School Tax Rate Will Drop By $1

By Gary McLendon

The 1993-94 Hicksville school budget goes before the voters on May 19. The numbers reflect a spending increase of $367,356, bringing the total budget to $50,763,454. The tax rate is declining for the second straight year to $31.25 per $100 of assessed valuation, a decrease of $1.

For the owner of property assessed at $4,000, the average school tax bill would be $1,250, a decrease of $40 from last year.

Even though the tax rate is decreasing, the level of educational programs, services and facilities has been improved. The district is also slated to receive more in state aid than it received last year — about $6 million for 1993-94.

One reason why the tax rate could stay low is that Hicksville teachers received the smallest salary increase, 10.9 over three years, of any teachers in Nassau and Suffolk counties. The teachers have also agreed to work an additional 15 minutes per day.

The teachers' three-year contract calls for a zero percent increase in the first year, a 2.5 percent increase in the second year and a 2.5 percent increase in the third year. That adds up to 5 percent. The other one percent of what is considered "new money" comes from $1,000 longevity clause, which is contracted to go to employees of 20 or more years. The other 4.9 percent is to be doled out in increments of a little more than 1.6 percent a year under terms of the Triborough Law. The Triborough Law is an automatic step increase all eligible employees get after July 1.

Other numbers in the budget also tell a story. Pupil transportation has decreased $63,040 because of a consolidation of bus runs; charges for services has decreased $100,000 because bidding amounts for these services has lowered; and risk retention, a fund held pay legal settlements against the school system, has decreased $300,000. This school year the amount was $300,000, next year the number is $0. Superintendent Salvatore Mugavero explained that, "The number is contingent on prospective lawsuits, and that number is low."

Custodial services has decreased $78,690 due to the projected closing of the East Street School in June. Building equipment has increased $168,100 because of "a reallocation of service contracts to centralize them," said Mugavero. The largest decrease in the budget is the $1 million decrease in the "undistributed" category under employee benefits. This decrease reflects funds for anticipated contract settlements for all district employees. BO-

Gregory Museum Turns 30

Close to 200 people attended the dinner/dance for the Hicksville Gregory Museum's 30th anniversary. Both young and old reminisced about the museum's history and fine reputation.

Joining museum supporters, volunteers, trustees, staff, and friends were founders Anne and Gardiner Gregory. They traveled down from Maine to be commemorate the 20th anniversary of the opening of the museum at the Heitz Place Court House and the 30th anniversary of the museum's opening on Cottage Blvd.

Special honorees for the evening were Dick Evers, Val Conover, and Assemblyman Frederick Parola. Evers joined the museum's devoted band of volunteers in 1971, working to obtain placement of the site on the National Register of Historic Buildings. He has also been the chairman of the Museum's Historical Committee, gathering many donated artifacts and photographs preserving Hicksville's 324-year history. His achievement as president of the board of trustees and his indomitable effort to provide financial support for the paper was outstanding. In 1981 he was able to secure an annual "service contract" with the Hicksville School District.

Val Conover moved to Hicksville in 1955. One of the museum's first trustees, she was always a lover of nature and history. Throughout the years of the old courthouse's restoration and subsequent function as the Hicksville Gregory Museum, Conover was involved in nearly every facet - including fund raising, organizing volunteers, membership, exhibit planning and preparation, and all of the museum's artwork. She is also the founder of the museum's newsletter, The Cupola; and is listed as historian and artist in Who's Who of American Women.

Assemblyman Frederick E. Parola was also honored for his continuous support of the Hicksville Gregory Museum. Since he was elected to the New York State Assembly in 1978, Parola has always been on the lookout for grants and additional funding that the museum might be eligible for. He attributed part of the success of the museum in receiving funding to his Republican counterpart in the Senate, Ralph J. Marino.

Founded in 1963, the Gregory Museum was provisionally chartered by the New York State Board of Regents as a non-profit educational institution in 1966. In May of 1970 the Heitz Place Courthouse was leased to the Gregory Museum by the Town of Oyster Bay. It opened there, after a tremendous community effort of restoration, three years later. In 1974 the courthouse

Big Brother Jake Shakes Mall

By Gary McLendon

Good times, good tunes and good fun were in order for all who came to the Broadway Mall in Hicksville, on Saturday, May 1. Jake Steinfeld of television's Big Brother Jake, was on hand to spearhead the Big Brother Jake, National Fitness Challenge. The fitness challenge is part of a joint effort by the Family Channel, and the Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America to make aware that they need more volunteers.

The fitness challenge consisted of a seven station eight event layout stretched over 4,000 square feet of the mall. Participants had to navigate themselves through a tire obstacle, do 10 "Jake runs", (running with two hands on the floor), a balance beam walk, a football toss, push-ups, sit-ups, jumping rope, and optional abdominal crunches.

As tunes by Paula Abdul, C & C Music Factory and others pumped up the crowd, people of all ages competed against each other, and the clock. For some the challenge was simple, finish. Others went all out and beat Jake's 38 second time. A curious and enthusiastic crowd gathered to watch, and Jake pulled people out of the crowd to compete.

He also signed posters and T-shirts and spread good will. "It's a nice way to get people out to participate" says Kenneth Hong, himself a Big Brother volunteer.

The event drew people from all over Long Island, and as far away as Philadelphia. Everyone enjoyed it, "it was a blast", said Vanessa Heaver of Hicksville. Jill Sabeno, also of Hicksville added, "it was fun, I'm glad to be a part of it."

Participants who beat Jake's time received Jake's book, Don't Quit, and qualified for the grand prize drawing of a pair of Acscis athletic shoes. Several people beat Jake's time., including Cheryl Schroeder of Hicksville. She destroyed the record with a 31 second time.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters is a nationwide organization created in 1977, after the merger of Big Brothers of America, and Big Sisters International. The program is geared toward youth development, and is based on the concept of a one to one relationship between adult volunteer and a child at risk. The program targets children from single family homes. "the hardest part is finding men to volunteer in their communities, says Micheal Auerbach, Assistant Director of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Nassau County. He adds, "they make a big difference in a child's life." More than 75,000 people are currently matched with adult volunteers nationwide.

The Big Brother Jake National Fitness Challenge, sponsored by the Family Channel, will continue its Saturday tour schedule through May 29. The remaining stops are: Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago and Minneapolis. All proceeds raised through corporate sponsorships and other contributions will benefit local Big Brother/Big Sister programs.

For Jake Steinfeld working with the Big Brothers/Big Sisters is more than just having fun. "It's a real positive group. For the kids to have someone to hang out with and see how to handle life, it's important."

Heart Council To Host Walk

By Carolise B. Smith

An opportunity to walk for a healthy heart while enjoying the grounds of the Old Westbury Campus of the New York Institute of Technology will take place on Saturday, May 8. The W.O.W. Committee, (Women's Organization for Wellness) and the Long Island Heart Council will host their Second Annual Pre-Mother's Day Walk, and you don't have to be a mom to participate.

W.O.W. was started just two years ago because women were not getting the proper heart health care they needed. "We started the committee to make people aware of the fact that they had to take their health into their own hands, they couldn't depend on their doctor for this,"

said Phyllis Danzig, director of development, Long Island Heart Council.

The monies generated from the fun walk will be used to increase women's awareness, through programs and seminars such as the heart, health and hormone seminar held last March. One of the committee's goals is to promote exercise as part of an overall plan to reduce the risks of heart disease. Heart disease is the number one killer in America.

The three or five mile fun walk, depending on your level, is a $10 donation for adults and $5 for children under 12. Those who pre-register by April 27, will be guaranteed a "Women with a Heart" T-shirt. There will be a warm up at 9:30 a.m. and the race kicks off at 9:40 a.m. Team prizes will be presented during the 11:15 a.m. awards ceremony. Prizes will be awarded to the oldest and youngest team member, the team with the most original outfit, the largest team and the team with the most generations. "It's a great day, it encourages people to exercise and it's fun," said Danzig.

After the race, there will be plenty of "heart-healthy" refreshments. Sponsors include the Pierce Day School, Quality Resources and European American Bank. Refreshment sponsors include Entenmann's Fat Free Cakes, the Rising Tide Natural Market and Snapple of Long Island. For an application and more information about the walk or the Long Island Heart Council, call 932-9360.

Yard Sale Raised Funds For Groups

The East St. home of George and Eleanor Blake was the site of a very successful yard sale on Saturday, April 17. The yard sale was sponsored by the Concerned Citizens of Hicksville to raise funds for the Hicksville Youth Council, the Cystinosis Foundation, and the annual scholarship that the CCH awards to a graduating Hicksville student.

The Blake's home was recently sold by Re/Max agent Jim Burke, who organized the sale along with CCH president Joe Visconti. In a true demonstration of community spirit, the Blakes graciously donated all of the items sold and allowed a dozen CCH members to spend many hours in their home preparing for the sale.

George Blake, a 70-year resident of Hicksville and Grumman retiree, has owned the home for over 45 years. The Blakes will move to Spanish Lakes, FL and spend their summers in Pawling, NY.

Superintendent Gets Two More Years

By Gary McLendon

Business was taken care of at the Hicksville Board of Education meeting. The four-hour meeting, held on Wednesday, April 28 is the last before the budget goes up for vote on May 19. The meeting therefore combined a reflection of past accomplishments, with a clear guideline for the future initiatives.

All who attended were provided with a detailed list of the past accomplishments of the Superintendent Salvatore Mugavero. Under his direction the budget and tax rate have decreased and educational programs have increased (see budget story, Page 1).

Looking toward the future, the board listed the new initiatives that are to be implemented in during the 1993-94 school year. These initiatives include the continuation of programs such as: modernizing and renovating the high school science lab, updating elementary libraries, renovating the the high school team and physical education locker rooms, upgrading district audio visual equipment and revitalizing the foreign language program, to name a few.

New undertakings for the new school year include: full-time librarians in all schools, new mathematics text books for all elementary, middle and high school courses, new social studies text books for high school courses, and the addition of a 16-passenger mini-van for the transportation of students.

The public's apparent satisfaction with the superintendent's work brought several people to the microphone to ask the board to vote in favor of extending the superintendent's contract. Mugavero appeared a bit anxious as it became time to vote, but his worry was unfounded. He was reaffirmed by a 5-0 vote, and will be superintendent for the next two years. Mugavero attributes his success to "hard work and good planning." Mugavero's salary for 1992-93 is approximately $116,600. Next year's salary has not been determined.

In other business, the redistricting issue was brought before the board and once again there is still disagreement by all parties concerned. The board openly showed its disunity on the issue when trying to decide whether or not to address revising the tentative plan. The plan is tentative until state education Commissioner Thomas Sobol rules on whether the East Street School should be closed at the end of this school year and students sent to other elementary schools. The state's decision is on no firm timetable, and there is a risk that the ruling could come too late to be adopted by the start of the new school year in the fall.

After several minutes of discussion it was agreed that as board President Helen Lafferty said, "We should do nothing to disrupt the students right now, until a ruling." The board agreed to bide their time by tabling the issue until the next meeting.

The meeting was calm, and ran very smoothly, but there were a few moments of sadness. School board member Arlene Rudin formally said her goodbyes to her colleagues and Hicksville citizens.

Rave Reviews For My Fair Lady

By Joe Kliduff

Nearly 800 Hicksville residents attended the Hicksville Repertory Company's presentation of the comic musical My Fair Lady. The audience, composed mainly of senior citizens, was treated to a brilliant display of acting and chorale ability by Hicksville High School students such as Steven Ganzrow, Domenick Freda and Lauren Giacopino.

"Kudos!" cried senior citizens Samuel Bergholtz and his wife, residents of Hicksville for 41 years. "The presentation is very professional, and the acting ability of the students is superlative; especially the two main leads (Freda and Giacopino)" proclaimed Mrs. Bergholtz. Her husband, Samuel, was in total compliance: "In comparison to the various shows we have seen at other local high schools the past few years, this show in particular is far superior." The couple spoke truthfully, for Freda's and Giacopino's performances were, in short, riveting. Freda's voice reverberated throughout the auditorium in performances such as "The Rain in Spain" and "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face." Giacopino with such grace and passion that it would have caused Audrey Hepburn to stop and admire.

The Bergholtzes went further to say how much they appreciated the free admission granted to the senior citizens of the Hicksville community: "We have been citizens of Hicksville for roughly 40 years and it is pleasant to see the community give us something such as this."

In addition to the senior citizens, there were many other Hicksville citizens who enjoyed the production, such as Hicksville PTA member Diana DePalma. Regarding the musical, she proclaimed, "It was a wonderful performance, the acting was superlative as was the orchestra." DePalma went further to say, "Hicksville has gotten a bad reputation through the press recently, but people don't realize that a few bad apples don't make an entire barrel. When an event such as this (the production) comes along, it helps to add to the good reputation that Hicksville so deserves."

The Rain in Spain Stays Mainly on the Fish, proclaim Steven Ganzrow, Lauren Giacopino and Domenick Freda during performance of My Fair Lady.

DESERT LIFE. Guest Pat Speyer of the Long Island Center for Arts and Science visited with Dutch Lane School third graders and presented a program on desert life. Students learned about plant and animal life in the desert. How plants and animals grow and adapt to the harsh desert conditions. Pictured are Nehze Pandya, Mathew Scully, Jesse Rostenberg, and Kelly Wigand, displaying projects and reports about nocturnal and diurnal animals and the desert.

KIDS PLAY

Make Mom's Day Special

Mother's Day is this Sunday and you will want to be sure to make Mom's day as relaxing and special as possible.

The first thing you should do is take care of your chores without being asked — cleaning your room, making your bed and making sure your sneakers are not in the middle of the living room floor.

Then, Mom will appreciate it if you offer to take over some of the chores that she must do regularly. Offer to do the dishes or fold the laundry; older kids can even do the laundry. Split up the housework with Dad, brothers and sisters so your mother doesn't have to do anything.

Don't give your mother a hard time today. Let her decide what she wants to do — whether she wants to rest or go on a family outing. If the weather is nice, a trip to the beach, Old Westbury Gardens or the Planting Fields Arboretum are some good choices. If it rains, have lunch in a restaurant, take Mom to a movie or take a trip to the new Roosevelt Field mall.

Maybe Dad can help with a special treat for mom. Have a barbecue; bring your mother breakfast in bed.

If you want to get your mother a gift, ones that are handmade are the best. You can make her a card that says exactly what you feel. You can also get some dried flowers and make an arrangement that will last a long time. Or you could buy real flowers at the nursery and plant them in the garden for Mom to enjoy all summer long.

Draw her a picture, or have someone take a photograph of the whole family and put it in a frame for your mother to keep on display in the house or on her desk at work.

The most important thing about Mother's Day, though, is to tell your mom you love her and appreciate all of the many things she does for you every day of the year.

Two Birthdays

March was a very exciting month for the Heuser children. On March 6, Katelyn Heuser turned three-years-old and on March 8, William Heuser turned one-year-old! Katelyn celebrated her birthday on March 5 with a "Barney" birthday party at her house. Her friends, and of course, their mommies had lots of fun when it came time for the "Barney pinata."

William's special celebration was scheduled for Sunday, March 14, but had to be rescheduled due to the blizzard! Finally, on Sunday, March 21, William had a wonderful first birthday at Chrisitno's II Restaurant in Plainview. He was the star of the party, with close to 60 people sharing this day. William's mom, Nancy (Blyman) Heuser, had her friend entertained the children with music and dancing. It really kept all the children entertained. Katelyn and William truly had an enjoyable time celebrating their birthdays!

Westbury Gardens: A Mini-Vacation Spot

By A. Anthony Miller
 "It's like going on a mini-vacation."
 A woman from Sea Cliff was summing up her reaction to her trip last weekend to the Old Westbury Gardens, which has just opened for the season.

Situated on 88 acres, the former home of John S. Phipps, built in 1906, is now open to the public for walks, workshops, concerts and opportunities to relax and commune with nature.

Located on Old Westbury Road, between Jericho Turnpike and the south service road of the Long Island Expressway, Old Westbury Gardens literally has "something for everyone."

The main building, called Westbury

House," is almost unchanged from the 50 years of the family's residence. Many of the 18th century furnishings and fine arts collected by the family are still found in the rooms, and tours of the house are readily available.

But it is the formal gardens, tree-lined walks, ponds, statuary and endless varieties of trees, flowers and blooms that attract scores of visitors, many armed with cameras and not a few with paint brushes and easels.

The Gardens were formally opened for the season last weekend, May 1 and 2, with a spring plant sale, arbor day celebra-terrific work ethic.

 "Anthony Mason makes it very plain that the Surf gave him the opportunity to be seen by the Knicks. The payback is credibility. We want people to believe in the Surf and the USBL, and in our opinion of players when we recommend them. We're in constant contact with NBA teams," he continued.

"Mason doesn't try to forget that he played with us. He knows, 'I played in Turkey, Venezuela and every one of those stepping stones along the way' contributed to what he is. We were fortunate in that we were the last stop in the minor leagues for Lloyd and Mace and both acknowledge that it was a good experience," he added.

George Johnson, a second-year coach in the Surf's third year, is believed to be a likely candidate for an assistant job in the NBA hopefully as early as next year.

Returning players may include Jean Prieleau, Michael Curry, and Sean Schiano.

Krinsky sees the best crop yet: "Competition is fierce." Oleg Melechenko of Slovenia, Villanova's Lance Miller, and St. John's David Cain, Lamont Middleton and Mitchell Foster might also don a newly-designed Long Island jersey.

Former New York Net Levern Tart, the Surf's assistant GM for youth and community relations was among a number of other speakers presented for announcements.

Corporate sponsors for the Youth Outreach Program include: Coca-Cola, Olsten Corporation, Athlete's Foot, Austin Travel, Olympus Corporation, Marsh's Men's Shop, Nemo Tile, Smith Barney, the New Jersey Nets and the New York Knicks, Fleer Trading Cards, The Cronson Team, Converse, Baxter's Sport Shop, Ace Audio Visual, Chase Manhattan Bank, Patriot Securities, Marvel Comics, Marrotta Financial Services, the Cowen Foundation, Donaudy and Munch Advertising, and Chapelaine Corporate Securities.

tion, and auto show. This Sunday, May 9, a plant sale will be conducted, just in time for Mother's Day, and May 15 and 16 is Rhododendron Weekend, encompassing the plant's historic development from early varieties to the latest hybrids. George Woodard, the estate superintendent, will be giving a special tour May 16 for a $20 fee. Space is limited, and like most of the Old Westbury Gardens programs, pre-registration is required.

A full range of activities has been planned for the Gardens this year, including a series of "picnic pops concerts" between June 30 and August 4, featuring such musical notables as Peter Duchin and his orchestra, a tribute to Benny Goodman, the Xavier Cugat orchestra, and Lester Lanin and his orchestra. The concerts are modestly priced, $6 for adults, $4 for seniors and $2 for children.

Art classes began May 4, from 1 to 4 p.m. A noted artist and instructor, Ruth Baderian, began a series of nine art classes that continue through June 29. She will guide intermediate and advance students in any medium they choose, including oils, watercolor and sketching. Many of the works completed during the classes will be seen in an art show that will be held in fall, and this year run from Sept. 17 through Oct. 17.

Ever popular at the Gardens are dried flower workshops, with each instructing on the creation of a specific floral decoration. On May 15, for instance, the eucalyptus is the subject. The workshops culminate with a Christmas floral workshop in December.

Speaking of flowers, the rose gardening walk-and-talk is a "don't miss" for both novice and knowledgeable growers. A prominent rose judge will be on hand Wednesday, June 23, to review the Gardens' collection of more than 100 different rose varieties.

The Gardens are also the setting for the Scottish Games, this year set for Saturday, Aug. 28, including Highland games, piping and dancing.

Old Westbury Gardens is listed on the National Register of Historic Places, and has been acclaimed "one of the great gardens of the western world."

Admission to the gardens is $5 for adults, $3.50 for seniors and $1.50 for children from six to 12 years. A visit to Westbury House is available for an additional $3 for adults and $1.50 for seniors and children.

The Gardens are open from Wednesday through Monday from 10 to 5. For additional information, or to become a member—membership includes reduced prices for many of the activities and events—call 333-0048.

Work Together On LIE Plan

The state's plan to widen the Long Island Expressway in Nassau County is facing stiff opposition from residents and officials of the communities bordering the road as well as from Nassau County.

Unlike opposition to many proposals where the NIMBYs (Not In My Back Yard) come out in force, opponents of this proposal have valid concerns.

The plan is to build a fourth lane in either direction next to the center median. The lane would be for high occupancy vehicles (HOV) only. Those traveling in that lane would only be able to exit the LIE in three places: Willis Avenue, Glen Cove Road and Jericho Turnpike. The plans call for HOV entry and exit lanes, in effect creating a five-lane road in those places. In order to exit, motorists would have to cut across three lanes of traffic. There are problems with the HOV lane: Who is really going to use it? How will it be enforced?

On Long Island, where there is a dearth of public transportation and practically every resident with a driver's license owns a car, carpooling has never been a popular method of transportation. There are van pools and kind people who give co-workers a ride to work, but they are far and few between.

As a result, the HOV lane would either be mostly empty or it would be used by cheaters. If a police officer were posted to enforce the use of the lane, it would hamper traffic flow because of the unwritten rule: see police car, slow down and rubberneck.

There's nothing wrong with trying to encourage people to carpool—for environmental as well as traffic flow reasons. But this is not the way to do it. Some kind of incentive—such as a tax credit on gasoline purchases—might work better.

Then there are the concerns about the amount of space that the HOV lane would use and how it would impact the existing overpasses, underpasses, service roads and perpendicular roads.

The county has vowed to "dissect" the state's environmental study on the HOV lane. The county executive believes "that their study is skewed toward ramming the HOV lane through Nassau, almost in defiance of the concerns and needs of area residents."

There's no question that the Long Island Expressway needs to be improved. It's a major artery and something should be done to rid it of its infamous reputation as the world's longest parking lot.

The state should be willing to work with the county and the representatives of the communities that border the LIE to come up with a palatable solution. It can't be the state's way or no way. County and village officials have not said, "Don't fix the road." They just want the state to listen to their concerns so that the project will improve the road with minimal impact on the surrounding communities.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...How many names are you known by? I don't mean aliases or noms de plume, I just mean—are you the kind of person who is called James Jones—or are you, like our famous actor, always James Earl Jones? If I asked about Ed Poe, you might think a minute, but if I said Edgar Allen Poe, there'd be no hesitation...It's such a strange thing that this has grown up as it has, and so many New England poets and writers seem to be known that way—think about Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, John Greenleaf Whittier, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Louisa May Alcott: and then there's Franklin Delano Roosevelt—I bet you don't even know what George Washington's middle name was—or even if he had one—I certainly don't...and how about the famous editor, William Allen White?...Emily Dickenson and many others made the big time without the three-name-thrust, but it certainly does sound more sonorous and impressive...I think from now on I'll have myself known as Lulubelle Arimathea Vostavazoo—that will make them pause!

Yours, Lulubelle

Thanks For Help

On behalf of the New York State School Boards Association, your colleagues in Nassau and myself, I would like to thank you for all your help in promoting federal regulation to aid and preserve education for all children. Your work on NYSSBA's Federal Regulations Network and your enthusiastic participation in the Washington Workshop, which culminated with visiting our senators and congressmen, was very well received on the Hill.

On a personal note, I want to thank you for filling in for an absent State Legislative Network member. Joining us in Albany and lobbying with us for state aid and other issues was very much appreciated.

Keep up the good work on behalf of the children and their communities.

Endorses Carton

This letter is written in support of Mary E. Carton, candidate for the vacant seat of Arlene Rudin, Hicksville School Board.

Mary Carton has been a resident of this community for the past 40 years...she has worked on the Budget Advisory Board for the past three years. This year, as last year, we will have a "no-increase" school budget, which will result in a tax decrease.

Mrs. Carton is fully aware of the needs of our senior citizens, many of whom live on a fixed income.

Another area of concern that Mrs. Carton has is the Parochial school student and their needs, as their parents too are taxpayers.

Mrs. Carton is a retired real estate broker who will have the time to serve on the board of education. Mrs. Carton has many years of business experience. Her goals are, that our children in the public schools should be able to continue to learn in an atmosphere of academic excellence. She will operate with common sense and fiscal responsibility.

I would appreciate your vote of confidence - on May 19, for Mary E. Carton and the "B" team which is - Lewis, Carton, Wolfe.

Marie T. Carroll

Vote For Carton

I have known Mary E. Carton for more than 30 years and I believe she would make an excellent school board member in the up-coming elections in May.

Many years ago, there was an organization called "Life In Hicksville" or "League for Intelligent Financing of Education in Hicksville" which sought to keep taxes down without jeopardizing the education of our children. Mary E. Carton was a part of that group and still has the same ideas today as "Life In Hicksville" had 27 years ago. Charles Fetta was the president of Life back then, and if he were here today he would also ask you to support Mary E. Carton.

In conclusion, I believe the senior citizens of Hicksville would be fortunate to have Mary E. Carton as a member on the board of education.

Please join me at the polls in May and give your vote to Mary E. Carton.

Betty Fetta

Supports Row B

On Wednesday evening, I announced my retirement from the Hicksville School Board. It's the completion of my second term. When I left the board in 1986, I was saddened by the fact that many of my hopes and dreams for our district were not realized. The district had no latch key program. The ninth graders hadn't moved to the high school. The sixth graders hadn't moved to the middle school. We had an educational program that catered to the gifted and learning disabled, but ignored the average child. We had a runaway budget. School closings weren't addressed, even though we had expended considerable funds researching the need, and knew it was urgent for the taxpayers.

I returned to the board in 1990 determined that this time things would be different. The elections that year produced a split ticket. Carole Wolf and Joanne Miltenberg were elected on their ticket. I was elected on the opposition ticket. Dr. Fenton invited Mrs. Wolf and I to dinner to bring us up to speed on district issues. Mrs. Wolf and I came to that meeting with concerns. We had a long, unpleasant history. However, at the conclusion of that dinner, as we drove home, we discussed our determination to work together on those issues that we shared a common interest in. The budget had been defeated that year and we agreed our first order of business would be to try and develop a budget. We worked together all summer long. As we worked we discovered that we had more in common than we realized. Friendship, trust and respect grew.

During the past three years, with Mrs.

Two Weekends Of Mozart ... And More

Mozart Al Fresco is the theme of the eighth annual Long Island Mozart Festival featuring the celebrated Sea Cliff Chamber Players. The festival, regarded as the region's foremost outdoor classical music event, will be held again at the magnificent Planting Fields State Park and Arboretum in Oyster Bay on Memorial Day weekend, May 29, 30 and 31, and the following weekend, June 5-6.

A impressive roster of internationally acclaimed artists will perform great music from Vienna in 10 afternoon and sunset concerts during the five-day festival. A highlight will be the U.S. premiere of an 18th century Mozart transcription.

Among the 33 participating artists will be Grammy nominee harpist Nancy Allen; Avery Fisher Award winning violinists Mark Paskanov and Ida Levin; Tchaikovsky Gold Medalist cellist Nathaniel Rosen; and a group of Naumburg first prize winners: flutist Carol Wincenc, clarinetist Charles Neidich, violinist Carmit Zori and violists Mishka Amory and Paul Neubauer. Also appearing in her Mozart Festival debut will be New York City Opera soprano Eric Mills.

All concerts are held outdoors amid the beauty of the arboretum. Choice seating is available in the historic Hay Barn courtyard or festival patrons may choose informal seating on the surrounding lawns. In the case of rain, concerts are held in the Hay Barn.

A wide range of ticket options is available, including a festival pass and special group rates for 10 people or more. Children under 12 accompanied by an adult are admitted free to the lawn.

The Festival is more than just music. Patrons may dine at the Mozart Cafe or at the Food Promenade where a variety of dishes, from bratwurst to oysters on the half shell, may be enjoyed. A perennial favorite, the arts and crafts fair will highlight works from the area's finest artists and craftspeople. A selection of fine wines may be purchased in the wine tent. Finally, a silent auction, free arboretum tours and a raffle drawing with a grand prize of a vacation package for two to Vienna and Salzburg complete the festivities.

Call the Sea Cliff Chamber Players at 671-6263 for more information. Tickets are also available by writing to the players at 100 Roslyn Ave., Sea Cliff, NY, 11579 and at the arboretum on festival days.

Tax Protest Period Under Way

Nassau County property owners who wish to challenge their assessments can file protests through Tuesday, May 18. To assist taxpayers who wish to file protests, the Nassau County Department of Assessment is establishing special satellite offices in each of Nassau's three townships and two cities during the official tax grievance period. Evening hours will also be scheduled.

In Nassau County, taxpayers file with the Board of Assessors, which forwards them to an independent Board of Assessment Review for determination. Besides filing written grievance forms, property owners should include any supporting documentation such as an appraisal or list of comparable properties to support their request.

Applicants dissatisfied with the Board of Assessment Review's findings may go further and take their protest to court. To do so, they have to file the appropriate papers within 30 days of the publication of the final assessment roll on Monday, August 2. Owner-occupants of one-, two- and three-family homes and condominiums of three stories or less may make use of a special small claims assessment review court.

Those property owners who do not qualify for small claims assessment review and those who seek bigger assessment reductions that small claims can grant may file a writ of certiorari with the New York State Supreme Court to get a judicial review of their assessments.

Cuisine Connection

Caffe Angelica: Old World vs. New World

By Andrea Martone

Some say it's always nice to go home. For James and Dean Doukas...they've never left.

Having grown up in New Hyde Park and attended Herricks High School, the two Doukas men decided to embark on a family venture that has led to the opening of Caffe Angelica on Jericho Turnpike in Garden City Park. "We were brought up in this neighborhood," said Jim Doukas. "In fact, our parents still live around the corner. It was always my dream to open a restaurant right here."

According to the two young owners, the new "nuovo cucina" (translated as the best of contemporary cuisine) is lovingly named for their mother Angela, and features an elegant and contemporary combination of Old World and New World decor and cuisine. The restaurant lends an open air atmosphere with large, Greek columns that square off two levels of dining. From the looks of the rustic terra cotta floors, French mahogany doors and faux-painted walls you are taken for a trip back to the Old World, with eclectic touches of imported granite tables, and modern, recessed lighting.

Angelica wants to maintain the highest standards, "we want everything to be the finest and freshest - just like in Italy," - and they succeed. They bake their own breads, focaccia, desserts and pastries on premises, and even make their own pastas and mozzarella. Guests are welcomed with baskets of freshly baked focaccia bread with a variety of toppings accompanied by roasted garlic, and as a special touch, infused olive oils.

The menu reflects a pleasing selection of Italian delicacies including exotic dishes such as "Salmon Affumicato con Vegetali", a house-smoked salmon stuffed with arugula, radicchio, toasted pignoli and marscapone cheese drizzled with lemon chive vinaigrette. An exotic pasta creation that joins 14 equally appealing dishes includes "Aragostia Carosello" - tiny house-made pasta pouches stuffed with lobster and fresh herbs in a cognac sherry cream sauce. Pasta dishes range from $8.95-$13.95. For pizza lovers, the large, open, brick oven cooks six different pizzas with an assortment of toppings. Pizzas range from $5.95-$7.25. Main courses range from Roast Cornish hen flavored with rosemary ($13.95), rare grilled tuna with herbed fresh tomato puree ($14.95) to grilled veal paillard with rosemary-infused olive oil, garnished with gnocchi mushrooms and gorgonzola polenta ($14.95).

A separate luncheon menu reflects a variety of antipastos, salads, pizza, pasta, meat and fish that range from $5.95 - $11.95.

Caffe Angelica is located at 2370 Jericho Turnpike, phone: 739-0505.

HERB MILLS of Port Washington experiences the feeling of weightlessness as he tries out the Orbitron, one of the interactive exhibits at the Cradle of Aviation Museum, which this summer hosts a new exhibit entitled "Pioneering in Space: Long Island's Aerospace Heritage." Exhibit opened May 1 and runs through Sept. 6.

Space Exhibit Blasts Off

By A. Anthony Miller

"It's the largest collection of its kind outside the Smithsonian Institute."

With these words, Nassau Recreation and Parks Commissioner John Kiernan described the major air and space exhibit which opened May 1 at the county's Cradle of Aviation Museum in Mitchel Field.

Helping to cut the ribbon were, appropriately, Astronaut T. K. Mattingly, command module pilot for the Apollo 16 mission; and Renzo Caporelli, head of Grumman, the company which contributed major segments of the county's air and space equipment.

The space exhibit, underwritten by the Muttontown-based Friends for Long Island's Heritage, combines a unique selection of spacecraft and artifacts from the county's aerospace collections, and will run through Labor Day, Sept. 6. Nassau is the only stop in the northeast for the travelling exhibit, which is called "the Great American Space Tour." Visitors experience the tremendous contributions to aviation made in the Long Island area through hands-on, interactive displays which make the exhibit at once entertaining and educational.

An audio background highlights the realistic atmosphere with communications between the shuttle and Mission Control. A special room at the exhibit simulates the moon's surface, allowing visitors to take a "moon walk." The feeling of weightlessness is experienced in the Orbitron, an actual NASA training apparatus.

Other displays include a one-fifth scale space shuttle, a series of special rooms that document the history of the space program through audio and video devices, and an accurate representation of a space station, a device of the future.

Located in former hangars of the Mitchel Field Air Base, off Charles Lindbergh Boulevard in Uniondale and adjacent to the Nassau Community College campus, the museum is home to one of America's finest collections of historic air and space artifacts, most of which have connections to Long Island's pioneering role in air and space travel.

Visitors can see a 1902 Wright Flyer, a sister ship of Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis—which departed from what is today the nearby Roosevelt Field—World War I and II and Korean War fighters, and an actual lunar module.

Long Island is also home of no less than 27 separate organizations devoted to space and aerospace, from the Aerocats Flying Club of Ronkonkoma to the Westbury-based Air Force Association to the Tuskegee Airmen, headquartered in Greenvale.

Admission to the exhibit is $4 for adults and $2 for seniors 60 and over, children aged five to 12, volunteer firefighters and auxiliary police officers. Children under five are admitted free when accompanied by a paying adult.

The Museum, operated by the Nassau Recreation and Parks Department, will be open from 10 to 5 Tuesdays through Sundays. Call 222-1191 for more information.

was placed on the National Register of Historic Places. The official name of the museum became the Hicksville Gregory Museum in September 1991. An Absolute Charter was granted by the New York State Board of Regents after an intensive self-study and on-site evaluation. The purpose of the Hicksville Gregory Museum, Long Island Earth Science Center, is to create an awareness of, and an active interest in earth science, natural history, and local history through the collection and preservation of specimens and artifacts, and through educational programs, museum exhibits, special events, and publications.

BOCES services has decreased $123,300, which reflects the decrease in the number of students enrolled in the BOCES program. According to Mugavero, the funds for BOCES are "student driven." This means that the costs are calculated by the number of students enrolled in the program. The cost per student is "about $5,000," said Mugavero.

Maureen Bright, administrative assistant for public information for the Hicksville School District, said the budget decrease can be attributed in part to Mugavero's "awareness of state and federal funding and expert management style," which she says, "have enabled the board of education to present a budget that reflects a $1 decrease per $100 assessed valuation for class one."

Mugavero points to "careful planning and management" as the reason for the turnaround in the school budget.

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

There are not many hands in world championship play where the defense slips so badly at both tables that each declarer is permitted to make an unmakeable game. However, this rare incident did in fact occur in the match between Italy and the United States in 1965.

At the first table, where Dorothy Hayden and B. Jay Becker were North-South for the U.S., they optimistically arrived at five diamonds on the sequence shown. Mrs. Hayden's odd-looking three spade bid conventionally designated a singleton spade and good diamond support.

The Italian West led the jack of clubs and East cashed the A-K before returning a club. This looked like manna from heaven to Becker, since a spade return would have killed the contract then and there.

Becker ruffed the club with the ten, led a heart to the ace, ruffed a heart, and easily made the rest of the tricks after drawing trumps. At the time, it seemed that the American team would gain substantially as a result of having made an "impossible" game. But at the other table there were also strange goings-on. With an Italian pair now North-South, the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♥	Pass	2♦
2♦	3♦	3♣	3NT

The American West, on lead against three notrump, chose a heart for his opening salvo. The grateful Italian declarer rose with the ace, cashed the king — felling East's queen — and finished with ten tricks. Had West led a club instead, South would have lost two clubs and six spades and gone down four!

Wolf's help and leadership, all of the things that I dreamed about in 1986 were finally accomplished. And that was just the tip of the iceberg!

My proudest accomplishment is the addition of Sal Mugavero as superintendent. Our district has grown and flourished. Educational programs have increased. A hot lunch program has been added. A summer recreation program will exist for all our children. Curriculum, textbooks, guidance handbooks have all been enhanced or produced. New programs have begun at every level. Senior citizen's proms and luncheons have been instituted. Relief for taxpayers has been achieved. Last year the tax rate decreased $1.37. This year for the second year in a row Hicksville will have a tax rate decrease!

As I leave the board this time I know that Hicksville is in good hands. The success of any district is a direct result of the efforts of the superintendent, his/her cabinet and the board. When these groups support each other and work together good things happen in a community. On Wednesday night Helen Lafferty, Voley Martin, Dave Staton, Carole Wolf and I voted to extend the superintendent's contract. My vote was a vote for continued educational excellence.

On May 19 you will have the opportunity to elect three trustees. Your choices will have a direct impact on the direction this district takes. When you go to the polls on May 19 I urge you to support three people who have pledged to support the superintendent and to work to make Hicksville a "community" again. These people have devoted their lives to our community. Gary Lewis has served for the past nine years as president of Saint Ignatius CYO. He was instrumental in working with the Kiwanis to establish the yearly Make-A-Wish Foundation Baseball Tournament. He is also a member of the Lion's Club. Mary Carton has been a board watcher as long as I have and has always been involved in school district issues. She has served on the citizen's budget advisory committee for the past three years. She is past president of the Lee Avenue PTA. She taught religion at Holy Family Parish. Carole Wolf is completing her sixth year on the school board having served as president, secretary and district treasurer. She is a trustee in HBA serving as director of player personnel and director of tournaments. She is a US figure skating judge. She is past president of the Hicksville Community Council.

When you enter the voting booth on May 19 support Row B, Lewis, Carton and Wolfe. They have common sense and common goals. Vote across the bottom Row B so Hicksville can rise to the top!

Arlene Rudin
Trustee

Corrects Letter

I would like to make a correction concerning the letter by Bill Bennett that appeared in this paper April 29.

He states that "Ray Manzo-president and founder of the Hicksville Southwest Civic Association..." I would like it to be clear that Ray Manzo is not founder of this civic. He is one of the founding officers and members. Actually, I initially organized the founding of this civic, along with the assistance of some neighborhood PTA members who had distributed the fliers for the first meeting that I alone arranged and organized.

Carol L. Reden

P.S. I would like to congratulate Mr. Salvatore Mugavero on the well-deserved extension of his contract as superintendent of the Hicksville School District. We will all benefit greatly from this. Thanks to board members Carole Wolf, Voley Martin, Arlene Rudin, David Staton and board president Helen Lafferty for their approval of this contract.

Endorses Row A

I am extremely pleased to endorse Richard Pfaender, Nancy Callari and Raymond Manzo for the positions of Hicksville Board of Education trustees in the upcoming May 19 election.

During his tenure on the Board of Education, Richard Pfaender has exhibited the ability, honesty and integrity to solve our district's problems fairly. Decisions were never rushed; they were thought out carefully and sometimes agonized over.

Raymond Manzo first came to my attention several years ago during public sessions of school board meetings. Ray has shown concern for the students and taxpayers of Hicksville, and as president of the Southwest Civic Association continually looks for ways to foster positive change in Hicksville.

I have personally known Nancy Callari for nine years. Nancy's service to the Hicksville community is well documented. As a member of the Old Country Road PTA executive board she has chaired many committees and initiated a multitude of exciting new programs, all the while laboring for improvements of established programs for our students, faculty and parents. Nancy has also served as treasurer of the PTA; PTA president, and is currently serving as president of council (council is the compilation of all the PTA units in our district). Nancy's service to the Hicksville community is well documented; she has served on the Budget Advisory Committee, the East Street Utilization Committee and the Task Force for Harmony and Pride among many, many others. Nancy can usually be found at a school district or community meeting on any given night, sometimes attending as many as four meetings in one evening!

I believe these three candidates possess the ability, integrity, honesty and fairness to address the needs and concerns of every child, parent and taxpayer in this district, and I strongly urge that you join me in support of them.

Board Candidates

I have been asked if I would publicly endorse specific school board candidates. As president of the board of education, I don't think it would be appropriate for me to do so.

Instead, I'd like to give my opinion as to some of the characteristics I think voters should look for in the candidates of their choice.

Board members should not have an "us against them" mentality. A divided board is an ineffective board. In my opinion, "power" politics for control of the board is detrimental to the children and to the taxpayers...board members should weight the merits of each issue and vote accordingly as individuals. Personal agendas and favoring specific student activities to the exclusion of others undermines and divides the community.

Taxpayers should inquire as to the candidates qualifications and their ability to contribute to the work of the board and the education and well being of the children.

It is vital that board members be united in their support of the superintendent of schools. Without board support, the superintendent is rendered powerless to do his job with resulting chaos.

I urge all taxpayers to attend the candidate public forums, civic association and club meetings where candidates will be speaking and to ask questions.

The PTA Council Forum is on May 5 at the high school, 8:30 p.m., and the Community Council Forum on May 6 at the Hicksville Library, 8:30 p.m.

I urge you to attend and ask questions. Be informed and vote on May 19.

In an era where almost anything is possible, it seems archaic that automotive thinking is still bound by the notion of separate cars of performance and comfort. A notion rebuked by the new Infiniti Q®. Take the driver's seat.

Beneath the obvious luxury of hand-selected leathers and an orthopedic design the potential of current technology unfolds.

Like the suspension for the car itself, we gave the driver's seat its own specially devised suspension, then had the engineers work together to tune them in tandem. We then dampened the motion, so you get road information instantly, yet gently. The result is luxury car comfort with a sense of control and exhilaration you thought was reserved for roadsters.

The fact is, we can't begin to explain the concept of Infiniti here. Why not visit your Infiniti showroom for a Guest Drive®? You'll discover what's possible in a luxury car today. Which is just what we've been doing.

The Promise of Light, Paul Watkins, Random House, 271 pp., $20.

Paul Watkins, at 28, has achieved a reputation as one of the United States' most promising young writers. With his latest book, The Promise of Light, that promise is fulfilled.

The year is 1921 and Ben Sheridan of Jamestown Island off Rhode Island has just graduated from Harvard and is planning a career in banking. He is the only son of his widowed father, Arthur Sheridan, the fire chief of the island. When his father is badly burned in a fire, Ben is called upon to donate blood. As a result of the donation, the elder Sheridan dies, proving, without a doubt, that he was not Ben's natural father.

Arthur Sheridan and his wife had emigrated from Ireland when Ben was an infant and Ben determines to return to Ireland to discover the facts about his birth. The local parish priest, also an Irish emigrant, helps Ben get passage on a schooner sailing for Ireland and gives him papers to introduce to people who may help him in his search.

Before Ben even lands on Irish soil he is plunged into the war between the Irish who are fighting for a free state and the English. He finds that the boat that brought him across the Atlantic has been bringing guns to the Irish rebels and that the man he thought was his father, Arthur Sheridan, had been a leader in the rebellion.

At this point in The Promise of Light, there is a change of tone and the book becomes not just a personal story of one young man's search for his identity but a brutal war story. Anyone who enjoys the Irish novels of Thomas Flanagan will be captivated by this book. The brutal struggle between the farmers who make up the newly created Irish Republican Army and the professional English soldiers known in Ireland as the Tans is described in painful detail. There is an immediacy in Watkins' writing that puts the reader in the middle of that struggle. Meanwhile we watch Ben Sheridan change from a Harvard graduate on his way to a career in banking to an Irishman fighting for the independence of his country. The stunning climax of the book left this reader in tears.

Paul Watkins is the California-born son of Welsh parents. He grew up on the shores of Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island and was educated at Eton and Yale. Before he wrote The Promise of Light he made four trips to Ireland, lived in the towns of Lahinch and Ennistymon and interviewed Irish citizens and scholars. The authenticity of the book breathes from every page.

Next Dog Neighbors

Elke Ketelhohn of Port Washington sent in this adorable picture of her dog Bailey (left), a salt and pepper colored pooch, and her best friend and neighbor, Samantha, a.k.a. Sammy.

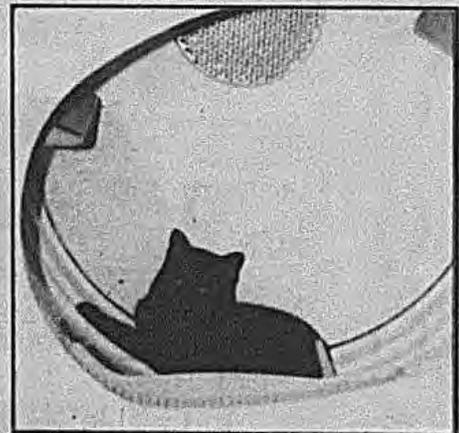

"These two pals grew up together," she writes. "Sammy was six months old when Bailey arrived on the scene. They've been buddies ever since. Bailey jumps the fence whenever she wants to pay a visit to her friend. Not only are humans able to be friends and neighbors, but animals can be too. Bailey and Sammy are living proof!"

Curious Cat

Marcia Tropin of Jericho recently hosted this houseguest who was very curious about her surroundings. This gray kitty, named Mia, lives with Chris and Judi in Albany, but when she was visiting she decided to check out the "lay of the land" and got carried away. "Do you think I'm cute enough for them to forgive me?" she seems to be asking.

"You bet you are," say Marcia and Larry Tropin. "You're one of the most lovable houseguests we've ever had!"

Nosey Rosey

Rosey was discarded, along with two of her brothers, by her owners when they were barely able to see. Rosey weighed only two pounds.

Jane Grandino of Bellmore writes that her husband and a friend rescued the kittens and put them in the friend's garage to keep them safe. When Jane went down to feed them, Rosey took a shine to Jane and followed her all around. "It was love at first sight for her," she writes.

"I have another cat, T.C. alias the Cat, and I was concerned that they would not get along, so I hesitated to take her home. But every time I went to see or feed them, she cried so loud that it broke my heart.

"So guess what, I took her home," Jane writes. "Now, nearly three years later she is still very small, but I would not give her up for the world. She really gets into everything and the two of them are getting along very well."

SPORTS SHORTS

Northport Meets the Wall

The Hicksville sixth grade soccer team remained undefeated by handing Northport its' first loss of the season by a 8-1 score. Northport found out why Carl Johnson is becoming known as "THE WALL". Carl made 20 saves in the game. Northport's only goal was the result of a loose ball right in front of the goal. Carl was assisted by some outstanding play from his fired-up defense. Northport's most aggressive players were slowed by the hard hitting of (co-captain) Pollo Fumigalli, Ryan O'Toole, Nicholas Schmidt, and Sean Cala. While "the wall" was having an excellent game in goal, Hicksville midfielders Danny Cocchi, Jimmy (J.T.) Quinn, Mike Silver, Brian Boyle, Adam Gestak, Jimmy Madden, also played excellently in the field.

No doubt that Northport won't want to face the Hicksville defense any time soon, but they also won't want to deal with their offense. Co-captain Chris Swier exploded for 5 goals and 2 assists. He put on a clinic, but he was not alone. Mike Silver, Brian Boyle, and Danny Cocchi also scored.

Gymnast Gets Perfect Score

By Arthur Stapleton

After fighting an uphill battle her entire gymnastics career, gymnast Tammy Marshall finally achieved perfection, scoring a 10 on her final floor routine in NCAA competition and winning her a share of the national championship.

Marshall, a Hicksville native and senior at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, competed in the NCAA Nationals for the third consecutive year, and was named a national champion for the second year in a row, this season on the floor exercise. Last season, Marshall's performance on vault earned her a share of the championship as well.

For her performances throughout her career, Marshall was named AAI-American Senior of the Year, an award that is voted on by gymnastics coaches from all over the country. It is based on athletics, academics, and service.

Marshall's accomplishments on the college level at UMass have given the program respectability and have lifted it to heights that it would have never reached without her, according to UMass head coach Alfie Mitchell.

"No one will ever be able to do the things she did because the timing was everything," said Mitchell. "We needed someone like Tammy...one person doesn't make the team, but one person does set the tone of things. She set the tone 'why settle for less when you have more.'"

Despite the tremendous success she found in college, many people never expected Marshall to reach the pinnacle of the sport after a serious knee injury almost put an end to her gymnastics career.

While competing in the floor exercise in her sophomore year of high school, Marshall tore ligaments and cartilage in her knee, forcing her to leave the mat for an extended period of time.

Tammy Marshall

"(After surgery) I was on crutches for six months, so I couldn't be in the gym. I was devastated," said Marshall. "The previous six months were probably the best six months of my career. It was the summer before the Olympics, and I was really training hard."

Marshall said that before she was injured, she discussed with her parents moving away from home that summer and training in a better facility in preparation for the Olympics. However, the plans went all for naught due to the injury, so she instead had to focus on whether or not to stay in the sport.

"As soon as it happened, I was quitting gymnastics. I was never doing it again. I was never going back into the gym. But, I was right back in. (Gymnastics) is a sport that is so addicting you just can't outgrow it," said Marshall.

When she made the decision to rehabilitate her knee and come back to the gym, Marshall said the only way she could continue competing with her club was on the Elite level, where she was before the injury. However, her club coaches wanted to drop her a level, which Marshall took as an insult.

Therefore, Marshall decided to focus on collegiate gymnastics, a decision that would change her entire career.

"My parents had sat me down and told me that they would pay for my school and that I didn't have to do gymnastics anymore if I didn't want to," said Marshall. "I couldn't go to college without returning the thanks, the dedication, the commitment that my parents made to me without getting a full scholarship to repay them."

So Marshall ended up at UMass, which at the time was not known for gymnastics. The program had Mitchell, a first year coach at the time, and a full scholarship to attend UMass, which was what Marshall was interested in. All Marshall needed was a chance, and Mitchell said he had nothing to lose in trying to get her to come.

"I felt it was a risk, but it was a risk worth taking. At that time, I really had no other options," said Mitchell. "To have someone like her with her past experience wanting to come here, it was worth the risk. Some people didn't even look at her — their mistake."

Now, Marshall's collegiate career is over, and she heads to the World University Games trials in Salt Lake City, Utah, this weekend looking for a chance to compete in the games this summer in Buffalo. Marshall said that she accomplished everything she ever wanted to do in college, and that all she needed was a chance.

LI Surf Hosts Youth Program

Basketball Tickets And Clinics For Kids

By Jeffrey Todd Cohen

At a conference of media and sponsors held Monday in Hofstra's University Club, the Long Island Surf announced its new Youth Outreach Program commencing with the 1993 United States Basketball League season opening at 7:30 on May 17.

The Surf and several corporations have united to provide area youth organizations with pre-game clinics at Hofstra or Stony Brook University. College and high school coaches, pro athletes, corporate leaders and prominent community members will speak with youngsters about the importance of drug and alcohol avoidance, academic achievement, sportsmanship and career planning. The kids will then enjoy a Surf game on the house.

Team president Roger Gaeckler was the mastermind who presented the idea to the Surf board, who responded enthusiastically. Gaeckler cited the charisma of Julius Erving as well as his own roots as a former Hofstra basketball coach when Bernard Tomlin was "red-shirted" for a year, having attended an out-of-town school. Tomlin eventually became the original head coach of the LI Surf.

Tomlin, now coaching at Stony Brook and a member of the Surf Advisory Council said, "A lot of kids are out there whose hearts are broken because they don't get the opportunity to be exposed to role models such as we would like to bring into these clinics." While at Hofstra he had his first experience working with young people in the community. "It's amazing what you can accomplish in an hour or two. They have the misconception that if they run fast, jump high, everything's gonna fall in place. They really don't understand how much time and effort these athletes put into becoming what they are...and it's more important that they understand they have to be good citizens."

The program will be funded by hosts/sponsors whose contributions will be matched by the Long Island Surf, a franchise that has made a commitment for the long run.

Ed Krinsky, general manager of a Surf team verging on league flagship status, said, "We would like the Youth Outreach Program to be replicated throughout the league and to have a Youth Outreach Program that is the cornerstone of the USBL."

The USBL is gaining more credibility with the NBA each year. Anthony Mason, Lloyd Daniels, Richard Dumas, Tim Legler, Paul Graham and Avery Johnson are former USBLers and now NBAers. John Lucas coaches Daniels in San Antonio. Lucas is returning to the USBL as a totally involved owner/coach.

Krinsky said, "People forget Lloyd didn't play college ball, [and] had other difficulties that interfered with his career. John made a decision...that he was going to go with veterans...each guy was gonna have to earn his way. Lloyd knows he has to work on certain [aspects] of his game. He's come back from the dead. If [he] doesn't make it, it's not going to be because of lack of effort, because he has a
