. Volunteers appreciated. Details available at Shed.

Free Blood Pressure Testing

Central General Hospital in Plainview provides free blood pressure testing for community residents. The service is offered the first Wednesday of every month from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. in the Hospital Lobby, 888 Old Country Road in Plainview. The next free blood pressure testing at Central General Hospital will be Wednesday, June 3. Residents are urged to avail themselves of this most important service.

At Civic Meeting

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Leonard Kunzig, center, and Town Clerk Carl L. Marcellino, second from left, recently discussed local issues with members of the Hicksville Gardens Civic Association. On hand for the occasion, left to right, were President Rosella Maggio, Treasurer Roy Tringali and Corresponding Secretary Irene Doyle.

HBA Baseball/Softball Weekly Update

Girls Minor Division

On May 7, the Minor girls gray and blue teams brought the enthusiasm from the HBA fields to a field at Fork Lane School. Both teams played an exciting game. Kelly Wigand made an unbelievable in field catch. Leah Strugatz had two great plays at third base. The sixth inning brought some tense moments but Jennie Zollo's pitching ended the game with a 9-5 win for the gray team.

Girls Senior Division

On May 9, the girls of the HBA Softball Senior Division played an exciting game by the Grey team vs the Red team. The game came down to the final batter, the Grey team edged the Red team 15-14. The Reds scored 5 runs (capped by Amamda Mahnden's long double), with 2 out in the top of the 7th inning to take the lead, but the Grey rallied for 4 runs in their half to win the game.

Even though it was a high scoring game, their was excellent defense on both sides. Kelly Moylan pitched a complete game for the Grey and fielded her position extremely well, while leftfielder Tina Mazzara, shortstop Tracy Koetter and Niki Franchino, who appeared to be everywhere, all starred defensively. The Red defense was highlighted by sensational outfield catches by Kristy Haley, who also threw a runner out at the plate, and Liane Lewis who made a running catch with the bases loaded.

This was an incredible game, which saw the lead change hands 5 times. Every player deserves praise for their determination and hustle. The spectators were on the edge of their seat for the entire game.

Instructional Boys

The Yankees, sponsored by Hicksville Fire Department and managed by T. Brewer had to call their sponsor to assist one of their players, Kevin Kuck who was injured. Thanks, Guys! Good Luck Kevin. Tom Brewer was awarded team ball for hitting four home runs and batted in nine runs. Matt Economou had four hits and assisted on the final two outs of the game. Brenden Coyle, Jeff Sallustro, Malcolm Pike and Nicholas Giambalvo had three hits each and played great in the field. Mike Caglione, Thomas Luberto and Matt Hasbrouck each had two hits and made some fine plays in the field also.

Boys Minor Division

Joe Restivo's Red Sox played the Pirates on May 2. The score was Red Sox 11 and the Pirates 10. Our game on this day was the most exciting one played so far this season. There was 100% effort by every player on the "gutsy" Red Sox team. To bring us our first win! Clutch hitting by Bob Becker with 2 RBI's, Joe Mianulli 2 hits and 5 stolen bases, including home to score one of his two runs. Leonard DeStefano also with 5 stolen bases including a steal of home in the bottom of the sixth which tied the game 10 all. Lenny also contributed 3 solid innings on the mound with 3 K's. Joe Restivo with 2 hits and 3 RBI's, one hit being a smash to deep left-center for a home run which started our last inning rally. Joe was also our closer on the mound, shutting down a tough

Pirates team. Michael Benik, Steven Recher each with base hits and a run scored. Eric Gonzales, Edric Borja, 2 stolen bases and one run scored. Scott MacDonald and J. T. Quinn strong in the field with good defense. Vincent Patrowicz, a timely BB, some heads-up base running scored the winning run when driven home by a perfectly placed shot in the bottom of the sixth by Joe Leo. It doesn't get any better than this.

The Red Sox (A.K.A. the Cardiac kids) got caught up in another exciting game with the Blue Jays squeaking by with a 4-3 win. Superb pitching kept hitters on both teams in check. For the Sox, Michael Benic pitched 3 innings of shutout ball while allowing just one hit and striking out 5. Mike also added 4 stolen bases, an RBI and scored a run. Lenny DeStefano went to the mound in the 4th and continued the strong pitching. In the last inning the Blue Jays came to within one run of a tie with a runner on 3rd and no outs but DeStefano put out the fire by striking out the last 3 batters, for a total of 8 K's. Steven Recher with a base hit and the game winning RBI, Gary Bretton playing flawlessly at first base also with an RBI. Joe Restivo adding a base hit, 4 stolen bases and 2 runs scored, Vincent Patrowicz also drove in one run for his team while playing a solid right field. Joe Leo and Scott MacDonald with 2 stolen bases each, Joe Manulli as always playing tough at second base with a diving grab in the second inning. Also playing strong defense to keep the Sox close Bob Becker, Eric Gonzales and Edric Borja.

The Red Sox are looking better and better as they beat the Mets 7-3 in an extremely well played game by both teams. J. T. Quinn chose a great time to record his first hit, a liner to centerfield. He then proceeded to steal 3 bases and score the game winning run. Lenny DeStefano was everywhere or so it seemed - pitched 3 scoreless innings with 4 K's, stole 3 bases including home, hit a double with 2 RBI's and had an unassisted double play at second base. Joe Restivo our secret weapon behind home plate added a base hit, 2 RBI's and gunned down a Met runner at second base to end the game. Joe Mianulli with 2 walks, 4 stolen bases and 2 runs scored. Michael Benic with another strong pitching performance striking out five in his two innings of work. Mike also turned a double into a run scored as he flew around the bases after an errant throw. Ryan O'Toole came thru for his team as he closed the game on the mound and also delivered an RBI single. Edric Borja with two hot smashes right at Met players, did a fine job at third base and stole two bases. Bob Becker and Eric Gonzalez rounding out yet another strong total team performance by the Red Sox!

By another Boys Minors team, the Yankees, managed by Pete Sarandrea played the Royals in their toughest game of the season and defeated the Royals by 9-8. Trailing 8-2, the pitching of Dave Rudenfer and Amar Agha completely shut down the Royals attack. The offense chipped away at the Royals lead and in the bottom of the fifth inning exploded for 5 runs with key hits by Doug Rudenfer and Amar Agha. The defense was outstanding with excellent plays by Justin Galacz, Jason Graf and George Niesuchowski. This was a true team effort with Kyle Rubak, Doug Rudenfer, Christian Serpica, Justin Roostenberg, Michael Weber and Louie Pinto all contributing.

The Yankees have won their first 7 games and are playing excellent baseball. The pitching has been superb. Led by Kyle Rybak, Doug Rudenfer, Amar Agha and George Niesuchowski. The hitting has been timely with Bryan Sarandrea, Dave Rudenfer, Justin Galacz, Justin Roostenberg, and Louie Pinto each contributing. Brian Ferguson, Jason Graf, Michael Wever and Christian Serpico, have all played well.

Boys Major Division

Joe Koloski's Pirates came to bat against the Cubs on May 4 and lost by a close 7-6 score. Hits by Jason Basso, Michael Ciorciari, Troy Cabrera-Griffin, Jason Primosch, Russel Jean-Batiste and Michael Kilfoil all made for a good game on Monday evening against the Cubs. Effective teamwork was demonstrated in the field by Michael Delaney, Jamison Lee, Joshua Strugatz, Russel Jean-Batiste and Mike Ciorciari, Pitcher Andrew Coppola's throw to Jason Primosch on third base was right on the mark. A close well played game.

When they played the Yankees on May 6 they came out the winners. Singles by Andrew Coppola and Russel Jean-Batiste, two singles by Jamison Lee, a double hit by Daniel Koloski and a triple by Adam Smith combined for a win against the Yankees. A marvelous catch by pitcher Andre Coppola ended the game and was the icing on the cake.

This Pirate team played the Royals on May 9 and beat them by a score 5-1. Great pitching by Andrew Coppola and Daniel Koloski. They allowed no earned runs. Doubles were hit by both Jason Primosch and Sean Flynn and some great legwork was displayed by Adam Smith.

HBA Babe Ruth Team Opens Up With Two Wins

The Hicksville Baseball Association 14 & 15 year old Traveling team opened up its season in fine fashion with two big victories.

In the season opener, Hicksville overcame a 4-0 deficit and went on to beat a tough Farmingdale squad 11-5. John Haley got the win with relief help from Kevin Wrede who notched his first save by striking out all four batters he faced.

The hitting attack was led by Jason Andrews who had four RBI's as well as a bases loaded triple. Jim Famiglietti, Tome Mullee, Bob Campbell and Andrew Etergineoso played excellent in the field.

WW I Stone at R.R. before being moved to Middle School. Loaned By Bill Clark

By Bill Clark

Going through a box of odds and ends, I found an old bleached chicken feed sack. They were always saved for pillowcases, towels or aprons. They were strong and the print bleached or faded out. They were never pure white but durable.

Today the weather is far from cold & snow, but an incident made me recall, when young and visiting in Brooklyn, I saw a youngster on a sled come down a sloped Dean Street into Smith Street. Fortunately there was very little traffic, he went straight across Smith Street just as a trolley was passing. He passed under the trolley between the front and rear wheels. He was safe and lucky.

Heard about a man that bought a parrot, after heavy bidding. He asked the auctioneer if the parrot could talk? Talk, who do you think was bidding against you all this time?

Memorial Day, do you know the Memorials we have in Hicksville? Five at Middle School alone, plus the Clock Tower and also at the triangle near the fountain in town.

Yesterday, while riding my bike, I watched two young girls, probably 4 years old, walking under the front lawn sprinkler carrying a small umbrella. At 90 degrees I thought about joining them.

Keeping A Tradition Alive

On April 30 the first graders at Burns Avenue School celebrated Arbor Day and Earth Day by once again planting a tree on the school grounds. Earning money by doing chores around their homes, the children were able to purchase a tree from Fairhaven Garden Center. During the tree planting ceremony, the children stated their hopes for the future which will hopefully blossom and grow throughout the years as will their tree. This was a most rewarding and memorable experience. H.H.S. Principal List Honor Roll

Hicksville High School announces the names of those students who have made the Principal's List or Honor Roll for the third quarter.

In order to make the Principal's List or Honor Roll, a student must take a minimum of four subjects. The Principal's List average is 90 and above; an Honor Roll average must be between 85 and 89. Students will be disqualified from making the Principal's List or Honor Roll if there is a failure, a withdrawal, an incomplete (if the work is made up and the mark is changed, the student may then qualify for the honor), or a no credit.

These lists are submitted quarterly and are displayed in the main lobby of the high school (names and pictures).

Hop-A-Thon For Muscular Dys.

The Kindergarten, First and Second Graders of the Lee Avenue Elementary School in Hicksville participated in a fundraising benefit for Muscular Dystrophy on Wednesday, April 8.

The students obtained sponsors who pledged each child's hops for two minutes. The children and teachers worked hard and were enthusiastic about this wonderful, worthwhile event. Their efforts proved successful, raising over $2,700 for Muscular Dystrophy.

Bronx Zoo Trip For Second Grade

The second grade students at the East Street Elementary School in Hicksville, accompanied by their teachers Miss Carley and Mrs. Kreditor, visited the Bronx Zoo on May 14.

The highlights of their trip were Bengali Express where they viewed Asian and African animals in the open, and Jungle World, where they saw animals and insects that inhabit a rain forest.

In addition, they visited the renovated elephant house and were entertained by a baby elephant. The children also enjoyed the Monkey House and the seals. Perfect weather enhanced a perfect day.

Grandparents And Special Person's Day

The East Street Elementary School in Hicksville celebrated "Grandparents and Special Person's Day," on May 15. Almost 250 Special People attended the program. Coffee and cake was served by the East Street School's PTA, and a special musical performance followed the refreshments. The Special People then visited the classrooms and participated in classroom activities. A wonderful time was had by all.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Do you think TV programs have an adverse effect on family life as Vice Pres. Quayle has said?

Input Callers Think Animal Rights Limited

Most callers to Input believe that animal rights have limitation in answer to this question: "Do you think that medical science should use animals in experiments that might benefit humans?" Here are some of the answers:

MAY NOT CONTRIBUTE

The problem with using animals for experimentation is that we could be causing suffering to animals and really not be contributing to our medical or other scientific knowledge. Some experiments have been used to test beauty hair sprays which are really not that important to medical science. I think that we should, when conducting any type of experiment, spare the animal suffering, but we cannot rule out the use of all animals in experiments because we learn valuable things that help in medicine and sometimes also help in veterinary practice. V.N.

GO TO EXTREMES

The people who adopt a cause are in there with animal rights. They always go to extremes. There are no responsible scientists who want to bring suffering to animals, but there are many scientists who want to further medical science. Groups who go around exacting impossible standards where we cannot harm a hair on an animal would be better advised to think about the great amount of suffering to humans they are advocating in not letting us find answers to serious illnesses. If we did not have experiments on monkeys we would still have polio as a serious disease. N.F.

THE ENVIRONMENT

Unlike the native American culture and Hindu culture, among others which value nature and regard certain animals as sacred, societies ruled by the Judeo-Christian traditions view animals differently. They have been the subjects of experiments for the cosmetic and other industries. Even if laboratory animals were treated humanely I do not think they should be used by medical science because animals are different than humans. Many conclusions drawn as a result of experimenting with them would not be wholly accurate and only serve as guessing. It is hoped that the Brazilian rain forest which has yielded many promising medicines is preserved. Working with the environment is the answer. C.P.

NOT WORTHWHILE

There is not much need for most of the experiments that take place using animals. In many of the cases they are only proving that the particular type of animal in the experiment is having difficulty with something that is meant for humans. I can well remember an experiment in which a dog was given a cigarette to smoke puff by puff and it killed him. This was taken by people who are anti-smoking to prove the lethal aspects of cigarettes. The facts may be that cigarettes will kill people but using a dog to prove it kills the dog and leaves the question unanswered. In other words, we too often, use animals to prove things but we are taking for granted that the animals have the same type of bodies as humans. Many animals cannot eat vegetables yet they are good for humans. We should stop most of the tests on animals and do deeper research on humans with particular diseases and trace origins and reasons. G.V.

EATING ANIMALS

I suppose that people who are against animal experiments are mainly those who are against eating meat or fish. Because if they are not the same people then they must be overlooking that we slaughter animals every day. While we slaughter them to eat, we could become vegetarians and not kill animals. N.C.

RESPONSIBILITY

The problem is really that we have to do things with responsibility. We should not be quick to experiment on animals and we should not do it without thought as to whether it is necessary. However, we cannot rule out all animal experimentation if we want to help humans who are in need of cures. K.F.

BENEFITS FROM EXPERIMENTS

We are constantly made aware of the fact that animals in laboratories provide much of the basic information needed to guide the scientists and members of the medical profession in solving problems related to humans. I have never had any feelings one way or the other as I read of these experiments dedicated as they were to prolonging human life. I have also felt that the results of these tests or experiments would also be of benefit to the animal species even though that would be a secondary benefit of the basic experimentation. I guess that I have always felt that any new experience with a human being also provided the medical profession with a discovery factor which, while of fundamental value to mankind could also be applied in similar cases to the animal kingdom. I can't say that I am aware of the real reason for the "Question" and can only surmise that it might involve a question of illegal practice as already spelled out in the law journals. P.G.S.

Discovery!

One Small Miracle

By Eileen Waldron

All of us drink at the fountain of the past and I find a need to pick up a pen and record yesterday. This is a story about my cousin Jack. At this writing he is in the Winter of his life and I would like to take you to his Spring.

I remember Jack's mother, Aunt Kathleen, sitting at the kitchen table in the rear of the Brooklyn brownstone around 1930. She had a large pot settled in her lap and a bag of string beans rested on the white metal table. On one wall there was an old stove and a porcelain sink propped up proudly on four high legs. My aunt was a comely woman with skin soft and flawless, her hair tied neatly in a bun at the nape of her neck. With scissors in hand she cut each bean and the pieces fell obediently into the pot. "See Eileen, this is an easy way to prepare the beans," she smiled.

Before the turn of the century, Kathleen and her brothers and sisters emigrated from Ireland with their parents and settled in Brooklyn. My father once remarked, "We never got too far in this world for we landed at Battery Park and only traveled to Brooklyn." Kathleen was a gracious genteel and intelligent woman and was indeed the matriarch of the family. She wore white gloves and fancy hats even if she went to the store to purchase five pounds of sugar. She married Michael, a policeman, who wore his uniform with courage and pride. They had one child, my cousin Jack. Jack was born four years before me and thus he avoided me especially since I was a girl.

Jack grew up tall and handsome. He inherited his parents good looks and somehow I must admit ... he was smart. Baseball was his favorite sport and he mastered the game, could have been a professional. He had another calling, and he entered the seminary after high school.

I saw little of Jack the next six years but still was a welcome visitor at Aunt Kathleen's house. Jack would arrive home from the seminary for the Christmas holidays and I remember a crowd of his seminarian friends singing in a circle around the family piano. Summertime would find him in Staten Island at our Aunt Helen's summer cottage. I, as a newcomer to the cottage, was a victim of a hoax that he would call an initiation for all new visitors. It was called snipe-hunting. I never heard of a snipe, never saw one but was assured they did exist. On a summer evening under the cover of darkness the hunt would begin. Jack would lead the pack. Flashlight in hand and a pillow case slung over his shoulder, he commanded us to drop to all fours and crawl in the marshes. Suddenly he would jump up and pretend to catch a bird. I never heard a chirp.

Fragments of the past jump out at me today as I try to remember the good times. Father Jack was a devoted servant of God and ascended in the Church given many responsibilities which he handled very well. He baptized my children and officiated at their marriages. Aunt Kathleen lived to an old and gracious age when life on this earth came to an end in 1983. My communication with Father Jack dwindled to Christmas cards and an occasional letter after that.

I looked forward to Christmas '91 and I contacted old friends, entertained and renewed friendships, and I made a vow to see all those I cherished in my life and those I wished to know better. Ten days before Christmas I received the card. Father wrote me a brief note stating that he had been quite ill for the past eight months. He asked me to remember him in my prayers. I was devastated for I believed he was invincible. My problem was how to visit him for he lived a distance from my Long Island home and my visits would most probably be infrequent. I asked myself, "Why am I so upset?" After some soul searching I realized that Father Jack was indeed a branch of my roots and a vital stem of my heritage.

In the beginning of January I planned to attend a religious retreat at a nearby college campus. I wanted the time for Christian renewal and spiritual direction. When the weekend ended I planned to arrange a visit to see Father Jack. I arrived on a Friday evening and the meeting room contained portable blackboards which I knew were for names of all the people who needed our prayers. I arrived early so I had plenty of space on one board and I started to write at the top. Father Jack was first on my list so instinctively his name was written immediately. Saturday morning was a busy contemplative one and after lunch I had some free time. Behind the main altar in the church there was a small chapel the size of a dining room. Pillows were scattered on the floor and a few kneeling benches were in the room. I found my niche in a hidden corner and I closed my eyes. I thanked God for the peace I have experienced, for the blessings my family enjoy and I asked for inner strength to help me face whatever may be in store for me.

Without warning I heard a voice, "Eileen it's really you!" I opened my eyes and with a twinkle in his Irish eyes, there stood Father Jack.

I stood up and stammered, "Father, go downstairs, your name is on the top of the blackboard, I don't believe this."

"I just stopped in to say a prayer and I saw you in the corner," he said.

"Tell me Father, what are you doing here?"

"I was transferred here yesterday," he replied.

I hugged this gentle priest who had returned to the arms of his family and as my tears flowed I looked up beyond the stucco ceiling and I saw two outstretched arms ... and then He smiled as He gave me this one small miracle.

READER RATINGS

Q. When I am on a diet I find it difficult to find things at restaurants. What do you suggest. C.B.

A. The suggestion is that you check the ads and call restaurants. Many of them have special diet plates that will be just what you are looking for. Some restaurants will allow substitutions and you can make your own plate but you cannot be sure of this unless you check the restaurant policy in advance.

Q. If your guests completely finish their white wine down to the last drop, isn't it all right to pour red wine into their same glasses? H.B.

A. No. Either have separate clean wine glasses on the table for the red or wash the dirty glasses and bring them back to the table.

Q. Will you please describe the correct procedure for introducing one couple to another (1) when the couples are approximately the same age, (2) when one couple is older or more distinguished in station than the other? M.J.

A. When the couples are about the same age it doesn't matter whose names are mentioned first. When one couple is older or more distinguished - or perhaps guests in your town - you introduce the younger couple.

Q. Recently I attended an elegant wedding and I noticed that the champagne was served in a tulip shaped glass rather than the traditional broad brimmed type. Is this something new?

A. It is a fairly new idea. The theory now is that a tulip shaped glass preserves the effervescence (bubbles) of champagne longer than a wide brimmed glass.

Hazelnuts have great flavor
 They also have pesky skins.

- Here's the easy way to get rid of them:
1. Place nuts in a single layer in a shallow baking pan. Toast in 350-degree F oven for 5 minutes, or until nuts begin to brown and husks flake.
 2. Wrap nuts in a towel and rub them so the husks fall off.
 3. Lift the skinless hazelnuts (filberts) from the debris and enjoy.

DINING GUIDE

Vegetarian View

By Margaret Wine-Peterson

When 18th century French explorers discovered a plump red berry being cultivated by Indians in Chile, little did they realize that this fruit's offspring, the modern strawberry, would eventually become so popular in America today.

Mother Nature treated us well by packaging vitamins, fiber and potassium in these delectable morsels. One cup of the fresh fruit has less than 60 calories, yet provides 150 percent of the recommended dietary allowance for vitamin C, and as much potassium as an orange.

Strawberries also contain a fair amount of riboflavin and niacin, important B vitamins and iron. To preserve their nutrient content (and their texture), refrigerate berries as soon as possible, but wash, hull and slice them just before serving.

Luckily, we're entering peak strawberry season now, so prices and quality are inviting. The best way to enjoy the ripe, delicately flavored beauties is without the cloying sweetness of excess added sugar. And berries actually do taste quite fine without the fatty, frothy tongue-coating whipped toppings.

Less is really more — try the fruit with little of the extra "stuff," which masquerades the berries' identity, not to mention negates their nutritional value.

Fresh fruits, as well as fresh vegetables and whole grains, are our best sources of fiber and potassium. Research in human disease indicates that Americans would do better to increase their consumption of these foods.

Fiber is important because it maintains bowel health and can help reduce the chances of developing certain kinds of cancer. Certain kinds of fiber, the ones found especially in oats, carrots and fruits, also interfere with the body's absorption and use of cholesterol.

This causes the body to excrete extra cholesterol, so blood cholesterol levels decrease, which is good news in the fight against heart disease.

Scientists also tell us that diets high in potassium appear to lessen the risks of getting high blood pressure. Fruits and whole grains are naturally low in sodium, too, which is also an advantage in blood pressure regulation.

STRAWBERRY GET UP AND GO

- 1/2 cup sliced strawberries
- 1/2 cup non-fat milk
- 1/4 cup unflavored low-fat yogurt
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate

Yields 12 ounces.
In electric blender jar, combine all ingredients; blend until smooth. Serve.

LAST-MINUTE FRUIT MELANGE

- 1 pint fresh strawberries, washed and hulled
- 2 to 3 teaspoons sugar or honey (to taste)

ALL YOU CAN EAT

READER RATINGS

By Margaret Wing-Peterson

You would be appalled if you had to eat a whole stick of margarine at the dining table. Yet, the average American eats about this much fat every day — not only as the obvious butter and margarine smeared on rolls and poured over popcorn, but also hidden in croissants, cheese, nuts, whole milk, etc.

Few people realize 3 ounces of prime rib roast contain the equivalent of 6 teaspoons of fat. An ounce of potato chips, a minor munch? Two teaspoons. The mere ounce of Cheddar cheese? Two teaspoons. Your average two pieces of extra-crispy fast-food fried chicken? Seven teaspoons. An innocent hot dog? Three teaspoons. Two ounces of milk chocolate candy? Four teaspoons.

Excess fat consumption has been linked to high blood fats and increased risks for heart disease and some forms of cancer.

Because some fat is necessary for good health, the typical American needs only to reduce fat intake — not eliminate it — by cutting out about a quarter of the fat he or she currently consumes.

Then, fill the fat gap with complex carbohydrate starches and fiber.

Some products simply reduce the portion size on the nutrition panel to justify a decreased fat count on the package label. "No cholesterol" foods such as some imitation sour cream toppings can still be very high in fat and calories.

'CREAMY' CARROT SOUP

- 2 teaspoons vegetable oil
- 1 pound carrots, thinly sliced (about 3 cups)
- 1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 1/2 cups diced raw potato
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 4 whole cloves
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 4 cups reduced-salt fat-free chicken broth

Yields 6 servings.

In large pan, heat oil; add carrots, onion, celery, potato, garlic and sugar. Cover pan; cook vegetables over low heat for about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add cloves, pepper and broth; bring to a boil.

Reduce heat and cook, partially covering pan, for about 20 minutes or until vegetables are soft. Remove and discard cloves.

Puree soup in blender or food processor. Reheat if necessary to serve hot.

Fabulous fish is more than a flash in the pan

By Sharon Achatz

Fish is fabulous. Nutritionists praise its high protein content, dieters its low-fat, low-calorie traits, chefs its versatility.

My fondness for it stems from a more basic benefit — no meat cooks faster than fish, especially deboned and skinned filets.

In this fast-paced world, where we want to eat well, but don't have lots of time, fish stands out as the perfect food. No matter the cooking method of choice — in a pan, on a barbecue or under a broiler — fish always cooks in a matter of minutes.

While a quick cooking time is one of this meat's appeals, it frequently is fish's downfall.

Many novice chefs tend to overcook their catch, resulting in dull-tasting and dry fare. Fish should be removed from the heat when it is just done — as soon as the fish flakes and is white rather than translucent.

A good cooking guideline is 10 minutes per inch of thickness measured at the thickest point on the fillet.

Not only does fish cook fast, it also requires a minimum of preparatory work. Since fish has a distinctive flavor, it requires only the simplest of seasonings — and little or no marinating time is required to impart these flavors to the fish.

The supermarket's condiment aisles and fresh fish sections are brimming with premixed bottled sauces, packaged marinade mixes and shake-on seasonings. Many are excellent choices, particularly for complex flavorings such as Creole, but many homemade options are just as easy and delicious.

Herb-Broiled Halibut pairs tarragon's strong herbal bite with an ever-so-slight mustard tang for a culinary creation that grills up in minutes — if you have a gas grill that can be fired up at a moment's notice. If your grill is charcoal-based, the fastest fix comes instead from your oven's broiler.

Pan-fried Snapper with Garlic Butter is a more subtly seasoned stove-top sensation that's more than a flash in the pan.

Halibut and snapper filets are widely available — however, these recipes work well with any type of fresh fillet.

To make a complete meal, pair either of these recipes with Creamy Vegetable Capellini. This slightly sweet and toothy pasta dish makes a nice complement for the tenderness of melt-in-your-mouth fish filets.

¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon seafood seasoning or seasoned salt
¼ teaspoon tarragon
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Preheat broiler or grill.

Place filets in shallow dish. In small frying pan, melt butter and add remaining ingredients; pour over filets. Fish can be cooked immediately or allowed to sit at room temperature for several minutes.

To broil in oven, turn filets halfway though cooking time — after 5 minutes for a 1-inch-thick fillet. There is no need to turn filets cooked on a covered barbecue grill; just place filets on grill, cover and cook 10 minutes per inch of fish thickness. If desired, cook filets on perforated aluminum foil to avoid having them flare into the fire below.

PAN-FRIED SNAPPER WITH GARLIC BUTTER

4 tablespoons milk
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ pounds snapper filets
¼ cup oil
4 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced garlic
Juice of 1 lemon
Lemon slices, optional
Parsley sprigs, optional

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 15 minutes.

Pour milk into shallow dish and put flour in another dish. Mix salt and pepper into flour. Dip filets first in milk, then dredge in flour, shaking off excess.

Heat oil in heavy frying pan.

Without crowding, cook filets until golden brown on one side, then turn and brown the other side. Transfer fish to a warm serving platter. Wipe pan clean with paper towels.

Melt butter in pan; add garlic and heat through. Sprinkle fish with lemon juice, then drizzle with garlic butter. If desired, dress with lemon slices and parsley sprigs.

QUICK TIP

When kids clamor for cookies, but you don't have time for in-and-out-of-the-oven batches, bake bar cookies. Or, make a giant cookie by spreading batter into a lightly greased 12-inch pizza tin. Bake at 350 F for 15 to 17 minutes, then cool a couple of minutes before removing from pan.

HERB-BROILED HALIBUT

1½ pounds halibut filets
¼ cup butter
¼ teaspoon salt

READER RATINGS

Q. When dining out I have often seen women wearing their coats to the table, then depositing them on the back of their chairs. However, I have never seen a man do the same thing with his overcoat. Is there really a difference in etiquette for men and women in regard to checking coats?

A. Yes, a man always checks his coat in a restaurant. But a woman has the option of checking her coat or bringing it to the table.

Q. There is a great catering place in my neighborhood which features wonderful food at moderate prices. However, dinners are always served "family style". Meat and vegetables are placed in large platters which guests pass around just as if they were eating at home.

There is one problem with this type service, though. I notice that some people take more than their fair share or perhaps take all white meat when turkey is served. What can be done about this?

A. There is really nothing that you can do under the circumstances. Family style dining is a nice idea, but it doesn't work unless all the guests are considerate.

Why not ask the manager to provide conventional service, in which food is placed on plates in the kitchen, for your next affair?

Q. Most restaurants seem to think it is necessary to play background music. Why is this done? Doesn't it inhibit conversation?

A. This is a matter of taste. Most people like music, provided it is unobtrusive, and they find it is an actual aid to conversation.

Many parents are faced with a dilemma these days over what to do about their "latchkey" kids. With more families in which both parents work, and more single-parent families, kids are increasingly left to their own devices during the period after school until Mom and/or Dad comes home.

Being "home alone" may be a treat for the kids but, as a parent, you may wonder anxiously just what they're up to during the final hours of your workday. Engrossed in MTV instead of doing homework or wolfing down potato chips and cookies just before dinner — or worse.

While I can't offer any suggestions about how to get your kids to do their homework, I can provide some tips for getting your kids to eat more nutritious snacks after school.

With proper instruction, the microwave is a safe and simple way for your kids to discover the joys of cooking and keep from "going hungry" before you get home from work. And microwaved snacks often provide a healthier alternative to store-bought junk food.

Before kids ever use the microwave, they must be properly instructed in its safe use. Make sure kids understand the safety rules you read about in the owner's manual when you first started microwaving.

Children under 10 should let older brothers and sisters handle the food preparation and cooking, although they can be encouraged to participate in easy tasks such as washing vegetables or arranging food on plates.

Although microwave cooking is "cool cooking," remind your kids that dishes can become quite hot from their contact with hot foods. Therefore, kids should always use hot pads when removing food from the microwave oven.

Point out the importance of thinking ahead before preparing a snack to avoid accidents. Even simple things like tying back long hair or not wearing long, loose sleeves can prevent catastrophe.

It's not just kids who need to take care. One morning I heated water in a large glass measure to make tea. When I opened the microwave door, my bathrobe sleeve caught on the latch, and 2 cups of very hot water ended up parboiling my left wrist.

Instead of enjoying a nice cup of tea, I spent my morning in the emergency room!

Finally, remember that children and knives are a bad combination. When possible, leave containers of pre-chopped onion, sliced tomatoes or other foods that your kids may want to use in their snack creations in the refrigerator. Butter knives are just as effective as butcher knives when it comes to slicing hot dogs or cheese.

Encourage creativity in the kitchen, and let your kids try some recipes of their own — first, when you are around to supervise, and later, on their own. They will soon discover the fun and ease of microwaving their own snacks in a fraction of the time it would take to cook with a conventional oven.

The mess is minimal — much to your relief! — and with the time they save in cooking, they can be free to concentrate on their homework — or watch more MTV.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK

Caution kids not to use aluminum containers or foil in the microwave. Dishwasher-safe plastic containers are fine for brief reheating, but it is a good idea to let kids cook with only microwave-safe dishes that you set aside for them to use. If containers need to be covered with plastic wrap before microwaving, show kids how to carefully peel back wrap away from their faces to avoid getting burned by escaping steam.

FISH STICK SANDWICH

- 1 hamburger bun
- 2 precooked frozen fish sticks
- 1 slice American cheese
- 1 teaspoon pickle relish
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise

Yields 1 serving.

Preparation time: 5 minutes.

Cooking time: 3 minutes, or until heated through.

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Cover 1 side of bun with fish sticks, cheese and pickle relish.

Place sandwich on microwave-safe plate and microwave 3 minutes, or until sandwich is heated through. Spread other half of bun with mayonnaise; assemble sandwich and serve while hot.

NACHOS

- 16 to 25 large-size tortilla chips
- 1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese or mild Cheddar cheese
- ¼ cup mild tomato salsa

Yields: 4 to 6 servings.

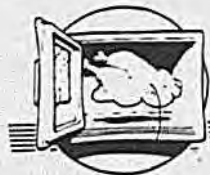

Preparation time: 5 minutes.

Cooking time: 2 to 4 minutes, or until cheese melts.

Oven setting: MEDIUM (50 percent power).

Line a 10-inch microwave-safe plate with waxed paper. Arrange tortilla chips evenly over plate.

Sprinkle shredded cheese over chips, then spoon salsa over top. Microwave 2 to 4 minutes, or until cheese melts, rotating plate ¼ turn halfway through cooking time.

At least part of the solution for her is obviously never to seek shelter under a tree during a thunderstorm. The other part may be to talk to her school counselor about this matter.

I wonder whether a relative or someone else she knows or heard about was killed or seriously hurt in that way. If so, it's easy to understand why she feels the way she does.

Dr. Abraham: You sure get a lot of complaints from teens about their parents. So let me tell you another side of that story.

Will you please print this short "thank you" for me? It's to my folks who are always there when I need them, take pride in my good grades at school and come out and cheer whenever I'm in a football game on the school team.

They haven't got much money, that's for sure, but they have a lot of love and they share it with me and my brothers.

Thanks. Mom and Dad. — Eddie.

Eddie: Your message is a welcome one for a lot of other parents as well as yours. It's a pleasure to include it here.

Dr. Abraham: I think that the tapes I play in my room at home are my own business, but my parents constantly complain about the noise, which I don't think they are. They are great music, and for me to enjoy them fully, I have to hear them fully. It's as simple as that.

They're ready to kick me out, and I'm about ready to go. But at 15 and with no money, where would I go?

It's my room and my tapes, so why are they bugging me all the time? — Danny.

Danny: Probably because it's their home, too, and apparently less than peaceful for them.

There are a number of possible compromises, including closed doors, earplugs, and times when you're home and they're not.

If they hear less of your music or none of it at all, the problem may be solved.

Dr. Abraham: No one in our family is thin, except me. My parents and three brothers are all at least a little on the heavy side, but I'm a girl and somewhat in the other direction.

I like it this way and eat and exercise to keep my weight under control. The only problem is that my folks have an idea that I have some kind of eating problem like "anorexia" or "bulimia," and they keep bringing up the subject. It just doesn't occur to them that I'm thin because I'm careful about my diet and daily exercise.

I've never even given any thought to starving myself or eating and throwing up. That's all gross to me.

My parents don't seem to believe me, though. We teens really have to put up with a lot. It's good to have someone like you to stick up for us. — Deena

Deena: When teens show such good common sense as you do, it's so easy to support you.

What you seem to need is an advocate, someone to go to bat for you on your own turf, right where you live.

So consider sharing your situation with your family physician or pediatrician, tell him or her the whole story, and if it is totally as you've told it to me, the odds are that he or she will try to convince your parents to listen to you and accept your explanation.

Dr. Abraham: My girlfriend is so sensible, but on one subject she is just plain wild. It may seem silly to you, and in a way it is to me, too, but to her it's real serious.

She has only one fear that I know of, but it's so way out, and that's why I'm writing to you. Whenever there is a thunderstorm, with lots of noise and lightning, she holds her hands over her ears, closes her eyes and just kind of tightens up all over.

I've asked her about this, and she says it is because she's heard that a person can be killed by lightning at a time like that if he or she is under a tree. I tell her that's a bunch of junk, and then we have an argument.

Do you have an opinion on this? — Jimmy.

Jimmy: If this is the only thing you argue about, you're lucky because you can end it by telling her she's right. A person can be killed like that. Many years ago I knew someone who was.

Cooking Corner

Proof is in the pudding

By Linda Sesan Dudley

I'm just a little saddened by the fact that there seems to be a generation of people who don't know what a custard cup is. They are the "instant pudding" group.

For them, pudding is something that comes out of a box that Mom mixes with milk and plops into the refrigerator without cooking to serve in as little as 30 minutes. Or a similar mixture that college coeds whip up in dorm rooms with a plastic bowl, some milk and a fork (not even a whisk), to eat here and now.

Actually, puddings and other cool comforts are said to have peaked about the 1930s. But think back to your childhood. Weren't these smooth and creamy desserts a part of those "wonder years"? They began, for many, with that bland vanilla pudding that's still offered as one of baby's first foods.

And except for a garage sale in a senior citizen development, you'd be hard-pressed to come up with those charming, single-serving custard cups your mom (and home-style restaurants) used.

Some modern cooks shy away from custards and flans because they can separate and lose their smooth texture if cooked too hot. Here are some tips:

- The minimum egg-to-milk ratio for a properly thickened custard is 1 egg and 2 tablespoons sugar to 1 cup milk.

- A firmer custard can be achieved by increasing the amount of whole eggs to milk.

- Two egg whites can be substituted for 1 whole egg. (If you're doing this for health reasons, be aware that there will be a difference in flavor and color.)

- Lightly beat eggs with a whisk, egg beater or electric mixer just until blended, then lightly mix in milk.

- If froth has formed from overbeating, skim it off before baking custard.

- Custards and flans should be cooled to room temperature before refrigerating.

If you feel like turning back the clock, imagine yourself in a kitchen with a chrome-and-Formica dining table, tie on an apron and whip up some cool comfort with one of the following recipes.

This rich rice pudding (although in Texas, where they're more folksy, it's puddin') uses molasses as a sweetener, instead of granulated sugar. It's from "Tastes of Deep South Texas," by Nick Bennack. (Mountain Press Publishing Co.)

MOLASSES RICE PUDDING

2 eggs, beaten until thick
1½ cups milk
1¼ cups cooked white rice

1 cup raisins -
¼ cup molasses
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Yields 6 servings.

Preheat oven to 350 F.

In medium bowl, add milk and eggs and mix well. Add all other ingredients, mix well. Place in medium baking dish. Cover and bake 1 hour or until mixture is firm.

Serve warm or chilled, topped with whipped cream, if desired.

Flans are inverted custards that are baked in a mold lined with caramelized sugar. The caramelized sugar liquefies as the custard bakes, forming a light sauce, which allows for easier unmolding of the custard.

SPANISH FLAN

2 cups milk
Peel of 1 lemon
1½ packets unflavored gelatin, dissolved in ¼ cup warm water
5 eggs, beaten
1 cup sugar

Yields 8 servings.

In saucepan, scald milk (warm milk and lemon peel until mixture is very hot but not boiling). Add gelatin to beaten eggs; beat to ensure that they are adequately mixed and add to milk, together with all except 5 tablespoons of sugar. Stir until mixture begins to boil and then immediately remove from stove.

In another saucepan over low heat, heat 5 tablespoons sugar until sugar begins to caramelize. Pour caramelized sugar into mold, following with flan mixture. Refrigerate overnight.

To remove, place mold in hot water for a few seconds, and then invert mold on serving plate, allowing flan to unmold; caramelized sugar will be on top. Serve chilled.

The name translates to "burnt cream," and this dessert is perhaps the richest of all custards and considered a benchmark of any dessert chef's talent. This one is a delicious rendition from executive chef Theresa La Valle of Hyatt Grand Champions Resort in Indian Wells, Calif., a desert-community near Palm Springs. At this hotel, a guest who orders the dessert gets a trio of servings in different flavors. The ginger is my favorite.

CREME BRULEE

1 pint heavy cream
1 pint half & half
¾ cup granulated sugar
8 egg yolks
Flavor with ginger, mandarin orange, mint or fruit liqueur (see variations below)

Yields 12 ½-cup servings.

Combine heavy cream, half & half and sugar in saucepan. Place yolks in separate bowl. While whipping yolks, add cream mixture and flavoring (see below). Place in custard cups and bake in shallow pan of cool water — a bain marie, or water bath — at 300 F for 30 minutes or until set.

For ginger: Add 2 tablespoons of grated fresh ginger to cream mixture before egg yolks. Set aside.

For Grand Marnier: Add 2 tablespoons.

For Triple Sec: Add 3 tablespoons.

For mint: Add 3 tablespoons white creme de menthe.

For mandarin orange: Add 1 tablespoon Suisse Chalet-brand flavoring compound (found in specialty stores).

Tapioca — you either like those squishy little pearls, or you don't. Seldom can you find an eater who is neutral. Adding lemon updates this school cafeteria classic. It is from "Puddings, Custards and Flans" by Linda Zimmerman (Clarkson Potter).

TAPIOCA PUDDING

1 medium lemon
2½ cups milk
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup granulated sugar
1 large egg, separated
½ teaspoon grated lemon zest
Mint leaves for garnish (optional)

Yields 6 servings.

With potato peeler, carefully peel zest from lemon, making sure no white pith is included.

In heavy saucepan, scald 2 cups of milk with zest. Remove from heat. Let cool for 10 minutes, then discard zest. Stir in tapioca and sugar. Let sit for another 5 minutes.

Beat egg yolk with remaining milk. Stir into tapioca mixture. Cook over medium-low heat until mixture boils, stirring often. Immediately remove from heat. Stir in grated zest. Beat egg white until soft peaks form and fold into cooled pudding. Spoon into custard cups or a serving bowl.

Serve warm, or cover and chill. Garnish with mint, if desired.

The following pudding recipe comes from the marvelous "The Back of the Box Gourmet" by Michael McLaughlin (Simon and Schuster). This soft, sweet cookie-pudding-custard combination originated in the South. It was popularized on the Nilla Wafer box.

'50S-STYLE

BANANA PUDDING

¾ cup granulated sugar, divided use
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
Dash salt
4 eggs, divided use
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
Vanilla wafer cookies as necessary
5 to 6 medium-size, fully ripe bananas, peeled and sliced

Yields 8 servings.

Combine ¼ cup sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler. Mix in 1 whole egg and 3 egg yolks. Stir in milk. Cook, uncovered, over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat; add vanilla.

Spread small amount on bottom of 1½-quart casserole; cover with layer of vanilla wafer cookies. Top with layer of sliced bananas. Pour about ¼ of custard over bananas. Continue to layer wafers, bananas and custard to make 3 layers of each, ending with custard.

Beat 3 remaining egg whites stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar and beat until mixture forms stiff peaks. Pile on top of pudding, covering entire surface. Bake in preheated 425 F oven 5 minutes or until delicately browned. Serve warm or chilled.

CREAMY VEGETABLE CAPELLINI

2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon dried minced onion
2 carrots, thinly sliced
2 zucchini, thinly sliced
2 yellow squash, thinly sliced
1 cup chicken broth
8 ounces capellini
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
½ cup Parmesan cheese

Yields 4 servings.

Preparation time: 15 minutes.

In large skillet over medium heat, cook vegetables in oil, stirring frequently, about 3 minutes. Add chicken broth; simmer 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook capellini according to package directions and cut cream cheese into chunks. After vegetables have simmered 5 minutes, add cheese chunks; stir to melt and blend. Add Parmesan cheese; stir to mix.

To serve, spoon sauce over drained, cooked pasta.

Garden Talk

By C.Z. Guest

Q. Although I have two ponds in my garden, I have been unable to establish a frog population in spite of introducing about 20 tadpoles over the last year.

A. If you have goldfish in your ponds, they are probably responsible for dining on the tadpoles. Vegetation in the ponds is a must for tadpole development, but do not allow fish in the same pond.

Why not net some baby frogs this spring and introduce them to the ponds?

COMPATIBLE BEDMATES

A little planning before the gardening season starts can yield delicious vegetables for the dinner table throughout the year while reducing the amount of labor required to till the soil.

Using the same garden patch for what's known as "successive plantings" (always has something growing), this is particularly appealing for the suburban and urban home garden, where land space often is at a premium.

It involves planning dates of harvest and planting another vegetable variety right after the first has completed its yield.

Scientists can't explain it, but experienced gardeners have found that certain planting combinations actually enhance growth and reduce insect problems, so keep these combinations in mind when ordering your seeds this month and next. Of course, planting dates will vary according to your particular climate and zone that you live in.

Here are some "compatible bedmates."

- Asparagus: basil, parsley, tomatoes.
- Beans: marigold, celery, potatoes.
- Beets: carrots, onions, kohlrabi, cauliflower, kale, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, turnips, cabbage.

- Carrots: onions and parsley (which repel carrot fly), beets, peas, sage.

- Corn: beans, cucumbers, lettuce, soybeans (to repel chinch bugs), spinach, squash.

- Cucumbers: corn, radishes (to repel cucumber beetles).

- Lettuce: cabbage, onions, radishes.

- Marigolds (which cut nematode populations): anywhere.

- Nasturtiums: potatoes, squash.

- Onions: carrots, lettuce, radishes.

- Peas: beans, carrots, corn, potatoes, turnips.

- Peppers: carrots, eggplant, onions, tomato.

- Potatoes: corn, eggplant, peas.

- Radishes: carrots, lettuce, spinach.

- Squash: beans, corn, radishes.

- Strawberries: borage, lettuce, spinach.

- Tomatoes: marigolds, spinach, carrots, mint, lettuce, basil, nasturtiums.

- Turnips: peas.

Incompatible species that simply cannot get along include:

- Asparagus: onions, garlic;

- Beans: onions, garlic, shallots, gladiolus.

- Beets: pole beans.

- Brassicas: tomatoes, strawberries.

- Carrots: dill.

- Corn: tomatoes (the corn earworm will damage both if it can't).

- Cucumbers: potatoes, all aromatic herbs.

- Onions: pole beans, peas, beans.

- Peas: shallots, garlic, onions.

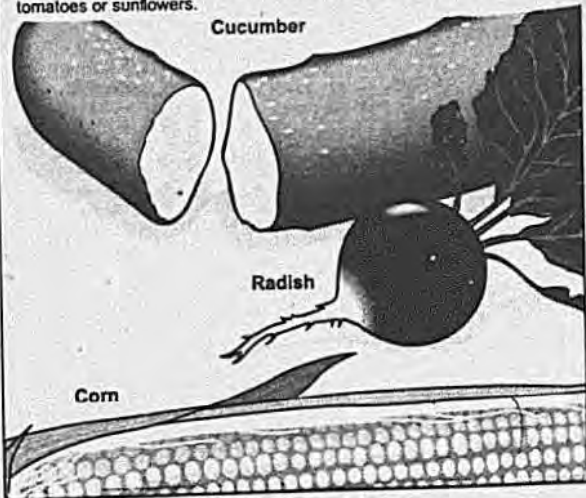

- Potatoes: tomatoes, sunflowers.

- Tomatoes: fennel, dill, corn, all Brassicas.

- Most species: fennel, sunflowers, walnut trees — all known to inhibit growth of nearby plants.

Compatible bedmates

- Certain planting combinations enhance growth and reduce insect problems.
- Asparagus is compatible with basil, parsley and tomatoes but not onion or garlic.
- Plant cucumbers with corn and radishes but not with potatoes or aromatic herbs.
- Potatoes get along with corn, eggplant and peas but not with tomatoes or sunflowers.

Convincing teen-agers not to smoke

By Willard Abraham

Q. Our son, who is now 16, has begun to smoke, and he won't listen to us about the dangers involved. His comments are often related to his two grandfathers, who are in their 80s and are both very healthy in spite of smoking since they were in their teens.

What can we tell him to get him to stop? Your ideas, please.

A. The research on this subject is very complete. Smoking is a definite cause of lung cancer and other serious illnesses, and the figures are plentiful and scary.

It is often difficult to get some young people to understand and accept such facts because they may feel they are invincible, with death happening only to someone else.

However, the terrible truth may get through if it's provided by people they respect. Sometimes they are parents, but teachers and other relatives might be more effective.

His grandfathers are fortunate. There is no assurance that he will be that lucky if he continues to smoke.

I'll appreciate hearing about any successful efforts from other parent readers that have helped convince young people to show how smart they are by turning off their tobacco habit, or perhaps even more bright by not starting at all. I'll be glad to share what you send me.

Q. My husband read somewhere (he couldn't remember where — just like him!) about a test before birth in connection with a child's possible mental retardation. Naturally, I'm interested because I'm pregnant, due in three months.

There is and has been no retardation in my family, nor in my husband's, either.

So I want to ask you two questions. Do you have any idea what that test is? (It apparently is given to the future mother.) And can a child be born retarded even though no problem like that has ever happened in either parent's family as far as we know?

A. Let me take the second question first. Yes, a baby who is retarded can be born into a family where there is no history of retardation. However, the odds are strongly against that occurrence.

The new test that your husband may have read about is to determine quickly and reliably whether a woman is a "silent" carrier of a specific genetic defect that can result in a baby's retardation. It is different than the kind of test used to discern Down's syndrome, a development that results in various levels of retardation.

Your obstetrician is probably the best source from which you can get information on this subject as well as on other conditions related to possible prenatal issues.

Q. I've always thought that boys are generally brighter than girls, judging by the male leadership in this world of ours.

It certainly isn't true in my family, however. Our two girls are considerably brighter than our one son, which goes against my beliefs.

This is a simple observation of mine, which may require a complicated kind of reply from you. My question is just this: Are boys smarter than girls, or aren't they?

A. My response really isn't very complicated. Some of them are and some aren't, and that's a fact.

Just as there is no "master race" (despite Hitler's opinion on this subject), there is no "master sex."

Men have more frequently occupied leadership roles than women because the women haven't had the opportunity to demonstrate their abilities.

Times are changing, though, and their capabilities are being utilized more frequently. We are witnessing and benefiting increasingly from their skills, which are widely demonstrated in many areas of government, industry and all other occupational areas.

And as one witty character once said, "You ain't seen nothing yet."

Return engagement for sausage

By Kit Snedaker

Sausage, loaded with fat and salt, disappeared from menus in the healthy '80s. Take another look at this delight. It may be time for a return engagement.

For one thing, turkey sausage has hit the market. Lower in everything, it still has great flavor. For another, we now realize that salt doesn't cause high blood pressure, just increases it in people who already have the elevation.

And perhaps we are more forgiving now, more willing to give ourselves a treat now and then. Nothing defeats healthy eating so much as the feeling of being deprived.

I timidly tried my first turkey sausage about a month ago. Loved it. Went on to veal sausage and even tried making my own. It isn't hard and that way I have control of all the ingredients, including preservatives. No nitrates here!

Sausage as the main event is a once-a-month meal at my house. However, used to spark casseroles, beans, even jambalaya, sausage is a stunning success.

Here, then, is a recipe for Homemade Sausage. Turkey or veal gives a product lower in cholesterol, but a little pork sausage goes a long way. Then, a Turkey Sausage Jambalaya that speaks with a New Orleans accent and a super Sunday night supper of Sausage with Chickpeas.

HOMEMADE SAUSAGE

- 2 pounds lean boneless pork, veal or turkey, cubed
- 8 ounces pork or beef fat, cubed
- 1½ teaspoons dried sage, crumbled
- ½ teaspoon dried thyme
- ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper or to taste
- ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Yields 12 patties.

Each patty has about 290 calories, 25 grams fat, 70 milligrams cholesterol and 200 milligrams sodium.

Grind meat and fat in food processor or meat grinder. Add sage, thyme, cayenne and pepper; mix to combine. Divide mixture into 12 parts and shape each into a patty about ½-inch thick and 3 inches wide.

Wrap in foil to freeze (for 1 month), in plastic wrap to refrigerate and use next day. To cook, spray large skillet with non-stick spray and heat. Add patties and cook, until brown, about 15 minutes, turning halfway through.

TURKEY SAUSAGE JAMBALAYA

- 1 pound skinned, boned chicken breasts cut in bite-size pieces
- 1 pound smoked turkey sausage cut into bite-size pieces

- 2 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped (about 1 cup)
- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- ½ cup finely chopped green bell pepper
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- 2½ cups low-sodium chicken stock or water
- ¼ teaspoon ground thyme
- ¼ teaspoon ground oregano
- ¼ teaspoon ground red pepper
- 2 cups cooked rice
- ¼ cup chopped green onions
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Each serving has about 320 calories, 4 grams fat, 127 milligrams cholesterol and 190 milligrams sodium.

Spray inside of large saucepan with non-stick spray. Place pan on high heat and, when it is hot, add chicken and sausage. Cook, stirring, for about 10 minutes until browned.

Add tomatoes, onion, bell pepper and celery and cook for 15 minutes, stirring often. Add stock, thyme, oregano and red pepper. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes, stirring often.

Remove pan from heat and stir in rice, green onions and parsley. Cover and let stand for 5 minutes before serving.

SAUSAGE WITH CHICKPEAS

- 2 teaspoons olive or canola oil
- ½ cup diced onion
- ½ cup green bell pepper strips
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3 ounces pork, veal or turkey sausage sliced
- ½ cup canned Italian tomatoes drained (reserve juice) and quartered
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil (1 teaspoon dried)
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh Italian parsley (1 teaspoon dried)
- ¼ teaspoon oregano
- ¼ teaspoon fennel seed
- 8 ounces rinsed, drained, canned chickpeas

Yields 2 servings.

Each serving has about 200 calories, 7 grams fat, 45 milligrams cholesterol and 550 milligrams sodium.

Heat oil in large, non-stick skillet.

Add onion, bell pepper and garlic. Cook, stirring, until tender, but still crisp, 1 or 2 minutes. Add everything else except the chickpeas and stir to combine. Cook long enough to heat through, 1 or 2 minutes. Serve at once over warmed-up chickpeas.

Overuse injuries in young athletes

By Robert P. Studer

You're young and actively aggressive; you love sports and you love to win. But, warns the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, you won't love the long-term pain you may be asking for if you don't use good judgment.

Playing hard can be a lot of fun, but youths shouldn't overdo it," warns Atlanta-based orthopedic surgeon Letha Griffin, M.D. "When the physical activity of playing a game is done over and over, there can be repeated micro-trauma to a bone, joint, ligament, muscle or nerve."

And, she warns, "if the child continues the sport and does not allow time for the damage to heal, the injury can worsen. A bone may be fractured, a muscle strained or a ligament torn."

Unlike an injury sustained from a direct blow, an overuse injury develops over a period of many days or weeks. The pain may not be intense initially and often is ignored, but it can eventually become so severe that the youth is sidelined for weeks or months."

Thus, Griffin said, "if something hurts or does not feel right, it is best to stop the activity. Pain that persists should be checked by a physician."

But, Griffin said, there are ways to prevent such repetitive injuries. Young athletes should be encouraged, she said, to participate in more than one sport that will enable the young athlete's musculoskeletal system to be developed more symmetrically. And pre-season conditioning also prepares them for the rigors of sports and minimizes the occurrence of overuse injuries.

Among sports and activities that can lead to injury are running on hills or hard surfaces, intense workouts, dramatic changes in a training technique, improper technique or wearing worn-out shoes.

Overuse injuries can occur in either team or individual sports. Elbow and shoulder pain are common signs of overuse injuries in kids playing baseball, tennis or racketball. Knee pain is often found in sports that require a lot of jumping, such as track, basketball or figure skating.

"Children's bones and muscles grow rapidly, often at different rates," Griffin pointed out. "This can result in a tight tendon placing stress on a bone, causing inflammation and soreness."

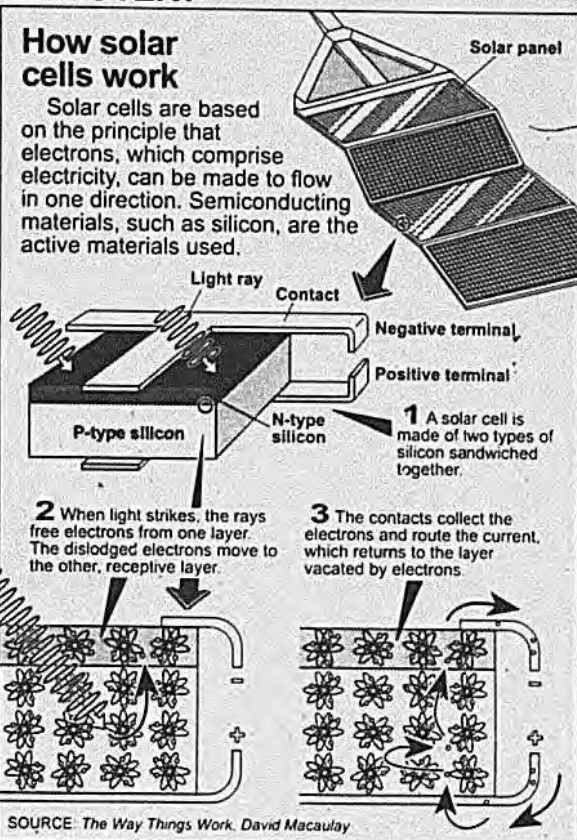

Stress fractures frequently occur, she said, in the feet and legs of basketball and soccer players as well as runners. Gymnasts, swimmers doing the butterfly stroke and football players can place great stress on their spines and may develop stress fractures of the vertebrae.

Asphalt driveway patch goes on like a Band-Aid

Q. Our asphalt driveway has developed a number of serious cracks over the years that look unsightly. I do not want to go to the expense of having the driveway professionally repaired and resurfaced. Is it possible that we might be able to do these repairs ourselves?

A. If you are fairly handy, you should have no problem repairing the driveway yourselves. In fact, there is a new product on the market specifically designed for do-it-yourselfers in the repair of asphalt surfaces.

The product, Driveway Medic, is manufactured by Co-Fair Corp. and is available at major building supply and hardware stores. The manufacturer claims that unlike more traditional asphalt repair products, Driveway Medic is more durable and easier to use. It is made of a heavy-duty, double-coated, non-woven, polypropylene fabric, saturated with rubberized asphalt and is self-adhesive.

The product is used to seal and waterproof cracks or larger damaged areas in asphalt driveways. It covers the crack and forms a waterproof barrier that prohibits moisture and salt intrusion, and prevents freeze/thaw damage in winter cold and summer heat. It does not require special tools for application. It is like applying a heavy-duty self-adhesive asphalt bandage to one's driveway, the manufacturer claims.

To make repairs, the homeowner cuts a piece of material to match the size of the cracked area, peels off the adhesive backing paper and presses the fabric down on the pavement. Driveway Medic instantly and firmly grips the driveway surface and can be walked or driven over at once. After that application, a top coat of emulsified asphalt is applied over the entire surface of the driveway to give the surface a clean, finished appearance.

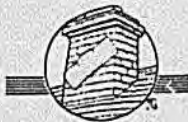

Before any repairs or top coat application, be sure that the driveway surface is cleaned and thoroughly dry. Use an oil/grease detergent made especially for cleaning asphalt driveways. Sweep the driveway and use a stiff broom to scrub the mixture into the asphalt. Use plenty of detergent.

Rinse away the dirty mixture with clean water as you go. Let dry thoroughly. Follow manufacturer directions carefully in the use of any of these products. If you need assistance in locating Driveway Medic, call 800 333-6700.

Q. The previous owner of our house painted the ceramic tile in the master bathroom with epoxy paint. I would like to remove the paint and preserve the tile beneath. Can you tell me how to remove the paint without damaging the tile?

A. Check with your local paint dealer for a recommendation on a paint remover for epoxy paints. Follow manufacturer's directions carefully. I suggest that you test any removal agent in an inconspicuous area to see how well it works. You may have to test more than one to get the right formula.

It also is important that you inspect the condition of the tile underneath the paint. The standard recommendation for preparation of a tile surface for painting is to roughen or etch the smooth surface so the paint will adhere to the tile. You may find that it is very difficult to completely remove the paint and that the tile surface underneath is too damaged to be appealing.

Decor Score

By Rose Bennett Gilbert

Q. We've turned the butler's pantry into a small breakfast room off our large kitchen. Now I don't know how to decorate it. The family room on the other side already has wallpaper to match the kitchen.

Do I have to do it again in the breakfast room? — J.T.

A. No, but if all three rooms can be seen at the same time, you'll be visually happier if they at least speak the same color language.

Balance is one of the important — and classic — criteria of good design. But since three rooms wallpapered alike is at least one too many, I'd suggest that you go back to the wall covering source from which you selected your kitchen/family room decor.

Chances are you'll find other choices in patterns that have been specifically designed and colored to go with your first choices.

That's the case in the situation we show here, looking from a small breakfast area through the kitchen to a family/sitting room beyond. The papers play the same color harmonies, although the patterns are very different.

Therefore, while each room has a distinct personality, each is also part of a larger whole, thanks to the design pros who created the patterns for Wall-Tex Wallcovering's "108 Nottingham Place" collection.

Q. For years I've been fighting off my husband's suggestions that I give him a recliner for Father's Day, birthday, Groundhog Day... In his mind, it's the ideal present for any holiday.

How can I keep refusing? I hate the ugly handle that's sticking out of every recliner I've ever seen! — Not Telling My Name

A. You obviously haven't seen the latest then: Push-button rec-liners have been with us for a number of years.

Now comes a recliner with a release lever that fits out of sight in a sleeve hidden inside the seat cushion. The device is cable-actuated, according to advance reports, just like the push-button and car door-type lever activators.

Just introduced at the most recent furniture market in High Point, N.C., the device is tentatively named "The Magic Touch" and should be showing up soon in recliners made by such well-knowns as Stylecraft and Flex-Steel.

Laziness just got better — and chic enough even for some living rooms.

Q. I love the fresh, clean look of shiny ceramic tiles in a bath, but I have to be careful about slipperiness. My 81-year-old mother-in-law uses the shower, and we don't want her falling down. — S.H.

A. Understandably, you're confusing the look of a shiny surface with slipperiness underfoot. It's a mistaken assumption: A tile with a matte (non-shiny) surface only appears to be less slippery than one with a shine.

Check out the tile's COF (co-efficient of friction, as it's known in the trade), easily found in most manufacturers' catalogs and data sheets. Tiles with a COF of .5-plus can be considered slip-resistant.

BREAKFAST BRIGHT — Deftly related, a plethora of patterns brightens a breakfast area without making the smallish space feel visually overstuffed.

ANTIQU OR JUNQUE

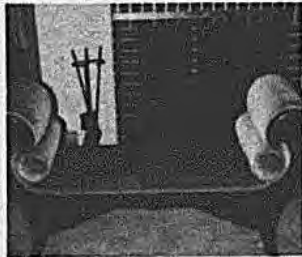

By James G. McCollam

A restored Empire-style bench

Q. The enclosed picture is of a bench that was thrown out for trash. We had it completely restored and reupholstered.

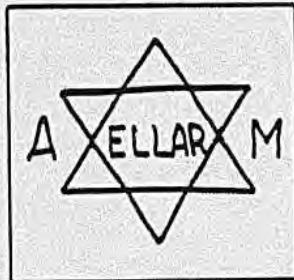

Can you tell me anything about its origin and value?

A. This is an Empire-style bench probably made in the mid-1800s. It might sell for $500 or $600.

Q. The attached mark is on the back of my doll. It has painted hair, closed mouth, glass eyes and composition body. It measures 13 1/2 inches in height.

Can you tell me anything about who made it, when and what it might sell for?

A. Your doll was made in Germany around 1925 by Armand Marseilles. It would probably sell for about $325 to $335.

IMARI CHINA

In 1616, a special clay necessary for the production of porcelain was found in the Hizen Province of Japan. Previously, Japan had imported its porcelain from China and Korea.

Many small kilns were built in Hizen Province; they exported their porcelain through the nearby seaport of Imari. The European traders gave all the porcelain the name of Imari.

The colors used were blue and red or orange on a white background. It became so popular with the traders that it was copied in China and given the name of Chinese Imari.

Within 100 years, dozens of potters in England, Germany and France were imitating Imari and printing an imitation Oriental chop mark on the back.

The blue on the Japanese Imari was darker than the Chinese. Japan used an Indian red; the Chinese, a coral red. The Japanese glaze was grayish; the Chinese was greenish.

The early 17th- and 18th-century Imari is extremely rare and very expensive.

By the 19th century, the quality and beauty of Imari had deteriorated; the colors were gaudy, the designs elaborate and often lacking in taste. Well-executed 19th-century Imari is hard to find and very expensive when found.

A 20-inch 19th-century bowl decorated with lotus, dragons and waves sells for about $400. A 24-inch charger of the same vintage with flowers and birds lists for $650. A 15-inch vase decorated with courtesans, dragons and flowers sells for $500.

An 11-inch square sake bottle from the mid-1800s decorated with birds and grapes lists for $750. A 7-inch bowl made around 1900 with floral scrolls and lotus medallions lists for $200.

Some very ordinary Imari items can be had for less than $100. Exceptionally fine 19th-century pieces will run more than $1,000.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. My husband really enjoys caring for our yard. Every spring he puts a lot of fertilizer and chemicals on the yard to keep it free of weeds and bright green. Are these substances harmful for our pets? I worry a great deal about our two dogs and one cat getting poisoned.

A. Many of the herbicides, fungicides and pesticides commonly sprayed on yards and foliage are harmful to pets. For example, it has been reported by the National Cancer Institute that dogs continually playing on herbicide-drenched lawns are twice as likely to develop lymphosarcoma, a form of leukemia.

This study linked the growth of cancers to the use of 2,4-D, a common weed killer. It also has been found that herbicide pellets present a greater threat to pets than do sprays because they dissolve more slowly.

Chemicals applied to yards and foliage are usually most potent when first applied. They tend to lose toxicity as they dry. Some dry within hours, after which it is usually safe to allow the animals to play on the treated areas.

However, it is better to keep all pets away from treated areas for at least a full day. The labels on most approved products state the cautions related to pets.

The signs seen in a poisoned pet vary, depending on the animal's weight and the amount of poison ingested or absorbed. Common signs include difficulty breathing, excessive salivation, drooling, vomiting, diarrhea, seizures and coma.

If any of these signs are seen, the pet should be taken to a veterinarian as soon as possible. Treatment varies according to the specific toxin involved.

The fear of poisoning of family pets should not cause you to give up on developing a beautiful yard. However, you should use common sense while applying chemicals to keep both your pets and yourself from becoming poisoned.

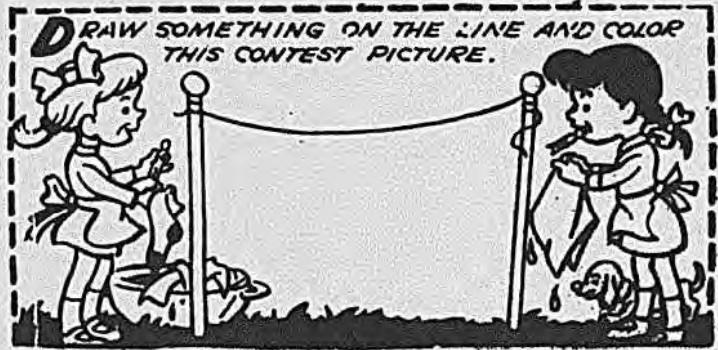

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

Meet Thomas Patrick Delahunty, son of Carol and Brian Delahunty of Westbury. He was born December 2, 1991 and is a beautiful, happy baby boy. His grandparents are Diane and Bill Vesely, and Cathy and John Delahunty, all from Williston Park.

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Summer is around the corner! Have you made plans for your vacation yet? The summer can be long and hot. It is a good idea to set some realistic goals so you won't become bored. Some boys and girls like to see how many books they can read for fun. Others like to learn a new hobby or visit with friends. Some families like to go on trips to interesting places. I know a boy who loved to go to the pool every afternoon. What will you do?

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

RULES BOYS AND GIRLS

Here is your chance to win One Dollar. ($1.00) - to spend or to save.

Here's all you have to do:

1. Contest is open to children 4 to 12 years of age.
2. Entries must be received by Friday, June 5, 1992
3. Paint, watercolors and crayons must be used on the above.
4. Decision of the judges will be final.

Mail your entry (just clip our cartoon) to this newspaper at:
105 Hillside Avenue
Williston Park, N.Y. 11596

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. I recently found out that I have AIDS. I have heard that you can receive payments immediately from Supplemental Security Income. How would I qualify for these immediate payments? J.N.

A. All HIV-infection claims are given prompt attention and priority handling. For many people applying for SSI with a medical diagnosis of symptomatic HIV infection, the law allows us to pay up to six months of benefits pending a final decision on your claim. You will qualify for this immediate payment if:

- A licensed physician confirms that the HIV infection is severe enough to meet Social Security Administration's criteria.

- You meet the other SSI non-medical eligibility requirements.

- You are not doing "substantial" work.

Q. What does Medigap insurance have to do with Medicare?

A. Medigap insurance is private health insurance specifically designed to supplement Medicare's benefits by filling in some of the gaps in Medicare coverage.

Some medigap policies provide coverage for Medicare's deductibles and most pay the coinsurance amounts. Some policies also pay for limited health services not covered by Medicare. The statutory definition of Medigap, however, includes all "Medicare wraparound" products sold by health maintenance organizations to individuals.

Q. I am planning to retire in a few months. What documents will I need to bring with me? N.R.

A. You may need some or all of the following documents: your birth certificate, Social Security number, W-2 forms or self-employment tax return for last year, military discharge papers if you had military service, spouse's birth certificate and Social Security number if he or she is applying for benefits, children's birth certificates and Social Security numbers if applying for children's benefits, your checking or savings account information if you want direct deposit.

You will need to submit original documents or copies certified by the issuing office. We will make photocopies and return your documents.

Q. Will my monthly Social Security Retirement Benefit increase if I earn more than 40 quarters of coverage? M.R.

A. No retirement benefits can be paid until you have the required number of credits. Generally 40 quarters of coverage is all that you will need for Social Security Retirement Benefits. The extra credits do not increase your Social Security benefit. However, the income you earn while working will increase your benefit.
