Student Achievements

Senator Kemp Hannon (R-Nassau) congratulates winners of his annual "There Ought To Be A Law" contest of the JFK Junior High School in Bethpage. Senator Hannon, a member of the Senate's Higher Education Committee, sponsors the annual law-writing contest as a means of introducing sixth graders in his Senatorial District to New York government and legislative process. This year approximately 2500 students representing 25 public and private elementary and middle schools submitted suggestions for legislation. Pictured are (l. to r.) Principal Clifford B. Jaeger; Senator Kemp Hannon; 1st Place, John Fornino of Bethpage; Maria Fornino; 2nd Place, Karen DiStefano of Plainview; Marie DiStefano.

Greeting To Girl Scouts

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta (far right) greeted girl scouts from Trinity Lutheran School in Hicksville on their recent visit to the Nassau County Executive Building. County Executive Gulotta discussed the functions of county government with the students. In attendance were: Lou-Anne Molzahn, Scout Leader; Lori O'Malley, Kathleen Krass, Sue Bopp; girl scouts Krista Gruhn, Meghan Kelly, Jessica and Bethany Hinsch, Shannon O'Malley, Tayanna Rocourt, Jeanette Crawford, Kristen Molzahn, Kerry Bopp, Anne Krass, Amanda Luce.

Shaarei Zedek Talmud Class

Throughout the summer, Congregation Shaarei Zedek (New South Road & Old Country Road) in Hicksville will be sponsoring a Sunday Morning Service at 8:30 a.m. followed by a Talmud Class. This is to provide an opportunity for those who want to worship Sundays at a more convenient hour and who want to continue their Jewish Learning during the summer months. The class is taught by congregation Spiritual Leader, Rabbi Melvin Sachs, for both beginners and veterans alike.

Graduation At St. Ignatius

Graduation exercises for the eighth graders at Saint Ignatius Loyola School were held on Friday evening, June 12. Father Edward Tarrant, the pastor, was the main celebrant and the homilist at the Mass. The guest speaker at the exercises was Brother John Geitner, a Marianist Brother. Brother John, a 1982 graduate of Saint Ignatius, teaches Earth Science at Chaminade High School in Mineola. He offered the graduates the advice of some of his freshmen students as they prepare to enter high school in September.

The following students received diplomas:
 Jason Amplo, Cliff Chancy, Michael Mirabella, James Powderly, Michael Totino, Ginamarie Palmieri, John Brannan, Christopher Lambot, Anthony Panarelli, John Stimmer, Kimberly Lap, Dawn Vallone, Karen Apostolo, Jaclyn Berner, Daniella Cirillo, Christine Genzale, Colleen O'Shea.

The following students earned awards for outstanding achievement in a subject area:
 General Excellence - Anthony Panarelli, Michael Totino
 Religion - Anthony Panarelli
 Social Studies - Christopher Lambot
 Science - Jason Amplo
 Computer Education - Michael Totino
 Physical Education - Anthony Panarelli, Karen Apostolo
 Art - Dawn Vallone
 Reading - Ginamarie Palmieri
 Mathematics - Michael Totino
 Language Arts - Jason Amplo, Anthony Panarelli
 Spanish - Michael Totino
 Music - Michael Totino
 Effort - Colleen O'Shea, Jaclyn Berner

Jason Amplo received the Knights of Columbus Americanism Award. Anthony Panarelli and Michael Totino were granted scholarships to a Catholic high school of their choice by the Saint Ignatius Loyola School Parents' Association. Anthony Panarelli and Michael Totino also earned the Presidential Extraordinary Academic Excellence Award. Ginamarie Palmieri received a Certificate of Recognition from the Women in Science Society of Saint John's University. The graduates were prepared for their special day by their eighth grade teacher, Miss Giambanco.

Billy Joel Graduates

A well-kept secret. Billy Joel smiles broadly after receiving a belated diploma with the Class of 1992 at Hicksville High School's 78th Commencement Exercises. Giving the principal address at the ceremonies forced indoors by inclement weather, Joel warmly and humorously recalled his high school years in the Hicksville of 'sixties.

Letters

Printed By Request

At a recent press conference LILCO Chairperson, William Catacosinos unveiled a plan designed to move LILCO back into a role of civic leadership on Long Island.

His plan includes a multimillion dollar media campaign, a partnership with the Marine Research Center at Stony Brook University, developing environmental curricula for middle schools, etc., etc. Mr. Catacosinos stated that for years LILCO has watched while Long Island suffered many problems and now LILCO wants to lead the Island in a "comeback." They want to bring businesses and people back to Long Island.

The most interesting aspect of this grand plan was that it is to be paid for by the -- you guessed -- ratepayers. In case anyone misunderstands, that's us. The same people who already pay the highest utility rates in the nation. The same rates that have driven businesses, jobs and people off Long Island.

Possibly the only thing that's risen higher or faster than LILCO's rates is Mr. Catacosinos' salary.

Enough is Enough!!

All those worthy projects, should be totally paid for by the shareholders. If Mr. Catacosinos is serious, let him lower the rates LILCO charges its customers.

Instead of millions of dollars for media campaigns, how about millions of dollars in rate reductions for the ratepayers who live, work and would like to stay on Long Island.

I am sure, we all want LILCO to re-emerge as a community force, but not at the expense of the ratepayers.

Talk is cheap. Mr. Catacosinos, LILCO's rates are not! We the ratepayers need real help!

I urge everyone to write to the New York State Public Service Commission to tell them not to grant LILCO permission to charge those expenses to the ratepayers.

Since the Public Service Commission tends to "rubber stamp" LILCO's requests, I also suggest you write to the Governor, and your State Senators and Assemblymen. Demand that they put pressure on the Public Service Commission not to permit Mr. Catacosinos to add yet another "tax" on the ratepayers.

Enough is Enough!!

Sincerely,
Carl L. Marcellino
Town Clerk

Scholarship Award

Tara O'Brien from Hicksville has been awarded a scholarship from New York University to pursue science education at the School of Education, Health, Nursing, and Arts Professions (SEHNAP). "I have always been interested in the sciences and hope to pursue my education until I receive a Ph.D. in Biology," she said.

O'Brien, an alumna of Nassau Community College, is attending NYU through the Community College Transfer Opportunity Program (CCTOP), a transfer program between NYU and ten area community colleges including Nassau that enables students who perform well in their associate's degree work to transfer their credits to a bachelor's degree program at NYU's SEHNAP.

In addition to Nassau, the schools participating in the program with NYU include community colleges in New Jersey (Bergen, Middlesex), in New York (Borough of Manhattan, Bronx, Kingsborough, Queensborough, Westchester, and Rockland) and in Connecticut (Housatonic).

Boys Instructional Division

The game of the season, the one not to miss, was played on instructional field back on June 6, the hard-hitting Tigers (team #9) opposing the quick-fielding Giants (team #5). Both teams came to play this day, remarked Manager Al Paraspolo. It was nip and tuck every inning with the spectators on the edge of their seats. The Tigers got their offense from Jimmy Gunneen, Julian Diaz, Matthew Rothe, Robbie Rosetti, Sean Sotomayer, and Ricky Smith all going 2/3. Peter Sakesan, Chris Honker and Bryan Paraspolo going 3/4 including a bases loaded triple by Chris Hunker. The play of both these teams was outstanding. It was hard to believe this was "boys instructional." The game finally ended with a triple play scored by the Tigers. Rick Smith to Bryan Paraspolo to Peter Sekesan. What a game, Giants; Tigers. Thanks for the memories.

"Now that the Yankees season is over, I would like to thank some special people for their help," said Tom Brewer, Manager of the team supported by the Hicksville Fire Dept. "First, our sponsor is a very important part of our league. Second, and most important, Julio Serralta, my Coach, who was always there to help and assist no matter what was asked of him. He was there for the parade, shed duty, pitcher, catcher, and to manage when I was away. Unfortunately for him, he never got to manage because both games were rain-outs. Thanks, Julio, for everything. I couldn't have managed without you. I also wanted to thank Nancy Kuck and Bill Coyle, who took care of the book for me. Also Fred Hasbrouck, Brian Caglione and Phil Economou, who coached the bases and helped direct the boys while they were in the playing field. My wife Sharon, who I love very much, for her patience and understanding. And last of all, the boys who made this season happen. Good luck to all," said Tom Brewer.

Boys Minor Division

The Red Sox ended their season on Saturday, June 20 with a loss to the Mets in the playoffs. Congratulations to the Mets and good luck in your remaining games. Though a pizza pool party at my house, the Red Sox met none other than the old Sox at Major Field. Each team had a terrific turnout and it seemed they had every square foot of the field covered. Play was enthusiastic on each side; both kids and parents had a great time. There were many (how should I put it?) "interesting" plays, but the highlight had to be (aside from a home run by Sean O'Toole to loss concluded their season, the Red Sox remain winners and should be proud of a fine 7 and 7 record and fourth place finish. Every game was played at one hundred percent and I, Joe Restivo, as the Manager, could not have asked for more. I thoroughly enjoyed each game (even though at times it didn't seem that way) and was very proud to be a part of this team and their flair for the dramatic. Each player deserves a standing ovation for the time and effort he contributed to the team: Lenny DeStefano, Joey Mianulli, Ryan O'Toole, Bob Becker, Steven Recher, Vinnie Patrowicz, Edric Borja, Scott McDonald, Joey Leo, Gary Bretton, James (J.T.) Quinn, Michael Benic, and Joey Restivo. Thank you, guys, and best of luck next year!

Just a quick addition: on Friday, June 26, the Red Sox played their final game and, yes, they came out winners. deep center) a smash to short centerfield off the bat of Debbie Mianulli plucked out of the air by, that's right, Vinnie "Golden Glove" Patrowicz. The final score was Red Sox 23 - Old Sox 7. Thanks to Mr. Vinnie Benic for the great idea and to The McDonald, DeStefano, Bretton, Quinn, O'Toole, Recher, Mianulli, Patrowicz, Restivo, and Benic families for their participation. See you on the diamond next year.

Summer Music For Children

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, located at the corner of Old Country Road & Jerusalem Avenue in Hicksville, is offering its second annual Summer Music Program for children between the ages of 8 and 12, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Soule, Organist and Choir Director. The program will run for 2 weeks, Monday through Friday, August 3-7 and August 10-14, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the Parish House auditorium. The object is to provide children with an entertaining and instructional music program including singing, sight reading, basic characteristics of music notation, music rhythm, meter and improvising through the use of folk music and music games, making this training program a fun time for all. The children will also learn how to use their voices. Those who have had previous choir experience will find their skills enhanced and those being initiated into choral singing will come to see how easily they can enter into this group singing.

All materials will be provided for a fee of $15 per week or $25 for the 2 weeks. Special consideration will be given to families with 2 or more children. Mr. Soule is especially skilled in the training of the children. Soule is especially skilled in the training of children. He is a certified music teacher having graduated from Hofstra University with additional graduate studies at the Kodaly Institute and the Organ School in Swabisch Gmund, Germany.

This should be an exciting program for young children and members of the community are invited to participate. Parents may register their children by calling the Church Office, 931-1920, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon, Monday through Friday.

Sign Up For Summer

Sign-up for the Bethpage Public Library's "New York is Reading Country" Summer Reading Club, with rip-roaring adventures that begin on Wednesday, June 10.

In addition to two Reading Clubs, one for youngsters who have completed grades 1-6, and a Read-to-Me Club for pre-readers aged 3½ to 6, the library will offer a fabulous assortment of programs. There will be Storytimes galore: preschool storytime (ages 3½ to 5), Tiny Tots Time (ages 2½ to 3½), storytelling at the Bethpage Pool, evening Teddy Bear Pajama Storytimes, and Friday Read-to-Me at the library for ages 3½ to 6.

There will also be a colorful kaleidoscope of program spectacles - evening family programs including a "Storytelling Mini-Series" by star performers and Walt Disney classic films. In addition, there will be magicians; puppet shows; wild animal shows; science spectaculars; a reptile show; clowns galore; an extra special birthday party tribute to famous children's author, Tomie de Paola; an exciting "Introduction to Italian"; a computer club; tons of crafts - and more.

Youngsters can also play the exciting "New York Adventure Hunt Game," new this summer and sponsored by the Friends of the Bethpage Public Library. The prize is an exciting Statue of Liberty Ring Toss. The game is available for two age levels - 5 to 7 and 8 to 12. The fun begins on June 10. Ask the Children's Room staff for details.

Youngsters who have completed grades 1-6 can literally read their way to fabulous prizes and surprises such as fascinating games of miniature golf at Batter Up, Inc., 130 Hicksville Road, Bethpage; bowling games at Plainview Bowl, 50 Old Bethpage Road, Plainview. Our "Super Readers" will receive a delicious surprise from Carvel, 552 Stewart Avenue, Bethpage. All Bethpage Public Library summer programs are open to young people who reside in School District No. 21. For further information, please call 931-3907.

Jottings From Yesteryear

By Bill Clark

Passing "Sunset" house on Harding Ave. reminded me of John H. Hahn, who had the large store on the East side of Broadway next to the Bank of Hicksville. He sold to Spiro. Hahn was born on Lee Ave. and passed away at 73 yrs. in 1934. Portion of Spiro's was later to be rebuilt to become the third store for A & P, later years the Bingo Hall, and the balance 2 stores became Spiro appliances and Maglin Liquor and Wine stores.

Looking at an old photo of an outhouse or privy, I wondered would they cut down on the tonnage of old catalogs and phone books that are now discarded? They were recycled years ago. Someone recently told me of a church meeting regarding the north and south end doors of their church and that children would be Baptized at both ends.

When young, the bicycles were mostly one speed and wide tires. They took us to the movies in Hempstead and Westbury, also to Jones Beach and Bayville for a swim. Traffic was not as today nor the roads as wide.

We were just out of high school when the American Legion put on a play the "Minstrel Monarchs" in 1936. The musical portion was under the help of Harriet Breen, pianist. I was picked to sing "Red Sails in the Sunset." She would not accept NO I can't sing. But after two attempts as she played the piano and heard me, All present agreed no. I have the picture on stage at the high school and the names of the cast, which would take too much space.

Legion School Awards By Chas. Wagner Post

American Legion awards for fine grades in American history coupled with outstanding school citizenship/service were an exciting part of eight Hicksville's school graduations and 'moving-up' exercises, this past week. 39 elementary Public and Parochial School students were motivated and made happy by the annual school awards presented by the Charles Wagner Post 421 of the American Legion.

This Post 421's 33rd year of encouraging qualities of patriotism and good school citizenship among our students. Since the program's inception in 1959 over 700 certificates and handsome bronze medals, finely engraved with the qualities "Scholarship/Service/Courage/Honor/Leadership/Patriotism," have fostered ideals and noble achievements.

1992's American Legion school Award recipients are: Burns Ave. School: 5th graders Courtney Jerome and Jaime Jerome, and 6th graders Deanna Ghozatz, Amy Gagnon, Marlenis Martinez, and Andre Sanon. Dutch Lane School: 6th graders Michelle Scavetta, Chiara Scheidet and Jill Swidler. 5th graders Ricardo Albalay, Brian Boyle and Joseph Leo. East Street School: 6th graders Kamal Boradia and Christine Povilairskas. 5th graders Karen Cruz and Robert Schmidt. Fork Lane School: 6th graders Bobby Alexander and Jaclynn Demas. 5th graders Lisa Dajczak and Jesse Rubenstein. Lee Avenue School: 6th graders Errol Ismail and Tara Josephson. 5th graders Patrick Melody and Kimberly Puglia. Old Country Road School: 6th graders Meredith Rosado and Michael Schnipper. 5th graders Kevin Joper and Eric Vosper. Trinity Lutheran School: Jessica Bristol, Ravi Jamindar, Marjorie Mesidor, and Talia Paul. Woodland Avenue School: 6th graders Stephanie Bienert, Melissa Flynn and Daniel Voss. 5th graders Marissa Dikeman, Christina Misseriski, and Kevin Nolan.

The post 421 School awards

Program was honored at this month's Nassau County American Legion Convention when past-commander Richard Hochbreuckner and Richard Evers, program chairman for 33 years, received the Nassau Legion Third Division's Americanism Program Award for 1941-92.

Lee Ave. School Principal John Mateer is shown receiving American Legion School Award certificates and medals from Post 421's Richard Evers. Mr. Mateer is retiring this month after 33 years as a Hicksville teacher and administrator. A one-time Catholic seminarian, an army veteran, Mateer taught briefly in Levittown and served as a Burns Avenue School teacher. He was the first teacher chosen for the Willet Avenue School at its opening, was assistant principal at East Street School for four years, principal at Willet Avenue School for six years, and has administered Lee Avenue since 1976. Mr. Mateer was honored on his retirement by having a Lee Avenue scholarship and the school library dedicated in his name. The school children's chosen inscription on the John Mateer Library plaque reads: "His commitment to education has enriched our lives and enlightened our minds."

States Day At St. Ignatius

On June 3, the fifth grade students at Saint Ignatius Loyola School presented States Day. Miss DeSantis, the fifth grade teacher, randomly assigned a state to each student.

The children made a State -O- Graphic which is a booklet that encompasses information, maps, charts, and pictures of the state. Each child made a replica of a prominent state attraction. Relief maps showing the geographical land features and important cities were also displayed. Samples of food representing the states' crops and important products were available. Every student dressed up as an important person from their state.

The exhibits were viewed by parents, friends and the other classes in the school. Thank you to Miss DeSantis and the fifth graders for an enjoyable day.

Youth Council Garage Sale

The Hicksville Youth Council is planning its second annual Garage Sale. The Garage Sale will take place at the Youth Council, located at 175 West Old Country Road, Hicksville, on July 11, from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m. We are asking residents of the community while they are doing their spring cleaning to think of us. If you have any treasures in your garage, attic or basement that you no longer have any need for, we will gladly take them off your hands.

We will start collecting these treasures starting July 6. If you have no way of getting them to us, we will gladly make arrangements to pick them up. For more information on this fund raising event, please call the Youth Council at 822-KIDS.

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE TO BIDDERS

SEALED BIDS will be received by the Board of Fire Commissioners of the HICKSVILLE FIRE DISTRICT, 20 East Marie Street, Hicksville, New York, until 3:00 p.m. prevailing time, July 10, 1992 for the following:

One Custom Pumper

*Please be advised that in accordance with Section 103 of the General Municipal Law the Hicksville Fire District has standardized upon firefighting apparatus manufactured by the Sutphen Corporation. A copy of the resolution is available in the bid documents.

All bids must be accompanied by a bid bond or certified check for 5% (five percent) of the total amount of the bid.

Complete specifications for the above items may be obtained at the office of the Dispatcher, Hicksville Fire House, 20 East Marie Street, Hicksville, New York.

Hicksville Youth Program

The Hicksville Public School District has released its 1992 Youth Activities Program schedule. On the elementary level (entering grade 4-7), the program will run Mondays through Fridays from July 6 through July 31, from 9:30 a.m. through noon, the Burns Avenue, East Street and Lee Avenue schools. Activities include arts & crafts, floor hockey, softball, soccer aerobics, basketball, nok-hockey, and kick ball, as well as a roller skating trip, parties, gym competition day, quiet games, and tournaments.

On the secondary level (entering grades 7-12), the program will run Monday

Hicksville A's Summer Tournament Begins

On Tuesday, June 16 the Hicksville A's faced off against the Northport Clippers.

Adam Geslak was starting pitcher and did a nice job, only giving up four hits and allowing no walks.

Tommy Kessler had the save, striking out three and only giving up two hits and allowing no walks.

The infield was sharp with some nice plays by Jack Sandler at third and Brian Boyle at first.

Chris Cannizaro, James LaPadula and Peter Martin covered the outfield, keeping some hard-hitting batters in check. Josh Strugatz was impressive at second.

The bats were hot with Chris Swier going 2-4 with an awesome grand-slam home run, Kevin Soper went 1-2 blasting a home run, Tommy Kessler went 2-4 with a triple and Adam Geslak went 2-3 with a triple. Final score Hicksville 12 - Clippers 3.

Thursday, June 25, the A's found themselves squaring off against a tough Kings Park team. A game that started off slow but by the last two innings had everyone on the edge of their seats.

Tommy Kessler was starting pitcher and did a great job with three strikeouts and giving up no walks. Kevin Soper had the same and was outstanding, striking out three, only allowing four hits and two walks.

The bats came alive with James LaPadula going 2-2, Kevin Soper going 2-2 with an RBI, Chris Cannizaro going 2-2 with an RBI, Tommy Kessler going 2-3 with two RBI's, Matt McLoughlin going 2-3 with an RBI and Adam Geslak going 2-3 with two RBI's.

Although the A's were down by seven in the 5th, they managed to pull through and score eight runs, winning the game 11-10.

The Hicksville A's would like to thank one of their sponsors, Jamaica Water Supply, without whose generous support this team would not be possible.

Smoke Detector Saves Another Hicksville Family

An early morning fire at 45 Primrose Avenue, Hicksville, on June 23 resulted in moderate damage to the kitchen area. A lone occupant and an infant escaped from the smoke-filled home at 1:30 a.m.

Food left on the stove with the stove left on caught on fire and spread to kitchen cabinets. Thick black smoke spread through the house and tripped a smoke alarm, and although soot covered, the occupants escaped safely.

Thirty Hicksville firefighters and four units responded under Chief Patrick Scanlon. Fire Department spokesman ex-Chief Owen Magee stated this incident and another a week ago demonstrate the importance of all residents having a "working" smoke detector. The occupants escaped unharmed because of the early warning.

In other incidents, the Hicksville F-D Haz Mat Unit responded to two propane tank fires and were required to burn off the remaining gas due to damaged valves. The fires were located on East Avenue and another on Woodbine Dr. North. In addition to these calls, the unit was called out for three fuel spills on East Marie Street (1), West John Street (2).

Fire officials warn residents to protect the propane grill equipment from the hot dripping grease which caused the two incidents. They also recommend that you keep your gas cooking unit a safe distance from the house in case of a mishap.

Young Adult Summer Reading Club

Registration for the Hicksville Public Library's Young Adult Summer Reading Club will begin on June 29. Interested young adults can register at the Circulation Desk of the library. Public and Parochial school students in Hicksville are welcome.

Participating young adults can choose books from the Hicksville Public School's Author's List. Reviews, of not less than 30 words, of each book read can be left at the Young Adult desk in the drop box. The last day to report will be on August 19. Participants who read four books will be eligible to earn five extra credit points next term from the Hicksville Public Schools.

A pizza party will be held on August 20, from 7-9 p.m. in the Kenneth S. Barnes Community Room for all readers in the club. It will be an evening of music, soda, pizza and prizes.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Young Adult Reference Librarian at 931-1417.

Babe Ruth Team Remains Undefeated

The Hicksville Baseball Association holder of the only Babe Ruth charter in Hicksville commends its 14-15 year old Traveling Team who have reeled off 8 consecutive wins for a perfect 8-0 record. The HBA team sponsored by County Sports is competing in the tough Nassau County Babe Ruth League. Jim Pino, who manages the team states, "This by far, is the best team I have ever been associated with in the 15 years I have been coaching, every player on the team is a true all-star."

In an upset HBA knocked off previously unbeaten Chrot the King/Ridgewood 15 year old team. Hicksville 5 - Ridgewood 1. Jim Famiglietti blasted a three run game winning home run (well over 300 feet). Tom D'Angelis notched another victory with an excellent 10 strikeout performance and no earned runs. In the field, a solid game played by Joe Flynn, John Haley, Kevin Wrede, Paul Wever, and Jason Andrews. Andrew Etergineoso was excellent behind the plate.

The second game was a Hicksville sweep doubleheader, (13-5 and 14-4). This game County Sports teams bats were out in full force as they exploded for 27 runs. Home runs were collected by Jason Andrews and Bob Campbell (game winning grand slam). Other hitting stars included Joe Flynn, Joe Dolezal, Paul Weber and John Haley who reached base seven times. Tom Mullee was outstanding on the base paths. HBA received complete games by both John Haley and Tommy D'Angelis and notched their third win. Defensively Scott Granai, Jim Famiglietti and Tom Mullee were great.

Bob Campbell kept his record perfect with an outstanding one hitter and an 8 strike out performance when County Sports again met Ridgewood. The score was Hicksville 2, Ridgewood 1. Joe Flynn and Scott Granai shined in the field. Joey Dolezal was solid calling signals.

Team Leaders

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Do you think that fear of loss of personal privacy keeps some worthy people out of politics?

Mixed Ideas On Bush And Environment Treaty

There were mixed answers on whether President Bush should have signed an international agreement on environmental control in answer to this question: "Do you agree with President Bush that the U.S. should not sign an international agreement on environmental control?" Here are some of the answers:

GUILT COMPLEX
The international meeting was once again a grouping of people who want to saddle the U.S. with a guilt complex for having made industrial advances while other nations have done little. So much of what was assumed as fact at the conference was just speculation that it became clear that the main thrust of the meeting was to get a large scale monetary commitment out of the U.S. without any blueprint of how the money would be spent. Simply because some groups are exercising their right to say how they feel the world should be run is no reason to sock it to the taxpayers here. In addition some of the long term ideas of what should be stopped will work as badly as the environmentalists ideas in forcing a timetable on shutting down incinerators on Long Island before we had alternate plans. The environmentalists often are at odds with reality and in many ways have a sadistic attitude towards the rest of society. The more suffering they impose the better they feel it is going. President Bush was right in agreeing that there has to be much regard for the environment and he is also right in not letting the methods be dictated by people who are fanatics. J.F.

MISSED CHANCE
President Bush missed a chance to get the U.S. going on a path to preserve our world. He should have signed the agreement and joined the efforts. All he really did was pay lip service to the idea but not put his stamp of approval on the plans. D.V.

DON'T KNOW
It is difficult to know whether Bush did the right thing. The problem will be analyzed by hindsight. There are many who firmly believe that drastic action to limit hydrocarbons is needed and that without full guide lines of what can be made to contaminate our air the planet will not be suitable for life. However, there are those who view the ideas as theories that are not proved. The basic difficulty is that some of the things cannot be proved until it is too late, but if we react strongly against industrial activity now, we will propel the world into a giant depression which we are on the brink of at the moment. P.F.

PURE POLITICS
Much of what has happened at the international conference is politics, pure and simple. The groups backing the Democratic candidate want to make something big out of how Bush responded to the conference. The international significance is that the countries that are really looking for money to tap, want us to bankroll this new fund and give them money they can use for anything so long as they call it "protecting the environment." We should be in charge of the convention and the agreement if we are going to fund the world in dealing with the environment. K.N.

TIME LIMITED
Yes. Bush missed a chance of being the environment President. He knows that our time is limited and if we do not get something going soon it will be too late. The fact is that it will take money to keep the environment clean, but let's remember that we have spent billions on Star Wars and this did much to dirty the environment. We have little use for the Star Wars program now and only taxes and a dirty environment. M.G.

NEED PLANNING
Whether or not President Bush signs an international agreement on environmental control poses a question which cannot be answered without knowing either the content or the co-signers. Clearly, unless some universal action with a common objective is taken by the populous nations of the world simultaneously with equitable financial responsibility assumed by every one of them, the "Question" becomes specious. If these two conditions are met squarely, the United States would have to be a party to such an international agreement. Lord knows, in many respects we are the worst offender and with or without an international agreement, we are going to have to take serious steps to get our own house in order - we desperately need planning and effective legislation for effective national environmental control within the borders of our fifty states and in the nation as a whole. P.G.S.

A Memo To Dept. Store Executives

By Daniel L. Liemel

Maybe, if some of the experts who run the major department stores would listen to my wife and her friends they wouldn't have to padlock so many of their stores.

No, my wife is no merchandising maven nor are any of the ladies who constitute her bridge circle but, they're senior citizens with more money to spend than many of the baby boomers who are burdened with kids, college tuitions and high interest mortgages. Trouble is, they can't seem to find anything to wear in the stores these days.

"Everything in the ladies' department is linked to the latest kids' fashions and to top it off they play rock and roll music at ear piercing levels in many of the stores! They don't seem to know that there are people who wouldn't be seen in slit skirts and hems that start about 12 inches above the knees." Those are just some of the complaints I hear from the ladies who play bridge at our house every fourth Saturday.

They also want to know for whom they design those dresses with padded shoulders that "make you look like a football player." The tops come in for similar criticism. "They're so gaudy that they look like a walking neon sign," said one of the ladies.

The fabrics used in many of the garments no doubt reflect technological advances but they draw a negative vote from the people who are supposed to like them. The cotton mixtures, they say, are course and don't launder well. "They come out looking bedraggled and you can't do anything about it.

Even the sizes draw negative reviews. "You buy a size 8, take it home and you find it's really a size 16 and fits like a burlap bag." And, talking about bags, my wife has had no luck in finding a pocketbook with an outside compartment for her car keys. Aware of her vulnerability, she doesn't like to open her bag and expose her wallet, etc., when unlocking her car. So she's using a bag she bought three years ago that has such a compartment.

When she complains to the sales help, my wife says they're very sympathetic saying that they get the same story from many other prospective customers who walk out without buying anything.

Trouble is, as one woman summed it up, "They're hell bent on what they think is style and everyone looks as though they just got out of bed."

From the above it would seem that those store closings are less due to the recession than the stores' failure to recognize a bit of old marketing wisdom: Better listen to your customers!

READER RATINGS

Q. I noticed that some people pick up wine glasses by the bowl. However, I think it looks more elegant to pick them up by the stem. What is your opinion?
 A. I agree with you that it is more attractive to pick wine glasses up by the stem. In the case of white wine, it also keeps the wine cool for a longer time.

Q. Is it allowed for a restaurant to include a tip, automatically, on the bill for food ordered? A friend and I had that happen recently and resented it because the service was very poor and we felt a tip was not in order. Please answer.

A. No. In this country the custom is not to add any tip to the bill and unless the menu stating the prices clearly says that this will be done it is not correct. Most people would not be happy with that system in the U.S., because diners have always had a flexible tip system in which they could give a better tip for better service and if this is not kept then the tip is just a fee.

There are two ways of looking at the calendar this July Fourth, which happens to fall on a Saturday. There are those who will complain about not getting an extra day off from work. They are the pessimists who always see the glass as half empty.

Celebrants who look at the brighter side of life are pleased to have extra time to sleep in Sunday morning after watching the late fireworks. To them the glass is half full.

July Fourth picnics are no new thing. It has become more traditional than flying the flag. But this year there is the possibility of going to someone else's picnic on the day itself and continuing the celebration by throwing a picnic of your own on July 5.

This holiday, too, demands rather traditional food. No experimenting with new fancy recipes. Save them for a proper dinner party. Picnic food means fun food, plus lots of snacks that you normally try to shun — potato chips, tortilla chips, peanuts and all those calorie-laden but tasty tidbits on the market.

Cooking chores fall two ways: either large do-ahead dishes or last-minute grilling.

In the former category there are baked ham, deep-dish pot pies, potato salad, coleslaw, baked beans, fried or deviled chicken, brownies and a variety of cookies.

One old favorite that is not seen so much at picnics anymore is Red Beet Eggs. Perhaps the concern with the high cholesterol count of the egg yolk has discouraged cooks from preparing this very colorful addition to the picnic spread.

But you don't have to eat the center, just the tasty pickled, bright-red white, which seems a strange phrase. But what else do you call the white of an egg but white, even if it is now deep red?

Red Beet Eggs are remarkably easy to prepare and can be done a day or so in advance, allowing them to turn a truly deeper color. They are best prepared with fresh beets, but if absolutely necessary, canned beets can be used.

Add some pickling spices to the beet juice, then simmer the peeled hard-cooked eggs for a few minutes before letting them marinate.

The barbecue grill is called into extra service whether the picnic is in your back yard or at the beach or park. If the grilling will be done away from home, keep all the meats or fish chilled in a thermal cooler right up until the moment they are put over the hot coals.

Have another cooler for watermelon to be sliced for everyone's favorite dessert. Watermelon is especially appreciated when eaten out of doors. Seeds are no problem.

At some point during all the festivities, the meaning of the Fourth of July should be considered. It's more than just having fun and oohing and aahing at fireworks. It is also called Independence Day.

Q. We know of at least 80 people who are coming to our housewarming on a Sunday afternoon, and may be bringing little kids. We don't have any children, and we're very worried about what to do with those children who are coming. I wish I could have put on the invitations "Don't bring your kids."

A. On Sundays people like to be with their children, so if you had put that phrase on your invitations, you might not have had many guests! Hire a couple of baby sitters to organize games for the little ones — even to read them stories. The older ones should have balls to play with in the back yard.

Then there's always the tube. If you have a "TV room," complete with popcorn and sodas, the younger generation will stay put happily for a while and allow their parents to socialize in peace.

Q. When a couple dines out the woman is frequently placed in a seat against the wall. The man is then seated facing her with his back to the room. In a case like this, is it considered good form for the woman to summon the waiter?

A. Yes, the woman can signal the waiter, if necessary. She can also tell the man when the waiter is approaching so he can turn his head around at the proper moment and speak to him.

Miniature meatloaves twist tradition

By Sharon Achatz

Meatloaf is one of those dishes that evokes a strong emotional response. People either love it or despise it, and most who love it know — deep in their hearts — that dear ol' Mom's recipe is the right way to make it.

Unfortunately, most folks today can't devote the sage amount of time Mom did to preparing meals. Since traditional meatloaf recipes take at least two hours to prepare and bake, that dietary staple of yesteryear really isn't much of a staple for today's fix-it-fast cooks.

Rather than suffer meatloaf deprivation, however, the savvy chef has taken to making meatloaves in miniature to cook in the microwave or simmer in a pan.

Mini loaves not only cook quickly, they also offer a fun variation that just might entice a finicky eater into joining the ranks of meatloaf aficionados.

Mini Creole Meatloaves simmer stovetop in a sauce of stewed tomatoes and hot pepper sauce, perfect for serving atop a bed of rice.

Mini Meatloaves with Salisbury Sauce are a poor man's version of Salisbury steak, simmered in a flavorful brown gravy that complements mashed potatoes as well as the loaves. Serve with a side of green beans for a delicious dose of Americana.

Garden Mini Meatloaves may be the best bet for folks who think no meatloaf sauce or gravy can compare with a simple dollop of ketchup at the table. Cooked in the microwave, these loaves also are a complete meal on their own — peas, carrots and mushrooms are cooked right into the loaf, but any combination of grated or diced vegetables works nicely.

Ground beef is called for in all the recipes, but any ground meat will work wonderfully, including turkey, pork or lamb.

MINI CREOLE MEATLOAVES

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 teaspoons instant beef bouillon
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil, optional
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 (15-ounce) can stewed tomatoes
- ¼ cup water
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1 green pepper, diced

Yields 4 servings.
Preparation time: 45 minutes.

Q. I am a busy professional woman who finds it difficult to entertain at home. My working hours as an attorney are long and tiring. I really don't feel like coping with guests on the weekend. "Would it be all right to repay my social obligations by inviting people to dine out?"
A. Certainly that would be proper. Social obligations do not have to be repaid on a strictly tit-for-tat basis. Your friends would enjoy a delicious dinner in a relaxed restaurant atmosphere more than an at-home meal served by a hostess they sense is harried and exhausted.

Q. Recently I attended an elegant wedding and I noticed that the champagne was served in a tulip shaped glass rather than the traditional round brimmed type. Is this something new?
A. It is a fairly new idea. The theory now is that a tulip shaped glass preserves the effervescence (bubbles) of champagne longer than a wide brimmed glass.

Richard Henry Lee of Virginia moved "That these united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states." The resolution was adopted on July 2, and the Declaration of Independence approved on July 4, 1776.

At some point during the enjoyment of the weekend, give a salute to those brave men and women who decided freedom was worth fighting for.

Then return to the picnic and enjoy it with even more gusto.

Q. What is the proper way of addressing a waiter in a restaurant?

A. My own preference is "Sir", rather than "Waiter" because it shows more courtesy and people do like to be treated with respect. For a waitress I prefer "Miss" to "Waitress" for the same reason.

Q. When arriving early for a private party in a restaurant, who should do the seating when there is no waiter or captain on hand?

A. The man is expected to seat his woman companion. If he is accompanied by two or more women, he would seat his wife last.

Midsummer means plentiful fresh produce and a plethora of juicy seasonal fruits. Now is the time to take advantage of the availability of two fruits you won't find fresh during the rest of the year — apricots and sweet cherries.

Depending on where you live, you'll find apricots available from late May through early August — but more than 90 percent of fresh apricots appear during the months of June and July.

Although sweet cherries may appear in markets as early as May, it's best to wait until June or July for best flavor and prices. (Sour cherries are rarely sold in retail markets. Sweet cherries are both more readily available and less perishable than sour cherries.)

• Apricots: Look for plump, velvet-skinned, unbruised, golden-orange fruit. The apricot's skin is tender and flavorful, so there's no reason to peel before eating. Depending on the size, there will be between 10 and 16 apricots to the pound.

• Cherries: Choose plump, firm, unbroken cherries with fresh green stems. A dark red color is the best indicator of sweetness. One quart (about 1½ pounds) yields about 3 cups pitted cherries.

Store apricots at room temperature until ripe (they'll smell sweet and give to gentle pressure). To hasten ripening, place in a closed paper bag. When ripe, refrigerate and use within three to five days.

Cherries will keep at least two to three days when refrigerated in a plastic bag. Do not wash or remove stems of either fruit before refrigerating.

Cherries and apricots are glorious au naturel as a snack — or use in salads, desserts, jams, jellies, even meat recipes (they make an especially good complement to pork and chicken).

Both apricots and cherries are members of the rose family, along with other stone fruits like peaches, nectarines and plums. Apricots are a good source of vitamin A and potassium and a fair source of vitamin C, while cherries are a good source of vitamin C and niacin.

Both fruits are available year-round canned or dried or in sweet preserves. But while they're here, why not make the most of them in all their fresh summer glory?

All three of today's recipes feature fresh summer apricots and cherries — fancy enough for company, or a tasty surprise for the family.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.

CURRIED CHICKEN BREASTS WITH FRESH APRICOTS

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 to 1½ teaspoons curry powder
¼ teaspoon paprika

Dash pepper
4 chicken breast halves, skinned and boned
2 tablespoons Major Grey chutney
1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice
8 fresh apricots, halved and pitted
Fresh cilantro sprigs
Hot, cooked rice

Yields 4 servings.
Preparation time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Cooking time: 6½ to 9 minutes (plus 2 minutes standing time).

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Combine butter or margarine, curry powder, paprika and pepper in 1-cup glass measure. Microwave 30 seconds to 1 minute, to melt. Stir.

Arrange chicken breasts in 9- or 10-inch glass pie plate, with thickest portions toward outside of dish. Brush each breast with seasoned butter; turn and brush other side. Cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave 5 to 6 minutes, or until chicken is no longer pink, rotating dish ¼ turn every 2 minutes. Let stand, covered, 2 minutes. Remove chicken to serving platter.

Add chutney and lemon or lime juice and remaining seasoned butter to pan drippings. Stir well to blend. Add apricot halves, turning to coat both sides. Cover and microwave 1 to 2 minutes, or until apricots are heated through.

Arrange apricots around chicken breasts and spoon sauce over all. Garnish with cilantro sprigs and serve immediately with fluffy, hot rice.

FRESH CHERRIES JUBILEE

½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup lemon juice
2 cups fresh dark sweet cherries, washed, stemmed and pitted
3 tablespoons brandy

Yields about 2 cups.
Preparation time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Cooking time: 5½ to 7½ minutes.

Oven setting: MEDIUM-HIGH (70 percent power).

Stir together sugar and cornstarch in 1-quart microwave-safe casserole. Stir in lemon juice, then add cherries. Microwave, uncovered, 5 to 7 minutes, or until mixture boils and thickens, stirring every 2 minutes.

Measure brandy into 1-cup glass measure. Microwave about 30 seconds or until brandy is hot (do not boil). Tilt measuring cup and ignite with long match. Pour carefully over cherries, tilting cup so that flames avoid hand. Serve cherries warm over ice cream.

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Dr. Abraham: I like my name very much. I think it's neat, and am glad my folks were smart enough to give it to me. I just wish they would be smart enough to use it. It's "Nancy," and that has a pretty sound to me.

The problem is that my brother, who is two years older than I am, started calling me "Notty" when I was a baby. He was little then, couldn't talk very well and that was probably as well as he could handle the word "Nancy."

He still calls me that even though I'm 13 years old, and so do my parents. I think it's horrid and told them so, but they just laugh at me.

So what can I do about this? — Upset Girl

Upset girl: Because habits are hard to overcome, it may take a while to get them to use your very pleasant real name. But it can be done.

Tell them again how important this matter is to you. Use your correct name every chance you get, on the phone, with your friends and with all members of your family.

Consider sharing your letter and my response with your parents and brother. They no doubt love you a great deal, and your happiness is important to them. Using your right name is a relatively easy way to contribute to it.

Dr. Abraham: Some months back I read in YM magazine about the way English is spoken in college. It really was a strange list of stuff.

I remember a few of the words, like "bosed" meaning rejected, "brew-dog" for beer, "rents" for parents and "stress" for worry, like in "You're making me stress."

That was before I started at college this fall. I've been waiting for somebody to use this kind of crazy talk, but so far no one has. Because I mix mostly with first-year students, I thought that maybe the upperclassmen do, so I've tried to listen in on their conversations in the cafeteria or nearby restaurants, but still no luck.

Maybe this college just isn't with it. What do you think? — Nelda, No Address

Nelda: That could be the reason, or it might be that you haven't listened in on the "right" people.

If some of you other teen readers aren't up on this topic, you might want to look at page 77 in the August 1989 issue of Y&M. It stands for Young and Modern.

Among other "college-speak" words cited there are "drive," meaning change the TV channel, "dude" for the male of the species, "rock," meaning to perform superbly, and "lame" standing for undesirable.

Dr. Abraham: An idea occurred to me not long ago that has turned out to be very important to me. Maybe it will give other teens something to think about.

My father told me that until recently he had never talked to his father about his father's childhood. My grandfather was born in Italy and never offered to talk to my father about "the old country" until my dad took the first step.

Their conversations began because some friends of my dad whose own parents had come from Europe had also never talked about their homeland and youth years in it. Because the friends' parents had died recently, they felt guilty for never discussing this subject with them.

My dad enjoyed the conversations with his father so much and learned so much from them. His enthusiasm rubbed off on me.

Now I've started a journal based on all four of my grandparents. They all came from Europe (Italy, Scotland and Germany). Once they loosened up, the stories spilled out. And when I suggested a tape recorder, that didn't inhibit them at all.

I'm having a ball, and so are they. So could a lot of other kids if they'd only spend a little time with their grandparents.

They don't have to have been born in glamorous places. How it was for them in parts of our own country 50 or more years ago can be just as fascinating.

As my dad said, he'd have been so sorry in years to come if he hadn't shared this time with his father.

I don't know any other kids who have tried this way of getting to know their grandparents better. They'll be sad later on if they don't because then it will be too late. It's not a pleasant thought, but our grandparents won't always be around. — Nancy, Baltimore, Md.

Nancy: What a great idea and experience for you! Too few have tried it. The use of a tape recorder is creative, too, and perhaps even a videotape could sometimes be included.

Maybe your enthusiasm will transfer to others. I hope so.

Dinner on the grill

By Charles Britton

Summer has arrived, according to the iron laws of food writing, marked by the annual migration to the backyard grill.

As in some great transhumance, decreed by ancient tradition, cooks the country over are supposed to abandon their kitchens and refuse to go indoors until the Tuesday after Labor Day brings in an inevitable tide of warming soups and other insurance against what is decreed to be the immediate chill.

In truth, this presumes too little about the rite of grilling, for this technique has become the dominant form of American cookery. To prove this, you need look only on the menu of any upscale restaurant, where grilled dishes have largely taken over the preparation of meat and fish. "Made dishes" — the massive roasts, the braises, the casseroles — hang on here and there, but today's chef brandishes a fork above the coals in the contemporary exhibition kitchen.

Grilling holds equal honor in the home, perhaps because it suggests something simple, even natural, in reaction to the overelaborate dishes of the "gourmet" school. And it remains the style of cooking in which men feel most comfortable. Meat being immolated on the grill still suggests that the man tending it somehow pursued the steer in the wild and throttled it with his bare hands. The glow of the coals releases many a masculine inhibition.

Men who would never consider mastering hollandaise sauce think nothing of compounding ketchup, soy sauce and half the ingredients on the spice shelf into a barbecue concoction.

As a result of the great move to the grill, almost anything these days might end up sizzling there — even pizza or dessert. No longer does the barbecue season necessarily require an unbroken sequence of burgers and steaks.

Here are some possibilities to broaden the repertory. The first dish turns widely available whole boneless turkey breast, called tenderloin, into a luxury dish.

GRILLED STUFFED TURKEY BREAST

The stuffing:

- 3 ounces chicken livers
- 2 or 3 slices bacon
- 1/4 teaspoon brandy
- 1/4 teaspoon Madeira wine (or red or white wine)
- 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano (or 1/2 teaspoon fresh)
- 1/4 teaspoon finely chopped shallots or green onions
- 1/4 cup pecans
- Butter, about 1 tablespoon
- 1 egg white
- Salt, pepper

- 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
- The turkey:
- 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds whole turkey breast, boned and skinned
- 4 thin slices bacon
- Mushroom Sauce (recipe follows)

Yields 4 servings.

Prepare stuffing the night before or early in the day before cooking turkey. Dice chicken livers; cut slices of bacon in fine shreds. Place in small bowl with brandy, wine, oregano and shallots. Mix well. Allow to marinate in refrigerator for several hours or overnight.

Chop pecans; saute until toasted in a little butter. Let cool.

Drain liquid from chicken-liver mixture and discard. Mix egg white and pecans; add to liver mixture. Season lightly with salt and pepper; mix in parsley.

To prepare turkey, trim breast as necessary into 4 long, round pieces, each about 5 or 6 ounces.

Using handle of wooden spoon or similarly shaped instrument, gently push a hole lengthwise through each piece. With your fingers, press stuffing into hole, being careful not to tear meat.

Wrap each piece in thin slice of bacon; secure with toothpicks. Place wrapped turkey pieces in refrigerator for at least 1 hour to firm up.

To cook, place turkey pieces on hot grill to produce grill markings. Then move meat to cooler side of grill so that they cook through in 10 to 15 minutes. Lower temperature gives liver a chance to cook without drying out meat.

If you don't want to use a grill: Preheat oven to 375 F. Saute turkey pieces in butter until lightly brown. Place in baking dish and bake for about 10 minutes.

Serve with Mushroom Sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 3 pounds chicken or turkey scraps (wings and necks)
- 2 carrots, diced
- 2 small tomatoes, diced with skin on
- 2 stalks celery, diced
- 1 large onion, diced
- 1 pound plus 1 cup fresh mushrooms, divided use
- 1/4 cup Madeira wine
- 2 cups dry red wine
- 3 quarts water
- Large pinch of oregano
- Salt and pepper to taste

Yields 4 servings.

In large pot, saute chicken or turkey scraps until golden. Add carrots, tomatoes, celery and onion to bones with 1 pound mushrooms. Saute briefly to brown vegetables a little.

Deglaze pan with Madeira and dry red wine. (If you don't have Madeira, use all red wine.) Bring to a boil. Add water, pinch of oregano, and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer about 1 hour, allowing liquid to reduce by about a third. Pass through a very fine strainer.

When ready to serve, saute about 1 cup of sliced mushrooms in butter for 2 or 3 minutes. You can use any kind of mushrooms: shitake or other cultivated types, standard ivory-colored mushrooms. (If using dried mushrooms, add the soaking liquid to the sauce, holding back the last tablespoon or so because it might contain grit.) Use to garnish the plate along with the sauce.

Grilling has become a favored way of cooking fish in restaurants. Here's a fine way to handle salmon at home.

GRILLED SALMON WITH LEMON AND THYME

- 4 pounds fresh salmon, portioned for 8, skin removed, bones removed, as much as possible
- 4 tablespoons fresh thyme leaves
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 1/4 cups Lemon Thyme Sauce (recipe follows), reserve 1 cup and use remaining 1/4 cup for basting
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley for garnish
- 8 lemon wedges

Yields 8 servings.

Sprinkle salmon with thyme, salt and pepper. Lightly oil grill to prevent sticking. Brush some of Lemon Thyme Sauce on salmon and grill over low heat. Continue to baste as salmon cooks slowly on grill.

Sprinkle parsley over top and serve with desired vegetables or salad, lemon wedge and more sauce on side.

LEMON THYME SAUCE FOR SALMON

- 1 cup white wine
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon thyme leaves, fresh
- 4 tablespoons thinly sliced shallots
- 1 1/4 sticks butter, softened
- 2 tablespoons cream
- Salt and pepper to taste

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

In saucepan, combine white wine, lemon juice, thyme and shallots. Bring to simmer and reduce liquid by half.

Over low flame, slowly whisk in butter. Finish by adding cream and seasoning with salt and pepper to taste. Yields 4 to 6 servings.

How about pizza on the grill? Yes, it's possible. This technique has been adapted from "Cucina Simpatica" by Johanne Killeen and George Germon (HarperCollins).

PIZZA ON THE GRILL

- Pizza dough
- Olive oil
- Topping of your choice
- Yields 2 servings for a main course, 4 as an appetizer.

On large, oiled, inverted baking sheet, spread and flatten dough into 10- or 12-inch circle, 1/4 inch thick. The shape doesn't really matter, but take care to maintain even thickness.

The fire is ready when you can hold your hand over coals for 3 to 4 seconds at a distance of 5 inches. Use your fingertips to lift dough gently by the two corners closest to you and drape it onto the grill. Catch loose edge on grill first and guide remainder into place over coals. Within a minute, dough will stiffen and puff slightly; grill marks will appear.

Using tongs, immediately flip crust over onto coolest part of grill. Quickly brush upper surface with olive oil. Add desired topping, but don't overload pizza or get too near edge. You do not want topping to run into coals and burn.

Using tongs, frequently rotate pizza, moving it closer or farther from heat as needed to keep cooking but not burning. The pizza should cook in 6 to 8 minutes.

For a vegetable course, here's a way to cook asparagus on the grill. It comes from "Cooking With Fire and Smoke" by Phillip S. Schulz (Simon & Schuster).

GRILLED HERBED ASPARAGUS

- 1 pound fresh asparagus
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 4 large fresh basil leaves, chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh parsley
- 1 small scallion, minced

Yields 4 servings.

Break tough ends off spears. Peel stems if needed to expose tender flesh. Place in shallow glass or ceramic dish.

Combine remaining ingredients and pour over asparagus. Toss to coat. Let stand 30 minutes.

Grill asparagus over hot coals for 10 minutes, turning once, regulating position so that they do not burn. Move spears to more moderate heat and continue to cook, turning frequently, until tender-crisp, about another 10 minutes.

Garden Talk

Q. I am being overrun with squirrels. They have eaten into the building and my garden.

I bought a humane cage and trapped nine in two weeks. I let them loose in a different section of town unharmed.

What is the law relating to them? Can I kill them? What can I do to get rid of them?

A. Get permission to trap the squirrels (humanely), which unfortunately is very difficult to do in many communities.

In my garden, squirrels are delighted with the outside rows that I plant for their pleasure. Keep in mind, creatures have their rights, too, and their place in the environment.

Q. Do roses often change color from year to year?

A. Usually not, unless the hardy root stock onto which a delicate hybrid rose has been grafted takes over after the graft dies.

If that should happen, the bloom would be a different rose altogether.

Of course, there are other varieties of native plants that do change their color, depending on the acidity of the soil.

For example, some green-thumb gardeners fertilize their perennial hydrangeas with coffee grounds to get a beautiful pink color, and with dishwasher for a blue color.

Keep in mind the color of the flowers on a hydrangea plant may vary according to the stage of the bloom.

Q. How can I keep my gourds from rotting?

A. When you bring them in from the garden, wipe them with a dry cloth to remove dust, soil and debris. Then clean them with a damp cloth dipped in a mild chlorine bleach solution (1 tablespoon per gallon water). Cure them in a warm, airy room.

When you shake the gourds (several weeks later) and you can hear the seeds rattle, it's time for a coating of shellac or varnish.

Q. How can I prevent green peppers from smelling up my freezer? I've tried double plastic bags and aluminum foil to no avail.

A. The best solution is to wrap foods in plastic wrap before putting them in a freezer bag. The wrap blocks passage of odors better than some other kinds of plastic.

Two readily available plastic wraps are Glad microwave wrap and Saran Wrap.

Stopping squirrels

- Try repellents such as a perimeter of dried blood meal around beds.
- Dog or cat hair suspended in pouches or scattered around plants will frighten squirrels away, as will the actual dog or cat.
- Place chicken wire screening over freshly planted bulbs or young plants. Don't forget to remove it before plants grow through.
- Place plastic or aluminum baffles or skirting around poles to prevent climbing.
- Ground hot pepper in mineral oil and smeared on corn tassels will protect corn ears.

Our Children

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Youngsters should have current immunizations

Dear Parents: Here is an if-the-shoe-fits point that I'd like to share with you because it is so important for your children's health. It relates to immunizations. The direct quotes are from a recent release of the reputable American Academy of Pediatrics.

• In a Gallup survey of 700 parents "few (15 percent) believe that almost all children under the age of 5 in this country have been immunized against common childhood diseases like polio and measles."

• "Households with children under 5 were more likely to report no vaccinations."

• "By vaccinating children later, it leaves them unprotected in infancy, when they are most vulnerable."

• "Statistics show that 25 percent of U.S. preschool children are not adequately immunized from diseases that could be routinely prevented."

• Every "$1 spent on vaccines saves $10 in the treatment of a disease."

• "Many adults (47 percent) did not know how many times a child should be vaccinated for measles. Common replies to why their children hadn't received the recommended second measles dose was that the child was 'too young' or 'I didn't know it was needed.'"

• "Forty-three percent did not know at what age the rubella vaccine should be given."

If any of these facts concern you or you want more information on this subject, please contact the best source available to you — your own family physician or pediatrician.

Q. I felt I should write and suggest that there is a better way to solve the problem of children biting than to bite back.

I was a preschool teacher for years and this was a problem with an occasional child from time to time. I, too, am skeptical about biting back as a solution and have found one method to work much more effectively, one that does not compromise an adult's role-model image.

When a child bites, simply place your thumb on the child's bottom lip and press down against his or her own teeth and say, firmly, "This is what it feels like when you bite."

It does not take much pressure to make that tender part of the inner lip hurt. We seldom had a child repeat the act of biting after using this effective method of letting him or her know how it felt. My children only had to have it done one time and they never bit anyone again. If you want to "test" how much pressure to use, try it on yourself first.

Biting back by either a child or adult isn't acceptable.

A. Thank you for your input on this controversial topic related to young children.

Have any of you parents had experience with this method — or with any other that worked? Please tell me about it, and I'll pass it on.

Let me quote one item from my original response on this subject: "I'm glad you didn't ask whether biting back is a good solution. I'll answer it anyway: It isn't. It would only indicate that it is all right for adults but not for children, a poor model to provide."

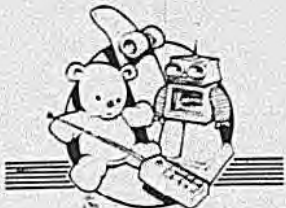

Q. We have read such conflicting information about the effect of sugar on children, from causing acting out hyperactive behavior to the other extreme of no effect at all.

However, my husband feels that our young children's sugar intake should be reduced as much as possible. Because they seem to be "normal" kids, I think their sugar intake is no big deal.

How do you feel about this issue?

A. I agree with your first statement about conflicting information because research and published articles on this subject lead me to think that conclusive findings may still be in the future.

A practical approach that you might want to consider includes balanced diets, awareness of and limitations on any foods to which a child might be sensitive and talking this subject over with your medical professional regarding your own children.

Grilled fish for summer barbecues

About now everyone with an outdoor grill is dusting it off and practicing for the big Fourth of July cookout. Anyone without an outdoor grill is shuffling his feet and wondering where to buy one.

An unwritten law says that every meal cooked at home to celebrate the glorious Fourth has to be cooked outdoors, and that takes a running start. Beginning in June, back yards smoke up every weekend. The stuff that comes off the grill is often the smokiest of all.

Hamburgers bubbling with fat, steaks and chops are the usual fare. This year, '90's eating dictates fish. Trouble is most cooks are scared to touch it. They don't know how to handle a dead fish and are too busy to learn.

It's easy. It's delicious and, best of all, it won't cause a diet deficit. Find the best seafood in town to begin with and then follow any of the three recipes below. Remember to start the coals or turn on the gas to heat up the grill a good while before cooking time. You'll do fine. Trust me.

GRILLED FISH TERIYAKI

Two-thirds cup low-sodium soy sauce
 1/2 cup dry sherry
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1 clove garlic, crushed
 2 teaspoon peeled ginger root, minced
 1 1/2 pounds tuna, salmon or swordfish steaks 3/4 inch thick

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Each serving has about 150 calories, 5 grams fat, 44 milligrams cholesterol and 275 milligrams sodium.

Put soy sauce, sherry, sugar, garlic and ginger in small saucepan. Just bring to boil and then strain into bowl. Add fish and marinate for half an hour.

Preheat broiler or light grill. Broil or grill for 10 minutes per inch of thickness, brushing from time to time with marinade. Turn once halfway through cooking. Boil up marinade again while fish cooks and use it as a dipping sauce.

GRILLED TIPSY FISH

1 1/2 pounds fish fillets — red snapper, grouper, orange roughy or sea bass
 Two-thirds cup tequila
 1/2 cup triple sec
 1/4 cup fresh lime juice
 Salt to taste
 2 cloves garlic, crushed
 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 3 tomatoes, diced
 1 onion, finely chopped
 1 tablespoon minced jalapeno or serrano chili (optional)
 2 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro

Pinch sugar
 Freshly ground black pepper

Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Each serving has about 230 calories, 4 grams fat, 41 milligrams cholesterol and 450 milligrams sodium.

Put fish in large double plastic bag. Mix tequila, triple sec, lime juice, salt, garlic and 2 teaspoons of oil and pour over fish. Close bag and marinate fish in refrigerator for at least 3 hours. Massage bag from time to time so marinade gets all over fish.

Mix tomatoes, onion, chilies, cilantro, sugar and salt to taste. This is the salsa. Now turn on grill. Remove fish from marinade and put marinade in saucepan. Pat fish dry, brush with last teaspoon of oil, add freshly ground pepper and grill for 4 minutes on each side. While fish is grilling, boil marinade for about 3 minutes. Serve fish with a little marinade spooned on each portion and salsa on the side.

GRILLED FISH WITH GREEK ALMOND SAUCE

Greek Almond Sauce:
 1/4 cup almonds, sliced
 2 cloves garlic, finely minced
 1/4 cup bread crumbs
 1/2 cup low-calorie mayonnaise
 1/2 cup non-fat yogurt
 1/2 cup low-fat cottage cheese
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard
 1 tablespoon parsley, finely chopped
 1 tablespoon cold water
 Freshly ground pepper to taste
 1 1/2 pounds tuna, salmon or swordfish steaks

Yields 4 servings.

Each serving has about 200 calories, 9 grams fat, 47 milligrams cholesterol and 204 milligrams sodium.

For sauce, put almonds in food processor, add rest of ingredients and process until combined. Chill for 1 hour.

When sauce is cool, turn on grill and grill fish 3 or 4 minutes on each side. Flesh will be opaque. To serve, put fish steaks on individual serving plates, and top with tablespoon of Greek Almond Sauce.

YOUR BODY

THE BUCCINATOR

WHAT: Trumpet players, this one's for you. The buccinator (BUCK-sin-ay-ter) is the major cheek muscle that derives its name from the Latin word buccinare, which means "to blow a trumpet." Also, the Latin word bucca means cheek.

WHERE: Buccinator muscles are between the jaws on both sides of the face.

FUNCTIONS: One of the best illustrations of the buccinator is Dizzy Gillespie playing his horn, when both his cheeks puff out wide! These muscles help you blow air out of your mouth by contracting and compressing the cheeks. Also, this action keeps food under the pressure of your teeth when you chew, and it allows you to suck liquid through a straw (or an infant to suck on a nipple).

Sleep has a bad reputation.

It is viewed by some as a second cousin to sloth.

But Dr. Joseph Henkle begs to differ. Henkle says just about everyone underestimates, or discounts, the value of a good night's sleep.

"It makes up one-third of humans' existence, and we're ignoring it," he said.

If Henkle had his way, sleep would rank right up there with nutrition and exercise in health education.

"We need to start education about sleep in the elementary (school) levels," Henkle said. "Everyone knows about good diet, the benefits of exercise. Kids should be educated about sleep so they can go home and talk about what good sleep is."

If people understood what "good sleep" is, doctors such as Henkle would have a lot less to do.

Henkle specializes in treating sleep apnea, sleep-walking, narcolepsy and other sleep disorders for the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine in Springfield.

"Ninety-nine percent of all sleep disorders are not diagnosed," according to the doctor.

That's because sleep study isn't part of the medical curriculum either.

Few physicians have been trained in the assessment of sleep disorders and management of the problems that come with them.

All too often, Henkle said, doctors prescribe sleeping pills for those who will not benefit and deny the medication to someone who could be helped.

Pills can be helpful in treating short-term insomnia, but other disorders require more.

"They all want the magic pill," he said. "But none of the sleeping pills mimic sleep."

Instead, people need to understand why we sleep, how we sleep and how much sleep is needed. A good night's sleep can be four hours for one person and nine hours for another.

"Nothing is typical," Henkle said.

Optimal functioning while you're awake is the true test, he said. If you wake up feeling rested, you've probably had enough sleep.

Each of us seems to have an innate "sleep appetite" that is as much a part of our genetic make-up as hair color, height and skin tone, according to the Better Sleep Council.

Expecting people to need the same amount of rest each night "would be as absurd as expecting them to eat the same amount of food every day."

Normal sleep times range from five to 10 hours, with seven the average.

But it's not just the amount of sleep that's important, Henkle said. "It's the continuity, the number of disruptions. Deep sleep is more restorative."

Noise, light, temperature and stress all can disrupt sleep, he said.

Sleep comes in stages, and those stages cycle throughout the time you are asleep.

The first stage is called "quiet sleep" — a sort of twilight zone between sleep and wakefulness.

As you slip into stage two of quiet sleep, you've crossed the border into sleep. If someone lifted your eyelid, you would not wake up.

As you descend into stage three, your body functions slow even more. At stage four, you reach deepest sleep, the most profound state of unconsciousness. You are so "dead to the world" that even a thunderstorm might not wake you.

As you pass through these stages, your brain waves, if measured on an electroencephalogram, would mark the transitions. The entire journey into oblivion takes about an hour.

But then you begin stage five — moving rapidly back up through the four stages, but not all the way to wakefulness. This fifth stage is called "REM" sleep for the rapid eye movement that takes place. It is during REM sleep that dreams occur.

During REM, the large muscles of your torso, arms and legs are paralyzed, although your fingers and toes may twitch. Your breath comes more quickly and the flow of blood to your brain accelerates.

After about 10 to 20 minutes in REM sleep, the cycle begins again and you descend the sleep staircase again. The entire cycle of REM and non-REM stages takes about 90 minutes. By morning, you will have gone through the sleep cycle four or five times.

Scientists still don't fully understand the reasons why we sleep, Henkle said, but they have some theories.

"During non-dream sleep, there appear to be basic restorative benefits to the body," he said. "In dream sleep, the health care of the brain is taken care of."

Sleep is thought to benefit the immune system through the hormonal changes that occur while the brain and body are at rest, Henkle said. There is some truth to the adage that people who don't get enough sleep are more prone to illness.

And, sick people tend to need more sleep, which explains doctors' timeless admonitions to the ill: Get some rest.

People who are occasionally deprived of sleep experience physical and emotional problems that don't do any irreparable damage — nothing a good night's sleep won't fix, Henkle said.

But if deprivation goes on too long, personal and professional life are bound to be affected, he said.

It is estimated that one out of five Americans might be under-mining his or her health due to sleep deprivation.

Sleep deprivation can come on when your body is on one schedule and you are on a different one, Henkle said.

We all operate via an internal clock, which is regulated by light and darkness, Henkle said. It is natural that our bodies want to sleep twice in a 24-hour period, he said. That urge, and not lunch, is why many of us feel groggy in the late afternoon. Those same built-in clocks remind people working at 3 a.m. that they should be sleeping. It is possible to reset our clocks, but it can't be done overnight.

"Our sleep need depends on where we're at on our 24-hour rhythm," Henkle said.

Here's How

By Gene Gary.

Q. When we moved into our home 18 years ago, we noted that the bottom of the aluminum frame of our sliding-glass patio door had white residue where the aluminum was apparently being eaten.

At first we thought it was caused by window-cleaning solution. We ceased using the glass cleaner, but the eruptions continued, nearly covering the bottom track. Someone else suggested it was caused by improper sealing and that moisture was seeping through the stucco base.

Three years ago we hired someone to replace the deteriorating aluminum frame with a new frame. He put some type of sealant on the base. But, now the problem is recurring. Do you know what causes this problem and how it can be treated to prevent another recurrence?

A. This problem usually occurs where the house is finished with plaster, including the face of the concrete slab under the door sill. The plaster in turn has been exposed to moisture. Plaster contains aluminate, a salt of aluminum hydroxide that reacts as an acid, and begins to react on the metal when moisture is present.

After removing the damaged sill, the area should be cleaned and neutralized with baking soda and water. Then a good coat of asphalt emulsion, such as Henry's No. 105, should be applied to both the slab and the underside of the new sill.

To eliminate repetition of the problem, the plaster below the door sill must be removed. A piece of rough finished board, cut to fit the area and painted to match the plaster, will cover the area and blend in with the exterior of the home.

Q. How can I remove the brownish scaly material that forms on the bottom of the toilet?

A. First, empty the bowl of water. You can turn the water off and flush the toilet.

Try removing the scale and stain with a solution of oxalic acid. An even stronger solution would be muriatic acid (one part muriatic acid mixed with nine parts water, or even a stronger 50-50 solution). Pour acid into the water when mixing, not the other way around.

There also are commercial products on the market for cleaning stained toilet bowls. Another product that helps clean and prevent scale is white vinegar, heated and applied with a stiff brush.

Q. We have molded fiberglass tubs and showers. They are beginning to look dingy, even though I clean them regularly. Can you recommend a good cleaning method?

A. Avoid abrasive cleaners. Try cleaning the fiberglass with a water conditioner such as Calgon. You can let this set as a paste and then rinse. A paste of baking soda left to set overnight and then rinsed is another effective cleaner.

Non-abrasive commercial bathroom cleaners that contain EDTA (ethylene diamine tetra-acetate) also are effective fiberglass cleaners, such as Gel Gloss. Marine stores carry a range of products for use on fiberglass boats that can be used on your fiberglass tub and showers just as effectively. Some of these are products that should be used with a buffer for best results.

Add charm to simple interior

Q. I've recently been divorced and, unfortunately, the wonderful old house we restored together went as part of our settlement. I'm now living in a newly built coo do that has zero charm ... no moldings on the windows, no architectural features of any kind. I'm into culture shock. Please help me! — R.G.

A. Don't despair. There are ways to add charm to even the most barren of contemporary interiors, even if you can't make major architectural revisions.

The photo we show here can provide both inspiration and practical how-tos.

First, it may help to know that this warm, interesting sitting room actually was created inside a modern department store. The interior design team at Woodward & Lothrop, Washington, D.C., faced much the same problem when they needed to put together a room that reflects interest in the Old World look.

Since they, too, were stuck with basic, bland architecture, they relied on illusion to conjure the desired atmosphere. Among their illusory tricks:

- "Statement" window treatments. Beneath the cornice-drapery arrangement you see here lies the blindest of contemporary French doors.

- Piece-de-resistance standing screen that not only commands attention, it adds vintage charms to ordinary wall space.

- Furnishings that add a "heritage" look: a traditional camel-back sofa mixing with wicker, plaids and patterns that fill the room with color and texture you can hold onto.

- Personal clutter, or should I say "accessories"? Any interior, contemporary or classic, needs accessories to bring it to life. Just be sure the things you choose to live with truly reflect you and your personal passions.

Q. You may not be the right person to ask, but here goes: I am very concerned about the environment. With three children under age 10, I want to do everything I can to protect their futures, but I'm not sure I'm ready to live with fluorescent bulbs in every room. They make things look positively ghoulish! — A.J.

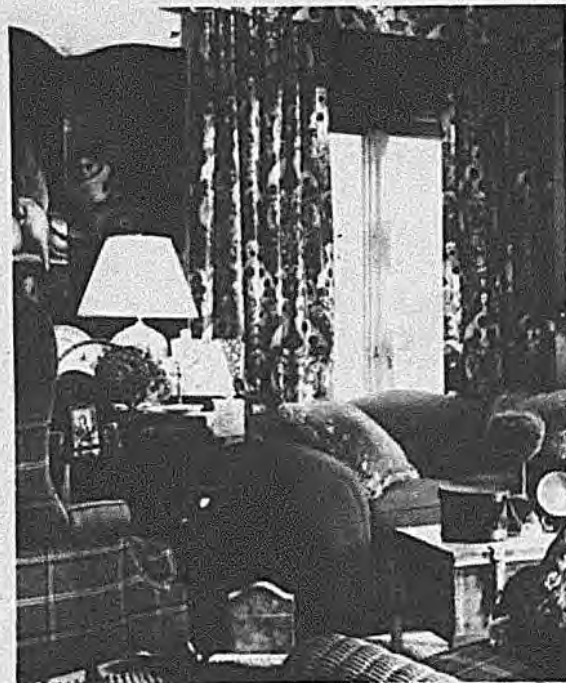

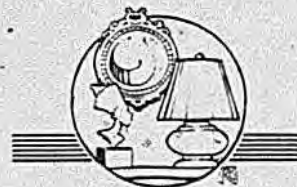

A. Buy warm, not cool, white fluorescents. Warm whites come closest to emulating the quality of the light emitted by the incandescent bulbs we're used to seeing ... the bulbs that approximate natural daylight.

But by all means, do consider fluorescents wherever you can. I have it on good authority — The Franklin Institute Science Museum in Philadelphia (named for the man who harnessed electricity for humankind) — that fluorescents help improve the quality of the air we breathe ... and the air your children will be breathing years from now.

According to the experts at the institute, fluorescents dramatically reduce the amount of electricity that's required ... which also reduce the amounts of carbon dioxide, nitrogen oxides and sulfur dioxides emitted into the atmosphere because the power companies will be burning less coal, oil and gas to light them.

TEXTURAL TRICKS — A lavish hand with pattern, texture and color can bring vintage charms even to a featureless room with bland architecture.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful and intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.
Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say 3
Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. Say for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. Thank you for answering my prayers. Thank you. S.G. hJn4

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE

all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED

VIRGIN (Never known to fail).
Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt.
Carmel, fruitful vine splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God. Immaculate
Virgin, assist me in my necessity.
Oh, Star of the Sea, help me and show me, herein you are my mother. Oh, Holy Mary,
Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth! I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in this necessity. There are none that can withstand your power. Oh, show me herein you are my mother. Oh, Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3X). Holy Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3X). Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and that in all instances in my life you are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as you confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine. The person must say this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days, the request will be granted. This prayer must be published after the favor is granted. G.R. gcjy1

O GLORIOUS SAINT

THERESE, whom Almighty
God has raised up to aid and counsel mankind, I implore your Miraculous Intercession.
So powerful are you in obtaining every need of body and soul
our Holy Mother Church
proclaims you a "prodigy of Miracles...the Greatest Saint of Modern Times." Now I fervently beseech you to answer my petition (mention here) and to carry out your promises of spending Heaven doing good upon earth...of letting fall from Heaven a Shower of Roses.
Henceforth, dear Little Flower,
I will fulfill your plea "to be made known everywhere" and I will never cease to lead others to Jesus through you. Amen.
My Novena Rose Prayer. O Little
Therese of the Child Jesus, please pick me a rose from the heavenly gardens and send it to me as a message of Love. O Little Flower of Jesus ask God
today to grant the favors I now place with confidence in your hands (mention specific requests).
St. Therese, help me to always believe as you did, in God's great love for me, so that I might imitate your "Little Way" each day. Amen. Thank you for answering my prayers.

MAY THE SACRED Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St.

Jude, Worker of Miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us. Say 9 X each day for 8 days. On the 8th day your prayer will be answered. Never known to fail.
Publication must be promised.
Thank you, St. Jude, for granting my request. A.C. wjy1

ANTIQUE OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

Platform rocker is fortunate find

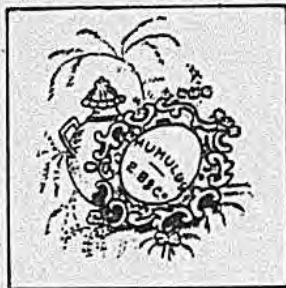

Q. This chair was found in the attic of a house I inherited. It has been cleaned and recaned. It has casters in the front only. The back is adjustable.

We have not been able to find out the vintage and value.

A. Your unusual, adjustable-back platform rocker was made in the late 19th century. It would probably sell for about $325 to $335.

Q. This mark is on the bottom of a leaf-shape serving dish. It is 10 1/4 inches long and 7 inches wide. It is decorated with pictures of fruit and foliage. It looks extremely old; I am sure it must be valuable.

A. Your dish was made by E. Booth & Co. in Fenton, England, in the late 1700s. That makes it about 200 years old and worth at least $500 to $600.

Q. At a recent garage sale, I purchased a glass candleholder with a shade. It is marked "50th Jubilee - Her Majesty, Queen Victoria."

Please tell me if this has any value.

A. It would appear that you have a fairy lamp made in 1887. It is a very desirable collectible worth at least $200.

Q. I have started collecting china made by Sabin Industries in McKeesport, Pa. I concentrate on souvenir and calendar plates, as well as cups and saucers and ashtrays.

Can you supply some history and value of these items?

A. Sabin Industries has been in business since 1946 and specializes in very inexpensive novelty china. The pieces you mention sell in the $10 to $25 range each.

Q. I have a 10-inch-square pressed-glass plate that has a series of impressions of U.S. coins dated 1892. Can you tell me what the value might be?

A. Various pieces of pressed glass were produced with impressions of U.S. coins for a few months in 1892. Their manufacture was terminated by the government because real coins were used.

You have a bread plate that would sell for about $175 to $200.

BOOK REVIEW

"Tomart's Price Guide to Garage Sale Gold" edited by Bob Weilbaum (Wallace-Homestead, an imprint of the Chilton Book Co.) is a book you need if you ever go to garage sales, or if you ever have one. Hundreds of everyday items and lots of very unusual ones are illustrated and priced here. Everything from automobiles to zithers - I think.

It is the product of more than 30 experts listing items in their special fields.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. It seems that preventative tooth care for dogs is emphasized more now than it was just a few years ago. Are dental problems more prevalent today?

A. The greater interest in dental care is probably due to a greater awareness of dental problems and to the greater number of older pets today. Because of other advancements in veterinary medicine, pets are living long enough now to develop dental problems.

The diets of our pets have changed considerably over the years. The wild ancestors of dogs and cats avoided plaque buildup by chewing on rough food and bones. Most dogs and cats today do not eat the same rough materials.

Prevention is the best method to ensure your dogs will always have healthy teeth. Each of your dogs' mouths should be examined by a veterinarian at least once a year. Dogs with serious plaque problems should have their teeth cleaned. This usually requires that the dog be anesthetized.

The teeth of most dogs can be brushed routinely without much hassle with a toothbrush. Your veterinarian can supply you with an appropriate dog toothpaste.

Flossing is usually not necessary because most dogs have widely spaced teeth. Your veterinarian can give you specific advice regarding the care of your animals' teeth.

Aunt Tilly's Corner

The Fourth of July weekend is coming up. It's a good idea to plan a picnic or beach trip where you might be able to watch firework displays in the evening. Buying and using fireworks in many places is illegal because of the damage and injuries they can cause. But there are "pyrotechnicians" who do firework displays for a living and are professional.

These professional displays make the loveliest exhibitions. If you check your newspaper, you will find them advertised from the tip of Long Island to New York City harbors. If you take the time to plan, you won't be injured or disappointed.

Have a happy and safe Fourth of July.

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

RULES BOYS AND GIRLS

Here is your chance to win One Dollar. ($1.00) - to spend or to save.

- Here's all you have to do:
1. Contest is open to children 4 to 12 years of age.
 2. Entries must be received by Friday, July 10, 1992
 3. Paint, watercolors and crayons must be used on the above.
 4. Decision of the judges will be final.

Mail your entry (just clip our cartoon) to this newspaper at:

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Tax Refund Offset for overpaid benefits

By William M. Acosta

Q. Some years ago, I was receiving Social Security survivor's benefits while I was a student. After my benefits stopped, I was told that I had been overpaid $560 - a sum that I never repaid.

Is it true that this money can be deducted from any federal income tax refund due me? - S.J.

A. Yes. The Tax Refund Offset provision of 1990 required Social Security to send notices to former beneficiaries who have not repaid overpayments. These individuals are given an opportunity to arrange for repayment or request waiver of the overpayment.

If no response is received, Social Security will notify the Internal Revenue Service and they will withhold the amount owed from any federal income tax refunds due the individuals.

Q. After I recently married, I received a letter from a company offering "to take care of" changing my name on Social Security records for a small fee. I know that Social Security provides this service for free and I would like to report this company to someone. What should I do? - M.A.T.

A. If you receive misleading information about a "Social Security" service from a private organization seeking payment for that service, send the entire solicitation (including the envelope) to the Social Security Administration.

Office of Public Affairs, Misleading Advertising, Box 17740, Baltimore, MD 21235.

Q. I have been receiving both Social Security and Supplemental Security Income disability benefits, based on my cerebral palsy, which I've had since I was a baby. I want to take a job as a computer operator. Will my benefits stop? - M.G.L.

A. Not necessarily. There are a number of rules under both Social Security and SSI that are designed to help you work while receiving benefits until you can work on a regular basis or are no longer disabled.

The rules provide continued cash benefits while you work, help with medical bills, help with extra work expenses and help with vocational rehabilitation.

Ask your local Social Security office about disability work incentives.
